AGREEMENT MADE ON OPENING OF FREE BRIDGE

Majors As Anxious For Dollar Crude As Independents, Says Texas Head

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

A friend suggests that a fund ought to be provided to advertise the Lake Kemp brand of cantaloupes and other products of the irrigated valley. The suggestion will find much agreement but unfortunately there is no such fund available.

In the California Fruit Growers association we are told that each box or crate is assessed a small amount for advertising and in this manner a large sum has been provided.

The municipality of San Antonio has appropriated a very substantial amount for advertising the health and recreational advantages of that city. Perhaps the water improvement district may some day provide such a fund for advertising the products of the valley but right now it would be a hardy individual who would propose any increase in taxes anywhere.

The same friend suggests that an effort ought to be made to have Lake Kemp brand products served on the diners on the railroads operating through Wichita Falls. Dining cars serve only quality products and trade names often appear on the menus. This is advertising of the best kind and if such an arrangement can be made for Lake Kemp products it will be a big boost.

A Shattuck, Okla., citizen sends in a letter he received from an Oklahoma City man protesting against the condition of the highway from Comanche, Okla., to the Burkburnett bridge. The Oklahoma City man writes:

"I have just returned from another most miserable trip from Burkburnett free state bridge, the highway from the bridge to Walters being, in my opinion, a shame and a disgrace to the traveling public. Those who live in large cities like ours and do not have to travel over poorly kept highways do not fully appreciate the undesirable conditions that are allowed to exist. The dirt road from west of Walters, being a state highway to the bridge mentioned, when a heavy rain comes, is the nastiest, slipperiest and worst road I have encountered during my traveling over this state. Even a small amount of gravel or oil would better these most unsatisfactory conditions. I cannot understand why the people of the counties through which this highway runs, do not make continuous and effective complaint and help themselves to secure a better condition, rather than to allow them to remain as they have been, most undesirable, for years past. I would judge that the cities of Walters, Randlett and Wichita Falls would wake up and help to better matters. These days, action of satisfactory nature is often obtained, by a little concerted and earnest effort. I would be glad to see this letter given the fullest publicity whatever. My car was in the ditch four times during a recent trip along the highway mentioned. I saw at least a dozen others in a similar plight, mostly driven by tourists, who had been assured that the highway was a good one, and easily traveled, even in bad weather."

It is not our business to tell Oklahoma how to maintain its highways, but here is a stretch of highway leading to the free state bridge at Burkburnett and Wichita Falls that is far from being what it ought to be. The complaint is referred to our neighbors across Red river.

This column, of course, does not undertake to right all the wrongs in the universe, nor can it bring in the millenium, but if anybody wants to use it to unload a thought just write it down and mail it to this newspaper. Many a good thought has been lost through failure to give it expression.

MORE PROFITS ON HIGH PRICE, HOUSE TOLD

Even Gas Consumers Benefit Little by Distress Oil, Holmes Says

GOVERNOR GRILLED

Sterling Answers Questions As to His Interest in Oil Industry

AUSTIN, July 22. (AP)—R. C. Holmes of New York, president of the Texas company, today told the Texas house of representatives the big oil companies could make more money when they were paying 75 cents and a dollar a barrel for oil than they could on 10 cent crude.

This statement refuted allegations of previous witnesses that the majors had conspired to bring about the present low price of crude in order to make more money on gasoline.

The house was in the fifth day of its inquiry into the depressed oil business. Across the hall the senate began an investigation of its own by interrogating Governor Sterling, who brought the lawmakers back into session July 14 to try to relieve the oil situation. So far neither house had done anything but investigate.

Competition Too Keen

Holmes said the big companies could not keep the price of gasoline up and thereby realize a profit on crude because competition was too keen.

He admitted the consumer of gasoline was getting some benefit from 5 and 10 cent oil.

"However my experience has been that the consumer had rather pay a fair price and have prosperity than to pay distress prices and have a situation such as we have now," he added.

Governor Sterling outlined in a brief, informal statement the seriousness of the situation as he saw it. Finishing his statement, he asked whether anybody had any questions.

Marrs Urges Law to Aid Older Students

AUSTIN, July 22. (AP)—S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent, pointed out today that high school students over 18 years old would have to pay tuition, Marrs said. More than 23,000 such students were enrolled in Texas last year, he stated.

The board of education yesterday asked Gov. Ross S. Sterling to submit the bill. The governor replied he would not take such action until considerable progress had been made on an oil conservation measure.

MAGNOLIA JOINS CONOCO IN PRICE INCREASE

DALLAS, July 22. (AP)—Magnolia Petroleum company today joined the Continental Oil company in an increase in posted prices for crude oil in portions of Oklahoma and North and North Central Texas.

Today's increase carried the per barrel price in those areas to 40 cents, and was equivalent to a five-cent increase in Oklahoma areas and a four-cent jump in North and North Central Texas.

Magnolia's increase matched prices announced yesterday by the Continental Oil company.

The Oklahoma fields in which rates were to be increased are: Oklahoma City, Cushing, Yale, Morrison, Wewoka and Seminole.

Texas fields to share in the increase are Burkburnett, Henrietta, Archer, Stephens, Electra, Comanche and Olden.

No changes in posted prices were made in other Texas and Oklahoma areas.

Grain Prices For Wichita Area Towns

Wichita Falls
Wheat 27 cents; oats 17 cents.
Barley 25 cents.

Slow movement of grain the past few days indicates, according to local grain men, that the harvests in this section is about over and that most of the wheat is in.

Receipts by Wichita Falls markets has about ceased, while in outlying communities of the Wichita area receipts have dropped greatly.

Despite the heavy oat crop in this territory, even at this late date very little has been marketed due to unfavorable prices.

Prices over the section Wednesday remained unchanged except at Waurika, where wheat quotations dropped from 30 cents to 28 cents.

Olney
Wheat 27 cents; oats 15 cents.
Seymour
Wheat 27 cents; oats 15 cents.
Vernon
Wheat 27 cents; oats 15 cents.

LOWER GRAIN RATES POSTED

Cheaper Freight to Ports Announced

AUSTIN, July 22. (AP)—C. V. Terrell, chairman of the railroad commission, today announced the commission's new intrastate grain rate adjustment, to become effective Aug. 1. The changes will harmonize with the new interstate rates, to become effective the same day under an order of the Interstate Commerce commission.

"Generally speaking, the Texas intrastate adjustment will effect a rather radical reduction in grain rates between points in Texas," Terrell said. "This will be true notwithstanding the fact that at present corn, oats and other coarse grains take 90 per cent of the wheat rate and under the new order will take the full wheat rate."

Rates to Houston, Galveston, Texas City, Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange will be equal.

Illustrations of the changes were given by Terrell as follows:

From Amarillo to Texas ports, present wheat rate 33 cents, new rate 30 cents; from Lubbock, present, 33 cents, new 28 cents; from Gainesville, present, 33 cents, new 22½ cents; to Fort Worth from Amarillo, present 27 cents, new 25½ cents; from Lubbock, present, 28 cents, new 23 cents.

On all hauls in excess of 150 miles the new adjustment is on a group basis. Sixty-four groups were provided for. For short hauls, 150 miles and less, within or between groups, a mileage scale was provided, starting at 10 cents for 50 miles and less and going to 17 cents at 150 miles.

The new adjustment will expire Dec. 31.

YOUNG COUNTY ASSURED NEW COURTHOUSE

Supreme Court Declines to Interfere in Issue of Warrants

BUILDING TO START

Final Decision Clears Way For $300,000 Plant At Graham

AUSTIN, July 22. (AP)—The supreme court today declined to review the case in which protesting taxpayers of Young county had sought unsuccessfully to invalidate a contract providing for erection of a new courthouse.

The plaintiffs had attacked the contract on the grounds that it had been let without the unlimited competitive bidding required by law. Both the trial court and the court of civil appeals at Fort Worth overruled their plea.

The motion for a writ of error was denied without a written opinion.

WAY CLEARED FOR START OF CONSTRUCTION

The effect of the supreme court's refusal to review the Young county courthouse suit will be to allow the commissioners court of that county to proceed with the construction of the new building at Graham, attorneys here declared.

Contract for the structure, to cost approximately $300,000, has already been let, and construction work is expected to start at an early date The injunction suit was brought by O. T. Anderson of Olney against W. F. Parsley, county judge, and the commissioners court to restrain the court from issuing county warrants to pay for the construction of the new courthouse.

On the first hearing of the case before Judge Allan D. Montgomery of the 30th district court, the injunction was refused, Judge Montgomery holding the commissioners had the power to issue the warrants. This opinion was upheld in the appeals court, and the opinion was made final when the supreme court refused Anderson's plea for a writ of error which would have placed the case before the supreme court.

Guy Rogers of Wichita Falls represented the commissioners court of Young county in the proceedings.

COUNTY COMMISSION TO MEET AUG. 1

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, July 22.—Young county officials tonight were undecided just when construction work will be resumed on the new $300,000 courthouse, although it was expected that it would be at an early date if no other legal obstacles are offered to the program.

Parsley was in Dallas tonight and could not be reached for comment, but it was learned from Earl Hutchins, county auditor, that a meeting of the commissioners court is scheduled for Aug. 1. J. T. Taylor, contractor for the building, was in Graham Tuesday conferring with county officials, and is understood to be anxious to begin work immediately.

Excavations for the new building already have been started on the north block of the Young county courthouse square. The courthouse will be two stories and basement, and will be constructed of reinforced concrete with face stone. It is expected to be one of the finest buildings in North Texas when completed.

Lindberghs to Take Off Next Week On Leisurely Flight to Orient

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh announced tonight that he and his wife would take off next week on their flight to the Orient.

Colonel Lindbergh said the day of his departure had not been determined upon.

His route lies over Canada, the Hudson bay district, and through northern Alaska down the eastern coast of Siberia to Tokyo. He will then fly to China, but the itinerary in that area has not been fixed.

Before starting for the Orient Colonel Lindbergh said he would go to Washington for a final conference with state department officials, and to obtain clearance papers.

Whether he will head for Canada from Washington or return first to New York is to be decided.

Eleven refueling stops have been arranged on Lindbergh's route and fuel depots completed.

The remodeled Lockheed-Sirius low wing monoplane which Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh will use now is at a pontoon factory at College Point, L. I., undergoing final adjustments. It will be ready in two or three days.

It is equipped with wireless and both Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh recently passed regular examinations for commercial third class licenses to send and receive messages during the flight.

The Lindbergs' first stop will be Ottawa, where he has informed United States Minister Hanneford MacNider they will spend the night.

Colonel Lindbergh has emphasized the flight is in the nature of a vacation and no definite scedule will be maintained.

Agreement May End Battle of the Bridges

Just about the time it looked like the heat wave, the German financial crisis and a few other stories were going to grab all the space on the front pages, Oklahoma and Texas tangled up over the matter of toll bridges spanning the Red river on their border. Here you see Gov. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma (right), ardent champion of free bridges, and Gov. Ross Sterling of Texas, with a map of the battle front. An agreement made at Austin Wednesday promises to put an end to hostilities between the states within 10 days, with the Durant-Denison bridge open.

Finance Ministers Decide on Plan For Submission to Debt Conference

London Parley for Saving Germany May End With Vote on New Measure for Extending Credit

LONDON, July 22. (AP)—The committee of finance ministers of the seven power conference announced tonight it had decided on a plan for economic and financial aid to Germany and that the plan would be presented tomorrow to what, it was believed here, may be the final plenary session of the conference.

The plan, it was understood, would include measures intended to give Germany at least a 90-day "reprieve" in her struggle against financial and economic difficulties.

It includes a proposal for extending for three months the $100,000,000 credit from the World Bank of International Settlements and other measures chiefly concerned with prevention of withdrawals of foreign investments in Germany and with general aid for Germany's finances and those of the reichsbank.

Four Resolutions

From a quarter close to conference affairs it was learned four resolutions would be presented to tomorrow's sessions. These, it was stated, would provide:

First, that the central banks and the World Bank for International Settlements extend the $100,000,000 German credit for a further period of three months:

Second, that private banks be urged to leave their credits now in Germany in German hands for the present:

Third, that a world bank committee be appointed to consider the questions of short-term loans to Germany and the conversion of existing short-term loans to long-term loans:

Fourth, that the conference "note with satisfaction" the action of German industrialists in creating a reserve of approximately $125,000,000 on the German gold discount bank.

Speed Record

It was considered tonight the conference, which has been in session only 48 hours, will have set a new speed record for world diplomacy if, as was anticipated in informed quarters tonight, it approves the plan of the finance ministers' committee and decides to make tomorrow's session the last plenary session of the conference.

The proposed plan, it was said,

SCHOOL FUND HELD AT $17.50

Per Capita Apportionment Same as Last Year

AUSTIN, July 22. (AP)—The board of education today set the per capita school apportionment for the coming year at $17.50, the same as it was last year.

The apportionment was based on 1,550,000 scholastics, 15,000 less than last year. It also was made on the theory that property valuations would be as great as last year whereas the comptroller had estimated they would be about $100,000,000 less. This might entail a decrease in the apportionment.

The cigaret tax which becomes effective one month from today will supply $1.50 of the apportionment.

Scientist Solves Medical Mystery

EVANSTON, Ill., July 22. (AP)—Dr. Arthur I. Kendall, professor of bacteriology at Northwestern university, in a lecture tonight announced the discovery of what his colleagues termed the most important victory in the isolation of bacteria since the discoveries of pasteur.

Addressing a gathering of scientists, physicians and educators, Dr. Kendall said his finding opened the way to determine the exact source of certain diseases heretofore shrouded in mystery.

These diseases, colleagues at Northwestern said, included influenza, infantile paralysis, rheumatism and sleeping sickness.

While Dr. Kendall's experiments so far have been limited, he summarized that a majority, if not all, known bacteria, can be subjected to his new method of isolation.

In commenting on the bacteriologist's discovery, Dr. Edward C. Rosenow, head of the department at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., said "new fundamental facts have been learned about the unsolved problems of medical science."

2 PROHIBITION AGENTS SLAIN

Indiana Bootlegger Shoots Two Others

FORT WAYNE, Ind., July 22. (AP)—Two federal prohibition agents were shot and killed and two others wounded a mile south of Fort Wayne on the Huntington road tonight in an attempt to arrest George Adams, alleged Fort Wayne bootlegger, on parole from a federal penitentiary where he was sentenced in 1930 on a liquor charge.

The dead men are John I. Wilson, of the Indianapolis office of the prohibition enforcement bureau, and Walter M. Gilbert, 33, whose home office is in Cincinnati, Ohio. Wilson was killed by eight bullets from a revolver. Gilbert died in a Fort Wayne hospital from a hemorrhage caused when his lung was penetrated by a bullet.

The wounded men are C. E. Green, Portland, Ind., and Oliver J. Gettle, Indianapolis, working with the officers.

Giving their attention to their slain confederates, Green and Gettle said Adams drove away in his automobile. Search was started for him immediately.

The officers, working in two automobiles, planned to capture Adams, believing he carried a load of liquor. One detachment of officers stopped in front of Adams' car, while the other came up from behind.

Adams began firing immediately at Wilso and Gilbert and then reloading his weapon turned upon Green and eGttle, they said. Neither of the latter two was hurt seriously.

After Wilson had fallen from three bullet wounds, Green and Gettle said, Adams ran to him and fired five more shots into his body.

DENISON SPAN GOES INTO USE IN FORTNIGHT

State Officials Concur in Plan for Company to Sue State

SPECIAL LAW NEEDED

Rangers Hold Shooting Exhibition to Amuse Curious Crowd

AUSTIN, July 22. (AP)—A plan whereby the Red river free bridge north of Denison is expected to be opened within a week or 10 days was agreed upon today by Gov. Ross S. Sterling, Senator Jake Loy of Sherman, Cone Johnson, highway commissioner, and Sidney Benbow, assistant attorney general.

The plan involves the introduction of a bill by Senator Loy to permit the Red River Bridge company, operator of a parallel toll bridge, to sue the state on its contract with the Texas Highway commission.

Subject Submitted

Governor Sterling today submitted the subject and Loy said he would introduce the bill tomorrow. He predicted no difficulty in passing it in a few days.

Opening of the bridge had been delayed by a federal court injunction obtained by the toll bridge company. Loy said representatives of the toll bridge had promised to withdraw the injunction suit in event a law should be enacted permitting them to sue the state.

Attorneys for the toll bridge company said they believed the contract was valid while the attorney general's office claimed it was invalid. Under its terms the commission would pay the toll bridge company a sum estimated by Johnson as $80,000 and estimated by the bridge concern as $117,500.

Speedy Action Necessary

The federal court injunction prevented the opening of the bridge until the contract had been fulfilled.

The proposed law would be contingent upon the injunction being dissolved within 15 days after its enactment.

End of the long controversy over the Denison bridge was seen by Loy in the decision to introduce the bill.

The bill proposed by Loy says the federal court injunction was granted on grounds the toll bridge company did not have an adequate remedy at law to enforce its contract. The federal constitution provides that a state must give its consent before it can be sued.

Under the bill the suit would be tried in Travis county.

RANGERS PUT ON GUNNER DISPLAY

DENISON, Texas, July 22. (AP)—A touch of frontier melodrama was introduced into the Red river bridge controversy today when Texas rangers staged a shooting exhibition near the barrier they were guarding at the new free bride near here.

Their demonstration was interpreted as a reply to Gov. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray's assertion earlier in the day that an ancient Spanish treaty gave Oklahoma jurisdiction over the south bank of the Red river.

Spectators marveled as the rangers nonchalantly spattered lead from six-gun and rifle at targets.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 22. (AP)—Governor Murray said today he was planning to ask other states to join in a fight for reduction of telephone rates.

Chicago's Elongated Mayor Tells New York Democrats Will Win

NEW YORK, July 22. (US)—Anton J. Cermak, Chicago's six foot two inch, two fisted mayor breezed into New York today bubbling over with optimism for Democratic success in 1932 but declining to discuss the chances of Governor Roosevelt for president.

"Heading a delegation of 130 Democratic stalwarts Cermak came in a special train to attend the Sharkey-Walker fight tonight. Tomorrow he will lunch with Governor Roosevelt at the latter's town house and possibly later in the afternoon will meet former Governor Smith in his office in the Empire State building.

Declaring that the Republican party is "shot to pieces in Illinois," the Chicago executive added:

"Yes, Illinois will go Democratic next year. In fact the outlook is so bright that it almost frightens me."

"What do you think of Governor Roosevelt's chances for the nomination and is there much sentiment for him in your state?"

He replied:

"There is a lot of sentiment for Governor Roosevelt, but I think there is more for Al Smith. Of course the Illinois delegation to the Democratic national convention will be pledged to Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, and what will happen after the first ballot will depend on what transpires at the convention."

The Chicago mayor said that the world debt moratorium proposal of President Hoover has "temporarily" raised the morale of the Republicans in Illinois, "but I do not believe it will have any serious effect on the Democratic chances in my state." The principal reaction was among the great German population of Illinois, he said, where talk shifted from prohibition, as the outstanding issue in the approaching campaign to the moratorium.

AGREEMENT ON BRIDGE MADE

Denison Span to Open in Ten Days

Ranger Ross opened the show by ripping the edge of a playing card to bits while firing his pistol upside down from a distance of 20 yards.

Hip Shooting

Ranger Tom Hickman followed with a demonstration of hip shooting picking off 18 out of 20 matches at 50 feet.

Other rangers, firing rifles from their hips, proceeded to smash dozens of bottles that were thrown into the air as targets. Later the rangers moved their range to a river bottom and practiced machine gunnery.

The rangers did not say whether they staged their show as a warning to Murray that the south bank of the river was under Texas jurisdiction, or merely as a jest.

Governor Murray went on record today with a statement that if Texas put any more obstructions in front of the free bridge at Denison, he would remove them in the face of Texas rangers and other military authority of the state.

Cites Court Decisions

He claimed that courts have upheld the precedent of the old Spanish treaties, which he said gave Oklahoma authority over affairs on the Texas banks of the Red river.

The Texas rangers were assigned to guard duty at the free bridge barrier last week after Oklahoma highway employes, acting under Governor Murray's orders, had removed the barriers in an attempt to open the bridge to traffic.

Governor Sterling of Texas claimed that Governor Murray had exceeded his authority by the act, inasmuch as Texas was restrained from putting the bridge into service by a federal court injunction.

SOONER MARKSMAN SCOFFS AT "FEATS"

OKMULGEE, Okla., July 22. (AP)—At least one veteran Oklahoma marksman doubts the shooting accuracy of Texas rangers as reported today from Denison, where a group of Lone Star officers were reported engaging in pistol practice.

Capt. Elmer C. Croom, secretary-treasurer of the Oklahoma Rifle association and participant in many national matches, declared he was "forced to laugh" when he read that Tom Hickman "shooting from the hip, hit 18 matches out of 20 at 50 feet."

"Somebody's having a pipe dream or listening to movie thriller," the Oklahoma shooter declared. "There are 10,000 shooters in the United States who would pay good cash money to see that done. Even the manufacturers would not guarantee their revolvers to shoot that well, and then men who have held the American pistol championships for years can't do it."

COOKE COUNTY COMPLETES ROAD

GAINESVILLE, Texas, July 22. (AP)—A Cooke county road crew started work today on 1.6 miles of uncompleted highway which when completed will allow traffic to proceed across the free bridge over the Red river.

The right of way is being paid for by private subscriptions from Gainesville business men.

Meanwhile, a delegation of citizens planned to visit Oklahoma City tomorrow in hope of borrowing additional machinery from Oklahoma to rush to completion the new route.

ANTI-TOLL BRIDGE LAW SOUGHT IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, July 22. (US)—A drive for the enactment of federal legislation designed to eventually eliminate toll bridges from national highways will be made in the new congress, it was predicted today, as a result of the toll bridge battle between Texas and Oklahoma.

Representative John Cochran of Missouri, one of the leaders in the anti-toll bridge fight, declared that the federal bureau of public roads, the American Automobile association and the National Association of Highway Superintendents have joined in support of the legislation and expressed the opinion that it will go through in the next congress.

Several measures, which were pending in the last congress and which will be reintroduced in the next, provide for joint federal and state action on toll bridge fanchises, with restrictions on rates and profits and eventual recapture by the states.

One of the purposes of this legislation, Cochran said, is to end the "toll bridge peddling racket." In many instances promoters have obtained free franchises from congress for the construction of toll bridges and then sold them to others who do the actual construction work, he said.

Contrary to the charges that toll bridges make exhorbitant profits, Cochran said that many companies have ruu into financial difficulties after building costly structures.

"MA" FERGUSON DECLINES TO LEAD

AUSTIN, July 22. (US)—No army of Amazons will march from points in Texas to the Oklahoma front line for the purpose of opening the new free bridge across the Red river, as they were invited to do by Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma.

Former Gov. "Ma" Ferguson of Texas was requested by "Alfalfa Bill" to be the leader of the women's column. He proposed that they tear away the barrier which Texas rangers have erected at the Texas end of the bridge and open the structure to traffic after they have first held a quilting bee in the center of the bridge.

"Ma" Ferguson did not welcome the idea of being a leader in such a movement. In the first place, as was pointed out today by her husband, Jim Ferguson, also former governor of Texas, who acted as spokesman for her, she would not think of doing anything that might be construed as a violation of the federal injunction which is in effect restraining the state of Texas from opening the bridge.

This injunction was obtained on petition of the Red River Bridge company which owns the adjacent toll bridge. Mr. Ferguson also said that his wife had no desire to make a spectacular show of herself even if the invitation did come from "Alfalfa Bill" Murray.

West Texas Salt Lake Leased for Exploitation

CRANE, Texas, July 22. (AP)—The 1,189-acre Cowden salt lake has been leased for 20 years to Max Omo of Chicago, who says he will employ 20 workers. This is the first recent attempt to commercialize salt lakes in West Texas, though many years ago the vast salt lakes in Pecos, Culberson and other counties were scenes of bitter salt wars, and the Cowden lake was the cause of the Buena Vista battle, waged over the right to the salt.

Omo is now selling salt from this snow-white lake and soon expects to have salesmen on the road. He says the salt has only slight impurities.

The salt on the laks forms in layers of one inch to several feet in thickness and Omo estimates there are in the lake now 10,000 tons of it, with salt being deposited after each rain.

Once trails ran to this lake from Mexico and ox wagons made laborious journeys for the salt. Many have operated the lake. The lake has always been considered valuable from the time Juan Cordova secured it in a grant from the king of Spain.

'CHEAP OIL' NO PROFITS'

So Texas Company Head Tells State Legislature

tioning of the governor he drew objections from Senators Walter Woodul and Will Martin, the former protesting some of the queries were immaterial and argumentative; the latter saying the senator was not giving the governor time to answer but was interrupting.

From Mr. Woodruff's questions it developed that the governor felt a new conservation commission, as favored in a pending bill which has administration sanction, might eventually absorb the state reclamation and water enigneer's departments and possibly the soil conservation work now done by Texas A. and M. college extension service and the state department of agriculture.

Woodruff sought to draw from the governor a statement as to whether he thought the railroad commission, which now attends to proration could not continue under increased authority to do so, asking if Mr. Sterling thought the commissioners were "not sufficiently versed."

Sterling Interrupted

"I've never said that," the governor replied quickly. "The commissioners are my friends and gentlemen—"

He did not finish. Woodul leaping to the floor and objecting, saying he thought the question should be withdrawn "in the public interest." Woodruff withdrew it and began quizzing the governor as to his present oil connections.

"Does the governor," he asked, "directly or indirectly own any stock in a major company, including the Humble Oil and Refining company?"

"No," he answered.

The governor at one time was head of the Humble company.

Woodruff, one of the younger members of the senate¼ wanted to know whether Mr. Sterling had any knowledge of "this so-called trust between the majors to control gasoline prices," and the executive replied: "I do not. If I did it would be my duty to help break it up."

Governor Smiles

When he finished the senator thanked Mr. Sterling for the amount of time he had given the inquiry. "I believe I can stand as much of it as you can," the governor replied, smiling.

In the afternoon session, E. V. Foran, technical adviser for the central proration committee, appeared bearing a number of maps and charts. These he exhibited to tell the senators the way under ground water sometimes caused waste and cut the ultimate recovery in oil fields.

In the Yates field, he said, there was voluntary proration almost from the start and would be, in consequence, a higher ultimate rate of recovery. In the Winkler field, he continued, "billions and billions of feet of gas were wasted," in attempts to withdraw the oil quickly and the field had suffered great damage.

"Name one of those companies that wasted billions and billions of feet," Senator George Purl called out. The witness said he couldn't do that—that there was general guilt.

Conservation of the natural resources to prevent physical waste only may not go far enough, Holmes said, expressing belief the state should take definite steps to aid in recovery of the oil industry. He estimated production from present flush fields would supply the American market for six years and at the end of that time the United States might be faced with a serious shortage in the visible supply. Responsibility for lack of oil would rest on those charged with conservation.

Unless Texas controls its production and holds it to near the market demand, other states which have adopted and enforced proration will become discouraged and throw their oil on the marekt at whatever prices they can get. This will cause untold disaster to the industry, nationally and internationally, Holmes said.

Holmes admitted there was less production now than in 1929 when oil was high but said conditions then warranted absorption of the excess crude at materially higher prices. He was questioned repeatedly as to how the major companies could make larger profits buying oil at $1 per barrel than at 10 cents. Holmes contended the economic conditions that warranted the $1 price also made it possible for the oil industry to show a profit on its marketing and refining.

Major companies are losing steadily on marketing and refining operations, Holmes said, estimating the Texas company's loss in Texas for the first five months of 1931 at $2,000,000. Asked if the Texas company netted $9,000,000 on pipe line operations in Texas in 1930, Holmes answered in the affirmative and said this was "very fair and satisfactory."

Holmes opposed the idea fostered by numerous independents that divorcement of producing and refining companies from the retail end of the industry andr requirement of each branch to make its own profits, would redound to the prosperity of the industry and the nation generally, claiming enforcement of such a policy would cause serious waste and lost motion, increased overhead expenses and demoralize the marketing systems.

Holmes denied contentions by previous witnesses that the oil market had been demoralized by the majors with the view of forcing out the independent operators, stating every constructive major company realized the responsible independent played an important and essential part in development of the industry.

The operetta presents 17 leads and a chorus of 30 of the city's leading dancers and musicians. Elaborate stage settings have been arranged.

St. Louis Golfer Wants Larger Cup For 'Balloon' Ball

ST. LOUIS, July 22. (AP)—A larger cup for the larger ball.

That is the way Stuart Stickney former Missouri state champion and "father of St. Louis golf" would help the game achieve a better "balance."

Putting, he contends, is over-emphasized at present, making scores too high and play needlessly slow.

Stickney, with 40 amateurs and professionals of the district, including eight women, played 18 holes over the Westborough course, with all cups increased from the regulation 4¼ to 5¼ inches in diameter.

The result pleased the sponsor of the tournament, who pointed to the way the foursomes "breezed around" the links in two hours and 45 minutes, but no record-breaking scores were made.

A pro and an amateur tied for low medal with par 72. Five players scored 73 and three others had 74. Two of the women players broke 90.

Interviews with contestants regarding the "new cup" revealed the same odd circumstance observed in discussions of the new ball: Those with good scores thought the larger hole was fine, and those with poor scores thought it was no help at all.

GRAF READY FOR ARCTIC

CHINA WOULD WAR ON JAPAN

Chiang Kai-Shek Asks Canton to Form Alliance

HONG KONG, July 22. (AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek, president of the Nationalist government of China, was said by the Cantonese insurgent government today to have asked it to join in a war on Japan on consequence of Korean outrages upon Chinese.

Harrassed by new rebellious alignments against the Nationalist regime, Chiang was asserted to have offered to resign the presidency and take supreme command of a force of 500,000 men to be raised in various provinces and thrown against Japan at the Korean border.

The Nationalist president was said to have seized the recent killing of 100 Chinese in Korea by native mobs as a motive for making war on Japan, which rules Korea. The Korean riots grew out of an attack by 500 Chinese upon 200 Korean irrigation laborers in Manchuria.

Although Japanese police stations were refuges of hunted Chinese and Japanese police killed Korean attackers, Chiang was reported to seek hostilities against Japan as a means of ending factional strife in China in a struggle against a common enemy.

The Canton government, however, was represented as not disposed to fight Japan. And it had not replied to Chiang's proposals.

Fully occupied with a two months campaign against Red and bandit armies of Kiangsi province in which his troops have achieved little success, President Chiang Kai-Shek was called on to meet a dangerous new rebellion in north China led by General Shih-Yu-San, commissioned by the Canton insurgents as commander.

Florida legislators have made arrangements to receive clippings of editorial reaction to their actions by air mail.

Debt Conferees Decide on Plan

largely is based on President Hoover's views as communicated, to Secretaries Stimson and Mellon at Paris a few days ago, but they have been woven into the general fabric of a European plan for stemming the tide of German collapse.

Each nation represented here has had a share in the plan, it was said, but nobody could forecast whether the measures which probably will be taken will be sufficient to satisfy Germany's requirements.

If the conference adjourns tomorrow the committee of experts which has been dealing with details of the Hoover reparations holiday will continue its work at London, it was said.

WASHINGTON STILL HOPES FOR SUCCESS

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—Successful conclusion tomorrow of the work of the London ministers' conference to afford financial relief to Germany was predicted tonight by high administration authorities.

Late in the day, Secretary Stimson telephoned Acting Secretary Castle of the state department in Washington that recommendations to be submitted to the conferrence tomorrow were satisfactory to the United States. The recommendations were adopted by the finance ministers attending the conference.

The secretary's message by telephone was the only report received during the day by the American government from its representatives. Contrary to the usual procedure in such conservations, the secretary talked with the acting secretary who remained in his office at the state department.

Most of the transatlantic calls have been to the White House, with the president taking part.

Press dispatches outlining the recommendations showed they closely followed the proposal, which Mr. Castle had said was made to the conference on behalf of the United States.

MEXICANS IN AIR

WASHINGTON, July 22. (US)—Commercial airplanes in Mexico flew a total of 2,485,810 miles in 1930, in comparison with 1,896,507 in 1929 and 727,591 in 1928, the commerce department was advised today.

Forty-five firms were incorporated under Mississippi laws during March with total capital of $692,498.

One Tells Another

Though expert opinions may differ as to what constitutes effective advertising, practically all agree that the praise of satisfied customers is one of the most successful means of increasing the popularity and use of a product. This has been one of the factors responsible for the widespread preference now existing for St. Joseph's Aspirin. "St. Joseph's" is both genuine and pure and each package is wrapped in moisture-proof cellophane to preserve the purity and full strength of each tablet. Always ask your druggist for "St.Joseph's," now the largest selling pure aspirin in the world for 10c. It's as pure as money can buy and meets every government standard.

Crash Victim Remains In Critical Condition

The condition of Hershel (Speedy) Pierce, 21, of Thrift, remained critical at the Wichita General hospital here Wednesday, after he sustained a fracture at the base of the skull in an automobile collision near Burkburnett Tuesday.

The collision occurred, it was said, when Pierce drove his car from an intersecting road into the main highway as the other machine, driven by Reed Gillingham, reached the crossroad.

WIDOW'S WILL BRINGS BATTLE

Court Fight Promised In Henderson Case

WASHINGTON, July 22. (INS)—A spirited court battle was prospected today before the millions left by John B. Henderson, the former senator from Missouri, and then by his widow, who died last week, are distributed and the estate settled.

Mrs. Henderson's last will, on file for probate, cut off Mrs. Beatrice Henderson Wholean, recognized by society as the daughter of her late son, John B. Henderson Jr.

The litigation is expected to be instituted by Mrs. Wholean, now vacationing at Bar Harbor, Maine, and possibly other relatives of Mrs. Henderson.

Miss Frances Arnold and Henry N. Arnold of New York, niece and nephew of the 90-year-old society dictator, were bequeathed the bulk of the estate, unofficially estimated to be worth from $5,000,000 to $9,000,000. Jesse S. Shima, Mrs. Henderson's Japanese secretary, was given $100,000 cash and benefits of an additional $100,000 trust fund.

Three months ago, when Mrs. Henderson offered her costly castle to the government as a home for the vice president, Mrs. Wholean filed suit to have the court appoint an administrator for the Henderson estate, alleging the widow was not competent to handle her affairs. Mrs. Henderson countered this by claiming Mrs. Wholean is her grand-daughter by adoption only and asked permission to void the adoption.

Widespread Rains Save U. S. Crops

WASHINGTON, July 22. (INS)—Timely rains over large areas of the country came as a life-saver to crops despite the continuance of the heat wave, the U. S. weather bureau reported today in its weekly weather and crop bulletin.

The weather was abnormally warm in all sections except the central and west gulf area.

"While rainfall of the week came almost entirely in the form of local showers, characteristic of the present summer, they were decidedly more numerous, generous in amount and widespread than recently," the bulletin said.

Practically all states east of the Mississippi river and in addition an area from Missouri to lower Texas and Louisiana had timely and very beneficial showers in most places, though many localities were missed."

FARMERS EYE REMOVED

An operation to remove the eye of Louie Sternberger, farmer residing near Windthorst, was performed at the Hargrave-Walker hospital here Wednesday.

Sternberger sustained a severe injury to the eye Tuesday afternoon when the point of a cow's horn pierced the optic as he was working with his stock at his farm.

Denver Northern Right of Way To Be Completed in Near Future

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, July 22.—The guarantors of the right of way through Childress county for the use of the Fort Worth and Denver Northern railway have received official notification to secure the right of way at once, under the contract signed by both parties.

A meeting of the guarantors with the right of way committee was held Wednesday morning for the purpose of discussing the present situation and the right of way committee was instructed to begin work at once, and to close all contracts as soon as possible.

Deeds Delivered

The right of way has been purchased and deeds delivered to the railroad company for a distance of three miles from the main line of the Fort Worth and Denver railway with the greater part of the grading done on that section. It is not expected there will be any difficulty in securing the right of way, as the landowners look upon the project as one which will be of much benefit to them.

Under the contract signed between the citizens of Childress and the Denver Northern railway company, construction work is to be under way within 30 days and the work is to be pushed to an early completion.

It is understood by the committee in this city that committees at Wellington, Shamrock and Pampa have been instructed to close up for the entire right of way, and that this will be done within the next two or three weeks.

Contractor Ready

One contractor is now at Childress with a large amount of machinery and mules ready to begin work. He has graded about three miles of the first right of way secured, there being about one-quarter of a mile yet to be completed.

The Fort Worth and Denver Northern railway extends from the main line of the Fort Worth and Denver railway at Childress to Pampa, Texas, a distance of 120 miles. There will be two short sections in Gray county which will comprise almost 15 miles. The Denver Northern will run through Wellington, Shamrock to Pampa. Passing through portions of Childress county, north and south through Collingsworth county, through a short stretch of Wheeler county and through Gray county. The country traversed is being farmed quite extensively, but on account of the lack of convenient marketing conditions is not thickly settled. In portions of Childress and Collingsworth counties there is considerable rough lands which are now grazed by cattle. In Gray county the railway will touch some of the best oil fields in the Panhandle.

Heavy Traffic Expected

Experts who have investigated the country along the proposed line have agreed that a large amount of traffic will be secured as soon as the road is completed, and that within a few years the traffic should be large enough to pay a handsome dividend on the money invested.

Childress will be headquarters for many of the contractors when the work begins, thus placing a large number of men at this point for the coming year. It is said the pay roll for the next 12 months will run as high as $100,000 per month.

COLLINGSWORTH DEALS CLOSED

Special to The Record News

WELLINGTON, Texas, July 22.—Members of local committees have been successful in closing contracts for approximately half of the right-of-way through Collingsworth county for the proposed construction of the Fort Worth and Denver Northern from Childress through Wellington and Shamrock to Pampa, and committeemen are of the opinion that they will be able to secure the entire right of way through this county within the next few days. At the present time they lack only about $5,000 of having sufficient money raised to purchase such properties from the landowners.

Members of the committee who are in charge of raising funds for this purpose are D. D. McDowell, Lee O'Neil, R. H. Templeton, R. L. Gillentine, Clint C. Small, R. F. Curry, W. H. Lynn, L. W. Gribble, M. M. Kern, Pink Sullivan, H. D. Wells, J. B. Castleberry, L. C. Jones and L. A. Manzer.

GIRL KILLED IN SEVILLE FIGHT

Two Deaths Result From Communist Clash

SEVILLE, Spain, July 22. (US)—Two more persons, one a young girl were killed today when striking Communists and civil guards clashed here. Today's deaths brought the total of fatalities throughout Andalusia during the past few days of unrest to 16.

The young girl was killed by a stray bullet when civil guards entered a Seville suburb to spray machine gun fire along roofs on which snipers had taken refuge.

The machine gun attack was in reprisal for shots fired by the snipers at civil guardsmen patrolling the trouble area.

The provisional central republican government today moved to stem the rising tide of disorder. From Madrid it issued a decree ordering the closing of all headquarters throughout Spain of the national confederation of labor. Leaders in this organization are accused of fomenting the strikes.

At the same time, the disorder spread to a new quarter when a bomb explosion in Barcelona disrupted nationwide telephone service. The trunk line between Madrid and Barcelona was the only one not affected.

Miller's Wife Postpones Daily Bake When Customers Take All Flour

Special to The Record News.

MEGARGEL, Texas, July 22.—Fred W. Kunkel, miller, is the busiest man in this section. The farmers are bringing wheat to be ground, paying wheat for toll. They come from other communities far and near.

The wheat is exceptionally fine and makes excellent flour. There are so many calls for flour at the mill that there is none left after the day's run is made. Mrs. Kunkel found there was no flour for her breakfast baking one morning recently, the demand having depleted the supply.

The mill has been running at its full capacity daily for three weeks, and the rush is expected to continue until some time after threshing is finished.

Planes Pursue Members Of Brazilian Revolt

BUENOS AIRES, July 22. (US)—The federal government today dispatched military airplanes in purpsuit of some 80 participants in the short-lived infantry rebellian at Corrientes.

The fugitives fled the city at the approach of federal troops who were today reported again in complete control. Before fleeing, the insurrectionists are reported to have looted the branch office of the Argentine National bank.

The rebels are reported heading up the Parana river in motorboats, attempting to make their way into Paraguayan territory.

Graduates Have Pretty Luncheon At Wichita Club

White and gold were marked in the decoration when members of the midsummer graduating class of the Wichita High school and Junior college held their luncheon at the Wichita club at noon Wednesday. Bowls of shasta daisies were used as the flower and place cards emphasized the motif. Miss Huldah Maude Cole, president of the class, presided as toastmistress.

The invocation was given by A. K. Presson, registrar, and a beautiful toast by the class president, Miss Cole. Miss Loraine Mathis made a pretty response.

Misses Thelma Norvell and Claudean McCarty played a lovely violin number and the closing feature was a talk by the new school superintendent, H. D. Fillers, who stressed the future for the members finishing school.

Guests at luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Fillers, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Presson, Messrs. A. F. Edwards and Paul Morton. The graduates present included Misses Roberta King, Edith Long, Doris Childers, Thelma Norvell, Claudean McCarty, Cora Dell Woodward, Florence Stallings, Huldah Maude Cole, Theda Ramee, Myrna Hendrix and Loraine Mathis; Mrs. Paul Morton, and Messrs. J. D. Yeakley, Eugene Ferrell, Charles Bodkin, Jack McDuffy, Garland Ballard and Loren Dee Baker.

Class festivities that had been planned earlier in the week but that had been postponed on account of the weather were announced as follows: All-day trip to Medicine Park will take place Friday, members meeting at the school to leave there at 5:30 a. m.; a dance at the Wichita club Saturday night, given the class by Jack Mims. This will conclude the "class week" festivities for 1931.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME
For Summer Evenings
Pattern 2178
By ANNE ADAMS

In the summer, formal frocks are more versatile than they are at any other time of the year. Dressing up in strictly evening frocks is often too much of an undertaking in hot weather, so we wear cool frocks like this one. Without the cape collar, it would be a charmingly simple evening gown. With the cape collar it becomes an ideal frock for summer evening dances, but also a frock one may wear in the daytime, for afternoon teas or bridge parties. Organdie is a crisp becoming material in which to make it, but chiffon, georgette, eyelet embroidered cotton, or sheer batiste would do equally well. It is stunning over a dark slip.

Obtainable only in sizes 13, 14, 16, 18, 20, 31, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 14 requires 5 yards of 39 inch material. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our patterns.

Send fifteen cents (15c in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

The pattern catalog features an excellent assortment of afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddies' clothes, also delightful accessory patterns. Price of catalog, fifteen cents. Catalog with pattern, twenty-five cents. Address all mail orders to Record News Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York City.

Charming Visitors Honorees At Lovely Bridge Luncheon

A delicious two-course luncheon was served the group. In the bridge games, Miss Joline Wood was winner of high score prize; Miss Mary Agnes Riley of second score trophy, while both honorees were given lovely favors.

The guest list included the two charming honorees, Misses Julia Street and Anease Volkmann, Misses Joline Wood, Willette Jarrell, Mildred Miller, Mary Delaney, Elizabeth Langford, Catherine Kay, Mary Agnes Riley, Mary Tancred, Martha Ellen Hines, Lida Lea, Camille Avis, Corinne Tucker, Marjorie Bright, Emily Mitcham, Elizabeth Carrigan, Jeannette Moore, Jane Moore, Mesdames P. PEEPS AT PEOPLE
By MRS. L. N. CASON

There's a picture in the current New Yorker of two elderly gents with bundles of newspapers beneath their arms. "Nothin' but mudders day after day" one groans, "an' we've got to sell 'em."

◇ ◇ ◇

The newsboys were not quite so well informed as the New York taxi driver who told the lady who inquired of him concerning the whereabouts of Horatio, "Last time I heard of him, he was on a bridge." There's a lot to newspapers besides murders.

◇ ◇ ◇

There are headlines about oil and illuminating stories about oil (more illuminating than oil itself); there are lines about wheat going down and "cotton off" and there are nice little stories about poor people who have found they can stand the fight no longer and have taken their own lives.

◇ ◇ ◇

There are robberies and there are stories of tragedies too terrible to be read. But they are news and a newspaper must tell of them. Newspapers do not avidly go into all the terrible details of the horrors they report.

◇ ◇ ◇

But when things have gone wrong and a person begins to feel blue there's always a gleam between the clouds. The whole world could help in making such gleams, if they only understood.

◇ ◇ ◇

I heard my daughter once say "my mama" in such a tone (she did not know I heard) that it made my heart swell. When it comes to the final count, there's nothing on earth that quite holds the greatness of maternity,—or paternity.

◇ ◇ ◇

But health is of all things, the most precious. Men and women wear out the human machines with which they start life because they have not been taught to take care of the parts. An automobile must be greased and filled with gas and water; it must have a thousand little parts looked after at regular times. But girls and boys have grown into maturity with no regard for the finer machine they inhabit.

◇ ◇ ◇

More and more educational leaders are paying attention to the care of the body. Voluntary physical training for women is being offered at the University of Texas during the second term of the summer school for the first time, according to Lorena Drummond of the university news service.

◇ ◇ ◇

She tells of the large number taking physical training in the summer session when it is not compulsory, and declares it a distinct tribute to the benefits offered by the department.

◇ ◇ ◇

There are classes in swimming, golf, tennis, archery and dancing and there are individual gymnastics. Classes in diving complete a splendid course.

◇ ◇ ◇

Building the body will build the mind and a clean body and mind rarely ever harbors anything but a clean soul.

◇ ◇ ◇

Today I heard two men on the street talking of the past years conditions. One was discouraged. The other finally concluded the conversation by saying "There's only one thing for you and I to do, stand pat and grin."

◇ ◇ ◇

That is the lesson that good health teaches.

Mrs. Kruger and her daughter will probably take several special courses in the university while in Boulder.

HEAVY TAXES RETARD STATE

Texas Under Industrial Handicap, Says Leeman

Warning that Texas is retarding its development into an industrial empire by excessively taxing the development of natural resources featured the address given before members of the Optimist club and many other local citizens at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon by Ray Leeman, vice president and general manager of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The tendency of legislators in this state to increase taxation rather than reduce governmental expenditures not only imposes a handicap upon established business enterprises already in Texas, the speaker said, but has the effect of frightening away proposed heavy investments from other parts of the country.

"The Texas tax muddle, in my humble judgment," he said, "can be solved only by a provision for a non-partisan tax committee and an exhaustive state survey with a view to equalizing the tax burden and subjecting all property of all character to its proper proportion. No new tax laws should be passed until the facts are fully determined."

Mr. Leeman declared that the industrial development within this country is moving definitely southward, and that other Southern states are offering many inducements to attract industries to their territories. Tax remission for a period of several years is one of the offers now being made to new industries, he said, while Texas "is in danger of sacrificing its superior position through a high tax wall which warns investors to keep out."

Mr. Leeman was introduced by John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce. Dr. George T. Singleton, president of the Optimist club, presided.

A. H. Whitehead, publicity director of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce, who is accompanying Mr. Leeman on his tour of the state, also was introduced.

Max Junker asked members of the Optimist club and others present to sign up for the irrigated valley farm tour to be staged by the Junior chamber of commerce Friday afternoon.

Musical numbers by Miss Sara Virginia Bancroft and George Napier, Miss Margaret Bone and Miss Mildred Anderson were included in the program.

Identification Bureau Bill Being Advocated

EL PASO, Texas, July 22. (AP)—A bill to establish a state bureau of criminal identification may be presented at the special session of the Texas legislature.

L. T. Robey, chief of police at El Paso and president of the Texas Police Chiefs and City Marshals union, says the bureau would be one of the best methods of combating crime in Texas and would save taxpayers thousands of dollars.

It would keep a daily record of every person arrested, list all property bearing a name, number or initial reported stolen or recovered and file identification data from other state or national bureaus. Twenty-four thousand dollars would be appropriated to maintain it.

Five persons on a non-salary basis would compose a board of managers, but a superintendent and assistant with other workers would be paid. Control would be by the attorney general.

Hot Tips on Keeping Cool!

Yes, folks, we're all crazy with the heat these blistering days, so here are some hot tips on keeping cool.

Upper right is a city version of the "Ol' swimming hole," as kiddies playing in a teeming Chicago gutter took showers at a fire hydrant.

"Sure, I'm hot and bothered," said little Mary Ann Stevens, with a shade of annoyance, as she posed for the picture at the right center at an exclusive Southampton, L. I., beach. "But who cares, when they have a big sandpile?"

Kitty Sandstrum, upper left, is riding right through the heat wave and into the cool waters at Venice, Calif., on the back of a baby seal.

If you really can't endure the temperature any more, just think of those good old days 100 degrees ago, when Omaha, Neb., co-eds were frolicking in the snow as shown at the left center.

Lillian Bond, the movie actress, makes a pretty hot picture, we'd say, wearing her Turkish costume on the beach near Hollywood.

$50,000 ASKED IN SUIT HERE

Woman Sues for Injuries in Crash

Suit for $50,725.45 in damages and costs was brought in district court Wednesday afternoon by Louise Barefield against D. W. Wiley Jr., as a result of an alleged traffic accident in Fort Worth on March 27, in which the plaintiff alleges she suffered serious and permanent injuries.

According to the plaintiff's petition, she was walking in Fort Worth on the date mentioned, en route to the home of friends whom she intended to visit in that city, when the defendant drove up in an automobile and offered her a ride to the address which she named. After accepting the invitation, the plaintiff alleges, she entered the car and rode to a certain street at which the petition states she asked the defendant to turn in order to go to the designated address.

The petition alleges that he defendant ignored the request, continuing to drive on without turning, and increased the speed of his car. Shortly thereafter, according to the pleading, the defendant's car ran into the rear of another automobile at an intersection, the plaintiff allegedly being injured as a result of that collision.

Damages of $50,000 is asked in the petition, as well as $385.45 for medical attention, and $340 for alleged disbursements for a nurse to care for the defendant's two minor children since the accident.

SLAB DENOTES PIONEER TRAIL

Wilbarger Citizens Mark Chisholm Route

Special to The Record News

VERNON, Texas, July 22.—What is said to be the first marker in Texas, on the old Chisholm cow trail, often referred to as the western trail, was erected Tuesday afternoon in Wilbarger county. The marker was placed about 10 miles north of Vernon in the southeast corner of the C. S. Smith farm. The particular spot is where an old cow beaten path is now crossed by highway 23.

The marker is a large granite slab taken from a rock quarry near Granite, Okla. The inscription was designed by Mrs. W. F. Palmeter, of Elk City, Okla., and was made ready for use by her husband. It shows the head of the longhorn steer and beneath it an arrow points towards Doans store on Red river, where the herds in the early days crossed over into Oklahoma. It also bears this inscription:

"Going up the longhorn Chisholm trail, 1878. P. P. Ackley."

Mr. Ackley, whose home is now at Elk City, Okla., is one of the few surviving members of the old Trail Drivers association and is taking a very active interest in the marking of this trail in Texas. This particular marker was made and erected at his expense.

Mr. Ackley and N. C. Basham of Elk City, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Smith of Fargo; Mrs. Bertha A. Ross, president of the Pioneers association of Wilbarger county, and her husband, A. S. Ross, of Vernon, witnessed the erection of the marker.

He was brought to his home in Sunset by Bradshaw and Daniels, occupants of the truck.

Row Crops Need Rain In Wheeler County

Special to The Record News

SHAMROCK, Texas, July 22.—An unbroken period of rainless skies has enabled farmers near Shamrock to harvest practically all their wheat but has damaged to some extent row crops. Cotton in this section also must have rain before long.

Farmers in this territory are holding their wheat unless forced by "financial need" to sell at present low prices. Yield this year is low, averaging between eight and 12 bushels in Wheeler county.

A good yield of cotton is almost certain if rain falls within the next week or two to stop the damage done by hot winds.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas feed crops for 1931 will set a new record for all previous time, according to Texas department of agriculture estimates made in July. Wheat is estimated at 58,720,000 bushels, oats at 76,398,000 bushels and corn (estimates increased about 11,000,000 bushels by reason of July rains) 101,517,000 bushels. Practically every crop grown in Texas shows an increase over 1930 production, according to the estimates.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

The Texas cotton crop, with first bales beginning to appear in the southern portion of the state, will provide employment for many of the unemployed within the next three months, as the picking season spreads northward. On the federal department of agriculture's estimate of the Texas crop at 4,000,000 bales, the federal labor department figures that 400,000 pickers will be needed to handle the crop, one of the few in which mechanization has made but little headway. The estimate does not include the employes of gins and oil mills and other industries more or less closely allied with the crop who will be put to work as the fall cotton season comes on.

Governor Issues Fourteen Paroles

AUSTIN, July 22. (AP)—Gov. Ross S. Sterling today announced the issuance of 14 paroles, including one to Jesse Lee, Morris county negro, sentenced to 17 years in seven liquor cases. The Morris county sheriff told the governor that "while this ignorant negro was guilty he had not done worse than others who had not received over two years sentence."

Other paroles were Alfred Thompson, Bosque, one year, liquor; Juan Soto, Edwards, two years burglary; Clarence Stokes, El Paso, two years, aggravated assault; James N. Sadler, Limestone, five years, robbery with firearms; Edward Seymour, Harris, two years, possessing and concealing stolen property; Pete Smith, Erath, one year, liquor; W. E. Smith, Collin one year, liquor; Yrabel Romerez, Harris, one year, liquor; Andry Page, Brown, three years, liquor; William Maguson, Potter, five years, burglary; Bryant Mallat, Montgomery, one year, liquor; Lloyd McFadden, Walker, five years, liquor; Fernando Leal, Cameron, five years, liquor.

Mrs. Effie Reed of Hood county and Joe Massala of Harris county, each sentenced to one year for a liquor law violation, were given 60-day furloughs.

Omaha Grain Exchange Halts Waterways Donation

OMAHA, Neb., July 22. (INS)—The Omaha Grain exchange, one of the large contributors to the Inland Waterways association, today refused to make its annual donation.

Members of the exchange said the new program has been adopted because the government is to operate waterway barges and that in the past year the government allegedly has been attempting to "run" their grain business.

It would not be consistent, grain exchange members said, to support a program of government which is attempting to ruin the grain commission business.

In a Man's Lifetime

THE terrific speed with which the world changes may have slowed down somewhat within the last decade or two. Nevertheless, one man's life can still span amazing developments. Between boyhood and manhood one can still watch a great rearrangement of the scenery.

There died in Panama the other day one Basil Burns Duncan, said to be the oldest American on the isthmus—he was 88—and a surviving veteran of the old French attempt to dig the Panama canal.

Duncan went to Panama just after the transisthmian railroad had been completed. The isthmus then was one stage of the road to California. Passengers came down from New York by sea, crossed the narrow neck of land by train or wagon, and took ship on the Pacific side for San Francisco. The canal was still only a dream; Cape Horn, far to the south, was still a surf-fringed terror for sailormen.

Then the French started to dig the canal; and Duncan was one of the four men chosen to turn the first sods. The four stood face to face with lifted picks. At a signal they drove them into the ground, and work on the Panama canal had begun.

What Duncan saw, during the next decade or two, was a New World epic. Disaster beset the French at every hand. "Yellow jack" made Panama notorious throughout the world. The French finally quit, leaving machinery to be overgrown by the jungle. Then, after years of quiet, the Americans came, and canal was finished; and there, all the time, was Duncan, a part of the whole thing, soldier in the army that joined two seas.

Already the pre-canal era looks remote. The day when ships to the Pacific had to round dreaded Cape Horn is fabulous, dim with the mists of a time that is very far away. Yet this man, who died only the other day, saw it all. He went to Panama when it was a pest hole and saw it become one of the world's busiest places.

Where a Theory Breaks Down

THE way to a better court system, we are often told, makes it necessary that judges be appointed rather than elected. Relieve the jurist of the necessity of going after votes and he can be more immune to the demands of politics. If, in addition, judgeships carry high salaries, able men will be attracted to the bench, and the judiciary will be improved still more.

That is the theory. It looks like a good one; but it doesn't always work out that way.

New York City has just finished a year of investigation in which three judges have been removed from office and four more have resigned under fire. Enough corruption has been proven to tarnish the good name of the whole city.

But New York, as it happens, appoints its judges. Furthermore, it pays them the highest salaries of any city in the land. Neither factor seems to have been sufficient to keep the judiciary on the level.

Why America Worries

THE ordinary citizen may find it a bit hard to understand why the current German financial crisis should be any direct concern of his. A casual examination of the workings of international finance should make it clear to him.

For years Germany has borrowed heavily abroad. Much of this money, which has been borrowed both by the German government and by German industries, has come from America, supplied by American banking firms.

These firms, in turn, have sold German bonds very widely throughout this country. A German financial collapse which would make those bonds worthless would have profound effects on the American financial structure. Bank circles, industrial organizations and thousands of private citizens would be hit a terrific blow. Since we are already struggling out of a severe depression, the ultimate consequences would be extremely disturbing.

That is why Germany's troubles are "big news" for America today.

Publicity and the White House

IT IS rather doubtful that President Hoover's recent attempt to prevent Washington correspondents from sending out any more "human interest" stories about the president and his official family will be much of a success. The American public has a justifiable curiosity about the occupants of the White House, and there are some extremely gifted correspondents in Washington who devote themselves to satisfying that curiosity.

The light of publicity that beats upon the presidency is extremely bright, and it is not hard to understand how a president can get tired of it. But there is no escape from it. It goes with the job, and until the American bump of curiosity subsides a good deal it always will. Mr. Hoover, like his predecessors, will probably discover sooner or later that there is nothing much to do but grin and bear it.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE RIFLE THAT WAS SENTENCED TO DEATH—In an involuntary homicide case involving Squire Drun, Judge Hopfer (or Hopper) sitting in the Sheriff's Court at Edinburgh in 1782, absolved the squire but convicted the rifle with which the deed was perpetrated. The sentence of the court was that the life of the rifle be forfeited to the Crown, and in addition a monetary fine was assessed against the unlucky firearm. The rifle was publicly destroyed in conformity with the sentence.

Mr. Miller has worn them at least once a week ever since he purchased them, and has worn them every day for the last four years—but they remain in good condition and are good for long wear yet.

"MARY FAITH" by Beatrice Burton

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

Mary Faith, young and comely fiancee of Kimberly Farrell, handsome blond youth just out of law school, leaves her position as secretary to the wealthy Mark Nesbit to marry "Kim."

Arriving late, due to Kim's delay, Mary Faith is greeted coolly by Mrs. Farrell. Suddenly there is a crash and scream from the kitchen and Kim calls to Mary Faith.

CHAPTER IV

Somehow his mother had managed to knock the coffee pot off the stove while she was taking the fried eggs from the pan. Streams of pale brown liquid were running down her arms and the front of her gray silk dress when Mary Faith opened the kitchen door.

The coffee pot lay on its side on the floor.

"My arms—oh, my poor arms," she was sobbing hysterically. "Oh, my arms—" She began to moan, rolling her large head from side to side.

Kim was trying to roll her sleeves back from her wrists.

"She's scalded herself," he said, "with that red-hot stuff—"

"It wasn't red-hot, thank goodness!" Mary Faith broke in. "She had set it on the fire just two minutes ago. It couldn't have been very hot. I was afraid she'd burn herself with the grease out of that pan. That would have been terrible. . . . I'll get some baking soda. There's nothing like it for burns."

She flung open the door of the untidy little cupboard above the sink. When she found the soda and swung around with the little blue box in her hands, Mrs. Ferrell was trying to push Kim away from her.

"No, you don't have to do anything for me!" she was telling him, her voice shrill and shaken with sobs. "You've heard what she said—that coffee wasn't hot. And you believe her! You think I screamed for nothing, I suppose, both of you!"

She flattened both her hands against his chest and freed herself from him.

"I want you to let me alone!" she cried, pushing past him on her way to the kitchen door.

She stopped there an instant, looking back at him with streaming eyes.

"This is the way things will always be now in this place—her word against mine! I tell you I won't stand it. I won't stay here! I'll go down to Lucy's and live there—" Her words were lost in a storm of loud sobs.

She slammed the door of the kitchen as she went out. Then after a half minute they heard the door of her bedroom slam.

Her face scarlet, Mary Faith bent over and picked up the coffee pot.

"Kim, you can feel it yourself," she said, holding it out to him. "It's warm, that's all. But I'm sorry I said anything about it. Only I was glad she wasn't badly burned. Do you think it would help matters if I went into her room and apologized to her?"

Kim shook his blond head.

"Better let her alone," he said shortly.

He stood, leaning against the wall, and watched Mary Faith wipe up the puddle of the coffee from the floor with a damp gray rag that she found on a nail under the sink.

When she had finished she came close to him and took one of his hands in hers. She held it tight, twisting his big fingers around her slender ones.

"Kim, when we're married and I'm living here," she said, looking down at them, "things like this won't happen. I won't let them happen. I'll make your mother like me."

Kim gave a worried laugh.

"You'll have your troubles," he said, and then she added: "She'd be just like this with any girl I wanted to marry. It isn't you she dislikes. . . . She just doesn't want me to get married."

Mary Faith knew that what he said was true.

Kim's mother had divorced his father when Kim was a little boy. With her alimony she had brought him up and educated him for the law. He had been, and still was, her whole life.

When Kim was 24 his father died and the alimony stopped. But by that time he had a position in the law offices of McIntrae & Westover in the City Bank building downtown and was earning enough money to keep himself and his mother.

He was still with McIntrae & Westover and he was making twice the salary that he had made when he started to work for them.

His mother was very proud of him. She didn't want to give him up.

She made no secret of the fact that she did not want Kim to marry for several years. She was ambitious for him and his career. Once or twice, in Mary Faith's presence, she had reminded him that "he travels the farthest who travels alone."

"Isn't it a funny thing that when two women love a man they almost always hate each other?" Mary Faith asked now, her hands on Kim's shoulders. "Not that I hate your mother. I could love her, because she's your mother, if she'd let me. . . . But she hates me, doesn't she?"

"Tonight, you drove her home," she said. "That's why you were late, wasn't it?"

For answer he shrugged his shoulders. Then he turned away, emptied his tobacco into the sink strainer and dropped his pipe into his jacket pocket.

"My appetite's gone," he announced sullenly, "but I'll take you somewhere for a bite if you're hungry. There's the barbecue over on Fifth street and the tearoom down at the corner. Where do you want to go?"

"I don't want to eat if you don't," Mary Faith said quietly, shaking her head. "Please get my hat and coat—they're in your mother's room, Kim—and I'll go home. You stay here with her."

"No. I'll take you home."

They finally wound up, the two of them, by going back to Mrs. Puckett's and having their dinner there.

It was 3 o'clock by the time they got there and the dining room was almost empty. It seemed very cosy and peaceful with a coal fire burning in the grate and the hum of voices coming in to them from the parlor on the other side of the hall.

"Mary Faith, I've been thinking over something that you said a while ago," Kim remarked over the pot roast and browned potatoes that Agnes, the red-headed waitress, set before him.

He frowned down at his plate as he spoke. "You said that two women who care for the same man usually hate each other. . . . Well, I think there's a lot of truth in that. There's a girl at the office—just a kid, really—I've driven her home in my car once or twice—and tonight—"

"And tonight you drove her

Have we had the pleasure of serving you through our Washington Information bureau? Can't we be of some help to you in your problems? Our business is to furnish you with authoritative information, and we invite you to ask us any question of fact in which you are interested. Send your inquiry to the Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Enclose two cents in coin or stamps for return postage.

Q.—Can you give the meaning of a cross and circle which is chalked on a wall by a tramp or vagabond? J. P. B.

A.—The symbols employed by tramps are a form of sign language. For example, the cross means that the place so indicated is "good for a handout." This is generally a gate sign. The circle designates coins, and places so marked indicate that money is sometimes obtained there.

Q.—How many miles of streets are there in a city covering a square mile?—A. W. D.

Q.—What is Peter Arno's real name?—W. C. C.

A.—Curtis A. Peters Jr.

Q.—When was the French foreign legion established and how many members has it at the present time? —M. G. K.

A.—The French foreign legion recently celebrated its 100th anniversary. It was established in 1831 and at present there are approximately 20,000 members.

Q.—What percentage of the total world production of oil does the United States have?—C. L. F.

A.—The percentage of the United States is 63.3 per cent of the total oil production.

Q.—Just where is the Empire State building located? How large is the plot of ground it covers and how long was it in building?—J. K.

A.—The Empire State building is on Fifth avenue and 34th street, New York City. The plot is 197.5 feet by 424.95 feet. It was 19 months in construction from the razing of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, the site of which it occupies, to the completion of the mooring mast.

Q.—What do a. m. and p. m. stand for?—W. A. S.

A.—A. m. stands for the Latin words, ante meridiem, and p. m. for post meridiem. Hours are marked a. m. from midnight until noon, p. m. from noon until midnight. M. marks the hour at noon.

Q.—Where in the United States have the most fossil remains been found?—C. B.

A.—The single district where more different types of fossil remains have been found than any other is the district within the city limits of Los Angeles, Calif., known as LaBrea pits. LaBrea is a Spanish word meaning "the tar" and these pits are so called because of a large yield of tar which comes from them, in which the remains of a large number of prehistoric animals were embedded. Apparently the tar ensnared these animals at the time it was formed and the bones are in a remarkable state of preservation in many cases.

Q.—How did the controversy concerning Yap terminate?—C. H.

On Feb. 11, 1922, a treaty embodying the agreement was signed. By the terms of this treaty the island of Yap remains a Japanese mandate, but the United States is permitted the use of one cable.

Q.—What is Mothering Sunday? —E. S. R.

A.—Mothering Sunday, which is entirely distinct from Mother's day, is an old church holiday of England, occurring the fourth Sunday in Lent. It was customary for a baptised person to revisit on this Sunday, if possible, the church where he was baptised, and also boys and girls away from their parents made efforts to revisit them on this day, carrying with them a gift, which usually took the form of Simnel cakes, which formed the chief refreshment. This practice is almost obsolete at the present time.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Desserts

Judge Kathryn Sellers, of the juvenile court of the District of Columbia, contributes to this culinary symposium a recipe for apple butter roll or pudding that well might reform any youthful delinquent if he were told he might have this delectable dessert as a reward for being good. On the other hand, pantries have been raided for pies and things that were not half so tempting as this one sounds.

Judge Sellers is but one of scores of prominent women who have contributed favorite recipes to this booklet on desserts. Every hostess will want a copy. Use this coupon in ordering and enclose ten cents in coin or stamps for cost and postage.

SUIT TO DELAY U. S. BUILDING

Duncan Project Awaits Condemnation

Special to The Record News

DUNCAN, Okla., July 22.—Court action to condemn one of eight lots picked for the site of the proposed Duncan postoffice may delay beginning of work on the building, it is feared here.

The treasury department has announced that the property at the southeast corner of Eighth street and Willow avenue, just south of the present postoffice, has been selected as the site of the new building.

The property is owned by W. L. Brittain, Oklahoma City; F. C. Carter, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Ben Green, Oklahoma City; and M. E. Clark, Duncan real estate man. The property owned by Brittain, Carter and Mrs. Green was offered for $14,750, and the offer accepted. The department announced condemnation proceedings would be filed to acquire the lot owned by Clark, since the price is considered excessive.

Postmaster Ben Ridge said effort would be made to effect a compromise in an effort to avoid the delay of court action.

An appropriation of $125,000 for purchase of a site and construction of a building is available. Plans for the building are now being drawn at Washington and it is expected that contractors will be asked to submit bids soon, Ridge said.

H. H. Pearlman Named on Electra C.-C. Board

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, July 22.—At the luncheon of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce Tuesday, H. H. Pearlman of the Manhattan store was elected as a member of the board to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of R. S. Cox.

Representatives of the Lions and Rotary clubs appeared before the board asking that arrangements be made for the stores to close one hour or one and one-half hours early on the afternoon of Aug. 4 when a baseball game for the benefit of the milk fund will be played between the two clubs. The matter was referred to the mercantile bureau of which G. R. Davidson is chairman.

TEXAS RAIL INCOME DROPS

Roads Report Slump in Operating Revenues

AUSTIN, July 22. (INS)—Operating revenues of Texas railroads decreased $18,296,825 in the five months period ended May 31, 1931, as compared to the same period a year ago, according to a report by the Texas railroad commission.

Total operating revenues for this year, up to May 31, were $66,990,-962. The total for the same period in 1930 was $85,287,387, a per cent decrease of 21.45.

Passenger revenues suffered the greatest percentage decline, being off 30.97 per cent, from $9,153,783 to $6,318,871. The largest monetary loss, however, was in freight revenues, which declined from $68,762,-261 to $53,903,024, a loss of $14,859,-237.

No division showed an increase.

Operating expenses were sharply curtailed in keeping with this loss, the report indicated, the decline being from $89,986,590 in 1930 to $54,-327,237 in 1931.

Bartering Practiced In Tillman County

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., July 22.—Low price of farm products and scarcity of money has caused considerable barter in this community. A local mattress manufacturer agrees to make a new mattress for six bushels of wheat. A Frederick painter advertises to paint a car or anything else and allow the following prices for farm products: Wheat, a bushel, 40 cents; oats, a bushel, 25 cents; alfalfa hay, a ton, $10.

A few weeks ago a farmer southwest of Frederick erected a granary with a capacity of around 10,-000 bushels. He paid carpenters a dollar a day and two bushels of wheat.

'Last Man' Hears Another Roll Call After Silent Toast Is Proposed

STILLWATER, Minn., July 22. (AP)—Another roll call of the last man's club of company B, first Minnesota volunteers, Grand Army of the Republic, had but one answer last night.

Though the life of the club was officially ended one year ago when Charles M. Lockwood of Chamberlain, S. D., the last man, opened the bottles of burgundy wine and drank the last toast to his 33 dead comrades, the roll call ceremony and toast was solemnly repeated here on the 45th anniversary of the founding of the club and the 70th anniversary of the battle of Bull Run.

In the presence of other civil war veterans and members of the veterans of foreign wars, Captain Lockwood stood stiffly at attention, facing 33 black-draped chairs. He heard proposed a silent toast to his comrades of the past. He heard the unanswerable names on the roll call. He heard a bugle blow "Taps."

With no sentimentality and few signs of his 89 years of age, he said simply the occasion made him sad, but that it was one he could not miss if alive.

New Mexico Railway Seeks to Quit Operating

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—The Rio Grande Eastern railway, operating from Hagan, Sandoval county, New Mexico, to Hagan junction, applied to the Interstate Commerce commission today for permission to abandon its 13-mile line. The road was built to serve a coal mine which no longer is operated.

Electran Pays Fine For Theft of Oats

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, July 22.—An Electran was fined in justice of the peace court by Judge W. H. Coffman recently on a charge of theft of some oats. The man was said to have been placing the oats in his car when he was discovered by the farmer who owned the oats. The man made his escape, came to town, and later reported to police that his car had been stolen off the streets.

The farmer watched the car and finally reported to officials. The Electran at first denied the charges and planned to fight the case. Later he decided to plead guilty and was fined, Judge Coffman stated.

ACID causes Headaches

When there's too much acid in your stomach, you must force yourself to work, and even pleasures are too great an effort. Appetite lags; the digestion is poor; the whole system suffers.

Laboratory tests show an acid condition is due to errors in our modern diet. But you need not wait to diet your way out of the trouble!

This will neutralize the excess acid instantly; make you feel like a new person in just a few moments.

Take a little whenever heartburn, sick headaches, nausea, flatulence, indigestion or biliousness show the digestive system is becoming too acid. Whenever you are taking cold or feel sluggish, weak, constipated. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia has a gentle, laxative action.

Delightful to take. Endorsed by physicians for 50 years and prescribed everywhere for men, women and children. It always bears the name Phillips for your protection. —Adv.

Americans Abroad To Have Parts in Feb. 22 Broadcast

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—A chorus swelled by Americans in distant lands and at home as the music is broadcast round the world is the climax planned by local George Washington bicentennial commission for the capital's celebration at noon, Feb. 22.

President Hoover will be asked to inaugurate ceremonies at the base of the Washington monument. The local committee announced today that it hopes "My Country 'Tis of Thee," broadcast from the monument grounds, would be sung by Americans everywhere.

Walter Damrosch, the conductor, will lead the singing. Massed bands will respond in the accompaniment to the veteran leader, John Philip Sousa.

President Hoover is expected to address the crowd including American officials, foreign diplomatic representatives, members of the Washington family, and delegations from states, Indian tribes, and school children.

A Mighty Sale! Presenting Dramatic Values

How Long Can Prices Stay as Low as They Are Now?

With the present price of raw material and the chaotic condition of manufacturing industry—most assuredly prices cannot remain at such a low level much longer.

Surplus stocks of both the manufacturers and retailers have practically been disposed of and goods cannot be manufactured today at such low prices—and when business gets on the up grade, prices are sure to go higher.

We urge you to buy now! If you do not buy from us—then buy from some one else—but take advantage of today's low price epoch.

We don't expect you to buy just for the sake of spending money, although it's a fact that money circulates with profit to everyone, but economic people are buying now because they recognize that these lowest prices in more than a decade are not likely to occur for another decade.

Picnic Days

The dictionary suggests that the word "picnic" comes from "pick" plus "knick" from knicknacks, meaning the serving of a lot of stray foods in the knicknack class, and this gives a very good idea of the old-fashioned picnic when a great conglomeration of mixtures was consumed, running all the way from potato salad and sardines to pickled watermelon. After such a meal everybody was ready for a long nap under the nearest tree. The worst part of such a picnic is that you felt out of sorts for two or three days afterwards.

A picnic should offer us a good way to get out of doors and enjoy a complete change of scene. A day spent away from your everyday cares will often send you home refreshed and practically made over. However, all the good a picnic does will be lost if you burden yourself down with an ordinary picnic lunch. So many picnics turn out to be marathon eating contests.

The best plan when packing a picnic lunch is to prepare one made of good combinations. Keep your picnic meals simple. In this way you will get the benefit of a picnic and none of the miseable after effects.

A picnic lunch should be and may be combined as healthfully as any meal eaten at home. You may plan three kinds of picnic lunches. The first is to be taken along ready to be unpacked and eaten. The second picnic is planned so that the whole meal is cooked right there on the spot. The third picnic is a combination of some of the food already prepared and some which must be cooked after arrival.

Always plan your picnic lunch ahead of time and pack the food so that it does not dry out and is not spoiled or crushed. A good picnicker never forgets anything. Before leaving home check over the articles and be sure you are taking knives, spoons, cups, matches, butter, salt and a can opener, and if necessary add a road map, drinking water and kindling. You may also want to take some fruit juice or fruit for the middle of the afternoon.

When you go on a picnic it is a good plan to have a thermos bottle, also paper dishes and napkins. Here are a few suggestions for picnickers:

No. 1.—Ready to eat. Plain sandwiches made out of wholewheat bread with cheese, sardine or peanut buttter fillings. Also make a few vegetables sandwiches, using ground cucumbers, chopped ripe olives, celery and lettuce. The sandwiches should be wrapped in waxed cake paper to prevent them from drying. Also, take some vegetable, such as celery and lettuce in a moist cloth. Olives may be added and potato chips. You should also take along some hot vegetable or vegetable stew in a thermos bottle ready to serve.

No. 2.—To be cooked on the picnic grounds. One of the most appetizing and quickly prepared foods are chops, which may be broiled over the coals. Take along some whole cucumbers, tomatoes and lettuce wrapped in a damp cloth. Also warm up some tasty non-starchy vegetables, such as carrots, beets, string beans, etc. Instead of the chops you may use chicken or ham, both of which come in convenient cans which may be quickly opened and the contents warmed over the fire.

No. 3.—Try taking a good beef stew with plenty of vegetables or braised sirloin tips. Add a warm vegetable and raw salad.

Any one who has been out on a real picnic, breathing deeply of the fresh air, recharging the human battery in the sun and restful shade, partaking of wholesome food with a grateful appetite, will return to his every day life healthier, happier and better in every way.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dry Skin

Question—M. R. writes: "My skin is very dry and chapped looking. My mother has never allowed me to use anything on it, telling me that I would ruin my face if I didn't let nature alone. A am allowed only soap and water, as my mother insists that natural methods are best. But I just can't see anything 'natural' in soap, which burns and stings. What do you say?"

Answer—Dry skin is benefited by the application of a good cold cream, cocoa butter, olive oil or almond oil. In over-dry skin the circulation is not normal, and the cells are starving for fat or lubricating oil. Any exercise which tends to quicken the circulation of the skin, such as slapping, will tend to bring on the normal secretion of oil, providing your diet is well balanced. An extra quantity of oils and fats may be added to the diet with beneficial results.

Craving for Liquor

Question—Mrs. B. J. asks: "Will you please suggest some method to overcome an abnormal craving for liquor?"

Answer—A short fruit fast for a few days will positively eliminate any craving for liquor. If one wishes to stop drinking, he will find it very easy to control himself after the cleansing effect of a fruit fast.

Itchy Ear

Question—H. G. asks: "What would cause my ear to become itchy and dry, with hardened ear wax?"

Answer—When the wax in your ear becomes hardened, and the inside of the ear becomes itchy, dry and scaley, it is usually an indication of eczema of the ear. If this is not the case, you can doubtless get over your trouble by putting some olive oil in your ear each night for a week, wiping it out each morning with a clean cloth. This will soften the wax and help to restore a normal, healthy condition of the ear membranes.

Weather Bulletin for Week in Oklahoma

WASHINGTON, July 22. (UP)—Weekly weather report issued today for Oklahoma by the United States department of agriculture said:

"The week in general was favorable to cotton. Moderate temperatures were the rule in the belt except in more eastern portions and showers occurred in generous amounts in nearly all sections. There were some damages reported by excessive rains.

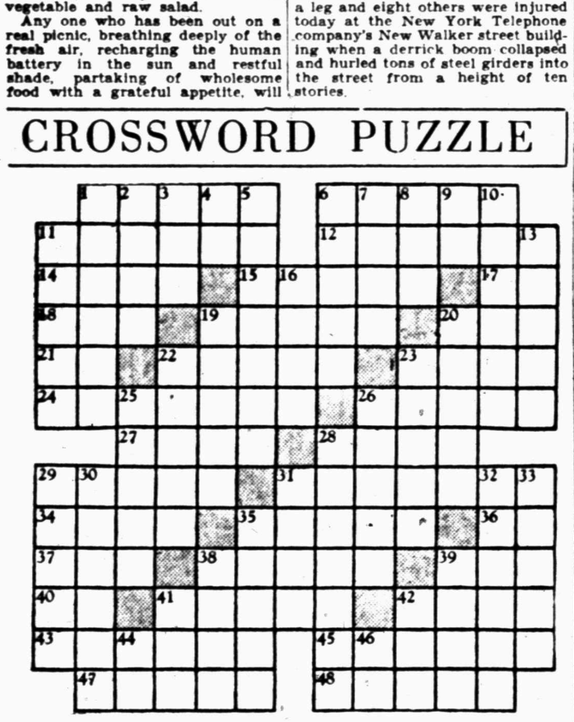

"In Oklahoma, plants are growing and fruiting satisfactorily, except in some dry areas of the central and west.

"In the central states showers were favorable, except where rainfall was excessive in some southern districts and where too much moisture is causing rank growth in parts of Arkansas. Also the weather in some sections has been rather favorable for weevil activity."

One Dead, One Injured In Derrick Collapse

NEW YORK, July 22. (INS)—One man was killed, another lost a leg and eight others were injured today at the New York Telephone company's New Walker street building when a derrick boom collapsed and hurled tons of steel girders into the street from a height of ten stories.

Sterling Pressed to Introduce Matters

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, July 22.—Members of the legislature have begun pressing upon Governor Sterling their requests that he submit special and general matters for emergency action at this session.

William Strause, Houston philanthropist and sponsor of the new state child welfare agency, conferred with Governor Sterling here, and was joined by state officials and legislators, proposing the transfer of child welfare funds from the health board to the new child welfare division. Negotiations also were to be made to get federal money matched with state funds.

The child welfare division was set up, but appropriations had not been made.

The senate fee investigating committee and Travis and Williamson county lawmakers were to present to Governor Sterling the proposal, already supported by the governor and Atty. Gen. Allred, of providing an additional court at Austin to try state cases whose venue is fixed in the county. The legislators favored and asked an Austin bar committee to join in, sponsoring Mr. Graves' plan of making Judge Harry Dolan's Williamson county district court serve Travis county, too. This would not open up the subject of creating new courts.

Representative I. J. Burns was to ask Governor Sterling to comply with the wishes of San Saba county citizens for the repeal of an unwanted fish law.

Senator Walter G. Woodward will, it was stated, ask minor corrections in the new court procedure laws to make clear that those dealing with civil matters do not complicate procedure in criminal cases.

There was possibility that revision of the fee laws may be proposed, including the substitution of salaries for fees of local officers, so as to avoid another two-year delay in making this change.

Congressional redistricting was assured submission during this term of the legislature. Governor Sterling also was to be asked to submit an ancillary bill providing that, if redistricting failed, the candidates for the three places as congressman-at-large be required to run for specific places, so as to have run-off primaries and require plurality nomination, as for other offices. This had vigorous support of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Possible change of the scholastic census law to base the scholastic county on which the state pays $17.50 per capita to actual enrollment rather than an attempted census count, was seen. The count in many counties runs one and a half times as high as enrollment; but in other counties the schools serve more pupils than they are paid for.

Lions Club Urged To Back Valley Tour

Experimental methods employed at the state agricultural experiment station near Iowa Park were discussed by C. H. McDowell, manager, before members of the Lions club at the Wichita club Wednesday noon.

The speaker also urged members of the club to aid in promoting the tour of the irrigated valley which is to be held Friday under the direction of the Junior chamber of commerce.

The program included several vocal numbers by R. E. Shepherd, tenor, and MacGregor Brown, baritone, accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd, and a duet by Miss Sarah Virginia Bancroft and George Napier, accompanied by Miss Margaret Bone. Marvin Pierce announced the operetta to be given at the Country Club estates field office Thursday evening by members of the Young People's Fellowship of the Church of the Good Shepherd.

Injured Baby in Critical Condition

The condition of Mabel Voelter, 10-months-old daughter of Mrs. Hettie Voelter of Anderson, Texas, remained grave at the Wichita Falls Clinc hospital here Wednesday.

The child sustained a fractured skull Monday in an automobile accident near Rhome. Other occupants of the car, the baby's mother, Clarence Best, George Voelter and Mrs. Fritz Voelter, were less seriously injured. They were en route from Anderson to Wichita Falls to visit relatives here.

NEEDS GOGGLES

Moscow Elevator Pilot, Flustered by Shaw, Lands Badly

MOSCOW, July 22. (AP)—The first Russian to be overcome by the fame of George Bernard Shaw, who is here seeing Moscow under the Soviet was an elevator operator in his hotel. Flustered by his distinguished passenger, the operator made a bad landing five feet below the ground floor and the car jammed.

For five minutes G. B. S. fumed. So did Lady Astor, his fellow passenger. Finally they were rescued by a couple of American newspaper men, who pulled them to freedom through a narrow aperture.

MARY FAITH

home," she said. "That's why you were late, wasn't it?"

Kim nodded, helping himself to red currant jelly.

"She lives out this way," he explained. "Well, anyway, I told her that I was thinking about getting married and—gosh, but I certainly was surprised at the way she took it—" He stopped again, struggling to find words for what he was trying to tell her.

She saw him struggling and came to his help.

"I can imagine how she took it," she said with the peculiar second-sight of the woman who is in love. "She probably told you that she cared for you herself, and hated the girl you were going to marry . . . Wasn't that it?"

His bload head jerked in a quick nod.

"That was just about it," he admitted. "But I didn't know until tonight that she felt that way about it. I swear I didn't."

"Did you spend last Sunday with her, Kim?"

He was silent for a minute. And when he finally did open his lips to answer Mary Faith stopped him.

"No. Never mind. Don't tell me any more about her, Kim," she said. "It makes me unhappy to hear about her."

She was not going to be like Mrs. Dan Bassett, she reminded herself for the second time that night. She wasn't going to start now to be jealous and suspicious . . . If Kim didn't care for her he surely would not have asked her to marry him on the first of October, would he? He must have known this girl who worked in his office a long time.

She leaned forward and emptied the little glass dish of currant jelly on his plate. Like most men, Kim had a sweet tooth.

"Women will always make a great fuss over you, Kim. It's your fatal beauty," she chaffed him, smiling across the table into his eyes. "I've just made up my mind not to pay any attention to them. I'm going to be a good wife, but I absolutely refuse to be a jealous one."

At 9 o'clock she sent him home to his mother.

"She's sure to be feeling blue and down-hearted," she told him when he had finished his coffee and was hunting through his pockets for a cigaret, "and it will cheer her up to have you come home early. After all, Kim, it must be hard for a woman to give up her only son—and that's what she thinks she's doing."

HARD SOFT CORNS

Gone In 4 Days
Roots and All

Out to stay out—selling like hot cakes in Great Britain and now in America—the pleasant, easy way to get rid of corns—a joyous, refreshing, invigorating foot bath for 3 or 4 nights and then lift out the corn—roots and all.

They call this miracle worker Radox and since it has been working wonders with the bad feet of the tight little Isles—plasters and acids, cutting and skin destroying liquid belong to the dark ages.

It's the modern way—the sensible way to take out corns—to abolish callouses—to dissolve the hard skin from heels and toes and to put your feet in good vigorous condition so that you can walk and run and jump and dance with ease and pleasure.

Just ask for a box of Radox at Allison Drug store or any modern drugstore—you'll be delighted.—Adv.

MR. A'S NAME IS SHORTEST

Chicago Man Puts End To National Dispute

CHICAGO, July 22. (AP)—A. A of Chicago today finished what J. Ur of Torrington, Conn., recently started—claim to the world's shortest name.

Mr. Ur's claim to fame followed the death last Monday of H. P. Re of Coldwater, Mich. The shortest name distinction was claimed for him by his friends, but Mr. Ur contended he had but one initial, and thus was the real champion.

C. Ek and J. Ek, brothers of Duluth, promptly entered the lists as co-champions. Mrs. V. Ek, not to be outdone, claimed not only the women's title but the mixed doubles championship. A former Duluth policeman said his name was C. Sy.

Then Fairmount, Minn., entered E. Py, farmer; Clinton, Iowa, put forward C. Au, J. Au and W. Au, triple threats; Indiana offered Ed Py, inmate of Newcastle jail, and Indianapolis made a poor try with Fix Ax.

Mr. A of Chicago quietly waited until just before the entries closed: His name really is Aaron A, but he likes the distinctiveness of A. A, the world's shortest name, the name that leads all others in the Chicago telephone directory, alphabetically as well as longitudinally.

Texas Ex-Rangers Open Christoval Convention

SAN ANGELO, Texas, July 22. (AP)—Forty-three delegates had registered for the Texas ex-rangers gathering here and at Christoval today. A talk of the proposed monument to early-day rangers featured informal discussions. A barbecue at Christoval today at noon was attended by about 125 persons. W. D. Holcombe, former mayor here, welcomed the visitors, and J. B. Gillette of Marfa responded.

WALES' 'BRIDES' MAKE BIG LIST

British Prince Keeps Book Of His 'Fiancees'

By C. T. WATSON
Universal Service Correspondent

LONDON, July 22.—Ever since Prince of Wales was 18 gossips have been busy foretelling his matrimonial intentions.

Rumor followed rumor. At first they amused the prince, then they annoyed him; now he is taking them philosophically.

In fact, in his library at York house, St. Jomes, there is a large volume containing clippings from newspapers which have reported his betrothal.

The book is unofficially known as "The Prince's Book of Brides." Occupying many pages, it records in all languages his mythical brides-to-be.

The earliest story is dated 1912, and recounts with all the suggestion of authority that the heir to the British throne would shortly wed the Princess Victoria Louise, only daughter of the German kaiser.

There never was the slightest possibility of such a marriage, particularly at that time when relations between Britain and Germany were strained.

Two other projected romances of the Prince of Wales concerned the Grand Duchess Olga, eldest daughter of the late czar of Russia, and the Grand Duchess Tatiani, the czar's second daughter. The latter was nearer the truth than most of the guesses. The tragedy at Ekaterinberg, when the Russian royal family was slain, robbed the prince of a most probable consort.

After the war there followed a long succession of brides-to-be, but not to be. The prophecy concerning Princess Yolanda of Italy was a little premature. There had been diplomatic talks about it, but the young couple's views apparently did not coincide with those of the diplomats.

Princess Giovanna of Italy was next talked about. Her name is in the book. But now she is the consort of King Boris of Bulgaria.

Even the prince's cousins in Sweden and the daughters of his father's cusin in Rumania have been talked of as "possible," only to be denied. Princess Juliana of Holland was also mentioned.

There is one gasoline filling station for every 134 people in Mississippi. The annual consumption is 140,000,000 gallons.

JUDGES RULE DRAW AFTER WALKER BATTERS SAILOR MAN

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Ten Thousand Swedes

Have you ever heard the famous epic of the battle of Copenhagen? Here's how it goes:

Ten thousand Swedes
Ran through the weeds
Chased by one Norwegian.
The dust from the weeds
Made snuff for the Swedes
At the battle of Copenhagen.

There was considerable discussion of the pome recently in the Chicago Tribune. A reader, it seems, had forgotten the last three lines, and wrote the "Voice of the People" department. His letter was answered by another reader, who supplied the text above.

Still another contributor on the subject furnished the story that Oberlander, great Dartmouth halfback of six or seven years ago, used to recite the first three lines of the pome at critical stages of the game.

"When Oberlander crouched behind the line of scrimmage, and with his back to it, keeping the pigskin out of sight, he recited slowly and methodically the saga of the Swedes. When he finished he turned around and threw the ball to a spot. As you may recall, there was usually a Dartmouth back or end waiting for it in comfortable isolation from the enemy."

Thus wrote the contributor to the Tribune. Whether true or not, the story is very colorful. It would be grand if our Spudders could hit upon some high-sounding pome similar to the Swedish saga, for recitation at the plate—maybe it would help them hit the ball where there was NOT any one to catch it.

We are suffering with inspiration and offer herewith a suggestion:

Ten thousand heaves
Went through the breeze
Old Buck, at the plate, got set.
When the ball cut the breeze
He hit it to Burkburnett.

Of course, that's about as farfetched as the story that one Norwegian chased ten thousand Swedes. For one thing, if 10,000 people came out to Athletic park, the Spudder officials would be the ones to heave sighs of relief.

Hospital Report

Close on the heels of the report that Dizzy Dean suffered an attack of appendicitis comes the rumor that Tom "Muleshoe" Vaughn, star pitcher of the Beaumont Exporters, is ailing.

Well, it appears that both the Exporters and the Buffs are making excellent preparations for their first half play-off—in the way of alibis.

The play-off starts Saturday. If the Buffs lose they can point to Dean's appendicitis and say, "There." If the Exporters lose they can refer indignant fans to Muleshoe's indigestion or something.

The report anent Vaughn, however, lacked confirmation. The probability is that old Muleshoe is as hard as nails. It is also probable that Dean, as we said in this corner yesterday, didn't have appendicitis at all, but merely a boyish tummy ache.

Believe It or Not

"Black Bill" Harris, traded last week by Galveston to Fort Worth, could have pitched for both teams last Saturday night.

Fort Worth was at Galveston for a night double-header. Galveston's deal with the Cats stipulated that Harris was to be traded for Pitcher Bednar, Outfielder Larry Cox and $4,000 in cash, and that the deal was to take effect Saturday at midnight.

So Harris could have pitched the first game of the double-header for Galveston, and could have worked in the late innings of the nightcap for Fort Worth.

Extra innings in both games would, of course, have been necessary. But both did go into extra innings, Thormahlen winning the first game in 14 innings, and Thurman winning the second in eight. If the second had gone 14 innings also, Harris, without even changing uniforms, could have left the Galveston dugout and walked to the hill for the Cats, for the chances are it would have been after midnight by then.

Clearing It Up

Jess Smith of Walters, Okla., is as confused at my answer to a baseball question he asked, as I was at the question.

The other day he wrote: If the batter hits a ball, and the ball hits him and rolls into fair territory, is it fair or foul?".

We presume he means that the ball originally was fair an answered that batter was out if hit by the ball, and that it didn't make any difference where the ball rolled. Smith wants to know the rule upon which we base the interpretation. Section 12 of rule 49, and its footnote, cover the batter being out when struck by his own fair hit ball. If the batter was struck by a foul ball, and the ball rolled fair, the batter is not out.

Poster Advertisers and Katy Fight to 5-5 Tie

The Wichita Poster Advertisers and Katy Railroaders battled to a 5 to 5 deadlock Wednesday afternoon on Scott street diamond in a play-off of their last Sunday's rainout game. It was a pretty battle all the way between Holmes for Katy and Lynch for Posters. Lynch never allowed an earned run and costly errors in the infield behind him paved the way for his downfall.

Pecan Advertising Drive Planned in West Texas

BALLINGER, Texas, July 22. (AP)—A plan for advertising pecans by the National Pecan Marketing association is now being worked out, according to H. G. Lucas of Brownwood, president.

Lucas was here to invite the pecan growers of the section to meet with the West Texas Pecan Growers association in Brownwood on July 25.

CROWD AMAZED AT DECISION

Even Referee Gives Mickey 11 of 15 Rounds

By DAMON RUNYON
(Copyt., 1931, by Universal Service, Inc.)

EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN, July 22.—A draw, said the judges, at the close of a terrific 15-round battle between Mickey Walker "the human bulldog," and Jack Sharkey, ex-sailor of Boston, at Ebbets field tonight, in the annual boxing show for the benefit of the New York milk fund.

A crowd estimated at around 30,000 sat stupified as Peter Pruntey, the announcer, intoned the decision. Probably the majority of those who witnessed the astounding stand of the marvelous little fighting man from New Jersey against the chap the New York boxing commission calls the foremost American heavyweight, thought Walker won.

Arthur Donovan, the referee, stood leaning in a corner, his face as white as chalk and his eyes staring at the newspaper men below him with a bewildered expression. He said he thought Walker won 11 of the 15 rounds, which was the way most of the scribes scored the battle.

George Kelly, one of the judges, gave the fight to Sharkey. Charles Mathison, the other judge, called it a draw. Donovan's decision was for Walker, and under the New York system that figures out a draw.

Fought Against Odds

But the decision cannot deprive the mighty little gladiator from the skeeter state of his place in the heavyweight sun. He spotted Sharkey 29 pounds in weight and four inches in height, and carried the fight to Sharkey every foot of the way. He had Sharkey flustered and holding, and even staggering at times.

Walker's face was masked with blood throughout the later rounds of the fight from a cut over his left eye that was so bad Donovan was peering at him closely. But Walker would only wipe the blood away with the thumb of his glove and kept wheeling leather at the burly body in front of him.

In the third round Walker staggered Sharkey with a right to the jaw. In the ninth he seemed to have Sharkey hurt with a right uppercut. Again in the 11th he had Sharkey over the ropes blocking for dear life.

I thought it was one of the most astonishing decisions ever rendered in a New York ring, and there have been some very surprising decisions hereabouts.

Kearns Gets Sore

Jack Kearns, manager of Walker, was incensed by the decision.

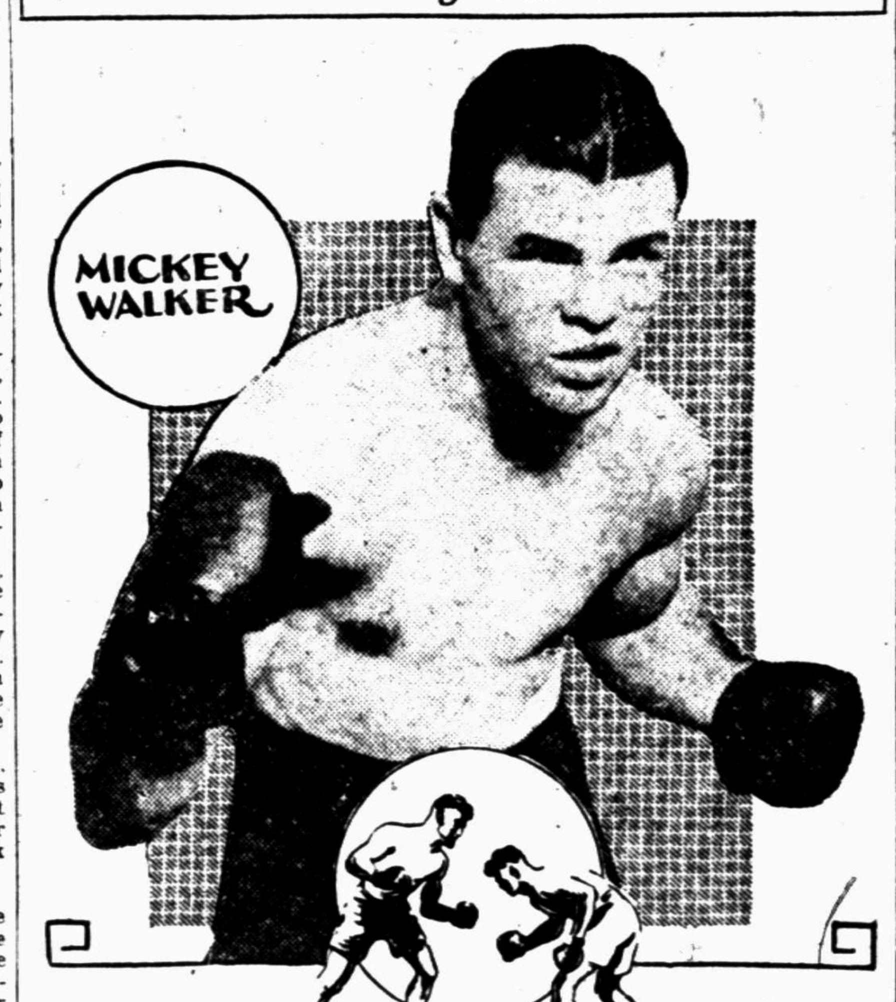

"I claim the heavyweight title," he roared at the newspaper men while his assistants were sponging off the sturdy body of the 168-pound Walker in the corner.

As the decision was announced, Sharkey trotted out of his corner and met Walker in the center of the ring, his pale blue eyes sparkling. Probably Sharkey was quite delighted with the decision. He fought the last few rounds with wild desperation, trying to plant a knockout punch on the chin of the tantalizing little fellow who danced in front of him.

Walker stood quite erect, apparently a most inviting target, but his shoulders were hunched up around his chin, and he displayed remarkable boxing skill against the man supposed to be the best boxer of all the heavies—the man who made a monkey of Schmeling for three rounds a year ago before losing on a foul.

Walker, supposed to be strictly a left hooker, did his greatest damage to Sharkey with a right uppercut, although he also connected often to Sharkey's body with the hook.

The Ring Warriors

FIGHT BY ROUNDS

By Associated Press

Round 1

Sharkey jumped across the ring and drove a left hook to Walker's shoulder and then hugged the little fellow like a big bear, squeezing a cub to her body. He drove another left hook to Walker's head and barely missed a terrific right before jumping into another clinch. Walker flew at the big fellow, putting both hands to the body and crossed his right to the chin. Sharkey grabbed him, stepped back then drove a short sharp right to the head as Mickey stormed in again. The little fellow went into a neutral corner and flailed at him with both hands. Sharkey jarred Walker into position and whipped his right flush to Walker's chin. Walker took it gamely and the bell stopped him charging back.

Round 2

Sharkey whipped two right hooks to the head and Walker wavered. He danced back and then hurled himself on the Boston man flinging both hands. The crowd roared at Mickey's courage as he crowded Sharkey, whipping a left hook to the head, driving in under the defensive. Mickey sank a left hook into Sharkey's body but Jack caught him coming in again with a sharp right uppercut to the head. Sharkey missed a straight right to the chin and again Walker dug left and right into the body. Jack drove two hard rights to the ribs as Mickey sailed in again and they clinched. Sharkey chased Walker into the ropes with two left hooks to the head but Walker refused to be pushed around and he whipped his left into Jack's body as the gong rang.

Round 3

Sharkey came out cooly, carefully jabbing with his left hand. Mickey promptly ducked and came up with a left to the sailor's body. Jack beat the little fellow along the ropes with both hands. Mickey tore back at him furiously, drove him into a corner with lefts and rights to the body, forcing Sharkey to break ground and hold. Sharkey dug a right into the body as they clinched, but again Walker chased him to the ropes with a body attack and smashed Jack full on the chin with a straight right hand. Sharkey backed away cautiously and the crowd roared at the sight of the little man forcing his big adversary to cover. Sharkey bided his time and caught Walker coming with a straight right to the head. As Mickey charged again Sharkey nailed him with a sharp short uppercut to the chin and Walker was slowing down at the bell.

Round 4

Sharkey boxed carefully but he missed with both hands as Walker ducked underneath his long arms. Sharkey tried to straighten Mickey up with jabs to the chin but Mickey ducked and nailed the big fellow with a hard left hook to the body and a chopping right to the head. Mickey forced the battle, making Sharkey miss and he slipped into close quarters to swap again with the sailor in a close body punching exchange. They clinched again as Mickey came away he whipped a left hook to the chin and dropped his right into Sharkey's body. Mickey took a half dozen left jabs on the head before he sailed in again to the sailor and they slugged furiously in a fierce exchange along the ropes as the crowd bellowed at the hot action. There was slight swelling under Sharkey's eyes as he pulled away at the bell.

Round 5

Sharkey came out carefully but he could not hit Walker. Walker bounced around and whipped his left to the head. A short right uppercut knocked Walker off his feet but he was up without a count. Mickey was caught off balance and was not hurt as he charged into Sharkey. The sailor, punching with both hands, drove Mickey across the ring. Walker seemed to be fading and a right ripped a cut on his left eye brow. Sharkey was on top of him, gaining the upper hand steadily as he flailed at Walker along the ropes. Mickey took a pounding gamely and Sharkey seem in no rush to try for a finishing punch.

Round 6

Sharkey went to his work as though he was boxing in a gymnasium, jabbing his left and crossing his right to Mickey's chin. Walker backed up, shooting his left to the body as he went, and Sharkey followed him, feeding both hands to the head. Mickey rallied along the ropes and tore in with both hands to the body but another short right opened the cut again. He blinked and brushed the blood away with his glove. Then he stormed into Sharkey with both hands flying to the body. A right bounced off Sharkey's chin on the ropes, but he hammered Walker's head in close with short vicious drives. Slowly and methodically, Sharkey jabbed with his left and waited the opening for his right. It did not come as Walker ducked and plied with his left to the body, but there was a stream of blood trickling down Mickey's left eye as the bell rang.

Round 7

Sharkey boxed his way out carefully again, dubbing with his left to the head, clinching and swapping short punches to the body, when they fell in close. They jolted each other half way round the ring in a series of clinches and Mickey sneaked his left up three times to the chin as they came away. Sharkey's expression never changed and he worked like an automaton as he plied Walker's head with lefts, forced him into the ropes and cooly waited for the chance to level the little fellow with his right hand. Mickey jabbed him out of his composure by setting on him with both hands, whipping a half dozen lefts to the body and a hard overhand right to the chin. Sharkey clinched and a short right to the head knocked Walker's mouth piece to the canvas just as the bell.

Round 8

Sharkey stuck to his waiting game to unleash his right hand but Mickey ducked. A string of bandage leaked out of Sharkey's glove and the referee stopped them to tear it off. They immediately jumped into a slugging exchange and the crowd bellowed as Mickey drove his left into Sharkey's body, crossed his right to the chin, and forced the big fellow looking twice his size to clinch. Sharkey buried a terrific uppercut under Walker's heart and Mickey Walker danced away cautiously. Sharkey jabbed carefully at Walker's injured eye, but the terrier leaped under Jack's long left to fire lefts to the body and cross his right to the head at the bell.

Round 9

Mickey slipped in close and drove his short stubby arms into Sharkey's body. Jack tried to hold him and Walker nailed him with a fierce right uppercut to the chin. Mickey launched a terrific offensive, battering Sharkey's big body with both hands, driving him across the ring with rights to the head and the crowd roared at the sight of the little fellow outpunching the big man. Sharkey seemed hurt, but he took it complacently, walking to a pabbing retreat, and waiting for Walker to come to him. Mickey landed a left hook smack on Sharkey's jaw. The Sailor held, and it was an inglorious sight for the big man as little Cickey roughed him at the bell.

Round 10

Sharkey came out with his right glove over his chin to protect him from Mickey's punishing left hooks. They clinched and Walker promptly shifted to a straight right that bounced off Sharkey's chin and then thudded into his body. The big fellow fought strictly on the defensive, jabbing perfunctorily with his left as little Mickey worried after him like the bull dog they named him, driving into Sharkey with lefts to the body. Walker drove his right to the body and Sharkey missed a right uppercut as a raw amateur would. They went from one clinch to another with Sharkey doing most of the holding, trying to sneak over his right with Walker plugging steadily at his body, up to the bell.

Round 11

Sharkey came out and clinched but he tried to speed up, diving into Mickey with left hooks to the head. Walker tied him up easily and fired both hands to the body as Sharkey tried to get away. Coming out of a clinch, Mickey fired a right into Sharkey's head, whipped a left hook to the body and forced the big sailor to hold him desperately in a tight embrace. Walker drove Sharkey into the ropes and hammered both hands to the chin as the crowd went mad. Sharkey was caught off balance, leaning way back and Mickey hammered him viciously with both hands. Sharkey was wavering as he got back to the center of the ring but he pulled himself together and laced into Walker with a stream of vicious right handers to the head. He was firing briskly although the crowd still roared for Walker at the bell.

Round 12

Sharkey raced from his corner like a different kind of fighter, the lethargy gone and flashed both hands to Walker's head. Mickey staggered back under the assault and Sharkey was on him again, whaling in with both hands. Mickey rallied and buried a left hook into Sharkey's body as the big fellow slowed the pace a bit. Sharkey popped Walker's head back with a left and nailed him on the chin with a fine right. Walker sparred carefully as Sharkey was on him again, firing both hands. Another right to the chin set Mickey to swinging wildly but Sharkey held him as they fell into a clinch on the ropes. He shot Walker's head back with a right uppercut and then slowed down again, content to clinch up to the bell.

Round 13

They danced out and fell into a clinch and Sharkey smashed both hands to the head and Mickey swung for the body. Sharkey set Walker up against the ropes and opened his injured eye again with a savage right cross. The blood bothered Walker and he rubbed the eye constantly. Sharkey ripped a left hook to the head and pounced on Walker's chin with a right as they went into a clinch. Mickey snapped the sailors head back with a right uppercut but Sharkey landed a right hook and another right, making a mess of Mickey's left eye. In close, Sharkey hammered with his right to the same side of Walker's head. The crowd booed as Sharkey came to his corner.

Round 14

Walker charged in with a left and right to the head, forcing Sharkey to step back and the crowd howled in glee as the tide of battle changed constantly. Walker sunk both hands into Sharkey's body but Jack poked steadily for the harassed side of Walker's face. As Sharkey tried to measure him, Walker flung an overhand right to the head and stepped in with a left to the chin. He was charging and slugging at Sharkey valiantly at the bell.

Round 15

They shook hands, and promptly fell into a clinch. Walker stepped in close and ripped a left and right to the head. He drove Sharkey to the ropes with a body barrage and the big fellow clinched. Mickey fired a right to the head that seemed to infuriate Sharkey and he tore into the bull dog hammering both hands to the head. Referee Donovan warned Sharkey that punch was low and he promptly drove Walker across the ring with a right to the head. Walker threw a wild right and Sharkey beat him to the punch with a savage right uppercut to the chin. Walker reeled under another series of rights that tore his left eye brow wide open. Walker tottered to his corner in bad shape, his face covered with blood.

Scharein's Error In Fourth Gives Buffs 3-2 Victory

HILLIN LOSES TOUGH BATTLE

Houston Scores Winning Run in Seventh

Special to The Record News.

HOUSTON, July 22.—Ash Hillin dropped a tough 3 to 2 ball game here Wednesday night to the Houston Buffs. Scharein's error in the fourth proved costly, paving the way for two tallies. Houston scored the winning run in the seventh.

In the third, Allday doubled to left center, and went to third when Stanton grounded to short. Badgro popped to third. Carleton served a change of pace ball, and Bud Hungling lined a single to center, scoring Allday. Fuss flied to center.

Sprinz fanned. Carleton slashed a line single to left. Hock popped to short. Carey lined a single to right, Carleton stopping at second. Selph forced Carey, third to second.

In the fourth Scharein flied to center. Euller fanned. Hillin rolled to third. Peel rolled to second. Medwick was safe when Scharein threw low to first on his grounder. Sturdy tripled to right center, scoring Medwick. Smith lined a single to right, scoring Sturdy. Sprinz hit into a double play, second to short to first.

In the fifth Garms beat out a bunt toward first and Allday bunted him to second. Stanton popped to second. Badgro got hold of a low pitch, singling to right, scoring Garms, Badgro was out stealing, catcher to second.

Carleton flied to right. Hock walked. With a double play in front of him, Hillin picked up Tom Carey's grounder, and threw into center field, trying to force Hock at second. Hock on second, and Carey on first. Selph was hit by a pitched ball, and the bases were drunk. Peel grounded to Euller who stopped on third, forcing Hock and threw to first to get Peel for a double play.

Sprinz walked in the seventh and Carleton bunted him to second. Manager Schultz sent in Myers to run for Sprinz. Hock singled to left, scoring Myers. Carey lined into a double play, Stanton to Scharein. It appeared Stanton had trapped the ball, instead of catching it on the fly, but the umpires refused to hear the Buff's protest.

In the eighth Badgro turned in a sensational catch of Selph's liner to center to provide the fielding feature. He turned a somersault, after making the shoestring catch.

Mrs. Moody Enters Semifinal Round

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 22. (AP)—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody entered the semifinal round of the Essex County club's invitation singles tennis tournament today accompanied by the first three ranking women players of America, not one of whom appears capable of winning even a set against the former world's champion.

Mrs. Moody made the advance by blasting Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia, off the court, 6-2, 6-0, and little Dorothy Weisel, Sacramento, prepared to step into the great Helen's range by defeating Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, 6-2, 6-4, in their all-California quarter-final.

The only one of the four matches that was keenly contested saw Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper, Oakland, Calif., out-drive and out-chop Mary Greef, Kansas City, for a 9-7, 6-3, victory. Marjorie Morrill Dedham, the defending champion, fairly breezed into the second last round, losing only a game to Sarah Palfrey, Brookline, who refused to default, despite a painfully strained back.

Mrs. Moody played steadier tennis than in any of her other matches this week, making only 23 errors—11 outs, as many nets and a single double-fault, during the 14 games. Her hard service generally was well under control and there were few occasions when her first ball did not land fair.

Grocers Defend Leadership Today

Sullivan's Grocery will defend its league leadership this afternoon at Katy Park against the I. O. Boosters in a play-off of the tie game played last Sunday in the nightcap of a double bill. Steve "Smokey" Franklin, one of the three pitchers last Sunday to attempt the iron man stunt, is scheduled to hurl for the Grocerymen while the starting pitcher for the Boosters is unknown. Manager Coker announced that he had three men ready to go but that O'Dell McDuffy, who hurled both games last Sunday holds the inside track for the nod. The game will start at 5 o'clock and is scheduled for nine innings.

Sullivan goes into the game holding a one-game lead over Star Transfer and I. O. Boosters. They follow up the game today with a double-header Sunday against Star Transfer, for the last games Star will play before the play-off with Bailey-Moline for the first half championship.

Petrolle's Manager Ready For Another Suarez Bout

DULUTH, Minn., July 22. (AP)—South American fight fans, surprised recently when their favorite, Justo Suarez, was knocked out by Billy Petrolle, want the lightweights rematched in Buenos Aires.

That is the information Jack Hurley, Petrolle's manager, brought home to Duluth following the ninth round knockout of the fistic pride of South America by the "Fargo Express" in New York.

Hurley says a rematch between Petrolle and Suarez is likely for late next fall. He is confident the American will trim Suarez as he did in New York—and probably will deliver another knockout, which was the first suffered by Suarez in 75 fights.

Huge Bulk Is Wrestler's Chief Means of Defense

ATLANTA, Ga., July 22. (AP)—The size of "Stone Mountain" Leavitt, wrestler who has been meeting some of the best mat men in the game, is a tough problem for his foes.

Leavitt, who wears the uniform of a policeman in daily life, weighs 310 pounds. His girth is too great for a body scissors, and tossing a man of that bulk over the shoulder with a headlock is a man-sized job.

Bunn Hearn Named To Coach Baseball At North Carolina

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., July 22. (AP)—Bunn Hearn, North Carolina's grand old man of baseball, is going to college next year.

He has been picked as baseball coach for the University of North Carolina. Hearn, present pilot of the Twin City club of the Piedmont league, has been big league southpaw, minor league manager and owner and college coach since 1910.

He broke into organized baseball with Wilson in 1910 and flung his left-handed way into the big league in one year. He toured the world with the New York Giants and Chicago White Sox in 1913-14 and divided six seasons between the Giants St. Louis Cardinals and Boston Nationals.

Some of his big league performances included three home runs in one game, two in one inning and 20 innings pitched without a score.

Hearn was born at Chapel Hill, home of the university, in 1891.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—Cotton declined further today under quite general selling.

The October position declined to 9.28 and closed at that figure, with a net loss of 25 points while the general market closed easy at the low of the day, with net declines of 22-25 points.

The Liverpool cables were lower than expected and, while there was an absence of any official news to indicate any serious hitch in the London conference, neither was there anything of a very encouraging nature, while private advices from abroad intimated that that conference was not progressing as smoothly as some had anticipation.

Liverpool cabled that the market there had been influenced by liquidation, hedge selling and adverse political news which was only partially offset by trade calling and that cloth offers were disappointing with yarns quiet.

Exports today 1,823, making 6,857,160 so far this season. Port receipts 1,190, U. S. port stocks 2,838,296.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 22. (AP)—It was a sluggish market in cotton today, with the trend mostly downward and the close at net declines of a little more than $1 a bale. The easier tendency was due to poor Liverpool cables, uncertainty about the London conference outcome, easier stocks and a rather favorable weekly weather and crop summary. There were a few rallies on some trade buying and short covering, but the lows of the day were made at the end of the session.

Liverpool came in 6@7 penny points worse than due and private cables said there was liquidation on adverse political news. This was interpreted as referring to the London conference. Manchester cabled that in the cloth trade bids were disappointing and yarns were quiet.

Stock Market About Faces, Losing Tuesday's Gains and Then Some

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 22. (US)—The stock market reversed itself today and, taking cognizance of the impending adjournment of the much-touted London conference, cancelled all of its previous day's gains and something additional. There was no great haste to sell, but the market was exceedingly sluggish throughout the session and prices worked lower from the start. The weakness hardly could be attributed to concentrated short-selling for such pressure nas been absent for several weeks. Rather, it was the indisposition of the bull forces and the general speculative community to support prices that resulted in the persistent decline.

Under the circumstances, it was but natural that a bearish tinge should be placed on all developments. Volume of a million shares indicated the continued highly professional character of dealings.

There is now universal acceptance of the fact that the London conference has accomplished nothing, although every effort is being made to exaggerate its results. The Germans have secured no new credits and maintenance of existing advances are assured primarily because of their frozen status. One of the most powerful international bankers proclaimed the London conference "the end of the Hoover gesture."

Private advices to leading bankers here for several days have forecast the results now revealed in so far as the conference was concerned. The stock market must look to the domestic American situation for relief from the depression.

Since it had been employed as the bull leader in the various recent endeavors to revive buying, Steel Common quite naturally was subjected to the most pressure and it sold down 3⅛ points net. In this respect, American Can suffered similarly, declining 4⅛ points, although with this stock there was the additional influence of disclosure that can-making activities this year reached their peak earlier than seasonally. Can has been subjected to a high degree of speculative sponsorship but there has been evident a rather aggressive selling campaign; certainly bears have been more active in this stock than in most of the leaders.

Throughout the list the heaviness of the leaders found reflection and few stocks closed higher or even unchanged. Woolworth showed a fair degree of resistance, closing off a small fraction. This company because of the prices of its merchandise is likely to be among the first to benefit from revival of public buying. The stock is selling at a rather high ratio to per-share earnings, but the bull sponsors are favored by the possibility of liberal treatment for stockholders whenever directors decide to capitalize the large surplus.

General Motors' statement for second quarter, issued after the market closed, was fully up to expectations, showing $1.22 a share earned in this period, making $1.83 per-share net for the half-year. Although the six-months period results are below the $2.15 reported for the same period of 1930, the June quarter operating profit exceeded the $1.17 a share earned in the second quarter of last year. The stock, however, jointed the general list in the setback, since it is recognized that second half-year results will produces mall profits unless substantial pick-up in business occurs.

Tomorrow's market will probably take its cue from the action of the Bank of England rediscount rate, which was maintained last week, presumably in expectation of favorable developments from the London conference. Car-loadings figures, showing sizable increase, reflect seasonal betterment.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

Quotations on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Oats—No. 2 red 26½@27½c.

Barley—No. 2 36@37c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 22. (AP)—Offsets to disconcerting reports of developments at the international financial conference rallied wheat prices late today, and overcame early downturns. The offsets included bullish crop news from spring wheat sections both sides of the Canadian line, South Dakota in particular. Moreover, indications pointed to larger export business in United States wheat than had been acknowledged, and the total receipts of new winter wheat dropped 592,146 cars, about one-third of what they were at the peak of the harvest movement.

Wheat closed steady at the same as yesterday's finish to ¼-cent off, corn varying from ½c decline to ¼c advance, oats ⅛@¼c down, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents setback.

Tending to give late firmness to wheat prices were spread transactions that involved purchases of wheat against simultaneous equal sales of corn. Some buying of wheat was based on belief that prevailing prices were so low as to preclude likelihood of any important profits from speculative selling. Export wheat quotations at the Gulf of Mexico were relatively the lowest thus far on the 1931 crop.

Provisions lacked aggressive support.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, July 22. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Receipts of cattle served to offset the depressing influence of a slow demand at eastern dressed beef centers. Light weight fed steers and yearlings ruled firm to 25c higher. Well conditioned grass steers scaling under 1100 lbs. were steady to easier. Chicago scored $9.10 on choice 850-lb. yearlings and realized $8.40 on 1,294-lb. steers. Common to medium grass steers ranged from $4.25@6.25, the latter price securing light weight Texans at Kansas City. Receipts were estimated at 35,600.

There was a fair demand for the lighter weights of hogs scaling under 240 lbs. at steady to slightly higher figures, but at several points packers were bearish on weightier offerings with prices weak to as much as 25c lower. Condemned Negro Gets Stay Until August 21

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 22. (UP)—Bennie Taylor, negro, condemned to die Friday, was given an additional stay of execution until Aug. 21 by Gov. W. H. Murray today.

Taylor originally had been scheduled to die with Paul D. Cole July 10, but the governor postponed execution in order to complete his study of the case. He gave the same reason for the present extension.

Metal-Lined Wallet Saves Official's Life

BOMBAY, India, July 22. (US)—Acting Governor of Bombay Hobson credits a metal-studded pocketbook he carried in a pocket over his heart with saving his life when a student named Gokhale fired on him at Poona today. Of the two shots fired at close range one went wild. The other ricocheted off the pocketbood.

An aide-de-camp to the acting governor struck the assassin down with his sword and he was arrested. Hobson was inspecting Ferguson college at Poona when attacked.

New Uses for Raw Materials Would Hasten Return of World Prosperity

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The brightest prospect for a spirited revival of basic consumption of raw materials lies in discovery of new uses. This applies chiefly to commodities other than food for which there always is a demand. Demand for metals and such materials can be multiplied by the devising of fresh means of utilization.

The inventive genius of America is the greatest the world ever has known and American development of raw materials is unparalleled. The combination of these elements creates demand and demand stimulates production. This is the formula for a return of tremendous industrial activity and expansion, full employment, good profits and high wages. That the country is beginning a fresh cycle of this sort can scarcely be doubted.

It has been amply demonstrated that too much of certain raw materials can be produced. Overproduction of basic materials has contributed very largely to the world depression and unemployment. The term "under-consumption" has come into use in recent months and that idea has been held up as the answer to the overproduction evil. It is found, however, that there is a point of saturation of consumptive demand of certain things. If the material can be utilized in a different form and for another purpose, then an additional consumptive demand appears which takes up the slack and relieves the saturation.

To illustrate in the homeliest way: Rice has been an article of diet in this country for a great many years and considerable quantities consumed. But probably twice as much was consumed when some friend of boarding house keepers invented rice pudding. Not only was twice as much rice demanded but also quantities of sugar, milk, and eggs.

Further: Not very many years ago the only use to which electricity was put was to do little tricks with magnets and make things jump. It had no economic use whatever. Science and invention took the same thing and built upon it one of the greatest industries in the world, employing millions, furnishing light and power and massing enormous wealth.

Illustration can be multiplied to the nth degree with a great variety of materials. Things long regarded as waste have been put to use and, a use having been found, demand follows.

Science in Industry

Industry—American idustry especially—is responsive to needs for development. Only a few years ago the masters of industry looked upon their business as cut and dried, a matter of known basic raw materials, labor and ultimate product, often a single product. These men, successful in their degree, scoffed at the scientist as a faddist and were inclined to belittle the inventor as a crank. Today the scientific laboratory and the inventing staff are regarded as prime components of any large undertaking. Electricians, chemists, physicists, and all manner of other technicians are employed and laboratories equipped for them. Inventors are placed on salaries and given shops in which to work. These groups putter around, sometimes with a definite goal in mind, sometimes at random in the hope of stumbling upon fresh possibilities in their materials. The thousand by-products of coal tar were hit upon in just such a manner. The duPonts, for example, who started out making gunpowder when the republic was young, now make a thousand different things, all the result of finding new uses. Edison maintains a staff of inventors. Ford has his staff of technicians and so on all through industry.

Right now one of the metals most heavily overproduced is zinc. Zinc resources of the United States are enormous and the material already is indispensable for scores of purposes. Production caught up with the demands created in the existing fields and, the mines and smelters being so productive, huge unsold stocks have accumulated. Although new production has been curtailed 50 per cent in the last year or two, stocks continued to accumulate.

For example, in 1929 production of zinc was running at well over 50,000 tons a month but has been cut to about half that. Yet stocks which, in 1929, were only about 50,000 tons have mounted up to around 130,000 tons. They have reached a peak, apparently and are on the way down; a recession of more than 1 per cent being noted since last February. However, there still remain heavy stocks of unsold zinc which must be worked off before prices will recover and demand for new production set in. The demand, it will be realized, will mean employment at the mines, at refineries, on the railroads, and in the consuming trades.

New Uses of Zinc

In this situation the busiest branch of the zinc industry is the scientific branch. The long haired scientists and the inventive cranks are working overtime while the miners and smelter men idle and stockholders wait for tardy dividends.

Here are some of the uses of zinc which have been developed recently. It has been discovered that finely divided particles of zinc dust make an ideal smokescreen for use by airplanes and warships. Zinc dust, it is found, also can be used to advantage in the manufacture of various dyes. It now has come into use in the manufacture of fireworks. This idea was hit upon because it was noticed that, under combustion, zinc produces an intense bluish white flame of extravagant brilliance, as well as leaving graceful wreaths of white smoke, which hold their form.

A recent use of zinc, likely to result in a greatly increased demand, is in the manufacture of zinc chloride. It is found that this material will defeat attacks of termites or white ants if wood is impregnated with it under pressure. This is of the utmost importance because this insect now is destroying millions of dollars worth of property every year.

City Refused Rehearing in Water Suits; New Trial of Fee Case Ordered

Decisions were handed down by the supreme court Tuesday in two damage suits brought against the City of Wichita Falls by individuals and one case against Wichita county by M. L. Tittle to recover excess fees alleged to have been turned back to the county while he was tax collector here in 1919-23.

The supreme court overruled the city's petition for a rehearing in the case of W. H. Maudlin, et al., vs. the City of Wichita Falls, and J. H. Sullivan, et al., vs. the City of Wichita Falls. Maudlin and Sullivan were awarded damages by lower courts alleged to have been sustained to their property by overflow from the city street drainage system. The award in both cases, according to W. E. McBroom, acting city manager, totals less than $1,000. Property in the Maudlin case is located in the Sibley-Taylor addition and the overflow in question accurred early in 1928. Property involved in the Sullivan case against the city is located in North Wichita, the alleged damage occurring early in 1929.

In the Tittle case against the county, the plaintiff secured judgment of several thousand dollars when the suit was brought to trial about two years ago. Carried to the court of civil apepals at Amarillo, the court reversed the decision and sent the case back here for a new trial. An appeal was made to the supreme court, which affirmed the ruling ordering a new trial.

Traffic Resumed Over Two Roads

Flood waters of Red river had receded sufficiently Wednesday to allow trains to cross the railroad bridge near Byers, according to rail officials.

Fear was held during Tuesday night that drift carried down the river with water from recent rains would carry the bridge away. A crew of workmen was engaged during the day Tuesday and Wednesday keeping drift from collecting against the bridge supports.

Traffic over the Northwestern between Waurika and Altus was resumed at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Rains had washed out about three-quarters of a mile of track between the two points.

Angora Goat Raisers Will Advertise Mohair

SAN ANGELO, Texas, July 22. (AP)—The Texas Angora Goat Raisers association is to cooperate with the mohair mills in advertising mohair and a committee will be apponted to sit in the advertising councils of the mills, according to J. E. Robbins, Campwood banker and president of the organization.

There are 17 mohair mills which have posted money to stimulate the demand for mohair in the furniture trades, a direction that the mills feel is the best avenue of expansion.

The committee will meet with the warehouse men of Texas and discuss a proposal for each goat man to contribute one-eighth cent a pound from mohair sales toward advertising the product.

300 ATTEND CHURCH PICNIC

First Christian Members Enjoy Outing

More than 300 members of the First Christian church and of the church school attended the picnic at Boone's park Wednesday afternoon. The affair was declared one of the most successful of its kind ever held in Wichita Falls.

Chairs and tables were scattered under the shade trees of the park, and the crowd started arriving shortly before 3 o'clock. Games ranging from checkers and croquet to horseshoe pitching and baseball entertained the crowd during the afternoon. Miss Phyllis Creighton had charge of the games.

An old time basket supper was spread at 7 o'clock, and immediately after the meal, an entertainment program was given. Lee Underwood's band gave an excellent concert, which was followed by a singsong led by R. E. Shepherd. Dean Harrison then took charge of the formal program, which opened with the reading of the 100th Psalm and prayer by Dr. H. T. Wood, pastor of the church. The Franklin sisters gave a beautiful solo, and Rev. J. E. Montgomery, pastor of the Highland Heights Christian church, made the vesper talk, an inspirational address on "Fellowship."

The refreshments were handled by tickets, each person being presented with a book of the tickets good for soda pop, popsicles and ice cream. F. E. Huppertz, assistant pastor of the First Christian church, had general charge of the arrangements for the affair. Committee chairmen were: Place and time, Mrs. J. Lem Keevil; advertising, Miss Elva Killingsworth; transportation, C. E. Stephens; entertainment, A. D. Harrison; refreshments, Mrs. O. H. Karr; program, Dean Harrison.

Rehearing Refused in Fort Worth Bond Case

AUSTIN, July 22. (AP)—The supreme court today overruled a motion for rehearing in the Fort Worth case in which it had held unconstitutional hundreds of local laws passed in the guise of general statutes.

The same objection did not apply in today's decision, however, as the last legislature passed a constitutional law to meet that. The city of Fort Worth was seeking to force the attorney general to approve certain special improvement bonds or certificates.

The court held the bond issue should not be approved because the city had created a debt which might run 15 years without making provision to assess and collect annually a sufficient sum in taxes to pay the bonds at maturity.

FORT WORTH, July 22. (AP)—Mayors of San Antonio, Wichita Falls, Dallas, Waco, Austin, Galveston, Beaumont, Coricana, Texarkana, Amarillo, Abilene and several other cities in the state have been asked to send representatives to the statewide meeting to be held Saturday morning by the governor's committee on unemployment.

Robert T. Gragg, state labor commissioner, will not be able to attend on account of the burial of his son. The son, Ernest H. Gragg, a navy seaman, who died of exposure when the Rochester was sunk in 1917 off the coast of Ireland, was buried Tuesday in Arlington National cemetery.

H. C. Colley, chief deputy, will be present, however.

18 SCOUTS TO GO ON TOUR

Eighth Annual Summer Trip Starts Saturday

Eighteen Wichita Falls Boy Scouts, in charge of Scout Executive Frank B. Creighton, will leave at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning on the 18th annual educational and sightseeing tour arranged by the local scout council, the trip extending into six states and requiring three weeks for completion.

Because of the publicity gained by scout tourists from this city in past years, Mr. Creighton announced, many invitations have come from chambers of commerce and other organizations throughout the West for the 1931 party to visit their communities. At various places, he said, special arrangements have been made to entertain the tourists.

From the outset of the trip, the scouts will pitch camp each evening at the end of the day's travel, using eight small tents for shelter. They carry their own cooking and eating utensils, and both morning and evening meals are prepared in the camp. Luncheon is taken en route, it was said.

According to Mr. Creighton, making and breaking of camp by the scout party invariably proves of considerable interest to citizens of towns which they visit, and attracts a sizable group of spectators. Camp often is pitched on the courthouse lawn or in down-town parks. Immediately before departure each morning, the entire group forms in company front on one side of the camp site, deploys to cover the area, and polices the ground minutely so that it is left entirely free of debris.

Traveling in a large bus furnished by the Southern Bus company, the boys enter and leave the conveyance in military formation, in order to assure safety and a minimum possibility of damage to the car. Seats are assigned, and at the end of each two hours, half the group surrenders seats next the windows to the remaining members.

Among the scenic sites to be visited on the current tour will be Shoshone falls, Cheyenne, Yellowstone National park, Salt Lake City, the Grand Canyon of Arizona, the petrified forest in New Mexico, and the Carlsbad cavern. On the last night out, the group will camp in Lovington, N. M. The secretary of the chamber of commerce there is a brother of Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney here.

The itinerary of the trip was announced as follows: July 25, Dalhart, Texas; July 26, Denver; July 27, Cheyenne; July 28, Shoshoni, Wyo.; July 29, 30, 31, Yellowstone park; Aug. 1, Ogden, Utah; Aug. 2, 3, Salt Lake City; Aug. 4, Cedar City, Utah; Aug. 5-6, Grand Canyon; Aug. 7-8, Springerville, N. M.; Aug. 9-10, El Paso; Aug. 11, Carlsbad cavern; Aug. 12, Lovington, N. M.; Aug. 13, Wichita Falls.

The following will comprise the party: Billy Bancroft, Hugh Blakely, Roger Brown, Hubert Cheshire, Henry Cline, Frank B. Creighton, executive; Kenneth Erwin, Glenn Hancock, driver; James Hill, Keith Keller, Albert Kelly, John Lawson, Albert Moller, Herbert Moller, Earl Morris Jr., Jimmy Mayes, Vernon McDaniel, Karl Ten Brink, Joe Witherspoon, and Joe Stewart, cook.

Bill Hunnefield, infielder acquired by the New York Giants from the Boston Braves for the waiver price started his baseball career with the Philadelphia Athletic in 1923. Hunnefield was released this season by the Cleveland Indians.

SAN ANTONIO TO VOTE ON MUNICIPAL SYSTEM

SAN ANTONIO, July 22. (AP)—The city of San Antonio plans an election in the next 60 days to put before the voters the question of whether the city should establish municipal gas and electric ownership as it now does the city water works.

It is also known that the city attorney's office is planning to incorporate in the same election the proposition of city operated buses. The legality of the latter question is being considered. It is known Mayor Chambers has ordered the city attorney's office to include the bus line angle in the election call if there are any legal grounds for it.

55 COMPLETE SCHOOL WORK

Diplomas Awarded to Summer Graduates

Students, teachers, friends and relatives of graduates to the number of about 500 filled the lower floor of the Junior college auditorium at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, when summer graduates of the college, high school, and junior high schools presented a brief program and received their diplomas from H. D. Fillers, who recently became superintendent of public schools and president of the Junior college here.

Graduates receiving diplomas Wednesday numbered 55, six of them being from the college, 27 from the high school, and 22 from the junior high schools.

Need for College

Pertinent facts relative to the Junior college were given by Cornell Chewning in the principal talk on the commencement program. He stressed the importance of the institution to this city and community, pointing out that large numbers of high school graduates from nearby counties are provided collegiate opportunities here, as well as many teachers.

"It is probably true," Mr. Chewning said, "that the public generally regards the summer term as one provided for scholastic laggards, in order that they may make up flunked courses. Enrollment in the summer school just closing offers definite refutation of that theory. Of all the courses taken during the past nine weeks by the 78 persons enrolled in the Junior college summer school, 80.2 per cent were new courses. Among the remainder were some repeats for makeup work. But the great majority of summer school students are taking advantage of the summer short term for gaining additional credits, or shortening the required time for graduation."

Miss Cora Dell Woodward gave "The History of the Class." Musical parts of the program were furnished by Miss Marie Leonard, pianist, and Misses Loraine Mathis and Claudean McCarty, violinists. Diplomas were presented by Mr. Fillers. Rev. C. W. Thomas pronounced the invocation, and the benediction was said by Rev. J. E. Montgomery.

Final Class Meeting

At the conclusion of the commencement exercises, a final class meeting and luncheon was held by both Junior college and high school graduates at the Wichita club. Miss Huldah Maude Cole, president, was toastmistress, and the principal talk was made by Mr. Fillers. Other guests of the class were Mrs. Fillers, Prof. A. F. Edwards, class sponsor; and A. K. Presson, Junior college registrar and director of the summer school. Gifts were presented by the class to Mr. Presson and Mr. Edwards.

Members of the college graduating class are Valtia Oleta Allen, Claudean McCarty, R. D. (Jack) McGaughey, Mary Gentrude McGrath, Thelma Nell Norvell and Cora Dell Woodward.

The high school graduates are Loren D. Baker, Garland Ballard, Helen Bernlece Beck, Charles Bodkin, Henry Burns Brook, Cornell John Chewning, Cherry Doris Childers, Huldah Maude Cole, Ted Evans, Eugene Gerald, Ferrell, Myrna Lucille Hendrix, Roberta King, Margie Marie Leonard, Edith Long, Loraine Mathis, James Maxwell, Senith Estella Morgan, Darrell Morgan, Lelia Belle Morton, Lyston M. Nolen, Theda Ramee, Florence Stallings, Louise Thompson, Grace Evaletta Wade, Joseph B. White, Joe Everette Williams and Jay Dee Yeakley.

School District To Purchase Huge Bus for New Term

Pupils of the County Line school, near Electra, will be provided transportation to and from school during the ensuing school year by means of a 50-passenger bus to be purchased by the school district soon, according to information given The Record News Wednesday by J. A. Hood, county school superintendent, and Elmer L. Atkins, principal of the County Line school.

The County Line school board at a meeting Tuesday night authorized the purchase of the bus, which already has been selected, it was said. Plans announced Wednesday indicated that the conveyance will make a 20-mile trip each morning and afternoon in carrying pupils to and from the school house. From the school site, the bus will go two miles south, then two miles east and return; then north four miles, east two miles, south four miles, and west two miles to the school house again.

During the past school year, according to Mr. Atkins, only 55 of the net scholastic population of 74 in the area were enrolled. Most of those who missed the school year it was said, were unable to attend because of unimproved roads and lack of conveyance. Roads stipulated for the bus route have been improved, it was said.

Negro Found Dead In County Jail Cell

Following an inquest held Wednesday morning over the body of Andrew Brigham, negro, about 58, Justice of the Peace O. L. Gibbs returned a coroner's verdict of "death from natural causes."

The negro was found dead in his cell in the Wichita county jail about 6 a. m. Wednesday. He had been declared insane Tuesday afternoon in a lunacy trial before County Judge John P. Marrs. About a week ago he had been transferred from the Wichita General hospital to the jail to await the lunacy hearing.

DEATHS

The body of C. W. Sturman, 74, of Denison, Texas, who died at a hospital here Wednesday morning, was forwarded later in the day by the Hines mortuary to Denison, where funeral services will be held. The body was accompanied by N. B. Ledge, a son-in-law.

40-8 DEFENDS VETS' BONUS

Local Leaders Answer Attacks on Legion

Vigorous defense of the American Legion against alleged charges of "pillaging the federal treasury" through the adjusted compensation act is advanced in an article in the current Forty and Eighter, a copy of which has been furnished The Record News by officers of the local voiture of the 40 and 8. The entire article was read and discussed in the meeting of the Wichita Falls organization last Monday night.

Declaring that attacks upon the American Legion "always have provided a popular pastime" for magazines in this country, the article attributes current editorial opposition to the adjusted compensation plan to the "same forces which opposed the admitting of the obligation to service men in the first place."

Entitled to Compensation

The Forty and Eighter continues to recite that "ever since the United States declared its independence, it has been recognized that the men who defended the country in time of national peril were entitled to more compensation than the meager pay received in the service." It is further pointed out that while veterans of earlier wars could be rewarded with grants of the then-plentiful land, those of the world war could be provided no such compensation. Emphasis is placed also upon the theory that "a man whose services are taken for war is just as much entitled to compensation as the man whose farm is taken for a camp, or whose factory is taken over for the manufacture of war materials."

Presenting hypothetically the "economic sacrifice" made by the average American soldier in the late war, the article summarizes his compensations as follows:

Pay (with overseas allowance)	$450.00
Food (50 cents daily)	200.00
Flop (25 cents a night)	100.00
Uniforms	100.00
Railroad trips in U. S.	50.00
Round trip to France (third class)	150.00
Railroad trips in France (box car)	50.00
Medical attention (C. C. pills and iodine)	.35
Ammunition (machine gunners to be charged more)	10.00
Bonus at time of discharge	60.00
Total	$1,170.35

The above figures were computed upon an average of 400 days' service, 200 days of which were spent overseas. Basing its figures upon an estimated earning capacity of $10 daily for the average service man in 1917 and 1918, the article estimates that in the 13 months, he would have earned $2,600. The "economic loss" through military service is consequently shown to have been $1,429.65.

The Forty and Eighter also points out that only $390 was provided for such a veteran in the act passed by congress last winter, and that the American Legion did nothing more with reference to that legislation than to endorse the principle of immediate cash retirement of the adjusted compensation certificates.

Legislative Power

With reference to alleged charges that the legion comprises a legislative menace to the country's welfare, the article asserts that legion support for proposed legislation is respected because it is recognized as reflecting wide-spread public opinion. The article declares that "when the legion endorses a piece of legislation, congress knows that the legislation also has the endorsement of many millions of other citizens."

Citing the origination of legislative proposals in local posts, their sifting out in county, district and state meetings, and their final appraisal by the national legion convention, the "Forty and Eighter" states that "the legislative recommendations which come out of the national convention represent the best thought of the legion and reflect public opinion in 10,000 communities. Congress realizes this and listens."

The article concludes: "If this state of affairs is a menace to the nation, so is the whole idea of Democratic government. If the fact that congress listens to the legion instead of to the lobbyists of the great financial interests is a thing of sinister significance, we had better undo the work of the revolution and name Andy Mellon king to rule over us by divine right. No, we believe that the American people are still capable of ruling their own affairs. And we believe that the legion is the greatest force for public good in the country today."
