Detroit Woman and Assistant Run School in Old Cottage to Help Modern Girl Keep House on $128

Miss Frances Van Buskirk, left, and Miss Adelaide Weishart

By NEA Service
DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 4.—Disappearance of home life will not be the great American tragedy if Frances Van Buskirk can help it.

In her school for Brides-to-be here she teaches flappers contemplating matrimony:

How to serve appetizing meals on 33 cents a day.

How to make a "home" out of odds and ends of furniture, a few bits of gay chintz, and a $10 phonograph.

Why to beware of the movie show around the corner.

Don't be afraid to get married.

Any wife, if she follows my advice, can live comfortably, pay $50 a month rent—yes, and raise three children—on a budget of $128 a month.

Hundreds Attend
Hundreds of blushing brides and brides-to-be have learned the art of housemaking in Mrs. Van Buskirk's school, which is maintained by the Visiting Housekeeper's Association. She lives in a plain, unpretentious cottage not far from the center of the city. Students enter her class, four at a time, by moving into her home, bag and baggage. Twenty-one strenuous days later they emerge, housekeepers any man could be proud of.

They've learned, in those three weeks, to sweep out the corners of the living-room, to wash the dishes after every meal, and to think twice before indulging in the luxury of buying butter at the delicatessen store.

First Home Fun
"And they've learned," says this kindly, aid to Dan Cupid, "to find fun in their home. If parents would only provide pleasures, games, books, phonograph music to dance to—their children would not seek amusement elsewhere."

Here, so many of the girls who come here live in houses instead of homes; they think our simple entertainment rare, and so do the young men who call on them.

"We do go to the movies of course, once a week or so (and we buy coupon books of admission to save money). But thousands of husbands and wives go out night after night simply because staying in bore them. It seems

Lewis on the importance of patrons attending Parent-Teacher meetings of schools and participating in the work of these associations, and another talk on the relation of the physical condition of the children to their school work by Mrs. E. Music was given by the choral club that is directed by Miss Ethel Rives.

She mentioned school nurses that are employed many places and told of the value of their work.

AUSTIN, Feb. 4 (AP).—The house today adopted 79 to 46 the senate concurrent resolution calling for appointment of a committee of fifteen to conduct a statewide tax survey and recommend remedies for the "present patch work of out-of-date tax acts and inequitable levies." The unexpected resignation of Chief Clerk of the House Carl Phinney at noon adjournment and attempts to elect his assistant, Miss Louise Snow of Lyford, to the vacancy, by acclamation, brought insinuations "railroading" from Representative George Purl.

KIDNAPERS ARE AFTER FORTUNE

Arkansans Who Had Banker Held For Ransom Still Look For Spoils

(By Associated Press)
MANSFIELD, Ark., Feb. 4 (AP).—Bandits are taking to the game of "treasure hunt" or at least are fitting it to their purpose.

A sheriff posse searching for outlaws who kidnaped C. C. Graves, Mansfield banker and left him trussed and gagged in a deserted farm house near Howe, Oklahoma, spent the night following a trial of written directions and returned today to the point they had started empty handed. Graves released himself and returned to his home yesterday.

News Are Followed
The first note by the kidnapers who sought a ransom for the liberation of the banker, declared that Graves' relatives pointed to a place near Hartshorne. There, they found another message telling them to "leave the car and walk up the road" to a white flag. There they were instructed to leave the money and return to their automobile. About this time the posse heard a car start in the mountains nearby. They gave chase but were outdistanced.

Returning to their automobile they found another directing them to go to the culvert where the first note was found. There they found directions to "go to a house four miles west of Howe and search."

They are continuing the hunt.

Cross-patch tempers

SHE knew people were beginning to notice how irritable she was—but she simply couldn't help it. . . . How could she be gay when throbbing eyes and endless headaches made up her day?

What a vicious thing constipation is! It wrecks vitality, it saps beauty. It fills the brightest heart with despair. What a blessing there is a safe, sure relief from this curse! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—pleasantly, permanently. More—to prevent it.

Why ALL-BRAN is better than part-bran

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs a great deal of moisture which it carries through the digestive system. At the same time it gently distends the intestines—cleansing, purifying, removing poisons and wastes. Being 100% bulk, ALL-BRAN accomplishes 100% results. How different from part-bran products, which contain too little bulk to be effective—often nothing is accomplished. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN.

Don't trust habit-forming pills! Contrast ALL-BRAN with pills and drugs—that become useless unless the dose is constantly increased! ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream, and add fruits or honey. Let it soak a few moments to bring out its nut-like flavor. Sprinkle ALL-BRAN in soups. Recipes on every package.

Don't risk part-bran substitutes. Insist on genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served by diners, hotels, restaurants. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

AMERICAN LEAGUE EXPERIENCES TROUBLE

JUNIOR CIRCUIT IN HARD WINTER AND MANY ROWS

SCANDALS, POLITICS AND MANAGERIAL SHIFTS ARE BUGABOOS

(By Associated Press)
 CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—The greatest upheaval in the twenty-seven years existence of the American League swept through the organization this winter. Ban Johnson, patriarch of the league, was placed "on leave" to recover his health, and the executive authority turned over to Frank Navin, league vice-president and owner of the Detroit club.

Johnson's retirement was the climax to the downfall of a procession of club managers unprecedented in major league history. Five new pilots will be at the helm this year, the only holdovers being the perennial Connie Mack of the Athletics, Bucky Harris with Washington and Miller Huggins with the Yankees.

Torn By Scandals
 Torn by stories of scandals all winter, the club owners finally managed to end the discord and then turned to bid against each other for the services of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, storm centers of one of the chief disputes of the league season. Speaker finally chose to sign with Washington, after considering and rejecting offers from New York and Philadelphia. Cobb is still dickering with the St. Louis Browns aptly having the inside track.

The places they vacated as managers at Detroit and Cleveland were filled by George Moriarty and Jack McAlister. Dan Howley succeeded George Sisler as manager of the St. Louis Browns. Bill Carrigan, who led the Boston Red Sox to their series of successes ten years ago, was persuaded to come back and try to get them out of the cellar. Eddie Collins gave up the management of the White Sox to return to his first love, Connie Mack, and Ray Schalk, premier backstop of the American League, was named manager.

Club Owners Inactive
 With such a series of managerial appointments, club owners seemed to have little time left to swap and purchase players, but the White Sox and Yankees completed one deal and the Detroit and St. Louis clubs made another trade.

In their first American League trade in many years the White Sox obtained Aaron Ward, fill the second base vacancy, and Detroit got Marty McManus, the Browns infielder.

SIX HOLD HONOR
 Only six times in the history of the organization has the leading batter of the American League finished with an average better than .400. Larry Lagbe told the trick first, then Cobb performed the feat. Sisler did the same stunt, then Heilmann.

BEST BASE RUNNER
 Johnny Mostil of the Chicago White Sox is considered the best base runner in the American League. He is very fast despite the fact that he is heavily legged.

One of the first official acts of Augustus Caesar was to revise the rules of football, a game learned by the Romans from the Greeks.

Bristling Battles of Bare Fist Days

My life story by Jack McAuliffe

I nearly died laughing when Billy Madden and I landed at North Tadsion, Ind., for my famous fight with Billy Myers, the Stretator Cyclone. A gang of my friends were along with me and the Cyclone had a gang of friends along with him too, and everywhere we went, walking up and down the streets of the city, the people slammed doors hurriedly in our faces and poked guns out of windows and ordered us to move on. They thought we were Chicago bandits raiding the town!

The fight was held Feb. 12, 1926. It was staged above a saloon and as I stood downstairs at the bar watching the attendance troop upstairs, I noticed a suspicious bulge over every man's hip. They were all packing guns. You can imagine how I felt, coming from the east, hearing all the stories about how tough the Chicago gangsters were, and then facing a dangerous man like the Cyclone.

Just before the fight I ate some jelly that had been soaked in sherry. The effect of the alcohol made me dizzy so when I clambered into the ring I saw four Cyclones in front of me and four times as many fists coming at me. There has been stories circulated that I was doped. They are not true.

Myers was a dangerous puncher and fought up to his nickname by tearing in and fighting at a fast and furious pace.

I stood back and stabbed him with my left. He lacked ring technique and I soon cut him to ribbons. In the

DROP HEART-BREAKER BY SCORE OF 30-29 TO END ROAD TRIP

(Special to the Journal)
 ABILENE, Feb. 4.—Again the Matadors left the McMurry gymnasium defeated here last evening in their last exhibition this season in Abilene. It was a heart breaking and drastic end of a thrilling contest. The Matadors were ready to take the last game and fourth round I popped him on the jaw and he went down.

 In the yelling and excitement the gang swarmed toward the ringside, leaning over and straining the ropes. My little gang was hopelessly outnumbered. They were led by Dick Roche, the famous gambler; Jimmy Colville, Ed Snapper Garrison, the great jockey; Jimmy McLoughlin, another jockey; Billy Donohue, who rode the first Suburban winner, and Ike Plout. They moved over and made a wall in back of me as I sat down between rounds.

Myers had recovered from the blow and arose in time to avoid a knock-out.
 In the fifth round I began to stab him again and he kept up his relentless rushing and wild swinging. He had a murderous punch. I thought if it ever lands my head will go sailing clean out the window.

In the eighth round he ducked awkwardly. I swung a hard right. I growled inwardly, not daring setting him know what happened. I had broken my right arm!

EDITOR'S NOTE: In the next chapter McAuliffe tells how he stood off the murderous Cyclone with one hand and how two bandits befriended him while robbing the gate.

Rosenberg, an oft-suspended champion because of his refusals to defend his title, was a slight favorite in speculation but critics conceded Graham a strong chance to lift the crown.

Rosenberg is not recognized as a champion in some states. Illinois regards Bud Taylor as world's title holder.

Hitting Sports Highspots

With James R. Dow

The Higginbothams, lost their last game with the McMurry Indians last night with a one point margin. Tough enough—the same old Jinx. It was West's easy sinker after he broke away from the scarlet defense that won the game for the Medleymen.

The Matadors won one game in Abilene—split with Simmons in two games; lost two to A. C. C.; and dropped two with the Indians.

The Plainview Bulldogs won the Hale county championship last night by defeating the Hale Center quintet with a score of 39 to 16. The Bulldogs are putting up the strongest bid for the Lubbock district basketball championship of any club in the district. The wearers of the green and white recently won the Floydada tourney in which ten of the best South Plains teams took part.

Jack Sharkey and Mike McTeague will meet in a fifteen round match on March 3. The bout will be staged at Madison Square Garden. This brings on an array of heavyweight bouts for the month of February and March. The following bouts have already been arranged for: February 7, Young Stribling vs. Eddie Huffman; February 18, Jack Delaney vs. Jimmy Maloney; February 25, Paulino Uzcudun vs. Knute Hansen; March 3, Jack Sharkey vs. Mike McTeague.

Connie Mack is delighted with the Phillies season's outlook with the addition of Zack Wheat, former Roblin outfielder for Brooklyn, to the Philadelphia line-up.

The county rural schools will meet tomorrow on the new assembly hall floor for the rural championship. Ten teams have entered for the meet and it is expected that the day will be engaged in running off the tournament. The winners of this meet will clash with the city schools for the county championship.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4. (AP)—Spot demand and prospects for farm rent speculation by congress caused cotton prices to advance to new levels after showing a decline from the opening gains of 1 to 4 points. New York's easy opening and the ignoring by that market of good Liverpool cables indicated the early decline here. At the end of the first hour, March was trading at 13.51, May 13.49, and July 13.54, four or five points above yesterday's close.

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, Feb. 4. (AP)—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 5 points in response to higher Liverpool cables and held very steady in early trading on buying. The latter was attributed partly to reports of prospects for early action on the McNary-Haugen bill which some traders expected would have a bullish effect on the market.

Barber-Preacher-Bigamist And Lady Killer
WIFE NUMBER THREE IS SORRY FOR EX-SPOUSE
Faces Punishment At Hands Of Sixth Widow

(By The Associated Press)
ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 4.—William M. Tuck, 59, alleged to have confessed to bigamy following his arrest in Lakeland, Florida, on complaint of a woman claiming to be his sixth wife, was "always getting tangled up with women," Mrs. Inez Tuck of Atlanta, told an Atlanta Journal reporter today. Mrs. Tuck is said to have been his third wife.

She Has Three Children
When he married her in Nashville in 1901, Tuck confessed to but one former marriage, she said, "but later revealed another matrimonial adventure." Three children born to the couple continue to live with their mother.

Tuck was always getting tangled up with women," Mrs. Tuck said. "He married some of them. He left me flat with three children in Deland, Fla., in 1912, and went to Alabama and married Mrs. Myrtle Lowry of Montgomery. I divorced him in 1915.

"He was a nice fellow, Tuck was. Always religious. Most of the women he got tangled up with were good churchly women, with a little property in their own names. He had been an actor and a jockey. When I knew him he was a barber. Afterwards, he got religion and took to touring the country, preaching and lecturing in churches. Why, he even had a church here in Atlanta, but he got into trouble and lost it. "The seven marriages set forth against Tuck for the former Mrs. Roy E. Sappington of Barnesville, Ga., claiming to be his sixth wife, were well known to her, the Atlanta woman said.

Disappearance Of Vags Told Of In Court Probing Willacy Case

(By The Associated Press) CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Feb. 4.—The mystery of the men who disappeared strangely from the jail in Willacy county and that unclaimed money was paid as fines for boys taken from jail to pick cotton was given here Friday in the peonage trial.

Frank Brandt, one of the defendants, and the tenth defense witness to take the stand, testified he was at one time a deputy, under Sheriff Raymond Teller and that he was in the sheriff's office alone when W. T. Hildebrand, a farmer, brought in money which he said was to pay fines for boys picking cotton for him. Sheriff Teller, Brandt testified, denied the money was coming to him and would not take it, as Hildebrand would not take it back, he said, he still has it.

Tells Of Disappearance As an officer, he testified, he often arrested 15 men in a freight car. When he started to file charges against them later, he testified, some of them had disappeared.

Charges of peonage grew out of the allegation that men were arrested during the cotton-picking season on charges of vagrancy and forced to work on farms under heavy guard to pay their fines. Other defense witnesses offered during the morning were George Westervelt, district attorney of Willacy county, who testified he questioned men during a grand jury investigation of the alleged conspiracy, and Carl Brandt, farmer, and brother of Frank Brandt, who said that boys who worked on his farm did so willingly. When he went to the field with them, he testified, he carried a loaded shot gun to keep other farmers from taking his workers away from him.

YAQUIS BATTLE MEXICAN ARMY

Three Indian Camps Captured in Three Day Fight in State Of Sonora

(By Associated Press) MEXICO CITY, Feb. 4.—Three strong military columns today were attacking the strongholds of the rebel Yaqui Indians in the state of Sonora.

The war department recently was led to believe that the Yaquis were willing to surrender, and when negotiations were suspended because the Indians insisted on retaining their arms, orders were given for a general offensive until they yielded or were exterminated.

Three Camps Captured In the first two days of the federal offensive the military columns captured three Yaqui camps. Then a march began on La Gloria, the strongest Yaqui redoubt in the heart of the mountains. The federal casualties have been heavy and numerous rebels have been killed and many captured, including women and children.

Despatches from Tampico claim there is confirmation of the discovery of an anti-government plot there, and a plot against the government is reported from another city.

Details Are Lacking Despatches from Puebla give no details except that the military authorities order summary court martial for the arrested who a plot was discovered there and that their execution is feared.

The Tampico plot is described as organized by the local Knights of Columbus organization, whose head, Sixto Rodriguez, together with eighteen members, is said to have been placed in prison. Two Catholic priests, and a newspaper man are also reported to be under arrest.

Now that the Rev. J. Frank Norris, the Evangelist Almer Simple—be pardon, it's Simple—McPherson and the Brownings have released the front pages of the newspapers there's nothing left to do now but to try to induce the Stillman family to 'do its stuff.'

Seventy-one years at sea was the record of Alfred Rouxel, dean of French seamen who died at the age of 83 years.

Cornelius Vanderbilt Works Hard In Tiny Apartment To Repay Three Millions In Debts Now Owed By Him

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Doing his own cooking Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr. is grinding out manuscripts in a tiny apartment as part of his fight to win back wealth. He is $3,000,000 in debt.

His tools are a portable typewriter, sheets of copy paper and a pocket full of pencils. His work shop is his home—a two room kitchenette apartment on the seventh floor rear of 741 Fifth Avenue, over a toy shop. His neighbors are artists, musicians, photographers and the like.

While the former newspaper publisher works day and night turning out magazine articles and motion picture scenarios, laborers are busy across the street demolishing the famous chateau of his grandmother, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt.

"I'm going to pay off every penny I owe if it takes me 50 years," Vanderbilt said. "I determined that no one shall lose a penny from having trusted in me and my ventures."

Vanderbilt may come into some of the family fortune in time, but he is not banking on that now. He has cut his expenditures to the minimum and is turning out stories on a factory basis to a feeble market.

His articles, he said, are bringing him much more than his living expenses and he is saving substantial margin toward settlement of his obligations.

SENATE TRYING TO HALT TALKS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A move to shut off debate on the McNary-Haugen and the McFadden branch banking bills was initiated today in the senate.

The necessary petition to invoke cloture rule was circulated by senator Gooding, Republican, Idaho, a leader of the farm group, and was signed rapidly by supporters of both measures.

A two-thirds vote will be necessary to cut off debate under this rule but senate leaders said there would be no difficulty in obtaining signatures of two-thirds of the senators.

An agreement to propose a vote for 4 p. m. Monday on the farm bill and 4 p. m. Wednesday on the banking bill was reached last night at a conference over which Vice President Davis presided. If the carrying out of this agreement is blocked in the senate, the petition to invoke cloture will be presented.

"BAD MAN" KILLED

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—The crack of a trooper's revolver yesterday ended the career of Theodore Conklin, "The bad man of Hasnago valley," who took to the mountains two years ago and defied police who tried to arrest him on three indictments for theft and burglary. Harry Williams, state trooper, "got his man" as Conklin ran toward the woods after a leap from a second story window of a mountain cabin where he had been in hiding.

The very fellow who's always shouting those "good old days" is the first in his family to holler when the bathtub is out of order.

Even a mortuary is not exempt from robbers. Three men entered an undertaking room on the west side early today and relieved the night clerk of $35 and his overcoat.

LEGISLATORS TO GO TO LAREDO'S ANNUAL JUBILEE

INVITATION VERY GLADLY ACCEPTED; DAN MOODY TO MAKE TALK

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Feb. 4.—The 46th legislature Friday voted unanimously to accept the invitation of the city of Laredo to attend its annual George Washington birthday celebration February 22.—The legislature was admonished "to leave your pocket books at home for we won't let you spend a nickel."

Governor Dan Moody will attend, and make the principal address.

The governor, legislators and newspaper men on a special train will leave here the afternoon of February 21, and will spend several hours that night in San Antonio. The party will arrive in Laredo Tuesday morning and will leave Tuesday night.

R. L. Bobbitt, speaker of the house, introduced the following Laredo citizens who made speeches in each house: Mayor Albert Martin, Will Ferguson vice president of the Laredo chamber of commerce, J. E. Hinaway publisher of the Laredo Times, and Matias de la Rosa, business man.

made Efforts are now under way by the Idaho chamber of commerce to have the road routed through Idaho, and rail officials are known to have given the matter serious thought, but they would not make a statement regarding this. All data is in their hands, and figures showing the difference in cost of construction through Idaho.

Operation Is Looming Mr. Clarity this morning reiterated his statement that trains will be in operation over the lines within the stipulated 18 months, and possibly before this time. The party left this morning by automobile to inspect the proposed route, and it was understood that a conference regarding the situation at Idalou was to be held today.

As soon as a definite decision is made regarding the location of the road, efforts to secure deeds, for right-of-way will be started.

Many Will Attend AUSTIN, Feb. 4 (AP)—The hall of representatives, starting Friday at 2 o'clock, will be the scene of the public investigation of bribery charges against Representatives F. A. Dale and H. H. Moore. The house decided with one dissenting vote today.

The fact that approximately 2,500 persons will be able to watch proceedings from the floor of the house and the galleries will add interest to the hearing. The house will have to adjourn for the investigation.

Dale and Moore were arrested Wednesday night by Rangers, and charged with accepting $1,000 from Willis Chamberlain, Houston optometrist, to influence pending legislation.

uled the deaths of his former land lady and committed the murder and suicide at 7:25 a. m.

He was Edward Sturzenegger a former waiter and sewing machine salesman. His victim was Mrs. Mary Fehrman. She was shot as she lay in bed with her son, 7 years old. Her husband had gone out to a corner store to purchase food for breakfast.

A note found on Sturzenegger said he was going to kill the woman and himself at 7:15 o'clock. "I would kill her husband, also, but for the sake of the boy, I will spare him," it said.

It is believed by the police that Sturzenegger laid in wait to enter the house when the husband left.

TO RECOVER FALL

ALLEN TOWN, Pa., Feb. 4 (AP)—Falling from the top of a hundred foot tower, Robert Brightwell, 32, yesterday caught an ax with a steel bucket that preceded him in his drop. Fellow workers at the Fogelsville plant of the Lehigh Portland Cement company found Brightwell tightly wedged in the heavy steel container but conscious and able to direct them how to release him. Both hips were severely lacerated but surgeons at the Allentown hospital said he would recover.

SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN COPYRIGHT 1926 NEA

Announcing that she had come to "enjoy a while"—an assurance which Faith received with mixed emotions—Aunt Hattie Lane arrived with joy on Thursday afternoon a time to cook supper for the family. That service, at least was thoroughly appreciated by the worn-out girl.

"Come along, I'm supper now, Jim Lane!" Aunt Hattie commanded brightly, as she appeared in the dining room with a heaped platter of fried chicken. "I wrung the neck of one of my winter fivers and it's fried just the way you like it. Now don't turn down the corners of your mouth, me, Jim Lane!" she ordered sharply, as Jim shuffled promptly into the room from the living room. "There's time for everything and supper time when they're fried looks like it's one of the times I'd set aside for mourning a wife that's hapless where she is—clean away from the trouble that this poor family has let itself in for. I can't ever teach you how to set a table! Dumb!—all the silver on one side of the plate! And for heaven's sake, comb that stringy hair of yours. When get you to it, I've got to give you a haircut. Look like a crazy Irish terrier, you do. Come along, Faith, I guess there's plenty of this chicken for your young man, too."

"Sounds like home," Faith smiled at Bob, as they rose from the couch in the living room and obeyed Aunt Hattie's instructions to "draw up a chair and set."

"It's mighty sweet of you to do all this trouble for me, Aunt Hattie," she told her acid-mouthed, kind-hearted aunt when the latter calmly resumed her seat at the table. "Hot biscuits, chicken gravy, green peas, mashed potatoes and celery and apple salad. It's a feast. Aunt Hattie, and I do believe I'm hungry. Junior, you must eat, dear. It makes me feel dreadful to see you looking so pale and haggard."

"I was just thinking that Aunt Hattie had fixed up Mother's favorite dinner and—"

"Now, you dry-up, Junior!" Aunt Hattie commanded sharply. "Eat your grub! Them as is living has got to eat to live, and all the starving and mourning ain't going to bring back the dead. I'm going to fix up a basket of my supper and send you over to the jail with it for Cherry, soon's you've finished. Now eat hearty, boy, and end me more softly."

They were all eating heartily, their appetites whetted as much by Aunt Hattie's sharp tongue as by the appetizing odors and appearance of the food when the hone bell rang.

"It's for you, Bob," Faith called from the hallway. "It's Churchill, Hurry, dear."

She stood beside him as he answered. "Yeah—yeah. Or sure, Churchill, I don't care now, risky it seems. Yes, I've a key, fortunately. Uncle Ralph used to use me as a sort of messenger boy when he wanted things out of an office at night. If it's there I'll get it."

"What is it, Bob?" Faith whispered, her eyes shining with hope for the first time in days.

"Churchill has been to see Cherry," Bob told her in a voice. "He asked her to give you a haircut. Remember anything in a correspondence that would indicate an enemy—threats anything like that. She did, thank God, and I'm going for to ransack the letter files. Unfortunately she doesn't remember the name of the writer of a threatening letter. Churchill repeated as much of its contents to me as he could remember. Her only recollection is that the chap's name began with a C—and of course she may be wrong. But that Uncle Ralph's filing system is the deatimated set, so it may take me a long time to go through the C's. I get in touch with you as soon as possible."

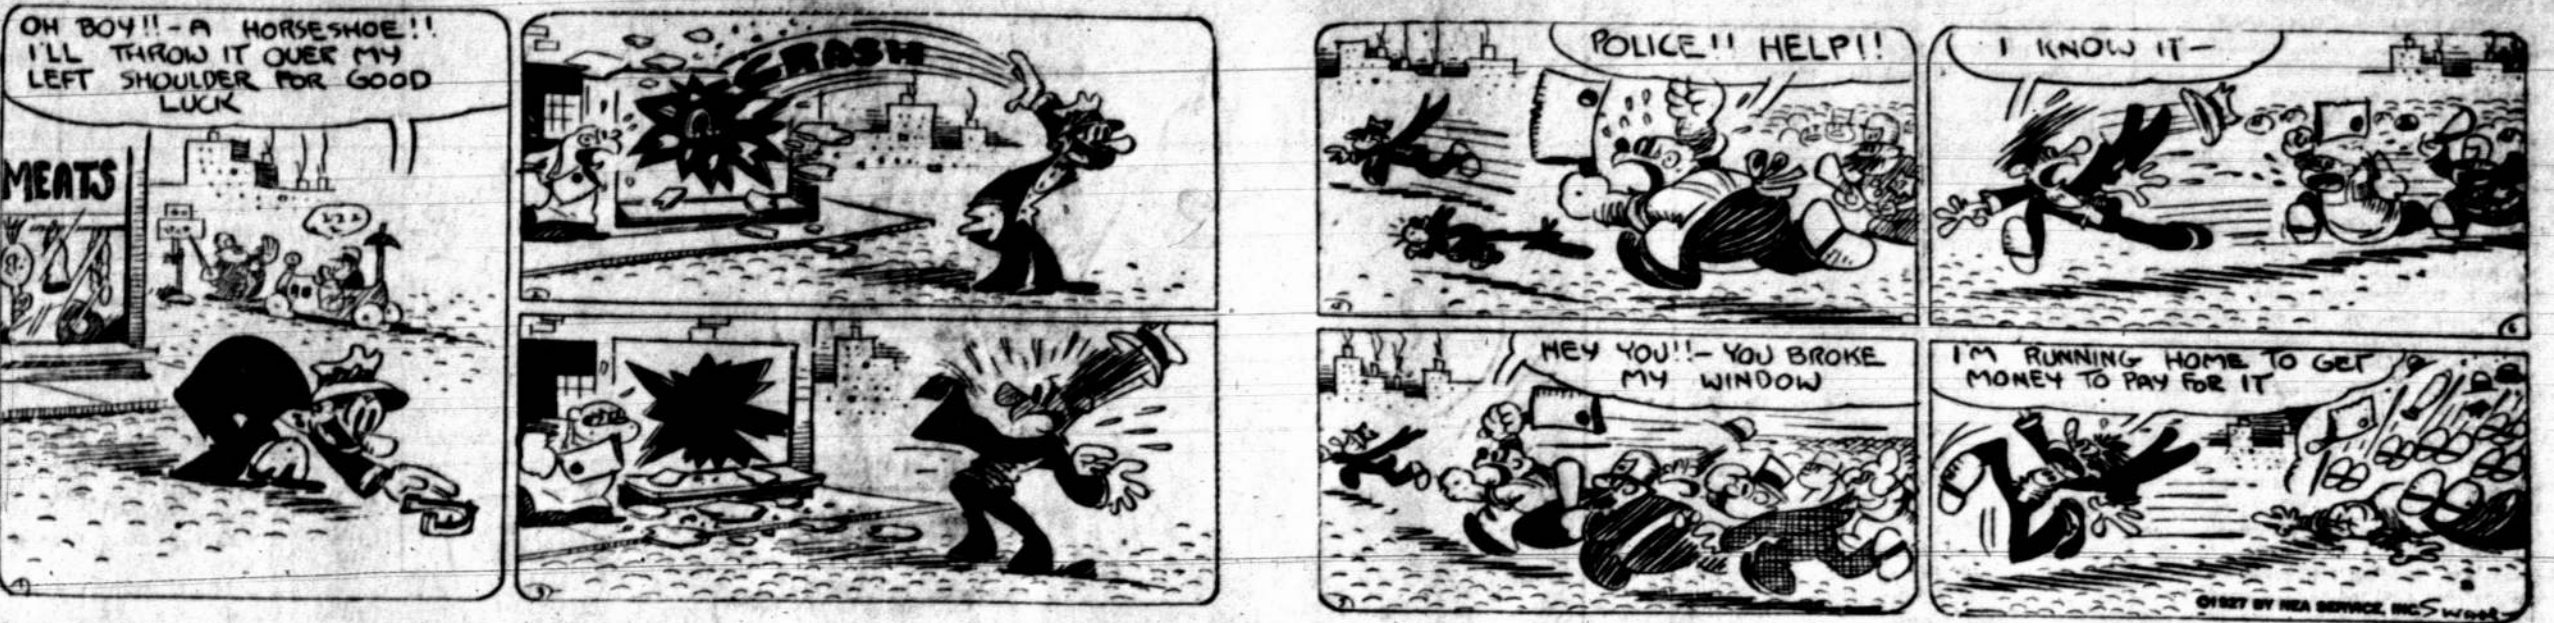

TOMORROW: Bob plays burglar in Ralph Cluny's office.

Building Up The Blood

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN Director Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

URING the past quarter of a century a disease known as chlorosis, which was a form of secondary anemia largely affecting young girls, seems to have disappeared entirely from the practice of medicine.

The condition was apparently due to the habits of life, consisting of a scheduled existence indoors and the avoidance of the substance in the diet which have largely gone with the building of the blood.

Valuable Foods

Investigations carried out in modern laboratories indicate that certain food substances are especially valuable in building up the blood. The University of Rochester School of Medicine has conducted a number of investigations with the aid of the Livestock interests and administered the National Research Council.

They found that muscle fibers are valuable to the production of blood-building products in anemic animals. In order to produce hemoglobin, the red coloring of the blood which is charged with the carrying of oxygen, practically all meat was of value. However, chicken gizzards, pig body, muscle, beef heart and beef muscle were of value in the diet.

The kidney seems to be one of the most favorably diet foods for promoting rapid production of the red blood cells and hemoglobin during severe anemia. For example, a diet of 200 grams of cooked kidney daily in the diet caused production of from 60 to 100 grams of hemoglobin in a 10-week diet period above the amount produced by a standard bread-feeding.

Milk a Poor Builder

Milk has an extremely valuable substance in the diet, providing many factors of importance, including some vitamins and mineral salts. On the other hand, it seems to stand at the foot of the class of dietary substances for bringing about rapid regeneration of the blood in severe anemia.

This is especially important in attempting to build up after convalescence from some infectious disease. Milk alone under such circumstances will not provide the blood-building substance provided through the other foods that have been mentioned.

Butter fat and cream were somewhat more favorable, but not nearly so valuable as the meat products that have been mentioned.

As A Woman Sees It

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

DON'T FORGET TO ALLOW FOR "STREAKY SOCK" DAYS

DOROTHY WALWORTH CARMAN'S sketch called "Every Thursday" in a recent magazine is an inspiration to humanity.

She tells of an old colored wash-woman, who, in spite of a hornet's nest of trouble at home, is a philosopher and an optimist.

But she has her off days, has Alfaretta, when the days are not so clean. Taken to task one day she remarked, "Some days, Mis' Carman, ah ain' jes' up to it, the days ah ain' in the mood. Other days I jes' loves to soap an' wash. Them days when ah'm rubbin' on the bo'd, ah says, 'Ain' nobody can git clothes so clean as Alfaretta.' But other days ah says 'Why are you rubbin' them fool clothes so clean? We all be in the grave in the twinklin' of an eye.' * * * Them days yo socks streaked, ma'am."

Temperament! says Mrs. Carman, who acknowledges with patience and tact, she received not only faithful advice but much more that money could not buy, from her helpful woman-by-the-day.

In contrast, you are told of a neighbor who employed a same colored woman, but who soon dismissed her as worthless and called her a "nuisance."

The neighbor, no doubt, had taken exception to the temperamental days when the "socks were streaked."

But somehow human beings will be human beings and we cannot always help things. The Golden Rule isn't a thing to remember, particularly if you are a nervous temperamental person yourself.

Yes, 'Twas Years

"How long did it take you to learn to skate?" "Oh several sittings."—Christian Science Monitor.

DRILLING HALTED ON YELLOWHOUSE

Drilling at the Yellowhouse No. 1, oil test well 14 miles southwest of Littlefield, has been discontinued temporarily upon completion of the contract calling for a depth of 3,500 feet.

Water is now standing approximately 2,900 feet in the hole, and drilling work can be resumed at once, if considered wise by promoters of the company, as everything is in good condition, Mr. Smith said.

The well is being promoted by Leigh Talliferro, and is located on a tract of 26,000 acres originally under lease by the promoters. Large oil companies, including the Magnolia, Pure, Humble, Phillips Petroleum, Gulf and others, now hold leases in the tract.

The test was spudded in last July 21, and good progress has been made.

Mr. Smith is now awaiting word from the company promoting the test as to whether or not they wish to continue operations. He says that the test can be drilled on to 5,000 feet if necessary, with present equipment.

Idalou Farmer Is Accident's Victim

R. E. Denning, farmer near Idalou, who was injured when he fell from a wagon load of cotton at a gin plant at Idalou Thursday morning, was resting well today in a local sanitarium.

Mr. Denning, in some manner, lost his balance while standing atop the wagon, fell, and as he hit the ground, the team moved the wagon forward, and his shoulder was run over by one wheel. He was brought to the sanitarium here by a Hix ambulance, and although his injuries are very painful, they are not considered serious.

Every Headache Is A Warning

What is a headache? Physicians tell us that headache is "the cry of over-taxed nerves for rest." The cause of simple headaches is high nerve tension or strain. High nerve tension leads to high blood pressure, apoplexy and serious injury to the nervous system. The next time you have a headache or neuralgic pains try the improved method of relief—two teaspoonfuls of Capudine in a little water. Being liquid Capudine acts almost instantly—in one-fifth the time required by tablets or powders.

If the use of Capudine, as directed, does not give you full and permanent freedom from headaches, you may be sure that they are caused by some organic condition which should receive the attention of your oculist, dentist or family physician.

Physicians and druggists recommend Capudine as the safe, quick and dependable agent for relieving nervous pains and high nerve tension. Every home should be supplied with Capudine. Get a bottle today at your druggist's and if you do not like it far better than anything you have ever tried, the manufacturer will cheerfully refund the price upon request. Family size, 60 cts.; individual, 30 cts., at all drug stores. (adv.)

FLOOD VICTIMS ARE CARED FOR

Arkansas Flood Areas Being Protected By Systematic Work Of Red Cross

(By Associated Press)
LITTLE ROCK, Feb. 4.—Relief work in the flooded districts of Arkansas where the White, Cache, and St. Francis rivers have been on a rampage for several days, was carried forward with renewed energy today while crews of workmen fought valiantly to strengthen levees and prevent further destruction and suffering.

EXTRA NEWS and Comedy

In the Brasfield and Cotton Plant areas the relief work has settled down to a well-organized system. Hundreds of persons who were forced to flee their homes are being cared for in temporary quarters. The Red Cross has the situation well in hand at Cotton Plant, while Brasfield is organizing relief work systematically.

Little Sickness Found

So far there has been little sickness among the refugees, despite the lack of sanitation, and the problem is little more than one of providing shelter and food.

Additional crews of workmen were rushed to Tullos last night, where a break in the levee occurred late yesterday. While it was feared that the break would cause greater property damage in this vicinity, belief was expressed that the break would lessen the pressure on the St. Francis levees at Marked Tree.

Public Opinion

Does Loyalty exist between the city of Lubbock and Tech? Are the People of Lubbock doing their best to help the college boys and girls along? When we make a survey of existing conditions we find that most every business house in town is employing some Tech boy or girl, who, without work could not remain in school. Almost every business enterprise in town affords employment for some student. Business men are behind our athletics as well. Due largely to their efforts we are to have a Tech-A. & M. game on our home field next fall. This will be a great thing for Lubbock. All around us are evidences of their support.

There are some exceptions though. As always is the case, Tech has been accused of having a "mean" student body. Many thefts and other misdemeanors are blamed on students and are later found to come from some other source. It is true that there remain, perhaps, few students who persist in violating some law occasionally but considering the number enrolled at the college it appears that the student body is as good or even better than the average.

Much has been said about boys walking in the street, hoping to get a ride. This idea seems to be logical and sane. Many boys who are working in town have to meet a class early in the morning, soon after lunch, or at some other inconvenient time, and have to work until almost time for their class. They can not possibly walk and arrive there on time. In many instances they can not catch the bus and in case they could, bus fare three or four times a day would amount to a considerable sum by the end of the month. Nevertheless, some people will pass by a student, who is walking and ignore him as if he were a vagabond. Other persons, who are really in sympathy with the boys and their efforts, let them ride, greet them with some question regarding the school or their school work, and thereby show an interest in Tech and its welfare. Some people find it convenient to drive by on Sunday mornings and take some boy or girl to Sunday school or church. When people act in this manner we feel that they are behind the school. We feel that they are interested in the individual welfare of each student. Students greatly appreciate such an attitude, and if such a spirit prevails it will result in the mutual growth of Lubbock and of Tech.

To Explain Loans On War Insurance

The loan feature of the insurance policies given by the government as compensation to ex-servicemen following the World war, and the manner in which men can avail themselves of this loan, will be explained at the regular meeting of the local post of the American Legion next Monday, it was said today.

Arrangements have just about been completed here whereby one of the banks of this city will handle the loans, and the manner of procedure will be explained by Chas. Whitacre, who has been placed in charge of this phase of the Legions program. All loans on certificates must be handled through Legion officials, it was said.

KNOCK

AT last automotive science has solved the knock problem in automobile engines! In fact, carbon—the cause of knocks—has actually been made into a source of benefit.

And this great discovery is now passed along to you in Conoco Ethyl Gasoline.

There is no mystery about Conoco Ethyl Gasoline. It is merely a combination of Conoco (the extra-miles gasoline) and Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound—a chemical product developed after years of research by the engineers of the General Motors Corporation. What's more, you can get Ethyl only with Conoco. It has no substitute.

The first full tank of Conoco Ethyl Gasoline (don't mix it with other fuels) will stop all knocking—and almost make speedways of hills that you've heretofore had to climb in second gear.

If you want extra miles without a knock—smooth, sustained power on the pistons and complete motoring satisfaction, ask for Conoco Ethyl Gasoline. You can get it at the nearest sign of the Continental Soldier.
