Allies Repel Red Attack

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist soldiers shelled four U.S. camps guarding Saigon and battled American troops on infiltration corridors toward the city, military spokesmen said today. U.S. forces reported 117 Reds slain.

In the Central Highlands, North Vietnamese troops overran Plei Ring De hamlet, inflicting "moderate" casualties on its defenders, and hammered a nearby village with 100-artillery shells.

The Viet Cong today said it planned to free "a number" of U.S. and South Vietnamese prisoners and proposed a battlefield meeting with U.S. officials on Christmas Day to arrange it.

Neighboring Cambodia announced it had released 11 U.S. servicemen captured in July when their patrol boat wandered from South Vietnam into Cambodia.

U.S. footsoldiers behind bullet spraying armored troops carriers and air power Wednesday killed a total of 56 Communists in the Saigon-area fights and 61 in a nine-hour battle with guerrillas threatening Da Nang.

Six flights of U.S. B52 bombers followed up the two battles 75 miles north and 23 miles northwest of Saigon with missiles.

Police Stop Ransom Pickup by Kidnapers

MIAMI (UPI)—Police happened onto a ransom pickup by two of Barbara Jane Mackle's kidnapers early today and, in an exchange of gunfire along a fashionable bayfront section, the men dropped a suitcase crammed with a half-million dollars.

The two men fled into a densely wooded area about the size of three city blocks. Police and helicopters searched the area full of mangrove and palm trees but officers expressed fears that the men had slipped away.

The whereabouts of Miss Mackle, who was kidnaped before dawn Tuesday from an Atlanta motel room, remained unknown. Fred A. Frohbose, FBI agent-in-charge, said the search for her continued. He specifically denied a report that she had returned home.

The break in the two-day-old kidnaping came at dawn when, after a tense night of waiting, a suitcase that apparently had been placed at a pre-arranged drop site was picked up by the two men.

Robert Mackle, the millionaire father of the 20-year-old girl, had come up with $500,000 in used $20 bills that were placed in the suitcase at the direction of the kidnapers.

Police received a call from a resident saying that a man was in the area with a rifle. Patrolmen T. S. Self and W. J. Sweeney arrived and saw two men parked in a blue Volvo automobile with a Massachusetts license plate.

FBI agent Frohbose said shots were exchanged when the officers approached the men and the two kidnapers fled into the woods.

Frohbose said the two officers obviously didn't know the two men were involved in a ransom pickup but had simply come by on a complaint from a citizen.

"Mr. Mackle was doing everything possible to comply with the demands of the kidnapers," the agent said. "It was just one of those things. If the police get a complaint from a citizen they have no choice but to answer that complaint. They had no way of knowing Highway Projects Outlined in City Manager's Report

State Highway Department plans calling for the widening and resurfacing of U.S. 60 Highway east from Hobart St. to the Pampa city limits are scheduled for next summer, City Manager Charles Hill said in his monthly report yesterday to the mayor and city commissioners.

The city manager stated the nine months to one year construction period will result in a four-lane divided highway similar to that recently completed on U.S. 60 west from Hobart.

U.S. 70 (Hobart St.) south of U.S. 60 to the city limits will be improved beginning this winter and should be completed by next summer, the report stated. That project will include a completely new base and surface for that thoroughfare along with the widening of U.S. 70 at the intersection with U.S. 60 to provide a safer left-turn lane.

The manager's report noted that the average consumption of water in Pampa is 115 gallons per day per person. This

BABE IN A MANGER — Above is one of the scenes in Central Park dramatizing the birth of Jesus Christ. The scene pictures the Babe in the Manger. Other scenes which were officially lighted Tuesday evening depict the circumstances of the birth and various events relating to the story of Christ's birth. The scene above was photographed during Wednesday's snowstorm, when snow threatened to hide the scenes.

Predicted Snow Fails to Match Bureau Forecast

A five-inch accumulation of snow predicted by the Amarillo Weather Bureau yesterday forenoon failed to materialize as the storm moved easterly after dumping a little more than an inch. Skies cleared during the afternoon.

Forecasters were still holding to the prediction as late as 1 p.m. yesterday but by mid-afternoon the storm had moved on toward Louisiana and the sun peeked out.

Blowing snow which cut visibility to near zero held forth in Pampa and vicinity until shortly after noon.

The snow began shortly after 9 a.m. with light flurries but increased in intensity until around 1 p.m., when it began to decrease. Temperatures

IN WELFARE OFFICE

Father Kills Wife, Wounds Four Children During Party

CARLINVILLE, Ill. (UPI)—A father of 10 shot his estranged wife and three other persons and wounded four of his children at a reunion party in a public welfare office Wednesday. He later fatally wounded himself.

Authorities said Sherman Kline, 33, was to have been reunited with his family in the Carlville offices of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services. The father had shot at one of the caseworkers last May, then fired at a deputy sheriff who tried to arrest him, and had been a fugitive, during which time the family was broken up. Kline entered the welfare offices in the second floor of a frame building above a drug store facing the town square and opened fire with two guns, police said.

Killed were his wife Lorraine, 33; the caseworker at whom he had shot last May, Frank Wildegrub, 25; another caseworker, Mrs. Bonnie Albrecht, 23 and Mrs. Ann Keppler, 28, a stenographer who was to have been married in two weeks.

Kline wounded four of his seven children gathered for the party—while three others, one a 15-year-old married daughter, hid behind a desk. He then fled 60 miles to the O'Fallon, Mo., home of a brother and confessed what he had done. He then ran outside to a grove of trees and shot himself once in the head, and died later in a St. Charles, Mo., hospital.

Esides the three unharmed children, eyewitnesses to the shootings were Don Jones, newsman for radio station WFMI at Litchfield and Mrs. Mary Lou Stultz, another employee. Jones said Kline tried to kill him.

Authorities rushed to the scene. "I just saw my mother fall," Kline's eldest daughter, Mrs. Linda Marie Bennett, 15, married three months ago, told Macoupin County coroner Conrad Dawson.

The body of Lorraine Kline lay among the unopened presents and the four wounded children—Michal, 4, Gene, 13, Judy, 10, and Diane, 8. Diane and Mike, gravely wounded, were taken to St. John's Hospital in Springfield, 35 miles northeast. Gene and Judy were less seriously wounded and taken to Carlville area hospital.

Mrs. Bennett, Paul, 12, and Randy, 3, took refuge behind a desk as their father opened fire. (See FATHER, Page 3)

Band, Choir Making Plans For New York Jets Game

By mid-morning today, only one question stood between the Pampa High School Band and Choir's half-time performance at the New York Jets' American Football League game in New York City Dec. 29.

"It all depends on whether or not we can get a 25 to 30 per cent discount on charter plane rate," Cameron Marsh, Pampa High School principal, and New York '68 coordinator, said.

"The school board has given its approval, and we have contacted parents of band and choir students. The normal charter rate to fly to New York and back is about $22,000. If we can get a discount on that, we can make it," Marsh said.

The PHS band and choir's second national recognition resulted Sunday after they performed the half-time show at the Baltimore Colts-Los Angeles Rams game in Los Angeles. The game was televised in color coast to coast.

Band Director Harris Brinson was contacted by representatives of the New York Jets and offered $10,000 to fly the group to New York to perform the Dec. 29 half-time show in Shea Stadium.

At this game, the New York Jets will play the winner of the Kansas City Chiefs vs. Oakland Raiders, who play their AFL game Dec. 22. Dr. James Malone, school superintendent, said.

Viet Cong to Arrange Freedom for Others

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong today said it will release three Americans captured in Vietnam for "humanitarian reasons" and to show its desire for peace.

A spokesman for the Viet Cong delegation to stalled war negotiations here identified the trio as Thomas Nelson Jones, Donald N. Smith and James W. Brigham. He made no more definite identification.

In Washington, the Pentagon confirmed that Jones and Brigham were missing. However, it said Defense Department records of men missing in action have no Donald N. Smith as missing but do list a Donald G. Smith. No hometowns were revealed.

In Vietnam, a Viet Cong radio broadcast earlier today proposed a series of battlefield meetings with U.S. officials to arrange the release of Americans held in Communist captivity.

In a Liberation Radio broadcast, the Communists set the first session for Christmas Day, 50 miles northwest of Saigon, to discuss the possible release of three captured U.S. servicemen.

The broadcast said the Americans should reply by radio, most likely by the Armed Forces Network heard across South Vietnam. There was no immediate comment from U.S. diplomatic or military officials.

The Viet Cong said they planned to free "a number" of U.S. and South Vietnamese prisoners to mark the eighth anniversary of their National Liberation Front (NLF).

Friday is the anniversary but, the broadcast said, "in order to insure the receipt of U.S. prisoners of war and promptly return them to their families," American officials must meet the Viet Cong "in various areas to discuss the time, location and necessary procedures for the release."

Liberation Radio said the proposed release "reflects the very humane policy of clemency of the Viet Cong," who never before have released U.S. prisoners of war.

Diplomats said the Viet Cong might be trying to gain official recognition from the United States and South Vietnam, withheld at the Paris talks.

The Communist broadcast proposed the first meeting for the junction of a highway and a river near Tay Ninh City, in the middle of a 30,000-man guerrilla buildup northwest of Saigon. It said the United States should send no more than five unarmed men at 3 p.m. on Christmas Day to discuss the release of three prisoners. The

U.S. Threatens To End Bombing Halt, Hanoi Says

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam said today the United States has threatened to resume bombing of North Vietnam if the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) unleashes a new offensive in the South.

The North Vietnamese statement was released following a meeting between Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance, the No. 2 U.S. negotiator, and Col. Ha Van Lau, his North Vietnamese counterpart.

The North Vietnamese communiqué quoted the Americans as saying that if the Viet Cong resumes its attacks on Saigon, "this would create a situation in which it would be impossible to carry on serious negotiations in Paris and maintain the bombing halt."

South Vietnamese military officials said this week the Communists were massing up to 30,000 men for a new offensive on Saigon and predicted another enemy effort to capture Da Nang.

Military reports from Saigon today reported continued shelling of U.S. camps guarding Saigon and a series of battles on the defensive fringes of the South Vietnamese capital.

The United States protested sharply against previous Viet Cong attacks on South Vietnamese cities as a violation of the agreement by which President Johnson ended the bombing of North Vietnam on Nov. 1. It also protested Communist military activity in the Demilitarized Zone.

Vance met with Lau today in what diplomatic sources called an "extremely important" meeting. It had been hoped the talks would get the stalled Paris talks going. The blunt U.S. warning to the Communist side came as a surprise.

Only a few hours before the Viet Cong announced they were releasing three American prisoners of war in South Vietnam for "humanitarian reasons" and to show their desire for peace. However, they coupled this announcement with another

Cambodia Frees 12 Servicemen

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Chief of State Prince Norodom Sihanouk today said Cambodia is releasing all 12 American servicemen it holds prisoner. "We will give satisfaction to President Johnson," he told newsmen.

Sihanouk said the Americans being released include the 11-man crew of a patrol craft that strayed into Cambodian waters July 17 and a helicopter crewman captured last month.

In a news conference, Sihanouk said the 11 patrol craft crewmen were being freed today, delivered to the Australian embassy and allowed "to return home in time to spend the Christmas holidays with their families." He also announced the release of a South Vietnamese soldier arrested in the boat with the Americans.

Two hours later the prince called a second news conference. He said the French embassy had delivered to him a "personal message" from President Johnson asking for the liberation of the 12 U.S. servicemen.

SHOPPING DAYS 'TIL CHRISTMAS

The Family Lawyer

"DON'T WORRY...
I'M INSURED"

Suppose a neighbor's child, playing in your back yard, falls from a swing and suffers serious injury. Later, when you are talking with his parents, you may offer a few consoling words:

"Don't worry... I'm insured."

But are you really? Under the popular Comprehensive Personal Liability policy, you are covered only in case you are legally liable. If this was a pure accident, in no way your fault, you are not legally liable — and the insurance company has no obligation to pay off.

True, you may have a "medical payments" clause in your policy which applies even if you are not legally liable. But the medical payments coverage is usually modest, not much help in case of serious injury.

In these circumstances, you might be tempted to side with the injured victim against your own insurance company — perhaps out of sympathy for the victim, perhaps on the theory that "the insurance company can afford it."

But whatever your inclination, you have no right to weight the scales against the company, just to help the victim collect. On the contrary, you are obliged by the "cooperation clause" in your policy to give the company all reasonable cooperation in its defense against the claim.

This means you must sign papers, make court appearances, and do whatever else is necessary to help the company legitimately make its case.

And, of course, you must tell the truth.

In one case, a man named in a damage claim told his insurance company that he was in no way to blame for the accident. But just before the trial, he suddenly reversed his story, quite obviously to help the victim collect.

The court accordingly ruled that the man had violated the cooperation clause, thereby releasing the insurance company from its obligation.

"The insured must tell his insurer the complete truth concerning the accident," said the court, "and he must stick to this truthful version throughout the proceedings. He must not blow hot and cold to suit his personal convenience."

Hell's Angels
Charged With Selling Baby

GLENDAL, Calif. (UPI) — A member of the Hell's Angels motorcycle club and his 18-year-old girlfriend are charged with selling their 4-month-old baby boy for $700.

Dore Anthony Demadona, 29, and Sarah Jane Stewart, both of El Monte, Calif., were arraigned Tuesday in Municipal Court and ordered to appear Friday for a preliminary hearing.

They were charged with violating a seldom-invoked statute making it illegal to sell or try to sell a human being. The child, brown-haired Anthony Lee Stewart, is in protective custody of the county.

Authorities said the couple sold the boy to Mr. and Mrs. William Dajian of Glendale last Oct. 30. Police learned about the transaction last Friday when Demadona and Miss Stewart returned to the home to seek more money from the childless couple and a disturbance ensued.

Police said the $700 was used to buy a motorcycle.

Special Recipe Celebrates G.I. Anniversary Party

If you have an ex-G.I. in your family and are looking for a special recipe to celebrate any G.I.-connected anniversary he may have — discharge, etc. — here is one that will make his mouth water and bring back the fondest sort of memories.

It's called "S.O.S." and it's guaranteed to make him remember those happy days when he was a hungry G.I. chowing-down in the mess hall.

"S.O.S."

(Ingredients for two)
1 pound ground beef
1 large onion, diced
salt and pepper to taste generous dash of Tabasco sauce
dash of Worcestershire sauce
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk

Here's how to prepare:
Brown beef, add seasoning and onions. Cook until tender. Add flour until brown. Add milk and stir. (More milk can be added if thinner consistency is desired, or substitute part water if milk gravy is too rich). Serve on buttered toast or potato pancakes.

Equal quantities of poultry are higher in protein than other meats because of their low fat content, say food specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

CENTER OF ATTRACTION

A "Jolly Snowman" made of popcorn in a holiday setting like this will add fun and excitement to any festive gathering. Snowman is formed by three popcorn balls "glued" together with a syrup mixture. A string of popcorn around the "snowman" makes him truly the center of attraction.

Holiday Centerpiece Good Enough To Eat

CHICAGO, Ill. (Sp.) — Dress up your holiday table this year with a centerpiece that's good enough to eat.

Such a table decoration is a Jolly Snowman Centerpiece made from everybody's favorite — popcorn. It'll impress your guests and thrill the youngsters. The kids can help in its preparation, but they won't need any help eating it.

Here's how to go about making the Jolly Snowman Centerpiece as created in the test kitchens of a leading manufacturer of automatic corn poppers.

JOLLY SNOWMAN CENTERPIECE

Mix one cup white sugar, one cup white corn syrup, one-fourth cup water and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Boil gently until a small amount reaches the "hard-ball" stage (250 degrees) in cold water. Use a candy thermometer if available.

Remove from heat and mix in three tablespoons butter and one teaspoon vanilla. Pour slowly over four quarts of unsalted popped corn. Shape while warm into three balls, 3, 4 and 6 inches in diameter, to form the head, body and base.

Fashion two arms about four inches long, two inches in diameter. Press entire figure into shape using a portion of the syrup mixture.

Use raisins or gumdrops for eyes, nose, mouth and buttons. A marshmallow on a cookie makes a humorous-looking hat. For added dash, put the snowman on "skis" made of licorice strips, with candy cane poles and a scarf made of ribbon.

Meaty Morsels Brighten Up Holiday Table

Dress up a holiday party with quick-to-fix Salami Wheels. Spread thin salami slices with blue cheese spread. Then roll up each slice jelly roll fashion and wrap securely in aluminum foil or waxed paper. Refrigerate until thoroughly chilled.

For serving cut rolls in 1/2-inch crosswise slices. Pierce each with a wooden pick.

Dieting for Holidays?

Want to lose weight before the holidays? Here is a suggestion. Buy a jeweled tape measure to make inch-watching more irresistible.

Here are more aids to support your morale. Weigh yourself only one time per week. If you weigh only at the end of a full week of faithful dieting, the scale should show a sizeable loss which is sure to pep up your morale.

Since your allotted food thin to fool your eye. Several thin slices of meat seem more than one larger slice. Also, chew your food slowly. It can take you twice as long to eat. One more hint, use a small plate. It makes your portions of food look larger.

FOR HOLIDAY

Try tuna stuffed mushrooms for holiday entertaining. Remove stems from 18 medium mushrooms and chop. Wipe mushroom caps with damp cloth; brush with 2 tablespoons of melted butter or margarine. In mixing bowl, combine chopped stems, 4 tablespoons of melted butter, 1 (6 1/2 oz.) can of flaked drained tuna, 1/4 cup each of fine dry bread crumbs and crumbled blue cheese, 1 tablespoon each of chopped chives, chopped pimiento and sherry and 1/2 teaspoon of pepper. Spoon tuna filling into mushroom caps. Broil 6 inches from source of heat 5 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Mincement pie will sparkle if before baking the pastry top is brushed with slightly-beaten egg white and sprinkled with about a teaspoon of white granulated sugar. During baking the sugar crystals partly melt and become a myriad of sparkles.

Christmas Morning Needs Specialties

On Christmas Day in the morning you'll want a radiant table. Call the family to breakfast or brunch served on a candy-striped red and white cloth with bright red napkins.

Chilled grapefruit halves, the center topped with a miniature candy cane or with sugar frosted grapes will begin your Christmas breakfast.

To prepare the frosted grapes brush tiny bunches of seedless grapes with beaten egg white, then generously sprinkle with granulated sugar and chill.

From your chafing dish or platter serve fluffy scrambled eggs. On a tray provide generous servings of crisp bacon strips, Canadian-style bacon and smoked sausage links. When cooking a quantity of bacon it's easily done in your oven. Place the strips on a rack in an open roasting pan. Cook in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 15 minutes. No turning is necessary.

Complete your menu with a basket of holiday bread... the kind filled with citron, candied pineapple and cherries.

Edible Christmas Package

Here's a Christmas package main dish for your bridge luncheon. Prepare a sandwich loaf made of a layer each of ham salad, tomato slices and egg salad. Frost with thinned cream cheese. Then using pimiento as ribbon, "tie" the package forming a bow on one side. Decorate the platter or silver tray with holly or other greenery.

Holiday Ham Glazes

Honey glaze imparts a golden-brown surface to ham. To prepare, mix together 1/4 cup honey and 1 cup brown sugar. Stir in 2 tablespoons orange juice, 1 teaspoon orange rind and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Spread over the baked ham about 30 minutes before the end of baking time; return to oven until glaze is set.

Snappy Fruit Glaze is another choice. Combine 1/2 cup each of apricot and pineapple preserves along with 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish mustard. Mix thoroughly. Spread over ham and return to oven the last 30 minutes of cooking time.

Native Berry Makes Yule Merry, Bright

CHICAGO, Ill. (Sp.) — Tart, ruby-red cranberries are as much a part of the holiday season as old St. Nick. There are many ways to add this native berry to your holiday eating enjoyment.

For instance, on a busy December day serve this quick supper treat — a Sausage-Cranberry Sandwich.

SAUSAGE CRANBERRY SANDWICH

Here's how to prepare these hot open-face sandwiches. Cook 1 pound of bulk pork sausage until crumbly and lightly browned. Pour off the drippings.

To the meat add 1/2 cup of whole cranberry sauce and 1/4 cup of salad dressing. Mix thoroughly. Next, split 3 English muffins and lightly toast the cut side. Place about 1-3 cup of sausage-cranberry mixture on each toasted muffin half. Grill sandwiches about 3 inches from the heat for 3 to 5 minutes or until meat is lightly browned. Garnish with sprigs of parsley.

CRANBERRY FRENCH DRESSING

For tempting cranberry French dressing that is ideal with ham salad simply add two tablespoons canned whole cranberry sauce to one-half cup of French dressing.

Choose your market for cleanliness especially when buying chicken or turkey, say food specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. A good market keeps fresh birds refrigerated and frozen birds frozen at all times.

Maxwell House Announces Freeze-Dried Coffee

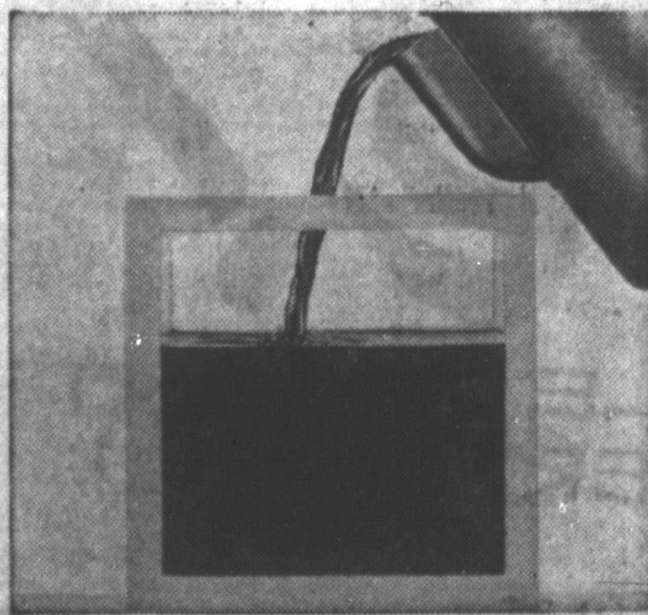

Now, an entirely new process called freeze-drying actually makes it possible for you to brew real percolated coffee...without a percolator!

Maxim® is an entirely new form of coffee.

Maxim is crystals of real percolated coffee. Concentrated crystals with the power to turn every cup in your house into a percolator!

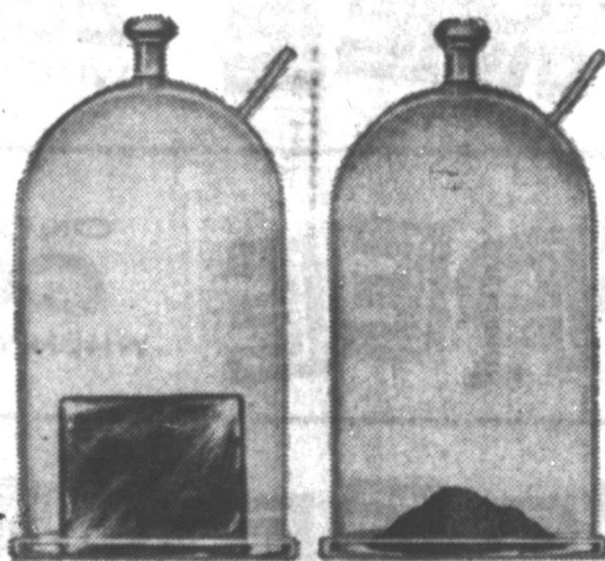

Maxim is an amazing breakthrough in coffee-making. It is entirely different from any instant coffee. It is entirely different from any ground coffee. Maxim is, in fact, concentrated crystals of real percolated coffee.

Maxim's secret—freeze-drying—is the result of years of coffee research at Maxwell House. A way has been discovered to transform actual pot-brewed coffee into concentrated crystals. Here's how it is done.

Freshly percolated coffee is poured into freezing containers.

Maxim begins with pots and pots of dark, strong, percolated coffee. This freshly brewed coffee is poured into special freezing containers. Here it is flash-frozen at the peak of perfection, when coffee flavor and aroma are at their break-fast-time best!

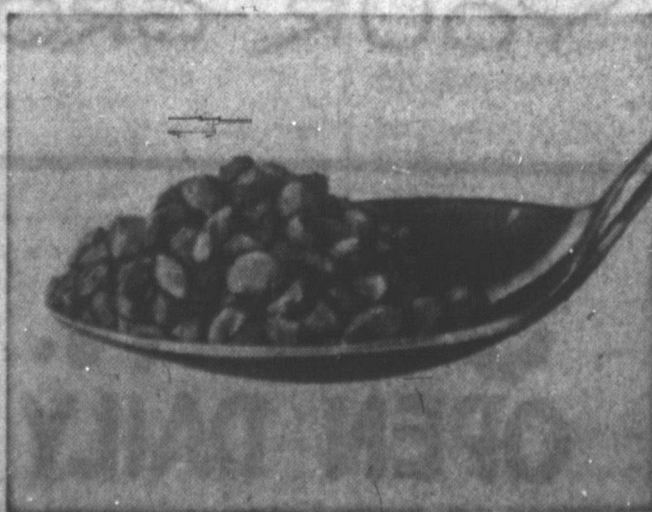

Vacuum chamber turns block of frozen coffee into crystals.

After the coffee has been frozen, the ice is drawn off—not by heat which destroys flavor—but by an amazing new vacuum process. It spirits the ice away without losing any of the honest flavor and body of freshly-percolated coffee.

Freeze-Dried crystals that need no refrigeration!

This "ice removal" leaves concentrated crystals of real percolated coffee. And that's exactly what Maxim freeze-dried coffee is—fresh-brewed coffee without the water. These waterless crystals stay fresh until you're ready to use them. They need absolutely no refrigeration and can be kept right in your kitchen cupboard.

Different from any other form of coffee.

You can tell at once that Maxim is unlike any other coffee you have ever used. Take a spoonful, and you see golden brown crystals that actually sparkle. Smell them, and you smell the rich, roasted aroma of freshly percolated coffee.

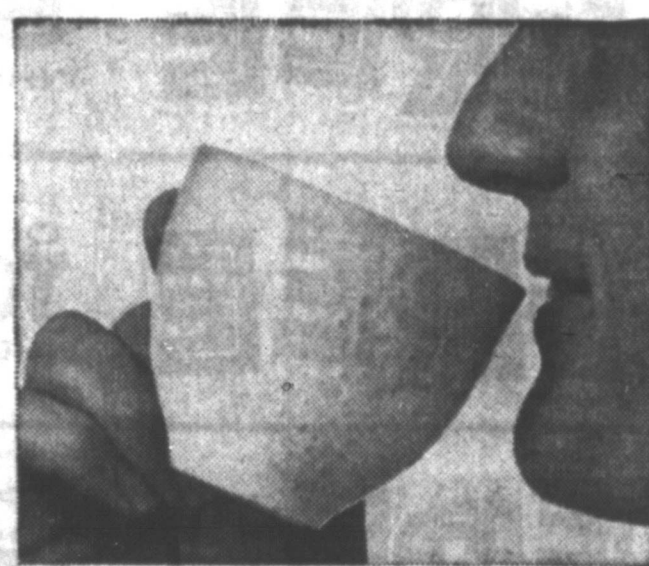

Turns your cup into a percolator!

The real miracle happens in your cup. The moment you add hot water Maxim's concentrated crystals explode into real percolated coffee. Maxim actually turns every cup in your house into a percolator! No pots. No grounds. No instant taste!

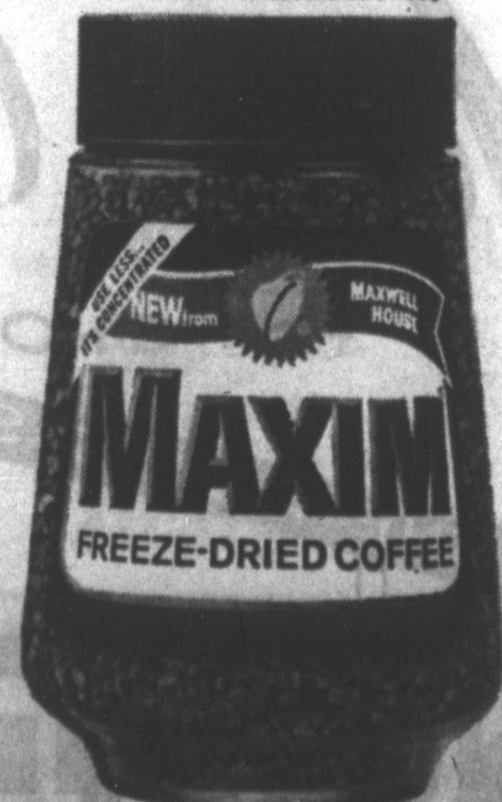

Important—you need less per cup!

Because Maxim's crystals are concentrated, you use less per cup than you do with any other form of coffee. For each cup, just use a level teaspoon (more or less to taste). You'll find it's surprisingly thrifty to use Maxim!

Discover Maxim—America's first Freeze-Dried coffee.

Get Maxim soon. Try it and see if you can detect a difference between Maxim and the good coffee you've been brewing in your percolator! You'll get the surprise of your coffee-loving life! Discover Maxim—America's first Freeze-Dried coffee—new from Maxwell House.

One 4-oz. jar of Maxim makes as many cups as one pound of ground coffee.

240,000 Persons To Die in Auto Accidents—Unless

AUSTIN (UPI)—More than 240,000 Americans will die on highways in the next four years unless the Nixon administration continues strong federal support for safety programs, a spokesman for the National Highway Safety Advisory Committee said Tuesday.

"Without strong and public backing from the President and the secretary of transportation, the success of the new federal-state-local partnership to combat highway slaughter and crippling will be in grave jeopardy," J. Sam Winters, Austin attorney and chairman of the group's executive committee said in a letter.

The letter was sent to President-elect Richard Nixon and John Volpe, transportation secretary designate. It urged increased funds for local and state highway safety programs.

Winters said the nation could expect 15 million injuries in the next four years—as well as the high death figure—"Unless strong federal support for highway safety act programs is forthcoming from the new administration."

IRON MAIDEN would not be so nice to cuddle up to in this garb. All-metal fashions were designed by a painter-sculptor and shown in Nice, France. Apparently the wearer's comfort lost out to art.

Quotes in the News

By United Press International
CAPE KENNEDY—Astronaut Frank Borman, announcing what he and his two fellow spacemen plan to do before they are launched Saturday on a voyage around the moon:

"We're going to take the evenings and sit around and talk about how we're going to fly the thing."

PARIS—South Vietnam's Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, defending himself from verbal attacks by American critics:

"I have to fight not only the enemy but so-called friends."

WASHINGTON—Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., criticizing Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford's view that the United States should concentrate on a military settlement of the Vietnam War and stay out of the political settlement:

"If the United States has no interest in South Vietnam... the 30,000 American lives will have gone for nothing."

KONYA, Turkey—A Turkish veterinarian, commenting on Pata, a cat who is reported to be able to speak like a human, using seven simple words:

"The cat in question can pronounce Turkish words when he wants to go out, come in or is hungry. The words can be fully understood, although they are pronounced in a feline way."

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — My father, who diffidently describes himself as "The world's most humble Texan," recently came up from the homeland for his annual visit here.

There was a note of sadness about this year's trip because my father figures this will be the last time he will visit Washington while there is a Texan in the White House.

"I'm 85 now and I doubt I'll live to see another Texan become president," he said. "I doubt I'll live that long either," I said, trying to cheer him up.

However, my father remained disconsolate until he read this week that a peace group planned to stage an "anti-inauguration ball" on the night of the day that Richard Nixon takes office.

The anti-inauguration ball will run concurrently with the traditional inauguration balls and will serve as a sort of protest against the Vietnam War.

"This gives me a great idea," my father said, perking up a bit. "All of us who still like ol' Lyndon and will be sorry to see him go can get together and have ourselves a de-inauguration ball."

"Aren't you afraid you'll wind up dancing alone?" I said. My father bristled at my little jest.

"There are a lot of us who still like ol' Lyndon and will be sorry to see him go," he retorted.

"You just feel that way because you're both Texans," I said.

"That's not true," my father said. "If I were to draw up a list of all the Texans I dislike, it would take me until Christmas."

Now that I think about it, I'm inclined to believe his idea may indeed be a good one.

There probably are many people around the capital who won't necessarily be in the mood to kick up their heels after seeing Nixon sworn in Jan. 20.

It likely would lift their spirits and add to the overall gaiety of the evening if they had their own balls to attend.

Friends and supporters of Hubert Humphrey could rent a hall, hire a band and throw an un-inauguration ball. Meanwhile, backers of George Wallace would be tripping the light fantastic at a non-inauguration ball.

This could be made to tie in with the theme of the inauguration balls, which originally was "bring us together" but later was changed to "forward together."

The new theme would be "bring us together separately."

That Gleaming Eye

Eye beauty begins with proper eye care. Tired eyes, heavy lidded from lack of sleep, are not pretty. A bright-eyed expression is all it's cracked up to be. Clear eyes have a certain whole-someness you can't fake—even with the most expert make-up job. For beautiful eyes, beauty rest is a must.

Bounce for Hair

Try using a protein shampoo if your hair has lost its bounce. Because protein is the natural element in each hair, it will easily absorb more in liquid form. For this reason, protein shampoos give body, bounce and curl to tired, limp hair.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

FRIDAY, DEC. 20

YOUR BIRTHDAY Friday: Your roaming year tends to show you the path to greater earnings. Begin with better organization of your time and effort. Don't be chary about accepting advice. Friday's natives often have a natural gift for politics.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): It is still premature to leap into larger, unevenly organized ventures or obligations. Stick to the job as it has been laid out. Aggressiveness backfires now.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Defer going to new places until after this weekend. Accept a reasonable offer of earning opportunity. Focus on routines, a bit more numerous than normal.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Be sure to keep your receipts. You will need them in the coming half-year. Pay up bills; but just your own, nobody else's.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your own tendency to worry is your greatest hindrance. There is little to be done with these complex emotional stresses, so stop fretting. Give people room.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Accept extra work with a good grace. (There is not much choice.) Earnest consideration of the needs of older people or in-laws, bring tangible rewards.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Finish, so the coming week is clear. People are rather tense; uncertain of their choices or doubtful of choices already made.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Keeping busy is good therapy for a wide range of psychological. There is more than enough work to do. Inspire loved ones to improve their habits as well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You seem locked in. The slightest effort at improvement or change brings tremendous resistance; so save your nerves. Put in a full day. Then put it out of your mind until tomorrow.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Young people tend to become expensive. Seek traditional or at least conservative activities. Change for the sake of novelty is not favored.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You have thought out what it is you most want; persist in your search despite resistance (stirred by your divergence from custom). Pay the price while it's low.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Details are more important than usual and properly tended will save endless future difficulties. Be conservative. Travel will not fill expectations.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Get after neglected items; another weekend of delay will pile them up into major tangles. Hold onto your money; it is not quite the time.

POLLY'S POINTERS

It's All in the Way
Spray Starch is Used

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Creasy edge of the board and spray wanted to know how one can use an entire can of spray starch. I work in a research and development laboratory and our chemists suggest the following: 1. The nozzle of the can is clogged. If it is removed, held under hot water and the hole is cleared with a straight pin, the can will spray. 2. When spraying be sure to hold the can upright and not at too much of an angle. This causes the loss of propellant (gas), thus it is all used up but only half of the starch is used. 3. Be sure to shake the can each time before using.

AMERICAN COMPANY EMPLOYEE
DEAR POLLY—At times we are all in such a hurry that we fail to read the directions given on cans, etc., and would save more time in the end if we did. Most of the above is given on spray starch cans. Mrs. W.J.C. says, "It is almost impossible to spray something that is laying on the ironing board without tilting the can. I hold the garment up with my left hand and operate the spray can with my right hand. If a spot or two needs extra starch, let the garment hang over the

POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Each of my four daughters has quite a collection of stuffed animals that look so messy spread all over their rooms. Have any of you found an attractive way to display them and still keep a semblance of neatness? —ANNE

DEAR POLLY—My electric mixer is on a stand and the rubber disks that were on the bottom of the base rotted away and fell off. I bought a package of plastic soda bottle caps, trimmed off the part that goes over the neck of the bottle, punctured a small hole just big enough to get a screw started, placed the caps and tightened them into place with screws. Be sure to attach from the inner side of the bottle caps so the screws are underneath. Now my mixer is easily moved without marring the counter top.

Sharon Todd, Dwane Calkins Are Married

The marriage of Miss Sharon Rae Todd and Ronald Dwane Calkins was solemnized in St. Theresa's Catholic Church at Panhandle on November 29 with the Rev. Michael Heneghan as officiant. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Todd of Panhandle. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Calkins of Panhandle and is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Weller of Groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length winter white wool sheath. Her veil of illusion fell shoulder length with a tiara of pearls and she carried a white and yellow carnation arrangement on a white Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Douglas Scott Smith, sister of the bride. Serving as best man was Richard Reining. Ushers were Eddie Todd, brother of the bride, and Johnny Calkins, brother of the bridegroom.

Following the nuptial service a reception was held in the Heritage Room of the First National Bank in Panhandle. The newlyweds plan to make their home in Panhandle.

Joan Bennett plays a leading fashion role in a smart town and country suit that you can knit. Directions for the suit are available for sizes 10 to 16 and 38, 40 and 42.

Actress Stars With Knits

By JUDY LOVE

Handknits play leading roles on the fashion scene — and some knits have a special star quality.

This trim suit certainly has it, and that's why it's worn by actress Joan Bennett.

Miss Bennett's fashion sense has served her well during her exciting career. Now starring in the daytime television drama, Dark Shadows, she has appeared in over 70 motion pictures — from "Little Women" to "Father of the Bride." She has costarred with the likes of Ronald Colman, Spencer Tracy and Gregory Peck as a leading lady of fashion.

Miss Bennett's preference for daytime clothes that combine comfort and glamor was the guideline for this suit, designed for her and all knitters who want mature, sophisticated patterns.

The suit is flattering to a wide range of sizes — from slender sizes to the fuller figure. The three-color pattern, knit in sports yarn, forms tiny checks that are a smart fashion choice, especially for larger sizes. Short sleeves, a gently shaped A-line skirt and the short trim jacket add up to a style that is especially smart for the grown-up personality.

Knitting instructions for this suit should satisfy just about everyone. The instructions are given for sizes 10 to 16, plus 38, 40 and 42.

For your copy of knitting instructions for the suit, send 50 cents to Sitchin' Time, in care of the Pampa News, P.O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N. Y. 10019. Be sure to ask for leaflet No. S155 and enclose your name, address and zip code.

Knit Knacks

Dear Judy: Very often there is a slight bunching or pulling at the edge of my knitting after I have bound off. I guess that I am binding off too tightly, but I am having trouble correcting it. Can you help? —Miss E. M., Uniontown, Pa.

Dear Miss M: You suppose correctly. It is a common ailment and easily cured. In your right hand, use a needle that is larger than the one you have used to knit the garment. Remember, too, always knit the knit stitches when binding off, and purl the purl stitches.

—JUDY LOVE.

Pamper Your Hands

Protect hands from the ravages of harsh soaps by wearing rubber gloves lined with cotton. And pamper your hands occasionally with an all-night beauty treatment by wearing thin cotton gloves over rich cream to bed.

Hairdo Airiness

To "fan" hair into frills or ripples, catch a few strands around the brush and twist your wrist quickly with an outward motion. Fanning adds airiness and height to a short, curly coiffure.

HERE'S WHERE YOU GET CLIPPED.

Right in the newspaper. Or magazine.

Men will clip you. Women will clip you. Kids, too. And if your dollar volume begins to swell, swell.

But first, you've got to set yourself up for it. Putting coupons in print media is the best way. Print lets people clip and save your message. Or file it. Or compare it. Or pass it to a friend. Or mail it back to you.

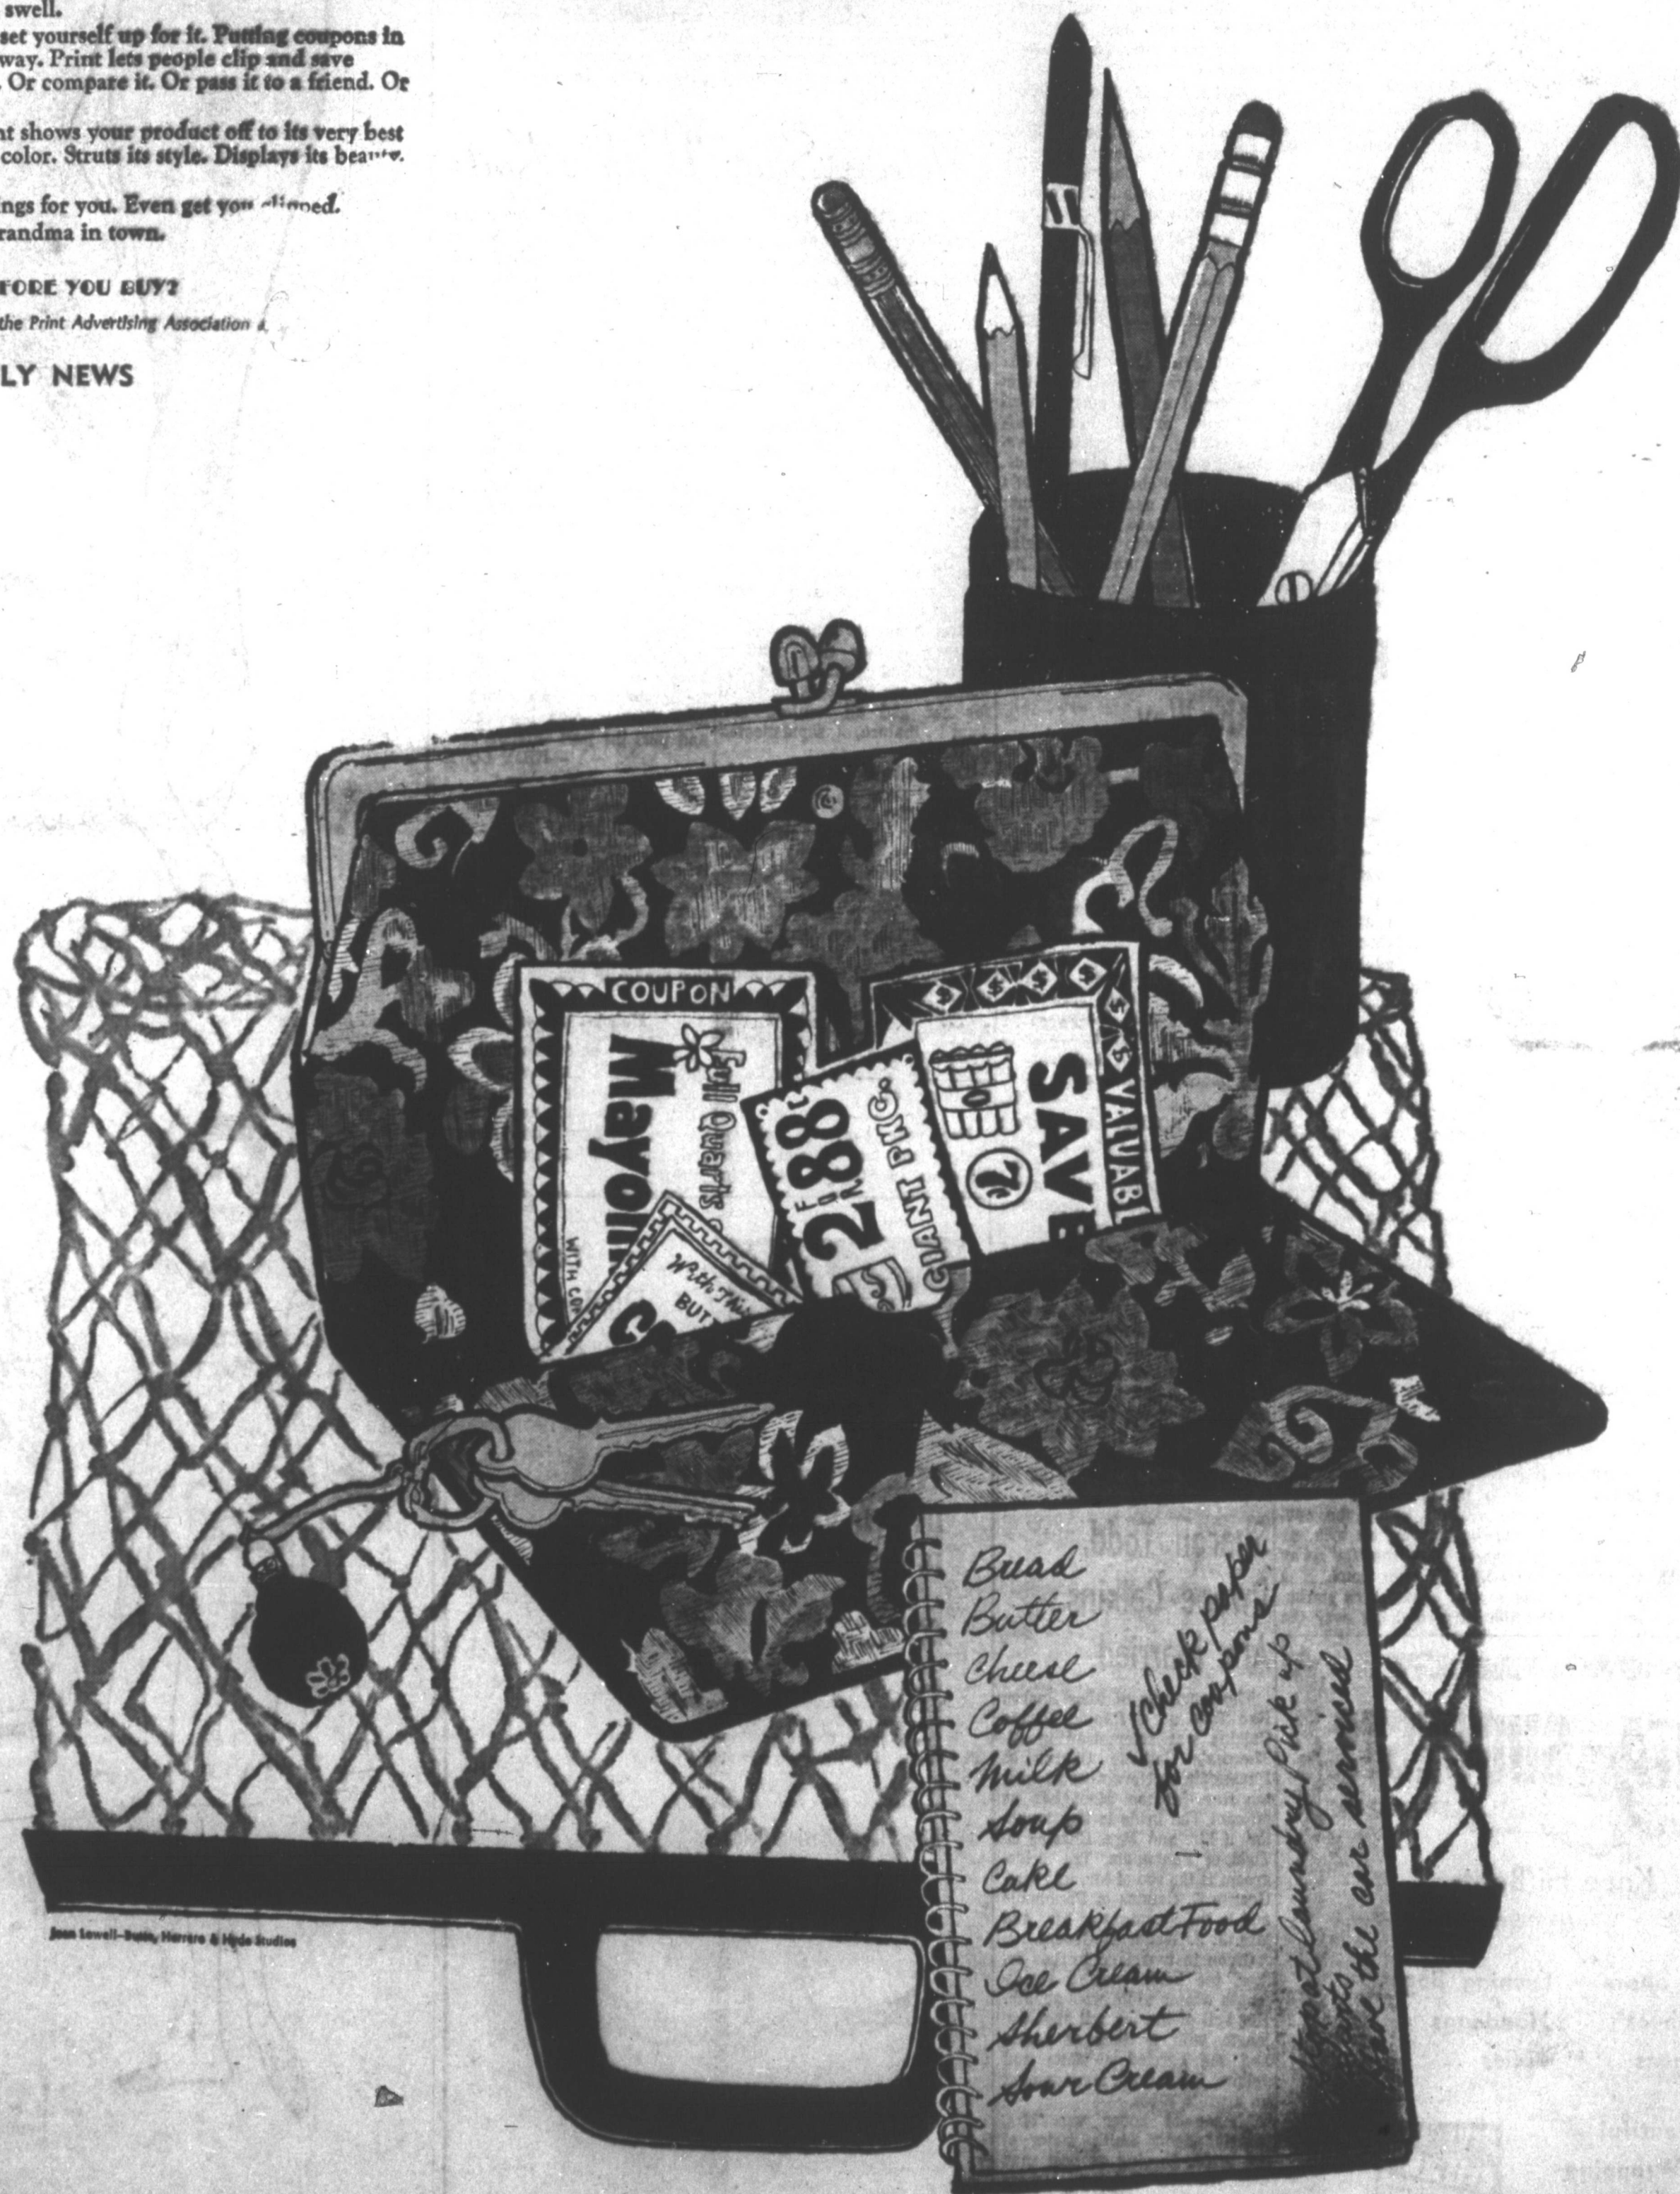

And that's not all. Print shows your product off to its very best advantage. It flashes its color. Struts its style. Displays its beauty. Shouts its uses.

Print can do lots of things for you. Even get you noticed. By the sweetest little grandma in town.

Junior League Has Activities Report

One of the highlights of the year for the Provisional Members of the Junior Service League of Pampa is the Annual Party given in their honor by the Sustaining Members of the organization. A Christmas Coffee was held Tuesday at the Country Club with all members of the League invited.

The Provisional Members have been attending an abbreviated orientation course offered by the Provisional Committee. This course has included a visit to the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center, instructions on placement at the Golden Eagle, the Puppet Committee and the Hospital Auxiliary. The annual Puppet Show is to be presented at each Pampa grade school in January or February.

Also, the Provisionals have been briefed about the Community Day Nursery and the history and activities of the League.

Those members honored are: Mrs. Mack Hiatt Jr., Mrs. J. A. Martindale, Mrs. S. J. Meador Jr., Mrs. William Tuke, Mrs. Frank Girolamo, Mrs. Robert McBeth, Mrs. Charles White, Mrs. C. James Cook, Mrs. A. L. Eouner Jr., Mrs. William T. Frazer III, and Mrs.

Jim Gardner. The League held the Annual Charity Ball in November with a large crowd from Pampa and the surrounding area attending. Funds raised from this event are used to pay for the care of a Pampa child who is a Foster Home Student at the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center and to pay for the Speech and Hearing Clinic held each spring to test any Pampa Pre-School child. Any child found to need special attention is referred to a doctor and the League follows up with any needed assistance.

Two cookbooks "Pantry Pick-ups" and "Foreign Cookery" have been published. Proceeds from the sale of the cookbooks have been used to help give a College Student Scholarship and to contribute to the Gray County Association for Retarded Children. Profit from the sales at the Golden Eagle is used to supplement all the projects of the Junior Service League.

Sustaining members are those who have served at least three years as an active member, have fulfilled all placement obligations and have reached their fortieth birthday. Those who were hostesses are: Mrs. Charles Cook, Mrs. George Cree Jr., Mrs. Ben Fallon, Mrs. Jack Foster, Mrs. H. Joe Franklin, Mrs. L. L. Garren, Mrs. Julian Key, Mrs. R. F. Kuhn, Mrs. J. E. Leverich, Mrs. W. O. Matejowsky, Mrs. Carlton Nance, Mrs. Joan C. Osborne, Mrs. Albert Reynolds, Mrs. Wiley Reynolds, Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. David Tucker, and Mrs. J. B. Veale Jr.

Hufstedlers Host Dinner For Club

Phi Epsilon Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held a Christmas Dinner recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hufstedler for members and their guests.

The mantle was covered in Christmas greenery with colored balls scattered throughout. A Christmas tree decorated in the usual holiday ornaments added to the warmth of the room.

The table was covered with a white felt tablecloth decorated with red bells. The driftwood centerpiece covered with greenery added to the festive appearance of the table.

A ham dinner was served buffet style to Messrs. and Meses. Gary Clark, Gary Epperson, Don Hufstedler, John Lyle, Calvin McConnell, Carroll Russell, Jim Simpson, Dennis Wyatt, Alfred Cross, Mike Clark, Tom Skinner and Miss Pam Noe.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 47-year-old eligible man who is very much interested in a beautiful 26-year-old model. She has two children and her divorce (for which I am paying) is now pending.

I bought her a new car and have spent over $2,000 on clothes for her and her children in the last 6 months. She says she will marry me when the divorce is final, but in the meantime, I don't see much of her.

She sees me every Monday night, but on Tuesdays she sees an old boyfriend she says she is setting down easy. On Wednesday she has to go out with her boss. On Thursday she goes out with the girls. On Friday she stays home and does her laundry, and the week-ends she lets her husband come over (against the orders of his lawyer) because he misses the kids.

My friends say I am being taken for a ride. Am I?

LAKE FOREST

DEAR LAKE: Not only are you being taken for a ride, you'll be lucky if you aren't killed in the traffic.

DEAR ABBY: I have an uncle who is getting on in years. He has made a lot of money during his lifetime and has spent very little of it.

He's a self-made man and never finished grammar school, so we know he's not got any college to leave his money to. Also, he's not a church-type, so they aren't getting any.

What I am getting at is this: I know he has a will because he mentions from time to time that he has "changed" it. I don't want to ask any questions of him or the lawyer, but how can I find out how much he will leave when he goes?

RELATIVE

DEAR RELATIVE: I can tell you. He will leave it ALL.

DEAR ABBY: My father-in-law (I'll call him "Papa Joe") has been making his home with us ever since my mother-in-law died 2 years ago.

New Gift Ideas Emerge Every Year

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Those people who dream up gifts for the people who have everything else are busier than Santa and his elves this year.

Consider some of the luxuries for her: 32 ounces of perfume in a cut glass bottle for $1,000; an aquarium filled with cultured pearls instead of sand for $25,000 and up, depending on the millimeter of pearls selected, and a gift-of-the-month of precious jewelry ranging from an emerald and diamond necklace for Dec. 25 on through to sapphire and diamond earrings for next November, the works for the 12 months priced at $273,950.

Then there are such items as these for him: hand tooled leather backgammon set at $1,000; a 12-month desk diary in calf with natural history photos interleaved at $125, the proceeds to go to the Conservation Society, South Africa; a plane that "slips into ponds, coves, rough airstrips for sportsmen" at $29,950, and a Russian sable coat for $15,000.

For the house that has everything else, there is a duck press for $235; a family sauna for $2,795, and a his and hers practice ski "slope" for the bedroom, with slope done in white beaver to order at $11,000.

The aquarium and the jewelry-of-the-month gifts are offered by Neiman-Marcus of Dallas. The plane and the one-of-a-kind backgammon set are from Abercrombie & Fitch in New York.

Jacques Kaplan, the New York furrier, made the beaver ski slope. He says it's designed to go atop an electrically-operated practice apparatus in the house. Measuring 6x20 feet, it's supposed to be slick as snow. He sold one to a customer in Greenwich, Conn., and another in Chicago, he said.

A New York-based specialty store took a nearly full-page newspaper ad to peddle the $1,000 bottle of perfume

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR CHRISTMAS

Los Angeles:—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A leatherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga.

Lovell Wonders About Verne

By United Press International
James Arthur Lovell Jr. spends a lot of time these days thinking about the Jules Verne science-fiction adventure "From the Earth to the Moon."
Little wonder. The 40-year-old Lovell, who has piled up more hours in space than any other man and William Anders, Lovell Apollo 8's real-life version of the fantastic story Verne wrote more than 100 years ago.
With astronauts Frank Borman and William Anders, Lovell plans to circle the moon 10 times this Christmas. Borman good-naturedly calls Lovell "the romantic member of the crew" because of his fascination with Verne's story, but the comparisons are striking:
—Both Apollo 8 and Verne's imaginary spaceship are shaped very much alike, roughly like a bullet with an entrance hatch cut in one side of the nose.

—Verne imagined the moon-flight starting in Florida. The voyage of Apollo 8 will start there, at Cape Kennedy.
—And Verne, like the planners of Apollo 8, called for a splashdown in the ocean and recovery by ship at the end of the trip.
If making a science fiction story 103 years old come true seems unusual, it is by no means the only strange situation with strange timing that the smiling, blond astronaut has gotten into.
Lovell started his career as a space traveler in 1965 by flying for two weeks with Borman in the Gemini 7 capsule, a mid-December mission that still stands as the world's longest. Throughout that cramped voyage he fully expected to hear that his attractive, brunette wife Marilyn had given birth. As it turned out, the baby waited until a month after dad came home. It was a 7-pound, 8-ounce boy and the Lovells named him Jeffrey Carl.

Eleven months later Lovell returned to space, this time as commander of Gemini 12. With this four-day flight, which wrapped up the Gemini series, Lovell brought his total time in space to 425 hours 10 minutes. Apollo 8, scheduled to last 6 days 4 hours, should up that total to a new space endurance record of almost 600 hours.
Lovell was probably the first astronaut to see a rocket blow up. It happened during his high school days in Milwaukee, Wis. He had built the rocket himself, and when he lit the fuse the bottom half exploded.
Nevertheless, Lovell proudly recalls that the nose cone soared some 80 feet in the air and "we were flushed with success."

Lovell was born to Mr. and Mrs. James A. Lovell Sr. in Cleveland, Ohio. He grew up, however, in Milwaukee where he met the girl he eventually was to marry.
Today Lovell is a Navy captain. But his career with the Navy got off to a shaky start. He applied to the U.S. Naval Academy after high school, but was not accepted and went instead to the University of Wisconsin.
There he tried out for the football team. The humor which has earned him the title "Funny Man" among the astronauts comes out when he tells about it:
"The coach said he wanted everybody to come out, and you didn't need skill, he said—just heart. And I found out you needed 190 pounds of heart." Lovell remembers. "I couldn't quite make it—I weighed 155 at the time. So I decided there were other things besides football."

He finally won an appointment to the Naval Academy, graduated in 1951 and completed a series of flying assignments. Unsuccessful in becoming one of the nation's original group of astronauts, he tried again and was selected among the "second generation" of spacemen in 1962.
Lovell's wife and his children—Barbara, 15; James, 13; Susan, 10; and little Jeff, now almost 3—planned to be on hand at Cape Kennedy to watch his Apollo launch. Always in the past they have watched his launches on television in Houston.
"On the past two flights I've kept Marilyn home," Lovell said. "I couldn't do it this time."
The moonlight and the prospect of seeing the launch, first ever for men on a Saturn 5, excited Marilyn so much that she could talk of little else as time for the mission neared. She got most of her Christmas shopping done in November.
Being apart at Christmas poses little problem for the family, which has known Christmas apart in the past because of military life. Lovell says he plans to celebrate the holiday after the flight ends, possibly "somewhere outside the country."

WHY CHRISTMAS ALMOST WASN'T

By Jack Rand

Borman Learned Concentration

By United Press International
As a West Point plebe, young Frank Borman heard repeated admonitions to concentrate on one task at a time and not worry about future tasks. He learned the lesson well.
Borman will command the moon-circling flight of Apollo 8. And until this mission is over and he is aboard the recovery aircraft carrier, nothing else matters to him.
"What I try to do is put blinders on and look at one thing. I want to do one thing right now," the veteran astronaut says. "I want to fly Apollo perfectly."

A Strict Father
Borman is a quiet man, whose interests center around his family and his church once he gets home from work. That is not often. He says he is a "fairly strict and old-fashioned" father to his two sons, more strict than his own father was with him.
While many of his fellow astronauts prefer sports cars and powerful boats, Borman's tastes lean toward conservative cars.
He has the kind of analytical mind that can refuse to think about the dangers in a space mission, once he is convinced that those dangers have been reduced to the minimum and all unnecessary risks are removed.
Shy Manner
Borman's mild, almost shy manner and his soft voice mask a calm, sharp mind and a will of iron. When he speaks, others within the space agency listen. It was Borman whom the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) picked to command the flight of Gemini 7, and William Anders, mission that still stands as the world's longest spaceflight.

After the Apollo 1 fire which killed three astronauts in 1967, NASA called on Borman to represent the astronaut corps on the board investigating the tragedy.
Now Borman commands the nation's most ambitious and dangerous manned space venture yet—its first flight to the moon. His crewmen are James Lovell, who flew with him on Gemini 7, and William Anders, who has never been in space.
Ironically, there was a time when Borman thought he would never again fly an airplane, much less a spacecraft. The blond, 40-year-old Air Force colonel is living proof, in fact, that an astronaut need not be a physical superman.

Sinus Trouble
As a youngster, Borman suffered sinus, mastoid, tonsil and adenoid troubles. The moist, often chilling "wind that swept across Lake Michigan" into his home town of Gary, Ind., hardly helped this condition.
So his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Borman, made a medically strategic move to Tucson, Ariz. In 1933, Young Frank grew up there, building model airplanes and selling newspapers to pay for flying lessons. His sinus trouble disappeared.
He graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1951, married his blonde high school sweetheart, Susan Bugbee, and settled into what looked like a life career as an Air Force officer.

Then, in November of 1941, Borman put an airplane into a screaming dive and medical disaster struck again. He felt his left eardrum burst under the sharply increasing air pressure. Doctor grounded him so completely that he had to take a boat to his next assignment in the Philippines. But eventually the eardrum healed and in 1960 he became an instructor pilot at the Air Force Aerospace Research Pilots School in California.
Borman now lives in El Lago, a community near Houston Space Center, and both his sons, Fredrick, 17, and Edwin, 15—play on the local high school football team. Both also stand taller than their dad's 5 feet 10 inches.

Anders Concerned

By United Press International
William Anders is the kind of man who feels that despite his position as an astronaut, or maybe because of it, he owes more to his community than the average citizen.

When he first moved into the little settlement of El Lago near the Houston Space Center about four years ago, Anders was appalled at the poor condition of neighborhood roads. He complained to the town council and, eventually, was named street commissioner.

The young spaceman took his job seriously, as he does most things. Nights after work he often was found checking potholes in the roads or straightening street signs. For two years he served as commissioner, and provided the town council with detailed road reports.

These are dominant characteristics of the 35-year-old Air Force major—concern, activity and meticulous work. He carries all of them into his present job as systems engineer on the Apollo 8 Christmas moonflight crew.

Space Rookie
But Anders is hardly all seriousness. Apollo 8 commander Frank Borman and navigator James Lovell are veterans of the world's longest spaceflight, the two-week Gemini 7 mission in 1965, and they provide a constant stream of kidding for their fellow crewman who has never flown in space.

Anders, youngest member of the crew, also plays the clown to Borman and Lovell—subtle clowning, such as pretending to stumble when Borman ribs him about his inexperience in space.

Although Anders has never made a spaceflight before, he is an acknowledged expert among his fellow astronauts. No one else in their ranks, they say, knows more about space radiation than he does.

Football Bet
The dark-haired, blue-eyed astronaut was born in Hong Kong where his father served as a military attaché. The family remained in Hong Kong only a few months that time, but Anders remembers his birthplace from a time four years later when his father was stationed there again.

Anders attended the U.S. Naval Academy, graduating in 1955, and entered the Air Force. He and Lovell, also a naval academy graduate, have a standing bet with West Point graduate Borman on the outcome of the Army-Navy game each year.

Before he was named one of the third group of astronauts, selected in 1963, Anders served the Air Force as a fighter pilot and as a nuclear engineer at Kirtland Air Force Base, N.M. He and his wife Valerie are the parents of five children—Alan, 11; Glen, 10; Gayle, who will be 8 on Dec. 23; Gregory, who turned 6 on Dec. 10; and Eric, 4.

HONORARY CITIZEN
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., today is an honorary citizen of Los Angeles County. The board of supervisors Tuesday presented Yarborough a plaque honoring him for "distinguished service in the U.S. Senate" prior to the opening of a Senate subcommittee hearings on the aging Mexican-American.

Mohawk Indians To Block Bridge

HOGANSBURG, N.Y. (UPI)—Mohawk Indians have pledged to block with automobiles the International Bridge over the St. Lawrence River to protest what they claim is a violation of the Jay Treaty that ended the Revolutionary War.

After meeting Tuesday with Canadian authorities in Ottawa, the Mohawks decided to go ahead with their planned two-hour disruption of traffic on the bridge between Massena, N.Y. and Cornwall, Ont.

The Indians, who live on the Saint Regis reservation in both countries, are protesting sales taxes and duties imposed three weeks ago by Canadian authorities. They say the levies violate the Jay Treaty.

For nearly 180 years, the Mohawks have enjoyed a technically neutral status. Many live in Canada but work in industrial Massena. The Indians contend that under the Jay Treaty their reservation was declared sovereign, neither governed nor taxed by either country.

Representatives of the 2,500 Mohawks met in Ottawa with an aide to Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau. Mohawk leader Michael Mitchell said Canadian Indian Affairs Minister Jean Chretien promised to do what he could to restore the Indians traditional duty-free privileges.

The Mohawk reservation has about 6,000 Indians on both sides of the U.S.-Canadian border. It is the largest reservation of the Iroquois nation.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hayden Stone says the "market appears to be taking a breather" after advancing rapidly for several weeks. The firm thinks this will be beneficial in helping to correct excesses and support a further rise later this year or early in January.

Abraham Co., while remaining "basically constructive toward the market over the near term," feels that a number of factors, including the high prices of many issues, increasing pressures on profit margins and probable efforts by the next administration to curb inflation,

"dictate a more cautious investment approach" over the longer term.

Walston Co. notes time is growing short for those wishing to take capital gains in 1968. Dec. 23 is the last day this year to take profits by selling stocks the regular way, although it is possible to take profits up to the closing gong on Dec. 31, by selling stock on a cash basis. A capital loss can be taken up to the last day of trading.

Obituaries

By United Press International
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Funeral services were today for Henry Leval (Hank) Severid, a scout for the Boston Red Sox and former catcher for the New York Yankee championship team of 1926.

Severid died in his sleep Tuesday of an apparent heart attack. He was 77.

He rejoined the newspaper in 1945, working both as photographer and chief lab technician.

KILLS WIFE, SELF
CAMERON, Tex. (UPI)—A man shot and killed his wife outside their home Tuesday, then barricaded himself inside the house with his four small grandchildren. When police could not get him to answer, they broke in and found Jordan Bell, 55, dead by his own hand. Anabelle Bell was found in the street, shot twice with a shotgun. The children were unharmed.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The popularity decline of televised movies—once a sensation in the ratings—is no longer merely a trend, but a confirmed fact.

Video season usually starts out with the top network films, which draw good ratings before the lesser motion pictures come along later in the year and lose the audience.

This season, however, the drop in audience occurred almost immediately after the season began. And there is no sign that televised network movies will recoup their former popularity, except for an occasional blockbuster, a fluke hit or a film starring a personality who happens to be a tremendous favorite.

The national video ratings for the week ending Dec. 2, for instance, indicated that of six motion pictures shown on the three networks, the highest-ranked one among all television shows listed came in 35th.

The most obvious reason for the ratings slippage of films is that the majority of available popular hits have already been seen on the home tube, and most of the current titles are from the second rank of motion pictures. Yet seven movies a week continue to be scheduled by the networks, with occasional specials slipped in as relief.

A shortage of motion pictures may not, however, be the only major reason for the ratings drop. It is entirely possible that what is currently happening to audiences of movies on television is similar to what took place not too many years back with audience of movies in theaters: they are getting weary of the old-style approach.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH MORE AT WOOLWORTH'S

Watch his big smile that says "Thank You"

When the boy comes to collect...

Your newspaperboy makes it his business to collect at a regular time—convenient to you.

That way he comes expected and you can be ready for him.

You can help, too, by having the money there so he won't have to come back. He'll appreciate that.

Because this boy is in business. He depends on the full collection of his route for his full profit. And repeat calls for him mean extra work with no extra profit.

Hence, next time the boy comes by to collect, be ready—and watch his big smile, which says "Thank you."

Sandies Next For Pampa In District Action

Borger will have it easy while Tascosa and Pampa will have to go all out Friday night to keep pace in the District 3-4A basketball race, which gets more surprising every week.

The surprising things are: (1) Palo Duro, rated to battle Borger for the title has now fallen below 500; (2) Tascosa is tied with Borger for the league leadership; and (3) Pampa, ranked about sixth in the pre-season poll, is making a serious challenge for the league lead.

Borger hosts last place Caprock Friday while Pampa hosts a tough Amarillo bunch and Tascosa travels to Lubbock to play improving Coronado.

The Harvesters have now won two straight and stand 2-1, tied with Coronado in the district race and 5-2 for the season.

Amarillo, after a fast start, is now 1-2 in district play and 8-4 for the season.

The Sandies clipped Lubbock, 61-51, in its initial league outing but since has fallen, 70-66 to Coronado and 83-50 Tuesday to Borger.

After dropping the opener to Palo Duro, 55-53 Pampa has come back to bounce Plainview, 82-44 and Monterey 61-51 last week.

Caprock is 3-3 in league play, while Borger is just the opposite and the Bulldogs have not been beaten at home yet this season.

Tascosa, also 3-0, may find the going rough against Coronado, who after losing its season opener to Monterey, has come back to blister Amarillo and Caprock.

In other district games Friday Monterey plays at Plainview and Palo Duro hosts Lubbock.

Cowboys Key: Defense

DALLAS (UPI)—The two most potent teams in the National Football League—Dallas and Cleveland—collide Saturday for the Eastern Nonconference title and Cowboy coach Tom Landry believes it is clear the key factor will be defense.

"Our defensive effort is the big thing in this ball game," Landry said Wednesday. "We have to stop people like Leroy Kelly and Peat Werfield. But then their defense has got to stop us."

The defenses will have a lot of work.

Dallas led the NFL in total yardage, rushing and passing for 5,117 yards. Cleveland was runner-up in that category, picking up 4,889 yard.

"They are a great running club," said Landry. "We have to control that running game first and if we don't it's going to be a tough game."

The Cowboys have controlled Cleveland well the last two times they have met—in last year's Eastern Conference championship contest and during the regular season this year.

Dallas controlled Cleveland to the tune of 52-14 last year in the title affair, but Landry does not look for any of that again.

"We were not that much better than Cleveland," he said. "If you reach a point where you think you can't win, then the game can get out of hand. It's all a mental game."

Landry seemed optimistic that his defense, best in the league against the rush, can handle Cleveland and that optimism was bolstered Wednesday by word that defensive tackle Jethro Pugh was showing signs of improvement from a knee ligament injury that put him out of last weekend's New York Giant game.

On the offensive side, Landry said his quarterback—Don Meredith—had been throwing well all week and showed no signs of continuing his poor performance in the early part of the New York game.

UPI Names Its Picks For NFL All-Star Team

NEW YORK (UPI)—For the fourth time in the past five seasons, the Baltimore Colts' quarterback was selected to United Press International's National Football League All-Star team.

But this time, of course, it's not the same quarterback.

John Unitas, who was selected in 1964, 1965 and 1967 (Bart Starr won the honor in 1966), sat on the bench with an ailing elbow this season and watched Earl Morrall direct the club to a 13-1 mark—the best in the NFL since Green Bay posted an identical mark in 1962.

That enabled Morrall to win the quarterback slot on the 1968 NFL team selected by a panel of 48 NFL experts around the nation—three from each league city.

Morrall, who played for four teams before finally making the All-Star at Baltimore, is joined in the backfield by Leroy Kelly of Cleveland—the top vote-getter with 47 of a possible 48 votes—and Gale Sayers of Chicago. Sayers made the club even though he missed the last third of the season with an injury.

The wide receivers are Paul Warfield of Cleveland and Clifton McNeil of San Francisco with John Mackey of Baltimore at the tight end spot.

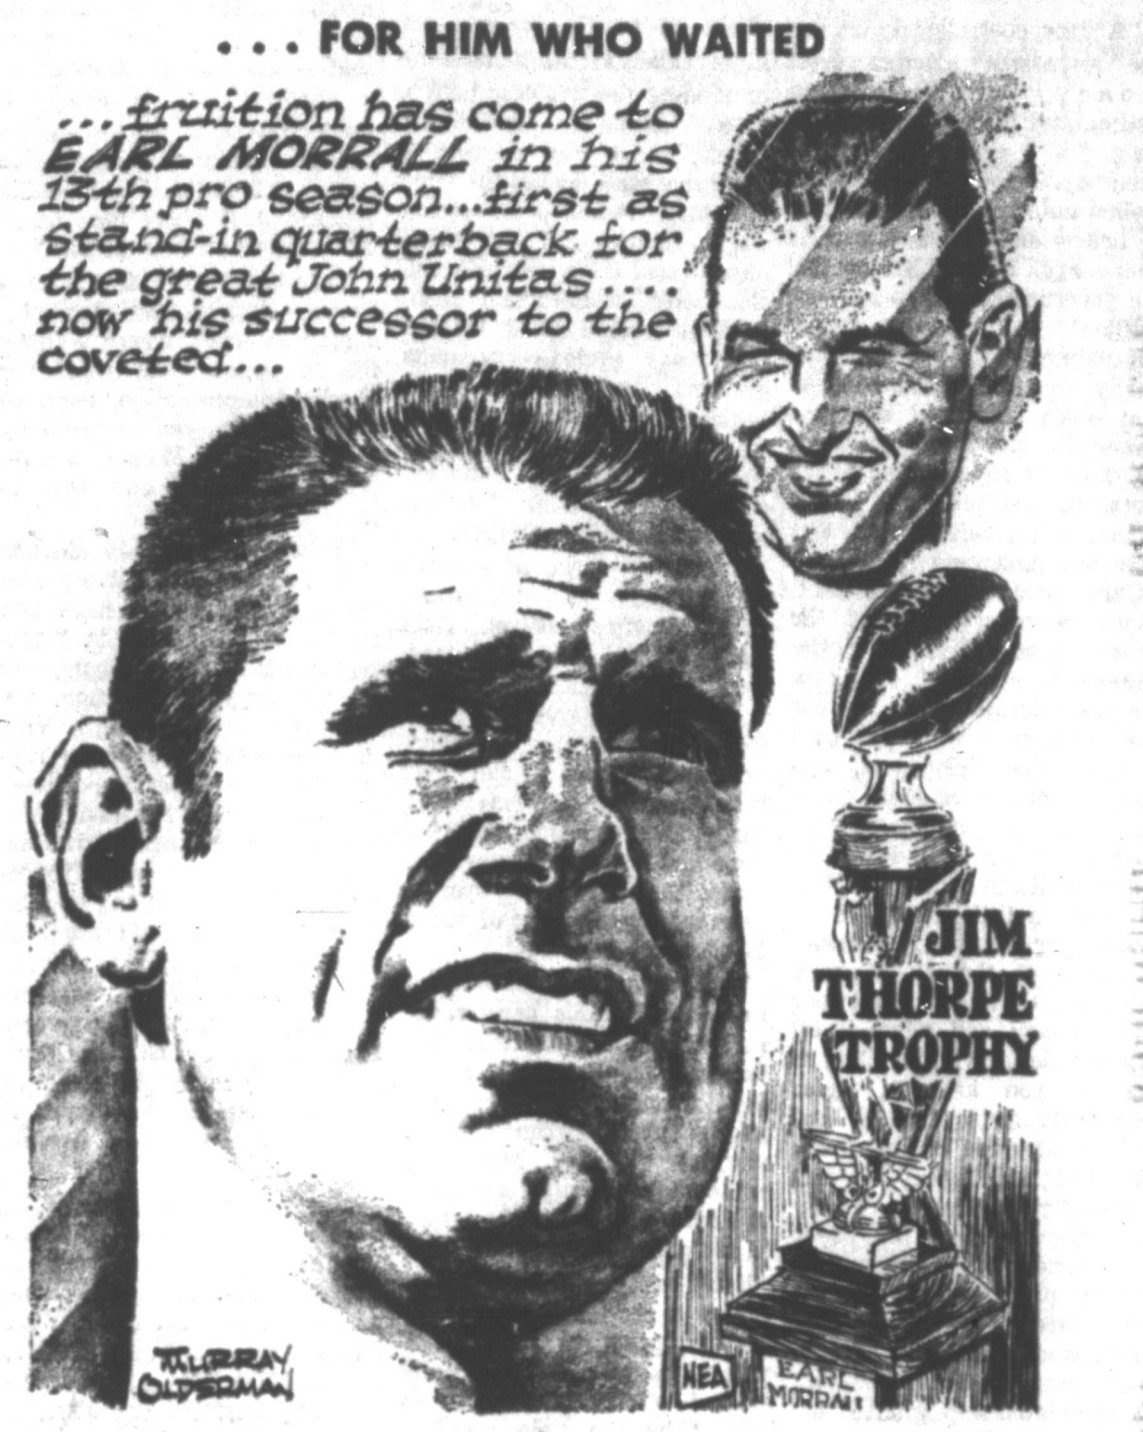

The interior linemen are center Mick Tingelhoff of Minnesota, guards Gene Hickey of Cleveland and Howard Mudd of San Francisco and tackles Ralph Neely of Dallas and Bob Vogel of Baltimore.

The defensive teams has three rather familiar names in the front line—Merlin Olsen of Los Angeles and Bob Lilly of Dallas at the tackles and Deacon Jones of Los Angeles at an end. But Carl Eller of Minnesota won the other end spot that was long occupied by Willie Davis of Green Bay.

Dick Butkus of Chicago is the middle linebacker and Dave Robinson of Green Bay and Mike Curtis of Baltimore at the linebacksers.

Bobby Boyd of Baltimore and Lem Barney of Detroit are the cornerbacks with Larry Wilson of St. Louis and Willie Wood of Green Bay are the safeties.

There were only four repeaters on the offensive team this season—Neely, Tingelhoff, Kelly and Sayers.

Columbia Protects National Ranking With 82-72 Victory

By United Press International
Columbia protected its national ranking with a 82-72 victory over Fordham in a battle of unbeaten to highlight college basketball action Wednesday night.

The 17th ranked Lions got 32 of their points from the free throw line in taking the victory, their 17th consecutive at home. Jim McMillian sparked the attack with 24 points. It was Columbia's sixth victory for the 1968-69 season and Fordham's first loss in six games.

In other top games Wednesday, La Salle, rated No. 14 nationally, scored 11 straight points in the final minutes to beat Canisius 68-56; Missouri connected on 13 of 15 charity tosses in the last eight minutes to edge normally high-scoring Tulane 79-73; Texas Christian blasted Hawaii 80-50; and Butler upset 19th-ranked Western Kentucky 67-65.

Also, it was St. John's (NY) over Providence 73-53; Syracuse over Penn State 71-51; Yale over Brown 91-62; Long Island University over Wagner 70-50; Princeton over NYU 88-76; Edinboro over Roberts Wesleyan 126-66; South Carolina over East Carolina 75-61; LSU over Florida 93-89 in overtime; Louisville over Memphis State 67-66 and Eastern Kentucky over Transylvania 78-49.

Tulane had been averaging almost 100 points per contest, but Missouri throttled the Green Wave with a tight man-to-man defense and Tulane's only lead was at 2-0 Missouri and Tulane both are 5-2 for the season.

La Salle, coached by former pro star Tom Gola, trailed by one point with eight minutes to go but then went on a scoring spurt, while holding Canisius without a field goal for the next five minutes, to take its victory.

Texas Christian captured its fourth game in five outings on the marksmanship of forward Doug Boyd. The Horned Frogs ran up a 51-28 halftime lead over winless Hawaii, then emptied the bench in the second half in coasting to victory.

All-America Pete Maravich, last season's leading scorer, hit 45 points in Louisiana State's overtime conquest of Florida.

Chaps Manager Still Likes Floor Action

DALLAS (UPI)—Cliff Hagan at 37 wants to retire from the cage floor but a deep desire for a piece of the action when things aren't going right keeps propelling the Dallas Chaparrals' manager off the bench and the Chaps into the winner's circle.

Hagan, after 10 years in the long-established National Basketball Association, took the job as manager of the Chaps of the new American Basketball Association with the idea that his playing days were over.

"Oh, I may put my name on the roster as player-coach at times, if I am needed," he told newsmen when he took the job two years ago. "But don't look for me out there very often."

His first year at the helm had its up and downs and Hagan found himself jumping into the lineup 56 times during the season for an average stay of 31 minutes. In that time, he averaged 18.3 points per game and the Chaps fought their way into the playoffs.

This year prospects appear much brighter and Hagan had hopes of riding the bench and playing only with the brains. But the club won only four of its first 11 starts and Hagan couldn't take it.

He started putting himself into the game at the last half and now the Chaps have won seven of their last nine and their last four in a row. His entry has changed the complexion in at least a half dozen of these games.

He has 49 of 86 shot from the floor for a 57 per cent average and 41 and 46 from the foul line or an average of 11.6 points per game.

But he is playing only about half as much as last year, actually 16-5 minutes per game, so his average output per minute playing time is better than a year ago.

It is not the point production, however, that makes Hagan's contribution so valuable.

"My main idea," he says, "is to try and change the tempo of the game—try to work the ball around more and open up the inside for the good close shot."

Lee Teams Sweep Two From Perryton

Lee eighth and ninth grade basketball teams swept twin victories Tuesday against Perryton.

Mike Edgar hit two free throws with two seconds left to send Lee ninth to a 59-58 victory. Lee trailed 23-18 at halftime but took a 41-40 third period lead.

Gary Haynes and Jeff Hagan scored 12 points each but Don Cain was the big gun for Lee with for 20 points. Marsh Gamblin scored six, Mike Edgar 7, and Dale Ammons 7.

Lee eighth scored a 20-point, 45-25 victory over Perryton and led, 23-19, at halftime.

Randy Bloomer scored 4, Shane Lee 2, Rick McGuire 7, Bill Simon 4, A. J. Brewer 16, Tony Farrell 10, and Steve Richardson 2.

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is, neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Inflation: A Deadly Game

"A little controlled inflation," the Keynesian printing press money advocates intone, "stimulates a growing healthy economy." By a "little controlled inflation," we were given to understand just a few short years ago, it was meant that the government was to increase (inflate) the money supply approximately 2 per cent annually by the introduction of that much additional worthless "money" into the economy. Needless to say, it was never stated in such plain and honest terms; nevertheless, that was what was meant.

Quite aside from the fact, giving warning of what the future holds, that a "little controlled inflation" has now been accelerated from 2 per cent to from 4 to 5 per cent a year, the viciousness, dishonesty and danger of the game our "money managers" are playing is made evident by these additional facts:

1. The "a little controlled inflation" argument is tantamount to saying to the illegal counterfeiter: "Go ahead. Print your funny money and pawn it off on unsuspecting victims. Just so long as you keep it under control, do not overdo it, and keep us informed of how much you print and unload, it will be good for the economy."

2. Since the U.S. tax payer can't exchange the government printing press dollar for the gold stored in government vaults, what little gold, if any, the government has remaining has no relationship whatsoever, as far as the U.S. taxpayer is concerned, to any of the "money" in circulation; therefore, all "money" now in circulation is inflation, printing press "money" and, aside from people's blind faith in its "purchasing power," totally worthless.

3. Therefore, in view of 1 and 2 above, whatever "little inflation" the government decides to indulge in on a yearly basis, is merely piling more worthless paper on top of the worthless paper already in circulation.

4. Since each new introduction of printing press "money" into the economy has the double effect of pushing prices ever higher and, at the same time, of eroding the people's faith in the dollar's "purchasing power," each new infusion of the dishonest stuff has the effect of actually reducing the amount wages, salaries and savings will buy. When it is realized that old people, widows and others dependent upon fixed incomes such as savings, accounts, pensions and insurance annuities, are the hardest hit by inflation, then the cynicism and disregard of the "money" managers for their "general welfare" is finally grasped.

5. Inflation, once it is really adopted as a "monetary policy," defies control. Once really started, inflation feeds upon itself. Each new infusion of worthless paper calls for another and another, in ever-increasing amounts and ever more frequent infusions until, finally, when people both at home and abroad no longer will accept the worthless paper in exchange for anything of value, the economy goes bust.

With respect to point 5, it was precisely this accelerating nature of inflation that Barron's, the national business and financial weekly, was talking about when, in its editorial "Uneasy Money - Inflation Is a Dangerous Game at Home and Abroad" of Nov. 25, the editor warned:

Each hasty expedient seems to buy a shorter respite, while the disruption to foreign exchange markets and the orderly conduct of commerce, at least judging by the time required to patch up an agreement, has stretched from a long lost weekend to a queasy week. While successful enough in staving off the evil day (for the moment), half-measures such as the United Kingdom, United States and other perennial debtors (as well as the newly delinquent French) have reluctantly agreed to take also greatly increase the ultimate risk of global monetary chaos. . . the late Lord Keynes neglected to tell his followers, and as the complacent one-day will painfully learn - there is no substitute for sound money."

Education's Business

On occasions we have editorialized about Dr. John A. Howard, president of Rockford College at Rockford, Ill. He is one of a small group of independent college and university presidents around the nation who avoid government tax subsidies and seek to develop independence and self-responsibility in their students.

Rockford College recently has been completely rebuilding its school on a new campus, without tax money, and this year it has a record enrollment. Dr. Howard had a few words to say about "Where We Stand" in the current issue of Rockford College Report. In view of what is happening on college campuses around the nation, we believe this college president's comments on education are worth repeating. Here are Howard's words:

The destination has become obscure and much of the educational caravan is milling around in a cul de sac without even knowing it is off the track. Dissension is not education. The energy expended in defending dissent is largely energy misdirected and energy misspent.

The business of education is to bring enlightenment. Therefore, it is a fundamental obligation of the institutions of education to maintain an atmosphere in which the issues of the day may be examined thoroughly and forthrightly and dispassionately.

Violence is antithetical to the work of education. Coercion is antithetical to the work of education. Demagoguery is antithetical to the work of education.

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

The Election Was A Landslide

"Bring us together." When Richard Nixon announced that this would be the theme of his Presidency, the accolades came from all sides. Who would deny that our nation should be united?

Much of the press, however, has seized upon the phrase as evidence that Nixon realizes he must move to the Left. The line goes like this: Nixon just BARELY won the election. Therefore, he'd better start making advances to those on his left - who, after all, represent nearly half of America - a minority that is nearly a majority.

This handy interpretation ignores one little item: George Wallace. Just where does he fit into the post-election picture?

According to M. Stanton Evans, Editor of the Indianapolis News, where Wallace fits in depends on what the Nixon Administration does in the next few years. Speaking over a recent Manion Forum program, Evans had this to say:

"I believe that this election proves rather conclusively that the American people have had enough of Liberalism in Washington and want a change in the Conservative direction. We had one candidate, Vice President Humphrey, who represented the Liberal position; two candidates, President-elect Nixon and former Governor George Wallace, who represented a repudiation of the Liberal position from different perspectives.

"The anti-Liberal candidates rolled up about 38 million votes between them and the pro-Liberal candidate got about 29 million votes. So, in effect, it was a landslide against Liberalism.

"I think we have to remember that Nixon's nomination was the work of Conservatives. The people who nominated Richard Nixon were Barry Goldwater, John Tower, Strom Thurmond - the Conservative spokesmen. The delegate votes came from the Conservative sections of the country.

"Similarly, in the voting for President, Nixon pursued, quite obviously, in seeking his election, a so-called Southern strategy, which was originally devised by Goldwater. He depended upon getting votes from the South, which was very difficult to do with Wallace also in the race; but, nevertheless, he did it.

"The net effect of the Wallace candidacy - the nine million votes he got - will serve as a reminder to the Republicans that there is a large group of people over here on the Right side of the political spectrum, including many Republicans, who are concerned that the Republican Party new to a Conservative course. There are many, many Conservatives who voted for Nixon as well, so you have a lot of Conservative representation in this election.

"If the Republican Party becomes or remains an essentially Conservative institution and convinces people that it stands for Conservatism, then I think that this third party phenomenon will tend to dissipate itself; but if it follows another course, I think this Third Party phenomenon is going to get bigger and bigger.

"If the Republican Party articulates the concerns of the American people about rampant crime, lawlessness, big government and the performance of the Supreme Court, then I think the Wallace phenomenon will tend to go away and these people will be absorbed into the Republican Party. If the Republican Party follows a leftward course, then I think the Wallace phenomenon will persist and can even get larger by 1972."

Richard Nixon, are you listening?

We're Too Young To Riot

Inside Washington

Hint DeGaulle
Thaw Toward
Nixon Rendezvous

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Reports circulating here and abroad strongly suggest the possibility of a Nixon-DeGaulle summit meeting some time early next spring.

It is suggested, in foreign capitals, that French President Charles deGaulle would welcome such a meeting. Here in Washington, the suggestion is that Nixon would welcome it too — as a way of stressing the primacy of U.S. interests in the European Community.

Central to these speculative reports is the idea that DeGaulle would now like to improve his relations with the United States and with his former NATO partners. That idea took root strongly after the Russian-led invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Some authorities abroad think other problems facing DeGaulle, notably those caused by heavy and continuing pressure on the franc, make the idea of a meeting with the new President additionally attractive to the General.

DeGaulle's message, congratulating Nixon on his election, did not pass unnoticed by diplomats abroad. To some of them the tone of the general's comments seemed to be more than correct and the meaning more than perfunctory.

Insiders here think Nixon will be inclined to exploit overtures of that sort from DeGaulle if he is convinced that France can be eased toward a closer association and cooperation with the NATO Alliance from which she withdrew.

The President-elect's campaign statements pledging summit meetings with Kremlin leaders have been widely publicized. Important in this context are Nixon's statements that such meetings with Soviet leaders should come AFTER consultation with allies and moves to strengthen NATO.

"I think that one of the necessities, in order to build the European Community, is to reestablish a dialogue with General deGaulle and leaders of the French government," said Nixon in a September speech before the American Legion convention.

"Whoever is President should put that high on the agenda."

MIRV (Continued) — The Pentagon is circulating optimistic early reports on the testing of MIRV, the multiple warhead system which is now a central feature of U.S. strategic planning.

Using MIRV (Multiple Independently-targeted Re-entry Vehicles), several nuclear warheads will be carried by a single ballistic missile. Released in flight, the individual warheads can be zeroed-in on separate targets.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT
Real Culprit Is Aging
Not Thumb Sucking

DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: As a child I sucked my thumb till I was 12. As a result my top jaw and teeth protrude far over the bottom ones. I also lisp when I talk. I'm 45 now and this condition seems to be getting worse as my lower jaw is settling with old age. Can anything be done?

—H.H.

ANSWER: H.H. Brings out an interesting point about which many of us reaching further into middle age are becoming increasingly aware. Middle age brings with it significant physical changes and problems. Our mild infirmities and our ill-proportioned features become more noticeable. The big nose becomes bigger; the prognathous jaw sticks out even more; the bird-face-receded chin becomes more retrusive; and malocclusion of teeth, and the structures they affect, become more pronounced.

Dr. Theodore Lidz, famous psychiatrist, in his excellent new book, "The Person," talks about it this way: "... The wear and tear of life add up and begin to be felt. Hair grows gray, wrinkles appear, paper must be kept at arm's length and then bifocals become necessary. The knee injured in youth stiffens at times, and aches in bad weather. A back injury may be incapacitating every now and then."

I suggest that this may be why H.H. waited until age 45 to begin complaining.

As for the cause of protrusive upper jaw and receding chin, it's likely that blame should be focused on genetic defects rather than thumb-sucking, although the latter may have been an influence.

Poor speech is a frequent relative of malocclusion and misposition of jaws, and this, too, often worsens with age, keeping pace with changes in the dental apparatus.

But whereas many of our general physical infirmities and malformations get irreparably worse with age, those in and around the mouth can often be corrected. At almost any age, some types of orthodontics are done these days. And dentists knowledgeable in rehabilitative and reconstructive dentistry are producing amazing results.

An example I enjoy referring to is Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. That great lady's significant cosmetic and speech transformation after she got her new front teeth was a revelation.

Best results sometimes require that many professionals become involved: dental specialists, speech therapists and physician. This is unfortunate in a way because of the expense in time and money and effort. But your own dentist may be the prime performer in this work, and at least should be its co-ordinator.

Stevenson's Last Testament

By PAUL HARVEY

When Adlai Stevenson left for Geneva in 1965, he had no way to know that he would never return. Death came utterly unexpectedly as he walked a London street on July 14 of that year.

Back in his New York apartment he had left behind a document he had left behind. It lay on his bedside table. It may have been something left there for his own rereading, but Ambassador Stevenson frequently added classic quotes to his own uncommonly eloquent public pronouncements and I would guess that he had set this aside for inclusion in a commencement address or some such.

The text was found originally in Old St. Paul's Church in Baltimore, entitled "Desiderata," dated 1692.

Adlai Stevenson's considerable intellect was a sponge for others' utterances when they expressed his own convictions — he borrowed frequently from Lincoln — so we can imagine that the words of "Desiderata" reflected his own painfully matured philosophy.

You will appreciate the simple eloquence more if you can bring yourself, alone at first, to read the words aloud.

Youth's characteristic retort to wisdom expressed by his elders is "Not that old stuff again!"

What I am about to quote is, indeed, "old stuff." But each succeeding generation seems to need to relearn basic truths.

Here, then, so far as I know, is Adlai Stevenson's last testament:

"Go placidly amid the noise and haste and learn what peace there may be in silence. . . . Speak your truth quietly and clearly; and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too, have their story. If you compare yourself with others you may become vain and bitter, for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself.

"Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. Keep interested in your career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs, for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals, and everywhere life is full of heroism.

"Be yourself. Especially do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment it is as perennial as the grass. Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness.

"Be gentle with yourself. You are a child of the universe no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.

"Therefore, be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be. And whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life, keep peace with your soul. With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world."

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Thursday, Dec. 19, the 354th day of 1968 with 12 to follow.

The moon is new.

The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1777 George Washington and the Continental Army began their winter encampment at Valley Forge.

In 1924 members of the American Federation of Labor elected William Green president to succeed Samuel Gompers.

In 1950 Gen. Dwight Eisenhower was named commander of military forces operating under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

In 1965 Charles de Gaulle won a second five-year term as president of France.

A thought for the day: President Woodrow Wilson said, "Sometimes people call me an idealist. Well, that is the way I know I am an American. America is the only idealistic nation in the world."

"Not that little place for me!"

The word He spoke, it was not stern; He answered me tenderly;

"Ah, little one, search thine heart;

"Art thou working for them or me?"

"Nazareth was a little place,

"And so was Galilee."
