J. Lee Coffman, teacher in the High School for several years, was not re-elected, as he plans to retire at the end of the current school year.

Also re-elected were Grade School Principal Archie Sims, the lunchroom workers, the custodians, and the bus drivers.

Teachers of the Dunbar School will be elected later.

The board also authorized the purchase of new playground equipment for the new elementary school and some additional equipment for the grade school.

For the past eight years, he has been generator engineer for the Lubbock City Light & Power plant, but previous to that he spent 20 years managing gins. For one year he managed a gin for a company, and for 19 years he managed cooperative gins.

Not only has he had experience in managing Plains gins but he also is a mechanic and engineer and is capable of making or supervising repairs and installation of gin machinery.

Two speakers of prominence are on the program for the annual Tahoka Chamber of Commerce banquet which will be held in the school cafeteria here Saturday night, March 22, according to Charles Verner, C. of C. president.

Principal speaker of the occasion is Cecil E. Burney, Corpus Christi attorney, president of the Texas Bar Association. Mr. Burney is a young man, only 33 or 34 years of age, the youngest attorney ever to serve as president of the Texas Bar. He is reputed to be an excellent speaker.

J. S. Bridwell, Wichita Falls oilman, rancher, and a former president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will also speak briefly on the subject of soil conservation. Mr. Birdwell is a sponsor of the now famed soil conservation program in Wichita Archer, and neighboring counties.

All members of Tahoka Chamber of Commerce and their wives are urged to attend this annual banquet, and to notify Russell McGee, secretary, of their intentions at an early date.

Officers and directors for the new year will also be elected at the meeting.

Rain-Increasing Experiment Will Be Tried In This Area

Representatives of eleven counties of this area in a meeting at Lamesa on Monday voted to enter a contract with the Krick Weather Resources Development Corporation of Denver for cloud-seeding experiments in an effort to produce more rainfall. The firm expects to start operations April 1.

Representatives of the newly formed West Texas Weather Improvement District signed a letter of intent early Tuesday afternoon in which they agreed to pay $15,000 to the Denver firm on or before April 1 as the first installment for the seeding operations.

On the basis of the letter, the Krick Corporation will begin moving generators into the area and adjacent territory immediately Silver iodide will thus be generated into moisutre-containing atmosphere in efforts to produce rainfall over the area's powder-dry farmlands.

Sam Allen, a prominent booster of the Weather Improvement District, said a final contract will be signed with the Denver firm as soon as the charter of incorporation for the district is approved, probably within two weeks.

Calloway Huffaker, Tahoka attorney, has drawn up a charter to be presented the State for approval.

The counties of Andrews, Yoakum Dawson, Terry, Mitchell, Lynn, Gaines, Borden, Midland, Martin, and Howard are included in the district. The 6½ million acres included in these counties will be served by the Krick firm at a total cost of $60,000, 25 per cent to be paid every 90 day.

Krick will set up the generators on a basis of air currents which flow into the area. Some will be located within the district, others in outlying areas from which currents flow into the region.

Krick also proposes to furnish advance weather forecasts, including probable frost date.

At a meeting of Lynn county farmers held here last Saturday, Guy Smith was elected chairman, Joe D. Unfred, vice-chairman, and Larry Hagood, secretary, of the Lynn county unit.

Smith says about $6,000 has been raised for the experiments by Lynn county which should raise about $8,000 to do its part. Those interested should send in their checks now.

He was reported as being much improved Thursday morning, and relatives and friends are highly hopeful he will go through the operation in good shape.

4 Cars Involved In Crashes Here

No one was injured seriously in two car crashes in Tahoka last week end.

Carl W. Jones of Tulia was driver of a 1950 Oldsmobile 88 which crashed nearly headon with a 1937 Chrysler driven by Robert DeVeter of Tahoka on the Lubbock highway four miles north of Tahoka at 4:05 a. m. Sunday. Jones said he started to pass another car and met the DeVeter car, which he did not see in time. Both cars were badly wrecked but no one was seriously injured.

Sunday at about 5:00 p. m. a Lubbock Negro, C. C. Robison, struck the rear of a trailer being pulled behind a car by George Smith of Tatum, New Mexico, in the south part of Tahoka on the O'Donnell highway. Iron-Man Dunbar Team Takes District "C" Title

Dunbar High School Eagles of Tahoka are the district Class C Interscholastic League basketball champions of 1952, having won that honor last week end in the tournament at Lubbock.

The Tahoka Colored boys, believe it or not, played four games in one day Saturday, to win that championship.

And that's not all. After this four-game warm-up, Tahoka played Lubbock for the championship of Classes A, B and C at about 12 o'clock Saturday night. However, Tahoka already had played four games that day, while Lubbock had played none, and Lubbock Dunbar won. Also, the game was on Lubbock's home floor. Previously this season, Tahoka and Lubbock had spilt games on their home courts.

Tahoka opened play Saturday morning with an easy 48 to 5 victory over Matador, then eliminated Crosbyton, defeated Spur in the semi-finals, and in the finals Saturday night nosed out Brownfield by a close 38-37 score. There were seven teams entered in Class C.

Then came the all-tournament game. Plainview had played four games to win the Class C division, and withdrew. But, not so the Tahoka boys. They weren't giving away anything. Lubbock had won the Class A division through default, there being no other Class A team that showed up. And, if they had not already played four games that day, they believe they would have whipped Lubbock in that fifth and final game.

Tahoka Dunbar's coach, British C. Daniel, also pulled off an ironman stunt in the tournament. He not only coached his boys through the five games, which should be enough strain on any one human in one day, but he refereed five of the tournament games in which his team was not playing, and also served at chairman of the finance committee.

This week end, the Tahoka Eagles are entered in an invitational tournament at Brownfield,

Statistics Are Given On Basketball Play

Tahoka Bulldogs ended the recent basketball season with a good season's record, considering the high type of teams they played during the year.

They took the district 6-AA championship with seven victories and only one defeat.

In non-conference games, they lost one to Kermit, champion of district 8-AA; two to Levelland, champion of District 7-AA, regional champion, and third place winner in the state; one to Brownfield, nosed out in 7-AA by Levelland; one to Denver City, a Class A district champion; one to Quanah, champion of District 4-AA; and to other top teams of the area.

Tahoka's A team won 15 and lost 10 games. The B team also had an impressive victory record of 11 games won as against only three lost. Combined, the two boys team won 26 and last 13, a mighty good record in any league, and especially so considering the competition.

The A team scored a total of 1024 points to the opponents' total of 953. The B team scored 501 points to their opponents' 404.

The A team attempted 304 field goals, making 392 of them, for a percentage of 30 percent. The A team had 473 free shots, and connected on 234 of them for 49 percent.

On rebounds, which makes the difference in the won and lost column, the A team got 734 rebounds to their opponents' 593.

Following is the individual scoring of boys playing in A team games:

Wayne Tekell	113	67	293

Needs For Water Are Estimated

AMARILLO, Mar. 13. —Estimated annual water demands in the year 2010 by seven of the 11 Panhandle-Plains cities in the Canadian River Project area total 86,540 acre-feet, according to tabulations received to date by L. F. Wylie, Bureau of Reclamation project engineer in Amarillo.

Anticipated demands for water have been received to date only from cities in the South Plains region of the project area, south of Plainview. City officials of Plainview are expected to release their estimates of future demands in the near future.

Other project cities—Amarillo, Borger, Pampa—which, with the exception of Lubbock, are expected to have the largest demands for water in the next six decades, are planning for early conferences between their representatives and Bureau of Reclamation officials to compute their future requirements for water.

On the basis of the tri-state Canadian River Compact cities in the Canadian River Project, which will be supplied with water stored in a dam to be constructed on the Canadian River will be entitled to 125,000 acre-feet of water annually.

The accompanying chart shows the acre-feet of water used by the 11 project cities in 1950, and the expected demands in 1960 and 2010 by those cities which have reported to date to the Bureau of Reclamation.

Propect city	1950	1960	2010
Lamesa	2,100	3,500	9,750
Levelland	2,500	4,500	9,000
Littlefield	750	1,000	3,000
Lubbock	12,000	19,000	58,000
O'Donnell	200	400	1,350
Slaton	560	750	2,240
Tahoka	350	500	2,700
Pampa	5,500
Amarillo	11,500
Borger	20,000
Plainview	2,600

Bulldog Mothers To Honor Teams

The Bulldog Mothers Club is giving a dinner Sunday evening at 6:00 o'clock in the school cafeteria for members of the 1952 basketball boys, 1951 football boys, and 1952 basketball girls, and their dates.

The Mothers state that the affair will be over before church time. This is the last contemplated entertainment of the boys by the Bulldog Mothers this year.

The Bulldogs of this school year, for the first time in the history of the local schools, won two district championships, in football and in basketball. The girls entered a team in Interscholastic League competition this year, the first time the local school has had an official girls team in many years, and the girls received some good training and may be a threat to other teams in the future if this team is continued.

Levi Billman To Wed Dallas Girl

It will be of interest to Tahoka friends to hear of the announcement Saturday of the forthcoming marriage of Miss Elsa Miller of Dallas to Mr. Levi Billman of Dallas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Billman of Grandview, Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Billman and family were residents in Tahoka for sixteen years.

The wedding ceremony will be May 3, at the First Baptist Church in Dallas. Mr. Joe Bob Billman, present resident of Thaoka will serve his brother as best man.

BERTRAM HATCHELL IS REPORTEDLY IMPROVING

Bertram Hatchell, who lives between Tahoka and Wilson, was seriously ill several days last week end but is reported to be improving, Guy Smith, his father-in-law, reports.

Last Thursday, Bertram "passed out" at his home. His wife rushed him to Bronnenberg Clinic, and later he was taken to a specialist at Lubbock. It was found that he had stomach ulcers. He was able to return home Monday, but must go back later for further treatment.

Planting seed should be treated to control seed borne diseases before they are planted. High crop yields are needed in 1952 and good stands are a must. Replanting is expensive and time consuming.

Spend a few minutes studying a pattern before any attempt is made to place it on the material for cutting. This practice will insure a correctly used pattern and in the long-run may mean a saving of time and material for the homemaker.

Speaker Talks Of Girlstown, USA

Miss Amelia Anthony, director of Girlstown USA, near Whiteface, was the speaker at an open meeting of the Phebe K. Warner Club in Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon at 4:15 p. m. About fifty ladies heard the talk.

Miss Anthony described the physical plant of the home and the program being carried out there. She said there now are 37 girls at Girlstown ranging in age from 10 months to 17 years of age. There are 11 adults on the staff and cost of operation is $3,500 per month.

Girlstown is a home for neglected girls. Its wards attend school and church in Whiteface. They do most of the work at the home and farm, including milking and branding calves.

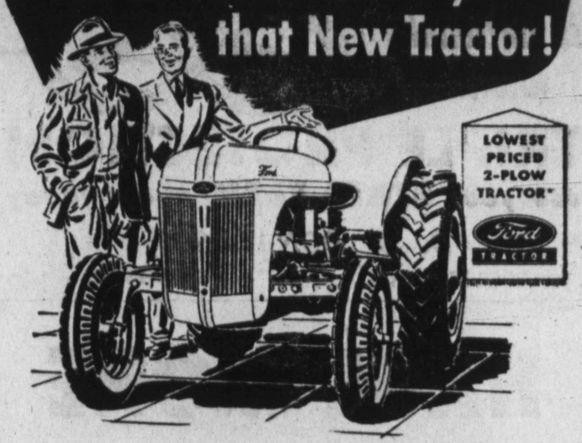

Her talk is said to have been one of the best of its kind ever given here. At the end of the program, the ladies present contributed $75.00 to Girlstown.

School Chorus Gives Program

Tahoka High School Choral Club, composed of 40 girls and directed by Mrs. Melvin Brookshire, presented the program at Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday of last week.

Miss Joan Fenton acted as master of ceremonies. The chorus sang five numbers, including "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Juanita," "Old Black Joe," and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

Supt. Otis Spears, who arranged the program, stated in his introduction that the chorus is strictly a voluntary proposition at Tahoka High. Mrs. Brookshire contributes her time to the group, and the members get no credit to the work.

The choral club was organized last fall. The school hopes to lay more emphasis on music work in the future, Mr. Spears said. He decried the fact, however, that there are no boys in the chorus, and declared the boys here seem to think it "sissy" to sing.

President Clint Walker announced that the club attendance for February dropped to 87.50 percent. January attendance was 90.22 percent.

Methodist Men Hear Book Review

Mrs. Fred B. (Pete) Hegi presented the feature talk at the monthly meeting of the Methodist Men in Fellowship Hall of the church here Monday night.

Mrs. Hegi reviewed the book, "The Chain," and her discourse was a most excellent one and greatly enjoyed by the crowd of men present.

The program was arranged by Bill Strange, Jr., and Dr. Skiles Thomas.

Clint Walker presided at the meeting, having succeeded C. O. Carmack as the new president of the organization.

A dinner of barbecued pork and all the trimmings was served by Otis Spears, Maurice Small, and Ira Joe Hart.

Next month, John Slover and Mitchell Williams have been named to secure the program, and David Weathers and Stanley Sigman will be responsible for the meal.

W. H. Wood, a patient in Tahoka Hospital for the past few weeks, is reported to be showing continued improvement.

Now, Tahoka has not only won two district championships in one year, but three, the Bulldogs of Tahoka High having won the championship in football and basketball, and Dunbar having won in basketball.

On April 4, Tahoka Dunbar High will enter the District track and literary meet at Lubbock, and the school hopes to take away more honors there.

New Irrigation Well In Redwine Area

Scores of new irrigation wells are being drilled in Lynn county this spring, and much good water for irrigation purposes is being found in areas that no one ever dreamed there was such an abundance of water.

One of the newest wells in such an area was completed this last week on the farm of Mrs. Gussie Williams of Tahoka, located about a mile and a quarter east of the old Redwine school.

Mrs. Williams has a good, full-stream 8-inch well from a depth of only 72 feet. However, the well is in the Mooar's Draw drainage area.

Local agricultural experts estimate that there now are 400 wells in Lynn county, but they are going down so fast it has been impossible to make an accurate check on the exact number.

Two Candidates In Race For Office

Two men, both well known by a number of Lynn county people, have entered the race for State representative from the new 98th legislative district comprising Terry, Hockley, Yoakum, and Cochran counties.

They are: J. O. Gillham, Brownfield banker, and Forrest Weimhold Levelland newspaper publisher and radio station owner. The latter made the race two years ago when those counties along with Lynn, Lubbock and others were in the same district.

GILBERT STEINHAUSER ABLE TO GO HOME

Gilbert Steinhauser, 17, Wilson High School student who was seriously injured in a car wreck east of Tahoka a few weeks ago, was able to go home from Tahoka Hospital Tuseday of this week.

Gilbert received a deep gash in one of his legs which required the grafting of skin over the wound. Hospital attendants report that the skin graft is now "growing like bermuda grass," and they are hopeful he is now well on the road to recovery.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DAY

Next Sunday is Young People's day at Draw Methodist Church, and the young people will have charge of both the Sunday School and the 11 a. m. service. Wayne Martin, Tahoka High School Senior Class president, will be the speaker at the church service, according to Rev. Silas Dixon, pastor.

W. V. McElroy is a medical patient in Tahoka Hospital this week. He is not seriously ill.

THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO: CLYDE FULTZ, Defendant, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable District Court of Lynn County at the Court House thereof, in Tahoka, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A. D. 1952, in this cause numbered 2000 on the docket of said Court and styled Edith Fultz, Plaintiff, vs. Clyde Fultz, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:

Said suit being a petition filed on behalf of the plaintiff for divorce, alleging that plaintiff and defendant were married on January 7, 1923, and continued to live together as husband and wife thereafter, until on or about November 26, 1951; said petition alleging that on different occasions while plaintiff lived with defendant as aforesaid, defendant was guilty of excesses, cruel treatment and outrages toward plaintiff, of such a nature as to render their living together insupportable; said petition further praying for a division of the community property of plaintiff and defendant and for such other and further relief, either in law or in equity to which she may show herself justly entitled to receive as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Tahoka, Texas, this the 7th day of March A. D. 1952.

Secrets Of Rink Skating

Roller Skating has become one of the most popular and healthful recreations for both young and old. It is today, a leading sport in this country. Millions of our youngsters are graduating each year from sidewalk skating to rink skating. The older ones are enjoying relaxation as well as recreation by skating regularly—and keeping physically fit.

Many of America's Leading Authorities endorse Roller Skating, not only for its wholesome fun but because it is an exercise which can be indulged without fear of over exertion. Much publicity has been given roller skating in relation to health, "because it has proved helpful to people in all walks of life who suffer from physical or nervous disabilities."

In addition to having a good time, roller skating develops grace, poise, strength, and stamina. It improves balance and surefootedness, adding to one's attractiveness and popularity. Therefore, it is well to keep in mind the importance of primary instructions. As your skating form improves, and your tiresome "walking" action develops into a graceful effortless "glide," you will become aware of mastering one of the secrets of roller skating—true skating balance. adv

Check Your Pressure Canner

COLLEGE STATION, —The time to check the pressure canner is before the spring vegetables are ready to can. Foods and nutrition specialists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, point out that repairs and replacement of worn parts as well as the adjustment or working parts, should be made now. Inspect the canner, they say, for cracks pits, marks and corrosion. If these are found, the canner has not been properly handled, used nor cared for.

Check the type of gasket used on the canner. If it is metal to metal, examine for binding. Binding may be caused by dirt or corrosion. Scour, if needed, with fine powder, never use harsh scouring powders. If this type of gasket leaks, apply a thin coat of salt free fat. If the cooker has a removable rubber gasket, remove it and wash thoroughly in hot soap suds, then stretch it, turn it over and replace on the canner. Then test for a perfect seal. If steam escapes, purchase a new rubber gasket say the specialists and get the type recommended by the manufacturer.

Be usre, warn the specialists, that the petcock is clean and in god working order. A toothpick can be used to clean the opening. Take the ball and socket type apart, they say, and carefully wash the parts. To remove any corrosion that might be found, soak the parts in vinegar or kerosene; wipe clean and reassemble. Be sure the closing devices at handles and knobs are in perfect working order.

The specialists say the pressure canner gauge should be checked at least once a year for accuracy and that local county home demonstration agents can supply information on how to do this job.

Farmers who take delivery now on the fertilizers needed to produce the 1952 crops will be helping to clear up the plant storage problem; ease the transportation situation and will get the kinds and amounts of fertilizers needed.

ODDS AND ENDS

(BY E. I. THE ELDER)

Say, Folks, I have seen so much down here and just keep on seeing so much that is so interesting to me that I don't know how in the world I am ever going to get it written up. And my problem also is to write it up in such a way that it will be interesting also to you, who are living in an entirely different world from this.

If you should go back to old Ur of the Chaldees, where Abraham was born and from which city he migrated some 4,000 years ago, and could there be shown the very mound on which those old Chaldeans had erected a temple to the Moon god whom they worshipped, and could actually climb the brick steps up to the top of that mound which they had built, and could there see the very place where they offered their sacrifices to the Moon, do you think that would be an interesting experience?

Well, on yesterday — although it will be two or three weeks before this will appear in print—I went out to Cholula, an Indian town of about six thousand inhabitants, situated some 80 miles east of Mexico City on the road to Vera Cruz, in company with my room-mate, and there we were conducted through an ancient pyramid, which had been built by the Toltec Indians, possibly almost 4,000 years ago, soon after Abraham left Ur of the Chaldees, but which was taken over by other tribes of Indians nearly 2,000 years ago, or shortly after Christ was born in Bethlehem. For some 1,500 years, the Cholula tribe or nation of Indians are supposed to have used this man-made mound as a shrine and altar on which to offer their sacrifices to their gods, thousands of them being human sacrifices offered to appease their war gods. It was a Cholula Indian who conducted us through the pyramid.

* * * * *

But there are some other strange things about this town of Cholula which we wish to notice first. It is known far and wide as the town of 365 churches. That sounds unbelievable. Are there actually 365 churches within the town or its environs? I do not know. I could not count them all. But Cholula is situated on a high plateau, almost as level as a floor. There are possibly 200 or 300 sections of land contiguous to the town. From the top of that pyramid one can see numerous churches in every direction. The Cholula Indian guide who accompanied us gave the number as 365 We asked him if all of these were being used, either regularly or occasionally. His answer was that not more than a hundred of them were being used. I think he said that only 60 priests were available and that some of the churches had to be closed. As many as possible were still in use on Sundays.

Another fact that should be stated: These are not cheap, dinky little churches, but most of them at least are magnificent structures. We were conducted through two of them. Both were finished inside with in-laid gold. The gold was brightly burnished and glittered only as gold can glitter. Of course they contained the pictures and images that Roman Catholic churches usually contain.

Our Indian guide pointed out to us another church in the city with 14 domes, and I have forgotten how many columns supported it and how many chapels it contained.

Of course, you will want to know the explanation for so many magnificent churches all in one small locality. My friend and I had already heard the explanation, but we wanted to see the sight—a town of 6,000 people with 365 churches.

* * * * *

This is the explanation. Before the coming of Cortez and the Spaniards, this board, rich, and almost level plateau area was inhabited by many thousands of Cholula Indians. Like the Aztecs, they worshipped many gods and had built numerous shrines to them all over the plain. It was then and is yet an irrigation area. When the Spanish conqueror Cortez landed at Vera Cruz and founded a city there, he subdued all the Indian tribes in the area and then pushed westward up the mountains and over them toward the city of Mexico. That was in 1519, some 430-odd years ago and less than 20 years after Columbus had discovered America. Cortez had cowed and subdued two strong Indian tribes along the coast and had induced some of them to join his army as he pushed westward. His purpose, of course, was to seek gold and spread the Catholic faith.

Upon approaching the city and the rich plain of Cholula, the Cholula Indians ostensibly submitted but had planned to entrap and destroy his army. An Indian slave girl, who had been sold as a slave to other tribes by the Aztecs and whom Cortez had won as a friend and helper and who could speak the language of both the Aztecs and the Cholulans, kept Cortez informed as to all such plots, and upon entering Cholula, he could see plenty of evidences of such a plot, and so he struck with fury at the Cholulans before they had time to strike, and killed thousands of them within two hours time. The Cholulans were utterly routed, and so Cortez proceeded to tear down all their shrines and temples and to build splendid churches on the sites of them. He also demanded that they at once cease the practice of offering human sacrifices and that they attend regularly the services of the Catholic churches

Where did Cortez get the money? Well, he got great quantities of gold and silver from the Indians themselves. Then he levied heavy taxes upon them. He also discovered much gold and silver in the mountains, much of which was already being mined. In fact, the Catholic Church, through the conquests of Cortez and others became fabulously rich, and every Catholic Church in Mexico today is ornamented with untold millions of dollars worth of silver and gold.

And that is how Cholula happens to have 360 churches today.

But I must go back and tell you about the pyramid. We did not know that there was any pyramid in Cholula until we drove into the town, down to the end of its narrow streets, and parked our car. But before we had even stopped to park the car, two or three kids had espied us and recognized us as tourists, and one of them had hopped up and swung on to the car to offer his services for an expected tip as soon as the car should stop. And almost in the twinkling of an eye three or four other kids were swarming around and offering their kind offices. We told one of them that we would let him guide us around over town, but by that time, a full-grown Indian man, the father of one of them, was offering to guide us through the pyramid and the magnificent church that was spread out all over its top. So, he took charge of us and a couple of the boys went along also to assist us in climbing the long flight of steps that took us to the top of the pyramid and to the first floor of the church building.

And that was some climb, I want to tell you. I got the dimensions of that pyramid later and found that it was 408 feet from its base to its summit. I also found that it was 528 feet square at its base.

When I undertook to follow that guide through the thing and he kept turning on light after light far ahead of us down the tunnel, I soon decided that there had been no exaggeration of its dimensions. Neither could there have been any deception practiced as to its construction. One tunnel entirely through the thing from north to south, at its base, had been completed. Other tunnels higher up and running in the same direction had been completed for long distances. Several cross tunnels at higher levels, running east and west had been completed for considerable distances. All of them bared stone or concrete steps leading from one floor up to the next above, some in a north and south direction and some in an east and west direction. And from one of the lower tunnels, a stairway leading diagonlly upward for one hundred feet and diagonally downward back of us 25 feet had been completed. The construction seemed to have been perfected in the beginning according to exact measurements.

This pyramid had evidently been constructed as a burial place for the dead but no remains had ever been unearthed in its depths.

An ordinary man could easily walk through one of these tunnels for the full length of the excavation without bumping his head.

One of the tunnels, or chutes, extending diagonally downward through the structure had no steps but was either made smooth to start with or had been worn smooth, which is not likely. It is believed that it carried the blood of the sacrificial victims from an altar on the top down to a receptacle somewhere inside.

It is claimed that thousands of victims had been sacrificed on the altar to satisfy the war god of the particular tribe or nation of Indians that might have used the shrine during the thousands of years that it might have been operated.

Seemingly as I went through the various tunnels in the strange structure, I could detect a kind of misty; sickly scent that made me feel that I was undergoing an unsanitary contamination of some sort; and I surely was glad to get out of the thing.

* * * * *

While no remains have been found buried in the depths of the pyramid, there is a tomb on the outside at the northeast corner of the pyramid, which a guard obligingly unlocked and opened for us, and in it were the remains of two skeletons, evidently of a man and a woman, who were believed to have been a former Cholulan king and queen. We do not know how people arrived at the length of time the skeletons had been in this tomb but it was estimated that they had been there a thousand years or more.

There were 32 other tombs in the vicinity, which, as we understood, had contained skeletons, but none now.

This particular pyramid was not discovered until 1931 we were told and all the excavating and cleaning out of tunnels in it has been done since that time. Cortez proabably knew that the pyramid and many others in the vicinity existed, but he built Catholic churches on top of them so that they could never be used again as places of human sacrifices; and the rest of the world rocked along and seemed to forget that they had ever existed.

The Cholucans and the Aztecs, however, have never ceased to hate Cortez, and it is said that not a single statue or monument of him can be found anywhere in Mexico today.

Malinche, the slave girl, who became the loyal friend, informer even wife of Cortez, is regarded by all Indians as having been a traitor, but there is a mountain that stands lofty and alone out a few miles northeast of Cholula today which bears her name.

Maybe she was not loyal to the interests of the Indians. Born an Aztec, Malinche had been captured by the Tabascans, who made a slave of her. She owed them nothing. When Cortez made war on the Tabascans, they became frightened and sought to buy security if not freedom from the Spaniards by offering him treasures of gold, golden necklaces, golden figures, and even this beautiful slave girl, whom the Indians called Malinche but whom linche could not only speak the the Spaniards called Marina. Ma language of the Aztecs but also the language of the Tabascans, and she readily learned Spanish. She was probably much more intelligent and worthy than any of her masters, who were willing to make a pawn of her to the Spanish in order that they might have security for their own depraved cowardly, and superstitious selves She owed them nothing. But Cortez found in her a jewel and naturally he lavished favors upon her. She remained true to him and in her loyalty she reminds one of Pocahontas, the heroine of Jamestown.

Personally, we are glad that there is an eternal mountain in southeastern Mexico to preserve her name through the ages. For minutes I stood on the top of Cholula pyramid yesterday and looked across the valley admiringly at lovely Mount Malinche some fifteen or twenty miles away, to the northeast.

* * * * *

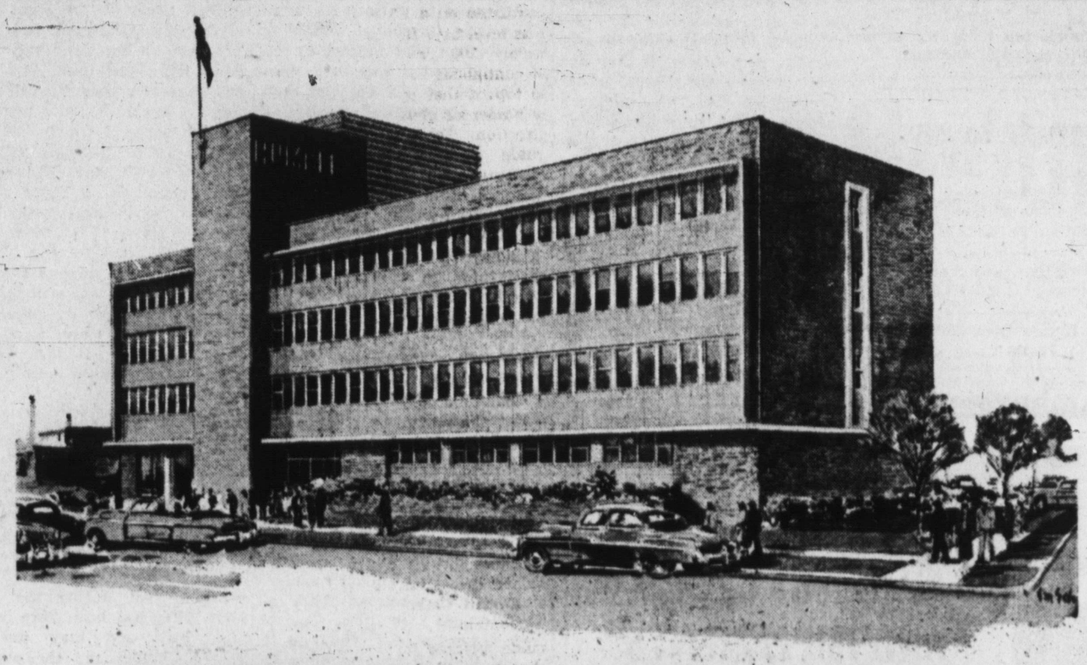

Also for hours yesterday I got the best view of Old Popocatepetl that I ever expected to get. I was told that it was 60 miles across country southwest from Cholula to old Popo but I can't believe that it was more than 20 miles It didn't look to be more than ten And the skies were fairly clear most of the time, and the view was splendid. Old Popo is one of the most symmetrical and shapely mountains I have ever seen anywhere, but he is not so huge as the "White Lady," Iztaccihuatl, who sits at his feet. We went half way round both of them yestreday with Iztaccihuatl a little nearer to us all the time than old Popo. "Iztacci" is not as tall by a few hundred feet as old Popo, but she stretches out much longer and is much bulkier. If we could have passed along on the south side instead of the north side the effect might have been reversed. The tops of both of them are covered with perpetual snow. Our highway north of the two passed through some of the finest mountain scenery in Mexico.

While at Cholula, we also could see in the far distance the top of old Orizaba tallest mountain in Mexico, possibly 100 miles east of Cholula.

* * * * *

On the trip to Cholula, we ran into a sizable Indian town some ten miles this side of Cholula—I never could understand the name of the thing but it was evidently an important Indian town—that had us guessing for

NEW HOME FOR AN OLD RESIDENT

The Humble Company began operations in West Texas in 1925, and two years later erected two adobe buildings in McCamey to house its West Texas Division office. Now, as if in celebration of a silver anniversary, the same West Texas Division has moved into a handsome new building at Midland, officially opened on March 7.

It has been a fine quarter-century for both West Texas and Humble. By various standards of measurement—population growth, farm income, petroleum production—West Texas has assumed a position of major importance in the economy of the State. Two facts show the importance of West Texas in Humble's operations:

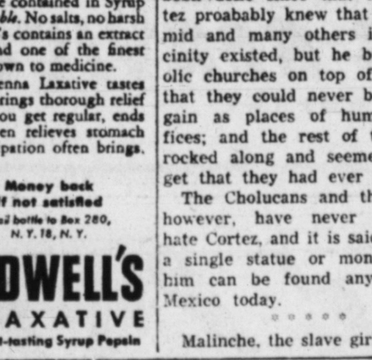

As a purchaser of oil from hundreds of West Texas producers, and as a transporter, Humble, since 1925, has moved to market more than one-fourth of all the oil produced in the West Texas area.

As a transporter, and as an increasing factor in the oil production of this area, Humble has spent many millions of dollars on West Texas.

So the Humble Building in Midland is more than an addition to Midland's skyline; it is headquarters for some 1100 West Texans who are actively participating in the orderly development of West Texas' richest natural resources; it is evidence of Humble's confidence in the future of West Texas. It is a new home for an old West Texas resident.

We're willing to wager that not one person in a hundred knows what really goes on inside an automobile engine—so let's take this by easy stages.

The instant you nudge Buick's Fireball 8 Engine into action—a whole string of things starts to happen.

Eight sparks begin to crackle in well-timed sequence. Eight pistons start gliding up and down with rhythmic precision. Eight pairs of valves dance open and closed—to let fuel charges in, exhaust gases out of cylinder after cylinder.

All right, you say, what's so complex about that? Can't anyone build an engine that does this to perfection?

Well, we'd better add, these things happen at the rate of more than 10,000 times per mile—and that's 100 times per second at 35 miles an hour!

So—it's important to know that Buick uses a deep-breathing valve-in-head design that shoots a fuel charge in—cleans exhaust gases out—in a hurry.

It's important to know that all the power released by the fuel concentrates its driving force right on the head of each Buick piston. (Everyone who has recently built "new" high-compression engines copied this "Buick first.")

But most important of all—Buick adds one more twist which others still haven't copied.

Every charge of fuel rushing into a Buick engine becomes a twisting, swirling, high-compressed ball that flashes with sudden, consuming completeness the instant the spark sets it afire.

And to add this all up: clean, complete combustion—10,000 times per mile—is the secret of getting more power—more miles—from each gallon of gasoline.

So we're not simply using picture words when we tell you that Buick—and only Buick—has a FIREBALL ENGINE—or that you're off in a swirl of power with one of these high-powered performers under the hood.

1952 has brought a lot of sparkling new improvements which you'll want to see and admire when you come to our showrooms.

But the thrill of thrills is still what you and a Buick—and a Fireball 8 Engine—can do out on the road. When do you want to try a sample?

a little while. As we suddenly entered the town it seemed all at once that a South American revolution had broken out. There was a walled park to our right literally filled with a forest of trees, and through the trees we could see multitudes of Indians. The eemed to be behaving them but the men were firing guns, and cannon crack that sounded like real can about 100 explosions per te. I never heard such a rack in all my life. We soon decid that the presence of two white in town was not the occasion the disturbance, for they did t seem to be shooting in our irection particularly. If they had rned a few volumes loose in our ction I'll bet my partner's Cadillac would have broken all ed records for the next several miles down the road. As the shooting continued, we finally picked up courage to ask some Indian what it was all about. We were told that they were having a carnival. As they seemed to be making a success of it without our aid, we finally decided to drive on. Well, Sir, when we got back to that town four or five hours later, they were still having their carnival. The firing had not abated one whit. But we felt a bit more at ease than on our first trip through, for down at Cholula, an Indian boy, with whom we had gotten chummy, nted to catch a ride with us back down to the carnival town, d we were glad to take him along. He chaperoned us down into the park where the great crowds were, and there for a few inutes, with this Indian boy with us, we witnessed the carnival performances without any particular fear or trembling. The boy thanked us, gave us his name, which was Onesimus, wanted us to write him, and assured us that he would find a way back down to Cholula. So, we left him there enjoying the carnival.

* * * * *

His name struck me as being rather strange, Onesimus, an Indian lad, away over here in Cholula, Mexico, in the year 1952. I was sure, however, that he was not related by ties of blood with that Greek boy of the same name who had been a slave of one Philemon, ran away, and was then befriended by Paul the Apostle some 1900 years ago, mention of which is made by Paul in the letter which he addressed to Philemon. But this boy, Onesimus, should be a Christian, whether he is or not, for he lives in a town of 360 churches.

By the way, I want to say that all those kids that we met over at Cholula and most of them that we have met elsewhere in Mexico are as polite as a gallant caballero at a Spanish fandango. They all want a tip for this, that, or 'tother, but whether they get it or not they all become your "amigo." I think most of them are fine kids. They all, from the 2 year-old babies on up, like to be petted and hugged—that is, the kiddies and the boys do; and from what I see, I believe that a lot of the girls do too.

* * * * *

While we are on that subject I might remark that my partner down here speaks Spanish, and he gets chummy with everybody. Occasionally I will see him having a hilarious time with some fellow, and I will think he has met an old friend. "Who was that you were talking with over there awhile ago?" I will ask, and he will answer, "I don't know; never saw him before."

But yesterday, out at Cholula, I saw him get awfully anxious to cut loose from a guy that was getting a little too chummy with him. We walked into a cold drink parlor with two or three of our new Indian boy friends and called for a few bottles of coco cola While we were being served a tipsy Indian walked in, called for toquila rather vociterously, slapped my partner vigorously on the back, and let out an Indian yell that could have been heard a block down the street. He wanted to engage my partner in conversation, but I could tell that the latter was getting nervous. We slipped out pretty quick and made for our car.

One of the Indian boys who had assisted us through the pyramid and the big church, accompanied us as we drove on down to Pueblo, some six or eight miles further down the road. It is quite a large town but we merely drove down there and back. But whatever comes or goes, we will never forget Cholula. We will never forget the pyramid which was built by the Toltecs possibly as much as 4,000 years ago. These pyramids remind us of Egypt and of Chaldea. Maybe next week, I will tell you about those other pyramids, built also by the Toltecs, and seen by us on our first day in this area. I have a hunch that these Toltecs, who are believed to have been in this area some 4,000 years ago, came at some remote period of time from some Asiatic country.

Now, this little bit of news. Today, as I stepped into the elevator to go down to lunch, who, do you suppose, greeted me when I stepped in? Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Allen of Lubbock, one-time prominent citizens of Tahoka. We took lunch together and had a most pleasant visit during the lunch hour. They had been here in previous years, and they too had visited Cholula and the pyramid out there, and also Acapulco on the Pacific coast.

Split pea soup makes a hearty noontime dish when it is served with rounds of frankfurters. Slice the frankfurters thin and heat them in the soup shortly before serving. Add bread and butter and a salad to the menu and for dessert serve frosted cupcakes or fruit.

in cotton-insect control

Early season control gets the young plants off to a healthy start . . . and it's no problem at all for aldrin.

So powerful that an early season dust or spray for an acre of ground contains only 2 ounces of actual aldrin, aldrin goes to work at once . . . with dead bugs falling in an hour or two. Even if rain falls the next day, aldrin's killing job is accomplished. At the same time aldrin does less harm to beneficial insect parasites which help to depress aphid and mite buildup.

Lowest cost . . . On an acre-for-acre control basis, aldrin costs less to use (either spray or dust) than any other cotton insecticide. And aldrin is approved in every cotton area in the country!

Aldrin can be sprayed as you cultivate . . . saving an extra operation. Aldrin will not clog spray nozzles . . . use any conventional equipment.
