1963 Fair Catalogs Ready for Distribution

Catalogs for the 1963 Collingsworth County Free Fair are ready for distribution and will be mailed to chairmen of all departments and to out-of-town organizations, N. M. Higdon, chamber of commerce manager, said this week.

Shown on the cover of the blue and white catalog covers are scenes that depict Collingsworth county's basic products—agriculture, livestock and gas production.

The catalog reveals several completely new events for this year's fair.

Opening Fair week will be the selection of the Fair Queen on Monday, Sept. 2.

A carnival to play Wellington during Fair Week was secured this week, Higdon announced.

This will be the Gene Ledel Shows of Fort Worth, one of the better carnivals that usually plays in the larger towns.

Other new events will be a fashion show and bake show for girls, the latter heretofore held at another date.

Usual events will be the exhibits, livestock show, Appaloosa Horse Show, Quarter Horse Show, parade, barbecue, Old Settlers reunion, terrapin races, and square dance.

Announcements concerning the various departments will be made from time to time in the coming weeks, Higdon said.

Two Burned in Butane Fire

Two Wellington men were painfully burned in a butane explosion which occurred as a pickup tank was being filled Thursday afternoon, June 27.

Injured were Carroll Nunnelley, young Wellington farmer, and Ray Thomas, employee of Wellington Butane, where the accident occurred.

Both men were standing in the back of the pickup, where the tank is located, according to Fire Chief Richard Bailey. Both were blown out.

They were rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital where both remained under treatment for burns on the face, arms and upper body, until Saturday.

There was no damage to the equipment of the butane company and the pickup tank was only scorched, according to Fire Chief Bailey.

Units of the Wellington Fire Department were called to the scene.

Ball Game Set for Sunday

Shamblee's All Stars, a baseball team composed of Negro youths up to 16 years of age, will meet a Mexican team, A. C.'s Club, at the fair grounds Sunday at 7 p.m., according to Earl Shamblee.

Admission is free and the public is invited, he said.

VETERAN HIGHWAY OFFICER RETIRES

Ed Haynes, left, retired as maintenance foreman for the State Highway Department on June 30, after 32 years service. Here he is shown with his successor/ Byron House, right, who came from Guthrie. Between them is the sign that shows that during Mr. Haynes approximately 10 years with the Wellington office, not one day's work was lost due to accidents in his department. This is the record as it appeared on the day he retired.

For Baptist Youth

Pan-Fork Encampment Opens Summer Program on July 8

Panfork Baptist Encampment opens for the first of three youth groups on Monday, July 8, and when it ends three weeks later, approximately 800 eastern Panhandle boys and girls will have received religious instruction through its program.

First of the three camps is that for junior boys, 9 through 12 years of age, which opens Monday and will continue through Thursday, July 11.

The junior girls camp will be from Monday, July 15, through Thursday, July 18, and it will be followed by the youth camp for both boys and girls, which opens July 22 and will close Thursday, July 25, according to Dr. Glenn Hickey, pastor of First Baptist Church here.

These annual encampments stress missionary work, and each year missionaries on furlough are on the camp staff.

There is time for devotion and for evangelistic services. There is also time for recreation in the picturesque encampment setting along Salt Fork.

The program changes only slightly for the older group. There is time for conferences with counselors and a camp fire service ends the day.

The Rev. W. R. Lawrence of Clarendon is president of the Panfork Baptist Encampment, sponsored by the Panhandle and North Fork Baptist Associations. Vice president is the Rev. J. B. North, pastor of Samnorwood Baptist Church.

Camp Pastor for the junior boys camp is the Rev. Frank Ross of Wheeler; the Rev. Bob Lawrence of Clarendon is evangelist; Sam Morris of Shawnee, Okla., a missionary to the Indians, is camp missionary; Stan Richison of Borger, athletic director; Richard Johnson of Pampa, music director; and the Rev. Charles Uzzle of Mobeetie, morning watch.

Junior girls camp: the Rev. Dudley Bragg of Borger, camp pastor; the Rev. Mervyn Hall of Skellytown, evangelist; Vada Waldron, missionary to Argentina, missionary; Mrs. Jim Hager of Borger, athletic director; Lannie Edwards of Borger, music director; and the Rev. Ed Spivey of Borger, morning

Wellington to Close for July Fourth Holiday

Most business firms in Wellington, along with government offices and banks, will be closed Thursday, July 4, in observance of that holiday.

Mayor Hiram Cudd has issued a proclamation asking that businesses be closed.

No celebrations are planned in Collingsworth county for the holiday, and those who celebrate will do so by attending rodeos in adjoining counties or at nearby lakes.

Byron House New Maintenance Head

Ed Haynes Retires After 32 Years in Highway Department

After 32 years with the Texas State Highway Department, Ed Haynes, maintenance and construction foreman, retired June 30. Ten years of his career was with the Wellington office. In that period, there has not been a single accident in his department that resulted in loss of time for any man!

Succeeding Mr. Haynes is Byron F. House, who came here from Guthrie and is a veteran of 20 years with the Highway Department.

Mr. Haynes' entire career with the Highway Department was at Shamrock and Wellington. Prior to that he worked for a paving company.

He began work as a common laborer with the Highway Department, and he recalls that his wages were 30¢ an hour.

There was no paving in the district, and he helped to put down some of the first paving on US 66 in the district, using horse-drawn equipment.

"Most of our maintenance work was done with pick, shovel and a truck," Haynes recalls. He likes to recount some of the progress, particularly in equipment, that has come to the Highway Department.

Methods of handling highway problems have changed, too. It is only in recent years that the present method of clearing highways of snow has been started, with scrapers going out as soon as the snow starts falling.

Sometimes hours have been long for Haynes—36 to 38 hours with time out only to eat.

The veteran highway man was born June 19, 1898 in Denton county, but he grew up in Oklahoma. He and Mrs. Haynes were married in 1921 in Oklahoma. They have one son, Ed Haynes Jr., and a grandson, Ed III, both of Dallas.

In Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. Haynes have been active in 13th and Bowie Street Church of Christ.

Mr. House was a cowboy on ranches around Benjamin before he joined the Highway Department, also as a laborer.

He laughingly remarked that wages had gone up since Haynes started, for he began at 35¢ an hour. He recalls too that this amounted to around $75 a month, which looked like good wages to a $40 a month cowboy.

He has worked up through the ranks and was at Guthrie 13 years before coming here.

A native of Benjamin, where he was born June 5, 1903, he and Mrs. House were married in Benjamin in 1928. They have no children.

Mr. and Mrs. House are members of the First Christian Church.

Name Three C-C Directors

Three directors of the Collingsworth County Chamber of Commerce were named Monday night, July 1, after ballots were counted, N. M. Higdon, manager, announced.

Wood Coleman was re-elected director from the Samnorwood area.

Two new directors are J. I. Morgan for the Quail area, succeeding Carl Wischkaemper, and Tom Birchfield for Dodson, replacing Orville Vaughan.

They took office immediately and their terms run for two years.

Rev. Damron to Preach Sunday

The Rev. C. D. Damron, retired Methodist minister, will be the guest preacher at Trinity Methodist Church Sunday, July 7 at the 11 a.m. service.

All members and friends are urged to hear him, according to the pastor, the Rev. R. H. Knight.

Rev. Damron is a former pastor of Trinity, and about 30 years ago was pastor of a group of rural churches which formed the Wellington Methodist Circuit. Later these were consolidated and moved to town to become Trinity Church.

Appaloosa Show Gets Approval of State Club

The Collingsworth County Appaloosa Horse Show has received approval of the Texas Appaloosa Horse Club, Jim Wales, executive secretary, notified N. M. Higdon recently.

This will give the show a distinct advantage and should increase the size considerably even this year, Higdon pointed out.

Again, Paul Guthrie is superintendent of the Appaloosa Show and the Rotary Club is the sponsor. The date is Friday, Sept. 6, the first day of the 2-day Collingsworth County Free Fair.

Higdon explained that this designation gives added importance to the show, since points given winners are entered in the official Appaloosa records, and credited to the individual winners.

Several hundred notices will be sent out by the Texas Appaloosa Club to breeders of the state. Last year, the local show drew exhibitors from Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico.

It had the approval of the Panhandle Appaloosa Club then.

Girl Breaks Both Arms

Teresa Patterson, the six and a half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Patterson, broke both her arms Thursday, June 27, when she fell from a horse.

Teresa and Rodney White were riding horses, bareback, on the farm of Raymond Ward, Teresa's grandfather, when the accident occurred. Mrs. Patterson said her daughter was feeling fine now, although she has both arms in casts.

$741 Collected for Red Cross

George Shadid this week announced that the Red Cross fund drive for the county was brought to a close recently and $741 was raised.

Shadid said he received excellent cooperation from workers in both the town and rural areas.

Over 500 Expected at Samnorwood Reunion

Samnorwood will roll out the red carpet for its school's ex-students Saturday, July 6, in the largest reunion ever staged there.

Doug Coleman, president of the group, has outlined full plans for the event, which gets under way with registration at 1 p.m.

Between 500 and 600 will attend, and they will be there from across the nation—California to Virginia, according to word already in.

The reunions are held each three years.

Reunion events will be held at the school's big gymnasium and at Lions Park, just east of the school campus. The final event, the Reunion Dance, will be at the VFW Hall in Wellington.

High point of the reunion will be the talk by Oran Gragson, mayor of Las Vegas, Nev., and a former Plymouth resident. He will speak during the program that begins at 3 p.m. at which Orville Cunningham, superintendent of schools will be master of ceremonies.

Merle Walker, ex-student and also former superintendent will introduce Gragson.

Appearing on the same program will be E. G. Sanders of Amarillo, first superintendent of the Samnorwood school.

President Coleman will welcome the visitors, and lated Donald Coleman will conduct the memorial service. There will be the presentation of a gift to the school, to be accepted by Marvin Knoll, secretary of the board of education.

There will be special recognition by officers of the Ex-Student Association, and other special announcements.

Home talent entertainment will be given from 1 to 2:30 p. m. under the direction of Darlene Rainey.

The big barbecue, to be staged at 5:30 p.m. at the park, has been thrown open to the public and tickets may be bought up until the time of the barbecue, Coleman declared. Bill Knoll will barbecue the beef.

Who is an ex-student of Samnorwood school that serves half a county?

Coleman explained this week. Many schools were consolidated to make up the Samnorwood system, and without them there would be no Samnorwood.

Anyone who attended any of these schools—and this goes back more than 70 years—can be counted a Samnorwood ex-student.

These are such schools as Needwood, Roundup, Aberdeen, Ella, China Grove, Elm Valley, Lutie, Nicholson, Enterprise, Lone Mound, Dozier, Plymouth, Abra, and possibly others.

The work of many people has gone into making the big Samnorwood Ex-Students Reunion Saturday a success, President Doug Coleman said, and he named some of those who worked.

Dorothy Sechrist Darrow is in charge of registration and she will be assisted by boys and girls who will be seniors next year.

Two Cases Filed

Suit Asks Changes in Precinct Lines

Two suits were filed in 100th District Court Friday, June 28, in which three Wellington men seek action against the commissioners' court of Collingsworth county.

One of these is a petition for an injunction that would force the commissioners' court to re-precinct Collingsworth county so that the four precincts would have approximately the same population.

The other suit would enjoin the commissioners' court from leasing and purchasing a caterpillar tractor, a contract for which was signed with West Texas Equipment Co. on June 18.

Judge Luther Gribble has issued a temporary restraining order restraining the commissioners' court from purchasing the tractor until a hearing is held on the request for a temporary injunction.

This hearing has been set for Monday, July 8 at 10 a.m.

Plaintiffs in both suits are Dr. Chas. B. Jones, Cal Sugg and James Doneghy.

Named as defendants are the members of the commissioners' court: Judge C. C. Bishop, county judge; Woody Wood, commissioner of Precinct 1; Alfred Knoll, commissioner of Precinct 2; Clyde Emmert, commissioner of Precinct 3; and W. R. Breeding, commissioner of Precinct 4.

Also named in the suit seeking the change of precinct boundaries are Mrs. Lorene Jenkins, county Clerk, and Mrs. J. D. Aaron, county treasurer, as the petition seeks to restrain them from paying members of the commissioners' court any salaries until the county has been re-precincted according to population.

The petition in this suit alleges that Precinct 2 has only 7 per cent of the county's population and Precinct 4 only 12 per cent, while Precincts 1 and 3 have 81 per cent of the population, so that the commissioners representing only 19 per cent of the population have equal voice in conducting affairs of the county as those representing 81 per cent of the population.

The petition claims that this is in violation of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, as construed by the Supreme Court in the Tennessee case of Baker vs. Carr, handed down March 26, 1962.

It is further stated that similar suits are pending in Midland county and in Moore county.

The basis for the temporary restraining order and temporary injunction to prevent the purchase of the caterpillar tractor as alleged by the plaintiffs is the failure of the commissioners' court to advertise for bids on the equipment as the law provides if the purchase is for more than $2,000, and the further failure of the commissioners court to provide for the purchase or leasing of the caterpillar tractor in the budget for 1963.

Judge W. T. Link of Clarendon is attorney for the plaintiffs in both suits.

STATE HONORS FOR THE HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

Word came recently that the scrapbook entered by St. Joseph's Auxiliary in contests sponsored by the Texas Hospital Auxiliary Association had placed second in its category. Holding the book is Mrs. Emory Hunter, who compiled it. A related story is on one of the Society pages. —Leader Staff Photo

Officers Recover Stolen Goods

A young farm hand and his wife, living three miles south of town, pled guilty to charges of theft in county court Monday, July 1.

The man, identified by Sheriff John Rainey as Bill Estes, was sentenced to 10 days in jail, and his wife, Louise, was fined $25 and costs, which was paid.

Rainey said the couple was working for Odis Emmert.

They were picked up Friday night after they had taken a battery off a drilling rig located on the Kermit Hall farm, just as the owner of the rig drove up, according to the sheriff. Trying to leave with their car lights off, they ran over a guy wire which damaged the radius rod and broke out the windshield of their 1939 vehicle. They then fled on foot.

Officers were notified.

Sheriff Rainey said members of his department also recovered another battery taken from an irrigation motor on Hall's farm; a spray gun taken from Louis Allred; an electric buffer and hacksaw taken from F. L. Masten; two tires from the trailer belonging to J. F. Souder, and a generator and regulator off H. C. Templeton's truck. They also admitted taking between 35 and 40 gallons of gas from the E. F. Bartlett farm.

County Boy Scouts Win Honors at Camp Kiowa

Boy Scouts of Troop 32, of Wellington, and Troop 73 of Quail, brought home honors after one week at Camp Kiowa, near Canadian.

Three Scouts and a Scoutmaster were tapped for the Order of the Arrow. They were Bryant Harris of Wellington, John Blevins and Jerry Haralson. Also tapped were three Clarendon Scouts attached to the Quail troop for the week at camp, Tim Caldwell, Mike McCulley and Barry Tyler.

The Order of the Arrow is a national brotherhood of Scouts. It is honorary and selection is made on the basis of the individual's interest and ability in Scouting.

They participated in the Camp Fire ceremonial Friday night, in which flaming arrows were shot into the lake to symbolize their selection.

They will return to Camp Kiowa in September for the "ordeal", or overnight ceremonial.

Other boys also were honored.

The Quail troop held the troop flag throughout Friday in recognition of their camping efficiency and organization. This is considered one of the top honors a scout can receive at camp.

In the Saturday night contest, Troop 32 received second place in overall competition. Paul Jones placed first in riflery and Dennis Leeper and Harris were second in archery.

Other boys participating in aquatic events were Nat Holton, 100 meter free style; Bryant Harris, elementary back stroke; Leeper, underwater distance; and Jones, breast stroke.

Boys from Troop 73 who received advancements were Benny Carson, from tenderfoot to second class Scout, and Class A swimmer; Bary Barton, from tenderfoot to second class Scout and sinker to Class B swimmer;

Jerry Haralson, from Class B to Class A swimmer, and he also served as senior patrol leader; John Blevins from Class B to Class A swimmer, from second to first class Scout, and he served in the color guard;

Cary Don Neeley, from sinker to Class B swimmer; Steven Tennison, from sinker to swimmer and tenderfoot to second class Scout; Michael Finley, from sinker to Class A swimmer and second to first class Scout; Earl Feemster, from Class B to Class A swimmer and from tenderfoot to second class Scout.

In the aquatic events, Blevins and Carson were first in rowing; Feemster and Haralson and their troop were third in overall aquatics. Blevins was second on the obstacle course.

Activities in which they participated were boating, use of compass, first aid, map reading, swimming, canoeing, archery, axe care, riflery and nature study.

Boys of Troop 73 were Benny Carson, Gary Barton, Jerry Haralson, John Blevins, Cary Don Neeley, Steven Tennison, Michael Finley and Earl Feemster. With them were Explorer Scout Billy Lindsey and the three Clarendon Scouts, Tim Caldwell, Mike McCulley and Barry Tyler. The latter three finished their merit badge work and qualified for Eagle Scout rank.

Scoutmaster Herman Moseley and Assistant Scoutmaster Johnny Parker accompanied the boys, and Ralph Tennison took their equipment and brought it home.

Boys going from Troop 32, Wellington, were Dennis Leeper, Paul Jones, Nat Holton, Allen Fires and Bryant Harris.

This troop at present does not have a Scoutmaster, and men who took turns at Camp Kiowa were Fred Saied, N. M. Higdon, B. J. Thogmartin, A. J. Fires, the Rev. Davis Edens, the Rev. Verrell Leeper, Larry Hammons and Paul Guthrie.

Tapped for Honor
Bryant Harris, member of Boy Scout Troop 32, Wellington, was taped for the Order of the Arrow in the ceremonial at Camp Kiowa Friday evening, June 28. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Harris.

Catholic Church Ends Week of Summer School

Two Sisters from Sancta Maria Convent in Panhandle conducted summer school at Our Mother of Mercy Catholic Church during the past week. The classes were attended regularly by a large group of children from the surrounding area. The mothers of the children and other ladies of the parish provided refreshments from the children at the recess periods.

The climax of the week of study came on Sunday, June 30 when nine of the children received their first Holy Communion from the hands of their parish priest, Father Patrick Burke. Receiving their Divine Lord for the first time were Jessie Gonzalez, Diana Gonzales, Gabriel Aguirre, Julia Aguirre, Elena Romo, Felix Galan, Joe Peters, Jacqueline Gray and Robert Soldana.

A choir composed of the children of the parish, directed by Tipton Miller and accompanied by Mrs. Allen J. Peters, sang hymns during the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

According to the laws of the church, children may not be admitted to Holy Communion until they have come to the age of reason, which is generally considered to be about the age of seven. Even then, the parish priest must examine the children to find out if they understand the doctrine of the Real Presence of Christ in the Blessed Sacrament, and to make sure they are well-versed in the fundamental teachings of their Holy Faith.

St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary Again Presents Winning Scrapbook

Mrs. Hunter compiled the scrapbook, which traces thru photographs, news stories and news pictures, the activities of St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary during the preceding year.

No member of the Auxiliary was able to attend this year's convention of the state association, held in Dallas, and one of the requirements of a first place winner is that the scrapbook be presented by a member of the Auxiliary it represents.

A note accompanying the second place ribbon explained because of this, the entry could not be awarded a blue ribbon.

Three times in four years, St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary scrapbooks have won in the state Hospital Auxiliary contests. Once it was judged best in its category and received a blue ribbon. Twice there have been red ribbons.

In the scrapbook, work of the Hospital Auxiliary is divided into the four seasons—spring, summer, autumn and winter, and here lies an unusual feature.

Mrs. Hunter is one of Wellington's talented artists, and a beautifully painted original picture introduces each section.

Much more hard work goes into a scrapbook than many would believe, and it was doubly hard for Mrs. Hunter. A victim of myasthenia gravis, one of the rare diseases about which little is yet known, she could work only for limited periods. Some days she could not work at all.

To prepare the articles and cut lines needed to explain the Auxiliary's work, Lyna Hunter went back to the typewriter—after 20 years away from it. She almost had to learn to type all over again.

Program Seeks to Help Children Learn Efficiently

AUSTIN.— Helping children to learn more efficiently is the objective of a new University of Texas doctoral education program in school psychology.

The training project is supported by a $30,000 grant from the National Institutes of Health and includes four scholarships for graduate students in the second and third year of their doctoral work. The grant will be renewed annually for three years.

Dr. Charles M. Clark, assistant professor of educational psychology and a former school psychologist at Marion, Ohio, directs the program. Other members of the school of psychology committee are Dr. Oliver Bown, associate professor of education psychology, and Dr. Ira Iscoe, psychology professor.

Each trainee will have a 9-month supervised internship in a public school system, in addition to course work.

Although school psychologists are rare in Texas, they have functioned in other states for many years. They work with pupils, teachers, administrators, counselors, visiting teachers, parents and community agencies to bring about a climate in which each child has the best possible opportunity to learn and thus develop into a capable, effective adult.

Dr. Clark and his associates do not see mental health as an end in itself, but as a means of releasing the individual pupil's energy and talent to learn.

In addition to working with school and community groups, the school psychologist diagnoses individual pupils and prescribes remedial measures (about 10 per cent of any student population seriously needs the help of a school psychologist, Dr. Clark reports), and conducts research and surveys.

Two graduate students in educational psychology were enrolled in the school psychology program in 1962-63 with scholarships provided by the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health: Bill Caldwell of Arkadelphia, Ark., and James Lawrence Hubbard of Austin. They will continue studies in 1963-64 with NIH scholarships of $2,400 each. Two other candidates to be accepted will receive scholarships of $2,000 each.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watkins and Edi spent Sunday in Amarillo with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hill and children. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shields.

Raisins Used in Many Ways

Raisins are a virtual necessity on your pantry shelf because they are an oft-used ingredient in many recipes and they are good eaten right out of the package, points out Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, Extension Service consumer marketing specialist.

Raisins make an ideal afternoon snack and are excellent in salad and sandwich fillings. They are added to muffin batters, cookies, desserts and sauces, and are good in a sweet and sour sauce for meat or fish. The different types can be used interchangeably, but the seedless variety is preferred for salads and fruit cups.

To avoid the drying-out of raisins, wash them and spread them out on a flat pan. Cover the pan and heat slowly in a moderate oven until raisins are smooth and plump. Another good method of plumping them is to let them stand in fruit juice for about an hour.

Head for Shore in Bad Weather

AUSTIN.—The Texas Safety Association says boatmen who are caught out on the water by bad weather should keep calm and head for the nearest sheltered shore.

If the water is very choppy, seat your passengers on the lowest part of the vessel, keeping them as close to the centerline as possible and head into the waves at reduced speed. If you seem to be making no headway, attach a sea anchor from the bow to keep the boat headed into the wind.

Texas Highways Big Economic "Fringe Benefit"

AUSTIN.— Texas highways may be the state's biggest economic "fringe benefit" —serving Texans not only as their most basic form of transportation but also contributing heavily to the flow of dollars within the economy and helping attract tourists and industry to the Lone Star State.

Yet the ability of the Texas highway system to continue to contribute such fringe benefits in future years, warned top officials in the highway field, is endangered by overwhelming traffic increases which threaten to make highways obsolete faster than they can be built.

The tangible—and intangible—benefits of highway construction serve as an example of the "fringe benefit" idea. The effect of a new highway on a community is immediate and lasting. A million-dollar highway contract, for example, creates 100 local jobs on the project alone.

Local business people benefit proportionately. Economists estimate that each dollar spent on highway construction in an area generates $5 worth of business during the life of the project. Forty cents of each highway construction dollar remains in the community where construction takes place.

Long-term benefits of modern highways are reflected primarily in new industry, increased tourism, a better climate for trade. The foremost factor in location of consumer-oriented industries is accessibility to markets; a primary factor in location of any industry is a site's resources of cheap, convenient transportation. Similarly, accessibility dictates where tourists vacation and where shoppers buy.

Also, more than 30 land studies show that the value of land near modern highway facilities increased significantly after the highways were built —some as much as five times faster than in comparable areas without the highways.

But knowledgeable highway men warn that Texans must keep a wary eye on the road ahead. By 1970, Texans will be driving an estimated 64 billion vehicle miles annually — a "64-billion-mile question" that must be solved in terms of highway adequacy. A typical note of concern was voiced in Gov. John Connally's Highway Week proclamation recently.

The proclamation urged "every citizen to view with concern the needs incurred by increasing population and traffic, to support a sustained improvement program, and to improve standards of driving safety."

Traffic Deaths in 1962 Passes 40,000 Mark

Motorists in 1962 raced down the nation's highways on their way to a new—and tragic—death record which for the first time exceeded 40,000 fatalities.

The number of people injured in traffic accidents also took a sharp turn upward.

The authoritative report, issued first in 1931, is prepared annually by The Travelers Insurance Companies and is based on information provided by state motor vehicle departments. More than 3,300,000 copies are distributed every year.

US highway deaths in 1962 totaled 40,500, a 7% increase over 1961. Not since 1941, when 39,969 persons lost their lives, has the traffic fatality record been so high.

The report also reveals a 9% jump in the number of injured in 1962 compared with 1961. In all, 3,345,000 men, women and children were hurt in auto accidents last year.

"As it stands, last year's record is truly tragic," said a spokesman for Travelers. "But what makes it even more disheartening is that it comes on the heels of what we had hoped was a downward trend that began in 1961."

Excessive speed again led the way as the primary cause of accidents. Nearly 13,000 people were killed and more than 1,145,000 were injured as a direct result of speeding violations. Other major causes of accidents included driving on the wrong side of the road and reckless driving.

FIRST MILLION

The first million-share trading day ever recorded on the New York Stock Exchange was Dec. 15, 1886, when 1,199,942 shares of stock traded.

PASSING PARADE

Could be that the Six Flags Marching Band is heralding the June 1 start of daily operations for the historical theme Park. Six Flags, located midway between Dallas and Fort Worth, will commence its summer schedule Saturday, remaining open seven days a week through Labor Day. Threafter it returns to a weekend operation only until December 1.

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

FAVORS FOR SOCIALISM

To what extent should the U.S. use its foreign aid money to finance socialized industrial projects in under-developed countries? Should we officially favor the capitalistic systems with our aid? Some believe that since Uncle Sam is trying to make friends by lending (a difficult thing to do), the borrower should be allowed to do whatever he pleases with the money. If a need exists, for example, and India wants a government-owned mill then we ought to let them have the money to build it.

"I think we ought to do it," President Kennedy told a press conference recently. His ambassador to India, Harvard economist J. K. Galbraith, who has an ideological record of partiality toward socialization, is strongly in favor. The Nehru government has asked for loans that over the next decade or more will total $891 million to finance the giant steel mill at Bokaro, north of Calcutta. It would be the country's fourth government-operated mill. Mr. Nehru considers India's steel industry too important to remain in private hands. He wants the mill to fit into the government's pattern of socialism.

Public vs. Private

India needs more steel mill capacity, and there are vast resources of coal, iron ore and limestone, well located to support it. The U.S. Steel Corporation has completed a long technical feasibility study of the proposed project, without advising what the U.S. should do. At this writing, negotiations are continuing between Indian officials and A.I.D. officers. Some of the Americans are thought to favor placing part of the ownership of the mill into private hands through stock issues.

India has two privately owned and operated steel mills. And here is an interesting fact: in comparison with the government plants, the private mills are producing steel at costs 15% lower than the government mills. The private concerns want to expand, but like our own industry they have not been allowed to accumulate enough profit for healthy growth and expansion. Despite recommendations that the private companies be allowed to keep more of their profit, the Indian government has refused.

Public Incompetence

And so it remains. The Indian government wants to siphon off the profits of private industry to subsidize the inefficiency of its government operations. There are some subtleties here not yet discovered by Mr. Kennedy, who pointed out that building a new government plant is not the same as taking over one that is already constructed. The President showed some spirit in defending public ownership and made it clear that he would favor U.S. financial backing for state-owned projects in other countries.

The Clay Committee, however, has urged that this not be done where the projects compete with private industry.

Government steel mills already built in India by Russia, West Germany, and Great Britain, all have experienced an abundance of snafu. The Russian mill remains in the hands of Soviet personnel and is producing steel. The German mill was virtually sabotaged by Indian incompetence and bungling, and the British mill also has had troubles. In contrast, the two privately owned mills have continued to operate economically, although they have not been allowed to use their own resources for expansion.

INDUSTRIAL PICTURE LOOKS GOOD IN TEXAS

Texas fell from the second place to fourth among the Top Ten States in industrial development last month.

But B. R. Shelton, assistant director of the Texas Industrial Commission said the report does not show a clear picture.

Actually, says Shelton, industry is developing in Texas at a more rapid rate than it did in 1962. At that time the state finished third among the fifty state contending for new industries.

In the month preceding the report, 24 new plants were opened in 15 cities. These included small towns like Georgetown, Refugio, Littlefield and Lewisville, as well as metropolitan cities.

PROFITS UP

Income from corporate dividends is rising rapidly this year and is expected to reach an estimated $17 billion, up from around $15.9 billion last year.

The Best Aid

Various Congressmen have become concerned about the push we have given to socialism abroad. They are making an effort to put restrictions into legislation on foreign aid that would prevent further encouragement to socialism.

If foreign aid is worth anything at all to us, it should earn a measure of respect for freedom of enterprise wherever it is used. After all, this particular kind of freedom is one of the basic foundation stones of the American Way.

Here, undoubtedly, lies an opportunity that the U.S. government may fail to grasp. If the mill is given to India, it will be the largest single U.S. aid project that any under-developed nation has enjoyed.

Surely the best kind of aid we could give them would be to show them the superiority of the private enterprise system. We ought to insist upon private control and operation of the mill, as well as sound amortization of the loan in years to come. But with the President and the Ambassador sold on socialism, one wonders about the future of private industry anywhere in the world. Even here.

Who Runs This Outfit Anyway?

In a recent report to constituents, Congressman Walter Rogers of this idstrict dwelt at length upon the need for 'Congress to set to work to restore to itself authority passed along over the years to regulatory agencies." He pointed specifically to spending and passage of regulations, sometimes criminal in scope, which must be upheld and enforced through judiciary channels.

Without doubt, this is the key which would once again return the government to the people, and until it is accomplished we will continue to operate as "Bureacracy" rather than as a "Democracy" or a "Republic."

Broad, sweeping powers invested within the various bureaus have, since the 30's continued to expand from administration to administration. Spending by these bureaus has become a game of challenge to many as they frequently compete to see who has the most prestige. When all of their "asking" figures have been submitted, the President then comes forth with his proposed budget—and there never seems to be enough.

Occasionally, elected congressmen plead and beg at the doors of the various bureaus in an effort to accomplish considered worthwhile projects.

It is our understanding that few—if any bureaus —once established are ever abolished. Frankly, we cannot see how Congress could better return the government to the people than by completely doing away with some of these cancerous agencies. They could start with some of the less popular ones, and work their way to the top. Meanwhile, it is almost certain that all congressmen cannot know the inner workings of each budget item, and it is equally certain that many of the money bills are passed in "hog-round" fashion without the congressmen — to say nothing of the public—knowing or understanding where all the money goes.

To us, Mr. Rogers' idea is the best one we have run across in many, many years. We appreciate his thinking on the subject, and we feel that 90 per cent of the people in his district are bound to agree. We do have one question, however:

"Why doesn't he start the axe to falling?"

It is nice to have this letter, but he is in a position to do something about it, while the situation is so much "Greek" to the average citizen, who possesses neither the tools nor the "know how" to achieve the desired result. Besides, we elected him to represent our district, and it seems to us that he has an obligation to at least try to regain some of the authority which he says Congress has relinquished to the bureaucrats.—The Hereford Brand.

10 Years Ago—1953

Survey work on the proposed Salt Fork Dam got under way.

Seven county girls were participating in state 4-H contests: Marilyn Hunt of Dodson, Georgia Durfey of Loco, Cynthia Akin of Wellington, Patsy White of Quail, Glenda Phipps of Cross Roads, Ada Carole Thomas and Joyce Amerson.

Wellington citizens were using an average of 189.7 gallons of water each day.

50 Years Ago—1913

The Prohibition Democrats held a meeting at the court house and elected O. W. Alexander chairman and Judge W. A. Walker clerk. County Attorney Carl Rountree and Jno. Richards were elected delegates to the state convention in Fort Worth.

J. B. Castleberry sold his stock of dry goods to Messrs. Pope and Gibbs of Memphis.

"Tot the Jeweler contemplates mounting his moving picture machine on wheels and taking it to Aberdeen and giving performances for a couple of nights, and then from there on to Quail for a performance."

Judge J. L. Lackey returned from McAlester, Okla., and Dallas where he had been on professional business.

CROSSROADS REPORT

I see where a prominent Congressman all of a sudden has noticed that Congress has dealt off too many of its powers to bureaucrats, and wants some of them back.

But after the appointed people-wardens have got this taste of power, it may be about as hard to take it away from them as getting your lemon back out of pitcher of lemonade.

And if the lawmakers try to disempower them, the bureaucrats might get busy and executive up an order making Congress illegal.

I see where some people have filed a lawsuit to have God declared unconstitutional in the Pledge of Allegiance.

And there is not much doubt what the final decision in this matter will be, because here lately the Lord has lost about every case he has been a party to in the Supreme Court.

Seems we need a change of venue, to keep this rival supreme authority from exhausting God's patience, as the country might need His help mighty bad if the Kennedys decided to take up another hobby.

I see where story writers are complaining because the market for Western stories is petering out.

My pro-gunnery neighbor says this shows that culture is ruining the U.S. citizens' taste for non-sexy fiction, and undermining his admiration for the stouthearted confrontation of enemies.

Says the Western writers will just have to shift to more modern thinking, and tell about how the hero mortgaged the ranch for money to pass out to horse thieves to reform them by raising their standard of living.

SALT FORK SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

BRUSH CONTROL

Several thousand acres of brush control have been completed in the past few weeks. Shinnery and sage brush spraying should be completed by July 1 and mesquite spraying will continue until about July 15.

Brush should be actively growing under favorable moisture conditions before spraying. Also a valuable aid in helping grass come back on depleted range is deferred grazing.

A 90-day period of rest following spraying gives grass a chance to seed out, increase in vigor and spread.

This is especially important in sandy country because sandy land grasses such as Indian grass and switch grass require several months to produce seed.

Also shinnery control is merely control and not eradication. If grass is not allowed to get ahead of brush it will not be able to suppress it and the shinnery probably will be back in a few years.

Some farmers and ranchers who have sprayed brush this year are Fred Bourland, Dee Coleman, R. D. Jones, Hamilton & Deaver, Ben Farmer, Clee Par, Jake Hess, and W. R. Breeding.

Traffic Deaths May Reach All Time High

AUSTIN.—The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety reported today the state is approaching the midpoint in the year and definite indications are that traffic deaths will hit an all-time high in 1963.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr. at the same time announced that the expected traffic death toll for the Fourth of July is 8 fatalities, and called upon Texas drivers to "make this holiday the turning point in this year's traffic toll."

"If we continue to take lives at the present rate 1963 will become the most deadly year in Texas history for traffic fatalities," he said. "Motorcides at this time are over 100 more than at the same time last year, and considering the trend of increased accidents and casualties, we have every reason to expect that traffic deaths will exceed the previous all time high in Texas of 2,611 in 1956.

"Only 194 more deaths in 1963 than in 1962 will make a total of 2,615 deaths, an all-time high and an increase for the year of 8% over 1962. Deaths this year have consistently been in excess of 8% over 1962. Our statistical service advises that this is not just a probability, that it is fairly certain to become a reality unless something happens to break the trend."

Garrison said that "Operation Motorcide" will be placed in effect from 12:01 a.m. until 11:59 p.m. July 4 in order to focus attention upon the added dangers of holiday travel when traffic is at a peak. As part of the operation, which calls for maximum enforcement and public support, additional personnel from other uniformed services of the DPS will augment the regular highway patrol force.

Garrison commended the several public and private agencies and organizations which are cooperating in the Fourth of July emphasis program.

He said the Texas Council of Safety Supervisors and the Texas Motor Transportation Association will again sponsor the "Holiday Road Patrol," consisting of a fleet of 35 to 40 cars which will be used to assist stranded motorists over the state during the holiday. The cars will be manned by members of the Council, who are also safety directors, safety supervisors and safety engineers for the trucking industry, whose purpose will be to help relieve highway patrolmen for enforcement work.

The Texas Safety Association with the cooperation of the newspaper, radio and television media, will conduct a public information program stressing the need for courtesy and caution on the streets and highways during the holiday. Numerous Junior Chambers of Commerce clubs over the state, coordinated by W. F. (Bill) Leonard of Dallas, vice president for traffic safety for the TSA, will operate "rest stops" for fatigued travelers to whom they will serve free coffee.

The Texas Association of Broadcasters will conduct a statewide "Drive Lighted and Live" program in which constant appeals will be made to motorists to drive with their headlights on during the Fourth of July to focus attention on the need for legal and safe driving habits.

And the Texas Highway Department will carry on its continuing information and educational program through the public media to instruct drivers on such subjects as freeway driving and the need for caution around construction areas which are greater in number during the summer months.

Glenda Lancaster Dress Revue Winner

Glenda Lancaster was chosen winner of the Collingsworth county 4-H Club Dress Revue Monday, July 1, and will represent the county in the district Revue in Amarillo July 26.

Glenda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lancaster, was one of four winners named, each representing a different division.

June Popwell, winner of first place in the division for third year sewing girls, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Popwell, will attend the district revue and will model her dress but this group is not judged.

Seventeen girls were entered in the county event, one of the largest groups in recent years, according to Mrs. Kathryn Barjenbruch, home demonstration agent.

Approximately 60 mothers and friends attended, also the largest audience for a number of years. The revue was held in the school cafetorium.

Winners were:

Senior Division, 14 years and older: first, Glenda Lancaster, Wellington; second, Nancy Alexander, Samnorwood, who will serve as alternate to the district contest; third, LaJuanda Peters, of Wellington; fourth, Glenda Kiker of Wellington; and fifth, Alona Sain of Dodson.

Junior Division, beginning skirts and blouses, made without commercial patterns: first, Beth Peters of Wellington; second, Mickye Blevins of Quail; third, Becky Burba of Wellington, and fourth, Linda Orr of Wellington.

Second year, skirt and blouse made from commercial pattern: first, Rita Lackey of Samnorwood;; second, Karon Waters of Samnorwood; third, Debra Talley of Dodson; fourth, Oran Sain of Dodson, only boy entered in the competition, who made and modeled a long sleeve shirt.

Third year, girls under 14 years: first, June Popwell of Wellington; second, Joye Hudspeth of Wellington; third, Susan Peters of Wellington, and fourth, Deborah Peters, Wellington.

Joyce Alexander of the Samnorwood 4-H Club was the narrator, and judges were Mrs. Cula Nowlin, home demonstration agent of Wheeler county, and Mrs. Juanita Channel, assistant home demonstration agent of Gray county, Pampa.

As an addition to the program, Mrs. Barjenbruch showed slides of the 1962 Dress Revue.

Each girl entering was presented a gift that included a seam ripper, tracing paper and wheel, bobbin boxes, buttonhole eyelets and a wicker sewing basket.

Glenda, the winner of the event, has been a member of 4-H Club five years and has entered the dress revue each year. Her entry was a multi-colored cotton satin dress, with a basque bodice and full skirt. She made it as her Easter dress. With it, Glenda carried a white purse and wore white shoes.

Among objectives of the dress revue, Mrs. Barjenbruch pointed out, are to help each 4-H girl develop leadership talents and build self-confidence and poise, to select and make becoming clothing, to achieve the skills necessary to plan, select and construct clothing for different occasions, to develop the ability to select becoming accessories, to develop skill in making the most of herself, to develop the ability to use time, energy and money wisely, and to make and model a garment that is needed in her wardrobe and one that can be worn proudly.

Quail Gets ZIP Code Number 79251

"Our five-digit ZIP Code is 79251," Postmaster Lela R. Maxwell of Quail announced today.

"Everyone in Quail will use this ZIP Code on all their correspondence to speed mail deliveries and reduce the chance of mis-sent mail," Postmaster Maxwell said.

Postmaster Maxwell stressed the importance of all citizens of Quail learning this city's ZIP Code and using it in their return addresses on all correspondence. In answering mail, she said, ZIP Codes taken from return addresses on incoming mail should be used.

"The ZIP Code is literally the last word in mail addressing," Mrs. Maxwell said. "It should FOLLOW the city and state in addresses."

She cited this example of the proper use of ZIP Code:

Lela R. Maxwell
Postmaster,
U.S. Post Office,
Quail, Texas, 79251.

The new ZIP Code plan, Mrs. Maxwell said, for the first time will permit the post office department to short-cut repeated address reading.

"The address on mail must often be read as many as eight or ten times by postal employees, to get it to the proper destination," Mrs. Maxwell said. "Each handling slows the process of mail dispatch and adds to the opportunity for human error.

"With ZIP Code, a clerk needs only to glance at the code to know immediately to what national area, state and post office the letter is destined, and to speed it on its way, cutting up to 24 hours off the time between deposit and delivery."

Mrs. Maxwell said that when ZIP Code is in full swing, the United States will have "the most modern system of mail distribution and delivery in existence."

Young Drivers Have Worst Record in 1962

Young drivers in 1962 had the worst performance record of any age group.

Drivers under 25 years of age comprise only about 15 per cent of all licensed drivers in the United States. Yet these young people are involved in nearly 29 per cent of all fatal accidents. In 1961, this age group participated in 27.3 per cent of all highway deaths.

Young men and women in this age group also were involved in a great number of non-fatal highway mishaps. In 1962, they were implicated in 27.3 per cent of all non-fatal traffic accidents as against 23.3 per cent in 1961.

On the brighter side, the best relative improvement in 1962 was made by drivers 65 and over. This group was involved in only 6 per cent of all fatal accidents, compared with 7.2 per cent the previous year.

The largest age group—including drivers from 25 thru 64—also improved its performance record in 1962.

Cakes of ice from the first commercial ice plant were four feet long, two feet wide and one inch thick.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The embattled farmers of the nation might well take note of a bill that is being pushed by the Administration and on which hearings are now being held in the Senate. Here are some of the provisions of the Farm Labor Recruitment Act:

1. Gives the Secretary of Labor authority to fix minimum wages for farm workers at any level he chooses.

2. Authorizes a compulsory program of recruitment at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

3. Gives the Secretary of Labor authority to compel a "closed shop" in agriculture, actually allowing labor unions to come in and take over.

4. Authorizes the Secretary of Labor to write labor-management contracts.

5. Gives the Secretary dictatorial powers to decide which prospective employees are willing, able and qualified workers; to determine that transportation, meals, housing insurance, and medical care provided by farmers are adequate; to determine what records will be kept by farmers; to decide what areas need additional workers; to decide when farmers have violated any provision of the law, and to establish substantial contractual responsibility by farmers with no comparable responsibility by workers.

Take another look at that last clause: "And to establish substantial contractual responsibility by farmers with no comparable responsibility by workers." Better write your Senators and Congressmen today.

Congratulations to the West Texas Utilities Company for winning first prize for their advertising campaign promoting the business and industrial advantages of this and other area communities served by the company. The program includes national advertising, personal calls on prospects and many mailings of specially prepared material.

Congratulations also to St. Joseph's Hospital upon once again having received accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. St. Joseph's is the only hospital with this rating between Amarillo and Wichita Falls. It is a high honor to the Sisters and to our community and one that has been enjoyed for years. The accreditation will remain in effect until 1966 at which time another inspection will be made.

Unless something happens to change my plans I intend to wend my way out to Samnorwood next Saturday afternoon to get better acquainted with Oran Gragson who will be the guest speaker at the Ex-Students Reunion. He is the mayor of Las Vegas, Nevada and Louise and I have been talking about going to this fabulous place for years. I figure it might be well to be on speaking terms with the mayor in case I should get into trouble. Although they both love to put their money where their mouth is, I doubt if Bob Bowen or Bernice Welch could help me much way out in Nevada.

This is the year to do some canning. The wild plums are more than plentiful and they are ripening this week. The area also has a bumper peach crop. In fact they are growing in such numbers that they are breaking down the limbs in some orchards. Jake Tarter warned about too many peaches on the trees and I followed his advice on the one tree in my backyard. The apple and pear trees are also loaded as well as the grape vines. Yes sir, this is the year to fill the pantry with jellies and preserves and remember peaches keep fairly well in the deep freeze.

Took a glass jug out to Steve Owens place the other day to buy a gallon of kerosene and received a first class bawling out as thanks for my patronage. It seems that a new law requires a metal container which must be labeled and the penalty for violation can be a $500 fine or two years in jail. So take a metal container if you want kerosene. But that is not the end of my story. I finally got the fuel home and poured it on the cane stumps that would not burn and went in and washed my hands in the kitchen sink. And — I promptly received a second tongue lashing for getting coal oil on my wife's fresh washed dishes. I remarked: "I am about fed up with two cussings in less than 15 minutes over one measly gallon of coal oil. It makes a man angry to get criticized over something that is distinctly and entirely his own fault."

If a woman goes to town without a slip under her dress other women raise their eyebrows and clack their tongues and the men ogle. But what about the hairy chested man who appears in public in a thin shirt without any undershirt? Regardless of the propriety of the matter the woman looks ten times better.

Carrol Koch of The Quanah Tribune Chief says that the Washington women who have been worried about the nudity of animals and want them clothed should be concerned about the nudity of their daughters.

Livestock Co. Changes Sale Day to Thursday

Livestock sales at the Wellington Livestock Commission Co. have been changed from Monday to Thursday of each week, the owners, John Robert and Edd Henard, announced this week.

They will continue to begin at 1 p.m., as they have in the past.

"This change will benefit both the consignees and the buyers," Edd Henard explained.

There will be the opportunity for more buyers to attend. Generally, buyers attend some of the larger Panhandle sales which occur on Monday, but the new Thursday date here will enable them to be at the Wellington sale, thereby opening a new source of supply to a number of these buyers.

It will also eliminate the week-end layover of cattle in the pens here, Henard pointed out. This is often necessary in the case of a Monday sale.

The Wellington Livestock Commission Co. sale draws customers from an area far beyond Collingsworth county, with both buyers and sellers coming from Memphis, Childress, Hedley, Clarendon, Shamrock, Hollis and Wheeler. These attend in large numbers and there are smaller numbers from an even wider area.

"With livestock a major part of our county's economy, we feel that anything we can do to boost it is good for our county as a whole, as well as the individual livestock man," Henard remarked.

A number of improvements have been made in the facilities of the sale barn in recent months.

Scout Aquatic Camp Planned

PAMPA.—Boy Scouts and Explorers of the Adobe Walls Council may attend an all-Aquatic Week at Camp Kiowa, out of Canadian, for training in swimming, life saving, rowing and canoeing and water front safety. Attendance is on an individual basis, and reservations may be made through the Council Service Center, Box 2479, Pampa, Texas. The reservation fee is $5.00 of the total $16.00 fee for the week of July 7 or July 14.

Any Boy Scout or Explorer that qualifies as a Scout swimmer; that is entering deep water and swimming 50 yards out and back, is eligible to attend.

Campers will check in on Sunday afternoon and complete the training at noon the following Saturday.

Although the camp will be limited because of the water front facilities, there are still openings in both weeks.

Each Scout Troop is urged to have at least one representative trained this summer to assist the Troop in its summer swim program.

Complete information will be sent the Scout upon registration.

Summertime Also Pioson Ivy Time

Every year many people are affected with severe and painful skin inflammation because of contact with poison ivy and other plants.

G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist at Texas A&M points out that poison ivy and poison oak are widespread throughout Texas, particularly along streams and in shady places. He says that all parts of the poison ivy plant are poisonous, particularly the sap. A small amount of the toxin can cause skim inflammation which can be transferred from one person to another. Smoke will also carry the toxin from burned poison ivy plant parts.

1. Do not come in contact with poison ivy.
2. Do not allow pets to run through the plants, as the toxin can be transferred on their feet.
3. Do not burn leaves that contain poison ivy plant parts.
4. Wash thoroughly after any contact with poison ivy.
5. Do not wear contaminated clothing until it is washed thoroughly.

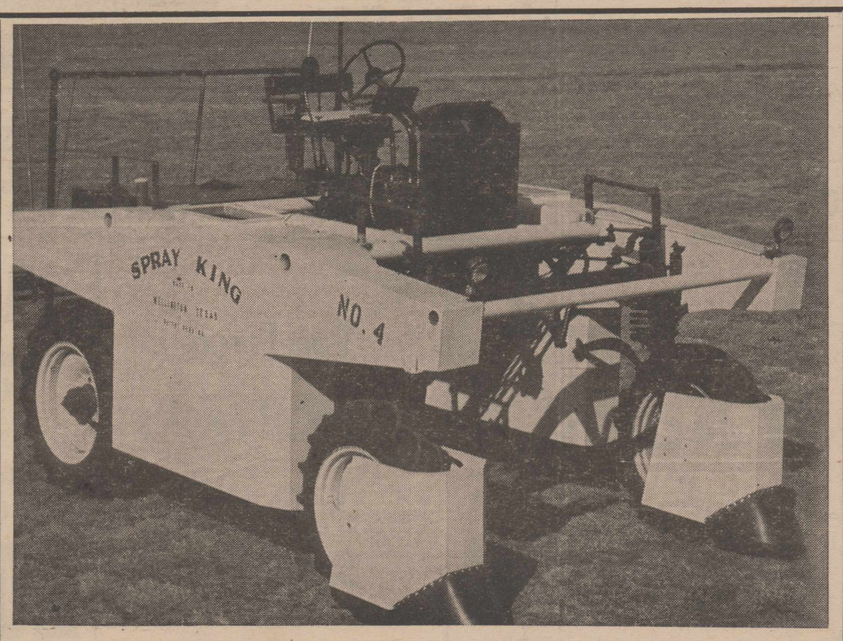

For control of poison ivy and other noxious plants, Hoffman suggests you see your county agricultural agent.
