West Intends To Stay In Berlin-Dulles

Three Powers Will Thwart Aggressive Action With Force

BERLIN, Feb. 18 —UP—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Thursday the western powers intend to stay in Berlin, and warned they will treat any attack on the city "as an attack against the forces and themselves."

Dulles told American occupation troops at an early morning review that they are "guardians of the first frontier of our freedom—the freedom of the western world."

He hailed Soviet-occupied Berlin as "a very special, unique symbol of the indomitable spirit of freedom."

The secretary of state recalled the U.S.-British-French declaration of May 27, 1952, which said in part:

"The three governments will continue to maintain armed forces within Berlin, and will treat any attack against Berlin as an attack against their forces and themselves."

"Today, in the presence of you men who exemplify the reality of this declaration, I would like to reaffirm and underscore its continuing validity," he said.

Dulles, speaking shortly before the Big Four foreign ministers opened the final sessions of their conference here, said the western powers still hope to achieve the reunification of Germany.

"For four arduous weeks, the foreign ministers of Great Britain and France have worked hard with me to persuade our Soviet colleague, Mr. V. M. Molotov, that the time has come—in fact, was long overdue—for Germany to be united in freedom," he said.

All But One In Family Of Six Killed

SEDALIA, Mo., Feb. 18 —UP—Only one member of the William E. Sprinkles family survived a collision of an automobile and a Missouri Pacific passenger train here Wednesday night that took the lives of six persons.

The accident occurred at a crossing less than two blocks from the Sprinkles home. Sprinkles, who was driving, had passed the intersection many times to and from his work as a glass factory employee.

Dead were the 43-year-old Sprinkles, his wife, Frances, three of their four children, and Mrs. Sprinkles' sister, Lester Dillard.

The one survivor, 12-year-old Bill Sprinkles, was taken to Bothwell hospital in critical condition from multiple fractures, shock and severe lacerations. Attendants said early Thursday his condition was "little changed and still critical."

Parr Hires Leading Civil Rights Lawyer

ALICE, Tex., Feb. 18 —UP—South Texas political boss George B. Parr took steps Thursday to hire one of the nation's leading civil rights attorneys in his fight to get federal court protection from the Texas Rangers.

"I am being held responsible for anything that might happen to Texas as Rangers in Duval county," Parr said, explaining why he was retaining Arthur Garfield Hays of New York.

Hays is internationally prominent, being national director of the American Civil Liberties Union, and was active in the Sacco-Vanzetti case at Boston, and the Scopes evolution trial in Tennessee during the 20s, as well as in the defense of persons accused at Berlin and Leipzig, Germany, in the burning of the German Reichstag a decade later.

"It's no longer a matter of politics, it's a matter of civil rights which can be protected now only in a federal court," Parr said. "I have no control over my friends or enemies, but I am being held responsible for anything that might happen to Texas as Rangers in Duval county."

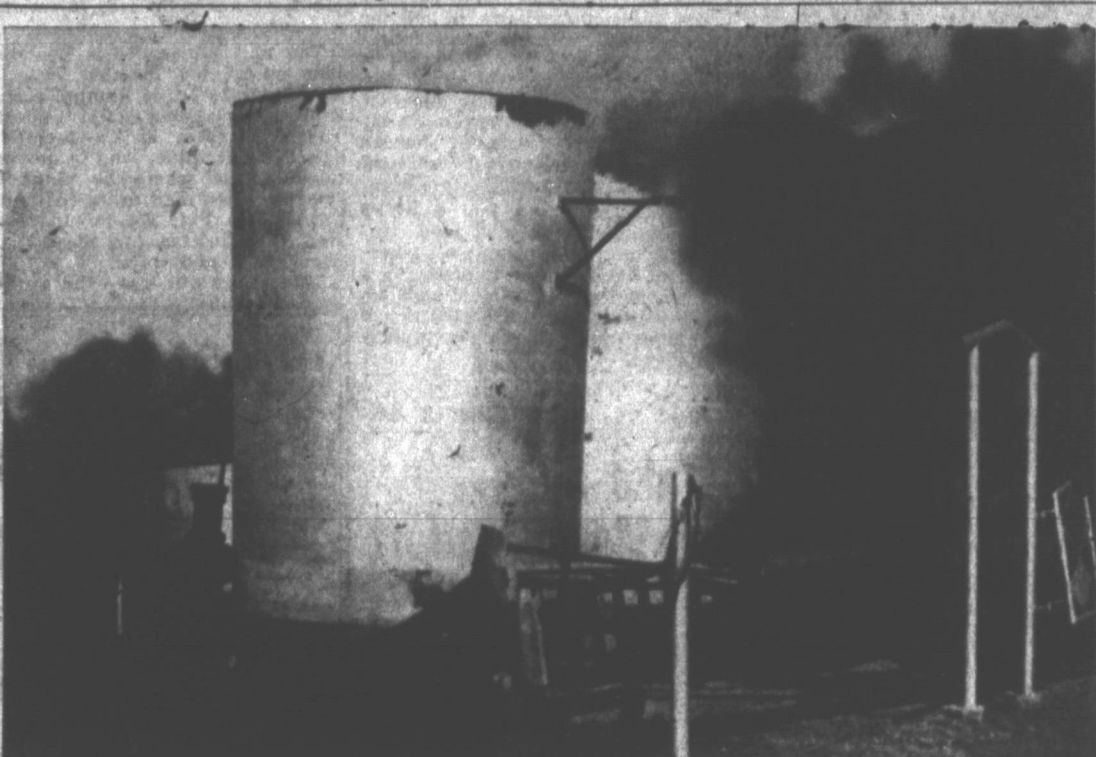

Parr's petition for an injunction against Texas Rangers has been set for federal district court in Houston next Monday.

Meanwhile, Attorney General John Ben Shuppperd continued to file additional court actions against Parr. Shuppperd's latest accusation was in a brief supporting his request that a Duval county grand jury be discharged because it is packed with Parr supporters.

WINS PERMISSION — The course of true love was smoothed somewhat in New York when Park Avenue debutante Jeane Lincoln Tan burn, left, won court permission to marry Irish Donelson Kelly-Jr., right, and still collect her inheritance even though her grandfather's will stipulated that any relative who married outside Jewish faith would be cut off without a cent. An Appellate Court ruled that on a technicality the 21-year-old girl was really inheriting the money from her father. (NEA Telephone)

OIL TANK BLAST — Two oil tanks exploded on the J. C. McConnell lease, 12 miles northwest of Pampa today about 9:30 a.m., but no one was injured in the blast. A third tank caught fire but the flames were extinguished by Pampa firemen. The tops of the two tanks in the foreground were blown off and one of the tops can be seen in the foreground, while the other was blown about 400 feet away. The tanks that exploded were empty at the time; but gas vapor ignited from an oil separator, which was operated by flames. Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said. Working near the tanks, which were owned by E. C. and R. C. Sidwell, were O. W. Bieringer, welder; O. C. Pannell, production superintendent, and C. L. Richardson, pumper. Damage was estimated at $2,500. (News Photo)

Pampa Dog Gets A Negative Report On Exam For Rabies

The mild rabies scare that has prevailed here for the past several days was allayed today when City-County Sanitarian Lawrence West received a negative report from Austin on the head of a dog sent there Sunday.

The animal was killed by city police officers late Saturday afternoon when it was reported that it showed symptoms of having the disease. Officers said that it was frothing at the mouth when it was killed.

The head of the animal was sent to Austin for laboratory tests to determine whether the dog was rabid.

However, Chief of Police Jim Conner continued to warn dog owners of the city to be extremely careful with their pets and urged them to keep them tied or penned up, at least temporarily.

He also urged pet owners to obtain licenses for the animals, adding that it is necessary to have them vaccinated before a license can be issued. These licenses can be obtained at the city tax office.

Meanwhile, there was a mild rush for dog licenses in the tax office, with nine being issued this morning by 10 o'clock. Clerks in the office issued 34 licenses Wednesday.

Another dog is being held at the city pound for observation. Chief Conner stated it will be held for about 10 days to determine if it shows any symptoms of rabies, he added.

By UNITED PRESS
Officials in three Texas cities fought mad dog epidemics Thursday — ranging from a "grave situation" to a "definite emergency."

The worst rabies outbreak was at Santa Rosa, in the Rio Grande Valley, where seven mad dogs have been reported this year and 21 persons are taking the Pasteur treatment for rabies.

Mayor Roy Hofheinz said the Houston situation was a "semi-epidemic," and proclaimed "Rabies Control Week."

The third outbreak was at Amarillo, where a 30-day quarantine on all dogs was proclaimed.

Dudley Johnson, assistant director of the Cameron county health unit at Santa Rosa, said a "definite emergency" existed. It was proposed that all stray dogs be shot on sight, and Johnson urged that all dog owners have their pets vaccinated.

Prospective candidates for the one Pampa school board post up on the election block this year to file had only 33 days in which to file their intentions.

The last day that candidates can file is March 23, according to Roy McMillen, school business manager, whose office handles all filings.

Election will be held April 3 in the corridor of the Pampa Junior High School.

Board President H. Raeburn Thompson said to complete his ninth year as a board member, Jan. 7 took himself out of the school board race. By late this morning, no one had yet filed for the job.

Absentee voting will get underway March 24 and will continue until March 30, McMillen said, pointing out that absentee voting takes place in his office on the first floor of City Hall.

There has been some speculation that John Hammy, a Gray County wheat farmer, might file for the job. He entered the race in 1953.

All school board terms are for three years, on a staggered basis. Last year Herman Whitley was re-elected to his third term and Rex Rose, to his first (Rose had served for a year already on appointment).

The year before — 1952 — E. L. (Gene) Green was elected to his first term and Frank Smith, to his second term. That means the posts of Green and Smith will be on the election block in 1955.

Whitley is now board vice president and Smith, secretary. Though most school boards in the state have seven members, Pampa in 1917, for some reason long ago forgotten, asked the state legislature to pass a bill keeping Pampa's board at five members. The legislature did and that's the way it's been ever since.

Gang Death Stumps Cops
SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 18 —UP—Officers Thursday investigated the gangland connections of a Kansas City, Mo. ex-convict, who was found murdered in a ditch.

Sherriff Owen Kilday said the death of the ex-convict, Clarence Sidney Beidler, 43, was a "gang murder."

Beidler's body was found Wednesday along a lonely road and an autopsy showed he died from a blow behind the ear.

Beidler had been sought for questioning about an alleged attempt to swindle a San Antonio liquor dealer. Officers said Beidler and a Fort Worth, Tex., man tried to sell the San Antonio $100,000 of "stolen Cuban arms money" for 50 cents on the dollar.

Six thousand dollars was a part of the $248,000 stolen from three Cuban gun runners at a Fort Worth motel in 1952. Only a portion was recovered.

Debate on Beeson's nomination, bitterly opposed by some Democrats, was scheduled to start shortly after noon and confirmation was expected on a vote late Thursday or Friday.

GOP leaders were confident Beeson would win almost solid support from Republicans. And they were banking on enough Democratic votes to assure his approval.

But Senate Democrats appeared ready to throw their heaviest vote this year against the administration in an effort to keep Beeson, a former San Jose, Calif., business executive, off the NLRB. They charged he had "deceived and misled" the Senate about his connections with his former company.

Hunter Indicted
WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Feb. 18 —UP—John F. Hunter, 50, who lived in the house with his wife's body five days before seeking out a acquaintance to confess he killed her, was indicted by a Wichita county grand jury on a charge of murder.

The grand jury returned a second murder indictment Wednesday against Georgia Belle Hester, 29, accused of shooting to death Ruth Rhea, 39, a waitress, on Jan. 26. Miss Hester is free on $10,000 bond.

Buonieri, who notified officers of his wife's death Feb. 17, is in Wichita county jail.

Far East Parley Set By Big Four

BERLIN, Feb. 18 —UP—The Big Four foreign ministers agreed Thursday to hold a Far East peace conference including Red China, in Geneva, Switzerland, April 15.

The agreement was reached at a secret meeting of the foreign ministers on the last day of the Berlin conference.

Western informants said it would be announced formally in a communiqué later Thursday.

Discussion at the Geneva conference will be limited to a Korean peace treaty in its first phase, informants said.

Participants will be the United States, Great Britain, France, Soviet Russia, Communist China, South Korea and North Korea.

After the Korea conference, a second conference would be held on Indo-China. Taking part would be the United States, Britain, France, Russia, Red China and the three associated states of Indo-China — Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

When the final secret session opened Thursday morning, a high source said the ministers already had reached tentative agreement on the Korean conference on terms submitted by the West.

The Soviets were said to have agreed to give Red China a back seat at the conference by dropping their demand that the Peiping regime be admitted as a full participant.

Dejean spelled out France's position at a press conference called to counter what the French believe might be a shift by the Communists from military action to all-out psychological warfare.

Dejean repeated France's challenge to rebel leader Ho Chi Minh: To talk turkey in plain language if he really wants peace.

"France does not reject all possibilities of negotiations with Ho Chi Minh," Dejean said.

"But for this, he must formulate his propositions in a precise and official manner. In this case, France would study with the associated states of Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam) what sequel could be given to the proposals."

Eisenhower Vacationing
PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Feb. 18 —UP—President Eisenhower took what was ordered a vacation in Southern California with a willing girl Thursday.

In surroundings living up to the colored tourist folders, the President and his wife relaxed in the warm desert sunshine of Palm Springs. Hollywood-type resort about 90 miles south of Los Angeles.

The President's physician, Dr. Howard Snyder, and members of the White House staff have been urging the chief executive for some time to get away to warm weather as a respite from the tough winter routine of Washington. Under the further urging of Paul G. Hoffman, board chairman of the Studebaker Corp. and moving spirit behind the Citizens — for — Eisenhower movement in 1952, the President finally made it.

Thursday, he and Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud of Denver, were in residence on Smoketree Ranch, a few miles outside town, living in what Hoffman described as "really a very simple little cottage with four bedrooms and enclosed patio."

Gls 'Eager' For Monroe
Curves Incite Riot
WITH MARILYN IN KOREA, Korea, Feb. 18 —UP—Stone-throwing American soldiers rioted Wednesday in their eagerness to see actress Marilyn Monroe and an infantryman was trampled by a mob pushing forward to see the blonde beauty.

Six thousand soldiers of the U.S. 45th Division staged the wildest demonstration yet seen in Miss Monroe's three-day "something for the boys" tour of Korea.

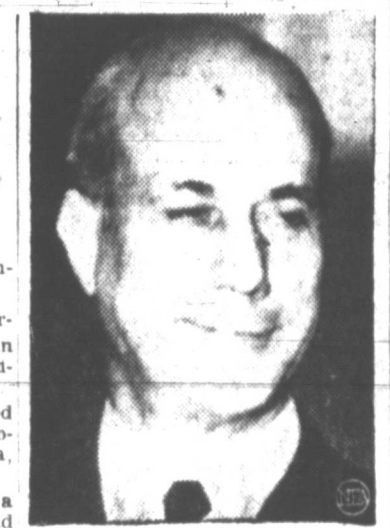

Midway through the 45-minute flinging, American soldiers rioted Wednesday in their eagerness to see actress Marilyn Monroe and an infantryman was trampled by a mob pushing forward to see the blonde beauty.

At this point, one soldier was trampled in the rush. He was rescued by his friends and removed in an Army ambulance.

The extent of his injuries and his condition could not be immediately learned.

Marilyn sang three songs, but the shouts and cries from the crowd nearly drowned out her voice, even over the powerful public address system.

At the end of her show, Marilyn was surrounded protectively by members of the soldier show.

NEW OFFICER — The White House announced Wednesday appointment of Adm. Jerald Wright to replace Adm. Lynde D. McCormick as top naval officer for NATO. The appointment of the American admiral to be Supreme Allied Commander was actually made by the North Atlantic Council meeting in Paris on the nomination of Pres. Eisenhower. (NEA Telephone)

'Confession' Violated Code

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 —UP—A false confession of germ warfare made under pressure of Communist torture was measured Thursday against an ancient military code that a war prisoner should tell his captors nothing.

The issue was posed in a court of inquiry into the case of Col. Frank H. Schwabe, a Marine flyer who "confessed" while a Red captive in Korea and repudiated the "confession" on his return home.

Schwabe said the choice as he saw it after months of torture, was:

1. Death in a filthy prison camp which would profit no one.

2. An obviously phoney confession which might spare his life to return and give others the benefit of his experience.

Bitter Words At Climax
Roosevelt Testimony Awaits Judge's Action

PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 18 —UP—A decision in the bitter, four-day testimony of a hearing of James and Romelle Roosevelt, which ended in a torrent of accusations, rested Thursday in the hands of a superior court judge.

Arguments climaxed the hearing Wednesday described as late President's son as an affluent playboy and his estranged wife as unreasonable and a spendthrift.

Superior Judge Kurtz Kauffman took Mrs. Roosevelt's request for $3,500 a month temporary alimony under consideration and declared he would "try to fix a reasonable amount of support based on the husband's ability to pay."

Except for a brief reappearance by Mrs. Roosevelt on the witness stand Wednesday, the final session of the hearing was taken over by attorneys who attacked the claims of opposing clients.

Charges Filed In Hitchhiker's Death; No Motive Found

LORDSBURG, N.M., Feb. 18 —UP—Marvin H. Vaughan, 30, was charged Wednesday with murdering an Alabama hitchhiker, but authorities could not fathom the motive for the slaying.

The district attorney's office said it also planned to file charges against Vaughan's wife. The couple was arrested at Midland, Tex. Sunday when the wife of the dead man, Mrs. Flora Burgess, passed a note to a service station attendant.

Mrs. Burgess told authorities after the arrest that Vaughan shot her husband, Amos, twice in the head with a .45-caliber pistol Saturday, after the Vaughans had picked them up in Arizona. She said Vaughan later tried to assault her, but his 28-year-old pregnant wife stopped him.

Faces Chair Tonight
HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Feb. 18 —UP—Walter Collins Green, 25, was scheduled for electrocution at the Texas state prison a few minutes after midnight Thursday for killing a salesman in West Texas one year and three days ago.

Green was arrested in Florida several days after the Feb. 15, 1953 slaying of Fred W. Eldridge in a park near Van Horn, Texas.

An accomplice, who turned state's evidence, said Green, himself and another unidentified man never apprehended, planned to rob Eldridge, shoot him at the park, then bury him in a shallow grave West of Van Horn.

SCRAM — They're rushing the season, but the citizens of Dousman, Wis., are anxious to scare winter away. The practice of the "witch" demonstration dates back to the days when it was believed that evil winter spirits were chased away by rattling, shouting and wild dancing.

Subway Comes To Canada At 3 Rides For A Quarter

By JAMES MONTAGNES
NEA Special Correspondent
TORONTO (INEA) — Canadians will no longer have to travel south of the international border to find out what a New York subway is like in rush hours.

They can now find out at home on the new Toronto underground system which officially opens on March 30, just four and one-half years after the first excavations began.

For a long time to come Toronto ites expect they'll have the cheapest subway ride on the continent.

While it cost the municipally-owned Toronto Transit Commission close to $50,000,000 to build the four and one-half miles of subway under the city's main north-south thoroughfare, Yonge Street, riders will pay the same as on the surface system — three fares for 25 cents, with free transfers thrown in.

Late this summer fares are expected to increase to a straight 10 cents with free transfers.

Incidentally, the Toronto Transit Commission built the subway largely from surplus piled up over the years when fares were four for 25 cents. They were upped to the present only two years ago.

Riders will be able to tell their 12 stations by color as well as by name. The glass masonry walls will be either of egg shell, primrose, pearl, or with bands of red, forest green, blue or black.

City-Wide Church Census Results Being Tabulated

Heads of the Pampa city-wide church census, sponsored by the Ministerial Alliance, were busy today tabulating the results of the nose count. Although some of the workers have not yet turned in reports, some estimated figures were available today.

Approximately 6,000 Pampa homes were contacted during the census, by an estimated 600 workers. Rev. Robert Strobbe, census chairman, advised, about 450 men started off the census Feb. 7, with some 250 women calling on those not at home the first day during the week.

The names of those persons not affiliated with a church who stated a definite preference will be turned over to the churches named. Rev. Strobbe explained. The names of those not affiliated, who had no preference, will be turned over to all the churches.

Rev. Strobbe and W. E. Weatherhead were co-chairmen for the census, and Rev. L. E. Davis directed the count for the Negro churches. Other committee chairmen include Rev. Dick Crews, Rev. W. F. Vandenberg, Dr. Tom Johnston, Rev. Carroll Ray and Rev. Lyle Albright.

Twenty-seven churches participated in the census.

Police Check On Two Burglaries

Pampa police today were investigating two daylight burglaries, according to Chief of Police Jim Conner.

Mrs. Carl Sharp, 617 N. Wells, told police Wednesday that someone had entered her home that morning between the hours of 8:45 and 11 o'clock and had taken $400 from a jewelry box on top of a chest of drawers.

She said that she had taken one dollar from the box and had left the house. When she returned about 11 o'clock she discovered it was gone. She reported that nothing else was missing and that she had left the house unlocked.

Jess Cooper, who resides in the rear of 300 S. Somerville, told police Wednesday afternoon that someone had broken a sash off the door of his home and had ransacked the house, but apparently nothing was stolen. This occurred sometime between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m., he said.

Red Cross Gives First Aid Scrolls

Six Pampans and one Lefors resident are the possessors today of advance first aid certificates, after completing Red Cross course sponsored by the Pampa chapter.

Those receiving certificates included Elvix H. Duck, Jay S. Meador, and Charles Tucker; all of Cabot Companies; and Mrs. Ben Graham, Mrs. R. D. Morris, and Mrs. Robert Adams, all first aid leaders; and Larry Fuller of Lefors, first aid and water safety chairman of the McLean chapter.

The course was taught by Miss Jane Lightfoot.

Advance certificates will qualify them for the first aid instructors' course which will begin in Pampa March 1, under the direction of H. H. Gilliam, national first aid and water safety instructor from St. Louis. This class will meet at 7 each evening in the city commission room for three hours, and will end March 5.

Anyone who has an advanced first aid certificate may join the group, Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, chapter secretary, advised. Mrs. Shotwell added that she has requests from several Pampa organizations for first aid classes, but has lacked instructors to teach them.

Scout Council Meeting Sunday

An Adobe Walls Council Explorer planning conference will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Palm Room of City Hall.

Adult and young men leaders and officials from the 28 Explorer posts in the council and the "approximately" 30 crews in Boy Scout troops in the council are expected to be on hand for the affair, according to Paul Beisenherz, council Scout executive.

(Crews are units in Boy Scout troops which are not the same as Explorer posts but do the same work.)

R. J. (Dick) Rust, Phillips, council first aid president, will be in charge of the session, Beisenherz said.

Following the regular conference outline, the executive continued, those present will be divided into four different committees: vocational exploration, outdoor activities, service and social. Each of the four will select one or more items which will be presented to the entire group.

A vote by the entire gathering will determine which of the items will be approved. And those items will be placed into the council program for the future.

George Newberry, council camping and activities chairman, will save as consultant and advisor.

Damage Suit Filed By Pampa Man

A suit concerning a Pampan who thinks his electrical bill has been too high at times was on file today in the office of District Clerk Helen Meers Sprinkle.

In the suit — D. A. Finkelstein vs. Southern Public Service Company — Finkelstein, who has a business at 613 S. Oyler, charges that SWPS billed him for $23.71 for the month ending July 24 and $13.33, the month ending Jan. 26.

His average bill through the year he claims in the suit, has been $6 or $8. The reason for the higher bills, the suit continues, is that the meter was "working incorrectly," making for bills "far in excess of the usual charge."

Furthermore, the suit goes on, SWPS was "in violation of its duties as a utility" when it shut off Finkelstein's electrical services Feb. 10 and 11.

When Finkelstein told a SWPS representative, the suit said, that it was "not able to shut off power without having (it) reduced to a judgment," the lights went back on.

Finkelstein is asking $500 actual damages and $2,000 exemplary damages.

Most of the promotions in the unit are based on extension courses, Lt. Smith advised. At present, Pampa's group has 50 of its 95 men taking these courses, and all officers are enrolled in higher classes.

"I hope George proposes in time so we can have a June wedding—so why worry about Byzantine culture?"

Hungarian Author... Henry's Next-Door Neighbor Quits Royalty For Citizenship

By HENRY McLEMORE
My next-door neighbor has just relinquished his title of Count. I am very sorry that he did. It is not often that I live that close to a Count. How many of you bump into a Count when you go out to pick up your morning newspaper? How many of you have ever knocked on a Count's door and said: "Count, I think you picked up your buttermilk when you picked up your milk this morning"? How many of you have had a Count look at you when you tell him this and reply: "My dear Mr. McLeMore, I am not in the habit of stealing my neighbor's milk."

I wrote my mother about the Count when he was a Count. I told her she did not have to worry about not hearing from me because I was living next door to a Count. She wrote me back and asked me about my manners. She wanted to know if I was behaving myself properly. I wrote her back a very reassuring note. I told her that I was wearing an ascot for breakfast, had subscribed to "The Fox Hunter's Journal," and referred to my grocery store as "the green grocer."

In my next letter to Mama, telling about how close I live to a Count, I explained that my shoes now had become "boots," my suspenders had become "braces," my undershorts had become "trousers," my automobile a "car," and its hood a "bonnet." Gasoline was "petrol," and the maid was a "char." Then I met my Count one morning. I said: "Good morning Count." He told me that I was the last man who would ever call him Count, and naturally I asked him why.

He said he was on his way to take the oath of allegiance to the United States and give up his title. I asked to go with him, and in a brief, touching ceremony Count Carl Lonyay became Mr. Carl Lonyay, American citizen.

So that you will know that the Count I am writing about was a real one, I will tell you about him very briefly: He is a Ph.D., and he is prouder of that than he is of his titles because, as he said, "That one I earned." He is an author, and his best-known book is "Rudolph, the Tragedy of May-erting." Rudolph's widow married his uncle, Prince Lonyay.

He left Hungary after the outbreak of World War II and headed the Hungarian resistance movement, first in France and then in England.

On our way back from the ceremony I asked Carl why he had elected to forsake all countries for America. His answer gave me a lesson in patriotism: Here in door said: "Count, I think you picked up your buttermilk when you picked up your milk this morning"? How many of you have had a Count look at you when you tell him this and reply: "My dear Mr. McLeMore, I am not in the habit of stealing my neighbor's milk."

"But what impresses me most is the great friendliness and kindness for each other, which I even witnessed with policemen. They are helpful and understanding, and the men-hunters as I experienced in my former land. I only regret not having come to this wonderful country at least twenty-five years ago."

Hungary lost a Count, and America gained a fine citizen.

Houston Nets 1,000 Dogs In Drive On Rabies

HOUSTON, Feb. 18 —UP—Houston launched its "rabies control week" Wednesday with more than 1,000 stray poodles already picked up by city humane officers and many of these have been eliminated via the city's gas chamber.

Chief Humane Officer George Peyton said 192 of the animals were marched into the chamber Tuesday as the city tried to thwart what Mayor Roy Hofheins described Tuesday as a "semi-epidemic" of rabies.

The 249 stray dogs picked up Tuesday brought the total picked up in less than a week to well above 1,000.

The humane department has been ordered to pick up all stray dogs whether they are licensed or

Boerne Man Dies in Mishap
BOERNE, Tex., Feb. 18 —UP—Charles Fryer, 62, an employee of the Cascade Caverns near Boerne, was killed instantly late Wednesday when his automobile struck a tree on the San Antonio highway, about four miles south of Boerne.

On well-drained land, free from the danger of serious erosion, corn can produce more total livestock feed an acre than any other common field crop.

SS Representatives Due Here Tuesday To Assist Pampans

A representative from the Amarillo Social Security office will be in Pampa at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Texas Employment Commission Office to aid anyone with a social security problem.

The representative ordinarily is in Pampa every Monday morning, but because of Washington's birthday he will postpone his arrival until Tuesday.

Most people who are sole owners or partners in a trade or business were brought under social security coverage Jan. 1, 1951, and must make social security reports on net profits for 1953 before March 15, the Amarillo office announced.

The office also pointed out that this is required by law and is not voluntary. The self-employment return is filed once a year and is part of the individual's income tax return, made on a special form furnished by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Investment income, such as rentals from real estate and income from stocks and bonds, need not be reported. Also, income from operation of a farm or from the practice of most professions is excluded and need not be reported for social security purposes. All business expenses which are deductible for income tax purposes must be included for social security purposes, even though the total income is so small that no income tax has to be paid.

He's Called Abominable Snowman Melts Away

By TOM A. CULLEN

NEA Special Correspondent
LONDON — (NEA) — Not since Stanley set out to find Livingstone in darkest Africa has there been anything quite like the British expedition which is now crawling around the Himalayas in search of the "Abominable Snowman."

Sir Henry Morton Stanley's expedition to the Congo in the 1870's was a play by comparison. At least Sir Henry had a pretty good hunch that he would find Livingstone, the missing Scottish missionary.

The present British expedition has nothing to go on but a set of footprints, a dried scalp said to have belonged to a Snowman or to his Unpeakable Spouse, and a batch of confusing reports.

According to the latter, Yeti (which is the Tibetan name for the Snowman) is anything from a pint-size to eight feet tall. His face is alternately described as heavily bearded, clean-shaven, or with a five o'clock shadow. Some say he walks backwards to throw people off his tracks; others say he does it to throw the hair out of his eyes.

It is to settle these fine points in dispute that a nine-man team is now on its way from Katmandu, Nepal, to Namche Bazaar on the slopes of Mount Everest. The team includes a lone American, Gerald Russell, a naturalist. It will conduct most of its search at altitudes of from 14,000 to 19,000 feet.

The London Daily Mail is picking up the tabs for the Snowman expedition. It is the Daily Mail's answer to the London Times' "acrop" of the conquest of Everest last year.

Unlike Stanley, who traveled with only a toothbrush, a butterfly net and a change of socks, the Snowman expedition is loaded down with seven tons of gear. It includes movie cameras, walkie-talkie radios, everything but oxygen cylinders. An army of 300 coolies is required to toe this equipment from Katmandu to the base of Everest.

For "the best equipped scientific expedition ever sent to the Himalayas," the team's findings have been rather meager to date. Anthropologist Charles Stonor, who is acting as "advance" man for the party, is said to have talked to sherpas "who have seen one."

Yeti's description, as pieced together by Stonor:

It is about the size of a 14-year-old boy of the same build as a man. It is covered with light reddish hair, which is longest about the head and waist. Its head is "strikingly pointed." It has a loud, wailing, yelping call, and when heard near at hand often makes a chattering noise.

Normally it walks on two legs like a man, but when in a hurry it drops on all fours. It lives in a rocky region above the timberline.

Members of the expedition "pooh-pooh" the idea that Yeti could be a red Himalayan bear or a Langur monkey. At the same time, they are somewhat doubtful that they will come to close grips with their quarry.

"A layman," writes Ralph Isaacs, a journalist member of the expedition, "would possibly be astonished at the picture that a man such as Russell (the American naturalist) can construct from a footprint or two, a few hairs or a tuft of fur, and droppings."

With the aid of this residue Russell is expected to tell not only the animal's weight, size and sex, but "where it was coming from, where it was going" — always supposing that Yeti knows where it is going.

Meanwhile, beguiled by the newspaper circulation war which is being fought on the world's highest peaks, London readers are looking forward eagerly to Yeti's first encounter with a Briton.

Already many have pictured the historic meeting when the hairy Himalayan steps before the sound camera and anthropologist Stonor greets him with "The Abominable Snowman, I presume."

Very Latest Gizmo... 'Talking Letters' May Be Next!

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 — UP — They are talking about "talking letters" which are said to be right around the corner.

They can keep it around the corner, for all of me. I do a better job with my two or three "talking fingers" on the typewriter. And besides, I can make file carbons if I want to.

According to manufacturers, a family would have to have a machine at each end of the line. Both could transmit on a record and receive the answer—which would be dictated on the other side.

It would work like this. Mama sits down at the mike and tells about the wonderful gooseberry jam Aunt Nellie has cooked up. Then she tells one on the parakeet. The little rascal has confused his words and embarrassed everyone in front of the parson.

Answer on Back
Uncle Ned listens to all of that out in Pitchfork, Neb., flips the

Orders Obedy

HOUSTON, Feb. 18 — UP — Seaman Jessie J. Lockier, looking for a taxi, saw a car and climbed in with the order: "Take me anywhere, never mind the fare."

The driver took him to city jail where he was fined $10 for being drunk in a public place. The car Lockier thought was a taxi was a police patrol car.

LUBBOCK, Feb. 18 — UP — Conductor Walter Hendi of the Dallas Symphony fears there is a jinx on his annual visit to Lubbock for a concert.

Last year the concert was delayed when Hendi's plane could not land at the Lubbock airport because of a dust storm. Monday a postponement again was necessary when blowing dust closed in the airport as Hendi was scheduled to arrive for his concert.

platter and comes back with the news that a couple of rattlesnakes did grandpa in and that granny is down with the gout again.

Most folks like to keep a file of folks, personal letters.

How can you keep a file when one letter is on one side of the record and the answer is on the other. There can be only one file — most likely at the wrong end of the line.

The people who make the new-fangled letter talker say corporations with "far-flung operations" already are trying the idea out in inter-office memos.

One insurance company, though, has put the new gimmick to work to an advantage. This outfit has claim offices in 100 cities all over the country.

Say an adjuster is on the road and makes an estimate of the loss to his client's dog-in-the-berd-of-horse from a fire. He "talks" his report on into a mike and for three cents or for airmail postage mails it to the home office. The office gets it the next day.

Then comes the Carbons.

There is a hitch there, too. The thing has to be typed with carbons to all hands concerned and there is a duplication of effort. Plus a lot of expense, plus the original cost of a couple of machines.

The old-fashioned business of having a stenographer do the job in the first place would be much cheaper. Maybe the duplication of effort is worth it, I don't know.

But when I get a letter I want to re-read, I don't want to have to lug out an expensive machine, plug it in and then with the poor filing system I have, have to listen to half of "Ricochet" romance before I know that I've got the wrong record!

As of now, each machine—and as I said for two-way talking letters you have to have a gimmick at each end of the line—cost up in the hundreds. Few of us can afford it. But who knows what the morrow may bring!!

Man Who Killed Wife's 'Friend' Free On Bond

DALLAS, Feb. 18 — UP — A 28-year-old butcher, John K. Samaras, was free Thursday in $1,000 bond on a charge he murdered a man he said he found with his wife.

Samaras admitted shooting both his wife and the man, John Bowers, 20 Wednesday. He said he "found them together" in Bowers' apartment. Mrs. Samaras was reported in fair condition at St. Paul's hospital.

Police said Samaras told them he first discovered his wife in Bowers' apartment about noon Tuesday. She went home and they later tried to straighten out their difficulties.

Tuesday night, the couple went to a tavern where Bowers was a bartender and Samaras left her there. When she hadn't returned home early Wednesday morning, he went to the apartment again.

Samaras said his wife told him she wouldn't go home, and he shot her and Bowers.

So, There!

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Feb. 18 — UP — A motorist complained to a woman pedestrian that she was crossing an intersection against a red light.

"Look mister," she said. "My mother-in-law's frustrated. My little boy takes after his father. And I'm behind on my television payments. I don't have to take a lot of drivel from a complete stranger."

Then she hit the motorist in the face with a sack of eggs.

KINSTON, N.C., Feb. 18 — UP — Peepers-by apparently thought a carpenter was at work when they saw a man carefully removing the glass from the front door of a sporting goods store Monday.

However, police reported later that the "carpenter" had removed the glass to steal three high-powered rifles and two shotguns from the store.

DENVER, Feb. 18 — UP — Denver university students jeered Wednesday when patrolman L. A. Hawkins wrote tickets for a block long line of cars near the downtown campus. Hawkins summoned two dozen policemen and a fire truck. He contended it was not the intent of the law to permit students to move a whole block of cars ahead one metered space each hour with the lead car racing around the block to pull in behind.

U. S. Army Gives Wig Wag Signals Back To Indians

WASHINGTON — (Special) — The Army Signal Corps' use of flags as a communications system was "borrowed" from the Indians in the middle of the 18th century.

Brigadier General Albert J. Meyer — the Army's first signal officer — got the flag-signal idea when he saw a Comanche Indian warrior warn his party of the approach of American troops. The Indian signaled his men with a gaily-colored, feather bedecked lance.

The general patented his flag signal system in 1866, and for many years after that flag signals played an important role in military communications.

New Facilities Planned For Lefors Schools

LEFORS — The prospect of a $200,000 expenditure on the Lefors public schools system — a new building and renovation of existing facilities — loomed late this morning.

A discussion with a representative of Columbian Securities Corporation, San Antonio, highlighted the meeting Tuesday night of the Lefors school board, according to Archie Roberts, Lefors Schools superintendent.

The proposed expenditure would include a new building in which would be situated a gymnasium, a band hall, a cafeteria and the vocational shop. Those units are now in three different buildings, Roberts said today.

Of course, Roberts emphasized, the school board — and then the public, in a bond issue election — must approve such an expenditure. Present school plant includes one building for the high school and junior high school and another for the elementary school. Former was built in 1928 and was added to in 1934, the same time the latter was built.

Labelling it "a need that has existed for a number of years," the superintendent this morning said the current push for such a project got underway just before Christmas.

B. R. Cantrell, Pampa architect, has already drawn up the plans for the proposed building. Columbian was the low bidder for the task of handling the bond issue election, if such is held. Their interest rate would be 2.11 per cent.

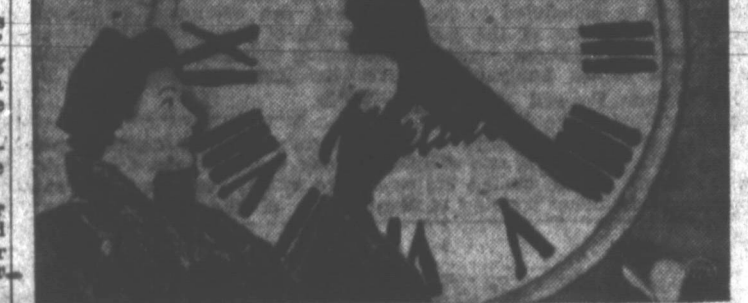

The American Poultry Association was formed in 1879, and claims to be the oldest livestock organization in America.

'A' Calls 'B' A Phoney Ministers 'Tangle' Over Nudist Probe

STIGLER, Okla., Feb. 18 —UP—A Fort Smith, Ark., preacher who has gained wide publicity with charges that nudists are active in Arkansas and Oklahoma Wednesday was denied use of the pulpit of the First Baptist Church here.

Rev. Harold Schumaker, pastor of the church, charged the anti-nudist campaign of Rev. Braxton B. Sawyer, was phoney. He also criticized Sawyer's money solicitation campaign.

The two men met face to face Wednesday in the Haskell county courthouse and a heated argument ensued. Sheriff Basil L. McQuire intervened to halt the dispute. Sawyer later announced he would preach on the courthouse lawn here next Tuesday night and nationwide basis.

U.S.-Mexican Labor Pact May Be Near

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 —UP—The Senate Agriculture committee Wednesday approved a bill that would allow the Labor Department to contract for seasonal farm workers from Mexico.

Chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) said he is still hopeful a new joint agreement between Mexico and the United States government can be worked out.

If a new international pact is not agreed upon, the proposed legislation — which now goes to the Senate floor — would authorize the U.S. to act independently in recruiting Mexican workers.

Identical legislation has cleared the House Agriculture committee and is awaiting final house passage. Western state senators and congressmen are sponsors.

Alken said immediate action is needed — either in the form of a new two-nation pact or in the proposed legislation — to assure western state fruit and vegetable growers of adequate labor supplies for the present harvesting season.

Hydrogen Device Packs Untold Power
CHICAGO, Feb. 18 —UP—Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) said Wednesday that the "hydrogen device" exploded by this country in 1952 loosed enough violence to wipe out the heart of any city.

And the 1952 test H-bomb, he added, was just the forerunner of "an entire family of hydrogen weapons" by presumably greater destructive power.

Cole, chairman of the House-Senate Atomic Energy committee, addressed the National Sand and Gravel Association and the National Ready Mixed Concrete Association at a joint luncheon. He called for production of "tens of thousands of atomic missiles" as a "barrier of firepower" against possible H-bomb attacks on U. S. cities.

Japanese Pose Threat To U. S. Pulpwood Industry

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The American pulpwood industry is seriously alarmed by threats from Japanese interests to establish lumber and pulp mills in Alaska, to supply Japan's big rayon industry, largest in Asia.

The U. S. Forest Service, which controls Alaskan timber, does not do business with foreign companies. So an American corporation, 50 per cent owned and controlled by the Japanese, has been formed in this country to bid for Alaskan contracts and licenses. Called the Alaska Pulp and Lumber Co., the concern has been put together by 20 Japanese firms. Two are in the lumber business, the others in rayon and wood pulp products.

Japan is really up against a tough problem in finding an adequate pulpwood supply. It can no longer get logs from Manchuria or Sakhalin Island. Japan's own island timber reserves were overcut during the war. Unless the Japanese are permitted to trade with Russia or Red China, their only other source is America.

But the U. S. lumber and wood pulp industries have long considered Alaskan timber reserves as their own private back yard. They aren't particularly interested in developing Alaska timber now. Labor and transportation costs are too high. But when U. S. timber reserves are further reduced, American companies have been counting on starting operations in Alaska. And they don't want Japanese competition.

Merrill Lord, deputy director of the forest products division of U. S. Department of Commerce, says some U. S. pulpwood men doubt if the Japanese will ever build a mill in Alaska through their American subsidiary. What they are after is a stable supply of around 150,000 tons of pulp a year. If the Japanese can get U. S. suppliers to meet this requirement at a fair price, they might give up on their mill project in Alaska.

High-Pressure Selling
Benjamin F. Fairless, U. S. Steel Corporation board chairman, tells this story to impress on U. S. businessmen how important it is for them to sell aggressively in this period of creeping recession:

"Let me remind you of the clothing store proprietor who was trying to clear out his last winter's stock. One of the suits was an absolute nightmare to him, so as he was going to lunch one day he called to an assistant and said: 'Sam, we gotta get rid of that suit. See if you can't do something about it while I'm gone.'"

"Well, when he got back an hour later he found to his amazed delight that the suit had been sold. But the store was a wreck and so was Sam. A whole rack of clothing had been overturned. A showcase was broken. Sam's face and hands were cut and bleeding and his suit was in shreds."

"Good heavens, Sam," said the proprietor. "What happened? Did you have to force that suit on the customer?"

"Oh, no!" said Sam. "He didn't object at all, but I sure had one helluva scrap with his seeing-eye dog."

Assistant Secretary of Defense Frederick A. Seaton, in charge of legislative and information activities, says January, 1954, will go down in his memory book as the month in which he got paid by Uncle Sam, after working nearly five months without a payday.

The catch is a law which provides that no presidential appointee who takes office while Congress is in recess can be paid until he is confirmed in office by the U. S. Senate.

The drive by Attorney General Herbert Brownell and Assistant Attorney General Stanley N. Barnes to avoid trials on anti-trust cases and get them settled by consent decree has run into a snag in the strawberry war at Hammonds, La. This case arose from an indictment against the National Agricultural Workers Union, AFL, it was charged with coercion in forcing the small strawberry farmers of the area to join the union.

A settlement was recently worked out between the Department of Justice and the union. Some of the accused union members were to plead not guilty and be acquitted. Others were to plead guilty with the understanding that they would be assessed minimum fines.

When the terms of this out-of-court agreement were taken to District Judge Herbert W. Christenberry at New Orleans, he balked. He declared that if the government didn't have a case, it should be dismissed. If it did have a case, the accused should be tried and if found guilty, fined or sent to jail. The angry judge told the government lawyers he was against this new procedure of settling cases out of court.

HE'LL RUN ELECTION—Nikolai Shvernik is chairman of the central election committee which will supervise the March 14 balloting for membership in the Supreme Soviet. He is the chairman of the U. S. S. R.'s Central Council of Union Trades.

Lana Turner 'Sold' On Her Brown Hair

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 18—UP—Lana Turner, once a gay blonde but now a quieter brunette, said her "happy" marriage to Lex Barker makes her feel "at peace."

Lana was calm, relaxed and smiling as she spoke about her marriage for the first time since she and the broad-shouldered Barker returned from their European wedding.

These days Miss T. is a different Lana. She has given up bleaches and her hair is back to a chestnut brown—cut short and shaped in back like a zoot suiter's. She's slender and friendly.

"Lex and I are very happy and you can just that!" said the town's favorite sweater girl. "Now if everybody will just leave us alone—"

"Oh, yes, we hope so much to have a family," she said. "I feel so at peace," she said. "I like everything about him—that great, big hunk of man!" said Lana.

With urging from Barker, she let her hair stay its chestnut color after she dyed it that way for a motion picture in Europe. "The Flame and the Flesh." The one-time blonde now is a permanent brunette "unless a movie role calls for me to be a blonde." Some fans sadly mark this as the passing of an era.

"It's easier to keep," she explained. "I can wear more colors and every hair doesn't have to be in place. And I won't have to bother with bleaches every week."

"In Europe I was hardly recognized! It was wonderful. I could go any place. People would look and then look again as if they weren't sure."

And when I came home, I said hello to one friend and he shook my hand vaguely and walked away. He didn't know it was his baby, his old friend!"

Recently Lana made her TV debut as a sexy dancer on CBS' "Toast of the Town" to celebrate MGM's 30th anniversary. The network sent a limousine to pick her up.

"My secretary and I got in the car and the man said, 'Pardon, but aren't we supposed to wait for Miss Turner?' I said, 'Look, look, it's me.' He was so flustered he lost his way getting to the studio."

Bad Samaritan
OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 18—UP—Gerald Weidemann, a student at Oklahoma City University, rides a motorcycle despite a broken leg. Tuesday he told police his crutches fell off and he stopped to pick them up. At the same time a passing motorist stopped, jumped out of his convertible and picked up the crutches.

Weidemann was about to thank the man when the latter tossed the crutches in his car and drove off.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Next hi-fi juke boxes. They're definitely being considered by New York juke box operators. It'd mean an outlay of around a million to convert them all, but it would be worth it.

Just imagine — you could hear every last cycle of Jimmy Boyd.

Lloyd Nolan's performance in "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" has been hailed on all sides as one of the marvels of the age. As Capt. Queeg, he artfully changes, on stage from a confident officer to a neurotic wreck. He disintegrates before your eyes.

Nolan modestly shrugs off his triumph, and says most of the credit should go to his nerves.

"You see," he said, "I had the part memorized cold before the first rehearsal. But, of course, I was nervous anyhow."

"So what I did was remember all my own nervous gestures, because Queeg is supposed to be nervous. I just copied myself, so the gestures are honest."

"By now, of course, I'm completely calm. Calmness is an enemy in this part. I'm so calm I can almost think of other things while I'm acting. But those memorized gestures make it easy."

Another thing that makes the part easy — remember, this is Nolan talking — is that he's the pilot of the plane.

"The audience does your acting for you," he says. "Even when you're offstage, they're thinking about you, waiting for you."

What makes the part tough is collars. The stiff Navy collars cut into his neck — he has to make many quick turns with just his head — and he's been trying many different shirts. He thinks he's got it licked now.

The last time Nolan was in New York was when he was appearing as TV's "Martin Kane, Private Eye."

"This," Nolan says, "is an improvement."

Patti Page is going to Japan in April. And she wants to take along a Japanese version of "Doggie in the Window." She needs a translation.

Anybody know how to bark in Japanese?

Show business children can be pretty quick on the coveback. These three stories should be pretty good proof:

1 — The 7-year-old red-headed TV actor, who came in for a haircut to exclusive Madison Avenue hair stylist Mark Traynor. Mark asked the boy, just to make conversation, "Where did you get that red hair?"

"It came with the head," said the boy.

2 — Jerry Stagg did most of the planning for "Excursion," the NBC-TV children's program. His 12-year-old daughter had a big crush on Roy Rogers, and there was a family crisis when it seemed that Daddy's show might be on the same time as Roy's. "What would you do?" asked Daddy.

"I'd keep condensing famous plays, one of these days we'll see 'Henry the Fifth' done as 'Hank the Pint.'"

Russia Seeks To Expand World Trade

By PHIL NEWSON

United Press Foreign Analyst
One little-noted side of the Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Berlin has been Russia's demand that the West drop its restrictions on trade with the Communist world.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov's stand in Berlin has been a continuation of a campaign launched by Russia two years ago, first to break the Allied blockade against shipment of strategic goods to the Reds, and second to woo away the United States' Allies with promises of vast profits to be made in trade with the East.

Since the death of Stalin and the rise of Premier Georgi Malenkov there also has been the rising conviction that Russia must vastly step up its imports from the West if it is to carry out promises of a higher standard of living at home.

If TV keeps condensing famous plays, one of these days we'll see "Henry the Fifth" done as "Hank the Pint."

In April, 1952, the Russians sponsored an international economic conference in Moscow at which they offered $7.5 billion to $10 billion in trade with the West over a two to three year period.

An About Face
Primarily they wanted ships, machinery and tools.

At that time there had been no slow-down in the Communists' headlong rush toward industrialization.

Since then, with typical Communist ability to do a complete about-face and in an apparent attempt to popularize the Malenkov regime, the Kremlin has admitted it erred in industrializing at the expense of the peasant and even has encouraged a certain amount of private initiative in an attempt to step up food production.

At the same time, it has also admitted that in some respects Russian agriculture is in worse shape now than it was in 1914.

Hence, if it is to live up to its promises, the need to import not only refrigerators but food to put into them.

The Russian drive to increase trade has been global. In the last three months, the Russians have sold more than $100 million in gold in Western Europe, most of which presumably is to purchase agricultural and consumer goods.

Russian platinum and silver sales in the same period are estimated at around $25 million. In the past, incidentally, the Russians are said to have financed much of their espionage and political warfare campaigns with bar platinum because it is easy to ship.

Recently Russia has purchased quantities of meat in France, butter in Denmark and New Zealand and eggs in the Netherlands.

Buying Wool
It has been buying wool in Australia and textiles from Belgium, France and Italy.

Besides the deals already mentioned, Russia has entered into trade pacts with India, Indonesia, Greece, some of the Latin American republics and only this week was disclosed to have offered to buy ships and industrial equipment from Canada.

A British trade delegation in Moscow has sent back glittering reports about the possibilities of Russian trade.

The Britons report that the Reds have offered more than $1 billion in trade, including a huge order for ships. However, some of the cooler heads in British trade circles already are pointing out that all is not gold that glitters. Russia's principal exports always have been grain and lumber but now she is running short. Greece and Sweden already have found out the Reds are long on promises but short on deliveries.

Sleep Driving
PITTSBURGH, Calif., Feb. 18—UP—Mrs. Joanne Groves, 49, faced multiple hit-run charges Wednesday.

She knocked down her car port, plowed through her kitchen wall, sideswiped a car on the highway, crashed into the parked cars of two sheriff's deputies and fled from her battered automobile wearing nothing but a nightgown.

The tourist trade accounts for about 95 per cent of the total income of the Bermuda Islands. The only other major source of income is the export of Easter lilies.

20th Century Allegro Members Study Indoor And Outdoor Gardening

Mrs. Jimmy Thompson, who spoke on "The Garden and I," told Twentieth Century Allegro members at a meeting in the home of Mrs. George Cree Jr., 1912 Charles, that gardening is its own reward. "The dividends you get from the garden pay you in direct ratio to what you put into it," she said. "The actual harvest of flowers, fruits and vegetables may well be the least of these. To the first-time gardener everything is new and exciting. To the established gardener, rewards lie in improvements of varieties of plants. But to amateur and expert alike, a garden is an opportunity for self-expression that comes from working with your hands and nurturing living things. Take your troubles to a garden and they recede before its serenity. Relax or rest in a garden and you will probably live longer and be better able to face the problems of human existence," Mrs. Thompson gave a few fundamental rules that make

Mrs. Cree spoke on "A Garden in Your Window." "These are the words you find in most any home magazine you happen to pick up today," she said. "Each of you can do just that with indoor plants. Not only will you find your plants decorative but also you will get much personal satisfaction and pleasure in each bit of success with a plant." Mrs. Cree spoke on importance of environment for house plants and gave hints for growing various flowering and foliage plants and had beautiful examples of various plants to show. "Happy growing," she concluded, "brings outdoors indoors! You'll thrive on it."

Members attending the meeting for which Mrs. Clifford Braly was co-hostess, were Mrs. Mmes. Charles Hickman Jr., Joe Black, Don Cain, H. Price Doster Jr., H. C. Grady Jr., Bob Quick, J. W. Graham, Jerry Thomas, Raymond Harrah Jr., Bill Davis, M. H. Wyatt, Sam Pruitt, Clifford Braly, Robert Karr, George Cree Jr., Jimmy Thompson, and Mrs. Ewert Duncan. Mrs. Sam Pruitt was welcomed into the club as a new member.

Sunshine HD Club Has Demonstration

The making of feather sponge cake, lemon-orange icing and non-fat milk whip were demonstrated when Sunshine Home Demonstration Club members met at the home of Mrs. G. H. Murrell, 1037 S. Clark, with Miss Helen Dunlap as demonstrator.

For the non-fat milk whip, which is good for dietary use, Miss Dunlap advised that the 1/2 cup of water be put into the freezing unit of your refrigerator to get icy cold. "When it reaches this stage, slowly beat into it 1/2 cup of powdered milk and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Set aside 1 teaspoon gelatin and 1 teaspoon bottled milk. Add 1/2 cup sugar slowly to the milk and water mixture, 1 teaspoon vanilla and last add gelatin and milk mixture.

The cake with milk whip and coffee were served for refreshments. Roll call at the business meeting was answered by discussing individual cake problems. Members voted to have secret pals and a white elephant.

Mrs. Jim King was appointed to be food leader and Mrs. J. L. Redde, clothing leader.

Attending were Mrs. K. R. Dodd, Roy Frazier, JoAnn Henry, Jim King, A. A. McElrath, John Mobley, G. H. Murrell, Cecil Deist, and children, Bobby Frazier, Katy and Corky Dodd and Cathie Deist.

Fresh Eggs Lead Plentiful List For Economical Buying

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

This month hens are expected to increase their egg-laying production. It's expected earlier than usual and gives every housewife a chance to get high-quality eggs at better prices before commercial processors start buying.

Broiler-dryer chickens, beef (lots of it top grade) and frozen fish (especially ocean perch, whiting and scallops) lead the main-course plentiful for February along with fresh eggs.

For materials for the rest of the meal, there will be large supplies of onions, grapefruit, winter pears, potatoes, cabbage and dry lima beans.

February has more abundant foods to offer — raisins, pecans and peanuts, and a heavy supply of dairy foods. So let's get out the cookbooks and start eating well-rounded winter meals at budget prices.

With so much iceberg lettuce available earlier than usual, you'll want new salad dressings. These come from friends in Southern California.

Desert Sun Dressing
(Makes 3 cups)
One half cup chopped celery, 1/4 cup chopped green onion, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, basil, marjoram, rosemary, 1/4 cup salad oil, 1/4 cup red wine vinegar, tarragon flavored.

Chop celery, green onion and parsley as fine as possible, but do not grind. Combine with remaining ingredients. Let "ripen" for several hours before serving. Serve on wedges of crisp iceberg head lettuce.

Casa Grande Dressing
(Makes 4 servings)
One cup sour cream, 2 green onions, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 or 3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, 1/2 cup blue cheese, salt and freshly ground pepper to taste. Finely cut tops and all of the green onions into the sour cream. Add remaining ingredients and season to taste. Allow to "ripen" for several hours before serving. Serve on wedges of crisp iceberg head lettuce.

Old Tureens Find New Popularity

PITTSBURGH — UP—The No. 1 course on American menus these days is good, old-fashioned stew. Who says so? The nation's leading china and glass manufacturers, who can spot trends in menu planning from what they're selling.

There's an increasing demand, they say, for tureens, casseroles and other covered dishes for cooking or serving the cheaper meat cuts used in stews and soups.

Hundreds of china and glass manufacturers recently exhibited their 1954 wares in Pittsburgh, a glass-making center.

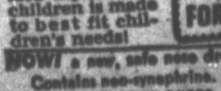

EVERYONE GETTING 'EM
They say that the tureen, long popular with New Orleans and New England housewives, now is ordinary equipment on tables throughout the nation.

"Most people just can't afford steaks and chops," said J. Andrew Squires, one of the show managers. "They're putting away the frying pan in favor of the covered dish."

The cheaper tureens and casseroles at the exhibits will retail for $5 or less, when they come to the stores in the spring. Extra fancy ones go as high as $150—a high price for dressing up an old-fashioned stew.

THIS CHINA WON'T BREAK
Most of the china and earthenware were of the conventional round and oval patterns. The many varieties of wrought iron and brass dishes and serving pieces which hit the market heavily last year will be fashionably aged this year. One manufacturer is pushing a line of square plates, designed to fit into corners and save cupboard space. Another is featuring face-shaped plates, and still another is offering a complete set of dinnerware in the shape of sea shells.

The show-stopper was provided by a New York firm which is making real china guaranteed for a year against breakage. The salesman at the exhibit attracted a

Wilhelm Wins Easily In State; Sams, Jameson To See Action Tonight

By JACK HOLDEN
Special Correspondent

FOR WORTH, Feb. 18 — Bob Wilhelm, 148-pound Pampa High School football player, lived up to his billing as one of the Panhandle's best Wednesday night as he took a strong decision over Texas Tech's Lyle Shelton in the first night of action in the 18th State Golden Gloves Tournament.

Wilhelm was Pampa's only batter to see action Wednesday, although two other Amarillo region fighters got on the program, lightweight Charles Rodriguez and defending welterweight champ Pete Perez. Perez decided San Angelo's Bruce Price in the middleweight bracket and Rodriguez lost a decision to Charles Baggett of Beaumont.

Wilhelm carried his fight all the way, featuring strong lefts to the body and head. His round, hard body blows and jarring punches to the face gave him valuable points in every round.

Shelton was never able to hurt Wilhelm, although the Tech engineering student gave a fine account of himself. Shelton was staggered momentarily in the second round as Wilhelm pounded the midsection.

In the close fighting Wilhelm edged Shelton. Wilhelm finished up the third round with damaging punches to the face of the tiring Shelton.

Shelton is a 148-pound petroleum engineering student and campus intramural fencing champ. He's from Brownfield and represented Abilene in the 1953 state meet as a middleweight.

Thursday night 112-pound Elmo Sams meets a Dallas flyweight, 112-pound Domingo Coronado. Coronado is a 17-year-old carpenter who is making his first state meet as an alternate.

Roberts Balks At Signing Phil Contract

By UNITED PRESS

Robin Roberts, the Phillies' star right-hander who previously refused to take a pay cut, now refuses to accept a raise.

The husky hurler and Phillies President Bob Carpenter huddled for more than three hours Tuesday but agreed only to disagree. Carpenter said that Roberts was demanding "a bigger raise—more than the club saw fit to give him."

The Phils' head admitted that the first contract mailed to Roberts this year called for a pay cut from the reported $40,000 Roberts received last season. That was based on the reasoning that big Robbie won "only" 23 games last season, compared to 28 the year before.

But Roberts argued that, despite the lower number of wins, his worth to the team was just as great or greater in '53 because of his numerous appearances on the mound.

Carpenter said the Phils then sent Roberts a contract calling for the same salary as last year, and then altered it to give him a slight raise. Tuesday's conference was the result of Roberts' demand for a larger boost.

The White Sox held a telephone pow-wow with their only holdout, outfielder Minnie Minoso. But once again Minoso and Sox General Manager Frank Lane, talking over long-distance wires from Chicago to Cuba, failed to agree.

A Sox spokesman said Minoso has been offered "a generous raise" over the reported $22,500 he received last season and was told "that's about the maximum." It's reported Minoso wants $30,000.

Only shortstop Johnny Logan was left unsigned among the Milwaukee Braves regulars when second baseman Jack Dittmer came to terms.

First baseman Dick Gernert and pitcher Ben Flowers both agreed to terms with the Red Sox and Gernert immediately underwent a workout at the Sox' rookie school in Sarasota, Fla.

Cast in a convex shape, road-side mirrors in France let motorists see around corners, at bad intersections.

Special entertainment will be in the offering for local fans tonight over KPDN. Most of the radio time between 7:30 tonight until midnight will be devoted to the drive and several special events will be carried over the radio station.

Season books for the Pampa Oilers and Borger Gassers are priced at $50 per book which contains 71 tickets—one for each Oiler home game. The price includes taxes and is quite a saving over the regular game price. The tickets are transferable with the purchaser being free to give some of the tickets to friends, relatives etc.

Local merchants can make a big hit with their customers by buying up some of these books, and passing along the tickets to their customers.

The fans may pay $10 down on each book and pay the balance opening day, April 22.

It is hoped that the 400 season books that were bought by Oiler fans last year will be equalled in the drive today.

"With a good start in the ticket sales, it just means that we'll have more revenue to work with from the start which will aid in making player deals," Jimmy Hamilton, Oiler business manager, said concerning the drive.

"If the fans here really show they want professional baseball in Pampa by supporting this drive, then we'll certainly give them a fine ball club in which to watch this summer," Hamilton concluded. Hamilton, along with Oiler field manager Doug Lewis, will handle the ticket sales from KPDN office all day today and until midnight tonight.

Ticket orders may be made via phone or calling by the office. Fans wanting to pay all of the ticket book price may phone the KPDN office at 4-7481 and the books will be delivered.

Griffin, McIlvain 2nd, 3rd Bond op PHS Scorer Third Time

Jimmy Bond, for the third straight year, has topped top scorers in the 24 games played by the Harvesters.

Bond tossed in 332 points to win the scoring title in his sophomore year, had 579 points last season, leading the Harvesters cagers both years.

Overall, Bond has scored 1,408 points.

Gary Griffin followed Bond in scoring this season with 238 points. E. Jay McIlvain ranked third with 222 points and Ken Hinkle finished fourth with 188 points.

Griffin, McIlvain and Hinkle are juniors and will return next season for the Harvesters.

The Harvesters still have more games in which to fatten scoring averages with the upcoming bi-district series next week.

El Paso High School will likely be the Harvesters' foe for the bi-district series. The El Pasoans can clinch the title tonight by beating Bowie of El Paso. If they fail to down Bowie, then they can clinch the title tomorrow night by beating Ysleta. If they lose both games, then the El Paso school will end in a 2-way tie for first with Ysleta.

A one-game playoff would then be played Saturday night between El Paso and Ysleta.

Harvester coach Clifford McNeely left today to scout the El Paso teams and to arrange the site and date of the bi-district series.

Loss Eliminates Mustangs TCU Makes It 10 Straight Over SMU

By UNITED PRESS

TCU's Christian doesn't have a chance to repeat as Southwest Conference basketball champ for the third straight year, but the Horned Frogs could beat Thursday they had knocked Southern Methodist out of the race.

TCU, for the 10th straight time, defeated the Mustangs Wednesday night, this time by a 73 to 65 score. The Frog won left both teams with a 4-5 record and tied for fifth place in the SWC.

The title apparently was up for grabs between Texas and Rice, both of whom have 6-2 marks, but Arkansas (8-4) and Baylor (4-4) were rated remote possibilities to take a share of the crown. Texas A&M was an almost certain last with a record of only one win in nine starts with three games to play.

The next Southwest Conference activity will be Saturday night's three game card. Texas A&M meets Texas Christian at Fort Worth, Arkansas could hand Rice a setback at Houston, and Baylor has the same opportunity in its game with Texas at Austin.

Southern Methodist made a game out of it until the last four minutes, but the Mustang attack failed then. SMU gained a 63-all tie with four minutes and 10 seconds, but could score only two more points as the game ended.

McLEAN, Feb. 18 — (Special) — The McLean Tigers, champions of District 1-A boys basketball, will meet Sudan in a bi-district game next Tuesday at the West Texas State College Fieldhouse in Canyon.

The Tigers rallied down the 1-A title by winning both the regular season race and the district tournament. A playoff between the winner of the regular season and the tournament, if they were different, would have been necessary.

But, since McLean won both, no playoff was needed. McLean wound up their season schedule with a 29-2 record. They lost their first game in their own invitational tournament in December, a 37-35 decision to Claude.

McLean later defeated Claude twice to more than make up for the loss to the Mustangs. The Tigers also reversed the other loss on their slate. Panhandle defeated the Tigers in 1-A regular season play, 39-37, but McLean came back to down Panhandle twice in the double-elimination 1-A tournament.

2 Brothers Of Billy Vessels Implicated In Auto Thefts

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 18 — UP — Two brothers of football star Billy Vessels were implicated Thursday in automobile thefts in Oklahoma and officers said one of them had signed a confession.

Donnie Vessels, 18-year-old Cleveland, Okla., high school football star, was in the city jail here, booked for car theft. He was arrested in his fraternity house Wednesday night at Norman, Okla., where he is a freshman in the University of Oklahoma.

His brother, Jack Vessels, 24, former manager of an Oklahoma county night club, was being sought on a Tulsa county warrant charging car theft.

State highway patrolmen arrested another college student, 18-year-old Fred Everett Newman, of Tulsa, at Lawton, Okla., where he attends Cameron Junior College. Troopers said he was being held at Lawton.

Officers reported Donnie Vessels and Newman were in possession of two late model cars when they were arrested. Oklahoma City police said the younger Vessels brothers gave Cleveland county authorities a statement at Norman, confessing his part in the theft of three cars.

He said he and Newman took the late-model sedans from used car lots in Oklahoma City. Their procedure was to steal the cars, have them painted and change the license plates.

Donnie Vessels said the stolen car he was driving was taken from him at one time by University police because freshmen are not allowed to have cars in Norman. He said it was later returned to him with a warning to keep it out of town.

Donnie Vessels is a member of the University's freshman football team and was considered one of the most promising players in the school. He was a top-ranked gridiron and track star at Cleveland high school, following literally in the footsteps of his brother Billy, an outstanding star at the university two years ago and last year a sensation in Canadian professional football.

Only Wednesday night, Trabert played with the University of Cincinnati basketball team in a game against Dayton. Thursday night he returns to the role of America's top tennis star to face 43-year-old Frank Shields of New York in an opening round test.

Trabert, National Outdoor champion and mainstay of the United States Davis Cup team, is only one of six current champions included in the men's field of 32 entrants.

Tourney Starts Today Harrison Favored In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 18 — UP — E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the season's top money winner although he missed two of the five tournaments along the winter golf trail, was conceded the man most likely to succeed Thursday as the $12,500 Texas Open tournament got under way.

The angular Arkansas Traveler, apparently recovered from a painful backache that cut him down at the top of his game at Palm Springs, has been the most consistent player on the tour with more than $5,000 in winnings.

He finished fourth at Los Angeles, won the Bing Crosby Invitational, was top pro behind Amateur Gene Littler's surprise championship showing at San Diego and was tied for the lead at Palm Springs when the pain forced him out of action.

Harrison brought along an electric vibrator to help him keep his ailments under control and if it works the rest of the field has the utmost respect for him on the short flat Bridgeway Park course.

The par 71 layout has always been a soft touch for the seasoned campaigners—so soft that over the past eight years it has taken practically eight-under-par golf to win. The winning average over that span is 284.4 strokes.

Rare Cattle Smuggling Case To Jury

AUSTIN, Feb. 18 —UP—A federal court jury began deliberating Thursday in the smuggling trial of a Del Rio, Tex., rancher, William L. Babb.

Babb is accused of smuggling 68 head of Charolais cattle, a rare French breed, into the United States from Mexico. He testified Wednesday he thought the cattle, valued by the government at $500,000 had been imported legally.

Babb's ranch lies along the Rio Grande, the border between Texas and Mexico, and he said he wouldn't have handled the cattle if he'd known they were contraband.

He was alleged by the government to have been the middle man in the transfer of cattle between a Mexican rancher, Antonio Enrique Gilly, and Alphe A. Broussard of Lafayette, La. Gilly and Broussard also were indicted, with Broussard pleading guilty last month. Gilly is in France and hasn't been tried.

Broussard testified Wednesday that he sent seven coded telegrams to Gilly at Mexico City, advising him of progress in the movement of the cattle. But Babb said he had no knowledge of the telegrams, in which Broussard said he was called "Bill" and the cattle were referred to as members of Babb's family.

The white cattle are peculiarly valuable since they cannot be imported into the United States direct from France, because of the hoof and mouth disease, and Mexico bans their export.

The government charges 68 head were smuggled, but one died. The herd has been impounded at Broussard's ranch, but now numbers 89, since 21 calves have been born.

Pure gold does not tarnish but is easily scratched and is very soft. For coinage, it usually is hardened with 10 per cent copper.

Sets Things Straight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 —UP—Rep. Usher L. Burdick (R-N.D.) rose in the House during a confusing debate over timberland rights Wednesday.

"I've been sitting here quietly," he said, "and I've come to the conclusion that neither side knows what you're doing."

"Neither side knows what you want to do."

"And neither side knows you don't know."

Then Burdick sat down.

Form Important in Filing Tax Return

EDITORS NOTE: This is the second of a series of three dispatches.

By RICHARD E. MOONEY
WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 —UP—The form you use for your income tax return depends on two things: The size of your income, and where it came from.

Most taxpayers are eligible to use the one-page yellow form, 1040A. You qualify if your 1953 earnings were less than $5,000 in wages or salaries, if your employer has been withholding tax payments every payday, and if you had not more than $100 of other income from which no federal tax has been withheld. (This other income might include wages for odd jobs, or dividends and interest collected on savings, loans, securities or other investments.)

The government is working on a plan, to relieve the 38 million taxpayers who now use Form 1040A from the necessity of filing a return. But that is still just a plan—it has nothing to do with this year's filing.

All You Do

Here is all you need do to complete Form 1040A:

Answer the printed questions, fill in your name, address and Social Security number, state whether you are married or single, report all your taxable income and its source, list your exemptions, sign your name, and attach your Form W-2. The W-2 form is the slip of paper on which your employer says how much he paid you and how much tax he held out for the government.

If you had more than one job, you probably have more than one Form W-2. Be sure to send them all in.

Send no money if you use the yellow Form 1040A. The district director will figure whether you owe the government or are in line for a refund. If you still owe, you will get a bill. If the government owes you, you will get a refund. Three out of five returns last year resulted in refunds.

The longer and more complicated tax return called Form 1040 is for anyone who wants to use it, and there are some who must use it. If your 1953 taxable income was $5,000 or more you must use Form 1040. The same applies if you had "outside" income of more than $100 that was not covered by the "pay as you go" taxes withheld by employers.

The first thing to decide in making out Form 1040 is whether you want to take the standard 10 per cent deduction for non-business expenses, or itemize your deductions. If you had heavy medical bills, gave generously to churches or charity, paid a lot of interest on a bank note or home mortgage, suffered fire or storm losses not covered by insurance, or paid substantial real estate or sales taxes, you may get a better break by itemizing your deductions.

It is a good idea to figure your tax both ways—with the standard 10 per cent deduction and by itemizing your deductions. On your return, use the method that results in the lowest tax.

Two Tables

If you had an income of $5,000 or less, you may determine your tax simply by consulting a table on the back of Form 1040. But if your income was more than $5,000, you have to figure out the tax by arithmetic. Each step is carefully explained on the third page of the return.

Then you enter on Page 3 the amount of tax you have calculated on Page 2, and compare this figure with the amount you have already paid through withholding collections, or otherwise. If the balance is in your favor, the government owes you a refund. If you still owe the government, be sure to include a check or money order with the return. Unlike users of the yellow Form 1040A, you can't wait for the government to bill you.

Any 1040 or 1040A may be filed by husband and wife as a joint return. A joint return usually saves you money if your income was over $5,000. It permits you to split the family income 50-50 and pay taxes on each half at lower rates than would apply to the total amount. You can file a joint return even though your wife had no income.

THE RECORD SHOP

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEW YORK — (NEA) — In 1953, many new sounds came along on records. There were barbers and echoes and groans and others too noisy — if not noseline — to mention. But the one that may have the most lasting effect on pop music was a simple vibrato (pulsating effect) in the throat.

On one end of this throat is a harmonica. The other end is the property of Richard Hayman. Combining Hayman, harmonica, and throat and you'll have the smooth, unharmonia-like sound that made "Ruby" of the '53's top hits.

"I tried to make a sound that doesn't sound like a harmonica," says Hayman, a youthful, studious-looking man, who takes his harmonica seriously. "That throat vibrato seems to give it a warm tone."

Warm is an understatement; it turned out to be hot. After "Ruby" came others like "Off-Shore," and now Hayman's Mercury release of "Drive-In" is around to sell more harmonicas.

Hayman is a self-taught harmonica player who was with Borrah Minneville's Harmonica Rascals in the good old days when they paid more attention to their harmonica than their rascality.

"I'd been looking for a long time for a song," he says, "which would be good for a harmonica record. 'Ruby' was it, but, frankly, I was surprised that it was such a hit. We knew it was good and had a different sound, but we didn't think it would be as big as it was."

Dick Hayman, while he isn't a harmonica-crusader, is "gratified" that his favorite instrument is now considered more than a toy in pop music. So are the harmonica manufacturers, who can be seen any day gleefully rubbing their reeds together.

The Popular Side: Coming in February is a big new RCA album of Artie Shaw music, culled from radio broadcasts of '38 and '39. I sneaked a listen to the album, and can report it's terrific — all the

U.S. Must Watch Its Step In Any Meeting With Red China

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

It seems probable now that the Western Allies and Russia will agree on setting up some kind of a meeting with Red China.

The meeting probably will not be on April 15, as suggested by the United States, Britain and France, nor could any such meeting properly be called a "Big Five" conference.

The United States especially is utterly opposed to any move which might admit Red China to world councils by the "back door" and is watchful of any misstep which might constitute recognition of the Red regime, in fact if not by name.

A Harder Problem

The belief that any meeting with Red China cannot come as early as April 15 is based on the fact that opposing interests on both sides make it infinitely harder to arrange than was the current four-power conference in Berlin—which itself took months.

But the facts also are that both sides want a meeting.

The "joker" is that Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov is insisting that Red China have full equality in the meeting, with the right to bring up any question she might choose.

The effect would be the recognition the United States seeks to avoid.

The United States, on the other hand, hopes to limit the conference first to a settlement of the Korean question and then, possibly later, to the war in Indo-China.

At the Berlin conference Molotov has, in effect, gained recognition of the status quo in Europe—recognition that the world is divided into two camps.

About the only result to be expected of a Korean conference, is the same kind of recognition for Asia, specifically that Korea will remain divided indefinitely.

A Big Difference

Still another element enters negotiations for an Asian conference. At Berlin, Molotov could and did act as if he were the last word in Russian policy in Europe.

But the last word on an Asian conference is not Molotov's but Red dictator Mao Tse-Tung's.

Most Western observers in Berlin have abandoned the theory that Russia is operating behind a "blind" and really wishes to exclude Red China from world councils. They believe the Soviet Union and Red China may have different opinions about the war in Indo-China but that in this case the Russians are acting as "brokers" for Red China, trying to drive the best bargain they can.

For it can be said, with the full support of historic precedent, that much of today's Cadillac will find its way into the cars of tomorrow.

Cadillac's sweeping new lines, its new proportions of glass and steel, and its many superlative new details of design will unquestionably have a profound influence on automotive stylists the world over. The new roominess of Cadillac's interiors, the new beauty of its appointments, and the new richness of its fabrics and leathers will give the industry completely new standards of comfort and luxury.

And Cadillac's great new power and responsiveness, its wonderful new handling ease and its incredible smoothness of operation are certain to serve as engineering guideposts for years to come.

But imitation is one thing—duplication another. And no amount of imitation could ever produce Cadillac's happy combination of brilliant styling, extraordinary luxury and magnificent performance.

Nor could it bring to another motor car Cadillac's unprecedented acceptance among the world's motorists . . . the feeling of pride that comes to the man who sits behind its wheel . . . or its reputation as the Standard of the World.

These are Cadillac "exclusives"—hard won through decades of leadership, and through undeviating adherence to the highest ideals of automotive production.

We repeat—you ought to come in and see the new 1954 Cadillac. For it is Cadillac's annual report to the nation on the progress of American motor car design—and the news has never been so exciting!

You'll be most welcome at any time.
