MOST POPULAR QUESTION IN AUSTIN

Will Preston Veto Funds Bill?

AUSTIN (AP) — Senators and representatives wrapped up loose ends today as they sent the 61st Legislature's regular session to the history books.

Midnight was the official end of the 140-day session but everyone expected the final gavel raps several hours before.

Meanwhile, everyone played the session's favorite guessing game:

"Will Preston veto the one-year appropriations bill?"

Gov. Preston Smith did not give legislators any help in his Saturday night comments at Wichita Falls. Smith said he was not in favor of the $10 per semester "use fee" to be levied on state college students but stopped short of saying he would veto it.

"I'm still evaluating the matter," Smith said with the same enigmatic smile that he has used in evading answers about a veto of the one-year spending bill.

There has been high level speculation the past week that Smith might veto the $10 use fee, which most consider a camouflaged college tuition hike. Then, the speculators think, he would let the one-year spending bill become law without his signature, after first trimming enough from it to cover the $3.9 million revenue expected from the use fee.

Today's skimpy session became necessary when Senate and House leaders discovered late Saturday that paper work could not keep up with the rapid rate of lawmaking in the final days. Otherwise the regular session would have ended Saturday midnight.

Passage of the session's principal tasks was completed early Saturday night with House final approval of a one-year teachers pay raise bill, the state's first minimum wage law and a bill setting up 27 new state district courts. All had been approved earlier by the Senate.

The Senate quit Saturday afternoon for the weekend after sending to the governor a bill to change Texas Technological College to Texas Tech University and returning, at Smith's request, the appointment of former Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman, San Angleo, to the State Insurance Commission. The governor gave no reason for the recall but it was obvious the action was taken to keep the Senate from voting down confirmation of Hardeman. Two-thirds or 21 senators out of the 31 are needed for confirmation. At least 11 senators signed a pact early in

Hides During Barrage

A frightened South Vietnamese youngster talks with U.S. 101st Airborne paratroopers after he was found hiding in a bunker near Tam Ky, a village south of Da Nang. The boy and his family hid in the bunker for three days as air and artillery strikes hit the area. They were discovered during Operation "Lamar Plain."

Cong Rockets Kill American Adviser

Saigon Hit Early Today, Planes Raid

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong shelled Saigon early today for the first time in two and a half weeks, fought American paratroopers and South Vietnamese militiamen just outside the city and killed a high-ranking American adviser in a rocket attack in the central highlands.

Four hours after two rockets fell inside the South Vietnamese capital, paratroopers from the 82nd Airborne Division and militiamen on an offensive sweep ran into small groups of enemy soldiers. They were 11 miles northwest of Saigon but on the opposite side of the city from where the rockets were fired.

SURPRISE

The paratroopers were sweeping through the same general area where a Viet Cong force took one of their ambush patrols by surprise last Friday, killing eight Americans and wounding three.

Spokesmen said the fighting today was sporadic and lasted for about five hours, until the Viet Cong troops withdrew. At least six of the enemy were known dead and three were captured, U.S. headquarters said. One American was killed, 12 were wounded and no casualties were reported among the South Vietnamese militiamen.

The U.S. Command reported eight rocket and mortar attacks during the night that caused casualties or damage but said over-all the latter were light.

The American adviser was reported killed at the Dak To airfield, 280 miles northeast of Saigon. About ten 100-pound rockets hit the field at 3 p.m., and five South Vietnamese soldiers were reported wounded.

WAITING

The American, an Army officer, was waiting to be picked up at a helicopter pad, the U.S. Command said.

U.S. headquarters said no material damage was reported. It said helicopter gunships and artillery were directed onto the suspected rocket firing sites but results were not known.

Rocky's Visit To Venezuela Is Postponed

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—With his current Latin-American tour marred further by postponement of his visit to Venezuela, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Sunday night that the student demonstrations against his mission point up an extremist minority's threat to relations between the United States and its southern neighbors.

The stop in Caracas today was to have been the last on Rockefeller's second fact-finding tour for President Nixon, a tour already marred by cancellation of a visit to Peru, violence in Ecuador and curtailment of the stop in Bolivia. Then the Venezuelan Cabinet met Sunday and President Rafael Caldera asked the governor to delay his visit indefinitely, saying it was likely to touch off more violence.

At a news conference in Port of Spain, Rockefeller blamed the violence on "elements who are able to get militant groups among the students to respond to their desire to break up the basic friendship and understanding between the United States and these countries."

"This is not the position of the government, it is not the position of the people," Rockefeller continued. "It is determined force that is becoming increasingly evident throughout the hemisphere that would like to disrupt, to break down, to destroy the friendship between our countries."

The New York governor asserted that his trip "is becoming increasingly important and increasingly useful."

"It is focusing attention and bringing into public vision just what is going on in this hemisphere and the nature of these forces and the magnitude of these forces in terms of democratic government," he said.

Nixon is sending Rockefeller and a team of experts all over Latin America for a survey to help formulate administration policy in the western hemisphere.

There have been disturbances in seven of the nine countries visited so far, the worst in Quito, Ecuador, Thursday and Friday. Fear of violence led Rockefeller to cut his visit to Bolivia Saturday to three hours, all spent at the airport outside La Paz.

Opposition political parties in Venezuela threatened demonstrations against the visit to Caracas, and students planned to occupy supermarkets in which the rockefeller family reportedly has interests.

Odessan Hopes To Dodge Death

LUBBOCK (AP) — James Lee Marion, sentenced to die shortly after midnight tonight for the murder of a wealthy Midland social leader, will seek a ninth stay of execution today.

Warren Burnett of Odessa, his lawyer, will seek a stay in federal court.

"It is not my purpose to let him go by default," Burnett said.

Marion would be the first person executed in the United States since 1967 and the first in Texas in five years.

Marion, 27, was denied an appeal Feb. 21 in the Court of Criminal Appeals. Dist. Atty. James Mashburn of Midland said all remedies in state courts have been exhausted.

"We have been in 11 courts on 14 hearings in this case, and we have won every time, including once before the U.S. Supreme Court," he said.

In Huntsville, Dr. George Beto, state prisons director, said Marion has not been moved early today from the death row at the Ellis unit to the holding cell near the death chamber at the main prison.

"We're waiting on the results of the Lubbock hearing," he said. There are now 31 men awaiting execution on death row, Dr. Beto said.

Marion was sentenced to death in 1964 for the bludgeoning death of Mrs. J. Fred Turner, 66, in her 15-room Midland mansion.

Marion, a former fry cook, was tried in Lubbock after a change of venue.

The last person executed in Texas was Joseph Johnson Jr. on July 30, 1964, in connection with a Houston slaying.

Father Of 'Dump Johnson' Movement Booked At Tulane

WASHINGTON (AP) — When two members of Louisiana's conservative political establishment learned that an official of the liberal Americans for Democratic Action recently had turned down a speaking invitation at Tulane University, they reacted in a most unusual way —they urged him to change his mind.

At the request of Sen. Russell B. Long and Rep. Hale Boggs, the ADA official, Rep. Allard K. Lowenstein, D-N.Y., relented and made room in his hectic schedule for the Tulane speech.

The pleas by the conservative Democrats to a very liberal freshman congressman would have been almost unheard of a few years ago. But concern by conservatives and liberals alike over the violent disruptions that have swept many of the nation's colleges has forged a strange alliance.

For apart from being a stringent Vietnam dove and father of the "Dump Johnson" movement, the 40-year-old Lowenstein is a former college professor and former president of the National Student Association with a strong campus following. He also has a long-time record of opposition to such campus radical groups as the Students for a Democratic Society.

And it was as a foe of the SDS that Boggs and Long urged Lowenstein, a veteran of the Mississippi voter registration drives, to speak to the Louisiana school.

Actually, Lowenstein was reluctant when he took his congressional seat to get deeply involved in the student problem, preferring to devote his time to Capitol Hill.

But as the student disorders intensified he changed his mind.

"I didn't think I could stay away any longer," said Lowenstein in an interview. "I can't leave the situation to those who want to tear everything down and build nothing."

"I can't believe that there's anything constructive or anything hopeful when goon squads of kids go around beating each other up or assaulting professors or pitching deans around," he told students at George Washington University.

"At the moment there is neither principle nor pragmatism that's upheld by these tactics.

"This country's going to be here for a long time one way or the other. You burn it down you've still got to live in it. You turn it into an armed camp you've still got to live in it.

"There has to be something between Melvin Laird and the SDS."

Proposes New Legal Weapon For Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Florida congressman wants to give students who oppose campus disruptions a new legal weapon to combat militants.

Republican Rep. William C. Cramer has drafted a bill that would permit antidemonstration students to bring those causing a shutdown in campus facilities into federal court where they could be jailed and fined.

The bill is further evidence that Congress is taking a hardening view towards student violence and disorder.

That view will undoubtedly be reinforced by hearings starting Tuesday before the House Committee on Internal Security—formerly the Un-American Activities Committee—on the leading militant student organization, Students for a Democratic Society.

Chairman Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., has had committee investigators studying the SDS and its campus activities for several months in preparations for the hearings, which are scheduled to last three days.

In recent testimony before another committee Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the Federal Bureau of Investigation has obtained evidence indicating SDS is receiving financial help from foreign sources in a nationwide concerted effort to destroy U.S. universities.

Cramer says it is these "campus revolutionaries" that his bill is designed to deal with. It would empower nondemonstrating students to file a complaint with the Justice Department that they are being denied free access to their schools.

The bill would also permit the attorney general to bring such an action himself without waiting for a complaint. In either case, before going into court the attorney general would have to make a finding that such action would be in the public interest and be necessary to secure justice.

Mixed Groups Pelt Police

NEW YORK (AP) — Mixed groups of Negro and Puerto Rican youths smashed store windows, overturned garbage cans and telephone booths, and pelted police and firemen with bricks Sunday night after an incident at a church-sponsored street bazaar in the south Bronx.

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary, who went to the scene with hundreds of police reinforcements, called it "a small neighborhood incident started by young teenagers." About 700 youths were in the mob.

Four policemen were sent to Lincoln Hospital with injuries ranging from a split lip to possible fracture of the right elbow. Five teenagers were arrested, including a black youth whose fight with a patrolman touched off the violence. He refused to give police his name.

MEMORIAL HOLIDAY

Record 543 Persons Die In Accidents

By The Associated Press

A record 543 persons were killed in traffic accidents over the Memorial Day weekend.

The old record of 542 persons killed on a three-day Memorial Day weekend was set in 1966. Tabulation of last weekend's deaths continued.

During a similar 78-hour non-holiday period recently 481 highway fatalities were recorded.

The National Safety Council estimated before the start of the weekend that 550 to 650 persons would die in highway accidents during the holiday period from 6 p.m. local time Thursday to midnight Sunday.

Two of the weekend's worst accidents happened Saturday night. Seven persons were killed and another injured in a head-on collision in Spanish Fork Canyon, Utah, and seven others died and three persons were critically injured in North Carolina.

Traffic was heavy across the country most of the weekend. Along the Southern California coast, traffic was bumper to bumper on major highways 80 miles south and 40 miles north of Los Angeles, according to the state highway patrol.

To set a comparison with Memorial Day Weekend The Associated Press made a survey of traffic fatalities from 6 p.m. Thursday, May 15, to midnight Sunday, May 18, when 481 persons died on highways.

Over last year's four-day holiday, a record 629 persons died in highway accidents. The lowest figure on record for traffic deaths during a three-day Memorial Day weekend since World War II was 204 in 1948.

Algiers Motel Trial

MASON, Mich. (AP) — The defense opens its presentation today in the trial of a suspended white policemen accused of murdering a Negro youth during Detroit's 1967 riot.

The prosecution rested its case last Wednesday after calling 40 witnesses in its attempt to prove that Ronald August, 31, is guilty of first-degree murder in the death of Aubrey Pollard, 19, one of three black teenagers killed at the Algiers Motel.

Fred Temple, 18, and Carl Cooper, 17, also were killed after police and National Guardsmen entered the building in a search for snipers July 26, 1967. All were killed by shotgun blasts.

In a statement to superior officers, August admitted killing Pollard but claimed it was in self-defense in a struggle over a shotgun.

AT STRIFE-TORN CORNELL UNIVERSITY

Probe Proposed Black Studies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal civil rights officials are investigating the racial situation at strife-torn Cornell University, including a proposed black studies program, it has been learned.

Three investigators recently visited the Ithaca, N.Y., campus where simmering racial tensions burst into the open in April with occupation of a building by Negroes. The occupation was peaceful but later rifles and shotguns were taken in.

News photographs of rifle-toting blacks leaving Willard Straight Hall after a 36-hour siege created a nationwide sensation and underlined campus tension that reportedly has heightened among students and bitterly divided the faculty.

A spokesman for the Office of Civil Rights said the May 20-21 visit by the three representatives was a "routine compliance investigation" and was one of the 200 scheduled throughout the nation. The Cornell findings may be issued within two weeks.

The spokesman said the investigation had been scheduled for some time and the recent upheaval was not seen as a reason to postpone it.

It was understood, however, that the investigators may not submit a report at all if their findings are inconclusive. The report also could be delayed or just not made public if there is a possibility of fueling tensions.

One government source indicated there was a feeling of urgency about dealing with the problem of proliferating black studies programs, very few of which now include white students, and that Cornell presents an opportunity to further clarify administration policy.

The OCR, an arm of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, is charged with enforcing Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Title VI provides a cutoff of federal funds to any school or school district that practices racial discrimination.

The OCR has been active in Southern high school districts for some time, but its first venture into the field of black studies was in March at Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Some officials now admit privately that starting with Antioch, long regarded as a center of liberalism, may have been a mistake.

The OCR, after its Antioch probe, said there was "cause for concern" in statements by the director of the Afro-American Institute that its programs, which included all-black living quarters, were "only relevant for black students."

The OCR did tell the school to make sure incoming Negroes were no longer notified that special living space was available.

A much tougher line appeared to be taken May 22, however, when the OCR informed Duke University that the failure of whites to apply for admission to a proposed black studies program "would, as a minimum, constitute an inference that they do not feel free to apply."

The situation at Cornell, which gets some $40 million a year from the government, is vastly more complex than at Duke or Antioch with widespread complaints of discrimination on both sides.

Last fall, the university set up a black women's cooperative residence because Negro students complained they felt uncomfortable with, or were misunderstood by, white coeds.

Tensions rose steadily during the year, heightened by trading insults between blacks and whites, reports of threats on both sides and disciplinary action against some Negroes.

Cornell President Dr. James A. Perkins, who announced his resignation over the weekend, has approved a Center for Afro-American Studies to open in the fall.

There also has been active recruitment of Negro students in ghettos, an area the OCR scrutinizes closely.

Some faculty members have been described as suspicious of the proposed center because it would be almost completely autonomous in recruiting faculty and students and drawing up curriculum.

Nixon's ABM System Augurs Congress Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Safeguard antimissile system has come under broad new criticism from members of both parties as its fateful date with the Senate draws nearer.

Sen. Stuart Symington, a Democrat and long-time military supporter, accused the Defense Department Sunday of saying one thing in public and another in closed congressional committee sessions. One Pentagon chart, he indicated, would end once and for all the controversy over whether Safeguard should be deployed.

The Missouri senator gave no details about the chart, but implied it supports further research rather than deployment.

"If the chart were made public," he said, "I believe this argument would be over." He said it had been shown to the Senate Armed Services Committee.

From the Republican side, Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois said he hopes President Nixon will accept a compromise on its deployment plans. Two missile sites in North Dakota and Montana are scheduled to be the first protected by the Safeguard system.

"I think we're all gratified," he said, "that the administration had the courage to say that the thin antimissile system, the Sentinel system, was really in effect a fraud and would not ecomplish at all what it was intended to."

He asked for a moratorium on deployment of Soviet and American offensive and defensive weapons so arms control talks can begin without either side fearing the other will try to gain an advantage.

Symington appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press," Percy on the CBS program "Face the Nation."

Their appeals to the administration followed Sen. Edward M. Kenney's charges that the initial Safeguard system will end up costing at least $20 billion, three times the administration estimates.

In the intrduction to a book detailing arguments against ABM, Kennedy concludes:

"As I vew it, the truth about the ABM is that it is probably unworkable and potentially very costly. The consequence, as I see it, is another spiral in the arms race, and a setback for arms controls."

The book, "ABM—An Evaluation of the Decision to Deploy an Antiballistic Missile System," is to be published Tuesday by Harper & Row. It was edited by Profs. Abram Chayes of Harvard University and Jerome Wiesner of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and prepared at Kennedy's suggestion.

Sen. Allen Ellender of Louisiana, a senior member of the defense appropriations subcommittee, said the administration should tell the nation that "there is no way to provide the nation with absolute, ironclad protection in the age of thermonuclear weapons and intercontinental ballistic missiles."

But despite the opposition a fellow southern Democrat, Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, said he thinks Nixon can get the necessary majority of senators to vote for ABM if he tries, "and I do not think he will have to try too hard." Sparkman supports the administration.

When the bill gets to the Senate floor later this month, it is likely to spark an extended debate that could last most of the time until Congress goes on vacation for three weeks on Aug. 13.

Three Mishaps Are Checked

Police investigated three accidents Sunday in Big Spring.

Peggy L. O'Brien, 1406 E. 6th, was treated and released at Webb Air Force Base Hospital after her car was in collision with a car driven by Lee Thomas Robertson, Box 1422, at the intersection of Third and State.

Cars driven by William C. Bedwell, Sterling City Route, and D. Justin Holmes, 301 Washington, collided on the north service road of FM 700 and US 87.

Cars driven by Loren Henry Hiniker, 35-A Albrook, and Lucas Gonzales Jr., West Tex Compress, were involved in an accident at Northwest Tenth and Lamesa Drive. Police officers said Dian Hiniker, 35-A Albrook, apparently received minor injuries but was not taken to a hospital.

Police also investigated a report that a stop sign at West Third and Brown had been knocked down.

A minor accident today at Fourth and Gregg involved cars driven by Owen Richard Rawls, 107 Cottonwood, and Frederico M. Munoz, 105 NE 10th.

REEL 'HOT' MARCHERS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The quick-stepping Clairton High School band approached the reviewing stand at the end of a parade Sunday when marchers began reeling, zig-zagging and falling to the street.

Within minutes, more than 50 youngsters, about half the band, were on the ground, apparent victims of heat exhaustion.

Rescue workers administered oxygen and applied cold water to revive the marchers. Fifteen were taken to nearby hospitals, but were released after treatment.

The Clairton band was the only one of the parade's 81 units affected. Don Caligura, band director, said the uniforms contained acetate and apparently didn't permit sufficient air circulation in the near 90 degree heat.

Many of those stricken were majorettes. School officials said the girls would wear older, looser uniforms in the future.

The parade was for the opening of the Pennsylvania State Lions Club convention.

RECOVER BODIES OF 11

18 Oilmen Sentenced To Die By Biafrans

KWALE, Nigeria (AP) — The Biafrans sentenced 18 foreign oil workers to death as Nigerian forces recovered the bodies of 11 others Sunday.

The Biafran Information Service said the death penalty must be confirmed by Biafran leader Odumegwu Ojukwu "but Gen. Ojukwu has not done so thus far." Biafran Information Minister Ifegwu Eke had told a news conference the foreigners had been fighting alongside the Nigerians.

A spokesman had said earlier that if the men were to be freed, their home governments must make "contact through the appropriate channel." It is a government-to-government affair, not a humanitarian affair," he added.

The sentenced oilmen—14 Italians, three Germans and one Lebanese—were among 29 workers who disappeared when Biafran and Nigerian troops battled near Okpai, in midwestern Nigeria May 7-10. The bodies of the other 11 men—10 Italians and a Jordanian—were found by Nigerian forces.

The men were employed by AGIP, the Nigerian oil exploration company which is a joint enterprise of the Italian state petroleum corporation and the Phillips Petroleum Co. of Bartlesville, Okla. AGIP denied that the men had been fighting for the Nigerians.

Seven air-conditioned trailers where the men lived were riddled with bullet holes.

Labor Leaders Threatening Fresh Violence In Curacao

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao (AP) — Dutch marines patrolled this Caribbean island today as labor leaders threatened new violence unless the prime minister resigns.

Seventy per cent of Willemstad's business district lay in ruins after being put to the torch in rioting Friday. The government reported two persons killed, 100 wounded and 196 arrested. Other sources said four were killed.

LOOTING

Losses from burning and looting were estimated at $20 million.

Dutch marines, including a force of 300 that arrived from the Netherlands Sunday, set up checkpoints and enforced a dusk-to-dawn curfew. Liquor sales were banned and suspected looters were rounded up.

Police asked tourists, including about 800 Americans, to stay in their hotels or to leave the predominantly Negro island because "you look like the Dutch."

The rioting broke out during a march by striking petroleum workers. Racial overtones mushroomed as Negro demonstrators began looting and burning stores owned by Dutch settlers.

Leaders of seven unions charged that Prime Minister Ciro Kroon was partly responsible for the labor unrest that led

SHOT IN CHEST

Several hundred workers had walked off their jobs at the huge Shell refinery Friday and marched into the city to show their support for workers demanding higher wages from Wescar, a contracting firm working at the Shell refinery. The marchers said Wescar was paying its workers at the refinery lower wages than those paid by Shell.

A labor leader was reported shot in the chest during the march, and the demonstrators went on a rampage. Before it ended, 5,000 refinery workers were running amok through Willemstad, battling police and Dutch marines and looting the burning stores.

Some Dutch businessmen blamed Communist agitators for the violence, and Deputy Police Inspector K. Van Haren also said Communists were involved. But some observers insisted the rioting was racial, and others said police overreacted to the march.

LeTourneau Dead At 80

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — R. G. LeTourneau, 80, known equally for his manufacturing and for his activities as a Christian layman, died at his home here Sunday night.

He rad suffered a stroke in March.

A technological breakthrough by LeTourneau resulted in some of the first use of rubber-tired wheels on earth-moving machinery.

On weekends, he made a point of preaching to thousands around the world. He was a member of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church.

LeTourneau founded LeTourneau Technical Institute at Longview in the late 1940s. The name was changed to LeTourneau College, and now has a student body of about 750, from 47 states and 15 foreign countries.

LeTourneau agreed to stay out of the earth-moving business for five years after selling his earth-moving designs to Westinghouse Air Brake Corp. for about $31 million in 1953. During the hiatus, he developed and built more than 40 ocean-going drilling barges.

He retired from active management of his company in 1967.

LeTourneau dropped out of school at age 14, but studied electrical engineering by correspondence.

Survivors are his widow, Mrs. Evelyn Peterson LeTourneau; a daughter, Mrs. Gus Dick of Moline, Ill.; four sons, Richard H. LeTourneau, Roy S. LeTourneau, Ted LeTourneau and Ben LeTourneau, all of Longview; two brothrs, J. W. LeTourneau of Peoria, Ill., and Philip LeTourneau of Fullerton, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Tom Olson and Miss Sarah LeTourneau both of Pomona, Calif.; 19 grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Brown Degrees

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Pianist Duke Ellington and Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's special assistant for national security affairs, are among 13 persons to receive honorary degrees today from Brown University.

To Be Rededicated By Wright Fans

OAK PARK, Ill. (AP) — A Frank Lloyd Wright creation, in disrepair after 60 years of use in Oak Park, will be reproduced by a group of architects—all admirers of Wright.

To be reproduced is a fountain which served the western suburb as a watering place for horses and dogs and an amusement for children.

The fountain will be rededicated as part of the Frank Lloyd Wright Festival.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they woud not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any weak hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. adv.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Imler of Houston are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Olivia Ruth, to George Donald McKinnis, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. McKinnis, 1755 Purdue. The couple plans to be married Aug. 23 in the Central Church of Christ at Houston.

Bride-Elect Feted At Brunch Party

Miss Mary Frances Malone, bride-elect of Bill Clements, was complimented with a rice bag party and brunch Saturday in the home of Mrs. D. S. Riley, 505 Hillside. Mrs. Harold Steck of Midland was cohostess.

The honoree was attired in a yellow linen dress and was presented a pink carnation corsage. Her mother, Mrs. P. W. Malone, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. J. T. Clements, were also given corsages.

The bride's table was laid with a white cutwork Madeira cloth and centered with an arrangement of white shasta daisies and pink larkspur. Quartet tables were laid with white cloths and held pink flowers in crystal bud vases.

Miss Karen Hayes of Mobile, Ala., was an out-of-town guest.

Graduation Party Held For Girls

Pat Billings was honored Wednesday with a graduation party at the home of Mrs. R. B. Davidson, 705 Tulane, with Mrs. Jimmy Bumgarner and Mrs. Gary Bradbury as cohostesses.

Ten graduating seniors were guests, along with the honoree's mother, Mrs. Grant Billings.

The graduation theme was carried out in the school colors of black and gold. The table was covered with a white linen cloth edged with black graduate silhouettes, and the centerpiece was a yellow hat arranged with spring flowers.

Faculty Honored At PTA Luncheon

The Airport Parent-Teacher Association hosted a luncheon for faculty members and guests Friday at the school with James Rankin giving the devotion.

Charles Cain presented a plaque to Capt. Richard Rossmiller and the junior officers of Webb Air Force Base in appreciation for their work with the school park and playground project.

Capt. Rossmiller accepted the plaque in behalf of the base, saying "We are proud to live in a community where base personnel and the city can work together for the good of the community."

At Graduation

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. John W. Hawkins is visiting in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coppedge, in Muleshoe and attended high school graduation of her granddaughter, Kay.

Mrs. A. L. Young is a guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Oglesby.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dale Rogers during the weekend were her parents, Mr and Mrs. R. L. Brawley and family, Glenda and Rex, of Petrolia.

Hints From Heloise

Hi there:

I have a warning that might prevent a broken hip or elbow.

Clean your floors thoroughly before applying wax and don't overwax your floors. Putting paste wax on too thick is very dangerous.

You are NOT saving anything by appling so much paste wax.

Your family will only pick it up on their shoes, sox and feet, and spread it on your carpets, bathmat, etc, etc, etc. (and that covers a lot).

NOT buffing it enough is MORE dangerous . . . so says one of the biggest wax manufacturers. And I agree wholeheartedly.

The more you buff a paste wax the safer it is!

And NEVER put liquid self-polishing waxes over paste wax or vice versa. They are not compatible! Makes a mess . . . I love you and want you all to live in safety. . . Heloise

* * *

Dear Heloise:

I live in a small apartment but like to entertain with large festive meals.

When dinner is over and it's time for dessert, there's never enough space to put everything in the kitchen. Only one little drainboard and a rather small cabinet top.

Then I hit on the idea of placing the dishes in two or three plastic dishpans and setting them in my bathtub until ready to wash.

All I need to do is carry one dishpan at a time into the kitchen and put it down in the sink for washing. When finished, I dry and put everything away and go for the next dishpan. . . Mrs. Beulah Marks

* * *

Dear Heloise:

The other day when my mother bought a box of candy for my teacher, she couldn't get the price off the plastic covering.

I took a piece of cellophane tape and laid the sticky side down on the price tag, then pulled it up and off came the tag clean as a whistle. . . Susan Anderson (Age 7)

* * *

Dear Heloise:

I never shuck fresh corn anymore.

I learned quite by accident that if I chop off an inch from each end . . . the shucks will peel right off.

It makes it easier to get the silk off too! . . . Luv U.

* * *

I luv u too!

This must not be one of my thinking days, 'cause I had a hard time figuring out your name.

But I just shucked six ears your way and found it fantabulous. . . . Heloise

* * *

Dear Heloise:

I use bright red nail polish to mark the tops of the switches on my electric range in the OFF position.

So easy to see at a glance whether or not the switch is off, or halfway on.

I do the same thing on inside wall switches for outside lights so I can tell if the light is ON or OFF. . . Mrs. D Mellon

High Tallies Announced For Week

Winners have been announced for four bridge sessions at Big Spring Country Club.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Herman Smith and Mrs. Henry Bell tied for first and second with Mrs. Ward Hall and Mrs. Elvis McCrary, and Wednesday's winners were Mrs. J. M. Parks and Mrs. Travis Reed, first; Mrs. Fred Kasch and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, second; and Mrs. J. H. Fish and Mrs. E. O. Ellington, third.

Thursday evening winners were Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Fish, first; and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Underwood, second. The week's play ended Friday with Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Hudson Landers, first; Mrs. Fish and Mrs. A. Swartz tying for second and third with George Pike and Mrs. Ward Hall; and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, fourth.

Miss Sara Jane King Honored At Luncheon

Miss Sara Jane King, bride-elect of Lt. Thomas D. Webb, was honored with a luncheon and pool party Saturday at the home of Mrs. R. E. Dobbins, 2600 Crestline. Cohostesses were Mrs. O. G. Hughes, Mrs. Ronnie Davis of Amarillo and Mrs. Kenneth Gordon of Waco.

The quartet tables were laid with green and white cloths and featured arrangements of white daisies.

Miss King, dressed in yellow, and her mother, Mrs. L. T. King, were presented corsages of white pompon chrysanthemums. The hostesses presented the honoree with an electric skillet.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Joe Liberty of Midland, sister of the bride-elect, Mrs. A. V. Karcher of Austin and Mrs. Robert Goodlett of Denison.

The wedding will be July 19 at the First United Methodist Church.

Free Adult Homemaking Courses Begin In June

The Homemaking Department of Big Spring Senior High School will offer three workshops for adults this summer. There will be no charge for the workshops, however, individuals must furnish materials which they will use in the course.

From June 16-20 "Basic Techniques in Sewing" will be taught from 9 a.m. to 12 noon by Mrs. John Hamilton and Miss Helen Willard. In the afternoons, from 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock Mrs. Wilbur Cunningham will conduct a workshop on furniture antiquing. The third workshop, "Techniques of Making Draperies" will be led by Mrs. Fern Alexander and Mrs. John Annen. The latter will begin July 14 and end July 18.

The course in basic sewing will present methods of construction applicable for making blouses, skirts, pants and one and two-piece dresses. This course is designed for the beginner or those wanting to learn new methods in this area. The course in furniture antiquing is planned to make old furniture beautiful and usable with a minimum of expense and effort. The drapery workshop will teach lining and pleating.

Local and area women are invited to enroll in one or more of the classes by calling the high school at 267-7461, Ext. 48.

Baptists Begin Vacation School

FORSAN (SC) — Vacation Bible School began this morning at 8:30 a.m. at the Forsan Baptist Church. The Rev. Virgil Drewery, who assisted with registration, will tell Biblical character stories each morning. Mrs. Drewery is principal.

Departments and their teachers are: nursery, Mrs. David Drennen; beginners, Mrs. Tom Evans; primary, Mrs. Jimmy Shoults; and juniors, Mrs. Doyle Whetsel.

Two volunteer workers will assist in each department and refreshments will be served at 9:45 a.m.

Commencement will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Parents are invited to attend.

TOPS Club Has Guest Speaker

The TOPS Pound Rebels met last week in the YMCA with the 30 attending reporting a total weight loss of over 23 pounds.

Mrs. Tim Lee presided, and the pledge was led by Mrs. Jim Bodine. Mrs. W. J. McNew reported that the group would begin work on the rodeo parade float, with the work to be done at 207 Goliad.

Mrs. Leroy Statham, guest speaker, demonstrated liquid embroidery, and each member painted a book mark. Mrs. McNew won the attendance prize, and guests were Mrs. Allen McClinton and Mrs. Durene Kirk.

Weekend Guests In Forsan Home

FORSAN (SC) — Weekend guests of the S. C. Cowleys are the Keith Turneys and children of Jacksonville and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cowley of Henderson.

The Paul Kennedys and the Don Murphys were in Denton Thursday. Shirley Steinburg, a student at Texas Women's University, returned with them and will be home for six weeks before returning to summer school.

Guests of the Hamlin Elrods are the H. K. Elrods of Houston and their daughter, Susan, a senior student at the University of Texas.

Take Brief Trips

FORSAN (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Earl Beeson and daughters have returned from a week's vacation in East Texas and Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Overton are in Houston, where they took her mother, Mrs. T. A. Rankin of Big Spring, to Anderson Clinic.

Mrs. Lee Yarborough will visit in Lubbock Tuesday with her sister who will undergo surgery.

Miss Linda Fowler Is Honoree At Bridal Tea

Miss Linda Fowler, future bride of Bill Davis, both formerly of Big Spring, was honored with a bridal tea Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Joe Pond, 2706 Crestline, with Mrs. Larry Crow and Mrs. F. C. Gambill as cohostesses. Their gift was a serving piece of pottery.

Members of the house party were Miss Cynthia Pond, Miss Merry Lee Dibrell, Miss Sara Jane King and Miss Sheryl Gambill.

Miss Fowler, attired in a sleeveless pink dress, received guests with her mother, Mrs. Ruby Fowler. Both were presented corsages of daisies and greenery.

Calling hours were from 3 to 5 p.m., and guests were served refreshments from an oval table covered with a Normandy lace cloth. The table was appointed with crystal and centered with an arrangement of daisies and greenery. Similar arrangements were used as accents in other rooms.

Miss Fowler and her fiance plan to be married June 14 in the First United Methodist Church.

A LOVELIER YOU

Soft Shadows Play It Down For Eyes

By MARY SUE MILLER

There's more than a touch of wonderment in lovely eyes these days. The look is soft, wide and candid. A pool of cool!

Would you care to make it yours? The technique involves a sheer, delicate shadow and a subtle hand. There can be no streaking or smearing, no blatant or obvious effects. The finish appears like nature's finest effort.

And here's where new cake shadows come to your aid. Based on the same principle as an artist's water colors, shadows have water power to create the sheerest, smoothest kinds of makeups.

Application is very easy. You simply mix the color and water with a special brush. Then you apply the mixture with the same brush in broad, blending strokes.

As for the shades to choose, here are a few professional eye-deas: Try Nile green, clear as water, above brown eyes. For blue eyes, the blue of the Riviera seas is suggested. Green eyes want for a hint of a churning gray wave. The hue of a sea pearl and gray eyes are made for each other. The power in those choices is contrast, the fascinating and flattering interplay of color.

With a water-color shadow in water - color color, my Lovely, you're as cool to look at as they come.

EYES OF YOUTH

You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, THE EYES OF YOUTH. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 15 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

A Devotional For The Day

Thy way, O God, is in the sanctuary. (Psalm 77:13)

PRAYER: O God, we thank Thee for Thy church. It is still the one hope for the world. We pray that the day will soon come when the problems that beset mankind will be settled through its influence. In the name of Christ, the head of the church, we pray, saying, "Our Father who are in heaven . . . Amen."

(From the 'Upper Room')

Best Scouted In History

The drama of the lunar module's perilous descent to 50,000 feet above the moon's surface tended to obscure one of the chief reasons for this maneuver. It gave Astronauts Cernan and Stafford a close, first-hand look at the site where Apollo 11 crewmen are expected to land in an almost identical craft in July.

Fifty thousand feet is only a couple of miles higher than the cruising level of many a commercial airlines flight back here on the planet earth. There is no cloud cover on the moon; the atmosphere is absolutely clear. Thus one can readily imagine what a sharp picture Cernan and Stafford — and their cameras — got of the site and of an alternative site as they soared past in low lunar orbit.

Their photographs and descriptions will go into the hopper with much other data. We are reminded again that the target of man's farthest exploration will be better scouted than any other in all history.

Postal Reorganization

It will be a remarkable feat if President Nixon can get through a Democratic Congress so politically potent a proposal as drastic reform of the nation's postal system. However, his recommendation is truly bipartisan, or nonpartisan, as it is virtually the same as that suggested by the Kappel commission and endorsed by two postmaster generals in the Johnson administration.

The plan is to convert the Post Office Department (established 1789) into a public corporation with a nine-member board. The postmaster general would be dropped from the presidential Cabinet, where that official has been since 1829, but in modern times for no logical reason.

Under the plan, the postal service could be put on a self-supporting but nonprofit basis, with a special commission to review mail classifications and postal rates. Employes would have collective bargaining, which would likely be more in the public interest than the political pay-fixing now done by Congress. And, most important, the system could issue bonds, to be paid off by its own revenues, to make the massive and complex mail-handling facilities and equipment investments essential to handling its soaring volume of business.

It has become glaringly obvious that the existing setup has long not worked well and will soon break down calamitously, unless greatly and quickly changed. The postal service's volume is now about double the 45 billion pieces of mail handled in 1950. And, despite one rate increase after another, it has run a deficit in most years this century; that deficit has climbed from the $500 million range in 1950 and 1960 to around a billion dollars annually in more recent years. All the while service has deteriorated.

Consequently, despite the break with tradition involved, we must agree with the President that "tradition is no substitute for performance." Action now is imperative if, as President Nixon said, "our postal system is to meet the expanding needs of the 1970s." The logical action is to recognize that postal service is a public utility and should be reorganized as such.

Charitable Gifts Should Be Protected

WASHINGTON — When Congress starts tinkering with laws affecting charitable contributions, the emphasis is always on the rich man who gets big tax deductions. But the harm that can be done to the poor and disadvantaged people of America could conceivably be extensive.

IT IS ALL RIGHT to stop the manipulation of non-profit foundations which get tax exemptions, and it certainly is wise to spell out what they may or may not do in the field of public affairs. The fact remains, however, that most of the foundations and other tax-exempt organizations are doing worthwhile things for millions of human beings. To curtail the flow of money into charity would do serious injury, and would in the end result in all citizens having to pay higher taxes in order to finance more and more government programs to help the needy.

IT IS UNQUESTIONABLY desirable for Congress to pass what the House Ways and Means Committee has just recommended with respect to improper activities of some non-profit, tax-exempt foundations or organizations. Thus, the ending of tax exemptions for money that is spent directly or indirectly to influence elections or to affect the decisions of any governmental agencies is a sound recommendation, and deductions should be defined carefully so that donors would not be involved in investments in stocks or bonds held by a foundation which might have a bearing on the value or their own securities.

WHAT WOULD prove harmful, however, is any limitation on the incentives which today cause very large contributions to be made to religious, educational or charitable institutions. For instance, one of the proposals before the House Ways and Means Committee would repeal the special provision which gives certain donors a tax deduction byond the normal 30 per cent of taxable income. This has heretofore permitted big contributions of property, for example, which had appreciated in value.

Many churches and other worthy charities have been given various articles which can be immediately sold at a higher value than they cost the donors. Gifts of works of art and other properties, including stocks and bonds, have hitherto been received by charitable organizations, and deductions have been allowed the donor.

A CITIZEN may have bought a piece of property for $10,000 and, when he gave it away 20 years later, it might be worth $70,000. Tax deductions are given at the actual value at the time the gift is made. But if certain proposals before the House committee are adopted, the allowance for the full deduction by persons who regularly make such large-sized donations would be materially reduced, if not eliminated. Hence, one of the biggest incentives for donations of private property to charity would be dealt a damaging blow.

What would the net result be? The government of the United States — which means taxpayers of low as well as high income — would have to pay more money into the U.S. Treasury to help meet those needs of the people which have hitherto been taken care of by charitable insituttions.

LATEST FIGURES show that more than $15.8 billion was given in 1968 to colleges, universities, hospitals and other charitable causes. Individuals donated $12.1 billion, while $1.3 billion were from bequests in the estates of individuals. Grants from philanthropic foundations totaled $1.5 billion, and corporations gave $925 million.

If some of the proposals announced by the House Ways and Means Committee should become law, it will be the first time that Congress will have passed legislation that actually discourages some of the large donations for humanitarian purposes.

Billy Graham

Will you please explain the following Bible verse: Jeremiah 31:34: "I will forgive thjer iniquities, and will remember their sins no more." Thank you.

L.O.

A mark of high character is the ability to forgive, and sure sign of stubborn wilfulness is an unforgiving spirit. God's ability to forgive and forget is something that humanity is incapable of. Godly, devout people may forgive, but it is seldom that they can cast the incident of offense from the memory.

What a marvelous thing it is that God's forgiveness is absolute and everlasting! Provincial disputes are hard to forget. Some people, for example, are still fighting the civil war. They try to perpetuate the strife and conflict of a century ago. Other people are harboring grudges years old, and shortening their lives by bitterness and an unforgiving spirit. How wonderful to know that God, the One who has suffered more offenses and oversights than any of us, has said, "I will remember your sins no more." He doesn't hold a grudge, but lovingly waits to receive anyone who puts their trust in Him.

Mobile Home Market Is Flourishing

By LISA CRONIN
(For John Cunniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — One sector of the housing industry that seems able to weather a credit crunch is mobile homes. The less money there is around, the more people seem to want mobile homes.

Mobile home sales were up 51 per cent in the first three months of 1969 while private housing starts were off five per cent in the same period.

MANUFACTURERS of mobile homes also held their own in the severe credit crunch of 1966. In that year private housing starts fell almost 21 per cent but building in the then fledgling mobile home industry remained steady.

"The mobile home industry has traditionally been able to take advantage of a tight money period," said Richard Keim, an analyst at Goodbody & Co. Keim, a specialist in the mobile home industry, predicts continued rapid growth for the industry.

"MOBILE HOMES may have cornered the low-cost housing market," said William Nelson, a securities analyst with Moody's Investory Services Inc. "The principal demand for this type of home is in the young married and retired groups—these are the fastest growing groups in the country."

Low cost is one of the major attractions of mobile homes. According to the Mobile Home Manufacturers Association, you can get a furnished, two-bedroom mobile home for about $6,000.

THE FEDERAL government estimates that six million low-cost housing units are needed over the next decade. Mobile home makers plan to take a large hunk of that market.

Members of the industry also report that they are getting greater acceptance by lenders. The mobile home is generally financed retail for a 7-to-10 year period, compared to periods of up to 30 years on conventional housing. The lender also can get a higher rate of return on mobile homes, and a low rate of defaults on mobile home loans has built lender confidence.

MOBILE home makers also are planning to attract a more prosperous market by upgrading the quality of their product, Keim said.

"They're getting rid of the trailer-ghetto image," he explained. "Mobile home parks have recreation facilities, good streets, landscaping. It used to be that you didn't buy one because you didn't have a nice place to put it, but this is changing."

More Working Women

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Wives are helping bring the bacon home in more U.S. households. A survey of the 27 million women who hold jobs found that 59 per cent are married and living with their husbands, 22 per cent are single, and 19 per cent are widowed, divorced or separated.

AMERICA must lead the world in headaches. Anyway, we consume approximately 26 billion aspirin tablets a year.

Could you escape from a sinking car? Tests show that a car usually floats from four to eight minutes after hitting water. It fills faster if the windows are open or broken. Your best bet: Try to escape by rolling down the window while the car is still afloat.

Drug addiction is more of a threat to doctors themselves than to college students or school dropouts. A psychiatrist estimates narcotics addiction is 30 times greater among physicians as it is among the general population.

POOR STUDENTS make poor drivers. Auto insurance claims statistics reveal that students who make good grades have driving records from 25 to 30 per cent better than those who make low grades.

Why does a crocodile shed tears? Well, it isn't because of any sympathy it feels for its victim. One scientific theory is that a crocodile gulps its food so fast that it presses against the roof of the creature's mouth, thereby forcing tears from its eyes.

THE CUSTOM of eating three square meals a day is on the wane, particularly among young Americans in the 18-to-24-year bracket. A research survey found that 16 per cent skip breakfast, 11 per cent miss the evening meal, and 22 per cent of the men and 18 per cent of the women do without lunch.

Fear or unhappiness may rarely cause a child to lose its hair temporarily or even permanently. Pediatricians say such sudden hair loss among children can result from emotional crises springing from weaning, abandonment, birth of another child in the family, or serious accidents.

Can You Tell If You've Had German Measles?

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
(First of two articles)

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you write about German measles in pregnancy? How can a woman be sure she has had the disease?

I have heard that just being in contact with someone who has the disease can harm the baby, even if the mother does not get the disease herself.

Is a vaccine available to the public? What should a woman do if she suspects she has had German measles in the first 12 weeks of pregnancy? — Mrs. M.J.M.

If a woman gets German measles (rubella), there is great risk that she will transmit the disease to the fetus (the unborn baby). If this occurs in the first 12 weeks of pregnancy, the risk of serious birth defects is extremely high — although the risk decreases rapidly after that time.

About 80 per cent of young women are immune to rubella. That is, they have already had the disease. Among the other 20 per cent, if they contract rubella early in pregnancy, the probability of having a defective child runs as high as 20 to 25 per cent or more.

If a woman is not sure that she has had rubella, there is a blood test called HAI which will detect the presence or absence of rubella antibodies, i.e., if antibodies are present, she has already had the disease and is safe.

You will have to ask your doctor whether this test is available in your area. It is done in laboratories of health departments and in some hospitals in larger communities.

If a woman has not had the disease, then vaccination may be considered.

As of the moment of writing this, such a vaccine is not yet licensed and hence is not on the market, but it will be soon — estimates are that by mid-summer it will be generally available. So far the vaccine has been used in "field trials" vaccinating about 30,000 children, and results have been excellent.

Until the vaccine is available, what can be done? Well, contact has to be fairly intimate to give the disease — close or continued contact with a child or adult who has German measles. Casual contact is not likely to transmit the virus.

Even so, in the last epidemic, a few years ago, the number of defective children as a result of it ran into the thousands. It is presumed that most of these cases came from mothers catching the disease from children who had picked it up at school or from playmates.

If there is strong suspicion that a pregnant woman has been exposed, vaccine is not the answer. Indeed, in that case, it must not be given. However, injection of immune serum globulin (gamma globulin) has been used to minimize the danger. Effectiveness of this is not always reliable or predictable, and it must be given soon after exposure if it is to do any good.

I know I haven't answered all of today's questions: What about abortion? And can the fetus get the disease if the mother does not? I'll discuss these tomorrow.

Is A Second Parakeet Necessary?

A parakeet has long since joined the family zoo and the younger daughter reasons that a second one is needed to keep the pioneer company since, she insists, he is always looking into the small mirror hanging from the inside of the cage in hopes of seeing another parakeet. The war of attrition for a second bird has already started but the battle has not yet been resolved.

Parakeets are supposed to be glib but this one never says a word except at times when you want it to remain quiet.

THE FAMILY DOG looks at it with a jaundiced eye, wondering, no doubt, if it has replaced the canine in family esteem. The dog's sworn enemies are the sparrows that swoop down on her food and the fact that the parakeet wears a green coat, thereby setting her apart from the wild feathered creatures, makes not a particle of difference to the the dog.

So far she has merely tried to dispatch the bird with a sinister stare. That battle, too, has been joined but not resolved.

NO. ONE DAUGHTER expressed the desire the other day to add to the list of household appliances an electric can opener.

She reads a lot and I gather she saw that statistic which says the average American — man, woman and child — open 259 cans a year.

That's an awful lot of work for a body who might be asked to lend a hand during a favorite TV program.

She offered to buy her mother an electric can opener for her birthday if honorable ancestor would come up 90 per cent of the principal.

It not only wanted a new image in the eye of the customer but the old trademark was too limiting for a company that now markets more than 1,250 varieties of items.

Actually, the company had more than 57 products when Henry Heinz dreamed up the slogan in the 1890's.

Nixon Must Stand Up For The ABM

WASHINGTON — As we come down to the wire for the Senate's vote on the Safeguard ABM, we'd better ask what sort of a horse-race this is and what's at stake?

IT IS A CONTEST not unlike one in 1941, a few weeks before Pearl Harbor. President Roosevelt had asked for an extension of the draft, and draftees in the training camps were scrawling OHIO — over the hill in October. Unlike Mr. Nixon, Roosevelt was trying to join a war, by goading the Japanese, and sinking German U-Boats, but no matter how a nation gets into war, there is no escape in unpreparedness. The Nixon naggers and the Roosevelt-haters have that quirk in common. They are arguing that a World War won't engulf us if we stand unready for it. Roosevelt won his point by a single vote, which was satisfactory. The stake was for Roosevelt, and is for Mr. Nixon, the principle that our military policy must be entrusted to the commander-in-chief, and not to Congress.

THOSE WHO VOTED to cut off Roosevelt's draft looked like fools when the enemy struck Pearl Harbor, and back in history there was another such occasion. In February, 1815, the Hartford Convention denounced the second war with Britain, and threatened to take new England out of the Union. Delegates with this message headed for Washington. They reached Baltimore and ran head-on into the news that General Jackson had smashed the British at New Orleans, turning a losing war into a winning one. Not only did the delegates look like fools amid the celebrations, but all Hartford Convention politicians and hangers-on (including Daniel Webster) were there after badly compromised, where it hurt the most, in their eligibility for national leadership. Senator Ted Kennedy, like Webster, might find that misjudgment in a time of stress could mean that the country just won't trust him for the presidency.

SENATORS WHO vote against erecting ballistic defenses against the Soviet and Chinese missiles are going to look silly, or worse, if the country is ill-prepared for the next nuclear crisis. It is far more likely to be a blackmail confrontation than a holocaust, and we may find ourselves ordered, as Kennedy ordered Khrushchev, to get out of some strategic stronghold where we chose to be. If that happens, it will be the fault of the disarmament bloc in the Senate.

• • •

THESE CAREERS, as well as national safety, are at stake, but so is the career of Richard Nixon. He must very soon go to the people with a far more forceful address than he made on Vietnam. That one was directed half to Hanoi, half to the American public. The President's coming speech on the Safeguard ABM would fall into feebleness if the President weakens it by cooing to the Kremlin for a disarmament treaty. The Russian leaders are impervious to oratory, and the Russian people can't be reached by public appeal.

FOR THE PRESIDENT to put any reliance in arms-talks would undercut his own arguments about the need for an ABM system, and would buttress the arguments of Ted Kennedy et al who are against buying any fire extinguishers until after the house is ablaze. Mr. Nixon must hit and hit hard, on the central theme. The best way to avert a nuclear attack is our known capability to survive and return it with compound interest.

Burleson Reports

'After Vietnam' Favorite Expression

WASHINGTON — "After Vietnam" is a favorite expression here in Washington. It seems that about everything anyone wants done can be accomplished "after Vietnam."

Problems now challenging the Government on every hand can supposedly be cured in short order. This includes the renovation of cities, soothing the unrest which agitates the younger generation and the minority groups and even a refurbishment of spiritual and economic destitution which afflicts many Americans.

This attitude adds up to an assumption prevalent in our society's life during the last several decades that money is all that is needed to cure everything.

THE COST of the effort in Vietnam is blamed for not having all of the desirable things here at home which we will have "after Vietnam." Many of these same people have never expressed a concern about government spending before. The concern seems only directed at the purpose for which it is spent. That same objection will also be directed against the refurbishing of our national defense, which is going to be necessary to a very large degree "after Vietnam," if we are to maintain a position of strength in the world.

The refrain grows that there should be a reappraisal of our military commitments. Apparently this means a reappraisal of the kind of world in which we live. Some sort of an assumption must be drawn that somehow our potential enemies have had a change of heart and that if we are not strong militarily, they will not fear us but will love us in our weakness.

THE ADVOCATES of everything "after Vietnam" do not show signs of considering what would happen if it should turn out that high expenditures for military spending must continue. There is no admitting possibilities that the balance of power in the world may be shifting in favor of our adversaries instead of the other way around.

The fact is that the "after Vietnam" thesis is so strong that priorities are already being established. These priorities leave military preparedness some place down the line from those activities which are suppese to relieve all our society's ills. It is already being talked that to bail out bankrupt cities the federal government must come across with another $20 billion per year, which just about doubles the present federal contribution. It is further being talked that the federal government will need to pay about one-third the cost of all local and state governments.

THIS "AFTER VIETNAM" business might be used as a convenient cover for lack of workable programs at the present time or to whether all of this money we don't have will be available for all these things. No one is saying anything about using "after Vietnam" resources to get our fiscal house in order — like paying off some of our debts, stemming inflation by balancing the budget, strengthening the integrity of the dollar by reducing some of the tax burden from the necks of the taxpayer.

There is nothing wrong in looking to the time when problems of our society can be solved to the greatest possible extent. At the same time the idea that money alone can meet the challenge is false. In the opinion of some who have espoused this concept in the past, the $20 billion or more now being spent on some of these problems has resulted in chaos. Another $20 billion or so under present methods could produce twice as much chaos unless the spending is done more effectively.

Taxes, Crime, Integrity Key Issues Of Campaign

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Six Democrats and five Republicans vie for governorship nominations in Tuesday's New Jersey primary elections.

Taxes, crime, political integrity, racial charges and the problems of the cities have been the major issues of the campaigns.

Nearly 3.2 million persons are registered to vote. Professional politicians estimate the plethora of candidates will boost the turnout to 25 per cent or 800,000 voters. Normally 20 per cent of those registered vote in a Garden State primary.

New Jersey and Virginia with a primary July 15, are the only states that have gubernatorial elections this year. New Jersey's is watched because of the state's frequent role as a key swing state in national elections.

Two conservatives are given an edge: former Gov. Robert B. Meyner in the Democratic race and U.S. Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr. in the Republican contest.

The present governor, Democrat Richard J. Hughes, has served two four-year terms, making him ineligible to seek re-election.

Meyner has the advantage of widespread voter recognition after spending 1953 through 1961 in the governor's chair.

He faces a liberal challenge from U.S. Rep. Henry Helstoski, who has the endorsement of the New Democratic Coalition, a statewide group of Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy supporters. Helstoski also claims the backing of officials from labor union locals with a total membership of 65,000.

An old-line machine in Hudson County lead by John V. Kenny, who almost singlehandedly gave Meyner the 1953 nomination, was angered by Meyner's performance as governor and is backing state Sen. William F. Kelly.

Three Changes For Area Methodists

Only three changes were noted in the Big Spring district when appointments were read at the concluding session of the Northwest Methodist Conference in Lubbock Sunday.

The Rev. Marvin Roark, pastor of Kentwood Methodist, was assigned to be pastor at White Deer. James Uselton, who has been at Hunt Memorial-Spurlock in Dumas, will come here to succeed the Rev. Roark. The Rev. Leo Gee returns to First United Methodist, the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand to Wesley United Methodist, and the Rev. Elra Phillips to North Birdwell.

The Rev. Ray Elmore will come from Groom to pastor the First United Methodist at Coahoma, while the Rev. Lynward Harrison goes to Groom.

At St. Paul United Methodist in Midland, where the Rev. Dallas Denison is retiring, the Rev. Sam P. Auslam, formerly associate pastor of Polk Street United Methodist in Amarillo, will become the minister. Big Spring District appointments below:

Brownrigg Is Rehired

Earl Brownrigg, who served as county trapper for many years, will go back on the county payroll in his old capacity.

The Howard County Commissioners Court Monday voted to reemploy Brownrigg until Jan. 1, 1970, as trapper. Ranchers and farmers have been petitioning the county to hire a trapper and have complained that predators are causing them losses.

Under the terms of the will be paid $320 per month plus $85 car allowance.

Ray Nichols made the motion that Brownrigg be reemployed, and the motion was seconded by Bill Crooker. It was approved unanimously.

The commissioners were engaged shortly before noon in a discussion with Joe Pogue, evaluator, on the recommendations he has made on the valuation of rural land for tax purposes.

Dee Jon Davis, representing a group of ranchers and farmers who recently organized to oppose what they term inequitable raises, was on hand and was interrogating Pogue on his estimates.

Money Bill

the session to block Hardeman's appointment.

The state's first minimum wage bill, if signed as expected by Smith, would affect about 2.5 million Texans not covered by the federal minimum wage. It would set a $1.25 an hour minimum for most of the workers as of Feb. 1, 1970, then increase the minimum to $1.40 in 1971. Employes in family enterprises and businesses with fewer than four employes are among those exempted. Migrant farm workers would be paid either at piece rates set by the state agriculture commissioner or a minimum of $1.10 an hour.

The wage bill won House approval 89-60 after a hot debate in which opponents claimed it was "just another move in that socialistic trend." The compromise passed the Senate last Friday on voice vote with 10 senators later asking to be recorded as voting against it.

The teachers pay raise bill is financed by $61.9 million in the one-year appropriations bill but actually obligates the state to a 10-year salary program with teachers guaranteed a raise each year. The 1970 raise would average about $700 a year per teacher. The 1971 cost of an additional $1,100 raise that year was estimated at $92.8 million which must be raised by another legislative session.

Starting pay for a teacher with a bachelor's degree will increase from $526 to $593 for the nine months of the 1969-1970 school year, then jump to $600 for 10 months of 1970-71. There would be an annual 5 per cent increase over the next decade plus "cost of living" boosts in 1974 and 1978. Administrators and those with more degrees and more teaching experience would get proportionate raises over the bachelor degree level.

Also in the teachers pay bill is authorization for statewide kindergartens, beginning Sep. 1, 1970, for 5-year-olds. The financing, estimated at $6 million the first year, will be up to a future legislative session.

The 27 new district courts authorized Saturday night at a first year cost of $611,000 are added to two other courts voted previously. More than half of the new courts would be in four major cities— six in Houston, five in Dallas, two in San Antonio and two in Fort Worth. Other new courts are in Nueces, Brazoria, Denton, Angelina, El Paso and Jefferson counties with four other multi-county courts.

The governor will get to appoint judges to all the 29 new courts.

HCJC Sign-Up Set Tuesday

Registration for the first six weeks of the summer term at Howard County Junior College begins Tuesday. Hours will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., and then from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Dean Ben Johnson urged those planning to take courses to register as promptly as possible in order not to miss classes. First classes will begin Wednesday morning.

The basic courses will be offered in the initial session from June 3-July 11, and most of them will be repeated in the second session July 15-Aug. 22. There is a music appreciation course during the first six weeks.

Also new in the first session are some courses in the technical-vocational division, including introduction to electronic data processing and computer programming, patrol operations, traffic plan and management, and a laboratory introduction to EDP.

In the initial session evening courses include Spanish, business law, economics, composition, literature, American government and history, college algebra. The rest of the basic courses will be in the day session.

Five Drownings In Rio Grande

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex (AP) — Five persons drowned in the Rio Grande late Sunday, the Starr County sheriff's office said today.

The drownings were between Roma and Falcon Dam, said deputy Roberto Pena. Pena said the bodies had not been recovered and that a search was on by Rio Grande City firemen.

Pena said the victims were crossing the boundary river in a small boat. Two persons were reported to have swam safely to shore, he said.

Pena said the victims included a man, his wife, their son, a girl, 14, and a boy, 12.

Swim Program Starts Today

Sessions of the Citywide Recreational Learn-to-Swim program began Monday at the City Park swimming pool and will continue all this week.

Youngsters who would like to learn the basics that will lead to being able to swim are asked to report at 10 a.m. Tuesday if they did not sign Monday. The instruction is free, although those who are able are asked to pay a small pool fee.

Webb Plans Recreation Program For Dependents

In an effort to provide recreational activities for the many dependents of Webb's military personnel, the base has outlined an extensive summer youth program that begins with registration June 9-11.

The program is much the same as last year's, in which an estimated 1,000 of Webb's youth population participated. The schedule does not include the Little League season that is currently under way. Any dependents of military personnel between the ages of three and 18 are eligible to enroll.

Three categories of crafts are being taught this year in 10 sessions each by Mrs. Sharon Hansen. A graduate of San Jose State College with a bachelors degree in art, Mrs. Hansen will teach a course on handicrafts which include papier-mache, wire, clay, mosaic and tissue paper. She will also instruct youngsters in ceramics, and a separate course on drawing with pencil, ink and chalk. The fee is $5 for all 10 lessons of each category.

The youth golf program will be repeated with the instruction of S. Sgt. Robert Arnold. The course consists of 10 lessons, and the fee is $5 with the equipment provided free.

Mrs. Neil Schultz will give a 10-lesson basic course in tennis for only $5. Equipment is provided, but students are encouraged to bring a racket if one is available.

Lee Rogers, though only 15, is qualified to teach the free course on self defense offered to girls only. Miss Rogers holds a yellow belt in karate.

Fencing is another area that the program covers. Marty Worcester, of the Webb youth center, will give a free course on the basics of fencing, and will also instruct a free course on the safe uses of the bow and arrow in a basic archery course.

The modern dancing classes of Mrs. Ora Burson will continue as they have during the school year. Tap, toe and acrobatic dancing are featured in this instruction. Lessons are $1 each.

Bowling lessons for pre-teen youths will be held in the base lanes at a cost of only 20 cents for each line bowled.

A swimming course is also planned and will begin when renovations of the airmen's pool is completed.

PAINTING OF 'BIG SPRING' GIVEN TO NEW POST OFFICE
Mrs. Terry Patterson, artist, and Frank Hardesty, postmaster, with gift picture

Mrs. Patterson Donates Painting To Post Office

By SAM BLACKBURN

Mrs. Terry Patterson, Big Spring artist, has made a gift of an oil painting of the historic "big spring" to the new Federal Building.

The painting will hang in the office of Frank Hardesty, postmaster, and was accepted by him on behalf of the post office and becomes the first art work to be displayed in the building.

Mrs. Patterson, who became an artist because her physician recommended it as therapy as climax to a long illness, has been painting 21 years.

Her first experience in the field was with pastels, but after two years she changed to oils and has devoted most of her efforts since to that media.

Her paintings have been shown in more than 200 exhibitions in this country as well as in England and Germany. She has had 31 one-man shows including shows in Grand Central Art Galleries in New York, South Plains College Museum in Levelland, Bank of the Southwest in Houston, Hanover, Germany, and in numerous other places.

She is listed in "Who's Who in Art" and has been in that book for seven years. She is also recognized in "Who's Who in American Women," since 1962. Many other publications carry her name.

She is the wife of Richard Patterson, an Odessa businessman. They have two children, and they live at 407 Edwards.

Mrs. Patterson's first success in art was with an oil "Portrait of a Champion Hereford Bull." This picture won for her in New York City in 1952.

She told Hardesty that she began painting the picture of the "big spring" on Feb. 9.

"I went out to the spring," she said, "and made a sketch. While I was there I put in some of the color."

She has been putting the finishing touches on the picture since.

"I am happy to have this picture hanging in my office," Hardesty told the artist. "It is most appropriate, I think, because of the subject matter and because it is the work of a Big Spring painter."

One sidelight of Mrs. Patterson's work is the service she has rendered city law enforcement officers by making pictures of wanted men from descriptions given her by witnesses. These officers said have been most helpful in locating fugitives on several occasions.

Insurance Agents Install Officers

Big Spring Life Underwriters will hold the installation of officers Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Blue Room at Cosden Club. Jim Blakeley, Odessa, manager of the West Texas area for Prudential, will be the speaker. This will be a ladies night affair.

Taking over from Ray Weir as president will be Bob Wilson, who has served as vice president this year. John Hale will serve another term as secretary.

New directors taking office will be Bob Whatlington and Elmo Phillips, serving with Jerry Mancill, T. A. Thigpen and Weir, who serves by virtue of being immediate past president. Louis McKnight is the retiring director.

Vet Lined Up For Coahoma

COAHOMA — Arrangements have been made for a veterinarian to be here soon to vaccinate pets against rabies.

Mayor Jack Cauble said that Dr. Joe Neff would be at the fire station from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. June 17, so that pet owners could have their pets innoculated.

As of July 1, the City of Coahoma will begin strict enforcement of its dog and cat ordinance. Animals must have their vaccination tags and will not be allowed to run loose.

Martin Site

John L. Cox of Midland No. 1-D Anderson is a new location in the 8,500 foot Spraberry Trend Area of Martin County. It is 2,000 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 39-35-1n, T&P survey, and 5½ miles northeast of Stanton and a half mile southwest of production.

Gets Degree

Douglas Earnest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theo Earnest, Sand Springs, received his degree with honors in pharmacy at the University of Texas commencement Saturday. His parents attended the exercises.

Martin Grand Jury Studies Jail-Break

STANTON — Indictments were sought Monday against Teofilo Gonzalez on charges of jail breaking, and Johnny Vela for burglary and for aiding a felon to escape jail.

These were two of a number of cases laid before a Martin County grand jury which convened Monday morning in 118th District Court.

The Gonzalez-Vela complaints stemmed from a recent jail break at the Martin County jail, in which the two defendants were the principals.

Judge Ralph Caton and Dist. Atty. Wayne Burns were in Stanton to conduct the grand jury sessions and to set a docket to open June 9. The plans are for Gonzalez to go to trial on at least one of the bills against him that week.

Gonzalez was already under indictment for armed robbery at the time he broke out of jail. The new indictments sought would likewise bill him as an habitual offender, if they are voted.

He and Vela broke out of the county jail here on the night of May 10. The state alleges Vela cut a hole in the jail's outer wall and then broke into the sheriff's office, taking the jail keys with which he released Gonzalez from his cell. Both men then fled. Vela was arrested May 13 and Gonzalez a few days later.

Vela was serving a year in jail for a misdemeanor conviction at the time of his alleged participation in the jail break.

Gonzalez was in jail following his arrest several months ago on a felony indictment, accusing him of having taken a deputy sheriff's gun from the officer at pistol point in early 1968.

Globe Theater Director Here Wednesday

A presentation on the Globe Theatre in Odessa and the ambitious program it carries on in presenting classical drama for West Texans will be given here Wednesday by the Theatre's director.

Charles David McCalley will be in the First Federal community room at 1 p.m. for this presentation.

Members of the cultural affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce, joining in support of the drama program, emphasized that all interested persons are invited to attend the session.

McCalley will talk on the Theatre's Shakespeare Festival, scheduled June 17-August 24. The Shakespeare plays are presented by professionals, with West Texas talent appearing in supporting roles. The Globe Theatre is soliciting support from Big Spring, as well as all West Texas.

'Agent 009' Mighty Fast

DALLAS (AP) — A Sherman woman arrested on a drunkenness charge early today proved to be quicker on her feet than the cops taking her to jail.

As the officers were helping her out of the squad car, the woman whirled and snatched Officer G. W. Bowling's pistol.

"It was one of the most hair-raising things I've ever experienced," one of the officers said later.

Patrolmen D. N. Davis and E. R. Walt stood helpless with Bowling as the woman cursed the officers and babbled incoherently.

She told them she was "Agent 009" and that she had faced death nine times that night.

Six other officers, two armed with shotguns, had tried to surround her. She saw them first and ordered them to stop.

"It's hard to know how long to wait in a case like that," one of the policemen said later. "It might have been different if it had been a man, but shooting a woman is something else."

The standoff ended suddenly after police had tried for five minutes to talk the woman into giving up the gun.

She twirled the pistol on her finger Western-style, and said, "I want to give the gun back." Then she placed it on the trunk of a squad car.

The woman, 39, was placed in custody on investigation of assault with intent to murder.

Oil Depletion Allowance Is Under Serious Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance, long considered one of the most entrenched of all special tax provisions, will be under serious attack this summer.

There is a growing feeling in Congress that the House Ways and Means Committee will include a scale-down of the rate in its package of tax reforms.

Once out of the committee, the fate of such a proposal in the House, and especially in the Senate, is unpredictable.

The Nixon administration did not recommend any change in the rate of the allowance—a portion of the income from an oil property which the producer is allowed to deduct on the theory that it represents the using-up of underground assets.

The administration did recommend some tightening of collateral rules used by producers to obtain fuller advantage of the allowance.

But now, in private conversation, administration officials talk as though they are expecting a committee slash at the depletion rate itself.

The man in charge of the tax legislation, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., has said repeatedly the depletion allowance has become a symbol of tax reform and that Congress would not be likely to accept a bill that left the allowance untouched.

In fact, he has said, the smaller depletion allowances granted other natural resource industries may be trimmed as well.

Members are expecting a flood of mail and visits from industry spokesmen when that time comes, and the pressure is sure to be revived at every juncture of congressional action. Several committee members, though far from a majority, are from major oil producing states.

Like their successors, Johnson administration tax specialists did not recommend reducing the depletion percentage itself. But they did commission a study that strikes hard at the major arguments for the provision.

President Lyndon B. Johnson never endorsed that study or any of his subordinates' other tax proposals. He simply left them without comment for the new administration.

Those who want the depletion allowance left alone insist that without it exploration for untapped oil deposits in this country, already reduced, will drop drastically.

Traffic And Drownings Texas' Primary Killers

By The Associated Press

At least 69 persons died violently in Texas during the three-day Memorial Day holiday which ended at midnight Sunday.

The Associated Press counted 42 killed in auto accidents, three in boating mishaps and 24 by drowning.

Other types of violence were not tabulated.

Two separate auto crashes accounted for 10 deaths. Six died Saturday in a two-car crash near Blum. Four more died Saturday night in a car-truck wreck near McKinney.

The warm weather made swimming pleasant, but the drowning figure was also high compared to other years.

The four-death crash Saturday night near McKinney occurred on US 121 just west of the city. The dead were Edward Boyd, 23, Carolyn Kennedy, 20; Judy Barton, 21, and Alice Harmon, 20. The four were traveling west in a car when it collided with the truck. Police said the truck driver suffered only minor injuries.

Estaban Santana, 23, was killed Sunday when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver on the east side of Ralls on the South Plains. Police arrested the driver a few hours later, they said.

Jimmy Dale Laird, 19, of Lone Star was killed and three other persons, including his 15-year-old wife, Bonnie, were injured when two automobiles collided Saturday night. The accident occurred on US 59 near the New Diana community in Upshur County. Officers said the accident occurred as one automobile pulled onto the highway from a private road.

An accident on a Dallas expressway shortly before midnight Sunday killed Roy Hall Jr., 27, of Dallas. Officers said

A motorcycle accident on US 377 early Saturday fatally injured James Keiser, 26, of Brownwood. Officers said Keiser lost control of his machine and crashed.

Lewis Breadsley, 17, of Benbrook, drowned Saturday in Lake Benbrook. Witnesses said Beardsley was trying to swim across a 50-foot stretch of water when he went under.

A Conroe youth, Walter E. Bigson, 15, drowned Saturday in Lake Raven at Huntsville State

A one-car accident Sunday on Texas 96 in Kirbyville killed John Edward White, 26, of Silsbee.

An unidentified man, believed to be a Ft. Hood soldier, drowned Sunday in Lake Belton off Timber Park Lake. The body had not been recovered early today.

Mrs. Mary Thelma Winchester, 40, and her daughter, Janice, 11, died Sunday when their car hit a barricade at Arlington and struck a utility pole.

Henry Lee Steele, 23, of Ft. Stockton, Tex., died Sunday when his pickup truck turned over on Farm Road 1450, about 20 miles west of Pecos in West Texas.

Emede Vidal Jr., 12, was struck by a car and killed Sunday night as he walked across US 83, about 12 miles west of Roma. The youth was from Rio Grande City.

Ronnie Pope, 11, of Fort Smith, Ark., was killed Sunday when the motorcycle on which he was riding with his father collided with an automobile. The accident occurred on US 59 about two miles from Marshall. The father was critically injured.

Gary Burris, 21, of Lufkin drowned Sunday while skiing on Lake Sam Rayburn near Nacogdoches. Burris was the new lake's 16th drowning victim.

Scarred Spoon Clears Up Mess

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP) — It took 18 cents postage to return a 14 cent spoon to the Army, but someone in Sioux Center, Iowa, feels better now.

A letter addressed simply to Ft. Sill mess hall, Oklahoma, eventually found its way to CWO Wesley McKinzey, Ft. Sill food service advisor.

When he opened the lumpy envelope, McKinsey found, wrapped in cotton, a pitted, scarred spoon clearly printed "U.S."

"There's no question about it being an Army spoon," McKinzey said. "That belongs to us!"

McKinzey believes some young trooper assigned to Ft. Sill took the spoon home with him and finally decided to send it back.

"You know when you're young your conscience isn't nearly what it is when you get older," he smiled.

The spoon will go back to a post mess hall.

One-Semester Suspensions

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — The disciplinary board of the University of Kansas announced Sunday one-semester suspensions for 33 of 71 students charged with the disruption May 9 of the annual chancellor's ROTC review.

Thirteen others who might have graduated either Saturday or at the end of the summer terms were punished by withholding their course credits until January, 1970. Two students who the board said had committed previous offenses were given penalties of longer but unspecified duration.

Lesser penalties were dispensed to others.

None of the students was named in the announcement. All decisions may be appealed to the board of disciplinary appeals.

New York Magazine recently had a few choice words to say about it too: "And then there is the VW, which retains its value better than anything else. A 1956 VW is worth more today than any American sedan built the same year, with the possible exception of a Cadillac."

Around 27 miles to the gallon.

Blistering 65 Wins Hill Biggest Check

THE BALL THAT WON IT
Dave Hill exhibits $30,000 sphere

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Dangerous Dave Hill, the Peck's bad boy of pro golf, headed home to Jackson, Mich., today, the biggest check of his career in his pocket and a doctor bill awaiting him.

"I started the year at 165 pounds," Hill said Sunday after winning the $30,000 top prize in the Memphis Open Golf Tournament. "Now I weigh 140. I'm going to see a doctor and find out why.

"I don't have any idea what's causing it, but I almost have to pin my pants to my shorts to keep them from falling down when I swing.

"I'm not worried about it. I never worry about anything—except maybe getting suspended by the PGA."

And that's happened, too.

He's an outspoken, pull-no-punches sort of character, this darkly-handsome guy who bears a strong resemblence to the late James Dean, the movie actor. His blunt pronouncements have put him in occasional trouble with the PGA, including one-week suspension this year.

"I've been suspended, all together, two months and one week," he said. "I keep a separate account of it."

Hill, in his 12th year on the tour, barged out of the pack with a five-under-par 65, overhauled third-round leaders Lee Elder and Bert Yancey and finished with a 72-hole total of 265, 15 under-par for the 6,485-yard, par 70 Colonial Country Club course.

He was two strokes in front of Elder, who still is looking for his first victory. Elder finished with a 70 for 267, followed by Charles Coody, 67, and Tommy Aaron, 65, tied at 268.

Steve Reid, who had a remarkable 61 in the third round, finished with a 69 for 269 and was followed by Don January, 67 for 270.

Yancey, winner of the Atlanta Classic the previous week, blew to a 76 for 273.

Hill, whose last previous victory was in this same tournament two years ago, birdied the second hole from 10 feet and got another on the fourth after a wedge shot left him a 3½-foot putt.

Elder bogeyed the same hole and dropped back to a tie.

Hill went ahead to stay with a 25-foot birdie putt on the 12th, and chipped to within 18 inches for another bird on the next hole.

NFL Tries To Realign

NEW YORK (AP) — National Football League club owners met again today to try and realign themselves into three divisions—the one chore remaining to complete the merger of the two professional football leagues.

Pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle intends to have the 13 teams remaining in what will be the NFL's National Conference cut themsleves into three divisions—two of four teams and one of five—before the leagues start their spring meetings here on Wednesday.

The American Football League, which will be known as the American Conference, divided itself into three divisions two weeks ago when club owners moved Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Baltimore into the 10-team AFL.

The remaining NFL owners tried for nearly 24 hours to establish their three divisions but failed. The merger between the two leagues will be completed in 1970.

Rozelle might settle the matter by placing several alternatives in a hat and pulling one out.

Cowboys Open With Toughies

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys should get an early indication of what kind of year they're going to have in the National Football League—they play Super Bowl champion New York and runnerup Baltimore on successive weekends Sept. 6-15.

Correction

In the list of winners at the Colorado City Horse Show during the weekend, an incorrect placing was given on the mare shown by Cheryl Roane. Cheryl's Duchess Flit Bar won first place in the 1966 mare class, not third as was erroneously reported.

San Angelo And Midland Both Trip Up Cardinals

The Big Spring Cardinals bit the dust twice here Sunday, falling 3-2 to the San Angelo Lions in the opener, then crumbling before the Midland Colts, 7-2, in the nightcap.

It appeared the Cards might win the first one when Tony Martinez slammed a triple to score F. Martinez with the tying run in the bottom of the eighth, but Green and Rimaldo touched Junior Mendoza for successive hits in the top of the ninth to get the winning run. T. Garza, the San Angelo hurler, set the Cards down with four hits. J. Ramirez was the loser.

Midland opened up with two runs in the first when Velarde homered with Perez aboard, then salted it away in the big fourth with four runs on three hits. The Cards couldn't untrack until the eighth when Pat Martinez scored on T. Martinez' triple, and then again in the ninth when Andy Gamboa, aboard with a single scored on a fielder's choice.

Firebirds And Panthers Win

The Firebirds blazed up with an eight-run outburst in the first inning, then outlasted the Bucaneers 12-8 in an American Minor Little League game Saturday. This put the Firebirds 6-3, the Bucs 3-5. Daniels and Belcher combined to strikeout 10 Bucs, and Belcher poured fuel on the fire with a double.

In another minor league tilt, the Panthers scored in all but one inning besting the Mustangs, 15-4. Harry was the winning pitcher, striking out 10 Mustangs and allowing only three hits. Robinson led Panther hitting with two hits in as many times at bat.

Hardwares Edge Kiwanians, 2-1

Randy Womack bested David Englert in a pitchers duel as Big Spring Hardware nipped the Kiwanis, 2-1. Thomas Brewer hit a sacrifice fly to right field, bringing in Gatlin Jones in the first for the initial BSH run. Englert singled home Larry Ringener in the top of the seventh to knot it. Then David Carter won it in the bottom of the same frame with a single that scored Barry Armstrong.

Shanks' Bat, Arm Factor In Victory

The Hawks put together two big innings to overpower the Colts 11-2 in an American Little League game Saturday evening. This left the Hawks with an 8-5 record and the colts with 8-4. Pat Carroll handcuffed the Colts with two hits. for three innings.

J. Shanks had a single, a double and a home run to pace the Colts, then pitched the last three innings and allowed only one hit in facing 10 batters. Ringener was charged with the loss.

Court Hearing Could Shake Boxing World

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal court hearing here today could lead to considerable shakeups in the boxing world. The hearing is scheduled to review the wiretap conversations involving former undefeated heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay.

Some speculation by sports writers indicate Clay could be re-accepted by the World Boxing Association if his conviction is reversed.

Clay was convicted for refusing to be inducted into the armed services claiming he was a black muslim minister, and evidence used against Clay is believed to have been acquired by government wiretapping. A new trial might be granted Clay, in concurrence with a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision that ruled a rehearing should be conducted.

Defense attorneys filed a brief with U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham asking the judge to order the government to reveal the contents of five wiretap conversations involving Clay.

However the government claimed Clay's telephones were not tapped, but he was the party to conversations involving unnamed others whose phones were tapped.

A Houston jury convicted Clay in Ingraham's court June 20, 1967, and he was assessed a five-year prison sentence and fined $10,000.

Although Clay has been ousted by the Black Muslim sect to which he claimed to be a minister, he had challenged the legality of his 1-A draft status because of his Muslim disposition.

Morton Rocked From Tourney

Morton's Foods got knocked out of the fifth annual Abilene Jaycee Invitational softball tournament in the wee hours Sunday morning, but the team had the satisfaction of knowing they were ousted by two of the top clubs.

They were taken out in the semi-finals of the winner's bracket by Abilene Athletic Supply, 4-2, then fell by the same score to Weigand in the semi-finals of the losers bracket.

Abilene won the title when Campo Package of Fort Worth forfeited. Two Campo players had been ejected over a disputed call, and their mates walked off, explaining they couldn't win without them. The score was tied at 1-1 at the time in the fourth inning. Campo took third in the tournament.

Against Weigand, Morton's held a 2-0 lead until the seventh, when Weigand pushed across three runs on as many hits, driving Wetsel from the mound. Gray led Morton batters with two hits, and Morton's outhit Weigand 7-6.

Abilene had the other game won before Morton's could get going in the fourth on doubles by Mitchell and Roger and in the seventh on successive singles by Gray, Sorley and Cox. The rally collapsed when the next two men struck out.

Meeks Leads Cubs In 10-7 Victory

The Cubs defeated the Orioles 10-7 in a Sophomore League game although the Birds rallied in the fourth and fifth. Scott Carlisle, who struck out 13, steadied and put out the fire. Terry Pate was charged with the loss. R. Meek's big bat helped the Cubs with a triple, double, single, and four runs. Rubio had three singles. Truitt also scored four runs for the Cubs.

This Is Crucial Week For Unbeaten Majestic Prince

By The Associated Press

This is the week, this is, for Majestic Prince who will bid to become racing's ninth Triple Crown winner next Saturday in the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes.

The unbeaten winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness put in his final workout for the 1½-mile Belmont Sunday by going 1⅛ miles in 1:51 4-5 with trainer Johnny Longden in the saddle.

Majestic Prince galloped out to 1¼ miles after doing fractions of 40 for the half, 1:13 for three-quarters, 1:39 2-5 for the mile and 1:51 4-5.

The completion of another triple came a step closer to reality last Saturday when Mrs. Whitney Stone's Shuvee added a win in the Mother Goose to her Acorn victory.

The 3-year-old filly now needs only a triumph in the Coaching Club American Oaks June 21 at Belmont Park to become the second winer of the New York Racing Association's Triple Crown for Fillies. Lloyd I. Miller's Dark Mirage accomplished the feat last year.

In winning the $87,075 Mother Goose on closing day at Aqueduct, Shuvee got home 2½ lengths ahead of Walter Kitchen's Hail to Patsy, the Kentucky Oaks winner who also was runner-up in the Acorn. Jesse Davidson guided the favored winner, $4.20, over the 1⅛ miles in 1:50 1-5. The Coaching Club American Oaks will be one-eighth of a mile longer.

Finger To Finger, Nose To Nose

Cubs' manager Leo Durocher and up Ed Vargo are going at it hot and heavy after a bean ball incident during sixth inning of Sunday's game with Atlanta in Chicago. After a few harsh words things cooled off and play resumed. Cubs won 13-4.

Montreal Making Serious Threat Of Mets' Record

By The Associated Press

Baseball's grand Canadian caper is in danger of deteriorating into a frantic footrace between Gene Mauch and his dark past.

Mauch's Montreal Expos bowed to San Diego 5-2 Sunday, extending their losing streak to 16 games—one short of the record for major league expansion teams.

The New York Mets lost 17 in a row in 1962, their first National League season. The longest downhill slide in the modern era, however, was the Philadelphia Phillies' 23-game streak the previous year.

Their manager was Gene Mauch.

Mauch also suffered through a 10-game September tailspin that cost his 1964 Phillies a pennant. And in 1944, the year he broke into the majors as an 18-year-old shortstop with Brooklyn, the Dodgers reeled through a 16-game losing streak.

Elsewhere Sunday, St. Louis snapped Cincinnati's winning string at nine games by drubbing the Reds 11-3; the Chicago Cubs flattened Atlanta 13-4 despite a milestone homer by Hank Aaron; the New York Mets nipped San Francisco 5-4; Pittsburgh pounded Houston 14-7 and Los Angeles smashed Philadelphia 12-4.

Rookie Nate Colbert hit his ninth and 10th homers and veteran Johnny Podres picked up his fifth pitching victory as San Diego's expansionists completed a three-game sweep over the sinking Expos.

It was the 10th loss at home for the Expos during their spin, which began on May 13 with a 10-3 collapse against Houston at Montreal. They won their season opener against the Mets, were buoyed by Bill Stoneman's April 17 no-hitter against Philadelphia and were seven games behind Chicago's East Division leaders—at 11-7—when the bottom fell out.

Tony Conigliaro Zeros On The Ball

By The Associated Press

Tony Conigliaro received a clean bill of health from his doctor during the weekend and he has opposing pitchers paying for it.

The comeback kid of Boston continued his very unusual recovery from the near blinding eye injury he suffered in 1967 by hammering a single, two doubles and his 10th home run Sunday, helping the Red Sox beat Minnesota 5-2.

"I guess you can say I'm hitting the ball as good as ever," he said after his perfect day which raised his average 17 points to .288. "I think I'm home at last." Dr. Charles D. J. Regan, who treated Conigliaro, thought so Friday when he said the injury was not rare but the degree of recovery was very unusual, adding that Conigliaro's vision in the injured eye "is back to almost 20-20."

The pitchers would agree.

Conigliaro was not the only one having a healthy day at the plate. Seattle overcame Detroit 8-7, Washington ruined the Chicago White Sox 9-2, the New York Yankees outlasted Kansas City 8-5, Baltimore trimmed California 4-3 in 11 innings and Oakland mauled Cleveland 11-1 in other American League action.

Conigliaro's comeback has been a heart-warming and important accomplishment for the Red Sox after his career appeared ended as he sat out the 1968 season following the beaning which caused the eye injury.

The 24-year-old slugger started the season hitting well, but caused some worry several weeks ago when he went into a tailspin.

However, he has hit five homers in his last nine games and since the doctor's report, he has two singles, two doubles and two homers in 11 at bats, driving in six runs for the club lead with 37.

Ray Culp, the league's first nine-game winner, protected the runs until the eighth when Sparky Lyle saved the victory.

Seattle easily kept intact its record of having never been shut out with homers by Tommy Harper, Don Mincher, Steve Whitaker and Wayne Comer for seven runs before Harper singled in the tie-breakin run in the eighth to end Detroit's four-game winning streak.

Frank Howard hit his 16th homer and a two-run double and Ken McMullen and Brant Alvea added homers as Washington made it easy for Barry Moore, 4-1, who breezed in with a six-hitter.

The Yankees fell behind 5-1, but finally caught up on Joe Pepitone's two-run homer, his 14th, in the fifth inning.

AFL Slates Inter-Loop Schedules

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirty-three interleague games between teams in the American Football League and National Football League are included in the 74-game preseason schedules anounced today.

The world champion New York Jets will play six games, starting with the Aug. 1 game in Chicago against the College All-Stars. The Jets will play the St. Louis Cardinals in St. Louis, the New York Giants in New Haven, Conn., Minnesota in Winston-Salem, N.C., and the Dallas Cowboys in Dallas. The Jets only game with an AFL opponent will be in Oakland.

Baltimore, the 1968 NFL champion who will move into the AFL in 1970 with Cleveland and Pittsburgh, will play five AFL opponents. The Colts will meet San Diego, Oakland, Houston, Buffalo and Miami before winding up against Dallas.

Cleveland will play only one AFL team, San Diego, in its five-game schedule and Pittsburgh will play only Cincinnati from the AFL.

In addition to the 33 interleague games, there will be 11 between AFL teams and 30 between NFL clubs. Green Bay is the only team that does not have an interleague game.

The preseason schedule runs from Friday, Aug. 1 to Sunday, Sept. 14 with only NFL clubs active on the final weekend when the AFL clubs will be opening their regular season. The NFL season opens Sept. 21.

Sox Batter Giants, 15-2

The Red Sox won their opener in the Sophomore League, beating the Giants in a 15-2 slugfest. Alan Davis struck out 13 and scattered six hits effectively while his mates were raking E. Villa for 12 safeties. John Ortega homered for the Giants, but Nate Poss was the big noise for the Red Sox with two doubles and two singles. The game was called during the fifth inning on the 10-run rule.

Decorating Schemes At Harris Lumber Yard

Planning a new touch to decorate some part of your home

Want something just a little out of the ordinary — something that's new and novel?

Why not visit Harris Lumber Co., 1609 E. Fourth and discuss your problem with the staff there? They've dozens of ideas on this sort of thing— and one of them is almost certain to be just the thing you've been seeking

More shelving is your need? Look over the Lustra Shelving center. It's probably the place you'll find the answer

Pamphlets are available to help you with your decorating ideas for any room and it is a do-it-yourself project that really works. The hardware for mounting the shelves can be put up by an amateur workman and should you move, can be taken down and moved along with your other furniture.

What more practical way to make two rooms out of one than with shelves? You have both a room divider and functional shelves that were easy to install, practical, low in cost and smart in design. Make your job easier as a homemaker by installing shelves in your children and teenagers' rooms. Redecorate their rooms and add space for books, hobbies, toys, radios, record players and a study area which can be raised as the child grows.

Shelves by Lustra can create everything from a music center to a vanity.

Be your own decorator with Lustra quality shelf hardware that is produced from the finest aluminum and available in five soft, gleaming, brushed finishes: gold, walnut, natural, charcoal and white. Finishes that will never rust, corrode or tarnish. Harris and Lustra offers you shelf hardware, shelving and pole, everything necessary to decorate your home with a handsome look, a smart look and yet at little expense.

Funeral Home Staff Noted For Service

Experience at one's work is always a good indication of the kind of results to be expected.

At Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home, the combined experience of the staff is nearly 120 years. This means all have had much personal contact with funeral direction and is ample proof the establishment is well qualified to serve you as you need to be served in times when a funeral home is needed.

The long years of service has become the symbol of comfort during the hour of bereavement. Complete confidence in the trained men and women of Nalley-Pickle has led to a long-standing custom of turning all arrangements over to them, with the assurance that everything will be carried out in the smallest detail.

The Rosewood Chapel is designed to provide privacy for the family during the service as well as comfort for the others attending. The covered entrance provides shelter during inclement weather. The chapel has air conditioning for the summer months and controlled central heating in the wintertime. There is always ample parking space at Nalley-Pickle.

The sanctuary has been built with the knowledge that comfort, quietness and friendly service is most desired and appreciated when planning becomes difficult for relatives.

For a quarter century the people of the Big Spring area have been going to Nalley-Pickle during their time of bereavement.

Coy Nalley and J. C. Pickle have kept pace with the demand for efficient and dignified service and comfortable facilities in keeping the confidence of those served, or to be served.

Any needed information may be secured by calling the professional employes or owners of Nalley-Pickle at 267-6331.

McMAHON MAINTAINS EXTENSIVE FLEET OF SPECIAL TRUCKS
Necessary machinery for any concrete job available at local firm

All Concrete Needs Can Be Supplied By McMahon Firm

McMahon Concrete Company, 605 N. Benton, is truly a one-stop place if your need has to do with concrete in any of its many forms. Regardless of the nature of the job you have under way, McMahon is ready to serve you anywhere in Howard County.

They have the proper mixture of concrete for any type of job, including mixes for foundations, bridges, culverts, sidewalks, driveways, curbs, gutters and street pavement. If concrete can do the job, McMahon has the mixture.

Huge mixing hoppers have been set up on the lot where trucks back under the chutes and load, an extraordinarily fast method of loading the proper mixture. Just set your forms and call McMahon's radio-equipped trucks for delivery of the concrete you need. They have 10 concrete trucks, two dump trucks, two flat-bed trucks, four pickups and five front-end loaders.

McMahon Concrete is a supplier, but should you have construction work to be done requiring concrete, they have a list of local contractors for your consideration. Put your own ideas to work in items that can be made of concrete — McMahon can make it from your own design.

Pre-cast concrete items are in the fastest growing department at McMahon Concrete. Contractors of industrial buildings as well as homes are using more pre-cast concrete to make construction quicker. The durability of concrete has been proven through the years and it is now proving its versatility.

Roof sections is one of the latest additions to the pre-casting department. They have been making pre-cast wall panels for some time. These wall panels from McMahon were used in construction of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, 306 W. 3rd. The fence at the Rehabilitation Center is also from McMahon and is precast sections two inches thick and six feet in length. This particular fence is made with exposed aggregate; however, if you do not wish to have a rough surface from the exposed rock, you may have a smooth concrete surface. With the fence made in sections, two men can quickly enclose a yard.

Old Curiosity Shop Is Exciting Place To Visit

If you want to buy an unusual gift or get some gadget repaired properly there's one place you should go — the Old Curiosity Shop at 3103 W. Highway 80.

Wilma and Sherman Whitaker, the proprietors, can solve your problem. Mrs. Whitaker takes care of the Curiosity Shop, which features a large stock of fine glassware, jewelry, handcrafts and novelties, while Whitaker does repairs on small appliances and engines.

Whitaker reminds lawnmower owners that spring is in full swing. That means grass to cut. He says that lawnmowers should be taken care of now so they will do a good job.

Lawnmower and other small engine repair are specialties at the Curiosity Shop. Whitaker can tune-up a lawn mower with new spark plugs, points and condenser and a carburetor clean-up, or he can completely overhaul a lawnmower engine and insert new rings, seals and valves.

He also repairs small appliances such as mixers, irons, percolators, lamps and toasters. All work is performed with competence and satisfactorily.

The Curiosity Shop has a world of special items which can make pleasant gifts for anyone. There are shelves upon shelves of fine glassware, novelties and jewelry. Some of their glassware is very old and makes fine collectors' items.

Needlework, handmade by local residents, also is a specialty at the Curiosity Shop. Mrs. Whitaker has several unique samples of table linens, dolls, pillows, papier mache statuettes and center pieces.

There also are toys, charms, leather and cloth purses and miniature dishes for excellent gifts.

Mrs. Whitaker said that novelty and "gag" gifts are a big feature in the Curiosity Shop and she has a big selection for really "fun" giving.

A larger stock of jewelry is available at the Curiosity Shop than in the past, and there are several pieces of antique jewelry, or jewelry which has an older flavor in its design.

There is always something unusual to find at the Curiosity Shop, 3103 W. Hwy. 80, and you're always welcome to visit.

HELPING VICTIMS WHERE THEY FALL

Mobile Coronary Unit

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The hospital is going to the patient in New York, speeding help to heart attack victims at the spot where they fall.

FLOPHOUSE RUN

A special team is giving intensive care to patients in subway stations, on the streets, in restaurants and churches, in stores and railroad stations and even a flophouse on Bleeker Street in Greenwich Village.

The "Mobile Coronary Care Unit" at St. Vincent's Hospital has been in operation for eight months, and has made about 350 emergency runs through the city's crowded streets.

The St. Vincent's unit was the first in this country. A number of other cities are working on similar units now, including one in operation since April 1 at the Ohio State University Medical Center.

On May 8, the St. Vincent's team members found Leo Sheptin, 54, on the floor of the kosher provisions firm where he is a clerical worker. They treated him there.

Sheptin sat up in his bed a few days ago and said he feels pretty good now, despite angina pain and worry about getting his job back or another job.

KEPT ME ALIVE

Sheptin gestured toward Dr. John A. Chadbourn, who heads the team on the calls and said: "He kept me alive. Otherwise, I wouldn't be here to talk to you."

Throughout the country, about 500,000 persons die of heart attacks each year, at least half and perhaps two-thirds of them before getting medical treatment.

Chadbourn, an internist and assistant director of the program, says it's hard to prove with statistics what might have happened if the mobile unit were not used. But he adds: "We feel persons are being saved. We know we've relieved their suffering . . . and we feel some would have died."

Along with a box of various cardiac medicines and a battery-powered electrocardiograph, the mobile unit carries a battery-powered device called a defibrillator, which administers electric shock.

A major problem in heart attacks can come if the heart starts to beat wildly out of rhythm, a situation meaning certain death if not controlled.

The late President Dwight D. Eisenhower survived several of these episodes because he was treated immediately while in the hospital. The electric shock to the heart is intended to restore normal rhythm.

32 DOA

Of 346 calls the team has made as of last Monday, 193 turned out to be valid cardiac calls, 43 were patients with other serious illnesses, 32 were dead on arrival of the team and 78 were false alarms. Seven died after hospitalization.

In addition to reaching the patient quickly and applying intensive care on the spot, a key to the program is continuing the spot treatment until the patient's condition is stabilized.

The team includes an attending physician, a resident physician, emergency room nurse, ECG technician, student nurse observer, and the driver and his assistant.

Kennedy Greets Serviceman

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., greets an unidentified serviceman during a brief stop Sunday at the Albuquerque airport. Kennedy was on his way to a tour of the Navajo Reservation.

Group Of Navajo Indians Receive Kennedy Challenge

ROUGH ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., reminded a group of Navajo Indians graduating from the eighth grade today of their heritage and challenged them to continue the action of their parents.

In a speech for the commencement ceremonies of the Rough Rock Demonstration School, an experimental school operated by the Navajo tribe, Kennedy said:

"The Navajo people who survived and returned from the anguish of Ft. Sumner 100 years ago, did so with the strength of purpose that all men can emulate.

"It is a part of this century. It is a part of this nation. Now this heritage is yours.

"Soon this land will be yours and this nation will belong to you and to the other young people who are growing toward adulthood."

Kennedy arrived at this remote Navajo reservation community Sunday toured homes and hogans and met with the school's trustees.

Today's graduation ceremony was the first for the three-year-old school.

Kathleen Kennedy, 17, daughter of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, also toured the reservation Sunday. She worked at the school last summer for six weeks.

Pompidou, Poher Head Into Showdown Battle

PARIS (AP) — Georges Pompidou and Alain Poher headed today into a runoff battle for the French presidency with the Communists in position to decide the outcome.

Pompidou, 57-year-old former Rothschild banker and President Charles de Gaulle's premier for six years, was a surprisingly strong front runner in the first round Sunday receiving 43.95 per cent of the vote in continental France. Opinion polls published last week gave him about 41 per cent, but he even topped the 43.71 per cent De Gaulle collected in the first round of the 1965 election.

Poher, the 60-year-old centrist who advanced from president of the Senate to provisional president of the country when De Gaulle resigned April 28, ran second with 23.44 per cent. Opinion polls early in May indicated he might get as much as 38 per cent of the vote and beat Pompidou in the runoff June 15. But Poher's strength faded, and his showing Sunday disappointed his backers.

Jacques Duclos, the 72-year-old Communist party wheelhorse, scored a personal triumph as he collected 21.53 per cent of the votes. A round-faced, quick-witted man with an engaging oratorical flair, Duclos' total was just about what that Communists usually score in French elections. The polls had given him only about 12 per cent early in the campaign, but he steadily picked up strength with an extensive speaking tour.

The other 11 per cent of the votes was divided among four also-rans: Gaston Defferre, Socialist mayor of Marseillo, 5.07 per cent; Michel Rocard, secretary-general of the Unified Socialist party, 3.68 per cent; Louis Ducatel, millionaire industrialist, 1.27 per cent, and Alain Krivine, a 27-year-old student extremist, 1.06 per cent.

Official results lacking only about 500,000 votes from some overseas areas, gave these totals: Pompidou, 9,858,824; Poher, 5,221,022; Duclos, 4,787,665; Defferre, 1,130,050; Rocard, 815,512; Ducatel, 285,736; and Krivine, 237,758.

Since no candidate won a majority, a runoff between the two high men will be held in two weeks to fill the seven-year presidential term.

The big question now is which way the Communists will swing. Duclos said during the campaign that choosing between Pompidou and Poher would be like choosing between cholera and the plague. Some Communist sources hinted that the party leaders would ask their supporters to stay away from the polls on June 15. That should throw the victory to Pompidou.

Poher needs all the Communist and Socialist votes to win. He was said he would not ask for the Communist vote, but that he wants to be a president for all Frenchmen and cannot control where the votes come from.

From his position of strength, Pompidou suggested that Poher withdraw from the race in the name of national reconciliation. Poher refused heatedly: "No I am from Brittany. I won't give up."

Poher said his duties as interim president kept him from waging an active campaign. He depended mostly on radio and television appearances. He is planning a vigorous campaign tour for the next two weeks.

Pompidou waged a whirlwind campaign by plane, helicopter and car. Visiting all 21 regions of France, he met with local leaders, gave public speeches and appeared on television as well.

De Gaulle, who started it all by his resignation following defeat of some secondary constitutional reforms, attended Mass in the Irish village where he is vacationing while his countrymen were voting. De Gaulle's housekeeper cast proxy votes for the general and his wife. She refused to tell newsmen their choice.

Two Arrested After Fracas

Charges are pending today against one man for aggravated assault on a police officer, and a second man was named in city court charges for disturbance, following an altercation shortly after midnight Sunday in the 600 block of Johnson.

According to police reports, Officers Lynn Williams, Ronald M. Brown and Joe B. Kropp answered a disturbance call and were attempting to arrest one man for creating a disturbance, when another man allegedly struck Brown.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Don't try to force anything today or tonight. Delays and obstacles could be in effect to test your patience almost to the limit. So for surprise benefits, relax and go along with events. Be alert, watchful.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Financial affairs can be rather perplexing today. However, if you do something wise about your career, you can have a sudden, welcome windfall. Perform that civic duty that is just your cup of tea. Be efficient.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You could be invited out to some very happy affair, or to some place where you can express your creative ideas. Accept. Be your own Venus-sign attractive self. Don't try to make sudden changes in anything.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Listen to that fine idea which kin have for you since this could be just what you have been waiting for. Avoid that advisor who is not quite attuned to you. Keep to the security bit and forget all that romantic nonsense.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Listen to what a regular ally has to say instead of trying to cope with that strange-acting partner today. Contact those within the city who can help you. Get their assistance for whatever you need.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Instead of going along with regular, boring routines, see how to increase your present income and take the necessary steps. One in business can give you a fine idea now. Go after it.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can't be forceful if you want to gain that cherished goal. Use diplomacy. Put aside all that spending for pleasure. You can make personal progress through the good auspices of a friend.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Garner the data you need to clear up enigmas and see to it that all is more productive around you. Get a modern-thinking expert to give you advice concerning your plan for the future. Be smart.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Getting together with interesting personalities will make your recreation time more fascinating. Listen to fine suggestions they give you. Join that social meeting where others can assist you to get ahead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan time to get on the good side of a prominent person who has much fascinating information you need. Something comes up that steers you straight as to coming activities. Be happy tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Listen carefully to what new associates have to say, especially concerning certain situations that you do not understand. This is the keynote to future progress. Stop being so opinionated.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) With all those responsibilities ahead of you, why don't you get busy? Realize your finest purposes. This can be a very happy evening with loved one. She or he is in a particularly good mood.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Now you would be wise to listen to the ideas of an associate who seldom agrees with you. You will now get support for your particular plans. Something comes up that will bring more harmony with others.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South vulnerable, you hold:

♠95 ♡Q1072 ♢Q4 ♣AK983

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♢	1♠	2♣
Pass	2♢	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three diamonds. Raising with only a doubleton honor may seem a little risky, but is acceptable after partner has rebid his suit when no convenient call is available. Partner may now be in position to try three no trump.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♡A1054 ♢AKQ105 ♣K964

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♢	Pass	1♠	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two clubs. Altho you are in possession of a fine hand, caution should be the byword, since no fit has as yet been established. A rebid of two clubs is best calculated to offer encouragement to partner to continue without crowding the auction.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A10 ♡AQ105 ♢K106 ♣AJ62

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♣	Dble.	Pass	1♢

What do you bid now?

A.—One no trump. The tens made this hand a shade too strong to open with one no trump. When the bid is employed at this juncture in single-handed competition with the opposition, partner should play you for a very good hand.

Q. 4—As South vulnerable, you hold:

♠AK9 ♡74 ♢KQ2 ♣AQ975

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1♠	Pass	3♣	Pass
3♠	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. Your main concern is with the heart situation [partner could have a sound opening bid without either top heart honor] and Blackwood will not help you to the answer. The best procedure is to make a false cue bid of four diamonds and follow it up by overbidding the game in spades. If partner can stop the opponents from winning two heart tricks, he will be able to proceed to a slam on even the barest of minimums.

Q. 5—As South vulnerable, you hold:

♠63 ♡72 ♢1063 ♣AK10854

Your partner opens with one no trump. What is your response?

A.—Three no trump. True, you can't count up to the required 26 points, but the compensating feature of a six-card suit headed by the two top honors makes the bid a reasonable speculation. Since partner must not make a one no trump opening without at least Qx or xxx in clubs, chances of running the entire suit are good.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠K1074 ♡63 ♢KQJ93 ♣43

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1♣	Pass	1♢	Pass
1♡	Pass	1♠	Pass
1 NT	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Partner has shown a minimum type opening and opposite your nine points no game can be in contemplation.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠76 ♡KQ105 ♢AJ42 ♣AJ10

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1♡	2♣	Pass
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two diamonds. Altho chances for game are just about nil since partner was unable to make a free bid, some further competition should be offered to prevent the opponents from making off with a cheap part score. You may succeed in driving them one level higher than they can afford to go.

Q. 8—As South vulnerable, you hold:

♠42 ♡AQJ952 ♢QJ2 ♣97

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
3♢	Pass	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Three hearts. West has announced a very weak hand and East did not have enough to go on so your partner is definitely marked with some values. If he has a good fit, there may even be a game in the offing.

Milk Substitutes Blasted In Report

CHICAGO (AP) — A doctors' group advised today that the use of imitation milk in the diets of infants "is generally undesirable and should be discouraged." The council on foods and nutrition of the American Medical Association gave the advice in a report on imitation and "filled" milks in the association's journal.

Imitation milk is a combination of water, sugar and vegetable fat. The report says it is low in protein, minerals and vitamins compared to whole milk.

Filled milk, unlike imitation milk, is a milk-based product. It is a combination of skim milk and vegetable oil to replace the butter fat. The council said the protein content of filled milk generally compares well with fluid whole milk and both have about the same number of calories.

The council said, "Imitation milks usually provide about the same number of calories as whole cows' milk with a greater percentage of calories derived from carbohydrates. Such products may not supply the other nutrients for which milk is noted.

"In the United States, the use of such beverages—that are low in protein, minerals, or vitamins compared to milk—in the diets of children and infants is generally undesirable and should be discouraged.

"Imitation milk, which is provided and used as a substitute for whole milk, should have nutritional value equivalent to or superior to cows' milk."

The council did not condemn either imitation or filled milk but advised physicians to ascertain the contents of these milk substitutes before recommending them to patients.

The AMA's council noted, "In countries with inadequate dairy supplies, milk substitutes are being developed to extend available milk supplies."

"This development of nutritionally sound milk substitutes is to be encouraged," the council added.

Mothers in the United States often buy milk substitutes for their children because they are cheaper, not realizing that these are not nutritionally adequate, a council spokesman said in an interview.

U.S. Judge Defends Foundation 'Deal'

CHICAGO (AP) — U.S. Dist. Court Judge William J. Campbell said Sunday night he had been a trustee and director of the Albert B. Parvin Foundation and that his wife is a co-investor with Parvin in a realty firm.

Campbell, 64, a federal judge since 1940 and chief judge for the Northern District of Illinois since 1959, denied in interviews with the Chicago Sun-Times and Tribune he had received payment for his work with the foundation.

The judge said he attended only one board meeting, the first in 1960.

He resigned in 1966 after he learned Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas was receiving a $12,000 salary as president of the foundation, the newspapers quoted him as saying.

Recently there had been demands in Congress for Douglas' resignation from the Supreme Court because of his connection with the Parvin Foundation. During the criticism Douglas resigned as head of the foundation.

Campbell told of his wife's investment in the Mid-Continental Realty Corporation in an interview with Max Sonderby, a Sun-Times reporter who said he recognized Mrs. Campbell's name in Securities and Exchange Commission records.

The records show Parvin also is a stockholder, the Sun-Times said.

The corporation, headed by Chicago businessman John J. Mack, owns property along the city's lakefront.

"Neither my wife nor I were ever owners of any of the buildings in which Mr. Parvin had any interest," Campbell said. He issued a statement in which he defended real estate investment as "the safest investment for a federal judge" because "a mortgage foreclosure suit would go to the state courts."

Flight Quotas Limit Imposed

By The Associated Press

A new limit on flights went into effect Sunday at New York, Chicago and Washington airports, and a Federal Aviation Authority official says, "Everything's working out real smoothly."

The quota on flights was applied at Chicago's O'Hare, Washington's National and the New York area's Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark airports, aimed at preventing a recurrence of delays of two to three hours on many flights last summer.

"We think it's going to work," say Roy Nelson, the FAA supervisor in Washington who runs the system.

Another official said, "You really won't know if the quotas work as they're supposed to until you get a real busy weekend in July, or you have some bad weather conditions foul the schedules all around the country."

The new quota at Kennedy is 80 to 90 takeoffs or landings an hour, compared to a high of 115 last summer. At O'Hare the limit is 115 operations an hour. LaGuardia is limited to 48 and Newark and National to 40 per hour.

Time For Hershey To Call It Quits?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., say it is time for Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey to retire from his post as director of Selective Service. He is 75 and has headed the draft system since 1941.

"I would give him some sort of medal, and thank him for his long service, and let him retire," Thompson said Sunday.

"I agree with that," said Mondale. "I think Mr. Hershey should no longer be head of the Selective Service system."

Mondale and Thompson appeared on an NBC panel program, "Congressional record."

Stolen Car Is Found Abandoned

A car reported stolen Sunday night was recovered today abandoned on Wasson Road, according to police.

SBA Asking FBI To Help Weed Out Thug Borrowers

By The Associated Press

Small Business Administration is asking the FBI to aid in weeding out occasional underworld figures who apply for SBA loans.

SBA Administrator Hillary Sandoval Jr., disclosed he is feeding names of loan applicants through both the FBI and the Securities Exchange Commission to prevent SBA funds going to persons with criminal backgrounds.

The tighter policy follows a report by the SBA this week that it has turned up four loans made between 1965 and 1967 to persons with criminal records.

Two other such cases had been announced earlier this year by SBA, causing the agency's new regime to order an examination of all outstanding loans.

Three of the four new cases were disaster loans issued in the New Orleans area during the mopping up after Hurricane Betsy in 1965.

Disaster loans pose a special problem. SBA sources said, because character checks are waived in order to get the money quickly into the hands of those needing it.

The fourth loan uncovered by the inquiry was a regular SBA business loan, but for several years the agency's forms have not asked applicants if they have criminal records.

Thus, persons who have been granted SBA loans despite criminal backgrounds can maintain they did not conceal them. SBA has found it can take action to call the loan only if the recipient falls behind in his payments.

Of the four loans now under scrutiny, the agency said, only one involves a borrower behind in his payments.

This was a $100,000 Hurricane Betsy disaster loan made in 1965 to Anthony Marullo for rebuilding of his damaged restaurant in Grand Isle, La.

Since the granting of the loan, the SBA said, it has been discovered that Marullo's record includes convictions for receiving stolen money orders and burglary. Because he is behind in his payments, the SBA said, suit has been filed to force payment.

NOT NAMED

The other three borrowers were not identified by name.

Two received Hurricane Betsy disaster loans in the New Orleans area and the other a normal business loan in Kansas City, the SBA said.

Legal action may be taken against one of the New Orleans recipients because of what appear to be false statements on the loan applications, the SBA said. The man was identified as a former employe of a New Orleans underworld figure.

The other New Orleans firm, the SBA said, has been described by the Justice Department as owned by the wife of a Cosa Nostra member.

Agency records show the Kansas City borrower has been accused of being a front man for racketeers.

Panel Urges Oil Drilling

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special presidential panel recommended today that Union Oil Co. be authorized to drill up to 50 wells and complete oil production from the platform off Santa Barbara, Calif.

A runaway well caused massive pollution of the channel there four months ago, and brought a halt to drilling operations for a time.

Though the main leak was stopped after 11 days, oil has continued to seep from fissures around the well.

Withdrawing the oil from structures under the platform "is a necessary part of any plan to stop the oil seep," said the panel headed by Dr. Lee A. DuBridge, the President's science adviser.

Under the proposed plan, it will take 10 to 20 years of drilling and pumping to remove the oil, Dr. Hamilton M. Johnson, panel member and chairman of the Tulane University Geology Department, told a news conference.

The final decision on the recommendations is up to Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel.

Dr. William T. Pecora, director of the U.S. Geological Survey, said a decision probably would be forthcoming within a few days.

Hard Time Finding Her Ring Finger

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — The graceful choregrapher and the lithe dancing star trembled just like other people getting married. Eddie James and Juliet Prowse were so nervous that "he had a hard time finding her ring finger," a guest said after the civil ceremony Sunday at Miss Prowse's home.

It was the first marriage for Miss Prowse, 32; the second for James, 26. They met seven months ago as dancing partners on a Bob Hope television show.

They plan to live in Beverly Hills and honeymoon later in South Africa, where Miss Prowse was born.

Food Product

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M University has developed a new food product that comes directly from glandless cottonseed kernels.

Cool Front Follows Heat

It was even hotter than you thought Saturday and probably even cooler Sunday.

The U.S. Experiment Station reported the high reading for May 31 as 104 degrees. This was the first time in 1969 that the 100 degree mark had been reached and matched calendar-wise since last year's first 100-degree day. The difference was that last year's first record reading was only 102 degrees.

However, nature repented of its severity Saturday by dishing out summer resort weather of the nicest sort Sunday. It was repeating itself Monday.

The high Sunday was a cool 80 degrees and that was the exception rather than the rule for the day. The minimum Saturday was 66 which marked the advent of the cool front which prevailed Sunday. The minimum Monday morning was 59.

The hottest May 31 on the books in this city was 109 scored in 1916.

Local Students Awarded Degrees By Baylor U.

Three students from Big Spring and one from Stanton were among 892 graduates receiving degrees Friday from Baylor University.

Cynthia Pond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pond, 2706 Crestline, received a Bachelor of Music Education degree; James Frank Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Huey J. Rogers, 1502 Tucson, received a BBA in accounting; and David Lee Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt E. Wagner, 2300 Marcy, was awarded the degree of Juris Doctor in Law.

Sharon Cave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Cave of Stanton, graduated with honors. She received a BA in English.

Honor Roll At Grady School

Honor roll students for the final semester at Grady school have been announced.

They are: 1st grade: Michelle Mitchell, Judith Yates, Tim Tate; 2nd grade: Patricia Hewtty, Jimmy Mitchell, Shirilla Sawyer, Leland Kay; 3rd grade: Mark Tate, Donna Sue Hale, Faye Ann Welch, Belinda Martin, Donnie Dunn; 4th grade: Kathryn Springer, Joe Lynn Dunn; 5th grade: Tahita Blake, Benny Butler.

6th grade: Jackie Haggard, Billy Howard; 7th grade: Leatrice Glaze, Nancy Pribyla, Darilyn Jo Stewart, Terry Tate, Rosalind Welch; 8th grade: David Chandler, David Pribyla, Robert Hildreth.

Students Shake Off Their Apathy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Dr. Ralph Bunche was a college teacher he used to urge students to shake off their apathy. Now that many have done that thoroughly, he says, he's glad it's not his job to restrain them.

Bunche, undersecretary of the United Nations, was in Los Angeles Sunday to accept an award from the Teacher Remembrance Day Foundation. He said students are brighter and more sophisticated today than when he taught political science at Howard University in the 1930s.

Piano Recital Slated Tonight

Piano students of Mrs. Fred Raller will be heard in recital this evening at 8 o'clock in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church. The public is invited.

Those to perform are Dawn Burt, Scott Burt, Linda Bull, Cathy Bull, Laura Bull, Kathy Bright, Darlene Emerson, Brenda Emerson, Janice Franklin, Cathy Mays, Richard Moren, Kay McLaughlin, Marcia Staggs, Karen Thomas, Anne Thomas and Teresa Vonne West.

Campaign Costs Robert Wagner

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Mayor Robert F. Wagner has met with an unexpected campaign expense.

Wagner, like the other four candidates for the Democratic nomination for mayor, spent Memorial Day campaigning. He doffed his jacket and tie and dove into crowds of handshakers at Coney Island and Brighton Beach.

But when the day was over he discovered a gold clip with a St. Christopher's medal, along with $35 attached, were missing from his right-hand trouser pocket.

U.S. WILL CONTINUE TO SHIELD THEM FROM REDS

Saigon Forces Doubled In Size

SAIGON (AP) — Behind the shield that U.S. ground troops have provided in Vietnam for the past four years, the Saigon government's armed forces have more than doubled in size. And they are receiving vast infusions of weapons and equipment from the United States.

The extent of the Vietnamese buildup is becoming apparent now as U.S. military headquarters releases details.

But the hundreds of thousands of men newly armed will not reduce the role of U.S. ground troops if current plans remain in effect. These new Vietnamese troops are striking out in areas traditionally controlled by the Viet Cong, rather than meeting the North Vietnamese pressing in from the borders.

BUILDUP EXPECTED

This proliferation of forces has made major pacification gains possible in the Mekong Delta in recent months. The buildup is expected to continue well into the 1970s, reliable sources report.

The increasing numbers of Vietnamese men bearing arms could, in the view of some Americans based at the district level, eventually smother the Viet Cong, win back terrain held for decades by the insurgents, and possibly bring victory for the Saigon government. But this could be achieved only if American forces were prepared to bear the brunt of the North Vietnamese actions along the borders for an indefinite time.

"If the United States pulled out in the near future, the Vietnamese would either drop the ball or fill up the vacuum," one district adviser commented. "The way I see it here now, they would drop the ball."

There are now 1,045,500 uniformed men in the Vietnamese armed forces, or 11.7 per cent of the population. These will be increased by nearly 100,000 men by the end of this year.

NEW FLEET

A new fleet of 300 turbo-powered UH14 helicopter transports and gunships has been ordered at a cost of $83 million to augment the 100 helicopters the Vietnamese air force already has.

Two 20 plane squadrons of A37 jet attack bombers will be added to the one A37 squadron and one F5 Freedom Fighter squadron now in the Vietnamese jet fleet. The size of the 18,000 man air force will be nearly doubled in the next several months. A total of 1,500 pilots will be trained in the United States for newer jet fighters and helicopters.

The navy, which has tripled in size to 21,000 men since 1965, is also rapidly receiving equipment, including 25 new gunboats costing $7.7 million for use in Mekong Delta patrols, and a variety of riverine craft. The navy will induct 8,000 more men this year and soon will assume responsibility for patrolling some rivers and canals.

MORE ARTILLERY

Large amounts of artillery are destined for Vietnamese army units. The number of artillery battalions, now two for each of the 10 infantry divisions, is being doubled and newer guns, such as the light M102 howitzer are being introduced.

At the start of 1968 the Vietnamese had 600 armored personnel carriers. By the end of this year they will have 1,500.

New equipment for infantrymen will include the latest models of pack radios, antitank rockets and grenade launchers plus the M60 light machine gun. More than 25,000 M16 rifles have been distributed, according to the best available information, with a similar number to be distributed later.

Also in the pipeline for the Vietnamese are more 81mm mortars, recoilless rifles, and such sophisticated equipment as the portable Starlight scope that enables infantrymen to spot enemy movement at night.

MILLION MEN

The more than one million men in uniform are augmented by 800,000 civilian home defense personnel, one in three of whom is armed with a submachine gun, a rifle, a carbine or a shotgun. There are hopes to raise the number of these home guardsmen to three million within a couple of years.

The uniformed military are broken down in units this way:

A total of 430,000 constitute the 10 regular infantry divisions, the three independent regiments, the airborne, the marines and the rangers. This is double the number of regular infantrymen deployed in 1965.

Territorial or militia troops total 391,000 men, also twice the 1965 figure.

The air force has 18,000 men, the navy 21,000.

Paramilitary forces including national police; strike forces of Montagnards, Cambodians and Chinese, and armed revolutionary development cadre, number 182,000.

The main reason for the increase in armed forces was the government mobilization decree that last year made 19- and 20-year-olds eligible for the draft.

The strength of the Viet Cong, the guerrillas who began challenging the Saigon government early in the 1960s, has hardly changed since 1965.

The estimated 20,000 main-force Viet Cong and 70,000 local force guerrillas are fighting mainly in the Mekong Delta. The former Viet Cong divisions that once roamed north of Saigon and in the central highlands are now almost wholly made up of North Vietnamese troops.

The Viet Cong force level has remained unchanged possibly because of the large numbers of casualties inflicted over the years, and problems of recruiting. The Communist command may also be deliberately holding down the size of its guerrilla forces, some sources think, enabling it to retain better control of their activities, while the more sophisticated North Vietnamese regulars inflict the most U.S. casualties in the border battles.

American officials supervising the buildup point out that the Vietnamese army will still lack much when current plans are executed.

Even with 300 new helicopters the Vietnamese will still have fewer than does the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Divison. When the 60 new jet bombers are added to the 40 now in action, the Vietnamese air force jet capability will still be only a little better than that of a single American carrier off the coast.

MEN IN SERVICE

Warrant Officer 1st Class Bobby T. Crees, a 1967 graduate of Big Spring High School, has received a medal for bravery while serving as a U.S. Army helicopter pilot in Vietnam.

Presentation of Crees' award was learned by Mrs. Mickey LaRochelle in Big Spring. Crees resided at the LaRochelle residence while attending school here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Creol Crees, Hawthorne, Calif.

According to Mrs. LaRochelle, Crees' helicopter was hit by enemy fire on April 7, causing the gasoline tank to explode. The helicopter burst into flames, but Crees managed to safely land and unload 15 passengers and equipment. He re-entered the burning helicopter and radioed for help. All the men and equipment were rescued by the Army.

Army Pvt. 1.C. Manuel G. Martinez, 21, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Santiago J. Martinez, and wife, Lupe, live in Colorado City, was assigned as a rifleman with the 101st Airborne Division in Vietnam, April 25.

• • •

Army Pvt. 1.C. Richard A. Staggs, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin T. Staggs, S.C. Route, Big Spring, Tex., was assigned April 20 to the American Division in Vietnam, as a cannoneer.

• • •

Machinist Mate 3.C. Raymond C. Rich, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman L. Rich, Coahoma, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Constellation off the coast of California. His ship is currently conducting carrier qualifications in preparation for its up-coming fifth deployment to Vietnam.

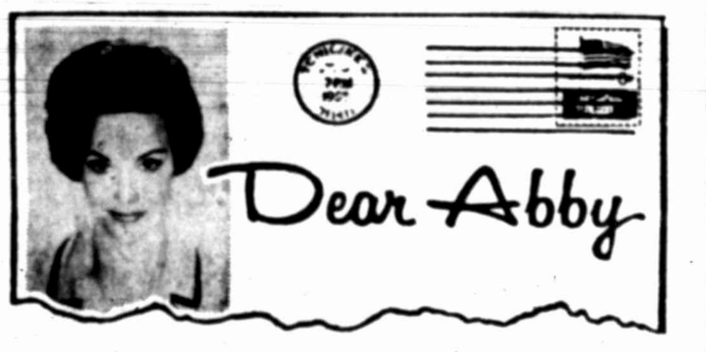
• • •

Air Force M. Sgt. James C. Lindley, son of Clyde E. Lindley, of 405 E. 7th St., Colorado City, has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal at Randolph AFB, for meritorious service while engaged in military operations against Viet Cong forces. He was cited for his performance as an electrician with the 366th Civil Engineering Squadron at Da Nang AB, Vietnam. He is now at Randolph in a unit of the Air Training Command.

The sergeant, a 1945 graduate of Carlsbad High School, served during World War II and the Korean War.

• • •

Seaman Apprentice Michael L. Schafer, USN, son of Mrs. Cora L. Schafer, 1404 Stadium, and husband of the former Miss Robbie J. Smart, 1809 Settles, all of Big Spring, is serving aboard the communications relay ship USS Arlington, a unit of Task Force 130, for the manned flight of Apollo 10. The ship's mission was to serve as the major relay station for communications of the primary recovery units.



DEAR ABBY: I wonder what has happened to our marriage? My husband doesn't even seem to enjoy the meals I prepare for him anymore, and I am told I am a "fabulous" cook.

We've been married 25 years, are both young and healthy, and don't look our ages.

Do all marriages go sour after 25 years? He doesn't have anything to talk to me about anymore. I have no major complaints, but that old "excitement" is gone. I got so annoyed one evening, that I told him that maybe he should go out and get himself a younger woman to stir him up a little, at least one of us would be happy then.

Abby, I don't expect any wild love-making, only a little conversation, hand-holding, admiration, and appreciation. What's wrong? GRETA

DEAR GRETA: You are telling the wrong person. And any woman who tells her husband (whether in a fit of anger or in a joking way) that maybe he should get himself a younger woman should not complain if he does just that.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a 12-year-old girl with a question I hope you won't think is too dumb to answer. I take piano lessons and would like more than anything in the world to be able to play piano but I just HATE to practice!

You don't have to tell me that I am lazy. I know that. What I want to know is how I can learn to play the piano without practicing. Sincerely, LAZY

DEAR LAZY: No way, Honey. No way.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: You are always putting in a good word for psychiatric help. May I add my "Amen" to this.

At age 15 my daughter was having her problems. She wasn't "popular." Her work was poor in school and she and I weren't getting along. The school recommended that she have a psychiatric evaluation and receive whatever help was indicated. It took only four months (BOTH of us went so we could learn to understand each other better.)

She is now the mother of four extremely happy and well-adjusted children, but only recently her eldest evidenced signs that he could be having an emotional problem, so she requested guidance from the school principal. On his recommendation she is getting professional counseling for the boy.

Don't let up on them, Abby. Mental health is the most important thing in the world. Every day I thank the dear Lord for the help I received when I needed it. I dread to think what might have happened had I been "ashamed" or "unaware" or "stingy" or whatever it is that keeps so many people from seeking the help they need.

Yours very truly, "THANKFUL IN COSTA MESA"

DEAR THANKFUL: And I am "thankful" for your letter. I know of no one who at some time of his life cannot profit from professional counseling. Not everyone needs to have an in-depth analysis, but a few sessions with a wise, objective outsider sometimes works miracles.

• • •

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Few Showers In West Texas

By The Associated Press

A weakening cool front moved toward the Coastal Plains early today, trailing thundershowers and slightly cooler temperatures.

The front shoved its way through the extreme eastern parts of the state and upper Coastal Plains, touching off thundershowers in those areas. Along the western parts of the front, all rain activity had ceased by dawn.

Behind the front, early temperatures today were mostly in the 60s. Along and ahead of the front, most readings were in the 70s.

Scattered thundershowers were predicted along the upper Coastal Plains, the Panhandle and West Texas. Other parts were forecast to see partly cloudy skies, with slightly cooler temperatures.

Willing To Give His Cricket Away

ATLANTA (AP) — An Atlanta man has come forward with a cricket sought for the Eisenhower Museum in Abilene, Kan.

The cricket offered by Don Lassen is not an ordinary one, however. It is one of the children's clicker toys used by paratroopers for signaling and identification during the invasion of Normandy in 1944.

Lassen says he served in the 505th Parachute Infantry Regiment, the organization of veterans seeking a cricket. Although every paratrooper in the invasion was issued one, only two had been known to exist.

Lassen says he's willing to give his cricket to David Eisenhower, grandson of the late president who led the Normandy invasion, for presentation to the Eisenhower Museum. The device had been sought in connection with this month's 25th anniversary of D-Day.

Fishing Allowed

COTULLA, Tex. (AP) — The New Chaparral Wildlife management area has been opened to fishermen, the State Parks and Wildlife Department says.

Fishing is allowed in three stock tanks at the area, eight miles west of Artesia Wells on Farm Road 133.
