Britain Will Fortify Crown Colony As A Gilbraltar Of East

BY JAMES A. MILLS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HONGKONG, Jan. 25 — Fearful that Japan might attempt to extend her military activities in China toward this British crown colony, Hongkong is fortifying to such an extent that it soon may be, with Singapore, another "Gibraltar of the east."

Emergency crews of military and naval engineers, technicians and laborers are working 24 hours a day to complete a $40,000,000 program of harbor, land and air defenses.

Bristle With Guns

The hills and islets on the fringes of the colony already are bristling with heavy guns, machine gun and anti-aircraft emplacements and other preparations for an armed onslaught by land, air or water.

There are hundreds of searchlights to spot aerial attackers and mythical raids and "blackouts" are staged periodically to train the populace. Any resident failing to put out all lights when ordered may be fined up to $1,000.

With the thousands of homes in inky darkness and the far-flung batteries of searchlights fingering the sky, the colony presents a grimly beautiful spectacle. The only noise to be heard above the eclipsed city is the drone of "invading" and "defending" planes.

Bombardment Feared

Hongkong fears that some day the thunder of bombardment may be added.

Observers say the countless machine-gun nests could hold up an attacking land force for two weeks. The larger naval and land guns in the hills — said to include several 16 and 18-inch cannon of range greater than any ship-mounted gun —could hold back an attack by sea.

Even so, British authorities claim only sufficient precautions to keep an invading force at bay until help could arrive from Singapore or even Australia or India. Singapore is three days away by warship.

Guards Bar Approaches

The chief military interest centers on the heavy-caliber guns being mounted on the "peak" above Hongkong and in the high hills just behind Kowloon. The guns are landed and set up only under cover of darkness and guards bar all approaches to the emplacements.

Reliable sources say more than 1,000 mines have been laid for the defense of the harbor and Tolo bay, north of the Kowloon peninsula. An elaborate network of military roads is being thrown across the hills between Kowloon and Tolo bay.

Price Cutting Is Criticized

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—John L. Lewis told the United Mine Workers convention today that price and wage cutting never had and never would improve business.

Before 1,900 applauding delegates, Lewis said he hoped the country's economic and political leaders "will not permit themselves to follow this economic will o' the wisp."

Responsibility On Them

"If they do," he said, "the responsibility for such action will be upon them.

"And when the sufferings of the people become acute, they can not hope to escape that responsibility."

Lewis said that all the country needed "to insure a complete economic, social and political debacle" was to reduce prices and wages.

Some economists and political leaders were suggesting that course, he said, with the argument that lower production costs would mean more consumption.

Tried It Under Hoover

"The answer to that is that it never has and it never will," Lewis roared. "We tried that under President Hoover."

"No one need tell the coal miners whose wages were steadily cut from 1925 to 1932 to cheapen the cost of production," he added, "the miners know that those cuts didn't result in the consuming of another trainload of coal."

He pledged labor "to resist any attempt to cut prices and wages."

Lewis called the recession "a sad commentary on the intelligence of our leaders in industry and statecraft."

Three Italian Planes Off On Second Leg Of Ocean Jaunt

DAKAR, French West Africa, Jan. 25 (AP)—Three Italian planes, one of them piloted by 20-year-old Bruno Mussolini, took off from Dakar today on the second leg of a propaganda and experimental flight to Rio De Janeiro.

The three planes, which landed here yesterday from Rome, headed out over the Atlantic with Natal, Brazil, as their next stop.

So You Never Forget Faces! Here's A Test

BY ROBBIN COONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 25—Time flies (to coin a phrase) and changes the face of things. On a movie star, however, it changes the coiffure more than the face.

And here's a movie fan's memory test. The photographs below are not from archaic files. The oldest one dates from 13 years ago. All of them are of famous ladies of the screen, some more prominent now than then, a couple perhaps less so because of prolonged movie inactivity.

Can you identify them—without looking at the answers on page 3?

1. She's a redhead—and not Clara Bow either—and she danced and sang as well as acted her way to fame in pictures. This is how she looked about 1930, after she'd done a picture called "The Dance of Life."

2. She doesn't wear slinky hats now, and in her pictures she seldom gets a chance to look soulful as she did in this portrait (1929) when she was about to do her first leading lady, opposite Bill Boyd.

3. This is a glamorous portrait of a lady who never cashed in on glamor. Eight years ago, as today, she went for comedy. She is the wife of a film executive, is one of the few movie stars who really mean it when they say, "I love to cook."

4. She wore this doughboy's hat in a little war number called "The Goodbye Kiss" back in 1928. But she became really famous several years later in a sentimental boy-meets-girl drama.

5. She wore this costume in a picture made in 1925—and the hat came from 20 years earlier, bird and all. After all these years she is still a "glamor girl" but she needs a picture—and soon.

Rebel Leaders Going Strong In Filibuster

Night Session Fails To Halt Stream Of Oratory; Defeat For Bill Being Predicted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—The southern filibuster against the anti-lynching bill still was going strong in the senate today, despite administration efforts to end it by holding night sessions.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla) held the floor to continue the steady stream of oratory which he and other southerners poured forth without a break yesterday from 11 a. m. to 10:10 p. m.

Rebels In Fine Shape

It was the first evening session of the year, held on the fifteenth day of the filibuster. Senator Connally (D-Tex) said, however, the southern bloc was in shape to speak indefinitely.

Besides keeping the senate after hours, administration leaders enforced strict rules about speechmaking. Each senator, for instance, can speak only twice on a bill.

Friends of the legislation declared they would hold the bill before the senate until it was passed or laid aside by vote. They contended they still had a majority.

Defeat Is Forecast

Senator Byrnes (D-SC) said the senate was quickly learning the bill could not be passed, and forecast it would be sidetracked by the end of the week.

Many observers expressed the belief the southerners would win in view of an announcement by Pepper that he was one of 24 senators who had "solemnly covenanted" not to let the bill pass.

Pepper called the bill a slap at the south, a violation of the constitution, contrary to democratic principles, out of harmony with the spirit of the New Deal, contrary to the principles of true liberalism, and a "tragic prostitution of the processes of government."

Legislation Piles Up

While the filibuster continued, legislation piled up. Administration leaders held back a conference committee's agreement on the admin-

Love Notes Of Actor Quoted

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25. — Stan Laurel, cry-baby comedian, was man enough to admit his matrimonial mistakes.

That was indicated today in intimate letters introduced in court by his second wife, Mrs. Virginia Ruth Laurel.

Want Decrees Set Aside

Claiming she and the film actor were reconciled in the year elapsing between their interlocutory and final divorce decrees, Mrs. Laurel is suing to have the decrees set aside as fraudulent.

One complication, however, is Laurel's marriage to wife No. 3, dancer Vera Shuvalova, last New Year's day.

"I am anxiously awaiting your return, Ruth, as I feel now we can really get together and settle down and be happy," said one of the epistles, written last summer. "I want a little home with you and a baby and get away from all this mess."

Unbalanced Mentally

Another letter read in part:

"When Lois (Laurel's first wife) divorced me it unbalanced me mentally and I made up my mind that I couldn't be happy any more. I met and married you in that frame of mind, and the longer it went on the stronger it became. That's why I left you with the insane idea Lois would take me back.

"After I left you, I found out

Mrs. T. C. Richardson Dies At Her Home Here This Morning

Mrs. T. C. Richardson, 40, died at 5:45 o'clock this morning at her home at 1901 Avenue H when stricken with apoplexy. She had been a resident of Lubbock approximately 10 years.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at Foursquare Gospel church, with Rev. Floyd Dawson, pastor officiating. Burial will be in a cemetery here, under direction of Sanders Funeral home. Arrangements had not been completed late this morning.

Mrs. Richardson is survived by her husband, operator of the city disposal plant; two sons, Herschel Booker of Lubbock and G. H. Booker of Pampa; one daughter, Mrs. Geneva Mixon of Lubbock; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cofer of Fairview, Okla.; three brothers, Lester Cofer of Houston, Oris of Fairview, and Cecil of Buffalo, Okla.; and two sisters, Mrs. Lela Gladney of Gladewater and Mrs. Mertie Putman of Tyler.

Higher Prices Forecast For Oil Industry

Conference Of Governors Is Told That Visible Supply Not Enough For Demands

(By The Associated Press)

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 25—Higher oil prices in the future were indicated today in an Oklahoman's survey of the petroleum industry presented to a governor's conference here.

The survey, made by Alex W. McCoy, Ponca City, Okla., for Gov. E. W. Marland of Oklahoma, predicted a 78-cent per barrel increase in the estimated cost of delivering oil to the pipe line during the next 20 years.

Greater Expense Seen

I. G. Harmon, member of the Oklahoma tax commission, attributed the advancing costs to greater expense attaching to future oil discoveries because of the increasing difficulty in finding new wells.

McCoy's survey reported that the average total cost to the industry for delivering one barrel of oil to the pipe line, considering all investments with interest, amounted to $1.11 for oil discovered between 1924 and 1938, and estimated that the per-barrel cost for oil "necessary to be discovered during the next 20-year period" would be $1.89.

Not Adequate For Demand

Geologist McCoy's findings were offered in support of the contention of Marland, who called the conference, that oil in sight was not adequate to meet prospective demand.

Marland had urged that the seven oil producing states represented at the conference take concerted action to encourage the finding of new reserves, cooperate in conservation and in regulation of drilling and production.

McCoy's survey reported the necessity of discovering 28,000,000,000 barrels of new oil in order to meet expected demand during the next 20 years. This would be in addition to production from the known reserve.

Capable Until 1941

The report estimated present drilled reserves were capable of supplying demand until November, 1941.

Dr. M. M. Leighton, chief of the Illinois geological survey, challenged McCoy's estimate that annual U. S. consumption would increase from its current 1,200,000,000 barrel figure

Funeral Rites For Local Man Are To Be Conducted Today

Funeral services for J. E. Taylor, 63, who died at 9:23 o'clock Monday night at the home of a brother, Guy Taylor of 1911 Fifth street, will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Tabernacle Baptist church, with Rev. Ben D. Johnson, pastor, officiating.

Taylor had been sick several weeks. He had lived in Lubbock 18 months.

He is survived by four brothers, George and Guy of Lubbock, J. H. of Paducah, and Claude of Abilene.

Sanders Funeral home will direct burial in Memorial Park cemetery.

Winged Forces Proving To Be Vital Factors In War Gains

(By The Associated Press)

Air power was the vital factor in wars on opposite sides of the world.

Spanish government planes fanned out over the Mediterranean seeking enemy surface ships in an effort to break the insurgent blockade of Barcelona.

Four insurgent warships maneuvered far at sea, avoiding government planes with which they fought an indecisive battle yesterday involving a French destroyer and French anti-aircraft batteries.

Insurgent planes took the air on the Spanish Teruel front when 40 government craft raked Generalissimo Francisco Franco's lines with machine-gun fire. One insurgent and seven government ships were downed.

Barcelona, the government capital, reported 39 killed in an insurgent air raid. Madrid reported four killed in an insurgent shelling.

Although the insurgents held strong positions on three sides of Teruel they still were unable to enter the city although they reported government forces had evacuated it. The government still held two strong positions northwest of Teruel, center of more than a month of battle.

France strengthened her border defenses against the spreading aerial warfare. Two new incidents roused concern.

The French torpedo boat La Poursuivante was bombed by three Spanish planes maneuvering to attack insurgent warships yesterday in the Mediterranean. The torpedo boat returned the fire but no hits were scored. French anti-aircraft guns on shore joined in the firing.

Chinese said their airforce had destroyed the Japanese airdrome at Wuhu, on the Yangtze river, had raided other Japanese river positions and had killed 300 Japanese in an air attack on army boats in Chekiang province.

Japanese said their planes had destroyed 16 Chinese aircraft and airfield equipment at Ichang, in China's interior.

Blizzards Grip Midwest

Heavy Damage Is Caused By Flood Water

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 25—A severe cold wave accompanied by a snowstorm that reached blizzard proportions moved over the middlewestern prairies today in the wake of heavy rains that sent streams over their banks and hundreds of families fleeing for safety.

Two persons were drowned, thousands of acres of farm lands were inundated, and winter wheat crops suffered damage as flood waters surged over a large portion of northern Illinois and a small part of southern Wisconsin.

Two Drown In Illinois

Eddie Proctor, 6-year-old schoolboy, and Ralph Hartness, 20, a truck driver drowned in Illinois where more than 600 families fled from their homes. Rainfall ranged from two to almost four inches in the northern half of Illinois.

Heralding a recession of flood waters, the cold wave pushed southeastward from the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin. A 50 mile gale buffeted the head of the lakes, smashing plate glass windows at Duluth, Minn.

Temperatures Drop

North Dakota and Minnesota felt the lash of the stinging winds late yesterday. Temperatures dropped to nine below zero at Pembina, N. D., and eight below at Devils Lake.

Negotiations For Purchase Of Utility Firms Are Ordered

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — The Tennessee valley authority authorized Director David E. Lilienthal today to "negotiate" for the purchase of private utility properties in the Tennessee valley area.

The directors said the action was taken in view of "recent developments." They explained they referred to the recent suggestion of Wendell L. Willkie, president of Commonwealth and Southern Corp., that the government purchase his subsidiary operating companies in the valley, and to a White House utilities conference here Thursday.

This Case Has Them All Going In Circles At Police Station

Police, a newspaper reporter and at least two persons in city jail scratched their heads over this one.

A 40-year-old O'Donnell man came into the police station Monday night and "stood" for the drunkenness fine that had been assessed against his brother.

Night Sgt. M. L. Davidson released the brother, 38, of Gatesville.

The O'Donnell man quite possibly was in a mood for celebration. He was picked up during the night and docketed as an inebriate.

The Gatesville brother, in the meantime, failed to "rake up" the $15 for his fine and appeared this morning to explain he could not satisfy the assessment.

He was "thrown in," too.

Now they are both there, or were at mid-morning.

"Each is being held as surety for the other's fine, I suppose," said Lewis Kittrell, sergeant of

Familiar Buffalo Nickel Now On Way Out And New Design Will Be Issued This Year

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. — We're going to have a new nickel —the first in 25 years.

The treasury announced today that the familiar buffalo nickel will be succeeded by one honoring Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States.

The law says a new nickel design can be issued only every 25 years. That period will be up on Feb. 21.

Secretary Morgenthau decreed the new nickel must show Jefferson's face on one side and his famous home, Monticello, on the other.

The exact design will be decided in a $1,000 prize contest, to be judged by Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, director of the mint, and three sculptors, Sidney Waugh, Albert Stewart and Heinz Warneke.

This doesn't mean your old buffalo nickel will not remain worth five cents. In time, it may be worth more as a museum piece.

There are no accurate figures on the number of nickels in circulation, because all small coins are lumped together in statistics. But to give an idea of how important the nickel is, the mints turned out 164,832,570 new ones last year.

Peace For Pacific Coast Threatened

Two Suspects Held In Jail

Rape, horse theft and drunkenness are interlocked in investigation of two men held at Lubbock and at Graham, said Sheriff Tom Abel of Lubbock county this morning.

Called to Shallowater to arrest a man assertedly making a drunk disturbance at the residence of another, Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, and Don Reeder, chief of police, lodged in county jail a 26-year-old man.

Arrest Is Asked

Sheriff Ches Gore of Brownfield telephoned Sheriff Abel this morning from Megargel asking the Lubbock officer to arrest the man for investigation into horse theft and, after being informed the suspect was in jail, asked that he be held until this afternoon, when he would accept custody.

Sheriff Gore unfolded the rest of the case. En route to Brownfield from McAlester, Okla., where Howard Atchinson, 32, had been recaptured after escaping Brownfield jail last week, he learned a man wanted for investigation into rape of a 14-year-old Terry county girl had been arrested at Olney by the girl's fath-

WPA Supervisors Of Lubbock District To Gather Here

Supervisors of women's projects in the 24 counties comprising Lubbock WPA district will be in Lubbock Thursday and Friday for a two-day course to be conducted by Mrs. Grace Williams of San Antonio, state field supervisor for women's and professional projects.

Sessions will be held, according to Miss Evelyn Richter, district supervisor of those projects, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. each day on the mezzanine floor of the Hilton hotel. Miss Richter will assist.

The course, she explained, is designed to train supervisors of such projects as sewing rooms, renovating, library, ground water and tax survey.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25—Harry Bridges told the federal government today that attempted enforcement of a Los Angeles superior court ruling favoring the AFL in its fight to regain control of west coast longshoremen from the CIO would "tie up the port of Los Angeles and involve the entire Pacific coast."

As part of its strategy in trying to break the CIO domination over water front workers, the AFL has filed suits similar to the Los Angeles action in San Francisco and in Tacoma, Wash.

Peace Is Threatened

Bridges, president of Pacific coast longshoremen and west coast CIO head, telegraphed Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins saying waterfront peace was threatened because of a receivership order granted by Judge Ruben S. Schmidt in Los Angeles. Bridges called the decision "outrageous."

The order was granted on petition of the AFL International Longshoremen's association, local 38-82, and involved the funds and possessions of San Pedro longshoremen. Local 38-82 is a reorganized unit of longshoremen that took up the AFL

Missing Fort Worth Man Is Thought To Have Been Slain

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 25 (AP) — Working on the theory that the trucker has been slain, homicide detectives were still trying today to find the body of W. B. Spencer, 30, of Fort Worth.

Detective Amacker said he agreed with J. B. Siler of Fort Worth, employer of the trucker who has been missing since Saturday, in the belief that Spencer had met with foul play.

Spencer's abandoned truck, loaded with Amarillo potatoes, was found on the market Saturday. The missing man was reported to have had $175 in his possession.

Agreement On Farm Bill Is Near At Last

Limits On Amounts That The Farmer Could Sell Would Be Set After Certain Level

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—Senator Pope (D-Idaho), who helped draft the pending crop control legislation, predicted today that its marketing quota provisions would apply to four crops this year—corn, wheat, cotton and tobacco.

Pope said a senate-house committee was near agreement on a compromise bill. It held sessions yesterday morning and afternoon and last night.

Approval Necessary

He explained that marketing quotas (limits on the amount of the four crops which farmers may sell) would go into operation when indicated supplies reached certain levels. Two-thirds of the farmers voting on a referendum would have to approve the system.

Pope said the levels at which these controls would operate had been set midway between limits fixed by the separate house and senate bills.

He said marketing controls probably would not operate for rice, fifth crop in the new "ever-normal granary" program, because supplies could accumulate to higher levels before limits on sales applied.

Vote On Limiting Sales

The normal supply of wheat, for example, is fixed in the compromise bill at average annual domestic consumption and exports for the previous 10 years, plus 15 cents as a reserve. When this reserve climbs to 35 per cent of exports and consumption, farmers would vote on limiting sales.

The corn program would operate in a similar manner, except that the reserve is 4 per cent above exports and consumption, and the quota level is 10 per cent above that combined total.

Farmers selling more than their assigned quotas of corn or wheat

Tax Payments Being Rushed

Poll tax payments for the current year advanced well ahead of the total for the whole of last year this morning with indications that the rush will gain in momentum until the deadline at midnight Jan. 31.

County Assessor-Collector H. B. Bryan reported that a total of 4,211 poll tax receipts had been issued at the close of business Monday. So great was the tax payment rush this morning that an accurate check of records had not been made, but Bryan said that last year's total of 4,237 poll tax receipts undoubtedly had been exceeded.

Volume Is Picking Up

Indications also were that Monday's business volume of 384 poll tax receipts also will be beaten today. Of the receipts issued yesterday, 313 were at the courthouse and 51 at the branch at Slaton city hall which will be continued in operation through the remainder of the month.

Whether the all-time Lubbock county record total of poll tax receipts, set two years ago at 8,517, will be beaten still was problematical. Tax officials are expecting that approximately 2,000 receipts will be issued the last day and barring extremely unfavorable weather, the record probably will be broken.

The tax payment rush also had begun at Lubbock independent school district office, 1007 Texas avenue, and at the city hall, with indications the volume will increase steadily until the deadline. On Feb. 1, penalty and interest will be added to the regular taxes.

Women Are Looking Forward To Spring Conventions; Club Plans Dance

District Board Will Convene Saturday

Although the dates are set for spring, women already are looking forward to annual district conventions of federated study clubs and parent-teacher associations.

The executive committee of district fourteen, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, will meet at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at Hotel Lubbock to plan a program for a spring conference to be held in Floydada. Mrs. W. R. Weaver of Spur is president.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock.

Is Election Year

Since this is election year, women of seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, are expected to take a livelier interest in the convention, which will be held in Childress. The nominating committee, composed of Mrs. T. V. Reeves of Canyon, Mrs. Rex. A. Tynes of Lubbock and Mrs. W. E. Davis of Childress, met Saturday afternoon in Plainview during a meeting of committee chairmen.

This week, while dull for the college set, is a busy time for club women.

Shakespeare club, varying from a usual afternoon meeting, will hear Shakespeare recordings at a gathering tonight at 7:15 o'clock in the home of Dr. A. L. Carter, 3102 Twentieth street.

Line Party Planned

Lubbock Music club is to be entertained with a line party Wednesday afternoon by the vice-president, Mrs. W. C. Wood. After seeing the picture, "Rosalie," at the Palace theater, the group will go to the home of the hostess, 2418 Twenty-second street, for refreshments.

The first meeting of the year of the City Federation will be held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at Hotel Lubbock with Mrs. E. L. Banks presiding.

The federation is composed of women in Lubbock who hold memberships in federated study clubs, each woman having become a member automatically when she affiliates with a club.

A program on public safety will be presented.

The damper on college social activities will be lifted Saturday night when Los Camaradas club, an organization of several men students, entertains with a dance at the Hilton hotel.

Ladies Night Program To Be Staged By Lubbock Lions

Ladies night program of the Lions club will be held tonight in the Hilton hotel following a banquet starting at 7 o'clock. No luncheon was held at noon.

H. C. Pender, past president, and William Dean are chairmen for the evening. Losing side in a reent attendance contest, captained by J. W. Henly, will serve the meal. John Toles was captain of the winning side.

Music and entertainment will follow the serving of the meal.

Human Lost-And-Found Department Is Set Up In China To Aid Unfortunate People

HANKOW, China — (Correspondence Of The Associated Press)—A "human lost-and-found department" has been established to help countless refugees find the relatives from whom they have been separated by the war with Japan.

The department was set up by the China travel service to coordinate the frantic efforts of the homeless, driven from cities occupied by the Japanese army.

No payment or reward is asked if the lost humans are found by the firm.

Names Are Registered

Thousands of Chinese have registered their names and addresses and the names and last known addresses of their missing relatives. Long lines or distracted Chinese wait patiently, day and night, outside the branches of the agency throughout the country in the hope of news.

Virtually every large city and town in China has become a sort of "port of missing men." Government authorities are confronted with a tremendous task in sheltering, feeding and caring for these homeless hordes who have lost everything in the war.

It will take many years to relocate them all and start them back toward normal lives.

Thousands, before the general bureau was established, inserted advertisements in the "lost and found" columns of newspapers.

Many Chinese, as well as numbers of Americans, have been reunited with their families through radio broadcasts made by newspapers.

Writing Not Key To A Man's Character, Scientist Says

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 25 (AP) — Don't judge a man's character by his portrait or his handwriting, advises Prof. Herman W. Martin of the University of Kentucky department of psychology.

While he believes there may be some truth in the old saying that the camera doesn't lie, "it doesn't say much either," Professor Martin says.

Tests conducted by his classes, the psychologist asserts, have demonstrated that it is impossible to judge general ability and character by a photograph and that handwriting is not an accurate means of analyzing character.

Regular Meetings Of Church Societies Are Held In Homes And At Churches

Circles of the First Christian Woman's council, in separate meetings Monday afternoon, studied Romans 10:14-21.

Eleven women, including a new member, Mrs. H. E. Harrington, attended a meeting of Circle 1 in the home of Mrs. Paul Morris, 2006 Main street. Mrs. K. M. Renner presided for business and Mrs. Roxie Crausbay taught the lesson.

Mrs. H. D. Phillips, 1626 Sixteenth street, was hostess to 18 members of Circle 2 and two guests, Mrs. H. G. Gantz, wife of the new pastor of the church, and Mrs. T. Teal, council president. The group met at 1 p. m. for lunch, disbanding in time for the women to attend meetings of other circles if they wished. There was no lesson.

Mesdames Gantz and Teal and Mrs. N. L. Benson were guests at a meeting of Circle 3 in the home of Mrs. Jim Williams, 1801 Twentieth street. Mrs. R. V. Williams taught the lesson. Nineteen members attended.

Circle 4 met in the home of Mrs. Charles Files, 3315 Twenty-first street, with 15 women present. Mrs. E. L. Pitts was lesson chairman. Refreshments were served.

Executive Luncheon Is Given For Baptists

A monthly business meeting of the First Baptist Women's Missionary society at the church Monday afternoon was preceded by a luncheon at the activity center attended by 30 members of the executive committee.

Mrs. C. E. Hereford led in prayer at the luncheon. The committee planned a social. Various committees within the group held business meetings before going to the church for the general meeting.

Devotional at the church was by Mrs. R. S. Wilkinson and the following women gave reports:

Mrs. J. E. Alexander, minutes; Mrs. Claude Key, treasury; Miss Corinne Brown, young women's auxiliary; Mrs. J. H. Hankins, mission study; Mrs. Z. L. Wright, personal service; Mrs. W. B. Irvin, that Elkin Lockett circle was only one to have standard attendance the past quarter, and Mrs. Minnie Fickas, benevolence.

The society voted that circles shall meet for mission study the first Monday of each month and for Bible study the third Monday.

Forty-five women were present.

Seventy-Five Methodists Attend Business Meet

Mrs. Cecil R. Matthews was devotional leader at a monthly business meeting of the First Methodist Women's Missionary society at the church Monday afternoon. Seventy-five women were present.

Mrs. J. C. Reynolds read letters from missionaries in several foreign fields and reports from standing committees and officers were heard. Carolyn Reynolds played a violin solo with Mrs. J. B. Galland playing piano accompaniment. Closing prayer was by Mrs. R. T. Campbell.

Foreign Missions Are Studied At Meeting

A foreign mission program at the First Presbyterian church Monday afternoon was attended by 40 members of the woman's auxiliary. The leader, Mrs. M. D. Temple, was assisted by Mesdames H. F. Godeke and C. J. Wagner.

Rev. J. Hodge Alves Is Episcopal Speaker

Thirty-five members of St. Paul's Episcopal auxiliary attended a monthly Bible lecture given by Rev. J. Hodge Alves at the church Monday afternoon. The lecture was preceded by called business meetings of four units of the auxiliary.

Asbury Methodist Women Have Business Meeting

Twenty members of the Asbury Methodist Women's Missionary society met at the church Monday afternoon in monthly business discussion. Devotional was by Mrs. A. M. Dupree and closing prayer was by Mrs. B. L. Williamson.

Mrs. Wilbanks Conducts Central Baptist Meet

Seventeen women, including a new member, Mrs. G. W. Mears, attended a meeting of the Central Baptist Women's Missionary society at the church Monday afternoon. Opening songs were "An Evening Prayer" and "When We All Get To Heaven." Opening prayer was by Mrs. Ran Smith.

Mrs. Osa Wilbanks presided for a monthly business discussion. Dismissal prayer was by Mrs. A. T. Keeter.

Mrs. Sutton Presides For Calvary WMS Meeting

Mrs. G. L. Sutton presided for a business meeting of the Calvary Baptist Women's Missionary society at the church Monday afternoon. Devotional was by Mrs. O. A. Tyner, a guest. She discussed the society's watchword as found in Psalms: 6-8.

Mrs. Tom Campbell, also a guest, discussed "Standards of Excellence." Ten members were present.

Mrs. Crockett Honored By Canyon Society

Six members of the Canyon Community Missionary society met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Early Daniel, near Lubbock, for a Bible lesson and talk on the Ten Commandments by Mrs. F. H. Crockett.

Members brought gifts for Mrs. Crockett, wife of the pastor of the church, and Mrs. Crockett served pie to the group.

Rites For Baptist Missionary Will Be Held In City Today

Funeral services for Rev. J. A. Lopez, 51, missionary to the Mexican Baptist church here, were to be held at the First Baptist church at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Lopez died at his home on North Avenue U about 9 o'clock Monday night after a brief illness.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery under direction of Sanders Funeral home.

Mr. Lopez came here September 1. He had been pastor at Pearsall for 14 years previous to coming to Lubbock. Surviving are his wife, one son, and three daughters.

Mrs. C. P. Cox, 2001 Ninth street, will entertain for the 1936 Forty-two club Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

Crisis

PHILADELPHIA — Physicians at Mt. Sinai hospital studied the case of eight-year-old Joseph Fieger and soberly shook their heads.

"Medical science," they said, "can't do anything here."

So they took Joseph to the workshop, and, with a hacksaw, cut away a metal washer he'd jammed on his finger as a ring.

Sock-O!

COLUMBUS — County Auditor Newton A. Thatcher accepted a faded old $20 bill in payment for a dog license, but the bank said it was counterfeit.

Federal agents investigated, pronounced the bill genuine.

Thatcher did a little sleuthing on his own hook. The abashed dog-owner confessed the bill got that way because he did his banking in a sock—but he'd also been wearing the sock.

Well Read

CHICAGO — Suburban Evanston police are searching for a burglar who reads newspaper society columns to find out who's out of town.

They have clues. Their man shaves with an electric razor, wears a derby hat and fancies the gayer neckties—a few of the articles missing from homes whose occupants are vacationing in the south.

Big Help

LINCOLN, Neb. — Hermann Stegemann of Berlin wrote to the secretary of state here asking aid in locating his uncles and cousins. The official in a reply said it would be helpful to know the names of the uncles and cousins.

Stegemann's answer: "Their name is Stegemann, too."

Miss Frances Burns Weds In Abilene

Word was received this morning of the marriage of Miss Frances Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Burns of Abilene, former Lubbock residents, and Jess E. Hamilton of Abilene, which took place in Abilene Sunday morning at the Burns home with Rev. E. B. Surface, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a turquoise blue wool suit trimmed in lynx fur and beige accessories.

Miss Billie Bloom of Lubbock was maid of honor. She wore a two-piece suit with black skirt and American beauty coat and corsage of white carnations. Wilmot Eaton of this city was best man.

Mrs. Hamilton is a graduate of Lubbock High school and attended Texas Technological college for three years where she was a member of Sans Souci social club. At the University of Iowa she held membership in Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Mr. Hamilton, a former resident of Waco, received his education at Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene.

TO CONDUCT DRILL

Mrs. H. F. Godeke, 3001 Twenty-first street, is to conduct a parliamentary drill in Brownfield Thursday afternoon at a parent-teacher association meeting.

CATHARTICS GOT YOU DOWN?

If you have common constipation, due to lack of bulk in the diet, harsh purgatives don't get at the cause of the trouble. Often they leave you weakened.

It is better to eat a natural laxative food. Try regular breakfasts of Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains vitamin B,—the intestinal tract's great tonic. And All-Bran provides "bulk." It absorbs moisture, softens like a sponge, and forms a mass that aids elimination.

Eat this crunchy cereal every day, drink plenty of water and join the "regulars." Made by Kellogg at Battle Creek.

ARE YOU ONLY A 3/4 WIFE?

Men can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is lovable for three weeks of the month—but a hell-cat the fourth.

No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure.

Make a note NOW to get a bottle of Pinkham's today WITHOUT FAIL from your druggist—more than a million women have written in letters reporting benefit.

Why not try LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND?

Be Extra Careful about STUBBORN COLDS
Relieve Their Misery this PROVED Way

TOO often, the cold that "hangs on" is a result of neglect . . . and neglect is always risky. Be extra careful of a stubborn cold, of course. But the safest course is to be careful of all colds. Don't experiment. Relieve their misery this doubly proved way.

Here's What To Do: It's best to stay in bed and get lots of rest. Eat lightly, drink plenty of water, and keep elimination regular. And use Vicks VapoRub without delay.

VapoRub has been proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this.

No Long Waiting for Relief to Begin...

VapoRub is direct external treatment. No "dosing"—no stomach upsets. Just massage it on throat, chest, and back. Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

Relief starts almost at once. You begin to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time its medicated vapors, released by body warmth, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm, eases irritation and coughing, helps break local congestion. And long after restful sleep comes, VapoRub keeps right on working.

NOTE: If there is much irritation and coughing, or the air-passages feel clogged with heavy mucus or phlegm, even stronger vapor action is helpful. Pour boiling water in a bowl, melt a teaspoonful of VapoRub in it, and inhale the steaming vapors for several minutes.

Scores Killed During Fight

RECIFE, Brazil, Jan. 25. (AP) — Pernambuco state officials last night disclosed 140 members of a rebellious religious sect, worshippers of the horse-god Trancelim, had been killed in a backwoods battle with Brazilian police.

Five policemen were killed and ten wounded in the fighting which occurred in a remote section of Bahia state.

Details of the battle were told in dispatches from Captain Optato Queiroz, commander of a military police detachment operating against the sect headed by Jose Lourenco, prophet of the now-dead horse-god.

Dominate Stronghold

"After a 42-hour combat we have dominated the stronghold of the fanatics in Casanova township killing 140 of them in addition to those wounded," the captain reported.

"Lourenco was among those who escaped in the hand-to-hand fighting. Our military detachment consisted of 96 men, five of whom were killed and ten wounded."

A punitive expedition was sent against the strange religious cult last autumn when political leaders began to fear the growing power of Lourenco and his equine god.

Cesar Romero, the movie actor, was dancing in a New York night club when stage producer Brock Pemberton drafted him for a role in "Strictly Dishonorable."

why PUNISH yourself with bad-acting cathartics?

Don't take cathartics that act like dynamite! Don't punish your taste with nasty, bitter medicines just because you're constipated! It's all so unnecessary!

Next time you need a laxative, try Ex-Lax! It gives you a good, thorough cleaning out—but smoothly, easily, without throwing your eliminative system out of whack, without nausea or stomach pains. And Ex-Lax tastes just like chocolate!

For over 30 years, Ex-Lax has been America's favorite family laxative. Now it has been Scientifically Improved! It's actually better than ever! It TASTES BETTER than ever, ACTS BETTER than ever—and is MORE GENTLE than ever.

Equally good for children and grown-ups. 10¢ and 25¢ boxes at your druggist.

Bull With Rough Exterior And The Soul Of Gentleman Being Sought By Movies

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 25. (AP) — Wanted: A bull with a rough exterior and the soul of a gentleman.

The San Antonio Chamber of Commerce received a telegram from Hollywood requesting such a bull.

What's more, the bull will be distinguished with a motion picture part opposite charming Martha Raye.

The telegram was sent by Theodore Reed, Paramount director, who explained that he needed a "contented bull" to appear opposite Miss Raye in a bullfight sequence in the musical picture, "Tropic Holiday."

The animal must be of the type used in Mexican bull rings, Reed set out, and "must look very fierce but actually be docile," since obviously, we cannot risk Martha Raye with an unruly animal."

Raging Blizzard Is Sweeping Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 25. (AP) — A raging blizzard swept over Wisconsin last night, swooping down on many sections where rescue and repair crews were still coping with conditions caused by torrential rains and heavy snows.

Snow blocked many roads in northern and western Wisconsin, and the Milwaukee motor club warned all motorists off the highways. Sheet ice and flood waters were threats in the southern section as near-zero weather was predicted.

At Beloit 50 families were removed from the flood area, and the same rescue work, on a smaller scale, was carried on here and in surrounding towns.

During 1935, the United States exported 3,234,000,000 pounds of unmanufactured cotton. In the same year it imported 63,374,000 square yards of cotton cloth.

Jackson's Bond Action Urged

Recovery of $2,617.06 from the bonding company of Floyd Jackson, before his resignation district clerk, was authorized Monday by Lubbock county commissioners.

The county attorney's department was authorized to begin negotiations by mail with the company, surety on a $5,000 bond executed with the county Jan. 1, 1937.

Results From Audit

Action resulted from an audit of Jackson's books, which was submitted Jan. 15 and filed for recording Wednesday in the office of Ed D. Allen, county clerk.

The audit, made by Joe Y. Boyd, county auditor, listed ". . . the amount or amounts of shortage as best we could find and we recommend that steps be taken to collect the shortage shown."

A net balance of $2,617.06 assertedly was unpaid after deduction of credits.

Boyd's letter, fastened into a 20-page sheaf of tabulations, was addressed to the judges of the 72nd and the 99th district courts and to the county commissioners court.

In Monday's commission session, court members read where Boyd had listed in his audit total debits of $3,550.72, less credits aggregating $921.46, less $12.20 later paid.

Difficult To Determine

"It has been very difficult to determine the exact amount of shortage that exists," Boyd wrote into the document filed last week.

"We endeavored to retax the cost in each case by the papers filed and found that some of the papers were missing, and the exact cost could not be determined in this way.

"Certified copies of judgments were issued and never charged to the accounts, and unless these were filed in the county clerk's office there would be no other record except a credit on the fee books or file dockets of the district clerk, and if not shown there it would be impossible to determine the amount of such fees."

Numbers Are Listed

Under nine classifications, listed as exhibits A through I, the auditor lists what he terms "amount or amounts of shortage." He lists under each exhibit case numbers. The nine classifications stretch through a total of 863 entries.

Exhibit A lists totals through clerk's fees, jury fees, and steno fees for $2,088.14; exhibit B totals through Charles Metcalfe fees (former clerk) $378.56; exhibit C lists a total of $370.97 for sheriff's fees; exhibit D total certified copy fees, $175.50; exhibit E, tax suits, $82.80, exhibit F, criminal fees, sheriff, $22.20, and criminal fees, clerk, $18.10, for a total criminal fees of $40.30; exhibit G, clerk certificate fees, $52.50; exhibit H, transcript fees, $349.75; exhibit I, trust fund, $12.20 (later paid).

Individual amounts of the assorted shortage ran through the 863 entries anywhere from 5 cents to $83.15.

Exhibit J listed 36 entries of clerk's credits—fees overpaid, $67.30; cash paid Nov. 9, 1937, $500, and salary for November, 1937, $354.16, for a total of credits in clerk's fees $921.46.

Motion to authorize the county attorney to enter negotiations with the bonding company was made by T. L. Holt and seconded by P. B. Penney, respectively of precincts 3 and 1.

Commissioners Holt and Penney were authorized to arrange for maintaining two feeder roads, or farm-to-market highways, after the state has surfaced them. In precinct 1 is the Slide road from highway 9 west 6.87 miles, project FAS 877-A; in precinct 3 is the Acuff road from highway 24 south towards Acuff, project FAS 10-A, and 4.687 miles long. Caliche base has been laid.

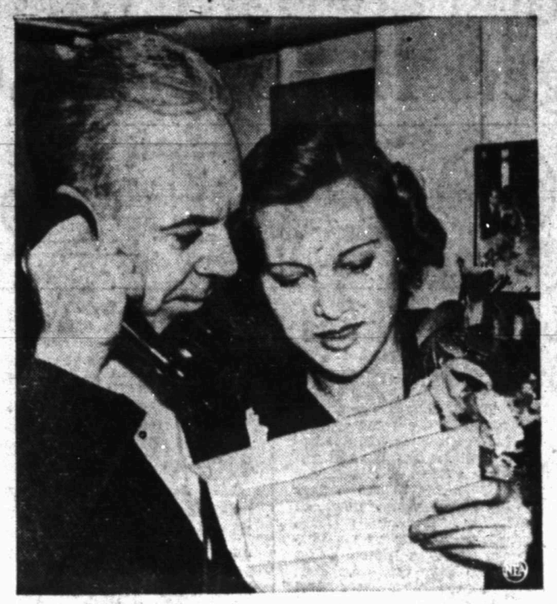

Purchase of a typewriter for the county attorney's office was authorized. All accounts were ordered paid. A board bill for city prisoners held in county jail was approved and the court voted to charge the city 50 cents a day for city prisoners held there.

Judge Dillard was authorized to execute a right of way easement to the South Plains Electric Cooperative in front of the county farm. County employes, especially those engaged in precinct highway work, will not have to pay for chauffeur's licenses, the court voting to buy them for men hauling materials. Four or five men in each precinct are involved, it was said.

All warrants not heretofore ordered canceled were so ordered.

The Israelites had marbles with them when they made their 40-year journey.

Lee Riggs, auctioneer, knows tobacco . . . he explains why experts prefer Luckies 2 to 1

"THIS SEASON," says Mr. Riggs, "I've sold tobacco in Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Tennessee. More than 7,500,000 pounds, I figure, amounting to about $2,000,000 in money.

"Time after time I've seen Lucky Strike get the prettiest tobacco in the auction. That's one reason I've smoked Luckies ever since I've been an auctioneer.

"Another reason I and so many other tobacco auctioneers prefer Luckies is because we have to watch out for our throats." (Luckies are extra-easy on the throat because the "Toasting" process takes out certain irritants found in even the finest tobacco.)

Mr. Riggs goes on to say that Luckies are the top cigarette with people who know tobacco. And he is talking facts.

Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many—yes, twice as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes put together.

Lubbock High Cagers Hope To Hit Comeback Trail Against Plainview Club

Local Outfit Has Dropped 3 In A Row

The Lubbock High school Westerner basketeers, defeated in their last three starts, hope to hit the comeback trail tonight when they clash with the Plainview Bulldogs in a Big Five league game at the local high school gymnasium.

The game starts at 8 o'clock.

As an added attraction, and one calculated to draw upon the football as well as basketball interest, the high school will present letter sweaters and awards to outstanding performers during the 1937 gridiron race. The presentation of awards, by Head Coach Weldon Chapman, will take place immediately after the basketball game.

Cagers Believed Improved

Members of the Westerner squad of last fall's football campaign will march across the court and be introduced as they receive the awards. As a rule, the sweaters are presented during student convocation, with but few outside fans in on the proceedings. Tonight's presentation will be open to the public.

The Westerner cagers, probably none the worse off for valuable experience gained in last week's hard grind in the north Panhandle, will be the underdogs again tonight, but Coach Goober Keyes believes they will show more goal shooting and defensive ability than they have displayed so far this season. After sweeping the opening series with the Amarillo Sandies, the Westerners went to Borger and divided a series with the Bulldogs there last Wednesday and Thursday nights, dropping the second game. They moved into Pampa and dropped both ends of a two-game series to the league leading Harvesters, who have lost but one game in eight starts.

One Loss For Bulldogs

Plainview also has lost but one game, while winning five. Lubbock's three victories and three defeats place the Westerners in third place right now, with Borger fourth with 2 victories in seven games, and Amarillo last with no victories in seven starts.

The Plainview Bulldogs as a result of their Big Five campaigning, loom as a strong favorite in the district interscholastic league race. The team is made up of tall boys, adept at flipping baskets.

Lubbock's starting lineup probably will consist of L. D. Venable and Robert Allen, forwards; H. P. Ford, center, Dutchy Cawthon and Rusty Johnston, guards. This quintet extended the Pampa Harvesters last Saturday night, losing a bitter 32-31 contest. Ford, with 13 points, led all individual scorers.

To Plainview Wednesday

While Lubbock was dropping two games at Pampa, Plainview was defeating Borger twice by scores of 26 to 24 and 27 to 25. Miller and Hutson were Plainview powers in both victories.

As another added attraction tonight, about 6 rounds of boxing will be presented by Coach Ross Ayers' leather pushers between halves of the ball game.

The Westerners play at Plainview Wednesday night.

Manager Of Baer Brothers Is To Seek Fight In New York

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 25. (AP)—Ancil Hoffman, manager of the Baer brothers, Max and Buddy, will take his two battlers to New York Thursday in hopes of landing one or both in the top flight bracket of heavyweights, he said today.

Both Tommy Farr, the Welshman, and his conqueror, Jim Braddock, have drawn the line against a Max Baer match, Hoffman was told by Matchmaker Mike Jacobs on the telephone.

"But I have a contract to fight the winner of the Braddock-Farr fight. I can sue you and the Garden corporation. This is a cold blooded runout," Hoffman said he told Jacobs over the phone.

Biff Jones Convinced High School Players Efficient

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 25 (AP)—Maj. L. M. (Biff) Jones, University of Nebraska football coach, seemed convinced today high school athletes are becoming more efficient each year.

Coach Jones received a letter from one in which the youth extolled his ability as a touchdown scorer.

The letter was mimeographed.

Farr's Former Manager Makes A "Killing" As He Bets On Jim Braddock To Win 3 To 1

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 — Ted Broadribb, who got the old heave-ho as Tommy Farr's manager, bet on Braddock and cleaned up $2,500 at 3 to 1. . . . How many bleedin' bob is that? . . . Dr. James Stotter, the New York plastic surgeon, has a blonde nurse named Sonja Henie, but the gal can't skate a lick, believe it or not. . . . Sue us if we're wrong, but Ralph Guldahl, National Open champion, is getting ready to transfer from the swanky Miami-Biltmore country club to the Palm Beach C.C. . . . (You may read about it before this hits the papers).

Bill Terry's long-awaited blast at sports writers in the new Satevepost wasn't nearly as hot, or as vicious, as advance notices hinted. . . . Bill devoted most of his $2,500 words to telling what a swell job he has done at becoming a cussess . . . Well, you can't laugh off $40,000 a year (and for five years) now can you? . . . Correction: Buck Everett, the fighter isn't a full-blooded Cherokee Indian, as we chronicled here the other day, but a former Gary, Ind., steel worker. . . .

Everyone seems to have got worked up at the fisticuffings the other night. . . . Just before Braddock and Farr entered the ring, one aircaster told his publick: "We now take you to the Yankee stadium where so and so is waiting at the ringside to give you a blow-by-blow description of the Braddock-Farr fight." . . . A few rounds later good old so and so yelled into the mike: "Baer has just pumped a hard right into Braddock's body."

Mike Jacobs has sunk 48,000 potatoes into the Sonja Henie ice carnival at Miami next month . . . But then Mike can afford it. . . . He has only averanged $40,000 for the eight fight shows he has put on in the Garden.

Miss Alene Beard, coach of a girls' basketball team at Valliant, Okla., has to address six members of her squad as "Mrs." . . . You gals who want to reduce may take this for what it's worth: Nancy Hatch, the reducing expert, says the best sport for taking it off is tennis.

Golfing Stars Open Tour Of Winter Trail

BY ROBERT MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 25—The play-for-pay golfing delegation bade goodby to southern California for a year today and turned back toward the northern part of the state for further cracks at the money scattered along the winter tournament trail.

Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., won the $3,000 Pasadena open yesterday in the final event on the program down here, and led his touring brethren on to Oakland for the $5,000 open there this week-end.

Has Card Of 276

Picard finished with a card of 70-66-71-69—276, which was the best score ever made in the local tournament and consistent enough to beat out such par smashers as Jimmy Thomson, Jimmy Hines and Byron Nelson.

Hines, of Garden City, N. Y., wound up second with 278, and Nelson, with a third round 64 to help him get in the running, nosed out Thomson for third place money. Nelson had 279 and hard-hitting Jimmy had 289.

Others Trail Behind

Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., with 281, and Horton Smith, Chicago, and Jack Grout, Picard's assistant, tied with 282.

The money results of the year, starting off with the Los Angeles open, which Thomson won, found the following high-winners: Thomson, $2,380; Picard, $1,715, including the $700 won yesterday; Revolta, $1,530; Hines, $952.50; Lawson Little, San Francisco, $865; Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, Va., $735.55; Horton Smith, $695; Byron Nelson, Dayton, O., $350 and George Von Elm, Los Angeles, $350.

District One May "Grow"

By Collier Parris

THE 1938 FOOTBALL season continues Sunday at Houston. The Southwestern All-Stars, a hurriedly organized crew of former college and professional stars who had their innings of glory in the South and Southwest, who bowed to the Chicago professional Bears in Houston on Jan. 16, assemble again at the Bayou city next Sunday to battle the Washington Redskins, world's pro champs.

Of particular interest is the suggestion that a couple of former Texas Tech greats will line up with the All-Stars Sunday.

They are Jim Neill, the Brownfield ace who went to town for Tech in 1936, and Captain Red Ramsey of the 1937 Raiders.

Each has received a warm invitation to play with the All-Stars against the Redskins. They say they'll accept, and will be on their way right soon.

Neill, in case you had forgotten, which you haven't, played with the New York Giants last fall in his professional debut. Ramsey has been drafted by the pros for next season, but doesn't know exactly where he'll go. Ramsey played with the All-Stars last Sunday week at Houston when they lost, 19-10, to the Bears. The gorgeous Tech wingman started at right end. After about 58 minutes of play, he took himself out of the game, asked the coach to send in a substitute "so he can play some too. After all, he came here to play, and I've kept him from it."

Ramsey bagged a lot of praise for his part in the game. He caught a couple of important passes, one of them for 38 yards, 3 yards short of a touchdown.

He could have done better, no doubt, had he been assigned to the playing left halfback would have been. He just hasn't been playing was for him, about as strange as right end, and there's some difference, they tell us, between the positions.

If they play Ramsey at left end and Neill at left halfback next Sunday against the Redskins, well — they'll know a ball game was being played.

SPEAKING OF THE Redskins, who took the Chicago Bears to a cleaning Sunday and doubly clinched the national and world's championship, we are anxious to get the Fort Worth Star-Telegram report, particularly that of Lorin McMullen, regarding the post post-season "game" played in a Fort Worth night club about 3 o'clock in the morning Monday.

McMullen was telling us, in a letter the other day, about what a "swell gang of guys the Redskins are." The Washington team had been training in Fort Worth for a week preceding the game.

"You wouldn't believe it, but those guys are as serious about their football, and about making an impression and creating public affection for themselves, as any high school or college team you ever saw.

"They're dead serious, at the same time they have a lot of fun. They are gentlemen, in the fullest meaning of the term. They're putting professional football on a high plane, and they're going to make it very popular."

We agree that the pros are bringing their football close to the public. Professional football will be extremely popular in the seasons to come. College football will suffer a falling off in attendance, unless it is perked up some. The pros aren't going to run the collegians out of their big stadia, but they're going to make it tough for the institutions and alumni to pay for those stadia.

But even professional gridders must "unlax" at times.

The Redskins did it Sunday night, after whipping the Bears in the Dallas Cotton Bowl, as you know if you read the papers this morning. They returned to Cowtown, and proceeded to take over a night spot, where they held forth until 3 a. m. At that time they were on the losing end of a scrimmage with a twelve-man team of Cowtown coppers, who had rallied when two, three, half a dozen, of their mates had been forcibly ousted from the house by the celebrating Redskins.

At the last report, they got off pretty lightly, the Redskins coach and manager fixing things up with the Fort Worth law.

It isn't that we hold anything against the Washington club for celebrating — they had it coming, no doubt, after that battle in the mud, and their fine victory. But we're still waiting to hear further from our friend of the Fort Worth paper, and his version of the festivities.

DISTRICT ONE HOPES TO GREET LAMESA

Possibility that membership in District 1 of the Class A division of the University of Texas Interscholastic league would be increased to six schools seems bright at the moment.

Coach Ted McCollum and his whanging Golden Tornadoes of Lamesa are leaving the Class B ranks to join up with the higher classification. The Lamesa high school enrollment has reached the boiling point, so far as Class B is concerned, and according to the rules, the school must move up.

Lamesa officials have been invited to attend a meeting of District 1 executives Wednesday morning at Plainview, at which time it is hoped that the district schedule will be lined up to meet a six-club need. Lamesa, it is held, belongs in District 1, with Amarillo, Pampa, Borger, Plainview and Lubbock.

But Lamesa does not want to join District 1. It feels that competition is too tough, that it would never have a chance to win.

Coach Weldon Chapman and Lubbock High school can offer sincere sympathies to Lamesa. They know just how tough it is. So do Borger, Plainview and Pampa.

The latest report indicated that Lamesa would, however, become a member of District 1, regardless of likes and dislikes, as the result of arbitrary action of the interscholastic league. All interscholastic league decisions and actions are arbitrary.

Superintendent V. Z. Rogers of Lamesa schools was in Austin yesterday conferring with league officials about the situation, and trying to convince them that Lamesa belonged in District 3, the district to the south. Geographically, Lamesa has a

Cage Game On Feb. 5 To Be Last Battle

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 25 (AP)—Notre Dame and Pittsburgh apparently had reached a parting of athletic ways today. Reports persisted on the Notre Dame campus that a basketball game between the two schools here February 5 would mark the end of the Irish-Panther rivalry.

Notre Dame officials would not say all athletic relations with Pittsburgh would be severed after the basketball game, but the Irish sports schedules, as now drawn up, do not list any other future competition with Pitt.

Only Brief Comment

Elmer Layden, Notre Dame's athletic director, commented only:

"Schedule commitments for two or three years ahead make it impossible to book the Panthers."

In Notre Dame's football schedule for 1938, announced some weeks ago, Georgia Tech replaced Pittsburgh. Irish-Panther rivalry has been one of the high spots on the gridiron cards of both schools for several seasons.

The Tribune said Carnegie Tech or Duquesne would replace the Panthers on the Irish basketball schedule.

Reports Called Absurd

Reports from Pittsburgh that Notre Dame had asked H. C. Carlson, Pitt basketball coach, to discontinue zone defense in the recent Irish-Panther basketball game there was called "absurd" by George Keogan, Notre Dame mentor.

Keogan denied Pittsburgh reports that Notre Dame insisted on Western conference officials for the game.

"Pittsburgh picked the officials," Keogan asserted, "and we approved them."

California Threatens Not To Appear Again In Rose Bowl

BERKELEY, Calif., Jan. 25 (AP)—Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California warned Rose Bowl officials today California would accept no future invitations to play in the annual football classic unless "ticket distribution inequalities" were remedied.

Dr. Sproul's statement was in reply to widespread criticism evoked by distribution of tickets for this year's game with Alabama.

California first filed applications of its alumni in accordance with Pacific coast conference regulations. After that was done there were few tickets left for public sale.

Old-Timer Declares DiMaggio Is Not Such A Hot Player

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—Joe DiMaggio, demanding $35,000 for performing with the Yankees the coming season, finds no supporter in a player of a bygone day, Mickey Welch, who pitched for the original New York Giants from 1882 to 1892.

Welch, now 78, thinks the present day salary scale in the big big leagues is scandalous and that it is damaging to team spirit the way the figures of the various players are aired annually.

He Worked For It

"Most I ever got in my life was $4,000 a year," he recalled. "Believe me, I worked for it, too. Days I wasn't pitching I played centerfield, and the first year we were in the National league I had to be at the park ahead of time to mind the 'stile'."

Welch's manager at that time was the colorful Jim Mutrie, first pilot of the Giants, who died here yesterday at the age of 86. They were great pals, but he can't even imagine what would have happened if he had tried to hold out on Mutrie for a larger salary.

Joe Not So Hot

"Buck Ewing, the greatest catcher who ever lived, was the highest paid man on the team at $3,200. Buck asked Mutrie for $3,500, pointing out that he was captain and practically field manager of the team. Mutrie didn't like it much, but he finally agreed to the raise providing Buck would catch 100 games, which he did.

"This DiMaggio, now, he's no super player. He's a low-ball hitter and we would have pitched to him in my day. He's not half the player that Buck Ewing was."

Slightly Prejudiced

It might be pointed out, if Welch seems slightly prejudiced in Ewing's case, that Buck was his battery mate. On July 3, 1885, with Ewing catching, Welch shut out Chicago, 1 to 0. They hopped to Buffalo that night, and the next morning Welch stopped Buffalo, 6 to 0. That afternoon he weakened slightly and beat Buffalo only 6 to 2. He won 17 straight games before that string was broken.

Those were great days, Welch admits. The visiting players always were taken from their hotel to the park in big, gaudy carriages, and many a decayed rutabaga and overripe egg signalized their progress through the streets. They could expect a vegetable shower on the way back to the hotel, too, if they won.

Frank Demaree Is Believing Stories About His Ability

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 (AP)—Frank Demaree, who has been hearing reports of his ability as a baseball player all winter, apparently wants to convert them into cash at the Chicago Cubs' front office.

Demaree, from his Los Angeles home, bounced the proffered 1938 contract right back at Owner P. K. Wrigley. Since Wrigley and his aides have been telling the baseball world since last December they would never dispose of hard-hitting Frank, it appears Demaree holds the contract "ace" and the Cub management is in the hole.

The average velocity of the earth in its orbit is 18 1-2 miles a second, and it moves more slowly in July than in January.

Larry MacPhail On A Shopping Tour To Bolster His Dodgers

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 (AP)—Larry MacPhail, newly-appointed business manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, launched a shopping tour last night to bolster the club, with his prize pitching ace, Van Lingle Mungo as his lure.

The St. Louis Cardinals appeared to have taken the lead in negotiations for Mungo.

MacPhail prepared to leave for St. Louis to confer today with Branch Rickey, vice president of the Cardinals.

From reliable sources it was disclosed Rickey advised MacPhail he would top any other offer for the pitching prize. MacPhail said he had no appointment with Phil K. Wrigley, president of the Cubs, who also is in the market for the Brooklyn pitcher. It appears any deal the Cubs had in mind has fallen through.

The Cubs are reported to have offered Lonnie Frey, Rip Collins, Pitcher Clyde Shoun and Outfielder Joe Marty plus cash. MacPhail, however, does not want Frey because he was once a Brooklynite and did not seem to play his best in that atmosphere.

In place of those players Mac Phail is reported to have demanded Clay Bryant, strong right hand pitcher, and Outfielder Augie Galan, with cash. The Dodgers have given up hope of prying Frank Demaree loose from the Cub stronghold.

Meanwhile the signed 1938 contracts of Pitcher Tex Carleton and Phil Cavarretta, 21-year-old first baseman, arrived at the Cubs office.

Slaton Oilers Continue Their Parade; Win Double-Header

SLATON, Jan. 25. (Special)—The Slaton Oilers, leading independent basketball team of the South Plains, continued their ravages last night with a double header victory here.

In the first game, F. M. Sachse led the Oilers to a 70-25 victory over the Graham Chapel team. Jimmy Neely was second with 14 points. Neely scored 16 points in the second game as the Oilers defeated Lynn, 43 to 21. The Oilers played the last ten minutes of the Lynn game with only four men in order to help "even up" the circumstances.

Kerr Brothers Cagers Check Late Rally To Beat Wilson

Kerr Brothers Service station basketball team of Lubbock checked a late rally by the Wilson independents at Wilson High school gymnasium Monday night to gain a 44-29 basketball victory. Wilson trailed, 12 to 28, at the half.

Ince of Kerr Brothers paced the scoring with 16 points. Shaw was high point man for Wilson with 11. Kerr Brothers team is seeking other games.

Clark Griffith Again Proving He Is Fox Of Front Office

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — Comes contract-signing time, and Clark Griffith again displays his skill as the modern fox of the front office.

Right now when a lot of big league baseball owners are arguing with holdouts, the white-haired president of the Washington Senators is quietly signing up his 1938 team.

Only Jonathan Stone and Mel Almada are reported to be asking for more money, and Al Simmons is supposed to be trying to beat off a pay cut. But the "old fox" hasn't talked to them yet.

Lamesa May Join Class A Football

AUSTIN, Jan. 25. (AP) — Odessa, Lamesa and Vocational of Fort Worth would be admitted to class A ranks in Texas Interscholastic league football next season under tentative recommendations made by the state committee Monday.

Odessa would be placed in the El Paso district, Lamesa in district 1 (the Panhandle) and Vocational in district 7 (the Fort Worth district). All three teams are now in the class B set-up.

The U. S. Bureau of Fisheries has established that striped bass average 12 miles a day in their southbound migration.

Bill Terry Takes A Crack At Reporters

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—Bill Terry says it ain't so.

The New York Giants' manager, whose "feud" with the sports writers has supplied those writers with plenty of copy for years, takes up the cudgel on his own behalf in an article entitled "Terrible Terry" in this week's Saturday Evening Post.

Terry, tracing the feud to his refusal to give his private telephone number to a New York sports editor, who immediately adopted an "anti-Terry" attitude because of the "snub," goes over a number of incidents which have been related in print and some which haven't been told, to give his own versions.

He still doesn't have much to say in favor of the sports writers, charging them with misrepresentation in more than one case and with letting themselves be "used" by John J. McGraw when Terry was holding out for the first time.

RELAYS ARE SET

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Chicago relays, expected to bring together many of the nation's outstanding track stars, will be held March 26 at the International amphitheater.

That Girl on Broadway says you can't kiss a woman unexpectedly; the best you can do is kiss her sooner than she thought.

Mrs. M. H. Vardeman, of Acuff, sent this in:

Democracy is funny sometimes: this is the month in which we pay a tax for the privilege of voting for somebody who will make us pay more taxes!

WELL. The Plainsman has been browsing around up in Oklahoma for the past several days, engaging in oratorical acrobatics before the lads and lassies of his Alma Mammy, the University of Oklahoma, and before a lot of his old sidekicks in the Oklahoma Press association.

While in Oklahoma The Plainsman ran across a couple of items which should be of interest down here.

Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President told the writer that he has no intentions of running for office in Texas any time soon and as far as he knows now, he will not enter public life at any time.

Alfalfa Bill Murray, former Oklahoma governor, one-time aspirant to the Democratic presidential nomination, storm center of many a political struggle and the Sooner state's counterpart of "Sockless Jerry" Simpson, says he will be the next governor of Oklahoma. (And you'd be surprised how many people who are against him are saying that he will be the next governor!)

YOUNG Mr. Roosevelt was one of the speakers on the press association program and it so happened that The Plainsman was thrown with him upon several occasions.

We joshed back and forth about the rumors which had been flying around to the effect that Elliott would run for lieutenant-governor of Texas; that whomever happened to be elected governor would be given a big federal job so Elliott could succeed him—and that the New Deal thus would have Texas patronage in its hip pocket. Elliott is very goodnatured about the whole thing, yet seriously insists that he's not interested in politics from a personal angle.

"I'm neither a Democrat nor a Republican," he says with a contagious grin very similar to his dad's. "I'm just a business man trying to get along!"

While he recently has earned a big promotion in the Hearst radio chain and his office has been moved from Fort Worth to New York, he is keeping his residence in Fort Worth. He says he'd rather live in Texas than anywhere under the sun; that he likes Texas people and he hopes they like him.

To tell the truth about it, The Plainsman was struck by the way young Roosevelt handled himself in several public appearances in connection with the Oklahoma newspapermen's meeting.

The young man has a fine appearance, makes a dandy extemporaneous speech with a lot of spontaneous humor mixed in, and ducks out of corners with a dexterity which one cannot help admiring.

He is forever "on the spot," simply because people either admire or dislike his father and the Roosevelt family as a whole and for that reason are either expecting Elliott to make a big hit—or are hoping that he flops.

To his credit it must be said that Elliott Roosevelt—judging from his Oklahoma activities—is both a bright and affable young man who gets over with people in a big way. And that includes people who, to say the least, do not care for his father's administration.

INCIDENTALLY, Elliott plans to be out here with his mother on March 8, when Mrs. Roosevelt will speak in Lubbock at the senior high school, under the sponsorship of The Avalanche-Journal.

He has been here, incognito, several times, in connection with some oil holdings he has in Yoakum and Gaines counties and his knowledge of this section of his adopted state is quite broad.

The Plainsman also had a pleasant session with Alfalfa Bill Murray, by whom he chanced to be sitting at the annual Oklahoma Gridiron banquet in which the state's great get the pants kidded off them every year.

The event is similar to the national gridiron and of course everybody from all over the state who can wangle a ticket rushes up to howl at the various skits and parodies.

Mr. Murray, who is 68, was, of course, one of those pilloried. But like all the rest of the razzed bigwigs present, he got a big kick out of it.

STILL wearing the handlebar moustaches of early Oklahoma statehood, this grizzled, backwoodsy genius confided that 200,000 votes will win the governorship now that the runoff primary has been eliminated in Oklahoma.

"I've got 125,000 votes right now," he said and a lot of people—including his political enemies—agree.

Murray in Oklahoma is very similar to Jim Ferguson in Texas, politically speaking, in his tremendous popularity with "the boys in the forks of the crick."

He does not have Mr. Ferguson's polish, however, although he probably is in Farmer Jim's class as a mass psychologist and a state political power.

The visiting evangelist had just finished a sermon on the duties of wives to husbands.

"I want," he caroled, in best evangelistic style, "every woman who will promise to go home and mother her husband, to stand up!"

One little woman who was known to be a trifle deaf promptly leaped to her feet.

"Ah," cried the preacher, "there is one woman here who will mother her husband."

The old lady's expression immediately changed.

"Mother him," she cried, sitting down. "I thought you said smother him!"

That Man on Avenue Q says a car parked on a lonely road is only two generations removed from the porch swing or the parlor sofa.

Two women were chatting across the back fence.

"I got so highearted this morning," said one, "that I gave $5 to a bum."

"Gee," ejaculated the other. "What did your husband say?"

"Thanks."

MISS Virginia Lee Barr, 19-year-old daughter of the I. E. Barrs, certainly has the sympathy of The Plainsman and of all who have heard of her accident of yesterday.

Just off crutches after about five months of painful convalescing after an automobile accident last August, Miss Barr fell in a downtown cafe and broke her leg. The break was at the same point of a fracture sustained in the automobile mishap.

Miss Barr had been patient throughout the long months following the first accident, in which a broken leg was only one of numerous injuries and although for long periods in wracking pain, she had looked forward cheerfully to her recovery.

It seems to The Plainsman that she's had more than her share of hard luck and he hopes she's had her last.

CHAPTER III

When Gibbs brought Miss Connie's breakfast that next morning, there was no response. When she returned with it again an hour later, there was still no response.

Gibbs' face took on its pinched expression. She knew that this signified a thunderstorm ahead. Whether to risk it now, or postpone it, was the question. Already the day's schedule overlapped. The masseur would have to be fitted into the same half hour as the manicurist; then there was that girl coming from Lucille's with the new frocks to be tried and fitted. Gibbs set her thin lips; knocked once more on the door, pushing it open at the same time with a decisive jut from her knee, crossed the room like a soldier about to face a firing squad.

"It's very late, Miss Connie," she said firmly. "It's a lovely breakfast I've brought." She set the tray on the little table by the mammoth bed. Its occupant was a tiny mound buried among the heaps of cushions and the silk and satin coverlet. A mound that did not stir.

Gibbs crossed the room once more with the same purposeful footsteps. She pulled the heavy brocade draperies letting the warm bright sunlight stream in. "It's a lovely day," she stated, as though expecting an immediate denial of such an obvious fact. "A busy day, too, Miss Connie, if you'll please to remember."

Still the mound did not stir, though there was a faint quiver of the long curling dark lashes on the smooth fair cheeks.

"Mr. Brandon already has called three times," Gibbs ventured, and knew immediately that this was the wrong approach because the mound flopped over and buried itself even deeper. "There's a lovely account about your lovely party last night." Undaunted, Gibbs tried again, proving the old axiom that it pays.

* * *

Connie stirred, sat up, flung out a rounded white arm. "Let me see," she said. Sleep had vanished from the blue eyes; fire smoldered in their depths. Her hair hung in a loose swirl that just brushed the ribbon and lace on her shoulder of the chiffon gown that had come, with trunkloads of other lingerie, from the Rue de la Paix.

Gibbs handed her the papers, carefully folded at the proper place.

Connie glanced at the first one, flung it aside. "I knew it," she muttered.

"The low-down spying sneak. If only I'd been a man. . . . Or had one with me." She gave the pillow next to her a vicious thump. "'I'll have to send for the guards if you don't go,'" she mimicked in what was a surprising imitation of Rodney's clean-clipped Harvard accent. Then she slumped down among the pillows again. "Take it away, please," she waved Gibbs and the papers, and the whole universe out of her sight. "Don't want any breakfast. Don't think I'll get up—ever. You can tell the newspapers that. Tell them to come take a picture of me dying — dying of boredom and nausea. Tell them they can have one in my coffin, too, for good measure. Tell them . . ."

"Now, Miss Connie, you'll really be ill, if you allow yourself to get all worked up." Gibbs bent to pick up the scattered papers, smoothing out a crumpled sheet that explained—too late—the bomb that had set off the explosion. A full length portrait of Miss Connie, clasped, somewhat gingerly, it is true, but clasped, nevertheless, in Mr. Rodney's virile arms, his lips pressed—not quite so gingerly—against hers, and underneath the caption: "MILLION DOLLAR PRINCESS BESTOWS BETROTHAL KISS."

"I am ill." Connie muttered from the pillows. "I'm sick. I'm sick of living. I'm sick of myself." Go way—please. Take the tray and those papers with you. I don't want to see anything or any one ever. Understand, Gibby?"

"Now, Miss Connie" Gibbs began severely, purposefully again; but she saw that it was no use, so she did as she was bid, her lips set disapprovingly.

The mound underneath the silk and satin coverlet lay quiet once more. It did not move an inch or utter a sound until what might have been hours, or days, or years later, when another knock came at the door.

The knock was repeated, louder, more urgently. The door was pushed open.

"Didn't I tell you to go 'way?"

A pillow, a small affair of silk and lace, but solid and compact for all that, owing to the force of the velocity with which it was hurled, caught the young girl in the doorway squarely in the middle, sending the big box clasped tightly in her arms to the floor with a smack.

"Oh," Connie sat up, rubbed the sleep, and some of the fire, out of her eyes. She stared at the girl. "Who are you? How did you get in?" she asked. And then, as the girl, without answering, stooped and began to gather the scattered contents from the box together, "I'm sorry I hit you," Connie said.

The girl did not look up. She was intent upon her task.

"I said I'm sorry I hit you," Connie repeated.

The girl glanced at her over her shoulder, but she went on repacking the contents into the box.

"Can't you talk?" Connie asked. She sat up straight now, leaning forward to clasp her knees in her arms. There was a tiny candle of interest, lighted in her blue eyes.

The girl nodded solemnly. Her eyes, blue like Connie's, were wide with wonder, as though they could not credit all they saw.

"Why don't you, then?" This time Connie's tone was touched with impatience. She reached for a negligee at the foot of the bed. She slung her feet to the floor, wiggled into blue silk mules, the heels of which were studded with rhinestones, walked over to her chaise lounge and sat down.

"You took my breath," the girl said. "And I was told not to say anything. Just leave the box."

"I won't bite," Connie said. "I suppose you're the girl from Lucille's. Well, you can take those things back. I don't want any of them."

The girl just stared at her, not saying a word.

"Did you hear me?" Connie asked. The girl nodded.

"I said I didn't want to see anyone, or anything, ever again," Connie said. "And I meant it."

HARD HEADS IN HIGH PLACES

An extreme example of senatorial hard-headedness was the announcement by Democratic Leader Barkley that the administration housing bill will be side-tracked so that the demonstratedly futile debate on the anti-lynching measure may be continued.

Probably no other measure to be considered at the present session of congress has more potent possibilities for ending the recession than the housing bill. It has strong support in all political quarters. Even to the layman it must be obvious that home building on an immense scale is needed and that if such construction can be encouraged, it is virtually certain to mean restoration of economic stability.

On the other hand, the anti-lynching bill means exactly nothing in an economic sense. Even if we conceded the desirability of such a measure—which The Journal does not—it would not be an agency to bring prosperity. It might save the political necks of a few senators who, by supporting the measure, may gain negro votes. But it cannot help the nation as a whole. Further than that, keeping it before the senate means indefinite prolongation of the debate which foes of the bill hope eventually will kill it.

If the bill is passed, it makes little difference whether it is tomorrow or six months from now. Delay in consideration of the housing bill might easily mean the difference between depression and prosperity. It looks very much like the senate is prepared to fiddle while Rome burns.

A Thought . .

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 25 — A long-distance call from Chicago tinkled into the office of WDZ, a small radio station at Tuscola, Ill.

It caught Smiley Burnette right in the middle of one of his solo programs. He was spouting a commercial announcement into the microphone, cranking the applause machine with one hand and winding a phonograph with the other.

Pretty soon he was able to take the call, and it was from Gene Autry, who was offering Burnette a job because his orchestra, on a vaudeville engagement, needed an accordion player in a hurry.

Burnette said yes, he could play a squeeze-box, together with 51 other instruments. But he didn't know as he ought to figure on another job because he was doing all right here in Tuscola — getting $17 a week and free gasoline.

"Well, think it over," said the voice in Chicago. "I can pay $35."

"Brother," croaked Burnette, "I don't need to think it over. You've hired yourself a hand!"

Range Like A Cookstove

They've been together ever since—the 225-pound, musically versatile comedian and the crooning guitarist who has become the No. 1 cowboy hero of the screen. Smiley has appeared in 26 pictures, 20 of them Gene Autry westerns in which he is known as "Frog."

His freakish voice is responsible for the nickname, and sometimes he is hired to talk for animated cartoons.

He can play five instruments at the same time —accordion, harmonica, tambourine, cymbal and bells.

"Of course you wouldn't mistake it for Guy Lombardo or Benny Goodman," smiled Smiley. "But I got rhythm."

Plays The Zither, Too

His father was a Campbellite minister, and the family did a lot of traveling. But they stopped long enough in Astoria, Ill., for the boy to get acquainted with an orchestra leader named Bill Baird, who owned 26 instruments.

Burnette managed to buy three of the instruments — a clarinet, guitar and bells. He learned to play them in two weeks, then traded them for three other instruments. Pretty soon he had mastered all 26, and after that was insatiable.

Now he can play anything from archulte to zither, though he can't read a note of music.

In much the same wholesale fashion, Burnette also composes. A Smiley Burnette Song Book contains 52 of his numbers. He wrote all the music for the first eight Autry westerns. His record is 11 songs in one 8-hour day, and 10 of them were used in pictures.

He Shocked Papa

For years, and long before he twanged a lyre or tootled a sackbut, Smiley collected songs, ballads mostly. He learned them from records and copied down the words.

Now he figures that if he could sing for three days and nights steadily, allowing three minutes to a ditty, he'd never have to repeat.

Smiley is a gadgeteer, and as a boy he wanted to be an inventor. He once wired the brass nails in a leather stool, carefully concealing the wires and running them into a closet where he had some batteries and a spark coil from an old flivver.

During a board meeting of the church, the Reverend Burnette sat on the stool and Smiley let him have it.

Gadgets And Gags

Smiley still likes gadgets, and has a loudspeaker, rigged up in the trunk of his car so that he can yell at drivers who bother him on the road. Burnette won't touch hard liquor, but he's a glutton for ice cream and soft drinks.

One of his favorite gags is the Indian compass. He carves an arrow from a piece of wood and suspends it from a string so that it hangs horizontally. Then he presents it to some prominent person as one of only two Indian compasses in existence.

The recipient is flattered to have such a rare object and asks how it works.

"Well," says Smiley, dead-pan, "all Indians instinctively know the points of the compass, but a lot of 'em don't know which way is up. So you just hang the arrow by the string, and the string points the way."

Nation's Picture Of Life Aboard U. S. Ships Getting Blurred, What With All The Reports

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—Some ship operators and Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York have been picturing life on shipboard in the U. S. merchant marine as a bedlam of insubordination and insolence to passengers.

Rodney Dutcher

The picture might be less blurred if insiders were not aware that it was accompanied by a certain amount of exaggeration.

Even some of the most sympathetic friends of the maritime labor unions, which are roaring denials at the charges, believe these have been at least isolated instances of acts by sailors, stewards and other ship employes that no one can condone. It is far from apparent, however, whether these instances are really isolated or whether they represent a condition so general that it threatens the merchant marine.

Not all ship operators appear anxious to blare the alleged misdeeds of American sailors into the headlines. Some operators are aware that recent inspired publicity is bound to scare more and more passengers off their ships. That fact is much more certain than is the chance that Copeland and the operators will be able to get legislation designed to bring the seamen "under control."

No Fear Of Death

Recently a passenger liner officer, identified only as "Captain X—" laid down a blast which accused seamen of every imaginable offense and misdemeanor. Thanks to Senator Copeland, his testimony was played up as that of a man whose name was kept secret lest he be assassinated by union seamen. "Captain X—" was promised that his testimony wouldn't appear in the newspapers.

The captain told friends that the shipping company which employs him didn't want him to go to Washington and that he didn't want his testimony made public because it would hurt the merchant marine. He scoffed at the story that he feared bodily injury.

Whether "Captain X—" exaggerated or told the plain simple truth is a question obscured by the unprecedented action of Copeland in keeping his name out of the record on the alleged ground that he feared being killed.

Ordinarily a witness before a Senate committee is identified and the men he accuses have a chance to answer specific charges. In this case the record contains no identification of men accused or their ships. The picture was so obviously twisted for publicity purposes that the question of whether American seamen are being maligned as a group still remains open.

Regret The Change

The only things that impartial outsiders can be sure of are that American sailors in some instances have not become accustomed to their new-found freedom and power as members of militant unions; that some American merchant marine officers are not yet accustomed to dealing with crews which demand the right to present grievances; and that some shipping operators regret the probable passing of exploitation wages, bad living conditions and complete domination of crews.

The process of adjustment appears to be difficult for all concerned.

The first newspaper in America was "Publick Occurrences Both Foreign and Domestick," published in Boston in 1690.

People often forget the names and titles of persons toward whom they feel antipathy.

MADAME LEAADA—$1.00 readings, 50c; few days only. 1912 16th.

Ask The Master Psychologist
Dr. La. Rose, Ps. D.

How to obtain Love, Happiness, Success, being loved and admired for yourself alone, capturing the hearts and friendship of all about you, can bring you more happiness than all the jewels and fine clothes you could wear than all the wealth you could spend in a lifetime. Without friendship and love, life would not be worth living, for admiration and affection are the breath and heart beat of all human happiness. Within you is a power that controls your destiny. It is in every woman and man, but few discover it. Those who do are blessed with the key to Life's Happiness. With all my heart I urge you to bring forth this innate charm that is yours. Develop it, and you will attract to yourself those things that make life worth while. You are helpless in the hands of women who have learned how to use their hidden powers of attraction. You have these powers. You can discover and develop them and swiftly make yourself irresistible to men . . . even in competition with women far more attractive-looking. You can win and hold the love of the one you want. So if in doubt, ask the man who knows.

talking point there, although the difference in mileage amounts to so little that it's not enough to fuss about.

But District 3 is quite full, what with a membership of ten clubs. District 1, with five clubs, is the more natural setup for Lamesa, and it is pretty certain that Lamesa will come into District 1, temporarily, at least, provided a change is not made in District 3.

While this department would like to see Lamesa line up in this district, we know just how the Tornadoes feel. We sympathized with Lubbock high when it made an effort to move out of District 1.

At any rate, the District 1 executive committee meets tomorrow morning at Plainview. The regular winter meeting was held in Amarillo on December 6, but because of the Lamesa situation, which necessitates a revision of schedules, and because of the necessity of electing a new committee chairman, the boys'll get together a second time.

R. B. Fisher, superintendent at Pampa High, checked out of the district, having been elected superintendent at Corpus Christi. We hate to see Fisher leave. He has provided a lot of "fun" at the district meetings.

He said over telephone this morning he would return the man from Granam to Brownfield and wanted the man in custody here as "a partner and possible accomplice."

Harrist and Reeder encountered a "belligerent customer," said the sheriff, "when they attempted to arrest the man at Shallowater. He offered to fight them singly or together."

Sheriff Abel said authorities were to mug and fingerprint the man late this morning to determine whether he "is an ex-convict."

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—Buying support was scant in today's stock market and most leaders drifted to lower levels.

With volume a shade ahead of the preceding session, which was the slowest since last August, general declines ran to 2 points or more at the worst. Extreme losses were reduced in many cases near the fourth hour.

Business news was spotty, but no worse than recently and observers attributed the downward trend mainly to the disinclination of traders to expand commitments to any great extent pending further developments at Washington in connection with rearmament, housing and other plans to combat the economic recession.

There was much discussion of the new S. E. C. rules virtually prohibiting short selling after Feb. 8, in a declining market, although it was thought questionable whether the latest governmental restriction had any important effect either way on speculative sentiment.

Highest Barometer Reading Recorded At Local Port

Highest barometer reading veteran attaches of Municipal airport could recall was recorded at noon today when the mercury rose to the 30.61-inch mark. Normal for that hour is slightly below the 30-inch reading.

The high reading so far as the South Plains region is concerned was explained as usually being more positively indicative of a closely impending weather change than a reading correspondingly low. It was the "guess" of airport observers early this afternoon that the high reading probably foreshadows a shift in wind later in the day from the northwest to the south, likely accompanied by a sand or dust storm.

STEAMER IS ATTACKED

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The admiralty today received a report that the 2,868-ton British steamer Lake Geneva had been attacked by an unidentified submarine in the western Mediterranean ten days ago. A torpedo fired from a distance of about 300 yards passed under the ship.

charter abandoned by San Pedro longshoremen when the longshoremen voted to join the CIO. The AFL unit contended it was entitled to union rights of longshoremen who joined the CIO and assumed the name of the International Longshoremen's and Wareshousemen's union.

Certification Asked

"The I. L. W. U. has petitioned the national labor relations board for certification representing San Pedro shoremen's and Warehousemen's intervention by board because they represent only 15 men," Bridges said in the telegram.

"The I. L. W. U., representing over 11,000 of the 12,000 longshoremen on the Pacific coast does not intend to allow state courts to overrule majority vote of the membership in choosing its officers and representatives, and to override the N. R. L. B."

down a six-hour attempt by a coast guard cutter to reach two fishermen marooned on Cat island, off the Wisconsin shore, since Jan. 12. Bad weather grounded two army planes which were to have resumed search for a fishing tug with three men on board, missing since Dec. 10 and believed icebound in the straits of Mackinac.

Fog, snow, and rain attacked various sections of Wisconsin.

Many rural schools were closed in the upper Michigan peninsula.

A 50 mile gale from the northwest followed rain into Iowa. Temperatures were driven down near the zero mark.

Four Days Of Rainfall At An End Over Arkansas Today

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 25 (AP) — Lower temperatures brought an end to four days of rainfall and presaged relief from flood conditions in Arkansas today.

The cold added to the discomfort, however, of several score families driven from their homes by high water.

Heaviest damage from the water occurred in the south central region of the state where the Ouachita river's backwaters overflowed bottom lands.

A stage of 41 feet—15 above flood stage—was predicted by Friday at Camden.

The White, St. Francis and Cache rivers continued rising in eastern Arkansas and Texarkana, in the extreme southwest corner of the state, was practically isolated insofar as automobile traffic was concerned. The same condition prevailed at DeQueen, 60 miles north of Texarkana, but number of applications would "vary according to the crops planted and the areas to be irrigated."

A round-table was conducted after the address.

Robert Bean, president of the group, presided.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—Cotton futures opened unchanged to 3 points up. Higher cables were partly offset by liquidation and hedge selling. March 8.52; May 8.58; July 8.64; Oct. 8.73; Dec. 8.78.

Trading was quiet.

Trade and commission house demand absorbed moderate offerings and May sold up from 8.58 to 8.60. Shortly after the first half hour the list was 3 to 4 points net higher.

The market eased a point or so further.

Mat at midday was selling at 8.57 with the list net unchanged to 2 points net higher.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25 (AP)—Cotton futures opened 2 to 5 points net higher here today under buying stimulated by better foreign markets than expected.

March 8.67, May 8.73, July 8.77, Oct. 8.86 and Dec. at 8.89.

Hedging and liquidation by tired longs were encountered later in the morning but were absorbed at small setbacks.

Near admission March sold at 8.63, May 8.72, July 8.75 and Oct. 8.85, or 1 to 3 points above the previous close.

New Farming Plans Are Recommended

Desirability of changing methods of farming because of the growing employment of irrigation on the South Plains was cited Monday night in a meeting of 37 farmers and other members of Lubbock County Irrigation association.

The speaker was Dr. A. W. Young, head of the department of plant industry at Texas Technological college.

Speaking from a general topic of Care and Improvement of Lubbock County Soil Under Irrigation, he admonished farmers to watch the fertility of their soils. The "limited factor" formerly was water, he said. Under irrigation it might be "something else." Necessity for adding organic matter to the soil was explained, the speaker showing there is a dual advantage in such treatment — placing of plant food in the ground and making the soil's water-holding capacity increase.

Three- to five-inch applications of water "are all justified" in most soil areas of the South Plains he said, but number of applications would "vary according to the crops planted and the areas to be irrigated."

A round-table was conducted after the address.

Robert Bean, president of the group, presided.

Exterior Of Home Is Damaged By Flames In City Today

Exterior of the wedding-present home of Mr. and Mrs. James L. White, rear of 1411 Eighth street, was heavily damaged by fire which spread from a one-room structure across the ally about 10 o'clock this morning, according to information given by firemen and occupants of the property.

The fact that the newly completed three-room garage apartment building was not completely destroyed was attributed to fast work by city firemen. The apartment was the wedding gift to White and his bride, the former Miss Othelle Kennedy, from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. White, who occupy the home on the front of the property.

The fire, according to report to Cecil Casey, city fire marshal, started from an overheated stove in the one-room structure occupied by W. L. Johnson on the rear of 1418 Ninth street. That structure was almost completely destroyed. No estimate of property damage was made immediately.

Hearing On Application Made By Bowman Held At Amarillo

Hearing was held in Amarillo Monday on application of Joe W. Bowman, president and manager of South Plains Coaches, Inc., to be named manager of McMakin Motor Coaches, Inc., with the Interstate Commerce commission joining a 3-state board. Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico railroad commissions were represented, the two bus lines operating in three states.

Mark Marshall, dierctor of the motor transport division of the Railroad Commission of Texas, represented his body. Bowman and Grover McMakin of Lubbock, were at the hearing.

A. S. J. Shaw of the Oklahoma commission and Roy S. Walker, alternate of the New Mexico commission, were joined by Marshall and Robert R. Hendon, Washington, D. C., with the I. C. C.

Some months ago application was made by McMakin to sell 49 per cent of the stock to the South Plains coaches. No hearing on this will be held, as under the state law it is not necessary when less than half of the stock is to be sold.

A bus line operating out of Frederick, Okla., was the only opposition, it was reported.

Local Cop Stages Wrestling Bout With Motorcyle And Comes Off Second Best

"I wrestled a motorcycle and it got the best of me." That was the story of Melvin Alvey of the police department and he stuck to it.

He took steps to stop immediately the embarrassing glances, questions and remarks relative to the patch over his right ear, the "goose egg" on the side of his face, and the numerous mercurochromed dots on his face.

The accident happened near Plains about 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon when he was hunting with a group of the "Red Ramblers," an organization of cyclists.

A member of the party reported Alvey was insulted when a rabbit passed him. Alvey opened up the machine to top speed and gave chase.

When asked if the machine threw him, he answered, "No, it kept me under it on a 40-foot slide."

the traffic detail and corporation recorder betimes. "That's about the only way I could explain it."

Authorities had been able to "run down" further details of a hijacking that Sunday night involved J. L. Lehr and a feminine companion.

They had driven to the airport and, before completing their turn on the north segment of the circle, were confronted by a "hobo" who stuck a gun against the glass on the driver's side and ordered them to "get out."

He "shook me down," said Lehr and "told us both to get out. I asked him to leave my bill fold, since it was worth much to me in a sentimental way.

"He said he would 'throw it down in the middle of the road.'

"He did not bother to threaten us and was courteous. He called my escort 'lady' twice. He appeared nervous as he handled what appeared to be a 'thumb-buster'.

"When he was through going through my pockets, he said, 'Both of you go that way (toward the airport east of us) and keep your heads to the front. We started walking and, after a little, began running.

"He turned around in my car and tore out toward Plainview.

"I never found the bill fold."

A man not reported arrested was charged in the court of Walter Davies, justice of peace, with forgery of the name of J. B. Rainey to a $12 check. Morgan Dickinson was complainant.

H. T. Fields reported theft of clothing from him, and Plains authorities telephoned a watch had been stolen there.

No suspects had been arrested in connection with week-end breakins at Lubbock, authorities said. Investigation was being continued.

Youths Nabbed In Extortion

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 25. (AP)—Two boys, 11 and 14 years old, were arrested by agents of the federal bureau of investigation here today when they sought to escape with a dummy package left at a filling station in accordance with an extortion note to a San Antonio physician.

The extortion letter threatened harm to the doctor's children if he did not comply with a demand that he leave $15 in cash in the washroom of the station.

Dummy Is Prepared

The federal agents prepared a dummy package, placed it in the designated spot and set a watch. The two boys arrived on a bicycle, one of them waiting outside while the other went in and took the package.

They were arrested after a brief chase and turned over to J. Ross Boles, county juvenile officer, who released the boys under bond to their parents.

Gus Jones, chief of the federal bureau of investigation field office here, declined to reveal the name of the physician who received the extortion note.

Truck Hearing Opens In City

Three applications for permits to operate truck lines between Dallas and Fort Worth and Lubbock, pending a long time and with several previous hearings scheduled and then postponed, were dismissed this morning by Examiner Jess C. Levens. The hearing opened at 10 o'clock in the Lubbock hotel pine room. It is a two-day hearing.

Applications were by: Jay Rountree, of Ozark Motor Lines, Dallas; G. C. Abbott and A. R. Dalby, Lubbock, and J. H. Whiteside and J. H. Whiteside, jr., Lubbock. H. L. Smith, Austin, representing the Texas General Managers association, made the motion in each case. He was joined in by G. H. Nelson for Dalby Motor Freight lines; C. C. Calhoun of Amarillo for Deshong Motor Freight lines; Otis Nelson for Miller & Miller, Wichita Falls; J. P. Terry Co., Plunkett Motor Freight lines.

Application Is Passed

Application of Bessie Ida Bridgeman, Snyder, the Snyder Transfer Co., to operate common carrier service from Lamesa to Brownfield, was passed until later in the hearing.

Levens disqualified himself as examiner in the hearing of the application of Dalby, Fadell and Saunders for service between Clairemont and Stamford via Roby, Rotan and Anson. H. Eugene Wassell, Austin, another examiner, will hear the case.

After Smith, representing the railroads opposing the permit, had asked that it be dismissed for alleged insufficiency of the application, Examiner Wassell gave Senator Nelson leave to amend. The hearing recessed until 1 o'clock.

Opposes Application

Howard Davison, Rotan, is representing the W. F. Johnson Truck lines, opposing application.

D. B. Witt is the stenographer reporting the hearing. A large number of witnesses was here for the hearings.

Application of Doak Hearne, Seagraves truck line owner, to increase common carrier service, is scheduled to be heard during the afternoon. Following will be an application of Claude B. Olney, Lordsburg, N. M.

Twenty-four cases are scheduled for Wednesday.

Market Quotas

would face a penalty of 15 cents a bushel.

Cotton controls would operate in a slightly different manner, conferees said. If farmers approved quotas, each man would receive a certain acreage, from which he could market all the cotton he produced.

Normal Levels Fixed

The normal cotton level is fixed at exports and domestic consumption, plus a reserve of 35 per cent. When indicated supplies for any season were 10 per cent over this total, a referendum would be conducted.

Farmers failing to stay within cotton acreage or quota limits would face a penalty of two cents a pound this year and three cents a pound thereafter.

The tobacco program calls for marketing quotas when indicated supplies are above annual domestic consumption and exports, plus a reserve of 175 per cent of annual domestic consumption and 65 per cent of exports. Tobacco quotas would be on a poundage basis. The penalty for excess sales would be 50 per cent of purchase price.

Conferees voted yesterday to require government loans on corn, wheat and cotton whenever prices dropped below certain fixed levels and marketing quotas were operating.

istration's housing bill lest it would be used to aid the filibuster.

Rapidly nearing an agreement, conferees on the farm bill took advantage of the Monday night session to hold an evening meeting of their own.

The house, meanwhile, was considering minor bills.

Hearings on a $476,000,000 two-year road appropriation bill began before the house roads committee despite a plea from President Roosevelt that highway expenditures be reduced.

The bill would authorize highway expenditures for the 1940 and 1941 fiscal years.

During the special session, President Roosevelt asked congress to cancel the mandatory Jan. 1 appropriations and limit to $125,000,000 road authorizations for 1940 and succeeding years.

definitely that she wouldn't. I then realized the terrible mistake I had made and was too proud to admit it so then I tried to find a new interest to forget it all, and truthfully Ruth I never have. I have drank just to keep up my spirits and I know I can't last doing that, and am straining every effort to get back to normal."

The letter went on to say that the second Mrs. Laurel had been "swell through it all, except the few rash things you did."

Confined To Bed Before The Gly-Cas

New Herbal Remedy Again Unfailing: Kidneys, Bowels Regulated Easily, Indigestion Gone; Feeling Fine

"After all other medicines had failed to give me any satisfactory results I was given new health by Gly-Cas," said Mrs. G. H. Priem, 1615 Navasota St., Austin, Texas.

MRS. G. H. PRIEM

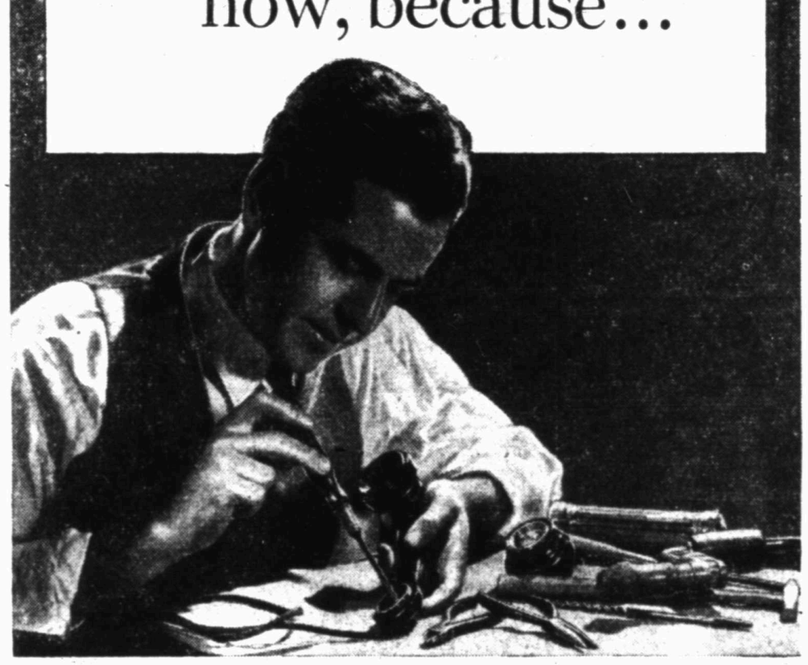

"For four years I had suffered severely with a kidney disorder, my back pained almost constantly. Since childhood I had also been a constant sufferer with constipation. My stomach was affected and regardless of my diet I was sure to suffer dreadfully after every meal. I could not sleep or get my rest and was most miserable at all times. I was not completely sold on Gly-Cas until I gave it a trial and then I found it wonderful."

"I was confined to bed at the time I heard of Gly-Cas but once I began taking it this new remedy soon changed all of that," continued Mr. Prim. "Today I am feeling like an entirely new person. That dreadful kidney disorder has been corrected, bowels are regulated and even my stomach is now functioning normally again. I can eat the foods I wish, without distress afterwards, sleep good and really enjoy good health again. It is wonderful that suffering people can get just such a medicine as Gly-Cas for it does its work—and does it well."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.

"OUR JOB IS TO CUT TELEPHONE TROUBLES"

The men who head the telephone company have always believed even good service can be better. Their aim has been better and better service at low cost to the user. One result is that today your telephone almost never needs repairs.

In 1926, there were 23 reports of telephone trouble a month for every 100 telephones in the Southwest. Last year there were only 6 reports for every 100.
