MOB VIOLENCE FEARED FOR PRISONER

DETAILS OF SLAYING TOLD TO OFFICERS BY NEGRO TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

HENDERSON, Mar. 17—Ranger Captain Hardy Purvis announced today that Charley Brooks, 39-year-old negro and former railroad sleeping car porter, had confessed he assassinated Sheriff Alex Brown of Jefferson early last Wednesday.

Purvis said the negro said he slew the officer because he feared Sheriff Brown would kill him for his part in an escape from the Marion county jail.

Fear Mob Violence

The suspect, who had been held at Jefferson following his capture, was brought here because of fears of mob violence.

The confession was taken by District Attorney Steve Wells at Henderson.

Brown, whose vigorous law enforcement had brough him prominence throughout the vast East Texas oil belt, was killed when a soft-treading slayer fired a shot into his back as he undressed for bed in his quarters on the jail's ground floor.

Ranger Purvis, Lufkin officer who directed the great manhunt which for several days appeared clueless, said:

Threw Gun In River

"Brooks admitted he was the one who slipped up to the Marion county jail and assassinated the sheriff. He told us he threw the murder weapon in the Sulphur river and we are going to make an effort to retrieve it."

Purvis, who was assisted by Rangers Bob Goss and Leo Bally and a host of sheriffs and deputies throughout this region, said Brooks' statement related the negro "slipped to the jail building and watched the sheriff pull off his gun and hang it up and then undress.

"He saw the sheriff's wife enter the room and waited until she was at the opposite side from her husband before he shot him in the back with a charge of buckshot from a 12-gauge shotgun.

"The reason for the act was because of his hatred for Sheriff Brown, who had jailed him for theft and after he escaped went out to hunt him down. The negro had

REBEL CITIES DEMOLISHED

CAMPAIGN OF TERROR IS BEING WAGED BY LOYAL FORCES

(By The Associated Press)

MADRID, Mar. 17.—The government reported today its massed bombing fleets had virtually demolished the important towns of Siguenza and Brihuega behind the insurgent front lines in the Guadalajara sector.

Outlining the success of its campaign of terror to demoralize what was described as Italian peasant soldiery, the government declared eight tons of bombs were dropped and 1,000,000 machine gun bullets were fired into the retreating ranks of the disorganized insurgents on the northeastern front.

Some 25 bi-motored bombers and 60 pursuit planes were reported to have been massed into one gigantic fleet for the raids.

The returning fliers reported that they could see Siguenza and Brihuega were only wastes of smoking ruins.

Trijueque, government-held, the birdmen said, was virtually blown out of existence by insurgent bombardment.

The insurgents, in retaliation for

1310 KILOCYCLES

TWO ARE DEAD AND A THIRD THREATENED

WOMEN ARE VICTIMS IN TRAGIC AFFAIR TUESDAY NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

HALLETSVILLE, Mar. 17—Houston police early today were asked to be on the lookout for a Halletsville man who killed two women and said he was going to kill a third.

Mrs. Teresa Williford and her daughter, Lillie Dufner, were slain about 9 o'clock last night in Mrs. Williford's home in Halletsville.

Man Is Eye-Witness

Jim Dufner, divorced first husband of Mrs. Williford, was an eyewitness. He told Sheriff A. P. McElroy of Halletsville that a relative of Mrs. Williford killed the mother and daughter.

"The man came into the house a little after 8 p. m. and began arguing with Mrs. Williford," Dufner said. "He waved a pistol and threatened to kill the whole family.

"I tried to stop him and he knocked me down, injuring my shoulder.

Ran Screaming Into Yard

"Mrs. Williford and Lillie ran into the front yard, screaming. The man followed them and I heard several shots. Both women screamed.

"When I regained my feet, I ran outside and met the man. He still held the pistol in his hand.

"I jerked it out of his hand. It was empty. He ran to a coupe parked in front of the house and drove away toward Houston, where Mrs. Williford's sister lives. He shouted he was going to kill her too," Dufner said.

Mrs. Williford's aged father, Henry Bushmill, who lives across the street, heard the shooting and ran into his front yard. He said he heard the killer shout threats to kill the whole family, according to Sheriff McElroy.

The sheriff, who said a charge of murder would be filed against the killer today, telephoned police in Houston to be on the alert for the coupe.

Big Irish Mystery Is All Cleared Up

STORY IS TO BE FINISHED WHEN MAN NAMED COLLINS LOCATES THIS GUY NAMED DALY

BY EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—St. Patrick's day brought a solution to the capital's greatest Irish mystery—Postmaster General James Aloysius Farley did not import a hunk of the Blarney stone to America.

It started when one James J. Daly — red headed son of Erin — staggered into an office building on Pennsylvania avenue bearing a strange looking weighty object.

"Shh," he whispered to one Guy Collins — another son of Erin — "close the door quick."

"What's that chunk of cement for?" asked Collins.

"Cement nothing," snorted Daly, "you're looking at a piece of the Blarney stone."

"Postmaster General Farley," explained Daly, "brought it back from Ireland. That's all I can tell you. I want to leave it here for safekeeping."

Collins kept it safely all right. He put it in a safe and then went out and called the policeman on the beat. After hearing the tale, the patrolman kissed the stone.

Word of the "precious" object flew about the city, bringing scores of Irish gentry to view the rock.

The truth came out after Daly lugged the 19-pound rock off to a St. Patrick's party and one O'Reilly got him on the telephone.

"If it's not a piece of the Blarney stone," he demanded indignantly, "then what is it?"

"Just something," replied Daly with a loud guffaw, "I dug up in the back yard."

(Editor's note: This story can not be completed until a man named Collins finds a man named Daly).

SAFETY PLANS ARE URGED

MILLIONS ASKED FOR PROMOTION OF AIR SAFETY IN U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 17—The senate commerce committee recommended today the expenditure of $14,545,000 for "promotion of air safety."

Reporting on the seventeenth major study of aviation in this country since 1920, the committee asked congress to appropriate $10,000,000 at this session for "construction and maintenance of all the necessary aids to air navigation."

Division Of Funds

The other funds sought would be divided as follows:

Weather bureau, to improve forecasting—$2,364,000.

Study of pilot fatigue—$50,000.

Development of high-powered motors—$1,500,000.

General aeronautics research—$631,000.

The investigation, under way almost a year, resulted from the death of Senator Cutting, of New Mexico, and four others in an air crash in Missouri in May, 1935.

Calling aeronautics at present "a stepchild" in the department of commerce, the committee suggested that the office of assistant secretary of commerce for aid be revived.

UNION CHIEFS CLAIM PEACE IS BIG AIM

NO STRIKE TROUBLES IN OIL FIELDS OF TEXAS EXPECTED

(By The Associated Press)

KILGORE, Mar. 17 — John L. Lewis' organizing band will come into the East Texas oil field next month proferring union contracts on an olive branch.

Peace, union leaders stressed, is their wish and strikes, whenever mentioned, are termed last resort measures.

"Strikes are deeply serious things," said John T. Allen, organizer for the International Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers union. "They make men and women suffer and should be used only as the last resort. Union negotiations in the field to date have been peaceable. We don't anticipate strike trouble."

EDITOR'S NOTE

This is the last of a series concerning labor conditions in the East Texas oil field, center of John L. Lewis' CIO organization drive in the petroleum industry.

Little Trouble Expected

Major and independent operators, employers of the thousands in the world's largest field, generally agreed that actual trouble resulting from the attempted unionization was a remote possibility.

Organization activities, directed by some 40 members of Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, will center at Kilgore, seven years ago the scene of wild boom days and martial law that lasted until the fag end of 1932.

Sheriff A. A. King of Gregg county has not regarded the labor situation seriously and said he had made no definite plans for possible emergencies.

"In any event," said King, "I expect to enforce the laws and will be ready to deal with any emergency."

GOVERNOR ALLRED RELINQUISHES HIS POWER OF CLEMENCY TO STATE BOARD

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 17—The legislature passed unanimously today an enabling act for the constitutional amendment transferring much of the governor's clemency power to a non-partisan board.

The amendment was to have become effective Feb. 1, and the delay in approving an enabling act had caused the state to be without pardon and parole machinery for more than six weeks.

The houses had been deadlocked over the board's location. The compromise permitted it to retain headquarters here but required that it spend at least 15 days a month on prison properties.

The house passed to the governor a bill intended to increase cigaret tax collections. It provided that when a suit to enjoin collection of the tax was filed, the money to satisfy the tax claim in event the suit was lost must be deposited in suspense fund. A similar law already ap-

SLEEPING WIDOW OF COUNTY JAIL LOSING WEIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 17—The sleeping widow of the county jail—Helen Wills Love—has lost ten pounds since she began a "partial mental suicide" six nights ago.

A check-up showed today her pulse also was weaker and caused additional concern for her health.

The 31-year-old woman, convicted of the New Year's eve slaying of her secret husband, Harry Love, is "an individual trying to get away from reality—from an intolerable situation," said Dr. Victor G. Parkin, psychiatrist for the district attorney.

He and other medical experts found her bodily functions paralyzed. Pin pricks and ammonia fumes fail to arouse her.

She is being fed milk and orange juice forcibly and given sustaining fluids by injection, but as her body grows weaker physicians fear the danger of pneumonia.

ITALY FORCED TO REARM

THIS IS CLAIM MADE BY IL DUCE BEFORE HIS SUBJECTS

(By The Associated Press)

TIOPOLIA, Libya, Mar. 17.—Premier Mussolini, referring scathingly to British nervousness over Italy's ascendancy in the Mediterranean, told a cheering throng of 100,000 today the Italian empire had been forced to rearm to meet the rearmament threat of others.

While the guns of the massed Italian battle fleet boomed in the harbor of the province's capital, Il Duce shouted:

Imperious Duty

"We rearm on sea, in the sky and on land because it is our imperious duty in the face of the armaments of others."

Declaring that such reports disturbed the peace of all peoples, Mussolini said "an alarmist campaign has been evident in the more or less great democratic countries over my trip to Libya.

"This neuropathic alarmists, this sowing of suspected dangers, does not enhance the cause of peace because it profoundly disturbs relations between peoples."

The premier, paying his first visit to the Italian colony on the southern shore of the Mediterranean in 10 years, proclaimed an Italian will to "live in peace with all those who manifest an identical will."

But, he warned, he had not forgotten the League of Nations coalition which tried to crush Italy's conquest of Ethiopia by imposition of sanctions.

DEADLINE FOR EVACUATION PASSES WITH NO SIGN FROM OCCUPANTS; FRIENDS OF UNION SURROUND TWO DETROIT MOTOR PLANTS

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, March 17—More than 5,000 sit-down strikers defied a court injunction against their occupancy of Chrysler automobile plants today as their leaders declined to meet with a committee named by Governor Frank Murphy to seek solution of labor disputes.

An hour after the deadline set for the strikers' evacuation passed, union sympathizers estimated to number 10,000 surrounded the Chrysler Jefferson avenue plant, blocking traffic for five blocks.

Nearly as many surrounded the huge Dodge division plant, ordinarily employing 25,000 workers, where strikers hung out a sign, "give us liberty or give us death."

Would Not Serve

Homer Martin, United Automobile Workers' president, informed Governor Murphy that he believed the proposed committee "will not serve to eradicate the evils of job insecurity and low wages."

The governor, still optimistic of settlement of the Chrysler strike difficulties, would not discuss reports that a meeting of Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the corporation board, and John L. Lewis, head of the Committee for Industrial Organization supporting the U. A. W. A. strikes, was regarded as providing the quickest means of a solution.

A Chrysler spokesman announced corporation attorneys were considering "further steps" in the injunction action.

The sit-down strikers watched the activities quietly. Some of them displayed improvised blackjacks.

A band played in front of the Chrysler Jefferson avenue plant.

Pickets paraded in front of another plant carrying placards which said: "Refuse to move. We'll die before we do."

GOODBYE TO U. S. IS GIVEN LAST NIGHT BY NOTED SINGER

(By The Associated Press)

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 17—John McCormack's golden Irish tenor will thrill no more American concert audiences.

Without dramatics, he said goodbye last night on St. Patrick's eve to an American public which has accorded him thunderous applause for 28 years.

A gay wave of the hand, a soft "goodbye" drowned out by a last ovation, and he walked off the Buffalo consistory stage to a long, long rest that "will be like heaven."

"I'm through with concerts," he said.

"There will be one more—in Dublin.

"I always said I wanted to give it up so people would ask: 'Why did he quit?' instead of 'why doesn't he quit?'"

Fight For Wage Hike Is Opened

PARLEYS ON SALARIES WILL BE ASKED BY LABOR LEADERS

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—Railroad leaders turned today to a fight for a $360,000,000 wage increase after reaching an agreement with railroad executives on a new retirement system for the industry's 1,500,000 workers.

The labor groups determined to ask for national wage conferences rather than system-by-system negotiations.

Conference Asked

Non-operating employes seek a 20 per cent increase, with corresponding hikes in piecework pay and guaranteed working time. They have requested a conference in Chicago on March 30, to make the increases effective April 16.

The brotherhood, representing about 300,000 engineers, firemen, conductors, switchmen and trainmen, expect to ask for a 20 per cent pay boost on March 22.

George M. Harrison, president of the Railway Labor Executives association, said he believes the lines will agree to a national conference.

Faculty Affair Is For First Members

Faculty members who climbed over brick and mortar in 1925 to reach classrooms of Texas Technological college will meet for dinner and a program at 7 o'clock tonight in Horn hall on the campus.

Members of the faculty who were at Tech in the first year have met each spring for several years. Only a few guests, wives or husbands of faculty members, attend.

Approximately 40 persons, including guests, will attend, said Miss Jonnie McCrery, who is in charge of dinner reservations. The number of first faculty members has diminished since Dr. and Mrs. Leroy T. Patton began the annual "get together" custom when they entertained the group several years ago.

Doctor Patton, head of the geology department, is chairman of the group and will be toastmaster tonight.

Miss Ruth Pirtle, Mrs. R. A. Studhalter, and Mrs. W. B. Gates are in charge of program plans for tonight.

Meetings of the Quarterly club and Science club, both composed of faculty members, have been postponed from tonight so that they will not conflict with the dinner.

Gain Trim Easter Figure By Dieting

Easter clothes call for a trim figure, a clear, healthy complexion and eyes that sparkle.

So now's the time to do a little dieting—along with taking a moderate amount of daily exercise and getting plenty of rest.

The figure-minded woman will plan menus, for the next two weeks or so, which run to green vegetables, fruits, milk and buttermilk, fish and—if it is served—meat which has very little fat.

For pre-Easter meals should be vitamin-providing but not pound-age-provoking.

The first three days of re-organized menus are the most trying. After those three days the craving for the heavier, richer foods tends to lessen and the initial round in the annual fight against spring fever has been won.

Breakfast and lunch are the two meals which should be especially trimmed down.

Although breakfast may be very light it should be nourishing. The ideal breakfast, for instance, may contain fruit or fruit juices, a soft-cooked egg, one piece of toast and a cup of coffee—preferably served clear.

Such a breakfast is not fattening. But it is filling enough to last until lunch. At that time a clear soup, a large vegetable or fruit salad and perhaps fruit for dessert will be very satisfying.

If the first two meals are very light dinner may follow the average menu more closely, providing a few restrictions are made. Such fattening foods as thick soups, heavy gravies, cream sauces, mayonnaise, pies, heavy puddings and cakes and rich ice creams should be served in limited amounts. They need not be avoided entirely however.

There's a wide variety of green vegetables from which to choose. Turnips, green beans, spinach, asparagus, kale, celery, lettuce, cress, onions and cauliflower are all comparatively easy to fix and also nourishing. All small helpings of Irish or sweet potatoes, carrots, beets or peas will easily fit into the calory budget.

In fact, the most important thing to remember is to refrain from eating more than average-sized portions. And if "seconds" are offered they should be refused. An occasional splurge—such as a luncheon or dinner eaten out—may be offset by taking only a glass of fruit or tomato juice for the following meal. And between-meal "snacks" should be limited to an occasional glass of milk, buttermilk or fruit juice.

Freak diets designed to do a quick job of reducing should be avoided.

Mrs. Rogers Gives Party Tuesday

Honoring her father, Thomas W. Woods of May Pearl on his 72nd birthday, Mrs. E. E. Rogers, 702 Avenue K, entertained Tuesday night. Guests brought gifts for the honor guest.

Those attending were Messrs. and Mesdames E. L. Rayburn, Boyd Odom, C. C. Beene, Carmen Tripp, J. A. Peel, Mrs. Stanley C. Hutcherson and Miss Willie Briggs.

CHARITY WORK IS PLANNED

MEETING OF BOARD IS SCHEDULED TODAY; GROUP CHOSEN

Meeting of a board nominated Tuesday afternoon at an open meeting of representatives of agencies interested in charity work was scheduled to start at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel. Mrs. W. A. Jackson was named chairman.

Tuesday's meeting was called at the invitation of Mrs. Frank Jones, chairman of the activity committee of the Junior Welfare League, an organization that long has sensed the need of a clearing house for charity cases. It was open to the public. Twenty-five persons attended.

Committee Is Appointed

The Rev. W. R. Vivrett acted as chairman for the meeting. He appointed a committee of Mesdames Kenneth E. Oberholtzer, T. B. Duggan, jr., and Bode S. Adams to nominate representatives from the various organizations to compose the board which will govern the work of the central service agency.

Mrs. Viola Perkins, county case supervisor, explained that the main objective of the board is to have an organized basis for all charity organizations to avoid duplications of distributions as have been noted in the past. Case records of individual families will be kept in files at a place to be designated by the board, probably the county-city welfare association office, by Junior Welfare League members, working without remuneration. Chairmen or representatives of benevolences in churches, clubs or other agencies will be asked to report their activities to the office so that they may be filed for future reference.

Board Is Listed

The board is composed of the following representatives: City Federation, Mrs. W. A. Jackson; Church Women's Federation, Mrs. R. S. Wilkinson; Salvation Army board, Miss Mayme Alexander; Lubbock Ministers association, the Rev. J. Hodge Alves of St. Paul's Episcopal church; Lubbock Public Schools, Mrs. Guy L. Trow, principal of Dupre School; Board of City Development, Spencer A. Wells; City of Lubbock, Dr. J. W. Rollo; City Parent-Teacher council, Mrs. C. C. Schmidt; Junior Welfare League, Mrs. Frank Jones; American Legion auxiliary, Mrs. Lottie Boles Hilton; American Legion, Benjamin Kucera; County-City Welfare association, Mrs. Sally Taylor; Lubbock County Children's council, Mrs. W. D. Wilson.

Cows Uncowed Lock Horns In Amazonian Battle

It's a big day at Verbier in Val de Bagnes, Switzerland—the day of the cow fights that inaugurate the grazing season. Betting is fast and furious as owners draw lots for opponents of their animals.

The fight is on. Bellowing their rage, the big black cows rush into combat. The arena is no man-made stadium but a magnificent, mountain ringed meadow. All the spectators have ringside seats—but woe betide him who is unable to keep out of range of the stampeding duelists as the tide of battle shifts about the meadow.

The duelists "lock horns" in combat, forget they are the ladies of the barnyard. To and fro they wrestle about the meadow, in a struggle without quarter, bovine amazons battling to become queen of the herd. The gal with the strongest neck will win.

As soon as one of the combatants is downed, the fight is over. Likely you'd never guess that the dolorous cow with the broken horn won. Her conquered foe at left lows a lament. She'll take a back seat through the grazing season—cowed by defeat, as it were.

Good Samaritan Is Paid For Trouble

SAN JOSE, Calif., March 17 (AP)—Five years ago Sheriff George W. Lyle came to the rescue of 85-year-old Mrs. Eleanor Cantau when a mortgage holder was about to foreclose on her 300-acre ranch. He lent her $150 and a horse, which were paid back when she harvested her next crop.

Recently the sheriff was called to the Cantau ranch to take the aged owner to a hospital. She died there, but not before making a will leaving the ranch to Sheriff Lyle.

4 Years of Gas, Bloat and Constipation

"For the last 4 years I had been a suffering, miserable person. I was an awful victim of stubborn constipation, with a gassed, bloated condition that just kept me in a state of misery. I also developed an upset stomach and indigestion from the poisons held inside of me by my sluggish bowels, and I got so I ached all over my body. I did everything I could to get relief, but I went right on suffering, for it seemed like nothing did me any good. But finally I found Van-Tage. And now, I simply can't thank it enough. That awful constipation and gassy bloated condition is relieved, and I don't have indigestion any more and my system has been cleansed of the poisons and acids. This medicine is the Greatest Thing of the Kind that I Ever Found."

SECRET POLICE OF SPAIN IN DRIVE TO CLEAN UP ALL ESPIONAGE RINGS

PARIS (By mail from Spain)—March 17 (AP)—Speak softly or the secret police may hear! That is the byword in Spain these days.

An incautious word, a light joke, a greeting is enough to cause arrest. For the Spanish government has ordered a determined drive to weed out defeatist thought, to uncover espionage.

An associate of the war department recounted the tale of a general who stumbled into a puddle of water and thereupon exchanged trousers with an aide. The secret police charged "indiscretion." The narrator has been in jail more than three months.

An army officer greeted a member of a foreign legation. He was suspected of courting a friendship to assure himself diplomatic asylum.

Salesman Deported

A French jewelry salesman, resident of Spain for 20 years, was deported because he once sold former King Alfonso a ring.

A young woman was accompanied on three successive evenings by government airmen. She was arrested. A foreign correspondent was arrested seven times for alleged violation of a rule against obtaining military information.

Both foreigners and Spaniards tread cautiously lest they be accused of treason. Espionage is a capital offense; expressed or implied doubt over the outcome of the war is counter-revolutionary and may mean prison, at least.

Police Enlarged

The secret police has been augmented to speed the drive against suspects. These agents, known as members of the investigating brigade, are referred to in popular speech as the Spanish cheka.

They appear everywhere, particularly in cafes and hotel lounges, where military men, diplomats and foreign correspondents are likely to congregate.

If one is a resident, the cheka has checked on daily habits, associations, sometimes close-guarded secrets. A newcomer must make known quickly good reasons for being in Spain.

There are many cases of arrests—because of a chance word during a telephone conversation; a scrap of paper thrown inadvertently into a waste-basket; an unwise phrase in a letter.

Crimes Are Listed

Defeatist "crimes" include:

Listening to radio broadcasts from insurgent territory; criticism of any government official or any official decision; disparagement of a military maneuver; hint of a military setback; complaint about shortage of food; failure to appear optimistic over government chances in the civil war.

Once arrested, one is never free of suspicion. Once taken before the "popular tribunal", the trial moves speedily to conclusion. Appeals are rare.

The death sentence, when imposed, generally is carried out within 24 hours.

Arkansas Sponsor

FLASHES OF LIFE

Erin Geology

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Arthur Loveridge, of the Harvard museum of comparative zoology, is one for scientific explanation even on St. Patrick's day.

He advanced the explanation for Ireland's freedom from snakes that the Emerald Isle, as a body of land, broke away from the mainland before England, then still ice-capped. So, he said, the reptiles had no opportunity of wriggling in from France.

Milk Toast, Maybe

NEW YORK — Pearl Buck, the author, agrees with the novelist Ford Madox Ford that there would be a lot more world peace if everybody's digestion were better.

"Everybody ought to eat the same food and they would be more alike," she suggested to the gourmet society.

Dr. Lin Yu Tang, Chinese editor and lecturer, said six months in the United States convinced him "loyalty to Uncle Sam is loyalty to doughnuts, ham and sweet potatoes."

ANNUAL ENTERTAINMENTS TO BE HELD BY TEXAS TECH GROUPS ON SATURDAY

A visitor on the Texas Technological college campus Saturday night may doubt his visual efficiency.

On one side he may see a rough looking male in a turtle-necked sweater with a flashily dressed feminine companion.

On another he may see a co-ed solicitously helping her boyfriend into an automobile, going about and getting in the driver's seat, offering her companion a cigaret.

The observer's imagination won't be running wild, however.

Will Be Annual Entertainments

He merely will be seeing members of two campus clubs enjoying annual entertainments.

A Bowery dance will be given by the Gargoyle society from 9 to 12 o'clock in the architectural laboratories.

The rooms, decorated to resemble a Bowery night spot, will contain a bar, from which punch and cookies will be served. Guests will enter through swinging doors.

The co-ed and the "ed" most resembling Bastsiders will receive prizes, said Maston Jones, president of the society.

Co-Eds To Escort Men

Between 80 and 90 members and guests are to attend.

Co-eds will escort men students to the Press club dance and will compose the "stag line." The dance will be given in the men's dormitory. Burgess Dixon is president of the club.

Several males may keep their "dates" waiting in the parlor, if they want to be revengeful, or co-eds may be late in calling for their friends.

WHEN WE STOP GREASY INDIGESTION WE FEEL JUST FINE

Our stomach can't digest grease. Neither can our bowels. Only our pancreatic juice, working with our bile juice, can digest grease.

When we get bad taste, headache and that nasty grouchy feeling which comes from greasy indigestion, take 1 Carter's Little Liver Pill before each meal and 1 after.

Carter's Little Liver Pills bring a large flow of our pancreatic juice and bile juice into our bowels. The large flow of these juices digests the grease we have eaten. Then we burst into life and into our work like a joyous skyrocket.

But if you want this glorious relief from greasy indigestion, ask your druggist for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and stubbornly refuse to buy anything else. 25c.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT FACE PIMPLES

These disfiguring little spots often result from a slight, temporary disturbance, or merely from incorrect cleansing, or sometimes they are more persistent due to deeper internal causes.

While properly treating the underlying cause, you can relieve the itchy, burning soreness and help your skin by using an ointment that will keep the medication in contact with the pimply spots. Apply it every night and leave it on all night. It does a world of good.

For more than 40 years people have used Resinol Ointment to fill this need. It soothes the irritation and aids healing. It also treats the oil pores where many surface pimples start. Washing first with Resinol Soap quickens the pleasing results.

Buy a jar of Resinol Ointment and cake of Resinol Soap from any druggist. For free sample write Resinol, Dept. 10, Baltimore, Md.

Suggestions For Safe Driving

CURVES AND TURNS

No matter how perfect the condition of the car, the DRIVER is the most important factor in safe driving.

Be careful when passing cars, especially if another car is approaching.

Passing cars on turns and corners involves additional as passing a string of cars 300 feet long.

Don't "wonder" if you can make it—take no chances.

Passing cars on turns and corners involve additional dangers.

Turning curves on highways that are not "banked" increases the hazards.

You can't take liberties with natures laws of momentum and centrifugal force. Study them.

RANGERS DRAW OPPOSITION

SUBJECT OF STATE'S ENFORCEMENT BODY BEING ARGUED

AUSTIN, March 17 (AP)—The Texas rangers, who are used to it, were both praised and criticized in a hearing yesterday before a senate committee which sent a bill affecting them to a sub-group.

The proposal by Senator Claud C. Westerfeld of Dallas would keep rangers out of counties unless their presence was requested by a sheriff.

Bunch Of Vice Raiders

"The rangers used to amount to something," Westerfeld said, "but now they're just a bunch of vice raiders and liquor inspectors."

Senator Weaver Moore of Houston wanted to know if the century-old law enforcement officers "have learned to quit 'busting up' elaborate bars" in the places they raided. Senator R. A. Weinert of Seguin left no doubt their presence was unwelcome in Guadalupe county.

It was Senator Clint C. Small of Amarillo who defended the famed old "strong arm of the law" in Texas.

"If you have a good sheriff in your county," he said, "you don't need the rangers. In some instances, sheriffs are making absolutely no effort to enforce the law.

Situation Described

"The rangers are fine for just such a thing. And if you wait until the sheriff calls for them, as proposed here, you might as well turn the county over to hoodlums.

"I was once a district judge and was faced with the situation of the sheriff refusing to do anything about open violations. I called in the rangers and got good service. They came in unknown to anyone and picked up plenty evidence.

"I'm sure the rangers never bothered anyone who was observing the law and I think we had better leave them alone."

COLLEGE STUDENTS OFTEN INGENIOUS IN THEIR METHODS OF "GETTING BY"

Whether she uses a dexterous toe or conceals notes in her hose, the college co-ed can be as ingenious as her boy friend in cribbing at examination time. The pictures show two methods of an "easy road to learning" in an Ohio college. Some Tech students, too, have perfected cribbing devices. The wily professor usually knows who's cribbing, and grades accordingly.

Cribbing is a real art for a few ingenious college students, but the average professor soon learns the latest tricks.

"On the cuff" may mean at examination time a chemical formula, a mathematics equation, or historical information.

Some students know more ways of smuggling information into the classroom than a cat has lives. Some are clever, some clumsy, some brazen, some timid.

Graded Accordingly

Whether the professor paces the room or sits indifferently at his desk, he usually knows which students—and the number is no larger at Texas Technological college than in other colleges—are receiving aid. The instructor grades the papers accordingly.

Use of scrolls, easily made, easily discarded or hidden, is a favored method.

A girl student, informed that co-eds at another institution placed notes beneath their hose and above their knees, declared that most of the Tech women students wore their hose rolled. Tape is substituted to hold the notes in place.

Notes Are Written

Next to scrolls, the student seems to obtain the best results by writing notes somewhere on his body. Arms and legs seem to be the favored parts of the anatomy to be covered with knowledge.

It is not uncommon to see a boy going to an exam with his legs taped from the ankle to the knee. The bandages may be covered with history, math, or government notes. Girls frequently write notes just above their knees, and, finding a difficult question, merely raise their skirts and read as from a book of knowledge.

Laundrymen have had trouble removing ink or pencil marks from shirt cuffs and dress hems. The same student might go to class early and write volumes of material on his desk or on the back of the chair in front of him. Any place in sight is good for the recording of important dates.

There is the student who cheats only in order to get by, and in another class falls the one who enjoys it, trying to outwit the professor. Students in the second class spend more than enough time figuring out clever ways of cheating than it would take them to learn the material which is to be covered on the exam. Some clever boy has devised what he calls the "elastic notebook". He removed the lining from a tie and in its place put a small piece of elastic, far up in the tie. To this elastic he fastened a piece of tape on which his material was written. When the tape was released, it disappeared into the foxy lad's tie. On going into the exam he simply had to pull the "elastic notebook" from his tie, read it, and then release it again into its cover.

Still another student passed his exam with aid from the outside. He went to the class, took down the questions, and left to smoke a cigaret. The professor, becoming suspicious, followed him from the room, but saw nothing out of the way, not even to the student's throwing away his empty cigaret package. The boy returned to the room and stayed until a short time before the exam was to end. In the meantime a friend had, by previous arrangement, picked up the cigaret package, extracted the questions from it, answered them, and returned to the hall just outside the classroom. The student again left the room, received the complete exam paper, put his name on it, and handed it in as his work.

Ugliest Boy Being Chosen At College

Ugliness, rather than beauty, is being voted upon by Texas Technological college students today.

They are choosing the "ugliest man on the campus" in balloting from 9 to 5 o'clock today in the administration building.

The ugliest student chosen and the most beautiful co-ed will be introduced on the Palace theater stage Friday night. They will be interviewed over Radio Station KFYO Friday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock, and will be guests for dinner at Hilton hotel Sunday night.

The ugliest student will receive a "Bachelor of Ugliness" degree.

Candidates are: Fred Stickle, Arp; Dean Felber, Olney; Joe Tom Weddle, Bonham; Padgett Maddox, Bill Leidigh, Ed Leidigh, B. H. Turner, Lubbock; Raymond "Babe" Curfman, Electra; William J. Davis, Fort Worth; S. D. "Tox" Wiginton, Levelland; Leidon Hudson, Wellington.

REPORTS OFFERED AT SCOUT PARLEY

Thirty-two members of the South Plains council Boy Scout executive committee met in the Aztec room of the Hilton hotel at 7:15 o'clock Tuesday night and heard reports by V. L. Doughtie, Dr. Kenneth E. Oberholtzer, Dean J. M. Gordon, County Superintendent Joseph R. Griggs, Chas. Whitacre, and J. H. Murdough.

Jack M. Randal presided.

It was announced that courses for a scouters university to be conducted April 12 to 16, inclusive, at Texas Technological college would be arranged Monday, and that leadership training plans to affect all sections of the district would be arranged soon.

Fitch Speaks Briefly

James P. Fitch, regional scout executive of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, in a brief address stressed necessity for enlarged program advantages for the 1,900 boys from 9 to 16 years old in the 20 counties of the council.

Rev. John Thorne of Silverton spoke. Seven of the nine districts were represented, said Earl M. McClure, council executive.

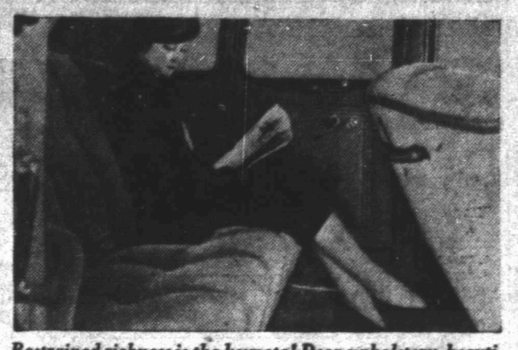

McClure said Fitch met with a scout jamboree committee earlier. At the session were Millard F. Swart, chairman, Whitacre, Marion Sanford, and Tom Duggan, Scoutmasters to superintend the council delegates to the national event will be selected Friday, McClure said.

GET CHANGED TO OIL-PLATING

Spring's here, but let's not put any loud "new suits" on all the old oil bogeymen. After all, botherless engine lubrication gets down to a few calm facts that are facts.

No. 1 . . . You want to be certain that your engine doesn't grind every time you start, while oil is "coming up" from below. Oil-Plating, produced only by Conoco Germ Processed oil, can never lose time "coming up," because it's already there! For the patented Germ Process creates such a powerful attraction between oil and metal that the inside of your engine becomes Oil-Plated. And you know that platings aren't runny, but stay up in place. That's the way Oil-Plating will stay up to ward off all the worst starting wear you ever heard of.

And No. 2 . . . Whether you've got a "good old car" or the latest thing, you want to make any driving schedule without being nervous about the heat indicator and the oil level. You can easily keep them where they belong. This is exactly why: the Germ Process creates a far stronger normal type of oil film and then checks friction still further by means of modern Oil-Plating—entirely extra . . . exclusive to Conoco Germ Processed oil. Costs no more when you change; costs you less all season. Continental Oil Company

Slaton Still In Race For AAU Championship

SPORTOGRAPH

by COLLIER PARRIS

Copyright, 1937

NICE BUNCH OF main eventers Red Allen has lined up for the neck-twisting show tonight. . . . Any two of 'em would make a good top billing. . . Not so sure Yaqui Joe and Sailor Moran are the best of the lot. . . . The Injun could be plenty tough—if he would. . . . Be glad to see Georgie-Porgie Bennett back in the ring. . . . There's a fellow who could go places. . . . The ladies like him, and that's half the battle won. . . .

Bennett's a natural wrestler . . . . But most natural of all the current gathering is Andy Tremaine. . . . What a wow that lad could be if he made up his mind! . . . He's got everything, including an authoritative punch. . . . Used to box some, and he uses his fists more naturally than Sailor Moran. . . . who also was a boxer. . . Tremaine's versatility does not come out until it's too late, as a rule. . . . He knows the holds, and his drop kick is, next to Matty Matsura's, the best. . . . Too bad he doesn't have the killer instinct. . . . He could make guys like Danny McShain and Sailor Watkins look, oh, so silly, if he applied all his resources. . . .

A heavyweight wrestling story Which is news. . . Everett Marshall, Which is new. . . . Everett Marshall, the Colorado kid who really takes his business seriously, according to all the reports, and who'll fight you just like that if you suggest in his presence that wrestling is crooked, was having a tiff with Wykoff, one of the rougher heavyweights. . . . Marshall is recognized as the best heavy in the country. . . . They went outside the ropes and Wykoff all but finished Mr. Marshall up. . . . A copper with a blackjack almost finished Mr. Wykoff up. . . . First time in a long time we've heard anything that rough from the heavyweight ranks. . . .

Checking up, it might have been Cyclone Mackey who fought Danny McShain over the Columbia network t'other night. . . . They called him Mr. X. and it seems that Mackey is known by both names on the West Coast. . . . The Masked Marvel is supposed to be out that way, thus the suggestion that he might have been the Mr. X. . . . The Yukon Jake referred to over the loudspeaker is Bulldog Jackson, the old Alaskan who featured long drawers as part of his ring dress here. . . . He was tagged Yukon Jake during an engagement at Amarillo. . . . Judge DeWitt Landis, your favorite local wrestling announcer, was first to call him Yukon Jake. . . . He carried the name to the coast. . . .

AT LAST REPORT, the Slaton Oilers were still winning in the National A. A. U. tournament. . . . Defeated an army team from Chicago last night to enter the quarter-final round. . . . Play the No. 1 seeded team and favorites, the Bartlesville Oilers, this afternoon at 5 o'clock. . . . Joe Fortenberry, Chuck Hyatt and the rest of the All-Americans are playing with Bartlesville. . . . The ex-Tech and Hardin-Simmons boys who compose the Slaton Oilers may take a beating. . . . but they'll make life miserable for Mr. Fortenberry. . . . we betcha. . . .

Better look out for West Texas State next year. . . . All sophomore and juniors this season, the Buffaloes couldn't win for losing during the regular season. . . . Made biggest impression of all the college teams at the National A. A. U. . . . on ace't of their height. . . . Four of the regulars over 6-feet-6. . . Won their first game, lost yesterday in the second round. . . . They ought to be pretty rough next season. . . .

Amen to the basketball coaches who, sitting in annual pow-wow at Chicago, resolved to recommend to the national basketball rules committee to suspend the center jump or tip-off from the rule book. . . . for a year. . . . If it is used for a season, it'll become a permanent rule. . . . Effect of center jump elimination on speed and action of a game can not be lost once it is tried out. . . . Local fans noted the swiftness of attack and defense following free shots this season. . . . the ball was put into play immediately under the goal by an out of bounds play. . . . That's the way it'll start after all goals under the new resolution. . . .

TEXAS TECH and Lubbock High track and field men leave tomorrow and Friday for Fort Worth to compete in the Southwestern exposition meet. . . . Coach Berl Huffman has not submitted a list of his troupers . . . . But Maurice Cowan, who set a pole vaulting record there last year, won't be among them. . . . One of the leading vaulters of the state last year and the outstanding point winner for the Tech team, Cowan is recovering from a blood poisoning trouble that nearly got him. . . . It all started so unimportantly—a tiny splinter from a library desk under his finger-nail. . . . Infection. . . . Hospital. . . . a serious case. . . . lost 20 pounds or more and he didn't have it to lose . . . . Doctors say he shouldn't vault this spring. . . .

ENTRIES WILL BE WEIGHED

AAU TOURNEY TO BE HELD HERE DURING THIS WEEK

All entries in the Lubbock district A. A. U. boxing tournament Thursday and Friday nights at Texas Tech are to be weighed in and examined tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock, officials announced yesterday.

Each entrant, having qualified as an amateur, must pass a physical examination before entering the ring Bill Holcomb, promotional manager for the Texas Tech Double-T club, tournament sponsor, said. Holcomb is assisted by Milt Coffey, who helped put over the successful Golden Gloves tournament here.

46 Entries Counted

Approximately 46 young amateurs of the South Plains and eastern New Mexico sector have entered the tournament. They will compete in the eight standard weight divisions Thursday and Friday nights.

Holcomb estimated that fans would see 20 to 25 fights Thursday night in the preliminary eliminations. Semi-finals and finals will be fought Friday night. Winners in all weight divisions will be sent to Houston to compete in the state A. A. U. tournament next week.

Sexton To Referee

Bo Sexton, recognized as the outstanding boxing referee in this entire section, has agreed to work the tournament here. He is in demand as an official all over West Texas. He worked the Golden Gloves tournament here, the one at Amarillo and the A. A. U. tourney at Clovis, N. M.

The bouts will be conducted as swiftly as possible and there will be no lost time. As one bout ends, two other fighters will be ready to step into the ring for the next. Bouts will consist of three 3-minute rounds. Qualified and unbiased judges will cooperate with the referee in naming winners of each fight.

The tournament promises to be bigger and better, from financial and quality standpoints, than the Golden Gloves, which attracted large crowds each night.

Watch Littlefield Boxers

It is urgent that all entries report to the Tech gymnasium at one o'clock Thursday afternoon, for the examination and weighing in. A physician will be on hand to make the examinations and will bar any boxer not physically fit.

Boxers from Littlefield, Plainview and Slaton are due to make consistent threats. Littlefield is sending about fifteen boxers to the tournament, including Paul Clark, heavyweight, who is given a chance to beat Lubbock's Babe Ritchie, state Golden Gloves tournament who competed in the national G. G. at Chicago.

Tickets for the fights are on sale at the Hub Clothiers. Prices are 25 cents for all students, 40 cents general admission, 65 cents ringside.

Grand National Is Craziest Of Races

ANCIENT CLASSIC OF MERRY OLD ENGLAND TO BE RUN FRIDAY; IT'S A TOUGH ASSIGNMENT

BY GAYLE TALBOT

AINTREE, Eng., March 17 (AP) — You can take all your horse races, from Ben Hur to Santa Anita and lump them all together, and you still won't have anything half so fantastic and completely dippy in every respect as the race that is going to be run here again Friday afternoon.

The Grand National stands alone. You can believe practically anything you ever heard or read about it.

Needed Excitement

The race was originated actually by a group of high-spirited Liverpool publicans (broadly, saloonkeepers) who needed something exciting to do one afternoon, and so decided to hold a horse race. Being a lively set of men, they naturally felt it should be the longest race on record, with as many rail fences, hedges and creeks tossed in as could be conveniently managed. They felt, too, that a good horse ought to be able to carry a full grown man, like a publican.

The race hasn't been changed much since then, except that the course has been fenced in and modified very slightly and the tone of the participants and spectators improved somewhat. The king and queen, for instance, are expected to be on hand this Friday.

An Old Classic

Nobody seems to know exactly how old the race is. Some record books say it had its inception in 1839, but the year 1837 is accepted "officially." So Friday's race might possibly be its centenary.

Perhaps the simplest way of giving a graphic general idea of the "national" is to point out that several thousand bowler hatted bookmakers scattered around the lawns and infield are pleased in most cases to bet you even money that your particular nag doesn't complete the course.

Any horse that runs four miles, 856 yards and carries a heavy rider over 30 jumps without something coming unsnapped is plain lucky.

KANSAS MILER TO CONTINUE

RUMOR OF RETIREMENT FOR CUNNINGHAM IS DENIED BY STAR

BY DREW MIDDLETON

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—Rumors of his retirement are just a laugh to Glenn Cunningham.

The husky Kansan, who will seek his fifth straight victory in the Columbian mile at the Knights of Columbus games in Madison Square Garden tonight, says he will keep on chasing Father Time until "too many of those other fellows start passing me."

Bunch Of Baloney

"Don't know where they got that retirement idea," said Cunningham with a broad grin. "The Columbian won't be my last big mile, nor will this be my last season of racing. I'll be around for a little while longer, anyway."

Cunningham sees a 4:10 mile "or better" for tonight's race.

Glenn doesn't believe Don Lash, Indiana's two mile champion, will do as well at the mile as he has at his specialty.

Opposing Cunningham tonight will be Archie San Romani, Luigi Beccali and Gene Venzke, representing with Glenn the cream of the mile field.

California's motor code has been adopted by the northern district of Baja California, Mexico.

THIRD ROUNDS ARE SLATED FOR TODAY

STAGE IS ALL SET TO SEE UPSETS IN CAGE TOURNEY TODAY

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

DENVER, March 17 (AP)—Sixteen teams, hailing from ocean to ocean swung into action in the third round of the national A. A. U. basketball tournament today and included in the list were all quintets dopesters named as the teams to beat.

The Rocky mountain and southwest regions led in the number of surviving representatives, each with four. The midwest and far west contributed three each to the third round, and the east two.

No Major Upsets

Two rounds of rapid-fire play failed to produce a single major upset.

The stage was set for upsets today, however, as nearly every game had a pronounced favorite. Exceptions were the battles between the potent Oakland, Calif., Golden Staters and the undefeated Penn Athletic club of Philadelphia, and the rugged, driving Colorado Springs Antlers and a sturdy band of basketeers from Walla Walla, Wash.

Missouri valley A. A. U. league entrants continued very much in the running, two of them stacking up scores resembling par on an 18-hole golf course. The Antlers swamped the Mohawks of Amsterdam, N. Y., yesterday, 69 to 23. Not to be outdone the Denver K. C. Life quintet poured it on a hapless Arkansas State Teachers team, 73 to 34.

The star-peppered Bartlesville Oilers, tops among the favorites, played no better than they had to, in defeating a scrappy little Wichita, Kas., Gas quintet, 54 to 28. The Kansas City Rails, also highly regarded, bumped into stern opposition in a seasoned crew of basketeers from Hesston, Kas. The final score four.

Hurdler Will Help Dodgers In Running

WONDERS NEVER CEASE IN THE CAMP OF THE FLATBUSH FOLLIES

BY PAUL MICKELSON

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 17 (AP) —Wonders never cease in the camp of the Flatbush Follies.

It wasn't enough that Brooklyn's demon Dodgers should fire their old clubhouse trainer and hire a fancy physiotherapist, now — every other method of teaching base-running a comic failure — they've recruited a star hurdler to show them how to skip over the baseball bumps.

Percy Beard, who used to set world's records for Alabama Poly and now makes a living as track coach at the University of Florida, has been hired by Manager Burleigh Grimes to show his boys how to get away from slow motion.

Patient Young Man

Beard is a very patient young man and Grimes hopes he may perform a miracle among Brooklyn's tangle-footed baserunners.

Foremost among Professor Beard's pupils will be one John T. Winsett, a ponderous outfielder. Ordinarily, the impatient Grimes would have no truck with a fellow like "Long Tom" Winsett because he has what the ball players call "two left feet." Tom just can't make a right turn, it seems, when he's running bases or chasing fly balls. He veers off in the same direction every time.

But "Long Tom" can belt that apple, and Grimes needs him in the lineup.

Professor Beard, after one glimpse at his pupils, says it won't be long before Brooklyn will have a whole flock of Ben Chapmans circling bases.

On The RECORD

Longest hockey game on the record lasted two days, between Montreal and Quebec in 1886. At the end of the 2-hour regulation contest, on Friday, the teams were tied, and they were still deadlocked after two hours' play on Saturday. The captains eventually agreed the first to score would win—thereby introducing the "sudden death" overtime now in effect. Montreal scored 20 minutes later.

FAVORITES OF ARENA WILL BE MATCHED

ROD FENTON AND ACE FREEMAN TO MEET IN PRELIMINARY

Tonight's card in brief:

Rod Fenton of Canada and Ace Freeman of New York in the preliminary, 30 minutes or less; Nick Bosinis of New York and George Bennett of Oklahoma in the semi-final, 30 minutes or less; Sailor Moran of Arkansas and Yaqui Joe of Senora in the main go.

Wild men and tame ones, ruffians and gentlemen, are among the sextet scheduled to provide the action tonight. They don't come much rougher and tougher than Sailor Moran, Rod Fenton and Nick Bosinis. Freeman, Yaqui Joe and Bennett lean toward the more gentlemanly type of grappling, thus pitting villain against hero in every bout tonight.

'Watch Them Legs'

Yaqui Joe, the veteran Indian, keeps holding his own against all kinds of competition. Stolid, never changing in expression, slow to anger, Joe generally carries the fight to his opponent, his wiry legs always ready to snake out and entangle the adversary in torturous toe-holds.

The former Aztec mail runner hesitates to get rough, but has demonstrated on numerous occasions that he can pull hair, choke and kick with the best of them. He is awkward with his fists, but can use his dukes to advantage when the occasion demands or when he becomes sufficiently tired.

Sailor Moran, the punching, choking artisan of ill conduct, doubtless will bring his favorite blow into action against the Indian. It consists of a hefty punch over the heart, and Moran has it down pat. A former champion boxer, Moran knows how to wield his dukes as well as how to apply legitimate wrestling holds, although he wastes little time with the latter.

GIN MEETING HELD HERE

SCORES OF MANAGERS AND OTHERS HERE FOR GATHERING

Approximately 225 managers, directors, and officials of cooperative cotton gins on the South Plains, in an all-day district session at the Hotel Lubbock here yesterday, made plans for improving the status of their gins.

Preliminary discussion of a cooperative oil mill, to be located in Lubbock, was had; the majority of those present voted in favor of it and there was no dissenting vote. The delegates were urged to discuss the proposal with directors and farmers and to be prepared to go into the matter at a meeting of the Texas Cooperative Ginners association in Dallas April 6.

Discuss Other Matters

Other matters discussed at a session following the regular program, presided over by O. J. Edler, Crosbyton, president of the Plains Cooperative Gin, Inc., included an insurance feature, purchase of gin supplies through a cooperative and one-variety cotton and seed germination tests. Mr. Edler frankly advised his hearers to consider a one-variety program to improve the seed and also to use care in the purchase of seed with a good germination. "I speak as a buyer of seed—I have none to sell," he told the crowd. "I advise you to be sure about getting good seed. Look into it right away."

For the insurance feature of the cooperative gin movement President Edler named a committee including J. W. Nesbit, Slaton, Charles Harmon, Amherst; J. W. McClatchey, Lubbock; O. J. Nelson, Meadow; L. T. Mayhugh, Runningwater and C. R. Smith, Ralls. Mr. Edler is chairman and is also a member of a state group of a similar nature.

Farm Credit Man Speaks

At the afternoon session O. W. Herrmann, principal economist of the cooperative division Farm Credit Administration, spoke on gin management and accounting. He discussed reports, accounting methods, etc.

Roy Saunders of the bureau of plant industry, told those present how to secure quality cotton.

There were a number of informal talks and discussions of subjects on the program.

During the late afternoon Secretary Wade asked for a show of hands on the attitude towards President Roosevelt's Supreme court reform. An estimated 95 per cent or better favored it, about a dozen opposing the proposed change.

President Evans of the Houston bank discussed net earnings for gins and answered a number of questions.

Mrs. Roosevelt Got A Laugh Out Of This

The women newspaper correspondents in Washington, D. C., scooped the world on the 10 biggest stories of the year at their annual dinner and stunt party, at which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was a guest of honor. Pictured is their travesty on the wealthy Mrs. Joseph Davies' (played by Isabel Griffin) "invasion of Russia" at the head of the safari burdened with frozen cream, jewels, and refrigerators, when she joined the diplomatic colony at Moscow with her husband, the new ambassador. At extreme left of the skit is a starving Russian begging for alms. Another skit portrayed Mrs. Roosevelt in a sit-down strike at the White House.

Way To Solve All Trouble Suggested

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 17 (AP) — W. E. Grisso, Oklahoma highway commissioner, has suggested a new way to get enough money to solve the state's road troubles.

"If all the gasoline money spent by delegations coming up here to ask for roads was just sent to the commission," he said, "our financial worries would be over."

Owing to internal disturbances, the Italo-Ethiopian conflict and exchange restrictions, the 1935-36 tourist season in Egypt was one of the worst on record.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxines. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

was 54 to 38.

The seeded Oakland quintet barely escaped being the victim of an upset as an underdog Royal Heart team from St. Louis came from far back to within three points of tieing the score in the waning minutes. Oakland had enough left to pull away to a 50 to 41 victory.

The Lincoln, Neb., Woodmen edged out the St. Louis Foods, 36 to 35, through a free throw in the last 30 seconds; the Penn A. C. defeated the Milwaukee Harvesters 38-36, and Oklahoma City university staged a belated spurt to dispose of the Newport News, Va., apprentice school, 24 to 16.

Other teams to survive the second round were the Slaton, Tex., Oilers, with 41 to 38 victory over the 124th field artillery of Chicago, the Denver American Beauties, who ruined the trip for the Winston-Salem, N. C., Spachs, 41 to 33, and New Mexico Normal which beat Drury college, 38-34.

CANON CITY, Colo., March 17 (AP) —A chicken dinner was the cause of the death of a bobcat that broke into Colorado prison.

The cat, a 45-pounder, dug into the chicken pens and guards discovered him munching on six chickens. They shot him.

"Labor Pledges Roosevelt Support", read a headline in yesterday's Journal.

Pledge him support—pfft! They ought to build a monument to him!

FOUR Lubbock taxicab companies and the city bus line have pledged support to the American legion's new campaign for safe driving.

According to O. B. Conley, the legion committee's chairman, owners of the five concerns are not only willing to support the drive but are anxious to do so. They are working out methods of keeping track of their drivers, so those who drive carefully and are polite to civilian drivers will be rewarded, and those who do not will get demerits to the point where they will be divorced from their jobs.

Chairman Conley tells The Plainsman that the owners of the lines request persons to call them at any time one of their drivers violates a law; that the managers want to know about it and will consider it a favor if the public will co-operate.

Incidentally, the commercial drivers, whether they be in taxis, delivery cars or heavy trucks have no corner on fast driving, traffic law violations or rudeness on the public streets.

Folks just notice them more, because their cars are marked and because one naturally expects a professional driver to do a better job than the ordinary "ham".

The city is full of men and women, boys and girls, who, in private cars are worse than the commercial drivers ever thought of being.

The legion safety campaign promises to bring about better driving conditions than ever before and Mr. Conley, with his co-workers, George Berry, C. E. Luce, W. B. Richards and Lester Parks, have started well on the long job that is ahead of them.

They realize the big hill they have to climb and they are expecting the public to help them out.

That Man on Avenue Q says considering how many opportunities we have for making fools of ourselves, even the worst of us do pretty well.

YESTERDAY'S mail brought a modest envelope, postmarked Lubbock, containing a newspaper clipping — a clipping of an editorial which ran, heaven knows where, except it had to be in some community where jibbering idiots write pieces for the paper.

The Plainsman has no idea from whom the clipping came. But if it were sent to make our blood boil it got the job done. Our blood boiled, simmered and then boiled again.

In fact, we haven't been so thoroughly riled up in quite a spell — not since Mrs. Roosevelt, John Barrymore, Sister Aimee and a couple of other publicity seekers landed on Page 1 on the same afternoon!

Not wishing to keep our indigestion to ourself, we're passing the clipping on. Be careful, after you finish it, that you don't try to bite yourself on the back of the neck!

"OUR NATIONAL RANGE"

"Perhaps we never made a greater mistake in policy than when we turned over the national range to homesteaders. No sooner did we do that than the price of beef began to go up.

"When the homesteaders came in they began to plow up the buffalo grass that once carpeted the plains from the Rio Grande almost to the Canadian border.

"One year out of five these homesteaders get some kind of a crop. But it is not a region adapted to field farming. It is a cow country, where the buffalo once roamed in immense herds, a country where cattle flourished. It was a range. The very name meant it was not possible to fence off the place and tame. The cattle needed it to roam, mile after mile. In that way the grass was preserved.

"We did not appreciate the fact that nature had made that land fit for just one thing. A Hungry Homestead Lobby spread abroad reports of 'cattle barons' who were occupying thousands of acres and keeping the poor farmers out. Poor farmers, indeed! They have been poorer ever since they plowed up the range and attempted to do the impossible. Grass lands, they found by bitter experience, were not farming lands.

"Had we left well enough alone the beef cattle would still be on that great range and we would not be importing meat from Canada and the Argentine. Nor would we be compelled to extend charity to these homesteaders, who by their own folly have brought about the ruin of one of our great natural resources."

SHRDLU! Etaoin! Shrdlu! Cmfxt! It's enough to make a minister cuss (isn't it, Bill Vivrett?) to think that such stuff and nonsense is abroad in an otherwise enlightened—or somewhat enlightened—land.

Maybe, as the critics of the newspapers say, we oughtn't to have a free press, or, at least, before a person is permitted to write for publication he must prove his ability to count for four and point to his head for a board of examiners.

Yah! Yah! Yah! Ain't it awful?

The Plainsman doesn't so much mind the knocks against the Great Plains region as an agriculture section. Part of the plains, like parts of every other section in this country, do not compose the best farming lands in the world.

What gets us is that part reading "nor would we be compelled to extend charity to these homesteaders". That's what gets our goat!

NINE chances out of ten that editorial was written by some damyankee editor in a dirty, rundown, smoky burg inhabited largely by hanyaks who teeter-totter over simple english, enjoy living in squalor and don't know any more about the plains country than a hog knows about a side-saddle.

The best bet in the world is that we have been keeping up breadlines in that dump of a joint ever since depression started and, perhaps, even before that.

The Plainsman's going to have to get off this subject before he suffers a heart attack, complicated by St. Vitus' dance and the delerium tremens. But in closing, he'll say this:

He'd like to take that dumb ox on a tour over this "desecrated, ruined country", show him, first hand, the facts, and then send him back to his grimy, dilapidated, crime-infested home town with a farewell kick-in-the-pants!

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

SYNOPSIS: Eve Mannersfield and Denny Carter are giving a party at Eve's apartment to announce their engagement. Slim, proud Denny has landed a publicity job with Southern Star Line, so they plan a globe-circling honeymoon. Eve has already resigned her job. Her only distress is at losing the tenants from her old Connecticut house. Mitzi, a plump, wealthy little widow, brings quiet, polite George, a pomologist, to the party. Talking to him about orchards and kitchens, Eve recalls her Aunt Lina's big, sunny kitchen.

Chapter Five

Dillard Breaks The News

Eve felt sudden small sharp elbows digging into her knees. The Featherstone's 9-year old Judge. They always brought him to parties.

"Did you have an outdoors with grass," demanded Judge feverishly, "and a slingshot?"

Eve stared down at the child in surprise. George reached a deft hand out to the gruff-voiced small boy and drew him close, with the easy touch he would have used on a frightened animal. "Like outdoors, son?"

Judge glanced up distrustfully under his thick black brows.

"Not backyard gardens; I mean outdoors."

"Sure, so do I," said George; "the kind you can ride a bicycle or a pony in."

"Did you have them?"

George nodded.

"Yep. That kind of outdoors—big!"

Marylin's high voice carried across the room above "Night and Day" being passionately chanted at the tiny studio upright by three men and a girl. "Listen to Judge going all out for the great open spaces!"

There was a yell of laughter. Marylin and Peter could always make you laugh. They laughed at everything: at themselves, their mutual devotion, their lack of ability to make money, their string of borrowed apartments; but they thought the funniest thing about them was their son.

He hadn't been christened, Judge. He was called after Marylin's father, Judge Oliver Deane Allaire of the supreme court, a distinguished man whose legacy would have kept them from the poverty they joked about, if it hadn't drifted somehow through their casual fingers, all but a tiny semi-annual income they referred to as the Sacred-Trust fund. Peter was a good artist, other artists said, but he had a theory of painting which was somehow tied up with the higher mathematics; as for Marylin, she sold an occasional short-short and gave away an occasional poem. But she wasn't very strong; it simply did her up to stay up late and get up early enough in the morning.

"When he was born, Judge looked so exactly like my father saying 'Mary, you're absolutely irresponsible!' that I couldn't help naming him for him." Marylin was explaining now to Jack and a circle round them. "Just look at him now!"

'Isn't He A Scream?'

They stared across at the scarlet child with deep eyes and frowning eyebrows and stiffly pressed lips, and everybody shrieked again. They always did. Eve had made Judge her friend for life on one of these occasions. His father had said gaily, "See Judge go for the most improving book in the room! I bet anything it's 'Lives of Great Americans.' Judge plans to grow up and have ideals, don't you, son?" And Eve, pitying the wriggling child, had thrown an arm around him and said: "I think it's splendid of him. Of course he will." Judge said nothing, but always after that he made himself useful in a brownie-like way when they brought him to Eve's place. He picked up a tray and piled it with cigaret stubs, now, escaping from the room.

"Isn't he a scream?" his mother went on when he came back. "He's all that keeps us from decay now we can't afford a maid. We oppress you with toil, don't we, darling baby?"

"No, I do it myself," Judge said, slipping behind Eve and George.

Dillard Betz interrupted, "Eve, where'd you get this stuff? 'S rotten."

"Ask Den," said Eve, a little annoyed. "He got it."

Marylin took her hand out of Peter's and said: "Why, Dill, I think the gin's wonderful and I think Eve's the sweetest thing to give a party at all. I was just going to ask to be lent a gallon. You know we're broke to the world till the Blessed Dividends drop in June first."

Marylin and Peter were like that, they said nice comforting things. They always said it was a pretty fine world with darned decent folks in it. And the fact seemed to justify them: people were always lending them apartments and giving them trips and treats, of which they spoke with grateful openness. They sat side by side, both tall and angular and easy. Peter had an eager aquiline face and a black lock falling into his eyes; Marylin was dun-colored. Tonight she had on a Chanel that somebody she referred to as "my darling Amy" had worn only once, and the slippers had been Eve's own rose-lame, which had matched the frock so incredibly that Eve had eagerly handed them over for good after Marylin had borrowed them twice. Marylin had a soft enthusiastic manner that seemed a part of her looks. She was large-eyed, with a hollow-cheeked sweet sallow face shaded by lengths of rather stringy mouse-colored hair, cut like a child's.

She put her hand back in Peter's and smiled at Dillard. Her smile made her seem to love everyone. Dillard was not softened. He snapped at them, sitting up straight and froglike, solemn with too much of the gin he condemned. "I think it's extravagant. I s'pose Den thought he had that big publicity job with the Southern Star landed when he bought it. I heard today they'd all gone flooey, since the Lona was rammed and they fired the whole top rank of the personnel!"

Eve opened her mouth to say "What nonsense!"

And then she caught sight of Denny's face; always betraying, it was whitely miserable. And she remembered that he had been trying to tell her something when he came. This!

Marylin Sympathizes

Somebody said, "Oh, shut up and have another drink, Dillard!" And everybody else began talking loudly at once, and another tactful soul started "Night and Day" again on the piano. The party, after a momentary jar, went on.

Marylin picked her long self gently off the divan and slipped across to Eve, followed by Peter. Not much got by Marylin and her worshiping Peter.

"Oh, darling, is it true?" she whispered under cover of the music. "We were all so happy when we heard you'd thrown over your job and Den had the promise of this new one. We love you so, we couldn't help putting two and two together. It's true, you have resigned, haven't you?"

Eve made herself smile and nod. "I don't know whether the story about Denny is true, but it is about me. But—it's simply that I wanted a summer in the country. I thought I might work out something—writing, you know. My aunt's old house in Connecticut lost its tenant last week."

"Oh!" Marylin looked a little dashed. "Then my romance wasn't quite true after all. Well, anyway, I hate the firm that did down our Denny—you do too, don't you, sweet? I'm going to put a curse on the whole shipping firm. I hate them! And oh, darling, you're giving up this darling apartment where we've all had such grand parties!"

"The house is bigger," Eve said. She felt she couldn't stand much more of this.

Eve faces her future—without Denny—tomorrow.

THE TAXPAYERS' MERRY-GO-ROUND

While it is true that the American tax bill, whether it be paid in Lubbock, San Francisco, New York or Atlanta, is not as great as that in other nations, it's still quite an item and, what is worse, is increasing.

Federal, state and local taxes amount to an average of $100 annually for every man, woman and child in the United States, according to the findings of a staff of tax experts in a survey sponsored by the Twentieth Century Fund, Inc. The experts found the tax dollar was apportioned as follows: 44 cents to the federal government; 20 cents to state governments, and 36 cents to county and municipal governments.

Taking the $100 per capita annual levy as a base, accordingly, we find that the federal tax bill is $44 for each man, woman and child in the United States, the state tax bill $20 and county and municipal tax bills $36. The Twentieth Century Fund experts estimate that one-fifth of what the statisticians call national income is used to pay taxes. But tax money, paid out in government expenditures, accounts in turn for one-fifth of the national income. If borrowings were to be replaced by increased taxes, the fraction in each instance would be nearer to one-fourth, the experts report.

The survey provides new evidence of the fallacy of the theory that constantly increasing expenditures can be met and the budget balanced by higher taxes resulting from "increased national income." The more money the government spends, the larger the so-called national income becomes. The government collects more in taxes on the increased national income and passes more out again. The net effect is to increase the proportion of tax dollars in the figures for national income and national outgo.

In other words, the experts have discovered what The Journal has been suspecting for a long time. That is, not even the government can save money by spending it.

From Hollywood MOVIE SIDELIGHTS

Behind The Scenes With The Stars Of Talkietown

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 17.—Short takes: No doubt it's just a gag, but they say the studio stand-ins are planning a sit-down strike.

* * *

There must be some significance in the fact that so many comedians went to see the exhibition of nightmarish surrealist art.

Martha Raye and Sid Silvers were first at the opening. A couple of Marx Brothers dropped in. Jack Oakie, Ted Healy, Una Merkel, Jack Haley, and Gregory Ratoff attended.

OILED UP

Director Rouben Mamoulian showed consideration for extras that is very rare in Hollywood when he sent telegrams to a dozen of them regarding the next day's work.

The wires said: "ON YOUR PARAMOUNT CALL TOMORROW YOU WILL BE SPLASHED WITH OIL." He intended the message as a caution for the wearing of old clothes, but two of the extras interpreted it as an order.

They stopped at filling stations en route to the studio and had themselves doused with oil from head to foot. They arrived woebegone and dripping, leaving a trail of oil wherever they walked.

The Marxes are doing a little sign painting on dressing room doors: "Maureen O'Sullivan — Cleaning and Pressing;" "Allan Jones — Vocal Lessons, also Bird Calls;" "Esther Muir—Phrenologist."

A prominent set designer who wants to build a new home for himself happened to be assigned to a picture which called for a house. He made quite an elaborate job of the sets, incorporating in them all the ideas he had had for his own place.

When they were ready he brought his wife and they inspected everything, making notes of a few changes. Then he gave the revised plans to an architect and told him to go ahead and build it—in Beverly Hills.

The "Greta Gynte" you'll see in the feminine lead of "The Road Back" is Sigri Gurie, a Norwegian actress imported by Samuel Goldwyn and loaned to Universal. However, when she returns to Goldwyn, he'll find still another name for her.

Beach Musical

Earl Carroll, having co-produced a couple of Shirley Temple pictures (not to mention his "Murder at the Vanities," which is best forgotten), now is considered to have learned enough about the movies to make a musical.

It's to be called "Beauty and the Beach," which sounds like a glorified Sennett comedy. And I hope it is. They're looking for swimmers.

And, speaking of swimmers, there's a plan afoot to take Johnny Weissmuller and Lupe Velez to the South Seas, co-starring them in a native picture.

Other production notes: Jerry Bergh, socialite New Yorker, begins her film career for Grand National in a rip-roaring western.

Robert Taylor has a busy schedule. He has been rushed into "Broadway Melody" and then steps into "The Duke Steps Out"—the latter a comedy probably co-starring Jean Harlow.

Romance department: An actor and his wife are postponing their divorce for a couple of months because they had planned a big party for their first wedding anniversary.

Ariel Busy

Elaine Barrie doesn't expect a Barrymore reconciliation and is in circulation these nights. First she went about with William Tannen. Now she's seen with Jack La Rue.

* * *

Martha Raye and Jerry Hopper have called it quits and she admits her current heartburn is a writer named, with some appropriateness, King English.

What's all this about Greta Garbo and Leopold Stokowski?

* * *

Sonja Henie's studio, alert to the publicity value of romance, let it be understood that she flew here from the east to check up on Tyrone Power's reported attentions to Loretta Young. Ho-hum!

* * *

Grim commentary on the length of time it took to film "Lost Horizon" is the fact that three members of the cast have died since the picture started.

Mervyn LeRoy turned down an invitation to dinner thus: "I don't want any favors from that guy; I suspect he has a camera to grind."

Washington Officialdom And Labor Leaders Get Taste Of Picketing And Sit-Downing; Strikes Hit Capitol Shadow

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 17.—It's one thing to have a sit-down strike a thousand miles away from here and, as many Washingtonians found out, quite another to have one in this non-industrial capital city. Especially one which ties up food and drink in that nationally famous hostelry, the New Willard.

Dutcher

When the strike involves John L. Lewis and other celebrated labor leaders, and is settled by Assistant Labor Secretary Edward F. McGrady, maestro of mediators, and it all happens right in the heart of this strange city—well, sir, you have something such as a Washington correspondent is seldom privileged to observe.

The first surprise you get is when you go to the hotel to check up on labor's Non-Partisan league's convention and find a dozen waiters, cooks and waitresses picketing with standards which proclaim "The Willard Hotel, Residence of Presidents, Is on Strike." Then you find the other waiters and waitresses sitting down in the dining room, coffee shop and cocktail lounges, and a few remaining guests preparing to leave.

Down in the kitchen, 20 cooks and helpers have put the food away and stopped production at the source. Union men prepare to bring them sandwiches. A hundred employes are sitting down.

Her Mama There, Too

Ask how come and you hear accusations of coercion and intimidation of union members, plus discharge of a coffee shop waitress, allegedly for union activity. The girl is on the picket line, carrying a placard and accompanied by her mama. She's good looking. Reporters and photographers are rushing to the scene. The management refuses to make a statement. Guests are checking out, especially labor leaders there for the convention. Word spreads that the strike is a hostile frameup by the A. F. of L., with which the waiters' and cooks' union is affiliated. McGrady comes to the hotel for dinner, but refuses to pass the picket line.

Your correspondent encounters Maj. George L. Berry, chairman of labor's Non-Partisan league, dining at the nearby Occidental restaurant on a tender two-inch steak, impeccably broiled, black outside and red in the middle. Major Berry is kind enough to buy a drink—eventually

AGAINST PACKED COURT

Dear Plainsman: The determined stand you have taken against the proposal to pack the Supreme court should be commended by everyone.

I feel that a vote for Roosevelt did not give him my mandate to pack the court and become dictator. Let the people vote on constitutional amendments as promised in the last platform.

The Supreme court saved the South from negro domination during re-construction days. It is rumored that Roosevelt will appoint the negro congressman from Chicago a Supreme court justice. Politicians deny this.

All we can judge by is that Roosevelt recently appointed William Hastie, 32 year old negro, as Supreme court judge in the Virgin Islands.

It is true that a majority of the Virgin Islands population is negro. The same is true of many sections in the South and a few negro judges appointed to the new federal courts proposed by Roosevelt will bring about the race equality desired by negroes, parlor pinks and some New Dealers.

The Democratic party never had their conventions opened with prayer by a negro. The New Dealers had a negro open their convention last summer in Philadelphia.

Southern Democrat,
Lubbock.

TOO MUCH SPEEDING

Dear Plainsman: This is written to call attention to a situation in our city which is becoming a serious menace to the lives of many people.

Anyone who observes cannot fail to notice the number of speeders on any of the streets outside the business district. That is, anyone except the police. They seem to have abandoned any attempt to catch speeders, else there would not be seen daily many driving at speeds of 50 to 70 miles on most any of our paved streets.

Unless something is done to check speeding, and about 95 percent of the wrecks and injuries are caused by speeders, another awful tragedy will be the inevitable result.

Traffic congestion downtown will usually unravel itself, because drivers as a rule have their cars under control while driving in the business section. Yet, our police are very diligent to see that small infractions of traffic rules cause good citizens, who have not endangered anyone's life, to be hailed into court, while speeders as dangerous as a mad dog run unchecked endangering the lives of hundreds of people.

Many drive through groups of school children at such speed as will menace the lives of all who do not dodge or give full right of way to the speed demons.

I hope you see fit to print this as it might save a life if police give heed and do something to stop speeding. And they can check it by staying on the job.

Yours in the interest of safety for lawabiding citizens.

Gaming Syndicate Is Said Shattered

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17. (AP)—Police completed today a series of raids designed to crush what they termed a widespread capital gambling syndicate. More than 35 men were held on gaming charges.

Sixty-eight men were taken to police stations yesterday in a raid on four alleged race betting establishments, but most of them were released as having no connection with the operation of the places. Truck-loads of gaming devices were seized.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Mar. 17. (AP)—Carrier stocks spattered the market ticker tape with gains of fractions to 2 or more points today, but slight selling pressure was evident in many other sections of the list.

Spurring the rails to another climb was overnight news of a "complete agreement" on pensions reached by the roads and unions.

Business developments were helpful to selected issues, but labor controversies, including action of Chrysler strikers in defying the court's eviction order, tended to stem buying generally.

U. S. government securities fell sharply in the bond division and corporation loans were erratic. Commodities were uneven.

N. Y. Central led the forward tilt with an opening block of 12,000 shares. Well ahead also were Baltimore & Ohio, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Northern Pacific.

Others a shade on top most of the time were Consolidated Edison, Electric Power & Light, U. S. Leather, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, and Seaboard Oil.

U. S. Steel came back after an early dip but failed to get far in front. Chrysler was resistant while General Motors lacked vitality.

Unchanged to lower the greater part of the session were American Telephone, Bethlehem, Republic, Sears Roebuck, Westinghouse, General Electric, Du Pont, Briggs Mfg., Remington Rand, American Smelting and Texas Corp.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 17. (AP)—Opening quietly within a point or so of the previous close, cotton futures fluctuated narrowly during the first half hour's dealings today.

At the first call there was a good volume of selling orders around the ring, offerings that were considered both for profit taking purposes and some hedging.

May opened at 14.34, off a point, while July was net unchanged at 14.17, Oct. was up a point at 13.54 and Jan. was a point lower at 13.56.

There was no important change overnight in the general trade situation. Exports demand has improved in the last fortnight, while mills are still avidly seeking the staple, particularly better grades.

The opinion is fairly general now that 1,000,000 bales of local cotton will be released during the present selling period.

The market received little support during the morning while scattered selling was well taken prices were able to make little progress in either direction.

Both the volume and the price range were under the proportions of recent sessions and by mid-day the market showed little net change.

Weather reports were decidedly better for planting. Higher temperatures were reported in the west. There were scattered showers in the eastern and central belt that were expected to keep farmers out of the field for a few days.

Foreign traders remained on the buying side today, centering most of their purchases in new crop months at New Orleans. Old crops were bought by brokers who ordinarily act for mill account.

Speculators were out of the market, apparently willing to let prices drift along at current levels.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Mar. 17. (AP)—Cotton futures were steady at the opening, 3 lower to 5 higher. Liquidation and hedge selling were absorbed by trade and commission house buying. Mch 14.42; May 14.42; Jly 14.29; Oct 13.56; Dec 13.51; Jan 13.53.

March was under pressure influenced by the issuance of 14 notices prior to expiration of trading in that position at midday but other months were steadier on active demand.

The trade again bought near months while Liverpool, the continent and Wall Street houses purchased new crop positions.

Firmness of forward deliveries at Liverpool seemed to bring in some buying here, part of which was believed to be for foreign mill account against March forward sales of textiles.

Trading was active and prices advanced moderately after the call but profit-taking held fluctuations within comparatively narrow range. May sold up from 14.42 to 14.49 and after the first hour was 14.46 with prices generally 2 to 11 points net higher.

At Liverpool near months were relatively easier owing to a lower basis for spot cotton there but forward positions were firm on speculative buying.

Erratic movements in March accounted for some irregularity in prices generally late in the morning. The spot month, which had declined to 14.58 under belated liquidation, rallied to 14.81 an finally went off the board at midday at 14.66, or 15 points net lower.

Scattered liquidation developed in other positions with May easing to 14.36 and prices generally 2 points net lower to 11 higher at midday. During the life of the March contract it had sold from a low of 10.17 a year ago to a 7-year high of 14.87 yesterday.

ing devices, and inaugurated a "no Sunday dancing" law, had brought under control virtually every form of law violation found in oil sectors. He has 19 deputies and modern equipment.

Soon after the discovery of oil in the Lou Della Crim No. 1, Humble Oil and Refining company, an influx of oil field laborers stampeded Kilgore, then a quiet village of about 400 located on red, sandy loam. It has grown to nearly 20,000 in seven years.

Martial Law Declared

Martial law was declared on August 17, 1930, and the state railroad commission offices, regulatory body for the field, was not established until a year later.

E. Constantine, Tyler oil operator, attacked the validity of martial law in federal court in January, 1932, and a United States supreme court decision in December of the same year finally lifted the rule from the section.

Through it all, the original cause of one of the world's greatest oil rushes—the Lou Della Crim No. 1—has been flowing steadily on a sloping hillside some three miles from the center of town.

Twenty two thousand wells which stretch as far as the eye can see in all directions, located in a plot 50 miles long and from three to eight miles wide, have an hourly potential production of about 16,000,000 barrels or could produce close to 400,000,000 barrels per day.

Oil men claim the field could produce enough oil in a single day to supply the nation for 14 days, or, more startling, turn out enough crude in 11 minutes to meet United States' needs for a day.

Valuation of the Kilgore school district was estimated at $32,000,000.

The bill was amended to provide that wholesalers and distributors might receive a four per cent discount on their taxes for the expense of attaching the stamps instead of the 2 1-2 per cent now allowed.

The house refused immediate adoption of a resolution to ascertain why PWA funds had not been obtained for a new courts building here. It was sent to committee.

The number of bills introduced in the house passed the 1,000 mark. Among new measures was one by Rep. Herman Jones of Decatur to provide a method of taxing petroleum tank cars and apportioning the revenue among the counties through which the cars run.

Egg Shaped Like A Gourd Is Reported

An egg, the shape of a gourd and about two and a half inches long, was brought to the Journal office today by B. L. Stanton, a farmer of the Roosevelt community, east of town.

Large end of the egg is about an inch in diameter, the smaller end not half that size. Mr. Stanton boiled the egg, as he wants to keep it. It was laid by a Rhode Island Red hen.

STRIKERS

9 a. m. deadline, Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, announced that neither he nor Richard Frankensteen, organizational director, would meet with a committee appointed by Governor Frank Murphy to seek a solution of the widespread strikes.

Aims Are Related

"The sit-down strikes will cease when the conditions which produced them no longer exist," Martin declared in a telegram to Governor Murphy. "We are of the opinion that such a board (the governor's committee) will not serve to eradicate the evils of job insecurity and low wages. Sit-downs are a symptom of a deeper condition and not the cause."

"Workers are not deeply moved by the tearful appeals of millionaire employers for the protection of their property against sit-downs," the telegram concluded, "when they remember how these same employers have blacklisted them, have paid stool pigeons to spy on them, have paid thugs to beat them, and have exploited them to the limit of endurance for years."

The first meeting of Governor Murphy's committee, composed of labor leaders, industrialists, church and civic leaders, was scheduled for 11 a. m. (Eastern standard time).

Must File Notice

The corporation, which obtained the writ Monday, must file formal notice with Circuit Judge Allan Campbell that his injunction has been disregarded, and obtain writs of attachment for the strikers before forcible ejection can be undertaken.

There was no immediate indication when the corporation's legal staff would carry through that procedure.

At none of the plants was there any indication that the evacuation order would be obeyed.

David Croll, who said the quins' business dealings had become too heavy for him to handle with his duties as a cabinet minister. Wilson will serve with Judge J. A. Valin, Oliva Dionne, the quins' father, and Dr. Allan R. Dafoe, who comprise the guardianship board.

Panhandle Is Said In Good Condition

Wheat land in the North Panhandle has enough moisture to carry it through until mid-April, in the opinion of J. Frank Triplett, general manager of the Texas Wheat Growers, Inc., a cooperative wheat business. Mr. Triplett, a former Plainview resident, attended the cooperative gin meeting Tuesday and visited friends while here.

There is an estimated 4,000,000 acres of wheat in the Panhandle Plains country and a normal crop of 30,000,000 to 35,000,000 bushels may be expected, he said. "It can go to 50,000,000 bushels or more, if we get the moisture," he added. "Crop prospects are as good at this time, as I have seen them, in years."

The cooperative owns a 2,000,000 bushel capacity elevator at Amarillo and some 46 other elevators, mostly country, in Texas and New Mexico. There are two in the latter state. Last year the cooperative operated 39 elevators. Capacity of the entire group is estimated at 15,000,000 bushels.

Carryover from the 1936 crop is small this year. There has been so far but little blowing of wheat land.

POLICE CHANGES BEING REVEALED

J. E. Gullion and William Bell, employed in the police department, are working "extra" pending permanent appointment if they prove satisfactory, said Police Chief H. L. (Bud) Johnston this morning.

Release of George G. Stringer, night police patrolman, was reported Tuesday by Stringer, who said he received his dismissal from Night Police Chief Sid Caraway.

"Caraway told me Chief Johnston had told him my services would be no longer necessary," he said.

Boyd went to work for the department when Baxter Honey, former deputy sheriff, left the force. Gullion, if receiving permanent employment, probably will fill the place vacated by Stringer.

"My record is clear—and I invite its inspection," said the dismissed patrolman. He declared he was at "a loss" to understand the move. "I've taken care of my beat and have been honest in law enforcement," he said.

Chief Johnston said he made the change because he felt it wise.

L. D. Casey is chairman of the army Welfare committee. Other members are Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer; Miss Mayme Alexander, visiting teacher of Lubbock public schools; and Rev. R. M. Hocker, pastor of the Nazarene church.

The Welfare committee is to conduct meetings later to work out the Salvation Army relief policies and budget.

ed by groups headed by Harrison and by J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, would cut the initial tax on workers' incomes and on employers' payrolls from 3 1-2 per cent to 2 1-2 per cent each.

The new method, devised to replace a system now being challenged by the railroads in the District of Columbia courts, provides pensions for workers voluntarily retiring at 65, or at the end of 30 years service.

The taxes on workers and on railroads would increase as the system continues, under the following schedule:

2 1-2 per cent for 1937, 1938 and 1939.

2 3-4 per cent for 1940, 1941 and 1942.

3 per cent for 1943, 1944, and 1945.

3 1-4 per cent for 1946, 1947, and 1948.

3 1-2 per cent after December 31, 1948.

The association, organized several years ago, has aided in the paving program along the route. Only three counties and part of another, in Texas, remain unpaved. The western half of Gaines county is to be paved this year, work is being done on the eastern part of Dawson, and some in Borden county, as well.

The state highway commission, at a meeting February 10, approved recommendation for federal aid to the U. S. bureau of public roads, of the route from Dallas to the New Mexico state line.

No Effect Is Seen Here From Strikes

Increases of wages for employes of major packing companies, recently announced by Associated Press as having resulted from strikes in industrial centers of the United States, will have no effect on employes in Lubbock associated with the companies, indicated local managers.

They pointed out the recent boost in wages as formerly announced affected only hour laborers of major packing houses.

Manager of a subsidiary of a packing company said the boost effected by the strikes applied to butchers down to hour laborers. Another said office workers and salaried laborers would not have wages changed as a direct result of labor disorders.

Packing companies whose hour laborers in packing plants were given wage increases are Swift and company, Armour and company, Wilson company, Wilson and Cudahy, Hormel, and Houston Packing company.

Food Still Needed For Families Here

Food still is needed for four families reported as destitute by the Salvation Army, Capt. John G. Churchill said at noon today.

A $2 donation was received this morning, and clothing and other donations were received Tuesday, but the need still is urgent, it was said.

One of the four families needing food consists of a man and his wife, both ill, who are living in a small wagon in the shack town section.

The other three families vary in number from three to eight, the children being small with two exceptions where there are boys of 14 and 15. There is sickness in each family.

The army has 26 active cases on its rolls.

two drinks. Berry knows of the strike, thinks it's a plot against his convention and points out he has contractual relations with the hotel. He says: "In my 29 years as a delegate to A. F. of L. conventions, there's never been one without a cooks' and waiters' incident in which delegates are urged not to eat or sleep somewhere." He says that is an exclusive statement which he will give to nobody else. He says the big night meeting in the hotel ballroom, at which speakers are to argue for the Roosevelt Supreme court plan will go on just the same.

Meeting Is Ruined

Berry's meeting goes on, but the strike downstairs has ruined it. Lewis, scheduled as the big speaker of the evening, hears of the picket line, knows photographers are waiting to shoot him as he enters the hotel and announces he doesn't pass through picket lines. Strike leaders offer to call off the pickets two hours while he enters and speaks. Lewis declines with thanks. Other speakers orate, but you can hardly hear them for the corridor noise of angry delegates. Some believe the meeting should be moved and others insist it's a plot.

Strike leaders and waiters from other hotels come up to propagandize and ask for the floor. Berry refuses them, but eventually a committee of five important labor leaders is appointed to settle the strike. It tries vainly, that night and next morning.

Down on the sidewalk you meet a favorite waiter from another hotel and a chef from still another. They and many associates have come to encourage the pickets. Women toss objects at screens on windows of the great main dining room, attracting attention of their men folk inside. The management is telling waiters they're fired.

The checkroom girl in the popular corner cocktail lounge has been persuaded to serve drinks which union bartenders still mix, following an attempt to make a few lonesome customers serve themselves. This was met by union complaints that such service is in violation of local law. A richly dressed woman announces, in the presence of strikers, that "If Landon had been elected, no such outrage would have occurred," and her companion warns that she may be hurting the strikers' feelings. Everything is orderly; strikers have been told to resist hotel officers who may try to evict them, but not officers of the law.

Sit On Unmade Beds

This sort of thing goes on all next day. The hotel gets warrants. Union bellboys who appear for work are denied their uniforms. They promptly sit down on a main lounge and tell all who ask that their wages are "only 3 cents a day" and that they have a seven-day week. Unorganized chambermaids

FIRST CANINE BEAUTY SHOP ON PARK AVENUE DOING A BONANZA BUSINESS

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—It's red-painted toenails and plucked eye-brows, now, in the poodle realm of Park avenue—from Great Danes to sniff-nosed pekes.

New York's first canine "beauty shop" is doing a bonanza business, primping the aristocrats of dogdom to the tune of thousands of dollars a month.

Plucking costs $5. That includes eyebrows, which are shaped into a sophisticated frown or a wistful slant according to the nature of the pooch.

As for toenail tinting the fashion calls for the dog's paws to match the fingernails of its mistress, in shades of crimson, purple or silver — at 50 cents a paw, or $1 for the whole set of four if the owner brings her own polish. Mostly they do.

The shop, located in the heart of the Park avenue penthouse district —with a convenient tree flanking the doorway — is owned by Thomas Burgess, a smiling young man of 30, who gave up barnstorming as a wing-walker with a stunt-flying troupe to pedicure poms, pekes, pugs and poodles.

Prize winning dairy cows owned by H. F. Attaway of Hopkins county, Texas, produced a monthly average of 686 pounds of milk each and 2[illegible] pounds of butterfat.
