Teachers Meet Here

County Teachers Meet Here Saturday, February 27, to Set Contest Date

A meeting of the Ochiltree county teachers will be held Saturday, February 27, in the Junior high school study hall in Perryton at eleven in the morning for the purpose of setting the date of the county-wide interscholastic meet and discussing the various rules and regulations. The following schools have paid their dues and have been declared eligible by the State Board to enter contestants: Black, Farnsworth, Huntton, Lone Tree, McMillen, New Hope, Ochiltree, Perryton, Ridge, Taz, and Twichell. Some schools have not paid their fees, which were due on or before January 15, hence they will not be eligible to compete in the county meet.

R. B. Raymond, who for many years was one of Ochiltree's largest farmers and stockmen, was here from Amarillo the fore part of this week renewing acquaintances and visiting with old friends and neighbors.

CHAMPION CONE EATER DEMONSTRATES ABILITY

Fred Battle, self-styled champion ice cream cone eater, gave a very good account of himself in the demonstration held Tuesday afternoon of this week at the Perryton Drug company, during which twenty well-filled cones were consumed in the elapsed time of 40 minutes, 29 seconds, nearly a cone a minute.

The exhibition drew more than casual interest and a well filled gallery was present for the occasion, offering advice and suggestions to the title-defending champion. The contest officially opened at 4:03 1-2 o'clock and during the first fifteen and one-half minutes, twelve cones were sopped away. A four and one-half breathing spell was allowed and then four more cones disappeared in six and one-half minutes eating time. The champion took the whole five minutes rest period during the second intermission and when eating was resumed seemed to be tiring requiring nine minutes to consume the remaining four cones, water being demanded by him between the last three cones.

The demonstration thoroughly convinced all present regarding the champion's claim as a cone eater. It is rumored about Perryton that a diamond-studded stomach pump will be presented to the champion soon in recognition of his ability.

DEDICATE FIVE MEMORIAL TREES

FIVE ORGANIZATIONS COOPERATE IN JOINT MEMORIAL SERVICE AT LEGION HALL ON MONDAY

One of the most impressive dedications ever held in this section of the Panhandle was the verdict of those present at the Legion Hall on Monday morning when the Senior class of the high school, the Lions Club, the Parent-Teacher association, the American Legion Post and the American Legion Auxiliary Unit cooperated in the memorial tree service, the trees being planted in the park way on the north and east sides of the home.

The first tree was dedicated by the Lions Club through W. B. Irvin, vice-president of the club, to the memory of Tommie Waters, an Ochiltree county boy who fell during the World War. Mrs. D. A. Caldwell, president of the Perryton Parent-Teacher association, carried the message of that organization in her dedication of a tree to the memory of Jim Goodall, another veteran of the World War from this county who failed to return.

Mrs. Van W. Stewart, present state president of the Texas Legion Auxiliary and first president of the local Unit, spoke for the American Legion Auxiliary in the dedication of the tree to the memory of Pierce Johnson, the Ochiltree boy who fell on the battle fields of France and in whose memory the local Post and Unit is named. District Attorney W. L. McConnell, representing the local Legion Post, in a well chosen message, dedicated the Legion's tree to the memory of the Unknown Soldier. The last tree was dedicated by the Senior Class of the Perryton High school, with Edwin Lawson, a member of the class, as spokesman. It was a very fitting observance of the two hundredth anniversary of the Father of Our Country, George Washington.

START GASOLINE BOOSTER PLANT

PHILLIPS PETROLEUM CO. IS BUILDING BOOSTER PLANT ON GASOLINE PIPE SUPPLY LINE

Farnsworth is enjoying unusual activity at the present time, so states B. L. Rogers, Farnsworth merchant and candidate for the state legislature, on account of the construction work which has just started on the new booster plant by the Phillips Petroleum Co. in their eight inch gasoline line, which runs from the Borger field to the east and traverses the southern part of the county. The booster plant now under way is located twelve miles south of Farnsworth.

The line runs from Borger to St. Louis and at the time of original construction, main booster plants were erected at 120 mile intervals. This line was more or less of a pioneer in the matter of transporting gasoline by pipe line, so additional sites for boosting were obtained at intervening points. Now it has been found necessary to construct secondary stations, and the firm of Perry Sullen, Bartlesville, Okla., now have four of these plants under way. J. M. Lovell is in charge of the Ochiltree county plant.

Mr. Rogers states that the Phillips people are using local labor and materials wherever possible, and that much of the building supplies such as lumber, cement, sand, gravel, etc., has been purchased from Farnsworth dealers. Local trucks are being used to transport the materials from Farnsworth, to the building site. C. R. French, resident contractor of Farnsworth, has been employed as assistant to Mr. Lovell, the superintendent of construction.

DEDICATE HANSFORD BUILDING

HUGE CROWD FROM OVER PANHANDLE ATTENDS DEDICATION OF NEW SPEARMAN COURTHOUSE

A crowd estimated at over three thousand people from all over the Panhandle attended the dedication of the new Hansford county courthouse at Spearman, Monday, February 22. Owing to the size of the audience and their inability to get into the district courtroom in the beautiful new structure, the speaking program was held on the courthouse lawn.

A reception committee composed of the following pioneer and representative citizens, J. R. Colliard, H. L. Wilbanks, Fred McRae, J. H. Gruver, Fred Kline and Henry Coffey, joined with the county officials in welcoming the hundreds of visitors.

County Attorney J. H. Broadhurst was master of ceremonies, with the following distinguished speakers appearing on the program: Judge H. E. Hoover, Canadian; Senator Clint Small, Amarillo; Judge E. J. Pickens, Canadian; District Attorney W. L. McConnell, Panhandle; Representative A. C. Johnson, Dalhart; Judge Newt Willis, Pampa; Henry Ansley, Amarillo; and Gene Howe, Amarillo. Judge Hoover, in making the main address of the day, gave a very interesting resume of the history of Hansford county. The main theme of all the talks was the Washington Bicentennial. Music was furnished by the Gruver band.

PERRYTON PARENT-TEACHER GIVE WASHINGTON PROGRAM

"When Martha and George Return" was the very unique play sponsored by Miss Mary Melton and Miss Mary Britton, and given at the high school auditorium Monday afternoon, February 22, at the Parent-Teacher program.

Mrs. F. C. Travis told the story of the "Life and Character of Martha Washington." She said, "Without the untiring efforts and encouragement of Martha, George Washington could never have attained the position he held in social and military life. During his army career, Martha was usually stationed near, caring for the needs of the soldiers and administering to them in sickness, making their lives much more pleasant than they otherwise would have been. She managed the home, Mt. Vernon, with perfect ease and success. She took good care of their three hundred slaves and kept sixteen spinning wheels busy. Martha possessed great musical ability."

"Etiquette of George Washington" was given by Pauline LaMaster. Anita Jackson delighted the audience with the vocal solo, "I Can't Do This Sum." She was accompanied by Miss Doris Horan at the piano.

The past Matrons and the past Patrons of the Perryton Eastern Star Chapter will be in charge of the meeting Tuesday evening, March 1. A pot luck supper will be enjoyed at the close of the business.

Visitors are always welcome and on this night, visiting Matrons and Patrons will be given an especially cordial greeting. Each member is urged to be present.

Raymond Kershaw, who has been under treatment at the Plaza hospital, was taken Monday afternoon by airplane to Oklahoma City for special treatment.

On Monday evening, February 22, about five car loads of Legion and Auxiliary members drove to Beaver, Okla., to attend the George Washington dance, sponsored by the Beaver Legion Post, No. 149.

Several Auxiliary members from this Unit attended the entertainment for the National president, Mrs. Louise Williams, at Amarillo, Friday and Saturday, February 19 and 20.

The only Legion program being broadcast regularly each week in this country is that heard over Station KGGK, San Angelo, every Sunday afternoon from 1:15 to 2:00 o'clock. E. E. (Pat) Murphy of that city is the announcer and has arranged the programs as chairman of the Americanization committee of the Fifth Division. He has been inviting posts of West Texas to contribute numbers on the programs which have been heard by thousands during the past four months. The program last Sunday was conducted under the leadership of Mrs. M. J. Benefield of Brady, who is 17th district executive committee woman for the Legion Auxiliary.

Christian Endeavor

Oklahoma District Convention At Texoma Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 20-21

One of the outstanding conventions scheduled for the Panhandle during the year 1932 will be that of the Christian Endeavor to be held at Texoma, Okla., on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 20, 21 and 22.

The Panhandle district of Oklahoma comprises the three counties of Beaver and Cimarron. However the convention this spring will not be confined to delegates from the different societies in these three counties alone, but owing to the fact that the convention city is located on the state line all societies in the north tier of counties of the Texas Panhandle have been invited to participate in this meeting, not as visitors, but as a part of the convention.

To this end the officers of both Panhandle districts are co-operating in arranging a program fitting for a meeting of this size. The Panhandle district of Texas comprises about thirty counties and owing to the distance, members of the societies in the north tier of counties have been reluctant to attend the yearly conventions which are always held near the center of the district. By the present arrangement every society of the three Oklahoma counties and five Texas counties of the Panhandle can easily have delegates present at the Texoma convention.

Also through this union we are assured of having in attendance for each session two of the outstanding Christian Endeavor workers of the middle west. Miss Tephia Polson, of Oklahoma City, field secretary of the Oklahoma State C. E. Union, will be present during the full three days, as will also Miss Hattie Mae Wood, of Amarillo, who for a number of years was president of the Texas Panhandle Union. Each of these workers attended the Golden Jubilee Convention held at San Francisco, last summer and will have important messages regarding the program of the society for the Endeavor delegates present, as well as having an important part in conducting conferences.

Other speakers are being arranged for and a full program will be announced in ample time before the convention dates.

The sessions of the convention will be presided over by C. E. Eaton, president of the Oklahoma Panhandle district, and Billy White, of Canyon, vice president of the district.

Mrs. J. W. Penn and Mrs. Pete Pennington were callers on Mrs. G. D. Holt Monday evening.

Ray Nies and daughter, Mary Alice, left Monday for Durham, Okla., to be with Mrs. Nies, who has been in Durham the past ten days at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Kinzer.

Mrs. Fred Hood, who has been in Savannah, Mo., receiving medical treatment, returned home last Wednesday. Her son, George Hood, motored to Savannah for her.

Gene Stevens, Plains, Kans., was a week-end guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Claybaugh.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allen were among the many Perryton folks who attended the dedication of the Hansford county court house at Spearman, Monday.

Carter Pens at the Herald Office.

Mrs. A. B. Hammon had as her dinner guests Friday her sister, Mrs. Joe Pittman, and her brother, J. A. Blakemore, both of Liberal, Kans. Mrs. Hammon and sons accompanied them home Friday, visiting until Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Kent had as their dinner guests Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Dodd.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cunningham and Arch Talley were Amarillo visitors Monday.

OCHILTREE COUNTY ABSTRACT COMPANY

Marvin Jones Is True Representative Of the Agricultural Southwest

The following article is reprinted from The Columbus (Neb.) Daily Telegram, written by the editor, Edgar Howard. It explains the conflicting viewpoint of the industrial east and the agricultural west.

Some years ago a famous English author who lived many years in India and comprehended the basic difference in the manner of thought of his own people and those of India, called attention to this difference in a poem in which he said: "For East is East, and West is West."

"And never the twain shall meet." A few days ago as I listened to a colloquy on the floor of the House I recalled those lines, and it occurred to me that here in our own country we have two schools of thought as far apart as those of which Kipling wrote.

One school of thought, predominant throughout the vast expanse of our country to the west and south of the Alleghenies, believes that our government should serve all sections of our country and all classes of its citizens equally and without distinction.

Another school of thought, predominant in the East, believes that it is entirely proper for our government to bestow special favors upon the great financial and industrial interests; that government aid should be reserved to these mighty corporations and aggregations of capital, and that the most that should be accorded the struggling farmers and other distressed individuals is a little "sympathy."

Hon. Marvin Jones, a progressive democrat from the great agricultural state of Texas, is chairman of the committee on agriculture. He is an able and courageous leader in the fight to sustain agriculture and free it from the discrimination to which it has been subject at the hands of the mighty financial and industrial interests, acting through the federal government which they have so long controlled.

Hon. Robert Luce, a regular republican from the great industrial state of Massachusetts, where mighty financial interests are entrenched, is one of the most erudite members of the congress. He has long been recognized as an important cog in the republican organization in the House. No member of that body has more ably and consistently represented the interests of his own people than Mr. Luce has represented those of the great financial and industrial groups. He more brilliantly champions those mighty interests than any other man in the congress.

The colloquy to which I refer occurred during the discussion of the appropriation bill for the department of agriculture with reference to certain items concerning government loans to farmers who are in distress.

Mr. Luce speaks the thought predominant in the industrial and financial circles of the East. Mr. Jones speaks the thought prevailing in the West.

The following colloquy appears on pages 2851 and 2852 of the Congressional Record of January 26, 1932:

MR. LUCE: Mr. Chairman, I had the curiosity to check up on the appropriations referred to in this paragraph. I am not sure whether the practice of seed loan appropriation bills began before the first of these acts or not, but they happen to cover most of the period of my own service here, and I have watched with some apprehension the growth of such dispensing of the benevolence of the Federal Government to help regions and classes.

I hope there is no man in this House who excels me in sympathy for affliction. I do not question the mercy of these provisions. I am glad if they have helped, but I have great sympathy also with the attitude taken by one of the candidates for President on the Democratic side, Governor Ritchie, and also with our own colleague, whom I may be pardoned in referring to by name, Mr. Beck, of Pennsylvania, in their belief that it is a misfortune to saddle on the Federal Government the responsibilities that hitherto have been carried by the State governments. While I may differ with them in respect of the application of the principle to some one particular problem, I am in full accord with them on the principle as such.

Let me point out the dangers here involved. We have just authorized an appropriation of $25,000,000 for seed loans without any inquiry whatever, as far as has come to my notice, either as to the extent of the need or the reasons for making the loans. An appeal to our sympathies on the general proposition that men are suffering tempts us to rash action.

I am told that startling small proportion of the loans made last spring have been collected, and I observe that this paragraph contemplates the expenditure of $500,000 simply to collect unpaid balances. Surely this is a burden on the Treasury that ought to be considered. I would suggest to the Committee on Appropriations and the Committee on Agriculture that one of them might usefully ascertain how large a percentage of the loans of 1930 and 1931 has been repaid and what is the likelihood of their repayment and that of the new loan's present circumstances. Possibly they would find that our growing practice of lending money to some one class in some one region is becoming an encouragement to debt which, after all, is the worst thing that can come to an individual or to a class of individuals. Furthermore, if the habit of letting individuals borrow from the Public Treasury is to grow, at least we ought to consider whether the borrowing should be from the Federal or from the State treasury.

MR. JONES: Mr. Chairman, I was interested in the statements made by the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Luce) a moment ago. I, too, doubt the wisdom of the program which the gentleman was discussing, at the time of its inception. I think I made the only speech that was made on the floor of the House in opposition to the beginning of that program; but the program has been established as a policy of the government. It was brought by a species of economic favoritism in tariffs, freight rates, and financial control that had bled the agricultural section white and destroyed the purchasing power of the farmer.

Regardless of what the merits of that program may be, I confess I am unable to differentiate between making small loans of two or three hundred dollars to the farmers and the policy that was established in the $500,000,000 corporation that was voted through the other day to make loans to insurance companies, bankers, railroads, and other financial institutions.

If it is unwise for the Federal Government to make loans to the great farming group with a few million dollars as the total, how does it become wise to appropriate $500,000,000, with a possible expansion to $2,000,000,000, to take care of certain other great groups?

MR. LUCE: May I answer the gentleman?

MR. JONES: I shall be glad to yield to the gentleman.

MR. LUCE: The gentleman will recall that some of us fought every attempt to fasten on that bill loans to individuals. We did not believe it was wise and tried to stop it.

MR. JONES: Then the gentleman thinks a corporation is superior to the individual? The corporation is a natural person. On what basis does the gentleman justify a Federal loan to a corporation, an artificial person, and say that is wise and a sound policy, and that a loan by the same government out of the same till to an individual, a legal, natural person, can not be justified?

MR. LUCE: Mr. Chairman, I justify that by saying that all these loans were to be made upon the basis of adequate security.

MR. JONES: Well, I want to state to the Chairman that every one of these agricultural loan bills that has been presented has required a first lien on the gross production of the farmer throughout the whole crop year, and the gentleman did not put into this $500,000,000 bill that the gross production of the insurance company, of the railway company, and of other financial institutions should be mortgaged and a first lien given on those things.

MR. LUCE: Mr. Chairman, we were not so unwise as to require that.

MR. JONES: Of course, it is the

gentleman's philosophy, then, that it is wise when the Government provides loans to certain groups, but it is unwise when it makes loans to other groups. The gentleman says he is willing to extend his sympathy to the great group that is engaged in farming. Many times they have been the victim of financial and governmental policies that have discriminated against them. The gentleman can button up his sympathy and keep it. It is not sympathy they want or need. A man can not live on sympathy alone. When a governmental policy is established, I want the farmer to have the same rights that are accorded industry. That is American, and that is fair.

MR. LUCE: If the gentleman will now permit me to finish the statement, the security that is required from these institutions is such that the Nation is guaranteed a return of its money.

MR. JONES: Is it?

MR. LUCE: Let me ask the gentleman one question—MR. JONES: Right on that point, let us take one point at a time. As I understand, under the terms of that bill, if any of these bonds and debentures are unpaid, the Government must appropriate the money to pay such bonds and debentures. If I read the terms of the bill right, the Government subscribes the original capital and underwrites the bonds. No one knows whether there will be a loss, nor how much; but Uncle Sam foots the bill.

MR. LUCE: Now, on the question of security, Mr. Chairman, am I right in my understanding that not one-third of the loans made last spring have yet been repaid?

MR. JONES: I do not know what that amounts to with respect to the loans made last spring. Collection on them has not been completed and times are abnormal. But with respect to the previous loans, an average of above 80 per cent has been paid, and on the loans of two years ago 92 per cent has been paid.

I want to make a plea for the tiller of the soil who lives in the far stretches of this country, and who has trusted you and me to see that he is protected in his rights. He feeds the people and produces the basis of our wealth.

He does not ask for favoritism. He asks only for a square deal. He only asks for an even chance in the race of life. He asks to be relieved of the discriminating burdens that have weighed him down. He asks to be relieved of the chains that selfish groups have forged about him. He asks for equal treatment as an American citizen in any program that is laid out by the Nation.

That much he has a right to demand.

My chief object in presenting the foregoing views of the brilliant Luce, recognized spokesman for the great financiers of New England and the East, generally, and the views of the splendid Texan, Marvin Jones, who for long years has so loyally pleaded in the congress the cause of agriculture, is to give my Nebraska people a true picture of the cause of the East, as championed by Luce, and the cause of the agricultural West and Middle West, as championed by Marvin Jones. I have not presented these divergent views in a partisan way. Indeed there are a few republicans in the congress who repudiate the demand of the East for superior advantages at the hand of the federal government. And it is sadly true that in the congress are a few democrats who listen for and quickly obey the voice of Wall Street. In the approaching presidential campaign, and particularly in the Middle West agricultural states, the people of the farm states, democrats and republicans alike, should demand from presidential and congressional nominees a frank and fair statement as to whether they would, if elected, adhere to the cause of the East, as presented by Massachusetts Luce, or to the cause of the farm states, as presented by Texas Jones.

Terracing School Demonstration and School Goodwell College on Eighty Acres March 22

Goodwell, Okla., Feb. 24.—Arrangements have just been announced for a big terracing demonstration at Goodwell, Okla., March 22. H. C. Hyer, county agent of Texas county, who has been active in promoting this profitable farm practice, has secured the cooperation of several of the more prominent machinery companies specializing in terrace machinery to make the demonstration on the Panhandle A. & M. College farm, one-half mile east of Goodwell.

Eighty acres of land will be terraced in the manner approved for the most efficient moisture conservation. Every detail of the job will be explained and demonstrated. The Experiment Station at Goodwell has been experimenting with terraces for several years and results of this work as well as the experience of farmers who have tried it have created a lively interest in dry farm terracing.

Further details of plans being made to entertain the large crowds expected at this demonstration will be announced later.

Ross Leatherman, formerly of Liberal, Kans., was in Perryton several days the past week visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Leatherman.

Mr. and Mrs. Earlene Jones and daughter were Sunday dinner guests with the A. K. Wooten family. In the afternoon, they all motored to Booker to attend the B. Y. P. U. convention.

Truck Driving Contest

Plainview Hardware Gives Demonstration of International Truck Last Thursday

Much interest was manifested in the demonstration and truck driving contest sponsored by Perryton last Thursday by the Plainview Hardware & Furniture Co., local dealers for International trucks and farming equipment. In the truck driving contest, an International six-speed truck was loaded with 3200 pounds and equipped with a special gasoline container holding only one pint of fuel. Prizes were given to the parties who could get the most mileage on the same amount of fuel. Twenty-five entered the contest, first place with 247 miles going to Ray Bateman; second with 245 to Jewell Anderson; and third with 241 to A. C. Thompson. The lowest mileage made on the pint of gasoline was 1.9 miles.

Lunch was served free at noon by the Plainview people to all who attended the demonstration. A cutaway of the truck motor and chassis was displayed. In addition four reels of motion pictures relating to the uses of the International truck were shown and explained by W. R. Aven Jr., assistant manager; and Guy Harmon, service manager of the International factory branch at Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Heckhart and his brother, Haskell, who is visiting here from Rico, Colo., spent the week-end with their parents in Mutual, Okla.

have always resented being called a poor farmer, rube, rustic, or of the names so called used in the past. The farmer, but recently we decided that it is just another word. "It's the truth that a farmer is a poor man." There are so many things that I don't understand and see as I look at them that I must be a poor farmer.

For instance, three years ago our land was sold for thirty-five dollars per acre, and the wheat that we grew was sold for $1.10 per bushel. This year it will not sell for twenty-five cents per acre, and the wheat is sold for $1.10 per bushel. But our land is higher than they were years ago, and this year the wheat is sold for $1.10 per bushel. I don't understand why this was, but I do know that since the wheat was raised on this land the amount of county taxes is higher than the wages of the county commissioners were automatically raised to one hundred dollars per year. And the farmer who grows wheat is cut from one dollar and fifty cents per acre. Now as the wheat is sold for $1.10 per bushel, and our county roads are so bad.

are told that the reason for the high taxes is that the county is in debt because there were so many years ago when we were not able to pay our taxes. If this is true, I do not understand how we can pay for our taxes. Surely there is something attached to the advertisement and holding of these elections, if it should carry again; how would the farmer pay his taxes? Of course, I don't understand anything about these elections, but I don't believe that the farmer is putting them over too much about it. Anyway, we have paid for two years and we are just where we were.

But I don't understand it if these bonds are to be paid for the taxes on real estate, and the owners of real estate are the ones who are to pay them? I wonder how the bonds are to be paid for if it could be arranged that a certain percentage of the farmer's salary should be paid for the payment of the bonds. I don't know how every one has a right to pay for them? The thing that I haven't been able to figure out is, why did the farmers give us this last big truck driver's license? If we are obeyed, there will be boys who are just as good as any man, taken out of the school and given a license or kept out entirely. I was looking out for the boys of the road, why didn't they have a license for every car driver? There are ten kids driving cars there is one driving a truck here is nothing done about it. It is a shame that there will be boys grow up in a hurry, and some good collar man will have a high job making that every farmer lives into the elevator has a job. I may have to buy one license in order to get my license, but if I want my wife to be a hired help to drive, I will have to have a license. I don't know what to do about it.

EARL WAIDE

Following letter was written by Earl Waide to the Ochiltree County School Board. Miss Waide said that this letter of the school board was prepared by Earl Waide, Kansas, Dec. 7, 1931.

My father emigrated from Germany with a colony of about 1845. They had covered wagons and all the things that a farmer has. They were all in a country good enough, and I suppose my father was a good farmer and wanted a change, well he got it. I suppose it was a thrilling trip, with Indians and buffalo and colored folks as it was in days of slavery. Some of them were so eager to enlighten and fill up Texas. On one account the crowd had to lay over a week until a mother got able to withstand the roads in a lumber wagon. They had to make slat coops for the young pigs and calves, which they fastened on the rear end of the wagon. I don't remember how long they were on the road but it was several weeks. They located near Red River. There they found deer, wild turkeys, buffalo and Indians and every town was filled with saloons, that were the cause of much rioting, fights and murders. It was not very safe to be prowling alone. My father built a double log house, two large rooms with a large fire place and a porch on one side. My father was a silversmith and stocked guns, fixed clocks and watches. He built his shop near the dwelling. The Indians were some of his best customers and best friends.

I will tell you how long it took the country to get civilized. Fourteen years from that time some neighbors came in the shop and told father many horses were missing out of their pastures every night. He said "Why don't you search for them?" They said they were afraid there were outlaw horse thieves. So daddy said, "Oh well, I am getting hungry for deer meat, I will go in the morning and see what I can find." So he did. There was a large knoll of very thick bushes or brush, I believe they call it mesquite, I don't know. But he went around one of them and examined it. They had cut a way in and made a place for the horses or ponies and tied them, then fixed the bushes back, they had it well camouflaged so no one would notice it. He was not to be fooled. He went in and recognized them and then went and told the owners where they were. They made up a posse and went and got them. But it was a sad day for daddy did. For the next week father and mother were in bed asleep. Some men on horseback rode to the gate and called him and he asked what they wanted. They said, "Come out here." He stepped in his shoes, threw on a long overcoat. It was early spring. Mother begged him not to go out but he had no fear. She threw a large shawl over her head and went after him she was so afraid for him. She saw them raise guns and she dropped and tried to pull him down but they were too swift. They fired. There were 21 shots in his overcoat and most as many in him. Those men carried him in and put him on the bed and said he was not the one they wanted, but they called him by name. They did not tarry long. Mother could not get the light soon enough to recognize them. Father lived 21 days. That has been about 70 years ago. I was a small girl not quite five. I was born in a little town called Preston, but maps do not show it now. I suppose things are quite different now. I don't suppose the Panhandle was ever like that. I left Texas in 1875 and never came back until twelve years ago when Perryton was quite young and shabby looking. I aim to stay in Texas and be buried there. Not yet a while, but later.

Five County Society Met at Canadian Wednesday, February 17. Next Meeting at Higgins.

The Five Counties Medical Society met in the Kiwanis club room at the Moody Hotel in Canadian, Wednesday evening, February 17. Those present were Dr. Primer and Dr. Powers, Amarillo; Dr. Budd and Dr. Mengle, Perryton; Dr. Davis and Dr. Spencer, Higgins; and Dr. Morris and Dr. Snyder, Canadian. After having dinner served by the Moody Cafe, Dr. Morris presented a case, followed by general discussion and a paper by Dr. Primer, stressing measures for the prevention of disease.

Dr. Primer is Amarillo's health officer and he spoke from the viewpoint of his department. Among other ideas, he advanced the fact that most people are so constituted that they do not become enthusiastic about vaccination until the red flag heralds a case of small pox; or about diphtheria immunization until some child dies of the disease; nor about the prevention of typhoid through safe water supply and adequate sewage disposal until several cases appear in the community.

He advocated the distribution of serums and vaccines by the state and hoped that some day, we would have the services of a district health officer who would be available for the investigation of the source of infection in epidemics. Dr. Primer thought that local physicians, in cooperation with Parent-Teacher associations, Home Demonstration agents, and local school boards, could accomplish much good along these lines, and urged the physicians present to use their opportunities for the education of the public in the possibilities of preventative health measures. Next month's meeting of the society will be at Higgins.

We have twelve by twelve foot brooder house ready to move out that we are going to give someone a bargain in, look this over. Panhandle Lumber Co. 5-17-c.

ORDINANCE NO. 131

"AN ORDINANCE CREATING THE OFFICE OF CITY ELECTRICAL INSPECTOR, PROVIDING FOR HIS APPOINTMENT, DETERMINING HIS SALARY, AND AMOUNT OF BOND, RESERVING CERTAIN AUTHORITY WITHIN THE CITY OF PERRYTON, TEXAS, TO BE PAID FOR PERMITS, ADOPTING THE NATIONAL ELECTRICAL CODE AND ALL SUPPLEMENTS PERTAINING THEREON AS THE MINIMUM STANDARD FOR INSIDE ELECTRICAL CONSTRUCTION, ACCEPTING THE UNDERWRITERS' LABORATORIES, INC. LIST OF INSPECTED ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES AS THE STANDARD FOR ALL ELECTRICAL FITTINGS, CREATING SPECIAL RULINGS, PROVIDING PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION OF THIS ORDINANCE, AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY."

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL that the office of City Electrical Inspector is hereby created.

Section 1. The Electrical Inspector shall be a man who has had practical experience in inside electrical construction and who is familiar with the National Electrical Code and the application of "Code" rulings.

Section 2. The Electrical Inspector shall furnish the City with a Surety Bond in the sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) as a guarantee for the faithful performance of his duties, and that all moneys collected by him will be deposited with the City Treasurer at least once each month, unless otherwise provided, for which he shall receive a receipt from said City Treasurer.

Section 3. The Electrical Inspector shall be appointed by the Mayor, confirmed by the City Council and shall receive such salary as the Council may determine, and shall hold office until his successor has been appointed and confirmed by the Council.

Section 4. It shall be the duty of the Electrical Inspector to issue all permits, and make inspections of work for which a permit has been issued within 48 hours after having been notified that work is ready for inspection (Sundays and Holidays included). For the issuing of permits, the Electrical Inspector shall be in his office between the hours of 9:00 and 10:00 A. M. and 1:00 and 2:00 P. M. Section 6. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, partnership, corporation or individual to conceal or cause to be concealed any electrical conductors, used for electric light, heat or power, until such time as they know work has been approved by the Electrical Inspector and a tag in the Cabinet, properly signed and dated, so stating will be sufficient notice.

Section 7. That all persons, firms, partnerships, corporations or individuals who desire to do any electrical wiring in or on any building (except central power stations and sub stations belonging to the electric light or street railway companies operating under a franchise) shall furnish the City with a good surety bond in the sum of ($1,000.00) One Thousand Dollars, as a guarantee that the installation of electrical wiring, fixtures and apparatus shall be in accordance with the requirements of this ordinance and it is further conditioned that such persons, firms, corporations, partnerships or individuals, shall without further cost to the person for whom the work was done, remedy any defective or faulty work caused by incomplete, incompetent, inferior or non-standard material, and such bond as is furnished shall be liable for the correction and any additional cost arising from above mentioned causes.

Section 8. Section 9. For the installation of bell telephone or signal systems not using over 12 volts, no license or bond will be required, but the installation of same must comply with all other requirements of this ordinance.

Section 10. All persons, firms, partnerships, corporations or individuals, engaged or hereafter engaging in the business of installing electrical fixtures, wiring or apparatus in or on any building within the corporate limits of the City of Perryton (except central power stations, power houses and sub stations belonging to the electric light or street railway company) shall procure from the City Clerk a license and upon the payment of $25.00 license shall entitle the holder to install electrical conductors, fixtures or appliances, in or on any building within the corporate limits of the City of Perryton, for a period of one year, or until January 1st, following year in which license was issued, after all other provisions have been complied with.

Section 11. It shall be unlawful for any public service corporation, individual, light, heat or power company to connect, or cause to be connected, any service of building for the supply of electrical current for light, heat or power, until they have been notified by the Electrical Inspector that electric work has been inspected and approved and is ready for electric service.

Section 12. The Electrical Inspector, while in the discharge of his duty shall have the authority to enter any building or premises at any reasonable hour and any person interfering with the Electrical Inspector while performing his duty shall be fined as prescribed in this ordinance. The Electrical Inspector shall be the judge of what constitutes the safe installation of electrical conductors and his decision shall be final and binding.

Section 13. The Electrical Inspector shall have the right to make special rulings, when circumstances warrant for the safe guarding of property and the improvement of electrical installations, but in all cases persons engaged in the installing of electric wires, fixtures and apparatus and holding an electrical license must be notified of these decisions.

Section 14. All wiring hereafter done in the fire district must be installed in rigid conduit, armored cable or metal moulding. Armored cable is to be used only when in the judgment of the Electrical Inspector it is impractical to install rigid conduit. Exception to this section will be found in Section 15.

Section 15. Old work of concealed knob and tube, or open cleat work that was installed previous to the passage of this ordinance, when in the judgment of the Electrical Inspector is in a safe condition, may have extensions of the same kind of work made to these installations provided extensions are not over 10 feet in length.

Any fire, person or corporation failing or refusing to make corrections of hazardous or unsafe electrical installations, after having been notified by the Electrical Inspector, within a designated time to be determined by the Electrical Inspector, shall be fined according to the provisions of this ordinance and each day after the expiration of the time designated to make corrections shall constitute a separate offense. When hazardous or unsafe electrical conditions exist, or any person, firm, or corporation fail to make corrections after having been notified, the Electrical Inspector shall have the authority to disconnect the electric service.

Section 17. The following charges shall be made and collected by the Electrical Inspector. For "roughing in" of concealed knob and tube work, conduit metal moulding, cleat or armored cable for first 10 outlets $1.00; for each additional outlet, switch, outlets included: $1.00 for first 10 fixtures, fans or drop lights, 5c for each additional; signs with less than 5 lights 25c, 5 to 10 lights 50c; 10 to 20 lights 75c; 20 to 50 lights $1.00; all signs containing more than 50 lights $2.00; motors less than 3 H. Section 18. All "roughing in" work shall include service switch, branch blocks, or panel boards and cabinets. When installing conduit metal moulding or armored cable, all connections must be soldered, taped, be free from grounds and left ready for attachment of fixtures and other appliances. All lights in bathrooms and bedrooms must be controlled by wall switch, and preferably of double pole type.

Section 19. Rigid iron conduit must be used for all services firmly fastened to steel cabinets, continues from steel cabinet to point of contact with building of the service mains, and in the case of service for large switch boards must be provided with approved fittings. No service wire to be smaller than No. 10 B. & S. Gauge rubber covered.

Section 20. All service cut outs must be placed at nearest accessible point of entrance, top of cabinet must not be over 7 feet from floor, and when wiring is concealed flush type cabinet may be used.

Section 21. For open installations and individual motor switches, enclosed type switch operated from outside must be used. In mercantile buildings where there is more than one occupancy, each occupant must be provided with cut out in store or same must be located in a readily accessible place.

Section 22. In all mercantile occupancies where electric iron and used, they must be installed with approved pilot light. Ordinary lighting circuits must be confined to 660 watts and not more than 8 outlets per circuit will be allowed in the fire district. Lamp cords will not be permitted in the kitchen of restaurants or like places where grease accumulates.

Section 23. Where for good and sufficient reason the Electrical Inspector with the consent and approval of the Mayor may grant temporary permits for a period of thirty days with the privilege of extending same upon the payment of $3.00 for each 30 days.

Section 24. It shall be a violation of this ordinance to use non-standard fuses and when found in service will be prima facie evidence that the owner or tenant is responsible for their use and will be subject to a fine as prescribed in this ordinance.

Section 25. The rules and requirements of the National Board of Fire Underwriters known as the National Electrical Code, with such changes and additions as may be made from time to time are hereby made a part of this ordinance, and the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. list of inspected electrical appliances, with such changes and additions as may hereafter take place will be the standard for all electrical fittings and appliances.

Section 26. Any person, firm, partnership, corporation or individual violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined in a sum of not less than $5.00, nor more than $100.00 for each and every offense, and in cases where electrical defects have been ordered

SELF SAYS IN TEXAS

Following letter was written by Earl Waide to the Ochiltree County School Board. Miss Waide said that this letter of the school board was prepared by Earl Waide, Kansas, Dec. 7, 1931.

Marvin Jones Is True Representative Of the Agricultural Southwest

The following article is reprinted from The Columbus (Neb.) Daily Telegram, written by the editor, Edgar Howard. It explains the conflicting viewpoint of the industrial east and the agricultural west.

Some years ago a famous English author who lived many years in India and comprehended the basic difference in the manner of thought of his own people and those of India, called attention to this difference in a poem in which he said: "For East is East, and West is West."

"And never the twain shall meet." A few days ago as I listened to a colloquy on the floor of the House I recalled those lines, and it occurred to me that here in our country we have two schools of thought as far apart as those of which Kipling wrote.

One school of thought, predominant throughout the vast expanse of our country to the west and south of the Alleghenies, believes that our government should serve all sections of our country and all classes of its citizens equally and without distinction.

Another school of thought, predominant in the East, believes that it is entirely proper for our government to bestow special favors upon the great financial and industrial interests; that government aid should be reserved to these mighty corporations and aggregations of capital, and that the most that should be accorded the struggling farmers and other distressed individuals is a little "sympathy."

Hon. Marvin Jones, a progressive democrat, from the great agricultural state of Texas, is chairman of the committee on agriculture. He is an able and courageous leader in the fight to sustain agriculture and free it from the discrimination to which it has been subject at the hands of the mighty financial and industrial interests, acting through the federal government which they have so long controlled.

Hon. Robert Luce, a regular republican from the great industrial state of Massachusetts, where mighty financial interests are entrenched, is one of the most erudite members of the congress. He has long been recognized as an important cog in the republican organization in the House. No member of that body has more ably and consistently represented the interests of his own people than Mr. Luce has represented those of the great financial and industrial groups. He more brilliantly champions those mighty interests than any other man in the congress.

The colloquy to which I refer occurred during the discussion of the appropriation bill for the department of agriculture with reference to certain items concerning government loans to farmers who are in distress.

Mr. Luce speaks the thought predominant in the industrial and financial circles of the East. Mr. Jones speaks the thought prevailing in the West.

The following colloquy appears on pages 2851 and 2852 of the Congressional Record of January 26, 1932:

MR. LUCE: Mr. Chairman, I had the curiosity to check up on the appropriations referred to in this paragraph. I am not sure whether the practice of seed loan appropriation bills began before the first of these acts or not, but they happen to cover most of the period of my own service here, and I have watched with some apprehension the growth of such dispensing of the benevolence of the Federal Government to help regions and classes.

I hope there is no man in this House who excels me in sympathy for affliction. I do not question the mercy of these provisions. I am glad if they have helped, but I have great sympathy also with the attitude taken by one of the candidates for President on the Democratic side, Governor Ritchie, and also with our own colleague, whom I may be pardoned in referring to by name, Mr. Beck, of Pennsylvania, in their belief that it is a misfortune to saddle on the Federal Government the responsibilities that hitherto have been carried by the State governments. While I may differ with them in respect of the application of the principle to some one particular problem, I am in full accord with them on the principle as such.

Let me point out the dangers here involved. We have just authorized an appropriation of $35,000,000 for seed loans without any inquiry whatever, as far as has come to my notice, either as to the extent of the need or the reasons for making the loans. An appeal to our sympathies, on the general proposition that men are suffering tempts us to rash action.

I am told that startling small proportion of the loans made last spring have been collected, and I observe that this paragraph contemplates the expenditure of $500,000 simply to collect unpaid balances. Surely this is a burden on the Treasury that ought to be considered. I would suggest to the Committee on Appropriations and the Committee on Agriculture that one of them might usefully ascertain how large a percentage of the loans of 1930 and 1931 has been repaid and what is the likelihood of their repayment and that of the new loan's present circumstances. Possibly they would find that our growing practice of lending money to some one class in some one section is becoming an encouragement to debt which, after all, is the worst thing that can come to an individual or to a class of individuals. Furthermore, if the habit of letting individuals borrow from the Public Treasury is to grow, at least we ought to consider whether the borrowing should be from the Federal or from the State treasury.

MR. JONES: Mr. Chairman, I was interested in the statements made by the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Luce) a moment ago. I, too, doubt the wisdom of the program which the gentleman was discussing, at the time of its inception. I think I made the only speech that was made on the floor of the House in opposition to the beginning of that program; but the program has been established as a policy of the government. It was brought by a species of economic favoritism in tariffs, freight rates, and financial control that had bled the agricultural section white and destroyed the purchasing power of the farmer.

Regardless of what the merits of that program may be, I confess I am unable to differentiate between making small loans of two or three hundred dollars to the farmers and the policy that was established in the $500,000,000 corporation that was voted through the other day to make loans to insurance companies, bankers, railroads, and other financial institutions.

If it is unwise for the Federal Government to make loans to the great farming group with a few million dollars as the total, how does it become wise to appropriate $500,000,000, with a possible expansion to $2,000,000,000, to take care of certain other great groups?

MR. LUCE: May I answer the gentleman?

MR. JONES: I shall be glad to yield to the gentleman.

MR. LUCE: The gentleman will recall that some of us fought every attempt to fasten on that bill loans to individuals. We did not believe it was wise and tried to stop it.

MR. JONES: Then the gentleman thinks a corporation is superior to the individual? The corporation is a natural person. On what basis does the gentleman justify a Federal loan to a corporation, an artificial person, and say that is wise and a sound policy, and that a loan by the same government out of the same till to an individual, a legal, natural person, can not be justified?

MR. LUCE: Mr. Chairman, I justify that by saying that all these loans were to be made upon the basis of adequate security.

MR. JONES: Well, I want to state to the Chairman that every one of these agricultural loan bills that has been presented has required a first lien on the gross production of the farmer throughout the whole crop year, and the gentleman did not put into this $500,000,000 bill that the gross production of the insurance company, of the railway company, and of other financial institutions should be mortgaged and a first lien given on those things.

MR. LUCE: Mr. Chairman, we were not so unwise as to require that.

MR. JONES: Of course, it is the

gentleman's philosophy, then, that it is wise when the Government provides loans to certain groups, but it is unwise when it makes loans to other groups. The gentleman says he is willing to extend his sympathy to the great group that is engaged in farming. Many times they have been the victims of financial and governmental policies that have discriminated against them. The gentleman can button up his sympathy and keep it. It is not sympathy they want or need. A man can not live on sympathy alone. When a governmental policy is established, I want the farmer to have the same rights that are accorded industry. That is American, and that is fair.

MR. LUCE: If the gentleman will now permit me to finish the statement, the security that is required from these institutions is such that the Nation is guaranteed a return of its money.

MR. JONES: Is it?

MR. LUCE: Let me ask the gentleman one question—

MR. JONES: Right on that point, let us take one point at a time. As I understand, under the terms of that bill, if any of these bonds and debentures are unpaid, the Government must appropriate the money to pay such bonds and debentures. If I read the terms of the bill right, the Government subscribes the original capital and underwrites the bonds. No one knows whether there will be a loss, nor how much; but Uncle Sam foots the bill.

MR. LUCE: Now, on the question of security, Mr. Chairman, am I right in my understanding that not one-third of the loans made last spring have yet been repaid?

MR. JONES: I do not know what that amounts to with respect to the loans made last spring. Collection on them has not been completed and times are abnormal. But with respect to the previous loans, an average of about 80 per cent has been paid, and on the loans of two years ago 92 per cent has been paid.

I want to make a plea for the tiller of the soil who lives in the far stretches of this country, and who has trusted you and me to see that he is protected in his rights. He feeds the people and produces the basis of our wealth.

He does not ask for favoritism. He asks only for a square deal. He only asks for an even chance in the race of life. He asks to be relieved of the discriminating burdens that have weighed him down. He asks to be relieved of the chains that selfish groups have forged about him. He asks for equal treatment as an American citizen in any program that is laid out by the Nation.

That much he has a right to demand.

My chief object in presenting the foregoing views of the brilliant Luce, recognized spokesman for the great financiers of New England and the East, generally, and the views of the splendid Texan, Marvin Jones, who for long years has so loyally pleaded in the congress the cause of agriculture, is to give my Nebraska people a true picture of the cause of the East, as championed by Luce, and the cause of the agricultural West and Middle West, as championed by Marvin Jones. I have not presented these divergent views in a partisan way. Indeed there are a few republicans in the congress who repudiate the demand of the East for superior advantages at the hand of the federal government. And it is sadly true that in the congress are a few democrats who listen for and quickly obey the voice of Wall street.

In the approaching presidential campaign, and particularly in the Middle West agricultural states, the people of the farm states, democrats and republicans alike, should demand from presidential and congressional nominees a frank and fair statement as to whether they would, if elected, adhere to the cause of the East, as presented by Massachusetts Luce, or to the cause of the farm states, as presented by Texas Jones.

Terracing School
Demonstration and School Goodwell College on Eighty Acres March 22

Goodwell, Okla., Feb. 24.—Arrangements have just been announced for a big terracing demonstration at Goodwell, Okla., March 22. H. C. Hyer, county agent of Texas county, who has been active in promoting this profitable farm practice, has secured the cooperation of several of the more prominent machinery companies specializing in terrace machinery to make the demonstration on the Panhandle A. & M. College farm, one-half mile east of Goodwell.

Eighty acres of land will be terraced in the manner approved for the most efficient moisture conservation. Every detail of the job will be explained and demonstrated. The Experiment Station at Goodwell has been experimenting with terraces for moisture saving purposes for several years and results of this work as well as the experience of farmers who have tried it have created a lively interest in dry farm terracing.

Further details of plans being made to entertain the large crowds expected at this demonstration will be announced later.

Ross Leatherman, formerly of Liberal, Kans., was in Perryton several days the past week visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Leatherman.

Mr. and Mrs. Earlene Jones and daughter were Sunday dinner guests with the A. K. Wooten family. In the afternoon, they all motored to Booker to attend the B. Y. P. U. convention.

Truck Driving Contest

Much interest was manifested in the demonstration and truck driving contest sponsored in Perryton last Thursday by the Plainview Hardware & Furniture Co., local dealers for International trucks and farming equipment. In the truck driving contest, an International six-speed truck was loaded with 3200 pounds and equipped with a special gasoline container holding only one pint of fuel. Prizes were given to the parties who could get the most mileage on the same amount of fuel. Twenty-five entered the contest, first place with 247 miles going to Ray Bateman; second with 245 to Jewell Anderson; and third with 241 to A. C. Thompson. The lowest mileage made on the pint of gasoline was 1.9 miles.

Lunch was served free at noon by the Plainview people to all who attended the demonstration. A cutaway of the truck motor and chassis was displayed. In addition four reels of motion pictures relating to the uses of the International truck were shown and explained by W. R. Aven Jr., assistant manager; and Guy Harmon, service manager of the International factory branch at Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Heckhart and his brother, Haskell, who is visiting here from Rico, Colo., spent the week-end with their parents in Mutual, Okla.

THE POOR FARMER

There always resented being called a poor farmer, rustic, or of the names so called used in the past. The farmer, but recently we have heard that it is just another name for a poor man. It is the truth that there are so many things that we can understand and see as we see them that I must be a poor farmer.

Three years ago our community sold for thirty-five dollars per acre and the wheat we grew sold for $1.10 per bushel. Our land will not sell for twenty dollars per acre, but our land on it was sold for $1.00 per bushel. But our land is higher than they were three years ago, and this year the land on our land was raised to three dollars per acre. I don't understand why this was raised, but I do know that since the land was raised on this land the amount of county taxes is high. The wages of the county farmers were automatically increased to the hundred dollars per acre. The farmer who drags his land out from one dollar to twenty cents per mile. Now he has stopped from dragging his land out and our country roads are laid out.

I don't understand that the reason for this is that the county has been able to pay their taxes. If this is true, I do not understand how we can pay for our election. Surely there are expenses attached to the advertising of these elections. If I should carry again, how will the farmer pay his taxes? Of course, I don't understand about these elections, but I don't believe that the farmer is putting them over on the county. Anyways, taxpayers have paid for two years and we are just where we are.

I will tell you how long it took the county to get civilized. Fourteen years from that time some neighbors came in the shop and told father many horses were missing out of their pastures every night. He said "Why don't you search for them?" They said they were afraid there were outlaw horse thieves. So daddy said, "Oh well, I am getting hungry for deer meat, I will go in the morning and see what I can find." So he did. There was a large knoll of very thick bushes or brush, I believe they call it mesquite, I don't know. But he went around one of them and examined it. They had cut a way in and made a place for the horses or ponies and tied them, then fixed the bushes back, they had it well camouflaged so no one would notice it. He was not to be fooled. He went in and recognized them and then went and told the owners where they were. They made up a posse and went and got them. But it was a sad favor daddy did. For the next week father and mother were in bed asleep. Some men on horseback rode to the gate and called him and he asked what they wanted. They said, "Come out here." He stepped in his shoes, threw on a long overcoat. It was early spring. Mother begged him not to go out but he had no fear. She threw a large shawl over her head and went after him. She saw them raise guns and she dropped and tried to pull him down but they were too swift. They fired. There were 21 shots in his overcoat and most as many in him. Those men carried him in and put him on the bed and said he was not the one they wanted, but they called him by name. They did not tarry long. Mother could not get the light soon enough to recognize them. Father lived 21 days. That has been about 70 years ago. I was a small girl not quite five. I was born in a little town called Preston, but maps do not show it now. I suppose things are quite different now. I don't suppose the Panhandle was ever like that. I left Texas in 1875 and never came back until twelve years ago when Perryton was quite young and shabby looking. I aim to stay in Texas and be buried there. Not yet a while, but later.

Medical Society Meets

Five County Society Met at Canadian Wednesday, February 17; Next Meeting at Higgins

The Five Counties Medical Society met in the Kiwanis club room at the Moody Hotel in Canadian, Wednesday evening, February 17. Those present were Dr. Primer and Dr. Powers, Amarillo; Dr. Budd and Dr. Kengle, Perryton; Dr. Davis and Dr. Spencer, Higgins; and Dr. Morris and Dr. Snyder, Canadian. After having dinner served by the Moody Cafe, Dr. Morris presented a case, followed by general discussion and a paper by Dr. Primer, stressing measures for the prevention of disease.

Dr. Primer is Amarillo's health officer and he spoke from the viewpoint of his department. Among other ideas, he advanced the fact that most people are so constituted that they do not become enthusiastic about vaccination until the red flag heralds a case of small pox; or about diphtheria immunization until some child dies of the disease; nor about the prevention of typhoid through safe water supply and adequate sewage disposal until several cases appear in the community.

He advocated the distribution of serums and vaccines by the state and hoped that some day, we would have the services of a district health officer who would be available for the investigation of the source of infection in epidemics. Dr. Primer thought that local physicians, in

Section 26. Any person, firm, partnership, corporation or individual violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined in a sum of not less than $5.00, nor more than $100.00 for each and every offense, and in cases where electrical defects have been ordered corrected by the Electrical Inspector each and every day will constitute a separate offense where order is not complied with.

Section 27. For the preservation of the public health, peace and safety, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act will take effect and be in force on and after the date of its first publication.

PASSED by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Perryton, and Approved this 8th day of September, 1931.

Rangers Lose First Game of District Tournament to Hedley; Amarillo Is Winner

The Rangers lost their first game in the district tournament at Canyon to the strong Hedley Owls. The game was close all the way, with the Rangers in the lead most of the time. Hedley had a four point lead at the half, but Hedley was ahead at the end of the third quarter. The Rangers tied the score, 19-19, but Hedley forged ahead, winning 25 to 21.

L. D. Garrison, Captain, starred for the Rangers, making twelve points, and Lee Tucker won honorable mention on the all tournament team.

Quitque beat Hedley with a score of 34-26. Following this victory the winners beat the strong team of Berger by a three point lead in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon. Saturday night in the finals, Amarillo beat with a big score, winning the district championship.

CHEMISTRY NOTES

In spite of all the cautions (in the manual) and Mr. Bush's warning, Donald Shockey spilled some Bromine acid on his finger. Don says that he knows that Bromine is a very nice chemical, but he became too friendly with it.

It is believed that the present flu epidemic has partially subsided. Supt. W. B. Irvin has announced that regular attendance is expected from now on.

Fire Prevention Essay Contest Winners Are Announced

The following essays on "Fire Prevention" were the winners of the essay contest sponsored by Mrs. W. F. Haggard of the Junior High English department:

WINNER OF 6TH GRADE ESSAY CONTEST—FIRE PREVENTION

By Suzanne Eldridge
In order to prevent fire you should be very cautious. Never leave matches where children or mice can get to them. Mice have been the cause of many serious fires.

Sometimes a child may set fire to hay or trash in yards while playing with matches.

Electric wiring should be looked over at least twice a year because mice sometimes gnaw insulation off the wires and sometimes the insulation is rubbed off.

Sometimes man in passing, drops cigarettes into a pile of trash or dry grass. This is apt to cause a fire.

When burning trash, it should be burned in a wire incinerator or other safe methods, since sparks may be blown about and set fire to other places. The most important object of fire protection is the spread of fire. After parties or camping parties, one should always be sure his fire is put out. This may be safely done by covering with dirt.

Now that we have gas stoves we should be careful to always see that the gas is turned off. If not, it might cause an explosion.

In homes do not put greasy rags in dark corners and closets, since these are fire hazards, having been known to cause spontaneous combustion. We should try to watch

P-T. A. TO SPONSOR ESSAY CONTEST

The Parent-Teacher association in combination with the Sorosis club are sponsoring an essay contest on some phase of the life of George Washington. These essays will be written through the English departments of the local schools.

Two prizes will be offered; one to the winner in the senior high school and the other in the junior high school. The details of this contest will be worked out by a committee composed of Mrs. A. D. Caldwell, Mrs. R. T. Correll and Mrs. H. C. Brillhart.

Definite announcements for this contest will be announced in this paper as soon as they have been made.

SHRUBBERY SET OUT AROUND BUILDINGS

The shrubbery has been reset on the lawns around the school buildings, at the north end of the junior high school building similar to the shrubbery at the north end of the grade building. There was enough shrubbery already on the school grounds to supply this need. Trees and plants have been set out around both the senior and junior high school buildings and in the archway of the senior high school building.

MRS. W. B. LAMASTER SPEAKS ON KENTUCKY

Mrs. W. B. LaMaster spoke to the Junior High Travel club on Friday afternoon, February 19, on the subject of "Kentucky."

The speaker went into detail concerning the agriculture of that state. She discussed at length the tobacco handling of that section together with "ferrying". Many interesting things were told relative to the cities of Kentucky.

Members of the club report that they enjoyed Mrs. LaMaster's talk very much, and that they hope to have her speak to them again in the near future.

TEACHERS ABSENT

Teachers who have been absent from school during the present flu epidemic are: Miss Cleo Manly, Miss Amy Wade, Miss Lunar Alred, and Miss Alma Ehrhorn.

Mrs. Jay Massey substituted for Miss Wade, Miss Earhorn, and Miss Alred.

Students are very glad that all of these teachers have recovered and have returned to their duties in school.

The school has purchased two fish aquariums, one 50-60 gallons, and one 25 gallons. A number of various fish have been added, including Korean Moors, Japanese Fan Tails, Japanese Telescope, Shubunkins, Comets, ordinary gold fish, several hundred clams and small pawns. Water plants have been placed in the aquarium for the purpose of purifying the water.

This addition is a much needed one. Those students taking physiology and biology will find the study of the gills and internal construction much easier, made so by the presence of living examples. Microscopic studies of blood circulation in the fins, tails of tadpoles, and frog feet are available now.

FIRE PREVENTION

By Mary Frances Andress seventh grade

The fire loss in the United States in 1919 was $325,000,000. There were five million fires in that year. Everyday enough property is destroyed to supply food and clothing for the population of fifty thousand for ten days.

Most fires are caused by carelessness. Many men that smoke have carelessly thrown away a lighted match or cigarette which has caused a fire. Many lives and much valuable property is destroyed this way. Carelessness is the cause of about ninety per cent of the fires.

Things that we should be careful about are: using kerosene and gasoline, matches, electrical wiring and oily rags.

In the United States about a million flames are given by matches every minute. Matches should be carefully put in a place so that small children can not get them. They should be put in a tin box with a cover so mice could not gnaw the box or match head and cause a fire. Many fires have been caused by a curtain flying over an open fire.

Every one should know the danger of pouring gasoline or kerosene on a fire because it will throw flames and cause a fire.

SOCIETY

Pauline LaMaster Entertains

Pauline LaMaster was the delightful hostess Saturday evening, February 20, at a bunco party.

After several games of bunco were played, high prizes were received by Miss Janice Murphy and Clyde Cofer, while Miss Charlene McLarty and Randall Jones received low prizes.

Delicious refreshments were served to Elizabeth Smith, of Liberal, Kans., Kathleen Kelly, Margaret Ruppert, Winnie Mae Isom, Augusta Mae Stark, Vona Mabel Spencer, Charlene McLarty, Esther Schollenberger, George Nies, Wilford Lance, Clyde Cofer, Randall Jones, Charles Whippo, Floyd Hull, Hamilton Murphy, David Shanks, the hostess, Pauline LaMaster, and her sister, Kathryn LaMaster.

Tallies, refreshments, table covers, and decorations carried out a clever George Washington scheme, and the guests were made to feel the atmosphere of this bi-centennial anniversary.

Slumber Party

Friday, February 19, a group of girls gathered at the home of Jessie Price for a slumber party. After dinner was served, the girls enjoyed a number of card games, candy making, and radioing. At a late hour they retired and told stories.

Those present were: Laura Mae Sharpe, Ina Mae Hollis, Thylia Pearson, Ella Ray Kutch, Laura Evin, Albertine Andress, and the hostess, Jessie Price.

The guests remained until Saturday afternoon.

CRAZY "CRAZE" TALKING

All loyal P. H. S. students are grateful to Mrs. B. H. Murphy for the service she rendered to the Rangereettes and Coach Marshall. She had the girls' and coach's name engraved on the trophy that they won at the Perryton tournament.

Coach Marshall is putting the Rangereettes through some hard practice. He has had them playing against some of the boys. The girls still have some good games to play this year and one more tournament. They will go to Dalhart, Friday and Saturday, to enter and, I hope, to win that tournament. The hard games to play are the two with Plains, Kans., to be played next month. The Rangereettes will go to Plains, March 1, and Plains will come here March 8.

Both teams have an undefeated season, but one or the other is going to break a good record. Plains has lost only one game in four years.

The Rangereettes have had a good season with basket ball. They have won 13 games out of 18 and have not been beat by more than 8 points. They have made 446 points to 262.

"Mort," the egg eater, ate 7 eggs for breakfast at Canyon. Some of the boys told me, confidentially, that it was 12 instead of 7.

The person or persons that wrote the following letter is or are very smart when it comes to figuring things out. Here is the letter he, she or it wrote in regard to the Valentine I spoke of last week:

Deer Crazy Craze
I really haven't time to come around. But I had figured out that you were the one with the longest ears. It was really a lovely picture.

With lots of love,
He, She, or It.

I take this as a dirty dig, and if I had time I would tell you a thing or two about it.

JOKES

Neighbor: Your dog is so friendly to strangers and yet at home he is always growling.

Mrs. Marshall: Yes, he gets that from my husband.

Clerk: This is a genuine black fox fur coat.

Tommy Lee: Are you sure it is water proof?

Clerk: Do you ever see a fox carry an umbrella?

Mr. Lance: Son, you know money talks.

Wilford: Yes, dad, but all it ever says to me is "good-bye."

SENIORS DEDICATE TREE

On Monday morning, February 22, at 11 o'clock the senior class of the Perryton High school dedicated one of five trees, being dedicated to the memory of various people at the American Legion hall, to George Washington. Edwin Lawson, a member of the senior class, in behalf of the class, made the dedicatory talk.

SCHOOL ASSEMBLY PAYS TRIBUTE TO ANNIVERSARY

The student body of the entire school enjoyed a very interesting and educational program Monday, in keeping with Washington's 200th birthday. The program was prepared and sponsored by Miss Melton and Miss Britton.

The program was as follows: "Washington in the History of the U. S."—Wyatt Williams

"Washington's Etiquette"—Pauline LaMaster

"Martha and George Washington's Married Life"—Lulu Travis

"The Flag"—Inez Packard

Special Number—Medley of Old Favorites—Band

Playette, entitled "George Washington, Modernized". Those included in the cast were Orene Herget, Nell Coffee, Richard Anderson, and Willard Witt.

Special song written by George M. Cohan, entitled, "Father of the Land We Love," was sung by the boys glee club.

Miss Anna Lee Riley was a guest this week-end at Mary Alice Nies' home.

Elizabeth Smith, Liberal, Kans., who went to school here the first semester of this school year, was a week-end visitor in Perryton.

Many students of the senior high have made the remarkable discovery about Hydrogen.

Friday morning Lulu Travis gave a report on periodic chart. If the chemistry students ever learn all that is on that chart, their troubles will be over.

The students of the chemistry class are making projects that will be permanent exhibits in the science rooms. Each student having an average above C is required to make some project. A wintergreen project by Vernon Witt has been completed. Laura Evans has completed one on the manufacture and mining of salt.

Anna Lee Riley and Mary Alice Nies spent Sunday in Durham, Okla., visiting relatives and friends.

Ninabeth and Nenabeth Stapp, both members of the freshman class of this school have withdrawn and have entered school at Beaver, Okla. Both girls were very prominent in school and especially in the affairs of their class.

SCIENCE

Here, There, Everywhere

The musical vibrations of alcohol, water, and gasoline, and other common chemical substances have been written and played on the piano, by D. Donald H. Andrew of John Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md.

The music resulting from the vibrations occurring among the various atoms which make up a compound can be transposed and heard directly. Interesting cooperations between the laboratory and the concert hall seem possible. "A chemical opera can now be written," said Dr. Andrew, "in which the chemical chords can be used. 'Christmas Night' perfume will herald the heroine, arsenic the villain, and water the coming rain.

On the other hand, the chemist with an interest in music will soon be looking more closely into his favorite songs and symphonies. Perhaps the stirring war song is a transposition of adrenalin—the substance that pours into the blood when he gets angry.

It looks as if some jazz orchestra had come near to imitating the melody of gasoline—for the gasoline music is a discordant combination of many unrelated notes. A similar effect might be produced by sitting abruptly on the piano.

Wood alcohol, in spite of its close chemical relationship to grain alcohol has a harsh, sharp, bootleg sound. Water is mysterious, pleasant without being sugary, like the murmur of a waterfall in a deep glade.

The music is derived from the light of these substances.

Millions on millions more vibrations are made each second by the chemical substance than human ears can hear. However, Dr. Andrew has for the first time transposed the chemical music onto the piano, with these interesting results:—

EDITORIAL

"WASHINGTON"

By W. B. Irvin

It is wonderful to observe how the people of all communities, however small, in this entire country are responding so enthusiastically to the nation's call for observance of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington. People are learning more of the real character of our great leader by reading and studying and listening to addresses. We shall be helped only as we try to put into practice in our own lives the fine traits of character that are shown to have been his.

Schools and various organizations are beginning the greatest celebrations that our nation has ever attempted. Every person in the United States and many in foreign countries are joining in these programs. People appreciate Washington more as time goes by and this is as it should be. So many times we do not appreciate in its real worth, the work done by our leaders until they are gone. Washington had much honor while he lived, but he never dreamed, I believe, that he would continue to grow in the hearts of his fellow-countrymen as he has. He had those sterling qualities of character that make for enduring influence—although Washington has been dead for over one hundred and thirty-two years, he is still alive in the memory of this, the fourth generation after his death. If our nation continues to adhere to those qualities which have built it, we no doubt will find Washington being honored more and more as the years go by because of what he means to our nation and for his eternally sound ideals of Americanism.

Enthusiasm is one of the hardest things in the world to hold on to and one of the nicest things in the world to have.

Hard to hold to because we, as people, have a tendency to grow uninterested at the first signs of failure in a project or any kind of undertaking.

Nice—covetable, because enthusiasm is an emotion—and emotions are the color of life. If we are enthusiastic, the whole world takes on a brighter hue. How very often we have been told, "You get out of life what you put into it." Give the organizations about you your support, be interested in what they are doing or want to do and see how much more enjoyable, vital your life is. A double purpose is performed if this is done. Your own life becomes broader, and the thing about which you are enthusiastic benefits by your services.

Enthusiasm and cooperation are closely related but not closely enough to be considered the same thing. Cooperation means more of duty; enthusiasm means more of eager initiative.

Youth is the home of enthusiasm. It is up to us to keep the world brightly colored by our interest, our gaiety, our enthusiasm.

MAGAZINES TO BE GIVEN AWAY

Miss Erickson has instructed El Sombrero staff to announce that there are a number of old magazines in the library, including Literary Digest, Times, Delineator, News Reviews, and numerous others that will be given to either grade or high school students if they will call at the senior high library for them.

The regular Dramatics club meeting period at activity period on Friday has been supplemented with play practice on the play, "Apple Blossom Time," which is to be given on March 15 or 17.

Monday afternoon, February 22, was P-T. A. visiting day in the local public schools.

CHURCHES

NEWS BY THE MINISTERIAL ALLIANCE

Chains in church attendance for our city last Sunday, February 21, numbered 111. Reports showed a total attendance of 609 as compared with 500 of one week ago. Join the Go To Church movement in our city and help us to reach a worthy goal.

Church attendance and fellowship are fundamental necessities to Christian living. In New Testament times true Christians "continued steadfastly in the Apostles teaching and fellowship; in the breaking of bread and the prayers." (Acts 2:42)

Breakfast fellowship admits no excuses for absence from church although it may conceivably admit of reasonable absences, though few and far between.

Jesus himself attended public services customarily. "And he entered as his custom was, into the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood up to read." (Luke 4:16)

A man who follows in the steps of his Master will have a custom of attending church.

IN Bible School next Sunday!

FULL GOSPEL TABERNACLE

"And if it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, choose you this day whom you will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell: but as for me and my house we will serve the Lord."

Joshua, that great leader of God's people, gave them this parting challenge before his death. Joshua was not the type of man who sends his family to Sunday school and church while he stays home or goes hunting or fishing. He represents the type who says, "folks, let's go to church."

Have you found it evil to serve the Lord? Are you and your family in church or Sunday school? If not, why not choose like Joshua of old to serve Him?

Robert Girouard, pastor.

LUTHERAN CHURCH NOTES

A farmer was found kneeling at a soldier's grave near Nashville, Tennessee. Some one came to him and said: "Why do you pay so much attention to this grave? Was your son buried here?" With a negative shake of the head the farmer replied: "During the war my family were all sick. I knew not how to leave them. I was drafted. One of my neighbors came over and said: 'I will go for you, I have no family.' He went off. He was wounded at Chickamauga. He was carried to the hospital and died. And, sir, I have come a great many miles that I might write over his grave these words: 'He died for me'. Dear reader, thus Christ was our substitute. He went forth to fight our battles. He died. Oh! that we might write it into our hearts, each one of us: 'He died for me!'"

Continuing with our Lenten study of the Savior's suffering and death, we shall next Sunday view the scene of Christ and the mob at the gateway to the garden of Gethsemane, using as our subject the Savior's words, "I am He." The Sunday school and Adult Bible Class meet after the morning service. In the evening a German Lenten service will be held, followed by choir rehearsal.

Remember, the time of our morning worship is 10:30, that in the evening at 7:30 o'clock. Attend the church of your choice! "He that is of God, heareth God's words," thus speaks our Lord and Master. Come, we welcome you!

H. W. Hartenberger, pastor.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH NOTES

J. Wm. Hart, Minister

The dramatization scheduled for last Sunday evening will not be given on account of sickness of members of the cast. At the regular service we will have an old fashioned question box. You are invited to submit questions for discussion.

Why we are going to have a revival will be the subject of the morning discourse. Every Christian is urged to be in his place and to help plan for a great meeting.

Wednesday evening at eight o'clock we are studying "Campaigning for Christ" and practicing evangelism. Then "Campaigners" meet Friday, 2:00 p. m., for work.

You are cordially invited and urged to be in all services.

METHODIST CHURCH

Yes, we had a decided increase in attendance in church school last Sunday. Well, the weather was better; but also the flu seemed to let up a bit, some came back from sickness. These beautiful days will likely give us more health. If you have not been coming through the winter, set in with the grass in the Spring. There is a class to suit every one, and there is a class for you.

Last Sunday was a great day, with good crowds of attentive interesting people. You never joined 'em? Come with us both morning and evening; enjoy our good music, and the good fellowship. Some say they enjoy the preaching, you might. The theme for the morning hour is, "Has God Retired?" and for the evening hour, "Superannuating God." In these discourses you might find interest and profit.

Then we have what we are laboring to make into a World club and to this we invite the youngsters up to and including 11 years of age. You can come to the church service and send your children to this service.

The leaguers, some of them Sunday will be in Texhoma to the district meet; but the regular period of worship will be held at 6:45 p. m.

OBSERVE BIRTH OF WASHINGTON

MASONS DEDICATE PROGRAM TO THAT GREAT MASON, GEORGE WASHINGTON MONDAY EVENING

As a part of the national Washington Bicentennial celebration and honoring the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of that great Mason and Father of our Country, George Washington, the Masons of Perryton and vicinity with their families, gathered at the Masonic Hall in this city on Monday evening, February 22, where they participated in a fitting program of homage and honor to this greatest of Americans.

It is estimated that the largest crowd ever present in the Masonic Hall in this city was assembled for this commemorative program which had been arranged by the Master of the lodge, George Rupprecht, and Attorney Jack Allen, who was master of ceremonies for the evening. Mrs. A. L. Dowers, Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star Chapter, took a very prominent part in the preparation of the entertainment and the "pot luck" supper which added much to the success of the occasion.

The program follows: Song, "America," by entire audience, led and directed by W. L. McDivitt. Invocation, Rev. E. G. Pennington. Song, "Star Spangled Banner," by quartet, Jas. E. Barbour, W. L. McDivitt, Wm. Foglesong and Addison Cutter. Solo, "Father of the Land We Love," by Mrs. O. E. Blank, Mrs. C. E. Whippo, accompanist. "George Washington, A Mason," by Judge Oscar C. Flowers. Selection from above quartet. "George Washington and His Travels," by Max W. Boyer. Duet, by Mrs. O. E. Blank and Mrs. L. T. Tucker. Introduction of all Past Worthy Matrons and Past Masters by Jack Allen. "General Summary of Washington as a Man," by Judge E. J. Pickens. Benediction by Rev. J. Wm. Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Coleman and son, Bobby Joe, and Ira Cagle, Pollett, were visiting in the home of their sister, Mrs. C. E. McLarty and family, Tuesday.

HOW TO DOUBLE THE LIFE OF SHOES

Everybody that wears shoes should be interested in a method for making shoes last twice as long at a cost not to exceed 10 cents per pair. It is given in the current issue of The Progressive Farmer-Ruralist as follows:—

1. Clean the shoes thoroughly, drying them slowly if water is used.
2. Then when shoes are thoroughly dry and warm, rub in with the hands a mixture made by melting together equal parts of tallow (or mutton suet) and neat's-foot oil. (This mixture may also be used: petrolatum, 12 ounces, and beeswax, 2 ounces, or this mixture: tallow, 12 ounces, and cod liver oil, 4 ounces.)
3. Apply with the hands until no more will be absorbed, then rub well with a soft rag.
4. If the shoes are placed in a shallow dish or pan and allowed to stand in this mixture (kept warm) for 20 to 30 minutes, the whole shoe will then be treated.

The writer has used this plan as a leather softener and preventative for many years, and it is rare that he buys a new pair of shoes often more than once in three years. A pair bought nine years ago apparently are now good for two years more before the third pair of half-soles give out.

To save shoe money be sure to get Farmers' Bulletin 1523, Leather Shoes: Selection and Care. It will be sent free if you will write to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Youngsters, will probably be diligent in spreading the news that a New York father dropped dead while spanking his son.

West Texas Farmers Burn Corn

Here is George W. Magness, Farwell, Texas, farmer, who concludes it is cheaper to burn his own corn, which he could sell for $4 a ton, than it is to buy coal at $10 a ton. He lives about eight miles out in the country and would have to truck his corn to town and the coal back. Many West Texas farmers are burning corn to heat their homes this winter.

Death Vault Part of New Courthouse

Around the blackened skeleton of the old Grayson county court house, burned in 1930 at the height of the trial of a negro for attacking a white woman, this temporary structure, now nearing completion, is being built to house the county offices at Sherman, Texas. The two-story part of the building utilizes the only part of the old courthouse that wouldn't burn—the vault in which the negro was coaxed to death.

An exchange says: "Ray Harper was married last week. We didn't get the lady's name; but no matter, it's Harper now."

Pacifist

This is George Clifton Edwards, Jr., Dallas boy and a student of Southern Methodist university, who, with Hugh O'Neill originated a petition terming war "mass murder," and stating that its signers pledged themselves to become conscientious objectors in case of war in the Orient, or anywhere. Thirty S. M. U. students signed the petition. The petition also demands prohibition of compulsory military training in schools.

Queer Calf

This calf has two bodies, eight legs, six of them below and two on its back. It was born near Hereford, Texas, and died at birth, but doctors on examination found that the calf had two normal sets of internal organs, both hooked properly to its one head.
