Tropical Storm 'Cindy' Looms Big

Peeking At 7 Astronauts

EDITOR'S NOTE: The National Aeronautics and Space Administration for the first time has permitted reporters and photographers to visit its 110-acre 150 million dollar Langley Research Center at Hampton, Va., where the seven Mercury astronauts are training for the manned satellite program. Following is a progress report on the Mercury project.

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press International

LANGLEY RESEARCH CENTER, Va. (UPI)—The seven Mercury astronauts training for one of the most eerie and hazardous adventures man has been called on to undertake — a trip into unknown outer space — know how it feels to float weightless in air or to spin wildly at high speeds.

They have experienced these extremes of gravity; weightlessness, or zero gravity, and the pull of the centrifuge 25 times that of normal gravity. They know other extremes; that of the ocean's pressure deep underwater and of the laboratory pressure chamber.

They also have experienced the horror of eating baked potatoes minus the skins and with nothing but a thick stick to solace them. They have tumbled ludicrously during periods of weightlessness, of zero gravity, such as will be the standard operating condition of space travelers. They have gone skin-diving in the weird other-world of the sea.

Immured in Pressure Chambers They have been immured in pressure chambers, made to serve as guinea pigs to test special "low-readiness" space diets (minus potato skins), put through exhausting medical studies, subjected to innumerable scientific lectures. They have been quizzed, probed, and watched like so many laboratory specimens.

Constantly in the past four months it has been impressed upon them that one day, about two years hence, one of them will undertake a strange journey from which he can hope to return safely only if a multitude of operations and gadgets work as planned.

How are the astronauts standing up? How do they look? How do they feel? How do they like each other after being herded together for months? How do they like their space mentors and medical tormentors?

The one-word answer to all these questions is: fine. These men, ranging in age from 32 to 37, are bronzed, lean, healthy, keen-eyed and, to all outward seeming, happy.

Weightlessness, Lots of Fun How is it when weightlessness takes over and the pit of the stomach loses its anchor to earth? "A lot of fun," what's it like to be whirled in a centrifuge until the forces tugging at you are 25 times the normal pull of gravity? "An extremely interesting experience; I wouldn't have missed it."

These men are training for perhaps the most eerie and hazardous adventure modern man has been called upon to undertake. But, though serious, there is nothing grim about them. A lecturer remarks that "we have a reasonable hope of getting the astronaut back alive."

The seven candidates, sitting in the front row, laugh as though a

Carolina Coast Battens Down

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—A tropical storm of near hurricane force aimed itself at the South Carolina coast today, and the weather bureau said it may hit near Charleston, S.C., this evening.

The Red Cross rushed nine disaster specialists to Carolina coastal points threatened by the storm — nicknamed Cindy. Agencies were alerted from Myrtle Beach, S.C., to Elizabeth City, N.C. to be ready to shelter and feed refugees should the storm hit.

At 11 a.m. the weather bureau located the storm about 110 miles east of Charleston. Highest winds were estimated at 60 to 70 miles per hour, and gale winds extended outward 125 miles in the eastern and 60 miles in the western semicircle.

Land aircraft radar spotted the center of the storm at Latitude 32.4 north and Longitude 78.4 west. It was moving toward the west northwest at about five miles per hour.

The weather bureau said tides of four feet above normal would wash the South Carolina coast from Charleston northward for 60 miles and advised persons in the coastal area to leave for higher ground.

"An increase to just about hurricane force is possible today," the weather bureau said. "The storm is expected to continue west-northwestward at about the same speed during the next 12 hours with the center reaching the South Carolina coast near Myrtle Beach."

Hurricane watch and gale warnings were extended south of Cape Hatteras, N.C., to Beaufort, S.C. Small craft from Savannah, Ga., to Hatteras were warned to remain in port, and vessels in the busy coastal shipping lanes were advised to use extreme caution.

"Winds and rains should gradually increase in the area of gale display this afternoon and this evening with gusts of near hurricane force on the central South Carolina coast as the center moves inland early tonight," the weather bureau said.

Residents along the Carolina coast were urged to keep in touch with latest advisories and bulletins on the storm. They were urged to be ready for quick action "in case the hurricane watch is changed to hurricane warnings."

Last year, Hurricane Helene buffeted the Carolinas from Charleston to Norfolk, Va. with winds up to 135 m.p.h. doing an estimated seven million dollars damage and hitting hardest at Wilmington, N.C.

Forecasters William McGee, who said there was a "good chance" Cindy might develop hurricane force, declined to predict where it might hit if it continued moving toward land.

The storm showed a slow northward drift, but it was not enough movement to consider a significant direction," McGee said. "I don't think we could point to any particular spot where it might hit."

After Cindy was located by aircraft, Navy Hurricane Hunter planes started a round-the-clock vigil.

At the same time he assured the Americans that the Soviet Union will never start a war against the United States or any other nation.

"It would be a calamity if we have to fight, but if we have to fight, no one can stop us," he continued. "I believe this is realized by the American leaders as well as ourselves, and we will do our best to prevent it."

Police Show Concern Over Auto Injuries

Pampa police showed concern today over an alarming jump in injuries resulting from auto accidents on Pampa streets the first six months of this year.

Through June, police had counted 47 persons injured in collisions compared to only 32 at this time a year ago. In contrast the number of accidents has been reduced from 241 to 264.

During the past month 13 persons suffered injuries in 38 accidents on city streets. Thirty-two of those accidents occurred away from intersections and 30 occurred during daylight hours.

Blamed for eight of the month's accidents were motorists making an improper start from a parked position. Intoxicated motorists were blamed for only two wrecks.

Property damage to vehicles during June was set by police at $12,721.

Gray County Has Three Fatalities

One fatal accident at McLean June 6 brought Gray County's traffic death toll for the year to three. Sgt. E. G. Albers of the Texas Highway Patrol reported Tuesday.

In general the number of fatal accidents in the Upper Panhandle area has taken a big dip, from 13 at this date in 1958 to eight, Albers noted.

During June in the nine-county area headed by Albers, there were three traffic deaths, 28 injuries and a total of 35 accidents.

June's totals brought the 1959 record to eight deaths, 156 injuries and a total of 232 accidents. The number of accidents is seven less than at this time a year ago.

WEeping HOSTAGES

Weeping hostages are guided to safety after being rescued from rebellious prisoners at the Monroe, Wash., Reformatory. The prisoners had threatened to stab the hostages to death unless they were allowed to escape. Guards fired tear gas into the visitors room holding the convicts and hostages and overpowered the inmates. None of the hostages was injured, but all suffered from tear gas.

Prisoners May Be Moved

MONROE, Wash. (UPI)—The though a trick and a teargas attack, the inmates, hoping to force state reformatory here has turned hostile toward the four convicts who threatened women and children hostages in a 14-hour escape attempt, Supr. Ernest C. Timpani said today.

"I believe the four should be transferred to the state penitentiary at Walla Walla," Timpani said. "We've been getting reports all day that the other 84 inmates of the institution have no use for them."

Prison guards captured the four would-be fugitives Tuesday

Donald de Courcy, 22, Timpani said the hospitalized men would go into solitary confinement, "probably in a couple of days" and remain there until taken into court to face whatever charges the Snohomish County prosecutor decides upon.

Timpani said security provisions for the visitors room, which the escape plotters turned into a small prison of their own, "certainly will be tightened up."

The fourth, David K. Owens, 19, was in solitary confinement. Those in the hospital were Richard Mur-state director of institutions, that the fact the visitors room has a single entrance and is close to the kitchen were disadvantages.

The House Conservation and Reclamation committee Tuesday substituted a bill by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston for one that passed the Senate last week. Eckhardt's bill outlines in more detail than the Senate measure the public's right to use the Gulf coast beaches.

Compromise Bill Talked

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press International

AUSTIN (UPI)—A 16-member conference committee working on taxation today renewed its attempt to prescribe a "compromise" tax bill to remedy the state's financial ills.

The committee was unable to write a tax bill Tuesday. Reasons for the deadlock remained a mystery as the House-Senate conference, stuck to their pledge of secrecy until a bill was reported.

The committee began work again today with only eight days remaining in the second special session of the legislature.

But despite the committee's failure to break the deadlock, Speaker Waggoner Carr expected confidence Tuesday that lawmakers would have a tax bill to vote on before the end of the week.

He pointed out that would clear the way next week for floor work on a "compromise" appropriations bill. Another conference committee has been working on the state's spending problems, but has held up a report until members could determine how much new money would be available during the next two years.

Carr said the tax study group had "hit a few rough spots, but the cause of the comptroller's revenue estimates."

On Monday Comptroller Robert S. Calvert told the committee the bill it had under consideration would be 16 million dollars short of the state's needs. Contents of the bill were undisclosed.

Calvert told lawmakers earlier they would have to raise at least 180 million dollars to retire the state deficit and finance new spending.

In other legislative developments, Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio dropped his filibuster against a controversial bill to increase student fees at state-supported colleges and the measure passed the Senate by one vote.

Gonzalez' strategy was to delay action on the bill until it would be too late to pass it by both chambers before the end of the session. He delayed action 10 days.

The bill, by Sen. William Fly of Victoria, provides that school administrators may charge up to $30 a semester for student services. Gonzalez contended the bill was an "indirect" method to raise tuition.

A House subcommittee working on an open-beach bill said it would report a House substitute for a Senate-passed measure to the full committee for a vote.

The House Conservation and Reclamation committee Tuesday substituted a bill by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston for one that passed the Senate last week. Eckhardt's bill outlines in more detail than the Senate measure the public's right to use the Gulf coast beaches.

HUNGARIANS WON'T DEMONSTRATE

By LARRY MORRONE
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov visits here today to inspect the brawny muscles of United States industry, the huge complex of steel mills at the foot of Lake Michigan.

A spokesman for the Hungarian Freedom Fighters Association said the group planned no demonstration such as the egg-throwing, oath-shouting, pickard-carrying picketing staged by hundreds of angry refugees when Russian Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan visited here last winter.

Mayor Richard K. Daley, hindful of Detroit Mayor Louis C. Micheli's refusal to greet the Russian No. 3 man, said Kozlov would be welcomed to Chicago "just as he would greet any other visiting dignitary."

Daley sent a representative, Fred Hoehner, to the airport to meet Kozlov and planned to extend a personal greeting to the Russian Thursday in City Hall.

Kozlov and his retinue were to go directly from the airport to Indiana Harbor Works of Inland Steel Corp. at East Chicago, Ind., followed by tours of United States Steel Corp.'s huge Gary Works and tube mill at Gary, Ind.

In Detroit Tuesday, Kozlov toured industrial plants, dined with leading industrialists and conferred privately for an hour with Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Williams said Kozlov told him that the United States and U.S.S.R. "are truly close together" in working out a program for arms inspection by "foreigners."

Williams said Kozlov told him the Russians have almost "come to the point where they could agree to this" but are waiting for answers to some of their "suggestions."

The Michigan governor said he sought in a series of pointed (See INSPECTION, Page 3)

Hammarhjold Wants Summit Meeting Held By UN Rules

Foreign News Commentary
By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

Dag Hammarskjold wants any summit meeting that may be held to be conducted within the United Nations framework.

The secretary general, whose strong point is "quiet diplomacy," has been guarded in his statements but he has made it clear at the United Nations and in a speech at Copenhagen that he feels any meeting of the Big Four chiefs of government should be under U.N. auspices.

He may win his point yet. Only Britain and Russia now are disposed toward holding a summit conference of the 1955 type at Geneva. But all four powers were agreed last year — until Red China vetoed the proposition — that it would be good to hold a summit conference within the U.N. Security Council.

Other approaches to a 1959 summit meeting becoming more and more cluttered, the idea for a "summit-council" session is again being proposed.

U.N. News Dull

From a news standpoint, the United Nations has gone through its duller season since before the Korean War.

A summit conference would change all that and would give full sway to Hammarskjold's talents for quiet diplomacy.

Everybody was agreed on a "summit-council" last summer. Khrushchev talked it over with Mao Tse-tung and backed out.

The Chinese Reds balked because, for the summit meeting to be held within the Security Council, it would have meant that Nationalist China would sit in equality with Khrushchev himself. The Chinese Communists, not being recognized by the council, of course would have been excluded.

There is provision, if not precedent, for a "summit-council" meeting. The U.N. Charter calls for periodic high-level meetings of the council to be attended by members of the participating governments. This has never been done.

Closest Approach Suez

The closest approach to such a meeting came in 1956, when the major foreign ministers sat around the council table to discuss the Suez crisis.

Hammarhjold broke up what looked like a developing paralytic wrangle by passing notes around the table during the private talk.

Out of that man-to-man session came the six principles on which the United Arab Republic now operates the Suez Canal.

The idea last year — now being promoted actively again — was that a similar procedure would be followed in a "summit-council" meeting.

Big Four Seated

Khrushchev, President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan would sit at council members in public sessions with the representatives of the other seven council countries: Nationalist China, Argentina, Canada, Italy, Japan, Panama and Tunisia.

The Big Four would go into private session in Hammarskjold's office, or at their own various headquarters, for secret talks. This would be much like the foreign ministers procedure of meeting at each other's villas and then reporting publicly in the open session.

Former president Harry Truman has come out for the "summit-council" idea. Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) likes the charter idea of periodic high-level meetings.

Ex-Model Builds Her Own Business From Oven Accident

Woman To Woman
By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK (UPI) — A former model has built a one-woman accessories business out of an accident.

Pert, pretty Lynn Carol was a high-fashion model when an oven exploded and burned her hair. For weeks she wore a scarf while her hair grew back.

She thought standard three-corner kerchief was to small and unfattering, so she made her own. Then she added a matching bag because she felt it would camouflage the fact she had to wear a scarf.

Before the accident, Miss Carol, a tall, slim brunette, had been looking for some other work. "I felt I never would do anything else if I didn't stop modeling," she said. "I wasn't unhappy, but I never was really happy or satisfied as a model. I thought how awful to walk around giving prices and numbers the rest of my life."

So she hit on the idea of accessories, quilt modeling, and set up shop in Manhattan's garment district a year and a half ago.

"Business-wise, I'm terribly unknowing. If I'd known what it was going to be like, I'd never have done it."

NEW "GREAT WALL" — Moscow Radio reported Tuesday that Soviet scientists had discovered a "great wall of central Asia" similar to the Great Wall of China. The broadcast, heard here, said it had been established that the wall was "built over 2,000 years ago and existed... on the territory of present-day Uzbekistan, Tajikistan and Turkmenia."

PARK HERMIT COMMITTED — LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dennis Farrell, hermit of Griffith Park, was committed to Sepulveda Veterans Administration Hospital Tuesday after he was found mentally ill at a sanity hearing.

Farrell, 38, had lived in the 4,200-acre city-owned park for six years before voluntarily leaving it last week.

PURE RED AGENTS — BONN, Germany (UPI) — The West German government Tuesday night offered to waive prosecution of East German espionage agents who defect to the West.

Interior Minister Gerhard Schröder, speaking on a national television network, promised "we will do what we can to make use of the possibility of not prosecuting in such cases."

FRENCH FILM CITED — BERLIN (UPI) — France's "Les Cousins" Tuesday night won the International Berlin Film Festival's "Golden Bear" — highest award for the year's best feature film. Among the other winners was American actress Shirley MacLaine who received a "Silver Bear" for her performance in "Ask Any Girl." French actor Jean Gabin was selected as best actor for his part in "Archimède le Clochard" and also received a "Silver Bear."

BOUNCY LOCKS WHEELS — OLAHIE, Kan. (UPI) — A veteran airline pilot bounced the wheels of his crippled plane on the ground to lock them in place Tuesday, then landed the airliner with 43 persons aboard without a hitch.

The crew of Braniff Flight 336 from San Antonio to Chicago tried for an hour and a half to lock the landing gear. Finally, Capt. W. W. Garbett touched down lightly at the Olathe Naval Air Station, locking the wheels in place. He made another approach and landed smoothly.

South African Beauty Causing Wrenched Necks

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A real life Juliet promises to make us a nation of Romeos if she captures public fancy as easily as she has mesmerized the bigwig at 20th Century-Fox studios.

Juliet's a red-haired, peaches-and-cream beauty from South Africa who causes more wrenched necks than a ring full of wretches.

Everywhere she goes on the lo-jaded studio personnel stop cold in their tracks to ogle the leggy newcomer. The brass is convinced 22-year-old Juliet Prowse will be the biggest star developed at the studio in many a year.

A ballerina-turned-actress Juliet arrived in Hollywood only a week ago and immediately began rehearsals for her first film, "Can-Can."

Like Return of Garbo — It's not a lead role, but you'd think Garbo had decided to return to pictures. During dance recitals, Harry Adler, studio production chief, and every producer who could possibly find an excuse to drop by the rehearsal hall.

The young designer's line now includes 20 to 25 items a season, priced from $3.95 to $30. Accessories range from a gold lame cocktail apron with pink pom-poms to "the women who THOUGHT she had everything to a 'scoop' — a wrap-around headscarf that buttons at the back of the neck."

"I get ideas for all kinds of things. Sometimes I wish the ideas would stop, but I guess they were bottled up so long that they kept coming. Someday I hope not to limit myself to fashion," she said.

Her extra-curricular inventions include a whittling stick, gold take-jewel trimmed yo-yo, mink band-aids, and gold and mink neckers, furriers, department stores, chains "for the Christmas tree market openings, and traveling

POOR ESCAPE ROUTE

CUERNAVACA, Mexico (UPI) — Dr. Arturo Gil-Rendon called police to investigate the strange knocking on his wall in the new by village of Jofita Tuesday. Together they watched as a big was knocked through the doctor's wall and a man's head poked through it. Behind him were other men, who had picked a route to escape from the jail nearby.

ROVING MATERNITY WARD — LONDON (UPI) — Donna Duck hasn't let maternity down on her traveling. Donna is her four eggs inside a life preserver ring on the excursion steamer Dauntless. She and other men, who had picked a route to escape from the jail nearby.

Changed Mind About Contract — "I thought that was an awfully long time, especially if they didn't like me and kept me from working at other things. So I wired back refusing the contract. Then I learned there were yearly options, and if they weren't going to use me they'd drop me. So I called back and accepted."

Most startling facet of Juliet's dimpled, pixie-like face are her eyes. They are green-gray-blue and change colors with alarming frequency, depending on her mood.

Juliet is a realistic girl with a raised-eyebrow approach to Hollywood's superlatives about her future.

"Naturally, I hope to become a star. It's something I've always wanted. But I'm not counting on it. Too many people come to this town with high hopes only to see them dashed out."

"I am not going to build myself up to a letdown."

Juliet then arose from our table.

Eisenhower Administration Holds Answer To Steel Strike

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—The Eisenhower administration appeared today to hold the answer as to whether there will be a nationwide steel strike next Tuesday night.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, in effect dumped the deadlocked steel wage dispute into the administration's lap when he warned Tuesday the union would not agree to another strike.

McDonald told Vice President Richard Nixon in Pittsburgh that the wage talks were getting "absolutely nowhere." He said there would be no extension of the present contracts beyond the midnight July 14 deadline "unless I see the possibility of a new labor contract."

McDonald's statement was seen as a warning that 500,000 union workers in the basic steel industry would walk out next Tuesday night unless the White House persuaded the industry to offer a wage increase.

The two-week strike beyond the original midnight June 30 deadline was arranged as a result of President Eisenhower's intervention June 27.

Nixon, in Pittsburgh for the All-Star baseball game, also met with Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

The vice president said he would report both conversations to President Eisenhower.

Further negotiations in the talks aimed at agreeing on a new contract were scheduled here today.

A non-inflationary settlement of the steel dispute without a strike "continues to be probable," the magazine Iron Age said today.

The magazine weekly said the odds are 7 to 4 that both sides will bow to the President's wishes on an agreement that would not set off a steel price hike that could bring another round of inflation.

Marriage by Phone Must Be Repeated

BORGER, Tex. (UPI)—Linda Dixon, 17, is making plans today to go to Germany and marry her husband.

As far as Linda is concerned, she is already Mrs. Alvin Tippens, and has been for three days. But the Air Force doesn't recognize her wedding.

Her hometown sweetheart is an airman stationed at Bitburg, Germany. At 8:30 p. m. Sunday (it was 3:30 a. m. Monday German time) Linda sat in her home and said her "I do's" over the telephone with Rev. E. E. Taylor listening in on an extension.

At the other end, some 5,500 miles away, Tippens, 21, took a break from night guard duty and sat in his unit chapel in a apartment. He had just enough time to take off his pistol holster before the ceremony, and immediately afterward went back on duty.

The ceremony is recognized by the state of Texas, but not by the Air Force. When Linda arrives in Bitburg in two weeks, they plan to repeat the wedding, but this time in front of an altar.

Postoffice Opens July 18 In White Deer

WHITE DEER (Sp.)—Dedication ceremonies for the new Post Office in White Deer have been set for July 18, at 2 p. m., according to W. C. Powers, postmaster.

W. B. (Red) Weathered, former postmaster in Pampa and now senior field officer for the U. S. Postal Department, Fort Worth, will be the main speaker. The Amarillo Air Force Band will give a concert.

The program will be sponsored by the White Deer Lions Club, with Huelyn Laycock, Russ Howard, Alvin Williams, and W. C. Powers as the steering committee.

The new facility is located at 311 Main Street, across the street from the former location. It is a part of the Post Office Department's Commercial Leasing Program, which uses private financing to obtain needed facilities.

Since these facilities remain under private ownership while leased to the Federal Government, they pay local taxes to the community and eliminate the need of large outlays of money from the Federal Treasury for construction purposes, Powers explained.

The new office has 2,884 square feet of interior space, in addition to 130 square feet of platform space and 1,500 square feet of parking and maneuvering area for use of postal vehicles and the convenience of the public.

The building in which the office is located is owned by T. C. Jackson and housed the Jackson Insurance office and the Richardson Implement Company. It has recently been remodeled and features a Roman brick exterior, green and gray interior walls, full-length plate glass doors, aluminum-finish, and modernistic design. New equipment has been installed throughout the air-conditioned office.

"This new postal facility symbolizes a new era in communications in this community," Powers commented. "It will be more pleasant for our postal patrons to do business here, and more pleasurable for our postal employees to provide even better service."

questions, to punch holes in the deputy premier's claims that Russia advocates self-determination for peoples of other nations. Williams pointed to Russian actions in putting down uprisings in Hungary and East Germany.

Kozlov replied that what the governor had heard was merely propaganda. Williams said, "About 30 Hungarian freedom fighters, carrying signs reading 'Kozlov go home' and 'Do you need some human blood?' picked a Detroit hotel while Kozlov attended a reception in his honor. Kozlov did not see the pickets."

joke had been made. Two of them shake hands in mock solemnity. From left to right there is not a single visible flicker of apprehension.

The astronauts were picked early this year from 32 of the nation's finest military test pilots to train for the manned satellite program, dubbed Project Mercury, which was kicked off last October by the 'National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

But according to the project director, a naturally conservative 45-year-old named Robert R. Gilruth, "we have no accomplishments to report... just plans and first steps."

"We do not need any new scientific breakthroughs," Gilruth said. "We do," however, expect many difficulties and surprises as the program develops."

But he believes the astronauts have a better chance than some pioneers of the past. Recalling Charles A. Lindbergh's 1927 flight to Paris in an overloaded single-engine plane that almost didn't get off the ground, he observed: "These boys will have a better chance than he did."

Two Damage Suits Filed

Two separate damage suits growing out of auto accidents were filed today with District Court Clerk Helen Sprinkle.

Claims were filed by C. W. Kenner, 221 N. Somerville, against Perry McElroy, owner of the Yellow Cab Co., and by John W. Whitlock against Allie R. Britten.

Kenner is asking a total of $6,150 for injuries and car damages growing out of a collision with a Yellow Cab Jan. 2 at the intersection of Cuyler and Foster.

Whitlock, in his suit against Britten, asked for $2,387.50 for personal injuries and the lost value of certain merchandise. Whitlock and Britten were involved in a two-car

Long Reported To Be Worse

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Reports circulated in the Louisiana governor's mansion today that Gov. Earl K. Long's physical condition is worse.

Dr. William Cook, who treated Long after a heart seizure in 1950, called on the governor Tuesday and declined to comment on his condition. Dr. Robert Heath said there had been no "drastic" change in his condition.

But state legislative leaders who called on the 63-year-old governor indicated his health has deteriorated. The governor's office, at Long's okay, agreed, at request of newsmen to issue twice-daily medical bulletins beginning today.

House Speaker Robert Angelle said Tuesday Long "is a very ill man."

Long suffered a "slight heart failure" last Wednesday night. Doctors attending him have urged him to slow down, get some rest and get well. Long was reported sleeping most of Tuesday.

Long said Monday he was going to go on a California vacation Friday, State Sen. B. E. (Sixty) Rayburn said Tuesday the Friday departure is definite, but Long aides would not confirm it.

Local History Group Sets Program On Surnames

A program of interest to all Pampa genealogists, historians, and those interested in family research will be presented on "The Origin and Development of Surnames," at the monthly meeting of the Pampa Genealogical and Historical Society, Thursday at 7:30 in the auditorium of Lovett Library.

As there are over 50,000 family names in use in the United States alone, onomastic science (the science of names) is of great importance to every researcher and more than 400 books have been written on the subject.

The adoption of surnames, or family names of English-speaking peoples began in England in the 12th century, but did not make much headway until two or three centuries later, and this development presents a most fascinating study.

Tracy D. Cary, president of the organization, also announced that the Society in cooperation with the Adult Education Program of the Lovett Library will sponsor a six-week basic course in genealogy to begin on Thursday, July 15.

The classes will meet each Thursday at 7:30 p. m. throughout the course and will be taught at the library. A large number have already enrolled and text books and further information will be distributed at the meeting.

Town To Have Bond Election

SKELLYTOWN (Sp.)—Three propositions will come to a vote in a bond election July 25 at the Skellytown grade school. The resolution and order for the town bond election was made by Mayor Lena Moore and two commissioners.

The propositions are:

1. $120,000 revenue bonds to be used for the purchase of the present water system and equipment belonging to the Western Gas Company and the water well, water rights and equipment belonging to the Cabot Company, south of town, also to construct overhead storage, new line and fire protection facilities.
2. $60,000 revenue bonds for the purchase and installation of a completely new sewer system.
3. $15,000 tax bonds to construct and equip a town hall.

Girl Badly Injured In Auto Mishap

Sherry Lynn Williams, 18 months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Williams of Pampa, was injured more seriously Monday than first believed, friends of the family reported today.

The girl, taken to Highland General Hospital Monday after being struck by a car in the Williams driveway, was rushed to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo where doctors report she is "hovering between life and death."

Sherry suffered a brain injury and was in surgery three hours and 30 minutes Monday night. She is reported in critical condition.

The Williams lot was knocked over Monday afternoon when a car driven by her uncle backed from the Williams driveway at 1137 S. Dwight. The uncle, Charley Schivle, said he failed to see Miss Williams as she toddled behind his car.

GOVERNORS RECEIVED

US, Allies To Enter Second Round With Russia Monday

"Europe Today"
By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International

GENEVA (UPI)—The United States and its Allies enter the second round of their marathon Geneva Conference with the Russians Monday, as badly divided as ever on the burning issue of whether there will be a summit meeting.

The Western Alliance stood up successfully to the critical shocks and strains of the first 40 days of sparring and infighting with Russia's Andre Gromyko, and there still is no doubt the Western Big Three are united in determination not to be threatened or pushed out of isolated West Berlin.

But after a three-week conference recess since June 20 the United States, Britain and France begin the second round without any agreement or even understanding about the terms on which their leaders would meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in a summit get-together.

As Logical Sequel
British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has been convinced since his Moscow mission in more cautious in sizing up the March that Khrushchev is the only Russian with whom the West can do business and that a summit meeting must be held.

He has argued repeatedly that the West would be well advised to go to the summit as the logical sequel to the Geneva ministers' meeting rather than be driven to it under the gun of a threatened nuclear holocaust over Berlin.

In fact, Macmillan said in a recent London speech that he expects not just a single summit meeting but a "continuous chain" of summit conferences before the major cold war issues can be settled.

British officials hotly deny that Macmillan is willing to go to the summit at any price. Like the Big Four foreign ministers can agree in Geneva on at least the subject headings of a Berlin standstill agreement, leaving it to the government chiefs to make the final political decisions.

U. S. Is More Cautious
Macmillan believes the slow-motion Geneva talks on suspension of nuclear tests also may ripen sufficiently for final settlement at a first summit meeting. But the United States is much more cautious in sizing up the President Eisenhower said during the conference recess that there still are no signs of the minimum conditions being fulfilled under which the U.S. would go to the summit. Secretary of State Christian Herter told Gromyko early in the foreign ministers' conference that these conditions were:

- Some definite agreement at Geneva, or
- Some narrowing of East-West difference.
- Some agreement on an area of discussion for the summit leaders.

Stove Fire Causes Very Little Damage

Pampa firemen fought their second fire in the past ten days this morning when a cook stove caught fire in the C. E. Wisdom home, 1214 Market.

Firemen, called at 6:45 a. m., reported very light damages. The fire was blamed on the stove's pilot light.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me, if you can (or maybe someone else can if you dare to print this) what is "God's will"? My husband and I have been married for sixteen years and have had nothing but trouble. Our son was taken to juvenile court when he was 14 because he never had a father's training or guidance.

My husband says, "It's God's will." We are about to lose our land because my husband doesn't want to work. He never watched his money when times were good. He says, "It's God's will." Frankly, I am confused although I have been to church every Sunday since I was five.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: "God's will" is that which is beyond the power of man to control. It's all right to get down on your knees and pray for something, but there is a time when man must get off his knees and work for it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a housewife and the mother of four children. My problem is a friend who calls me 4 and 5 times a day and holds the conversation for 15 and 20 minutes at a time. I want to keep her friendship but I can't stay on the phone that long. I have used the following excuses and wonder if you can add any: 1. Baby into something. 2. Water running. 3. Taking a bath. 4. Expecting an important call. 5. Have company. 6. Something on stove. 7. Doorbell ringing. Thanks, Abby, for any suggestions.

BUSY HOUSEWIFE

DEAR BUSY: Honesty is the best policy—and by far the most effective. Tell her you are sorry but you have work to do and cannot visit on the phone.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for three years and are very happy. Our problem is that my husband's mother and father will not talk to me or even look at our two adorable children. They are holding against me a mistake we made before we were married. I think that after three years they should forget about the past, don't you? I have no parents and it would be no nice for my children to have grandparents.

ONE MISTAKE

DEAR ONE: Your husband's parents are being very foolish. Of course they should forget the past. Give them every opportunity to be with you and if they refuse to believe me, they are the losers.

DEAR ABBY: We have a 12-year-old child who will be the death of me yet. He absolutely refuses to eat any food that is "mixed" with other food. Like if I have meat and potatoes and I get a little gravy from the potatoes on the meat, he won't eat it. If I have creamed corn and potato salad, if the corn runs into the potato salad he won't eat the corn OR the potato salad. I have to put everything on separate dishes. I try to tell him the food all gets mixed up in his stomach anyway but he says, "Please, Ma, you are turning my stomach to talk about it." Do you think he will outgrow it or can this last a lifetime?

WORN-OUT MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Don't worry about it. Serve his food on separate dishes and don't make an issue of it. He'll probably outgrow it. If he doesn't, you can give his wife your condolences right along with your congratulations.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MISTAKE"

Nature, in her infinite wisdom designed us so that we cannot kick ourselves, but I am sure your sister-in-law would be glad to accommodate you. Apologize and forget it.

RUTH MILLETT

"It's not always the girl who is the one that's anxious to go steady as you implied in your columns," writes a 17-year-old miss.

"I've been going with a boy for a year, going steady because it was his idea in the first place. We have both just graduated from high school and both of us plan to go to the state university this fall. I told him I would not go steady with him in college. I'm in love with him right now, but I would like to be able to have dates with others in college.

"But he not only insists that if I don't go steady with him, he won't date me at all, but says he wants to give me an engagement ring so that nobody will even ask me for a date.

"What can I do but take his ring? I certainly don't want to break up with him completely. You can stick by your wise decision, of course. Tell him that you don't want anyone's engagement ring until you are ready to get the date for a wedding.

And tell him, too, that much as you think of him you intend to date other boys. If he won't accept those conditions and insists he would rather have some other girl who is willing to give him all her time, then he can't be very seriously in love with you. All you will have lost is a steady date you don't want to go steady with.

If he is in love with you he'll continue to date you on your terms. So you don't have much to lose by sticking to your decision not to start college already engaged. But you might have a lot to lose by getting engaged and missing the chance to know a lot of young men, just because one young man tells you, "It's either my terms or nothing."

She had done an excellent job as chairman for a large banquet. But her manner was so frantic it upset those who were helping. A calm manner should be cultivated.

Mrs. David G. Long

Wesley Chapel Scene Of Nuptials For Miss Murphy, David G. Long

Miss Lucy Ross Banks of Ruston, La., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy Banks of Lefors, and David Grafton Long of Lake Charles, La., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thompson Long of Sterling, La., exchanged nuptial vows on June 4 in Wesley Chapel on the Louisiana Polytechnic Institute campus.

Rev. William M. Stokes officiated at the eight o'clock vows performed before an altar arrangement of calla lilies, white stock and gladioli with a background of palm trees and rows of candelabra burning tall white tapers and entwined with garlands of green plumosa and nosegays of white asters. Similar arrangements of plumosa and asters were used on the rails of the altar.

Miss Grace Reno, organist, provided pre-nuptial music and was accompanied by Miss Jerilyn Shipp who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in bridal white pearls de soie with handpied Alencon lace tracing the scoop neckline and re-embroidered to define the empire bodice. The long, tapering sleeves came to lily-points over the hands. The floor-length skirt with fullness in the back swept to a wide chapel train. The tiered veil of French illusion was caught to a full crown of sequins and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and white carnations centered with a white orchid surrounded with tiny "pearl" pearls. She wore a single strand of pearls.

Miss Patricia Nell Smith as maid of honor and Mrs. Thomas Causey as bridesmaid wore identical gowns of green broadcloth tulle, featuring an uneven hem-line which swept to the floor in back, designed with scooped necklines and molded bodices. They wore matching satin slippers; white French feathers in their hair; and carried a cascade bouquet of calla lilies.

The bridegroom's father served as his best man. Other attendants were Robert Guin of Kelly, La., Charles Farrar of Huttig, Ark., and Winston Campbell of Ruston, La.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Banks were hosts at a reception in the parlors adjoining the chapel.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Banks wore a sheath of travel crepe embroidered in blue and silver with blue accessories and a purple-throated orchid. Mrs. Long wore a tiered cake of pure silk lined complemented with matching beige accessories and a purple orchid.

Mrs. Winston Campbell was guest registrar. The bride's table was covered with a natural-colored cutwork cloth of imported linen, centered with the bride's bouquet. The bridesmaids bouquet formed the mantel decorations. Miss Lolla Banks of Columbia, La., presided at the crystal punch service. Serving the tiered cake was Miss Beulah Lindsey of Bernice, La.

For a wedding trip to the Mississippi Gulf Coast, Mrs. Long chose a blue silk shantung sheath with matching hat and black accessories. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple will be at home in Ruston this summer and in the Fall, they will reside in Fayetteville, Ark.

If you agree to serve on a committee, do your share of the work. Don't plead that you are "too busy." Others are busy, too. The time to beg off is when you are asked to serve.

That way you don't accept credit for work you don't do.

Batten Eye-Lashes So They Stay Put

By ALICIA HART

Now that false eyelashes and eyebrows are gaining acceptance for daytime wear, it's obvious that a girl must develop technique in handling them. Otherwise, she'll look as if she's heading for work in a chorus line, third from the end on the left.

The false lashes should be trimmed with a scissors before you put them on. Fun is fun but you're not trying to imitate a centipede. Snip the lashes a bit shorter towards the nose. Press the lashes on with the glue that comes with them and quickly blot the excess with a quilted cotton square. Now, apply mascara if you like.

False eyebrows go on just as easily. Spread the glue sparsely along the netting that lines the brow. Press the brow on, blot up any extra adhesive with another cotton square. Then use an eye-brow pencil to darken the brow to the wanted shade. Two shades of pencil will probably achieve a natural effect. And that's all there is to helping yourself to beautiful eyes.

Camper's Dine On Low-Cost Budget

By ALICIA HART

How'd you like to pay just $60 for a 12-day vacation in the Colorado Rockies, meeting new friends from all over the world at events packed with excitement and meaning, while you lived off three dozen wonderful meals featuring America's finest foods?

Girl Scouts at the Senior Round-up July 1-14 in Colorado Springs are dining off steak and chicken, lamb chops, frozen French fries, and chocolate cake. Before taps, they'll snack on watermelon or other fresh fruits or cookies, and milk or fruit juices. And it all costs a mere $5 a day for board and a canvas-topped "room" out on the mile-high Colorado camp sight.

Gifts of food from America's leading food companies are what make it possible to hold costs down so low. In fact, because of these gifts, 10,000 Girl Scouts and their adult leaders and Girl Guide guests from overseas will pay the same $60 that the 1956 Roundup cost campers

Stan The Man On Way Back

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Stan (The Man) Musial is starting to "come around again" and he promises to be back for more All-Star games.

The 34-year-old Cardinals slugger appeared in his 15th All-Star game Tuesday and although he popped to first base as a pinch-hitter, he was one of the most-elated men in the bustling National League clubhouse.

"My hitting finally has started coming around," he said with obvious satisfaction. "I had a little trouble getting untracked there at the start of the year but I think my troubles are over—at least, it certainly looks like they are."

With the clubs ready to swing into the second half of the season, Musial is batting .270. For anyone else that would be an acceptable figure, but in Stan's case it's roughly 60 points lower than his customary pace.

But the important thing is that his average has been increasing steadily of late.

"How low was your average actually this season?" Musial was asked.

Stan took a swig of soda pop, grinned and replied: "Let's not even talk about it."

For those who insist, however, let it be recorded that Musial collected only one hit in his first 16 at bats this season for a sickly .067 mark.

After participating in 15 All-Star games, someone might get the idea Musial is a bit tired of the routine and would gladly look for an "out" in future contests.

"Not on your life," he said. "I think these All-Star games are the greatest things going and honestly, they couldn't pick me in enough of them. I'll tell you this much—I'm not figuring that this will be my last one. I'm looking forward to playing in some more of them."

Two Ice Hockey Teams Ink Pact

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Rangers of the National Hockey League today announced the signing of a working agreement for the 1959-60 season with the Springfield, Mass., Indians of the American Hockey League.

The Rangers last year had a working agreement with Buffalo, which won the AHL pennant. However, the Buffalo team also had an arrangement with the Chicago Black Hawks and a Ranger spokesman said the New York club preferred to operate with a team which did not have another tie-up.

Over from Jose Santiago in the first for San Antonio and went on to win a two-hit victory from Tulsa's Oilers. Two Tulsa writers gave up nine hits.

In games tonight San Antonio is scheduled for double-header at Tulsa, Victoria plays at Amarillo and Corpus Christi at Austin.

Warwick, a 22-year-old Macon product who bats right-handed and throws from the south side, chased Amarillo starter Gerry Neal with the four base blast, and ran the bulge to 7-2. Three more Gold Sox hurlers were ineffective.

James Harwell went the distance for the Rosebuds giving up seven safeties. He was threatened only once. That was in the fourth when Charles Smiley fanned one over the left centerfield fence for a two-run homer and cut Victoria's lead to 3-2.

Austin put together 11 hits to nip the Giants, but had to come from behind to do it. The Senators scored three in the opening inning. Corpus Christi showed across one in the second, then took a 4-3 lead in the third on Ray Murray's homer with two aboard.

The Senators wrapped it up with two more in the bottom of the third, and added an insurance run in the seventh on W. H. Shuler's solo homer. Charles Gorn got the win, but needed help from Chuck Holmes in the ninth. George Case suffered the loss.

Meads, 1 Bull Duncan Win

In Little League play Tuesday, Meads stopped Cabot, 14-6. One Bull walloped E. M. Keller, 13-2, and Duncan whipped Celanese, 10-5.

Don Perkins hurled a two-hitter for One Bull. He had good hitting support from Tim Woods, who was 4-for-4, and from Scaggs, who blasted a home run.

Jim Arthur led Duncan to victory with a home run and a double. Ronnie Oler hit a double and single. For Celanese, Rapp got two singles and a double. Parker was the winning hurler.

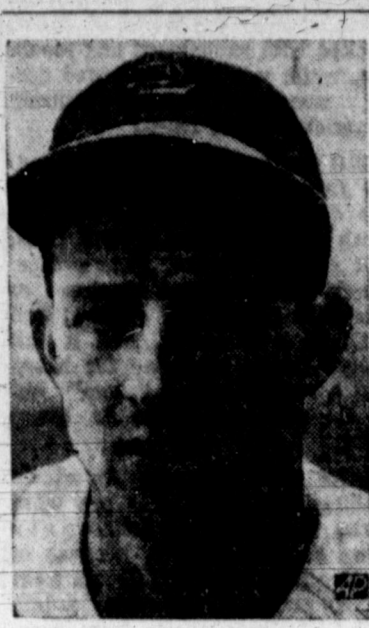

For Meads, Kerry Roper collected two doubles and Robert Howard got one two-base hit. For Cabot, Barry Price hit a single and a double. Darrell Henson was the winning pitcher.

Fem Amateur Golf Begins

CHICAGO (UPI)—Second round play in the 59th Women's Western Amateur golf tournament, today was highlighted by a replay of last year's championship match involving defending champion Barbara McIntire and 1958 titlist Ann Quast.

Miss McIntire defeated Miss Quast, 2 and 1, last year in the 36-hole championship finale. But this year their qualifying scores put them so close together in the lower bracket that opening round wins brought them head and head for today's struggle.

Miss McIntire, who qualified with a 76 compared to an 80 for Miss Quast, defeated Sandra Spuzich, Indianapolis, Ind., 6 and 5.

Miss Quast tripped Frances Rich, Bainbridge, Ga., 8 and 7.

Two upsets marked first round play. Medalist Mrs. Ruth White Miller was eliminated by a former Western champion, the 1951 winner, Marjorie Lindsay, Decatur, Ill., 1 up in 20 holes. The 1957 champion, Marjorie Bailey was ousted by 20-year-old Nancy Roth, 1 up in 24 holes.

Another top match today will pit Curtis Clay against Mrs. Ann Casey Johnson, Mason City, Iowa, against a former junior star, Sherry Wheeler, Glasgow, Ky.

United Press International

It was the kind of thing which always seemed to happen to him in those early days when life was a perpetual picnic; days like in 1951, when he came out of no where to aid in the pennant drive of the "miracle" Giants; when he made those fabulous catches in the outfield, always icing his cap in the process, and every moment was a joy greeted with a piano smile.

Over in the other locker room, Ford, the little "ice man" of the Yankees paid tribute to the 28-year-old who had racked him up.

"It was a high, fast ball," Whitney mused.

"Do you know what he hits," somebody asked.

"I know what he can hit," Whitney retorted. "But I don't know what he can't hit."

Then it all fell apart for Willie. Durocher left the team and Bill Rigney, who took over as manager, announced that there would be "no favorites." He named no one. But it was a barbed remark aimed at Willie, the kid with a man's body and the talents of a baseball immortal.

Treated frostily in Frisco

On top of it, the Giants moved from the friendly old Polo Grounds on the edge of Manhattan to a new ballpark in San Francisco where Willie was treated frostily in several attempts to purchase a new home.

Before the Giants moved, Willie had won most valuable honors in 1954. It was a frenzied, fabulous year in which every day was Sunday with chicken gravy. He batted a league-leading .345 and the following season won home run honors with 51. Then Durocher left and Willie had a bad year.

There was a comeback to 323 in 1957 and after the trek west he encountered frequent bad slumps in 1958. This year his slumps have been even worse and Willie was hitting only .311 when he walked into Forbes Field Tuesday for the 26th annual All-Star game.

Towering Shot Wins Game

But in the eighth inning, with the score all jammed-up at 4-4, and cocky Willie Ford of the Yankees on the mound, he sent a towering shot into deep right center field with Hank Aaron jittering on first.

"I thought they were going to catch it," he said, "but it kept hooking away from them."

It fell in for a triple, chasing Aaron home with the run which won the game, and etching the smile deep on Willie's happy face.

"M-a-n," he giggled in that squeaky voice. "It sure felt good to finally get hold of one. I guess you'd have to say that this is one of my biggest baseball thrills."

WILL USE SAME PLAYERS IN SECOND GAME AT LA

By LEO M. PETERSEN

UPI Sports Editor

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Fred Haney, manager of the victorious National League, is going to go with the same players in the second All-Star game at Los Angeles Aug. 3 because he feels they are strong enough to win again.

"We were good enough yesterday, and we'll be good enough again when we play in my own back yard," said Haney, who is from Hollywood.

This is the first year in which there will be two All-Star games and under the rules, Haney can add three more players to his squad and pick a new group of pitchers.

"My pitchers did all right," he said as he reviewed Tuesday's 5-4 triumph over the American League in the 26th annual All-Star game. "And I'm not going to change horses."

"Neither am I," echoed his neighbor, Casey Stengel, the skipper of the American League club who is from Glendale, about 10 miles from Hollywood.

But he added quickly that "I might go with more right-handers out there in Los Angeles because of that short left field screen."

It was a left-handed pitcher—his own ace Whitey Ford—who cost Casey his sixth defeat in the All-Star games Tuesday.

Coming on in the eighth inning with the American League ahead, 4-3, Ford quickly got in a jam. He yielded a single to lead-off batter Ken Boyer, pinch-hitting for winning pitcher Johnny Antonelli. Boyer was sacrificed to second and scored when Hank Aaron rifled a single to center.

Up came Willie Mays, who hits Ford like he owns him. Mays drove a long deep ball to right center and it hooked away from centerfielder Harvey Kuenn just when it looked as if he might catch the ball. It went for a triple and scored Aaron with the winning run.

Another left-hander, Bud Daley, came in and put out the fire, but it was too late.

Mays Climaxes Game

Mays' blow was the climax to a wild finish in this mid-summer game, played before 34,763 fans in Forbes Field, including Vice President Richard Nixon, who threw out the first ball.

For six and a half innings, pitching dominated.

Eddie Mathews clubbed Early Wynn, the 39-year-old American League starter, for a home run in the first inning and Al Kaline matched that blow with a homer off Lew Burdette in the fourth.

Burdette had come on to relieve Don Drysdale, who had pitched three perfect innings.

Shortstop Ernie Banks greeted AL pitcher Jim Bunning with his second double of the game in the seventh. Catcher Del Crandall, getting his first All-Star hit in the three games in which he has appeared, singled and Banks scored with the tie-breaking run. Crandall went to second on the futile throw to the plate in an effort to get Banks.

Bill Mazeroski singled to score Crandall.

But the lead didn't last long. Ernie Face, relief ace of the Pittsburgh Pirates who has won 12 games this year without a loss and who hasn't been beaten since Memorial Day, 1958, retired the first two men who faced him in the top of the eighth and then ran into trouble.

Nellie Fox started it with a single. Kuenn walked and Vic Power singled to drive home Fox. Ted Williams also walked, filling the bases.

Catcher Gus Triandos lined a double down the left field foul line and Kuenn and Power scored to put the American League in front, 4-3.

Haney came in with Antonelli, who walked pinch-hitter Roy Sievers, but their got pinch-hitter Sherry Folar to ground into a force play.

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Pittsburgh is set today to host its second All-Star event of the week—the 52nd Western Open golf tournament, which opens Thursday on the 6,623-yard Pittsburgh Field Club course.

But unlike the All-Star baseball game held here Tuesday, a quartet of goldfom's brightest stars will be absent from the event.

Masters champion Art Wall, 1959's leading money winner from Pocomo Manor, Pa., heads the group of absentees. U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, of Apple Valley, Calif., was forced to withdraw earlier in the week with a back ailment. Two aging stars, Ben Hogan and Slammin' Sammy Snead, round-out the list of missing headlines.

But there will be plenty of top talent in the 130-odd pros shooting for the top prize of $5,000. Arnold Palmer, strong boy from Ligonier, Pa., is the early favorite but he will have tough competition from such as Cary Middlecoff, Bob Rosburg, Ken Venturi, Mike Souchak, Doug Ford and PGA champion Dow Finsterwald.

Defending champion Doug Sanders, of Miami Beach, Fla., is also back to defend his crown. Sanders won the event last year with a 13-under-par 275 at Detroit.

Host pro Art Doering said he thought a score of 279, one under par, will win the tournament.

A group of pros, who arrived early to get in a few practice rounds, praised the condition of the course Tuesday.

Jay Hebert, one of the golfing brothers from Louisiana, raved over the condition of the greens and said, "I'll see some real putting here this week."

Bantam Title Goes on Line Tonight in LA

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Durable Alphonse Halimi of France tonight puts up his bantamweight crown as the prize for challenger Jose Becerra's best shots in their 15-round title bout.

The championship fight is being telecast nationally but is blacked out in southern California which was expected to provide most of the 14,000 or more fans expected in the new Sports Arena.

The 10 p.m. e.d.t. bout is the dedicatory event in the six million dollar structure on which workers are still applying the finishing touches.

Becerra is the second Mexican to try to lift Halimi's title. Raul (Raton) Macias made the first attempt Nov. 6, 1957, but lost in Los Angeles. Becerra was on the same card and suffered a crushing defeat—knocked out in four rounds by Dwight Hawkins, a defeat he later reversed.

Halimi, the 27-year-old French Algerian of Jewish ancestry, probably will try to put on the same type of fight against Becerra that he did against Macias with the hope for the same victorious result.

The bull-shoofed champion shoots for points with a powerful body attack and after he has weakened his opponent sufficiently either continues on for a decision or then tries for a knockout.

Becerra, 23, on the other hand, is a strong puncher when he is fresh. He will be shooting for a quick knockout and his ability to go 15 rounds is untested, never having gone that route.

But the lead didn't last long. Ernie Face, relief ace of the Pittsburgh Pirates who has won 12 games this year without a loss and who hasn't been beaten since Memorial Day, 1958, retired the first two men who faced him in the top of the eighth and then ran into trouble.

'LET'S RETURN TO THE RACE'

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves, who drove in the tying run and scored the winning run, sounded the keynote today for the victorious National League: "Let's go back to the pennant race."

In his fifth All-Star game, Aaron singled home Ken Boyer in the eighth inning Tuesday to put the National League in a 4-4 tie with the American League. Then Aaron scored the winning run on Willie Mays' booming triple to right center.

"I'm glad, at least, I was in the middle of the winning rally," said Aaron in the clubhouse after the game. "It's all over now, though. Let's get back to the pennant race."

Mays said he felt "real good" when he hit the triple. "I thought for a while (Harvey) Kuenn might catch it. But it hooked away from him," said Willie.

Recalls 1955 Game

Willie's blow made a loser of Whitey Ford and recalled the 1955 All-Star game in which Willie touched Ford for a home run at Washington.

"I think I've faced Ford about seven times now. I hit him five times," he said.

Elroy Face, disconsolately sipping a cold drink, tempered his disappointment with some home-spun philosophy.

"If we're gonna use pinch-hitters, tell me who in the hell I can use with all those stars?"

"I took out Colavito and used another good player (Williams) to pinch hit. Sure, you say, take out one player and stick in another—they're all good. I was satisfied with the pinch-hitters, was satisfied with the whole team."

He posed another question. "If we're gonna use pinch-hitters, tell me who in the hell I can use with all those stars?"

LITTERBUG MESS GETTING WORSE

The Lighter Side
By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With those eagle-eyed park service officials standing right there, nobody could bring himself to follow the press agency's instructions to hurl used paper plates, wooden spoons, crumpled cups and chicken bones out the bus window and onto the grassward.

So the publicity lady herself dragged a washtub loaded with picnic debris into the middle of the mall, in full view of the Capitol at one end and the Washington Monument at the other, and dumped it out on the grass.

Although you wouldn't think so to look at some of our recreational havens on Monday morning, there's a law against this kind of conduct in the national parks. So we all stood around, kind of uneasy, until a battery of outdoor vacuum cleaners sucked up the mess.

That's why we were there, of course. It seems that Park Service maintenance men are acquiring permanent crooks in their backs leaning over to pick up the cigarette butts, empty packs, beer cans, film cartons, cardboard boxes, candy wrappers and other trash thrown on the ground by people who otherwise manifest normal intelligence.

Consider Machinery
To help prevent threatened inundation of our national parks in litter, they were thinking of buying some of the new-power-sucking machines that look like big rotary mowers and sound worse, but which apparently have a large appetite for practically everything left behind by the relaxing public.

The tentative verdict was that the vacuum cleaner will help in some situations, such as small, heavily congested grassy areas where the traffic always is heavy. Out in the big woods, said park service maintenance chief Edwin C. Kenner, no substitute has been found for the bent back or the pointed stick of the litter remover.

We could, of course, quit throwing our trash on the ground, but nobody thinks this is likely. Many national parks furnish entering motorists with litter bags for their cars. It has been found that some people stuff these conscientiously with all the loose debris in the car, then furnish the cleanup by flinging them out the windows.

Kenner said the litter problem gets worse every year. He wouldn't say people are sloppier. It's just that more people every year use the national parks. Just picking up the stuff we throw down in our cars already is costing us pretty near 1 million dollars a year.

Cuts Into Budget
Considering that the park service has only about 80 million dollars a year for construction, maintenance and operation of its 22,384,000 acres of parks, that's a considerable item. And it doesn't cover trash disposal in general. Just the picking up of what we drop, and getting it into the nearest container.

In the crowded capital area, the problem is worse.

George W. Harding, maintenance chief for the national capital parks, said he spends $750,000 a year cleaning up the mess people leave in the 42,000 acres of parks in and around the District of Columbia.

Last Saturday night the park service spent $3,000 on fireworks for the annual patriotic display at the Washington Monument. Harding's cleanup crews worked until 4 a.m. the following day picking up the litter left by the crowds. The cleanup cost $1,000.

A battery of five of the new vacuum cleaners — demonstrated by the manufacturer, a Springfield, Ohio, firm already well-established in the power lawn mower field — vied with Harding's hand workers on the monument job to see which was the faster.

A release I got from the publicity agent, at 3 p.m. on the preceding Friday, announced that the machines beat the men, 4 to 1.

Congress Talks Equal Radio, TV Time For Political Candidates

A great controversy is brewing in the Congress as to whether or not radio and television stations should be required to afford equal opportunities to all candidates seeking public office to use the facilities of the broadcasting stations. The present law provides as follows:

"Sec. 315. (a) If any licensee shall permit any person who is a legally qualified candidate for any public office to use a broadcasting station, he shall afford equal opportunities to all other such candidates for that office in the use of such broadcasting station: provided, That such licensee shall have no power of censorship over the material broadcast under the provisions of this section. No obligation is hereby imposed upon any licensee to allow the use of its station by any such candidate."

"(b) The charges made for the use of any broadcasting station for any of the purposes set forth in this section shall not exceed the charges made for comparable use of such station for other purposes."

"(c) The Commission shall prescribe appropriate rules and regulations to carry out the provisions of this section."

The present controversy stemmed from a complaint filed by a man by the name of Lar Daly, who has made several races for public office. In 1936 he was a candidate for nomination for mayor on both the Republican and Democratic tickets in the Chicago primaries. His complaint arose from the fact that the Mayor of Chicago, Richard Daley, was portrayed in some television newscasts greeting the President of Argentina, opening the Mother's March of Dimes Drive and filing his nomination petition for reelection as Mayor of Chicago.

He complained that his Republican opponents had also appeared on news programs. The Federal Communications Commission issued a ruling to the effect that the several broadcasts referred to in the complaint had involved uses of the station's facilities within the meaning of Section 315 of the Communications Act and that Lar Daly was entitled to equal use of the facilities. The Columbia Broadcasting System requested reconsideration of this holding.

The same request was made by the National Broadcasting Company and the Westinghouse Broadcasting Company. Lar Daly, the original complainant, filed answers to these requests for reconsideration. On May 1, 1939, the Attorney General requested leave to file a petition in support of the petitions of the several broadcasting companies, and subsequently filed its memorandum or brief on the subject.

PATIENT EXPLANATION

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Fire Department explained very patiently why it couldn't approve the action of a citizen who painted a "snuffy" fire hydrant pink to match his house. "We don't lack a sense of humor or beauty," department spokesman Earl Leonard said. "But it means we have to repaint the hydrant. And that means more work, which means more money, which means more taxes."

ADD INSULT TO INJURY

WILMINGTON, Calif. (UPI) — Jesus Manuel, 54, told police a burglar broke into his home on the Fourth of July and took not only his $1,000 life savings, but the deed to his home and his auto registration, but the riding place in which he kept them all — a United States history book.

FIDDLING IN JAIL

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UPI) — A 19-year-old boy sentenced to a reformatory for arson Monday is named Eron Nero.

If the president, his press secretary and attorney general Rogers think the FCC is ridiculous and without common sense, it would certainly do Congress no good to change the law. But if, on the other hand, these three fine gentlemen feel that the law as written is without common sense and ridiculous, then there may be some merit to the attempt to try to get Congress to change the present law. Actually, the terms, "ridiculous" and "without sense" are, in a degree, synonymous to me. Certainly an Act that is "ridiculous" is without common sense. Also, an Act "without common sense" should be ridiculous. It might be rare ridiculous, medium ridiculous or well-done ridiculous.

In any event, after all this controversy, chaos and trouble is ground up in the mill, I feel sure proper steps will be taken by the Congress during this session to insure the people of this country the opportunity to have full and complete information as regards all candidates for public office under the general principles of democracy, without surrendering to anyone a power to misuse the spectrum which belongs to the public.

Lobby For Ike

At a cost of something close to $3.5 million annually, there's a little known bureau in Washington D.C. which is in the business of creating "good will" among Republican-backed of our President.

Already some 500 people, many with Capitol Hill experience, are engaged in a full-time task of trying to secure what is called "Congressional liaison." And the numbers of this particular "tribe" are on the increase.

This tight little league of men and women is in favor of passing more laws. Its aim is to pass laws the President wants, and to "get along" with everyone. To be entirely precise about the operation of this bureau, which has members in many of the more formally organized agencies, this is the President's own lobby. The members are in it for one purpose only. They are out to promote the kind of laws that will be every way possible that it is always feasible to back up the chief of the nation.

Without a doubt, this type of lobby has come into vogue during the times when a president is opposed by a majority in Congress of the opposing party. Right now, these lobbyists are doing their utmost to offset the Democratic majority by pressuring for GOP harmony and solidarity, even on a number of perfectly stupid and wasteful bills. An example is found in the following:

Recently, one of the administration's lobbyists chided a midwest congressman who had voted against an administration-opposed rural electrification measure. He was overheard to say: "We need your vote to sustain the President's veto. This bill in itself isn't important but the Democrats have chosen it to see if they can establish a pattern of overriding the President's vetoes. If they can win, they'll be in a better position to override the vetoes of the big spending bills later on."

In this particular case we can side in with the lobbyist except on one point. Ike doesn't wish to see more money spent on REA and we think he is correct. But the idea that the bill isn't important in itself is horribly in error. There is no bill coming up for

Aim Of Unionism

It is clear that the steel makers of America have taken a strong hand the first six weeks of the year. The mills are in idle and the giant mills are in idle.

Across the nation stalks the threat of either a union and tax-supported struggle in which union workers are pumpeared at the expense of the general public; or in which the industry finally succumbs to the pressure and submits to labor boss demands. In this second case, the general public will experience another boost in the cost of living and the prices most of us pay for many of the things we use will rise in direct ratio to the price increases granted.

This same specter has come to haunt the American economy before. And always in the past, the steel management has surrendered. Always a temporary truce has weakened the industry and a strengthened the union.

But always, after the passage of a year or two, the same process recurs. There is no end to the ambition of the labor bosses. Living as they do in the atmosphere of economic dictatorship they must follow the precepts of dictatorship. No dictator can ever back down. Two minutes he does so, he stops being a dictator.

Let us consider the long-term picture, for that is all that truly concerns us. If the steel companies could grant wage increases at this time and that would be an end to the struggle, we might even suggest that this would be a cheap way out. Say, if the steel union would agree to a fifty-year contract, even at an increased wage, we might then expect some productive years ahead of us. But this is not to be anticipated.

Instead, even if the steel man doesn't succumb now, the result will be without meaning. For in another year or two, the same old questions will be marshaled, the same old pressures reinstated. Right now, steelworkers are the best paid in the nation. They get, on an average, about $3.

"Socialism Destroys Personality"

Here is the final installment of Howard E. Kershner's commencement address before the Grove City College on "The Moral Basis of a Free Society." He closes the address in this manner:

"Thus we see the crowning injustice, impudence, and sin of socialism to be the destruction of human personality. It treats its head as the antagonist of God Himself. It would reverse God's plan and begin the process of reducing individuals to the level of a common denominator. It would force them into a common mold and destroy individuality.

"Equalization of income by law and police power ignores the differences which God has created in men and insults their personalities. It fails to utilize the greater capabilities of some and reduces them to the level of the average. It raises them to the highest terms of which they are capable, it debases them. Socialism is the reversal of God's design for the development of human personality. It would replace man's allegiance to God as the highest governing authority and substitute the authority of the all-powerful state. It ignores the first and great Commandment, 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me' and places the state ahead of God as arbiter in the affairs of men. Under socialism, if one would live, he must obey the state rather than God.

"The more we study this matter, the more we see that socialism violates most of the principles enunciated in the Decalogue and suppresses the godlike quality of men, taking from them their independence and making of them subservient creatures. It harks back to the ancient coercive state with power to control the spirit of man, back to the herd, downward toward the slave camp a la Russia. It would undo all that men have achieved since the beginning of trial, error, toil and blood. It is a mirage that beckons men onward to their destruction. Shall we, at long last, recognize its real nature and turn from it while there is yet time, or must the world's might be used to bring about a new era within humanity's grasp these past two centuries face out as the waters of tyranny and statism close over mankind once more for an indefinitely long period of time? Shall our generation keep its face toward the light of freedom or succumb to the darkness of totalitarianism?"

Sen. Smith Blocks Stewart's AF Bid

So Far Nothing Comes Out

Robert Allen Reports:

Sen. Smith Blocks Stewart's AF Bid

WASHINGTON — Senator Margaret Chase Smith has done it again! For the third successive year, she has blocked the promotion of James Stewart to the rank of brigadier general in the Air Force.

Stewart, a former Air Force pilot, was promoted to the rank of major in 1957 and to the rank of lieutenant colonel in 1958. He was promoted to the rank of colonel in 1959.

The Doctor Says:

by EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

A rather common and mysterious disease of the skin is known as psoriasis. Although extremely annoying to the patient and difficult to treat, it is not a great menace to general health and virtually never is the cause of death.

Quite often only a restricted area of the skin is involved but sometimes it spreads over a wide portion of the body surface. It often starts as small, red, scaly patches, but it may become more extensive, including the nails, but is particularly common on the scalp, at the back of the knees and elbows, and on the lower part of the back.

Every so often the skin eruption begins suddenly, but more often it is slow. The affected skin usually appears bright red, scaly and flat. On the scalp it sometimes seems superficially like ordinary dandruff.

The skin next to the usual lesion of psoriasis appears to be completely normal, and a sharp line divides the normal from the abnormal growth.

Itching is unusual in the chronic cases, which are the more common. In the acute cases, however, there may be a good deal of itching. The skin which has been involved for a long time usually becomes covered with a thick scale. If scraped off, tiny bleeding points appear.

By and large, psoriasis comes and goes with periods of improvement and periods of worsening. Psoriasis begins most frequently between the ages of 10 and 20. It is almost certainly not an infection with germs. It has a tendency to run in families.

A great many different treatments have been tried which seem to bring about good results, at least temporarily. In fact, psoriasis is one of those diseases for which several new treatments are reported almost every year.

A large number of these have not stood the test of time. Therefore, one should be extremely cautious about accepting the value of any new remedy.

In many cases of chronic psoriasis, good results may come from any one of the different treatments. The psoriasis then disappears and later returns, when the same treatment which helped the first time is tried again nothing may come of it and new method has to be attempted.

For these reasons psoriasis is often a discouraging problem for all concerned.

Increased study is being given to this disease. For example last year a conference on this subject was held by the New York Academy of Sciences at which there was much discussion on possible causes and new treatments.

Furthermore, there is now a National Psoriasis Research Association, 1152 Rockridge Rd., San Carlos, Calif., the purpose of which is to raise funds to finance research in psoriasis. This association makes grants to the medical profession and research laboratories on the communication of a medical advisory board.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK, N. Y. — I have about as much business hounding into the reported and certainly mysterious suicide of George Reeves, who was Superman on TV, as I would have trying to explain the death of, say, Mary Miles Minter's long ago sweetheart, an oddball known among other names as Taylor, William Desmond Taylor. But, since I knew Reeves and some of the other individuals on the premises the night when he is supposed to have shot himself with a .45 caliber pistol, I might as well get in line to throw in my two cents worth.

The retraining of Jerry Geisler by George's mother, who is far from convinced that her son killed himself, seems to me to make a great deal of sense if, for no other reason, than that it may brush away a few clouds that have settled down over the heads of his guests since that sad night in Benedict Canyon. The clouds are inevitable because money has vanished, a Coroner's seal on the house is alleged to have been broken and a few other weird developments have raised their ugly little heads.

What is true in the case of Reeves? This much is true: that he was momentarily disturbed because his Superman series had "typed" him and he was finding it difficult to get an acting job in any medium doing anything else; that he was seeing Lenore Lemmon, although he did not confide in his mother or anyone else discernible that he planned to marry her that week-end, as has been claimed; that three persons besides Miss Lemmon were in Reeves' house at the time he was shot; that he had told his mother on the telephone that he had a film job in Spain, was getting ready to go there and had about $4,000 or $5,000 in cash in the house with which to buy travel's checks for that trip; that a woman of Hollywood, married, was pursuing him romantically and it was getting on his nerves; that although Miss Lemmon has described vividly what happened in the last few minutes before Reeves died from a pistol wound, none of the other three has rushed into print.

Mr. Geisler has often and spectacularly represented men and women of the film industry in divorces and other matters and, to my knowledge, has always done so with proper diligence and professional dignity. He is, as a lawyer licensed in California, an officer of the courts. He has, therefore, every right in this case to say that if money disappeared from Reeves' house and a Coroner's seal was broken it is his duty to place the facts, harm whom they might, before the District Attorney. Indeed, if he never had been retained by anyone he still could, as an officer of the court, go to the District Attorney and say, in effect: "As a servant of the Law, I don't like the way this looks and here are my facts."

Eighth Infantry Has Top Tug-O-War Team

By HENRY MCLEMORE

VAIHINGEN — Just to see what he would say, I told the athletic director of the Seventh United States Army in Germany that the only sport I really cared for was tug of war, and asked if there would be any chance of seeing any tugging.

The athletic director, meaning William Merrill, Cornell '28, didn't even look surprised.

"There sure is," he said. "The Eighth Infantry Division has one of the best tug-of-war teams in Europe, and any time you want to drive over to Bad Kreuznach you can watch tugs of war to your heart's content."

"What about push ball?" I asked. "I'm crazy about that game, too."

"Name it and

GERTRUDE AND FRIEND—"Gertrude" is no dumb cluck. She's a smart duck, and knows that Ariene Dahl's shoulder is a cozy place to roost. The friends are on location in Carlsbad Caverns, N.M., for "Journey to the Center of the Earth."

Mrs. Titus Recommends That Women Approach Reds

WOMAN'S VIEW
By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. fartha Titus, a 35-year-old housewife, believes a little "girl talk" can go a long way toward bettering our relations with the Russians.

"We've tried the diplomat, 'to diplomatic' and people to people approach," she said. "Why not tell them of our refinements and try to win them?"

In effect, this will be her job or six weeks at the United States exhibition opening in Moscow, July 25. But already she has run into the first Soviet "nyet."

The Huntington, W. Va. woman, the "typical homemaker" who will help to demonstrate to Soviet women home-sewing, U. S. style, McCarty's patterns, which is voting the bill for her trip, said she was representative of the 40 million American women who do home or all of their own family clothes-making.

Originally, Mrs. Titus and four professional two from McCarty's and two from Singer, planned to fit clothes to the Russian women who visited the exhibit. The pattern company said that the Russians refused to let its women participate in such a demonstration. A letter last week from the U. S. State Department telling of the refusals. Mainly, they said, the Russians do not explain the reasons.

But at least, Russian women will be able to see an American sewing machine perform, watch as Mrs. Titus cuts and fits clothes to any American woman the company can locate in Moscow, leaf through catalogs showing the latest styles, available to the home-sewing enthusiast, inspect some of the "Tiger" handwork on garment racks, and talk to the demonstrators.

$189⁵⁰Queen Heads Back To Canada
After Fast Day In Chicago

By EVERETT R. IRWIN

United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI)—A radiant but tired Queen Elizabeth ended a one-day whirlwind tour of the city with Chicago Tuesday and headed back to Canada.

She cruised away with Prince Philip aboard the royal yacht Britannia after massed thousands of friendly, cheering Chicagoans bade them a noisy, spectacular farewell on the fireworks-lighted shore of Lake Michigan.

For the Queen, it was a triumphal, 14-hour visit to the capital city of the Corn Belt and America's second largest city.

For Chicago, it was a proud, tumultuous day that symbolized the city's emergence as a world port and gave Midwesterners their first chance to entertain a reigning British monarch.

They liked what they saw. Mayor Richard J. Daley, host at a wind-up state dinner in the Conrad Hilton Hotel, voiced the city's attitude when he told the Queen:

"Your majesty, come back again and bring the children."

The 1,400 hand-picked guests applauded and cheered. They broke into laughter when the Queen replied that she would "like to stay longer and get to know Chicago under more normal conditions."

Prince Philip received so much applause when he was introduced at the dinner that Daley, known for his astuteness in politics, whispered to a companion that he was glad Philip was not running for public office here.

The Queen's all-American welcome to this lusty metropolis was marred by a brief bomb scare and one near-mob scene and interrupted briefly while she had a dentist replace a tooth filling.

which had fallen out while she was sailing to Chicago. He said a sharp edge of the tooth was "aggravating," the Queen's tongue.

The bomb scare came at 3:17 p.m., when someone called police headquarters and mumbled "there is a bomb set in the Museum of Science and Industry to go off at 3:30."

Before the Queen arrived at 3:40, bomb-squad detectives satisfied themselves that the call was the work of a crank or prankster. The Queen's museum visit went off without a hitch.

Highlight of the day for Chicagoans, and possibly for Elizabeth and Philip, was the royal parade down Michigan Boulevard to the state dinner.

The Queen, radiant in a stunning evening gown and wearing a diamond tiara, rode with Mayor and Mrs. Daley behind the smart black-horse troop of Medinah Temple Shriners.

AGAIN, SO SOON

HUNTINGTON STATION, N.Y. (UPI)—Roland J. Earl and his bride, Rose Marie, were married again Tuesday, just one month after their first wedding. The non-legal ceremony was performed for a photographer, whose films of the first real wedding, were stolen from his car before they'd even been developed.

Ike Vetoed
Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—

President Eisenhower vetoed the Democratic housing bill today. He said its spending provisions are excessive and would do far more damage than good.

In a message to the Senate, the President called the bill "extravagant."

"Much of the spending it authorizes is unnecessary," he said. He objected particularly to spending authorizations which he estimated amounted to a minimum of $200,000,000 as against his recommendations of $10 million.

The Democrats had put $1,375,400,000 price tag on the far-reaching bill.

After listing the defects in measure, the President called Congress to enact before adjournment, a new housing bill at the lines of his recommendations.

There appeared to be no chance Congress would override the veto. The bill passed the Senate 61-31 and the House 241-177.
