GETTING IT RIGHT

Quail ISD Advised Against Long-Range Indebtedness

The Texas Commissioner of Education at a special hearing Wednesday, August 16, in Austin, advised Quail School Board against committing the district to any "long range debt" until the accreditation status of the school is settled.

But Commissioner M.L. Brockette told the board he did not want to "pull the rug out from under you because you don't have a building (for a gymnasium), and that he would not change the school's status to non-accredited for the 1978-79 school year.

The Commissioner said Quail would operate during the 1978-79 school year on "accredited warned" status. Other staff members at the Texas Education Agency said that accredited warned status denotes problems in the school district of a "very serious nature."

The hearing was an appeal by a group of Quail School district taxpayers from The Texas Education Commission's ruling that Quail would operate this year on "accredited warned" status rather than "non-accredited" status. Non-accredited schools receive no state aid to help finance the school.

The taxpayer group had asked earlier this summer that the Texas Education Agency's recommendation be put into effect that Quail School not be accredited for the 1977-78 school year. That recommendation was made in the fall of 1977 when the school was still operating out of makeshift classrooms in two churches.

But agency officials said that they had waited too late this year to change the status of the school. They said that they would act on the status

Quail School District Raises Assessed Valuations Over 400%

Quail Independent School District increased total assessed property valuations in the district over 400% from last year and doubled its estimated revenues from local taxes. Quail Superintendent Wilford Arthur said this week.

Notices of the tax increases were mailed to taxpayers late last week. A survey of a very limited number of the notices indicates that the increase on each parcel of property was not a straight percentage increase, but that each parcel was revalued separately. In the tax notices made available to The Wellington Leader, the amount of tax increase on each parcel varied from 180% to over 350%.

Arthur said that assessed valuations were about $4 million in 1977 and would be about $16.5 million in 1978.

Total estimated local revenues were approximately $60,000 in 1977 and are about $120,000 in 1978, Arthur said.

Quail School's total budget for 1977 was approximately $217,000 and the 1978 budget (which Arthur said had been "tentatively accepted" by the school board) is $221,000.

Arthur said that the district was revaluing property in order to conform to the State School Tax Practice Board's recommendations that school districts set valuations based on 100% of fair market value.

"We think that in the next year or so, if school districts do not revalue, there is a good

Skyrockets Scrimmage Seymour Friday

Wellington Skyrockets--60 of them--will make their first appearance in a scrimmage with Seymour at Vernon Friday, August 25.

Head Coach James Williams said he and his staff will probably start the freshmen, then follow this with the B team and the first and second string varsity.

A Class AA team, Seymour will have strength, says Williams.

Last year, they lost to district champion Childress only 24-21.

"So they have some pretty good athletes. Their athletic director said he has 80 kids out for football, so they are ahead of us numberwise," Williams added.

Rockets have been on two-a-day workouts for a week and a half.

"Our kids are in real good shape. I was pleased with the way they came into practice. They're in real good condition," their coach praised. Fifteen lettermen are returning from last year's team, although not all were starters.

"Right now, we're trying to condition them for the first game against Hollis. We're looking at kids for the different positions--who will be in key positions. We'll try to mold our team by what comes out of the scrimmage," continued Williams.

The Skyrockets have fairly good depth, more in the line than the backfield. Three starters are slated to appear in the backfield, although the coaches are shifting some players to fill gaps.

"We have people who can play two or three positions.

He compares this year's line to that of 1973, although it is a little larger and has a little more height.

Williams has great expectations of and great pride in this year's seniors. In his first year at Wellington, with only two assistants, he coached seventh graders along with the varsity. Those boys are this year's seniors. "I know what kind of character they've got," he adds. This will be no easy year, however.

The Rockets and their coaches take the season one game at a time. Right now, they're concentrating on Hollis. Rated No. 3 among Class A teams in Texas, Williams points out that "ratings don't mean a lot. We look at it a game at a time, working to get better each week. Right now, they're concentrating on Hollis Tigers, who have gone to the Oklahoma State playoffs several times in recent years.

A new opponent, Elk City, a AAA team in Oklahoma, is the second opponent. Both games will be played here.

Electra, not to be underrated, last year had a 5-4-1 season in the district with Childress, another opponent, who has gone to the state AA finals the last two years. Floydada is picked to win in 4-AA this year.

Coming off that long road trip, the Rockets will enter their district schedule at Panhandle, a team that has just come down from Class AA.

That will be a strong test in the district opener," said Williams.

Shamrock Irish will be the second district opponent. Clarendon with 8 defensive players back and 6 on the offense, is an improved team over last year.

White Deer, who did not have a good 1977 season nevertheless has 18 returning lettermen, 9 on offense and 9 on defense. "I look for them to be improved," says the Wellington head coach.

The last district game will be at Memphis.

"Everybody knows what kind of game we have with Memphis. They always get up and play us top notch football. It's going to be a long season," Williams believes.

Williams has two assistants who have worked with him through his tenure here, Robert Hicks and Phil Bailey. Two new coaches round out the staff, Jim Yarnell of Ballinger, an Angelo State graduate, and Jim Chappell, who attended Wellington schools into junior high before he moved with his family to Memphis. He is a West Texas graduate.

Hospital's Troubled Finances Reviewed By Board Monday

Collingsworth General Hospital District board reviewed the district's troubled financial situation in a special meeting Monday, August 21 and voted unanimously to borrow $22,000 to finance short-term debts. The district has already borrowed $49,000 in short-term loans this year.

The board also voted unanimously to apply for a $5.00 increase in all room rates.

The board also reviewed expenditures and revenues generated from a contract with Dr. Reynaldo Perez which was questioned by citizens at a public meeting after last week's board meeting.

A staff report indicates that the hospital has paid $72,692 since the hospital first entered into a contract with Dr. Perez in January 1976, to help provide health care for the community. Of that total $7,000 was reimbursed to the hospital by insurance companies covering losses in a fire in Dr. Perez's office last year.

Of the remaining $65,692, $1,783 has been paid to Dr. Perez directly in accordance with his contract that guarantees a minimum income of $1,000 per month. These direct payments were all in 1976, and none have been made in 1977 or 1978.

The remainder of the money has been spent on rent, utilities, supplies, one-half payment of malpractice insurance, equipment and salaries for office personnel.

The report also indicates that from February, 1976 through July, 1978, Dr. Perez was responsible for 3,234 "patient days" (days a patient stayed in the hospital while he was under Dr. Perez care).

Based on a formula for figuring revenue from patient days, the staff report indicates that those 3,234 patient days were responsible for $277,450 in revenues to the hospital.

During the same period Dr. Carter Holcomb is attributed with 6,977 patient days and Dr. Charles Jones is attributed with 2,983 patient days.

Dr. Perez' patient days from February to September, 1976 are 1,140; from October, 1976 through September, 1977, 1,455; and from October 1977 through July 1978, 639.

Last fall Dr. Perez was notified that the Texas licensing board would not extend his temporary license to practice in the state. He did not practice from approximately mid-November to mid-December while he was out of the state studying for

The purpose of the co-op is to form a non-profit corporation which will purchase the old railroad depot on 9th Street. The building will be used as an office for a Farmers Union insurance agent and for other FU activities, Campbell said.

"The meeting is open to all Farmers Union members," Campbell said, "and we'd like to have lots of people there."

Campbell also said the Farmers Union annual meeting and free barbecue has been scheduled for Saturday, September 30 at Bura Handley Community Center.

New Entertainment Due For Collingsworth Fair

Plans for the Collingsworth County Fair Friday and Saturday, September 8 and 9, are near completion. Billy Moseley, chairman, announced this week.

As an all-new entertainment feature, Wellington Volunteer Fire Department will hold water polo contests Saturday Sept. 9 at 2:00 p.m. place will be announced.

Indiana examinations for his permanent license. Then from approximately mid-December to mid-March he did not practice because his temporary license had been cancelled and it was not reinstated until March. Since April, illness in his family has forced him to be out of the office for several weeks. Dr. Perez said. Perez said these were the reasons his patient day census was lower for the current year than last year.

In other action the board reviewed bad debts that have had to be written off by the hospital district. The total since 1973 has been $78,678.

The board also voted unanimously to appoint Belva J. Weaver as assistant director of nurses; voted to pay $600 moving expense to RN's and LVN's who move from outside Collingsworth County to within 20 miles of the hospital district; and voted to have the district's auditors prepare the hospital's annual cost report, rather than having it done by the staff.

The board also voted unanimously to increase Anne Langford's salary to $7.50 per hour while she is serving as acting administrator. Mrs. Langford was appointed last week after hospital administrator Charles Floyd resigned.

have been asked by the department to compete with fire hoses. Then the commissioners court and city council are slated for a match, according to Danny Gray, who is working on plans.

After that, a number of guest teams representing fire department in neighboring towns will participate in matches.

Moseley said that the livestock division, exhibited Saturday at the Youth Livestock Show Barn, will include a division of baby and small animals, and there will be a halter class in the horse show.

Calves which are being raised as 4-H and FFA club projects are not ready to be exhibited, Moseley pointed out, and that department was eliminated.

"Instead, we will support them when they have their livestock show January 13," he declared.

Everyone planning an entry in the big opening parade is asked to contact Mrs. Margaret Vines at the Chamber of Commerce office the early part of next week.

Every entry must have a number which will be displayed for the benefit of the parade judges.

Another feature new to this year will be concession booths in the community building during the two days of the fair.

This year for the first time, those having entries which they wish to sell may do so in a market to be held after the close of the fair Saturday.

All entries must remain in place until 5:00 p.m. Saturday, when they will be released to be included in the market. Sale of entries is optional with the owner. Each owner selling items should be present or have a representative there.

Among the items due to be included in the market will be fresh vegetables and fruits which were exhibited; baked pies, cakes and other goods as well as canned fruits and vegetables, jams and jellies from the women's and girls division;

Household textiles, including quality hand-made items, will be sold by several women from their division; and there will be arts and crafts available, Moseley said.

The agricultural exhibit will probably be small, due to dry weather, but truly representative of the Collingsworth County area.

Moseley explained that the regulation that products must be grown in the county including those areas lying outside the county but in the Collingsworth trade territory.

Wellington Kiwanis Club will hold its annual beef barbecue at noon Friday in Ellison Park.

earlier next year so that all parties would know what the status of the school would be well in advance of the beginning of the school year.

The taxpayer group can appeal the Commissioner's ruling to the Texas Board of Education in September, but agency officials doubted that the Board would change the school's status for the 1978-79 school year.

The commissioner also told the board and the taxpayer group that Samnorwood, Quail and Wellington districts all needed to work together to utilize the limited resources of the districts to provide the best possible education for students.

"When a school community gets split, it is hard to get back together," Brockette said. "Don't get split up as adults so that you can't do what's best for the children."

Brockette said that it seemed to him that the concept of high school education was moving toward a situation where students would be expected to have some sort of job skills when they graduated. He said that these programs were very high cost per student programs, and that the cost of financing these programs was something small school districts in particular must consider in their long-range plans.

Quail School Board members present for the hearing were Donald Langley, Delbert White and Dan Guthrie. Also present was Quail Superintendent Wilford Arthur.

Representing the taxpayer group were Carl Wischaemper, J.I. Morgan, Louis Allred, Dudley Phipps, Roy Canada, Ronnie Hartman, Frank Coleman, Jr., and chance that the state will come in and do it," Arthur said.

The new taxes are based on 80% assessment of fair market value and a tax rate of $.73 per $100 valuation. 1977 taxes were based on a rate of $1.50 per $100 valuation, the maximum rate allowed by law.

The school district will hold a public meeting at the school Friday, August 25 at 8:30 p.m. to explain the tax increase, Arthur said. The meeting is open to anyone interested.

The district's Board of Equalization is meeting from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday, August 26. Arthur requested that taxpayers who want a hearing before the equalization board phone, write or come by the school to schedule an appointment during the hearing hours. The school's telephone number is 806/447-5634.

Bids on New Jail Possible By Mid-October, Watson Says

Representatives of Collingsworth and Hall Counties will appear before the state advisory board of the Criminal Justice Department in Austin October 13, to seek approval of a grant application for the multi-county jail which they propose.

The application will then go to Governor Dolph Briscoe, and barring complications, his confirmation should be received by November 1, said Bob Watson, project director.

The two counties have applied for $159,995 from the federally funded Criminal Justice Department to pay a portion of the cost. The new jail, which would be an addition onto the present facility, is required of the counties in order to meet state and federal guidelines.

Meanwhile bids on the building can be called for.

"It would be possible to have bids on our plans and specifications back in hand for the opening date of the middle of October if everything proceeds well," said Watson. "We don't have to wait for the governor's signature to advertise for bids. We will go ahead with the bidding process at the same time we are going ahead with the grant application."

Total cost of the new building and remodeling the present jail structure will be around $300,000, with Collingsworth footing 60 percent of the bill and Hall County 40 percent.

Hall County prisoners have been boarded here for 7 or 9 years, since the Hall County jail was abandoned.

Of the request for federal funding, Watson said:

"Speaking for both courts (Collingsworth and Hall Commissioners Courts) we feel since the federal government is setting strict guidelines for jails they should fund part of the cost. We can't do it otherwise."

Final plans and specifications are now in the hands of the Texas Jail Commission and the National Clearinghouse for Jail Plans and Architecture at the University of Illinois Department of Architecture, Champaign, Ill.

Corgan and Associates of Dallas is the architectural firm handling the completion plans.

Nacogdoches' La Nana Creek Recalls Miracle

In Nacogdoches there is a creek named La Nana where a Franciscan Missionary is said to have struck a rock in 1718 and caused water to gush forth, ending a year-long drought.

Father Antonio Margil de Jesus was born in Valencia, Spain, and came to the new world in 1683. He founded three colleges in Mexico and four missions including Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe at Nacogdoches and Mission San Jose de Aguayo in San Antonio. He spent almost 50 years with the Indians of central and north America, supposedly baptizing 80,000. He always traveled barefooted, slept only a few hours each night, performed acts of endurance and heroism and showed supernatural power.

Father Margil's miracle in Nacogdoches converted many of the Indians whose faith in God had been so diminished that some had left the mission. Conditions became so severe that the two creeks on either side of the center of Nacogdoches dried up. After a night of prayer, Margil followed a vision up the dry creek bed to a place north of the old Spanish crossing of El Camino Real. At a point where the creek make a sharp bend, he struck his staff against the overhanging rock shelf. Water began flowing from the rock. Some sources say water came out in two holes which accounts for the reference to "The Eyes of Father Margil" or "Los Ojos De Padre Margil."

The spring, dry now except for very rainy times, is on private property. It can be viewed from the bridge over La Nana Creek on Park Street where an Official Texas Historical Marker has been placed by the Texas Historical Commission.

Efforts are being made by many within the Roman Catholic Church for the canonization of Father Margil. Hopes are strong that it will occur in the near future.

Luther Sullivan Some Improved

Luther Sullivan, injured in a two-car collision near Abernathy, August 11, is improved but still in critical condition, friends here were told by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Ruby Sullivan of Littlefield.

She added that he is now conscious.

Mr. Sullivan, is in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock.

His sister, Mrs. Edith Quillie Goodloe was killed in the collision, as the two were en route to Littlefield to visit their sister-in-law.

Richard Peters Attend WTSU Commencement

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peters were in Amarillo Saturday August 19 to attend the summer commencement of West Texas State University. Two of their children received degrees, Laron Peters, the master of the agriculture degree, and Mrs. Jess (Doris) Wall the bachelor of science degree in agriculture.

Other family members and friends attending were Miss Alice Cooper, Plainview; Jess Wall, Claude; Mr. and Mrs. Carol Wall, Perryton; Mr. and Mrs. Richie Brotherton, Jeb and Matt, Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Oran Sain and Jason, Spring Lake and Rev. and Mrs. C.R. Hankins of Sammarworth.

Mrs. Wall was on the Dean's spring honor roll.

Delegation from Area Churches Seek Road

Representatives of Baptist Churches through much of the Panhandle met with the Commissioners Court Monday, August 14, to request that the road to Panfork Baptist Encampment be included in the next farm to market road program approved by the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Resolutions were presented from 29 churches which use the encampment.

The Commissioners approved the request and asked the delegation to have representatives of the churches and of the commissioners courts of the counties in which they are located to join Collingsworth Commissioners Court at a hearing in Austin Wednesday, September 20.

The petitions point out that the road from US 83 to Panfork Encampment is narrow, rough and a dirt road and there is a possibility help could not get over it in an emergency.

It was also revealed that there is an investment of $150,000 at Panfork Encampment, and that future plans call for a new tabernacle, new dormitories, a new dining complex and many churches plan to build new cabins.

Bob Watson, project director for the proposed multi-county jail, told the commissioners that the review committee of the Criminal Justice Department has made the recommendation that the project be funded through CJD in the amount of $159,995.

Application for this funding has been made by the commissioners courts of Collingsworth and Hall Counties.

"We are now working to get some papers that they require in to them, so we can come before the board in Austin in October," Watson said.

He was optimistic that the application, having been approved this far, will be passed.

As part of the procedure, the application was reviewed Tuesday, August 8, by the Criminal Justice advisory board of Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

The $159,995 sought through the Criminal Justice Department represents one half the cost of the proposed jail, a total of $319,990.

Of the remaining $159,995, Collingsworth County is due to provide 60 percent and Hall County the remaining 40 percent.

The commissioners court conducted the annual budget hearing on the 1978-79 budget Tuesday, August 15.

The budget was presented in sections, and changes were made in funds for several departments.

The revised budget total has not been arrived at, Judge Zook Thomas said. He indicated the budget total should be determined soon. One section, the combined law enforcement program, is also subject to action by the City Council as both bodies pay for the county's law enforcement.

During the Tuesday session, Mrs. John Rainey, wife of the sheriff, submitted her resignation as a dispatcher in his office.

Mrs. Rainey served as a dispatcher without pay 20 years prior to going on the payroll when the combined program became effective.

Council Approves Proposed Budget, Joint Law Funding

A proposed 1978-79 budget for the combined law enforcement program, which Sheriff John Rainey presented the City Council, passed quickly Monday night, August 21 with the city agreeing to pay one-half of the cost of operation. It's share will be $49,000.

Council members then had a first look at the cost of operating the city during the coming year, a budget projecting expenditures of $548,545.

The proposed budget was passed without change. The next step will be the public hearing on the budget, with the date to be set. This is an open meeting which any citizen can attend. Final approval will then be given by the council.

The city's fiscal year begins October 1.

The joint law enforcement budget which Rainey presented, and which the city approved, calls for the expenditure of $119,815. An application for a $17,315.60 grant has been made to the Criminal Justice Department, and a balance of $4,500, will cut the cost to $98,000, which the city agreed to share on a 50-50 basis with the county.

During the three years the combined program has operated, the county has paid 60 percent of the cost and the city 40.

Rainey, working with Chief Deputy Jerry Settle, had trimmed all the fat off department expenses for the 1978-79 fiscal year. Still, his budget calls for retaining 5 deputies and four dispatchers, the present force. Deputies will receive a salary raise of $100 per month and dispatchers a 10% raise.

The county budget presented and approved by the commissioners court called for four deputies and four dispatchers, without salary increases. Cost of maintaining the department was proposed as $119,968.10.

"I will not try to operate the department 24 hours a day with four deputies," Rainey told both the commissioners court and city council.

The council will ask that the present citizen advisory committee to the sheriff's department be dropped and two commissioners and two council members to work with Rainey in operation of the department.

City Manager Glen Taylor pointed out that Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, through which the program was set up, looks on this as an out-standing law enforcement program of the Panhandle.

Rainey told the council that serious crime has been cut 73 percent in three years, although "we'll always have minor crime."

The city-approved budget now returns to the commissioners court for consideration.

In their city budget, the council is looking at receipts of $585,890, and expenses of $548,545, giving a balance of $37,345.

The proposed budget shows an increased income in a number of places, none of them large, but as a whole reflecting the city's growth and economic upswing.

The current fiscal year, which ends September 30, showed receipts of $534,864.53, and actual expenses of $612,766.39. This included $77,000 borrowed to help finance the purchase of the new trash collection system and a fire truck, and secured by revenue sharing for the next two years.

The new budget provides for no capital improvements.

City residents can discuss the city's fiscal operation in detail with the council when the budget hearing is held.

The proposed budget was approved on a motion by Gragson and second by Crelia.

The council approved a resolution to join county and Chamber of Commerce and the Baptist churches in 26 Panhandle counties in requesting the State Highways and Public Transportation Commission that the road from Highway US 83 to Panfork Baptist Encampment be paved. This encampment is now used year-around by Baptist churches from over the Panhandle. Land owners are in accord, Mayor Bill Hatch said.

Councilman Willie Gragson said this will be an expensive road to build, having four "king-size" drainage areas.

Ralph Owens made the motion for approval and with a second by Crelia.

Dan Langford reported on the Texas A&M Fireman's and fire marshals school which he, Danny Gray and John Green attended and expressed the fire department's appreciation for the funding.

New additions to the tax roll, amounting to $325,430, were explained by Margaret Carroll, city secretary. Taylor said that all cars on the tax roll have been re-evaluated.

Taylor told the council that an application has been mailed for the $51,500 block grant for which the city is eligible, and that the eligibility application for $750,000 in UDAG funds has been sent to the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

populations of doves.

A quick check with the landowner is recommended by the P&WD prior to the season to determine the best fields to hunt.

Hunters are also reminded to check their shotguns prior to hunting doves as the shotguns must be plugged to a three shell capacity including both chamber and magazine.

Dove Season Opens Sept. 1

LUBBOCK--The mourning dove prefers dry conditions to nest and feed and that, according to P&WD reports, is what the birds and the hunters will find opening day Sept. 1 in the Panhandle, South Plains and northern Permian Basin.

The dove season in the north zone which includes all of northwest Texas has been set with a split season running from Sept. 1 - Oct. 21, 1978, and Jan. 6 - 14, 1979.

The daily bag limit will be 10 birds with shooting hours 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset daily.

Heavy rains following an extremely dry spring and early summer have reduced the number of nesting doves in the Abilene area according to Curtis Jones, Abilene district supervisor.

Farmers did not plant the normal crops of grain due to the dry conditions and hunting will be poor until a cool weather front moves the northern doves into the area.

Tank shooting should be good in the western area near Snyder-Big Spring vicinity.

The traditional areas of high dove populations in the eastern Texas Panhandle near Canadian and Wheeler are reporting good bird populations. The high plains counties are listed as only fair by Calvin Tow, Amarillo district supervisor.

Dove hunters in the field on the South Plains will find spotted populations of birds with reports from poor to fair.

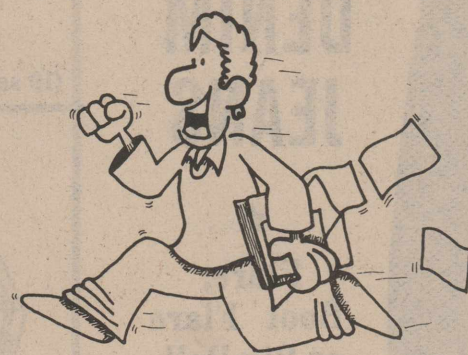

The eastern counties off the Caprock near Dickens and Quanah are reporting good

Meeting on Home Health Care Set

A representative of the West Texas Home Health Agency will speak at the VFW Thursday, August 24, on Home Health Care, an agency of Medicare.

The meeting will be at 8:00 p.m.

A film on home health care will be shown, pamphlets will be distributed and questions answered.

"Everyone who has a member of his family who is bed-fast, in a wheel chair or unable to care for themselves is urged to attend, said Tony Stephens, VFW Post Commander.

There is no charge for the nurses or hospital equipment needed, he explained. The nurses come directly to the home to care for these patients.

"This program is little known in our community, but it is very beneficial. Everyone concerned should attend and find out the conditions and the exact health care services that are covered under this program which is part of Medicare."

Among the services covered are: part-time professional nursing care, physical therapy, medical social services, home health aid services, medical supplies, and use of medical appliances.

Some of the requirements are that the patient must be under a physician's care, of age 65 or older or have been entitled to disability benefits for 24 consecutive months.

"This is primarily a program for the elderly and is sponsored by Medicare," Stephens emphasized.

thread is used in the same direction it comes off the spool. An easy way to remember this is to thread the needle and then cut the thread. Knot the end just cut.

When a double thread is needed for sewing on buttons or reinforcing corners, cut off one length of thread, the specialist says.

Using the cut length and thread from the spool, thread the needle with two threads so both will be used in the direction they come from the spool. This puts the twist of the two threads in the same direction and reduces knotting and snarling problems.

Political Facts of Life

It is fashionable among Texas voters, particularly among "liberal" Democrats, to eye with distrust those candidates for high public office who are presumed to be associated with "the oil industry." But it isn't very realistic.

In the first place, the oil industry represents a major segment of Texas' economy (for which all of us Texas taxpayers ought to be grateful) and is entitled to representation in our governmental councils, even as the least among us.

And in the second place, the oil industry, partly because of its wealth and economic impact, has political "clout" in this state and the candidate who spurns support of the industry is quickly at a disadvantage in campaigning.

The fact that a candidate for office has, or lacks, the support of the oil industry should not be a decisive factor among liberal Democrats. Other factors must be weighed...among them the political fact that any office holder representing the people of Texas in government councils has an obligation to represent oil and gas interests, along with all others. The question which should be raised about every candidate for representative offices is whether or not he can, or does, represent fairly the oil and gas industry along with all other Texas interests.

The Tourist Industry

Tourism is an industry just as is agriculture or manufacturing, but tourist dollars are spread thinly and widely in such a way as to make the minimum visible impact.

This doesn't mean tourism isn't appreciated. When tourists bypass an area because of flooding, as was experienced in Texas' Hill Country, or adverse publicity as in the Oklahoma Girl Scout killings and resulting manhunt, the impact is felt immediately.

Oklahoma, which has given surrounding states a run for their money for the tourist dollar, owns a string of state lodges, built with bond money several years ago, long enough, in fact, that refurbishing projects are planned for several of the resort complexes. In fact the state plans to spend more than half a million dollars on capital improvements and major maintenance projects on the various lodges this winter.

Included will be new roofs, redecoration, recarpeting and swimming pool repair, to mention a few of the projects. In all, some 28 separate projects are planned, according to Abe Hesser, executive director of the Oklahoma Tourism and Recreation Department.

Extent of the renovation needed reflects use made of the state lodges. Along with tourist information stations strategically located throughout Oklahoma to steer visitors to the lodges, Oklahoma's investment in tourism is paying off handsomely. A similar string of state lodges to supplement and complement Texas' state parks system would multiply use and serve as a focal point to enjoyment of the state's scenic beauty.

Where Leaders Come From

We read the other day where 90 percent of the leaders in America come from towns with a population of less than 10,000 persons. It is in small towns, it is said, that leadership roles are pushed upon children and those with even a little bit of ability are able to use it without fear of embarrassment or of failure. In other words, those kids who grow up as big frogs in a small puddle learn so well the lessons of leadership that they are able to go on and more easily become big frogs in much bigger puddles. This makes sense and makes us glad that we come from a small town where we can see young leaders grow and develop.

AUSTIN—While three U.S. balloonists set a record by crossing the Atlantic, the late Onassis' sole heiress returned to her new Russian husband and two would-be record-setting distance swimmers gave up crossing from Cuba and the Bahamas to Florida—the State of Texas quietly went about holding hearings and listening to the public's voice.

All last week Representative DeWitt Hale (Corpus Christi) and his House General Investigating Committee heard witnesses on the Committee's move to make some changes in the state's insurance program.

This investigative committee is an on-going, hard-working committee which delves into much of the state's business to find out if any hanky-panky is going on.

According to Hale, the insurance hearings will be taken up again in a few weeks and recommendations will be made in early fall in a special insurance report to the State.

Meanwhile, Hale's Committee goes this week to the state school in Corpus Christi for an investigation of alleged abuses there. Recently, both the state schools at Richmond and Mexia have been investigated by Hale's Committee, and his office says a final state school report is due also in early fall from the busy committee.

As usual, about this time of year, when everyone turns to "back-to-school," the State Textbook Committee listened to citizens tell how textbooks proposed for public schools are too supportive of sexism, too supportive of feminism and capable of inciting such crimes as murder and rebellion. Hearings continue this week.

Mauzy To Object

Meanwhile, Senator Oscar Mauzy, Dallas, has begun a move to beat the newly passed Tax Relief Amendment to be set before Texas voters in the November election. His office says he will set plans in motion in the early fall.

Grant Trimmed

Texas Adult Probation Commission, preparing to spend $18 million on local probation services, voted to trim its per capita grant maximum.

Commissioners will spend 50 cents a day on each probationer under direct supervision.

They postponed a decision on auditing of local probation offices.

All but 27 counties are in probation districts approved by district judges. Many are multi-county setups. There are 111,000 adults on probation, including 86,000 under direct supervision by about 700 probation officers.

Probation departments last year collected $3.5 million in restitution for victims of crime.

Officials Named

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby will serve as chairman of the State Democratic Convention in Fort Worth September 15-16.

Republicans, who will meet in Dallas a week earlier, announced appointment of Ricardo H. Hinojosa of McAllen as chairman of the temporary committee on platform and resolutions for their 1978 convention.

Primary business of the conventions will be naming party executive committees and adopting official platforms for state candidates.

In addition, Democrats will elect 60 delegates to the National Democratic Party mini-convention in Memphis next December.

Billy Goldberg of Houston is due to succeed Calvin Guest of Bryan as Democratic state chairman. Ray Barnhart of Houston is seeking re-election as Republican chairman.

AG Opinions

The Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation may furnish housing, meals and laundry service to employees who are interns in non-medically related fields, Attorney General John Hill said.

In other opinions, Hill concluded:

—A family district court judge who transfers retirement credits from the county and district retirement system to the Judicial Retirement System should pay to the state treasury six percent of the state's portion of a district judge's salary for the full period of his tenure on the domestic relations or juvenile court bench.

—Prior to passage of constitutional amendment in November, use of tax increment financing for urban renewal must be approved in a city election.

—An employee can exercise the option to participate in the Optional Retirement Program for college faculty members only once.

Aged Helped

Twenty-five grants totaling $3.7 million in federal funds will go to support meal programs and other social services for older Texans.

Awards provided funding for 23 nutrition projects for the elderly and refunding for two of the 28 Agencies on Aging, which function as focal points for the statewide network of services administered by the Governor's Committee on Aging.

The Committee on Aging also authorized reservation of $642,000 in federal money for the future development of nutrition projects for elderly Texans living in Facts from a pro on driving to survive.

Q. What's the simplest way to get better control over my car and improve driving? — C.C., Midland

A. Buckle your seat belt. I'm serious. It's hard to control a car in an emergency if you are flailing around trying to stay behind the wheel. Any modern car will stop or turn hard enough to throw you around if you aren't strapped down. Driving without a seat belt means you can't use all of the stopping power or evasive ability built into your car. Having a lapful of front seat passenger won't improve your chances, either. This may be the best reason in the world to get front seat passengers to buckle up.

Q. My brother-in-law just bought some oversized tires for his car. He claims they'll give it better stability and handling. Is this true? — D.S., Port Arthur

A. Not necessarily. Increasing the area of the tire that contacts the road will usually give you better traction on dry roads, but might reduce traction on wet roads. Why? Because making the contact patch larger reduces the weight per square inch on the road and can cause hydroplaning at lower speeds. This happens when water builds up in front of a tire until the tire is actually riding on top of it, like a water ski. Unless the tread design allows better water drainage, wider tires may force you to slow to a crawl in wet weather.

Q. I've just moved to Texas. What does the law say about turning headlights on in the evening and having them on after daybreak? — E.W., Garland

A. Texas law says to turn them on no later than half an hour after sunset and turn them off no earlier than half an hour before sunrise. The law also says to turn on your lights any time vehicles or persons are not clearly visible at a distance of 1,000 feet.

Lights not only help you see, they help other drivers see you. Motorcycle riders often ride with their lights on during clear daylight just to improve their visibility to other traffic. You'll see truckers running with their lights on anytime near sunset, particularly if the sun is behind them. If you have trouble seeing other vehicles that are running without lights, your car is probably pretty hard to see, too. When other vehicles are easily visible, with lights on or not, it's probably safe to turn yours off.

Music Festival Headliners Named

Some of the top country-western musicians of this part of Texas will be featured in the All-America Country Music Festival in Wellington as part of the Collingsworth County Fair.

John Alf Thomas, chairman, announced new plans for the September 8-9 event.

The location has been moved to the community building. Musicians will appear on stage and about 10 rows of seats will be located in the big auditorium with a 250-listener capacity. The balcony will be opened also.

The performance will end both nights by the time the carnival opens at the old Wellington Golf course at Marian Airpark.

Friday performance will be from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m., Thomas said.

There will be music all day Saturday, beginning at 10:00 a.m. and continuing "until we run out of musicians," according to Thomas. No music is planned during the noon hour.

A festival headliner will be a man who won't be playing or singing, Dr. Charles Townsend, professor at West Texas State University who won a Grammy for his liner notes for "Bob Wills for the Last Time," latest recording of Wills music.

He is also the author of an award-winning biography of Wills.

Townsend will assist as master of ceremonies and he will also have copies of the Wills book here for sale and will autograph them for buyers, according to Thomas.

A number of country-western groups have told Thomas they will be here:

Mark Williamson, originally from the Houston area, will bring a bluegrass band. Six Pounds of Music, from Memphis, which records under the Bluebonnet label at Lubbock.

Tom Poundsleader, formerly had a T.V. show in Portland, Oregon. His daughters Lori and Audrey, are disc jockies.

A star of the Wellington show will be David House of Lubbock, who records for Texas Soul Records, Lubbock.

He now has the No. 1 song in South Texas, "Everything's All Right," written by Wellington's Jerry Manuel.

This was selected by Billboard Magazine as a "pick hit," Thomas reported.

Nationally known entertainers are recording the song.

Manuel, who also records with Texas Soul, will make several appearances during the festival.

He will play in a group with House, Thomas, and Alfred Saldana, Jr.

Country Wildfire will be there. Led by Saldana, it also includes Manuel, Sandy Cole, and Cisco Novales.

John Thomas and the Texas Three will perform. Led by Thomas, it includes Jerry Manuel and Geneva Thomas, with a drummer to be added. The vocalist will be 15-year old LaVonda Thomas, who has been singing country and western since she was 6.

Pat Meeves of Dallas, singer and song writer, has told Thomas he will be here.

FIREFIGHTERS

This picture was made by Mrs. Dan Langford during the recent Texas A&M Firemen's and Fire Marshals School. Here firemen learn to fight and contain many types of fires they will encounter in their home towns.

Three Men Attend Firemen's School

Three members of Wellington Volunteer Fire Department recently attended the 49th Annual Texas Firemen's Training School, held on the campus of Texas A&M University.

These were Dan Langford, assistant city fire marshal, Danny Gray and Elmer Green.

Langford took the first course in a fire marshal's training, the other men were in their first year of firefighting.

They will receive 40 hours credit toward their firemen's certificates, and the city will receive credit on its key rate.

relating to fire insurance costs.

The school is a $5,000,000 installation at Brayton Field.

Gray and Green were among the group which fought fires such as those encountered in garages and houses.

Use of hand extinguishers and the various types of sprinkler systems and their operation were studied. Although these men are already experienced in firefighting, they gain added skill in such things as hose and nozzle handling.

They advanced to firefighting in commercial and retail complexes and apartment buildings.

The school is equipped to give men actual experience in combatting fires of this type.

Langford's course related to fire prevention, and to the duties and responsibilities of a fire marshal. He received instruction in classification of fires, fire prevention inspection, fire cause detection, and state laws relating to such products as liquid petroleum gas.

Mrs. Langford and their daughters, Carrie and Dana, accompanied him.

One night they saw a three-hour demonstration utilizing the latest in firefighting equipment. Included were butane firefighting and combatting flames in plane crashes.

Fireman Green was sponsored by Collingsworth County Farm Bureau and Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies by contributing toward the cost of the school. Since volunteer firemen are inter-ted in attending this school to help do a better job of fire fighting and fire prevention, 100 County Farm Bureaus and the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies in the statewide program have sponsored 100 firemen at the school.

"The Farm Bureau Insurance Companies believe volunteer fire departments have been very effective in reducing the amount of loss involved by fire in rural areas," said President Carrol G. Chaloupka of Dalhart. "It is our hope in sponsoring this program that the fireman will help the Wellington Volunteer Department to better serve the residents of Collingsworth County."

LUBBOCK--Complete banding information about a sandhill crane bagged near Meadow, Texas last fall came from a wildlife biologist in Alaska.

According to Cheryl Boise, a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service biologist stationed at the Clarence Rhode National Wildlife Refuge, the crane was banded as a pre-fledged chick on the Kuskokwim-Yukon delta on Aug. 10, 1976.

Apparently, many of the cranes which breed on the Clarence Rhode NWR west of Bethel, Alaska, use the Rich lake area of west Texas during the winter as several collared birds have been observed there since the program began.

During the period 1975-77, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has banded 127 Lesser sandhill cranes and individually marked them for study.

These marked birds will furnish information on breeding, biology, migration routes, wintering areas, and population dynamics for both the Federal and state agencies.

The long, 4,000 mile-plus route taken by the crane last fall is estimated to have crossed all of Alaska to the Alberta-Saskatchewan staging area in Canada, then south across Montana, Wyoming and Colorado to the South Plains of Texas.

Individuals sighting or bagging any banded or marked birds this fall are asked to contact the nearest P&WD representative or the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The banding information on birds marked by a number or colored band will be furnished by the agency which originally marked the bird. Although the banding information is important to the hunter or bird observer, it is of more importance to the biologist as management policies are set for migrating cranes.

ATTENTION BAND STUDENTS AND BAND PARENTS

We can save you money on band instruments this fall. During the first week of school an out-of-town instruments salesman will meet with beginning band students and their parents. (We are not allowed by school officials to meet with students and parents, even though we have a music and instrument store here in Wellington. By the way, we think this is unfair.)

The out-of-town salesman will try to get parents to buy instruments that night because he only comes around once each year to sell instruments.

The out-of-town salesman will not mention the following which we think you will want to consider before buying:

1. We pay city, county, school taxes and state and local sales taxes. They don't.
2. We trade in Collingsworth County. They don't. And most statistics say that money changes hands 7 times before it leaves a community such as ours.
3. We support and contribute to the band, F.F.A., F.H.A., 4-H Club, local civic clubs and churches, high school annual, high school sports, softball and volleyball teams. They don't.
4. We have children in local schools and band and have a direct interest in their programs. They don't.
5. We do not try to pressure parents into buying instruments and services at inflated prices. They do.
6. They are in Wellington only about 12 days a year, and for only brief periods on those days. We are here 365 days a year, to serve you and help with any problems or questions.
7. We sell top brand name instruments and accessories that are fully guaranteed.

Wellington is growing and making progress each year. Let's help our community grow even more by trading at home whenever possible. COME SEE US BEFORE YOU DECIDE. YOU'LL BE GLAD YOU DID.

VFW Promotes Loan of Wheel Chairs, Crutches

Tony Stephens, commander of Glynn Moore Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, announced that Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bumpas have donated a wheel chair to the VFW.

This will be used in the organization's program of providing wheel chairs, crutches and hospital beds on a temporary basis to those who need them.

"People like the Bumpas family are deeply appreciated," Stephens said.

A couple who belong to VFW and the Auxiliary have one hospital bed that they will loan to someone needing it.

"Anyone needing temporary use of a wheel chair, crutches, or the bed should contact Stephens or some active member of VFW.

The commander also said if anyone has a wheel chair, crutches, hospital bed or any other equipment, who no longer need it, may donate it to the VFW and it will be put to good use.

A member of VFW will pick up these items.

ANITA DAY

"Texas"-A Collingsworth Connection

Canyon-The millionth visitor entered the Pioneer Amphitheatre this summer to marvel at the grandeur of the Palo Duro Canyon and musical drama, "TEXAS". She found the canyon almost recovered from the recent storm, and the theatre high and dry where it was not damaged at all.

"TEXAS", written by the Pulitzer prize-winner, Paul Green and arranged by Isaac Van Grove is entering its thirteenth season. Among the 140 company members are some with connections in Wellington.

They will perform nightly except Sunday until August 26. For ticket information write: "TEXAS", Box 268, Canyon, Texas or call 806-655-2182. It is well to make reservations in advance.

Dance, Anita Day is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Derryberry.

J.P. Allen is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Starr of Wellington.

Virginia Lee Fortenberry Raillard is originally from Wellington.

Sam Jones is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Burba, 1301 El Paso.

Mrs. Raillard is the wife of the Heritage Foundation's executive vice-president and the mother of three sons, all former members of "TEXAS".

A graduate of Wellington High School, she attended Mary Hardin-Baylor in Belton and received her B.A. degree from West Texas State University.

She taught in the schools at Quail, Spearman, Texarkana and Wellington prior to her involvement with a family and

"TEXAS." This past year she returned to her first love, teaching, as an aide in Gene Howe Elementary School.

At "TEXAS" she is in charge of gifts, first aid and information.

Allen, who has the role of Ray Morgan, graduated from Canyon High School this spring, where he was valedictorian and voted "Most Likely to Succeed." He was also a member of Chorale, Drama Club and Thespians. In CHS, he earned many acting credits, including "Hello Dolly", "Atnigone", "All My Sons", "Carousel", "Hamlet", and the UIL contest play, "Scapino!" for which he won Best Actor at district, regional and All-Star cast at state.

He was in the all-region choir, a Merit Scholarship finalist, performed in "The Bacchae" University of Texas Drama Workshop in the summer of 1976, and "The

Thomas Family Visits Rocky Mountain Area

Mr. and Mrs. John Alf Thomas and children, Lindsay and LaVonda returned Saturday from a vacation that took them as far as Yellowstone National Park.

A highlight for the family was their visit through the Donny and Marie Osmond TV studio at Orem, Utah, where the first show of their new season was being filmed. The Thomases watched that and saw the show's guest artists, Bob Hope, Olivia Newton John and KC and the Sunshine Band.

New to the show this year will be the Osmond Dancers presenting disco type numbers.

They drove by Robert Redford's home nearby, although the grounds are closed to tourists.

At several stops, they saw present or former county residents.

At their first stop, Red River, N.M., they saw the Don Reeves family, and the Troy Godbey family who now live at Dumas. They visited with the Pat McAlisters now of Spur, and the Billy Useltons.

In Salt Lake City, they toured the grounds of the Mormon Temple and heard an organ concert in the Mormon Tabernacle. They visited Brigham Young's home and attended a performance of "Promise Valley," which tells the story of the Mormons' coming to Utah. They swam in the Great Salt Lake.

Of interest to Thomas, who is with the State Department of Public Welfare, was Welfare Square.

He explained that applicants for help are assigned to work in the church's businesses or on their farms. They then receive a "bishop's order" which entitles them to receive food or clothing or whatever may be needed at Welfare Square.

After a stop at the Grand Tetons, the family met Mrs. Thomas sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cabbell, Jobie and Jimmy, of Los Alamos, N.M., at Yellowstone National Park. She is the former Jo Helen White of Quail.

The families toured the park saw many moose, elk and antelope but no bears and fished in Yellowstone Lake.

Their last major stop was in Denver, where they ate at Casa Benito, which features continuous live entertainment.

Krueger Calls for Texas Continued Impact on U.S.

"Texas has had a tradition of impact on the national level with representatives such as Sam Rayburn and Lyndon Johnson. We have the same number of senators as New Hampshire, and the only way for Texas, the third most populous state in the nation, to have a strong voice is to have a senator that takes the initiative, rather than one who just votes," Bob Krueger, candidate for United States Senate, told a Wellington group during a hand-shaking visit here Tuesday, August 22.

This is a type of campaigning he knows well, for he pointed out he is from a small town like Wellington and knows the strength that lies in these places.

"I want to be an advocate for Texas," Krueger said. "Can you think of a single issue on which John Tower took the leadership? Is there one bill with his name on it?"

Krueger said he has sponsored a bill that will subject foreign beef to the same inspection standards that are required of American beef, and that will require foreign beef to be labeled as such. He said he did not favor rigid controls on agricultural trade because Americans need to export agricultural products. "Agricultural exports are important to all Americans because they're one of the primary factors in helping our balance of payments.

Krueger also said that if Congress is not strong enough to cut government spending, the country may need a constitutional amendment that would limit taxes.

"I won't promise tax cuts without spending cuts,"

Krueger said, "because that wouldn't be responsible in the face of inflation. Tower advocated cutting taxes 35% without a corresponding spending cut, and that would only lead to more inflation."

At the reception at Wellington State Bank's Heritage Room, one person questioned Krueger's "conservatism" as compared to Tower's. Krueger said that Tower had voted for aid to New York City in 1975. "I did not, so you can decide which was the more conservative vote."

Krueger told a questioner that he was not familiar with negotiations currently in progress between Canada, Australia, and the U.S. to form a wheat cartel. But he did say he would "like to see a higher price for wheat."

Asked about the report that he does not support the right to work law, Krueger told a questioner "It's not true. I'm a strong supporter of the right to work law."

"Any labor reform must in no way jeopardize right-to-work laws. Right to work must be protected...and preserved," he said.

According to a 600-sample poll released August 2, Krueger has pulled to within 1.4 percentage points of overtaking Tower. The poll, conducted by nationally known Pat Caddell of Washington, D.C. and John Henson of Austin, Krueger's pollster since 1973, showed Tower is leading Krueger by a margin of 42.6 to 41.2.

Travelers Club Honors Lennon

David Joe Lennon, District manager for Travelers Motor Club, is being honored by the national firm for excellence in sales.

Mr. Lennon, a resident of Dodson, has qualified for membership in Travelers' "1000 Club". In order to be selected for this prestigious club, a sales representative must produce $1000 on business in a one week period.

Travelers Motor Club, which was founded in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma in 1965 is now one of the largest motor clubs in the United States. The first playing cards were Chinese sheet dice, believed to have originated in the 10th century A.D., made to reproduce the notation of dice on paper.

For a yearly membership fee, Travelers offers a wide range of services to the motoring public.

Skyrocket Booster Club Meets Aug. 29

The Skyrocket Booster Club will hold the first meeting of the school year on Tuesday, August 29, David Caison, president, announced.

The entire coaching staff will be present and will discuss Skyrocket prospects for the 1978 season. There will be an opportunity for club members to visit with them and to meet the two new coaches.

A film of the Skyrocket and Seymour scrimmage will be shown.

Officers for the upcoming year will be elected.

During the business session, plans will be made for the membership drive, which will start in a few days, the annual barbecue will be discussed and other business will be taken up.

"We urge everyone to come down, watch the film and get involved in the Booster Club. It will help the team along," said Caison.

Each year funds raised by the club are used to benefit the athletic department. Last year's project was paying for the floor in the new field house, he explained.
