U.S., Soviet Plan Nuclear Cutback

PLANE HIT BY LIGHTNING—Cleveland—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, carrying flowers, arrives in Cleveland after the airplane (background) in which she was a passenger was struck once by lightning during the flight from Washington. The bolt struck the right side of the plane and there was a second flash on the left side. There was no damage to the plane and the pilot said he had no trouble in keeping it under control. At Mrs. Johnson's left is Cleveland Mayor Ralph S. Locher. (AP Wirephoto)

Speedy Retrial Is Requested For Roy Cohn

NEW YORK (AP) — The federal government went to court today to get as speedy a retrial as possible in the perjury cases against Roy M. Cohn and Murray E. Gottesman.

The 21-day trial of the pair ended suddenly Sunday night and was declared a mistrial by Judge Archie O. Dawson because of the death of the father of one of the jurors. The jury had been deliberating for four days.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gerald Walpin asked U.S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld to "assign this case out as soon as possible for as speedy a retrial as possible."

The defense objected to the government's haste.

Cohn is accused of perjury and obstruction of justice. Gottesman is accused of perjury. Weinfeld gave the defense until Wednesday to submit papers arguing the assignment of the case for retrial.

San Jacinto Day Review Scheduled

HOUSTON (AP)— The Texas Navy of 100 ships will pass in review Tuesday before Lt. Gov. Preston Smith to open San Jacinto Day observances at the San Jacinto Battleground. The day marks the victory of Sam Houston over Santa Anna and Mexico.

Reduction Planned Over 4-Year Span

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union announced today a cutback in production of nuclear explosive materials.

President Johnson disclosed the plans of the United States for the substantial reduction in the output of enriched uranium to be carried out over a four-year period.

The President made the announcement in a speech prepared for The Associated Press luncheon in New York.

In Moscow, Premier Khrushchev made the announcement for the Soviet Union.

Other Reductions
Johnson said that together with other reductions, the new cut means "an over-all decrease in the production of plutonium by 20 per cent and of enriched uranium by 40 per cent."

"We reduce tension while maintaining all necessary power," the President stated. Tass said Khrushchev's action was in line with U.S. and British decisions in the same field.

The Soviet leader's statement noted President Johnson and British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home had notified him they also would issue statements on "practical measures in the field of reducing the manufacture of fissionable materials for military purposes."

"I am happy to say," Johnson added, "that Chairman Khrushchev has now indicated to me that he intends to make

Scattered Showers Predicted Here

A few brave raindrops squeezed out of Monday morning's heavily overcast skies and it is anticipated that before the day is out, some measurable amount of precipitation will materialize.

Forecasters at the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted scattered showers for the area late Monday afternoon or night.

Wichita Falls has been dry since April 5 and with only .55 of an inch of moisture having been recorded this month is far below normal. Par for April is 2.53 inches.

Temperatures Monday were expected to warm to at least 68 degrees following an uncommonly warm morning minimum of 60. Normal low for April 20 is 53 degrees.

If the clouds break away, the mercury will climb even higher—possibly to the middle 90s.

Winds Monday were southerly and quite brisk. Generally breezing through at around 15 miles per hour, there were some gusts hitting 30 m.p.h.

Tuesday morning should see partly cloudy skies with a low of around 60 degrees. The maximum depends on whether or not a cool front passes through here, but will probably be near normal for this time of year: 78 degrees.

In the extended outlook, there is the possibility of showers both during the first and the last part of the week.

Lightning Hits Plane Carrying Mrs. Johnson

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Lightning struck a four-engine United Air Lines plane carrying Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson here today from Washington. Radio antennae of the plane were damaged slightly, and the bright flash frightened passengers.

No one was injured aboard the plane, which the First Lady's party of 20 shared with regular passengers on a 1½-hour flight that weather made rough all the way.

A United spokesman said later that "a static discharge from the clouds struck the top and bottom radio antenna, and they were slightly damaged."

"This sort of thing is a fairly common occurrence," he added.

Mrs. Johnson Says Women Can Be 'Dedicated Doers'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson said today that women can be dedicated doers in civic life to raise standards and set sights.

"We need bolder imagination about the way we live," fair play for all, better homes, schools and cities, she said, and "women can be dedicated doers for all these things."

She spoke in a speech prepared for 2,000 delegates opening the five-day national convention of the Young Women's Christian Association.

The First Lady said women "can push and prod legislators."

Mrs. Johnson said a prosperous society has every right to expect a decent urban life for its families. "This is where children get their chance," she said. "If the city is a jungle, the child may turn out to be a wolf cub."

To gain the kind of world we want, she suggested "we must face up to the unfinished adventures of America. Our forebears were not afraid of the wilderness; we need never fear the wilderness of our problems."

The First Lady hailed the work of the YWCA, said her husband is "one of your most avid admirers" and said services of the Y had touched her own family at home and on its trips abroad.

Mrs. Johnson said her daughter, Luci, 16, is enrolled in a life-saving course at the YWCA, four blocks from the White House.

She said she often had thought how much that building means to the daily life of the city and many young women who come to Washington to seek their fortune.

She said she felt "presumptuous" as an amateur to "find any words of wisdom for you—the expert."

"I cannot rally you to the war on poverty or the war on prejudice for you have been waging it on the front lines so well and so long," Mrs. Johnson told the delegates.

The First Lady flew to Cleveland for the day to speak at the YWCA session. She also stopped in for a look at the Riverview public housing development, which features low-cost apartments for the elderly. She visited with some of the 600 older residents, saw their Golden Age center, health clinic and cafeteria where elderly women prepare hot lunches for their colleagues.

TOWER ADDRESS TONIGHT

State Park Leader Speaks At Convention In Vernon

VERNON, Tex. (Special) — "Tourism is one of the greatest economic values to our state," J. Weldon Watson, head of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, told delegates at the annual Highway 287 Assn. convention here Monday.

Watson, speaking at noon Monday, was the first of three top speakers to appear at the event. Sen. John Tower, Wichita Falls Republican, will address the group at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Wilbarger Memorial Auditorium and Hal Woodward of Coleman, Texas highway commissioner, will speak at a Tuesday luncheon.

Watson emphasized the need for better highways to give access to parks in the state, and said "the park system in the past has been underdeveloped due to lack of funds."

"It is our plan to rehabilitate the existing park system which includes some 58 state parks," he said. "There is nothing wrong with the Texas park system that money can't cure."

Among the parks along U.S. 287 — which enters Texas north of Amarillo and continues to Port Arthur on the Gulf of Mexico — scheduled for improvement is Palo Duro Canyon park, where a new amphitheatre is being built.

Restraining Order Blocks Fair Stall-In

NEW YORK (AP)—A judge issued today a temporary restraining order, effective immediately, barring interference with all modes of transportation to the World's Fair, which opens Wednesday.

Justice Joseph M. Conroy of the Queens State Supreme Court signed the order, aimed at forestalling the planned stall-in by civil rights groups. Among those named in the order were Isiah Brunson, head of the Brooklyn chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality; Herbert Callendar, head of the Bronx CORE; and Arnold Goldwag, public relations head of Brooklyn CORE.

The Brooklyn chapter has been suspended by the national CORE for its plans to tie up the city's transportation-subways, highways, commuter trains and tunnels leading to the fair site in Flushing, Queens.

The show-cause order is returnable Thursday in Jamaica, Queens.

IN SOUTH VIET NAM

Rusk Pledges Continued Aid

By PETER ARNETT
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk ended a three-day fact-finding visit to South Viet Nam today, pledging U.S. help until peace returns to the embattled country.

Rusk departed a few hours after the Communists gave a major show of strength, including a daylight attack on an outpost 14 miles from Saigon.

Two companies of Viet Cong fired mortars and heavy weapons at the suburban post while Rusk was winding up his talks in the city Sunday. Rusk was never close to the action. Tight security prevailed as his plane took off for home today.

In an airport statement, Rusk said: "We shall remain at your side until the aggression from the North has been defeated, until it has been completely rooted out, and this land enjoys the peace which it deserves."

Rusk said he discussed with Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the premier, various ways in which assistance might be strengthened, but gave no details.

"So let us move on together to victory, a secure peace and a better life for the Vietnamese people," Rusk added.

While his plane made a 28-minute refueling stop at Taipei, Formosa, Rusk conferred again with Nationalist Chinese Foreign Minister Shen Chang-huan and Adm. Jerauld Wright, the U.S. ambassador. Shen told reporters Rusk had described the Vietnamese situation as "quite satisfactory."

In addition to the assault in the Saigon suburb, the Communists slipped within 800 yards of a U.S. military compound at My Tho, 50 miles southwest of the capital. Another Viet Cong company attacked Tan Hoa on the main highway between Saigon and Can Tho, 100 miles to the southwest.

Communist units apparently inflicted their heaviest toll in simultaneous attacks on five outposts in Kien Hoa Province in the Mekong River delta. At Hai Tay, 25 miles from My Tho, 14 self-defense corpsmen were reported killed and 26 missing.

The government claimed more than 100 Viet Cong casualties as it struck back with artillery and aircraft.

Most Firms Reporting Higher Profits Now

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—A golden stream of profits has blessed the efforts of most companies in the early months of this year. All signs point to further gains in the current quarter. Among first quarter statements now pouring in, corporations reporting lower earnings than a year ago are few and far between.

But many of the more fortunate complain that sales have mounted faster than net income because of still rising costs. They contend that even higher profits will be needed to sustain the business expansion called for by the nation's economic goals.

Today's headlines of climbing profits, however, underline the happy fact that this is the third straight year that earnings have been topping the previous year by a significant amount. The average gain last year was 10 per cent over 1962. That year saw a 13 per cent rise over 1961, which was a standoff with 1960. Prospects are for 1964's rise to be as good or better as the two preceding ones.

No Sharp Gains

In the 1950s profits rose, too. But there were no successive years of sharp gains like today's.

For the first three months of this year the profit rise is spread throughout most industries, including some like the railroads which were suffering losses a year ago.

Enjoying the boom are steels and other metals, motors, chemicals, electrical equipment, oil, utilities, food, paper, textiles, business equipment, airlines.

Top names in their industries lead the profit march. AT&T, IBM, NBC, CBS, du Pont, General Electric, General Telephone & Electronics, Bethlehem Steel, American and National Airlines, Douglas and United Aircraft, Xerox, Polaroid, Johns - Manville, Celanese, General Tire & Rubber.

Known Laggards

Among those whose earnings trail 1963 results are also some widely known names: Westinghouse Electric, American Sugar, Tidewater Oil, Acme Steel, Wyandotte Worsted, American Photocopy Equipment, Eli Lilly, United Shoe Machinery.

But the gainers are far in the majority. Many profit reports are sweetened by increased production and sales, part of the general economic upturn. Many are profiting from earlier cost-cutting measures, including installation of machines to do the work faster and cheaper than man - labor could. A sizable number are cashing in on new or improved products or on stepped-up sales promotions.

Among those in the food industry who have reported gains this year over last are Borden, National Biscuit, Safeway, National Dairy Products, Kroger, National Tea.

Rail Gainers

Railroads reporting increases this year include Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio, Illinois Central, Chicago & North Western, Milwaukee, Western Maryland.

Also advancing are Budd, Pullman, Westinghouse Air Brake.

Almost all the steels are up. Already reporting are Armco, Allegheny, Ludlum, Kaiser, Lukens, Detroit, Pittsburgh and Lone Star. Others will be joining them soon.

Along with du Pont in the chemical gainers are Allied, Monsanto, National Distillers & Chemical, Diamond Alkali, Pan American Sulphur, Hercules Powder.

Among the paper companies ahead are Scott, Riegel, Hamermill, Champion.

Profit Advances

Owens-Illinois Glass, Owens-Corning Fiberglas, Corning Glass Works report profit gains. So do Texas Instruments, Aerojet-General, Burroughs, General Precision Equipment, General Aniline & Film, American

Radiator and Standard Sanitary, Plough, Upjohn, Caterpillar Tractor, Container Corporation of America, Crown Cork & Seal, National Lead.

Western Union, Fedders, Drexel Enterprise, Ex-Cell-O, International Shoe, Spiegel—all show increased profits.

The list should multiply before the last to report are heard from. Whether the ratio of profits to sales is wide enough is another question — but the earnings upturn, now in its third year, is indisputable.

Missile Defense Has Alternative

By RALPH DIGHTON
Associated Press Science Writer
LOS ANGELES, (AP) — A major aerospace company is spending thousands of man hours taking a hard look at what's likely to happen if either the Soviet Union or the United States develops a good defense against intercontinental missiles.

The Russians claim they have a missile defense, but give no details. The United States is experimenting with its controversial Nike Zeus antimissile missile and is pushing work on a faster one, called Sprint.

Going on the assumption that one or both powers will perfect a defense against ground-launched missiles within a few years, North American Aviation Inc., has assigned several weapons-planning experts to devise countermeasures against what may be the next generation of space weapons: nuclear bombardment satellites.

Many Concepts

Their concepts so far range from a system they say could be operational in a matter of weeks: an X15 rocket plane armed with satellite-destroying warheads—to a 1975 supersonic transport carrying piggy-back an X20 Dyna-Soar type or orbital vehicle capable of capturing and boarding mysterious space craft.

"National objectives and the political climate would have to be assessed, of course, before any such concepts could be put in production," T. R. Parsons, North American's chief of operations analysis, said in an exclusive interview.

"But we want to be ready if the need arises."

Two Methods

Parsons said that if U.S. ground tracking stations should detect a Russian satellite suspected of taking spy pictures—as does our own Samos variety—an X15 rocket plane could handle the situation in either of two ways:

1. Launched as usual from a B52 bomber, the X15 could streak to an altitude of 300,000 feet and fire a nuclear-tipped rocket at any target up to 300 miles high.

2. Instead of a warhead, the X15 could fire a bottle of paint that on impact would splatter the lenses of downward-aimed cameras.

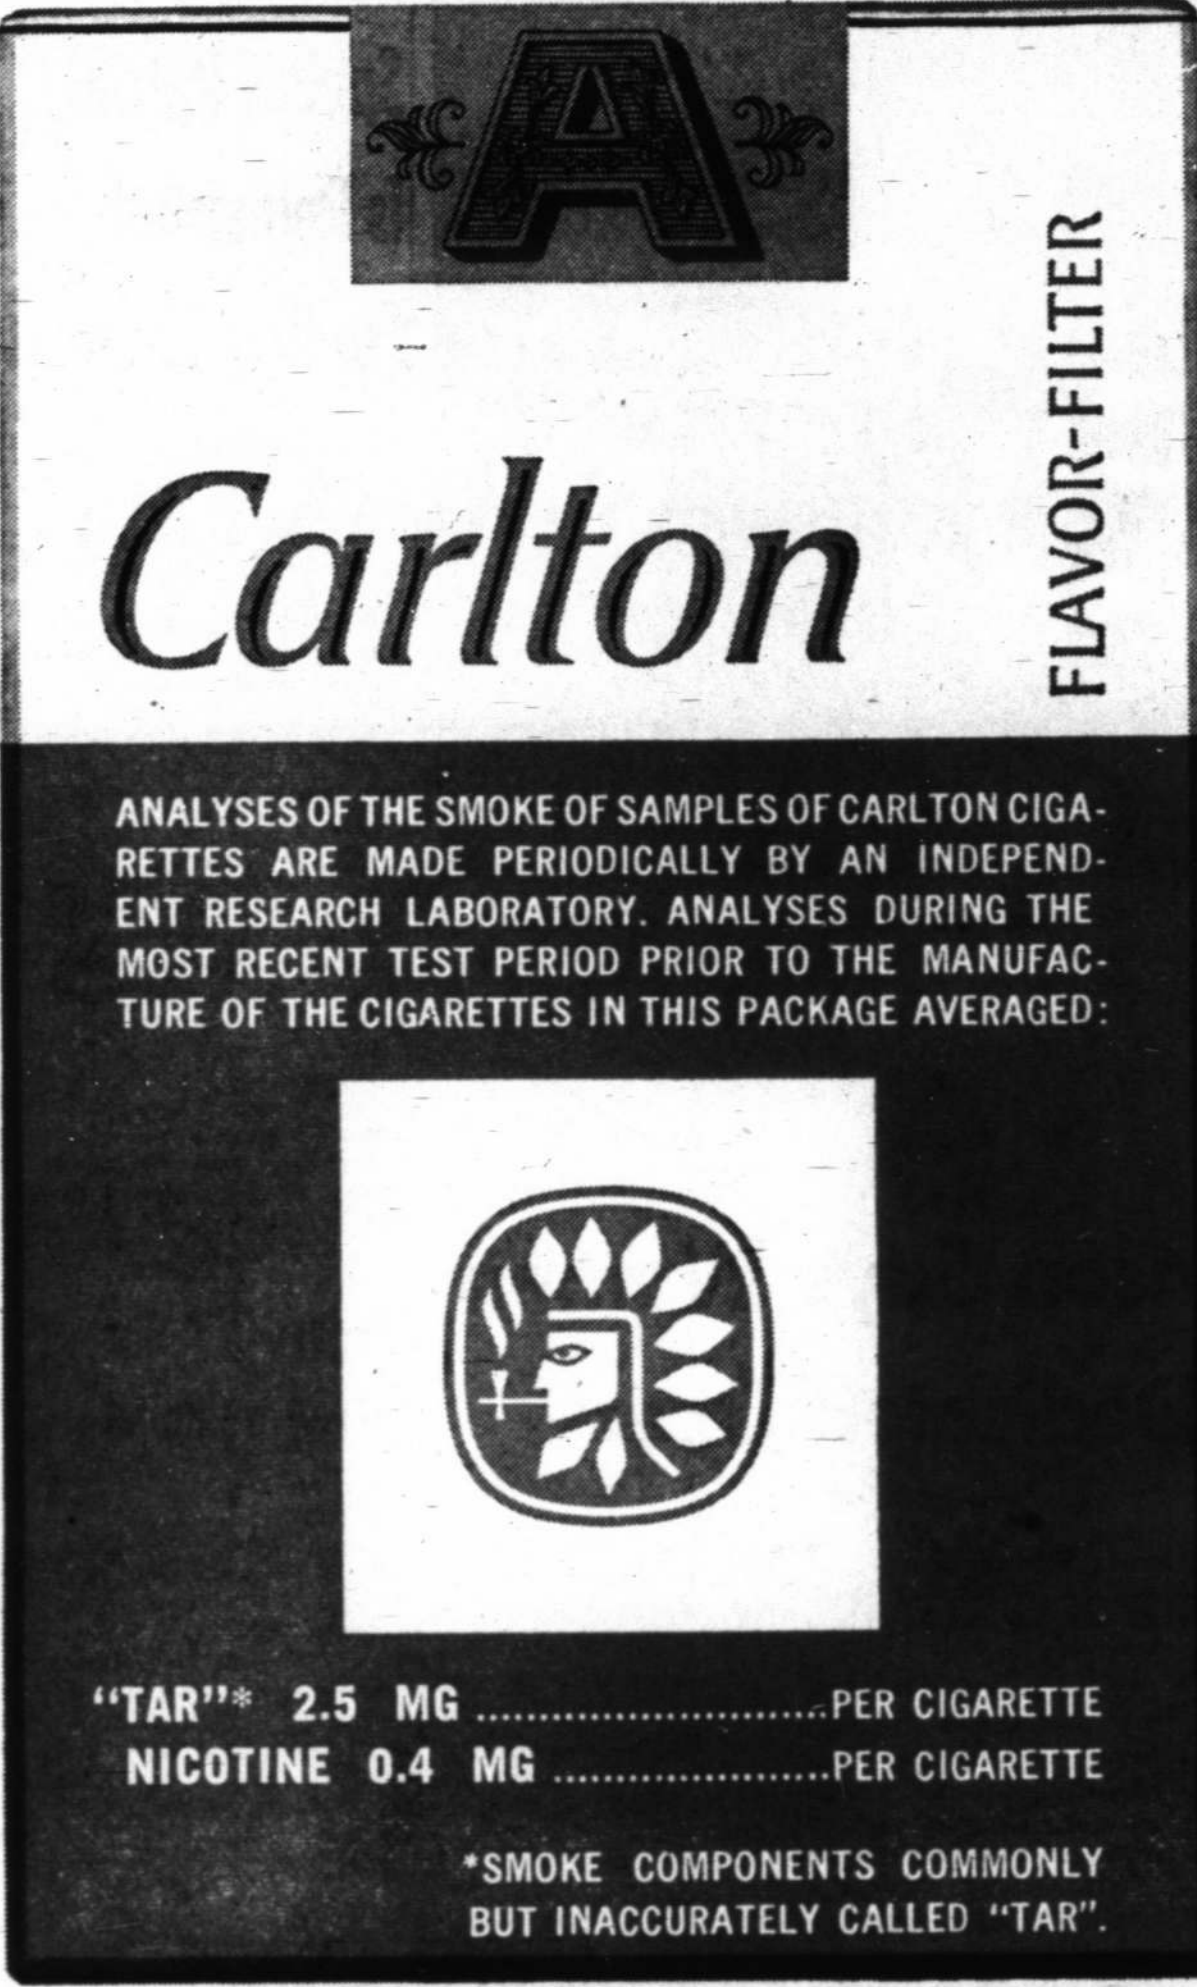

That may sound funny, but Parsons wasn't joking.

Political Motive

"There might be men in the Russian satellite," he said. "It might be better politically to make them look silly than to kill them."

Parsons' team is using computers to calculate the cost and effectiveness of all kinds of defenses against all expectable kinds of satellites.

"One big question, of course, is whether we would want to launch our antisatellite satellites vertically, with rockets like the Titan or Saturn, or horizontally with aircraft like the B52 or the upcoming supersonic transports," Parsons said.

MYSTERIOUSLY RISING SALT LAKE IS THREAT

By RALPH DIGHTON
EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP)—
Every estimated at millions of dollars has been caused by mysteriously rising water in the land-locked Salton Sea.

Portes, resorts, military installations, thousands of acres of farmland—even such California oddities as dry-ice caves and steam pots almost side by side—have been inundated by the slowly rising salt water lake.

Thirty-six miles long and up to 16 miles wide, the Salton Sea is breathtaking when viewed for the first time. Rimmed by rugged mountains, reflecting the bright blue of the desert sky, the sea seems out of place in its vast cactus-littered valley.

Property Booms

Long famed for fishing, hunting and boating, the sea in recent years, has spurred promoters to attempt several real estate booms.

None has been more than moderately successful. Subdivisions have been laid out around expensive yacht clubs and thousands of lots sold for city prices

but few homes have been built,
largely because of the shortage of fresh water and the distance to major population centers.

Los Angeles is a good three hours' drive to the west.
In the last three years another spectre has risen to haunt promoters—an increase in the rate of rise of the water level.

Formed In 1906

When the sea was formed in 1906 by Colorado River water pouring through a break in the

All-American Irrigation Canal into the long-dry bed of an ancient ocean, its surface was about 250 feet below sea level.

Now the surface is only 234 feet below sea level. In the past three years it has risen two feet and the rise now is measured at a quarter inch a week.

Where is the water coming from? Not the heavens because rainfall last year measured only four inches.

The New and Alamo rivers which pour into it from the south carry mostly sewage water from Mexicali, a city of 240,000 on the Mexican border.

High Evaporation

The actual amount of water from this source is not determined but it is doubtful it com-pensates for the evaporation loss of more than 72 inches a year.

Probably a principal source—although no one wants to admit it—is excess irrigation water from vast Imperial Valley vegetable and cotton fields. California has been fighting with Arizona for years for the lion's share of Colorado River water and any hint that California is getting more than it needs would be ammunition for Arizona's legal guns.

Whatever the source, the Salton Sea is rising, slowly lapping at structures on its shoreline.

Docks Lost

The joint Air Force - Navy parachute test range on the southwestern side of the sea already has lost several docks and a $40,000 camera station, expects to lose two more camera stations unless the rise stops.
Carl Hildebrandt, supervisor

for Ling Temco Vought, which operates the range for the services, estimates total damage around the sea at many millions.

"It could run close to a billion if the sea ever gets above minus 220 feet," he says.

Minus 220 feet is the level on which Salton Sea residents have pinned their hopes for a future.

Harold Bromley, a director of the Coachella Valley Water District, says engineering will keep the sea from rising above minus 220 feet.

A series of cold winters, slowing the evaporation rate, and an increase in flow from irrigation ditches and Mexicali could send the water above that mark.

McMackin Asks Tax Office

George McMackin, a man with long experience in accounting and bookkeeping, has announced his candidacy for the post of Wichita County tax assessor and collector.

McMackin, who is 47 years old, was born in Hill County, Tex., in 1916, then moved to live on a farm near Sunset in Montague County. He came to Wichita Falls with his family in 1918, where his father, the late Rev. McMackin, constructed the family home place in which his mother and stepfather still reside.

He married the former Lois Sadler of Fannin County in 1939. The McMackins have a son Eddie, who is a student at the University of Texas. A second son, Bobby, is deceased.

Both McMackin and his wife Lois have been active in intermediate youth work at First Baptist Church in Wichita Falls, where they have been members for approximately 20 years.

Training
McMackin was educated at two colleges and one state university, and has taken numerous correspondence courses. He is currently taking a certified public accountant's coaching course, leading to a CPA certificate, from a leading university in this field. He was a public school teacher-principal for two years in Southern Oklahoma; an accountant-tax consultant for 19 years; and was manager of another Wichita County Courthouse office for three years. The position from which he recently resigned was one of bookkeeping and the supervision of bookkeeping.

McMackin stated he had been a citizen of Wichita County for 24 years.

In announcing his candidacy, McMackin made the following statement: "We need more families employed in this county. County officials should lead out in encouraging full employment. Perhaps our citizens would appreciate it, if officials would refrain from hiring close relatives and members of immediate family while our employment situation is so acute."

Criticism
The opposition has experienced difficulty initiating a whispering campaign. They unsuccessfully tried to start a rumor that I was dishonest with county money, but it was pointed out that the county auditor would have discovered any irregularity in his regular monthly examination. This accusation should have been brought out at this time for political purposes. I defy anyone to show where I have done anything dishonest. I have respected his official dignity by refusing to knowingly solicit votes from his family or employees. I would appreciate if he would operate under the same code of ethics and refrain from harassing my family in this respect. Some areas should be sacred, even to politicians. Other than the above, I have no criticism of my worthy opponent.

"I wish to assure my many friends who petitioned me to run for the tax office, that some of the things I hear, if true, are most unfortunate concerning the opposition but will not be repeated by me or my family. I cannot speak for my host of friends but I sincerely trust that they will assist me in keeping the discussions on a high moral plane."

"Good business judgment dictates that the large majority of present deputies should be retained for proper operation of the office. I have never required a county employee under my supervision to work one minute overtime. Overtime pay in any county office is not provided. My personal overtime was volunteered and not compulsory. It was in the interest of my many friends throughout this county. I propose, during the rush periods in the tax office, that my time will continue to be at the disposal of the people of our county as it has for the past years."

For Convenience
"The deputies' schedule will be arranged in a manner designed to reduce public inconvenience to a minimum while strictly adhering to the 40-hour week for which each deputy is paid."

"I will be happy to retain, if practical, the snap-out ad valorem tax form recently placed in use. In another department of this courthouse, I started the use of snap-outs some six months before they were used by the ad valorem tax deputies. I am happy that the ad valorem deputies were alert in following our lead. Each operation will be judged on the basis of its necessity and legally improved if possible."

"Public officials should be interested in economy regardless of who receives the glory. I have no criticism of the present operation in regard to economy, but if elected, I will enter office with economy in mind. Where savings can be accomplished, I will pursue them. I worked with the district clerk and judges to bring about a saving in the expense of notifying jurors. Now completed, this system is saving hundreds of taxpayers' dollars every month. (Jurors are now notified by 4 cent postcards rather than by registered and certified mail as previously. Registered mail currently costs 75 cents. You may calculate the saving if you wish.)"

Members of the Wichita County Civil Defense will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the first aid instruction room of the Wichita County Courthouse.

"Disaster Planning and Operations" will be discussed by the group and a film on fallout shelters will be shown at the meeting.

Kenneth Warren urged all members to be present and said that anyone else interested in the civil defense movement is welcome to attend the session.

Watson said $451,000 will be spent on improvements at Lake Whitney, including road construction, new boat ramps and camping facilities.

Texas' big deer population attracted 330,000 out-of-state hunters last year, Watson continued, and with the 2-million-deer crop should bring more next year. Harvest this year was 225,000, he said.

The convention officially opened Monday morning with delegates from as far away as Wyoming and Canada in attendance. J. R. Wright, mayor, and Cledie Palmer, chamber of commerce president, welcomed the visitors.

Ralph Glaze, manager of the Colonial Restaurant at River Oaks Motel in Wichita Falls, was welcomed as a new director during a directors' meeting Sunday.

Monday afternoon Sen. Tower was guest at a coffee in the Forum Room, sponsored by the Wilbarger County Republicans Womens Club.

Tuesday's session will start with a "cowboy breakfast" at Allingham Park, sponsored by Humble Co., and then will get a guided tour of the Santa Rosa Stables and Waggoner Ranch.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Large concentrations of Chinese Communist troops are massed all along India's northern frontiers and the Himalayan kingdom of Bhutan, a government spokesman said today.

BERLIN NEWS CLIPPING—Looking at a clipping from a Berlin, Germany, newspaper, "Morgen Post," is this Sheppard Air Force Base family who know exactly what this German news story is all about—they live in Sunset Terrace. Featuring an Associated Press photograph, filed from Times Square, of the disastrous results of the Friday, April 3, tornado in Sunset Terrace, the front page item in the Sunday, April 12, Morgen Post described the base and residential damage. The clipping was mailed to S.Sgt. and Mrs. Donald D. Stotts from Berlin by Mrs. Stotts' grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Fiedler. Mrs. Stotts is the former Bridgetta Gosemark of Berlin. The couple, shown here with their three-year-old son, Michael, who was born in Berlin, came to Sheppard two years ago. The couple lives at 1645 Longview. Their home suffered considerable damage. Sgt. Stotts who is attached to 3750th Materiel Squadron, and his wife and child were at home when the tornado struck. The sergeant was one of the first to begin rescue work in the devastated area.

policy," Johnson said such discussion must be responsible and in protecting U.S. security "partisan politics must yield to national need."

3. If there is to be any improvement in relations between the United States and Red China the Chinese Communists "must re-examine their view of the world" and change their ways. Johnson declared that "so long as the Communist Chinese pursue conflict and preach violence there can be no easing of relationships."

4. If Congress cuts the proposed foreign aid program this year as it did last year the effect will be to "directly diminish the security of the United States" and Johnson will submit new requests for supplemental appropriations.

5. The United States is in the battle against communism in South Viet Nam as long as its help is wanted and its assistance needed. Johnson said "no negotiated settlement in Viet Nam is possible as long as the Communists hope to achieve victory by force."

6. In Western Europe "increased greatness and prosperity demand increased unity and partnership. A new generation is coming of age, unscarred by old hostilities or old ambitions, thinking of themselves and Europeans." Johnson did not mention his split with French President Charles de Gaulle directly but pledged to continue working for European-North American partnership.

Cyprot Shepherds Shot By Guardsmen

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Two Turkish Cypriot shepherds were killed today by Greek Cypriot guardsmen between the Greek village of Voume and the Turkish village of Hamid Mandres, four miles north of Nicosia.

The Greek Cypriot police claimed "three Turkish gunmen hiding in a flock of sheep started firing at security forces" who returned the fire.

Canadian troops of the United Nations force rushed to the scene to prevent the trouble spreading.

Turkish Cypriot sources in Nicosia said the only information they had was that two shepherds had been killed by "Greek terrorists."

Still taking a "Slow Motion" Laxative?

Many people assume that a laxative must take six to eight hours to bring relief. And it's true that many laxatives—pills, gum, medica ed chocolate—often take that long.

But not Sal Hepatic! Sal Hepatica is the fast-acting laxative that's made to help you start feeling better right away.

It quickly sparkles away gas pain, heartburn, and sour stomach due to gastric acidity—which most other laxatives ignore. Then it speeds on, as only a fluid can, to relieve constipation and the sluggishness of irregularity—quickly yet gently. Usually in less than two hours!

Next time irregularity puts you in "slow motion," don't settle for one of those "slow motion" laxatives.

Take sparkling Sal Hepatica... and start to feel better right away.

Silent Film Star Has No Regrets

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—She is a familiar sight as she hurries down the street, her corn-silk hair tucked under a large hat, her tiny frame wrapped in a bulky coat. She takes short steps in heels so high as to seem precarious, yet she moves with a dancer's grace.

Mae Murray is a part of the legendary era of Hollywood's '20s, when stars lived above the crowd and married princes.

Six weeks ago police found her wandering in St. Louis. Friends brought her back to the apartment where she has lived for the past year and where she gave an interview.

Still Handsome

Miss Murray remains a handsome woman, stylishly dressed with makeup expertly applied, her lips less bee-stung than in her heyday on the screen. That was during the period of silent films, although she made eight talkies, including one in 1951.

"But, you don't have to keep making films to remain a star," she said. "You can go in and out."

Her most famous role was as "The Merry Widow" to John Gilbert's dashing prince in the 1925 version of the operetta classic. She remembers it fondly.

Release Talk

"It was silent, you know," she said, "but it didn't need words. The story just told itself, as the great pictures did in those days. There is talk of re-releasing it."

She still loves to dance, and she sometimes goes out with friends to the night spots in town. But she doesn't like what she sees. She told of a recent visit to a Sunset Strip spot that specializes in the wild Watusi and the twist.

"I am not sure about the morality of those places," she said. "I think the dances are shocking — and so lacking in grace and beauty. Ah, the waltz, the rhumba, the tango — those are what I call the basic dances, the ones that are lovely to watch. I do so wish we could get back to them."

In 1926 she figured her worth at $3 million. Ten years later it was gone. She was asked if she had any regrets.

"No, none at all," she replied. "I spent a great deal of money, but I spent it well. I enjoyed every bit of it."

The judging schedule opened at 9:30 a.m. with the Valley Farm community organization observed first. Judges for the contest are, Mrs. W. F. Wilson, former county director of the Camp Fire Girls work in Vernon and Curly Hays of West Texas Utilities Co., Abilene, Tex.

The Valley Farms program opened with B. T. Hays, Wichita County agent, introducing Mrs. L. S. Clements, president of the organization. Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch-Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months. In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body. This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Burglars Raid Four Locations

City police reported four burglaries over the weekend in Wichita Falls.

About $25 in change was taken from a cash register at the Fair Store, 615 Seventh, Friday night after the back door was pried open.

An undetermined amount of money was taken from a cash box at North Texas Hardware, 115 Indiana, Saturday night. Police said entry to the building was gained by ramming an automobile into the rear double doors.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., 812 Ninth, was reportedly entered twice, Saturday and Sunday nights. Nothing of importance was missing but the building had been ransacked on both nights, police said.

Postage Stamps, five silver dollars and cigarettes were reported taken from Durkee's Drug, 501 Flood, Saturday night. The back door had been forced open to gain entry.

Rider Band Earns Firsts In Contest

The 110 members of the S. H. Rider High School Symphonic Band participated in the University Interscholastic League concert and sight reading contests at Vernon, Saturday and returned to Wichita Falls with a first division in concert and a first division in sight reading.

Under the supervision of Harold J. Jackson, Rider band director, the students played "The Pride of the Wolverines" by John Philip Sousa, "Chorale and Allegretto" by Howard Hanson and "Symphony No. 5" by Dmitri Shostakovich.

In addition they played a number that has never been published in the sight reading contest.

Concert performance was judged on the basis of interpretation of the composition, tone, intonation and general effect.

Accuracy and flexibility in following the director determined the rating the band received in sight reading.

The sergeant, whose wife is the former Bessie A. Doran of Wichita Falls, attended Wichita Falls High School.

A Purple Heart medal was returned to M. Sgt. C. E. Applegate, whose home at 4710 Gay was demolished by the April 3 tornado, by Marvin Ryder who found the medal in a nearby field. The medal had been tucked away in a foot locker in the attic of Applegate's home. Applegate won the medal when he was shot down as a B24 tail gunner over the Baltic Sea in World War II. Another Purple Heart was also found by Ryder 100 feet from the first when he was checking joints in a water line. The owner of the medal should call Ryder at his home, 2200 Arthur. Applegate's name was engraved on the back of his medal, but no identification was found on the second.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley B. Wiggington, 1315 34th, had as weekend houseguests her sister and brother-in-law from San Diego, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Craddock, who arrived for their "surprise" visit Friday, returned to California Sunday. While here they also visited Mrs. Letha Yoakum, a sister of Mrs. Craddock; Mrs. Wiggington; and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Marshall, the Wiggingtons son and daughter-in-law.

District Attorney Stanley Kirk was injured Saturday in an accident involving a lawnmower. Kirk said the mower caught two fingers on his left hand and cut them, severing a small portion of his little finger. Doctors were able to sew the severed part back and believe he will not lose any fingers. Over 25 stitches were taken in the two fingers, according to the district attorney, who was in his office only briefly Monday.

Members of Altrusa International, Inc., including several from the Texas district, will observe Altrusa Day at the World's Fair Wednesday, April 29. The international president, Edith DeBusk of Dallas and a many times visitor to the Wichita Falls Altrusans present. A reception and tea in the official World's Fair Women's Hospitality Center will honor the business women's international service organization, Joella Terrill Butler of Wichita Falls, second vice president of the international association, has announced.

Rev. Roy Okley, an Indian Baptist evangelist, will start a revival at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Little Brown Church, 214 East Lincoln. Rev. Patsy Parke, pastor of the church, said all denominations are welcome to attend the revival, to last through Saturday night.

Getaway car.

Our getaway car is really a Volkswagen Campmobile. Any Standard Station Wagon, Kombi or Panel Truck we sell can be one. It's just a matter of getting one of our Campmobile Kits.

For instance, if you like super de luxe living, get our Super De Luxe Kit. Beds for four big people and two little people. Icebox. Two-burner stove. Running water.

Dinette. Sink. Shower. And john. There's even an upstairs. Or if you prefer light housekeeping, get our Basic Kit. That way you can pick up things as you go along. Like a stove, Oricebox, Etc.

The nice thing about any of our Campmobiles is that when you return home (as if you'd ever want to), it will happily settle down and become itself again: All you have to do is remove the main components. (Once installed they can quickly be taken out or put back in.) And you have a Station Wagon, Kombi or Panel Truck again.

Suggestion: Take your next vacation in a Volkswagen Campmobile. It's a very moving experience.

THE WORRY CLINIC

Sex Degenerates Not New

By Dr. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE S-443: Tina G., aged 36, is the wife whose husband suggested wife-swapping.

"Dr. Crane," she added, "is this degenerate practice a new idea that has been invented in modern America?"

Wife Stealing
No, it is not unusual, nor is its first cousin, namely, wife stealing.

The Bible describes several cases but the worst sex crime in all the history of the Hebrews is outlined in Chapter 19 of the Book of Judges.

For a certain Levite, who was of the tribe that furnished the priests in the Temple, took a young wife.

But she must have become unduly homesick, for she finally ran away and headed back to her father's house.

After four months, her husband came after her. And the Bible says he spoke to her in friendly words to coax her to return home with him.

Her father seemed to be in agreement, but he first insisted on celebrating with a feast. Then he repeated the process, for he didn't want his son-in-law to leave.

But finally the Levite took his young wife and insisted they must go home, even though it was rather late in the day to make their departure.

Sought Shelter
Soon the sun began to set. That meant they must seek shelter lest wandering bands of thieves should capture and even kill them.

The Levite's servant suggested they turn into the alien city of Jebus.

But the Levite insisted on keeping on till they reached a city belonging to one of the 12 tribes of Israel, so they did.

And the sun went down upon them when they reached Gibeah, a city of the tribe of Benjamin.

It was customary in those days for the stranger to be offered hospitality and lodging by any resident who met him.

But nobody invited the Levite and his wife to have dinner or to spend the night.

Finally, an old farmer came into the town from tending his fields and graciously insisted that they spend the night in his humble home.

But even as they were having their dinner, a band of wild young sexual perverts of the city pounded on the door.

They demanded that the old man turn the Levite over to them for homosexual orgies, but he refused.

Instead, he pushed the Levite's

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Baby's Milk—
Heat Or Not Heat?

By W. G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

To heat or not to heat the baby's bottle? This is the question confronting mothers today.

For many years, mothers religiously warmed all bottles to body temperature for fear of chilling the baby's delicate stomach.

Since the baby does not swallow cold milk in a series of large gulps, there is little danger of chilling the stomach. The milk is warmed to body temperature before it passes the upper portion of the esophagus.

A few of our more daring baby doctors about four years ago tried not warming the bottles before feeding in a hospital nursery. They even tried it on the premature infants.

They found that the babies wife out of the door and left her to the mercies of these "sons of Belial (devil)" as the Bible describes them.

Cut Her Up

They sexually assaulted "and abused her all the night until the morning; and when the day began to spring, they let her go."

She then crawled to the door of the home where her husband had been given shelter and fell down, with her hands on the threshold.

When her husband opened the door, she was dead!

So he gently lifted her upon a donkey and took her back to their home.

Then "he took a knife and divided her, together with her bones, into twelve pieces, and sent her into all the coasts of Israel."

loved the cold milk, slept well after a cold feeding and gained weight at the expected rate. There was no difference in the body temperature of the babies before and after feeding. Furthermore, there was no difference in the amount of burping, or spitting up.

Mothers who were brave enough to give their babies cold formula right out of the refrigerator—no doubt when grandma wasn't looking—were enthusiastic. It meant less work and there were no apparent disadvantages. Now some doctors are advancing the idea that allergy to milk is more likely to occur when the milk is given to babies without warming it. All the evidence isn't in yet, so your best bet is to follow your doctor's advice in what has become, for the moment at least, a controversial matter.

Q—My baby, 8 months old, hasn't a sign of a tooth. We use a water softener on the water intake. Could the baby's lateness in teething be due to the fact that I drank softened water throughout my pregnancy?

A—Although the lower front teeth usually appear at about 6 months of age, teething may be delayed until the baby is 1 year old. Such variations are completely normal, but are often a source of worry to parents. Late teething is a part of the normal developmental pattern of your baby and has nothing to do with the hardness of the water or your baby's development in other respects.

If when your baby is a year old he still has no teeth, some abnormality should be sought as the cause. This might be a deficiency of vitamin D, iodine or thyroid function.

Jelliner, 34 Bodies

Lifted Out Of Gulf

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Salvage workers lifted the fuselage of a wrecked Middle East Airlines jetliner and 34 bodies onto barges in the Persian gulf on Sunday.

An airline spokesman in Beirut said 31 bodies were found in the passenger section of the plane and three in the cockpit. Previously, four victims were found floating in the shallow waters of the gulf near the Arabian shore—bringing the total recovered to 38.

The plane went down in a sandstorm Friday night while trying to land at Dharhan, Saudi Arabia, on a flight from Beirut. There were 42 passengers, including 23 Americans, and seven crewmen aboard.

Most of the American victims were employees and their dependents of the Arabian-American Oil Co.

Tourism Expert Will Speak Here

The immediate and the long-range benefits to be expected from the link-up this summer of expressways and turnpikes in North Texas and Southern Oklahoma will be discussed at Wichita Falls Thursday by an Austin man who is the number one authority on tourism in Texas.

He is Tom H. Taylor, Director of the Travel and Information Division of the Texas Highway Department . . . and principal speaker at the April meeting of the North Texas Restaurant Association. The meeting is a dinner affair at 7 p.m. Thursday night in the cellar of El Toro.

Speaking generally on "The Restaurateur and the Tourist," Taylor has promised to bring much new information on just what Wichita Falls area business people can expect from increased tourist travel here as a result of completion of current highway projects in the area. Wichita Falls will soon be linked with Chicago and other key cities by 100 per cent limited access highways such as expressways and turnpikes. There have been estimates that it will have an economic effect on the area "equal to another Sheppard AFB."

Taylor is a native of Rusk County, Texas and a graduate of East Texas State College, (B.S. '42). While attending college he worked summers in the Tourist Information Bureau operated by the Texas Highway Department. He permanently joined the organization in 1946 after being discharged from military service.

Taylor's military career was with the Army from 1942 to 1946 as a special agent in the Counter Intelligence Corps, serving in the U.S., Pacific and Asiatic theaters. He is in the active military intelligence reserve and holds the rank of Lieutenant colonel.

Taylor is Director-Coordinator of the Texas Travel Counselors, Director of the South Central Region of the National Association of Travel Organizations, past president of the Austin Chapter of the American Statistical Society and a member of the Texas Advisory Board, American Automobile Association. He is a member of the AASHO, past president of the East Texas State College Extension Association, and a Deacon in the Baptist Church.

Spokane Grandmother Is Women's League President

By BURL OSBORNE

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — A grandmother with a flair for politics this week will be named president of one of the nation's most active women's organizations—the League of Women Voters.

She is Mrs. Robert J. Stuart of Spokane. She is scheduled to be elected at the league's convention April 24 in Pittsburgh. Although she will spend considerable time on a cross-country commuting schedule because Spokane and the league's headquarters in Washington, time has been allotted to see that her accountant husband gets proper care.

Socks And Pie

"If he has enough clean socks and ironed shirts and the electric dishwasher is running properly, things work out pretty well. If I leave a freshly baked pie on the shelf, it's even better," she says.

"My husband has never expected me to hover over him or spend all my time on household-related activities," she says.

The decision was made easier by a belief that "woman have a very real role to play in politics—every bit as important as the role men have."

The political activity may be local, state or national, she said, and each is related to what is most important to a woman—the community her children live in and the world they grow up in.

Wonderful Time

"Maybe it's not what you expect, but I think women have a wonderful time in politics. The kind of skills that make a woman effective in a charity bazaar make her effective in politics."

Women who are good housekeepers usually are endowed with a sense of orderliness, Mrs. Stuart said, and this trait aids them in politics. Women are keenly aware of issues that touch on recreation and health and clean water and similar subjects, she said.

It is difficult to separate domestic economic issues from international questions, Mrs. Stuart says. "Certainly the ability of this country to continue to expand trade around the world is related to the health of our own economy."

U.N. Support

Major international needs, she believes, are support of the United Nations and continued strong efforts to achieve peace.

Congolese Rescue Kivu Missionaries

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congolese soldiers have rescued Scandinavian Protestant missionaries who had been encircled and threatened by young warriors in Kivu.

Radio messages reaching Leopoldville on Sunday said all 25 Swedes and Norwegians at Lemera mission, about 40 miles south of Bukavu, close to the Burundi frontier, were safe. A detachment of Congolese soldiers reached them Thursday night.

The head of the Swedish Free Mission organization in Bukavu, identified in the messages as the Rev. Jacobson, said on his return to Bukavu from Lemera on Saturday night that the soldiers reached the beleaguered mission "just at the psychological moment."

Another Swedish mission near Uvira, south of Lemera, has been evacuated, the messages said. American Protestant missionaries and their families in the region have so far not been threatened by warriors and have made no move to quit their stations.

First news of the threat to Lemera mission reached U.N. headquarters in Leopoldville only Saturday. The world organization immediately began preparing for a rescue operation.

The entire Kivu region is notorious as a powder keg of tribal and political enmities and hundreds of people have been killed there in tribal warring since the Congo became independent in 1960.

Earth Turned For Memorial

FULTON, Mo. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman turned the first spade of earth Sunday for a memorial to Sir Winston Churchill.

Truman introduced Churchill when the former British prime minister made his famous "Iron Curtain" speech on the Westminster College campus here March 5, 1946.

"From Stettin in the Baltic to Trieste in the Adriatic an iron curtain has descended across the continent," said Churchill, referring to the Soviet Union's grip on Eastern Europe.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

Everyday Should Be Day Of Worship

QUESTION: I am confused as to which day to worship God. Some of my friends say it is Saturday, and some say that it is Sunday. Would you please give me Scriptures as to which day is the day to worship?—P.S.

ANSWER: Before Christ came religious worship was limited to one day out of seven. Christianity, in contrast to the traditional teachings of Judaism, was not just a weekly affair—it touched all of life. The concept that we are to be religious just one day a week, whether that day be Saturday, Sunday or Wednesday, is not in accordance with the teaching of Christ. To restrict fellowship with God to one hour on one special day of the week is nearer pagan than Christian in its concept.

In Acts we read of the Spirit-filled Christians: "And they continued steadfastly (continuously) in the apostles doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread and in prayers... and the Lord added to the church DAILY such as should be saved." (Act 2:42-47)

Worship God everyday! Pray everyday. Witness for Him everyday—including Saturday and Sunday. Then, when you get to heaven you will have met God's requirements, no matter which day was counted as the Sabbath or Lord's Day. However, there is a special day that we are to set aside for rest of soul, mind and body. It is a law of God that we labor for six and rest on one. This day should be one of recreation and worship.

Buick has a great transmission.

An automobile transmission, we grant you, isn't the most soul-stirring subject on earth. Nothing to look at either.

But if you'd like for your next new car to give you a better break on performance and gasoline mileage, something happened last week to be your guide.

The Los Angeles to New York Mobil Economy Run proved one thing for sure. There's quite a difference in the transmission of new cars.

Three out of four for Buick

The long-time champion in the transmission league—Buick—walked off with the 1964 economy pennant. No other single make of car won as many events as Buick. Four entries, three winners.

The winning Specials carried the new Super Turbine 300 automatic transmission; the LeSabre was equipped with the Super Turbine 400 (both optional at extra cost). They're the latest in a long line of Buick transmissions well known for their smoothness and absence of "shift feel". The Super Turbine is a refined and improved torque converter type to help you safely pass cars and trucks as well as gas stations. You'll hear a lot about it in the next couple of years as this modern kind of transmission is adopted by more and more car builders.

What about engines?

Of course, an efficient transmission gets more efficient when teamed up with a lean, agile engine. The winning Buick power plants were our new V-6 and V-8.

The 300 cubic inch V-8 is the winning Buick Special (the lowest priced of all Buicks) and the Buick LeSabre (the lowest priced big Buick) is like a well-conditioned fighter. All muscle, no fat. Weighs in at far less than other V-8's of similar punch. It took every other V-8 in the Economy Run.

Your type of driving—regular gas

The Run was through cities and towns, across super highways, in traffic, out of traffic. This was not race track driving or proving ground driving. This was your kind of driving—even though you can't expect to get as good mileage as these expert drivers in their finely tuned production cars.

The distance was 3,243 miles, about what most families log in four months. All three Buicks used regular gas.

So the Economy Run is not just a cross country tour for the Mobil people and a few car buffs. It's a reliable test of a car's power team and what it's able to squeeze out of its fuel.

We don't expect everybody to rush out this week-end to buy a new Buick just because we won a few economy trophies.

There are so many other good reasons for leaning to Buick that economy usually gets second billing. There's styling, naturally. An unusually great ride. Extraordinary engineering and workmanship. And very young performance. Small wonder Buick sales are running at 11.5% over last year.

But it's nice to get economy as a plus in a Buick. Beyond the dollars saved on gasoline, there's a certain pride in knowing you have a car that's built to get the most out of every tank of gasoline.

Wouldn't You Really Rather Have a Buick?

MRS. PAUL F. RINGLE

Retirement Party Honors 40-Year Telephone Employee

Mrs. Paul F. Ringle, traffic service observer for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company here 40 years, was honored with a luncheon in the Country House Restaurant and a tea in the company's Traffic Lounge recently on the occasion of her retirement. Hosts for the two affairs were company officials and co-workers of the honoree. Mrs. Ringle will retire April 25.

John Adams, district traffic superintendent of Bell, was master of ceremonies, and D. J. Sery, North Texas traffic supervisor for the company, presented Mrs. Ringle with a gold necklace and pendant engraved with eight diamond - studded stars in appreciation of her years of service and loyalty to the company. Each of the stars denotes five years' service, and the diamonds were gifts from fellow employees.

Other company officials paying tribute to Mrs. Ringle included George Fields of Dallas who presented her with a billfold from the company; Robert McClung, president of the firm's Pioneer Club in which she was awarded a life membership; and A. C. Griffin, president of the Communications Workers of America in which Mrs. Ringle was tendered a life membership.

Mrs. Ringle and her husband, who retired a year ago from his own marine supply business, plan to travel in their travel trailer with intention of making the New York World's Fair first goal and attending the International Trailer Traveler Rally in New Jersey afterward.

The luncheon table was covered with a white organza cloth over seafoam green with rose-greys of pink roses caught in swags of the floor-length cloth at the table corners. Pink roses and pink candles in a crystal and silver epergne centered the table which featured a three - tiered cake. Silver appointments and a crystal punch bowl on a gold base completed the setting. Similar arrangements were used on other tables. Reception assistants were Mrs. Lois Wooley who registered guests, and Mrs. Seima Williams and Mrs. A. B. Peterson who presided at the refreshment table.

WE THE WOMEN

Men Should Sweet-Talk Wife Out Of Bad Mood

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Don't look now, gentlemen, but it may not be a man's world much longer.

A judge has refused to grant a legal separation to a man merely because his wife calls him names and slaps him around. And here's the judge's explanation for his decision: "Wives are creatures of mood. If they get into a mood, it is up to the husband to get them out of it. Tell them they're wonderful and make a fuss over them."

Forever and ever, that's the way wives have been handling their husbands because, forever and ever, women have been taught that men are creatures of mood, who have to be babied, sweet-talked, admired, coaxed and flattered.

But men have never been taught to handle a woman in such fashion. The accepted masculine response to a woman's moods and unreasonable behavior is to walk out of the house, slam the door majestically, and stay out until the wife has learned her lesson. Either that, or to look her in the eye and say, "You're behaving like a child." The men have gotten away with indulging their own moods, while expecting their wives to be "more adult" in controlling their own.

Now a judge says a husband can't just walk out on his wife and call it quits because she isn't always sweetly reasonable, and easy to live with. He acknowledges that women, being human, are creatures of mood, too, and he goes even a step further to say it's a husband's duty to sweet-talk his wife into behaving herself.

That's the kind of equality women could get used to in a hurry — even though it is the kind men are going to be reluctant to grant.

Dear Abby

He's In A Spot!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a college freshman. While I was home for Easter vacation, my mother asked me to take out the 17-year-old daughter of some friends who had just moved to our town. She told me the girl had a great personality and was real sharp. "Not having any special girl, I thought, 'Why not?' Well, I took this girl out and I practically had to beat her off. She didn't want to go anywhere. All she wanted to do was park. She told me a couple of jokes that were dirtier than those I would tell a fellow. She was so fast I honestly couldn't control her. I never took her out again. My mother asked me what was wrong with her and I said, "Nothing. I have been studying to do." I know when I get home this summer I'll have this girl shoved at me again. I can't tell my parents what kind of girl she is. What excuse can I use? Her folks and mine are a constant foursome. — FUTURE FARMER AT DAVIS

DEAR FARMER: Tell your parents that as a future farmer you plan to do a lot of digging. But you just don't dig that girl.

DEAR ABBY: My mother doesn't think my big brother and his girl friend should get married in church just because they jumped the gun a little bit and she is going to have a baby. I can't see anything wrong with their getting married in a church as long as she doesn't wear white. What do you think? Thank you. —FOURTEEN

'INCOMER SHOP' HELPS WOMAN IN NEW JOB

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor

Are you 22, on your first job away from home, with an apartment you share with three roommates and never a minute alone with your date? You're an "incomer," too.

Are you 31, with two children, doing the greatest juggling act in the world, balancing home, social life and career? You're an "incomer," too.

Or are you 46, feeling young and chipper, out in the business world again now that the kids have grown? Another "incomer."

Your ages and your pay checks may differ, but you have a lot in common. Whether you're a top executive or a minor cog in the machine, you need the same type of clothes — uncluttered, chic, workable and wearable. And you need time to buy them.

There's a plan afoot to see that you have the time and can find the fashions you need in one easy shopping process. If Max Shore, head of a leading blouse and dress firm has his way, you'll soon be seeing "Incomer Shops" sprouting up in stores all over.

His company learned from a recent survey that there's a growing social and economic force in the country — the women who work. They're now 36 per cent of the entire feminine population in the country and they wield a tremendous amount of buying power. How can stores make things easier for them?

"Well," says Mr. Shore, "establish an Incomer Shop with everything from suits to bras, all placed in one easy-to-get-to spot near a main floor entrance. Have an extra - large sales force, especially during lunch hour and after five."

And to make life really ideal, need that dress delivered the same day? Do it the way they send flowers, with special messenger service.

Can't break away from the office? Use Incomer mailings and ads and a direct telephone line to the Incomer Shop.

No time for lunch? Try the "box special" where you can shop and for a nominal fee pick up your prepackaged lunch to take back to the desk.

Sounds fine, doesn't it? Maybe heaven (or Mr. Shore) will protect the working girl.

DEAR FOURTEEN: I can't think of a better place for them to be married.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell the mother whose children fight over, doing the dishes until she finally chases them out of the kitchen and does them herself that I have solved that problem. I had a son and daughter who were given the chore of doing the supper dishes. They would alternate washing and drying. Oh, they squabbled, too, so I politely told them that since they couldn't get along with each other on the same chore, one was to do them all by himself one night, and the other was to do them all by herself the next night until they learned to work in harmony. It worked.—MRS. E. M. D. IN CLOVIS

DEAR ABBY: When our children used to quarrel while doing dishes together, we allowed the one who did not start the quarrel to walk out, leaving the one who started the quarrel to finish the job alone. — FATHER OF FOUR

DEAR FATHER: How did you ever manage that? The granddaddy of all quarrels usually results when one tries to determine WHO started the quarrel in the first place.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212, for Abby's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Use Color, Imagination In Preparation Of Meals

Serve food attractively, avoid tiny bite-size foods, put some color in the menu, and your family or guests will eat it all to the last crumb.

This was the gist of a talk given to some 350 homemakers who attended the lecture-demonstration by Jean Moore of Dallas Friday at the Woman's Forum. Mrs. Moore, an assistant to Helen Corbitt of the Zodiac Room, intrigued her audience with tempting color slides of foods and party tables.

"Start off the meal with a pretty salad or first course already on the table," Mrs. Moore advised, "and you have the setting for an enjoyable meal."

By putting one's imagination to work meals of the most ordinary foods can look glamorous, the speaker said. For example, she showed a color slide of meat loaf cooked in an angel food tin. Colorful vegetables filled the center of the ring. In another example she showed an ice cream cone turned upside down on a flaring shell. A face was made on the ice cream with raisins and cherries, and a maraschino cherry topped the cone to give it a jaunty effect.

"Remember that children like pretty things," Mrs. Moore said. "Take special care when preparing a party table for children because they will be even more appreciative of beauty than adults."

She demonstrated a party table centerpiece made of lollipops, which were later distributed as favors to the children.

Another suggestion for her audience was that they use odd dishes in a different way. She illustrated a dessert served in a cup shaped like a tulip. She recommended using odd pieces of china—such as mugs or unmatching cups, or other dishes—for such foods as soups or desserts.

Mrs. Moore punctuated her talk frequently with "men like this," or, "men tell Miss Corbitt this is their favorite." Chopped spinach with sesame is a delicious surprise which men like she said. Swedish meat balls are another. Shaved chocolate on everything from orange chiffon cake to a bavarian cream pie is another.

Miss Corbitt particularly likes undercooked vegetables, Mrs. Moore said. She thinks the flavor is sharper if the vegetables are undercooked, and that they are more nutritious.

A final suggestion from the famous restaurateur Miss Corbitt was that guests like to have a part in the cooking when a party is given.

"Serve foods from a chafing dish on the table—let the guests cook their own food. It adds to informality and guests feel as if they have a real part in the success of the party."

Mrs. Moore was presented by the Wichita Falls Symphony Women's League. Proceeds from the lecture will be used to sponsor the Symphony orchestra.

EYE-SCREENING of pre-public school age children is a project of Delta Gamma Alumnae. Here Mrs. C. Q. Arnold, a volunteer, assists sorority members in examining the eyes of Bill Barrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam W. Barrett, at Our Lady Queen of Peace School. Mrs. Paul Renton, seated, records information. Standing are Mrs. William Harrah, left, and Mrs. Jerry A. Jones, teacher. Volunteers are invited to assist in the program by contacting Mrs. Tom Huckaby, 1604 St. John.

Early Detection Of Eye Defects Is Important

Approximately four million Americans will celebrate their fourth birthday this year and one of the best presents they could receive would be a professional eye examination, suggests the Better Vision Institute.

Why so young? The parent who waits until the child goes to school to receive his first vision test may learn that a defect which could have been easily remedied has developed into a serious problem. There are certain symptoms of eye defects in the young child discernible by the layman. In such cases, regardless of the age of the child, professional advice should be obtained.

Unfortunately, many vision impairments cannot be detected by the layman. One reason is the fact that there is usually no pain. Therefore, the safest procedure is an examination for every child by age four, or at the latest, before starting to school. The child who enters school with impaired vision may develop lasting inferiority complexes as a result of early classroom failures.

Symptoms to look for in the young child include recurring sties, inflammation of the eyes or lids, crusting, crossing of the eyes, squinting or frowning when looking at distant objects. Rubbing the eyes and stumbling over small objects are also signs of possible vision impairment.

Hints from HELOISE

Lighting Candles

Dear Folks: Recently, while trying to light the candles on a huge birthday cake... they just wouldn't.

Know why? Candles (especially if there are many) should be lit with a match, allowed to burn a few seconds, and then snuffed out. Let them burn just until the end of the wick is black.

Then when it comes time for the terrific highlight of the program... the candle lighting session... one little "light" usually lights every candle. It is also best to put one candle aside to use for this purpose instead of matches or a cigarette lighter.

— Heloise

Dear Heloise: Please help! My husband and I are getting "shocked to death" from a new nylon rug (with a foam rubber backing) every time we walk across it.

With a new baby expected in a few weeks we are naturally apprehensive.

Is there any solution to our problem? — E. Emond

Anyone know? If so write to Heloise care of the Wichita Falls Times—Heloise

Dear Heloise: While painting the woodwork in my living room recently, I discovered many hard-to-get-at corners, increased by the fact that the color of the woodwork is a completely different color than the walls.

On an impulse, I started using a tiny cotton swab dipped in the paint for that tedious job and finished the job in far less time with no "problem" corners.

This same little swab does a wonderful job on furniture too, such as when painting knobs and fancy legs etc. — A. M. DeR

Dear Heloise: I have found a wonderful solution for getting that 4:00 a.m. bottle warmed before the entire family is awake. I put the baby's formula into the prepared bottles (which have all been sterilized) and store them in my refrigerator without adding the water.

When feeding time comes around I just boil some hot water, which only takes a few minutes, and pour it into the bottle which I have taken from the refrigerator. By adding the hot water to the extremely cold formula, the temperature is perfect, and hooray, a warm bottle ready in one minute flat with no overheating or underheating, etc. — Sleepyhead

You may be a sleepyhead, but you were wide awake when you wrote us that hint! I only wish I had known it when my babies were little. — Heloise

Dear Heloise: I wrap thoroughly rinsed, unironed, unstarched linens in ordinary blue tissue paper and slip them into a blue plastic garment cover (from the cleaners) and they do not yellow. (Don't ask me why.) The blue tissue will bleach though, after a period.

I store my teenagers' dinner jackets and dress shirts this way and it works beautifully.

I examine linens every six months and change the tissue if it has become bleached. — B. Jones

Dear Heloise: Planning on a child's birthday party soon?

Try this: Make cupcakes, putting the dough in ice-cream cones (the kind that sit flat on the table). Fill with batter... LESS than one inch full. Bake as usual. Spoon ice-cream on top for trimming. Gum drops may be added.

The kids will love this and everything can be eaten. — M. Andresen Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Won't Power Is Secret To Success Of Dieting

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Where there is a will there is a way and that applies to losing weight come spring, especially with visions of bathing suits as an inspiration.

Fat girls who want to lose weight should realize that except in rare cases obesity is caused solely by eating too much of the wrong things, in the opinion of Dr. Robert Goodhart, author of "The Teen-Ager's Guide to Diet and Health."

Lack of exercise abets the situation, he points out. In a study of 300 fat girls between 10 and 14 years of age, interviewers found that 90 per cent of the group watches television for more than 2 hours a day. One girl who weighs 170 pounds sits in front of her set 8 hours.

"Snack-snitching almost invariably accompanies television viewing," he says, and the girls confessed they particularly favor rich snacks. Their favorite mealtime dishes are highly caloric, also.

He suggests that to reduce your weight, you should determine the number of calories you require, and then begin counting calories that you consume each day, for one week. Then figure out your calorie requirements on the basis of your ideal weight times 20 calories for each pound.

"A 200-pound teen age girl, 5 feet 3 inches tall should weigh 115 pounds, plus or minus 10 per cent," Dr. Goodhart explains. "This is computed on the basis of 5 pounds for each inch over 5 feet. To maintain her present weight, she requires only 2,300 calories a day (115 pounds times 20 calories per pound)."

Diet And Calories
Her diet must be based on the requirements of a 115-pound girl, so to lose 2 pounds a week she'd need a diet providing no more than 1,400 calories a day, a 900-calorie reduction.

Food requirements depend on muscle needs, Dr. Goodhart explains. "Obese persons with too much fat tissue simply need fewer calories per pound than muscular persons."

He advises dieters not to lose more than 2 pounds a week, and recommends that no one go on a diet of less than 1,000 calories a day for any length of time without medical supervision.

A 1000-calorie diet offering essential foods that perhaps gives more nutrition than a higher calorie diet now enjoyed by the overweight person is this one, suggested by Dr. Goodhart:

Suggests Diet

Breakfast: ½ cup orange juice, 1 poached or boiled egg, 1 slice whole wheat or enriched bread, ½ teaspoon butter or margarine, 1 cup of skimmed milk, coffee or tea without sugar or cream.

Lunch: 2 ounces lean meat, fish or poultry or ½ cup cottage cheese; ½ cup cooked or raw vegetable salad, ½ slice bread, ½ teaspoon butter or margarine, fruit (unsweetened), 1 cup skimmed milk, coffee or tea without sugar or cream.

Dinner: 3 ounces of meat, ½ cup cooked vegetable, ½ cup raw vegetable salad, ½ slice bread, ½ teaspoon butter or margarine, unsweetened fruit, 1 cup skimmed milk, coffee or tea without sugar or cream.

His 1,200-calorie diet is complete except that whole milk is substituted for skimmed milk. His list of principle "prohibited foods," for weight watchers, includes:

Dairy products: cream, ice cream, all cheese except cottage; meat: pork (all forms) any fish canned in oil, any fried meat, fish, poultry; all processed meats such as bologna and other forms of sausage. Eggs: Fried and creamed.

Others: Waffles, pancakes, sweet rolls, rice pudding, pie, pastries, cake, cookies, doughnuts, nondietetic gelatin desserts, creamed soups, oils such as rich salad dressing and mayonnaise, candy, honey, molasses, syrup, sugar, jam, preserves, marmalade, malted milks, hot chocolate, carbonated beverages, gravies and sauces, potato chips, olives, nuts, popcorn.

In 1847: Butter Was 14c

CORNWALL, Ont. (AP) — A glimpse of life in Ireland and Canada 135 years ago is provided by a letter in the possession of Mrs. John S. Morgan, 89-year-old resident of this eastern Ontario city.

It bears the address: Mr. Hugh Adams, Fourth Concession of the Township of Cornwall, Upper Canada, America.

And it was written by Mrs. Morgan's great - great - grand-parents to her great-grand-parents, who had left Lismulligan, Ireland, in 1827.

It mentioned that butter was selling at 14 cents a pound and potatoes at 20 cents a hundred while pork was priced at 10 cents a pound in Ireland but added that "all other things are cheap."

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠A J 5 ♥K 8 5 ♦A K J 10 9 3 ♣8

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♠

What do you bid now?

A—Surely you wish to commit this hand to game, even if partner has a very weak take-out. The proper procedure therefore is a cue bid of two spades, showing first round control of that suit and demanding a game. If partner has a good hand this will facilitate the reaching of a slam.

Q. 2—Partner opens one heart and you hold:

♠A Q 2 ♥K 9 4 ♦K Q 8 3 ♠A 6

What is your response?

A—While the hand comes within the high card limits of a three no trump response, such a call is not our preference. We reserve that response for hands distributed 4-3-3. In this case, a slam may be reached in one of your four card suits if partner has four cards facing it. We prefer a temporary bid of one spade, but would accept an entirely correct an immediate jump shift of two spades. Valued at a suit, the hand is worth 19 points.

Q. 3—As dealer you hold:

♠K 7 4 ♥K J 8 2 ♦A Q 6 ♠A K 4

What is your opening bid?

A—This hand is too big for a one no trump bid and should be opened with one of a suit. The orthodox bid is one heart. However, a good result will sometimes be obtained by opening with one club. This makes it somewhat easier for partner to respond if he happens to have some border line hand containing diamonds.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠Q 4 ♥Q 10 6 ♦K J 10 4 ♠A Q J 8 5

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♥ Pass 3 ♥ Pass

1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Partner has shown a hand with distributed values and about the equivalent in high cards of an opening three no trump bid. You, therefore, have sufficient values to justify contracting for slam in no trump.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

♠A 9 8 2 ♥K 7 4 ♦A K ♠A Q J 6

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

3 ♦ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—There is no doubt that you should accept the slam invitation but, as a precautionary measure, it is suggested that you contract for six clubs to protect the king of hearts from attack on the opening lead, should it develop that North has two small hearts.

Q. 6—Both sides vulnerable and as South you hold:

♠J 10 5 ♥A Q 8 4 2 ♦A 8 3 ♠K 2

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

1 ♠ Double 1 NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A—A pass is clearly indicated. To contract for eight tricks, with a passing partner, would be highly indiscreet, especially in these circumstances in which there is a strong likelihood that hearts will break badly. East has shown length in spades and clubs, making it probable that he is short in hearts, which may be banded in the West hand.

Q. 7—As South you hold:

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

2 ♠ Pass 2 ♦ Pass

3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—A jump to five clubs is our choice. In view of the fact that you have already bid two suits, this bid will offer partner a strong inducement to go on to six. A temporary bid of four clubs might work out satisfactorily, but our objection to it is the problem that it presents if partner proceeds in routine fashion to five clubs. You will then have to guess whether or not to bid six.

Error On The Ballot

The Democratic primary ballot lists a candidate for nomination to an office which isn't elective, a veteran Austin newsman has discovered. State party records show that the candidate's application was filed in the same form it appears on the ballot.

The ballot reads:
"For court of criminal appeals (presiding judge)"

"K. K. Woodley, Travis County."
State Democratic committee headquarters looked up judge Woodley's application when he filed for re-election, and said it was copied in exact form on the official ballot.

The point is that the voters elect judges of the court, but the three judges themselves select the presiding judge.

Judge Woodley became the presiding judge two years ago, following election of Judge W. T. McDonald, when the court discarded the precedent of naming its senior member as presiding judge, and replaced Judge William A. Morrison with Woodley in that post.

Party officials expressed the opinion that any challenge of the ballot because of the words "presiding judge" appeared in parentheses in the title likely would result in a decision "harmless error" or of ineffective surplusage.

Two wrongs do not make a right, but it is consoling to those who have erred in the printed word that even the sanctity of the ballot does not preclude mistakes.

Voter Interest Whetted

The experimental use of some voting machines in Travis County (Austin) in the May 2 party primaries is attracting interest over the state.

Most of all, however, the prospect of introducing the mechanical age to the voting booth is intriguing voters in the state's capital city.

Everywhere a voting machine has been stationed for pre-primary examination, it has drawn huge crowds who have stayed for a demonstration and explanation of the workings of the device.

It may not be an important reason for considering the demonstration of voting machines in an actual election, but the initial use of the machines will attract many voters to the polls on May 2 in Travis County who might not otherwise have turned out to cast their ballot.

Ways and means of increasing voter participation have been given considerable attention in recent years. There are basic reasons why the privilege of the ballot should be exercised, but the novelty of voting machines is a ballot - getter that cannot be overlooked.

Tribute To Statesman

A campaign to raise $1.5 million for a Winston Churchill memorial at Fulton, Mo., was announced by President Johnson at a recent ceremony at the White House.

It was at Fulton that the former British prime minister made his famous "Iron Curtain" speech in 1946.

Funds will be raised to move the stones of a 17th Century chapel, the Church of St. Mary Aldermanbury in England, to the grounds of Westminster College in Fulton, where the chapel would be reconstructed to duplicate the original as closely as possible.

The edifice was burned out in World War II, but its exterior sheath remains as a fine example of the work of the renowned Christopher Wren. British consent for the removal of the stonework was not obtained easily, even though it will stand as a tribute to one of the great statesmen of modern times and as a mark of British-American friendship.

The financial campaign will be nationwide, but the people of Missouri will have a particular interest in seeing that the support of this worthwhile project is adequate.

Not Too Early To Start

Last year's city beautification program won national recognition—for Wichita Falls and an effort will be made to add more steam this year.

The Wichita Falls City Beautiful Association is hunting a new slogan that will outdo the 1963 winner, "Brighten Your Corner—Company's Coming," as the preparations for the June observance of clean-up, paint-up and fix-up campaign proceed.

Some good slogan writer will come up with a catchy phrasing of words and last year's success will inspire the campaign workers, but the best laid plans will avail nothing if there is not widespread cooperation among residential and commercial areas.

Start right now to participate in the campaign. No one will mind if there is so much enthusiasm for making Wichita Falls a cleaner, more attractive city that the collective shirt sleeve gets rolled up immediately, instead of waiting for the week of June 7.

Johnson Wins Support By Women Appointees

By CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

Times Washington Bureau

Women, like princes, find few real friends. Lord Lytton's quotation from "Advice to a Lady" may have been in President Lyndon B. Johnson's mind when he announced some time back that he would appoint 50 women to responsible positions in government. At least, he has won more support since among women, as indicated by the action of numerous organizations, than his predecessor received in almost three years.

If the President is making a bid for the female vote, he has every justification. As a master of political statistics, he was undoubtedly aware that eligible women voters in recent election years have consistently been behind their quotas, which means that millions have failed to vote. The stay-aways numbered 22.5 million in 1960.

Value Questionable Not all of his programs have a purely political aim. Some, in fact, may turn out to be of questionable value on election day and the original civil rights bill, as he has endorsed it, may be one of them. Even the plan to end poverty may not aid him politically as much as his sneering critics say he hopes, because those in the poverty class have been reckoned as Democratic voters since Franklin D. Roosevelt's.

Not In Any Rush But the women — ah! As one veteran attache of the Democratic National Committee said recently, "If those 22.5 million women who were eligible in 1960 but didn't vote had gone to the polls, they could have changed the whole result, and in a whopping big way."

Well, patronage is one of the oldest words in politics and the President is supposed to have had it in mind when he announced his intention of giving primary attention to the distaff side in making appointments. But he hasn't been in any rush about it. That, too, indicates that he knows something about political psychology (women's division). In the modern political era, usually reckoned as the past thirty years, the heads of the women's divisions of both political parties have been given greater importance than ever before. But the number of well paying jobs they have received has become only political statistics for election years.

Though no check-ups are available, it is taken for granted that more than 50 women held such jobs, at least in the Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower administrations. At least the Congressional Directory, which lists all government employees with titles, seems to bear this out. The Kennedy administration, it has since been pointed out, made no special point of selecting women for important public offices, and there were few recorded objections.

More Than 50 Named President Johnson has already appointed more than 50 women to good jobs though not all of them could be described as poli-icy making jobs. Quietly enough, a number of qualified women from Texas have moved into the government, without any padding of pay rolls.

In previous administrations, the strategy has been to move a few women into top jobs. There have been two women cabinet officers and a number of deputies. The Treasurer of the United States has been a woman since the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration. The first appointee to an important position in the Johnson administration was Mrs. Esther Peterson, a native of Utah and former union labor official appointed as assistant secretary of labor by President Kennedy, whom President Johnson moved to the office of Consumer Counsel, where she must find her way to the obvious goal of lower consumer prices.

Writers Chosen Several of his other choices of women have been newspaper writers of considerable experience, chosen not for publicity reasons, says the White House.

Several of his other choices of women have been newspaper writers of considerable experience, chosen not for publicity reasons, says the White House.

Washington — If they can survive the elections this year, which is quite probable, we shall be witnessing the rising stars of three new-generation political leaders of great national potential. They make quite a luminous constellation: Forty-five-year-old Charles H. Percy—an Eisenhower protégé—who will be running for his first public office, the governorship of Illinois. Forty-seven-year-old Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio—a more magnetic version of his famous father—who will be seeking to move up to the United States Senate. Thirty-two-year-old Edward M. Kennedy—a protégé of the late President—who will be asking the voters of Massachusetts to give him a full six-year term in the Senate.

Reaching For Rungs Rarely have we had so many promising young politicians simultaneously reaching for the upper rungs of the national political ladder.

Young Bob Taft, finishing his first term as congressman-at-large from Ohio, and Ted Kennedy, the youngest of the brothers, both got their first opportunities to enter public life, in part, because they bore distinguished political names. Taft Jr. began near the bottom by running for the state legislature and rose to become majority leader. Ted Kennedy was able to begin near the top by winning the seat of Sen. John F. Kennedy for the unexpired two years.

Decisive First Try Chuck Percy had to make his own name in Illinois politics. He did it by decisively taking the Republican gubernatorial primary in his first try and, in doing so, winning 100,000 more votes than Sen. Barry Goldwater received in the Illinois presidential contest.

Obviously there can be many uncertain rungs up the political ladder for each of them even if they surmount the hurdles this fall. But these three young men have special political advantages. Each is extraordinarily personable. Each has capacity and intellect well above the average. Each would have a political base in states — Illinois, Ohio and Massachusetts — that provide most effective fulcrums for political advancement.

Future Timber There are few Washington correspondents who would rule out any of them as future presidential timber. If they are elected this November, the party professionals and the political writers will be watching them closely.

Each will be a source of strength to his party's national ticket in the coming campaign. Ted Kennedy's vote-getting strength — and name — in his own state should help President Johnson in Massachusetts.

As chairman of the Resolutions Committee at the Republican Convention in 1960, Percy not only helped to shape the national platform, but presented it to the convention floor with some 30 million TV viewers looking on. The 1964 Republican presidential nominee will be better off in Illinois with Percy on the ticket.

Earned Title Bob Taft inherited much of the popularity and prestige of his father — and by now has earned title to it by his own record. It cannot be assumed that he will defeat the incumbent Democratic Ohio senator,

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Abbe Lane Can't Reconcile With Cugat

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Abbe Lane made it official in a talk with this columnist... "I am separated from Xavier Cugat... I intend to remain separated from him... I don't have any plans to reconcile with him or work with him again... I am sorry that it has worked out this way... but I want to live alone."

WILSON — Strangely, Abbe said this from the Cugats' plush apartment — which she moved back into after Cugat went to Windsor, Canada, for an appearance.

Abbe, Cugat's wife for almost 10 years, and protégée for almost 15, declared that she hoped they could separate "with dignity." She was aware, she said, that some people would say that she should not leave Cugat because he brought her fame and considerable money.

Life Of Gratitude "I cannot live an entire life of gratitude," she said.

Abbe will eventually inform her attorney Emil K. Ellis whether she wants a legal separation or divorce. For a month now she has only seen Cugat at her lawyer's office, though she has received many letters from him. She will shortly appear on the Ed Sullivan show — alone. Abbe scoffed at suggestions of a warm friendship with Frank Sinatra. "The last time I saw Frank Sinatra," she said, "was years ago."

Lee Tracy, one of the outstanding stars of the movie, "The Best Man," had a 66th birthday party at Toots Shor's that will long be remembered for its moisture... It looks real serious between Edie Adams and Marty Mills... The reason that Sammy Cahn didn't accept the music Oscar personally with Jimmy Van Heusen was that Sammy's divorce had just come through that forenoon and he didn't think it'd be the best taste. The song "Call Me Irresponsible" — Frank Sinatra was at Lily's talking about heroes and said that Mickey Mantle was one of his and he'd never met him. So they were gotten together by phone and Frank said, "I'd still like to meet him some day."

I'd Rather Be Light TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A fellow told Harold Coffin proudly he plays an important part in American economics: "If it wasn't for people like me you'd never be able to get unemployment statistics."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Comic Marc London described a friendly guy: "He wasn't against anything; he wasn't even anti-biotic."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "So live your life that you won't be afraid to be the first woman to leave a ladies' bridge party" — Anon.

A Hit With The Gallery

Jaun (Chi Chi) Rodriguez, the 120-pound Puerto Rican flash, has made a hit with galleries on the pro golf tour by his antics which tend to make the fans act like they're at a football game.

Chi Chi seems as if he doesn't have a serious bone in his body when he practices and plays. I saw him play at the Dallas Open one year and believe me after he's through practicing and playing the humble game of golf has taken a humorous beating.

It's a refreshing change to watch him after watching some of the other pros who growl every time a fan breathes hard.

On the putting green, Chi Chi's style is quite different from other pros. He uses only one ball and puts from about eight feet. After every putt his caddy picks up the ball and places it in front of his blade and Chi Chi puts again.

On the practice tee, he finds him a spot and the other pros give him a little extra room. When Chi Chi practices he takes up about a 10-yard area and has trouble with a "Chinese hook" (that's a shank).

He hits the practice balls as fast as he can and as hard as he can. Galleries really don't pay any attention where the ball is going as they are interested in his quips about the top-name golfers and his lightning fast swing.

Chi Chi likes to make fun of Palmer. He always refers to the time he played Palmer and, "out-drove him so far he thought he was going the wrong way."

The funny part is, he probably did. Chi Chi can belt the ball as far as the long knocks and farther than a lot of them. When he swings, he comes off the ground about two inches and — when the ball sizzles down the fairway.

At the first tee most of the pros are dead serious when their name is called to hit. It was Chi Chi's turn and he was stone-faced and dead serious. The gallery was quiet. Many had never heard of Chi Chi. Then everybody broke up. Chi Chi took a practice swing that even the worst duffer couldn't duplicate and with the gallery still giggling, he sailed a long drive down the middle of the fairway.

His antics on the course have brought some hard words from the pros. In one tournament, Chi Chi was in contention and was having an exceptional round. Every time he made a long putt he would place his hat over the hole and do a war dance around it. Of course, this wasn't good for the greens, but the gallery loved it.

But, Chi Chi is dead serious about winning. His way is just a little different than the other pros.

Leafs Favored To Win Fifth Stanley Game

TORONTO (AP)—The strong-finishing Toronto Maple Leafs were heavy favorites today to retain the Stanley Cup after blitzing the Detroit Red Wings Saturday night and squaring the final playoff series.

Toronto's 4-2 come-from-behind victory at Detroit evened the best-of-seven series at two games apiece. The fifth game will be played here Tuesday, the sixth at Detroit on Thursday. The seventh—if necessary—will be at Toronto on Saturday.

Coach Punch Imlach used his Leafs like shock troops Saturday as he juggled his lines five times in the opening six minutes of play to throw the Detroit defense off stride. The Leafs dominated play throughout the first period with Detroit having an edge in the second, which ended 2-2.

It was in the third period that the Leafs showed their ability as stretch runners. Andy Bathgate, a late-season acquisition from the New York Rangers, broke loose and put Toronto ahead 3-2 at the 10:55 mark. The Wings then saw ever-dangerous Frank Mahovlich add the Leafs insurance goal at 18:07.

The Leafs now have scored eight goals in third period play while Detroit has picked up only one thus far in the series.

Former Red Wing Red Kelly, now one of Toronto's bright stars, summed up the Leafs outlook when he said: "Now we're out in front for a change and it's up to the Wings to chase us."

Emerson Gets Title In Houston Tennis

HOUSTON (AP)—Roy Emerson held the championship of the 30th annual River Oaks Tennis tournament today after handily disposing of Nicola Pietrangeli in straight sets, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2.

It was the Australian's seventh tournament victory in his last eight outings and his first win here in four starts.

He was eliminated in the quarterfinals four years ago, but reached the finals only to be defeated the last three years.

As the tournament's top-seeded player, Emerson needed only one hour and four minutes to defeat the colorful Yugoslav, first unseeded player to reach the finals here in 10 years.

Carter In Do-Or-Die

OAKLAND (AP)—Don Carter faced a do-or-die situation today in the American Bowling Congress masters match-play tournament. The great St. Louis pro was dropped into the loser's bracket of the masters by Bill Aziz, El Paso, Texas, Sunday.

Another loss would mean elimination for Carter.

Teams Tie In Four Ball

For the first time this year, two teams shared first place in the Weeks Park Four-Ball Golf Tournament, each finishing with 99 points Sunday.

Spencer Ties Record

TOKYO (AP)—Ex-major leaguer Daryl Spencer tied the Pacific League record for consecutive home runs by blasting three homers as the front-running Hankyu Braves swept a doubleheader Sunday night.

Spencer, formerly with the San Francisco Giants and now playing his first year with the Braves, hit his sixth, seventh and eighth homers in the second game as the Braves overpowered the cellar-dwelling Kintetsu Buffaloes 14-4. The Braves also took the first game 5-1.

Spencer was the ninth player to tie the league record. The Japanese record for consecutive home runs is four held by baseball commentator Noboru Aota.

Grand Prairie's Crown To Fall

While the baseball buffs are sweating out the daily finish of favorite clubs, the state football coaches — especially those in AAAA classification — are more concerned with spring football training and the prospects of the coming season.

With the Wichita Falls Coyotes and the Rider Raiders, both members of District 4-AAAA on the practice field in spring drill, the Times will present a team-by-team glance at their district and how each coach feels his team will fare in 1964.

Defending champion Grand Prairie is the first of the series which will continue Monday through Friday and end Friday, May 1.

Berra, Yankees Taste Fruit Of First Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rookie Manager Yogi Berra finally tasted the fruits of victory as the New York Yankees won their first game of the season Sunday after three straight extra inning defeats.

A fellow with an entirely different taste in his mouth today must be Chuck Hinton, brilliant but erratic Washington outfielder and the goat of a 5-1 defeat by Kansas City.

After catching Jim Gentile's fly with one out and the bases full in the fifth inning, Chuck headed for the dugout, thinking it was the third out. Nelson Matthews scored from third and Ed Charles from second and Hinton trotted towards the dugout, ball in hand.

Manager Gil Hodges, who frowns on sleeping on the ball field, replaced Hinton in left field with Ken Hunt in the next inning.

The Yankees handed Baltimore its first defeat in five games, 5-3, but the Orioles retained their hold on first place, as the second place Minnesota Twins split a doubleheader with Detroit. The Twins won the opener 12-3 and Detroit took the second 3-1.

The Chicago White Sox blanked Boston 6-0. A scheduled doubleheader between Los Angeles and the Indians in Cleveland was postponed because of rain.

Sunday's defeat was the fourth in six games for the Senators but it is doubtful any of the previous losses ranked them weren't hitting from outside. I'm sure they'll be sharper."

The second game, sold out since Friday, is the key to the series. If San Francisco loses and heads west for the Wednesday and Friday games already down 0-2, there is a local feeling Boston can win in five as it did over Cincinnati.

The Celtics beat San Francisco 108-96 Saturday night opening their bid for a sixth straight world title and seventh in eight years.

"We'll be ready this time—much tougher," Hannum said. "We were tired and not aggressive in the opener. And remember, that was only the first of a seven game series."

"It's been our pattern all season. Whenever we played a bad game we always came back with a good one."

"San Francisco has got to be tougher in this second game," said Celtic Tommy Heinsohn.

"I feel the Warriors weren't on their game Saturday because they weren't hitting from outside. I'm sure they'll be sharper."

Junior Editors Quiz on METEORS

QUESTION: What is the difference between a meteor and a meteorite?

ANSWER: We have all seen occasional long brilliant streaks in the night sky, as if a star had suddenly shot away from its secure position; they are often called "shooting stars." Actually, these are true visitors from outer space, called "meteors," composed of metal or stone. Astronomers say that as many as 200 million enter the earth's atmosphere every day, pulled down by the force of gravity. One may wonder why the earth's surface is not littered with meteors. It would be, and many of us would be killed by them, if it were not for the fortunate fact that these dangerous visitors become heated by the friction of the air in the atmosphere. At first (upper right) they are hardly affected; then they get so hot they begin to glow and we see a rapidly moving light in the night sky. Then the heat breaks it up into small pieces which usually burn up before reaching the earth. Occasionally, however, an extra large bit of a meteor may strike the earth before it is destroyed. There is an enormous crater in Arizona believed to have been caused in this way and a number of actual pieces have been preserved. Such a piece, striking the earth, is called a "meteorite."

FOR YOU TO DO: Keep your eyes open, at night, for the thrilling spectacle of a shooting star. Meteors are thought to be fragments of comets, but many are small—no larger than a grain of sand. The earth passes through clouds of such meteors every November.

Congress Starts Prayer Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fuse lighted by the Supreme Court two years ago in its decision banning official prayers in public schools will pop some verbal firecrackers in Congress this week.

On Wednesday, the House Judiciary Committee begins hearings on a series of proposed constitutional amendments that would undo the court's decision. "I hope these hearings can be conducted in a spirit of objectivity, without religious fervor or patriotic piety," Chairman

Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., has said. But it would appear to be a forlorn hope.

Seldom has an issue aroused such inflamed partisans. Many members of the House say they have received more mail on it than any other subject, including civil rights.

To the supporters of the proposed amendments the problem posed is awesome. Rep. Philip J. Philbin, D-Mass., gave his view last week in the Congressional Record: "Are we to become officially godless like Russia, China and all their Red satellites?" he asked. "Shall godlessness be made the official creed of America? That is the question we must answer."

Those who favor the court's decision see in the proposed amendments an attack on the constitutional guarantee against governmentally established religion—and thus a menace to individual and minority rights.

The complexity of the constitutional questions and the divisions within religious organizing themselves have led to a wide variety of proposed solutions.

A total of 146 resolutions suggesting amendments have been introduced. Many of them are identical but the staff of the Judiciary Committee has found 35 different forms of resolutions, containing seven basically different suggestions.

Some resolutions would permit only prayers in public schools, some would allow Bible-reading as well as prayers. Some would permit prayers in other public places as well as schools, and some would also permit Bible-reading in such places.

New Addition Is 22nd Child

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — The ever-growing Beardsley family was increased to 22 Sunday.

Helen Beardsley, 34, gave birth to an 8-pound, 6-ounce namesake — Helen Monica — at Ft. Ord Army Hospital.

Helen Monica was her second child since her marriage in September 1961, to Navy CWO Francis Beardsley, 47.

He had 10 children by his former marriage and she had eight by her first husband.

The biggest mass adoption in California history occurred in March 1963, when the Beardsleys made legal brothers and sisters of their then 18 children — 11 girls and seven boys.

The Navy chief's first wife died a few years ago and the present Mrs. Beardsley, a thoughtful woman who had lost her own husband in a plane accident, sent him a written prayer.

Beardsley replied. They met and fell in love. They were married Sept. 9, 1961, in historic Carmel Mission, attended by their 18 children. The 19th Joseph John, was born in July 1962.

"No wonder we couldn't get each other! I've been calling your number exactly every quarter hour, too!"

Russian And British Having Conferences

LONDON (AP)—Sergei Khrushchev, 29, son of Soviet Premier Khrushchev, arrived Sunday with a Soviet delegation of aviation experts and aircraft designers for talks with their British opposite numbers.

The delegation, which came at the invitation of Aviation Minister Julian Amery, is headed by Soviet Aviation Minister Piotr Demientyev.

The Russians will stay 12 days in Britain conferring with aviation officials and visiting air frame, engine and electronic industries.

Three Clear Burglaries Here Chamber To Study 'Fair Share' Plan

With the arrests of three Wichita Falls men a number of thefts and burglaries were cleared by city police detectives Sunday.

Officers said the trio admitted thefts of batteries and other parts which cleared six misdemeanor theft cases here.

They also admitted to officers that they stole seats from an automobile in Dallas recently.

Two felony thefts were also cleared by the men, two aged 20 and one 21, while 11 tires and wheels stolen from Longhorn Chevrolet Truck Division and eight tires and wheels and tires stolen from Southmoor Motor Co. were recovered.

Charges of theft over $50 were being filed on the men Monday afternoon.

Officers working on the case were Detectives Sgt. Leroy Fox, Sgt. Kenneth Edmonds, C. G. Zachary, and James M. Brewer.

Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce directors will be asked to consider a "fair share" membership dues plan—a plan which is expected to produce $150,000 a year in subscriptions by 1965 if introduced — when they meet Tuesday lunchtime in Action Hall.

The plan has been drawn up by the chamber's budget and finance action group under the chairmanship of Hal Dyer. It divides the chamber's 1,300 members into 19 different classifications such as banks, hotels and motels, wholesalers and distributors etc.

If the plan is accepted by directors Tuesday, the budget and finance group will meet with members in each of the 19 classifications in turn to decide what is a "fair" annual contribution for members in each group. The aim will be to discuss chamber of commerce subscriptions with each individual member.

Plan May Meet

Subscriptions to the chamber totalled $105,000 last year, and the present budget is $122,000.

The directors will hear a report on activities of the area relations action group from Lt. Col. Raymond Seidel, which will include details of the visit of area mayors, and chamber of commerce presidents and managers to Wichita Falls May 7.

The area dignitaries will be jointly hosted by the chamber of commerce and Sheppard Air Force Base. They will be taken on a tour of the base and hosted at a luncheon there.

At 7:30 p.m. that day they will be guests of honor at the Wichita chamber's general membership meeting, at which the speaker will be Attorney General Waggoner Carr. This affair will be held in Rider High School.

Police Nab Man Wated By FBI

By JIM COCHRAN

A 33-year-old ex-convict wanted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on two Federal warrants was arrested in Wichita Falls Saturday by city police officers for investigation of forgery, theft of gasoline credit cards, and auto theft.

Returned Here

He admitted stealing a gas credit card from a service station here, left Wichita Falls and went back to Fort Worth and loaned the stolen card he was driving to another man, and never saw the automobile or man again. After hitchhiking to Oklahoma City, he stole a 1958 Oldsmobile and drove the car in Oklahoma and Texas until arrested here Saturday.

Federal authorities said the man has been convicted of mail theft, auto theft, grand larceny, burglary, larceny, and forgery.

The Federal warrants charge the man with violating terms of his conditional release from a Federal institution which was issued May 28, 1963 by the U.S. Board of Parole at Washington D.C., and with interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle which was issued in Oklahoma City Jan. 9, 1964.

In Wichita Falls the man was arrested for cashing a forged check and attempting to cash others here.

Tells Of Theft

He admitted to police that he took an automobile in Washington D.C. and stole $50 after his release from a Federal penitentiary, abandoned the car in Yale, Okla., stole another car there and abandoned it in Ardmore, Okla.

The ex-convict said he took another automobile in Ardmore and drove it for quite sometime in Texas and Oklahoma. He then went to Lake Mead, Nevada, and burglarized a small cafe there taking $10. After spending two weeks in Las Vegas gambling he said he went to Twenty-nine Palms, Calif., and stayed there three to four weeks. He told officers that he abandoned the car taken at Ardmore in Salt Lake City, stole another car, and went to Albuquerque, N.M. In Albuquerque he said he burglarized a construction company, took a check protector, and wrote two checks there for about $85 each. He left Albuquerque and went to Fort Worth where he lived for awhile and then came to Wichita Falls.

Davis To Study Lubbock Airport

City Manager Jack Davis was scheduled to fly to Lubbock Monday afternoon to meet Ed Colby, manager of that city's airport, and seek advice on the selection of a fixed-base operator for the Wichita Falls Municipal Airport.

Colby, who has been manager of the Lubbock facility for some 17 years, acted as advisor to city authorities here prior to their decision to take up their option and purchase the Municipal Airport facilities a few weeks ago.

"Colby will certainly be able to help us in reaching a decision as to who to sub-let the airport to," Davis commented Monday. He added that once the airport was sub-let, it would mean a saving of $8,000 to $12,000 a year for the city. "We had been paying out roughly that amount for landing fees, lights and roadway maintenance," he added.

PUBLIC HEALTH OFFICIAL LAUDS DISASTER WORK

The City of Wichita Falls received a well deserved pat on the back Monday from an official of the Texas State Department of Public Health in praise of the efforts to bring order out of the chaos resulting from the fearful tornado which churned through here on April 3.

In a letter to City Manager Jack Davis, G. R. Herzick Jr., chief of environmental sanitation services, said: "Though many played important roles in protecting public health and overseeing the general welfare of the people of the affected area, we wish to commend you and members of your various departments for the leadership in carrying out the emergency operations."

Herzick also commented on the "orderly and prompt manner in which rehabilitation measures were established through your leadership and guidance." The official singled out the following for special mention besides Davis: C. C. Threadgill of the Wichita Falls - Wichita County Health Department; R. T. Gregory, former director of public works; Bob Joliff, director of public safety and civil defense; W. W. Gorman, superintendent of the water treatment plant; the Red Cross; and the Salvation Army.

To Hail Clearing

City employees were still engaged on the strenuous task of clearing up lots in the Sunset Terrace area Monday morning, though Frank Farlow, director of public works, reported that the city would not undertake to hand clear any more lots after Thursday.

In the region of 75 lots," Farlow reported. "They have also cleared debris from large acreage tracts adjacent to Burkhardt Highway and west of the Sunset Terrace area."

Farlow reported that no new requests for lots to be cleared up had been received by his department since last Friday. "We still have 12 men — three separate clean-up crews—in action in the area though," he added.

To Continue Aid

"The city will continue to give all the help it can in the area. Two of our sanitation department trucks will be assigned to the area to pick up debris and building materials stacked adjacent to the curb and gutter. We will continue to have these trucks in the area for around two weeks, after which we will require that the owner make his own arrangements for disposition of materials. We hope that these arrangements will take care of the majority of the persons who might benefit by the city performing the clean-up operations."

Farlow stated that much of the material collected had been burnt on the sight after the owners had first been given the opportunity to sort through it and pick out anything of value.

"At one time we had 35 of our men working out there," he stated. "The county also had 15 workmen on the scene, along with a good deal of equipment, and I would like to thank them for the way in which they cooperated with us."

"Of course, as a result of this emergency work we have got behind on our routine work: such things as street and alley repaving and alley blading. I am sure the public will understand this, and will bear with us while we tackle the task of catching up with the jobs which have to be done."
