SNOW ADMITS GAMBLING WAS HIS BUSINESS

Cool Under Fire, Accused Holds Own in Rapid Battle of Wits.

'Doesn't Know' if He Killed Caples and Tony; Ran From Fear.

By BOB CURRAN

"Yes, gambling is my profession, if you could call it that," Doc Snow said on the stand Saturday. In the next breath he rose to his feet and leaned forward over the witness box in a half-erect position while he pointed his trigger finger at C. C. McDonald, state's attorney, and declared:

"I heard a voice behind me say 'stick 'em up' and turned to find two men pointing their pistols towards me. I grabbed my gun and shot twice at them."

He brushed his hand along his belt by his side as if illustrating how he had sprung to the challenge.

Battle of Wits

This is one instance of a contest of minds, cramped on Mr. McDonald's part by the "shall" and "shall nots" of evidence rules, between the two men Saturday morning as the rehearsal of the fatal fight in a Kemp City gambling house September 30 drew near the time when the jury would decide if Snow murdered W. S. Toney and Marvin Caple.

Snow grew angry at times but never lost control. Mr. McDonald was questioning him aggressively and so rapidly that his next demand seemed to tumble from his lipe on the heels of Snow's answer.

When the court would overrule some of his question—an order which brings most lawyers to their feet in protest—McDonald merely paused and quickly shifted his gaze back at Snow.

Scores Two Points

Out of the cross-examination the state scored two points:

Snow finally reversed himself and practically admitted that he believed before he escaped out of the window of the gambling hall that the "law" was coming back into the room.

He left one opening in his denial that he knew whether or not he killed Toney or Caple. Mr. McDonald asked him:

"And you say you threw away the gun that you killed Caple with?

He replied, "yes sir."

When Snow stepped into the witness box, Mr. McDonald, who throughout the long examination of witnesses had sat quietly behind District Attorney Jones and spoke to no witness, suddenly stepped forward. Mr. Jones got up and McDonald sat down in the "firing station."

Opens Briskly

"You don't deny that you killed Caple," he queried Snow.

A. "I do not know that I killed him."

Q. "Well, which one did you kill?"

A. "I do not know that I killed either."

Q. "Did you see them fall?"

A. "I saw only one man fall."

Q. "What did you leave the building for?"

A. "I left there to protect myself."

Q. "What was going on in the room after the shooting?"

A. "I heard the men in front being shoved back and I supposed the highjackers were returning."

Ran From Scene

Q. "What did you do when you got out of the building?"

A. "I ran."

Q. "Where did you run?"

A. "I was scared."

Q. "What were you afraid of after you got out of the building?"

A. "Why I saw men running outside and I did not know whether or not they, too, were highjackers."

Q. "What poker-table were you running?"

A. "I never ran any poker table. I played there three or four times."

Q. "On your own poker table?"

A. "No."

Won His "Pile"

Q. "Where did you get the $865

With the arrest at the Union Station here Saturday night of Walter Brown, aged 18, by Clay county officers in connection with the slaying of B. F. Allison, postmaster and druggist at Charlie, Texas, Friday night, the authorities began to investigate statements by Charlie merchants that they believed hold-ups of each of the trio of stores in Charlie had been planned for about the time that the postoffice robbery was attempted.

Complaints charging murder were filed Saturday by a constable at Petrolia against J. M. Hamilton, his two sons, Bert and Dick, and Jess Loudermilk, all of Charlie, who were arrested early Saturday by Sheriff Fagan of Clay county in connection with the fatal wounding Friday evening of B. F. Allison, postmaster and druggist of Charlie.

The four men are being held under heavy guard at the Henrietta jail as a precaution against violence pending action of a special grand jury which will probably be called into session during the next three or four days. Further charges may develop as the result of investigation, according to a statement Saturday from Sheriff Fagan.

Brown was held here by city officials until the early morning Fort Worth train on which he was taken to the Henrietta jail. Until the time of his arrest, no complaint had been filed against him, according to the Clay county officers.

Brown, according to statements from Charlie citizens whom he corroborated while here in jail, was in possession of a .25 calibre automatic pistol, which had been reported stolen from Jess Loudermilk, at the time the shooting took place. About one hour after the ftality. Brown gave the pistol to a farmer whose employ he was then in, told him that he had taken it from Loudermilk and asked that it be returned to him.

Brown Was Newcomer

Brown said that he went to Charlie last Friday week and got a job on Loudermilk's farm. He said that he worked there a couple of days, and then changed to another place. When he left his first job, he said, he took the pistol which belonged to his employer.

While citizens were discussing the shooting, one man happened to bring out the fact that Loudermilk had been heard to say, shortly after the postmaster had been shot, that some one had stolen a gun from him. This was the first mention made of the loss of the gun, according to authorities. According to Loudermilk and Brown, it had been stolen almost a week.

Additional information, which led authorities to seek Brown, was to the effect that he was with two other boys who were last in the postoffice before Allison was shot. This, the boy admitted while in the cell at the city jail, saying that he went to call for some mail which he had reason to believe he had there. When told that he had none, he said, he left the postoffice and went over to Mr. Bailey's store. About five minutes later he heard a shot fired and ran over to see what had happened, finding Allison staggering to a chair midway of the store, he asserted. All this time, he said, he had the automatic pistol in his pocket.

Reported Gun Stolen

After learning the details of the shooting, so his story goes, he went to his employer, a Mr. Allgood, gave him the gun and asked him to deliver it. He then went home and went to bed, he declared and made up his mind to go to Oklahoma and seek a job with his brother-in-law. He said that neither the sheriff or any of his deputies interrogated him Saturday morning during the investigation and that late Saturday afternoon he saw a big automobile belonging to a Wichita Falls cotton man standing in front of the drug store. He rode here in the car. He had only been here a few moments when he was arrested.

Brown denied any connection with the shooting and when asked why he took the pistol, stated that he "just wanted it and meant no harm." He claims that his mother, step-father, and several brothers and sisters live at Paris. Citizens of Charlie declare that he has been "running around" constantly with the Hamilton boys and Loudermilk, and that he has been seen in conversation with Loudermilk

$12 IS FIXED AS MINIMUM WAGE

Industrial Welfare Body Sets Rate For Women and Miners.

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 20.—A blanket minimum wage of $12 per week for women and minors employed by telephone companies, laundries, factories, and mercantile establishments in Texas was promulgated by the Texas Industrial Welfare Commission late today.

The wage was made to become effective February 7, 1921, and employers who furnish meals will be allowed to deduct twenty cents for each meal. An apprentice rate of fifteen cents per hour during the first six months of apprenticeship and twenty cents per hour during the second six months was set.

Labor Commissioner T. C. Jennings dissented from the majority of the commission in the establishment of the minimum under the contention that a survey of the board has disclosed that the average living cost for women in Texas industries is $13.40 per week and that the minimum should be set as high as the livng cost.

E. R. York, another member of the commission, said that the body did its best under the existing law and that it desired to put the law into effect before the next session of the legislature so that the legislators would have an opportunity to observe its workings before attempting to amend it as has been suggested by the commission.

C. C. TO VOTE ON TAXATION CHANGE

Frank Kell, on his return here Saturday from a meeting of the board of directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce, announced that the national chamber will submit a referendum to all its members on the question of revision of taxation. The referendum will be sent here for the vote of the local chamber.

Raid in Turkey Halts U. S. Trial

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 20.—Associated Press dispatches publisher here recently reporting the capture of members of a Near East relief commission including George Frasher, Jr., of Gainesville at Samsoun, Turkey, formed the basis for continuance of a trial in Gainesville district court today. It was the case of William C. Wilkins, El Paso, contesting the will of his brother, Ed Wilkins, deceased, who left an estate valued at $100,000 to J. W. Rubush of Dallas.

Application for continuance was presented by R. E. Thomason, speaker of the house of representatives of the Texas legislature, who is representing the affiant, W. C. Wilkins.

MAIL BANDITS ESCAPED WITH FIVE MILLIONS

Two Insurance Companies Involved in Payment of Gigantic Policies.

OMAHA, Nebr., Nov. 20.—Bonds and securities burned by the bandits who robbed Burlington train No. 8 in Council Bluffs last Saturday night totaled more than $5,000,000, according to an announcement here today by Postal Inspector Glenn.

At the same time he announced that the solvency of two national insurance companies, which insured the bonds, probably would be seriously impaired as a result of the robbery and its resultant loss.

This is the first intimation since the robbery of the amount involved. This figure places the robbery as the greatest ever staged in the history of the American postoffice department.

BANK DRAFTS FOR $40,000 AND FOR $25,000 BURNED

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Nov. 20.—W. Niel, postoffice inspector from St. Louis, is authority for the statement late this afternoon that Merl Phillips, in one of his numerous confessions, told of having seen among the stolen bonds three drafts, one for $40,000, one for $25,000 and one for $15,000. He said they were burned with other securities.

Formal charges were filed in federal court this afternoon against the five men and one woman in custody. The charges are:

Merl Phillips, Orville Phillips and Fred E. Poffenberger, with breaking, entering and robbing United States mail train of registered mail.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Daly and Hugh Reed, charged with hiding stolen government property and aiding in the secretion of the stolen securities.

Preliminary hearing will probably be held in one week.

D. & R. G. SOLD ON 50TH ANNIVERSARY

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 20.—On the fiftiëth anniversary of the origin of the Renver and Rio Grande railroad Company today, all the property and holdings of the organization were sold to three men representing the Western Pacific railroad corporation for $5,000,000. The purchasers also assumed obligations of the Denver and Rio Grande amounting to $141,175,000.

The sale completely wipes out the stock of the Denver and Rio Grande amounting to $87,775,670, according to John F. Bowie of New York, general counsel for the Western Pacific and one of three purchasers. The others associated with him were John B. Marsh and Ralph M. Arkush, both of New York.

The road was sold to satisfy a judgment of $36,000,000 obtained by the Equitable Trust Company of New York.

PAYNE TO CLEAR INDIAN DECISION

Oil Men Seek Ruling in Eastern Osage Territory.

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Secretary of the Interior Payne will announce the changes he has made on the 4,800-acre limit in the Eastern Osage early next week. Oil men have accepted the changes as to the Western Osage and the wild tribes of Oklahoma. They asked for a clarification of his ruling as applied to the Eastern Osage.

Following a conference between Secretaory Payne, Secretary Smith of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Company and Congressman Howard of Oklahoma yesterday. It was understood that Judge Payne raised the limit of acreage in the Eastern Osage regardless of production to 7,200 acres with an additional 20,000 acres allowed where the production on any quarter section was not more than three barrels.

However, Judge Payne was called out of town after the conference and Commissioner Sells declined to discuss the ruling until Judge Payne returns.

DARTMOUTH WINS

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—Dartmouth won its first football victory over Brown in fifteen years here today in a bitterly fought contest that ended in 14-6 score.

TOLL OF RIVER FRONT FIRE TO BE 2 MILLIONS

Sparks From Switch Engine Lead to Destruction of 2000 Feet of Wharf.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 20.—The loss involved by a river front fire in New Orleans today will be at least $2,000,000 and may be $4,000,000, according to a statement issued tonight by Hayden Wreen, superintendent of the board of port commissions. The blaze consumed 2,000 feet of wharfage from Desire to Independence streets in the downtown section.

Sparks from a switch engine are believed to have started the blaze, which also damaged the stern of the steamer, Poncelot, being fitted for the French line, and vast quantities of goods designed for export.

Loss to the port commission is not covered by insurance, but a special sinking fund is maintained to cover such cases.

The Mexican gunboat Saragoza, the steamer Truxillo, and a government barge were towed to midstream with the Poncelot, shortly after an oil tank on the latter exploded, scattering burning oil on the barge which was itself loaded with oil. The Poncelot was the only vessel damaged.

BOARD OF TRADE HARD AFTER WHEAT

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The gambling tactics which have prevailed in the grain pits of the Chicago board of trade of late, continued today. At one point December wheat sold down to $1.66 1-4 a bushel and March at $1.57 1-4. Observers compared these prices with the $2.75 a bushel for December and March which prevailed when trading in futures was resumed after the recess on July 1.

One grain operator today traced a connection between the market break and the "strike" of farmers who withheld wheat in an attempt to force higher prices.

REFORMED PARTY WANTED BY REED

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 20.—An appeal to abridge "all dissensions and recriminations in our own state as well as among the democrats of the nation at large," was made in a forceful statement here today by United States Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, who spent several hours in conference with state and city leaders of the party. Mr. Reed added the democratic party "should beat back to the fundamental principles which it deserted in the recent campaign."

JAPAN TREATY NOT TO AFFECT HAWAII

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 20.—Japanese newspapers today announced the completion of a new treaty between Japan and the United States and stated it was "acceptable to Japan," according to a cable from Tokio received here today by the Japanese Daily News. It was declared the treaty would not affect Haiwaii.

'THE CITY THAT FAITH BUILT'

5 Cent Sandwich Back in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 20.—Proprietors of six large downtown restaurants today announced price reductions of an average of 25 per cent. Prices of most sandwiches were reduced from ten to five cents. Special vegetable orders were reduced five cents in most instances.

Managers of several restaurants where prices were not reduced, said the sizes of portions were being enlarged.

HARVARD WINS WITH 3 GOALS

Rpulsed repeatedly in their attacks at the Yale goal line today, Harvard resorted to a kicking offense and with three field goals defeated the Elis, 9 to 0, in the annual football combat in the Yale bowl.

The contest, witnessed by close to 80,000 spectators, and the 39th between the two universities since 1875, was a remarkable exhibition of the comparatively modern open and aerial game. The defeat of Yale, while not unexpected, took a most unusual turn, due to the ragged but savage defense of the Elis who, facing a far more finished football machine, refused to be awed by the gridiron juggernaut of Harvard.

The Yale players battled so savagely that although the Cambridge clan several times drove the Elis back to the shadow of their own goal posts, a touchdown was beyond the physical ability of the Crimson eleven led by Arnold Horween.

In this crisis Harvard fell back upon the kick for field goal and three times out of five tries, booted the ball between the uprights.

Both teams showed a stronger defense than attack and this was particularly noticeable in the case of Yale, which apparently had assimilated the lesson of the Princeton defeat and followed the ball with commendable zeal. Harvard found it reasonably easy to gain ground between the 25-yard lines but once within striking distance of a touchdown, the Yale line defense stiffened and held their rivals to small gains. The Blue, however, failed to develop anything in the way of a deceptive attack.

The game was an exposition of latter day football, opened wide by forward pass and kick made necessary by failure of both teams to carry advances for considerable distances by rushing against lines well knit. The treachery of the modern weapon contained in the forward pass was shown by the frequent interceptions by opposing players which caused transition of plays almost in a twinkling, from Harvard to Yale and back to Harvard again.

The line up:

OFFICERS HUNT FOR "DRY" AGENT SLAYER

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 20.—The federal and county officers who left Oklahoma City this morning to search for George Wills of Perry, alleged slayer of Kirby Frans of Oklahoma City, federal prohibition enforcement officer, returned tonight and said they had no clew to the whereabouts of Wills, who escaped after the alleged attack. Frans died here this morning after being wounded at Wills home in Perry, which Frans and J. C. Bates, another enforcement officer, were searching for a whiskey still.

The officers said they believed Wills had started toward the Mexican border with his brother-in-law, Dan Dexter, alleged to have aided Wills in resisting the officers at the Wills home.

SAYS BOLLING HAD SHARE IN $30,000 LOOT

Other Witnesses Speak of $900 Sale or "Loans" to Board Treasurer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Allegations tending to implicate men now and formerly connected with the United states shipping board with alleged collusion in securing contracts for the Wallace Downey Shipbuilding company of New York were made here today by Tucker K. Sands a witness before the Walsh committee investigating shipping affairs.

The men named and alleged to have participated in a distribution of more than $30,000, were R. W. Bolling, brother-in-law of President Wilson and now treasurer of the shipping board; Lester Sisler, formerly secretary of the board; John Cranor, a representative of the Downey Shipbuilding company, and Sands himself.

He testified he received the money in the form of "notes" some of which he discounted, and at different times described payments to Bolling and Sisler as both "payments" and "loans." In another part of his testimony, he asserted the money was to be understood as a "commission" to him for obtaining a loan from the bank to the shipping company, with which the witness was then connected.

Affidavit Introduced.

The testimony of Sands was preceded by that of Alfred W. McCann, a reporter for the New York Globe who swore he had obtained from Sands an affidavit detailing the entire transaction. McCann further testified that when he took the affidavit to Sands for him to sign, he declained to do so on advice of his attorney. Previous to submitting the affidavit for Sands' signature, however, McCann said he had taken the document to the shipping board and had it photographed.

One of these copies, carrying notations in what was testified to be Sands' handwriting, and which Sands afterward testified to being "correct except that some of the facts may be a little different," was presented by McCann in evidence. The document, however, was not made a part of the stenographic minutes of hearing.

Sands Absolves Bolling.

In the course of questioning by Chairman Walsh and Congressmen Kelly, Sands said he did not think Bolling ever got a cent from anybody for aiding to get a contract.

Money given him was a "loan." At another time he stuck to a statement that Bolling was to get as share of the transaction—that is gave Sisler $5,000"—and that he had loaned Sisler for one of his companies, $5,000 on his note, which note he still has. He said he had never had any controversy with Bolling and was on friendly terms with him. He also mixed into his testimony details of a purchase by him from Bolling of a lot for $900.

Sands Indicted.

Sands testified he was now under indictment "for allowing a company to overdraw—a shipping company in which I was interested." He testified that he was then connected with the Commercial National bank of Washington "as its cashier." He also testified he had endeavored without success to procure Mr. Bolling's influence to have the case settled.

"This document says," Chairman Walsh informed the witness, referring to the photostat, "that $40,000 is to be divided among two in the following manner: $25,000 to be paid in one lot and equally divided in the sum of $6,250 for each of the four of us—Sisler, Bolling, Cranor and myself."

"You say Mr. Downey was to be paid."

"I think I did," the witness replied.

Got Loan for Downing.

He said he did procure a loan for Downey amounting to $100,000 which he said was "very favorable for the bank—that it was to be left on deposit."

Sands testified that, in all he received in the form of notes from Downey $30,000. Asked why he did not get the balance of the $40,000 he alleged he was promised by him, he said Mr. Downey "raised such a kick about it that I rebated—well, give him back one note and agreed to rebate $5,000 more."

"Did Mr. Bolling ever repay you the $1,800 he borrowed from you?"

several times after leaving his employ.

According to statements reported by authorities to have been obtained from Dick Hamilton, 17-year-old boy, while in jail at Henrietta, he left Charlie immediately after the shooting and headed across country for about two miles. He said he slept in a wagon loaded with cotton all night and the next morning tried to trade a .38 automatic pistol which he had to a farmer named Baber. Baber refused to trade with him, it is said, and Hamilton then sought his brother, Bert Hamilton.

Say Bert Held Pistol

Authorities found Bert in possession of the automatic pistol early Saturday morning, and when asked about it, he was alleged to have declared that he got it in a trade with his brother, Dick. This was not denied by Dick.

While Sheriff Fagan was examining citizens of Charlie Saturday morning in connection with the shooting, a man valunteered the statement that Dick told his daughter soon after the shooting that he had "killed Old Man Allison."

Authorities declared that Dick would neither deny or affirm this report.

"Looked Bad For Dick"

It was also said that J. M. Hamilton, father of the two boys, had been approached early Saturday by a resident of Charlie and told that it "sure looked bad for Dick." This statement was said to have been vehemently conceded to by Hamilton.

The Hamiltons have lived in Charlie for several years and are engaged in farming there. Not so much is known about Loudermilk. It is said that he settled there recently and began operation of a farm.

Statements from Mr. Williams, owner of the Williams Cash Store, and Mr. Bailey, owner of the only other grocery store there, indicated they are of the opinion that they were to have been victims of hold-up men if the attempt to rob Mr. Allison had been successful. Mr. Williams said that the admission of Brown that he was in Bailey's store with the pistol in his pocket when the shot was fired which killed Allison was a significant support of the theory that robbery on a wholesale scale had been planned.

United States Commissioner J. A. Lantz Saturday stated that a postoffice inspector would immediately be detailed to the case and carry on investigations as to the motive and circumstances surrounding the death of the postmaster. Commissioner Lantz said that to the best of his knowledge, no federal charge of murder could be preferred against the assailant but that if investigation warranted, a charge of conspiracy to rob a United States postoffice could be filed.

Allison was shot and fatally wounded by a masked man when he was about to close the drug store, in which the postoffice was located, for the day. He died a few hours later as the result of an internal hemorrhage from a pierced right lung.

The screams of Mrs. Allison, who was with her husband at the time of the shooting, frightened the assailant away. When last seen, he was running across a field toward the open road. It is thought that robbery was the intent of the slayer as Mr. Allison had some $400 on his person. The money was the day's receipts from the postoffice.

A steel-jacketed .38 calibre bullet was found in Allison's clothing. The bullet had penetrated the body and become spent just as it emerged from the flesh in his back. A .38 automatic shell was found in close proximity to the door of the store where the shot was fired. The discovery that an automatic pistol had been used in connection with the crime figured in the arrest of the four suspects.

Until an early hour in the morning Saturday, several bands of indignant residents of Charlies scored the surrounding country in search of the slayer. They were aided by three Texas Rangers from Wichita Falls. Feeling was intense.

Three men who were arrested by Night Chief of Police Humphries in an automobile coming from the direction of Chirlie, were held until early Saturday on suspicion. They were released after they were identified as not being three men in a Ford automobile who had been seen hurrying in this direction.

The body of the slain man was to have been brought to Wichita Falls and sent to Crowell, the home of his brother, John Allison, for funeral services and burial. Mrs. Allison and a seven-year-old adopted son were to have accompanied the body.

200 HOUSES SHORT.

COLORADO, Texas, Nov. 20.—A survey of housing conditions here conducted by the local chamber of commerce reveals a shortage of more than 200 domiciles, according to a report to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The over-population is due to the magic influence caused by the bringing in of two producing oil wells in this territory. Several men are employed here while their families reside elsewhere because they can not obtain residences here. Several new residences are being built.

REDS ADVERTISE CISCO.

CISCO, Texas, Nov. 20.—The Cincinnati Times-Star recently carried two double-column cuts of Cisco buildings, baseball park, oil scenes and other attractions in line with "introducing" the baseball fans of the world to the training grounds of the Cincinnati Reds. Cisco is obtaining some splendid publicity by reason of securing the Reds for this place, according to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

you said that you had in your pocket?"

A. "I won most of it."

Q. "How long had the gambling house been in operation?"

A. "Five or six days."

Q. "You owned an interest in the gambling house?"

A. "I did not. And I had no interest in the table. I played just like anybody else and I had only what I made."

Fled to Friend's Tent

A. "I went to the tent of a friend of mine to wait for news of what had happened."

Q. "How long did you stay there?"

A. "Until Friday night after the shooting."

Q. "What did you do then?"

A. "I walked a short distance away to get a paper. I read that feeling was high against me. I wanted to give myself up. All I wanted was protection."

Q. "Why didn't you go to Kemp City and give yourself up inasmuch as you said you knew every deputy sheriff?"

Kemp City "Without Law"

A. "Deputy Sheriff Atcherly was away investigating a cutting scrape. There were no 'laws' there."

Q. "The only shots that you ever heard fired were your own?"

A. "No, I heard several others and from different directions."

Q. "What calibre gun did you use?"

A. "A .38 calibre."

Q. "Where is that gun now?"

A. "I don't know. I dropped it."

Q. "Where did you get the .45 calibre pistol found under your pillow when you were arrested?"

A. "I borrowed it."

Denies Hearing Warning

Q. "Did you hear Smithey announce Belcher and Spiller before the shooting began?"

A. "No. I heard the men behind And I turned and shot. Men ran toward the front. Then Smithey told me say 'stick 'em up, faces to the wall and be damned quick about it.' me, 'it's the law.'"

Snow repeated the obscene term with which he replied. The effect of it was, "don't kid me." He said that when he saw the crowd being forced back in the hall on its return trip from the stampede that he thought highjackers were coming back and that he stepped through the side window.

The state reverted again:

Q. "Why did you do that?"

Snow had $865.

A. "I wanted to avoid being robbed. I had $865 on me."

Q. "Where did you get it?"

A. "I had some of it before."

Q. "Well didn't you say a while ago that you won all of it there?"

A. "I won some of it at Burkburnett before I came there. I had $1,200 to $1,500 with me when I went to Kemp City. I sent some of that to my wife at Memphis."

Other Jobs Snow Held.

On direct examination conducted by his attorneys, C. J. Gipson and Shields Heyser, Snow had related that he was licensed to practice veterinary surgery in Oklahoma, that he had gotten in trouble over practising at Burkburnett, Texas, and then moved to Newtown where he bought a cafe. In connection with this line of testimony, aimed to show that Snow had come other occupation than gambling, the defense had led him to testify that he was "on a deal to buy a cafe at Kemp City but that had fallen through before the shooting."

Then came the state's question:

Q. "Isn't it a fact that your principal means of livelihood is gambling and that that is your occupation?"

A. "Well, yes, gambling is my profession, if you might call it a profession."

Mr. McDonald jumped back to the time within the gambling house just after the shooting.

Recedes From Position

Q. "Didn't you hear Smithey repeating over and over, 'it's the law, the law'?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Smithey was your friend, wasn't he?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Then you had no reason not to believe him?"

A. "Well I did sort of figure that the chances were that it was the 'law.'"

Q. "Then why did you run out the window?"

A. "I didn't know it was the law. I saw other men walking out the window and I just walked out after them."

Admits Firing Twice

Q. "How many shots did you fire?"

A. "Two."

Q. "How many did that leave in your gun?"

A. "Four."

Q. "Where is the gun now?"

A. "I don't know."

Q. "You said you were ready to give yourself up and that you knew every deputy sheriff in Wichita county; why didn't you give yourself up?"

A. "I was just waiting for some one to go with me."

On redirect examination Snow testified that he had never seen Toney or Caple "before or after the shooting." He said he had no personal feeling against them. He repeated that he had shot twice but that he did not know whether he had hit them.

Woman's Testimony Barred.

On exceptions at the outset of her testimony, Judge Martin ordered the jury out so that he could determine where the testimony was admissable. She told the court that a woman at her house told her that Joe Hancock said he was going back to Wichita Falls to get his gang and clean up the gambling den. This was alleged to have taken place September 29.

Judge Martin ruled that it was hearsay evidence and had no bearing on Snow's alleged killing of Toney and Caple because Snow himself said that no such thing entered into his mind. The defense reserved a bill of exceptions. The jury came back.

Welch "Did Not Move."

W. L. Welch, a fireman at Kemp City, retold the old story of hearing "stick 'em up' first. He added on a humorous touch.

"The men in the rear said 'stick 'em up, faces to the wall, the first man who moves is dead.'"

Q. Well, what did you do?"

A. "I didn't move."

Miss Elizabeth Hall, deputy county clerk, testified that W. M. Belcher, deputy constable, has taken out a new commission in November long after the shooting. Evidence from the records that Belcher did not have a commission at the time of the raid was ruled out. The state admitted that he didn't but insisted that he had said he did not know that at the time.

Dr. Mike M. Walker, testifying as an expert, said that he had taken a 38 caliber bullet out of the leg of Tom Grubb and above his ankle on September 30. Grubb was shot in the gambling hall. He said that a .45 caliber bullet killed Cable.

State Can't Show Gun.

Attorney Gipson asked Judge Martin to force the state to produce the gun that Snow used. Judge Martin was willing to issue any kind of process "to deuces" something or other but he pointed out that the state admitted that it did not have the gun.

Court adjourned to convene again at 1:30 p. m. The defense had two more witnesses to hear. When court reconvened the defense suddenly rested. The state also concluded abruptly.

Judge Martin adjourned court until Monday morning at 9 o'clock when he will deliver his charge to the jury. District Attorney Jones will open for the state. Mr. Heyser and Mr. Gipson will follow for the defense. Mr. McDonald will conclude for the state.

WICHITA DAIRY MEN TO STUDY ISSUES AHEAD

The preliminary organization of a dairy association in this county was gotten under way at a meeting held Friday night at the city hall.

The meeting was attended by several owners of large dairies near this city. The purpose of the organization will be to study problems confronting the dairy business in this section with a view of obtaining concerted action.

A temporary organization was effected and a committee appointed to draft and submit a set of by-laws at the next meeting, which be be held Friday, December 3, at the city hall. It is expected that a larger attendance will be present and that a permanent organization will be perfected at that time. A general invitation to all dairymen of the county was extended to attend the next meeting.

Says Bolling Had Share in $30,000 Loot

"I think he gave me back about $3,000.

"If you have no note or other evidence of that loan, how are you going to collect it if he refuses to pay?"

Didn't Expect to Collect.

"Well," said Sands, "I do not ever expect to collect it. I did not expect to collect it when I loaned it. I thought he would be entitled to that as his part of the commission."

Sands said that Bolling did not say he would use his influence, and when asked by Mr. Kelley why he was to give him part of the money if he was not going to perform any service, Sands replied:

"Well, he and Mr. Sisler worked together."

"Now here are two men in connection with the board," Mr. Kelley said. 'They are not, however, connected with the letting of contracts. You agreed to pay them one-fourth of this sum, $10,000 apiece. Now, I ask you:

"What was your understanding with Mr. Bolling as to what he was to do?" Mr. Kelley asked.

Mr. Bolling was not to do anything further than to help with Mr. Sisler.

COTTON RECEIPTS LESS.

COLORADO, Tex., Nov. 20.—The continued cold weather plus the long siege of rainy weather preceding it has caused a considerable slump in cotton receipts. Farmers are thinking of diversifying more in 1921. Very few have yet gathered their maize, sorghum and other field crops, preferring to let their stock graze the fields, says the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. A local gin has cut the price of ginning two dollars, making it now $1 a hundred pounds.

MORE THAN 500 RUSSIAN RADICALS REMAIN IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—More than 500 Russian radicals remain to be deported, it was said today at the department of labor. All except forty of these are at liberty on bail, but the others are held in confinement at Deer Island, Boston, and Ellis Island, New York, as they are regarded as too dangerous to be allowed at liberty even temporarily.

Delay in deporting Russians was explained at the department to be due to a refusal of the Scandinavian countries to receive the deportees and to the closing of the frontier between Finland and Russia.

C. C. INSPECTS, APPROVES FOUR PRINTING FIRMS

The publicity committee of the Chamber of Commerce Saturday visited the plants of the Stone Printing company, 809 Tenth street, the Mid-West Printing company, 610 Ninth street, and the Bailey-Gillen-Stromquist company, 802 Seventh street. The committee last week visited the Martin Printing company on Lamar avenue.

The reports of the committee show that the city has several printing establishments prepared to meet all possible requirements of the trade in this city and surrounding territory. The equipment of the plants is modern and complete with capacity sufficient to handle any size orders that might be required.

The committee next Saturday will inspect the plant of the Wichita Motors company. The committee appointed by the Business Council will in the next several weeks visit all the representative industries of the city. A report will later be made, covering the local industrial situation.

POLICE HOLD SUSPECT AND REGAIN LOOT

All the goods, with the exception of one coat, that were stolen Wednesday night from the La Petite store on Indiana avenue were recovered Saturday in Fort Worth, according to word received by Police Chief Huff from City Detective Boone who went to that city Friday night following information that the goods had been shipped there by express. The loot was valued at $2,000. According to the information Saturday night Detective Boone had also arrested Jack West of this city. He will be escorted here Sunday to be held for investigation in connection with the robbery.

The recovery of the goods followed the alleged confession of Clifford Barrett to the police officials when arrested here Friday morning. Two other arrests were made at that time and both men are being held pending further investigation. Barrett, according to police made a confession and produced the express check showing the shipment of the stolen goods to Fort Worth the day following the robbery.

Barrett accompanied Detective Boone to Fort Worth Friday night. They were met at the station by Jim West, who was not aware of Barrett's arrest and had come to the train to meet him. West was arrested by Boone. The check that was in the possession of Barrett was presented at the express office in Fort Worth and the goods, with the exception of the coat, recovered. It is believed by the police that the coat was sold in this city.

Barrett and West, according to the former's statement to the police, both took part in the robbery. The two men, according to the police, gained entrance to the store through a side door. Several valuable furs and coats were taken. Several furs valued at several thousand dolars each were overlooked.

HOLLINGER BUYS HOME ON BAYLOR

The beautiful home built this summer by H. E. Gilbert on Baylor avenue was sold Saturday to R. H. Hollinger. This property is located in the high class restricted residential district and is just opposite the new J. I. Staley home at the corner of Eighth and Baylor. The interior finish is said to be of the very finest.

While the exact consideration involved was not made known, it is understood to have been in the neighborhood of $25,000. Helgerson brothers, local real estate dealers, who handled the above sale, also report the sale of Hollinger's former home on Taylor street, for a consideration of $10,000 and several smaller places ranging in price from $5,250 to $8,500.

CONDITION OF RESERVE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.— The condition of the 12 federal reserve banks was as follows at the close of business November 19:

Resources:—

Total gold held by banks $645,147,000.

Total gold reserves $2,008,110,000.

Total bills on hand $2,948,601,000.

Total earning assets $3,306,695,000.

Total resources $6,326,800,000.

Liabilities:—

Total gross deposits $2,437,164,000.

Total liabilities $6,326,800,000.

Systematic spending is the first step in the direction of systematic saving. A checking account with the City National Bank of Commerce aids in this. In private as well as in business life, the payment of accounts by check is evidence of system. The bank welcomes small checking accounts as well as large.—Adv.

DANCIGER BUYS IN YOUNG PAY FOR $150,000

Authentic reports here Saturday stated that the No. 3 well of the Panhandle Refining Company in the South Bend field of Young county, had been brought in from a 2100-foot sand, showing an initial production around 500 barrels. The completion is the second of the week in the new field, which was opened up several weeks ago by the No. 1 of the Panhandle Refining Company on the McCluskey farm. Both Panhandle wells are on the same tract.

The entrance of another well-known local oil firm into the new field also became known Saturday. The Danciger Oil and Refining Company, large operators in several fields of this county, have purchased 112½ acres in the new field for a consideration of $150,000.

The holdings are in five tracts and are practically offsetting the leases on which the Panhandle and Oklahoma Petroleum and Gasoline Company's wells have been brought in. The Danciger interests are making preparations for an extensive development of the holdings of the company in the near future. The holdings of the company lie to the west and southeast of the Panhandle wells with one lease between the Panhandle and Oklahoma Petroleum and Gasoline Company's lease. A fourth lease is south of the latter company's holdings.

The new field lies in the basin of the Brazos river eight miles southeast of Graham, consisting of about a section of land. The first well to be brought in was that of the Panhandle Refining Company which came in with an initial production of 600 barrels from a 2540-foot sand. Since that time the Graham Syndicate has brought in a well to the west and across the river from the Panhandle lease. The well shows a smaller production due to mechanical trouble.

Last week the Oklahoma Petroleum and Gasoline Company brought in a well south of the Graham well from a 2100-foot sand, the same depth at which the second Panhandle well was completed Friday. The O. P. and G. (the name by which the company is commonly known in this section) flowed 600 barrels in 15 hours in intial production.

The developments of the last week have practically proven that a new field has been opened up with two sands showing oil in commercial quantities. The developments have greatly increased the interest in the field in this city and its possibilities were being widely discussed in local oil circles during the latter part of the week.

In addition to the Panhandle, the O. P. and G. and the Danciger interests, several other local companies and operators have interests in the new section, which will be known as the South Bend field. Investigation Saturday showed that acreage in the basin was practically controlled by local oil interests. The Shamrock Oil and Gas Company and Shamrock Oil Company, are among the companies having holdings. C. H. Clark, president of the Shamrock Company, also has private holdings there.

GASSER IN NEW FIELD HITS FOR 30,000,000 FT.

The No. 2 test of the Texanna Oil Company on the Hornsby tract of the Texhoma field biew in Friday night with an intial gas production of 30,000,000 cubic feet, according to reports from the field.

Wichita Falls domestic users of gas are now getting some of the Texhoma field gas. Recently the North Texas Gas Company, which distributes the fuel locally, tied into the Texhoma main from the new field.

The No. 2 test is about 1000 feet west of the No. 1 gasser of the company, which was brought in several weeks ago with an initial production of 6,000,000 cubic feet.

The No. 2 struck the gas around 1500 feet, the approximate depth at which the No. 1 is producing and the same depth as the Camp-Johnson gasser about 1500 feet southeast.

The No. 2 of the Texanna Company and the No. 1 of the Camp Oil and Gas Company and the Johnson Syndicate are approximately the same size both producing 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas more than any other gasser in that field. The field now has a total of six gassers scattered over a large area.

The gas from the first four gassers that were completed in the field is sold to the refineries of the Noble Oil and Gas Company and the Western Oil Corporation at Burkburnett.

The gas from the Camp Johnson gasser is now being used to supplement the industrial and domestic gas service of the local gas company the gas being piped to this city in a line owned by the Texhoma Oil and Refining Company. The gas from the latest completion has not as yet been contracted for.

Argentine Man Deems League Too Exclusive

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 20.—The newspapers today publish a letter written by Dr. Emil Freeres, a prominent publicist, to Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the American Association for International Conciliation, in which he praises the attitude of President-elect Harding toward the present League of Nations and pleads for a new league with "a more democratic organization."

The writer characterizes the present league as only a league of conquerors "for the exclusive use of themselves." He says it has not the appearance of a body representative of all the civilized nations of Europe, much less of all the civilized nations of the world.

The North and South Americans, according to Dr. Freeres, ought to initiate joint action "to obtain the organization of a true league or association of nations as Mr. Harding proposes, based about all upon democratic principles in the constitution of its authors and government."

It is announced that Dr. Freeres published the letter in view of the plea made at Geneva by Foreign Minister Pueyrredon of Argentina, with regard to admission of former enemy states to the league and the method of choosing the council.

CITY TAKES UP JOBS RUNNING WATER COMPANY

The Wichita Falls Water Company which has been the source of negotiations extending over a period of about three months between the city and its owners, was formally taken over by the City of Wichita Falls Saturday morning at a special called meeting of the city council. Save for a few minor details involving a small amount of audit work, the deal is complete.

An agreement which was decided upon some time ago, permits the city to collect all revenue due since August 1, 1920.

Francis M. Lawton has been appointed manager of the company and will have active supervision over the entire works under the general supervision of the city council. He will devote part of his time to the irrigation project. No other officers will be appointed.

Until the city is able to procure a better and more desirable place, the present quarters of the company will be used. The city council has several possibilities in consideration and it is thought that it will not be long before new quarters are acquired.

CAN'T INCREASE LIGHT.

COLORADO, Nov. 20.—The city council has refused the petition of the West Texas Electric Co. for an advance in rates for street lights. The city is now paying $75 a month for street lights, but the company wants $1 per light, flat rate and there are about 100 street lights in the city, according to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

PRICES WORRY REFINERIES OF MID-CONTINENT

By C. O. WILLSON.

The local market for refined products during the last week made no improvement.

According to several refinery officials the market situation is now in a more deplorable condition than at any time during the current year. In the face of the fact that during October more refined products were shipped from this district than at any time in its history the present market situation has no definite future other than the probable total or partial shut down of numerous plants in this section and throughout the Midcontinent fields, unless relief comes to the refiners.

Asked regarding present market quotations, many local sales managers and brokers reply that no definite market prices exist. The expected strengthening of fuel oil with the coming of the winter months has failed to materialize. Quotations as low as $2 are reported, with few sales at any price. Gasoline is quoted around 18½ cents with sales made at a lower figure in some instances. The demand for kerosene remains fairly strong with no improvement in price, which remains around 9½ cents.

Some Plants Protected.

Figures based on the present price of crude and the markets for refined products show that many refineries are actually running at a loss. Some plants have partial and temporary protection due to contracts for the sale of products made at a price which insures an adequate profit.

Other plants have their own production and in that respect are protected. The contracts, however, will expire within a short time and many plants having their own crude can realize a greater profit by selling the crude product than refining it.

According to local traffic heads refineries buying crude at the prevailing premium prices are losing from 25 to 50 cents a barrel, not counting all overhead expenses in connection with the refining of the product.

The premium on the quoted price of $3.50 still exists, although not as large as during the summer months, with more crude offered. But, according to several refinery officials, the situation has passed the stage where the elimination of the premium will relieve the situation. A majority of the so-called independent refineries cannot long operate by purchasing oil at the present posted quotation, they state.

Two Loopholes for Refiner.

In short the present situation for the independent refiner must be relieved with either a lower crude price or an improved market for the refined product, else the plants must be closed. Certain plants listed as independents may be able to continue operating part capacity for a time but not at a profit.

The situation is not local but is a condition that prevails throughout the Midcontinent field. Many plants have already closed in other sections of the field and, based on reports from parts of the Southwest, their lead will be followed by numerous other plants in the near future if the present situation is not relieved.

As to the two remedies possible refinery officials are inclined to rely more on a drop in the price of crude. With the present downward move in prices of all commodities it is hardly probable that petroleum will prove the exception.

Deny Crude Will Drop.

All statements that the price of crude will drop meets with an emphatic denial by a large section of the oil fraternity. In this connection, during the last week an advertisement is appearing in one of the large newspapers of Chicago, which has national circulation under the head of "Crude Oil and the Automobile." The advertisement, signed by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, gives a brief history of the relation of crude oil prices and the automobile and closes with the statement that "the market price for crude is not apt to go off appreciably while demand continues to increase as during 1920."

A possible loop hole is seen by some in this prediction. It is pointed out that the demand based on automobiles have closed down or are operating part capacity. Whether this is merely a seasonal dull period or is the result of a decrease in demand can not as yet be determined.

"Appreciable" Decrease Asked.

Further, only an "appreciable" decrease is needed to aid the refiners. They are not asking for $1 or $2 crude, but only a drop commensurate with the decrease in price of refined products.

The fact that the independent now refines practically 50 per cent of the crude oil produced in the United States and that the large Standard Oil groups could not hope to supply the demand even during a dull period, practically assures that an adjustment in prices will be made in the near future, which will be fair to all branches of the industry.

DIAMONDS IN MAIL ROBBERY RETURNED

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Nov. 20.—Federal officials this afternoon informed reporters at the federal building that they had received through the mail, three diamond brooches which was a part of the loot of the Burlington train robbery. The statement was made also that when Orville Phillips was arrested he turned over to the government two bonds, one issued by the City of Bordeaux, France, $100 denomination, and one $50 Liberty bond.

ANNUAL DEATH TOLL OVER 12 PER THOUSAND

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Census Bureau's annual bulletin on mortality statistics for the death registration area in continental United States, which will be issued shortly, shows 1,096,436 deaths as having occurred in 1919. This represents a rate of 12.9 per 1,000 population, and is the lowest rate recorded in any year since the establishment of the registration area. The rate for 1919 is in striking contrast with the unusually high rate for 1918 due to the epidemic of influenza, which was 18 per 1,000. This is a drop of 5.1 per 1,000 population.

The death registration area in 1919 comprised 33 states, the District of Columbia and 18 registration cities in non-registration states, with a total estimated population of 85,147,892, or 81.1 per cent of the estimated population of the United States. The states of Delaware, Florida and Mississippi were added to the area in 1919 and Nebraska in 1920.

The only states not in the area are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas, West Virginia South Dakota, Texas, West Virginia and Wyoming. The territory of Hawaii is part of the registration area, but the figures given in this summary relate only to the area in continental United States.

TEXAS ANNOUNCES PIGSKIN SCHEDULE

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 20.—Preparations for the football schedule for next season are under way. Especial effort is being made to secure teams of recognized standing for competition. On October 22 the Longhorns will meet Vanderbilt in Dallas. One of the largest guarantees ever given by the University was made to Vanderbilt to secure this game.

Another new team on the schedule is Mississippi A. & M., which will play in Austin November 12. The first game of the season will be with Simmons College, followed by Austin College and Howard Payne. Then the Vanderbilt game, followed by Rice Institute.

Next comes Southwestern University in Austin, Mississippi A. and M., also in Austin, and the grand finale comes with the Thanksgiving game with Texas A. & M. at College Station. The schedule follows:

October 1, Simmons College at Austin; October 7, Austin College at Austin; October 15, Howard Payne at Austin; October 22, Vanderbilt at Dallas; October 29, Rice Institute at Austin; November 5, Southwestern at Austin; November 12, Mississippi A. & M. at Austin; November 26, Texas A. & M. at College Station.

ELECTRA VETS BEAT WICHITA ELEVEN, 28-0

BY JOHN SALM.

Coach Cantwell and his local 11 journeyed to Electra Saturday where they went down to a glorious defeat before the powerful eleven at that place, score 28 to 0.

The Electra team is the same one for the local high, the Wichita eleven being forced to play a defensive game from the start. Only in the last half did they display any offensive tactics.

The Eluectra team is the same one which represented the Oil City three years ago, and their experience having played together so long proved a valuable asset.

The local eleven showed lack of team work and fumbles. Mix ups in signals were frequent.

Several hundred football fans, wild with enthusiasm, lined the sidelines and the spirit of students of both institutions was high.

The game in details follows:

Electra Kicks Off.

Walker kicked off to Electra. Electra made first down and punted to A. Chewning, who returned the ball five yards. Wilson made four yards, through center. Cauble made 2 yards through tackle. Wichita punted. Electra failed to make first down and punted to Chewning who returned 6 yards. Wilson went through center for 5 yards. Chewning plunged 2 more. In the next two plays Wichita failed to gain and Walker kicked. Stearns made 20 yards around right end. Then on line bucks carried the ball to Wichita's 15-yard line. Stearns by clever end runs carried the ball over around right end. Johnson kicked goal. Score, 7 to 0.

Stearns kicked to Chewning who returned 4 yards. Wichita failed to make first down and attempted to punt, was blocked by Wright who picked up the ball and raced across the goal for the second score of the game. Johnson kicked goal. Score 14 to 0.

Walker kicked to Electra and after an exchange of punts and passes the ball was on the Wichita 5-yard line when the first quarter ended.

Second quarter:

Wichita Defense Stiffens.

The Wichita defense strengthened here and the local boys held Electra for downs. Electra punted to Chewning who returned 12 yards. A pass, Wilson to Harper, netted 40 yards. After being held for three downs Wichita punted and Electra returned the kick on the next play. Wichita failed to make first down and kicked. Electra made 30 yards on a pass and by straight football carried the ball over for the third touchdown. Johnson kicked goal. Score, Electra 21, Wichita Falls 0. End first half.

Second half:

Walker kicked off to Wright who "handed the ball" to another Electra man who made three yards. Electra failed to make the required distance and kicked to Chewning who fumbled. Wright recovered the ball and raced through a broken field for a touchdown. Johnson kicked goal. Score, Electra 28, Wichita 0.

Walker kicked off to Stearns who returned 5 yards. After attempting two passes which were unsuccessful. Electra fumbled and Cauble recovered the ball but was downed in his tracks. It was Wichita's ball on the 20 yard line, but they failed to make the distance and punted. Electra returned the kick and Chewning brought the ball back 6 yards. Cauble failed around left end. Walker made 2 yards through center. Wichita punted and the ball went out of bounds on the 20 yard line. Electra punted on the next play and Chewning regained 7 yards. A pass, Wilson to Jordan, was incomplete. Wichita punted. Electra failed to gain in three trials and kicked to Chewning who brought it back 2 yards. Cauble plunged over center one yard. Wichita kicked and Electra returned the compliment on the next play. A pass, Wilson to Jordan, netted 40 yards. Chewning tried right end with out success. End of third quarter.

Gain Electra 3-Yard Line.

A lateral was incmplete and Walker punted. The ball stayed in mid-field until the last two minutes of play. Kenley recovered a blocked punt and carried it to the Electra 3-yard line. The Electra defense stiffened and Wichita failed to make the distance. With three inches to go the final whistle blew and 700 football fans went home happy and fully confident that they have the premier high school football team in the state.

The line-up:

Electra—Brewer, R. E.; Tinsley, R. T.; Tahgerin, R. G.; Angel, C.; Clatt, L. G.; Stanford, ; L. T.; Wright (C) L. E.; Johnson, Q. B.; Dickey, L. H.; Burnett, R. H.; Stearns, F. B.

Wichita Falls—Keevil, R. E.; Waggoner, R. T.; Walker, R. G.; Haney, C.; Harper, L. G.; Talbot, L. T.; Jorndan, Chewning, O. P.; Cauble, L. H.; Kenley, R. H.; Wilson, (C) F. B.

Officials—Referee, Conley, University of Texas; Umpire, Bill Ward, Georgia Tech; time keeper, Smith of Yale. Time of quarters, 15 minutes.

SOONERS LOSE CHNCE TO CUP VALLEY HONORS

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 20. — The Oklahoma University team lost its chance of being the all-victorious champions of the Missouri valley conference when the fast Kansas State Agricultural eleven held it to a 7-7 tie here this afternoon. The Aggies scored first, just before the end of the first period of play. White punted 20 yards to Hinds, who signalled for a fair catch. It was the Aggies' ball on their own 48-yard line.

A pass from Cowell to Sebring netted 14 yards and first down. Goerke made 8 yards through the line and then plunged through for one more. Hinds went around right end for five yards and first down. Axline failed to gain but Cowell passed to Randals for a 10-yard gain and firts down.

Goerke went through for five yards then for two and first down, with the goal to go. Swatek was off side and Oklahoma was penalized half the distance to the goal line.

It was the first down again for the Aggies but they were penalized five yards for off side. Then Hinds passed to Cowell for six yards and the second touchdown the Kansas Aggiets have made this year against Missouri valley conference team. Huston kicked goal.

The second quarter started with the ball on Oklahoma's 37-yard line. Hill went around left end for 8 yards. Swatek went through the line for two yards and first down, placing the ball on Oklahoma's 47-yard line. Then White heaved a 38-yard pass to Marsh, who advanced the ball 12 yards further before being downed, placing the ball on the Aggies 10-yard line.

Hill plunged for three yards and Marsh went around right end for four more. White bucked center for one yard and the ball was on the Aggies one-yard line. Swatek was called upon to cross the line and followed Paul Johnston through left tackle. Davis kicked goal.

DOZEN BOARDS TO MAP STUDY FOR BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Plans for more extensive business training and commercial education in the secondary and higher educational institutions over the country are to be worked out by committees named at twelve regional conferences recently held at strategic points in each of the twelve economic regions into which the country has been divided by the Bureau of Education.

The conferences were called by Commissioner of Education Claxton and were presided over by Glen Levin Swiggett, specialist in charge of commercial education of the Bureau of Education. The first was held at Columbia, S. C., and the last at Philadelphia. Other conferences were held at Knoxville, Tenn., San Francisco, New Orleans, Seattle, Denver, Kansas City, Pittsburg, Minneapolis and Boston.

The regional committees include, in addition to the state superintendent of public instruction of ecah state, many of the executives of universities and colleges, university deans of commerce and education and superintendents of schools in the larger cities.

Dr. Swiggett says the task of the regional committees will be "to plan and construct, in co-operation with the Bureau of Education, a better articulated and co-ordinated course of stury in preparation for business and commerce that will not only give the business, as the need presents itself, boys and girls trained for the more elementary types of business service, more or less routine in character, but will early lay the foundation with proper sequence in those subjects upon which the universities must build their courses for further training and education in the major fields of commercial production and distribution, of finance, and of foreign, public and social service.

"The immediate task of each state and regional committee," Dr. Swiggett continued, "is to ascertain by investigation and survey those major types in productive and distributive business for which a state and regional may have real economic advantages; to determine and select those which have the greatest need for the largest number of the trained product of schools and colleges; to decide upon those whose business operations for which schools and colleges can best train; and then to construct a course of study for secondary and higher institutions which shall best meet state and regional business needs as well as be in accord with sound educational practice.

"The volume of and cost in manufacturing depends largely upon economic locations. There is naturally involved, therefore ,the most advantageous use of the four following factors, materials, labor, capital and transportation. In order that the business training program of a state or region have the value of permanency, these committees must first determine by investigation and survey whether the selected types of commercial production and distribution for which training courses are to be built, show in their development the largest possible and freeest use of these four factors; whether the industrial and commercial development of a region has been due to fortuitous or economic causes."

FINANCIAL RELIEF

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—Financial relief for cities is expected at the hands of the state legislature which convenes here in January.

The legislators may accept the view of Governor-Elect Davis in this matter. He is an advocate of home rule in taxation.

The legislators also, in all probability, will give serious consideration to a permanent taxation plan which is being drawn up a committee composed of representatives of various chamber of commerce throughout the state, Ohio State Grange, Ohio Home Protective League, the Ohio Taxpayers' League, Ohio Real Estate Board and other semi-civic organizations.

This committee recommended that the Smith one cent tax law be repealed for a few years and that a systematic study of taxation matters be made with a view to reaching a permanent solution. The Home Protective League opposed classification of property for taxation purposes, while the Taxpayers' League supported classification.

Systematic spending is the first step in the direction of systematic saving. A checking account with the City National Bank of Commerce aids in this. In private as well as in business life, the payment of accounts by check is evidence of system. The bank welcomes small checking accounts as well as large.—Adv.

R. KELLY, ONCE VERNON MAYOR, DIES AGED 71

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 20.—R. S. Kelly, aged 71 years, and a native of Alabama, died at his home in Vernon. Funeral services were conducted at the family home by Rev. D. B. Clapp, pastor of the Baptist church at Palestine and former pastor of the Vernon church, with interment in East View cemetery.

Mr. Kelly was formerly mayor of Vernon. He was retired. He had been in the hardware business and owned the Vernon electric light plant.

His wife died here in 1917, and his father recently died here. Mr. Kelly was a prominent figure in religious circles, a deacon in the Baptist church and former chairman of the board of decaons.

He leaves two children, Mrs. B. J. Parker of Vernon and R. A. Kelly of Cleburne ;two brothers, P. M. Kelly of Columbus and Ben H. Kelly of San Antonio, and one sister, Mrs. J. D. Summerour of Vernon. The family moved here from Rusk county in 1889.

Lloyd Fowler, aged 25 years, a member of the unloading seed crew at the Vernon Cotton Oil Co., became entangled in the conveyor of the seed bin at the mill and was so badly injured his leg was amputated just above the knee. He is married. He served overseas with the Vernon company of the Texas National Guards. He is recovering from the injuries.

A large crowd of Vernon Nobles o fthe Mystic Shrine attended the ceremonial session of Maskat Temple at Wichita Falls Wednesday. Eunice Wilson, Chas. H. Thompson, Campbell Hagan, Innes McGrary were escorted across the burning sands.

The cotton fields are white with cotton and the staple is opening fast. The hot weather has put a stop to the worms working. Pickers are coming here on every train and the crop is being fast gathered. The gins are working full time. The staple is good and making a fine yield and sample. Very little of the crop is being marketed, as farmers are holding their cotton and seed for higher prices.

Dr. J. L. Tull has returned from Waco, where he was called by the death of his brothed, Capt. John Tull, U. S. A. Capt. Tull died at Junction following an accidental shooting on Nov. 1 while returning a pistol to its scabbard. He was at the head of the supply troop, Third Texas Cavalry, and was sent to Fort Riley to take a three-months' training. He was 40 years of age, and a veteran of the world and Spanish-American wars.

Completion of the local cotton warehouse will be made in a few days and will soon be ready for the storing of cotton. A second unit of the warehouse has been ordered. These units will provide for the storing of 1500 bales each.

Rev. S. W. Hayne, new pastor of the First Methodist Church, has arrived from Hannibal, Mo., and taken up his work. Elder Foy E. Wallace Jr. has taken up his work with the local Church of Christ. Rev. Gus Rammage of Bonham will arrive Dec. 1 to take up the pastorate of the Central Christian Church. Rev. Gaines B. Hall has resigned as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

HOLD M. SPEARS IN MAILS CASE

Mike Spears was taken into custody Saturday by Deputy United States Marshal Jim Allen. He is being held at the county jail pending the arrival of Fort Worth federal agents. According to a statement from United States Commissioner J. A. Lantz, Spears is wanted there on a charge of fraudulent use of the mails.

Appropriations to Take up Most of Of Congress' Time

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Speaker Gillette of the house of representatives thinks the passage of appropriation bills will be the most important work done at the final session of the 66th congress, which begins December 6 and ends next March 4. Mr. Gillette said today that in his opinion all matters pertaining to readjustment of the tax laws probably would have to go over until the special session of the new congress.

Preliminary work on the framing of the appropriation bills for the next fiscal year will be started Monday by sub-committees of the house appropriation committee which will start hearings. Under a resolution passed by the house last June all appropriation measures in future will be handled by the appropriations committee which will be enlarged from 21 to 35 members.

Senator Curtis, republican of Kansas, expects to introduce an amendment to the senate rules, providing that all appropriation measures in the senate be handled by an enlarged appropriations committee as is to be done in the house.

CONSORTIUM TO AID CHINESE IS GIVEN APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The consortium for the assistance of China organized by banking groups in the United States, Great Britain, and Japan has been formed "with the full approval of the four governments" said a formal statement issued today by the state department.

These governments believe, the statement said, that "the interests of the Chinese people can best be served by the co-operative action of their several banking communities to the end that the Chinese government may be able to procure a through loan agreement involving the issue for subscription by the public of loans to the Chinese government or other agencies involving a guarantee by the Chinese provincial governments. The capital required for the construction of improved means of communication and transportation."

"It is thus hoped," the statement continued, "to assist the Chinese people in their efforts toward a greater unity and stability, and offer to individual enterprise of all nationalities equal opportunity and a wider field of activity in the economic development of China. It is further believed that through such co-operative action a greater degree of understanding and harmony with reference to far eastern matters may be reached among all five of the nations.

EPWORTH LEAGUE PARTY

The Epworth League of the First Methodist Episcopal church gave a Hobo party Friday night at the home of Mrs. Lank Thornberry, 1601 Ninth street, as one of the winter social meetings of the league. About 50 young people attended.

Hobo costumes were the order of the evening and some very realistic costumes were in evidence. The entertainment consisted of games and contests most of them being played out of doors. This was but one of a number of social events that are on the league calendar for this winter season. Refreshments for the Hobos consisted of sandwiches and hot cocoa, each hobo being required to bring a certain number of sandwiches for general consumption.

ENGINEERS PROBE INDUSTRY'S WASTE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Industrial waste will be investigated by a committee of the American Engineering council, the executive board of the council today authorizing Herbert Hoover, the council's president, to make the appointments.

The board endorsed the movement to reorganize the interior department by the establishment of a department of public works.

LAW IN EFFECT ON STERILIZING STORE GLASSES

By DR. A. H. DOUGLAS,
City Sanitary Officer.

The new ordinance requiring the use of sterile containers for the dispensing of soft drinks, ice cream, etc., is now in effect and from and after November 15, the provisions of the ordinance will be enforced by the health department.

The ordinance requires that when glassware or such permanent materials are used they shall be sterilized after each serving by steam, hot water, hot air or other approved method. When steam is used each article should be subjected to the action of live steam for several minutes. When hot water is used the temperature should be 212 Fahrenheit and the articles should be subjected to this temperature for at least thirty minutes. When hot air is used the length of time will depend upon the temperature; thirty minutes at 212 degrees Fahrenheit, but the time of treatment may be reduced as the temperature is increased.

The ordinance further provides that containers of destructible material may be used, but requires that they be kept sterile and discarded after being served to one person.

The department realized that the installation of sterilizing equipment is quite expensive and for that reason made the provision that cheap, destructible containers may be used.

This regulation is strictly in accordance with the general trend of nation-wide progress in sanitation and is a forward step in the abolishment of means by which contagious diseases are transmitted.

Believing that you appreciate that anything which is of benefit to the community at large is in some degree beneficial to yourself and deserves your support we are depending on you to co-operate with the health department in making the compliance with the provisions of this ordinance 100 per cent.

OUSLEY TO COME BACK TO A. & M.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 20.—According to announcement made last week, Colonel Clarence Ousley will return to A. & M. College. Colonel Ousley was formerly director of extension of the A. & M. College, and during the war period was assistant secretary of agriculture. Since the close of the war Colonel Ousley has been editor of "Sea Power," a journal published under the auspices of the Navy League of America. Colonel Ousley, however, has been very anxious to return to Texas.

President Bizzell has announced that Colonel Ousley would give a series of lectures on government and citizenship at the college during the winter, and also assist the extension organization in the agricultural program fostered at the college for 1920.

DIES OF BURNS

CLEBURNE, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Jeff Beasley, wife of a well known farmer here, died today from burns received when her clothing caught fire from an open fire place.

G. C. WOOD TO SEE OBREGON GO IN OFFICE

G. C. Wood has accepted the invitation of Governor Hobby to attend as a member of the governor's staff the inauguration ceremonies of President Obregon of Mexico. The ceremonies will be held on November 30. Mr. Wood will leave here Thursday and join parties from Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and other points which are sending delegations to the inauguration. The Chamber of Commerce at Dallas is sending 25 representatives.

The entire Texas party, headed by Governor Hobby, will meet at Laredo on November 27. The party will then go by special train to the capital of Mexico. The trip will last 15 days.

The inauguration of the Mexican president will be attended by representatives of commercial bodies throughout the United States.

BUILD WAREHOUSE UNIT.

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 20.—The second unit of the cotton warehouse is being erected, which will give a total capacity of 3,000 bales, according to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. A sweet potato curing plant is now being considered for Vernon. Farmers have given assurance that they will make a specialty of sweet potato culture in future if provided with a preserving plant like that recommended by the local chamber of commerce.

"I Cannot Do Business With A Pale-Faced Man Who Has No Blood in Him"

That is the statement of one of the biggest captains of industry in America.

How effectively he expresses the almost unanimous sentiment of the world with reference to the lack of esteem in which the deficient in physical force are held!

His words are, in effect, a verdict and sentence in one; condemning the weak and debilitated to a life of indifferent treatment, hardship and consequent failure.

For it's true, there's no possibility of consideration for the wan and worn-out; no place in the scheme of life for the pale and languid—only the swift and strong have any chance in the race of human existence.

But the world is constantly paging red-blooded men, those of alert minds and sturdy bodies; ever calling them in clarion tones, yet with pleading inflection, to come and occupy the positions of real power.

Of what great importance, then, is it that everyone, man and woman alike, look well to his health, guarding his strength and endurance and, thereby, keeping keen in mind and vigorous in body. No greater aid to this result can be found than FORCE, the master rebuilder.

FORCE helps to make strong, sturdy men and healthy, beautiful women by keeping the principal organs of the body, especially those of elimination, in perfect working condition. Besides, it feeds the hungry nerves, replenishes the exhausted tissues and enriches the blood.

FORCE is a refreshing appetizer, a ready aid to digestion and a general systemic and reconstructive; being of special value in conditions of debility following excessive physical or mental exertion, worry, anxiety, convalescence from acute fevers and infectious diseases and a host of other conditions depending upon or attended by a general or nervous break-down.

SNAPPY FINALE GIVES OHIOANS WESTERN TITLE

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 20.—Ohio State carried the 1920 football championship of the Western conference back to the presidential state tonight.

In the most spectacular finish seen on historic Illinois field in years, the Ohioans triumphed over Illinois, 7 to 0, today, when Myers, in the last ten seconds of play, snatched a 37-yard forward pass from Workman, and dashed across the orange and blue line for the only touchdown of the game. Pete Stinchcomb, brilliant Ohio left halfback, kicked the goal.

By winning today's game, Ohio remained undefeated this season and has undisputed claim to the title. Both teams were keyed to a high fighting pitch and fought virtually on even terms. Illinois, weakened through the loss of Captain John Depler, all-Western center, and further crippled by injuries to Carney, brilliant receiving end of the spectacular Walquist-Carney aerial combination, and Ralph Fletcher, star kicker and halfback, fought stubbornly to check the smashing attack of Ohio's superb backfield.

The Ohioans carried the fight into Illinois territory during most of the game, although each eleven marched the ball to within inches of the opposing goal, but lacked the drive to push the oval across.

Record Crowd

The crowd that packed Illinois field was the biggest that ever witnessed a football game in this town, 22,000 persons jammed within the gates. Thousands were turned away. George Huff, director of athletics, said that 10,000 applications for seats had been received.

Ohio sent 5,000 spectators to the game, there was the special train of 28 cars running in three sections from the Ohio capital, and hundreds of Ohio students motored the 365 miles to see the contest. The line-up:

OHIO		ILLINOIS
Myers, l. e.		Carney
Huffman, l. t.		Olander
I. Taylor, l. g.		Mohir
Nemeck, c.		Reitsch
Weichem, r. g.		Smith
Spiers, r. t.		Hellstrom
N. Workman, r. e.		Ems
H. Workman, q. b.		B. Fletcher
Blair, r. h.		Waldquist
Stinchcomb, l. h.		R. Fletcher
Willaman, f. b.		Crangel

Score by periods:

Ohio State	0	0	0	7	—7

Ohio scoring: Touchdown, Myers; Goal from touchdown, Stinchcomb; Referee, Birch, Eartham; Umpire, Scommer, Chicago; Field judge, Snyder, Cleveland; Headlinesman, Henry, Kenyon. Time of periods, 15 minutes.

Final Party for A. & M. vs. Texas Universary Made

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 20.—Final plans for the Thanksgiving reception, annual feature of the University of Texas home-coming, were announced with the beginning of ticket sale for the event. It is announced that Governor and Mrs. W. P. Hobby will lead the grand march, and that Pat M. Neff, governor-elect, has been extended an invitation for the reception. Complimentary tickets will be sent to members of the A. & M. football squad, who will be guests of the University, and to members of the A. & M. faculty.

The reception will be held in the Hall of Representatives and Senate Chamber of the state capitol. Not less than 600 guests are expected, according to the committee. Dancing will begin at 8:30 in the Hall of Representatives. Those not interested in dancing will be entertained in the Senate Chamber, where an additional orchestra, together with the University Glee Club and the Mandolin Club will furnish music.

Every effort is being made by L. Theo. Bellmont, director of athletics at the University of Texas, to meet the demand for seats for the Texas-A. & M. football game in Austin on Thanksgiving Day. The original seating plans were made with a view of accommodating 15,000 spectators and extra stands have been erected at every corner of the field. Provision is being made by the Austin Chamber of Commerce to care for all alumni and other visitors.

In order to get boxes and reserved seats outside of the rooters' sections available for students, several University boys remained at the Clark Field ticket office from Saturday afternoon till the opening of student ticket sale at 7 o'clock Monday morning.

Charles Granger of Austin has been elected captain of the University tennis team. Captain Granger has won his letter in tennis for three successive years, has won the Southwestern championship twice in both singles and doubles and the Southern Championship last year in singles and doubles. According to plans formed at a recent meeting of the tennis squad a tournament will be held, beginning immediately, and any man on the team will have the privilege of challenging any man above him, while any student of the University may challenge any member of the squad for his position.

FROM THE JUDGES' STAND

Assorting the News From the Sport Realm

When the trapshooting season comes to a close there will be several trapshooters who will stand out above all the others. These shooters are the ones who have followed the sport closely this season, shooting in the main tournaments. They are Frank Troeh of Vancouver, Wash.; E. F. Woodward of Houston, Texas; Paul Earle of Starr, S. C.; Nick Boylston of Leesburg, Fla., and Fred Harlow of Newark, Ohio.

During certain seasons of the year these shooters made a practice of attending the state championship tournaments in certain sections and in nearly every case they topped the other shooters.

Troeh began his campaign early in the year and was the high gun in the Washington, California, Arizona and Missouri titular shoots and tied for high in the Texas state shoot. Then he crossed the ocean and won the English trapshooting championship. Since that time he has won the high average in the Canadian international tournament and had a run of 299. Troeh also won the live bird championship of the United States and England and about a dozen other championships.

E. F. Woodward has shown himself to be one of the best trapshooters in the United States by his record this year. Not only did he win the Texas state championship, but he tied Troeh for the high average in that tournament. He was high average man in the Georgia, Kentucky, Alabama and Arkansas state shoots and in the ones he has not been high in he has been so close as to cause the winner a lot of worriment.

Paul Earle was the high gun in the North and South Carolina and New Hampshire state shoots, besides winning the South Carolina state championship for the second year in succession. He was also high gun at Maplewood.

Fred Harlow did not do much shooting this year, but what shooting he did was exceptionally good. He was high gun in Ohio besides winning the state title and was high average man in the Indiana and Michigan state shoots.

Nick Boylston won high in Florida besides winning the championship. Then he came north and was high in the Massachusetts state shoot and tied for high in the Connecticut titular tournament.

Jose R. Cauablanca, now chess champion of the world by virtue of the resignation of Dr. Emmanuel Lasker and in accordance with the conditions of their first contract, but with whom nevertheless he will play a match for the title in Havana, is back from England. Capablanca was interviewed as to what he thinks of Samuel Rzeschewski, the boy wonder who made so sensational a debut at West Point recently. In the champion's opinion, the little fellow is in a class a shade below that of the international masters. He thinks that there are probably not more than six players in this country who could defeat the child in a serious match.

Cleveland's club has had, perhaps, more nicknames than any other team in either big league. Back in the '70s they were called the Forest Citys and later the Spiders. In the American league they were dubbed the Blues because of the color of their traveling suits. Later they were named the Naps in honor of Napoleon Lajoie, their manager. Today they are the Indians. Deacon McGuire was once a pilot of the Ohio team and the 1920 world's champions were then nicknamed the Mollie McGuires.

WITHDRAW NATIONAL HORSE SHOW AWARD

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The blue ribbons awarded this week at the national horse show in Madison Square Garden to Little Fire Lady, owned by Miss Patty Vauclain, daughter of Samuel Vauclain, head of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, have been withdrawn, the national horse show association announced today. A telegram sent to Miss Vauclain last night by the association says:

"It has been brought to our notice that your pony 'Little Fire Lady,' entered as a four-year-old, was shown in classes 148 and 151 and awarded the blue ribbon in both classes. Investigation shows that this animal is less than four years old, and therefore, not eligible.

"We beg to inform you that our executive committee has decided to withdraw these blue ribbons and prizes and not allow this pony to be shown in any other class at the show, and to bring the matter to the attention of the other exhibitors in the classes in which the pony was entered. Furthermore, the matter will be laid before the Association of American Horse Shows."

BOOBY TENNIS TOURNEY GETS OFF TO START

The consolation tennis tournament is under way and several games have already been played by the entrants.

This tournament is open to players who lost their first match in the recent city wide men's singles tennis championship, conducted under the auspices of The Record News.

A diagram of the results will be posted on the bulletin board of The Record News. Players are requested to enter results of their matches on this diagram.

The uncertain weather conditions will probably necessitate postponing the women tournament until next spring. Several have announced their intention to enter the tournament as soon as weather conditions are favorable.

MICHIGAN DOWN MINNESOTA 3 TO 0

MIINEAPOLIS, Nov. 20.—Minnesota lost its sixth conference game today when Michigan defeated the Maroon and Gold on Northrop field, 3 to 0. The score came in the second period. In the second half of the game, Minnesota showed flashes of a strong offense which carried the ball to Michigan's one-yard line where the attack was stopped.

LANDIS ASKS FOR HERMAN'S RECORDS

CINCINNATI, Nov. 20.—The first official baseball call of Judge K. M. Landis, in his capacity as chairman of the national baseball commission, was to Cincinnati today. He conferred with August Herrman, former chairman of the national commission, relative to the removal of all baseball records that accumulated during Mr. Herrman's tenure of office to the new headquarters of the commission in Chicago.

DAVEY DROP-KICKS WISCONSIN TO WIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Allan Davey sent a drop kick spinning through the uprights in the final quarter today and gave Wisconsin 3 points to 0 for Chicago in a game in which Chicago gained honors for its valiant fighting.

Every maroon player was characterized by daring and determination, which brought cheers from the 30,000 spectators in appreciation of the efforts of Coach Stagg's men to close their unsuccessful season with a comeback which would have been unparalleled in recent Western conference annals.

Texas Bill of Dartmouth Is Harmony Star

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 20.—"Texas Bill" Cunningham, crack center of the Dartmouth College eleven, is known as "the musical football player."

When off the gridiron Cunningham plays the piano and writes music as part of his football training. Music gives a new punch to Cunningham's football tactics.

In addition to being a writer for magazines and newspapers and having a one-act play now traveling on the Keith circuit, Cunningham is a musician of no mean ability. He has been assistant to the professor of music at Dartmouth, playing the big organ in Rollins Chapel. He also gives recitals in many cities of his native state of Texas and in California.

As a member of the Dartmouth Glee Club the Texas wizard has sung his way over a good deal of country, and as a composer has contributed various bits to college and town entertainments. Perhaps his greatest triumph as a song writer came last summer, when he won from a field of fifty competitors the $250 prize offered for a song for the great Texas State Fair. Bill, however, is inclined to think that "Honey, Pray for the Lights to Go Out," which he sold to Irvin Berlin, was a better song.

Was War Correspondent.

While serving with the A. E. F. in France Cunningham supplied Southwestern newspapers with a war correspondence, which gave him a high rating as a keen observer with a fine sense of selection and discrimination and ability to paint word pictures of the sort, for which his idol, Richard Harding Davis, was famous. Last summer he made a thrilling trip into Mexico, where he interviewed President Obregon for a group of newspapers.

Cunningham began his literary career by translating Latin poetry into English and astonishing the academic highbrows who had been deceived by his physical appearance. Though long a member of The Arts Dartmouth's club of soft-handed undergraduate poets, musicians, artists and writers, and also a member of Round Robin, a senior literary society which debates matters of great moment, the professors are still discussing him as one of the puzzles that bob up once in every generation to upset all laboratory dope.

Another thing to Bill's long list of activities is that he is a rider. With a Miss Robertson of New York he won the prize for officers and ladies at the A. E. F. horse show at Lemans, and on "Jerry," General Pershing's horse, carried off the honors in the half-mile race for officers' mounts.

From the time that he broke into the limelight as a football player last year Cunningham has claimed a good deal of attention from gridiron enthusiasts, and since his great play against Alexander, of Syracuse, a few weeks ago, his name has been prominently mentioned for all-American honors. "Texas Bill" is twenty-four years old, stands five feet ten inches in his football shoes, and weighs 177 pounds.

HASKELL SWAMPS OKLAHOMA AGGIES

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20.—A fast, shifty, powerful backfield that rounded the opposing lines at will, a repertoire of new formations that kept the opposition bewildered and the hurdles by McLemore that kept both the antagonists and the crowd gasping in amazement, won an easy victory for the Haskell Indians today over the Oklahoma Aggies, 33 to 7.

EORGIA BEATS ALABAMA, 21-14

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 20—Georgia university won the annual football game with Alabama university here today, 21 to 14, through the wonderful knack of the Red and Black players in breaking up the Crimson and white offensive and converting the plays into touchdowns. Alabama gained more ground from crimmage, making ten first downs to Georgia's six.

Halfback Cheeces of Georgia blocked an attempted field goal and dashed 82 yards to victory for Georgia in the last few minutes of play. Georgia's other two scores also came on plays that started with Alabama in possession of the ball.

In the opinion of the City National Bank of Commerce, the best service is the most courteous, and every member of the bank's organization works with this principle in mind. Being pleasant is a distinct part of the service of this institution.—Adv.

OHIO STATE IS VICTOR; MAKES IT 3 STRAIGHT

ILLINOIS FIELD, URBANA, Ill., Nov. 20.—Ohio State, undefeated this season, tucked the western conference football championship title under its belt this afternoon when she fought Illinois to a 7 to 0 victory and kept a clean slate of five victories.

The two teams fought like tigers through a gruelling game before a capacity crowd of 22,000 spectators. In the last 60 seconds of play, Myers, the Ohio right end, grabbed a pass from Workman, raced across the Orange and Blue goal for the only touchdown of the game.

The 5,000 Ohio state rooters went wild with excitement and poured on the field back of their 100-piece band.

The game was an even thing until the final few minutes of play; then Ohio opened up with a brilliant forward pass attack which brought victory.

GRAIN COTTON

COTTON GLOOMY THOUGH SELLING HELPS A LITTLE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 20.—While there were flashes of strength in the trading in cotton today, the market was depressed during the greater part of the time, selling coming out because of expectations of full ginning returns to November 14 in the report due from the censu bureau the first thing Monday. The strength displayed at times was caused by covering on the part of shorts who wanted their profits, and at one time a new demand was felt for which predictions of easier money were responsible.

The market closed for the day 2 points up to 6 points down, net.

On the first call there was much realizing, but after advances new selling developed and prices declined. A little later the strongest period of the day was entered.

NEW YORK IRREGULAR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The cotton market was very irregular today, with advances on covering for over the week and followed by declines accompanied by reports that exporters were offering cotton for re-sale in the south. The general market closed steady, net unchanged to 30 points lower.

The market opened steady at a decline of 5 points on May, but generally higher on Wall street and local buying supposedly to cover shorts. There was continued Southern selling, however, and the market soon was weakened, with December relatively uneasy under liquidation in advance of possible notices Wednesday. Covering later became more active, and there may have been some Wall street or local buying on reports that measures were being discussed for utilizing alien property funds in establishing international credits.

There were also scattering reports that distress cotton had been pretty well taken care of in the South on the break yesterday, which helped the rally. The market then met increased offerings, coming partly from the South, and the close was well off from the best.

COFFEE FUTURES RALLY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—An opening decline of 13 to 23 points was followed by rallies in the market for coffee here today as a result of covering for over the week-end or buying on reaction. The general list closed at a net advance of 2 to 8 points. December, 6.45.

Spot coffee, neglected and nominal; No 7s, 7 1-8 to 7 1-4 cents; Santos 4s, 10 1-4 to 11 cents.

COURTS REVERT TO CIVIL CASE HEARINGS AGAIN

Trial of civil cases for the remainder of the civil term in the 89th and 78th district courts will be resumed Monday, according to an announcement late Saturday from the district attorney's office. This will supercede a long list of criminal cases.

A large number of civil litigations are on the docket to be disposed of and in order to settle as many as possible before the next criminal term begins, trials of these cases will be continued indefinitely.

The trial of "Doc" Snow in the 89th district court, which is expected to be concluded by Monday afternoon, will end the November criminal term. District Attorney Fletcher S. Jones will leave here for Henrietta to take up trials of felony cases here immediately after he completes the opening argument in the Snow case.

The next criminal term of 13th district court will convene December 20th.

SESSION SENDS U. S. WHEAT TO WORLD'S DEPTH

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—American wheat became the cheapest in the world today through declines in future prices on the Chicago board of trade. There was a net loss for the day of from 3 1-4c to 5c a bushel. December wheat closed at $1.68½@1.69 and March 1 cent below that scale.

Corn and oats also declined partly in sympathy with wheat and partly because buyers had no confidence that the bottom had been reached in those grains, although they were already below the pre-war value. December corn closed on the down grade at 63 5-8 to 64c, while oats wound up at a split fraction below 48c.

In corn, country offerings continued light and cash corn sold at fair premiums over the December delivery but the market was in no mood to respond to news regarding grains and the general financial situation effected corn as it had wheat. Oats too felt the influences of the general business situation throughout the session although there were slightly less selling fever than was manifested in the corn trade.

RAW SUGAR QUIET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Raw sugar was quiet today, but the undertone was still unsettled and offerings were quite liberal, while there appeared to be no demand, and no fresh business was reported. Prices were unchanged, with Cubas offered at 4 3-4 cents, c. a. f., equal to 5.76 for centrifugal.

Refined was unchanged at 9.00 to 9.50 for fine granulated, with little inquiry reported.

There was another decline in sugar futures, with prices at the lowest levels thus far recorded this season. Near the close there was a slight rally on covering and final prices were 20 to 22 points net lower.

Totals	$3,285,966.02
Last Week	$3,343,560.57
Decrease	$ 57,594.55

$12,470,380 EXCESS

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows that they hold $12,470,380 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is a decrease of $19,735,800 from last week.

CHICAGO PRODUCE

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Butter lower; creamery 40@59c. Eggs lower, receipts 1,412 cases; firsts 70@71c. Poultry alive, higher; springs 22c, turkeys 38c.

STOCK MARKET UNSETTLED IN BRIEF SESSION

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Today's brief session of the stock market began with fresh unsettlement due to renewed liquidation and professional pressure among leaders of the steel equipment and oil groups.

Sales 575,000 shares.

Bonds were dull and uncertain, although several of the Liberty issues and the victory notes closed at moderate advances.

Total sales, par value, $7,175,000.

Clearing house statement disclosed a surprisingly moderate decrease of actual loans and discounts, considering the week's drastic liquidation of stocks. Reserves of members at the federal reserve bank decreased about $24,000,000 and excess reserves fell to slightly less than $12,500,000 against the previous weeks' total of $32,200,000.

BIG 4 MAY FLOAT 17 MILLION IN NOTES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Big Four railroad applied today to the Interstate Commerce commission for permission to issue more than $17,000,000 worth of promissory notes and refunding and improvement mortgage bonds. The notes, totaling $8,617,000, would be made payable to the New York Central railroad in ten years with interest at 6 per cent. The bonds would mature in 1929 and 1935 and also would bear interest at 6 per cent.

SILK EXPORTS DOWN

TOKIO, Nov. 20.—The October exports of silk totaled 12,200 bales, of which 9,263 went to the United States. This was the fowest export figure in months.

Rice is slumping heavily and the farmers are dumping their stocks on the market.

By WM. E. HUFF,
Vice President, Administrator, of the Estate of Mary A. Ferlman, Deceased.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.
To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting:
YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to summon Modena J. Rockwell by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, to appear at the next regular term of the 30th District Court of Wichita County, to be holden at the Court House thereof in Wichita Falls, on the 3rd Monday in December, A. D. 1920, the same being the 20th day of December, A. D. 1920, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 19th day of December, A. D. 1920, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 9559 A, wherein Marguerete Rockwell is plaintiff and Rodney J. Rockwell is defendant, and said petition alleging:
That on the 15th day of February, 1920, plaintiff and defendant were legally married and continued to live together until February 18, 1920, and that defendant failed and refused to support plaintiff, forced her to make her own support, told plaintiff to "hustle" for her support; that plaintiff and defendant have not lived together since February 18, 1920, wherefore plaintiff prays the court that she be granted a divorce from defendant, and for cost of suit.
Herein fail not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.
GIVEN UNDER MY HAND and the seal of said Court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this, the 19th day of November, A. D. 1920.

Wichita Polo Team Wins in First Contest

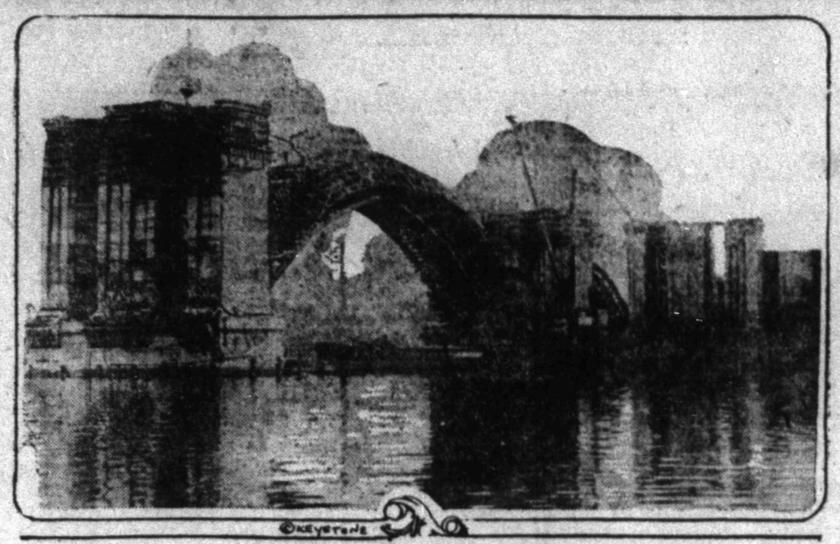

Wichita Falls' polo team beat the Dallas Polo club eight to two Saturday in the opener of the championship contests between the two cities. The two teams play again Sunday.

The Wichitans' team is referred to in Dallas as "The Millionaire Four."

On this team are, C. A. Wilfong, Horace Robbins, H. D. Hemphill, Rhea and Zeb Nixon and Dr. John Fletcher are in Dallas today for the match. Warren Jennings, with 18 polo ponies belonging to the Wichita Falls Polo club, is in Dallas with the "string."

The Dallas News has offered four loving cups to the members of the winning team.

BRIDGE IS MEMORIAL TO WRITER OF OUR NATIONAL ANTHEM

The bridge in the course of construction.

The bridge shown above is being erected in Washington, D. C., as a memorial to Francis Scott Key, who wrote the National Anthem. On the Washington side of the Potomac the bridge rests almost on the site of the old Key mansion in which the song is said to have been perfected. The construction of the bridge is said to be an engineering feat.

NEW YORK LETTER

By Lucy Jeane Price

The most unusual and one of the most interesting plays which has been put on in New York this season is being given at the little theater of the Privincetown Players down in MacDougal street. It is a tragedy of fear, by Eugene O'Neill, who established himself last season as very close to the top among American dramatists. And it seems that he has no interest in anything but tragedies of one sort or another. This latest one, "The Emperor Jones," takes a comic opera plot for its foundation. A Pullman porter becomes the emperor of a West Indian Island and through seven scenes he is pursued by fears—of reality, of inherited bogiemen, of visions—and the treatment of them is masterful, both by playwright and actor.

The first merchant steamship flying the German flag to enter this port since July, 1914, arrived the other day. She is the Sophie Rickmere, and was built in Germany during the war and was kept by Germany under the armistice regulations, which permitted that country to retain vessels under construction that were not 50 per cent completed.

Among the interesting Europeans who have just arrived here on the Olympic are Mme. Georgette LeBlanc, the first wife of the Belgian poet, Maeterlinck; Mrs. Andrew Carnegit, after a summer at Skibo Castle, Scotland; Captain Bruce Bairnsfather, the English cartoonist who did "The Better 'Ole;" Samuel Rzeshewski, the 9-year-old chess chapion, and Juan Garcia Belmonte, one of the leading matadors of Spain, on his way to fulfill a bullfight engagement in Peru. It might be called a fairly cosmopolitan gathering!

There's a barber in the financial district who is steering straight for immortality. First he gave orders to all of his men that silent shaving was to be their role. No conversation except what was necessary and related to the job in hand; no gossip, no questions of the victims under the lather. He reinforced the decree by hanging above equal sized pictures of Harding and Cox, and even larger one of "Corkey" Hanley, who served 20 years in a Boston jail without uttering a word. "That's no reflection on our candidates," he explained. "It's just a suggestion to show you what man can do if he puts his mind to it. And then, he took the final step. He laid in a dozen canaries of the songfullest variety obtainable. And now as the t.b.m reposes beneath the folds of a hot towel, they hear dulcet music instead of political argument, and peace radiate sthrough the room.

Every once in a while Manhattan rediscovers herself and in triumph at her knowledge hastens to tell the rest of the world about it—usually only to find that the thing she has suddenly come upon has been known and admired by her visitors from the provinces for many months. Just now it's the ceramics at the Hispanic museum, usually just called the "Spanish Museum," out at Broadway and 156th street. Art appreciators of the city have waxed wonderfully enthusiastic over the Hispano-Maresque luster ware there. It is irridescent and in quaint designs.

"Resorts seem very popular just now" says Samuel Untermyer. "It's not winter yet, and yet almost everyone I try to reach is at a winter resort; it's not summer and yet every one of the rest is at a summer resort." Mr. Untermyer, it may be pointed out, is attorney for the Lockwood legislative committee, which is investigating public building contracts.

Last winter Tony made a modest income in a certain Westchester suburb by serving as furnace man to a fat list of householders. This season, although he still finds occupation in cellars, he no longer wields the poker or the grate shaker. Tony has entered a new and more ducrative profession. The furnace man that was has become the "beer man." For a set sum he serves each family in his "route," taking care for them of the various steps in the producing of home brews, right throught to the bottling.

There is one immigrant making its new home in New York city which the rest of the country might well try to induct away. It's the startling, the English bird which looks so much like our own robin and which kills insects and adds to the joy of the world in Central and Van Cortland parks. Bringing the bird over here is a new experiment, but apparently a successful one.

The Dinner Dish.

Cut the left-over roast pork into small pieces and place the bones in a sauce pan and add sufficient water to cover and add four finely minced onions, one carrot, minced fine, one-half cup of celery, minced fine. Cook slowly for one hour and then remove the bones and add the prepared meat. Season and tsicken the gravy. Now pare and mash three pounds of potatoes and season. Grease a casserole or deep glass pie plate and place a thin layer of the potatoes as a crust around the side sand bottom of the dish. Turn in the prepared meat and cover whole with a thi n layer of mashed potatoes. Sprinkle with grated chees. Bake in a moderate oven for 35 minutes.

As to Peanuts.

Peanuts we learned to make the best of during the war in order to save both meats and fats. But we also learned to like them. And even now we do not want to give them up.

Cottage Cheese Loaf—Two cups cottage cheese, one cup leftover cereal, one cup bread crumbs (dried in oven) four tablespoons peanut butter, one-half cup chopped peanuts, one teaspoon onion juice, a pinch of sage, salt, cayenne and paprika. Liquid, if necessary, to mix. Form into a loaf and bake 25 minutes or until brown. Or bake in a greased bread tin and turn out on a platter. The cracklings left from tried-out fat or partially tried-out ground suet may be used in place of peanut butter.

Peanut Salad—One pound fresh roasted peanuts, one head of crisp lettuce. Wash the lettuce and crip it in the refrigerator. Halve the nuts and pile them in the leaves of lettuce. Dress with French dressings.

Sour Milk Pancaks—One pint of sour milk (buttermilk is bettre) three slces bakers' bread soaked overnght. In the morning, add one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, one teaspoon saleratus dissolved in milk, one teaspoon baking powder, one and one-half cups flour.

DISCOVERIES.

A cement kitchen floor is ideal; it can be hose-washed, is sanitary and cheapest in the end.

Waterproof varnish is used to preserve linoleum; it will keep water from getting into the pores.

Mix bluing with hot water before adding to rinsing water and clothes will not be streaky even if hot water is used.

Linens to be put away for some time should be put in something blue, either blue paper or blue material. They will not turn yellow.

Never grease a pie tin. Pastry properly made will grease its own tin.

SECRETARIES OF BOOSTER CLUBS TALK OPEN SHOP

Discussion of the Open Shop question at the meeting of the Texas Commercial Executives Association in Fort Worth Thursday to Saturday brought out a variance of opinion among the secretaries present, according to reports from that city. The discussion was opened by Hubert Harrison, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, he being in charge of the labor and industrial section of the association.

After declaring that he was not opposed to organized labor, but did believe in the right of any man to work regardless of whether or not he carried a union card, Mr. Harrison held that it was the duty of all Chamber of Commerce bodies to take a stand in favor of the open shop. He recited in detail several specific instances of the harm done by the radical labor element in this state.

The position of Mr. Harrison was supported by Charles Saville, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Dallas, Porter Whaley, secretary of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and several others.

The position was strongly opposed by other members of the association. William W. Woodall of Eastland and Milton H. McConnell of Marshall, both members of labor unions, contended that Chamber of Commerce bodies should not take sides on the Open Shop question. The discussion in the end centered around this phase of the question, several who favored the open shop principles contending that Chamber of Commerce organizations should not become involved in the discussion. Various solutions for existing labor conditions were discussed. A motion for a definite stand on the open shop was declared out of order.

The report of the resolution committee presented and adopted by the association took an optimistic view of the present commercial situation in the United States with special reference to the situation in Texas. The resolutions condemned the "spree of extravagance of the last four years" and declared for a return of the "old fashioned principles of faith, hard work and thrift."

DRILL IN TODAY ON TILLICUM 2 IN TEMPLE PAY

The No. 2 test of the Tillicum Oil association on the Temple and White lease, Mattie Parker farm lands, will probably be drilled in Sunday, according to reports from the field Saturday night. The delay in bringing in what will be the second well of the field has been due to casing trouble. A liner is being set. No further trouble is anticipated in the completion of the well, which has shown the same formation as the No. 1 discovery well of the field.

In block 19 the Bill Rowe Oil company has set casing to a depth of 1,310 feet. A star rig is being moved to the well to drill in. The two Cline Oil company wells on separate tracts, one in block 12 and the other in block 13 are now drilling around a 1,000 feet and should be completed by the end of the week.

In bock 19 the Fagg Oil & Gas Co. are rigging up on their No. 1 test. In block 8 Charles Anderson et al have derrick erected. Kean and Garrett are rigging up in block 21 and will probably spud in Monday. In block 10 the McPoe Petroleum company have derrick erected and Banosky and Barkley have lumber on their lease in block 18 for derrick.

The completion of the second well of the Tillicum association is expected to result in an even more extensive drilling campaign in that section. The new field is nine miles west of this city and was opened up several weeks ago when the No. 1 test of the Tillicum Oil association was brought in with an initial production of 250 barrels from a 1,320-foot sand.

The State of Texas,
County of Wichita.
To Those Indebted to, or Holding Claims Against the Estate of Mary A. Perlman, Deceased:
The undersigned, having been duly appointed administrator of the estate of Mary A. Perlman, deceased, late of Wichita County, Texas, by the Hon. J. F. Jones, Judge of the County Court of said county, on the 9th day of November, A. D. 1920, during a regular term thereof, hereby notifies all persons indebted to said estate to come forward and make settlement, and those having claims against said estate to present them to said administrator within the time prescribed by law at its office in the First National Bank building, in Wichita Falls, Wichita County, Texas, where it receives its mail.
Witness the signature of said administrator this 18th day of November, A. D. 1920.
STATE TRUST COMPANY,
By WM. E. HUFF,
Vice President, Administrator, of the Estate of Mary A. Perlman, Deceased.

To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting:
YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to summon Rodney J. Rockwell by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, to appear at the next regular term of the 30th District Court of Wichita County, to be holden at the Court House thereof in Wichita Falls, on the 3rd Monday in December, A. D. 1920, the same being the 20th day of December, A. D. 1920, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 19th day of December, A. D. 1920, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 9559 A, wherein Marguerete Rockwell is plaintiff and Rodney J. Rockwell is defendant, and said petition alleging:
That on the 15th day of February, 1920, plaintiff and defendant were legally married and continued to live together until February 18, 1920, and that defendant failed and refused to support plaintiff, forcing her to make her own support, told plaintiff to "hustle" for her support; that plaintiff and defendant have not lived together since February 18, 1920, wherefore plaintiff prays the court that she be granted a divorce from defendant, and for cost of suit.
Herein fail not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.
GIVEN UNDER MY HAND and the seal of said Court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this, the 19th day of November, A. D. 1920.

Wichita Polo Team Wins in First Contest

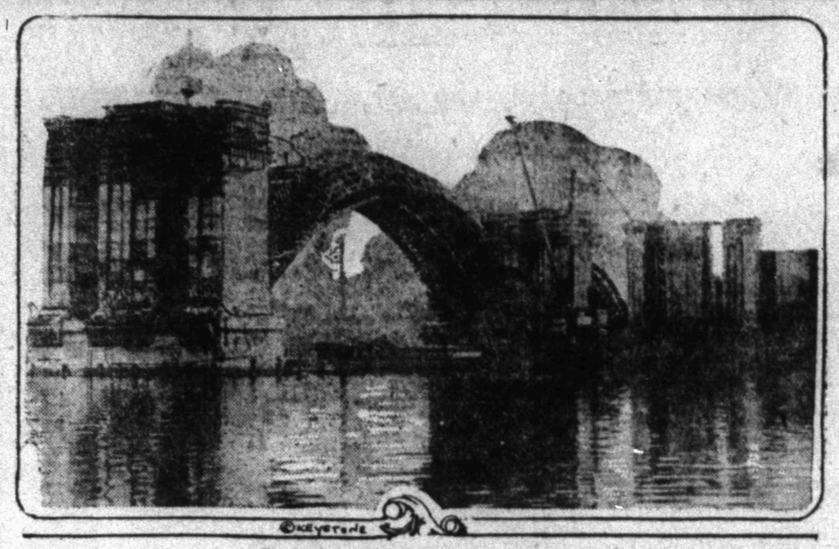

Wichita Falls' polo team beat the Dallas Polo club eight to two Saturday in the opener of the championship contests between the two cities. The two teams play again Sunday.

The Wichitans' team is referred to in Dallas as "The Millionaire Four."

On this team are, C. A. Wilfong, Horace Robbins, H. D. Hemphill, Rhea and Zeb Nixon and Dr. John Fletcher are in Dallas today for the match. Warren Jennings, with 18 polo ponies belonging to the Wichita Falls Polo club, is in Dallas with the "string."

The Dallas News has offered four loving cups to the members of the winning team.

BRIDGE IS MEMORIAL TO WRITER OF OUR NATIONAL ANTHEM

The bridge in the course of construction.

The bridge shown above is being erected in Washington, D. C., as a memorial to Francis Scott Key, who wrote the National Anthem. On the Washington side of the Potomac the bridge rests almost on the site of the old Key mansion in which the song is said to have been perfected. The construction of the bridge is said to be an engineering feat.

NEW YORK LETTER

By Lucy Jeane Price

The most unusual and one of the most interesting plays which has been put on in New York this season is being given at the little theater of the Privincetown Players down in MacDougal street. It is a tragedy of fear, by Eugene O'Neill, who established himself last season as very close to the top among American dramatists. And it seems that he has no interest in anything but tragedies of one sort or another. This latest one, "The Emperor Jones," takes a comic opera plot for its foundation. A Pullman porter becomes the emperor of a West Indian Island and through seven scenes he is pursued by fears—of reality, of inherited bogiemen, of visions—and the treatment of them is masterful, both by playwright and actor.

The first merchant steamship flying the German flag to enter this port since July, 1914, arrived the other day. She is the Sophie Rickmere, and was built in Germany during the war and was kept by Germany under the armistice regulations, which permitted that country to retain vessels under construction that were not 50 per cent completed.

Among the interesting Europeans who have just arrived here on the Olympic are Mme. Georgette LeBlanc, the first wife of the Belgian poet, Maeterlinck; Mrs. Andrew Carnegit, after a summer at Skibo Castle, Scotland; Captain Bruce Bairnsfather, the English cartoonist who did "The Better 'Ole;" Samuel Rzeshewski, the 9-year-old chess chapion, and Juan Garcia Belmonte, one of the leading matadors of Spain, on his way to fulfill a bullfight engagement in Peru. It might be called a fairly cosmopolitan gathering!

There's a barber in the financial district who is steering straight for immortality. First he gave orders to all of his men that silent shaving was to be their role. No conversation except what was necessary and related to the job in hand; no gossip, no questions of the victims under the lather. He reinforced the decree by hanging above equal sized pictures of Harding and Cox, and even larger one of "Corkey" Hanley, who served 20 years in a Boston jail without uttering a word. "That's no reflection on our candidates," he explained. "It's just a suggestion to show you what man can do if he puts his mind to it. And then, he took the final step. He laid in a dozen canaries of the songfullest variety obtainable. And now as the t.b.m reposes beneath the folds of a hot towel, they hear dulcet music instead of political argument, and peace radiate sthrough the room.

Every once in a while Manhattan rediscovers herself and in triumph at her knowledge hastens to tell the rest of the world about it—usually only to find that the thing she has suddenly come upon has been known and admired by her visitors from the provinces for many months. Just now it's the ceramics at the Hispanic museum, usually just called the "Spanish Museum," out at Broadway and 156th street. Art appreciators of the city have waxed wonderfully enthusiastic over the Hispano-Maresque luster ware there. It is irridescent and in quaint designs.

"Resorts seem very popular just now" says Samuel Untermyer. "It's not winter yet, and yet almost everyone I try to reach is at a winter resort; it's not summer and yet every one of the rest is at a summer resort." Mr. Untermyer, it may be pointed out, is attorney for the Lockwood legislative committee, which is investigating public building contracts.

Last winter Tony made a modest income in a certain Westchester suburb by serving as furnace man to a fat list of householders. This season, althought he still finds occupation in cellars, he no longer wields the poker or the grate shaker. Tony has entered a new and more ducrative profession. The furnace man that was has become the "beer man." For a set sum he serves each family in his "route," taking care for them of the various steps in the producing of home brews, right throught to the bottling.

There is one immigrant making its new home in New York city which the rest of the country might well try to induct away. It's the startling, the English bird which looks so much like our own robin and which kills insects and adds to the joy of the world in Central and Van Cortland parks. Bringing the bird over here is a new experiment, but apparently a successful one.

The Dinner Dish.

Cut the left-over roast pork into small pieces and place the bones in a sauce pan and add sufficient water to cover and add four finely minced onions, one carrot, minced fine, one-half cup of celery, minced fine. Cook slowly for one hour and then remove the bones and add the prepared meat. Season and tsicken the gravy. Now pare and mash three pounds of potatoes and season. Grease a casserole or deep glass pie plate and place a thin layer of the potatoes as a crust around the side sand bottom of the dish. Turn in the prepared meat and cover whole with a thi n layer of mashed potatoes. Sprinkle with grated chees. Bake in a moderate oven for 35 minutes.

As to Peanuts.

Peanuts we learned to make the best of during the war in order to save both meats and fats. But we also learned to like them. And even now we do not want to give them up.

Cottage Cheese Loaf—Two cups cottage cheese, one cup leftover cereal, one cup bread crumbs (dried in oven) four tablespoons peanut butter, one-half cup chopped peanuts, one teaspoon onion juice, a pinch of sage, salt, cayenne and paprika. Liquid, if necessary, to mix. Form into a loaf and bake 25 minutes or until brown. Or bake in a greased bread tin and turn out on a platter. The cracklings left from tried-out fat or partially tried-out ground suet may be used in place of peanut butter.

Peanut Salad—One pound fresh roasted peanuts, one head of crisp lettuce. Wash the lettuce and crip it in the refrigerator. Halve the nuts and pile them in the leaves of lettuce. Dress with French dressings.

Sour Milk Pancaks—One pint of sour milk (buttermilk is bettre) three slces bakers' bread soaked overnght. In the morning, add one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, one teaspoon saleratus dissolved in milk, one teaspoon baking powder, one and one-half cups flour.

Stir well. This makes enough for two people.

DISCOVERIES.

A cement kitchen floor is ideal; it can be hose-washed, is sanitary and cheapest in the end.

Waterproof varnish is used to preserve linoleum; it will keep water from getting into the pores.

Mix bluing with hot water before adding to rinsing water and clothes will not be streaky even if hot water is used.

Linens to be put away for some time should be put in something blue, either blue paper or blue material. They will not turn yellow.

Beans baked with saugsage are savory and excellent.

Never grease a pie tin. Pastry properly made will grease its own tin.

SECRETARIES OF BOOSTER CLUBS TALK OPEN SHOP

Discussion of the Open Shop question at the meeting of the Texas Commercial Executives Association in Fort Worth Thursday to Saturday brought out a variance of opinion among the secretaries present, according to reports from that city. The discussion was opened by Hubert Harrison, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, he being in charge of the labor and industrial section of the association.

After declaring that he was not opposed to organized labor, but did believe in the right of any man to work regardless of whether or not he carried a union card, Mr. Harrison held that it was the duty of all Chambers of Commerce bodies to take a stand in favor of the open shop. He recited in detail several specific instances of the harm done by the radical labor element in this state.

The position of Mr. Harrison was supported by Charles Saville, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Dallas, Porter Whaley, secretary of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and several others.

The position was strongly opposed by other members of the association. William W. Woodall of Eastland and Milton H. McConnell of Marshall, both members of labor unions, contended that Chamber of Commerce bodies should not take sides on the Open Shop question. The discussion in the end centered around this phase of the question, several who favored the open shop principles contending that Chamber of Commerce organizations should not become involved in the discussion. Various solutions for existing labor conditions were discussed. A motion for a definite stand on the open shop was declared out of order.

The report of the resolution committee presented and adopted by the association took an optimistic view of the present commercial situation in the United States with special reference to the situation in Texas. The resolutions condemned the "spree of extravagance of the last four years" and declared for a return of the "old fashioned principles of faith, hard work and thrift."

DRILL IN TODAY ON TILLICUM 2 IN TEMPLE PAY

The No. 2 test of the Tillicum Oil association on the Temple and White lease, Mattie Parker farm lands, will probably be drilled in Sunday, according to reports from the field Saturday night. The delay in bringing in what will be the second well of the field has been due to caving trouble. A liner is being set. No further trouble is anticipated in the completion of the well, which has shown the same formation as the No. 1 discovery well of the field.

In block 19 the Bill Rowe Oil company has set casing to a depth of 1,310 feet. A star rig is being moved to the well to drill in. The two Cline Oil company wells on separate tracts, one in block 12 and the other in block 13 are now drilling around a 1,000 feet and should be completed by the end of the week.

In bock 19 the Fagg Oil & Gas Co. are rigging up on their No. 1 test. In block 8 Charles Anderson et al have derrick erected. Kean and Garrett are rigging up in block 21 and will probably spud in Monday. In block 10 the McPoe Petroleum Company have derrick erected and Banosky and Barkley have lumber on their lease in block 18 for derrick.

The completion of the second well of the Tillicum association is expected to result in an even more extensive drilling campaign in that section. The new field is nine miles west of this city and was opened up several weeks ago when the No. 1 test of the Tillicum Oil association was brought in with an initial production of 250 barrels from a 1,320-foot sand.

ELK'S FORMAL BALL LOOKED TO AS NEXT SOCIAL FEATURE

With the Shriners' formal ball a memory, and the season well in full swing, naturally the question of Society is "What Next?" Plans for the holidays are still a trifle remote.

Thanksgiving of course, bulks large in prospect, but the observance of that feast day is more of an informal nature.

Coming as a pleasant interlude immediately before Thanksgiving will be the Elks' formal ball, which will be given Wednesday evening, November 24. The affair will be held at Elks' club rooms, Scott and Eighth streets.

Announcement has been made by the social committee: George Mobley, J. Wilkie Talbert and George Jeble, of a formal receiving line composed of Messrs. and Mesdames E. Stanley Field, Bobby Burns, Clarence L. Moore, R. H. Hollinger and L. A. French.

WHAT KIND OF 'BABY' WILL CIVIC LEAGUE GIVE AWAY?

Will the baby be a boy or a girl?

Will it be a blond or a brunette?

I wonder how old it is?

These are a few of the many queries heard concerning "the baby" which will be given away to the one who draws the lucky number at the Civic League Benefit Tea, which will be given at the home of Mr. and Ms. J. W. Culbertson, 1100 Harrison street, Wednesday afternoon, November 24.

The guests will be received in periods during the hours from 2:30 to 5:30. A large number will be entertained during those hours. Music for the affair will be furnished by the Musicians Club, which insures the success of that feature of the entertainment.

The following ladies will act as hostesses for the afternoon: Mrs. John Kay, president of the Beta Delphia Club; Mrs. T. P. Adams of the New Century; Mrs. C. E. Bailey of the Standard; Mrs. H. A. Waller of the Musicians; Mrs. E. B. Gorsline, president of the Unity club; Mrs. F. T. Dutson, president of the Travel Club; Mrs. C. N. Alexander, president of the Delphians; Mrs. W. W. Silk of the Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. C. E. Ousley of the Welfare Council.

Ladies of the Civic League executive board who will act as hostesses are: Mrs. T. B. Smock, J. W. Stone, W. H. Doak, J. W. Sharpe, J. V. C. T. Christensen, R. E. Shepherd, M. H. Glover, Charles Pogenphol, W. S. Curlee, Flora M. Perham, W. A. Patterson and J. Cohen.

And members of the Civic League who will act as hostesses are: Mesdames J. A. Richolt, Frank Kell, C. J. Coyne, D. O. Long, H. S. Crawford, H. M. Larkum, W. P. Parker, C. C. McDonald, Roy Clark, J. R. Clymer, W. M. Priddy, T. J. Strong, C. C. Randle, Ed Sheegog, Fred T. Couper, C. F. Spencer, J. C. Davis, Emma Stoecker, C. J. Barnard and C. W. Beavers.

ENTERTAINS UNITY CLUB

Mrs. H. C. Young was hostess Friday afternoon to the Unity Club at her home on Broad street. Mrs. W. N. Maer was leader of the lesson. Mrs. O. E. Maer gave a paper on "Shaw's Socialism and Attitude Toward Conventional Criminals."

Analytical Discussion of "Candida" and "Morrell" was the subject of a paper by Mrs. G. D. Anderson.

A discussion of "Candida" was held by the club.

Prayer Service At Martin Home

Tuesday morning during the hours from 10:30 to 11:30, a prayer service will be held by the members of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Methodist church, south, at the home of Mrs. N. H. Martin at 2014 Eleventh street, at which the following program will be rendered:

Hymn—"Sweet Hour of Prayer."
Prayer—Mrs. Haynes.
Lesson on Prayer Scripture—Deut. 1-9.
Family—Mrs. Stuckey.
Prayer—Mrs. A. M. Hartsook.
¼ Solo—Mrs. Hucabee.
Talk—"The Vashti Industrial School," Mrs. W. W. Silk.
Prayer—Mrs. Haney.
Christ's Method of Securing Workers," Mrs. P. P. Langford.
Hymn—"Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me."
Talk on Public Prayer and Prayer, by Mrs. C. E. Huckabee.
Free-will offering.
Sentence prayers — Mrs. C. B. Montgomery.
The Lord's prayer.

In the afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock Mrs. N. H. Martin with her circle leaders, Mrs. Pat Pope of Circle No. 1, Mrs. D. J. Carithers of Circle No. 2, and Mrs. T. R. Boone of Circle No. 3, will entertain the ladies of the Missionary society at the home of Mrs. Martin with a reception. At this affair the following program will be given.

Solo—"The Spirit Flower," by Campbell Tipton, Mrs. George Thorburn.
Reading, selected—Mrs. Hicks.
Piano solo—Mrs. Knickerbocker.
Solo—"The Good Chepherd," by Zan de Water, Mrs. Mary Adams.
Reading—"The Convicts Christmas Eve," Miss Virginia Lowenstein.
Reading—"The Worth While Folks," by Mrs. Foster.

ENJOY DANCE

An unusually large crowd of the society set and younger matrons and their husbands enjoyed the informal dance and music by the Louisiana Five Orchestra at the Kemp Hotel Friday night.

Gives Party for Sixth Birthday

Music and games furnished diversion for the afternoon until a late hour when the guests were invited to the dining room and refreshments consisting of brick ice cream, cake, peanuts, popcorn and candy was served.

Two hugh birthday cakes, one decorated with the name of the honoree and date of birth and the other decorated with lighted candles, furnished the table decorations.

Those enjoying the occasion were, Alma Edith and Maud Naylor, Esther Helis, Martha Garrett, Elizabeath Thornton, Henry and Joe Naylor, Nicholas Melidenes, George Helis and Johnnie Thornton.

Mrs. Dawson was assisted in the entertainment of the serving of the guests by Misses Flora Fore, Dell Newton and Mesdames William Newton, A. J. Pepper and Ernest Thornton.

GIVE BRIDGE PARTY.

Miss Lillian Fain and Clint Murchison entertained Saturday afternoon with a bridge party honoring Miss Lucy Morris of Tyler, Texas, who is the house guest of Mrs. Murchison.

PLAIN ALL-DAY SESSION.

Circle one, three and four of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Central Presbyterian church will meet in an all-day session in the basement of the church Tuesday for Bible study which will be a review on the book entitled, "The Church in the Community."

TO LECTURE HERE

Mrs. J. C. Berney will lecture on "The English and American Novel" to the Unity club of Henrietta Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Berney is an honorary member of the United and Delphian club of this city and is a lecturer of much ability. She is recognized by the women of the state as one of the foremost educational lecturers in the state. She is giving a course at present at the Y. W. C. A. here on the "Modern Novel."

BAZAAR PLANNED

At a recent meeting of the Guild of the Good Shepherd, plans were completed for a bazaar to be held on December the 4th and 5th, the place to be announced later.

Pretty Christmas gifts, fancy work, and practical articles will be sold.

CIRCLES TO MEET

The Woman's Auxiliary of the First Methodist church, South, will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock as follows:

Circle No. 1.—At the home of Mrs. W. C. Cole, 1808, Eleventh street.

Circle No. 3.—With Mrs. T. R. Boone at 2510 Ninth street.

As this will be the last circle meetings of the year the leaders urge a large attendance and promise unusually interesting sessions.

JOIN CIPHER CLUB

Among the recent additions to the membership of the Cipher Club, one of the leading social clubs of the city are, Messrs. Jerome G. Stone, W. F. Boling, C. L. Anderson, A. M. Paulins Join Society Here

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Paulin and their daughter, Genevieve, have moved here from San Diego, Cal. Mr. Paulin will be manager of Dodge Bros. at this place. Mrs. Paulin will be an attractive addition to Wichita Falls society as will her daughter who will be welcomed by the younger society crowd. Mrs. Paulin is a sister of A. H. Britain, well known attorney here. They are living at 1208 Burnett street.

According to clippings from the San Diego evening Sun, Miss Genieve Paulin made a record for herself while living at San Diego as a Scout athlete when she achieved a record as a fast swimmer in a test across the bay. She was also decorated by Gen. John J. Pershing as a representative of the Girl Scout organizations of San Diego county who were entitled to the government medal for selling twenty-five Liberty bonds.

Expression Class Seen in Recital

Messrs. Raleigh P. Yancey, Pete Randolph and Lorain L. Taylor in full dress suits, acted as ushers and Nathan Chenault and J. I. Staley in full dress suits also, dispensed programs at the audience entered.

Travel Club on Work of Jones

The Travel club met at the Kemp public library Friday afternoon with Mrs. T. A. Hicks, the vice president presiding over the meeting, and Mrs. Leslie Humphreys, leader of the lesson, which was on Arthur Jones', the English dramatist, "Saints and Sinners" and "Mrs. Dane's Defense."

The first paper on the program was "Jones' Treatment of Positions of the Woman Who has Put Herself Beyond the Pale Compared with Pinero's Treatment of the Same Subject."

Mrs. Leslie Humphrey gave a paper on "The Melodramatic Elements of 'Saints and Sinners.'"

Mrs. Tarleton Morrow discussed "Jacob Fletcher, a Type of Saintly Hero of Modern Drama."

A discussion of the two books followed by the club.

Those present were, Mesdames J. W. Adkin, D. J. Carithers, H. O. Craven, T. A. Hicks, Leslie Humphrey, E. E. Jones, Tarlton Morrow, A. Murdock, Ben G. O'Neal, Guy Rogers, G. L. Shapard, Luther Hoffman, Adair Rembert, E. T. Duff, S. C. Holliday, Misses Blanche Potter and Pauline Richolt

All members and their friends are urged to be present.

TO HOLD UNION SERVICE.

A union Thanksgiving service will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning in the basement of the First Baptist church at Ninth and Travis streets. The Rev. J. Lem Keevil, pastor of the First Christian church, will preach and the music will be furnished by the United choir of the city, under the direction of Al Vaughn Ray.

TO GIVE DANCE

The Council of Jewish Women will give a benefit dance at the Kemp Hotel on Thursday evening, November 25. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Britain Gives Party for Neice

Complimenting her niece, Miss Genevieve Paulin, formerly of San Diego, Cal., who with her parents have moved to Wichita Falls to make their home, Mrs. A. H. Britain entertained some of the members of the sub-deb set at the golf club Saturday afternoon with a pretty party.

Bridge and dancing featured the entertainment with a dainty salad course served late in the afternoon to Misses Genevieve Paulin, Mary, Elizabeth and Berenice Brown, Virginia Robertson, Judith Sherrod, Elizabeth Carrigan, Helen Grimshaw, Mary Anderson, Helen Bullit, Elizabeth and Anna Bell Couper, Emma, Elizabeth and Virginia Miller, Flora Bruce Greenwood, Leota Tucker, Altza Hobbs, Elizabeth Weldon, Evelyn Barker, Edna Hardin, Marietta Hunt, Margaret McDonald, Mary Tancred, Rebecca Meadows and Ona Beall Britain.

THE PERSONAL SIDE

Mrs. A. D. Anderson has returned from California where she spent a year and will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. T. B. Greenwood for the winter.

C. H. Clark, local oil operator who went to Chicago on business and was stricken with inflamatory rheumatism while there, is reported improving.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ikard of Henrietta will be the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Marvin Smith during Thanksgiving week.

Mrs. P. A. Martin is the guest of relatives at Graham, Texas.

Mesdames Anna Clyde Plunket of Houston and Wilson Hickey of Fort Worth are weekend guests of Miss Alzada Jane Knickerbocker. Mrs. Plunket is a contralto singer of merit and will give vocal numbers at both the morning and evening services at the First Methodist church, south, today.

Miss Corrine Radfers, Sallie Wagley and Kathleen McAllen of Dallas are guests of Mrs. C. E. Young at 2302 Ninth street. They went to Ryan, Okla., Saturday, where they will attend the Louisiana Five dance.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Smith are spending the week-end in Chillicothe and will return Monday.

NO COAL, FARMERS BURN FENCE POSTS

LOCKNEY, Texas, Nov. 20.—The coal shortage that has threatened this locality and that has made necessary for farmers to burn fence posts and maize heads for fuel is being partially solved through the efforts of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. An appeal was made through W. K. Whipple, field organizer, and the matter was taken up immediately with the organization's traffic department. Within 48 hours advice was received from the mines that preferential movement would be given to five cars loaded out for Lockney. The immediate action secured by the organization is deeply appreciated by the business interests and citizens.

In the opinion of the City National Bank of Commerce, the best service is the most courteous, and every member of the bank's organization works with this principle in mind. Being pleasant is a distinct part of the service of this institution.—Adv.

RED CROSS SAVES 10,000 KIEV BABES

WARSAW.—Two thousand starving babies, besides 10,000 hospital patients, 5,000 orphans, 2,000 aged and 300 war invalids were given American relief in Kiev during the Polish occupation of that city last summer, says an official report just made public at American Red Cross headquarters here. The recent military crisis delayed publication of the report.

According to the American Red Cross statement forty-one hospitals, thirty orphanages, nineteen homes for the aged and ten child feeding stations were cared for during the one month which the Red Cross carried on its work in the Ukranian city.

That Kiev is one of the most cosmopolitan towns in Europe is shown by the American Red Cross report, which reveals aid given to institutions of every nationality, reflecting the city's long checkered history of Polish, Ukranian and Russian regimes during the past 500 years. That it is likewise both a strong Red Cross town and a vigorous Jewish community was shown in the discovery that twenty o fthe city's forty-one hospitals were Red Cross institutions, ten Ukranian, five Russian and five Polish, while twelve of its thirty orphanages were Jewish.

Hospitals would appear to be the special welfare interest of the Poles of Kiev, thirteen of the total of forty-one being conducted by them. The Ukrainian came next with ten. There were fourteen Ukrainian orphanages and four Polish.

300,000 Whose Lives Could Be Saved Succumb

Three hundred thousand children and 20,000 mothers die in the United States of causes which are entirely preventable each year, statistics compiled bythe American Red Cross show. In addition to these deaths are many more that could be prevented, including 200,000 each year from tuberculosis alone. The local chapter of the Red Cross recently obtained all the support it asked here.

It is to alleviate this condition and eventually to make it a thing of the past that the Red Cross will devote most of its energy henceforth; for the health work of the peace-time program of the organization, is its predominating feature.

Public health nurses of the Red Cross will teach mothers proper care of their children's health, touching upon various angles ranging from the eradication of any physical ailments the children may have to their proper nutrition and environments.

When the mothers themselves need the care of a trained nurse, the public health nurses will supply this need themselves or will see to it that the mother has a competent nurse.

Health knowledge will be imparted generally to the Red Cross nurses and workers throughout the United States and it is hoped that through this dissemination of information which heretofore has not been accessible to all of the people, that their health will have become more efficiently protected and that conditions which now exist, will have become impossible.

WATER SPOUT HITS VALENCIA, SPAIN

VALENCIA, Spain, Nov. 20.—A violent water spout, accompanied by a thunderstorm caused great damage here last night. Most of the streets today are more than three feet under water.

Traffic has been suspended. Telephones are interrupted and the factories have closed. Inhabitants have taken refuge in the upper floors of their houses.

HONORS MEMORY OF PAT CARRIGAN

BOONVILLE, Mo., Nov. 20.—The memory of a Wichita Falls boy, A. H. Carrigan, Jr., was honored here when the Kemper Military School unveiled a bronze memorial tablet dedicated to the thirteen Kemper men who gave their lives in the world war. Immediately following the dedication ceremonies, Kemper's service flag, which contains 50 stars, was formally demobilized by T. A. Lee, '05, of Topeka, Kansas. Mr. Lee is commander of the American Legion of Kansas, and one of the many Kemper graduates to achieve distinction in the war.

HUNT FOR DEEPER SANDS IN WICHITA COUNTY OIL FIELDS FEATURES LOCAL OPERATIONS

Indications and actual developments of deeper sands and their extensions in the various pools of Wichita county provided the chief items of interest during the past week's drilling activities in the district. This was true not only from operations in the Texhoma and Kemp-Munger-Allen pools, but from the west part of the Waggoner as well; week-end reports indicating that the Blair well, north of the Gulf Production company's Michna tract will be ready soon to test out a deeper sand in block 819, first picked up some time ago, and the occasion of no little interest during that time among the operators of that section.

The Kemp-Munger-Allen contribution to this interest comes in the shape of the extension of the 1,800-foot sand recently picked up by the Kemp-Munger-Allen company by the Walker Consolidated Petroleum company in block 22. Although the Walker well has as yet only touched the sand, and have had no opportunity to test, the fact that they have picked up the sand over a quarter of a mile away to the southwest is looked on as highly important development—indicating that the new sand is not by any means a stray sand, but is to be encountered throughout a considerable area in this part of the field.

The Kemp-Munger-Allen's No. 6, on the west side of the company's lease in block 30, has not yet been definitely completed, the wall packer set to shut off water coming from a sand at the regulation sand depth failing to hold. A canvas packer is now being set. In the meantime the record of this test in producing 50 barrels per day with an uncased hole and with water coming in from above is being pointed to by operators as indications of a very rich production to be expected from this sand.

Deep Sand in Texhoma.

The No. 9 Daniel of the Invader Oil & Refining Co., in the Texhoma pool is the subject of an intense interest on the part of operators due to the current report that the company had drilled olew than the regular 1,300-foot sand—heretofore the chief producer—and picked up a sand at 1,730—the regular depth for the Old Burkburnett pool to the west.

More definite information as the deep sand is lacking at present. The opening up of a producing area in the deep Burkburnett sand in the Texhoma pool would be of much importance and vastly increase the value of this pool and the opening up of still another producing sand would occasion little surprise at this time, since the possibilities of the pool have been already shown to be unusual. There are at present in the pool already developed producing sands ranging from 170 and 200 feet to 1,470 and 1,500 feet, the latter sand being the gas sand. Practically every hundred feet there is a different sand.

New Development in 819.

The Blair, Scott, or Huey and Cotton well, as it is severally called, in the north part of the Michna tract, block 819, is reported preparing to lower the casing a second time, the packer having hung when the first attempt was made to set the pipe. A fishing job was in progress for some time after the packew as hung. The exact depth of this well has never been made public, but it is understood to be something below 1,900 feet.

According to week-end reports from the field the casing should be set some time next week, when it will be possible to drill into the sand, and make a test. When the sand was first drilled there was considerable gas pressure, it is stated, but the hole has been standing so long, while the under-reaming and the efforts to set the casing were in progress, that there is now no gas in evidence.

Several nearby tests, that had gotten small production or had been dry in the regular sand depth, are now being prepared for deepening, if the Blair well comes in a good producer.

The Seaboard Oil & Gas Co. has recently completed a well in lot 6, block 1 of the Tidwell, Michna tract, good for about 50 barrels.

Clara District.

The Forty Nine Oil company's No. 1 Ramming, the furthest north well in the north Clara pool at the present time, will start drilling in Monday, according to reports from the field. The star is now being rigged up. The McBan Oil company's No. 6 Prechel has drilled in the sand to 1780 feet, and is now preparing to shoot, before completion. McCallister and Brown are rigging their No. 6 Ramming, and the W. G. Skelly No. 8 Ramming, on the lease just south of the McCallister and Brown lease is reported also rigging up.

Nothing New From Spur.

There is nothing new reported from the Spur and Steward test, in the Hirschi, Block 834, reported some weeks ago on a deeper sand than any from which wells are now producing, though the exact depth was not made public. The Cauble Oil company's test on the Dale, which is not far from the Spur test, is reported drilling somewhere below 2200 feet.

Donehoo Rayzor Test.

The test of the Donehoo Rayzor Oil company, on the Middleston, a short distance north of the city limits of Wichita Falls, tested out the 980 foot sand in it's second hole, and failed to make a producer, and is now shut down. The nearby test being drilled by Grafa, Haett and Hill is below 1500 feet, and the rig is moving off, to go to another contract, it is stated. A second rig is to be moved on shortly and the hole drilled to 2,000 feet to make a deep test. Shallow sands, around 600 and 980 feet reported in both the Donehoo Rayzor and the Haett, Grafa and Hill tests, the sands containing oil traces.

Texas Co. 831 Test.

The Texas company's No. 1 F. M. Myers, offsetting the Bowers No. 2 well to the south is reported drilling below 1500 feet. This is the only test at present engaged in active drilling in this district, where a short time after the completion of the Burk Cameron and Bowers first wells there was considerable activity. The Texas company test is the first to be drilled to the South of the Bowers wells, this company owning the acreage to the south, and also originally holding the tract on which the Bowers company drilled.

Shutdowns on C. Birk.

Tests on the C. Birk tract, west of Clara, started when the Arkansas Texas Oil company got an oil sand, that made several flows, are now reported shut down, following the failure of subsequent tests to make producers. The Bankers and Merchants J. P. Lawton and Arkansas Texas tests are reported shut down at varying depths, from 1200 to 1900 feet.

Second Sure Pop Test.

The Sure Pop Oil company which drilled a good appearing oil sand some weeks ago in their No. 1 Scott in Wilbarger county, but junked the hole while completing, are starting their second test, according to report.

Several new tests are reported drilling on the Burnett, section 6, H. & T. C., east of Electra, including the No. 6 Burnett of the Barr Davis Oil company, the Gladiolus company's No. 10 Burnett and the Bryan Oil corporation.

Kemp-Munger-Allen Activities.

Testing out of the 1,640-foots and found in tests in blocks 20 and 21, west side of the south Kemp-Munger-Allen pool continues to be of interest. The No. 2 W. J. Logan of Porter and Barnard is reported preparing to test this sand, after the No. 1 had passed it up, and is drilling around the regular K.-M.-A. sand depth.

The Universal test in block 20, which has an oil sand at 1,300 feet, the shallowest yet encountered in the K.-M.-A. is reported rigging up to pump and test this sand.

In block 19 the No. 1 of W. T. Willis et al has started drilling, offsetting the Willis well in block 20. The Texhoma company's No. 1 in block 19 is reported standardized.

On the Kemp and Kempner C. lease, in block 17, the No. 2 of the Walker Consolidated Petroleum company is reported standardizing to complete, and the No. 4, Lease-B, same block is also reported standarding. The first mentioned test is in Archer county.

Tillicum No. 3 Drilling In.

The No. 3 Parker of Temple and White and the Tillicum Oil Association completed the star rig the middle of the week and was drilling in Friday. Casing had been set last week on the lime at 1,300 feet.

The two Cline Oil company tests, one to the east, and one to the south of the Temple and White lease are making progress, the No. 1 drilling at 750 feet, the No. 2 at 775 feet.

Walker's Texhoma Extension.

A northward extension of the Texhoma pool is indicated in the reports that the Walker Consolidated company's No. 1 Mrs. M. J. Powell, drilled into an oil sand around 1,260 feet. This test is a short distance north of the Texhoma pool proper and has production both to the north and to the south. It is to be tested this week.

The Odell Oil company's No. 7 H. Beach is reported on what appears to be the lime above the Texhoma 1,500-foot gas sand. Casing has been set. The No. 2 Beach of the Stumpy Oil & Gas Co. is reported rigging up to pump, the sand at the regular Texhoma depth. The Texhoma Petroleum company's No. 5 Dodson is reported drilling around 1,350 feet and the No. 6 on the sand at 1,220 feet. This company brought in the first gas well in the Texhoma field on this lease, but has not yet drilled any more tests down to the gas sand, having producers in the shallower sands, both under 1,000 feet, and in the Texhoma sand.

VERNON CHAMBER GROWS STEADILY

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Nov. 20.—Climbing from a membership of about 40 last June, the Vernon Chamber of Commerce has grown steadily until today when it enrolled the Berry Cleaning Company to make the membership reach the 210 mark.

Since the Berry Cleaning company began business here on October 1, 1919, under the management of W. T. Berry, it has grown to the size where it required new quarters. It now occupies a new brick building at 12 West Marshall street, which building, with its equipment, cost $22,000.

Mr. Berry is demonstrating coaching the high school football team, and accompanying them on their trips. He was a coach during the war at Camp Bowie.

Rubbed into the skin for rheumatism, neuralgia, contracted muscles, sprains or lameness. Ballard's Snow Liniment goes right through the flesh to the bone, easing pain and removing the cause. It is a powerful pain relief. Three sizes, 30c, 60c and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by your Druggist.

DANCIGER SAYS OIL PRICE WILL NOT DROP SOON

Jack Danciger of the Danciger Oil and Refining company, a very successful firm in northwest extension activities, is convinced that oil will not soon drop in price. In a statement to The Record News he gives figures on the increase in the number of automobiles in the country, the total and fuel requirements to back up his assertion.

His statement follows:

In 1910 there were 400,000 automobiles in the United States. The average gasoline production per car per year was 1,875 gallons.

In 1919 there were 4,000,000 automobiles in the United States. The average gasoline production per car per year was 750 gallons.

The above, according to the Standard Oil company of Indiana, allows but 2 gallons of gasoline per day per car.

The above figures do not take into consideration the fact that a large quantity of American oils are exported, thus decreasing the average gasoline production which is actually consumed by automobile in this country and that used for other purposes.

An argument advanced that the price of American high-grade crudes will not be maintained is that Mexican crudes are being imported into this country in quantity. The Mexican crude oil now coming in does not contain any free gasoline as it is as though coal were being imported. It is simply a fuel proposition, and this Mexican crude is competing with the Pennsylvania coal fields and not with the oil and gasoline industry.

If any fears are entertained that Mexican crude would seriously affect the American crude oil market, such fears would be quickly dissipated by those who know the recent history of the Chimaupa oil fields which produced the largest oil wells in Mexico, most of the wells producing as much as 100,000 barrels of oil per day for the past 10 years. This is the pool so often referred to by those mentioning Mexico's big gushers in lot 114, where the Trans-Continental Aguila, Hausteca, Empire, Island Oil and Transport, and the Mexican Gulf and others had large production amounting to almost a million barrels per day. No wthis pool is producing water, having only very recently gone into water and the famous big gusher pool is a thing of the past. There is nothing on the horizon at this time to indicate any lower prices in crude.

FINDING BANK MESSENGER'S BODY HELPS CLEAR MYSTERY SURROUNDING HIS DEATH

SETTLES LAW CASE BY FLIPPING COIN

AKRON, Ohio.—By flipping a penny Common Pleas Judge W. J. Ahern broke a deadlock in connection with the settlement of a lawsuit.

It was a damage suit. The claim was for $160. Judge Ahern advised the plaintiff and defendant to settle. Although the defendant agreed to pay $50, the plaintiff held out for $60.

When he found neither side would budge Judge Ahern informed the litigants of his plan for disposing of the controversy. Plaintiff and defendant agreed.

Taking a cent out of his pocket Judge Ahern said:

THE SOCIALIST VOTE

It will be a week or two before we will have a fairly approximate idea of the socialist party vote in the nation; but on basis of the meager information at hand, it would appear that the vote for the presidential ticket is somewhere between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000. Does this indicate progress, and is it worthy of the efforts socialists put into the campaign?

It is our opinion that it is a remarkable achievement; and when all the facts are considered this will be conceded by every socialist and socialist sympathizer. In the first place, the party organization was all but wrecked by internal dissensions in 1919, and it had by no means recovered from them when the national convention met this year. This, coupled with the official terrorism of the administration, had left the party organization prostrate and disorganized in many states.

When the national committee met for the first time during the campaign there were only 26 states organized. Of these, only seven had good organizations. The remaining 19 states ranged all the way from paper organization to organizations that were badly crippled and which functioned spasmodically. The remaining 22 states had not organizations at all. They were smashed by Wilsonian "democracy."

What this situation means can be more imagined than described. With a bankrupt treasury the national committee faced the necessity of raising funds for a national campaign, securing speakers, printing literature, incurring the expense of reorganizing many states and getting presidential electors on the ballot in 22 states. The tasks that faced the national committee appeared to be overwhelming. They were greater than any that ever faced any committee in the history of the party.

The situation was such that a large measure of the resources of the organization were devoted to expensive work that had hitherto fell upon the organized states. Much of the funds raised were also expended upon this work. The disorganized stafes of the party also hampered the work of gathering campaign funds. In many towns of the west, socialists could not solicit funds. It was "disloyal" to the ruling clique even to be seen reading a socialist tract.

Yet in spite of these unprecedented obstacles the national committee placed the names of presidential electors on the ballot in all but two states. Most of badly organized 19 states were placed in fairly good working order, some of them, like California, developing rapidly and waging a very effective campaign. Of the 22 disorganized states, most of them were located in the south, where the organization has always been weak. A central office for this region was established in Atlanta, which did good work. A number of the remaining northern states also revived sufficiently to take some part in the campaign.

Now, the marvel of this is that the socialist party survived all this and the hysterical storm that was apparent in the Harding vote. It not only survived but it has received a handsome increase in its vote. Those who were aware of the real situation were never able to speak of it during the campaign. It would have taken the heart out of many of our supporters. The only possible course was to work tenaciously in the hope of overcoming tremendous odds.

The result exceeds the expectations of those who knew the almost hopeless situation that faced us. We have come out of the struggle with an excellent vote and an organization that is rapidly recovering from a period of prostration. The increase of the vote in nearly all the states will stimulate the membership to renewed activity in rebuilding the organization and extending its educational work. The socialist party has survived terror, persecution and imprisonment. It has won its right to claim the allegiance of the intelligent and progressive workers of the nation. The future belongs to it.—New York Call (Socialist).

PUTTING SCREWS ON COAL MAN.

Threats from Senators Calder and Edge of drastic legislation against coal operators unless they "reform" and lower the price of coal materially before Congress convenes in December, are given serious consideration by the press. The alternative of government operation which the senators propose is not acceptable to many papers, but several agree that the public has reached the limit of its patience and is in a mood to approve stringent measures. The suggestion made by the senators, the Chicago Tribune (Ind. Rep.) remarks, is difficult of accomplishment, "but it is evidence of the depths to which public opinion has been stirred by our coal troubles and prices. To that extent the coal trade will do well to look upon the suggestion as handwriting on the wall."

"Neither of these senators," comments the Sioux City Journal (Rep.) "is a believer in government ownership or operation of utilities. In fact, both are bitter opponents of such policies." It is particularly significant then, that the protest comes "from men with intense convictions against the course they propose to pursue."

The cry for coal and the protests against extortionate prices are echoed in the papers of all parts of the country. The Chattanooga Times (Dem.) quotes a "conscientious dealer" as admitting to the paper that "something is wrong. There is something rotten when people have to pay ten and twelve dollars for a commodity which requires only three or four dollars to produce." The Bufalo Express (Ind. Rep.) reports that "there is plenty of cola to be had by anyone who is willing to pay the price," and adds that "in the mind of most folk who use coal the reasons for the situation are self-evident."

The profiteers themselves, the Philadelphia Public Ledger (Ind.) thinks, should be able to realize that the situation is such "that the government and the people will be forced to intervene. * * * Because the anthracite coal trade has thus far managed to escape all effective control is no reason why they shall expect unlimited immunity." This feeling of security, the Springfield (Mass.) Union (Rep) adds, is "possibly because of so many failures of the government to seek and supply remedies for greed in the production and distribution of this necessity of life and comfort." If governmental steps are about to be taken to end these abuses "the public will take a genuine sympathetic interest."

The Calder-Edge ultimatum, says the St. Louis Star (Ind.) "has back of it the resentment that is felt throughout the United States," because of the fact that—

"The coal men rely on their power. They have the coal. They own it. If the people want it, they will have to pay the prices demanded. Otherwise—but they know there is no otherwise; the people cann togo without coal. All of the campaign talk about too much regulation of business and the abolition of government bureaus falls beside the mark when those who monopolize a vital industry use their power to oppress and extort."

The Jersey City (N. J.) Journal (Ind. Rep.) quotes the reply of "the head of a large coal firm" to the Senate Committee's statement, to the effect that "the federalization of the industry or the appointment of a fuel dictatorship at this time would be a calamity." To this the Journal replies:

"The 'fuel dictatorship' to which the coal profiteers sneeringly allude is the very thing needed. We had such a 'dictatorship' during the war, and our memories are not so short that we have already forgotten the benefits of an impartial distribution at reasonable prices. * * * Now, in times of peace ,the coal barons believe we are so simple minded as to believe their statement that federal control would be a 'calamity.'"

The exposture, the Albany Argus (Ind. Dem.) hopes, will probably frighten the profiteers into a sufficient reformation "without going so far as government control of the coal industry, which, although a last resort, is gaining favor the longer reduction in coal prices is postponed." While disapproving government operation as a national policy, the Minneapolis Journal (Ind. Rep.) believes that "if nationalization is the only cure for such doings as we have been witnessing for some months, the country will not hesitate to order it."

But to the Newark (N. J.) News (Ind.) "nationalization is unthinkable." Even if it were possible, in view of the fact that "the Republican trend is all the other way," to take the Calder-Edge threat seriously, the party could not be stampeded into taking such a stand. "Inevitably, were such a program successful in bringing down prices, * * * the idea of socializing industry would advance with a whoop." The Worcester (Mass.) Gazette (Ind.) questions the possibility of success. It says:

"Government regulation of the railroads was hardly a glittering success, and it is difficult to see how control of the coal industry can have any better results. Price fixing in sugar was successful only in creating a sugar famine that was almost a national calamity. A similar shortage of col would be nothing short of a catastrophe."

Any step in the direction of government control, as the New Haven Journal Courier (Ind.) sees it, "would be interpreted to be a damning indictment of the integrity and ability of private enterprise." Railing against the proposition "as a reversal of American doctrines and practices" is not the way to meet it; the only way to demonstrate its weakness is the convincing conduct of private control along clearly seen lines of integrity."

This suggested "reform" within the industry itself has already come about, according to a number of writers. "The operators themselves initiated a house cleaning movement several weeks ago," the Cleveland Plain Dealer (Ind. Dem.) states, and "are in a fair way to drive dishonest manipulators out of the coal business." With an increased output and "prices on the decline, there is no justification for suggesting nationalization. The Brattleboro (Vt.) Reformer (Ind.) outlines the plans of the Anthracite Coal Operators "to reduce excessive prices to the consumer by stabilizing the market and eliminating such bad practices as have grown up in the industry through improper and unsatisfactory methods of distribution." This plan, in the opinion of the Reformer, "looks more promising than political interference." But this process of "freezing out the middleman," as the Altoona (Pa.) Mirror (Ind.) puts it, is not a promising one, in the opinion of the Fargo Courier News (N. P. League) which says:

"When federal control of coal was removed the middleman galloped into the fresh green pastures. And there they have since been gorging themselves at the expense of the common people. And there they will continue to fatten themselves until the government drives them out."

On the Spur of the Moment

NOVEMBER BLUES.

November's fields are reaped and shorn,
The husk is rifled of its corn;
The night wind rocks the rattling stalks;
Like crazy skeletons, they seem
To haunt these dream-remembered walks
Still glowing with their summer dream.
As I in dreams still haunt that land
Where youth and I walked hand in hand.

When silk and tassel crowned the corn
My youths enchanted dreams were born,
Then summer stripped the stalks and fled;
The chattering husk and creaking plume,
Are dirges of a dream that's dead,
Are epitaphs upon a tomb;
My beating heart, the years have torn,
As autumn tears the tangled corn.

The test comes every generation or so, and the human race makes good much to the surprise of everybody belonging to it.

STRICT ENFORCEMENT.

Old Bill Ballard, the loafer of Half Moon Mountain, came home from the store tickled to death over a new phonograph record. He put the jolly record on his phonograph and Sally heard him chuckling with glee as it ground out the accents of a Scotch song. It was something about "'ve-got-a-wee-drop-in-the-bottle-'gainst-the-marnin'. When Mandy got the drift of it she snatched the record off the phonograph and smashed it over Bill's head.

"Talk about one hundred per cent enforcement," Bill said. "Sally's it."

I used to do all the talking, but of late I occasionally listen. I have found that I learn more by letting the other fellow tell all he knows than I learn by telling him all I know.

THE TWO-MINUTE LIMIT.

While two-minute silence on Armistice day was being observed in honor of the dead, the staff of Silva Pankhurst's radical scoffed at the mourners by putting on a song and dance. The mourners continued their silence till the two minutes were up. Then something happened that scoffers ought to have foreseen. The scoffers got their faces pounded to a pulp.

It reminds me of the time when I and Ernie Vance were the only radicals on Half Moon Mountain. We got into a row with Pete Lasher by talking socialism. Pete told me that if I "didn't like the laws of this country I ought to move away."

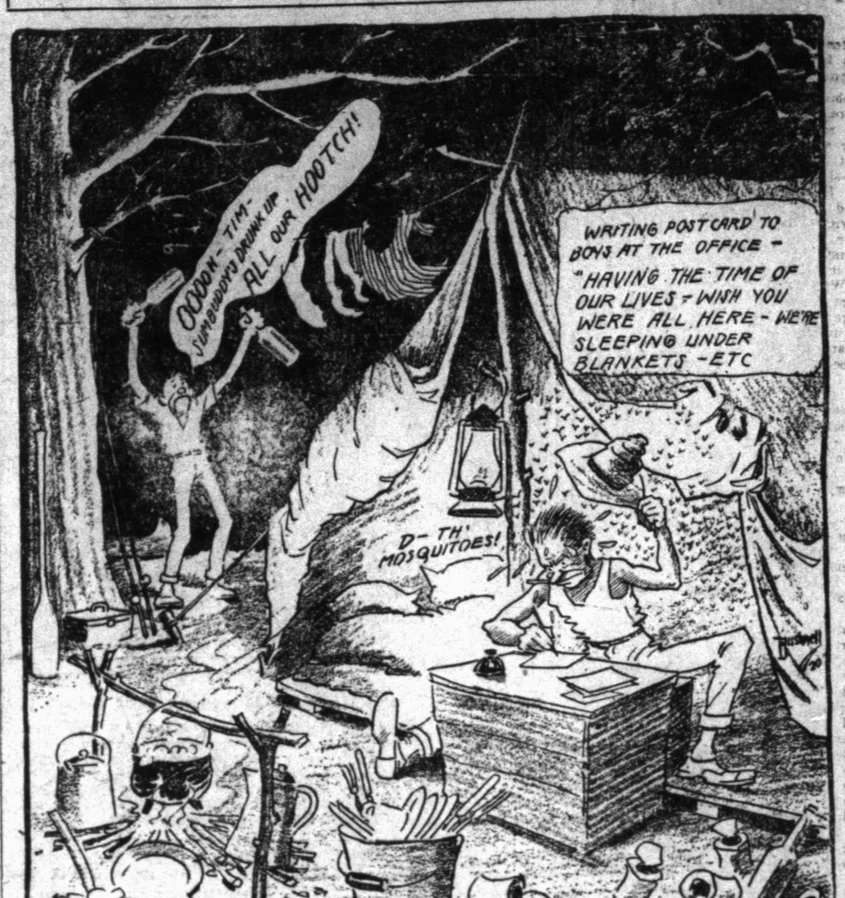

"I was a quick thinker. "Pete," I said, "you don't like the laws of this country, yet don't move away." I then reminded him that he was a moonshiner in violation of the revenue laws. "If the law gets you, you'll be in the penitentiary."

Pete went into the two-minute silence right then. It dawned on me that when he came out of it he would kill me. So I suddenly apologized, got down on my knees, swore off my radicalism and begged to be one of the boys. That saved me.

A few days later Ernie Vance got into it with Pete the same way. But he didn't pull in his radicalism before the two-minute silence ended, and Pete's fist dished his face in so that he's a sight for life.

The moral is, that advanced thinking ought not to be more than two minutes in advance of the crowd.

THAT'S WHAT THEY ALL SAY!

FIRST BAPTIST MEMBERS STEP IN NEW CHURCH

The congregation of the First Baptist church will move into the basement of the new church, Ninth and Burnett Sts., Sunday morning. This will really be their Thanksgiving service. The pastor will preach on "The Sacrifices of Thanksgiving," and the congregation will make a free-will and sacrifice offering at the close of the service to help complete the new church. This will be deposited in a little church that will be erected on the pulpit.

Until now the congregation has been able to meet all payments as they came due, but at this time they find themselves due the contractors about $25,000. They hope that there will be enough in this offering to meet this payment and enable them to go on with the building.

"This church marks an epoch," Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor, said, "in religious building in this city and even in the southland and should be a cause of special pride to every patriotic Wichitan. So we cordially invite all of our friends to join with us in this service. There may be a fine bird-dog auctioned off at the close of the serviche to the highest bidder, the proceeds of which will go to the new church. This is a fine dog and if you are not equipped for hunting season, you had better come prepared to bid."

HAPPY, TEXAS, TO BE INCORPORATED

HAPPY, Texas. Nov. 20.—At a meeting of the local chamber of commerce held this week a definite plan was worked out for the purpose of incorporating the town. Action was also taken and a committee appointed to co-operate with Tulia and Canyon in securing a high-power electric line from Amarillo. The move to secure the incorporation was accepted unanimously and a committee appointed to take up the matter instanter.

W. K. Whipple, field representative of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was the invited speaker of the evening. He outlined the history of the plains and of West Texas generally and told of the development and present standing of the organization he represents. At the close of his talk a motion was unanimously carried approving the work of the organization and pledging the co-operation of the membership at Happy.

DO COLLEGE "CRUSHES" MAKE THE HAPPIEST OF MARRIAGES?

Written by MARGERY REX for the International News Service.

NEW YORK.—Far above the throbbing heart of Washington Square, high over the garish green-tiled roofs and gleaming skylights under which genius is paying exorbitant rent, sedately stands the sober-sided building that houses New York University.

And sober though its mien may be, within its halls dedicated to the higher learning, wages a lively controversy. Dr. Rudolph Binder began it when he boldly stated in the Washington Square Dealer, the college organ of opinion, that few college men marry co-eds of their own university.

That this professor's claims should not be disputed is too much to expect. The college "crush" is too vital an institution, at least to its transient addicts, to be so lightly dismissed.

Dr. Binder's Statement.

"University love affairs are usually of short duration because the girl and man meet too frequently in the class rooms. The routine course of every-day sessions seems to put a damper on romantic feeling. The man fears to be excelled in his academic work, and the girl, too, feels herself humbled if she fails.

"Extremely young people, whose ideas about romantic love are very immature, often pass through such a period. The feeling is based upon some purely external feature—good looks, cleverness, repartee. I remember a young woman in one of my classes who told me that she cared for a certain university man because he parted his hair so nicely.

"Romantic love is eight hundred years old. It originated during the times of chivalry and reached its highest perfection in Dante's love for Beatrice. It is an intense, mutual admiration for the personality, differing from the platonic love or friendship in that its ultimate object is marriage.

"When romantic love exists, both the man and woman will remain single if the desired marriage is thwarted. Spiritually, each will be the other and could contemplate no other union. From such a love comes the ideal marriage."

Girl Has Different Opinion.

According to Miss Margaret Hermes, member of the senior class and of the Sigma Kappa Pi sorority and most important of all, fiancee of a "N. Y. U." man, Dr. Binder is most sadly mistaken in his ideas.

"You may tell him for me," protests Miss Hermes, "but I think he is quite wrong. I think young men and women who meet in college are apt to be very well suited to each other. They are getting the same preparation for lift and they have a community of interests which ought to make their marriage happy.

"I know many cases of marriages of girls and men who met in college and they have turned out very well. I don't mind telling you that I myself am engaged to a man in the university, but I won't tell his name. I didn't meet him in a class, but outside the university. We meet here, though, and I don't think that the fact of seeing a person often or knowing his or her abilities too well makes for disillusion or means that a couple will not eventually marry."

But all students of N. Y. U. are not of the same mind, for Burton Warren, president of the Students' Day Body, agrees with Dr. Binder, in fact is probably one of his staunchest supporters. Observe the reason:

Views of Men Students.

"The professor is right," laughs Mr. Warren. "There is too great a chance that two students develop too much alike and that sort of thing is opposed to all the ideas of romance. They grow too much along the same lines. Both from observation and from personal experience I have found out that these college affairs do not work out satisfactorily."

"He's got a girl in his home town," whispered William C. Johnson, president of the senior class, and Warren admitted the charge.

"There is a chance that a girl might know more than her future husband and that also spoils love," continued Warren. "On the other hand a girl might not want a man who excelled her in classes."

"Aanother point," broke in his friend Johnson, "is that most fellows going to college are not serious about such things. They think more of having a good time. They are not too careful. For example, men try to see how many girls they can get on their lists, and with each new girl the memory of her predecessor filters out of their minds immediately. They take a new girl to every dance they attend and want to have good lookers only."

"Well, there are exceptions to every rule," grinned Warren, who makes mysterious week-end trips to his home town, Marlborough-on-Hudson, according to his friends.

"Few fellows keep steady company with one girl while in college," stoutly declared William Johnson, while his companion looked at him much as an early Christian martyr might look at a heretic.

"Most fellows in college turn over their frat pins to girls," continued the speaker, "and that is supposed to mean an engagement; at least it puts them under the classification of engaged couples."

Where Choice Is Wide.

"I'll tell you one thing," said the head of the day body, "about the college here type. I mean the fellow who has made a great hit in football, basketball and baseball. He is more of a target for feminine wiles and therefore would have a hard time being true to anyone he was really in love with. And a good-looking college girl has so much choice among men that she would have to be very much in love to pin herself down to one man. Warren, here, goes home every week to his small-town girl. He is engaged, you know. She meets him at the station with a brass band. And Warren admits the fact."

Since the college weekly paper stated the discussion Ralph M. Hamilton, its editor, was prevailed upon to give an opinion. He agreed to a great extent with Miss Hermes.

"I am no expert in romances," he smiled, "and may not be qualified to speak on the subject. But I don't see why a marriage culminating from a college courtship shouldn't be the very best sort.

"I have observed many that turned out happily among young people whose acquaintance dates back to class days.

"Marriage, I believe, should be based on common interest. Persons studying the same things are likey to have the same thoughts and indications, and, what is more important people with good educations are sure to have good common sense."

TAFT GIVES $3,000 TO UNITARIAN FUND

BOSTON.—Unitarian churches all over this country and Canada are competing to secure $3,000 given by former President William Howard Taft, honorary chairman of the Unitarian campaign, to the $3,000,000 fund being raised by this denomination between November 11 and November 21.

President Taft, who opened the Unitarian Campaign in this city recently, asked that his subscription be added to the total of the church subscribing the greatest percentage over its quota. Already scores of churches have exceeded their quotas and are seeking the honor of adding the former President's subscription to theirs.

The Unitarians of American opened their campaign Armistice Day November 11, and will continue until November 21, in an effort to secure $3,000,000 with which to impress the non-creedal faith of Unitarianism upon the 65,000,000 Americans whom, it is estimated, are not identified with any church.

NABERS TO DRILL.

COLORADO, Nov. 20.—C. E. Nabers, president of the Empire Oil & Development Co. of Fort Worth, has arrived in Colorado to proceed with the drilling of the two new oil wells for the Underwriters company.

The Smith No. 1, six miles west of town, and the Dorn, seven miles southwest, are the wells in question. The rig for the Dorn has already arrived and a string of tools is out of Ranger.

Mr. Nabers declares that he is much encouraged over prospects in this field. Two producing wells making an aggregate of 500 barrels a day will shortly be augmented, according to local oil men's report to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

DODSON SOUNDS CALOMEL'S DOOM

The "Liver Tone" Man Warns Folks Against the Sickening, Salivating Drug.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you lose a day.

Calomel is mercury! When it comes into contact with sour bile, it crashes into it, breaking it up. Then is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish, if liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach is sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodsons Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous, go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it can not salivate or make you sick.—(Adv.)

ELIOT'S VIEWS ON WOMEN'S DRESS ARE NOT ECHOED HERE

By STANLEY RICHARDSON

Proof that sentiment aroused in the caustic criticism of the modern dress of women by Dr. Charles W. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard, is not confined to New York and the east, is indicated by the tremendous amount of local interest which has recently been manifested by discussions pro and con from people in all walks of life.

Dr. Eliot says that the short skirted, low bodiced evening gowns of modern women are indecent, immodest and immoral, and this scathing comment, coming as it does from one considered to be among the foremost of the country's learned, has caused a buzz of discussion.

Interviews from all parts of the country from prominent persons tend to show that the factions against the doctor's statement and those for it are about evenly matched. Some contend that modern gowns are vulgar while others come forward with the assertions that the scantier gowns are more healthful, hygienic and good looking than the more voluminous ones.

Some say that the employment of cheap tailors has a direct bearing on the doctor's "deplorable state of womens' fashions," others say that a moral question is involved in present day styles, while still others just as vehemently deny the moral reference and attack Doctor Eliot for having an evil mind.

Thinks Critic Extreme

Mrs. T. B. Smock, who was asked to express her ideas and opinions on the much talked-of subject, declared that she thought Doctor Eliot had gone to the extreme in bringing out such a contention. Although neither committing herself to one side or the other, Mrs. Smock asserted that she favored plain, sensible clothes for women and that she does not believe in extremes in either direction.

"I do believe that the younger girls seem rather forward in wearing the extreme in the season's styles, but we can't blame them because they don't stop to think," she continued. "If however, the styles were opposite and we had long skirts with high necks, they would be just as quick to adopt them as they are to adopt the present day fashions."

In concluding, Mrs. Smock said that she did not like extremes in anything, that she much preferred and admired simple, sensible and practical clothing, but she thought individual tastes governed the situation and that she could speak for no one but herself.

Grafton vs. Eliot

The Rev. N. F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who was also asked for his views in the matter, at first was rather reticent, saying that he "never monkeyed with buzz-saws."

He also declared that his wife would be a better source of information than himself, but finally committed himself to the extent that he did not think that Doctor Eliot's point was well taken.

He said, with reference to Doctor Eliot's mention which involved modesty, that the women of the country are capable of caring for their modesty and that although some styles are considered extreme, he believes that they are not of sufficient moment to cause the criticism which he pronounced unjust.

CRUX OF SMALL POX HERE HITS NO MAN'S LAND

Fifteen of the 25 cases of small pox in the city are concentrated in the "No Man's Land" area east of the Fort Worth & Denver railway tracks and running back from the river for several blocks. This was announced Saturday by Dr. Mike M. Walker, city and county health officer. Dr. Walker said that the total number of cases is comparatively small and less than the average amount here.

There are a great many cases of follicular tonsilitis.

Not a single case of influenza, in so far as the public records show.

There is some scarlet fever but it is in a mild form.

Dr. Walker summed up the situation by the comment that the city health was "good."

PLANS PECAN JOURNAL.

BEND, Nov. 20.—A new wrinkle in country journalism is about to start here, says the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. W. T. Moore, president of the San Saba Pecan Growers' Association, and associates, will shortly start a pecan journal here. It is represented in this light by "Gimlet" in the San Saba News: "A monthly pecan journal to be edited right here in the kernel of the pecan belt."

UVALDE PRODUCES 65,000 LBS. HONEY

UVALDE, Nov. 20.—Uvalde in 1919 shipped 65,000 pounds of honey. W. D. Bunting, a local man, has 850 colonies of bees and shipped 60,000 pounds of honey last year. There are at least sixty apiarists in this immediate section, according to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. In addition to his colonies of bees Mr. Bunting has several acres planted in budded pecans, thin-shelled variety.

Recently Uvalde organized a chamber of commerce with 200 members and selected H. K. Graham as secretary. The organization has affiliated with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The town has 3,000 inhabitants, two railroads, two new banks. The bee industry is possibly the most important, followed successively by pecans, cattle, goats and agriculture.

AUTO SECTION

WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1920

WHAT WILL BE TRAFFIC PROBLEMS OF THE FUTURE?

Certain it is that in times of war, in times when the great railroad systems do not function properly, that such an auto express service would provide us with a powerful alternative by which large movements of freight, particularly perishable kinds, could be moved with great expedition and within a reasonable cost. This may appear to be somewhat in the future, but we must remember that we are living in a motive age, the wonderful acceleration that aerial transportation received is an example of what may be accomplished in the auto express line. Judged from such premises, the widening of the sphere of the auto truck as just described is highly probable.

Isn't it true that the general conception of the auto truck is that of a lumbering leviathan of great potentiality, large in weight and carrying capacity, which presumably travels alone at the conservative speed of 15 miles per hour.

Recently a full loaded 1½ ton stock auto truck in a test on the Indianapolis Speedway averaged 38 miles per hour for 24 consecutive hours, and covered in that time a distance equivalent to that between Chicago and New York. Almost at the same time in Akron, Ohio, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company used to carry its employes to its factories in a tandem axle construction truck 31 feet in length and having four pneumatic equipped rear wheels. The exits and entrances were located in the middle of the car, similar to the very modern trolley cars in New York and other cities. This auto-bus seats comfortably 40 persons and can carry 80 people. It is claimed that this bus has a steadier riding quality, better traction, is less destructive to roads, decreases tire costs, reduces axle weight, has a greater breaking capacity and permits a greater operating radius than the ordinary type. This is remarkable wehn you think of its great size. Its operating speed is from 10 to 12 miles per hour.

In a former paper the limiting economic working radius of operation for a motor truck was statde as being 200 miles. A careful consideration of the first of the above items cannot fail to impress one with the fact that in the proximate future, with the completion of such a direct transcontinental route as the Lincoln Memorial highway, if adequately designed to carry present and future motor traffic, that the possibility of the auto express looms large. Why not?

But have we ever thought of the greater possibility of the lighter truck, the cruniser of the fleet so to speak? Does it not fill a field apart, on account of its greater mobility and speed? Are not these more valuable assets than mere carrying capacity? It will most certainly have to be reckoned with, will this auto-express in the future.

It has been often stated, and not without truth, that the majority of our rural highways have not been planned to take care of the present automotive traffic.—San Francisco Examiner.

VANDERLIP BUYS VILLAGE—WILL MAKE MODEL COMMUNITY

General view of Sparta, N. Y., as it is now, and portrait of Frank A. Vanderlip, who plans to make it a model village.

The little village of Sparta lies half a mile south of Sing Sing prison and not far from the fashionable Scarborough-on-the-Hudson district. It has been a popular place with joyriders, gay parties and undesirable characters. But it's going to be made a different place, according to Frank A. Vanderlip, New York banker. He has bought the entire village and plans to remodel its present houses, build new ones and ask the undesirables to depart.

OIL SHORTAGE TEMPORARY; ABUNDANT SUPPLY AHEAD

"Some people" are everlastingly saying something to take the joy out of life," says an article in the Portager. "There are always a lot of people sitting around, ears cocked back, eager to hear, anxious to believe, all the gloomy things that the troublemongers can concoct.

"At the present time, the so-called gasoline shortage gives the gloom artist a very frightful bugaboo with which to scare timid folks. There will be no automobiles, he says, no tires, no nothing, except gloom, panics, epidemics, holocausts and more gloom, eternal and without end.

"The funny thing about it is that those who are most vitally concerned, the men in the oil business, are not worrying very much, if any. They don't seem to raelize that they will all be compelled to look for ne wjobs in the near future. Instead of that, they are drilling lots of wells, refining oil and investing millions in the development of new oil fields. Too bad somebody doesn't stop them and call a halt on this great waste of time ,effort and money.

Gasoline Shortage Temporary.

"Seriously, though, the truth is that while there has been and there still is a shortage in the gasoline supply, it is only temporary, and, in the natural course of events, cannot last any great length of time.

"The world is facing shortages of all kinds in these post-war days, so that a gasoline shortage is not a novelty. But just as all of these shortages are being rapidly corrected, so is the diminished supply of gasoline and oil being made up.

"So don't sell your car yet, and don't give up the sale of tires for a little while—say, for another hundred years—because there will be gasoline for at least that length of time. Henry L. Doherty, perhaps one of the best informed oil men in the country, was recently quoted as saying that "there'll be gasoline for you, your children and your children's children.' Few of us need worry much about what happens after that.

"The big cause of the present gasoline situation may be traced back to the beginning of the world war in 1914. At once, when hostilities began, the great oil fields of southern Russia and Rumania were made useless to the rest of the world, and even today they are as indccessible as though they were located in the heart of the moon. These fields supplied a great portion of Europe with oil and gasoline, and when—almost over night—this course was closed, Europe had to turn to this country and Mexico for oil and gasoline to furnish power for the motor trucks, tanks, airplanes that increased a thousandfold in a few months.

Big Demand on United States.

"While Mexicans fought among themselves, Europe and the rest of the world had to get their motor fuel supply almost entirely from Uncle Sam.

"Finally we entered the war, and the drilling and prospecting for new wells stopped almost instantly, not to be resumed until after the armistice was declared. With all the battling world to supply, it is not to be wondered at that our own resources and reserve store were specially diminished. Prices went up in answer to the law of supply and demand, and they will stay up until the supply is increased. But the important thing to remember is that there is still an enormous amount of oil being produced every day, and the production is increasing rapidly. During the last few years there has been no surplus, and all the gasoline that has been produced has been used.

"Authorities agree that 1920 will be the oil man's worst year, and that prices may go up to 35 cents a gallon—even to forty in some places—before the peak of demand is passed.

"In the meantime the high price is not altogether an evil, because high prices in any industry always attract capital and labor, production is thereby increased and an abundant supply speedily causes prices to tumble to normal.

Seventh of Supply in This Country.

Scientists estimate that the United States alone contains about one-seventh of the oil supply of the world—and they further state that we could supply the world with gasoline for many years to come. But don't worry. The balance of the world will be only too happy to relieve us of that profitable burden; they rather enjoy making a little money themselves, and their ing the past month or so is rapidly giving way.

"November is starting out in banner month style in sales of new Studebakers," continued Mr. Keim, "and with the volume of used car business on a steady upgrade today we look to November to even better our last month's record."

TEACH TRAFFIC IN SCHOOL, PLEA

Inclusion of courses designed to teach children the "rules of the road" will be urged upon school officials throughout the United States shortly by the textbook committee of the highway and highway transport education committee of the bureau of education. While it is yet too early to say definitely what the recommendations for these courses will contain, some indication can be obtained from studies which are already under way in the Detroit public schools a swell as in some others.

In Detroit, for example, the work starts with the kindergarten, where the child is taught to exercise care in crossing streets, always waiting on the corner until he is sure that nothing is approaching within a half block.

Course Is Broadened.

Later, as the child progresses to the elemental grades the course is broadened and the element of personal responsibility enters into the course, together with more detailed instructions as to rules of safety, always in language which is easily understood and which is confined to fundamental principles.

As a supplement to the vocal instruction, traffic games have been found a valuable teaching adjunct in Ohio schools, the child learning more readily in this way and also becoming more interested.

"Quoting from a recent bulletin issued by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, we read: 'From 1909 to 1918 there was an increase of 99 per cent in the production of crude oil, 560 per cent in the production of gasoline, and 1,700 per cent in the production of automobiles, aside from other gasoline-consuming engines.'

"The same bulletin quotes a famous authority in the oil industry as saying that 100,000,000,000 barrels of petroleum still remains undiscovered in our western mountains and that Utah and Colorado alone hold vast reservoirs of crude oil; three billion, six hundred millions of gallons to be exact.

"Keep in mind, too, that wells drilled in Pannsylvania fifty years ago are still producing good petroleum every day."

Faults in Your Driving

By FRED GILMAN JOPP.

When it was suggested that I should write an article giving driving advice to those who operate their own cars, I must confess that I felt no enthusiasm whatever.

Although a method mostly used in correcting children, I can scarcely do better than frame my suggestions in the form of "don'ts." Hence I begin thusly:

Don't Loll.

Ladies, don't loll. It is distressing to see even a mere man sprawled out behind a steering wheel, but far more so in the case of a woman.

Don't take advantage of the fact that you are a woman, because, though most men drivers will make way for you even when you are in the wrong, they will think the less of you while they do so, an dthere are some who will insist upon their "rights" as automobile drivers. Should you encounter this last-named species there is likely to be a smash.

Don't think about the possible impression you may be making upon other road users. Attend strictly to the business in hand. There still exists in the minds of a good many persons an idea that it is not safe for women to drive automobiles. Do your best to destroy this false impression by handling your car with care and consideration for others.

Don't imagine that other drivers will necessarily stare at you.

And just because some one told you that your electric horn is detrimental to weak-hearted pedestrians, don't neglect it altogether. The horn is your and the other driver's safeguard, and it is like rocking the boat not to use it.

Don't Try It.

Don't "shave" things. Leave that trick to the razor. Good drivers give pedestrians, animals and other vehicles as much clearance as possible—not as little.

Drivers who turn corners on the wrong side of the street should be removed to lunatic asylums.

Don't take left-hand blind corners at high speed. Even if you hug the right side of the street, you must remember that you may meet one of the afore-mentioned lunatics, who, on his wrong side, is taking the corner in the opposite direction. If you must speed, buy a racing car.

When passing over wet pavements and slippery roads, avoid sudden turns and spasmodic applications of the brakes. Remember that skidding resulted in the invention of curbnigs and that a skid is the uncontrollable feature of a car which is synonymous with jumping from the Woolworth tower in two jumps. When you feel the rear end of the car starting to slide, turn the front wheels quickly in the same direction that the rear wheels are taking and don't touch the brakes. The car will right itself if you follow these directions.

Watch the Dust.

Don't forget that on many country roads the car, when driven at high speed, leaves behind it a most unpleasant cloud of dust. You would not feel particularly well disposed toward anyone who wantonly smothered your smartest clothes in dust and dirt.

Don't drive fast over wet roads and streets. A hole full of water may not mean much to you, but to the pedestrian who receives in his face the water ejected from the hole by your wheel it is a mattr of moment, usually of indignation. Remember the time a taxi spattered you with mud.

And don't be a "clutch rider." Don't let your foot rest on the pedal controlling this important part of the car. If you do, you are unconsciously wasting power and helping to put the clutch in a condition where it will slip constantly. Keep your foot away from the clutch pedal when it is not necessary for it to be there, then you won't have any trouble from this source.—Los Angeles Times.

Cole Areo-Eight Climbs Steepest Mount in "High"

Winning a wager of $5,000, a stock Cole Aero Eight touring car recently performed the unprecedented near Denver, its transmission sealed in high gear, and towing a five-passenger Ford.

Starting at the South Golden road, at an altitude of one mile above sea level, the climb covered seven miles to the top of Lookout Mountain. The road makes several hairpin turns up the mountain side, with the final stretch a seven per cent grade.

The test was conducted by Jack Payment, well-known automobile and hill-climbing expert, with R. H. Kinsey of the Denver Post, and A. V. Echternach of the Denver News-Times, as judges.

Lookout Mountain is known all over the country as an extremely severe test hill. This was the first time that any automobile attempted to climb it in high gear while towing another car.

An unusual thing in connection with the feat, and one that gives significant evidence of the every day capabilities of the Aero Eight, is that the car used was chosen at random from the used car salesroom of the Denver Cole distributor. Its speedometer showed that it had already traveled 22,000 miles.

TRIS SPEAKER FAVORS MOTOR CAR TRAVEL

Following his return from a hunting trip into Canada after the conclusion of the recent world series, the Indian chieftain hit the long trail from Cleveland to his home in Hubbard City, Texas, at the wheel of his car, passing en route through Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Wichita Falls, Oklahoma City and Dallas.

With him was Leslie Nunamaker, catcher of the Cleveland team, who will accompany Speaker on a month's hunting trip in the Brazos Valley, Texas, following a brief stay at home.

Speaker is a driver of great experience, handling a steering wheel with as much ease as a Louisville slugger. Also he has a heavy foot and enjoys speed almost as much as a base hit. Nunamaker, his companion on many a cross-country jaunt, states that forty miles an hour is "slow" for Speaker, considerably more than that being his normal touring gait.

The pair expected to make the twenty-five hundred mile journey to Hubbard City in about six days.

The color of their apparel is olive gray, the outfits consisting of an English cap, heavy wool sweater, soft flannel shirt, riding breeches, puttees and heavy shoes. Affording extreme ease and freedom of movement, together with solid comfort, and showing little dust even after a hard journey, this combination will appeal to many motorists as superior to the more conventional touring garb ordinarily used by long distance motorists.

DRAWING COMPLETED FOR MOTOR SHOWS

The space drawing for the New York and Chicago shows was completed recently at the spacious headquarters of the National automobile chamber of commerce, New York City.

Friendly competitors to the number of 100, manufacturers whose names are household words in the trade, scanned the space diagrams and selected the most strategic points for the big shows. For New York 87 drew; for Chicago, 80.

SECOND HAND VALUES GROW

Coincident with the drop in the price of many of the leading makes of motor cars, several weeks ago, came a corresponding reduction in used car values on all makes of automobiles. The drop in second-hand values was even more noticeable than in new cars, because every make was affected and people were not inclined to purchase a certain used machine until they knew definitely what the permanent price of the newest model would be.

Fell Right Out.

"To say that the bottom dropped out of the used car market would be putting it mildly," said Fred D. Keim, local Studebaker distributor here. "For a period of two or three weeks used cars were a drug on the market. The constant announcements of price reductions on new cars kept the used car values in an unsettled state, and even the dealers themselves scarcely knew what value to place on a second-hand machine.

"About three weeks ago, however, the effects of price drops began to diminish. A large majority of the manufacturers either reduced their prices or came out with definite guarantees that values would not go down for a certain number of months. A stablizing influence was immediately felt throughout the industry. People began to know just where a car stood and what its price was going to be for the next several months at least.

Big Improvement.

"And with this return to normal in the new car market an immediate effect was noticed in the used car situation. Where prices had been jumping all over the place, mostly downward, the stabilizing influences of the new car market brought corresponding results in used cars.

"As a result used cars today are showing a steady gain in value, and this market will apparently be back in a normal condition within a very few weeks. The ridiculously low prices at which many used cars were sold during the flurry are disappearing and here is every indication that second-hand sales will increase at a rapid rate.

Some Good Buys.

"It is true that today used car prices are far below any level reached for the past several years. The second-hand machines on any reputable dealer's floor are priced lower now than they have been for a long time or than they will be for some time to come. Consequently the best opportunity for a man who intends to buy a used car is right now. Already stabilizing influences are bringing these cars back to normal values and the underpriced condition that existed dur-

HOBO TRUCK IS VERY LATEST IN MOTORING FIELD

And now the hobo truck is with us. To demonstrate the revenue-producing power of a motor truck, Harold Shannon, an advertising man of Green Bay, Wis., is driving a truck from the Wisconsin city to the Pacific Coast "without money and without price."

Quite a Stunt.

This innovation in truck operation is the result of a jocular declaration to some friends that he could drive a truck to the coast and return by making it pay its own way. He agreed to start with only one gallon of gasoline and without money or articles that could be sold for money. And it was further stipulated that the truck would not haul the same kind of material more than once. If a load of coal was hauled at any time, no coal would be hauled again during the trip.

His friends doubted the practicability of the venture and called on him to make good his boast. So having selected an Oneida one-and-three-quarter-ton truck on Goodyear pneumatic truck tires, and inducing another driver to join in his revolutionary enterprise, the novel experiment was launched.

Some Jobs.

It has hauled silo from one town to another and distributed a load of 12,000 fruit jars among the retail customers of a Fond Du Lac wholesale dealer. In Iowa two valuable race horses and thirty-five prize winning Chester White pigs rode in the pneumatic-tired transport from the county fair back to their stalls on the farm.

Motoring "Boes" Like Denver's Free Auto Park

DENVER.—Many improvements are planned for Overland Park, Denver's great tourist "outdoor hotel" for the 1921 season.

Enlargement of the camp area will be the first task undertaken by Denver park officials, as a result of the record-breaking number of motor visitors that enjoyed the privileges of the city's free camping grounds during the past summer.

Overland Park is located on the outskirts of Denver, and the city furnishes every accommodation and facility for the comfort of tourists who may pitch their camps in the park and make it a headquarters while taking trips into the surrounding mountains. Thousands of cross-country auto tourists avial themselves of the camp accommodations, also.

Nearly 30000 persons representing Canada, District of Columbia, and every state in the union except Delaware, camped at Overland Park between May 1 and October 20 this year, according to statistics compiled by city officials. The total number of automobiles registered was 7,874; the actual number of passengers 28,910, an increase over 1919 of 41 per cent and 55 per cent respectively.

Kansas led in the number of cars registered, with 1,482, carrying 5,367 passengers; Nebraska was next, with 1,328 cars and 5,255 passengers; Missouri third, with 524 cars and 1,970 passengers.

The New England states registered a total of forty-nine cars, with 162 passengers; New York state sent sixty-eight cars with 234 passengers; Texas registered 398 cars with 1,563 passengers, while Georgia and South Carolina each sent one car, with four and five passengers, respectively.

COWBOYS GATHER FOR AUTUMN RODEO

FORT WORTH.—Great numbers of cowboys and cowgirls from western ranches are gathering here for the fall rodeo which opens for a four days' series of cowboy sports contests Nov. 24.

More than $6,000 in cash prizes have been hung up for the winners of broncho busting, Brahma calf roping, steer bulldogging and other events, whic hare called sport by the cowhands.

The affair will be in the nature of a season's championship series in which state champions will compete for national honors.

It is estimated from the number of entries already received that there will be more contestants taking part in the rodeo here than were ever entered in a similar event in this state.

MASONS AT UNIVERSITY.

AUSTIN.—Students and faculty members of the University of Texas have a part in the Scottish Rite Reunion now being held in Austin, with a degree class numbering 187. Several faculty members are assisting in the degree work, and the 5th degree is being put on entirely by university students. In addition, about 20 faculty members and students are taking Scottish Rite work.

Prominent Masons here for the reunion who have been visitors on the campus, at the Wrenn Library, and at Lubbock Hall, the women's dormitory maintained by the Masonic order, include Sam P. Cochran of Dallas and George Fleming Moore of Washington, D. C.

TRACTORS WILL REMOVE SNOW

Heavy blizzards last winter brought traffic to a standstill in New York and throughout the Eastern and Northern states; heavy snowfalls tied up business completely for days. Man power, shovelers, teams, wagons and trucks were all tried, but these methods proved inadequate to clear the streets.

Costly Business.

The city of New York alone spent over six million dollars trying to keep the streets clear, not only for general traffic, but for the general safety. Officials realized the extreme danger from fire, particularly in the congested district, because the accumulated snow and ice on the streets practically rendered helpless the city fire-fighting equipment. By good fortune no great fires occurred during this period, but the city fire department, street cleaning and other officials appreciated as they never had before, the extreme importance of being equipped and prepared to quickly dispose of snowfalls before the snow became packed and frozen into solid ice as was the case last winter.

Made for the Job.

Realizing that a fleet of "Caterpillar" tractors equipped with proper snow plows would solve this problem, the Holt Manufacturing Company brought these machines immediately before the serious consideration of New York City officials. The project was thoroughly investigated by engineers connected with the department of street cleaning and the fire departments, also the Mayor and other city officials, and appropriations were made for extensive purchases of this class of equipment.

LIFE WORK RESUMED AFTER HIS DEATH

AUSTIN.—Almost coincident with the recent death of Major George W. Littlefield of Austin, former member of the board of regents of the University of Texas, came the news that the work of completing the memorial obelisk to Jefferson Davis at Fairview, Ky., will be resumed. It is recalled in this connection that the late Major Littlefield was one of the prime movers in the project to bring about the erection of this memorial shaft. He donated $100,000 to the fund that was raised for the purpose and was at the head of the organization or committee that had the work in chrage.

YOUNG COUNTY DEEP TEST IS WORK FEATURE

The Panhandle Refining Company's No. 2 McCluskey is expected to furnish the next important developments in the Young county oil fields having reached the 2500 foot sand, and now making drilling in preparations, according to the latest reports from the field. This well passed up two rich sands, one at 1800 feet, and the second at 2100 feet, without stopping to test, making hole for the sand from which the No. 1 is producing. Oil men on the grounds when the 2100 foot sand was drilled state that there was over 100 feet of it, and it gave promise of being good for around 200 barrels.

The interest which the Panhandle first well aroused, has been intensified with the completion of the Oklahoma Petroleum and Gasoline Company's good well, as previously reported, and the South Bend district is experiencing what is very much of a boom, in these days of general inactivity, almost amounting to apathy. Operators from the Wichita Falls district were among the first to go into the county, and there are continuous recruits to the ranks of local operators, as well as many operators from Breckenridge, who are preparing to put down tests.

J. B. Hedrick and Judge Scott are among Breckenridge operators who are reported preparing to start drilling in a short time, the former on the McCluskey land, and the latter on the Dooley farm.

The Seaboard Oil and Gas Company is reported to have made location for it's No. 1 Graham, offsetting the Oklahoma Petroleum and Gasoline Company's well only a few hundred feet.

The Panhandle Refining Company is reported drilling around 1600 feet in their No. 3 McCluskey, around 500 feet in No. 4, and to have the rigs on the ground for Nos. 5, 6 and 7 McCluskey.

The Southwestern Miami test, on the McKeen, the first to get the oil lime, is reported flowing, between bridges, after a shot given last week. The well has not been thoroughly cleaned out, and no test has been possible, because of the bridging of the hole. This well was drilled about 80 feet into the lime, entered at 4,000 feet, according to reports, and continued to flow from 50 to 60 barrels a day while drilling was progressing.

Mann and Gwynn, No. 1 Graham, offsetting Oklahoma Petroleum and Gasoline Company well, rigging up.

Shamrock Oil company, No. 1 M. K. Graham, set 15 1-2 inch at 460 feet.

Snowden and McSweeney, No. 1 Graham.

New Domain Oil company, No. 1 M. K. Graham, location.

No. 1 Askew, rig.

No. 1 E. C. Stovall, building rig.

"JUDGES STAND."

AUSTIN.—Officials for the Texas-A. & M. game in Austin on Thanksgiving are announced by L. Theo Bellmont, director of athletics at the University of Texas, as follows: Referee, B. L. McCreary of Kansas City, a former star of the Oklahoma and an official of the Missouri Valley Conference; umpire, E. P. Tipton of Kansas City, former football coach at Texas Christian University; head linesman, Charles Braun of Waco, a football man from Sewanee.

MEETS ON RACE QUESTION.

AUSTIN.—Dr. T. R. Garth, adjunct professor of psychology in the University of Texas, attended a convention of the Southern University Race Commission which met in Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 17 and 18. The commission met in joint session with the Inter-racial Commission of the South. Dr. Garth attended the convention as one of the representatives of Texas.

COLD WEATHER HALTS DRILLER IN WILBARGER

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 15.—The cold weather of the past ten days has halted oil developments in Wilbarger and Hardeman counties. The Gulf Production and the Staley-Greene wells in the Sigler field are still drilling.

The Penn-Burkburnett Oil Co., which too kover the West Vernon well at the outskirts of the city limits, has resumed drilling, after having been inactive for several months.

The Noble Oil & Development Co., a Denver concern, which recently completed their contract depth of 2500 feet on the Judd farm, southeast of Vernon, is negotiating with landowners in that vicinity for an additional acreage of 5,000 acres before drilling the hole 500 feet deeper. The contract has not yet been closed. If the contract does not go through they will move their equipment to Kentucky, where they have 15,000 acres in the shallow field.

The Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas Co. has completed the well on the Paul Waggoner ranch, south of Vernon, and are drilling the well on the Guy Waggoner ranch. This company took over the contracts held by the Home Oil Refining Company.

The Nee-No-She well has everything in readiness to resume drilling of their well, which will be in a few days. Many of the rentals around this well were due last week and over $12,000 was paid into the banks for renewals of acreage in that vicinity.

The Frizzell well, at 2403 feet, had an excellent showing again this week, showing gas and nice colors of oil.

The Koch Oil Co. is preparing to drill an offset to the Wheat well and the equipment for same has been purchased.

The Mulkey well received a carload of fuel oil and unloaded same before the big rains.

Heavy trucks are transporting heavy casing and other equipment to the Wheat well, which will replace the equipment no wover the hole. This test will be thoroughly tested.

FORD FACTORY HAS SUPERMEN

"The Ford Motor Company prints a list each week of the 'best men'—that is, the workers who turn out the greatest amount and quality of work in their particular lines. These 'best men' are the bone and sinew of the Ford Motor Company. Their workin the factory is but an indication of the spirit which prevails throughout the many plants. They know that their efforts are incorporated in the splendid success which has come to the Ford Motor Company," says W. B. Omohundro, manager of the Wichita Falls branch of this widely known company.

Real Stars.

"Recently, a list of these 'best men' came to me with the amount of work accomplished in one day's time. The amount was simply astounding, and I know that all Ford owners will be interested to see what the 'best men' are turning out in volume, realizing every part that they turn out is required to pass a rigid inspection. I am giving here only a few records established by these wonder men. Others appeared on this list whose records are equally as good as the ones I have selected for the approval of the motoring public.

"What do you think of this list of 'best men?' More like 'supermen' are they not?" concluded Mr. Omohundro.

DR. KNICKERBOCKER TO USE RHYMES

"Illustrating some great Scriptural truths I will give the philosophy of Mother Goose's Rhymes in a new series of lecture-sermons beginning next Sunday night," said Dr. H. D. Knickerbocker, pastor of the First Methodist church, south. "The analogies and illustrative features of these nursery ryhmes are quite remarkable. The first of the series will be on the ryhme, 'Humpty Dumpty Sat on the Wall, Humpty Dumpty got a great fall, All the King's horses and all the King's men couldn't put Humpty Dumpty together again.' The Scripture which goes with this whimisical ryme is one of the sublimest passages of Psalms. At this service also a bevy of costumed children from Miss Knicker's expression class will give a Thanksgiving fete. This will be a part of the prelude concert.

"At 11 a. m. at the church my subject will be 'A Nuisance Changed Into a Triumphant Joy.' At 9:45 at the Olympic theater the subject of my lecture to men will be, 'A Million Dollar Sparrow.'

"Last Sunday night six adulte joined the church on profession, indicating that the continuous revival that we had last year in our regular services is to be our happy experience this year also. The men's chorus and concert organists and and various vocal artists will give special musical programs at all the services."

TRUCK MAKES SPLENDID RUN

A splendid observation of the manner in which the insertion of gum between the plies in truck tire treads reduced friction rseulting from hard usage was made during a recent truck test run on the Indianapolis motor speedway.

Experts from the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, O., witnessed the test run, which was made by a Duplex truck, to study the effect of the punishment to the Firestone tires with which the machine was equipped.

The truck employed in the test run tore around the speedway at an average rate of thirty-nine miles an hour for a continuous twenty-four-hour period. The machine itself weighed 4,300 pounds and carried a 3300-pound load. During the uninterrupted drive it covered 935 miles, to which might be added 150 miles in preliminary tests, or a total of 1085 miles, and at the conclusion of its performance, without stopping, roared over one lap of the track in 3 minutes, 26 2-5 seconds, a speed of 44.5 miles per hour.

The average weight on each tire was 1570 pounds for the front, and 2562 on the rear. In order to reduce the liability of heat generation to a minimum, the tires were inflated to 100-pound pressure. The slight temporary increase indicated not only the value of gum between tread plies, but showed also that higher pressures than ordinarily recommended are an aid in preventing heat generation.

The appearance of the tires at the finish of the gruelling run was entirely satisfactory. The 35x35 ribbed Firestone pneumatic giant cords showed the same type of wear as is noted on racing tires.

The Duplex, which made the run, was a stock truck, the only deviation from stock being the mounting of four gasoline drums on the body. Thedrums were connected with the carburetor to furnish sufficient gasoline for the entire run, and the tank ordinarily used for gasoline was converted into an oil tank.

The test run was begun at 1:57 p. m., September 30, and continued to 1:57 p. m., October 1.

MEXICAN PORTS NEED MONEY TO BE RID OF FEVER

By LOUIS P. KIRBY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

MEXICO CITY, Mexico.—The Monterey Chamber of Commerce wants Mexico to spend $10,000,000 in sanitary work which will prevent future danger from yellow fever in Vera Cruz, Tampico and other places.

Monterey is out of the fever belt, but the business of that city has been seriously affected by the yellow fever scare.

Business men living in Tampico say that the chief stumbling block in the way of proper sanitation and other improvements is the greed of politicians. Recently the oil companies proposed to pave certain streets at their own expense. They were astonished to hear that the politicians wanted $20,000 for granting this privilege.

There has been talk of constructing a great water system which would bring pure mountain water to Tampico. Such a system would be a blessing to Tampico in ages to come, when oil is forgotten, but politicians have stood in the way because they could not see what they were to gain through such a splendid, public-spirited undertaking.

"Tampico would do great things now," said one business man. "There is great wealth there and the men who hold this wealth are willing to spend part of it in the improvement of the city. But Tampico probably will not awaken to its opportunities until they are gone. It will then be in the position of the aged tramp who told of having walked over the site of a great city before the first house was built. He could have made himself a millionaire—but didn't."

Some of the oil companies, in their efforts to get pure water brought down in barges from the Upper Panuco river. This is pumped into tanks and distributed through pipelines to mess halls, dormitories and office buildings, the expense is great. The companies, it is said, would be glad to unite in some undertaking to bring an ample supply of pure water to the Tampico section.

PRICES SLUMP 7.3 PER CENT DURING MONTH

According to a bulletin issued recently by Bradstreets, compiled from the Bradstreets index number on commodity prices for November 1, 1920, sugar and wheat have been marked by a steady decline in prices as shown in the comparative statements.

Both commodities dropped 7.3 percent in price during the month ending October 30. From February 1, 1920 to November 1, a decline of 24.9 percent was shown.

Probably the most startling as well as significant fact shown in the bulletin is that the prices have dropped 3.2 percent under those of November 1, 1917, just as prices on practically everything began to soar under the effect of war conditions.

On November 9, 1920, sugar was being sold on the New York market at 6 3-4 cents per pound, a decline in price of 17 cents below that of May, 1920.

As an indication of the course which may soon be followed by smaller restaurant corporations and individually owned restaurants, the management of the chain of Childs restaurants, which may be seen in big cities from coast to coast, announced price cuts on various articles of food ranging from 11 to 28 per cent under prevailing prices.

The Manhattan Shirt Company, one of the largest manufacturers of men's wear in the United States, announced reductions recently of 36 per cent on their entire output.

Bradstreets' bulletin also shows that cotton goods has decreased 55 percent in price and denim goods 40 percent.

VANCOUVER MAY BE MADE A FREE PORT

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Plans to make Vancouver the first free port on the North American continent are being considered by business men in Western Canada. It is proposed to establish a foreign trade area in which goods for trans-shipment may be handled without paying a duty.

Facilities for grading, reconditioning, sorting, repacking or manufacturing foreign merchandise for reshipment will be provided. The manufacturing establishments would say customs duties and delays incidental to the handling of dutiable imported raw material and eliminate the restrictions connected with the use of bonded warehouses. Duty would be paid on goods designated for the Canadian market and shipped out of the foreign trade area.

Free areas have contributed greatly to the growth and development of many of the important European seaports. In view of this fact it is surprising that free areas have not been adopted in American or Canadian ports. Changing Vancouver into a free port, industrial experts declare, would prove a wonderful factor in developing the foreign commerce of Western Canada.

AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE 12,000,000 GROSS TONNAGE

LONDON.—Discussing the new American merchant marine in a special American number of the Manchester Guardian Winthrop L. Marvin, vice president of the American Steamship Owners' Association, says in part:

"The signing of the armistice on November 11, 1918, left on the hands of the American government merchant steamers of a total gross tonnage of almost 12,000,000, substantially more than one-half of the entire merchant shipping of the British Empire in 1914, before the U-boats had begun their ravaging.

"Most of these ships are distinctly overseas carriers and there is relatively small room for them in the enormous coastwise and lake trade of the United States, which in 1914 was fully supplied with 6,852,536 tons of shipping, a fleet in itself about 40 per cent greater than the entire merchant marine of Germany.

U. S. Has No Choice.

"The Americans have no choice about it ;they absolutely must employ their government-built fleet for purposes of foreign commerce. It will, in a large part, balance the war-destroyed tonnage of Great Britain, France, Italy and Scandinavia.

"The new American Merchant Service act opens with a formal declaration of the determination of the government and people to maintain a great merchant fleet capable of crarying the bulk of the country's sea-borne commerce and of providing a sufficient reserve of ships, officers and men in war—all these ships 'ultimately to be owned and operated privately by the citizens of the United States.' To that end the Shipping Board is instructed to sell the government-owned fleet 'as soon as practicable, consistent with good business methods and the objects and purposes to be attained by this act.' It is particularly emphasized that the ships shall be sold only to American citizens or to corporations American controlled—with the proviso that those vessels which American do not need and will not buy may after due investigation of the facts be disposed of to foreigners.

Serves All World.

"The Shipping Board has already established, and through private companies is operating, cargo service to the chief ports of the world. New lines of postal steamers already run from New York to both the east coast and the west coast of South America. Two Oriental lines are projected across the Pacific Ocean. On the North Atlantic the existing American service of the International Mercantile Marine has received many large cargo ships, and has been awarded the huge passenger liner Leviathan, while a second trans-Atlantic route to Bremen is provided for the United States Mail Steamship Company. About thirty former German liners seized in American ports are being reconditioned for commerce, and twenty or more new steamships designed as transports but being completed for commercial liner service, will be ready for sea next year. The largest are of 14,000 tons register, with a speed of 17½ knots, and some of them are intended for Trans-Atlantic carrying. It is the belief of American managers that such vessels as these, rather than record-sweeping giants, are best adapted to the all-round requirements of sea-borne trade."

ALCADE INTERESTING.

AUSTIN. — Interesting features are contained in the November number of the Alcade, publication of the ex-students of the University of Texas, which is just off the press. The issue contains an appreciation of Chester H. Terrell, of the class of 1904, who was until his death an active member of the Ex-Students' Association. This publication contains information regarding former students of the University, reminiscences of earlier University history and University news of current interest.

The tremendous guaranty is made possible by the improved system of air-cooling invented and proved by Arthur Holmes—

These tests are the highest records for the features you want in motor car performance.

A Word About Price

Just this.

Taking the pre-war prices of 1917 as a basis. The seventeen leading cars in the market today, even at the tremendous slash in prices, show an average advance of sixty-nine per cent over the 1917 prices.

Holmes prices today are only thirty-one per cent over what they were in 1917.

The next lowest among the seventeen leading manufacturers is thirty-three per cent, even with the so-called tremendous price cut, and from that they range up to 114 per cent.

The present price of the Holmes brings it equipped with the Holmes improved system of air-cooling, carrying our unlimited guaranty and with many other features of equipment and improvement, the aggregate cost of which is more than the thirty-one per cent comparative price increase.

HOLMES SALES COMPANY

BLOW-OUTS FROM AUTO ROW

From all reports gathered among the dealers this past week it looks as though the automobile business in general has made a decided change for the better for every dealer in the city reports an increase in sales with good prospects for the rest of the month. Let us hope that the so-called "slump" of a few weeks ago is past and the game will go on to the satisfaction of all those concerned.

W. K. Thompson, the energetic salesman for the Lloyd Weaver company, who has been out of the city for a week past, returned last Friday driving a Packard Twin-Six Duplex Sedan, which was sold here in the city this week. This car is a most attractive thing, being a custom-built job with all the latest appointments and upholding all Packard standards.

G. J. Moulder of the Wilhelm-Moulder company says that a change of address doesn't hurt business, specially when one is handling the Chandler and Cleveland line, for the prospect will hunt out good cars, which has been the case the past week.

Now Joe Hancock of the Auto Tire Company is much worried these days for he feels he is getting some undue publicity as being the Joe Hancock connected with the Snow case of Kemp City. Far be it from our friend with the Auto Tire Company to get mixed up with a bunch like the Kemp City crowd.

C. K. Dodge of McFall Brothers spent a few days the past week somewhere between Wichita Falls and Amarillo on a business trip, and he says the trip was not in vain. Now we realize there is a lot of territory between here and Amarillo, but to quote Mr. Dodge, "We put out a lot of cars."

Among the many sales reported in the last few days the Velie has come in for its share of the honors, and according to H. E. Crawford of the Crawford Auto Company, they are not on his floor for decorative purposes. Mr. Crawford further states that the big Pierce-Arrows are always in mind when you think of real cars, but the Velie is the one that is taking his time at present.

One of the best looking jobs that has been sold lately was the Cole Coupe, which was missed off the floor of the Loco-Cole Company this week. Mr. Peeler of this firm, who is now in Dallas, reports business on the boom with another car load of machines received recently.

A certain salesmanager in Wichita Falls now believes it is possible for one to be over anxious to make a sale, and after hearing his story we agree with him. Here it is: and this being just the kind of weather that one enjoys taking out a prospect the appointment was made. Thinking to impress said prospect with all the merits and conveniencies of this particular make he left his overcoat, behind making no preparations for any cool breezes. They had not driven far when the glass in the car was lowered, and our most esteemed friend caught everything but pneumonia, but sold the machine. Moral, go prepared for anything when you are trying to sell a car.

The sale of one machine a day is a very good average, but this is what the Dixon Motor Company has done the past week, besides unloading some others that have just arrived. The Buick always comes in for its share of the honors in both sales and service.

One of the new additions to the tire business of Wichita Falls which occurred the past week was the opening of the Mason Tire headquarters at 704 Scott avenue. This sales and service station is operated by P. G. Bainbridge, A. H. Davis and J. T. Prewitt, all well-known business men of the city. They will handle a large line of Mason tires and tuben which although is new in Wichita Falls has quite a reputation elsewhere for being a good product, and their place should prove very popular for those interested.

M. C. Cochran, the local Chevrolet dealer, spent a couple of days this week in Fort Worth attending a meeting of the dealers of Northwest Texas, which proved a very profitable gathering. The meeting was held at the assembly plant in Fort Worth and was well attended.

O. H. Randel of the Willard Battery Station reports that business can't be anything but good when you have Willard batteries to sell, and from the number he is putting out in Wichita Falls he is apparently right. Mr. Randel has three counties in this section of the state and it keeps him busy looking after the trade.

The Auto Tire Company on Scott avenue is a busy place owing to the recent decline of prices in Federal tires. Mr. Lesley states that the Federal was the first to make a permanent reduction on tires and tubes and that the prospects for businenss were never better.

SHE KNITS FOR PRESIDENT WILSON

Mrs. W. H. Greene at her knitting.

During the summer months Mrs. W. H. Greene sat on her front porch every day knitting. It so happened that President Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, on their daily ride around the capital always passed her home on Conduit road. Mrs. Greene waved at them every day. When the weather became chilly she decided to knit the president a scarf. The scarf was delivered to the White House a few days ago. The following day the president, with the scarf about his neck, ordered the chauffeur to stop before the Greene home while he thanked Mrs. Greene and presented her with a box of candy, containing his card.

Ohio State Asks Oklahoma Squad For Star Contest

NORMAN, Okla. Nov. 19.—Benny Owens, coach at the University of Oklahom, late today received a telegram from Charles P. Newell of the Ohio state University at Columbus, as follows:

"Could and would your team play Ohio State at Columbus Saturday after Thanksgiving if invited to? Please rush answer."

According to schedule, Ohio State will play Illinois at Urbana tomorrow while the Sooners will mix with the Kansas Aggies here. If Ohio defeats Illinois the former eleven will be all-victorious of the big ten.

If Oklahoma defeats the Kansas Aggies tomorrow and wins the game with Drake at Des Moines on Thanksgiving. The Sooners will be champions of the Missouri valley conference. Under present Valley rules, Oklahoma may not play a post season game.

Owen would not state whether he would ask the valley conference officials for permission to stage the battle between the possible victors of the two conferences.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING IN JANUARY

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 20.—The next national board meeting of the congress of Parent-Teachers Associations will be held here on January 18-20. At that meeting, it is announced, final plans will be made for the National Parent-Teacher departmental meeting, to be held in connection with the superintendents' department of the National Educational Association at Atlantic City next February. Prominent educators will mingle with parents from all sections of the United States during the board meeting here next January.

MARMON 34

Every time a MARMON 34 is demonstrated we ask you to make a comparison between this any any high-priced car.

To buy a car by accepting generalities is the old way of buying. It has been superseded by a new and easier way of vital comparisons. MARMON welcomes it and we don't hesitate in making this the basis of demonstration.

We have all sorts of records—averaging these facts, the results show that the MARMON 34 can be operated on high gear at a walking pace; that it will readily go 65 m. p.h.; that it will accelerate from 10 to 50 m. p. h. in 17 to 19 seconds; that on hill climbing it can start on a better than 8% straight grade at 5 m. p. h. and accelerate to 35 to 40 m. p.h. at 1,000 yards. These are Touring Car tests, fully equipped and with driver and observer.

We have on our floor for your inspection this same MARMON which has proved its worth—and proved it by comparison—in the Coupe, Roadster and Touring Car design.

Special Announcement

The new Leland Built Lincoln car has arrived. A great many automobile enthusiasts have been anxiously awaiting the advent of this car upon the market.

The Lincoln has been popular in the minds of thousands of prospective automobile owners, even before it was on the market, chiefly because of the reputation of the builders. Henry M. Leland and his associates built the first Multi-cylinder motor that proved a success. The same men designed and built the famous LIBERTY Aircraft motor for the government during the war.

At the close of the war the same company, the Lincoln Motor Company turned their efforts to building a motor car that would come as near as possible to filling the demand for an ideal motor car, and as a result of their efforts the Lincoln car has been produced.

You are cordially invited to leisurely inspect this car at our show room Monday Morning. We have no doubt that after the in-spection you will admit this a SUPERIOR AUTOMOBILE.

WILBARGER FIELDS LEADS IN NUMBER OF WILDCATS AND IS SECOND OLDEST IN COUNTRY

By A. C. McCONNELL.

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 18.—The fact may not be generally known that Wilbarger county ranks high among the oil producing counties in Texas, leads in the number of wildcat tests and is the second oldest fieldin North Texas. Neither is it known that the heavy lines of production sprouting from the Electra-Wilbarger fields are in Wilbarger county.

Some of the most prolific wells in the Electra Wilbarger fields have been brought in by the Magnolia Petroleum Company's Piper, Sumner and H. & T. C. leases in Wilbarger county. On the Piper lease there are about 35 producing wells, coming in initially from 500 to 2,500 barrels, though a number of wells in the tract came in at a less capacity. This lease has been estimated in millions.

The Magnolia's holdings in the Sumner and H. & T. C. tracts are very valuable also, there being about 65 producing wells in these tracts. The Texas Company has about 100 producers on the Waggoner ranch.

There are four proven producing sands on these leases—first at 1100 feet, second at 1600 feet, third at 1800 feet, and some wells that produced from 500 to 2,500 barrels were found in the 1900 and 2100 foot sand. There are a great number of producers in this district that found the sand at 200 feet. The grade of oil is high quality, testing 42 per cent in gravity and gasoline content of 35 per cent. The thickness of the sand ranges from ten to forty feet.

There are over fifty wells in drilling process, rigs up for more and new locations being made daily for tests over Wilbarger county. The Wilbarger-Electra field was discovered in November, 1909, by W. T. Waggoner on his ranch in Wilbarger county, while drilling for water wells and since that time the field has not been intensively drilled, only in the last year a concerted drilling campaign was carried out.

Magnolia Petroleum Company, Piper, 1100 barrels; same company's Sumner, 900 barrels; same company's H. & T. C. lease, 450 barrels.

Many of the wells included in the above are small producers and have been on the pump since 1911, especially is this true of the Texas Company's wells on the Waggoner lease. In the past the production figures have been far greater than they are at the present time. In the Piper wells alone, the time has been in th past when two or three wells would have made as much production as the entire lease is producing.

On comparing the wells, however, in Wilbarger county with those in Wichita county, wells that have been producing a similar length of time, it is found their production has held up in a remarkable manner.

The Magnolia Petroleum Co. has only three sections and the production from these three is greater than that of the Texas Company from the entire Waggoner lease, which embraces several thousand acres. The Magnolia has followed a concerted and intensified drilling campaign, while the Texas Company has been forced to spread out over wildcat territory in an effort to hang onto the enormous acreage which they lost from W. T. Waggoner.

Electra is credited wtih the Wilbarger production, as the oil from these leases are piped into Electra. Since 1911 the Wilbarger and Wichita fields has produced 126,661,651 barrels of oil.

The Magnolia Petroleum Co.'s No. 1is a six-unit plant with a capacity of about 2,000,000 cubic feet and turning out about 2,000 gallons at the present time. The Magnolia's No. 2 on the Sumner lease in Wilbarger is a two-unit plant with a capacit yof 700,000 cubic feet and making at present about 1800 gallons of gasoline daily.

The Electra field has two refineries—one of which is in Wilbarger county on the county line. It is the Waggoner Refining Co., having an output of 21,000 gallons daily. The combined capacity of Electra's refineries and casinghead plants of gasoline amounts to 70,000 gallons daily, an approximate value of $18,500 daily.

Oil from the Sigler well is being used by contractors in that field drilling other wells and is not figured in pipe line runs.

H. C. L. OF BUG CAMPAIGN CUT IN HALF HERE

The high cost of killing bugs has dropped in Wichita Falls.

Dr. J. F. Reed, chairman of the City park board, announced Saturday that the city had contracted for its annual supply of arsenate of lead, one of the poisons most frequently used to fight insect menaces to trees, at almost 100 per cent decrease below the factory cost last year.

Last year it cost 66 cents per pound. This year it will cost 33 cents per pound.

Dr. Reed prophesied that if a rigorous campaign is carried on next summer against the bag worm, one of the pests that troubles trees here, that the menace will be wiped out completely.

CITY WILL SET OUT 225 TREES THRU CEMETERY

About 225 trees and 15 rose bushes will be put out in the Riverside cemetery by the city by the first of December, if possible, Dr. J. F. Reed, chairman of City park board, announced Saturday.

The trees and shrubbery ordered are: 150 Rosedale arbor vitae, 75 cedars, 2 weeping willows and 15 rose bushes.

Dr. Reed added that Frank Lancaster, superintendent of parks, is conducting a clean-up and beautification campaign at the cemetery which will completely change and improve its appearance. Five men are working under Mr. Lancaster on this job.

LELAND BUILT NEW CAR RUN INTO WICHITA

The new Leland-Built Lincoln Motor Car came into public for the first time in Wichita Falls when it was driven over from Dallas this week by L. R. Stringer of the Nolan and Stringer Motor Car company here.

The widespread expectation of something better in Motordom than had yet been produced is apparently fulfilled, according to Messrs. Stringer and Nolan. The car was produced by the Lincoln Motor company of Detroit, Michigan. This organization is headed by Henry M. Leland and Wilfred C. Leland. These two men, father and son, have made a conspicuous part in the growth of the automobile industry and particularly in the development of fine cars.

This model, which now appears in Wichita Falls, was produced by Henry M. Leland, builder of the first successful multi-cylinder motor, and the Liberty aircraft motors for aviation.

The ability of the Lincoln has been tested and proved in many thousands of miles over dirt roads and mountain trails. So eager and responsive is the engine, according to Mr. Stringer, that hills seem to flatten out at the car's approach, the effect being like that of an airplane in flight.

And here is a peculiar fact. Engine action and riding quality are both so smooth that the ordinary sensation of fast going is replaced by a feeling of complete security. Oover a good road, this car, which is a seven-passenger touring, having several new and extra features, sweeps along at a fast rate without the realization of extreme speed. The sense of strain is eliminated.

By reason of improved carburetion and other refinements in engine design the car's performance is coupled with a notable economy of gasoline and oil. Even more important is the fact that low cost of upkeep is a result of Leland methods and design in manufacture—methods which are not relaxed at any point from the drawing board to the shipping platform.

The Nolan-Stringer company will diplay the new Lincoln at its showrooms this week.

EM TO PRESENT TOM MOORE IN GREAT ACCIDENT

Every motion picture actor has his vorite role—the type or character men he likes to portray. Uusually u will find that his favorite type closely allied to his own person- ity. His different roles in differ- t pictures are merely his own self, orking out his life problems under different set of circumstances. That the idea of Tom Moore, Goldwyn ar, whose new play, "The Great Ac- dent" comes to the Gem theater onday.

In this new feature production the ar has the part of "Wint Chase," a oung chap who is loved by all the wnspeople in spite of his distinction, r which lack of proper training at me is largely responsible. Then mes the "accident," which is not much an accident as an oppor- nity forced upon him by the rewd political boss of his city who ows that "Wint" can be a man he is given a chance. The boss s him elected mayor of the city d you will see him win not only s own fight for reformation but e fight to make his home town an eal place to live in.

It's a big fight. The young mayor, ith all the power of the men who e making money out of the dives the city plotting against him, has l he can do to adhere to his own solutions and at the same time con- er the forces opposing him.

That's what Tom Moore likes. A g fight in one of the pictures, hether it is a physical encounter or battle of wits, makes him put all s enthusiasm into the character he portraying. Perhaps it may be that om had to win many a hard fight ainst disappointments, hard luck, metimes actual hunger, before the y came when he took his ranking lace among motion picture stars.

"I hate spineless parts," he said. I can't get interested in a role in hich I'm supposed to play the part f a man who hasn't any character r hasn't an opportunity of showing

"Sometimes it happens even when he play as a whole is a good one, 've been cast for a role of a man who ins out by pull or influence or just tain luck without having one oppor- unity to make a fight for anything. hate to enact such a part.

"I want to play roles in which I an do something that will inspire ther young fellows to work and fight. othing is really gained by pull or nfluence. It's the man who is ready o tackle anything that succeeds, the man who won't be discouraged by isappointment or develop a yellow treak just because he's up against a ard situation.

"I never got a thing in my life without working for it. I remember even in my home in Ireland when I was a boy I used to hate to accept avors from anyone, and that has tuck to me all my life.

"Why, when I was on the stage, efore my picture days, it was the ustom to pass actors gratis into a heater on presentation of a card. In hose days I always paid for my eat rather than be under obligation o any manager. I wouldn't stand or anything like that, that's all. That's why, when I get a part that's got a real fight in it, I'm as happy s I can be. I like to portray a young fellow who gets into all kinds of trouble, or who has trouble forced upon him and has to use his brains and his muscle to get him out of it. I like a good husky villian playing against me, a fellow that has lots of brains, who just hates me like poison and who tries his best to put me down and out. You can act in a pic- ture like that. It just seems to me that I'm the lad who is going through all this trouble and if the villian gives me lots of hard knocks and keeps me working to get the best of him I can keep myself right in the character as long as the filming of the play lasts."

Radium Finder Simple Device

ATLANTA, Ga.—Three thousand dollars' worth of radium was lost at Grady Hospital recently and was found several hours later because Dr. J. Martin knew a simple little instrument he borrowed from the Georgia Tech physics laboratory had the power of detecting radium. The difficulty of finding the valuable substance without the assistance of this instrument can be understood when the fact that only fifty milligrams were lost and that a brass cylinder less than three inches long contained the entire $3,000 worth.

It was discovered in a dark cellar in a bundle of used bandages which had been removed from the ward and were to be destroyed.

When Dr. Martin arrived at the negro female ward he found the nurses panic-stricken because of the loss of the tube of radium which had been used in treating one of the patients. Dr. Martin immediately sent to Tech to borrow an electroscope.

This instrument is simply two pieces of gold leaf fastened together at one end and inclosed in an insulated glass tube. Because like charges of electricity repel each other the instrument has the power of detecting electrical charges. If both of the pieces of gold leaf have the same electrical charge they repel each other and fly apart.

Radium is continually shooting off minute particles. This has the effect of making the air in the neighborhood of the piece of radium a conducter of electricity, and if any electrically charged bodies are near the radium the air conducts the charge and it will register on a delicate instrument like the electroscope.

Dr. Martin went over the entire ward with the electroscope but found no trace of the radium. Then he examined the bed linen, toilets, laundry and the used bandages, but without result. He went over the field again and in the darkened room where the bandages were thrown the electroscope picked up the charge and the gold leaves flew apart.

The electrical properties of radium make it easy for the electroscope to direct it as though the lost article were limburger cheese that could be discovered because the nose detected the odor.

The electroscope "smelled" the radium in the darkened room, but could not locate it definitely. Dr. Martin said he was able to tell that he was within eight feet of the lost tube, but the instrument lost the "scent" several times. Finally after the search had continued for more than three hours the tube was recovered from the center of one of the bundles of spoiled linen that were to be destroyed.

IRRESISTIBLE 'CONNIE' TALMADGE AT OLYMPIC MONDAY-TUESDAY

Constance Talmadge, queen of all movie star heartbreakers, will be seen here Monday and Tuesday in "Good References," a comedy of the ultra-smart variety, in which she is seen as a "vampish" stenog.

OLYMPIC WILL SHOWS 'CONNIE' AS W-K P. W. G.

Constance Talmadge says that she would rather take the part of a poor working girl than portray any other character, because at one time she expected to become a stenographer herself.

"I would have studied stenography had it not been for Norma's entrance into motion pictures," she said. "Then the picture bug hit me. I got into the habit of accompanying my sister to the studio and one day had a chance to earn five dollars as an extra girl. I was very glad, as I believe in girls earning their own living. That is why I am so sympathetic towards the working girl, for I feel that I am one of them at heart."

Constance Talmadge is poorer from a standpoint of dollars and cents than ever before as the heroine in "Good References," her latest First National starring vehicle, which will be shown at the Olympic Theatre, commencing Monday.

As Mary Wayne, Connie finds herself in Journey's End, a boarding house where the dear old landlady, with a sixty-four bust, makes a wild clutch for board in advance and succeeds in reducing her fair young boarder's net capital of five dollars to a lonesome pair of "ironmen."

Worse than that, she tries to get a job, but all the boys behind the mahogany desks are stony-hearted about young ladies who want to be stenographers and who have no references.

How Mary Wayne breaks into a run of good luck that begins with her pal being sick, leaving a job open for some one to fill and giving Mary an opportunity to borrow a set of references, is cleverly portrayed by Miss Talmadge in her own whimsical and inimitable way.

SOPRANO CLAIMS MODERN PONCE DE LEON SPELL

Marie Rappold, the brilliant American soprano of the Metropolitan Opera House, who will appear here at the Wichita Theatre on Monday night, November 22, under the auspices of the Musicians Club of this city, declares that she has discovered the fountain of eternal youth, and it isn't a spring in the wilds of Asia, or a monkey gland, but accessible to anyone who has the common sense to try it.

"Ponce de Leon's name can be crossed off the books," says Mme. Rappold, who is one of those rare individuals who can sing eight concerts in eight days in eight different places and still look and feel fresh and unruffled. Last year Mme. Rappold leaped from coast to coast, Tacoma, Washington, to New York, and sang in the latter place the night of her arrival, for she had made the trip especially for that evenings' concert. Her press notices after that occasion attested the undiminished glories of her voice and person.

"It is a simple receipt," she says, "it isn't massage treatment or electrical vibrators. It's just fresh air, relaxation, and the proper food, but the greatest of these is relaxation. The trains are practically the only places where I have the leisure to relax when I am on tour and instead of fussing about draughts, heat, noises, dirt or trying to avoid the tedium by talking or playing cards, I settle myself mentally for a good rest.

"I sleep when I can, read the rest of the time, refuse to let a disturbing thought enter my head, talk not at all and thus relax my vocal organs, and eat not at all for that relaxes my digestive organs. There is no need for food when one is not using up energy. Most of us eat much more than we should, and too often out of habit.

"Whenever there is a long enough stop I get out an dwalk, no matter what the weather may be. A singer's training makes the body hardy and the idea that a singer has to be more careful of herself than other people is fallacious, a singer has only to keep herself sturdy, and that does not mean coddling.

"Hard work, hard play and the ability to make the body obey the commands of the will are the real source of youth. If you feel potent, happy and energetic, you can't be old if you try."

COLEMAN COTTON UP.

COLEMAN, Nov. 20.—Total cotton receipts for Coleman county up to Nov. 1 were 27,612 bales, according to Levy W. Smith, county crop statistician. This compares with 10,373 bales at a corresponding date in 1919. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce estimates that 60 to 70 per cent of the 1920 crop has been gathered.

'Y' EXPERT ON HOUSING TO PLAN BUILDING HERE

Miss Blanche Geary, national secretary of the economics department of the Young Women's Christian association, will be the guest of the Wichita Falls association on November 24, this being the second visit of the noted economic and housing expert to the local association. Her day in this city will be featured by a conference with Mrs. C. W. Snider, chairman, and the other member of the building committee which expects to announce next week the date when actual construction work will begin on the new Y. M. C. A. home at Eighth and Burnett.

Miss Geary will be guest of honor at a luncheon for the members of the executive board at the Y. M. C. A. at the noon hour, and the plans for her morning and afternoon call for a consideration of the building problem, and a general survey of the operation of the local association.

Miss Geary's first visit to Wichita Falls was at the time when the campaign for the Y. M. C. A. building fund was being launched. She was guest of honor at the luncheon of the men and women of the city who were instrumental in the organization of the association and in putting over the campaign for the funds for the home and the spirit with which the drive was started made a great impression as shown in her later communications with the Wichita Falls association.

Miss Geary is at present working on a housing scheme for girls and women in the business and industrial world, which is to be presented nation-wide as a solution of the housing problem which confronts the greater part of the employed feminine public, regardless of profession, occupation, age or environment. Much benefit is expected to result to the local association from her visit especially at this time, when the local boarding home for girls is the most active and vital problem up for immediate attention.

"FOLLIES" GIRL WHO WAS BRIDE IN SHOW NOW PLAYS ROLE OF BRIDE IN REAL LIFE

VANITY'S SERF CHIEF FIGURE IN MAJESTIC PLAY

"One of the most finished pictures ever produced" is the unanimous verdict of those who witnessed a private screening of "A Slave of Vanity," the first picture made by Pauline Frederick for Robertson-Cole, which opens at the Majestic Monday for a run of two days. The photoplay is a screen adaptation of "Iris," Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's famous drama. Ever given to lavishness of detail, the author outdid himself in "Iris" with the result that the screen version makes an unusally beautiful spectacle.

Miss Pauline Frederick occupies an enviable position on the screen and in the realm of the spoken drama. With her beauty she combines wonderful skill as an emotional actress. It is a happy combination seldom found either on the stage or on the screen. The story of "A Slave of Vanity" gives Miss Frederick a chance to display both her skill as an actress and also to "look pretty."

The theme is of a woman who has been used to luxury all her life. Her husband dies leaving her his great fortune but there is a string attached to it. If she marries again she loses the money. About the time the picture opens, Iris, the widow, finds herself in love with a young man who has great talents but no money. His uncle has offered him a ranch in a foreign land if he will go and live on it. Iris is in a quandary. She loves the man but she also loves luxury. If she marries she loses every cent.

There is a third party in the equation. A rich London banker, who loves Iris and wants her to marry him. She has no affection for the banker but his is the greatest fortune in England. It is a puzzling problem for the beautiful young widow. The trick of the picture is the manner in which she is finally aided in making her choice. The ending is very satisfactory and is reached through a series of surprises.

All of the members of the cast of "A Slave of Vanity" are finished artists. As a matter of fact the cast might be termed an all-star one. Included are Nigel Barrie Willard Louis, Maude Louis, Daisy Robinson, Arthur Hoyt, Ruth Handforth and Howard Gaye.

LOVE STORY IS BUILT ON OLD TRUE TRIANGLE

A love story of surpassing sweetness built on the old tried and true triangle combination between two women and a man, is the foundation of Benjamin B. Hampton's great photoplay, "The U. P. Trail," released through W. W. Hodkinson, which will be preented at the Empress Theatre Monday.

The young man in the case is young "Warren Neale," handsome and gallant, dashing and accomplished, played in a thoroughly fitting manner by Roy Stewart.

"The U. P. Trail," taken from the famous novel of the same name by Zane Grey, is one of the sweetest love stories ever told. The pure, innocent love of the little girl for the young engineer, the vivid soul passion of the woman of the world for him, and his own great and tender ove for the girl with another sort of love that is half of friendship, half of attraction for "Beauty," gives a sentimental interest to "The U. P. Trail," that has proven universally pleasing.

COLEMAN COUNTY TO BUILD ROADS

COLEMAN, Texas, Nov. 20.—"We're going to take another whack at building good roads in the northwestern part of Coleman county," said C. A. Parker and 91 other qualified voters of that section when presenting a petition for the ordering of a bond election for that region, says the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The commission set December 28 for the election. The bond issue will be for $250,000. Towns within the territory include Goldsboro, Novice, Silver Valley and Anderson.

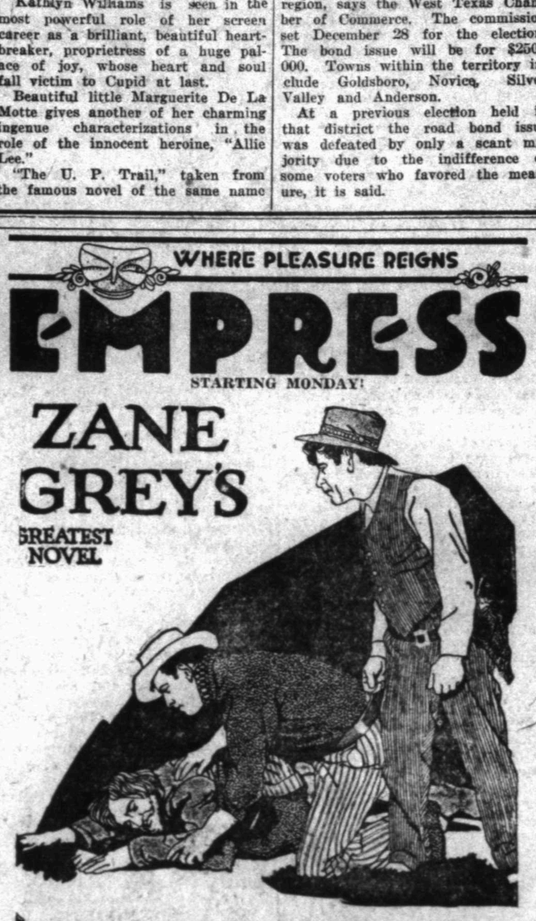

At a previous election held in that district the road bond issue was defeated by only a scant majority due to the indifference of some voters who favored the measure, it is said.

HITCHEY-KOO SUCCESS GOES INTO RECORDS

"Old Fashioned Garden," a Hitchy-Koo" success, and "The Japnese Sandman" are made doubly attractive on a new Victor Record by Olive Kline's beautiful voice and true artistic instinct. In the latter number, the voice soft and lovely as a flute, takes the melody with dainty variations of time, hanging here and there on some delicious soft note, and resuming the sleepy dance-swing of the tune with the next beat. The music really has something of the far east's own langurous speel, the perfume of incense ,the fragrance of the pines, the shadow of the great cryptomeria trees, and the far-off booming of some giant temple-bell all fused together into a dream of music.

Since the appearance of his first records, Walter C. Kelly has had something else up his sleeve. He has now pulled out the contents of that part of his garments, and here is another double-faced record, "Virginian Judge—Second Session" in two parts, which takes up the judge's labors where he left off to go fishing. There is plenty of action from the first demand for order, and his injunction to Dan to put out the flearidden tramp-dog that has taken refuge under the stove.

Here they are—two more dances by the now famous Paul Whiteman and his Ambassador Orchestra, "Anytime, Any Day, Anywhere" and "Wang-Wang Blues." They made a rheumatic old gentleman hobble off to the diningroom carpet and practice alone until 2 o'clock in the morning —no more rheumatism after that! His knees now work as smothly as the moter of his Victrola.

"Whispering" is a composition both popular and musicianly. Like "The Love Boat," on the opposite face of the record, a Victor Herbert success made famous in the Ziegfield Herbert Follies of 1920, it is sung by John Steel.

The Sterling Trio sings this month "That Old Irish Mother of Mine" (the title speaks for itself) and "Just Like a Gypsy" from "Ladies First." Two double Victor records by the Benson orchestra of Chicago, "Fair One" and "I'd love to Fall Asleep and Wake Up in My Mammy's Arms" both fox-trots with an African-Indian-Russian-Broadway smash; the other "Chili Bean" and "Bhobo," a fox-trot and a one step, with a razzle-dazzle effects to make your heart jump.

"Dance-O-Mania" a fox-trot by Selvin's Novelty orchestra, refers to a new disease affecting the feet and shoulders and is backed by "Old Man Jazz," also a fox-trot and cramful of action.

Gilbert Girard comes along with a Victro record full of Christmas cheer —"Santa Claus Tells About His Toy Shop" and "Santa Claus Gives Away His Toys" in which all the animals and birds speak up to amuse the children. It is one of the most wonderful children's records ever made.

Two collections of the best numbers from recent musical successes, "Gems from 'Mary'" and "Gems from 'The Night Boat'" are this month's contribution of the Victor light opera company—all the best from both shows.

TITTONI SEES SOME PROMISE IN HARDING

By Associated Press.

GENEVA, Nov. 20.—Hope that "without too much delay" a way will be found for the entry of the United States into the League of Nations is given by the declarations of President-elect Harding, it was declared in an address to the assembly of the League of Nations, today by Tomasso Tittoni, former foreign minister of Italy.

"The league," added Signor Tittoni, "will never be a League of Nations until all the nations without exception are included in it."

REPORT CASTS DOUBT ON HUGE SHIP EXPENSE

WASHINGTON, No. 20.—Nearly one-half of the total disbursements of the United States shipping board emergency fleet corporation, over a period of 17 months, amounting to more than two billion dollars, were unsupported by proper vouchers, according to the audit of the corporation's accounts submitted to Secretary Houston today by the comptroller of the treasury in his annual report.

The audit was made by direction of congress for the period October, 1918, to February, 1920, and showed that total disbursements of the fleet corporation were $2,732,945,213, of which exception to the payment of $1,184,320,243 was taken by the comptroller because of the "lack of supporting papers."

Subsequent production of supporting papers, however, the comptroller said, resulted in a credit to the corporation of $70,625,898, leaving a balance as of February of $1,113,700,345 disapproved by the auditors.

The comptroller presented figures only up to February, but Martin J. Gillen, former special assistant to the chairman of the shipping board, Under-Secretary Payne declared before the congressional select committee on shipping board operations in New York last week that up to March 1, $2,700,000,000 had been submitted for the audit and payment of $1,500,000,000 had been disapproved because the vouchers were not supported by the necessary data.

Comptroller Warwick declared that "at least 25 percent of all vouchers received were unsupported by documents or other papers explaining or justifying the payment."

BOARD ACCEPTS PLANS FOR SCHOOLS

The building committee of the school board at a meeting Friday accepted plans submitted by Voelcker & Dixon for the erection of an eight-room school building just east of the Wichita Falls Sash & Door Company's planing mill, and for the addition of an upper story to the Sam Houston school.

Specifications will be completed as soon as possible and bids for the work by local contractors will then be requested. It is estimated that the new building will cost from $40,000 to $45,000 and the one-story addition can be erected, it is thought, at a cost of from $20,000 to $25,000.

WORLD AD CLUB MEETING ASKED FOR THIS CITY

The Associated Advertising clubs of Texas will be invited to hold their 1921 convention in Wichita Falls, it was decided at a meeting Friday night of the directors of the Wichita Falls Ad club.

The directors sent one of their number, John Gould, to attend the state committee meeting in Waco tomorrow, when the 1821 convention city will be chosen.

WHAT THE GREAT MINDS OF ALL TIME SAY ABOUT MUSIC

MY mother always sang while she was nursing me and I can faithfully say I took my first music lessons unconsciously
—CHARLES GOUNOD

THROUGH music the child
Enters into a world of beauty
Expresses his inmost self Tastes the joy of creating Widens his sympathies
Develops his mind
Soothes and refines his spirit
—NATIONAL CHILD WELFARE ASSOCIATION

—DISRAELI

IF young men had music and pictures to interest them, to engage them and satisfy many of their impulses and to enliven their days, they would not go to the low pleasures of the streets; they would have an alternative and would be too fastidious to do so.
—BERNARD SHAW

ALL Children Need Music

THE child who absorbs music in his infancy has been provided with an inexhaustible source of pleasure all through life. It can never be taken from him. Misfortune but increases his need for its comfort. Prosperity requires music for its fullest enjoyment.

There is no period in life when the love of music is not helpful. The National Child Welfare Association (which has no interest whatever in music and whose sole purpose is the elevation of the race) is so impressed with the value of music to the child in developing the highest type of men and women that it has published, in booklet form, a special message to parents urging a musical atmosphere in the home. You naturally are interested in the best development of your own child.

Is your child absorbing music while his disposition and character are in the building and his tastes are in the formative stage? Have you provided him with this important means of wholesome enjoyment in later life? And yourself? Are you bringing all the music you need into your own life?

Fill your home with music and you will fill your life with gladness. There will be a zip to your work and a sparkle to your playtime.

URGES OIL AND AUTO MEN JOIN AGAINST WASTE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Co-operation between the petroleum and automotive industries in preventing oil waste, was urged by M. L. Requa, vice president of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, in an address before the annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute.

He estimated that heedless losses arising from imperfect or faulty lubrication amounted to as much as fifty per cent of the generated power.

Crowd Sees Man Have Fit, Smile Walk Away Then

A fairly well-dressed man, about 35 years old, lay outstretched on the sidewalk in front of the First National bank building, Indiana and Eighth street, about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The curious massed around and in. A policeman waved his club and shouted, "give him air." The man's face became overspread with an ashey, greenish color. He frothed at the mouth. Many thought he was dying.

This procedure lasted for several minutes. Then the man suddenly smiled, got up and walked away. The realistic show was over. The actor was never introduced.
