Burkburnett's Float at Wichita Acclaimed Best in the Parade

The float which was sponsored by the Burkburnett Chamber of Commerce in the Diamond Jubilee Parade in Wichita Falls Saturday carried out the theme of the town's fiftieth anniversary. Predominating colors of the float were gold and white and featured a five foot cake, topped with 50 candles, on a revolving platform. A derrick with flowing oil stood at the back of the float and Miss Vyvyan Morris was seated at the front.

Members of the Unity Garden club were in charge of building the float. Special committee members were Messrs, and Mesdames J. M. Goins, Tommie Campbell, R. C. Gilbow, A. L. Gilbow, Mesdames B. H. Alexander, C. A. Morgan, Geo. Hodges, A. W. Newman, Herman Miller, Sid Landrum, Carl Sutherland, Paul Schroeder and Joe Viavattene.

No prizes were offered for floats in the parade but many people voiced their opinion that Burk's float was the best in the parade.

Celebration To Feature Contest For Rodeo Queen

To all organizations participating in the Boom Town Rodeo Queen Contest:

The Rodeo Committee has decided to sponsor a Queen Contest for the 1957 Rodeo. The organization selling the most rodeo tickets will have their candidate declared queen, the second place winner will be the runner-up and the third place will be in line for honorable mention.

This particular event has been carefully considered by the Rodeo Committee in order to give each participating organization every advantage, and it has been decided to give a 10% commission on all ticket sales. A concentrated effort by your club can net a very substantial bit of cash. The 10% applies to tickets sold through the last day of the rodeo.

All ticket sales that are to be counted on the Queen Contest must be in the Chamber of Commerce office by 9:00 A. M. June 12, 1957. The judges will make their count and certify the winners at this time. Remember in selecting your queen, a queen may not succeed herself.

Float Prizes

We also wish to encourage as many clubs as possible to participate in the float contest. Float may be of any theme. The prizes are as follows:

1st place, $100.00.
2nd place, $75.00.
3rd place, $50.00.
4th place, $25.00.

As you know, we are celebrating our 50th Anniversary of Burkburnett, and we hope to make this an outstanding celebration, but this will be impossible without the co-operation of all the organizations, so it is sincerely hoped you will sponsor a queen and also enter a float in the parade, which is scheduled for June 13th at 5:00 P. M.

For further information concerning Queen Contest contact Floyd Marten, Phone 530 or O.

For further information concerning Float Contest contact Wendell Goins, Phone 21, or the Chamber of Commerce, Phone 101.

Yours truly,
General Rodeo Chairman
Floyd Marten

Sale Town Lots In Burkburnett Held June 6, 1907

'Way back in 1907, June 6th was a big day for Burkburnett. That is the date of the first public auction sale of town lots and farm lands.

The Red River Valley Townsite Company had an ad in the Wichita Daily Times on May 14 announcing the event.

A statement in the ad, fifty years ago, still holds true: "Burkburnett has the best country to draw trade from of any town in Texas."

J. Troy Miller, 610 Magnolia St., brought us a facsimile copy of the Times for the above date.

Fern Stit says she'll be happy just so long as she can keep her hair light and her past dark.

Wendell Goins Seeks Informat'n Parade Entries

Wendell Goins, Celebration parade chairman, needs to have all clubs, business firms and individuals get in touch with him and let him know if they plan a parade entry. He doesn't want to know what will be entered—he is sworn to secrecy if you do tell him—he just wants to be able to line the parade up on paper before the procession begins to form.

Wendell has had experience with parades. He knows that it is impossible to kick one off properly without a lot of paper work in advance.

If you plan to enter anything, float, decorated car, oil field or farm machinery, let Wendell know so he can start lining it up on the drawing board.

A number of outstanding entries have already been entered. The parade will be a whooper-dooper—if you only co-operate.

There is no entry fee for getting in on the parade. All entries must be reported by June 8th.

If you plan to enter a float, tell Wendell whether you had rather have it judged before or during the parade. He wants to please the majority.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

ONIDA, S. D. Watchman: "The Right to Work Law, in brief, gives all South Dakotans the right of employment, be they union members of not."

CARLSBAD, N. M. Current-Argus: "Electric utilities of the United States are gambling more than $2 million a day that 1957 will be a better year than last year's record breaker. During 1956 the industry spent $2.9 billion for construction of generating, transmission and other facilities, far above the average of the decade. These utilities have demonstrated they can, and will, undertake needed and practical projects, of the size required."

FAIRFAZ, MINN., Standard: "Big business?' It is very foolish indeed to rave about big business ruling the country, what is really ruling our country today, is unionism."

KNOXVILLE, IOWA, Express: "It is claimed that Lincoln freed the slaves from boundage. Now these same slaves, or their offspring, are still in bondage to a government which is master, demanding reports of all kinds, socialistic demands for your money, all according to the 'planners' in the government that finally will control your every move, to remodel your entire life according to the way they see that it should be lived. You guessed it, it is to be done by more and more vicious taxation."

TOPEKA, KANS., Household: "Half the homes in many subdivisions have no insurance on furnishings. Yet even in modest homes these may be worth $1,000, $5,000, $6,000."

STERLING, ILL., Daily Gazette: "We just wonder if it is generally known that there are 151 taxes on a loaf of bread?"

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

"At a time of prosperity such as this nation has never before enjoyed, 5.5 million Americans are on relief rolls. The bill for this relief, 3.1 billion dollars last year, is at a record high."

Thus begins an article in U. S. News and World Report for April 19th. The money, it adds goes to more than 2,500,000 elderly people, to 600,000 mothers with 1,700,000 dependent children and to the blind, the disabled and others.

Why should relief costs be so high in boom times, and why should the number of people sharing in the payments reach peak after peak? No single answer to such a question can be complete. But it seems that the dominant factor is what the magazine accurately calls "a revolutionary change" in the attitude of many Americans toward relief.

Not long ago, as time is measured, the indigent old were cared for by children, or failing that, took refuge in the poorhouse. Relatives came to the rescue when misfortune struck families. Big-scale government aid, as a principle and philosophy, was unknown.

It was not until 1935, with the great depression in full swing, that the Federal government embarked on a program of direct assistance to the needy, by providing funds to the states on a matching basis. As U. S. News points out, and it is certainly a point that seems to have been forgotten today, the program was regarded as a temporary emergency measure. Once business started back uphill and jobs became available, it was reasoned, the need for this kind of assistance would gradually end. The old age security program, supported by a tax of its own, also was supposed to do much of the welfare job.

The realization has been enormously different from the expectation. Not only are more people getting relief checks, but the amounts are far higher, as much as $200 a month to an aged couple, according to U. S. News. Old regulations, which denied relief to people owning valuable property such as autos, insurance and homes, have generally been greatly liberalized or abandoned. As the magazine puts it, "Many Americans getting public aid today are people of substance and respectability." There are states where relief to the elderly is not called relief at all, it is given the much more attractive name of "pensions."

U. S. News goes into some of the reasons advanced by sociologists for the enormous growth of the welfare program in a time of record employment, wages, industrial activity, etc. People are living longer and so require more medical care. Inflation has bitten deep into fixed incomes from savings and other sources. Families are separated by great distances, and the old, close family relationships of another era are disappearing. No one seems to have any real solution to a social and economic problem that grows steadily more severe. But one thing can be said with certainty at this time: "Across the nation, people are turning over their family problems to the state. Big relief rolls, it now appears, are developing into a permanent part of the American way of life.

WANT-ADS
REACH OUT MILES TO MILLIONS

DEGREE CRAZY

Every industrialist in the United States, in fact, every employer, should hear this: "If Thomas A. Edison and the Wright brothers were twenty years old today, they would have great difficulty in finding technical positions worthy of their talents."

This is the view of Carl G. Sontheimer, an executive of a leading electronic research and development laboratory, who believes that much of the country's inventive talent is being wasted, ignored and overlooked through the frantic efforts of industrialists to latch onto college-trained engineers, regardless of their creative abilities.

"Most companies largely ignore the creative mentality in selecting young engineers," says Sontheimer, executive vice pres. of CGS Laboratories, of Stamford, Conn., and if a young engineer is creative, his initiative and inventiveness may be stifled rapidly in the organization of the average industrial corporation. Moreover, a college engineering degree in itself is no passport to success in advanced electronics research and development.

"We seem to have forgotten that many of the basic technical inventions, the electric light, the phonograph and the airplane, to name but a few, were made by men without engineering degrees." And Mr. Sontheimer assures us that: "The day of the 'attic inventor' is not past."

"We feel that a man who has made electronics a hobby since his early teens is in general a better bet, degree or not, than a college-trained boy who took electronics simply because he heard it was a sure way to make a living. Naturally, the former boy-hobbyist who has acquired a sound fundamental scientific education is most valuable to our kind of organization."

Certainly if Mr. Sontheimer's views apply to the mysteries of electronic development work, they apply with even greater force to the grocery business or shoe-making or contracting or general manufacturing. Perhaps we have been too hypnotized by the Latin on the college sheepskin to look closely at the man who is holding it, and too impressed by the mortar-board to see the young fellow who has had to get his "higher education" in his own way while earning a pay check.

Whether they are found on the campus or off, America has need of all the genius, all the special talents and all the spirit of can do that the nation produces. It would seem to be up to the personnel scouts to broaden their sights.

TELEPHONE TALK

by C. A. Deuschle, Manager

WHY NOT PERSONALIZE IT?

"Telephone service is telephone service," a friend of mine said the other day. "What's so different about it now than before?"

I was glad he asked me. It gave me a chance to bring him up to date about complete, convenient telephone planning.

"Look at it this way," I said. "A Model-T will still get you from here to there. But you wouldn't want one for your family car. You have the latest model. And before you bought it, you looked over all the models, styles, special features—even colors—and picked out the one

"And it's the same way with phone service these days. You can select a telephone arrangement that exactly fits your own needs."

Here's what I meant:

Enough telephones so you don't have to run to answer (or walk halfway through the house to make a call).

Telephones in color in bedrooms and kitchen to harmonize or contrast with your room decorations.

Phone book listings for everyone in the house. And maybe a second main line for teen-agers.

And extra bells or signal lamps if necessary, so nobody misses important incoming calls.

We're always happy to help plan a personalized home telephone arrangement. Lots of Burkburnett people already are taking advantage of the many low-cost "extra" services we offer.

For more details, why not call the telephone business office today? The number is 700.

MONEY SAVING IDEA

The idea of making Long Distance calls station-to-station instead of person-to-person seems to be catching on more all the time. Makes sense, too.

"Station" rates are about 1-3 lower. You can actually make three out-of-town calls for the price of two.

Here's an example. Three station-to-station calls from here to Fort Worth cost only $1.95 (3 minutes, after 6 P. M. week days or all day Sunday). Two person-to-person calls would cost $2.20.

Businessmen have known the economy of station-to-station calling for a long time. Many like to make all their calls that way.

Whether you make a lot of Long Distance calls, or just a few, I think you'll find worthwhile savings in regular use of station-to-station service. And you'll save time, too, if you'll always call by number.

READY WHEN YOU NEED IT

There's a special value in telephone service that always comes to mind when vacation time rolls around.

No matter how far away your vacation takes you, it's always easy to phone home and make sure everything's okay. Or to stop at a road-side booth and call ahead for hotel or motel reservations.

No matter where you go, the telephone is always nearby—ready when you need it.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

History Made by An Old Pioneer
E. E. Goetze Came Here in 1884

E. E. GOETZE

(Taken from the Wichita Falls BANNER, December 18, 1936)

Ernest E. Goetze, 93, died at his Sunshine Hill home, north of Iowa Park, Saturday morning at 3 o'clock. An illness due to the infirmatives of age possessed him for several days and the end was not unexpected.

Ernest Goetze was born in Saxony, Germany, September 15, 1842. He grew to manhood there and was called to defend his native country in two wars. In 1861 he participated in the war between Germany and Austria, and ten years later shouldered arms for the fatherland against France. He determined to leave the strife torn country and cast his lot with America in the land of Liberty. He struggled toward that hope and anticipation over a period of years before it became a realization, but overcoming reverses and receiving aid from others whom he had assisted in making an earlier voyage to this country, he landed in Texas in 1884, stopping at Sherman, in Grayson county, first, and coming to this county a year later and settling at the spot where he built a home, lived almost to the century mark, and died.

One of his first acts upon coming to America was to make application for naturalization. His favorite passage of scripture which he often repeated, especially during the recent years of depression was Psalms 147:3: "He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds".

The following are some of the happenings and hardships repeated by K. T. Goetze, his only son of five left to tell the story.

E. E. Goetze started in 1884 to raise cotton and corn. It had not rained for three year. On April 5, 1885, a heavy 2 foot snow came. After that there was no rain for eleven months.

Grasshoppers as big as cottontail rabbits by the millions enjoyed the corn and cotton as they had never seen things so good in their life. When they finished the crops, they ate up the fence posts. Since the farmers got most of the posts from the river bottom, there was a little sap left in the posts. They ate them up from the bottom and ate a lot of them through in different places. After they ate all of them, they ate the wire barbs from the wire and in places ate the wire in pieces. Our past five years here has been nothing to compare with the drougth of the 80's.

Sunshine hill is in the middle of Wichita County. It is 35 miles from Wichita Falls. At that time there were no houses or fences between us and Wichita Falls. The Burk Burnett Ranch was 15 miles east of us on the Red River. The Waggoner Ranch was 20 miles west up the river. The railroad just came to Wichita Falls in 1884.

When the creeks and rivers came up father and our neighbor, Mertins, tied a rope around the wagon axel and wagon bed, whipped the horses on their tails and over they went laughing.

One fine spring day they went to the City of Wichita Falls. It took one day to go and one to come back. As they swam across Gilbert Creek they heard a cry down the creek. seeing things on a big cottonwood tree, they discovered two men. Father jumped on one of his horses, swam to them and got them from the tree. It was two of their friends from Wichita Falls Mr. Jauch and Mr. Kouing. They drove mules and a lot of mules can not swim. Their mules had drowned. The two men swam to a near tree. They sat on it one night and one day. I am sure they enjoyed it.

When father came home from Wichita Falls the next day he told us the sad news that the Indians had declared war on Texas. It was a sad story as we only lived one mile from the Oklahoma territory. The cow kings and the chiefs had a big meeting at Fort Worth, making new treaties for their cows in Indian Territory, "Oklahoma" with the chiefs. They took two of the chiefs to the finest hotel. Not knowing about gas lights, the poor chiefs blew the lights out and the next morning they were found dead. The other chiefs decided that the White Faces killed the chiefs. It it had not been for the good chief, "Quanah Parker," who understood the Texans and explained to the chiefs what had happened, we would really have had a bad Indian war. All we could think of was being killed by the Indians.

We lived in a doughouse built with rocks. It was 2 feet over the ground and four feet in the ground. Father being a heroic legion, we listened to his orders. All of a sudden we heard a noise in the middle of a dark night. Father said, "That is the Indians, All under the bed the seven of us went. "Heroic mother, you stay with me, you load and I will shoot. It got hot under the bed, and we raised the dickens. Every so often mother kicked the larger ones in the ribs and all would be OK for a short time.

Father had an old 8 or 6 gauge gun. He filled it with a 1-2 pound of powder and two hands full of buckshot. If he ever sighted it on a flock of Indians, he would have killed a dozen at a shot. He also had two small guns and two or three one shot pistols that he fired with a flint rock. Sometimes they would shoot, but mostly they mis fired. Father was a real soldier. Looking through the small window he saw a big old Indian buck sitting on the wood pile. He watched him for hours. He finally got tired of watching him. He told mother to be ready. I am going to blow him off the wood. There was no noise, no sound. After so long daybreak came. I am going scouting. Be on the alert. Soon father returned. I played the dickens with that shot, I killed Leo. Leo was the best dog we ever owned. We all had a hard cry. That was the end of it. Dear Leo. No wolf nor tiger was ever too large for him.

After father tried spring crops two years he told the boosters in Wichita Falls that if they wished us to stay that they must help us get winter crops, wheat, oats, barley. Things grown in the winter and early spring. Soon they made up cars of wheat, oats, barley. All of the farmers planted all the land ready in small grain. A very fine winter came and all the grain was harvested when it got dry and the grasshoppers were so disappointed. In 1895 Wichita County was listed the best grain belt in Texas.

In 1890 father became the superintendent of the best sheep ranch in Wichita County. There were 3,000 or 4,000 sheep. It was on the mouth of Ten Cavalry creek. The creek started on Sunshine Hill. It was the most beautiful water and the sheep grazed on the mouth of the creek.

Quanah Parker, Comanche Chief came through that road from Fort Sill going to Wichita Falls to buy and sell things. He asked if he could camp there by the beautiful water when he came to Texas. He also wished to buy sheep for his wives and family. Father told him to take and kill all the sheep he wanted. He made no charge to the chief. Father said, "It is free to you, Chief." this made the chief a very close friend of father's.

The chief wanted to do something for father so he asked father if mother and I the baby, would like to learn to swim. I was afraid of the water. Papa knew that I was afraid of the water and so did the Chief. Papa threw me in the water to the Girls (the chief's wives) because the Chief thought I might become afraid of him if he threw me in. When papa threw me in the water the Chief told the girls to teach me how to swim. When they threw me in the water I hollered and drank half of the beautiful water in the lake. The wives enjoyed it very much and I soon learned to swim.

We had a dozen or so beavers chopping trees around us. The Chief asked father if he could hunt them when the hides were good. Father told him to help himself. Father and the Chief got to be the best of friends.

The chief told papa that he should teach our fine dogs to kill snakes around his children's feet and to kill the wolves that got his lambs. The Chief and his family taught our dogs how to kill snakes and to keep wolves away from our sheep. Again and again they killed snakes under our feet.

So we learned to love our Comanche Indian Chief and his people and we still love them.

Dan Waggoner, whose ranch was west of us at Vernon, and Capt. Burk Burnett whose ranch was east to Wichita Falls about 30 miles built a fence from Wichita River straight North to the Red River. This fence came through the middle of our land. Cattle and cowboys broke the fence up when the state opened the land. Papa asked if he could buy the fence to build a fence around his land. Both of the cattle kings told him there would be no charge for the fence and that he should hurry up and build the fence around his section. This was wonderful and Papa and Mertins built fences around their land with the fencing from the cattle kings.

Soon this State land settled up with people. They needed a school. Pa told them if they would stick with him that we would build a school. He went to see his new friends, Waggoner and Burnett, and each gave a couple of hundred dollars for the building of the school. However this was not enough so pa told the people again to stick with him and we would get the money. Ths time he went to see his good friend in Wichita. They voted a school tax on the Waggoner and Burnett land and in a short time a school was built and it was called Sunshine Hill School.

Now Waggoner and Burnett came to Papa and gave him a fine talking to and poor old papa had to take it with his buddies. Well, said father, you nice cattle men ran this for many years for your nice cattle. Now let us run it for our children. So they told papa that he could take care of the children. They said they still had enough for their calves so they parted good friends and lived together happily. One cow king on one side and one on the other. Father between them with his farmers. When we farmers had feed or cattle to sell, they bought it. When a family got out of milk, papa would tell their cowboys and they would bring us the best milker they could find.

Yes, it pays to be kinf. All three died with good age and still loved each other at death.

Dan Waggoner decided to sell a couple of hundred thousand acres north of Electra to farmers. He asked papa to advertise for a German Colony north of Electra. Papa advertised and worked for good old Dan Waggoner. In a short time, to Father's pleasure, he had started and built one of the finest colonies in Wichita County. Even today it is one of the finest settlements in this country.

Now, we boys, as most boys though we were OK. We went to Sunshine Hill school Monday morning. All of the boys had marbles. Friday when school was out Bruce Gillis and I had all the marbles. William Honaker, a very fine man who weighed about 135 pounds and stood over 6 feet tall was our hero. When trouble started he came to our rescue. It turned out real well for us. Every marble on the hill was ours by Friday. It got so interesting that Bruce and I could not get home Good old Will took me home East and Bruce south and then he went home. It's good to have a friend in need.

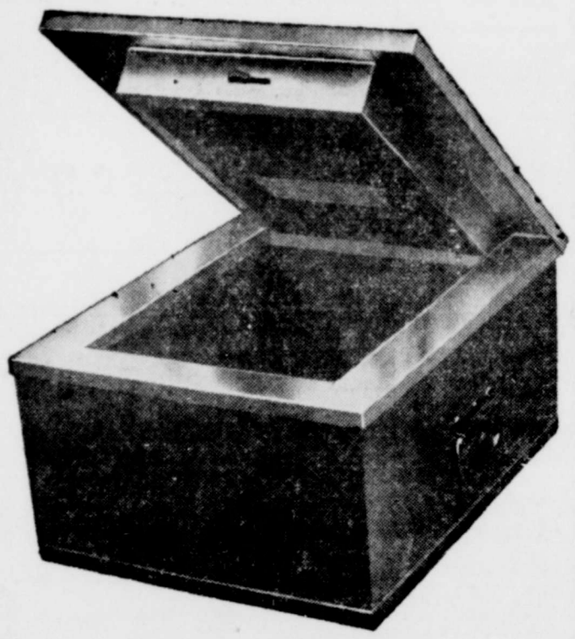

William was a real hero. We knew that what he said would go. All of a sudden he got a fine idea. On that hill was an old soldier's fort. There were hundreds of graves. Bill said, Let's dig up the largest on the hill. We knew that there would be Indian arrows and all things in the graves. We wanted to see what was in the graves. We had to dig on it at night o boy on the hill would h ed us. After we dug up rows, etc, we were g show them to the bo brought our laterns but w not light them until w down in the grave beca would shoot at us if the light on the hill. The fir we got along fine. We to or so the second nigh would dig and then the When my time came I was as fine a hero as n no one else knew it. On cond lick I hit a rock streak of fire came out that it was a spirit. I out of the grave and the asked, What's wrong? I s saw a spirit. Bruce said not going in anymore. I I heard one last nig thought we were foolish said he would show foolish we were. I sat side of the grave and B on the other side. Go Bill hit one good blow thing happened. Then he other blow and it hit The fire came out stream. Bill jumped out grave and ran down with the two of us right him. Bill was convinced were right about the spir got our horses and hea home leaving our pic shovels behind us. We went close to that gra more. That stopped all heroism.

P. S. I could tell more good and bad happenings space was not so limited

From the Office of Lyndon Johnson

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson declared Sunday in a statewide radio report to the people of Texas, that President Eisenhower's proposed budget for the next fiscal year can and should be cut, and expressed confidence that it will be cut.

Pointing out that the Senate will be working on appropriations bills during much of May and June, the Texas Senator said every proposed expenditure should be given the closest possible scrutiny.

I have no doubt we will find material cuts can be made, he said, and without impairing our national security, without weakening our position in the world, and without crippling the necessary and accepted domestic functions of our Government.

Senator Johnson pointed out that he recently sent a questionnaire, including one question dealing with the budget, to a large group of representative Texans and asked their opinions on the issues listed.

Out of a total of approximately 9500 replies to date, he reported 8,035 Texans said the budget should be reduced.

There is only one way to cut the budget. the Senator said. That is to trim down in the appropriations bills the expenditures requested by the President

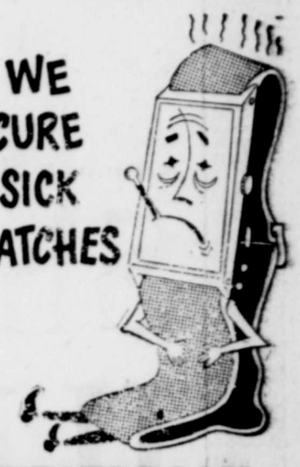

That is the responsibility of Congress. It is a responsibility that must be met in a prudent and determined manner.

We don't have to use a meat ax on the budget. But neither do we need to confine ourselves to a pen knife.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Van Loh and Ken and Mrs. J. H. Brumley were weekend guests of Jerry VanLoh at Texas University in Austin.

50th Anniversary Deserves Wholehearted Support

Thursday, June 13, Burkburnett will begin a e day celebration in observance of the Fiftieth iversary of this city located almost on the banks ed River. The celebration date falls very near he day 50 years ago when the first town lots ion sale was held—June 6, 1907. On that day train service was maintained from Wichita s and Burkburnett for the benefit of would-be lot purchasers. It was quite a day.

any plans have already been made for this s celebration. Committees have been working ral weeks to make it a successful event for all erned. Up to this date, just a handful of in- ted workers have been preparing for the big t. Now that time draws near, more and more peration is needed.

This year's efforts will be in honor of 50 years rogress. Fifty years of struggling to make an oom town into a modern, progressive city. All s expect to witness the Fiftieth Anniversary of city. Many will not be here for the 75th An- sary. Fewer will be around when the century is reached. Let's make the most of the oppor- y we have now. Let's make this celebration one remembered for years and years.

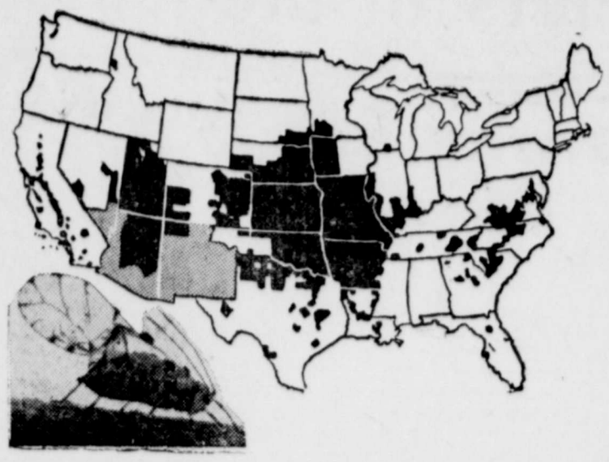

To get in the real spirit of the occasion, more s are needed to enter in the parade opening 'Course it takes work to make a presentable t. But we expect visitors here from all over where and they get their impressions of our usiasm from the amount of effort we put forth.

Saturday, June 15th is Pioneers Day. Old rs will be returning to Burkburnett who have seen the city in many years. They will be proud e old home town if we all do our part to make e greatest occasion since the first sale of town 'way back in 1907.

Don't be bashful—offer your services to help g. If you are asked to help, give service rather excuses. You'll be glad you had a part in it. our town. We are proud of it. Let's let other le know that we are really sincere.

There will be a lively contest to determine who l reign over the festivities as Queen. This is a re every one can participate in. This is going a grand and glorious celebration. Let 'er roll!

Spotted Alfalfa Aphid Threatens To Destroy Nation's Alfalfa Crop

Since its first appearance in New Mexico's Rio Grande Valley four years ago, a new aphid with a fantastic reproduction rate and a voracious appetite for alfalfa has spread across the central United States, from California to Virginia.

Many agricultural authorities now consider the spotted alfalfa aphid to be the nation's most serious insect threat to agricultural production. Its rapid migration has caused widespread alarm. In 1954, the insect was reported in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Nevada. By 1956, it had moved into 15 states, penetrating north into Minnesota and South Dakota, east into Maryland and Virginia, and south to Florida. Infesting only seven southern counties in Indiana in 1956, it is expected to take over the entire state in 1957. It migrates freely from field to field; travels great distances on the wind; and even "hitch-hikes" from state to state by car, train, or plane.

In northern climates the female aphid produces from two to five living young per day without mating. Cold winters are not a bar to survival. It is not eliminated by temperatures as low as five degrees.

The damage caused by the spotted alfalfa aphid takes several forms. Seedling plants are killed rapidly. Heavy infestations may completely destroy a young stand. Aphids feeding in a harvested field can prevent regrowth by completely covering the developing shoots.

Where sufficient alfalfa survives for cutting, the stand is often ruined by the honeydew which aphids secrete while feeding. A sooty fungus growing in this honeydew soon reduces the leaves and stems to a black, sticky mass. This is unpalatable, and practically unharvestable with modern field choppers and balers.

Texas Atomic Energy Research

The Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation today announced the signing of a contract with General Atomic Division of General Dynamics Corp. for a four year, 19 million dollar jointly sponsored research program in the field of controlled thermonuclear reactions. The private electric utility companies operating in Texas recently organized the Foundation to consolidate and make more effective their participation in the development of atomic energy in the United States.

The announcement was made by the Foundation's President, W. A. Parish, who is president of Houston Lighting and Power Company, one of the utilities supporting the Foundation.

Lewis L. Strauss, Chairman of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, in a letter addressed to Parish stated, "I regard this as a significant demonstration of the vitality of the pioneering spirit in American enterprise. The evidence of interest in this area by privately-financed research in spite of the long-range character of the problem is in the best tradition of the progressive business."

The thermonuclear research will be carried out at General Atomics new Multi-million dollar John Jay Hopkins Laboratory for Pure and Applied Science located at the northern edge of San Diego. Research work is already under way. The staff and laboratory now include more than 150 scientists, engineers and technicians.

The aim of this four year research program is an understanding of heavy hydrogen reactions at high temperatures under controlled conditions. In such fusion reactions, large amounts of energy are released. The ultimate goal of controlled fusion research is to develope a system in which more energy is created than is consumed in achieving control of the reaction

This first large scale private program in common with those now being undertaken by the Atomic Energy Commission, aims first to demonstrate controlled themonuclear energy prospects for economical energy production from this source. If ultimately, the latter can be achieved it promises an almost unlimited energy source because of the great quantities of heavy hydrogen (deuterium) in the sea.

It is particularly appropriate for this group of electric utilities to enter the nuclear field through this long range research program," Parish said. "The eventual creation of energy from controlled fusion would be most welcome, not only because of the abundance of its fuel, but because it does not involve the problems associated with large scale radioactive watse disposal.

This joint long range research program of the Foundation and General Dynamics is directed towards the fundamental methods involved rather than toward the early use of fusion energy in electric power plants of the participating companies, which now utilize the favorable and substantial supplies of natural gas available in Texas. Thus, this research program will not include an attomic energy electric generating plant.

"General Atomic Division is uniquely qualified to carry out this effort," said Frank Pace, Jr. President of General Dynamics Corporation. "General Atomic's guiding principle is the application of fundamental scientitic techniques to technological problems. Research in this new and exciting area can be expected to bring progress not only in fusion, but also in associated fields such as high temperature materials and high current electrical equipment. General Dynamics is most pleased to be associated with such a group of forward looking utilities in this venture."

Electric utility companies supporting the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation are: Central Power and Light Company, Community Public Service Company, Dallas Power & Light Company, El Paso Electric Company, Gulf States Utilities Company, Houston Lighting and Power Company, Southwestern Gas and Electric Company, Southwestern Public Service Company Texas Electric Service Company Texas Power and Light Company and West Texas Utilities Company.

This group of privately- financed electric utility companies operating in Texas has not requested any government funds to support this nuclear research program. It hopes, however, to work closely with the Atomic Energy Commission on any program undertaken.

News From The Congress

By Congressman Frank Ikard

On the eight appropriation bills for the fiscal year 1958 debated and voted on in the House thus far this session are shown cuts totaling over a Billion One Hundred Million Dollars. The President's request in these bills total $14,968,542,403 and as finally approved by the House, they represented $13,827,366,654., which is a reduction of about 9%. Yet to be considered by the House are the largest appropriation bills such as defense and foreign aid. None of the bills that have passed the House have yet reached the Floor of the Senate but are all at this time being studied by the Senate Appropriations committee.

Recently Congressman Oren Harris, Chairman of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, introduced a bill the effect of which was to bring some order to the marketing and sales of natural gas and in many respects softened the control by the Federal Government. Hearings on this bill began May 7th. The first witness who is the Counsel for the Office of Defense Mobilization and spokesman for the Administration proposed amendments to the Harris Bill which will make it impossible for the legislation to accomplish the purpose for which it was designed. This refusal on the part of he Administration to approve this proposal means that it will be impossible to pass any sort of gas bill during this session of Congress.

The House Rules Committee is now considering the highly controversial "civil right" bill. Indications are now that this measure will be on the Floor of the House sometimes late this month or in early June. This is one of the most controversial measures of our time. If the measure should be approved by Congress, it would abolish many of the concepts that we have had in this country concerning personal freedom. For instance, it would abolish the jury trials in some types of cases. Even though this measure is being passed under the guise of protecting so called "civil rights," actually it would destroy them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tole, Mr. and Mrs. Jean P. Montgomery and Mr. Thomas Myrick of Wichita Falls and Mr. David Eaton of Decatur were visitors in Washington this week.

Alverta Fears has quit the women's Volunteers. The leader told her, her gas mask wasn't on straight. Seems she wasn't wearing one.

TRAVEL-WISE

A new version of the popular cotton knit suit is worn by Helen Landon, 1957 Maid of Cotton. By Smartee, the hip-length cardigan and slim skirt take smoothly and smartly to travel. They wash easily and require little or no ironing. The shawl collar of the navy suit is trimmed with white.

News From The County Agent

The 4-H boys receiving gilt pigs on the Sears Pig Program this week are Ronnie McAlester, Leon Stallcup, Garland Weeks, Wichita Falls, John Hopkins, William Pinson, Iowa Park, Bryan Scherff, Lower Charlie Road, Kenneth Johnson and Sonny Bentley, Burkburnett. The 4-H clubber receiving the boar pig is Olen Baley of the Friberg-Cooper community.

Wichita County farmers should check their pecan trees for the pecan nut casebearers. You should spray soon after pollination or about the time the tips of tiny nuts turn brown. The insecticides to use is 50% wettable DDT or 15% wettable parathion. Zinc sulphate may be added to the spray to control Rosette. Rosette is a nutritional disease which occurs when there is not enough available zinc in the soil to meet the requirements for pecan tree growth and nut production.

Defer grazing in your permanent pasture, with added moisture, grasses on barren rangeland should make considerable growth. Deferring pastures after rain pays, give the good perennial grasses a chance.

Hog producers are advised by county agent B. T. Haws to keep a close watch on future production trends. Present hog prices and the prospect for lower feed grain prices this fall (1957) will aid expansion and increase the chances for lower prices spring of 1958. Hog pr the months ahead will be mined by how well pro keep supply and dem balance, says Haws.

"Come on try it... there's nothing like a J2 Rocket!"

Olds Owner: Let me show you. This J-2 Rocket* is like two engines under the hood.
Friend: Neat trick—how does it work?
Olds Owner: It's a new progressive carburetor system. Gives you more economy . . . or extra power for safety. Take your choice.
Friend: Economy sounds swell . . . but with a big car like this . . . ?
Olds Owner: You bet! They engineered the J-2 Rocket Engine for our kind of driving . . . top efficiency at normal driving speeds because it's fueled by one carburetor.
Friend: How about that extra power?
Olds Owner: Give it ¾ throttle and two extra carburetors cut in. It's mighty reassuring to know you've got that extra power in the bank.
Friend: I get it. Economy when you want it—power when you need it.
Olds Owner: Correct. But talking about it won't give you the whole story. This one you've got to drive. Climb in—let's go.
PERSONAL NOTE: Your Olds dealer would like you to try J-2 too! It's available now on all models, including the Golden Rocket 88, lowest-priced Rocket Engine car. Be his guest for America's newest driving experience.

SHOES FOR A GOOD BOY—Peering through a window, since he cannot go inside, is a young man on the verge of receiving a pair of moccasins. They are being carefully made for him by a patient at the Legion State Tuberculosis Hospital, near Kerrville. The patient is Ascencio Medina of Pearsall. The "peerer" is Amado Garces, Jr., who helps offset Medina's loneliness for his own five youngsters. Deerhide for the moccasins was donated by Texas hunters, conveyed for tanning to California by the air force's "Operation Deerlift" and returned to become the property of Texas TB patients in State Hospitals. TB associations over the State help with salaries of occupational therapists who teach patients to make moccasins and other articles.—Photo by LaFayette Reed of Keerville.

Grade School News

We are fast approaching the end of the present school year, and doing it in a way that is entirely too fast. It does not seem so very long ago that we came into the building the first day of school back in September of 1956. Then memories begin to float around in front of us and then the realization begins to unfold that it has been several days since the first day of school We can make our resolutions early this year and do hope they will be fresh in our minds when we start the next school year in September.

Most of the children are looking forward to one of the most exciting days of the school year and that is the day of the picnic. It is a day that we long remember for the fun that is furnished of being with our classmates for the last big social event of the year. Some of the members will be gone next year to new schools and we are very sorry to see them leave, and that helps make the picnic a great event that we all look forward to as the big event of the school year.

Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District News

Harvest time for many farmers living in or adjoining the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District should begin combining within a few weeks and plowing the land will follow immediately on much of the land.

Rainfall records show that May and June are the two highest rainfall months for this vicinity; therefore we may expect much of the land to be plowed during this period, and considerable erosion taking place where adequate cover is not provided on the land.

Technicians of the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District emphasize the importance of stubble mulch tillage to provide adequate cover during these critical periods. No single Conservation practice will completely eleminate runoff, stubble mulch tillage more nearly accomplishes erosion control and moisture conservation by leaving the greater amount of the crop-residue on or near the soil surface. The residue helps to break up the falling rain drops, thus rendering the less erosive on the soil.

Sweep type equipment is most desirable for a good job of stubble mulching, as they will move along under the soil destroying growing vegetation, while leaving a greater part of the stubble standing. However if sweep type equipment is not available chisel type equipment will do a good job where stubble is heavy. Rolling coulters will be necessary on most plowings to prevent dragging of residues.

Texas Safety Association

Never trust the other driver."

In these words, a bulletin of the Texas Safety Association, warned Texans to be on their driving guard against the unpredictable behavior of pedestrians and other drivers.

It isn't enough to obey the law and mind your own business, the bulletin reads. "You have a moral responsibility to prevent an accident if you can, even if the other fellow is at fault.

A few of the other fellow's more common blunders were listed as being:

Failure to heed a stop sign or sneaking across the yellow light

Making a turn from the wrong traffic lane.

Failure to signal a turn, or giving the wrong signal.

Stopping suddenly (of course this won't bother you if you're not too close.)

Trying to pass on a curve, hill or other no passing zones.

Traffic weaving or double parking.

Drivers were also warned to watch for pedestrians who are foolish enough to jay walk, get out of a vehicle on the street side, walk along the road at night wearing dark clothing, or for children playing near the street.

Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Harms and children of Waco and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Harms of Dallas spent last weekend here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harms.

POSSUM KINGDOM STATE PARK is truly a sports paradise. Excellent fishing, sixty-seven [miles] boating water, deep diving from rock cliffs, skin and water skiing all can be enjoyed at this [recreation] park on the Brazos river.

Even the park's fascinating name has a romantic background. The Act of Congress under which the Morris Sheppard dam was built to create the lake designated the site as a paradise for o'possums. So the park was called Possum Kingdom when the cabins were built, docks constructed and park facilities installed.

Development of the park had the needs and comforts of fishermen as a major object. With 350 miles of shoreline and 710,000 acre feet of water, the lake is renowned for its black bass, crappie, white perch and channel. Recently white bass have been caught. Thermal conditions in the lake is taken twice weekly giving the fisherman information on the best depth at which to fish for different species of fish. Large docks care for rental boats and for private boat storage.

Because of the lake fluctuation the docks have been constructed so that they rise and fall automatically with the lake level. A canteen supplies tackle, staple groceries and cold drinks. Fresh bait is obtainable in the park at all times.

Beside equipped camping area for which reasonable fees are charged, the park has a large free camping area. There are ten artificially cooled tile cabins, numerous picnicking units and playground equipment.

The park is reached by the longest park road in the state. This Park Road 33 leaves U. S. Highway [illegible] the old oil town of Caddo and goes directly to the
