Security Plan Aids US Firms

By BARTON REPPERT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON AP—U.S. business men overseas are looking increasingly to the State Department for help in countering the threat of terrorism against American firms and business executives.

Victor H. Dikeos, deputy assistant secretary of state for security, said many of the nation's 100 biggest corporations are among firms aided so far in developing more effective security measures for their operations abroad.

Under the State Department program, security officers assigned to various U.S. embassies and consulates brief businessmen on topics ranging from local police contacts to antikidnaping precautions.

Dikeos said in an interview that the current stepped-up program was designed to "standardize on a worldwide basis what he had been doing before in a more limited way at some of our posts."

He noted that the upsurge of terrorism in recent years - particularly several large-ransom kidnapings of American businessmen in Argentina - has led to a substantial "elevation of consciousness" about security matters among U.S. firms.

Dikeos said that over the past six months representatives of more than 20 major American companies have conferred with State Department security personnel either in Washington or abroad. He declined to name any of the firms, however, on grounds that security-related information was considered sensitive and confidential.

In a recent memorandum to State Department security officers, Dikeos pointed out that "senior elements in the department place heavy emphasis on assisting American citizens abroad in every way possible."

The memo encouraged security officers to provide U.S. businessmen with assistance, including;

-Identities of appropriate police contacts.

-Names of reliable local firms offering guard services, locks, alarms and other security assistance.

-Advice on preparing contingency plans to deal with bomb threats and other situations.

-"Travel advisories" for businessmen when local conditions pose potential security hazards.

A NEW START—Twelve-year-old Royce Samuel Dober of Fluvanna is shown as he was registering this morning at North Elementary. Armed with pencils and paper, young Royce is preparing to enter the sixth grade in the Snyder Independent School District. Today was the first day for many Fluvanna students to enter the Snyder public schools. They joined over 3,000 other pupils in beginning the new term.

3,480 Pupils In Local Schools

Snyder Public Schools began the 1976-77 session this morning and the turnout of students was approximately the same as for the first day last year.

There were slight gains in the senior high school and in most of the elementary schools, but a slight decline in the junior high school as tentative totals shortly before noon today showed a total of 3,480 pupils in the classrooms.

The senior high school had 1,051 pupils, compared to 1,026 a year ago, while the junior high had 562, compared to 577 a year ago.

Central Elementary School declined from 384 to 339, but this was accounted for mostly by moving a kindergarten class out of the Central building. At the same time, West Elementary showed a gain from 323 to 414, which reflected additional kindergarten pupils there.

Elsewhere, North Elementary had 288 pupils, compared to 284 the first day last year, East Elementary had 294, compared to 283 a year ago, Northeast had 283 compared to 280 and Stanfield had 249 compared to 271.

School officials were uncertain as to whether a significant number of pupils remained to be registered. In some previous years, late registrants have increased the totals substantially during the first few days of the term. However, there were fewer late registrants than usual last year and speculation was that perhaps the same will be true this year.

US NAVAL FORCES NEAR
Korean Situation Tense

By K.C. HWANG
Associated Press Writer

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A U.S. Navy task force headed by the aircraft carrier Midway approached Korea today. North Korea said the warships were bound for its waters and warned that the move would "force a conflict."

The five-ship naval force was ordered from its base in Japan as part of the U.S. military response to the ax-slaying of two U.S. Army officers by North Koreans in the Korean neutral zone last week. The Navy would not give their exact location or destination but a Japanese pilot spotted them, shadowed by a Soviet freighter, and said they could be close to the south coast of Korea today.

North Korean broadcasts said the naval operation brought the situation "closer to the brink of war." Rodong Shinmoon, the Communist party daily warned that North Korean armed forces are prepared for a "sacred war ... to annihilate the aggressors at one stroke if they dare pounce upon us."

Pyongyang radio quoted the newspaper as "denouncing the criminal act of U.S. imperialism in sending the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Midway into the waters of the northern half of the republic ...

"By infiltrating their warships into the waters of another country, the U.S. imperialist aggressors force a conflict on the other side..." it added.

A Navy spokesman denied that the Midway — built in the 1940's — was nuclear-powered, as described by North Korea.

The 151-mile-long demilitarized zone separating North and South Korea was reported quiet, as it has been since the dispute over the pruning of a tree in the zone last Wednesday led to a free-for-all in which North Koreans hacked to death two Americans.

Thousands of South Korean workers assembled for rallies today denouncing North Korea for the attack on a United Nations Command working party that was pruning a tree in the joint security zone at Panmunjom.

The workers shouted "Down with murder-gangster Kim Il-sung," the North Korean president; "Clubs for mad dog" and similar slogans.

President Chung Hee Park's Democratic-Republican party and opposition parties issued statements calling on the government to take "strongest possible measures" against Communist provocations.

The United States and South Korea both rejected a message from North Korea which said the clash last Wednesday was "regretful."

"We do not find this message to be acceptable since it does not acknowledge responsibility for the deliberate and predmeditated murders of the two U.N. Command officers," said State Department spokesman John Ordway in Washington.

A Korean official commented: "The North Koreans did not express even condolences over the officers slain, nor did we find any sense of remorse in their statement."

The South Korean Foreign Ministry said the message was delivered orally at a meeting Saturday at Panmunjom. The English text said:

"It was a good thing that no big incident occurred at Panunjom for a long period. However, it is regretful that an incident occurred in the joint security area, Panmunjom, this time.

"An effort must be made so that such incidents may not recur in the future. For this purpose both sides should make efforts. We urge your side to prevent the provocation. Our side will never provoke first, but take self-defense measures only when provocation occurs. This is our consistent stand."

US Rejects North Korean Message

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has rejected a North Korean statement on the deaths of two American officers, saying the message did not acknowledge responsibility for their "deliberate and premeditated murders."

The statement from North Korean Premier Kim Il-Sung expressed regret that "an incident occurred" in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea. It was delivered Saturday during a meeting of the military truce commission at Panmunjom.

State Department spokesman John Ordway said Sunday the United States considered the message "a backhanded acknowledgment that the North Koreans were wrong in the brutal act that they committed" while a United Nations Command work party was attempting to trim a tree in the DMZ that blocked the U.S.-South Korean view of North Korean guards.

First word of the North Korean message came from Vail, Colo., where President Ford is vacationing after the Republican National Convention. The President had no public comment in reaction to the North Korean statement.

In Los Angeles, Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter called the killings "deliberate murder." He said the American response ordered by Ford was appropriate.

The two officers were killed Wednesday in an attack by ax-wielding North Korean guards. A U.N. Command work team cut the entire tree down Saturday, shortly before the North Korean note was delivered.

North Korea charged Sunday that President Ford's order for a show of force had moved the situation "closer to the brink of war."

A broadcast from the North Korean capital of Pyongyang said, "This clearly shows once again that the Ford clique is working around the clock to find a pretext for the provocation of a war and employing every means to realize its sinister, aggressive aim."

Carter, apparently briefed by government officials, said Ford has taken proper actions in the crisis "so far as I know."

"The murder — and it was deliberate murder in my opinion — of the two servicemen is inexcusable," Carter said.

The body of one of the dead officers, Maj. Arthur Bonifas, 33, arrived at his Highland Falls, N.Y., home town Sunday. He and the other slain officer, 1st Lt. Mark T. Barrett, 25, of Columbia, S.C., are to be buried Tuesday.

They were part of the work party sent Wednesday to trim the tree. When it was cut down Saturday, allied-force sources said the work party operated under a protective umbrella of jet fighters and Guam-based B52 bombers that circled overhead. The sources said that 300 U.S. and South Korean combat troops also stood by outside the joint security area.

FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL TERM
Dallas Busing Is Smooth

DALLAS (AP) — Court-ordered busing of some 18,000 public school pupils went off without any major hitches today — the first day of the 1976-77 school term.

"We think everything's going smooth so far. We've got kids that missed the bus and we've got buses coming back to pick them up. So far, it looks real good," said Dallas school district spokesman Rodney Davis.

Other problems were typical of opening school days everywhere — displaced and rambunctious children, harried teachers and protective parents.

"We're doing everything we can to make this plan work," said Supt. Nolan Estes, who pitched in to drive a bus starting at 7:30 a.m. "I was 10 minutes late today, I'll probably be five minutes late tomorrow and by Wednesday I'll be on time and everyone else will to."

A debriefing was held later in the morning to make sure that routes and numbers on buses were adequate and to discuss other problems.

An advertising campaign urging acceptance of the new desegregation plan and support for the school system is credited by school officials for the optimistic outlook.

Pupils in grades 4 through 8 will be bused to schools outside their neighborhood, according to the plan. An additional 5,000 pupils will be transferred voluntarily to "magnet schools" with special curricula to make them more attractive.

Despite the optimism about the peaceful implementation of the desegregation plan, precautions have been taken.

"It's just like being prepared for war," said school district security director Bennie Kelley. "You stay prepared, even if you don't think anything is going to happen, just in case."

Starting at about 7 a.m. Monday, 550 school buses will begin picking up students for bus rides averaging 20 minutes duration. On each of those buses a parent or school administrator will ride as a monitor to insure there will be no violence the first day of school.

In addition, a "command post" will keep in close touch with all buses and schools for at least the first few days of school.

The Dallas police department also has contingency plans in case of violence like that which flared when busing started in Boston and Louisville.

"In both Boston and Louisville," said police spokesman John Driscoll, "the police had problems with anti-busers who had CB radios intercepting their calls. So we'll be identifying schools only by numbers. Of course we don't have the anti-busing groups they had in other cities. We just want to be prepared."

The district has an enrollment of 140,000 with a racial ratio of 44 per cent Anglo, 44 per cent black and 12 per cent Mexican-American.

"We've had four months to get ready" said Dallas School Supt. Nolan Estes. "I think we've looked under every rock. We've dotted our i's and crossed our t's."

The desegregation plan was the product of work by a multiracial citizens group. The group, called the Dallas Alliance, was one of many that submitted desegregation proposals to U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr.

Taylor chose the Alliance plan that called for the division of the district into five subdistricts with busing within each subdistrict and the creation of specialized magnet schools in each area.

The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, which had ordered Taylor to implement a desegregation plan this year, has yet to rule on the plan that will go into effect. Although the plan has been praised by many groups in Dallas, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) has challenged it in court, saying it does not go far enough.

School officials are confident the plan has all the ingredients for success socially and academically, Estes said.

Traffic Deaths Run 4% Lower

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Traffic deaths are running 4 per cent lower than a year ago, the Texas Department of Public Safety said Saturday.

The DPS has counted 1,940 deaths on Texas streets and highways this year, compared with 2,024 by this time in 1975.

It said there have been 1,668 fatal accidents, down 3 per cent from the comparable period last year.

Quake Jolts China And Philippines

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — A severe earthquake was reported in central China today, and a mild aftershock was felt in the southern Philippines.

Japanese seismologists reported a quake measuring 7.3 on the Richter Scale in the central Chinese province of Szechuan, in a mountainous, sparsely populated area that has been hit by several tremors in the past few days.

As usual, there was no word of the quake from Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency. But it reported earlier that a quake there earlier this month caused little damage because the population was prepared for it.

The aftershock in the southern Philippines was the 29th since the big quake and tidal wave there last Tuesday. It registered 6.0 on the Richter Scale at the U.S. National Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo., which said its epicenter was located in the Moro Gulf, like the killer quake last week.

However, the National Geophysical Observatory in Manila said it was not severe in Zamboanga City or Cagayan de Oro, two of the cities where it was felt.

McLaury Rites Set Tuesday

Mrs. Nellie Smith McLaury, 84, of Clairemont died at 1:50 p.m. Sunday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Funeral service has been set for 10 a.m. Tuesday at the First United Methodist Church in Jayton. Burial will be in the Clairemont Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home. The body will lie in repose at the family ranch home three miles north of Clairemont until Tuesday.

Mrs. McLaury was a native of Snyder and was married to Dr. W.M. McLaury who preceded her in death.

Surviving are a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Bill McLaury of Girard; a grandson, W.M. McLaury III of Girard; and two great-grandsons, Terry McLaury of Carlsbad, N.M. and Troy McLaury of Girard.

Skies Clear Over Texas

By The Associated Press

Skies were mostly clear over Texas early today which promised to be another hot August day.

Early temperatures ranged from 60 at Dalhart in the Panhandle to 75 at McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The high Sunday was 99 at Wichita Falls.

Continued fair and hot weather was forecast for the entire state, except for some widely scattered showers and thundershowers. Light southerly breezes were expected to keep afternoon highs in the low 90s over most of the state.

Hijackers Captured; Hostages Are Freed

By HARRY DUNPHY
Associated Press Writer

CAIRO (AP) — Egyptian paratroopers overpowered several Arab hijackers holding more than 90 hostages aboard an Egyptian airliner at Luxor, capturing the gunmen and freeing all the hostages without any injuries, the Interior Ministry said today.

Egyptian officials said six paratroopers disguised as mechanics entered the plane, overpowered two hijackers and a third gave up. The officials here had said earlier that there were seven gunmen — five Libyans and two Algerians — and that paratroopers stormed the plane.

The hijackers had been demanding the release of five persons jailed in Egypt and enough fuel to fly to Libya, the sources said.

The hijackers — five Libyans and two Algerians, according to Interior Ministry sources at Luxor Airport - negotiated in sweltering 100-degree-plus heat with officials led by Prime Minister Mamdouh Salem.

The gunmen were also demanding the release of five persons jailed in Egypt in connection with two assassination attempts, the sources said.

The hijackers claim to be members of a new organization called the Abdel Nasser Movement, named after the late Egyptian president.

The gunmen commandeered the Egyptair plane after it took off from from Cairo for Luxor, 448 miles to the south. The semiofficial Middle East News Agency reported the hijackers ordered the pilot to fly to Benghazi, in neighboring Libya. The report said the pilot told the gunmen he didn't have enough fuel and the plane landed at Luxor.

Security forces immediately surrounded the craft and Salem flew to Luxor to take charge of the negotiations.

An Interior Ministry communique said 96 passengers were listed on the plane's manifest, including the hijackers, and the Boeing 737 had a crew of five. Fourteen of the passengers were Arabs, the airline said, and most of the others were French and Japanese tourists.

An official at the New Winter Palace Hotel in Luxor told The Associated Press by telephone that the hotel had sent lunch and drinks for 100 persons on request of officials at the airport.

He said tourists scheduled to leave Luxor had been barred from the airport and passengers already at the field were ordered back to hotels.

Egyptian officials reportedly believed the hijackers had been trained and hired by the Libyan government. Libyan President Moammar Khadafy is Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's main Arab enemy and relations between the two countries are poor. Egypt has accused Khadafy of directing a wave of terrorist attacks in Egypt in recent months. The Libyan leader has denied the charges.

The hijackers demanded the release of three Libyans jailed last month after reportedly confessing that Khadafy had ordered them to kill or kidnap a former Libyan leader, Omer el Meheisky, now living in exile in Egypt, Interior Ministry sources said.

They also called for the release of the manager of South Yemen Airlines in Egypt and a Palestinian.

Forest Fires Contained In England And Wales

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — Six counties in southern England and Wales smouldered today after fire fighters battled through the night and put out two big forest fires and more than 200 smaller blazes that swept through the drought-stricken countryside.

Fire brigade officers warned that the fires could break out again at any time, since Britain's worst drought in 250 years has made southern England and Wales "a giant tinderbox."

Authorities estimated that some 3,000 persons were evacuated Sunday, including 1,000 from a country club, 360 aged patients from St. Leonard's Geriatric Hospital, a nudist colony and holidayers in mobile home parks.

Twenty fire fighters were overcome by heat and smoke, and about 50 homes were destroyed, but no towns were threatened, police reported.

A dozen highways and three major rail lines in southern England were closed as hundreds of troops, firemen and volunteers fought the fires, which were fanned by strong winds.

The biggest blaze was in the Hurn Forest, 15 miles west of Southampton, on England's south coast. Fire chiefs said an estimated six square miles were burned over.

"We stopped the flames only a few hundred yards from St. Leonard's Hospital," a fire officer reported.

"It was terrifying. The flames leapt from the crowns of the trees 60 feet up and we couldn't always get at them. We nearly didn't make it."

The fire fighters used up thousands of gallons of water. The government has already warned that water will soon be rationed in many areas if rain does not fall and replenish dried-up reservoirs, rivers and underground springs.

The fires raged through tinder-dry forests and moorland in five southern counties — Hampshire, Dorset, Kent, Sussex and Norfolk — and Merioneth county in northwest Wales.

Another big fire raged on the holiday island of Guernsey, in the English Channel off the French coast. Firemen in Scotland's West Lothian county said they put out a fire Sunday night after it had burned for 40 hours.

Congress Back To Work Today

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is coming back to work after its recess for the Republican National Convention with Senate-House differences over taxes, abortion and the B1 bomber still to be resolved.

Aside from reaching compromises on those issues, the legislators have a number of other measures to deal with before the Oct. 2 adjournment date set by party leaders.

The Senate starts off today with a bill that would authorize pumping $1 billion in additional subsidies into the deficit-ridden Postal Service over the next two years.

The measure also would create a 12-member commission to study and report by Feb. 15, 1977, on Postal Service problems and how to deal with them. In the interim, postal rate increases and service cuts would be prohibited.

On the agenda for the House on its first day back were bills to control toxic substances and to extend the student loan guarantee program for three years, as well as a variety of lesser measures.

In mid-week the House is to take up a $3.45-billion appropriation bill to fund the modified public service jobs legislation passed over President Ford's veto.

And the Senate is to come to grips with the House's insistence on banning the use of federal funds for abortions.

The ban, previously rejected by the Senate, is included in a $56.6-billion appropriation bill for the Labor and the Health, Education and Welfare departments.

The bill, on which other differences between the Senate and the House have been resolved, is about $4 billion over Ford's budget requests.

The two houses are far apart on the major tax overhaul bill passed by the Senate shortly before the recess for the GOP convention. The House passed its version eight months ago.

The House has not yet appointed conferees to seek a compromise with the Senate, but it is expected to do so shortly.

Along with a wide variety of tax law changes, the bill provides for extending tax cuts for individuals and businesses voted last year in an antirecession move.

The individual tax cuts now in effect are worth about $180 a year to a typical family of four with an income of $15,000.

Also awaiting a Senate-House compromise agreement is a defense appropriation bill that totaled $104 billion when passed by the Senate just before the recess.

A major issue to be resolved is a Senate amendment banning expenditure of $1 billion to start production of the controversial B1 bomber until after next Feb. 1.

This would give the president taking office Jan. 20 a chance to decide whether to go ahead with production. The House, however, voted against delaying orders for the first three B1 bombers until after the presidential inauguration.

Tribute Is Paid To Ralph Carr

DENVER (AP) — The late Ralph L. Carr, who as governor of Colorado offered refuge to Japanese-Americans fleeing prejudice elsewhere in the nation in World War II, has been honored for his actions.

Japanese Ambassador Fumihiko Togo, said Carr's actions "were enduring testimony to the great sense of justice that animates this great democracy."

Togo's remarks came Saturday as a bronze bust of the late governor was unveiled during ceremonies in Sakura Square in downtown Denver.

Carr, who died in 1950, welcomed Japanese-Americans to Colorado and assured them of their rights, while other governors urged they be put in relocation camps. Carr lost political and popular support because of his stand.

LA Bus Drivers On Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bus drivers and mechanics struck the Southern California Rapid Transit District early today, forcing 750,000 commuters in four counties to look for other ways to get to work.

In San Francisco, 1,800 transit workers voted Sunday night to accept a new contract, after threatening a strike that could have shut down other city services as well.

Union and management spokesmen in Los Angeles said the strike of some 4,700 drivers and 1,100 mechanics was called when negotiations broke down shortly before midnight. The walkout began one minute after midnight.

Earl R. Clark, general chairman of the drivers' union, said negotiations broke down after the transit district failed to reply to a new proposal and asked for binding arbitration — a request he said the union would not accept.

A spokesman for the drivers said the final union proposal called for an increase of about 22 per cent in wages and fringe benefits spread over three years.

A transit district spokesman said the union proposal amounted to a hike of 23.28 per cent over three years and that the district had offered 19.47 per cent. He said a fact-finding commission appointed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. had recommended 17.94 per cent.

In a postmidnight statement, RTD General Manager Jack R. Gilstrap said the district's board of directors had authorized increases above the commission's recommendations "in a last effort to avoid the stopping of our bus service."

The vote in San Francisco was 789 to 574 to accept a package that had been approved Thursday by the Board of Supervisors.

The contract raises the hourly wage for bus, trolley and cable car drivers to $7.46 an hour — a 57-cent increase.

Because the drivers had honored picket lines thrown up by other city workers last spring, those workers were expected to return the favor if the drivers struck.

Two Vehicles Are In Mishap

A minor traffic accident was reported by city police officers.

The mishap occurred Saturday at 11:41 a.m. in the 1200 block of College Avenue. Involved in the mishap were a 1974 Ford driven by Billy Allen Ward and a 1972 Ford driven by Johnny Taylor Guynes. Only minor damage was reported to the two vehicles.

Ford Continues Relaxed Vacation

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford is continuing a relaxed vacation schedule that was criticized by his vice-presidential running mate before he was chosen for the second spot on the Republican ticket.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford would continue to mix White House chores with athletics at least for today, but is expected to begin taking part in campaign-strategy sessions with his advisers Tuesday.

Nessen reported that conferences on the campaign already are underway among advisers, although Ford has not been involved in any major way.

Last week, before Ford selected him as his running mate, Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas met with editors of Time magazine, which quoted him in this week's edition as criticizing plans for the Vail stay.

"With eight weeks to go, he (Ford) has to be very aggressive," Dole was quoted as saying. ".... With him going to Vail for a week, that's 15 per cent of it down the drain."

Dole's press secretary, Janet Anderson, who attended the session with the magazine editors, said Sunday night that the quotes "appeared accurate."

Nessen responded by saying, "The President is not wasting his time. This will be a very productive week in the campaign."

Dole is expected to arrive Wednesday for campaign conferences.

Meanwhile, in another weekend development, former Texas Gov. John Connally reportedly turned down a Ford request to become chairman of the Republican National Committee because he believes it is too late for Ford to overcome Jimmy Carter's lead in the presidential polls.

That report in the Sunday Dallas Times Herald said that Connally did not want to be blamed for a Republican loss in November.

Connally could not be reached for comment.

Already in Vail with the presidential party are campaign chairman Rogers C.B. Morton, pollster Robert Teeter, political director Stuart Spence, deputy campaign chief James Baker and communications chief William Greener.

Assistant Press Secretary Bill Roberts told reporters that Ford set aside an hour and a half for staff meetings today, "basically on presidential business."

Ford also planned to get in another 18 holes of golf — a routine he has followed since arriving Friday under doctor's advice to rest.

The President played golf and tennis Sunday and did some swimming. Later, he and his wife, Betty, entertained 14 friends at a dinner.

Mrs. Ford entertained despite a painful flare-up of osteoarthritis in her neck and arms. She seemed in discomfort when accompanying her husband to Lutheran church services. Afterwards, an aide quoted her as saying, "I'm feeling much better" following a massage and heat treatments.

City Firemen Called Twice

City firemen reported two fires.

The latest fire, a car fire, occurred this morning at 10:23 in the 1100 block of Avenue O. Minor damage was all that resulted from a fire in the motor compartment of a 1965 Mercury owned by Rumaldo Canales. No one was injured in the fire.

The other fire reported by firemen was a grass fire. It occurred at 1:10 p.m. Saturday in Hermleigh.

Nixon Says Debate Is 'Good Idea'

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard Nixon thinks it's a "good idea" for President Ford to debate Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter, says a GOP convention delegate who visited with Nixon.

WITH FORD, DOLE ON GOP TICKET

Carter Says His Chances Better In Western States

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jimmy Carter says his chances of carrying the Western states in the November election have been helped by the Republicans' choice of a ticket headed by President Ford with Sen. Robert Dole as a running mate.

"I'll do much better out here now than I would against other possible tickets," Carter said after arriving here Sunday at the start of a four-day campaign swing.

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan "would have added a great deal of trouble for me."

Carter, who attended a star-studded fund-raising dinner and two parties Sunday night, was to meet today with the steering committee of the Democratic National Committee, which is coordinating the Carter campaign with Democratic congressional and state campaigns.

He was also to outline the basic themes of his campaign today at a speech to the Los Angeles Town Hall Forum.

Those themes include the need to restore the public's faith in government and to have government leaders who are responsive to the people.

He was to fly later to San Francisco for another party fundraiser.

Carter said Sunday he approved of Ford's order for a demonstration of military power in Korea as the result of the slayings last week of two U.S. officers by North Korean border guards.

Ford's use of force "has been restrained enough not to expand the incident into a more serious confrontation," Carter said. 'He's done a good job, as far as I know."

Carter said he had recived a telephone briefing on the situation from the CIA.

He also said, "I think it would be a very serious mistake for me as candidate to take an opposite position to President Ford in a time of crisis where our national security might be involved."

Carter began party-hopping Sunday evening with a reception for the steering committee. Actors Steve McQueen and George Peppard were there.

Then he mingled with wealthy California Democrats at a dinner in his honor at the Beverly Hills home of Lew Wasserman, head of MCA, Inc.

Among the guests — who contributed an unspecified amount of money to the Democratic National Committee — were California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., who defeated Carter in the Democratic primary here.

Another guest was Armand Hammer, board chairman of Occidental Petroleum Corp., who pleaded guilty and was put on probation for illegal contributions to the campaign of former President Richard M. Nixon.

Later, actor Warren Beatty threw a party to introduce Carter to some of his famous Hollywood friends. The guest list included Faye Dunaway, Sidney Poitier, Dennis Weaver, Peter Falk, Jon Voigt, James Caan, Carroll O'Connor, Tony Randall, Diana Ross and Louise Lasser.

Carter plans visits to the American Legion national convention in Seattle Tuesday and to the Iowa State Fair in Des Moines on Wednesday.

Connally Explains Action

HOUSTON (AP) — John Connally declined the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee, the former Texas governor said Sunday night, because he considers the post an "administrative appendage" and he wants to campaign actively for GOP candidates at all levels.

He gave that explanation in disputing a published report from Washington that Connally rejected President Ford's request to take the position in the view that it was too late to mount a winning campaign against Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter.

"Certainly the polls indicate we are going to have a tough race, but my position is contrary to that story," Connally told a reporter. "We have a very good chance to win in November. I think it can happen, it should happen and it will happen."

Concerning the party chairmanship, he added, "I said before the convention I wasn't interested in any position like that. It's not going to be the battle line. Running an administrative appendage at this point is not my interest.

"All the effort will be in the presidential campaign and in the Senate and House campaigns. I'm going to try to help the national ticket, and I'm going to campaign for the election of Republicans to the House and Senate."

The Dallas Times Herald reported Sunday in a dispatch from its Washington bureau that persons who worked closely with Connally during the Republican convention in Kansas City said he saw no chance for Ford to beat Carter and did not want to be associated with a GOP loss. The newspaper also said Texas supporters of former California Gov. Ronald Reagan were not expected to campaign for Ford.

"I don't know what the Reagan people will do," Connally said. "I will do what I can for the party."

He said he agrees with Ford's strategy of waging an aggressive campaign, including televised debates with Carter, and predicted Ford will give a good account of himself in any such debates.

Flower Show School Slated At Midland

The Southern Unit of District I, Council of Nationally Accredited Flower Show Judges, will sponsor Flower Show School 4, the 4th in a series of five, to be held September 14, 15, and 16 at Lancaster Garden Center-Museum of the Southwest, 1705 W. Indiana, in Midland. Mrs. L.B. Edwards of Big Spring, is chairman.

This course is of interest to every Garden Cluber as they learn flower show practice and horticulture as well as flower arranging.

Mrs. Garland Barcus, 1420 Preston, Austin, is a nationally known flower show judge and instructor in landscape design, horticulture, flower show practice and conservation. She is a graduate of the University of Texas–Austin, and is a life member of the Violet Crown Garden Club, Austin. She also is a member of the Central Texas Council of Flower Show judges and is a former national awards chairman for Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. Mrs. Barcus has visited famous gardens around the world: in Calcutta, Lahore, Jerusalem, England, Ireland, Mexico, and the United States. Mrs. Barcus will instruct Horticulture and Flower Show Practice at 9 a.m. on September 14, registration begins at 8:30 a.m.

On September 15, at 9 a.m., with registration at 8:30 a.m., Mrs. Irene Haddox Waters will instruct in Flower Arrangement. Mrs. Waters, of Dallas, is a National Flower Show Judge with Life Certificate and Masters Certificate, is an instructor of National Flower Show Schools and a member of the Council of Nationally Accredited Flower Show Judges, the Home and Garden Department of the Dallas Women's Forum, the Dallas Flower Arrangers and Ikebana International. She teaches Advanced Refresher courses and Symposiums in addition to the five regular courses for Flower Show Judges, and has been the featured speaker at various State and Regional Garden Club Conventions. She has taught National Symposium in seventeen states, and Flower Show Schools in twenty-five states.

Mrs. Waters has studied art from childhood. She has a B.A. degree, having specialized in the arts and languages, so it is natural that she loves to "Paint with Petals," and to help others learn this form of creative art.

Examination will be held on September 16 at 9 a.m. Mrs. L.B. Edwards, 2703 Crestline Road, Big Spring, will conduct the examination at the Garden Center in Midland.

Mrs. William L. Drake, 709 Harmony Drive, Midland, is registration chairman. The registration fee before September 2, 1976, is $10, examination fee is $2. After September 2, the registration fee is $12, and examination fee is $2. One-day Observers Fee before September 2 is $5, after September 2 the One-day Observers Fee is $6. To register, please include the name of your club, and if you are taking the course for credit.

Sandwiches or a light lunch will be served for a small fee. Those wishing to have lunch at the center should make reservations. Books on the reading list for the school may be checked out from the center's library.

Tuna Is A Year Round Favorite

By TOM HOGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Conservationists and marine biologists warn that the world stock of tuna is dwindling, which is sad news since this tasty and relatively inexpensive fish is nutritious and also provides healthy fare for those with cholesterol or weight problems.

The International Commission for the Conservation of Atlantic Tunas reported that the total catch for 1974 in both the Atlantic and Mediterranean had declined to 12,000 tons in 1973. Which is quite a drop when you consider the fact that they caught 40,000 tons in those same waters ten years earlier. Plenty of the fish are still caught in the Pacific, of course.

Tuna, a member of the mackerel family, is found in all but the coldest waters of the world, says a report by National Geographic Society. It is the basis of one of the world's oldest and largest fishing industries.

The versatile fish became known in the United States more than 70 years ago when the California sardine, a mainstay of many American dinner tables, began to disappear from the waters off our West Coast. Searching for a replacement, one canner turned to tuna and began turning them out in quantity in his Los Angeles plant.

So great is the demand today that fishing boats from more than 40 nations go after tuna. More than two thirds of the catch is hauled in by American and Japanese fishermen.

The chief varieties of tuna caught commercially range from skipjack, weighing up to 40 pounds; albacore, which runs about 80 pounds; the yellowfin, which can weigh up to 400 pounds, to the bluefin, which sometimes tips the scales at an awesome 1,500 pounds.

Alarmed over the dwindling supply, several countries, including the United States, subscribe to international agreements limiting the number and the size of the fish to be caught. But, unfortunately, many nations do not observe such limits.

Served the year round, tuna is appetizing in both summer salads and cold weather casseroles and has long been a favorite sandwich filling. For a change, try this formula for a summer hearty salad.

- 4 scallions
- 2-3rds cup mayonnaise
- 2 teaspoons curry powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 can (4 ounces) pimiento, diced
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 2 cans (12 ounces each) whole kernel corn, drained
- 2 cans (9¼ ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil

Slice scallions, white and green parts, into ¼-inch pieces. Blend together mayonnaise, curry powder, salt and vinegar. Add scallions, pimiento, celery, and corn and tuna, both well drained. Toss to mix well. Chill and serve in a 1½-quart bowl. Garnish with salad greens if desired. Serves 6. Good with chilled chablis.

Opening lead — Q ♣

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "One of the interesting things about bidding seems to be that it goes through cycles. In the very first days of contract there were no forcing bids at all, so the jump to game became a very strong bid. Then the pendulum swung back and it became a preempt or stop bid."

Jim: "Today, it has all sorts of meanings. Thus, the jump response of three notrump to partner's opening suit bid is supposed to show an opening notrump of 16-18 balanced points."

Oswald: "We don't use the bid often. When we do we won't have 18, but will have from a good 15 up to 17 and every reason to like notrump played from our seat as the right final contract."

Jim: "South was very bitter about his bad luck. West opened the queen of clubs and the defense had five tricks in before South could gain the lead.

Oswald: "It was bad luck, but he brought it on himself. He had sixteen balanced points, but he really did not want to be declarer. Had he just responded with two of a red suit, North would have bid two notrump, played at game and made at least ten tricks."

Ask the Jacobys

A New York reader wants to know if the late Harry Fishbein invented the Fishbein convention.

He certainly did. It was designed to stop people from making silly preempts. It served its purpose whereupon Harry and all other experts abandoned it.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—When some new car shoppers see the sticker prices on this fall's models, they may immediately begin to think of a used car instead.

If you're one of the many consumers who decide to purchase a used car, take a few precautions when shopping so you'll end up with one you can be satisfied with, one that won't cause any unpleasant surprises when you get it home.

Our Consumer Protection Division attorneys recommend the following steps when buying a used car:

-Try to buy from someone you know, so you will have an idea of how the car was treated. If you cannot, trade with either a reputable used car dealer or a new car dealer who operates a used car lot to sell trade-ins. Pick someone who has been in business several years and who relies on repeat customers and referrals. Chances are he will be around if you should have a complaint, and that he will make an effort to resolve any problem, in order to keep your good will.

-Remember that every used car you look at has a history, but it's your job to find out what it is. One step is to copy the Vehicle Identification Number from the engine block or dashboard, the license plate number, the number from the inspection sticker, and the mileage.

-Then call the Motor Vehicle Division of the Department of Public Safety in Austin (512-475-7611) and give them the V.I.N. and license plate number, and ask for the name and address of the title owner of the car. (Usually the used car dealer won't have the title in his name.)

-Call or write the owner and ask for information about the car: the mileage when sold, the selling price, and any problems he might have had with the car. Then compare what he tells you with the information given by the used car dealer. If they're alike, follow the next steps.

-While some reconditioned used cars will have a limited warranty, most are sold "as is," so you should be very careful to check for any potential problems. This means thoroughly test driving the car, being on the lookout for odd noises, oil burning, "mushy" brakes, or unusual shakes. Try all equipment, testing heater, air conditioner, windshield wipers, and radio. Also check the tires. If anything needs repair or replacement, you can bargain to have the price of the car reduced by the amount you'll have to pay to fix it.

-If you're seriously interested in the car, take it to a trustworthy mechanic for an expert's opinion of its condition.

-Then think over the car and price for at least a day before making up your mind. It's a good idea to check at least three dealers, too, before making your final decision.

-And when you do decide, shop around for the best financing. You don't have to take the terms the dealer offers. Banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations, and finance companies all make car loans. When you shop for financing, remember that you should compare the annual percentage rate you would have to pay.

If you have a consumer problem or complaint, get in touch with the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division or your county or district attorney.

Tenneco Fire Probed

CHALMETTE, La. (AP) — Federal officials are investigating a weekend fire that injured a man at the Tenneco oil refinery where 13 men were killed in an explosion two weeks ago.

Marvin Schierman, area director of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, said an investigation of the fire Saturday would be added to its report on the Aug. 12 explosion.

A Tenneco spokesman in Houston said the fire started when hydrocarbon fumes escaping from a leak in a gasoline-making machine were ignited by an unknown cause.

Joseph Krantz, 31, operator of the machine known as an alkylation unit, was burned over 50 per cent of his body.

The alkylation machine was near, but not related to, the 207-foot refining tower where the recent explosion occurred.

Schierman said none of the OSHA reports on the refinery would be made public unless Tenneco is cited for safety violations. He would not say whether a citation was likely.

Schierman refused to confirm or deny statements by some Tenneco workers that the Aug. 12 explosion was caused by natural gas accidentally being pumped into the tower through an air hose.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You've been waiting to see if someone would act in your behalf in an important matter. Put your mind at ease — the answer is "yes."

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A surge of new energy and hope should be yours today. You'll begin to act more independently than you have for some time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your ambitions are still in high gear. Your chances of success remain excellent. Concentrate on achieving things to which you give highest priority.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's your kind of day, but you need an active companion to help you appreciate its fullness. Team up with a goer like yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Difficult tasks don't intimidate you today. You'll do better teamed with another than working alone.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your approach is realistic today. This gives you a slight edge over associates. Don't let them overrule your sound ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You've delayed some changes you want to make because of the effort involved. Today would be a good day to start. You can move a few rungs up the ladder.

Your Birthday

Five Powers Due To Hog Midwest Football Scene

By JOE MOOSHIL
AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Midlands have dominated the national collegiate football championship through the 1970s, with one exception, and there is no reason to believe it cannot happen again.

Can Oklahoma make it three straight national titles or will Nebraska assert itself in the Big Eight? Nebraska won in 1970 and 1971. Oklahoma in 1974 and 1975.

In between, Southern California stepped in for the title in 1972 and Notre Dame took it back to the Midwest in 1973.

Then there is the Big Ten, dominated by Ohio State and Michigan. Although these two powerhouses are consistently ranked among the top 10 during the season — Ohio State topped The Associated Press poll most of the 1975 campaign — they have managed to stub their toes in the bowl games when the national championships are decided.

Not since Ohio State finished on top in 1968 has a Big Ten team won the national title.

If the Midlands again provide the national champion, it will be one of five schools — Oklahoma, Nebraska, Notre Dame, Michigan or Ohio State. Nobody else figures.

Notre Dame can look forward to returning to the Top 10 this year. The Irish are loaded with fine running backs and Rick Slager and Joe Montana will battle for the quarterback spot. Eight starters return on defense including ends Ross Browner and Willie Fry and back Luther Bradley.

Oklahoma, upset only by Kansas last season but a winner over Michigan in the Orange Bowl, has lost heavily. Gone are the Selmon brothers, Leroy and Dewey, from the Sooners' rugged defense.

Oklahoma also lost running back Joe Washington and regular quarterback Steve Davis. But the Sooners, like other major powers, have little trouble recruiting top talent and must be considered for the Big Eight and national championships.

Nebraska appears ready to step out front in the Big Eight. The Cornhuskers won 10 straight last year before falling to Oklahoma and then losing to Arizona State 17-14 in the Fiesta Bowl.

Always tough on defense, Nebraska has eight starters returning to one of the nation's top offensive units including quarterback Vince Ferragamo and tailback Monte Anthony.

Kansas could be a factor in the Big Eight. The Jayhawks, who surprised Oklahoma 23-3 last year, have quarterback Nolan Cromwell, the Big Eight's leading rusher and top player back again along with halfback Laverne Smith.

Oklahoma State has 17 starters returning and could be the dark horse of the league. Missouri has 15 starters back but a tough schedule will be the undoing of the Tigers.

Colorado lost heavily through graduation and will rely on untried talent. Kansas State and Iowa State don't figure in the conference race.

Unless Ohio State can do a quick rebuilding job in the backfield — and there is no reason to believe it cannot be done — Michigan could capture the Big Ten title and the guaranteed trip to the Rose Bowl.

Ohio State lost two-time Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin, the first 5,000-yard rusher in major college history, along with quarterback Cornelius Greene and wingback Brian Baschnagel.

But Coach Woody Hayes — who often has warned, "Don't get caught without a fullback" — has massive Pete Johnson to rebuild around.

Ohio State again has an awesome defense to go with the kicking game of Tom Skladany.

Michigan, with one of its youngest teams in years, lost only to Ohio State and Oklahoma last year. The Wolverines are loaded, with quarterback Rick Leach having a year of experience and Rob Lytle ready to run with the best of them. Calvin O'Neal and Greg Morton anchor a tough Wolverine defense.

If anyone can challenge Ohio State and Michigan supremacy in the Big Ten — the two have won or shared the conference title for the past eight years — it will be Purdue, Minnesota or possibly Illinois.

Michigan State, despite NCAA restrictions for recruiting violations, still has talent but a number of players are ineligible to play in certain games including the season opener at Ohio State.

Quarterback Mark Vitali and running back Scott Dierking head Purdue's hopes. The Boilermakers will make up for size with speed and quickness.

Tom Dungy has become the top passing quarterback in the Big Ten and will head a veteran team at Minnesota. They say you can't win by passing in the Big Ten, but Dungy has an excellent pair of receivers in Ron Kullas and Mike Jones.

Illinois can hold its own on defense with the likes of John DiFeliciantio and Dean March up front and linebackers Scott Studwell and John Sullivan. Offense will be a problem unless quarterback Kurt Steger can take charge.

Indiana and Northwestern are looking forward to improved teams.

Indiana has a great runner in Courtney Snyder and Northwestern has running back Greg Boykin and end Scott Yelvington.

Wisconsin fell apart last year and will be without Billy Marek and Iowa is in another rebuilding year.

Miami of Ohio will be seeking a fourth straight Mid-American Conference title but the Redskins will have to battle off the likes of Bowling Green, Ball State and Central Michigan.

Tulsa again figures to be the power in the Missouri Valley with New Mexico State and West Texas State providing the strongest challenges.

Earl Campbell Is Key To Propects Of Longhorns

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — If Earl Campbell's thick thigh can withstand the stretches and strains of fall football workouts, the Texas Longhorns could romp during the regular season.

Campbell, a 231-pound junior with enough speed to outrun many defensive backs, missed spring training with a pulled hamstring muscle, and published reports pictured Longhorn coaches as fearful it would keep him out in the fall.

"Earl has a 28¾-inch thigh. That's a lot more to pull than the average leg," says Coach Darrell Royal, "but the story was blown way out of proportion. He's running full speed."

Campbell has run for 2,046 yards in two years, which has resulted in predictions that Campbell could be the No. 1 pro draft choice after his senior season.

Eight offensive and 10 defensive regulars return from the Texas team that won 10 and lost two last season, finishing sixth in the college football poll after belting Colorado 38-21 in the Astro Bluebonnet Bowl.

Absent, however, will be quarterback Marty Akins, who was all-Southwest Conference.

His probable successor is sophomore Ted Constanzo, who was roughed up by Texas A&M's top-ranked defense last year in a 20-10 Longhorn loss after Akins got hurt. Constanzo's challengers are another sophomore, Mike Cordaro, who got such a slow start that Royal didn't learn to pronounce his name for months, and Randy McEachern, who must overcome practice jitters.

The offensive line appears solid, and several freshman speedsters, including Olympic gold medal winner Johnny Jones, a member of the 400-meter relay team, should put pep in the halfback corps.

Wide receiver Alfred Jackson is rated a future pro star by Royal. And kicker Russell Erxleben averaged 41.4 yards a punt and hit 10 of 13 field goals as a freshman.

Defensive coach Mike Campbell fretted over the way Colorado "marched up and down the field" in the Astro Bluebonnet Bowl, but he says his veteran defense has "experience, pretty good quickness and size where you need it."

Where you need it is at defensive tackle, and Royal and Campbell are impressed with junior Brad Sheared, 6' 4" and 260 pounds, and Ernest Lee, 6-4 and 250. Shearer was all-SWC last year, and Lee led the team in tackles in Texas' final two games.

The all-senior linebacking trio of Bill Hamilton, Rick Fenlaw and Lionell Johnson were credited with 400 tackles in 1975, and Johnson must fight off the challenge of a 228-pound sophomore, Dwight Jefferson, to keep his job.

The defensive ends are Campbell's brother, Tim, voted the most valuable defensive player in the bowl game as a freshman, and Steve Sraty. Both are 5-11 and weigh under 200 but have quickness.

Massengale Formula Pays Off

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Take a tip from your brother, mix it with trust in God and then concentrate on your golf game.

That formula brought Rik Massengale, a soft-spoken Texan, the $42,000 top prize in the $210,000 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open golf tournament Sunday in steambath-like conditions.

Massengale, who leads a Bible study group that meets regularly on the pro golf tour, fashioned a strong five-under-par 31 on the back nine for a final-round 66 as he held off a host of challengers on the Wethersfield Country Club's 6,598-yard course, one of the shortest on the tour.

Softball Title On Line Tonight

The championship game of the Snyder Men's Fast-Pitch Softball League is set for tonight on the Winston Park diamond.

Top Acidizers, winner of the first half with a 8-2 record, and Wadleigh Construction, winner of the second half with a 13-1 record, will meet in the final game of the season. The game will begin at 8 p.m.

Tom Seaver broke in with Jacksonville in the International League at age 21 in 1966 and compiled a 12-12 record.

White Has Nice Visit In Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — It was homecoming for rookie quarterback Danny White of the Dallas Cowboys and a lot of old friends turned out to see the former local star who had made it to the big league.

"It was practically a reunion," said White, who threw two fourth quarter touchdown passes Saturday night to lead the Cowboys to their first preseason victory, a 36-16 rout of the Detroit Lions.

"Coming back to Memphis was nice, because I got to see a lot of old friends," he said.

A crowd of 30,340 in Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium displayed a clear partiality to Dallas and to White, former signal-caller for the Memphis Grizzlies of the defunct World Football League.

White, 6-1, 180, had been drafted by the Cowboys in 1974 out of Arizona State, but chose the WFL because of the possibility of more playing time in the new league.

When the WFL folded in Oct, 1975, White went to Dallas where he is now a punter and the backup quarterback to Roger Staubach, who guided the Cowboys to the Super Bowl last year only to lose to the Pittsburgh Steelers, 21-17.

White, who played the last half after coming in for Staubach, threw both of his scoring strikes, of 8 and 13 yards, to wide receiver Duke Ferguson, 6-1, 193, a rookie from San Diego State.

The Lions, 1-4, got the game's first touchdown on running back Dexter Bussey's romp over right tackle for 47 yards.

But Dallas, 1-3, came back on their next possession with placekicker Enfren Herrera hitting a 42-yard field goal with 3:46 remaining in the first quarter.

Detroit opened the second quarter with linebacker Charlie Weaver's 10-yard sack of Staubach for a safety. But Herrera added a 31-yard field goal and John Smith took the ball over from a yard out to give Dallas a 13-9 halftime advantage.

Detroit regained the lead, 16-13, with 7:15 remaining in the third quarter when rookie running back Lawrence Gaines caught a screen pass from quarterback Greg Landry and rambled 67-yards for a touchdown.

Tigers Have Plenty Of Competition For Lineup

With only nine returning lettermen, the Snyder High School Tigers are going to have to depend upon several first year varsity men and a lot of enthusiasm to carry them in their quest for the District 3-AAA football championship this season.

New head coach Mike Jenkins said it is an honor to be chosen by the other coaches in the district as the pre-season favorite. However, Jenkins points out several teams in the district have a shot at the crown. He said he chose Estacado to win the title because the Matadors have a host of returning numeral winners.

Jenkins said there is good balance in the district this season and any one of several teams could take the title. He points out Lake View and Dunbar will be strong. Lamesa has a young team, he said, but the Tornadoes will be tough before the season is over.

Concerning the Tiger's choice as the top team, Coach Jenkins said the choice has got to reflect on the tradition of Snyder and the respect people have for Snyder.

"If a team gets through the district schedule undefeated, they'll be lucky," he added.

The Tigers have only two returning starters on offense. They are Sam Kitching, senior pivotman, and David Rice, senior tight end. Defensive regulars include tackles Sam Kitching and Richard Willis, linebackers Ricky Beard and Greg Pavlik and nose guard Darrell Lester. Other returning lettermen are strong safety Doug Morrell, defensive back Ramsey Tercero and linebacker Mike Quiros.

Jenkins said the varsity squad will number 36 men. He said strong points of the Tigers this season will be the defensive line and enthusiasm.

His main concern is a lack of depth and the fact the local lads will be learning a new system.

Jenkins has installed the veer offense at Snyder. Defensively, the Tigers will go with a "52" alignment.

Jenkins has an entire new staff for the varsity football team. It includes Wes Poarch, a native of Hereford, who is the first assistant and defensive coordinator; Tommy Doyle, a native of Lamesa, who will be the offensive line coach; and, Roger Goodwin, the defensive line coach. Goodwin is a native of Rising Star.

"I'm real pleased with the staff," Jenkins said. "They are enthusiastic and knowledgeable."

The Tigers have been working out twice a day, but with the start of school have cut down to once daily drills. The boys begin workouts at 3 p.m. at the high school.

There have been several close battles for starting positions, and three of the positions still are up for grabs. Competition has been close for the tailback, safety and one of the guard positions.

Tailback candidates include Doug Morrell, Tommy Smith, Herbert Thompson and Clay Peterson. Fighting for a starting berth at guard are Greg Early, Lee Allen Jarrell and John Hopkins while James Wells and Brent Terry are vying for the starting safety position.

Other tentative starters include Tim Falls at quarterback, Allen Row at center, Doug McGee at guard, Greg Pavlik and Richard Willis at tackle, Alvin Ollison at split end, Ricky Beard at fullback, and James Wells at flanker.

Defensively, the other lads currently operating on the first string are John Hopkins at nose guard, Randy Collum and Richard Willis at tackle, Tommy Smith and Ricky Fritz at end, Pavlik at linebacker, Doug Morrell at monster, Ollison at strong corner, and Ramsey Tercero at quick corner.

"We hope to have good balance this season," said Coach Jenkins. He said the Tigers will be working at moving the ball with equal ability overland and through the air.

"We also will have an aggressive type defense," the new coach declared. "We'll run a multiple front and move around a lot and try to take the ball away from them.

"We've been fortunate in that we've had no serious injuries that will sideline anyone for a long time," Coach Jenkins pointed out.

He said the only two injuries sustained so far are hamstring pulls which have hampered Tracey Witherspoon and Clay Peterson. Both are offensive backs.

Booster Club Meets Tonight

The Tiger Booster Club will meet at 7 o'clock tonight in the high school cafeteria. Erwin Pavlik, president of the club, said members will see films of the scrimmage with Odessa Ector.

Memberships are still available in the Booster Club. The club supports athletic activities at Snyder High School. The first varsity football game is set for Sept. 3 in Monahans.

'Super Fly' Strain Should Booster Screwworm Fight

By MILLER H. BONNER JR.
Associated Press Writer

MISSION, Tex. (AP) — Officials at the Screwworm Eradication Plant point to a strain of "super flies" that should help the Rio Grande Valley facility live up to its name.

The plant, opened at the then-abandoned Moore Air Force Base near Mission in 1962, has been criticized recently for the outbreak of screwworms over the last five years.

Historically, screwworms have ravaged the cattle industry in the southwest. Screwworm flies lay eggs in the wounds of warm-blooded animals. The eggs produce screwworms that attack the flesh leading to death if not treated in time.

The plant sterilizes flies by bombarding them with gamma rays. These "man-made" flies are flown out of the plant and dropped into areas infested with screwworms.

Theoretically, the sterilized "man-made" flies are flown out of the plant and dropped into areas infested with screwworms.

Theoretically, the sterilized "man-made" flies satisfy the sexual urge of wild flies without producing any new flies.

U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) figures revealed the number of reported screwworm cases had dropped from a high of 50,850 in 1962 to 153 cases by 1970. USDA economists estimated the plant was responsible for a drop in prices representing an annual saving of $4.81 to every American beef consumer.

But in 1972, the number of cases jumped to a record-high 95,642. Although official figures show significant decreases since then, the director of the eradication plant expects "more than 35,000 cases this year."

The plant came under fire this month after a group of University of Texas researchers published a report in a science journal which said the sterilized flies were not attractive to wild flies because of genetic differences.

"The researchers did alert us to a problem," said Dr. Chris Hoffman, the chief entomologist in charge of methods development at the Mission plant. "I personally disagree with some of their findings but as a precaution we stopped production for 48 hours to alleviate any possible contamination."

The result, said Hoffmann, is a new strain of flies that could eventually eradicate screwworms.

Beginning in March of this year, a fly Hoffmann called "double-o nine" began making advances toward the wild flies across the southwest.

"This fly is going to rectify the problem," he predicted. The plant's director, Dr. M. E. Meadows, said the "super flies" must be aided by ranchers who "just aren't practicing animal husbandry like they used to."

"There are other factors (for the increase in screwworm cases) such as weather changes, other insects and the drastic increase in the number of cattle," he said. "But in the 1960s most ranchers had a fleet of cowboys trained to deal with the screwworm. Now they don't.

"That is true," said Jim McAllen, part-owner of a 70,000-acre ranch in Hidalgo County. "The wage scale in this type work can't compare with industrial jobs in the city. Most of the men who used to work cattle have moved to town.

"I get tired of them (plant officials) blaming us," he continued.

"We've got more beef to produce ... we're in an economic squeeze. We're getting 1950 prices for our cattle and look how other prices have gone up since then.

"But they're first generation fly sterilizers and we're about fifth generation ranchers. Now who's right and who's wrong? If you start fooling with mother nature, she'll come back to haunt you."

Despite his complaints, the Rio Grande Valley rancher said he "believes in the program."

"It's our only solution," he said. "We'll hold our end up and just hope they can too."

Tiger sharks, prowling shallow reef mouths and harbors, are often scavengers, according to the National Geographic Society. They are known to eat sea birds, garbage, tin cans, lumps of coal and, in one instance, a 30-foot roll of yard wide roofing paper.

Rules Weighed To Ban Credit Discrimination

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The Federal Reserve System is considering new rules to implement laws prohibiting bankers, merchants and others from denying credit solely because of age, race, color, religion, national origin or receipt of welfare benefits.

A key section of the rules is designed to prevent discrimination against the elderly. Such discrimination was banned by Congress earlier this year when it amended the Equal Credit Opportunity Act. Supporters of the legislation said that elderly people — who grew up before the advent of the "charge-it" society and are used to paying cash — often are rejected when they do apply for credit late in life.

(The Equal Credit Opportunity Act itself banned discrimination based on sex or marital status and Federal Reserve regulations implementing those provisions took effect last October.)

The amendments to the law permit creditors to take age into account — if they can show statistics to prove that it "represents a pertinent element of creditworthiness." Creditors are not allowed to set a mandatory cut-off age, however.

Here's what that means, according to a spokesman for the Fed's Office of Saver and Consumer Affairs:

A creditor who can show statistically that people aged 40 to 50 are better credit risks than those aged 50 to 60 is allowed to use that information to give a 45-year-old applicant a better rating than a 55-year-old applicant. If statistics showed that the older age group paid more promptly and defaulted less often, the 55-year-old would have the advantage.

What the creditor cannot do, is set an arbitrary limit — say 65 — and refuse to give credit to anyone over that age.

Among the problems involved in implementing the law are deciding exactly what is meant by elderly and figuring out whether the age provision protects the young as well as the old.

The Fed is seeking comments from the public on the subject. The deadline is Sept. 1 and anyone who has an opinion should write to Secretary, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C., 20551. The finalized regulations will take effect next March.

In another area, the Federal Reserve System is trying to define what's meant by the phrase "adverse action" as it is used in the law. This is important because the legislation requires creditors who take adverse action against an applicant to let him or her know within a reasonable period of time and to give the reason, if asked.

The Fed has proposed defining "adverse action" as the refusal to grant credit or increase an applicant's credit limit when requested. The refusal to authorize a point-of-sale transaction that exceeds a previously established credit limit would be an "adverse action."

What does all this mean?

Suppose you apply for a bank credit card. You are turned down. That's adverse action.

Suppose you have a bank credit card with a limit of $500 and ask to have the limit raised to $700. You are turned down. That's adverse action.

Suppose you have a bank credit card with a limit of $500 and go to a store and try to make a purchase for $550. You are turned down. That's not adverse action.

Scientists To Study 'Emmy'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Twenty-five scientists plan to fly over tropical storm Emmy this week to begin tests they hope will lead eventually to control of hurricanes.

They will monitor the storm in a specially-equipped Convair 990 four-engine jet.

Flying at altitudes of 40,000 to 50,000 feet, they will test experimental sensors used in satellites and spacecrafts and other equipment, said Earl Peterson, mission manager for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

"Their primary mission will be in support of our research activities," said Dr. Robert Sheets, chief of the hurricane group at the National Hurricane and Meteorology Laboratory in Miami.

He said two other airplanes will continue to provide medium-and low-altitude storm measurements while the scientists gather high-altitude data.

Sheets said the research will be used for constructing equipment that will predict changes in the development and intensity of hurricanes, although he said outright forecasting is a long-term goal. He said the equipment already exists that can predict a hurricane's movement after it has developed.

Dr. Tommy Thompson, one of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory scientists on the mission, said the sensors being tested would be used to map the ocean surface and measure such things as wave lengths and wind speeds.

The sensors could be used to detect high-sea conditions for routing of ships and to monitor the ocean surface temperature for obtaining the exact location of the Gulf Stream, said one scientist.

Consumer Price Index May Distort, Deceive

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The national consumer price index is to your wallet what the Dow Jones industrial average is to your stock portfolio. It may have much meaning, or it might have none at all.

Investors know that it is very unlikely that anyone would buy all 30 stocks in the industrial average and no others, and so the daily fortunes of investors usually vary widely. Some will win, others lose, regardless of the average.

And economists know that the national consumer price index, while valuable as an indicator of the economy's direction, might apply precisely to none of the geographic areas of the country.

Neither the industrial average nor the consumer price index can be used as a measure of one's own finances.

In July, for example, the price index for the nation as a whole rose 0.5 per cent, but in New York the rise was only 0.4 per cent, in Detroit 0.7 and in Los Angeles, a very inflationary 1.1 per cent.

If you examine the past 12 months you find a similarly diverse story.

Whereas the price index for the entire nation rose 5.4 per cent from July of 1975 to July of 1976, the increase was 6.7 per cent in both Chicago and Philadelphia.

The breakdown of the components also reveals vast differences.

New Yorkers during 1976 experienced an increase in housing costs of only 0.1 per cent, or 1.2 per cent on an annual basis. But in Los Angeles, housing cost rose 1.1 per cent, or 13.2 per cent annually.

Is the consumer price index therefore meaningless? Not at all.

The CPI does have an application that is more limited than many people realize, but it is nonetheless an essential measurement of over-all direction, one that policy makers could scarcely do without.

It does, however, have rather limited application to individual decision-making because of the wide geographical range of habitation and the diverse living habits of individuals.

If the statistics are used as individual guides, then the geographical breakdowns for particular areas are much more valuable than the national averages, although still not nearly so valuable as one's own personal records.

It isn't only the CPI that is often misconstrued as a guide to personal affairs rather than as a general indicator of the economy. The popularly used jobless rate is often so misused, to the chagrin of the Labor Department.

Invariably, some individuals apply the rises and falls of jobless rate as a measure of their own job security, if they have one, or a measure of their chances of finding a job, if they are unemployed.

Used properly, the numbers are invaluable. Used for the wrong purpose, however, the numbers can often distort and deceive.

Dr. Lamb

Heart failure can cause swelling

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My father is 88 years old. He lives in Wisconsin with my 86-year-old mother. He has been healthy and happy and able to do all his chores until the last two or three months. He walked to the barn a couple of times a day, about four blocks to the mail box every day and even cleared the sidewalk of snow.

His ankles and feet have been swelling. His doctor says it's his heart and gave him pills for his heart and for the swelling. I don't think he has high blood pressure. He has also taken water pills before.

He doesn't eat much salt. The pills don't help the swelling and he feels weak. My brother said he didn't go to church last Sunday. I haven't been able to find out exactly what kind of pills he takes, since I live in Utah.

My dad is 140 to 145 pounds and 5 feet 5. I wonder if you could give some suggestions as to what you think might be causing his legs to swell and if there is anything that might help him at his age.

My doctor told my brother that changing my dad's diet wouldn't help now. Dad could eat anything. Last Thanksgiving when I was in Wisconsin he was so spry, did all the chores, fed two steers in the barn, went to church, visited my brothers' homes and went out to dinner with us. He felt good and enjoyed all of it.

DEAR READER—It is hard to produce miracles and yet all of us hope for them to hope some doctor will provide one.

Your father has done remarkabley well and seems to have enjoyed all of his 88 years. I presume that he has swelling of the feet and ankles from heart failure. Many things can cause it but since your doctor has been giving him heart pills that is the most likely problem at his age.

Heart failure is not the same thing as a heart attack. It is caused by a weakening of the heart muscle that can occur from many different causes. Commonly the arteries to the heart muscle become diseased and gradually the heart muscle is damaged, rather than the sudden change you see with an acute heart attack. Inflammation of the heart muscle or overwork from valvular disease can cause it, too but I would expect it to be related to your father's arteries at his age.

There is a limited amount that can be done. Medicines to eliminate salt and water are helpful. The use of heart medicines (the digitalis group) to strengthen the heart muscle sometimes work like a miracle earlier in the course of the illness. Eventually the patient has to strictly limit physical activity.

The one area that can often be improved is in limiting salt intake. I note you say your father doesn't use much salt. In such problems any salt is too much. Moreover, it is better to limit the foods that contain lots of salt (sodium). That means limiting the meat group and particularly avoiding cured meats and cold cuts. Milk has to be limited or you must find low salt milk products. Strict adherence to a low salt diet may be helpful but it isn't much fun.

Those who want information on the aging process can send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for For the Health Letter number 1-7, Perpetual Youth, Aging. Send your letter to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Sex and the D.C. Secretaries

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I see in the news that American taxpayers are paying up to $26,000 annually to provide its elected officials with "female companionship" around the clock.

I am a disabled veteran. I draw only $8,340 a year and can't afford a mistress, so I have to sleep with my own wife.

Sign me...

LACKING BENEFITS

DEAR LACKING: Let's hear it from a homemaker who has another view of the news:

DEAR ABBY: That buxom blonde Washington secretary who can't type or answer the phone but drew $14,000 a year for entertaining her boss has made my day!

I am a housewife whose job doesn't pay a salary, but it's comforting to know that I'm worth $14,000 a year just for entertaining my husband twice a week.

When I add that to what I must be worth for cleaning, cooking, doing the laundry and raising the kids, it makes me feel terrific.

WORTH MILLIONS

DEAR WORTH: And now a word from a secretary who works "on the hill."

DEAR ABBY: I 'm a hard-working, well-paid, Washington secretary, hired to do office work, and that's all I'm expected to do. I resent all those "ladies-in-waiting" who have given us government gals a bad name. In self-defense I paid a dollar for a badge that says, "I CAN TYPE!"

FOR THE RECORD

DEAR ABBY: Should a dinner guest (whether it be a friend or relative) offer to help the hostess clear the table between courses and when dinner is finished?

I am referring to homes where there are no paid domestic employees.

BLUE ISLAND, ILLINOIS

DEAR BLUE: If it's obvious that your hostess could use a little help, offer. But if she declines, take her at her word and don't insist.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is 60 years old. She was married 10 years ago by the justice of the peace and now she wants a church wedding with all the trimmings.

She's having her four young nieces as bridesmaids, and her "maid" of honor is an old maid of 70 who was her childhood friend. The "bride" is wearing a long white (!) gown and there's to be a large reception in a rented hall.

I say, getting married in church is fine, but at her age and after 10 years of marriage, she should have a quiet religious ceremony and a dinner afterward in someone's home or in a nice restaurant. I also think a white gown is in poor taste.

Everyone is laughing at her. What is your opinion?

N.J. FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: I think it's a beautiful idea, and I, for one, see nothing to laugh about. It's her first religious ceremony, so why shouldn't she have the kind of wedding she wants?

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Millionaire Said In 'Hospital'

NEW YORK (AP) — The whereabouts of a millionaire Texan who vanished from a bloodstained motel room were unknown today despite reports to police here that he was undergoing treatment in a mental hospital in Texas.

Rodney Hughes, 34, checked into a New York motel a week ago and vanished the following day when a maid found his wallet in the bloodstained room.

Efforts to locate Hughes, who was reportedly carrying $300,000, have failed.

"We can't confirm that he is okay, but we did get a call saying he was in a Texas hospital," a New York police spokesman said Sunday.

The spokesman said that two men telephoned Sunday, identifying themselves as lawyers. He said they told police that Hughes was undergoing treatment in a mental hospital near Fort Worth, Tex.

The lawyers identified themselves as Larry Weber and Keith Meyer. Officers said Sunday they have not been able to locate the men and have not been able to confirm if they are from New York or Texas.

At the Hughes home in Vernon, a woman who identified herself as Hughes' mother but would not identify herself by name, said only that Hughes is in a "hospital."
