Collectors' Item Falls Into Hands Of Oltonites

Strictly for the birds -- education and a widely recognized ornithologist during 54 years of imprisonment -- 42 of which were spent in solitary confinement.

Starring Burt Lancaster, the movie illustrates the rehabilitation of Stroud as he became interested in a baby sparrow which he found in the prison courtyard following a storm. Separated from all other men, he cared for the wee bird. The biographic movie goes on to show how he used his initiative to create a drinking tub for the little bird from a pop bottle which he got from his guard, polishing it to satin smoothness on the concrete floor of his cell.

Scenes portrayed, too, how Stroud caught roaches in his cell to feed to his tiny feathered companion.

Then one day Stroud asked for an apple crate on which the guard was sitting. Carefully, patiently, he shaped tiny strips of wood. Each narrow strip was polished smooth on the concrete floor.

Murrice and Marie have not made definite plans about how they will use the new possession -- perhaps they will leave it just as it is or, Murrice's been thinking, they may light it with a small bulb.

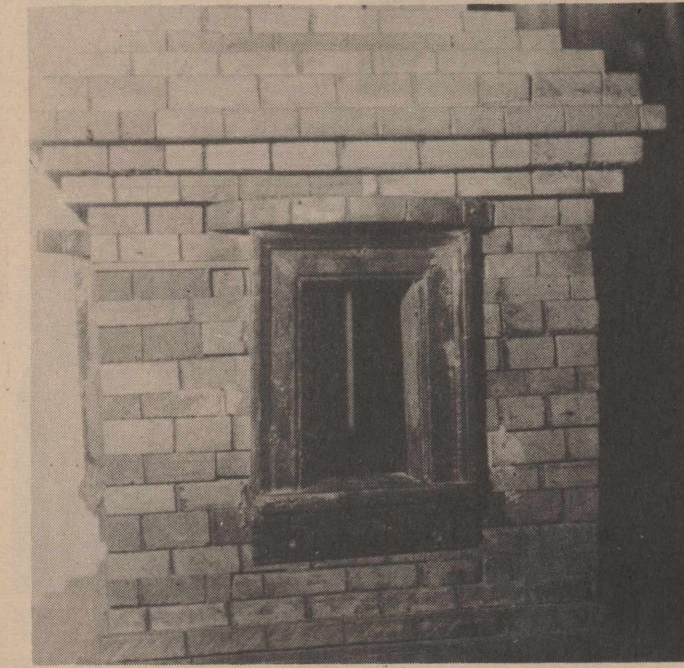

And yet, whatever its future use, the bird castle will always be impressive. And those who see it and know the story of Robert Stroud will marvel at the hours which were spent in its creation.

"Think of the time it must have taken," they'll marvel. Time was all Stroud had.

Thanksgiving Dinner Planned

Women's Clubs of Olton will sponsor a Thanksgiving Dinner Friday, Nov. 7, prior to the Olton-Friona football game.

Turkey, dressing and all the trimmings will be served from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m. in the school cafeteria. Tickets are $1.75 for adults and 75 cents for children.

METICULOUS MASONRY -- This close-up shows how carefully Stroud fashioned the tiny strips of wood into blocks. Each little strip is wood burned to mark individual "bricks." (STAFF PHOTO)

Saturday Drawings Planned, Miss Christmas To Be Named

Plans are being finalized by the Retail Trades Committee of the local Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture for the drawings which will be held each Saturday prior to the Christmas holidays.

Percy Parsons, manager of the CCA, said that a meeting had been set up for the 20 sponsoring merchants Friday morning in order to work out the final details of the promotion.

A drawing will be held each week for a gift certificate worth a specified amount which will be spent with the participating merchants.

First week's drawing will be for $100 total, splitting it three ways, $50, $30 and $20. Each week $25 will be added to the money and divided three ways each Saturday. Dec. 20, the last Saturday before Christmas, the drawing will coincide with the crowning of the Miss Christmas of 1969. Three drawings will be held for the remainder of the money in the drawing, one at 2 p.m., one at 3 p.m., and another at 4 p.m.

No purchase is necessary to receive tickets for the drawing. The merchants who are participating will give tickets to their customers and the tickets will be placed in a box in their store. They will later be pooled together for the drawing.

The person who has his ticket drawn as a winning ticket must be present to win.

Sponsoring merchants include Walter's Dept. Store, Kelley's, Duncan's, White Auto, Howell's Flowers, J. C. Jones Co., Consumers, Bizzell's, Don's Super Market, Givens Texaco, Jeffrey Lumber, C. H. Bley's Service Station, Leon's Grocery, Northside Gift Shop, Olton State Bank, Olton Enterprise, Olton Drug, Raines Grocery, Thompson Chevrolet, and Zakka's Dept. Store.

Citrus Fruits Being Sold By Local FFA

Orders for grapefruit and oranges are still being taken by members of Future Farmers of America, according to John Paul Jones, vocational agriculture teacher.

The fruit will arrive from the valley about one week before the Christmas holidays. It is grown by Lindsey Dennis and he will go to the valley to ship the fruit back to Olton.

All orders placed through the FFA will be delivered. Price is $4.95 per box for oranges and grapefruit, alike.

Sherman Wins This Week, Lady Guesser Still Ahead

Basil Sherman was the winner of last week's Enterprise grid contest with only the Dallas Cowboys spoiling his entry. He was the only contestant to miss just one game. His tie-breaker pick was 14 to 23, eight points off the score.

Season leader, Norene Roberson picks up second place with two misses and only six points off the tie-breaker. She predicted the score to be 15-22. Charles Didway of Post was right behind, missing two games and eight points off with his tie-breaker guess of 14-21.

T. J. Roberson was the only other two game contestant to miss two games. He was 20 points off with his tie-breaker pick of 8-15.

The Cowboys and Browns upset not only this week's winners -- only two persons, of the 93 who entered this week's contest, picked the Browns to win.

Mrs. Roberson picked up a little gap in the standings this week and now leads the season with 100 correct picks. Tied for second place, Don Franks and Basil Sherman each have 97 correct guesses. T. J. Roberson has 96 points.

A top competitor, little four-year-old Trent Sharp of Sunray, son of former Mustang coach and Mrs. Grady Sharp, only five points back, with 95 picks, has been inadvertently omitted from the standings for two weeks. Tied with Trent is Ruth Franks.

Only two more chances are left in the contest. Anyone can still win one of the weekly prizes in either of those contests. Pick up an Oct. 30 Enterprise and try your luck. Contestants with 90 points or more are listed in the Season's Standings on page 7.

Presbyterian Church Opens

The doors of Olton's Cumberland Presbyterian Church were opened Sunday for the first time since June of this year.

Illnesses and other obstacles in the church families had resulted in the small membership congregation becoming inactive for a period.

Bible study will be conducted each Sunday morning at 9:45 a. m. and the public is cordially invited. Plans are to close the study hour in time for anyone to attend preaching services at one of the other local churches.

The congregation hopes to grow in number sufficient to be able to support a pastor before too long.

Anyone not attending Sunday School or Bible study each Sunday morning is invited to meet with the group for prayer and study. Visitors are welcome at any service.

Sunday's study will be the third chapter of Lamentations.

Nurse Asks For Used Clothing

Good used clothing for boys and girls is badly needed, reports Miss Leta Bell, school nurse. There is need for all sizes for children in grades one through junior high.

Especially needed for boys are coats, pants and shoes. The most needed girl's clothing is coats.

Anyone with good used clothing is asked to take the items to Miss Bell's office in the elementary building.

Frank Struve Named Director Of Local District

Frank Struve was elected director of the board of Lamb County Soil and Water Conservation District at a meeting Monday morning in Hamill's Restaurant.

A farmer in the Olton area for many years, he also raises cattle on his sandhill range-land property.

Struve succeeds Merrill Brigrance, whose term of office expires this month. Brigrance has served in all positions on the board of directors of this district and represented the district on a tour of the Good-year Farms in Arizona when the district won first place in Texas in 1966 and 1967.

TED CASTLEBERRY

The city council held a called meeting last Thursday night for the purpose of reviewing 14 applications for the job of city marshal for Olton.

Ted Castleberry, 33, of Amarillo was hired by the councilmen and will assume his duties Monday or sooner, provided he is able to locate a home here.

Castleberry was hired for the position which was vacated with the resignation of Loyd Blackwell, last June. Blackwell, who had served the city as chief of police for about one year, returned to his old position as bus mechanic for the schools. He had replaced Henry Ogletree prior to serving as bus mechanic.

Castleberry and his wife, Carole Sue have two children, Deena Lee, 8-year-old second grade student and Susan Marie, five years of age.

They are members of the Baptist Church, in which they are very active and Mrs. Castleberry is active in Girl Scout work.

To Overseas Servicemen

Local Postmaster Urges Patrons To Send Christmas Mail Soon

A "Mail Early Campaign" is being stressed by the U. S. Postal Department, and L. B. Holt Sr., Postmaster, has released pertinent dates and specifications as required by the Postal Department in getting Christmas mail to servicemen overseas on time.

Periods designated for mailing Christmas parcels overseas to members of the Armed Forces include:

1. Surface transportation, BEFORE Nov. 8.
2. SAM (Space Available Parcel Airlift) BEFORE Nov. 22.
3. PAL (Parcel Air Lift) BEFORE Nov. 29.
4. Airmail - Dec. 1 to Dec. 13.

"The term 'Armed Forces Overseas' includes personnel of the Armed Forces, members of their families, and U. S. civilians employed overseas who receive their mail through an APO or FPO, New York, San Francisco or Seattle," Holt said.

"All articles should be packed in boxes of wood, metal, solid fiberboard, or strong double faced corrugated fiber-board, and well tied with strong cord. All fiberboard boxes should be securely wrapped in heavy paper to strengthen the package," he continued.

"Sufficient cushioning material should be used to prevent any rattling or loosening of articles within the package. Unless tightly filled, boxes are likely to be crushed.

"In addition to the articles normally prohibited in the mail, matches of all kinds and lighter fluid may not be mailed to overseas military addresses. Cigarettes, other tobacco products, coffee and various other items are prohibited in parcels.

"Addresses must be legible and complete, and should be prepared by typewriter or pen and ink. The APO and FPO numbers are the same as the zip code and must be shown.

"The domestic rates of postage are applicable, and postage must be fully prepaid. Airmail articles weighing seven ounces or less will go at the rate of 10 cents per ounce.

"Parcels paid at surface postage rates not exceeding five pounds in weight and not more than 60 inches in length and girth combined, will be air-lifted (SAM) on a space available basis from the port of dispatch shown in the address to the overseas military post office.

"Upon payment of a fee of $1 in addition to the regular surface rate of postage, a parcel not exceeding 30 pounds in weight or 60 inches in length and girth combined, will be transported by air (PAL) on a space available basis from the place of mailing," Holt concluded.

Last One For Nine

Mustangs Meet Chieftains In Final Game Of Season

Friona invades Olton this week for the final game of the season for Olton.

The Chieftains will be out to try and avenge a 28-0 defeat by Olton last year.

Friona hasn't won very many games this year but they have played every team real well.

They led Floydada 8-0 at the half of their game only to fall behind in the second half.

Coach Jerry Blakely presented nine senior players to the booster club Monday night. He said that these boys had really contributed a lot to the team this year.

He said that the Friona game will be a tough one and like always the Mustangs will be facing a bigger line and some real good running backs.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. here in Olton.

President Nixon's statement that he will persist in applying "bitter medicine" until inflation is brought under control was timely and necessary.

One reason inflation has continued is that there hasn't been widespread conviction that the federal government is determined to maintain firm measures needed to halt runaway inflation. The President also should be applauded for his decision to reject wage and price controls and the imposition of guidelines. Wage and price controls would create black markets, disrupt production, and apply a brake to investment in industry -- the source of new jobs in the United States. As for guidelines, these were tried during the Johnson administration and proved to be a farce.

President Nixon's choice of White House economic counselor, Arthur H. Burns, as successor to William McCh. Martin, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, is another good sign. Mr. Burns believes that the government must have the will to resist inflation.

To be sure, Mr. Nixon can't single-handedly turn back the tide of inflation. The Congress, as a coordinate branch of the federal government, bears a vital responsibility in the anti-inflation struggle. Money bills arise in the House of Representatives, and the flow of these bills must be curbed if inflation is to be curbed.

All too often members of Congress urge individuals and business to reduce unnecessary spending so as to slow down inflation. But Big Government is the biggest spender of all. Unfortunately, there are powerful liberal blocs in both houses of Congress who are wedded to the notion that the country can spend its way into prosperity. Members of these blocs are busy devising programs that would undermine President Nixon's anti-inflation program. For example, a huge expansion of the free food stamp plan was recently approved in the Senate.

The sponsors of this legislation no doubt regard themselves as humanitarians. But it isn't humanitarian to add to the cost of the government, to pour fuel on the fires of inflation and, thereby, to weaken the U. S. dollar.

When Americans consider the high cost of living, they should look at the most expensive item there is -- the cost of government. People worry about the cost of food and complain about increases. But consumers now are spending less than 17 per cent of disposable dollars -- after taxes -- for food items. Thirty years ago that food took 25 per cent. Thirty years ago, however, federal taxes took only 9 percent of the national income. Today, 26 percent of this income goes for federal taxes.

Too much money is going into the operation of government at all levels. The proponents of big government spending first became entrenched in Washington. They are still there. But the big spenders also are to be found at the state, county and municipal level. Taxes in these areas are growing at an enormous rate, as taxpayers can readily testify. Every layer of bureaucracy in the United States now proclaims alleged "needs" of their government departments and agencies.

One frequently hears the statement from government officials, in and out of Washington, that the public "must" spend this or that amount on a particular program. The truth is that the end of the world won't come if government spending is curbed. On the contrary, the real danger of collapse comes from continuation of public spending at a high rate.

Inflation is but the first step towards devaluation of the dollar. Year by year, the dollar's purchasing power has declined because government is spending more money than it has. The liberals may fool many people at home into thinking inflation is compatible with a sound dollar, but the world at large won't be fooled. One day, Americans will wake up and find out that the world has stopped accepting the dollar at its present value, and insists on formal devaluation.

That's what has happened with the British pound on two occasions since the end of World War II. On each occasion, millions of Britons lost a percentage of their savings. Their pension and life insurance plans and hopes were cruelly altered by devaluation. Those who thought they had enough to get by learned that they didn't have enough income after devaluation.

Well, it could happen here. The devaluation of the dollar, as a result of inflation, would strike a massive blow at the American economic system. It could cause untold hardship for millions of people. This is why it is imperative that the Congress and the state legislatures and governors -- and local governing bodies -- support Mr. Nixon's anti-inflation measures.

Every layer of government must adopt a balanced budget.

Sue's Views

Football & Halloween

BY SUE CANNON

Well, okay, are you ready? I guess you are expecting me to blast out about the Floydade-Olton game. And I sure wouldn't want to disappoint anyone.

After seeing the film Monday night, I got a whole lot madder! I know that probably sounds like a sore loser, but when I can see that the referees call something wrong-- anyone should be able to! Especially since I don't know the first thing about the rules of the game.

Even though our Mustangs were beaten on the scoreboard, there aren't enough people in this world to convince me that they were not the best team on the field, considering everything.

Then there was this matter of eggs and ice being thrown at our band! That just about takes the cake! Talk about being rude. It just shows that those kids weren't very disciplined or they would have never done such a thing.

I'm very proud of all our young people. After all the rotten deals that were dished out that night, they came away without incident, which was mighty big of them.

And now for a brighter side of this little meeting with Floydade. As most of you know, I get dressed for the occasion when I am taking pictures at a football game...mainly my red insulated coveralls.

Well, some little kids from Floydade spotted me and heard one of them say, "Look at fatty out there in those red britches!"

Ah Ha! I just ignored them! After all, it's the truth that hurts!

will help me reap the wheat?" asked the little Red Hen. "Not I," said the cow. "Not I," said the duck. "Out of my classification," said the Pig. "I'd lose my ADC (Aid to Dependent Children)," said the Goose.

When it came time to bake the bread, "That's overtime for me," said the cow. "I'm a dropout and never learned how," said the duck. "I'd lose my welfare benefits," said the pig. "If I'm the only one helping that's discrimination," said the Goose.

"Then I will," said the Little Red Hen--and she did. She baked five loaves of fine bread.

"I want some," said the cow. "I want some," said the duck. "I want some," said the pig. "I demand my share," said the goose.

"No," said the Little Red Hen. "I can rest for awhile and eat five loaves myself." "Excess profits," cried the cow. "Capitalistic leech!" screamed the duck. "Company fink," screamed the goose. "Equal right," grunted the pig.

And they hurriedly painted signs and marched around the Little Red Hen singing "We shall overcome." And they did. For when the Farmer came to investigate the commotion, he said "You must not be greedy Little Red Hen. Look at the oppressed cow. Look at the disadvantaged duck. Look at the underprivileged pig. Look at the less fortunate goose. You are guilty of making second-class citizens of them!"

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

My better half sometimes tells me, "You'd complain if you were going to be hung with a new rope."

Well, you can just know I would. I'll admit, a writer (???) shouldn't use his (or her) column as an outlet for his (or her) latest gripe.

But that's about the only place I can do it without interruption so —

My fuss, this week, is with trash literature!

Just before our Kansas City trip, Son Number One was assigned a book report on a particular book. (The entire class was assigned the same book.) The catch was that no one had been able to locate a copy and everyone was waiting on shipment to the college bookstore.

Now, we'd noticed this newsstand-like shop near the Municipal Auditorium so while Son Number One was in a meeting, Mother and I thought we'd look for his book.

I can't begin to estimate how many paper back books the place had — counters were so close there was not passing room if you'd had a big dinner.

I've never seen so many books and I think that 99 and forty-four one hundredths percent were IM-pure.

To call them "trash" is not sufficient. They were vile!

A bookworm for most of my "21-ab-hum" years, I've thought it almost sacrilegious to destroy a book but that place would have made the loveliest fire.

And now for a frivolous bit

Did you ever hear these little "proverbs"? "A good wife always helps the husband with the dishes."

"A successful marriage is usually the result of a good understanding. The husband understands what the wife wants and goes after it."

MRS. DOUGLAS LAWYER

Cook Of The Week

Favorite recipes are shared this week by a relative newcomer, Mrs. Douglas Lawyer, who moved with her family to Olton in June when her husband became pastor of Main Street Church of Christ.

Groundnut Stew is a dish the family learned to enjoy when they lived in Nigeria. Charla and Doug served five years on the mission field in Nigeria, in the territory now known as Biafra. One of their daughters, eight-year-old Cindi, was born in Nigeria.

The other daughters are Shauna, 13, Tami, 10, and Keri, 18 months. Charla's father was a bus driver and she grew up "all over" Arkansas and Louisiana. She still loves to travel - an interest shared by Doug. The two plan lots of traveling for their retirement years or when the girls are grown and in homes of their own.

The busy life of a minister's wife leaves her little time for hobbies but Charla confides she enjoys an occasional crossword puzzle. For the present, however, her number one hobby is "keeping my family happy."

Charla teaches the younger women's Ladies Bible Class on Wednesday mornings. She also helps her husband with office work at the church and types stencils for the weekly church bulletin.

GUESS THE SCORE ON THIS GAME

TIE-BREAKER--Dimmitt VS. Floydada

District Hopes Blown Away By Winds

Olton came within one minute and 17 seconds of winning their bout with Floydada Friday night.

Guard Greg Campbell kicked a 17-yard field goal with 1:17 remaining on the clock to give Floydada their eighth victory of the year.

Olton led at halftime 21 to 13 only to have the Whirlwinds to go ahead in the final quarter of play.

Carlos Talamantez received the opening kickoff of the game for Olton and returned it 17 yards to the Olton 37. On the very first play from scrimmage Olton fumbled and Floydada recovered on the Olton 40. Floydada's big fullback Frank Watson got two hard yards to the Olton 38. On second down Selman got a first down at the Olton 21.

Facing second down Whirlwind quarterback Jack Gregory passed to end Mike Moore going into the end zone for the first score of the game. Campbell kicked the extra point to give Floydada a 7-0 lead. However, this lead did not last for long.

Olton received the kickoff with Pete Rivera returning it 18 yards to the Olton 33. On first down Stockdale was dropped for a loss back to the Olton 25. Second down found Ronnie Sanders bulling his way for four yards to the 29.

Facing third down Stockdale passed to end Mickey Crowder going up the side 66 yards to the Floydada five. Crowder was finally pushed out of bounds by one of the speedy Floydada defenders. Sanders got three yards to the Whirlwind two on first down. On second down

Sanders went into the end zone for the score.

Stockdale kicked the tying extra point to lock the game up at 7-7 with 8:33 remaining in the first quarter of play.

Mitchell received Olton's kickoff and returned it to the Floydada 42. Olton's defensive unit held the much larger Whirlwinds allowing them only three yards in three plays.

Floydada punted on fourth down with the punt traveling to the Olton 17.

The Gallant Mustangs used 10 plays in this drive to the Whirlwind goal line. Ronnie Sanders picked up a first down at the Olton 30. Stockdale passed to Luis Rey for nine yards at the 39. Facing second and one, Stockdale circled out and finding no one open he scooted around the right end for the first down at the Floydada 44.

Next Sanders charged around the left end to the Floydada 27 and another first down.

An incomplete pass set the stage for Stockdale who passed to end Mickey Crowder, playing his best game of the year who snared the pass at the Floydada 11.

Olton with a first down at the 11 had Floydada's back to the wall. Stockdale moved the ball to the six. Sanders plowed his way to the six. Stockdale charged into the end zone only to have the ball knocked out of his hands and recovered by Bull Durham for the Olton touchdown.

Stockdale rolled out to his right and as the Floydada defender came out after him, he passed to Carlos Talamantez for the two point conversion, giving Olton a 15-7 lead with 3:24 left in the first quarter.

Olton kicked off with Floydada returning the kickoff to the Wind 44. Olton's tough defense allowed only eight yards to their opponents forcing a fourth down punt which traveled to the Olton 16.

Floydada dropped Stockdale for a loss on second down back to the Olton 6. With third down and long yardage needed Olton punted out to their own 47. On first down Gregory tried the long pass to his end only to have Olton's Mike Parsons break up the play. A second pass fell incomplete and Olton's Gary Durham and Marlos May dropped the Whirlwind quarterback for a loss on the next play back to the Wind 46. On fourth down Floydada punted to the Olton eight.

Olton was unable to pick up a first down and punted out to the Floydada 37 on fourth down.

Luis Rey intercepted Floydada's first down pass at the Olton 49 to put the Mustangs on the march once more. Olton Mustangs used nine plays in moving to the Whirlwind 25. Facing fourth down at the 25 Stockdale faded back looking for his receivers.

The Whirlwinds poured through after him only to find that they had been fooled, as he passed to Sanders on the screen pass and Sanders romped to the Floydada nine before being brought down.

The hard running Sanders got five more yards to the four and Stockdale three to the one. Sanders dove in for the T.D. from one yard out boosting Olton's lead to 21-7. Extra point try failed with 3:56 still showing on the clock in the second period of play.

Floydada returned the kickoff seven yards to their own 37. The Winds picked up a first down at the Olton 49.

On first down Gary Durham, Mickey Crowder and Marlos May dropped the quarterback for a loss back on the Floydada 44. But they got it right back as Gregory passed to his end at the Olton 44. Harris gained to the 41 to give the Winds a fourth and two situation.

Floydada's big fullback got the first down at the Olton 38. With 0:47 remaining in the first half of play Floydada's Gregory passed to halfback Selman who out ran the Olton defenders into the end zone for the T.D. Floydada's extra point try failed with Olton still in the lead 21 to 13.

Olton kicked off to Floydada to start the third period of play. The Whirlwinds gained a first down at their 31 on a pass from Gregory to Moore. But Olton's small defenders did it again as they held the larger Floydada team forcing them to punt from their own 35.

Olton was on the march again as they traveled from their 31 to a first down at the 44. On first down Sanders picked up six more yards to the 50 yard marker and it looked as if Olton was on the way again. But on second down Olton fumbled and Floydada recovered on the Olton 46.

Floydada lost three yards on first down back to the 49. Second down found the Whirlwinds passing with Olton intercepting.

Joe Dale Chitwood intercept-

TOUCHDOWN! -- And Olton fans went wild! Ronnie Sanders had just gone over for six points for the first touchdown of the night, close on the heels of one made by Floydada. Extra points were racked up by a pass from Stockdale to Talamantez.

ted the pass and returned it to the Olton 49 before being tackled out of bounds.

Stockdale was dropped for a loss on first down and Olton came up short of a first, having to punt on fourth down.

The third quarter ended with each team punting to each other twice. Each team swapped punts early in the fourth quarter before Floydada scored on a squirrely pass play.

Hale passed to Puckett who had outran his defender going down the side line for the T.D. Floydada tried a pass for the extra points only to have Pete Rivera intercept for Olton.

After the kickoff Floydada intercepted the first down pass at the Olton 38. But three plays later Ronnie Truelock put the pressure on the Floydada quarterback and Joe Dale Chitwood had his second interception of the night for Olton, on the Olton seven.

As Chitwood made the interception a nearby official gave the indication of a Floydada touchdown but later signaled different as he learned that Olton had the ball and that it was on the seven yard line instead of in the end zone.

Olton got off a short punt on third down giving Floydada possession on the Olton 36. Floydada gained to the Olton 30 before passing to Fullback Watson at the Olton 13 for a first down.

Selman moved to the six. Olton's tough little guys held the large Floydada crew to the five forcing fourth down and two needed for the first.

Floydada lined up for a field goal try. Floydada's center moved the ball and Olton charged to block the kick only to be called off sides by the guys in striped shirts.

With the penalty Floydada got a first down at the Olton two and a half yard marker. Three tries by their supposedly unstoppable fullback Watson the ball was still short of the goal line.

With the ball on the one Floydada's Campbell kicked the field goal to give Floydada the one point win, and that was the ball game.

Origins Of Words

At least two different stories exist concerning the origin of the term "hush puppies," those deep-fried bits of corn meal batter traditionally served with fish.

The most commonly accepted of the two theories goes back to the days immediately following the War Between the States. Food was very scarce in the South; however, corn and corn meal in various guises were abundant.

It became a common practice for mothers to fry bits of corn batter to extend the inadequate food supply. Indeed, this dish was often served by itself to hungry children and their hungry dogs, accompanied with the words, "Hush, child. Hush, puppy!"

Have you wondered why the tomato is sometimes called the love apple? The tasty vegetable was taken from America by Spaniards back to their homeland. Before long the near-by Italians started growing tomatoes.

Since the plant was strange to them, had fruit the color of apples, and came to them from Spain, they called it "pomme dei Mori." The English translation of the term is "apple of the Moors." (The Moors ruled over Spain for centuries.)

Then the French people got the tomato, and the Italian term "pomme dei Mori" now evolved into "pomme d'amour" (apple of love).

This was an error in translation, of course; but since the French at this time thought that the vegetable was poisonous and was good for decorative purposes only, and since many of them viewed romantic love as being quite deadly, perhaps the translation made sense to them.

TO LUBBOCK Mrs. Ineta Dennis attended a demonstration of cosmetics in Lubbock Monday. She was accompanied to that city by her daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. E. J. Houston and Denise. Also going to Lubbock with Mrs. Dennis were her sister, Mrs. Howard Hall, and Mrs. Dorothy Kendall.

FIRST SECRETARY The first secretary of agriculture, Norman J. Colman of Missouri, was appointed in 1889 by President Grover Cleveland.

Junior High Footballers Out Run Abernathy

Olton's 7th and 8th graders finally put two together as they say. They defeated Abernathy's 7th grade 30-0 and the 8th 14-10.

Clarence Johnson led the way for the 7th with three T.D. runs of 20, 30 and 60 yards. Jimmy Parker scored on a run of 55 yards and ran for six extra points to give Olton a 30-0 victory.

Larry Franklin scored first for Olton in the 8th grade game on a seven yard run. Olton ran the extra point to go ahead 8-0.

Abernathy came back and tied the score at 8-8. Abernathy blocked an Olton punt and Olton recovered it in the endzone for an Abernathy safety putting the Antelopes in front 10-8.

But Guy Thomas intercepted an Abernathy pass to give Olton the ball. A pass to Larry Franklin moved the ball to the Abernathy 20, from where Guy Thomas carried it in for the winning score. The extra point try failed and Olton was out front 14 to 10.

Whooping Crane Migrating Now

The world's only flock of wild whooping cranes is on the way from breeding grounds in northern Canada to their winter home on the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge on the Texas Gulf Coast, according to Regional Director William T. Krummes of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

Five adult whoopers have arrived on the Aransas Refuge, and two adults and one juvenile bird were seen on the Salt Plains National Wildlife Refuge in Oklahoma, Krummes said.

Every year, conservationists across the nation eagerly await news of the big white birds, who are waging a gallant fight for survival. In the fall of 1941, only 15 cranes arrived at Aransas. Under strict protection, their numbers have gradually increased until they reached a high point of 51 birds in 1968, Krummes stated.

Whoopers are about five feet tall, with red-crowned heads and black wing tips. Juvenile birds have an orange or buff coloring until their second year. The twenty pound birds fly with their long necks and feet extended. "Again this year, the Department of the Interior will try to keep the public informed as to the progress of the dangerous 2,000 mile migration, and the birds need the cooperation of all people if they are to win their fight against extinction," Krummes said.

HE-HE SHOW CAST--A roof-raising, fun filled half hour was presented by these characters of He-He, a revised edition of the show He-Haw, which is a take off from Laugh In. DARLA FRAZIER & SUSAN CANNON

Well, here we are fixing to play our last game. (The last game, Seniors). We have no doubt that our Mighty Mustangs are going to RIP THE RED Friday night and BEAT FRIONA!! As far as Olton (or anyone else for that matter) are concerned, our Mustangs are the BEST we've had in years because they work as a team and put in more effort than was expected of them. We can be more than proud of our boys when they work so hard for their school and town. We can also say that our boys have never lost a game because of our confidence. They always recognize their opponents and fight their hardest to give plenty of competition. YEA MUSTANGS!!! STOMP FRIONA!!!

For our last game, we would like to dedicate this poem to our Mustangs -

Gracious God,
May our actions never be out of bounds,
Keep us, like our field goal attempts,
Between the uprights.

May our fumbles be few, our recoveries quick,
When we score a touchdown,
Remind us of what we owe the tackles.

When our pass is intercepted,
Let us try to improve our aim.
Teach us to prize an honest defeat

The Halloween Carnival turned out great! All the booths were great and the seniors really enjoyed putting on "Hee-Hee". (By the way, anyone want to donate money for curtains?)

Pep Squad King will (hopefully) be crowned at the pep rally Friday. Let's have a real good pep rally this time. Since this will be the last one, let's show the boys that we LOVE them. Let's raise the roof off the gym, OK? OK?

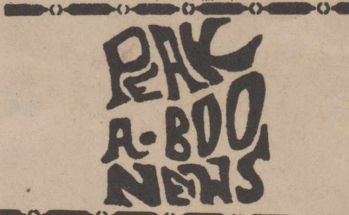

Dear Teen Column Writers,
It seems that two of last year's Mustang team members were just a little jealous of our GREAT MUSTANG team this year, because they were not rooting for the Mustangs Friday night when they were playing Floydada.

Last year they were twice as big as this year's team and this year's team has proved to be a better team than every-one thought they would -- and these two just couldn't stand the thoughts of those little, inexperienced guys being district champs.

If they had the true Mustang spirit in the first place, they would do anything to support our team instead of degrading it as they did at the Floydada game, by yelling for the green instead of the BLUE and saying that they weren't any good.

Facts, Fiction And Fallacies?

Nearly everyone has heard fables, fictions, or fallacies about marihuana, perhaps like these:

"Smoke pot and you wind up hooked on heroin...Man, it's cleaner than alcohol...It's the first step right into the psycho ward...There's just no reason to keep it illegal...Why doesn't anyone tell the truth about marihuana?"

None of these statements is based on a scientific fact, but on half-fact or misinformation.

The first statement, although wrong, stems from some studies showing that sizeable percentages of heroin addicts previously smoked marihuana (pot). The reverse is not necessarily true, although this adds no reasoning to the side of those who favor unrestricted marihuana.

Alcohol and marihuana are not comparable, as far as No. 2 goes. Moreover, the long-term effects of marihuana smoking are simply not known as yet.

As to No. 3, scientists have not proved that marihuana is a direct cause of mental illness.

Nor have they proved that it PREVENTS mental disorders or HELPS mental health.

There are some reasons on the legal side for restrictions on marihuana, as, for example, the indisputable fact that science does not know very much about it. It does not appear, moreover, that mass, permissive, total population usage of an unknown but powerful mind-affecting drug is rational.

"Why doesn't anyone tell the truth about marihuana?"

This despairing kind of cry is perhaps based on confusion brought about by those who favor taking all shackles off marihuana and who disseminate misinformation or slanted material rather than objective information.

Here are some facts about this controversial substance, entirely founded on what science now knows, not on guesses, rumors, and wishful emotionalizing.

The smoking of marihuana is illegal in nearly every civilized country of the world. Nevertheless, with the possible exception of alcohol, it is today probably the most widely used intoxicant in the world.

Despite its current pervasiveness, scientists are quick to acknowledge significant gaps in their knowledge of marihuana's effects on man -- and animals, too, for that matter.

The little research that has been done in the U. S., and there has not been a great deal anywhere in the world, has principally used marihuana seized by the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs which was supplied to qualified researchers.

But all natural marihuana is of uncertain potency, and seized materials are frequently unrefined and impure. Reliable research, whether in test tubes and analytic machines, on animals, or on man, can only be conducted if the drug is standardized, the potency constant.

The scientist, in a word, has to have a uniform substance to study if he is to produce results and accurate findings of value.

This long-standing problem seems at last to have been largely solved. National Institute of Mental Health research grantees and others have succeeded in isolating a number of compounds in cannabis, the plant from which marihuana cigarette material comes.

In addition, they have determined the exact structure of tetrahydrocannabinol (THC), the probable main, active principle of marihuana. Thus, the production of uniform, synthetic or man-made marihuana is now possible.

With this compound, THC, sometimes called "liquid marihuana," scientists can at last run controlled, uniform experiments.

Very early work showed that the compound would be useful not only in laboratory studies but also in careful investigations in humans.

Basic research using synthetic marihuana compounds, along with a broad spectrum of clinical studies, is being supported and stimulated by the National Institute of Mental Health. This is a part of an invigorated attack on narcotic and drug abuse through research, training, services, and education.

Some other facts about marihuana which every citizen old and young, needs to know have already been established. Here are some questions often asked and answers to them.

What is marihuana?

Marihuana -- also spelled "marijuana" -- is a drug found in a plant (cannabis sativa) that grows in mild climate countries all around the world. Some of its nicknames are pot, grass, weed, and Mary Jane.

How is it used?

For use as a drug, the leaves and flowers are usually dried and crushed or chopped into small pieces. This green-colored product is rolled and smoked in cigarettes or pipes or can be sniffed or taken in food. Its sweetish odor is easily recognized. The smoke is harsh; it smells like burnt rope or dried grasses.

Is marihuana used for medical purposes?

No. It has no known use in modern medicine. There are medical research studies seeking scientific information on it, but it is not used to treat or cure illness.

Statements that marihuana is "medically safe" are NOT supported by scientific evidence.

We do not know what marihuana does to the mind and body?

We do not know the physical affects fully. Long-term effects are absolutely unknown. The kind of research needed to learn the results of continued use has not yet been done. It is getting underway now, however, as pointed out.

Does marihuana affect judgment?

Yes, but not favorably. A person using marihuana finds it harder to make decisions that require clear thinking. He is open more easily to other people's suggestions. Doing anything that takes good reflexes and clear thinking is affected. It is, for example, dangerous to drive while under the influence of marihuana, just as it is with alcohol.

What about the laws?

There are Federal and State laws -- and international laws -- dealing with marihuana. Possession or sale of it in the U. S. is a felony under Federal law. Many states deal with marihuana as severely as if it were a narcotic.

Many feel that the laws should be changed; many others do not. In any case, young and old alike should know these and other facts.
