County judge votes 'for' 1611 proposal

By VICKI BROWN
SDN Staff Writer

County Judge Preston Wilson ended his nine-day wait Thursday morning by signaling a local go-ahead for the extension of FM 1611.

Wilson voted against a motion by Pct. 2 Commissioner Duaine Davis to reject the state's minute order authorizing the project. Before a group of some 20 citizens, Wilson then broke another 2-2 tie when Pct. 3 Commissioner C.D. Gray Jr. moved to accept the minute order.

After a 2-2 split among commissioners during a public session concerning the proposal May 12, Wilson informed the nearly 30 residents gathered for the meeting of his intent to postpone his tie-breaking decision. "I stayed awake worrying about this thing, so I'm going to worry some more," he said at the time.

His vote siding with Pct. 2 Commissioner Hassie Sneed and Gray Thursday sets in motion the next step toward completion of the estimated 3.7-mile extension.

It is designed as a western truck route bypassing Snyder's downtown and business district.

With the affirmative nod, officials with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation will make surveys of the area and write a deed describing the road's path. Once the deed has been written, officials note that public hearings on the proposal will be scheduled.

The state probably will not release announcement of the hearing for at least two months. Time and place for the hearing will require another 45-day wait to allow for advertisements in the local newspaper.

"It (the road) is not automatic at that point," W.R. Walker, an Abilene-based state engineer, explained during the May 12 session. "The project can still be stopped at the public hearing. Once the hearing is over, we will wait 10 days to allow letters and petitions to come in before making an evaluation."

Complete cost estimates and deadlines will be given during the hearing.

If the proposal survives the public hearing hurdle, state of-

Delivery suspect found guilty here

A 24-year-old suspect was found guilty of felony delivery of marijuana by a Scurry County jury Wednesday night.

With the decision, the six-man, six-woman jury rejected the claim of suspect Carson Whitney Blackwell that he was out-of-state at the time of the offense.

The verdict, returned around 10 p.m. Wednesday, followed some 6½ hours of deliberation and three days of court proceedings in 132nd District Court.

The jurors were given the case at 3:20 p.m. at the conclusion of final arguments by both District Attorney Ernie Armstrong and Evert Seymore, Lubbock defense attorney.

Final arguments Wednesday hinged on the credibility of witnesses called by both sides.

Blackwell was indicted for the drug delivery offense and arrested in late March on the basis of testimony given a county grand jury by Joe Belew — who worked as an undercover agent here from November of 1985 until March under the direction of the sheriff's office.

Blackwell is one of 26 suspects jailed on March 20 and 21 in connection with 50 indictments issued on the basis of Belew's work in the county.

The defense basically presented an alibi defense — presenting witnesses claiming that Blackwell was in Louisiana on Nov. 11, 1985 when the sale of marijuana allegedly took place.

Defense attorney Seymore spent most of his 45 minute summation questioning the character and credibility of Belew and a second prosecution witness, Tommy Sanders.

Sanders was named in the March indictments also and last week entered a guilty plea to the charges against him in exchange for a seven-year prison term.

Regarding the undercover agent Belew, Seymore told jurors he had "17,610 reasons" — the number of dollars paid by the sheriff's office for alleged drug buys — to question the credibility of a "long-haired drug informant who says he works for free."

Ultimately, however, the jurors failed to find a reasonable doubt about the prosecution testimony and returned the guilty verdict Armstrong had asked for.

Armstrong countered defense questions about Belew by telling the jurors, "it is a war out there — a war against drugs and a war against crime."

"Belew," he said, "is a long-haired warrior on our side in the war on drugs."

To counter the defendant's alibi, Armstong also produced a witness who testified an acquaintance who had reportedly accompanied Blackwell to Louisiana had in fact been seen in Snyder during the period in question.

The local jury is now charged with determining punishment for Blackwell. Testimony in this phase of the trial began just after 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

2 at East campus set for retirement

Two longtime Snyder elementary teachers from East Elementary are among those electing to retire at the end of this school year — LaNelle Rambin, a fifth grade teacher, and Jo Alyce McMullan, who teaches first grade.

LaNelle Rambin will retire after 24 years with Snyder ISD. In all, she counts 28 years in education.

For Snyder, she has also taught in the third, fourth and sixth grades.

Before locating here, she also taught at Eldorado, Ark. As a physical education instructor there, she coached a girl's basketball team which won second at the state tournament.

She earned her bachelors in elementary education in 1962 from Texas Tech University. She completed advanced course work through Tech and Sul Ross University also.

She has been a member of TSTA, NEA, CTA and Delta Kappa Gamma.

Jo Alyce McMullan will be ending a 30-year teaching career.

Her first teaching assignment was with Ira ISD, and she relocated to Snyder after one year — making a total of 29 years in the local system.

Jo Alyce McMullan

Her bachelors degree was earned in 1955 from Texas Tech University, majoring in elementary education. Her advanced course work includes classes at Hardin-Simmons University.

Her professional memberships include TSTA and Delta Kappa Gamma.

Reports due at CMH meet

Kathy Minemier and Dr. Buerk Williams are expected to address the Cogdell Memorial Hospital board of directors Thursday.

Minemier, director of community relations for the facility, will report on the hospital's recent health fair and will update board members on other programs including the Lullaby Lane package and a health awareness program.

Williams, director of the hospital's radiology department, will also issue a report.

In other action, the group will hear the administrator's report and a collection report, as well as approve minutes from last month's meeting.

The session is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. in the hospital's board room.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Thank goodness for plumbers, or we would have no where to go."

Nearly everyone has had an encounter with those fellows who drive those black and white cars up and down the highways. And everyone has a story to tell. Some of them are probably even true.

One fellow claims he was on I-20 when he was really pressing the gas pedal. He was feeling pretty secure as those big 18-wheelers were passing him with regularity.

Soon flashing lights and a siren's wail persuaded the driver to pull off to the side and stop.

A highway patrolman looked in at him and said, "Sir, you were clocked doing 84 miles an hour."

The driver pulled out a piece of paper and pen and wrote, "I cannot speak or hear." That wasn't true but the officer seemed to buy it.

The officer wrote, "Do you read lips?" The driver wrote that he did. The officer, carefully mouthing his words, said, "You were endangering not only yourself but everybody else on the highway. We're not here to penalize you but to protect you and everyone else."

The driver silently wrote that he was sorry, and that he was hurrying because he wanted to visit his sick mother in a hospital, and he did not realize how fast he was going.

Touched by the story, the officer mouthed, "I'm going to let you off with a warning this time. But please don't speed. Drive safely."

Overjoyed that his slick story had worked, the driver burst out loud, "Thanks, officer."

The fine was $187.50.

Here's a couple of other excuses for speeding given patrolmen:

"I recently switched from regular unleaded gas to premium unleaded gas which makes the car run quicker."

After stopping a motorist running in excess of 100 mph, the trooper was told, "The cruise control was stuck and I didn't know how to turn it off."

Library to change operations

Beginning June 1, the Scurry County Library will be open six less hours each week, according to Janice Mitchell, librarian.

As part of the change, the library will no longer be open on Sunday. Under the current schedule, the facility is open for two hours (from 2 until 4 p.m.).

In another change, the library will open to the public an hour later each day (10 instead of 9 a.m.), but will stay open an extra hour each Tuesday and Thursday night (9 instead of 8 p.m.)

In addition, plans are to discontinue the Bookmobile which had been mainly serving Hermleigh schools each Wednesday.

Q. — Is there a complaint that can be filed against someone that keeps a dog chained that constantly howls and barks?

A. — Yes. There is a city ordinance against excessive noise caused by barking dogs.

In Brief

71 are killed

HONIARA, Solomon Islands (AP) — Rescue workers today found the bodies of 65 people buried in mud and debris on the Guadalcanal plains, boosting the death toll from Typhoon Namu to at least 71, officials said.

Many more people are missing and feared dead, particularly on outlying islands where officials say casualties and damage have been impossible to ascertain because of downed communications.

"The death toll stands at 71," said John Selwyn.

More fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Moslem and Christian gunners rained shells and rockets on Beirut's residential neighborhoods today in the worst random bombardment in four months. Police said 35 people were killed and 160 wounded.

The battles erupted at dusk Wednesday and raged all night.

A cease-fire was called at daybreak today, but collapsed six hours later, and the duels with heavy artillery, multibarreled rocket launchers and tank cannons resumed at midday.

Local

Miller event

A come and go reception honoring retiring West Elementary Principal Frank Miller is scheduled from 1:30 until 3 p.m. Sunday.

It will be held at the family center at the 37th St. Church of Christ. Faculty members at West are sponsoring the event.

Barrel race

The Tex-Mex Barrel Racing Assn. will sponsor a race Saturday at the Sundowners Riding Club Arena. Books will open at 11 a.m. and the race will begin at noon.

The event is open to any interested party including all novice classes. For more information, call 573-4865.

Final one-act

The last of two hometown performances is due at 8 p.m. Thursday for "A Man for All Seasons," runnerup at the Class AAAA state contest this year.

The performance will be in Worsham Auditorium. Admission price is $2.

Presser re-elected chief of teamsters

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Teamsters union leaders, again defying government prosecutors, have closed ranks behind indicted president Jackie Presser, voting by a nearly 99-to-1 margin to keep him in the driver's seat of the nation's largest union.

But how long he will continue to hold the reins of a union that retains its name from the days of horse-drawn wagons could be in the hands of a federal jury.

Presser, the nation's highest paid labor leader with an income of more than $550,000 a year, was indicted six days ago on charges of racketeering and embezzlement involving an alleged payroll-padding scheme to siphon off $700,000 between 1972 and 1981 from a Cleveland local that he heads.

There was no accusation in the indictment that Presser personally received any of the money.

The nearly 1,900 delegates at the Teamsters convention voted 1,729 to 24 on Wednesday to give Presser, 59, his first five-year term as president. He has been president of the union since April 1983 when he was chosen by the executive board to replace Roy Williams.

Hundreds welcome home survivors of ship sinking

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hundreds of people welcomed home the eight crew members of the Pride of Baltimore who survived 4½ days in a small raft after the clipper ship sank in stormy seas, killing two and leaving two others missing.

The eight told of surviving on biscuits and water and trying to catch fish using safety pins as hooks while they floated on a 5½-by-5½-foot raft built to hold six people.

Barefooted second mate Joe McGeady, 26, of Severna Park, and deckhand Robert Foster, 23, of Alexandria, Va., followed deckhand Susie Huesman, 24, of Baltimore, off the first of two corporate planes that shuttled them Wednesday afternoon from Puerto Rico to a suburban Baltimore airport.

They shook hands with Gov. Harry Hughes, Mayor William Donald Schaefer and officials of Pride of Baltimore Inc., the corporation that sponsored their voyages to promote this port city, before meeting privately with family and friends gathered inside a hangar for the reunion.

Hundreds of others stood outside for a glimpse.

"We mourn our loss. We'll never forget," Schaefer said, referring to the four who did not return. "But, oh, how happy we are that you came home."

Few wore closed shoes, their feet swollen from constant immersion in six inches of water inside the life raft, but they smiled while wiping tears and spotting friends waiting with hugs and flowers

The two-masted, 136-foot-long Pride, built in the city's harbor nearly 10 years ago in the style of the Chesapeake Bay clipper schooners of the mid-19th century, was blown over by gale force winds on May 14, then sank in the Caribbean during a squall about 240 miles north of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The clipper had been on an 18-month worldwide voyage that began March 31, 1985, but was cut short because of fears of terrorism. The vessel left Malaga, Spain.

Additional price cut said due from AT&T

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co., in response to government prodding, wants to pass on to consumers an additional $450 million in savings.

In papers AT&T said it would file at the Federal Communications Commission today, the company will ask to increase its previously announced rate cut to $2 billion.

AT&T said this would mean a $1.02 drop in an average residential customer's $10 monthly bill for out-of-state calls.

The new rates will be effective June 1, unless the FCC rejects the plan.

When it examined AT&T's April 24 proposal, the commission's staff said the company did not properly compute the amount of extra calling that would occur in reaction to the lower prices.

AT&T was asked by the commission to recalculate the reductions.

The company said on Wednesday the combined rate reduction would amount to 11.8 percent.

The biggest cuts — 13.8 percent — would come during day and evening hours. AT&T said about two-thirds of all long-distance calls from home phones are made during those hours.

A consumer activist who watches telephone issues said the revised rate structure is better for residential customers than the April 24 plan.

Gene Kimmelman, legislative director of the Consumer Federation of America, said he calculates that businesses will benefit more than individuals from the reduction because the biggest cuts are in day and evening hours, when businesses make a higher proportion of their calls.

The price cut for calls placed on weekends and after 11 p.m. local time on weeknights would be 5 percent.

Rate cuts for WATS, 800 Service and other business phone services were also proposed.

GTE-Sprint Communications Co. and MCI Communications Co. each have announced they will propose new rates sometime this summer. However, these major competitors to AT&T said their rate changes will not be ready by June 1.

Your Birthday

May 23, 1986

In the year ahead, you will come out better if you rely upon yourself instead of partners. You alone can accomplish your desires if you put your mind to it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Areas of disagreement between you and your mate may be pronounced today. It's best if neither tries to force the other to comply with his or her demands. Major changes are ahead for Gemini in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. May $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Improper behavior on your behalf today could disrupt a situation now running smoothly. Don't be the one who causes it to fall apart.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's best not to come on too strong in social situations today. Your friends will respond better to consultation than they will to regimentation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Wield your power wisely today in matters where you have authority over others. Tyrannical actions will make enemies who won't be prone to forgive or forget.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's your prerogative to champion an unpopular cause today, provided you don't get angry with those who didn't agree with you in the first place.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Unless you are extremely careful in a critical financial situation today, you could come out on the short end. Do not leave anything to chance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you are inflexible when dealing with others today, you may cause others to become even more rigid than you are.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You've procrastinated to the outer limits. If you delay a responsibility even longer today, you'll be asking for big trouble.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may have two invitations to choose from today. The gala event might not be as grand as it sounds, while the lesser event will be much better than expected.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If a family member does something that displeases you today, count to 10. Regrettable remarks will be made when responding in haste.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today you may have to deal with a temperamental acquaintance. If you know from experience that certain topics agitate this person, keep them out of the conversation.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Business conditions might be tricky for you today, and it could be hard to get a handle on the true picture. Postpone decisions until the facts are in.

Contract proposal rejected by all

NEW YORK (AP) — TWA flight attendants, faced with the same package of concessions that sent them out on strike nine weeks ago, have overwhelmingly turned down the 22 percent wage cut demanded by the company.

The attendants, whose leaders decided Saturday to end the strike, voted in seven cities, and Independent Federation of Flight Attendants spokesman Michael Perri said late Wednesday that 98 percent rejected the contract offer.

"The turnout for the vote was very, very heavy," Perri said. "The vast majority of the membership voted."

Approval would have signaled complete capitulation.

Church home set for fight

AUSTIN (AP) — Supporters of an unlicensed Tarrant County church home are preparing for a showdown with state officials who have a court order requiring the home to be closed.

"We are going to go back and occupy our buildings. We are going to bring in forces there, people to come in to help us. Preachers will be coming in. We are just going to go up there and dig in," said W.N. Otwell, director of the Community Baptist Church's Boys Home in Forest Hill, near Fort Worth.

"If we have to, we'll fence it. We'll put up some big fences so that they'll have to come through the gates," Otwell said Wednesday after meeting with Gov. Mark White.

State District Judge Paul Davis of Austin on March 31 ordered the home closed because school officials, citing religious grounds, refused to get a required state license. Davis also ordered $100-a-day fines for the officials who are keeping the home opened.

Elna Christopher, a spokeswoman for Attorney General Jim Mattox, said Wednesday there was no way to know when the court order would be enforced.

Otwell and his supporters have refused to pay the fines, and have decided not to appeal Davis' order. They came to Austin last week to take their case to state officials and have been here ever since. They headed back to Fort Worth Wednesday after the hour-long, closed-door meeting with White at the Capitol.

"We were hoping that Gov. White would make a commitment to back the troops off until the 1987 Legislature meets so they could amend the 1975 Child Care Act, but he made no commitment," Otwell said.

White said he told Otwell the governor could not interfere with court orders.

"I am a Baptist and a strong believer in the separation of church and state, and I would not permit for a moment any agency of this state to interfere with anyone's practice of religion," he said.

"I happen to think this law does not interfere with their practice of religion. They happen to think it does, and I'm not in a position to change their mind," White said.

"Texas can't be our boss. God is our boss," Otwell said, adding that Texas will be punished for interfering with the church

Hunger blamed on 'lack of knowledge'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says America's hungry go without food because they do not know where to get help, but anti-hunger activists fault his administration for eliminating the program that told the poor about food stamps.

"I don't believe that there is anyone going hungry in America simply by reason of denial or lack of ability to feed them," Reagan told a high school group Wednesday. "It is by people not knowing where or how to get this help."

The president, in a question and answer session with the students, said the hungry are not aware of the government and private aid available to them.

"Where there is hunger ... you have to determine that that is probably because of a lack of knowledge on the part of the people as to what things are available," Reagan said.

"Not only is the government doing much in that line, but there has been about a three-time increase in private charity and aid in our country," Reagan said, adding that private donations to charity were $79.8 billion in 1985.

Reagan made the comments in a 30-minute session with 117 students from various parts of the country. The meeting was sponsored by the "Close Up" Foundation, a non-partisan organization that gives students a chance to study the federal government.

Robert Greenstein, director of the Center on the Budget and Policy Priorities, said he agreed with the president that "there is an information problem — many of the people who are poor and eligible do not know they are eligible" for food stamps.

SWC considers ideas to coincide NCAA's drug testing program

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Individual schools in the Southwest Conference will be responsible for their own drug testing programs in light of the NCAA's new drug-testing policy, assistant commissioner Dutch Baughman says.

"I think a school has two choices because of the new NCAA legislation," Baughman said Wednesday at the opening session of the conference's spring meeting.

"The first choice is establish a drug-testing program at the institution so it can be instituted soon enough for a rehabilitation program. The second option is do nothing. Go into a championship or bowl game with the risk that someone will test positively," he said.

SWC football coaches spent much of their meeting discussing the implementation of the NCAA's new drug testing policy at bowl games and championship events.

Coaches say they are concerned about what drugs the NCAA will choose to test for and ban. Athletes who test positively for drugs will be ineligible.

Triple Threat starts tonight

The men's Triple Threat bowling league will begin play at 8 tonight at Snyder Lanes.

Competition is singles and the league is still accepting bowlers who wish to participate.

Tigers calmed down, ready to play top-caliber ball now

Playoff jitters may have effected the Tigers when they opened their best-of-three bi-district playoff series with Dunbar but that's all over now, says second baseman Chris Fryar.

Snyder overcame three first-inning errors to take an 8-6 victory in the first playoff game in Lubbock on Tuesday. The Tigers are looking to wrap up a bi-district title when the series shifts here Saturday. Starting time for Game Two is 1 p.m. at Moffett Field. A third game, if necessary, will follow approximately 30 minutes after the second.

"I think with them not having a strong pitcher now (to relieve ace Danny Lopez), we're in real good shape," said Fryar. "We'll be playing at home with a one game lead."

Perhaps more importantly, Snyder has gotten those first-game jitters out of the way.

"I think in the first inning (Tuesday) we were a little tight. We may have been nervous since they beat us earlier in the season," he said, referring to Dunbar's 1-0 victory in the Snyder Tournament.

Danny Lopez was the Panthers' winning pitcher in the first game between the teams but the Tigers tagged him for a dozen hits Tuesday.

"He's a good pitcher but we worked on the curve ball all week and that really helped," Fryar said. "We were confident. We've been hitting the ball well. I think we'll play real well Saturday."

Fryar is batting .449 for the season and was one-for-four Tuesday but his effort against Dunbar was highlighted by defensive play.

The senior made several good defensive plays, including one in the fifth inning after Dunbar had loaded the bases. The Panthers' Terry Norris hit a ball to the right side and Fryar made a fine stop, then threw a strike to home plate in time to catch Tommy Torres for the force-out.

The butterflies were definitely gone.

Coaches say NCAA Central probably toughest one going

AUSTIN (AP) - Coach Cliff Gustafson of host Texas agrees with opposing coaches in the NCAA Central Regional baseball tournament that the competition is stiff.

"It looks to me if we have the toughest field in the nation. I'd hate to have to pick a favorite," Gustafson told a press conference Wednesday attended by five of the six coaches in the tournament.

"The tournament is going to be one of the top ones," said Pan American Coach Al Ogletree.

"I wish they had given me a choice. I wouldn't have picked this one," said Southern Illinois Coach Rich "Itch" Jones.

No. 5-ranked Texas, 49-12 and co-champion of the Southwest Conference, and Southern Illinois, 39-20-2 and champions of the Missouri Valley, play Thursday night following games matching Pan American and Pepperdine and Arizona and San Diego State.

Pan American, an independent school from Edinburg, Texas, is 41-17. No. 20 Pepperdine, 35-19-2, is the runner-up in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Arizona, which tied Stanford for second in the Pac-10 South, is 41-18 and is ranked No. 15, two places behind San Diego, champion of the Western Athletic Conference, which has a 42-21 record.

Gustafson said he was uncertain whether to start All-American lefthander Greg Swindell, 10-3 with a 1.79 earned run average, or righthander Mark Petkovsek, 11-1, against the Salukis.

"There are some uncertainties in my mind, and I want to sleep on it," Gustafson said.

"We'll have to play the best we can to survive in the ballgame," said Salukis Coach Jones.

Todd Neibel, 12-2 with a 4.63 earned run average, will start for Southern Illinois.

Gustafson said Texas "is at a low ebb, coming off three straight losses."

Even though Texas did lose its last three games, it was one of five teams that the NCAA Selection Committee seeded. The committee makes sure the five top seeds are in different regionals, and Texas is hosting the tournament for the eighth straight year.

Kiwanis Club names golf tourney winners

Thirteen teams braved poor weather conditions last weekend to participate in the 4th Annual Kiwanis Golf Tournament at Western Texas College Golf Course.

Proceeds from the tourney go to the Hubert W. and Mary Cargile Scholarship Fund at the college. Each year the Kiwanis Club gives scholarships to two Scurry County seniors who decide to attend WTC.

Two teams tied for first place, with scores of 62. The first place team of David Holt, Glen Patterson, Donnie Newman and Robert Sterling was decided by a scorecard playoff.

Second place went to Glen Holley, David Holley, Bob Christian and Shawn Ragland. Third, with a 63, went to Ken Coffey, Randy Weaver, John Boren and Virgil Feinsod.

Karate event set Saturday

James Cummings' Martial Arts Academy will hold a karate tournament and full contact bouts Saturday in Scurry County Coliseum.

Tickets are $5 for general admission, $6 box seats and $7.50 ringside. Children's tickets will be one-half price.

The tournament will start at 11:30 a.m. and will feature forms, weapons forms, point sparing and musical forms until 6 p.m.

At 8 p.m., the first of nine full contact bouts will be presented, promoted by American Karate middleweight champion Andy White.

Wright's triple lifts Texas past Kansas City, 2-1 in 10

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - George Wright was one of the reasons the Texas Rangers went into Wednesday night's game with an 0-2 record in extra-inning games.

And Wright is also the main reason the Rangers are now 1-2 in extra-inning contests, thanks to his hitting heroics in the bottom of the 10th in Texas' 2-1 win over the Kansas City Royals Wednesday night at Arlington Stadium.

Wright, mired in a 3-for-26 slump coming into the game, lashed a two-out triple that sent Pete O'Brien racing all the way home from first with the winning run.

That made a winner out of reliever Greg Harris, 3-6, and a loser out of Kansas City bullpen stalwart Steve Farr, 2-1.

Wright was fortunate he got a chance to be the hero, having entered the game as a pinch-runner for Pete Incaviglia in the eighth inning when the Rangers scored to take a 1-0 lead against Royals starter Charlie Leibrandt.

But the Royals tied it in the ninth, thanks to Rudy Law's leadoff double off Ranger starter Jose Guzman, a wild pitch by reliever Mitch Williams, and a fielder's choice grounder by Frank White.

Third baseman Steve Buechele took White's grounder and tried for a play at the plate, but hit Law in the back of the head with his throw.

That sent the contest into extra-innings and gave Wright a chance to redeem himself for a disastrous two innings in Boston on Sunday when he dropped a fly ball to allow the tying run to score in the ninth, then threw the ball into the dugout to allow the tying and winning runs to score in the 10th.

Braves pull out 9-8 victory over Chicago in 13th inning

by The Associated Press

General Manager Bobby Cox says the best trade Atlanta made during the winter was bringing in Chuck Tanner to manage the Braves.

And Tanner's special brand of optimism seems to be rubbing off, not only on the Braves' collective psyche but their performance on the field, too.

The Braves pulled out a 9-8 triumph Wednesday night in 13 innings over the visiting Chicago Cubs when reliever George Frazier walked rookie Andres Thomas with the bases loaded. It was the Braves' sixth straight victory.

"It wasn't like the club needed to be rebuilt," said Cox, hired as general manager last Oct. 22 after managing Toronto in 1985. "What it really needed was a new attitude, and that comes with Chuck. Right now, he's our best trade."

Elsewhere in the National League it was, New York 7, San Francisco 4; Pittsburgh 2, Houston 1; St. Louis 8, Cincinnati 3; San Diego 7, Philadelphia 2; and Los Angeles 6, Montreal 1.

Dodgers 6, Expos 1

Mike Marshall hit two homers and drove in three runs to back Orel Hershiser's four-hit pitching over seven innings as Los Angeles defeated Montreal.

Both homers came off Montreal starter Jay Tibbs, who had allowed only one homer in 57 1-3 innings entering the game.

Mets 7, Giants 4

Wally Backman had two doubles and a single, and Ron Darling pitched a three-hitter over seven innings as New York defeated San Francisco at Candlestick Park.

Backman, who missed almost two weeks of play early this month because of a pulled hamstring, has 21 hits in his last 12 games and is batting .477 over that stretch.

Pirates 2, Astros 1

Rick Rhoden pitched a five-hitter and Sid Bream homered and doubled to power visiting Pittsburgh over Houston at the Astrodome.

Rhoden, 3-3, struck out six and walked three in snapping a personal three-game losing streak.

Cardinals 8, Reds 3

St. Louis snapped a six-game losing streak by rallying to defeat visiting Cincinnati as Andy Van Slyke hit his first home run of the season to key a four-run sixth inning.

The victory was only the seventh in 27 games for the host Cardinals.

Padres 7, Phillies 2

Tony Gwynn went 4-for-4 to pace a 13-hit attack and Dave Dravecky pictched a four-hitter while fanning a career-high 11 as San Diego sent visiting Philadelphia to its fourth straight defeat.

Olajuwon ejected but...

Rockets shock Lakers with buzzer bucket

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - The team of the future, it turns out, also is a team of the present.

The young Houston Rockets, having deposed the reigning kings of the NBA, now confront the team that would seem next in line for the league crown.

The Los Angeles Lakers, meanwhile, have been reduced to a historical footnote as another NBA champion that couldn't repeat.

Ralph Sampson, who'd been the lesser-noticed of the Rockets' "Twin Towers" during their playoffs against the Lakers, provided a startling ending to the startling series Wednesday night when his hurried, off-balance shot dropped at the buzzer to give Houston a 114-112 victory over Los Angeles.

The victory gave the Rockets the series, 4-1, and sent them into the NBA championship round against the Celtics, beginning Monday in Boston.

The concluding win was particularly impressive because the Rockets won without their other "Twin Tower," Akeem Olajuwon. He was thrown out of the game for fighting with 5:14 remaining and the Lakers ahead 103-99.

But Sampson took control, scoring 10 of his 29 points in the closing moments and winning it at the end.

"It's a very gratifying feeling to beat the world champions," the 7-foot-4 Sampson said. "This may be the highlight of my basketball career.

"Right now we're just going to enjoy this win and go home to our fans in Houston," added Sampson. "Then we'll go into Boston thinking positively."

Olajuwon, who had averaged 30 points and 12 rebounds in the previous four games of the series, had 30 points and seven rebounds in the fifth when he was ejected for trading swings with the Lakers' Mitch Kupchak in a brief, bench-clearing skirmish.

"I was watching it (Sampson's winning shot) from the locker room and when I saw it go in, it was just unbelievable," Olajuwon said. "It was great that they won without me. ... I couldn't believe it."

Sampson's shot came after the Lakers' Byron Scott had missed a long jumper and the Rockets rebounded and called time out with one second remaining. When play resumed, Rodney McCray inbounded the ball to Sampson and the Houston center, his back to the basket, flipped the ball backward toward the goal. It hit the rim, bounced up for a breathless instant, and fell through.

"I knew where the basket was, but I couldn't see it," Sampson said. "I thought it (the shot) was short; I didn't see it until it hit the rim and bounced in."

"There was a man guarding him from behind and a man guarding him in front and he only had one second to get the shot off, so it wasn't real pretty," said Houston Coach Bill Fitch. "But it went in."

"It was a miracle," said Lakers Coach Pat Riley. "He didn't even see the basket. You just can't beat fate."

"I was happy he threw up a bad shot," said Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who led the Lakers with 26 points and also had 13 rebounds. "But what happened just happened."

"Since he made that shot, I guess it just wasn't meant to be for us this year," said Lakers guard Earvin "Magic" Johnson, who scored 24 points and had 13 assists. "To be in control the whole way like we were, and to see that shot drop, it's hard to swallow."

The final score was the only time the Rockets led, and they'd been down 99-90, with 8:31 to play. But they caught the Lakers for the first time on a three-point basket by Robert Reid that tied the contest at 112 with 15 seconds left.

Reid had just missed from three-point range, but the Rockets got the rebound and he got the ball back. After his three-pointer, the Lakers came down the floor and Scott missed.

Looking ahead, Olajuwon said he thinks the Rockets have an excellent chance against the Celtics, who had the NBA's best record this season after losing to the Lakers in the finals a year ago.

"There is no question in my mind that we can beat the Celtics," said the former soccer goalie from Nigeria. "We've been confident all year that we could get to the championship series."

The Lakers' Johnson said the Rockets could give Boston a run for its money.

"If they play with the same intensity, they can be right there," he said. "I have to pick the Celtics because they've got so much experience and have been there so many times. But nobody really thought Houston could beat us, either."

Talented Celtics prepare for NBA championships

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) - Boston Celtics' Coach K.C. Jones leaned forward casually, his arms resting against the stage. He rarely spoke as he watched his players' fast-paced scrimmage on the court next to him.

One squad had a front line of Larry Bird, Robert Parish and Kevin McHale. All three played in this year's NBA All-Star game. The other had former NBA Most Valuable Player Bill Walton.

Assistant coaches Jimmy Rodgers and Chris Ford were the referees of Wednesday's intrasquad battle. Like the crowd of reporters viewing the Celtics' return to practice, Jones was a quiet observer.

The picture, however, was misleading.

"It's a myth" that coaching an outstanding team is easy, Rodgers said. "The toughest job to do is to win when everybody expects you to win.

"We do have excellent talent, but you've got to know what to do with that talent and how to handle it, how to motivate it and how to use it best game in and game out, how to keep it sharp, how to put the right offensive and defensive theories into effect.

"I'm talking about a lot of coaching and K.C. has done just a great job."

Jones will be restricting his coaching to practices until the championship playoff round begins next week. Boston will take a 38-game home winning streak and a 57-9 record in its last 66 games into that best-of-seven series.

All five starters averaged more than 15 points per game as the Celtics won 11 of 12 playoff contests. Guard Danny Ainge, who averaged 10.7 points per regular-season game, has averaged 15.9 in the playoffs.

"With him playing the way he's playing right now, it's like our starting five is an all-star team," reserve guard Jerry Sichting said. "Dennis (Johnson) really should have made the all-star team this year and our front line all made the all-star team and Danny's outplayed almost everybody he's faced in the playoffs.

And the Celtics are rested.

Last Sunday, they completed their four-game sweep over Milwaukee in the Eastern Conference finals and took two days off. They resumed practice Wednesday, knowing they wouldn't play again until Monday. Now they also know they'll face Houston, the Wednesday night winner over the Lakers in the Western Conference championship.

Said Rodgers: "If you watch the way these guys practice, I don't think" the layoff will hurt.

Rozelle testimony nears end

NEW YORK (AP) - The six jurors in the USFL's $1.5 billion antitrust suit against the NFL may finally get a chance to hear from a witness other than Pete Rozelle.

The NFL Commissioner has been the only witness during the first five days of the trial, but he is expected to wrap up his testimony today.

Rozelle was questioned Wednesday by USFL lawyer Harvey Myerson, who attempted to get the commissioner to acknowledge he has misstated or misspoken on various points during the more than 21 hours he spent on the stand. The closest he came to achieving that was when Rozelle admitted he had mispoken when he said that Leon Hess was not running the New York Jets in 1982 - Hess actually took over in 1977.

Rozelle also disclosed Wednesday that he had twice had contacts concerning Donald Trump, owner of the New Jersey Generals of the USFL.

The first was through an intermediary who told Rozelle in a 1983 phone conversation that Trump was interested in buying the NFL's Baltimore Colts. The second, he said, was in March 1984, when he met with Trump at a New York hotel for a purpose he didn't disclose.

Trump, a New York real estate enterpreneur, has been painted by NFL attorneys as a man who wants to force a merger between the leagues although Trump himself has denied that.

The disclosure of the Trump-Rozelle contacts came after Myerson attempted to get Rozelle to acknowledge that he tried to entice some of the wealthier USFL owners out of their league, as recommended in a study by a Harvard Business School professor on how to "conquer" the USFL.

Rozelle has disavowed the study and said he had no prior knowledge of it.

He did acknowledge, however, having contact with two owners - Trump and A. Alfred Taubman.

Rozelle said his only contact with Taubman was at a Christmas party in 1984, when Taubman, who still had an interest in the USFL Oakland Ivaders, approached him.

He described Taubman as "a man of substance, a good owner" but described it primarily as "dinner conversation."

As for Trump, Rozelle said his first contact came in a phone conversation with an unnamed intermediary in the summer of 1983, six months before the Harvard study and several months before Trump announced he had purchased the Generals.

"I told the intermediary," Rozelle said, "that it would be a waste of time for Donald to try to buy the Colts. I said that two different groups had tried to buy the Colts and that in my judgement I didn't think Mr. (Robert) Irsay would sell a controlling interest.

Rozelle said he later met with Trump in March 1984, after the purchase of the Generals. Rozelle said the meeting took place at New York's Hotel Pierre after he received a call from Trump, whom the NFL maintains has been trying to force a USFL-NFL merger.

"He said he would rent a room there - a suite - and would I meet with him, and we had a discussion at that time," Rozelle testified.

"And at that time," Myerson asked, "did you tell Mr. Trump in words or substance that you wished he had bought the Colts and not gone with the USFL?"

"No," Rozelle replied.

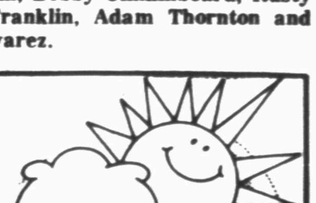

"And did you tell him that if he hadn't gone into the USFL, the USFL would have died," Myerson asked.

"No," Rozelle replied.

Our Own Local Veterans Helped By Buddy Poppies

"All of the net proceeds received from the sale of Buddy Poppies remains here in our own community to meet the calls from needy veterans," Commander _____ V.L. Buchanan _____ of the local VFW Post stated today in announcing plans for the annual sale of Buddy Poppies on the streets of _____ Snyder _____.

"The Post maintains a relief fund into which is placed all net profits received from the sale of Buddy Poppies," Commander V.L. Buchanan _____ said. "This fund is available to meet any calls for relief from our local veterans."

As in previous years these symbolic flowers of Flanders Field will be sold on the streets by a group of volunteer members of the VFW Post and members of its Ladies Auxiliary. They will be assisted by volunteer workers from youth groups in the community.

"Most of the money that we collect in this sale will remain right here in our own community, to help finance the relief and welfare work which we have undertaken in behalf of our own veterans in need, and their dependents," explains Commander V.L. Buchanan _____.

"The balance of the proceeds of the annual Buddy Poppy sale is used to help maintain the nationwide rehabilitation service of our organization," Commander V.L. Buchanan _____ added. "For example, we contribute one penny for each Buddy Poppy sold to the operation of the VFW National Home for widows and orphans at Eaton Rapids, Michigan. This is the only home of its kind in the world. It was founded in 1925."

Aired tapes reveal witness threatened the defendants

KERRVILLE, Texas (AP) — Reporters for two television stations that aired tape of a prosecution witness threatening the defendants say they will wait and see if defense lawyers follow through with their plans to subpoena the tapes.

Walter Wesley Ellebracht Sr., his son, Walter Jr., and former ranch worker Carlton Robert Caldwell are being tried in state court on organized crime charges including conspiracy to commit aggravated kidnapping and murder.

They are accused of killing Anthony Bates, a drifter from Alabama alleged to have been held against his will and tortured in 1984 at the Ellebracht Ranch in the Texas Hill Country.

Television reporters asked prosecution witness Darryl Hunsacker as he departed Kerr County Courthouse Tuesday what he would do if the jury acquitted the defendants.

"You mean if they get off?" he said. "I'd have to track them down and kill them."

Three San Antonio television stations aired the tapes Tuesday night. Ray Bass, attorney for the junior Ellebracht, called Wednesday for all video and audio tapes, transcripts and notes taken by television stations of interviews with Darryl Hunsacker.

"It'll be used as material evidence," Bass said in court recess.

Paul Venima, a reporter for ABC affiliate KSAT-TV, said Wednesday night he was unsure whether Bass would follow up on his request for the recordings. Venima said the decision to release the materials would rest with his superiors, but he said a subpeona would not bother him.

"I have no quarrel with him (Bass) subpoenaing my take," he said. "I have my job and he has his."

Jack Atherton, a reporter for CBS affiliate KENS-TV, said the matter would be up to his station manager, Bob Rogers, and the station's counsel.

Officials at KMOL-TV could not be reached for comment. Phone calls were answered by a recording.

Hunsacker's attorney, Joseph A. Turner of Austin, told reporters his 23-year-old client did not mean what he said. Turner said Hunsacker, who also once had wandered to the Hill Country ranch, was reacting to three days' cross-examination by defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes and his team.

Jurors are not sequestered and are in broadcasting range of the San Antonio stations, 60 miles away.

Navy to begin sea trials on huge ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a little more than four months, the Navy will begin sea trials for a new ship that has been so specially designed for wartime use that it appears destined to sit in port unless war breaks out.

The ship is huge — bigger than anything in the fleet except an aircraft carrier. The Navy hasn't had one since the end of the Vietnam War. It has been built in almost total obscurity, although it already has a name.

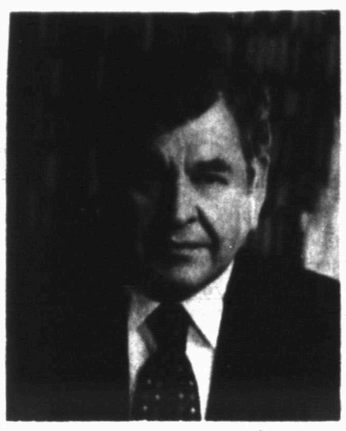

The USNS Mercy is a hospital ship. It is so advanced and so large — 1,000 beds and 12 complete operating rooms, capable of simultaneous use — that few hospitals on land can match its facilities.

But as work proceeds on the Mercy and an identical sister ship, the USNS Comfort, so, too, does an internal debate about how and whether they can be used during peacetime.

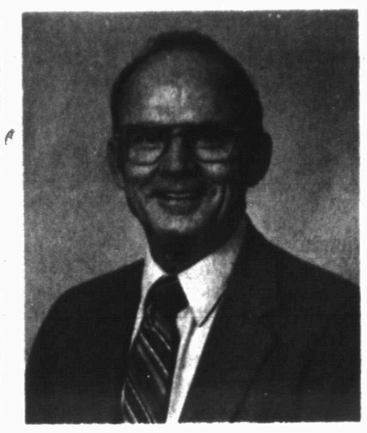

The Navy, in part with an eye toward congressional budget cuts, has decided to place the vessels in what it calls "Reduced Operating Status 5" — capable of being activated and steaming from ports on the East and West coasts in no more than five days' time.

Even that commitment is in some jeopardy. When the Pentagon released a list of military programs last week that could be scuttled because of House cuts to the defense budget, the Comfort appeared on the list.

The first official settlement in Maryland was founded in 1634.

TESCO announces president, chairman

FORTH WORTH--Dale Scarth has been elected president of Texas Electric Service Company by the Texas Utilities Electric Company board of directors.

Scarth, formerly vice president for the operations of TESCO, succeeds William G. Marquardt, who was elected chairman of TESCO.

TESCO is a division of Texas Utilities Electric Company, as Dallas Power and Light and Texas Power and Light. Together, the divisions provide electric service to about one-third of the population of Texas.

Scarth, a native of Booker, Tex., served in the U. S. Navy in 1945-46. He graduated from Oklahoma State University with a degree in electrical engineering before beginning his career with TESCO in 1949 as an engineer in the company's Eastland transmission division.

He held numerous positions with the company in West Texas before transferring to Fort Worth in 1966. Scarth was elected vice president of engineering, purchasing and environmental affairs in 1967 and operations vice president in 1975.

Marquardt also joined TESCO as an engineer in the Eastland transmission division in 1941 and also served in a number of positions in West Texas and Fort Worth before being named vice president of operations in 1963 and president in 1975.

Marquardt has been chairman of the board of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and has served on the boards of numerous community organizations.

Republicans defecting in droves in trade bill fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House dealt a sharp blow to the Reagan administration in skirmishing on the trade issue as dozens of Republicans backed Democratic legislation calling for get-tough measures.

"There is a bipartisan majority in the House that does not adhere to the administration line that we must lie prostrate before international competitors," Rep. Donald J. Pease, D-Ohio, declared Wednesday after the House repeatedly refused to delete key provisions of the bill.

At one point, 98 Republicans defected to back provisions easing the way for countervailing duties on subsidized imports and penalties for dumping products into the U.S. market at unfairly slashed prices.

A move to delete those features was buried 338-79 as GOP lawmakers from textile states of the South and the Northeast-Midwest industrial region parted company with both their administration and export-minded Farm Belt colleagues.

"This is the opening cannon shot in a new trade war," declared Rep. Bill Frenzel, R-Minn. He echoed the administration's warning that the get-tough measures were guaranteed to bring on retaliation against American exports.

Tests detect marijuana use

DEAR DR. GOTT — I know a 29-year-old man who smokes marijuana. What effect does this have on his system? Does it show up in urine and blood samples? How long does it take before no trace of it is found?

DEAR READER — Marijuana is a mind-altering drug that affects the way a person views himself and the world around him. Although it can cause tension and panic reactions when smoked, it ordinarily produces relaxation, disruption of time perception and deterioration of motor skills. In the 1960s, reports indicated that marijuana caused chromosomal breakage and affected unborn children; these studies were probably in error.

Tetrahydrocannibinol (THC) is marijuana's active ingredient. It is stored in fat cells, especially in the brain and reproductive tract. Therefore, it can last a long time — on the order of several weeks — in the body. Urine tests for THC can identify the active user.

Most authorities consider marijuana to be a dangerous drug. However, doctors are finding it useful in treating terminally ill patients. THC can help cancer patients feel better and it is an effective antidote to the nausea and vomiting caused by chemotherapy. In many hospitals, it is available by prescription.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I pass gas constantly — and I mean all the time. What can I do about it? I'm too embarrassed to discuss it with my doctor.

DEAR READER — First of all, intestinal gas is a common problem and may be due to a variety of causes. In your case, the cause needs to be pinned down. Your doctor is the logical person to help you discover the basis of your excessive gas.

Second, I am repeatedly surprised by the number of letters I receive from people who are reluctant, afraid or embarrassed to ask their doctors about certain health issues. I can understand this tendency, but it doesn't make much sense. Keeping secrets from your doctor is like playing ball in the dark. It's hard on everybody. If you don't trust your doctor, find one you can trust. But please don't tell your doctor half-truths or downright fibs; you wouldn't expect him or her to treat you that way. Also, sharing a problem with your doctor is often the first step toward finding a satisfactory solution.

So, reader, it's off to your doctor to discuss why your intestinal tract has become a dangerous weapon — or at least a social liability.

I'm also sending you a free copy of my Health Report on DIGESTIVE GAS. Others who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to mention the title.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott in care of this newspaper at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

Son's Opening Closet Will Close Grandparents' Minds

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: A year ago our son came out of the closet to his father and me. It has been a traumatic year for all of us, filled with anger, tears, guilt, confusion and therapy. While we still don't pretend to understand everything about the homosexual lifestyle, we love our son and accept that he believes this is right for him. He has a friend (I can't bring myself to say "lover") and has assured us that he wants a long-term, loving, monogamous relationship, just as his brothers and sisters have. We believe he is sincere.

The problem is that we both have aging parents whom we want to spare. We see no advantage in their knowing, and since my father-in-law, in particular, has very strong anti-gay feelings, we are concerned that a rift will occur that may never be healed. Our son, however, is an activist, especially in respect to AIDS education, and he is quoted often in newspapers and magazines. He lives in another city, but we are fearful that our parents will see him on television or read about him. How can we act lovingly to everyone concerned?

CONCERNED PARENTS

DEAR CONCERNED: I can understand your wanting to "spare" your parents from a truth they may not want to accept, but since your son has chosen to go public, it may not be possible.

The grandparents need enlightenment—not protection—so help them by providing them with some education literature from PARENTS FLAG (Federation of Parents & Friends of Lesbians and Gays Inc.), P.O. Box 24565, Los Angeles, Calif. 90024. It should ease their anxiety and make them less judgmental.

Please enclose a long, stamped (39 cents), self-addressed envelope. The information is free.

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary in the office of a junior high school in a small California town. It never ceases to amaze me that parents think I am a repository of vast amounts of money that I have handy to lend out to students who have forgotten to bring either money or lunch to school.

Yesterday, a parent called to ask that I lend little "Rupert" $10 so that he could stop at the store on the way home! There are 600 students at this school, and if I could recoup all the money I have lent out in the last five years, I could take a trip to Hawaii!

What prompted me to write is that today, a parent became very irate with me on the phone when I explained that I could not lend "Florence" $2 for lunch.

Please print this letter; perhaps it would speak for the thousands of school secretaries who are "hit on" every day for cash! Thank you.

BROKE IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR BROKE: I imagine the statute of limitations has run out on most of those unpaid debts, but it might be worth your time to ring up the parents (during the breakfast hour) and remind her (or him) to give little "Rupert" the loot you lent him.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: When one entertains guests at a fine restaurant and the male guest insists on handling the tip but actually places an amount below the expected average, is it considered impolite for the hostess to add to the tip while the guest is still at the table?

How would you handle such a situation?

CONCERNED IN SACRAMENTO

DEAR CONCERNED: I would discreetly slip the additional money to the captain or waiter as inconspicuously as possible—but not at the table.

(Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Girl graduates with top honors

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Grace Charlina Pai has become accustomed to attending school with older students since she skipped kindergarten.

At the age of 15, Miss Pai, of Aransas Pass, who also bypassed third and 11th grades, is valedictorian of Incarnate Word Academy High School. Her grade average of 98.5 is higher than that of any of her peers, most of whom are two or three years older.

She plans to go into pediatrics, she said, because, she said, "I relate well with them." Miss Pai plans to attend Rice University in the fall to pursue a pre-med biochemistry major.

Her father came to this country from his native Taiwan in 1964 to study chemical engineering at Brigham Young University. In 1966 his wife, Madge, joined him in the United States.

Miss Pai attended first and second grades in Los Angeles, and after the family moved to Texas she attended public elementary and junior high schools.

Miss Pai, an only child, is nonchalant about being with older classmates.

"It wasn't really that much of a problem," she said. "I was able to adjust."

Prospective teachers using loophole

AUSTIN (AP) — State officials say they are not surprised that about 2,000 college graduates are using a loophole in the education reform law to skip a teaching entrance exam.

All graduates who finish course work before May 1 are exempted from taking the Examination for Certification of Educators in Texas, a battery of tests graduates must pass to get their teachers licenses. But most of the estimated 8,500 seniors majoring in education this year will complete their courses after May 1, so they must take the test.

The exam is being given for the first time Saturday in 20 sites across the state.

Students taking advantage of the loophole still must take the Texas Examination of Current Administrators and Teachers mandated by the Legislature as part of the 1984 education reforms.

But state officials say the basic skills test is easier than the entrance test, required under a 1981 law.

"We expected this to happen," said Nolan Wood, director of teacher assessment for the Texas Education Agency. "It is just normal that any time there is a test, people will try to avoid it. There is nothing wrong or illegal with what they did — they were given this option."

Wood estimated that about 2,000 Texas college seniors hurried to complete their studies before the deadline.

"It has been a harrowing experience with so many students trying to get in under the wire," Wood said.

The law set no deadline for administration of the test, but the State Board of Education issued a rule making the test mandatory for education students still in school on May 1, 1986.

The current board shifted the exam deadline from May 1 to Feb. 1 to insure all students still in school this semester would take the exam. But the education agency attorneys said the deadline had to stand.

"Our legal staff believed there was not sufficient notice given to college students to make the change," Wood said. "They felt we could not renege on the May 1 deadline."

The May 1 date had appeared in several college catalogs since 1982, when the current crop of seniors began their studies, Wood said.

Dogs don't see kids as humans

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — Dogs don't regard children as human, and a running child can incite the hunting instinct in dogs, an animal behaviorist testified in the trial of a man accused of criminal negligence in the mauling death of a 6-year-old boy.

Dr. Randall Lockwood, who holds a doctorate in comparative psychology of animal behavior, testified Wednesday for the prosecution in the misdemeanor trial in Gregg County Court of John Donald Shipman.

Shipman is being tried on a charge of injury to a child by criminal negligence in the death of Steven Fiengo.

Prosecutors contend the boy was mauled by a pack of part-breed pit bull terriers Jan. 22. The boy died Feb. 2 at Parkland Hospital in Dallas.

Shipman had at least seven pit bulls at his home the day the boy was mauled, witnesses have testified. Witnesses said the boy's mother was visiting Shipman, and the boy went outside to play. He was found a few minutes later, critically injured.

Lockwood, director of the higher education program for the Humane Society in Washington, D.C., said he has studied animals, particularly canines, for 10 years. He said he has been hired by several cities, utility companies and the U.S. Postal Service to study the behavior of biting dogs.

The typical victim of a fatal dog attack is a 5- to 9-year-old boy, he said.

"The most common factor in the fatal cases is that the victim fled, or was running past the dogs," he said.

Dogs regard small, moving objects as prey, Lockwood said.

He said dogs running in packs are especially dangerous, because they produce a "mob reaction." He said different tooth sizes shown in photographs of the wounded boy indicate four or five dogs were involved.

The house's occupants reported hearing no sound of the attack, and Lockwood said pit bulls, in videotapes taken by undercover agents at illegal dogfights, are "almost perfectly quiet" while fighting.

No one saw the attack on the boy, and defense attorney Daryll Bennett contends the prosecution cannot prove that Shipman's dogs were responsible. He raised the possibility that another dog, or a wolf, could have attacked the boy.

Lockwood, who has done studies of wolves in the Arctic, said wolves are extinct in East Texas. And besides, he said, contrary to popular myth, there has never been a documented case of a wolf biting a human.

Lockwood said that what East Texans consider to be wolves are actually coyotes.

010 LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR FLUID INJECTION WELL PERMIT

BHP Petroleum Co. Inc., 1300 One First City Center, 500 West Texas, Midland, Texas 79701 has applied to the Railroad Commission of Texas for a permit to inject fluid into a formation which is productive of oil or gas.

The applicant proposes to inject fluid into the Canyon Lime (Formation), Lion Diamond "M" Unit (Lease), Well Number D-9. The proposed injection well is located 10 miles SW of Snyder in the Diamond "M" (Canyon Lime area) Field, in Scurry County. Fluid will be injected into strata in the subsurface depth interval from 6749 to 6908 feet.

LEGAL AUTHORITY: Chapter 27 of the Texas Water Code, as amended, Title 3 of the Natural Resources Code, as amended, and the Statewide Rules of the Oil and Gas Division of the Railroad Commission of Texas.

Requests for a public hearing from persons who can show they are adversely affected, or requests for further information concerning any aspect of the application should be submitted in writing, within fifteen days of publication, to the Underground Injection Control Section, Oil and Gas Division, Railroad Commission of Texas, Drawer 12967, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711 (Telephone 512/445-1373).

Authors explore life in oil fields

MIDLAND, Texas (AP)— Calls are coming in from the international press to the Midland home of Roger and Diana Davids Olien.

"It's not what we expected when we got started," Diana Olien said recently.

The Oliens, a pair of historians, recently published their third book on the oil industry since 1978, "Life in the Oil Fields." A fourth is nearly finished, and a fifth is taking shape.

The recent bust in the oil economy has focused a great deal of attention on the Oliens. They have become known as resident experts on the history of oil.

Olien is a professor of regional and business history at the University of Texas of the Permian Basin, and Mrs. Olien is a research consultant.

Mrs. Olien said the fact she is from New York and her husband is from Wisconsin make the venture even more interesting, because oil field history was completely new to them. Olien received his Ph.D. from Brown University, and Mrs. Olien received her Ph.D from Yale University.

"Life in the Oil Fields," an oral history, is made up of "neat stories that the oldtimers tell," Mrs. Olien said. "It's about daily life. It's the only book about the oil fields I know of that has a chapter on sex, for example."

One excerpt on the subject of prostitution:

"Gus Keith: ... The gals, they had these brothels. They had a big plateglass window like a storefront, and they had a curtain behing them. There'd be two or three of those girls sitting behind there in a rocker or chair, waving and pecking on the window whenever anyone would walk down the street. It was wide open."

Other chapters cover boom towns, schooling, bootlegging and family life.

"We interviewed a lot of folks out here in Odessa and Monahans and Crane," she said.

Some other boomtowns described are Burkburnett, Borger, Beaumont, McCamey and Ranger.

What was life like in McCamey during the boom days?

"Allie V. Scott: In McCamey, they worked 24 hours a day. Everything stayed open 24 hours, the eating places and all, because the men worked night shifts and day shifts. I've seen my brother-in-law stay up 24 hours at the lumberyard. Businessmen usually had their living quarters at their place of business because of that. They worked Sunday."

Historic photographs accompany the written record, which brings readers from 1901 in Spindletop to the 1960s.

"It's a pretty good picture of what life was like," Mrs. Olien said. "To us, it's just as interesting as ranching and the cowboy past."

While there are some references to New Mexico and Oklahoma, the focus of the book is Texas. The authors have retained the original grammar and figures of speech of the people who tell the stories.

The Olien's next book is about land promoters in the first two decades of this century.

"They would sell you anything," Mrs. Olien said. "A membership in the League of Nations ... swamp land at the bottom of the Mississippi ... and people would buy into these guys' deals again and again and again."

Some scams still work, she said.

Obituaries

Pauline Lockhart

Graveside services for Pauline Moreland Lockhart, 86, of Snyder were held Wednesday at Snyder Cemetery. She died at home Wednesday. She was born Feb. 6, 1900 in Texas.

She was a Methodist and member of the First United Methodist Church.

Births

Andy and Alice Townes announce the adoption of a baby boy, Jacob Vernon, weighing six pounds and 15 ounces born on April 29.

He will be welcomed home by his brother, Joshua.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Townes of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hollis of Snyder.

Library planning operation change

Mitchell said plans to better use existing staff accounted for the Sunday closing. She noted the deterioriating condition of the bookmobile was the main reason for discontinuing its use.

Even though the library will now open an hour later, the staff will continue to arrive at 9 a.m., she said.

This time will be used for staff meetings and training plus office work and shelving.

She noted this will allow more staff time to work with library patrons during other times of the day.

The new schedule to be implemented June 1 will see the library open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. each Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

The Tuesday/Thursday schedule will have hours of operation from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Under the new schedule, the library will be open a total of 54 hours each week as opposed to the 60 hours it now operates.

The new schedule is expected to cut library utility costs also.

Regarding the discontinuing of the Bookmobile service to Hermleigh, Mitchell said the vehicle was 30 years old and any necessary major repair would have sidelined it in the future. The two staff members who operated it will now be utilized at the library in Snyder.

According to her, it was a "logical place to start with budget cuts."

Mitchell said she hopes the new closing on Sunday will not discourage anyone from using the library's facilities, adding she hopes the extra evening hour Tuesday and Thursday will make up for this.

Mitchell points out that circulation of library materials was up 28 percent in 1985 over 1984. She said it is continuing to rise in 1986. The first quarter of 1986 was up 13 percent over the first quarter of last year.

"This is strictly book circulation and does not include the many other services we offer, such as reference, children's programs, and audio-visual use."

She notes that all areas of library use are up.

The changes in the library schedule were passed at the May 6 meeting of the Scurry County Library Board and will be reevaluated Jan. 1, 1987.

Arrests noted

Police logged five misdemeanor arrests Wednesday evening.

One man was jailed for unlawfully carrying a weapon while four were arrested for being intoxicated on a premises licensed to sell alcohol.

Grass fire doused

Firemen extinguished a grass fire north of the city late Wednesday night.

Units were dispatched to a grass fire on the Santa Fe right-of-way about 14 miles northwest of Snyder at 11:41 p.m.

Minor wrecks worked locally

Police investigated two minor accidents in the city Wednesday.

Involved in the first — at 7:56 a.m. at the intersection of 25th St. and College Ave. — were a 1980 Chevrolet driven by Miguel Dominguez Aguirre of 610 34th St. and a 1985 Chevrolet driven by Marsha Jo Falls of 4500 Ave. U.

The day's second mishap occurred at 4:16 p.m. in the 400 Block of 30th St.

Involved in it were a 1979 Volvo driven by Kelly Annette Farquhar of 206 36th St. and a 1984 Ford driven by Angel Villenueva Sr. of 402 30th St.

City officers also concluded an investigation Wednesday of a minor mishap which occurred Tuesday.

Involved in it were a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Heidi Marie Lee of the apartments at 4400 Ave. U and a 1976 Ford driven by Mark Laroy Arrendale of the apartments at 4400 Ave. U.

The mishap occurred on the apartment parking lot Tuesday but police could not contact one of the drivers until Wednesday morning.

No injuries were reported in any of the three mishaps.

Thousands of screaming fans were at New York's Kennedy Airport Feb. 7, 1964, to welcome The Beatles rock group on its first American tour.

IN MEMORY OF--East fifth graders in LaNell Rambin's and Becky Cottrell's classes planted a pecan tree in memory of Roy Nazworth, the school's custodian who died earlier this year. Reagan vetoes arms deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan has finally vetoed a congressional resolution blocking a $354 million missile sale to Saudi Arabia, and Senate opponents delayed an override vote when they realized they couldn't defeat the White House.

The veto was received late Wednesday afternoon, only minutes before the Senate adjourned for a Memorial Day recess. Had Reagan not delivered the veto by midnight Wednesday, the sale would have been halted because the disapproval resolution passed by Congress would have automatically become law.

Final 1611 vote is 'for' project

ficials will provide the deed to county commissioners who will then make an offer to the property owners.

Should the owners accept the offer, work can be contracted and begun.

Property owners have indicated a provision in a will which deeded the property to them will prevent them from voluntarily selling the property, however.

If the offer is indeed rejected, county officials must initiate condemnation proceedings in 132nd District Court to obtain a right-of-way across the property. Judge Gene Dulaney will appoint three members to a special commission to decide the property's value.

Walker noted that the judge may appoint anyone he wishes to the commission as long as the three are residents of the county and own property. He added that traditionally the district judge will appoint someone suggested by the commissioners and someone of the property owner's choosing.

Officials from the state department will meet with the commissioners and the owners to accept or reject the commission's findings. If any party disagrees to the amount, the case could go before a district court jury.

On the date the special commission determines the property's value, the state can begin construction of the road within 10 days.

After Thursday's meeting, Gray added, "The road is needed. I wish it would have been possible not to cross anybody's property or in front of anybody's house, but it wasn't."

During the session, Gray offered a motion to make a resolution asking the state highway department to consider extending FM 1611 south again to change county road 333 from a county maintained road to a farm-to-market road to be maintained by the state. The motion passed unanimously.

In his veto message, Reagan said blocking the sale would "damage our vital strategic, political and economic interests in the Middle East" and also would "undermine our balanced policy in that region."

The attempt by opponents of the sale to override the veto will be made after the Senate convenes again June 2.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., leader of the opposition, told his colleagues shortly before adjournment, "We would lose today. I have no idea how the vote will come out in June, but we will work to win."

Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., a supporter of the sale, agreed with Cranston's view, saying, "I believe we have the votes to sustain the veto and uphold the president's position."

But Dole said the override attempt was put off because opponents would have filibustered. Senate rules permit unlimited debate and make it difficult to muster the votes to cut off a filibuster.

Cranston and Dole agreed Reagan had picked up votes in his fight to win approval of the arms deal, but Cranston said his side faced defeat only because six opponents had already left Washington for the recess.

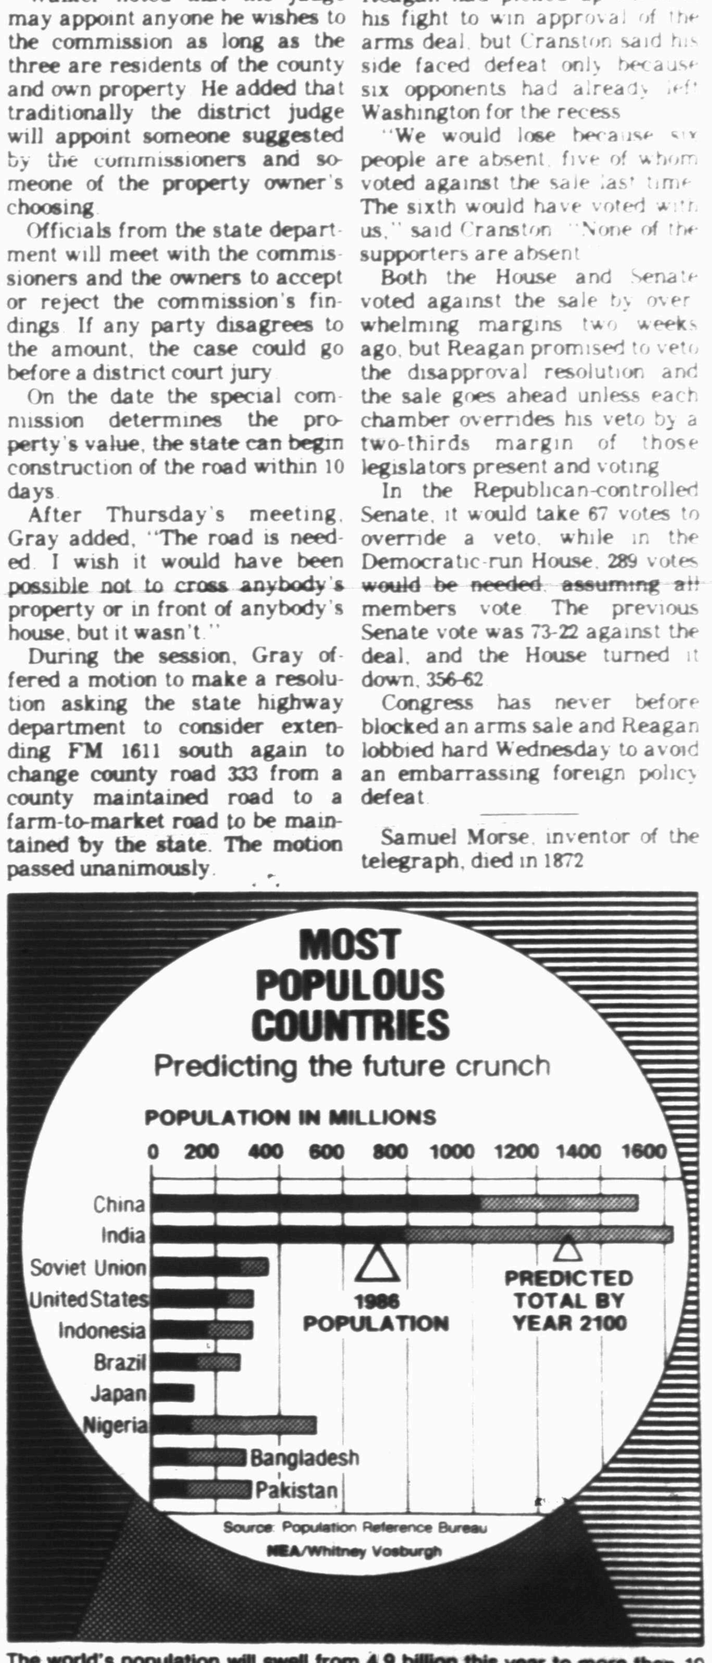

"We would lose because six people are absent, five of whom voted against the sale last time. The sixth would have voted with us," said Cranston. "None of the supporters are absent."

Both the House and Senate voted against the sale by overwhelming margins two weeks ago, but Reagan promised to veto the disapproval resolution and the sale goes ahead unless each chamber overrides his veto by a two-thirds margin of those legislators present and voting.

In the Republican-controlled Senate, it would take 67 votes to override a veto, while in the Democratic-run House, 289 votes would be needed, assuming all members vote. The previous Senate vote was 73-22 against the deal, and the House turned it down, 356-62.

Congress has never before blocked an arms sale and Reagan lobbied hard Wednesday to avoid an embarrassing foreign policy defeat.

Samuel Morse, inventor of the telegraph, died in 1872.

The world's population will swell from 4.9 billion this year to more than 10 billion by the year 2100, with most of that growth occurring in China, India and the poorer countries.

Higher failures feared

HOUSTON (AP) — A tougher state grading standard will send a record number of students back to repeat grades, resulting in overcrowded Houston schools, especially in the middle grades, school officials say.

One-third of the eighth graders at one already overcrowded middle school are failing to meet the new state-required 70 average in all courses, according to a preliminary report.

School officials said Tuesday that other Houston schools may have an even higher rate of failing students.

Any district-wide figures on student failures will not be available until the final grades are determined after the end of this spring's last grading period, district administrators said.

The state's new promotion standards, which went into effect this year, call for 70 to be a passing grade throughout the state instead of a D average.

But officials said another new rule, calling for students to be graded numerically, instead of by letter grade, could cause many of the failures.

Under numerical grading, "one bad class can cause the student to flunk although he is passing other classes," said John Taylor, an official with the district's student data division. Taylor said he expects youngsters at the middle school to be hit hardest.

For example, a middle student who receives a 50 in one class and a 70 in other classes would fail and have to be held back, Taylor said.

Thrift case trial begins

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — The shaky financial condition of a Hereford savings association prompted federal officials to launch a major investigation into its operations in early 1983, a former Federal Home Loan Bank Board examiner testified during a fraud conspiracy trial.

The bank board decided to pore over the books of Hi-Plains Savings and Loan after a preliminary investigation revealed it had accepted time-share paper as collateral for transfers of large sums of money to a Dallas business, Charles S. Taylor testified Wednesday during the second day of a criminal trial in U.S. District Court in Amarillo.

Taylor said the in-depth investigation that began in January 1983 revealed the S&L had violated federal regulations on at least two occasions in transactions involving the two men who are standing trial on charges of fraud conspiracy and misapplication of millions of dollars.

According to previous testimony, James Gentry, chief executive officer of the S&L in January 1983, ordered other association officials to transfer large sums of money to accounts controlled by W.W. "Doc" Taylor, on W.W. Taylor's promise to re-pay the association with time-share paper.

W.W. Taylor and Gentry were charged in a Jan. 8 federal indictment returned here with conspiring to defraud Hi-Plains.

Hand-holding celebrities join Hands Across America

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Celebrities ranging from Kenny Rogers to Yoko Ono to Mickey Mouse and Goofy will be among millions of Americans holding Hands Across America on Sunday in an effort to raise money for the nation's hungry.

Mickey Mouse and Goofy will join 1,320 Disneyland employees, 20,000 people will snake through the Magic Kingdom and TV preacher Robert Schuller's flock will watch the line meander through the nearby Crystal Cathedral.

The Monkees, the revived 1960s music group, will be in Pennsylvania, Oprah Winfrey of "The Color Purple" and magician David Copperfield will be in Ohio, and Dionne Warwick will be in New Jersey. Liza Minelli, Michael Douglas, Susan Anton, Gregory Hines and Edward Olmos will be holding hands in New York.

Ken Kragen, organizer of USA for Africa and Hands Across America, will anchor the 4,152-mile line from its starting point in New York City's Battery Park, while 8,000 non-celebrities will anchor the other end by forming a Hands Across America logo with balloons alongside the Queen Mary in Long Beach.

Stormy day prompts changes

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — American Airlines Inc. has adopted a new operations and communications system to lessen delays and flight cancellations in stormy weather, the airline announced.

The changes were spurred by chaos created by storms April 19 near Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport. On that day, 32 flights were diverted to other airports, 56 inbound and 74 outbound flights were canceled and passengers aboard 30 parked planes waited more than four hours for available gates.

"It was a classic spring thunderstorm," said Robert W. Baker, the Dallas-based airline's senior vice president-operations.

Judge denies stay for TDC inmate

CORSICANA, Texas (AP) — Convicted killer Jose Moises Guzmon, scheduled to die by injection early Friday morning, is seeking a stay from the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin after a district judge denied granting him a reprieve.

Guzmon, 23, was convicted of capital murder for the Feb. 4, 1984, shooting death of 62-year-old Henry Finch of Fort Worth. Finch was killed at a service station on Interstate 45 south of Corsicana.

The inmate's lawyers contended the inmate had incompetent trial attorneys and an incompetent interpreter, but State District Judge Kenneth Douglas denied their request for a stay Wednesday. Guzmon is a Salvadoran who speaks little English.
