Winter Hits Area With Snow And Sleet Again

Winter made another vicious stab at the Snyder area early today, with a sudden onslaught of snow and sleet quickly covering streets and highways and slowing traffic at the morning rush hour.

Streets and roads that were bone-dry at 6 a.m. were suddenly coated with ice and snow between 7 a.m. and 8 a.m. as workers were en route to their jobs and school buses were hauling pupils to classes.

It came too late to cancel classes for the day, but pupils in both Snyder and Hermleigh were to be dismissed early this afternoon.

The snowfall, amounting to approximately an inch in less than an hour, occurred as the thermometer hovered around the 22-degree mark, which was the overnight low. Some sleet had fallen here during the night, but not enough to coat streets and roads.

The new winter storm covered most of West Texas and the Panhandle this morning and was moving deeper into the state.

The snow and sleet had produced .06 inch of moisture in the official gauge at the city water plant by 7 a.m. today.

Forecasts called for very cold temperature readings for the north part of Texas by Saturday, and cloudy skies with some precipitation were predicted over most of the state. The precipitation was expected to be snow in western and northern portions, sleet in central portions and rain with a few thunderstorms in southern sections of the state.

Snow accumulations of one to three inches were forecast over a wide area of the northern and western portions of the state, with more expected in the High Plains.

Freezing rain and drizzle were reported as far south as Abilene this morning and some sleet and snow fell during the pre-dawn hours as far east as the Dallas-Port Worth metroplex.

The snow and sleet followed a cold front that moved into the state Thursday. This morning, the front was deep in South Texas and was continuing its movement to the south.

Snow was reported at Dalhart and Lubbock, while fog was reported at Brownsville. The only fair skies reported were at Cotula and Del Rio.

Elsewhere a snowstorm closed some schools in Illinois and there was some snow and sleet in parts of Tennessee, Georgia and the Carolinas. Snow was expected from New England into New York and New Jersey today.

A new California storm was expected to be less intense than earlier ones this week, but threatened to further undermine beachfront homes in Malibu today and could send a section of Pacific Coast Highway crashing into expensive houses below, officials said.

Meeting Essential

WASHINGTON (AP)-President Carter said today that any final agreement on strategic arms limitations and related issues will require "a direct meeting or communications" between himself and Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev.

But Carter predicted that the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty negotiations being conducted in Geneva will resolve the outstanding issues and told a group of collegiate journalists: "We're making good progess."

Responding to a question, Carter told the group that he has seen no suggestion that the Soviet Union, as a result of progress or lack of progress in Geneva, might install missiles in Cuba capable of reaching the United States.

"I don't anticipate any threat from the Soviets through Cuba as a result of success or failure," he said.

Energy Plan Closer

WASHINGTON (AP)-Key Senate energy negotiators say they are close to breaking a three-month deadlock on the natural gas pricing part of President Carter's energy plan, but that some obstacles remain.

The negotiators were to resume their deliberations today after failing on Thursday to produce the overall agreement that might put Carter's plan back on course.

Trade Deficit Rate Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's trade deficit for January was $2.4 billion, continuing at a rate that led to a record $26.6-billion deficit last year, the Commerce Department reported today.

Both exports and imports declined in January as Americans continued to buy more products from abroad than they sold for the 20th straight month.

The January deficit was the largest since a record $3.6-billion deficit in October, and it followed deficits of $2.4 billion in November and $2.1 billion in December.

American businesses exported $10 billion in goods in January, while importing $12.4 billion in goods.

Economists said the decline in trading activity was caused partly by bad weather at U.S. ports. However, the January decline also was attributed to an unusually strong trading month in December, when shipments increased after settlement of a dock strike.

President Carter and other administration officials say they expect the trade deficit to decline this year because of fewer oil imports and improvement in the economies of purchasing countries.

Petroleum imports increased 4 percent from $3.1 billion to $3.2 billion, but almost all other imports and exports were down for the month.

Chemicals, machinery and transportation equipment showed sharp declines of more than 10 percent, the department said. However, breakdowns of other individual products were not available.

The report was delayed a week because a snowstorm last month in Jeffersonville, Ind., where the figures are collected, kept statistical workers off the job.

The Commerce Department revised its method of collecting figures this month by changing the way it calculates arrival of imports and by adding non-monetary gold figures to both exports and imports. As a result, last year's trade deficit was revised from $26.7 billion to $26.6 billion.

REAGAN BROWN

Serving To Begin At 7 P.M.

Brown Key-Note Speaker For Chamber's Banquet

Agriculture will be in the spotlight tonight as the Snyder Chamber of Commerce holds its annual membership meeting and banquet in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The banquet meal will be served buffet-style, beginning around 7 p.m. However, those attending the banquet have been urged to come early and tour several displays in the coliseum.

The banquet will feature Scurry County food products, and Reagan V. Brown, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, will be the key-note speaker. The title of his address will be "Who's Watering the Elephants?"

Brown has been involved in the progress of Texas agriculture since his boyhood on a farm in Henderson. He worked his way through Texas A&M University and earned his first agricultural degree in 1943. He later received two masters degrees from Texas A&M and has studied at Michigan, Colorado State and Utah State Universities.

He began his career in agriculture as an assistant county agent in Hunt County. He then served as the county agent in Kaufman and Caldwell Counties. For many years he was the leader of 20 agricultural specialists with Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service.

He has earned a number of honors, included the Agricultural Hall of Fame at Southwest Texas State University, the Faculty Distinguished Achievement Award from the Former Students Association of Texas A&M University, The Superior Service Award of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the George Washington Honor Medal of the Freedom Foundation, and the Progressive Farmer Magazine's Man of the Year Award in Texas Agriculture.

Another guest speaker for the banquet will be Julie Benell, food consultant to The Dallas Morning News and a member of the Chefs Board of Braniff International. The title of her address will be "New Trends for Food Shoppers."

Banquet entertainment will be presented by Cheryl Kiner and the "Sounds of the West."

Seven awards will be presented at the banquet. The Winston Memorial Award will be presented to Carl Williams by Morris Light, last year's recipient. The Vestal Award for Community Service will be presented to H.W. Cargile by Mayor John Fagin. The McLaughlin Award for contributions to

Farmers Parade Around Jail

EDINBURG (AP)-Defiant striking farmers paraded today around the Hidlago County jail where 200 of their friends are held and spoke of returning to the International Bridge at Hidalgo, the site of Wednesday's skirmish with police.

About 200 American Agriculture supporters from several states spent their second night behind bars following their arrest at the bridge.

The jailed farmers unanimously voted to stay locked up after a two-hour session with Attorney General John Hill and local officials.

The protesters have refused to pay the $18.75 that would free them.

"They decided they'd spend the night and talk things over among themselves," spokesman Gerald McCathern of Hereford said upon emerging from the negotiationg session in the county jail.

Hill, a gubernatorial candidate, said the discussions were "positive." But he told one farmer that the chances for dismissal of all the charges did not seem good.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe acknowledged in Houston Thursday that farmers are caught in the cost-price squeeze but said they were still wrong to "take the law into their own hands" by trying to block the bridge.

"There is no way an individual can take the law into his own hands," Briscoe said at a news conference. He said he didn't know all the facts but that his office was gathering information.

Hill did not make any political statement since he was trying to act as mediator.

The farmers were charged with obstruction of a passageway after they blockaded the international bridge.

"I proposed the use of personal recognizance bonds be considered," Hill said.

24 Complete Requirements For Diplomas

Snyder High School concluded the second quarter of the 1977-78 term today and 24 students completed requirements for their high school diplomas.

The second-quarter graduates include Roxanne Bachus, Bill Bass, Greg Chenoweth, Tori Dennis, Dana Dow, Jeff Dunnam, Cynthia Early, Kevin Hall, Stell Herrera, Betty Hook, Terri Johnson, Debe Longbotham.

Also, Rhonda Slater, Charlotte Pierce, Belinda Price, Jeff Reed, Debbie Sewell, Carol Shelburne, Laura Rollins, Billie Voss, Melissa Anne Holt, Craig Daniel Martin, Peggy Christine Stephens and Judith Ann Wheelus Davis.

AFS Meeting Set Saturday

The local chapter of the American Field Service will hold its March meeting at 8 a.m. Saturday at the H&H Smorgasbord.

The AFS sponsors the foreign exchange student program at Snyder High School. Anyone interested may attend the "Dutch treat" breakfast session.

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Ed Todd of the Midland Reporter-Telegram says the popcorn people are promoting their product these days.

"There's a multi-touted 'health food' that's largely unnoticed today and has only a minute corner of the marketplace," says Todd. "That spaced-out (as in jumping high) food is popped popcorn which, taken in sufficient quantities, can ease hunger pangs and, at the same time, leave you with a stomach ache.

"But the popcorn poppin' people don't recommend you gorge yourself to the point of spoiling your appetite for the fruit of their labors. First off, say the popcorn proponents, there product isn't a junk food. They say it's 'loaded with real nutrition' without pointing out the calories in this light-and-fluffy snack food."

Other selling points include the exercise one gets eating popcorn, and the fact that it has a lot of fiber (as much as a comparable amount of whole wheat toast), it has vitamins but no sugar. Of course it has some salt and some butter, or margarine, if it is palatable.

But, somehow, we seldom find any of this fluffy health food that is as tasty as its counterpart in the early-day movie houses.

Tom E. Roy of the Ballinger Ledger had some observations on mandatory retirement policies. He got into the subject following a recent report that Gordon Wood, the noted high school football coach at Brownwood, is going to be retired in a couple of years, unless the retirement policy of Brownwood Public Schools is changed.

"Just because Wood is approaching 65 is no sign that he is over the hill," says Roy. "Likewise, there are many people who seem to peak only at that age. More than once, the people of these United States have elected presidents who are at that ominous age.

"Then there is the other side of the coin. What do you do with someone who has reached his potential, can no longer handle the job, but still wants to keep on plugging? The mandatory retirement provision is a handy way to ease someone out with a minimum of hard feelings.....

"Before the federal government took it upon itself to regulate and control everything but our breathing (they are probably working on that), the problem was not so bad. If someone needed to be removed, it could be done without fear of reprisal. If someone was doing a good job, he could remain as long as he was productive."

Things are different now.

Cosmonauts Preparing For Linkup

MOSCOW (AP)-A newly launched team of Russian and Czechoslovak cosmonauts began preparing their Soyuz 28 capsule for docking with the orbiting Soviet Salyut 6 space station, Tass reported.

No time was given for the linkup.

The Soviet news agency said Soviet cosmonaut Alexei Gubarev and Czechoslovak Vladimir Remek had completed 13 orbits around the earth since their blastoff from Soviet Central Asia Thursday evening.

Romanenko and Grechko, who have been in orbit since Dec. 10, will set a new record Saturday for continous time in space.

Bandits Pick Good Time To Rob Bank

AVINGER (AP)-The First State Bank of this east Texas community was robbed today of an unknown amount of money.

Authorities said many of the town's 700 residents were away during the robbery because the high school's boys and girls basketball teams are participating in state tournaments.

Police said the robbery occurred just before 9 a.m., before the bank opened when two men armed with a pistol and a shot gun forced their way into the bank.

Officers said the bandits left town heading south on State Highway 49.

tube's magic declines

Network television is having a heap of problems lately and much of the answer may be out of reach.

According to the U.S. News & World Report a loss of eight percent from 1976-77 season in viewers has started a scramble to find better attractions.

The magazine states that since last March, more than a million viewers have turned off their television sets during the daytime. A loss of three percent was reported in prime time evening audiences.

The loss of viewers can mean a tremendous loss in revenue, and executives in advertising agencies state their belief that the decline may signal a long-term trend.

There has been a lot said about the quality of network presentations, and the industry is moving to enhance its appeal.

It just may be that regardless of what they do, more people are finding other ways of spending more of their time.

The networks have had many things going for them for a good many years. Instant live coverage of major events along with an ability to give viewers a closer look at most events than would be possible if the viewer was on the spot himself, has been a major advantage.

Since there has been such a wide interest in television programs, newspapers, their greatest rivals, have furnished daily publicity in great amounts. Newspapers got themselves locked into furnishing reams of free advertising to a growing competitor.

When television was beginning and was such a glamour medium, newspapers reported their programs and soon their subscribers demanded the information. They did the same with radio but it never got to the point where so much space was devoted to it.

With these advantages, television reached a terrific saturation of program attention. In spite of all this, the television commercial never began to achieve the impact of actual buying which newspapers could offer advertisers.

Advertising in newspapers does not interrupt the reader's enjoyment as he peruses areas of news, feature, comment or any of the non-advertising content. When a reader is interested in an advertised item, it is available at his convenience and is not thrust upon him.

We have heard many objections to viewing a television program because it was interrupted with so many commercials. With that medium such interruption is a necessity. The program could not be aired at all without the advertising backing.

Even though the public may understand this, it can become one other reason for people finding something else to do with their time.

Perhaps the networks will just have to find their place with a smaller audience as some of their viewers become unglued to the tube.

high price of pride

There's a lot of pride floating around and there are plenty who try to prey on it, according to a recent report in the Wall Street Journal.

The report deals with an investigation of biographical reference books. These range from the "Who's Who's" and the "Most Outstandings" to the "Best Knowns." There seems to be something about such "recognition" that appeals to the ego of many people.

Anyway, the investigation revealed that many of these biographical volumes had circulation limited mostly to those whose biographies were published therein. The standard procedure is for a publisher to send out a notice that a person has been honored by being nominated to have his biography included in a volume of distinguished individuals. In the same envelope with the notice is an order blank for copies of the book to be published. The price may range from $9.95 to more than $35 per book.

The idea thus is put across that, if the person receiving the notice responds and sends in the biographical material suggested, he also should order one or more copies of the book.

It boils down to the person purchasing the space in the book for his biography.

The report drove home its lesson with the story of a person who filled out the request with the name of his dog, manufacturing a flowery biography. He sent it in, along with an order for a book. Sure enough, in due time, the book appeared with the dog's biography alongside those of other "luminaries" who had been "selected" for the honor.

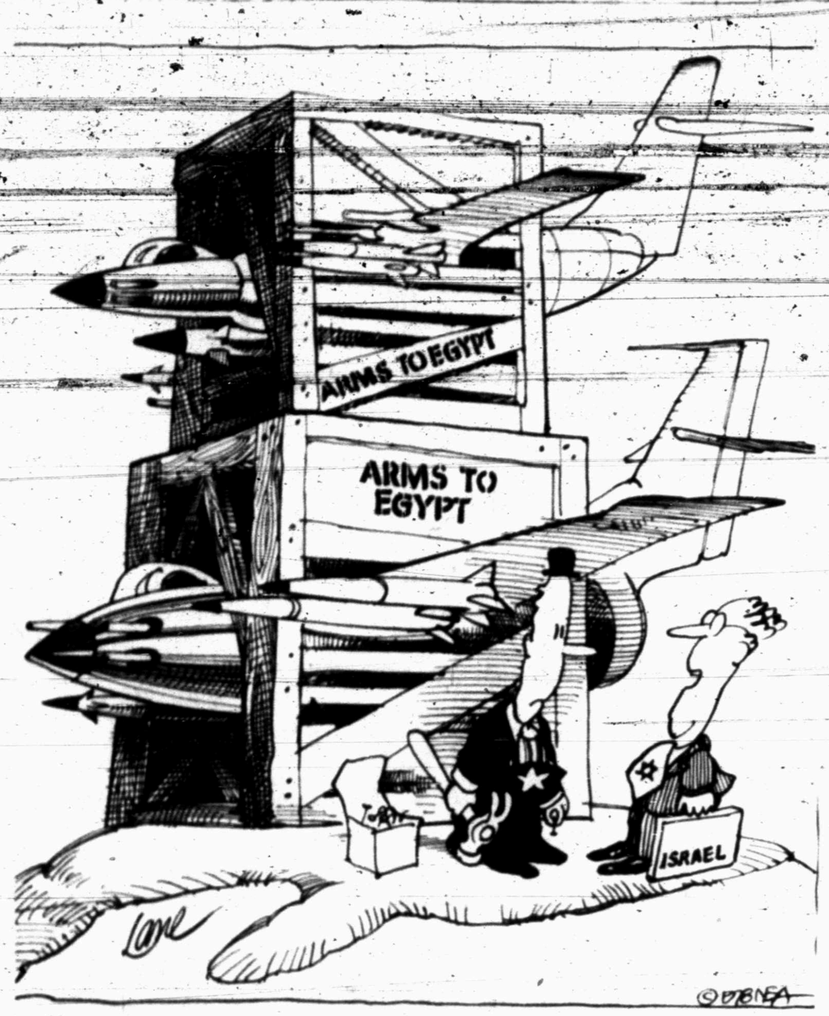

Pride can be expensive.

at wits end

by erma bombeck

My grandmother used to have a line that broke up the entire family. She'd say, "I called you today, but you knew it was me and wouldn't answer your phone."

No amount of logic could convince my grandmother that every ring of the phone was an unknown adventure and that surprise was on the side of the caller.

She was paranoid about people not wanting to talk with her. And with good reason. To begin with, she called every day. Not only that, she could go 78 rpm for 30 minutes, non-stop. At first I used to put one of those little sand timers by the phone. That little number filled up before she got out, "Hello." Later, I approached the phone with a calendar, a change of clothes, and a tank of oxygen strapped to my back.

Her opening line was always the same: "I don't suppose you know who this is. It's been so long since you called me you probably forgot what my voice sounds like."

"I remember it from yesterday, grandma."

"I guess you're busy."

"Compared to what?"

"You let the phone ring five times. Probably trying to decide if it was me or not."

"I was outside."

"Sure. They all say that. I called Louise yesterday and she let it ring 15 times before she decided not to answer it."

"So, what's new?"

"Don't change the subject. Do you think I like calling you and reminding you I'm alive?"

"I was going to call you after lunch."

"You know I'm on the phone until I get dinner at 4:00. So that's your game. Only call when you get a busy signal."

"No, it's just that I can talk longer when the kids are napping."

"Oh, you have children now? I didn't know."

The other day I read something that stopped me dead in my tracks. The phone company is at work perfecting a new device that will electronically up and tell you who's calling. For example, two short rings and a long one could be your husband, while two long rings and a short one could be your best friend.

Grandma was 30 years before her time.

Somehow, I always knew she knew.

LAST CHANCE

Tickets to tonight's Snyder Chamber of Commerce Annual Meeting and Banquet will be available in the coliseum foyer between 6 p.m. and 7 p.m., according to ticket chairman Ernie Sears, for those who have been unable to purchase them earlier.

This will be in conjunction with the opening of four exhibits to be on display prior to and following the 52nd Annual Banquet. These exhibits represent works of Cotton, Inc., Texas Agriculture Products, Inc., Upper Colorado River Water and Soil Conservation District and the Scurry County Museum.

Entitled "Agriculture Today," this banquet will be one of the most informative and entertaining ever.

The all-you-can-eat buffet dinner will consist of locally produced roast beef, lamb and ham, au gratin potatoes, okra and tomato casserole, black-eyed peas, corn, three-bean salad and desserts furnished and baked by Scurry County residents.

ENTERTAINMENT

Another highlight of the 1978 banquet will be performances by Cheryl Ann Kiner and her Sounds of the West Band. Kiner, a protege of the late, great Bob Wills, recently won the talent competition of the Miss Lubbock Pageant while finishing fourth runner-up in the contest.

Keynote addresses will be given by Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown and Braniff International's Julie Benell. Several "Outstanding Service" awards will also be presented, but in a less time consuming manner than in the past.

YOU'LL BE SORRY

If you haven't as yet purchased tickets, do so at the door. If you miss this one, you'll never forgive yourself. It's gonna' be great! From food to entertainment, this year's banquet is going to be a winner.

WASHINGTON RECEPTION

Federal Legislative Affairs Chairman Mel Gilbert and Executive Director W.R. (Bill) Henry will be among nearly 100 West Texans meeting with the state's two senators and 26 representatives in Washington Monday during the Annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce Washington Reception.

The meeting gives West Texans a chance to meet and visit with the entire Texas Delegation while discussing local areas of concern. Meetings such as these are vital to the lawmakers as they seek to represent their constituents "back home".

Obvious areas of discussion will center around oil, agriculture, labor, reform, government over-regulation, welfare fraud and Texas' continued industrial expansion.

If you are interested, call Henry or Gilbert today for further information.

PLAYOFF GAMES

With football and basketball seasons complete, Snyder has fared extremely well in hosting playoff games. Last weekend's AAA Regional Tournament topped off a most successful year for Snyder, which saw three football and several post-season basketball playoffs.

It is impossible to put a price tag on the benefits received from these type activities, but the community goodwill and the "showing of" of Snyder is worth the time, effort and money expended to recruit these games to the community.

Conservative estimates indicate the recently completed tournament injected well over $100,000 into the Snyder economy.

WASHINGTON--(NEA)--Can the Central Intelligence Agency conduct surreptitious searches of the homes and offices of artists, writers and account executives working for New York advertising agencies?

Can the National Security Agency use its sophisticated electronic surveillance equipment to secretly intercept and monitor the telephone conversations of Washington lawyers, Los Angeles film producers and Chicago public relations agents?

According to White House officials, an executive order signed earlier this year by President Carter will terminate the discredited practice of intelligence agencies violating - in the name of "national security" - the constitutionally protected rights of the nation's citizens.

David L. Aaron, Carter's second-ranking advisor on national security affairs, speaks lyrically of the executive order's role in "safeguarding the system of government which provides the kind of constitutional rights that we all admire and support and love."

But the White House order drafted by Aaron and signed by Carter has a gaping loophole large enough to cause thousands of law-abiding Americans to fear that the protection they purportedly are guaranteed by the Bill of Rights still can be unilaterally suspended.

The widely ballyhooed presidential order requires that intelligence agents secure a federal judge's approval of a warrant before engaging in many of the activities that led to blatant abuses of the law in past decades.

Included in that category are telephone taps, "bugging" and other forms of electronic surveillance; mail opening and mail "covers;" television monitoring; and physical searches of individuals, property, homes and offices.

But the order contains an exemption: No warrant is required in cases where the attorney general "has both approved the particular activity and determined that there is probably cause to believe that (the subject) is an agent of a foreign power."

That last phrase, used throughout the executive order to justify numerous exceptions to the newly framed guidelines, holds the potential for massive abuses of the intelligence agencies' authority in the future.

Although more than a dozen other terms used in the executive order are specifically defined at the end of the document, there is no explanation of who or what might be "an agent of a foreign power."

The U.S. Code does, however, contain a definition of an "agent of a foreign principal." It includes anyone who engages in political activities, public relations or publicity work, fund-raising or representation before a federal agency on behalf of a foreign government, organization or citizen.

Almost all major New York advertising agencies (and scores of their employees) are included because their clients include foreign tourist agencies seeking to attract American visitors.

Others performing legitimate work for foreign clients include Clark Clifford, a senior policy advisor to several past presidents who now practices law in Washington; William P. Rogers, a former secretary of state now practicing law in New York; and Patrick Caddell, Carter's political pollster.

There are thousands of others covered by the Foreign Agents Registration Act who easily could be construed to be "agents of a foreign power" for purposes of warrantless wiretaps, searches and surveillance.

What if this country should again become involved in an unpopular war, and a group of young protestors begins organizing peaceful anti-war demonstrations? Will an antagonistic attorney general find "probable cause to believe" they are "agents of a foreign power?"

When Carter signed the executive order in late January he admitted that he earlier had "sent it back three or four times to be redrafted so I could understand it." He should have rejected it one more time, insisting upon a definition of an "agent of a foreign power."

the dollar issue

NEW YORK (AP)-The dollar's fading, the dollar's fading, and everyone but Americans thinks the sky is falling. Defend it, defend it, yell the Germans and others, and America responds with a call for patience.

What bizarre behavior, you muse. It's our dollar and everyone else is worrying about it, and when they convey their worries we tell them to cool it. This, you observe, only makes them hotter.

Why should foreign governments be so concerned about the American dollar? And Americans so little concerned about its decline in relation to the value of some other important currencies?

It's a simple as this: They get hurt badly, we get hurt less; they find it difficult to export, we find it easier to do so; we tend to lower our trade imbalance, and we threaten them with one.

They get hurt because their relatively stronger currency makes exports to the United States, where value is measured in dollars, more costly. Thus they find it more difficult to sell here.

American goods, in contrast, are priced relatively lower in foreign countries, encouraging purchase. With U.S. exports spurred, and foreign imports curbed, the balance of trade is rearranged.

The United States and its trading partners, especially Germany, have been playing a game of chicken, with nothing less than world monetary stability at stake. They say defend your dollar. We say no thanks.

With the U.S. trade imbalance close to $30 billion last year, there is plenty of currency held by foreigners. No more, please, they say; slow your expansion, curb your consumption, get your house in order.

High on the list of items that most disturb critics of American expansion is the lack of an energy program. Without one, they argue, the United States has little hope of getting a grip on imports.

The problem in accepting the slower-growth arguments is that the United States has a jobless rate of more than 6 percent and cannot possibly reduce it without economic expansion.

Instead, it has been telling Germany and Japan to expand their economies, maintaining that this course will provide a market for American goods.

Counters Germany: This course will lead to a dangerous level of inflation and threaten the world economy.

Either choice, an economic expansion by the United States' trading partners, or a decline in the U.S. rate of economic expansion, would tend to stabilize the relative values of currencies.

But the United States and Germany, and to a lesser extent Japan, remain firm in their determination to handle the situation their way.

The stalemate, while for the time being presenting the United States with some advantages, is rife with danger. Some commentators feel it could destroy the world monetary system; some fear a depression.

It seems certain also that the longer the dollar declines the more likely is the prospect it will worsen the U.S. inflation rate - to the extent that whatever is imported will cost more.

Stanfield Choir Performs

The Ira PTA held its regular meeting Feb. 23 at 3:30 p.m. in the new gym with Mrs. Verline Calley presiding.

The Stanfield Elementary fifth grade choir, accompanied by sixth graders on ukuleles, presented a musical program for the group. Mrs. Monette O'Day directed the choir and accompanied them on the piano.

Guests Bonnie Krose, Gwen Patrick, Bobbie Donalson, Suzanne Jackson, and two new PTA members, Bertha Ellis and Lovella Holladay, were introduced.

The executive committee recommended to the group to have a teachers appreciation day, to change the scheduled March night meeting to March 30. Appointed to the committee for the appreciation day are Betty Murphy, Barbara White and Peggy Foster. The nominating committee submitted names for officers for next year. They are Verline Calley, president; Linda Dunn, vice president; LaNell Bearden, secretary; and Darla Huddleston, treasurer.

Appointed to the life membership committee was Doris Byars, Betty House and Verline Calley.

Betty House informed the group of PTA Day at the capitol in Austin March 15.

The Spring Conference will be held in Brownwood April 27. Mrs. Calley told the group a box would be placed in the school for Campbell Soup labels to be placed in which will be used in a PTA project. Everyone was urged to save newspaper and magazines for the Snyder Work Center. Kindergarten class won room count.

FETED — Sherry Williamson, bride-elect of David Thompson, was honored by 39 hostesses with a bridal shower recently in the fellowship hall of Colonial Hill Baptist Church. Her colors of apricot and ivory were carried out in floral arrangements of carnations and daisies. The serving table, attended by Marcy Franks, Jacque Abiassi and Connie Courtney, was covered with an apricot colored cloth and held appointments of silver and crystal. Individual tables were also covered in apricot and held votive candles with candle rings. Vicky Johnson registered guests. Pictured with Miss Williams, center, are her mother, Mrs. E.H. Williamson, left, and Mrs. Gene Thompson, mother of the prospective groom.

Sorority Meets

The Lambda Kappa chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met recently at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Committee reports were heard by the group. Dena Ellis reminded members of the Hobo Box Supper to be held Feb. 25 at the National Guard Armory.

A nominating committee was selected to nominate a new slate of officers for the coming year. Those serving are Mona Bryan, Carolyn Fortune, Linda Moreland and Marie Boone.

Kathy Roberts presented the program on "Goals and Training In Careers." Mrs. Roberts pointed out that long range goals, marriage, children and career, and short range goals, things you do each day, are sometimes hard, sometimes easy and sometimes a risk.

The group viewed a film on "Choosing A Career."

The program concluded with members discussing their dreams. Hostesses included Carol Foust and Carolyn Fortune.

For a first course for a buffet supper you might like to mix drained and rinsed canned small white beans with canned tuna in olive oil and lots of finely diced red onion. It's an Italian-style appetizer that's delicious. Add extra olive oil if you like.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

There was a happy day in the dim past when a deuce lead against notrump would show exactly four cards. It still is supposed to, but modern defenders don't always follow that old rule.

As you can see this time the lead was honest. All South had to do to make his contract was to lead a heart after winning the first trick with his queen of spades when East played the 10.

South did follow this procedure at trick three. At trick two he led his king of clubs to test that suit. Should clubs break 3-3, he could run off his nine tricks and would not have to worry about those nasty spades that were out against him.

West could not tell where the ace of clubs was. If East held it West wanted to give a count so West started an echo with the five. East also wanted to give a count so he echoed with the nine spot.

South believed both of them, abandoned clubs and led his jack of hearts. Maybe it would go through.

It didn't, but the defense could only collect their three spade tricks. Had South played the ace-king-jack of clubs and overtaken with dummy's queen he would have lost the easy contract.

Ask the Experts

A Wyoming reader wants to know why 4-3-3-3 is not the most common distribution. It certainly is the most balanced one.

The complete description is too mathematical, but the reason that 4-3-3-3 is well below the most common distribution 4-4-3-2 lies in its flatness.

Neighbors Get To View Plans

ATLANTA (AP)-When rumors started circulating that the new owner on the block might install a stable of Arabina horses and a harem in his recently purchased 16-room $645,000 mansion, neighbors were invited to a meeting to find out what architect Ed Neal was really working on.

The renovations for Prince Faisal M. Saud Al Kabir of Saudi Arabia who bought the house about six weeks ago will include guard posts, servants' quarters, a swimming pool, tennis court and a new driveway.

The prince's attorney, Martelle Layfield Jr., said the prince does intend to preserve the beauty of the mansion. "He does, however, need to make some additions to meet his needs," he added.

For Little Women

Don't Let Glasses Frame You

By Ellie Grossman

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Maybe you've experienced this. A voice behind you says, "Hi, I'm Mrs. Whatever," and you turn to see a pair of enormous eyeglass frames with a tiny face and body attached to them.

Poor little woman. The "big eye" look is in these days and she wants to be fetching in her frames like everyone else.

Well, according to Marilyn Bernard, spokeswoman for Eye Mystique II, a new line of frames for the small-faced woman, she can be and not look like her eyeglasses are taking her for a walk.

Here are Ms. Bernard's guidelines:

"Proper fit is most important, of course, but from a fashion point of view, you must begin with proportion. Small women have all kinds of faces like everyone else, so first you must determine the facial type," she says in her pleasant English accent.

You know — oval, round, square, the poetic heart-shape.

You probably know, too, that oval takes win, place and show. "That face can wear any shape frame," she says.

The others must look to discord and disharmony to put some life in their lines. "With a round face, one should look for a slightly squarer frame because when two spheres are together, each emphasizes the roundness of the other. Just as squares emphasize squareness. But if you put a cube next to a sphere, you have straight lines and round lines and each softens the other."

Your roundness comes in against the angular face, be it long and thin or wide and square.

And as for the candy-box heart-shape, well, now we must deal with "focus of attention."

SMALL WOMEN needn't let their spectacles take them for a walk, as seen in the picture at left. The square frames emphasize her square jaw, while their thickness and large size, as well as dark color, dominate her small face. The low, dark bridge shortens her petite nose.

Better to wear softer, curved lines, which call attention to the eyes rather than the glasses frame. The clear bridge makes her small nose appear a trifle longer wearing the pair at right. Cameo, by the Eye Mystique.

"A heart-shape face is wide at the temple and narrow at the chin," she says, "so you want the color of the frame at the temple which is the area you want to reduce. That's because dark colors diminish size and light colors increase size."

Put the color at the temple and leave the rest of the frame neutral. That's simple enough to do. Frames these days come with color all over the eye wire (all of the frame except the temples), here, there, under, over. So if you place your color correctly, you can reduce temples, widen eyes, shorten noses and generally do a grand job on the old face.

For instance, she says, "If a woman's eyes are close or deeply set, she should choose a clear or colorless bridge. This will draw attention to the outer part of the frame and by illusion make the eyes seem wider apart."

Are her eyes shouting at each other across the bridge? Put some color there and they'll be intimate in no time.

Now here come the noses. If yours is a button, don't set a dark bridge on it or it's likely to disappear altogether. By all means do, however, should your nose be long and distinguished and ever so slightly in need of shortening.

And as for eyebrows, everyone pay attention: the upper eye wire should follow the brow or be a bit above it. "Never allow the frame to come below the brow or too far above," she warns, "or you'll look perpetually surprised."

Skin and hair tones come into play next. And with skin you've got basically two considerations: whether you're fair or dark. You're either yellow or pink underneath and whichever you are, you don't want more of it.

"If you have a sallow or olive complexion," she says, "stay away from anything yellow or amber in the frame because that will only emphasize it. Look for rosy browns or pinks, something that will bring out the pinker tones in your skin."

If you're apple-cheeked, however, try to cool down with silvers, blues, beiges, greens.

And then go outside with a mirror and see what highlights are in your hair if you don't already know. That's a nice way to choose a frame, she says. "If you have a lot of gold in your hair, pick a frame with gold in it. The frame can be any color, mind you, with amber flecks in it. If the highlights are silver, look for pink or violet tones."

Now go back inside and give your eyes a rest. They deserve it.

How Clean Is Clean?

NEW HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP)-Just how clean is clean?

Research done in a hospital here on surgical scrub techniques proved there was no significant difference between the conventional 10-minute scrub and a scrub of only five minutes to degerm hands.

The study was conducted in the interest of time saving and cost efficiency by the departments of Laboratories and Surgery at Long Island Jewish-Hillside Medical Center.

Two hundred surgeons, scrub nurses and operating room technicians scrubbed by standard techniques, using sterile, individually packaged, disposable scrub brushes impregnated with antiseptic solution. They scoured hands and arms 10 minutes as hospital procedure requires.

A second group of 200 followed the same routine but scrubbed only five minutes.

Skin cultures were then taken from the hands of all those in each group so that the remaining microorganisms could be counted.

The germs apparently didn't know how long they had been scrubbed, or didn't care, because the count was equal in both cases, reports Dr. Alex Stone, staff surgeon.

The upshot: the 10-minute ritual has been laid to rest. Physicians preparing for surgery at LIJ scrub five minutes, with sterility insured, Dr. Stone says.

Texas Firm Gets Largest OSHA Fine

WASHINGTON (AP)-A Texas oil refinery ripped by a St. Patriek's Day explosion that killed eight men and injured 15 others has been assessed the largest fine in the history of the Occupational Health and Safety Administration.

OSHA announced Thursday a $222,700 assessment against the Texaco oil refinery in Port Arthur for job and safety violations which is tentative since the company can appeal the assessment. If no appeal is filed within 15 working days, the penalty automatically goes into effect.

The previous OSHA penalty record was a proposed fine of $215,900 against U.S. Steel in Chicago last week.

The Texaco facility was cited for 122 alleged serious violations with proposed penalties totaling $107,700 plus 11 alleged repeat serious violations totaling $100,000 in proposed penalties, two alleged willful violations with proposed penalties of $20,000 and two less serious violations totaling $1,000.

Texaco officials had no immediate comment.

OSHA's investigation into the March 16 explosion at the refinery is continuing. The first phase inspection began on Nov. 8, 1977, and ended Dec. 16, 1977.

Man Indicted In Shooting Of Ranger

DENTON (AP)-A North Texas State University graduate student has been indicted by a Denton County grand jury in connection with the Feb. 20 shooting death of Texas Ranger Bob Doherty, the first Ranger in 47 years to die in the line of duty.

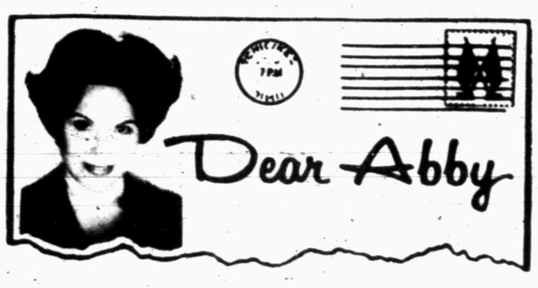

Gregory Arthur Ott, 27, was indicted Thursday on capital murder charges. If convicted, he faces either life in prison or death.

District Attorney Jerry Cobb said a trial date has not been set, but he would try to have it start "by the end of April or first of May."

Doherty was shot with a .38 caliber revolver during a routine drug raid that netted about 40 pounds of marijuana.

'Abby' Makes The CB Scene

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc

DEAR ABBY: Thought you'd like to know the following: My CB buff neighbors have quite unusual handles. She is "Dear Abby," and her husband is "Abby Grabber." How does that grab ya"?

MYRTLE CREEK, ORE.

DEAR MYRTLE: Beautiful. It made my day.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to REALIST who's tired of hearing women gripe about unpleasant surprises after marriage. She wonders why these things aren't noticed before marriage.

How on earth is a woman supposed to know how many showers a guy takes before she marries him? It's not your everyday topic of conversation while going together.

No way could I have known that the guy I married would snore, thrash around and grind his teeth in his sleep, or that his beer intake would triple and his cigarette smoking double.

How could I know beforehand what kind of father he'd make—and for that matter, how could HE know a lot of things about ME before we got married?

When we were going together he was into sports. Now he finds them "too strenuous." He used to love the beach. Now it's "too crowded." He used to like to dance. Now it's "silly." And socializing is "too boring." I wonder why men "slow down" so much earlier than women?

NOT PERFECT EITHER

DEAR NOT PERFECT: Maybe when there's a comfortable home to come to, a man finds fewer reasons for leaving it. But apropos "surprises" after marriage: While going together, both men and women are inclined to be on their "best behavior." However, characteristics as basic as violent tempers, physical uncleanliness and "me-first" attitudes rarely go undetected even in the courting stage.

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with Kurt for a year. He's 30 and has never been married. I'm 29, divorced, with a child who stays with my mother most of the time.

Maybe I'm old-fashioned, but I don't believe in living together before marriage, so when Kurt asked if he could move in with me, I said no. (He was having financial problems.)

Next thing I knew, Kurt told me he was sharing an apartment with a guy. He didn't say where, but he gave me the phone number.

I called him up and a girl answered! He explained that he's living with her only "temporarily." He says she is just a friend.

I was furious and gave him an ultimatum—move out of her apartment and into mine immediately, or forget me completely. He said, "I'll think about it." Does this sound like he loves me and intends to marry me?

I don't want to lose him, but I can't let him live with another girl, even though he claims she's only a friend.

Hurry your answer.

BOSTON MESS

DEAR MESS: Kurt sounds like a loser to me. If you're wise you will forget him.

By BILL McCLELLAN

ABILENE – It was a close one for the first. An easy enough victory with a few minutes gone. A real away early in the second half ... But it was won by a handful of clutch free throw shots when no more than one point separated the two teams.

Western Texas College earned a double victory here last night, as they defeated Amarillo College a team which marred their conference record on two occasions before yesterday's meeting – and grabbed a berth in the Region V semifinals tonight at Hunt P.E. Center on the McMurry Campus.

The Westerners, scheduled to face McLennan Community College of Waco at 7 p.m. today, took leads of 12 points in the first half and 18 in the second before Amarillo College rallied to within a point with just over a minute remaining in the ball game. Reginald Reid came on the scene to basket a pair of clutch free throws however, and Jon Moorehead added four more as WTC pulled away to claim the 104-95 victory.

"Reid was the clutch man with those free throws," commented Coach Nolan Richardson, who watched his team drop an 18-point lead in the final minutes of the game. "We were shooting terrible shots. We were missing and they kept coming back and scoring. I've said before, Amarillo has the best individual talent in the league. Ok, man I'd have taken that one with a half of a point. I'd have taken it with a fourth a point, if that's what it took to win it."

As it was, it took some last minute "emotional cool" by the Westerners, which included those all-important free shots.

With 1:29 left in the game and WTC in a delay type offense, Reid was fouled. The 6'4" freshman went to the line and hit the bucket on both ends of the one-and-one situation, pushing the Westerners ahead 94-89. Seconds later Amarillo's Keith Moore scored a two pointer and John Luster took a teammate's steal in for two more points to bring the totals to 94-93.

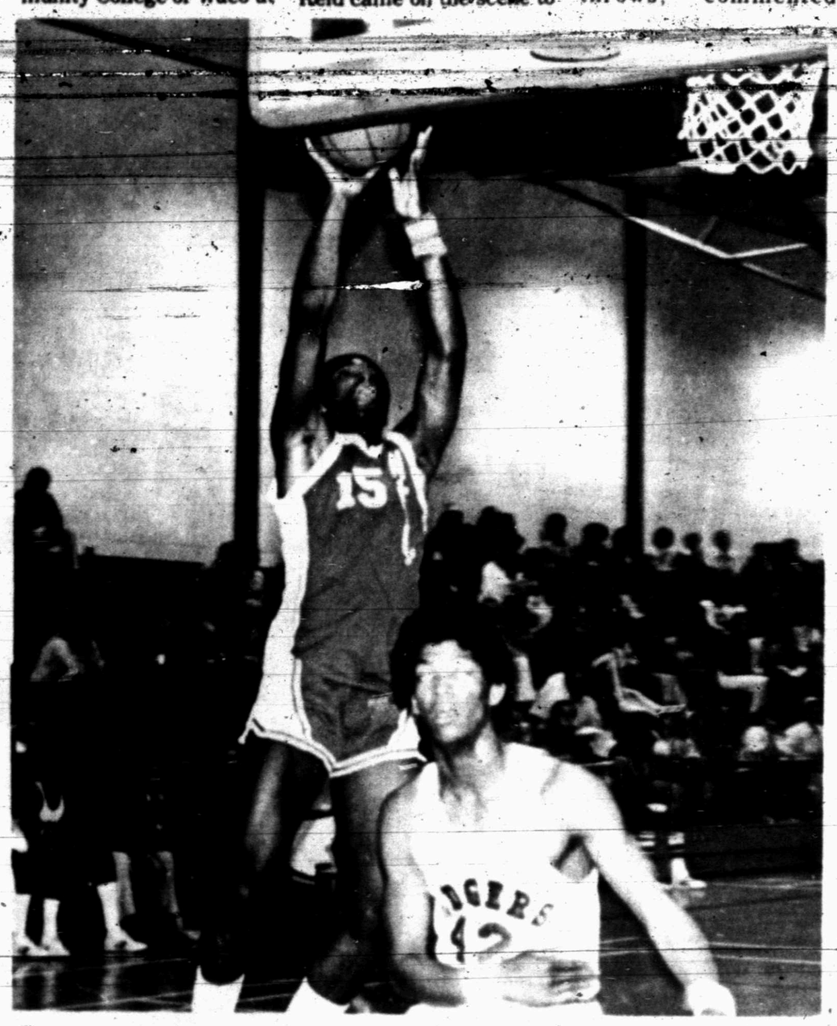

Fouled by Keith Strickland, Reid went to the line once more. The Norfolk, Va. native, who went 6 for 6 from the line during the game, tagged up two more WTC points. With :36 seconds remaining, Jon Moorehead drilled another pair of free throws, which advanced the totals to 98-93, and iced the game for the Westerners.

WTC scored six more points before the final buzzer. Moorehead ripped in another duo of charity shots, as did Doug, Worthington. Julio Gallardo, who led WTC in scoring for the night, dunked a layup at the buzzer to complete the totals.

Amarillo's Moore basketed a two-pointer during the final seconds, also.

Gallardo's 21 points paced the Westerners, as did

Class AAA Tilt To Pit Mineral Wells-Huntsville

AUSTIN (AP)-Fans were anxious for bluechip college prospect Jerry Davis to show his stuff, but what they saw was Huntsville stuff Davis and his Corpus Christi West Oso team, 86-58, in the semifinals of Class 3A schoolboy basketball.

The runaway victory, paced by 6-foot-2 sophomore Lloyd Archie, set up a championship game Saturday night between Huntsville and Mineral Wells, which overcame a 15-4 first half deficit to beat Terrell, 61-55.

Neither Huntsville nor Mineral Wells has ever won a state basketball title.

Dimmitt and Whitehouse shot their way into the Saturday morning 2A finals.

Dimmitt used a 31-point scoring spree by Rocky Rawls - a bespectacled 5-10 senior who looks as if he would be more at home with his nose buried in a book - to defeat Mission Sharyland, 60-50.

Whitehouse routed Rosebud-Lott, 68-42, with Dwight Pettigrew scoring 24 points and grabbing 15 rebounds.

Kenneth Dodd, feverish from a flu-like illness, scored 25 points and Chuck Hall, a two-time all-tournament player, tallied 22 as Krum whipped Waelder, 54-39, in the B semi-finals.

Krum's Saturday morning opponent in the finals will be Avinger, which converted 28 Silverton mistakes into 31 points in a 59-49 triumph in the other semi-final match.

Mat Russell and Melvin Ray each scored 20 points for Mineral Wells, and Terrell lost the ball 31 times without getting off a shot. The mistakes led to 29 points for Mineral Wells.

The Thursday night finale was to have been Davis' show, but the acrobatic 6-6 senior hit only three of 17 shots against the Huntsville took a 42-25 lead.

He finished with 24 points before fouling out with 42 seconds left in the game, 11 below his season average.

Archie connected on 9 of 12 field goal attempts and added three free throws for 21 points and set up numerous other baskets with his passes.

He and Davis each had 13 rebounds.

The other four Huntsville starters all scored in double figures, with Edgar Crawford pitching in 19, Royce Craft 13, Curtis Wallace 11 and Dallas Williams 10.

All but Craft, who was all-tournament last year, have another year of eligibility.

Sutton Chosen Coach Of The Year By AP

HOUSTON (AP)-For those who believe the Southwest Conference just has two sports - football and spring football - step forward and meet Mr. Eddie Sutton, collegiate basketball's Coach of the Year.

Arkansas' Sutton, who learned the game under the disciplined pattern play of Hank Iba, is The Associated Press College Basketball Coach of the Year.

And where did his main competition come from? Well, the SWC, where Texas' Abe Lemmons turned a 13-13 team into a 22-4 club good enough to tie Arkansas for the league's co-championship.

Less than a month ago the SWC made history when Arkansas became the very first league team ever to be ranked No. 1 in The AP poll. Houston upset the Razorbacks, who are now 27-2, and forced them into the SWC post-season tourney while Texas drew a bye to the finals.

Now, another heady whiff of the big time, Coach of the Year for the SWC - another first.

Some SWC basketball watchers who have seen the league become more competitive in the past four years believe Sutton should have won the honor last year when Arkansas was 26-2.

Lemons was selected for the honor this year by league coaches, who gave him six of their nine votes. But two strong candidates is another first.

"I'm deeply honored for myself, my players, my school and the conference," said Sutton. "We may not have the BEST basketball team in the nation ... there are a lot of good teams, but no one has better people in its basketball program than we have."

Sutton a snappy dresser in pinstriped suits, had compiled an 89-22 record in four years at Arkansas going into Thursday night's SWC quarterfinal play-off game with Southern Methodist.

Tracksters Ready For 'Stang Relays

ANDREWS--The Tiger track team, under direction of Coach Winfred Shipp, will participate in the Mustang Relays here Saturday.

Other teams included in the meet will be Seminole, Fort Stockton, Lamesa, Kermit and Andrews.

Fort Stockton is favored in the meet, however Snyder stands a good chance to take some top honors.

The Tigers, who finished third in the Comanche Relays earlier this season, will attend the West Texas Relays in Odessa on March 10-11. The Canyon Reef Relays, hosted by Snyder, are scheduled for March 18.

Hogs Maul Mustangs; Face Houston Tonight

HOUSTON (AP)-Bob Brewer, one of Arkansas' dreaded Big Three, glanced at the destruction of Southern Methodist's upset bid and observed that the fourth ranked Razorbacks apparently have developed a much needed killer instinct.

"Last year we'd get ahead of teams and then let down," Brewer said after the Hogs had dissected SMU 94-73 in the quarter-finals of the Southwest Conference basketball tournament at the Summitt Thursday night.

"Now we feel we've got to have the killer instinct," Brewer said. "When we get a team down we have to punish them."

And oh how they punished the stunned Mustangs as the University of Houston eventually punished Texas Tech en route to a 93-82 victory in the other quarter-finals game before a sellout crowd of 15,600.

The two victors meet tonight in the semifinals for the fight to face SWC co-champion Texas Saturday night in the finals for a berth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) playoffs.

Houston Coach Guy Lewis was aghast after watching the Hogs dispatch the Mustangs, who finished their season at 10-18.

"I don't think any team in America could have beaten Arkansas tonight," said Lewis, whose Cougars are one of only four this season, "They were awesome."

Arkansas, led by its All-SWC trio of Brewer, Sidney Moncrief and Marvin Delph, hit 11 of its first 16 shots and had the Mustangs down 16-4 before working up a sweat.

Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton played his "Go-Go" second team almost three minutes in the first half and still led 51-26 at halftime.

In the second half, it was more of the same as the substitutes came into the game to stay with 14:31 to go.

Sutton, too, was pleased with his team's performance.

"That's more like we played when we beat Kansas on the road and Houston at our place," Sutton said. "There's no substitute for athletic ability and I think our quickness hurt them at the start of the game."

Although the Cougars took longer to put away the pesky Red Raiders, the final outcome was just as decisive.

Borg To Battle Mayer

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)-Sweden's Bjorn Borg is pitted against Sandy Mayer of Wayne, N.J., in the $80,000 Invitational Scandinavian Cup here Tuesday, which also marks Borg's first appearance on a Swedish tennis court in 16 months.

In the other match, Vitas Gerulaitis of New York plays Britain's John Lloyd in the chase of the $40,000 first prize.

Borg, who left Sweden in November 1976 after losing a quarter-final match in the Stockholm Open to American Brian Gottfried, was upset over what he described as "personal attacks" by Swedish news media. He promised never to appear on a Swedish court unless the press stopped "persecuting" him.

Sherk To Undergo Surgery

CLEVELAND (AP)-Doctors in Los Angeles say they won't know until they operate on the right knee of Cleveland Browns tackle Jerry Sherk how bad the damage is.

Sherk was to undergo surgery today for repair of cartilage and ligament damage.

The eight-year National Football League veteran injured both knees last year. Club officials are concerned that Sherk may need surgery on the left knee also.

Gregg Charger Line Coach

SAN DIEGO (AP)-Recently fired Cleveland Browns Coach Forrest Gregg has been selected for the second time in six years as offensive line coach of the San Diego Chargers.

San Diego Coach Tommy Prothro made the appointment Thursday.

Gregg, 44, directed the Chargers' offensive front during the 1972 and 1973 seasons, moving to Cleveland in 1974 and becoming the Browns' head coach the next year.

"I've always thought Forrest was a fine coach," said Prothro. "He did a fine job when he was here the first time and he did an outstanding job as head coach at Cleveland."

Gregg succeeds Rudy Fledman, who resigned following the Chargers' 7-7 season last year.

Under Gregg, the Browns were 3-11, then 9-5 and were 6-7 last season when Cleveland owner Art Modell fired Gregg.

Stringers' Baltimore Injured

CINCINNATI (AP)-The Cincinnati Stingers have lost the services of defenseman Byron Baltimore for three weeks because of a sprained knee.

Baltimore sustained his injury during the Stingers Wednesday night's victory over Edmonton.

The World Hockey Association club announced that rookie Craig Norwich would arrive in time for tonight's game with Winnipeg to give the club five defensemen.

The late Adolph Rupp never had a losing season in his 41 seasons as basketball coach at Kentucky.

Tigers Take 2nd Baseball Victory

Snyder High School baseball team won its second game in as many outings yesterday, pounding Seminole 9-2 in the season's first home game.

The contest, completely dominated by the Tigers, was set up to be played five innings due to the cold weather conditions.

Seminole scored the first run of the ball game as T. Worthington walked to first in the top inning and made the distance to home with the help of a base hit and a fielder's error.

The hit was one of only two allowed by Tiger freshman Tony Degrate, who struck out six batters and walked five during the abbreviated contest.

Snyder quickly tied the score, then went ahead as Richard Crayton, third baseman, and Alvin Ollison, centerfielder, scored in the bottom of the inning. Other Tiger scores came in the second and third innings as Crayton and Ollison each crossed the point plate two more times, and Dray Sikes managed two scores. Also reaching home was Billy Stephens, a pinch runner for first baseman Scot Crenwelge.

Ollison garnered two RBIs and catcher Tracy Witherspoon copped one as Snyder knocked Seminole hurler Bob Villalua for a dozen hits.

Saturday, The Tigers are scheduled to play Ector at 2 p.m. in Lubbock.

SWINGS — David Shivers of Seminole takes a swing and a miss during high school baseball action held here yesterday as Snyder celebrated its first home game of the season by ripping the visitors, 9-2. Tracy Witherspoon, all-district catcher, is the man behind the mask while freshman Tony Degrate (not pictured) is the hurler. Degrate allowed two hits and struck out six Seminole batters. Snyder is now 2-0 in season play. (SDN Photos By John Long).

his finesse on the boards. The 6' 9" sophomore from El Paso pulled down 13 rebounds -- the most from either squad -- as WTC out-snared the opponent 51-43. Moorehead, who had 18 points, garnered 10 rebounds. Other Westerners in double figures included Reid with 14 points and 4 rebounds, Adam Beadle with 13 points, and Joe Mendoza with 12 points.

Both Moorehead and Beadle went into the game with injuries. Moorehead reinjured an ankle, and Beadle had suffered an eye injury.

Luster led the Badgers with 27 points, followed by Edgar Merchant with 22, Ted James with 14, Moore with 12 and Mike Young with 11. James pulled down 10 rebounds for Amarillo.

From the floor, WTC was 38 of 71 for 53.5 percent while the Badgers were 39 of 86 for 45.3 percent. The Westerners hit 28 of 35 free throw attempts for 80 percent. AC managed 17 of 24 for 70.8 percent.

In other games played yesterday, McLennan College drubbed Odessa 96-84 to set up today's 7 p.m. game with WTC. Cooke County nipped Howard County 74-72, and New Mexico Military Institute whipped Hill County 93-88. NMMI and Cooke County are slated to play tonight at 9 o'clock. Finals will be held here 9 p.m. Saturday.

The Westerners jumped out to a 10-2 lead at the outset of the contest with Amarillo's only points coming from a goal tending call.

Midway through the 20 minute period, WTC pulled to a 23-13 advantage, but AC whittled that margin to 36-30 several minutes later.

The Westerners clasped their largest lead of the first half with 4:28 remaining when firey Badger coach Jim Calvin was ticketed with back-to-back technicals and Beadle drilled four free throws worth of WTC profit. Seconds later Joe Mendoza scored another pair from the charity stripe and the Snyder-based crew went ahead by 52-38.

The Westerners went into the dressing room up by 60-48 at half time, than sailed to a 78-60 lead early in the second period before Amarillo rallied back.

Rain Postpones Citrus Tourney

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)-A violent thunderstorm, packing heavy rains that flooded the Rio Pinar Course, forced a postponement today of the second round of the $200,000 Florida Citrus Open Golf Tournament.

The round was washed out in mid-morning. Only a handful of players had started play and none had completed their rounds when the day's competition was halted.

The second round now is scheduled for Saturday.

There was no immediate decision on the rest of the tournament schedule.

Snook Socks Van Horn

AUSTIN (AP)-Ball-handling wizard Myron Palmer of Snook dazzled Van Horn with his dribbling and passing and scored 13 points today in a 53-49 Class A semi-final victory at the state schoolboy basketball tournament.

The game was punctuated with 62 turnovers - 32 by Van Horn and 30 by Snook.

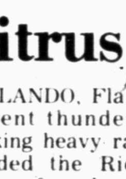

Coach Don Horn of Snook used 10 players, and nine scored, led by sophomore Mike Junek, with 14.

Dribbler Results

Oilers 30, Tigers 27
Knicks 27, Celtics 18

Monday's games have been rescheduled for Saturday, March 11 due to open house at the elementary schools.

Church Leaders, Carter Swap Praise, Criticisms

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Face to face, U.S. church leaders and President Carter laid out their ideas and impressions of each other's performance. They traded compliments, some criticisms and expressed thanks for both.

It was a remarkably frank, yet needpressedly supportive and friendly exchange, the first meeting between Carter and leaders of most major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations.

"I'm thankful for what you've done," Carter told them, but added he felt they should keep up a more vigorous role on social problems.

William P. Thompson, chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church and president of the National Council of Churches, told Carter, "We feel a double sense of affinity with you and your hopes and dreams."

That is so, he said, because Carter approaches his duties of office "in the broader perspective of ... an active Christian layman" and also because of shared concern for the "health of our nation."

Carter said he sought to balance as best he could "within the bounds of constitutional retraints" both his responsibilities as a government officials and a Christian layman, "but I have fallen short of what I should do."

The meeting took place Feb. 24 in the White House with 28 leaders of denominations of the National Council, marking continuation of a once-blocked liaison between the U.S. presidency and the cooperative organization of Protestantism and Orthodoxy.

Those lines of communication, dating back to the Franklin D. Roosevelt era and maintained through the presidencies of Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson, had been broken off by Nixon, but were revived by Ford in 1975.

Carter said he looked forward to continuing the exchange, both of "mutual support and constructive criticism."

But he said he was troubled by a "growing quiescence in the churches" on social problems. "Compared to what the Christian community could do ... outreach and social programs are minimal," he said.

"I think there's a lot the churches can do that we are not doing," he said, adding that in many ways "the last bastion of racial discrimination" is in the churches. "The government has done a great deal to eliminate segregation. The churches have done much less."

NITA CLEGG

Missionary Nurse To Speak Here

Nita Clegg, missionary nurse to Swaziland, is home on furlough and holding services in Nazarene Churches. This is her fourth furlough since going to the field in 1956.

She will speak in services at the Church of the Nazarene in Snyder at 6 p.m. Sunday.

Miss Clegg graduated from Bethany Nazarene College with an A.B. degree and from Northwest Nazarene College with a B.S. She received her R.N. from Samaritan Hospital School of Nursing. Since arriving on the field, she has been working primarily in nursing.

The service will feature a look into the work and the growth of the Nazarene Church in Swaziland.

Miss Clegg will be making her home in Rotan during this furlough year.

Resurrection Attempt Hits Another Snag

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)-Daniel Aaron Rogers, who describes himself as an interdenominational tent evangelist, ran into another block on Thursday in his attempt to have his mother resurrected.

Gladys Rogers died Feb. 2 at the age of 80. Rogers has said he hopes she will be raised from the dead at Reeds Spring, Mo.

The body has been in storage at Harrison for the past month. State health officials refused to grant a permit early this week to move the body across state lines, citing a possible spread of bacteria.

The woman's death certificate lists the cause of death as pneumonia.

Thursday, Rogers was told by Boone County health official James Milford that another permit was necessary to remove the body from storage.

State health rules provide that removal from storage is considered disinterment when a body has been held more than 15 days from the date of death, according to Milford.

He said that Rogers must obtain a permit from the state director of vital records. Milford said such permits are granted solely to licensed funeral directors.

After Rogers was refused the permit to move his mother's body, he said he hoped to work out something out of court that "will satisfy everybody."

"I think everybody is trying to be real careful ... to obey the law real scrupulously," he said.

Rogers said he still planned to take his mother's body to Reeds Spring if possible, but he did not discount other alternatives.

"I haven't given up trying to find a place in Arkansas," he said.

The 41-year-old Rogers did not rule out the possibility of conducting services with his mother's body at his home. However, he said he preferred that services be held in a funeral home, "where it is more respectable."

Enrollment Period On For Medicare

"A general enrollment period for Medicare is now in progress," announced Don Minyard of the Big Spring social security office. The general enrollment period extends from Jan. 1 through March 31 of each year. During that time anyone eligible to enroll in Medicare may do so.

Generally, those eligible to enroll are individuals over age 65 who missed their initial opportunity to enroll. This first chance to enroll extends from 3 months before the month of one's 65 birthday to 3 months after one's 65th birthday.

There is another group of people more recently eligible for Medicare to whom these rules apply. This later group are those people who have been receiving disability checks for at least 24 months.

Enrollment for them is usually automatically carried out after they have received disability checks for 24 months. Should they pass up their initial opportunity to enroll and later wish to enroll, the general enrollment period is the only time for such late enrollment.

Anyone desiring to enroll during the general enrollment period must contact the social security office, either by phone or in person. Coverage for all individuals enrolling during the general enrollment period begins July 1 following their enrollment.

Wadleigh Firm Gets Award

Wadleigh Construction, Inc., Snyder, was named an Outstanding Dealer for Star Manufacturing Company, and Oklahoma City based manufacturer and distributor of metal building systems.

The announcement was made by Wayne Curran, Star's Vice President of Sales, at its Annual Sales Meeting held in Las Vegas.

The Outstanding Dealer Award recognizes Wadleigh Construction, Inc. for its distinguished leadership in the metal building industry, progressive leadership in the community, dedicated service to customers, and outstanding sales achievement for 1977.

"THOSE CRAZY EPISCOPALIANS" are they living in the past?

Outwardly, Episcopalians are pretty steeped in tradition. But in their relations with the world about them, they're a "today" sort of bunch.

They're usually among the first to address a compassionate ministry to "people problems" wherever those problems crop up.

Take alcoholism. It's no accident that one of the founders of Alcoholics Anonymous was a sympathetic Episcopal minister, Sam Shoemaker. and some folks, today, make jokes about "Whiskeypalians."

It's true that this denomination is a bit more tolerant than some. They nourish a strange belief in guidelines — not straight-jackets — for a Christian life. They're not interested in condemning... but in helping people.

It isn't really a new idea. Just a timely one.

Episcopalians believe they have good reason for many of their views. Maybe some of the reasons would make sense to you, too. It costs you nothing to contact the nearest Episcopal minister and find out. He won't even twist your arm.

Spiveys To Visit 1st Presbyterian

The congregation of the First Presbyterian Church in Snyder will welcome a pastor of 40 years ago in services this Sunday.

He is the Rev. James Spivey, who served the first three years of his ministry as pastor of the church here, during which time he made many lifelong friends.

Rev. and Mrs. Spivey are scheduled to be in Snyder this weekend, and they will be honored at a reception at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church, 2706 Avenue R.

The public is invited to attend the reception and the morning worship service, which will follow at 11 a.m.

After leaving Snyder in 1939, Rev. Spivey served as pastor of churches in Texas and Oklahoma for 25 years. In 1964, he was called to the position of Executive Presbyter of the St. Louis Presbytery. Later he served as Executive of the Synod of Oregon, and next he served on the board of trustees of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., a position he held until his recent retirement.

Rev. Spivey now offers his services on the Synod and national levels of the Presbyterian Church.

The Spiveys have returned to Texas and are now living in the Dallas area. Old acquaintances of the Spiveys are especially invited to take the opportunity to visit with them this Sunday.

Billy Used As Example

ATLANTA (AP)-A resolution by the Georgia House says President Carter's brother is "an example given to children of what might happen if they don't mind their parents."

The tongue-in-cheek resolution, adopted Tuesday, recognized Billy Carter as "the most famous personality in America today with the possible exception" of former budget director Bert Lance and Georgia House Speaker Tom Murphy.

Carter told the lawmakers that before visiting the House chamber to accept the document, he had his lawyer explain to him the difference between an indictment and a resolution.

DR. ROY BLIZZARD

Dr. Blizzard In Meeting At 1st Christian

Dr. Roy Blizzard of Austin will be speaking at First Christian Church here the week of March 6-10.

Meetings will be held each evening at 7:30 and on Tuesday through Friday at 10 a.m. The two teaching topics will be "The Blood Convenant" in the evenings and "How to Know, Understand and Operate in Your Own Spiritual Gift" in the mornings.

Dr. Blizzard holds the PhD degree in Hebrew Studies from the University of Texas and is recognized as an authority on Israel and the Middle East.

He has done extensive archaeological work in the Holy Land. Dr. Blizzard's presentation is designed to be scholarly, yet practical and extremely helpful to anyone who is serious about growing in understanding of the Bible and living the Christian life. The public is invited to attend the meetings.

REV. ALAN CARTRITE

Revival Begins Sunday Night At Green Hill

Green Hill Baptist Church will begin revival services at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The evangelist for the revival will be the Rev. Alan Cartrite, pastor of First Baptist Church in Roby. Rev. Cartrite is a former pastor of Green Hill, having served the local congregation in 1960-64.

Ronnie Carpenter, music director of First Baptist Church in Hamlin, will lead the music for the revival.

Services during the coming week will be conducted at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. There will be no services on Saturday. The closing service of the revival will be held on Sunday, March 12.

A nursery will be provided during all services.

MRS. GENE DAVIS

Mrs. Davis To Speak Here At 1st Assembly

Mrs. Gene Davis will be the guest speaker at the First Assembly of God, 1809 College Avenue, during the morning worship service, March 5.

Mrs. Davis is President of the Women's Ministries Department of the West Texas District Council of the Assemblies of God, with headquarters in Lubbock. In this capacity, she directs the ladies and girls activities through various programs implemented with emphasis on home and foreign missions.

She is serving her 15th year as Women's Ministries' President.

Surgery reassurance

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — About five years ago I suffered a mild stroke. Since then, the doctor has restricted my diet and physical activity. Also I take one table of Apresoline daily. My blood pressure was 152 over 90 during my last checkup.

If for any reason I should require an operation in the future, is there anything to prevent it? In other words can I have surgery? I will be 62 in a few months.

The only apparent lingering effect of the stroke is that my memory is bad now and plays tricks on me.

DEAR READER — Whether or not you can undergo surgery will depend upon your condition if and when such a need arises and the type of surgery contemplated. The probability is that you can have surgery with no difficulty.

It has been long enough since your stroke, your well-controlled blood pressure and apparently good health otherwise should mean you would not be a bad surgical risk.

Many people have surgery with rather severe medical problems and I mean major surgery. A recent heart attack or stroke of very recent times could pose a problem but five years later is shouldn't make much difference.

You should continue to keep your weight down, follow your doctor's advice to keep your blood pressure down and maintain a reasonable degree of activity. I would think you could develop a daily walking program if you have not already done so.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-5, Strokes, to give you more information. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you please advise me about magnesium? Exactly what does it do for you and what should it be used for? A friend of mine recommended that I take vitamin D and calcium and magnesium. After getting these I find that my regular multiple vitamin preparation contains D, calcium and magnesium. Also my instant breakfast and Digel contain magnesium.

DEAR READER — We all need magnesium because the body uses it in our vital enzyme system within our cells to release energy from foods and carry on vital metabolic functions.

A true magnesium deficiency, however, is rather rare because it is so widespread in so many common foods in a normal diet. Mature bean seeds and cereals are usually good sources of magnesium.

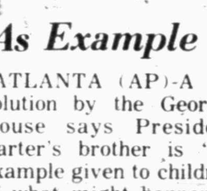

About the only people who develop a magnesium deficiency are alcoholics and those taking water pills to eliminate water. There are quite a few people who do use water pills (diuretics) for high blood pressure or to prevent accumulation of water.

You won't have any harmful effects from taking the magnesium but you won't get any advantage from it either. Your story is typical of so many people who obtain a new vitamin or mineral preparation when they are already getting those same things in their fortified and enriched foods they buy at the grocery store. Your milk also has vitamins D and A added, not to mention the abundant source of calcium in the milk. After eating food that has been improved with vitamins, then taking any number of vitamin pills, a person may be pushing the upper limits of safe intake for vitamin A and D.

Mahon: Restraint Key To Future

By SUSAN STOLER
Associated Press Writer

NEW BRAUNFELS (AP)-Citizen and government restraint are the keys to future progress in America, Rep. George Mahon, D-Texas said today at the 12th annual Texas Legislative conference.

Mahon, 77, will end his 44 years in Congress with his current term. He looked back on his years in office and avoided discussion of current issues except for passing reference to the farmer strikes.

"They the farmers have a problem, a desperate problem. Some are threatened with complete fiscal disaster," the chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said without proposing a solution.

When Mahon entered Congress in 1935, annual federal spending was $9 billion, and it now totals more than $500 billion.

"Since I came to Congress I have been bogged down in money and federal deficits," he said. "But I don't really think we will spend ourselves into oblivion."

He said politicians have encouraged citizens to want "more of this and more of that. What we've got to do is have more restraint on the part of the citizen back home and more restraint at the seat of government wherever government might be."

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, was the luncheon speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Price are the parents of a 9 lb. 5 oz. son, born at 7:41 a.m. March 2 in Cogdell Memorial Hospital. They reside on Fluvanna Rt.

"Is this on your expense account or do I have to look at the prices?"

Daily Mail Delivery End Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) Daily mail delivery probably will not be financially feasible by the end of the century, outgoing Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar says.

In a final appearance Thursday on Capitol Hill, Bailar said the delivery of letters and other pieces of paper is being supplanted by other means of communication, including computerized electronic messages.

"The delivery of hard copy paper is dying. By the end of this century, the maintenance of daily delivery will be possible only if it is justified on some basis other than on economic need," Bailar told a Senate Governmental Affairs subcommittee.

He said such a justification might be preserving the jobs of postal employees, who now number close to 1 percent of the American workforce.

Bailar said electronic message systems and new uses for the telephone are having an increasing impact on the Postal Service by diverting what once would have been mail to substitute forms of communication.

Bailar resigned last month to re-enter private industry and will be replaced on March 15 by William F. Bolger, now deputy postmaster general.

In his three years in office, Bailar has urged the public to ponder which mail services are still needed considering the new methods of communication.

Among possible economy measures, he has tried to stimulate public discussion of whether Saturday mail delivery should be eliminated at a saving of $400 million per year.

Winter Coldest In Many Areas

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)-The National Weather Service has a few words for many who steadfastly claim they can't remember a colder winter: you may be right.

The winter of 1977-78 is the coldest in recorded history in many areas of the United States, the weather service's National Severe Storms Forecast Center reported Thursday.

The Rocky Mountains were the dividing line between regions experiencing extremely cold or generally mild weather, the center reported.

The December-through-February period was the coldest since weather-keeping records were started in such far-flung locations as Birmingham, Ala.; Key West, Fla.; Kansas City and St. Louis, Mo.; Nashville, Tenn.; Lubbock, Texas; Roanoke, Va., and North Platte, Neb. Weather records have been kept in all areas since at least the turn of the century, the weather service said.

Temperatures this winter have averaged 13 degrees or 11 degrees below normal at Great Falls, Mont., and 24 degrees or 10 degrees below normal at St. Louis. Winter readings have been nine degrees below normal at Evansville, Ind.; and Peoria, Ill.; eight degrees below normal at Springfield, Mo., and Wichita, Kan., and seven degrees below normal at Indianapolis, Dubuque, Iowa, Oklahoma City and Dallas.

On the other side of the Rockies, temperatures were generally a little above average. Salt Lake City where the temperature averaged 38 degrees recorded its warmest winter ever. Temperatures there have been about eight degrees above normal.

Fred Otsby, deputy director of the storm forecast center, said the big difference between this winter and the winter of 1976-77 was temperatures during February.

Mishaps Keep Officers Busy

Police have been kept busy investigating the reported loss of $1,000 and a spate of weather related traffic accidents.

A Snyder man, Jim Gannaway, told officers yesterday that he apparently lost $1,000 in cash somewhere between the downtown Ezell-Key Feed and Seed store and Perry's variety store. The money, kept in a roll, slipped from his pocket between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. Feb. 28, Gannaway told police.

In other reports, four traffic mishaps were investigated this morning.

The first occurred at the intersection of 19th St. and College Ave. about 7:40 a.m. Involved in the mishap were a 1977 Ford driven by Gene Alfred Gallegos and a 1976 Chevrolet driven by Weldon Buchanan.

Extensive damage was reported to each vehicle but no injuries sustained by the occupants.

Moderate damage was reported to two vehicles involved in a wreck at the intersection of 33rd St. and Ave. L today at 8:20 a.m.

According to police reports, a 1967 Chevrolet driven by Mitchell Darrell Smith and a 1974 AMC driven by Arnold Keith Lake were involved in the mishap.

The intersection of 35th St. and Ave. Z was the site of a minor collision involving a 1968 Ford driven by Sandra G. Campbell and a 1973 AMC driven by Jesse Hermosillo. The mishap took place at 9:15 a.m.

At 8:58 a.m. a school bus driven by Travis Hill struck a utility pole at the intersection of Ave. T and the Old Lubbock Highway. The bus was reportedly transportating several youngsters to school at the time, but none was injured. Only minor damages were reported to the bus.

Striking Coal Miners Divided

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Striking miners, angry over proposed increases in medical bills and curbs on wildcat strikes but worried about the sacrifices of their continuing work stoppage, are divided and uncertain over whether to ratify a proposed contract, interviews with more than 100 local union leaders show.

"A majority don't think much of it. But it will be mighty close," said Carl Willey, of Craigsville, W. Va., president of Local 1254 of the United Mine Workers union.

As rank-and-file balloting begins on the tentative settlement of the 88-day coal strike, Willey's words reflect the sentiment of many miners.

In Associated Press telephone interviews with 106 leaders of union locals across the country, 24 said their members would vote for the contract while 35 forecast "no" votes.

But 47 local presidents said Thursday either that it was too early to tell which way this weekend's vote will go or that they did not want to predict the outcome.

The UMW leadership, led by President Arnold Miller, has not yet convinced a majority of the local leaders to back the pact, the interviews found.

Twenty-eight leaders said they personally would vote yes, but 40 said they would vote to reject the pact. Thirty-eight either refused to say or were undecided.

Many union locals held meetings Thursday to discuss the pact and the voting sessions.

the oil and gas industry will be presented posthumously to the late Ike Dolen Jr. by Dalton Walton.

The Upper Colorado River Soil and Water Conservation District awards to the outstanding conservation rancher and farmer, respectively, will be presented to W.T. "Pat" Falls and B.J. Bartels by Carl Williams.

State Rep. Mike Ezzell will receive the Texas Good Roads Transportation Association Award. It will be presented by H.F. Clark.

Paul Sizemore will receive the Gold Coater of the Year Award, which will be presented by Judge Wayland G. Holt.

Some 650 tickets had been sold Thursday evening and tickets were still being sold at the Chamber office this morning. There will be some tickets available at the door tonight also. The banquet meal, featuring Scurry County products, will be served buffet-style and on an "all-you-can-eat basis, which makes it possible to take care of additional people at the last minute. The tickets are priced at $8.50 each.

Two Persons Sentenced

Two men were sentenced Thursday in county court.

Kevin Wayne Henderson of Snyder entered dual guilty pleas to charges of possession of marijuana and to driving while intoxicated.

On the marijuana charge Henderson drew a $200 fine and 90-day jail term, probated for 180 days. The guilty plea to the DWI charge netted him a $100 fine and a 30-day jail term, probated for six months.

Both offenses are reported to have taken place on Feb. 24. He was arrested by officers of the city police department.

A Colorado City man, Homer Joe Beasley, received a $100 fine and a three-day jail term after entering a guilty plea to a DWI charge.

The offense is alleged to have occurred Feb. 3. He, too, had been arrested by city police.

Pothole Plaque Deal Negotiated

NATRONA HEIGHTS, Pa. (AP)-They may not offer as much companionship as dogs or cats, but Charles Wasson thinks pet potholes could be as much fun as pet rocks.

The 27-year-old student teacher has developed a pothole plaque made of the same frail asphalt that cracks and breaks under the freeze and thaw of southwestern Pennsylvania winters.

It's complete with a pothole and a plate identifying it as a genuine imitation of those found on area highways.

Wasson, a student at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, said he has lined up a few customers for the $3.50 plaques and is negotiating with distributors for bigger orders.

Target customers, he said, are people who want to send their legislators a message about poor highway conditions.

18 Co-Workers Wounded

Worker Ends Silence With Volley Of Shots

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) - Two weeks of silence and brooding by a young factory laborer erupted in a barrage of shotgun blasts that wounded 18 co-workers, including his stepfather, as they scrambled for cover in a crowded lunchroom, police say.

Leslie Bernard Torrey, 21, was arrested Thursday in a parking lot outside the factory after he walked up to police and said, "I'm the man you want," according to Jackson Police Capt. Calvin Watson.

Moments before, a man carrying a shotgun had walked into the lunchroom at the Pittsburgh Forgings Co., which manufactures forgings for auto and related industries, and fired a volley of shots.

Two of the victims - Jerry Pelham, 47, of Cement City and Oliver Strine, 59, of Jackson - were in serious condition at Jackson Foote Hospital.

Sixteen others, including Torrey's 52-year-old stepfather, Ernest Baynes, were treated for minor wounds and released.

Torrey, who had worked at the plant for almost a year, stood motionless Thursday afternoon as 13th District Court Judge Robert Crary set bond at $35,000 on a single charge of assault with intent to commit murder. Torrey was held at Jackson County Jail and ordered to appear for a preliminary hearing March 13.

Wearing gray pants, heavy work boots and a nylon windbreaker, the tall, slender Torrey's only words were to his wife, Ivy.

"Don't say anything to them," he ordered when she was surrounded by reporters in the tiny courtroom.

Torrey refused advice from friends to hide his face from photographers. "Why? I did it," he told them.

The judge said bail was set relatively high "for the safety of the community" and because of threats against Torrey's life.

Police were puzzled by the attack. "We just have not come up with a motive," said Detective Michael Rand.

Members of Torrey's family said he was a high school track star and the father of two young daughters, but suggested he had "things on his mind." They declined to elaborate.

Co-workers said Torrey had been unusually quiet for the past two weeks but had given no indication of what was bothering him. They said he left at lunchtime, returned shortly before the break was to end and began firing at cars in the parking lot.

He then turned his weapon on the workers, first firing through a plate-glass window into the two-story building, they said.

Park Is Giving Sordid Details

WASHINGTON (AP) - Tongsun Park is reportedly giving the House ethics committee what two members call seamy, odious and ugly details on using commissions from U.S. rice deals in an alleged attempt to buy congressional influence for South Korea.

"We covered the most odious episode in the story today," Rep. Bruce Caputo, R-N.Y., said after Wednesday's closed-door questioning of Park.

"It was a conspiracy of American businessmen, congressmen and Koreans to make blatantly improper payments over a sustained period of time with U.S. taxpayers' money," Caputo said.

"The details are revolting," he said.

Rep. Millicent Fenwick, R-N.J., said, "the whole thing is ugly."

Reps. Fenwick and Caputo refused under committee secrecy rules to reveal any of Park's testimony but said he gave new details on payments that already have been disclosed.

Witnesses at the committee's public hearings in October said Park got more than $9 million in rice commissions as South Korea's only U.S. rice buyer and used some of that money to try to buy influence in Congress.

Park denies the influence-buying charge and says he contributed to more than two dozen congressmen because they were his friends and because he hoped to further his rice business.

Former Rep. Richard P. Hanna, D-Calif., goes on trial next month on charges of helping convince the South Korean government to make Park his rice dealer and of conspiring with Park to try to buy influence in Congress.

Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're very clever today in manuevering around obstacles. You should gain what you set your sights on whether pals cooperate or not.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It may be necessary to revise your plans in order to accommodate conditions today. Minor changes won't spoil anything.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) That which is essential for your own needs you'll manage with exceptional skill today. You're also very adroit at masterminding things for others.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Companions may look for outs today in order to dodge a tough issue. What intimidates them won't scare you a bit.

LEO (July 23-Aug.22) A way to save yourself time and steps today is to put your ingenuity to work. You have the knack for coming up with unique twists or better methods.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept.22) A change of routine will be helpful today in refreshing your entire outlook. Let impromptu happenings dictate your course.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct.23) The concerns of those whom you are responsible for should take precedence over all your other interests today. First provide, then satisfy self.

SCORPIO (Oct.24-Nov.22) Because you're desirous that others have a good time today it will greatly enhance your own fun. You have more than enough sunshine to spread around.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov.23-Dec.21) When it comes to hard-nose horsetrading you're in your element today. Outside of commercial areas your judgment is less dependable.

CAPRICORN (Dec.22-Jan.19) Select companions with care today. Detractors will not differentiate between their actions and yours. One brush will smear you both.

AQUARIUS (Jan.20-Feb.19) Leave the door ajar today so that it's possible for those who want to do you favors to do so. Something beneficial could result.

SNYDER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Supplement To The Snyder Daily News

A Word Of Appreciation

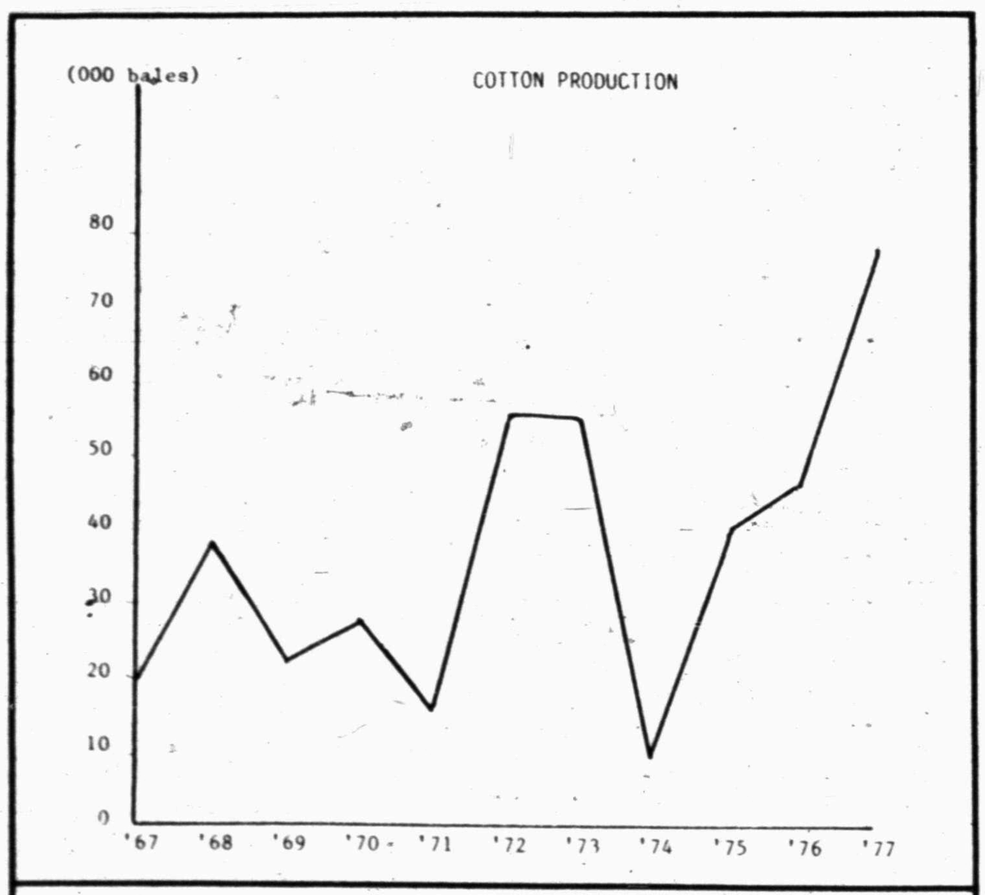

The 1978 Snyder Chamber of Commerce Annual Meeting and Banquet is dedicated to the independent, hard-working group of Americans we call farmers and ranchers. The ranks may have been thinned since the beginning of this century, but their productivity is at its highest ebb.

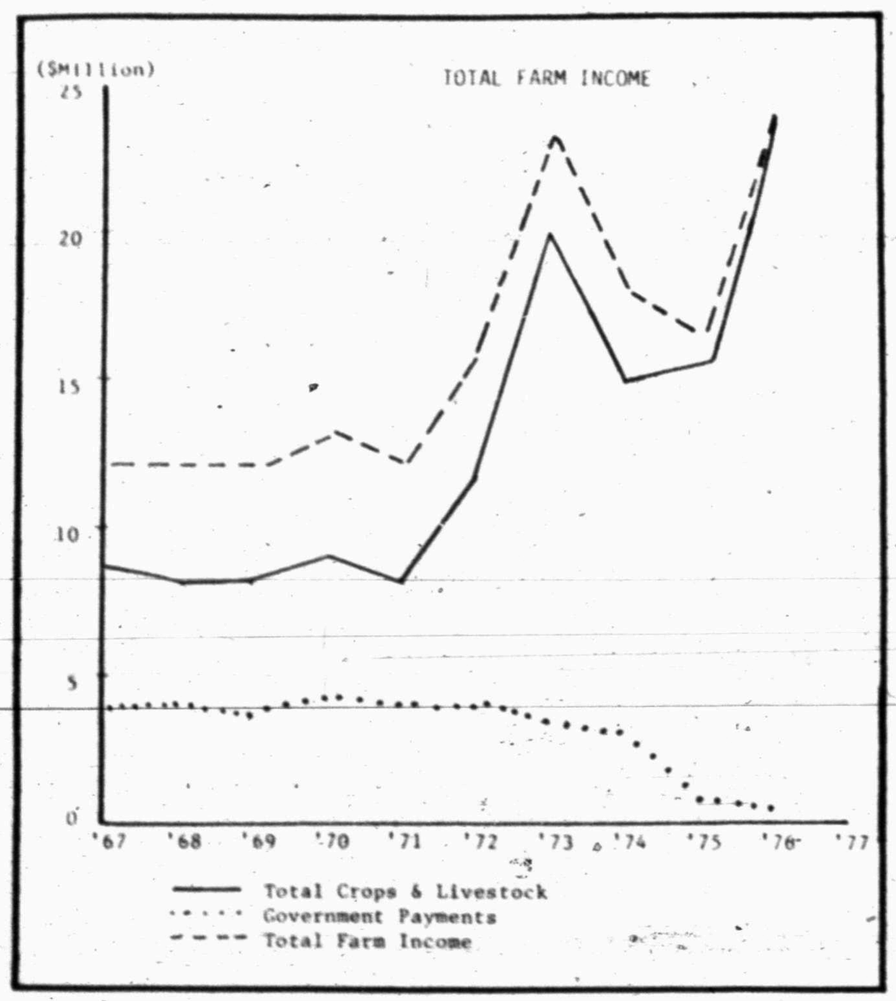

They face extraordinary odds but their spirit never dies. They have battled insects and weather and were victorious. They have provided us the finest quality merchandise at the lowest price in the world.

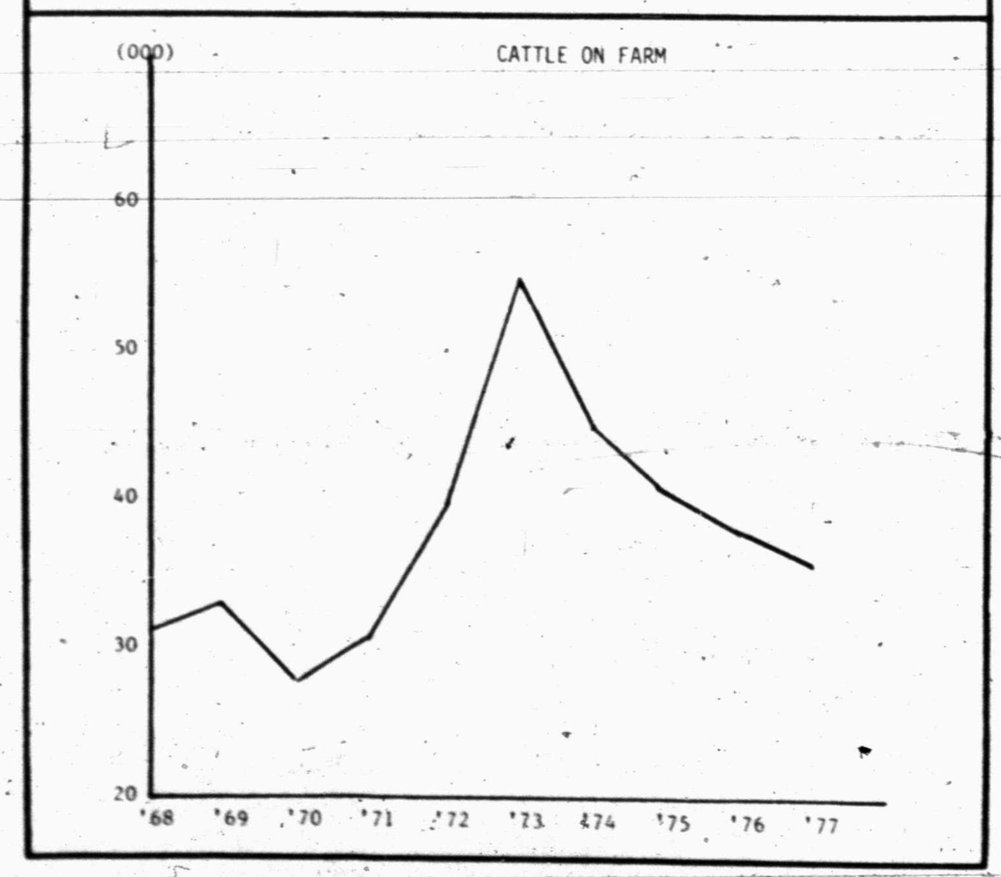

They are now, however, facing a monstrous foe which no one has ever defeated -- our government. Will the farmer-rancher still remain victorious and provide more than 90 per cent of the world's supply of food and fiber?

This banquet is being held to say both, "I hope so" and "thank you" for the unselfish, dedicated and productive agri-businessman. The food you are now eating has, for the most part, been raised in the 900-square-mile area we call Scurry County or home.

We hope you enjoy the evening and that our families are able to enjoy evenings such as these in the future.

Winston Memorial Award

Carl Williams

Carl Williams, secretary of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District board of directors and 1977 president of the Scurry County Production Association was selected as the recipient of the Winston Memorial Award for outstanding contributions to Agri-Business during 1977.

Williams who farms and ranches in the Camp Springs area is a graduate of Texas Tech University, with B.S. and M.S. degrees in animal science. Prior to returning to Scurry County in 1961 to become a full time farmer and rancher he served as professor of animal science at the University of Mississippi.

Williams has taught courses in the agriculture department at Western Texas College and is always willing to present programs to agriculture classes at the college.

He is a member of the board of directors of the Snyder Co-op Gin, is active in the Scurry County 4-H Clubs livestock program and carried out a cotton variety demonstrations through the Agricultural Extension Service. Williams is also an active member of the Professional Farmers of America, Texas Farmers Union and the Top Farmers of America.

As a member of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Directors, Williams was instrumental in securing a planning recommendation from the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation board, for the Deep Creek Watershed Project.

During the past year he has put in countless hours to assure the continuous success of the diapause boll weevil control program.

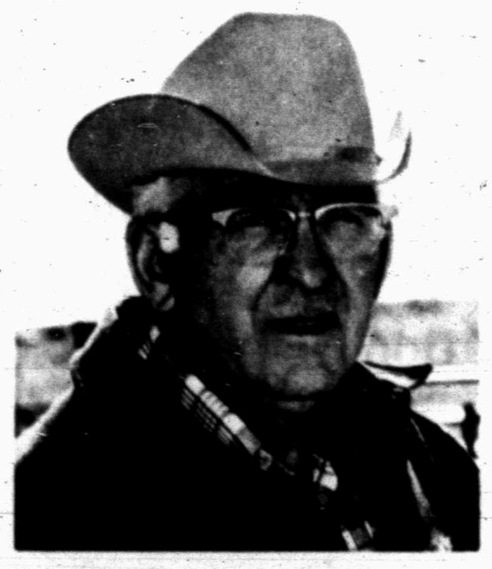

Carl married Nona Hudnall in 1954 and the Williams have four daughters, Connie Collier, Snyder; Annette, a business administration major at the University of Texas; Shari, a junior at Snyder High School, and Melissa, a student at Northeast Elementary school.

The Williams are active members of the Colonial Hill Baptist Church where Carl serves on several church committees and teaches a Sunday School class.

He is the son of Laura Mae Williams and the late Grady Williams of Camps Springs.

Conservation Rancher

W.T. "Pat" Falls

W.T. "Pat" Falls who ranches west of Snyder was selected as the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation Districts Conservation Rancher for 1977.

Falls who retired from the Snyder Independent School District in 1975 as assistant superintendent after more than 36 years in various positions in the Snyder and Ira Independent School Districts, is an excellent conservationist.

Falls entered into a Great Plains Conservation Program contract with the Soil Conservation Service when he purchased the 417 acre grassland operation in 1972.

Over the years, this modest ranching operation has received excellent conservation treatment. The cropland has been terraced and Falls protects the soil with cropping systems that minimize wind and water erosion.

Brush has been controlled and re-seeding carried out on the range land. With management practices carried out by Falls, range conditions have been improved and this is continuing its upward trend.

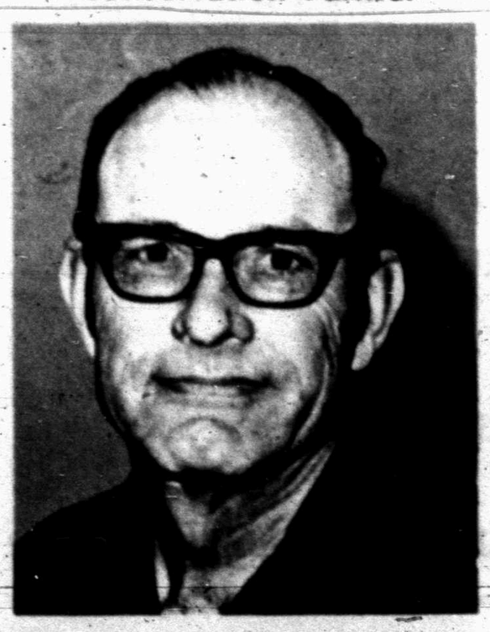

One of the significant factors in the management of his operations is that the rangeland receives a period deferment during the growing season. During the spring and summer months his livestock graze forage sorghum. Small grain is used to provide supplemental winter grazing.

"Pat" married Lee Hays in 1938 and the couple have three children, Walter Thom Falls, a banker in Kansas City; Lady Brown, an associate professor of English at Texas Tech University; and Dana Mattingly whose husband is a medical doctor in Austin.

Pat and Lee are members of the First United Methodist Church and have served their community and county well in many capacities during the past 40 years.

Conservation Farmer

B.J. Bartels

B.J. Bartels, who farms east of Snyder, was selected as the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation Districts Conservation Farmer for 1977.

Bartels a native of Holland, Texas graduated from the University of Texas in 1940 with a degree in mechanical engineering. After spending six years as an engineer for Westinghouse in Pittsburg, he decided that with his love for the soil "city life" wasn't for him and the Bartel family returned to Texas and a Borden County farm.

The Bartell family purchased their 348 acre family farm east of Snyder in 1951. Bartels became a cooperator with the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District, and entered into a Great Plains Conservation Program contract with the Soil Conservation Service in 1972, with the idea of improving his farm and increasing its productivity. He is increasing the water-storage ability of his soils by constructing parallel terraces; and is controlling erosion from outside water by constructing a water way.

Bartels has also improved the productivity of the sandy soils on his farm by the addition of chicken manure and maintaining a good balance of soil improving crops in rotation with cotton. The pond, surrounding wildlife habitat area, and waste grain which remain in his fields after harvesting grain sorghum provides a winter haven for ducks and Sandhill Crane.

B.J. married Lois Wissinger, a Pittsburg banker's daughter in 1943. The Bartels have four children -- Roy Bartels owner of S & M Music Company of Abilene; Cynthia Sharp of Snyder; Erika Drinnen of Houston; and Lothar Bartels a Snyder farmer.

Active in county and community affairs, B.J. serves as Scurry County Republican chairman and was active as a Boy Scout leader for more than 20 years. The Bartels are active members of the First United Methodist Church, where B. J. sings in the choir and Lois serves as president of the United Methodist Womens organization.

William Vestal Award

H.W. Cargile

The William A. Vestal Award for community service will be presented at the chamber banquet tonight to Hubert W. Cargile, who has been closely identified with the progress of Snyder for more than a quarter of a century.

The award was established last year by the City of Snyder in memory of the late William A. Vestal, who was serving as mayor when he died in October of 1976.

Cargile, chairman of the board and former president of West Texas State Bank, has been especially active in the chamber. He served the organization as its president in 1954 and subsequently saw his son, Joe, serve as chamber president before he moved to another city.

Although he has officially retired as President of West Texas State Bank, Cargile, as chairman of the board, still maintains an office in the bank building and he still contributes considerable time to civic organizations. He is president of the Scurry County Fair Association, and serves as treasurer of the Snyder Little League. He is memorials chairman of the local unit of the American Cancer Society, and is on the board of directors of the noon Kiwanis Club and has served on the boards of the Scurry County Industrial Foundation and the Scurry County United Way.

Cargile is a charter member and charter deacon of Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

He grew up in Tioga and graduated from high school at Whitesboro. After taking an accounting course in Dallas, he worked for a small bank at Tioga and later became bookkeeper at First National Bank in McAlester, Okla. He accepted the position of head of the accounting department of First National Bank in Henderson in 1931 and moved to Snyder in 1949 to help open West Texas State Bank. He was named executive vice president and then became president of the bank here in 1960 and chairman of the board in 1974.

He is married to the former Mary Eva Isbell and they have a daughter, Mrs. Jenny Hicks of Abilene, and a son, Joe, of Crosbyton.

McLaughlin Memorial Award

Ike Dolen Jr.

The McLaughlin Memorial Award will be presented posthumously tonight to Ike Dolen Jr.

The award is given each year to an individual who has made outstanding contributions to the oil and gas industry.

The recipient, Ike Dolen, died at Cogdell Memorial Hospital in Snyder Feb. 24. He was active in the oil and gas industry until his untimely death at the age of 51.

An aeronautical engineering major, Dolen graduated in 1949 from the University of Texas. He had also attended North Texas Agriculture College in Arlington. His college was interrupted by a tour in the U.S. Air Force and he was in pilot training when the Armistice was signed to end World War II.

Following his graduation from the University of Texas, he entered the oil field construction business with his father in Kilgore. The firm, Universal Construction Co., was moved to the Snyder fields in early 1949. The firm was sold in January, 1976 and is now known as Universal-Pool.

Since that time he has been engaged in oilfield leasing and drilling, oil production and ranching. He maintained an office on the Lamesa Highway.

Last year he served as chairman of the chamber of commerce banquet that honored C.T. and Claire McLaughlin for whom the McLaughlin Memorial Award was established.

Dolen served as a member of the board of directors of Snyder National Bank. He also was a chamber supporter and was a major sustaining member of the Buffalo Trail Boy Scout Council.

He recently donated furnishings for a suite for the new Cogdell Memorial Hospital addition. He has also contributed to the hospital auxiliary student doctors fund.

He also was a member of the American Petroleum Institute and the American Institute of Petroleum Engineers. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Snyder.

Dolen has four daughters and one granddaughter. They are Karen Jo Marcea, a teacher in St. Mary's Idaho; Anita Ann Dolen of Durango, Colo.; Jerrie Lynn Smith, a student at the University of Houston; and Molly'O Huffer of Denver, Colo.; and the granddaughter, Shannon Andre'a Huffer of Denver.

Meritorious Service Award

Rep. Mike Ezzell

The 65th Texas Legislature will long be remembered for acting decisively to prevent further deterioration of the state highway system. The Legislature authorized the first increase in highway funds in more than 22 years. These funds will be used to rehabilitate neglected and winter-damaged roads, upgrade obsolete roads and bridges, and to build new facilities needed to provide safe, economical, and convenient transportation for people of Texas.

In recognition of their leadership in the passage of this vital legislation, the Texas Good Roads-Transportation Association is proud to present its Meritorious Service award to State Representative Mike Ezzell.

Rep. Ezzell is currently serving his second term as elected representatived of the 63rd district which includes Scurry County. He has announced his intentions to seek re-election.

Ezzell has been a resident of Snyder for 11 years. He moved to Snyder as a teacher in the public schools. When he resigned to run for state legislature, he was a public school counselor.

Ezzell graduated from Calhoun High School in Port Lavaca in 1962. He received his bachelor's degree from Abilene Christian University in 1966 and his masters from ACU in 1969.

Incoming President's Address

John Cameron
Chamber President

What does 1978 have in store for Snyder and Scurry County? What input and involvement can the Snyder Chamber of Commerce have in 1978? What part can I, the Board of Directors, the staff and the members play in improving the quality of life and economic development of the community this year?

These are a few of the questions I have asked myself in assuming the presidency of this organization. The questions come easy. It's the answers which are hard to discern.

The past year was a great one for all of us culminating with the successful recruitment of Northern Electric Company and its expected 500 new jobs for the area. Building permits, bank deposits, sales tax rebates, etc., set new all-time marks. The housing, recreational, commercial and educational sectors of our community were all enhanced to improve Snyder's "livability". 1977 was a year in which we should all be proud and thankful of our community's leadership and citizenry for enabling it to happen.

HARD TO IMPROVE

While difficult, we will strive to improve on all areas in 1978. Housing construction must continue as must industrial and commercial expansion. The "victories" scored in 1977 must be utilized in promoting continued growth to ease the burden of declining oil production.

We all in some measure realize the part oil plays in our economic condition is on a downward trend, though still sizeable on a statewide basis. Oil production in the county has been declining since 1974, and a continued gradual decline must be expected. While this decline will have very little effect on activity and employment in the oil fields for years to come, we must face the fact of decreasing reliance on the oil industry as a source of income, employment and taxes.

Past community leaders and citizens have shown their enlightenment by considering the future. The establishment of the Board of County Development and its appropriated funds earmarked for the promotion of economic development was exceedingly important. These funds will allow us to recruit additional payrolls, people and taxes to secure Snyder and Scurry County's future after oil production becomes a secondary income source.

CONTINUATION

These economic development efforts must continue. We are standing on the brink of a new era for Snyder. Our efforts over the next five years will determine what type community we will have in the 21st century. During this time frame, we will form a community which is vibrant, alive, economically self-supporting and growing or we will become a stagnant and dead city with bankrupt business enterprises, shrinking population and unemployed citizens.

Through the Chamber, governmental entities and progress-minded citizens, we will strive for continued growth in all sectors. We will dedicate ourselves to the successful marriage of economic expansion and quality of life improvement. We will try to guarantee a future by providing jobs, housing, merchandise and recreation for our citizens.

NO EASY TASK

It will not be easy. Our oil was a God-given resource and has played a vital role in enabling Snyder to achieve what it has to date. Industrial or economic development is something which must be sought and promoted. It takes money and manpower.

Promoting new jobs is a very competitive business. As in any marketing situation, we have to sell our product--our community--better than anyone else sells theirs.

FREE ENTERPRISE

We will also strive during 1978 to promote our Free Enterprise System, which has brought us the highest standard living of any country the world has ever known. We will fight for less governmental control of all business. We will fight for a return of the "supply and demand" theory to the marketplace. We will fight for a lower unemployment rate through the enhancement of private sector employment. We will fight for better and more worthwhile education for our young people.

AGRICULTURE

We must also help our farmers and ranchers in their quest to make a living. Agriculture, as indicated by this banquet, is a very important aspect of our community well being. If our farmers and ranchers cannot make a living producing food and fiber for this country, we are all in trouble. We must strive, through the free market system and without government control, for a means to enable our farmers and ranchers to earn a living.

YOUR INPUT

No one person or selective group of people can do all the things which are needed. The Chamber of Commerce is an institution set up by you, the members, to make Snyder and Scurry County a better place to live and work.

The board and staff are dedicated to make Snyder a better and stronger community in the future. We will work diligently in these efforts. But we want your help. You pay the bills and should expect results. We can't accomplish these results without your help and guidance.
Sincerely,

JOHN CAMERON

Outgoing President's Address

Dear Investors:

Thank you for letting me serve as president of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce during 1977. No year since the "boom" has provided Snyder and Scurry County with as much growth and economic betterment than did 1977. While I feel fortunate to have presided, it has been your dedicated support and demands for a greater community which have made it happen.

Through this Annual Report, I would like to highlight some of the more dramatic and beneficial developments brought about in Snyder and Scurry County by your support and dedication during 1977.

Using the Goals for Snyder survey for direction, your Chamber's first Program of Work was established in 1977. Key areas of need were found to be in housing, commercial establishments, recreational outlets and jobs. Those needs were studied and action taken.

JOBS

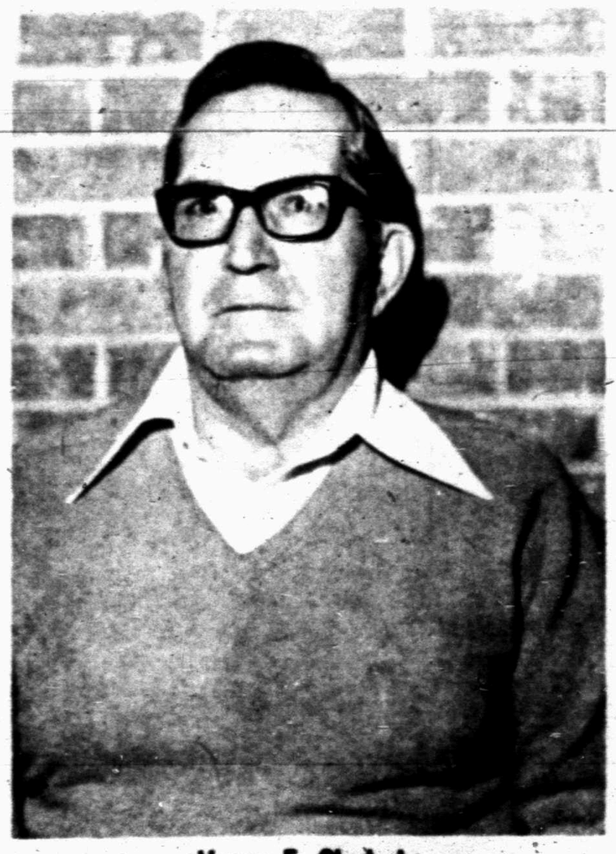

My personal challenge going into 1977 was to provide additional job opportunities through the sale or lease of the Wickes Building. Northern Electric Company, a subsidiary of Sunbeam, announced its decision to occupy the building on January, 1978. It will initially employ 150 and expand to over 500 by 1980, providing more than $30 million annually to our economy.

The company owes a trememdous "thanks" to the Scurry County Industrial Foundation and Board of County Development for their dedication to the expansion of job opportunities in Snyder. Industrial development efforts have not and will not cease with Northern's occupancy, but bring added involvement and dedication to continued job expansion because of the "victory."

HOUSING

Long a detriment to our community's industrial and commercial growth, housing availability has been and will be greatly enhanced. Over 400 single and multi-family units are now planned or under construction in Snyder in every price range.

The cost of this construction has been tabbed at $6 million. Besides the construction jobs and commercial activity provided, it greatly increases our ability to recruit new industry while satisfying labor demands on present employers wishing to shore up or expand operations here.

Henry F. Clark Jr.
Past President

RECREATION

A thriving community needs a place for its citizens to work, live and play. The "play" part has been lacking but revitilized by the opening of Western Texas College Golf Course and the proposed construction of additional tennis facilities by the school district, city and county.

The WTC Course, operated as a municipal entity, has had more play than ever anticipated by college and county officials. Plans are now underway to expand the nine-hole facility to 18. The tennis project, recommended by the Chamber Board, did not see fruition in 1977 but should in 1978.

COMMERCIAL

Varsity Square Shopping Center was tantamount in 1977. Its mammoth new Safeway, TG&Y and Eckerd Drug Stores along with 12 other new or relocated establishments has shown the faith others have in the present and future economy of Snyder.

The faith we have in ourselves is in part evidenved by the expansion of West Texas State Bank, the First Baptist Church, Spanish Inn, Snyder Athletic Center and many others. In all, nearly $8 million was spent building in Snyder during 1977 compared to last year's record of $5.5 million. Building permits for the past two years are more than the previous six combined.

With the $4 million addition planned at the hospital, expansions planned at Northern, and housing construction during 1978, permits could well surpass $10 million in 1978.

DIAPAUSE

Result of the initial Diapause Spray Program were astonishing. It was estimated by agricultural officials the program provided more than $2 million directly to the cotton producers of Scurry County the first year. The 1977 cotton crop, made after the second year of application, was the greatest in the history of Scurry County. The record of 52,000 bales in 1972 was surpassed by more than 40 per cent in 1977 with the production of nearly 90,000 bales.

TOURISM CONVENTION

With the second hosting of the American Junior Rodeo Association National Finals, the Airstream Rally, ten schoolboy playoff games, the expanded Canyon Reef Basketball Tournament, Anxiety 4th Celebration, tourism dollars brought to Snyder in 1977 were unmatched by any previous year.

OTHER

The following is a partial list of other things accomplished through your support of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce:

-Scurry County Fair
-Annual Banquet
-Tax Seminar
-Customer Development Seminar
-Santa Bucks Christmas Promotion
-Christmas Music on the Square
-Aviation Seminar
-Traffic Study at 26th and College Avenue
-Amtrak Resolution
-Port-to-Plains Highway through Snyder

-Weekly radio program "Dateline Snyder"
-Deep Creek Dam Project passed
-"Economics for Young Americans" kits presented to area schools
-Worked to bring Texas Cowboy Artists Association Museum to Snyder
-Presented "Making Things Happen" to service and civic clubs
-Took firm stand concerning the Texas Air Control Board legislation
-Gold Coater organization increased to fifty members
-Hosted Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce
-Greeted Exchange Students
-Conducted Labor Survey
-Honored local industry during "Texas Industrial Week"

CLEARINGHOUSE

Possibly the most important and least publicized part of the Chamber operation is in its role as serving as the area's Front Door and Information Clearinghouse. In a log kept during February, it was determined an average of 23 people visited and 42 called daily to seek information about Snyder and Scurry County. The Chamber's prowess in making these people "feel welcome" has an indelible effect and plays an important part in the growth we have seen.

1978 AND BEYOND

The future of our area is indeed bright. With your continued support, both monetarily and personally, we will continue to see the enhancement of Snyder's quality of life. We cannot become complacent over the results seen, but use these victories as a springboard toward even greater successes and accomplishments.

If the present thrust of progress is curtailed by a lack of action or dedication, we will never again by given the opportunity to see these advantages we now have over our competitors.

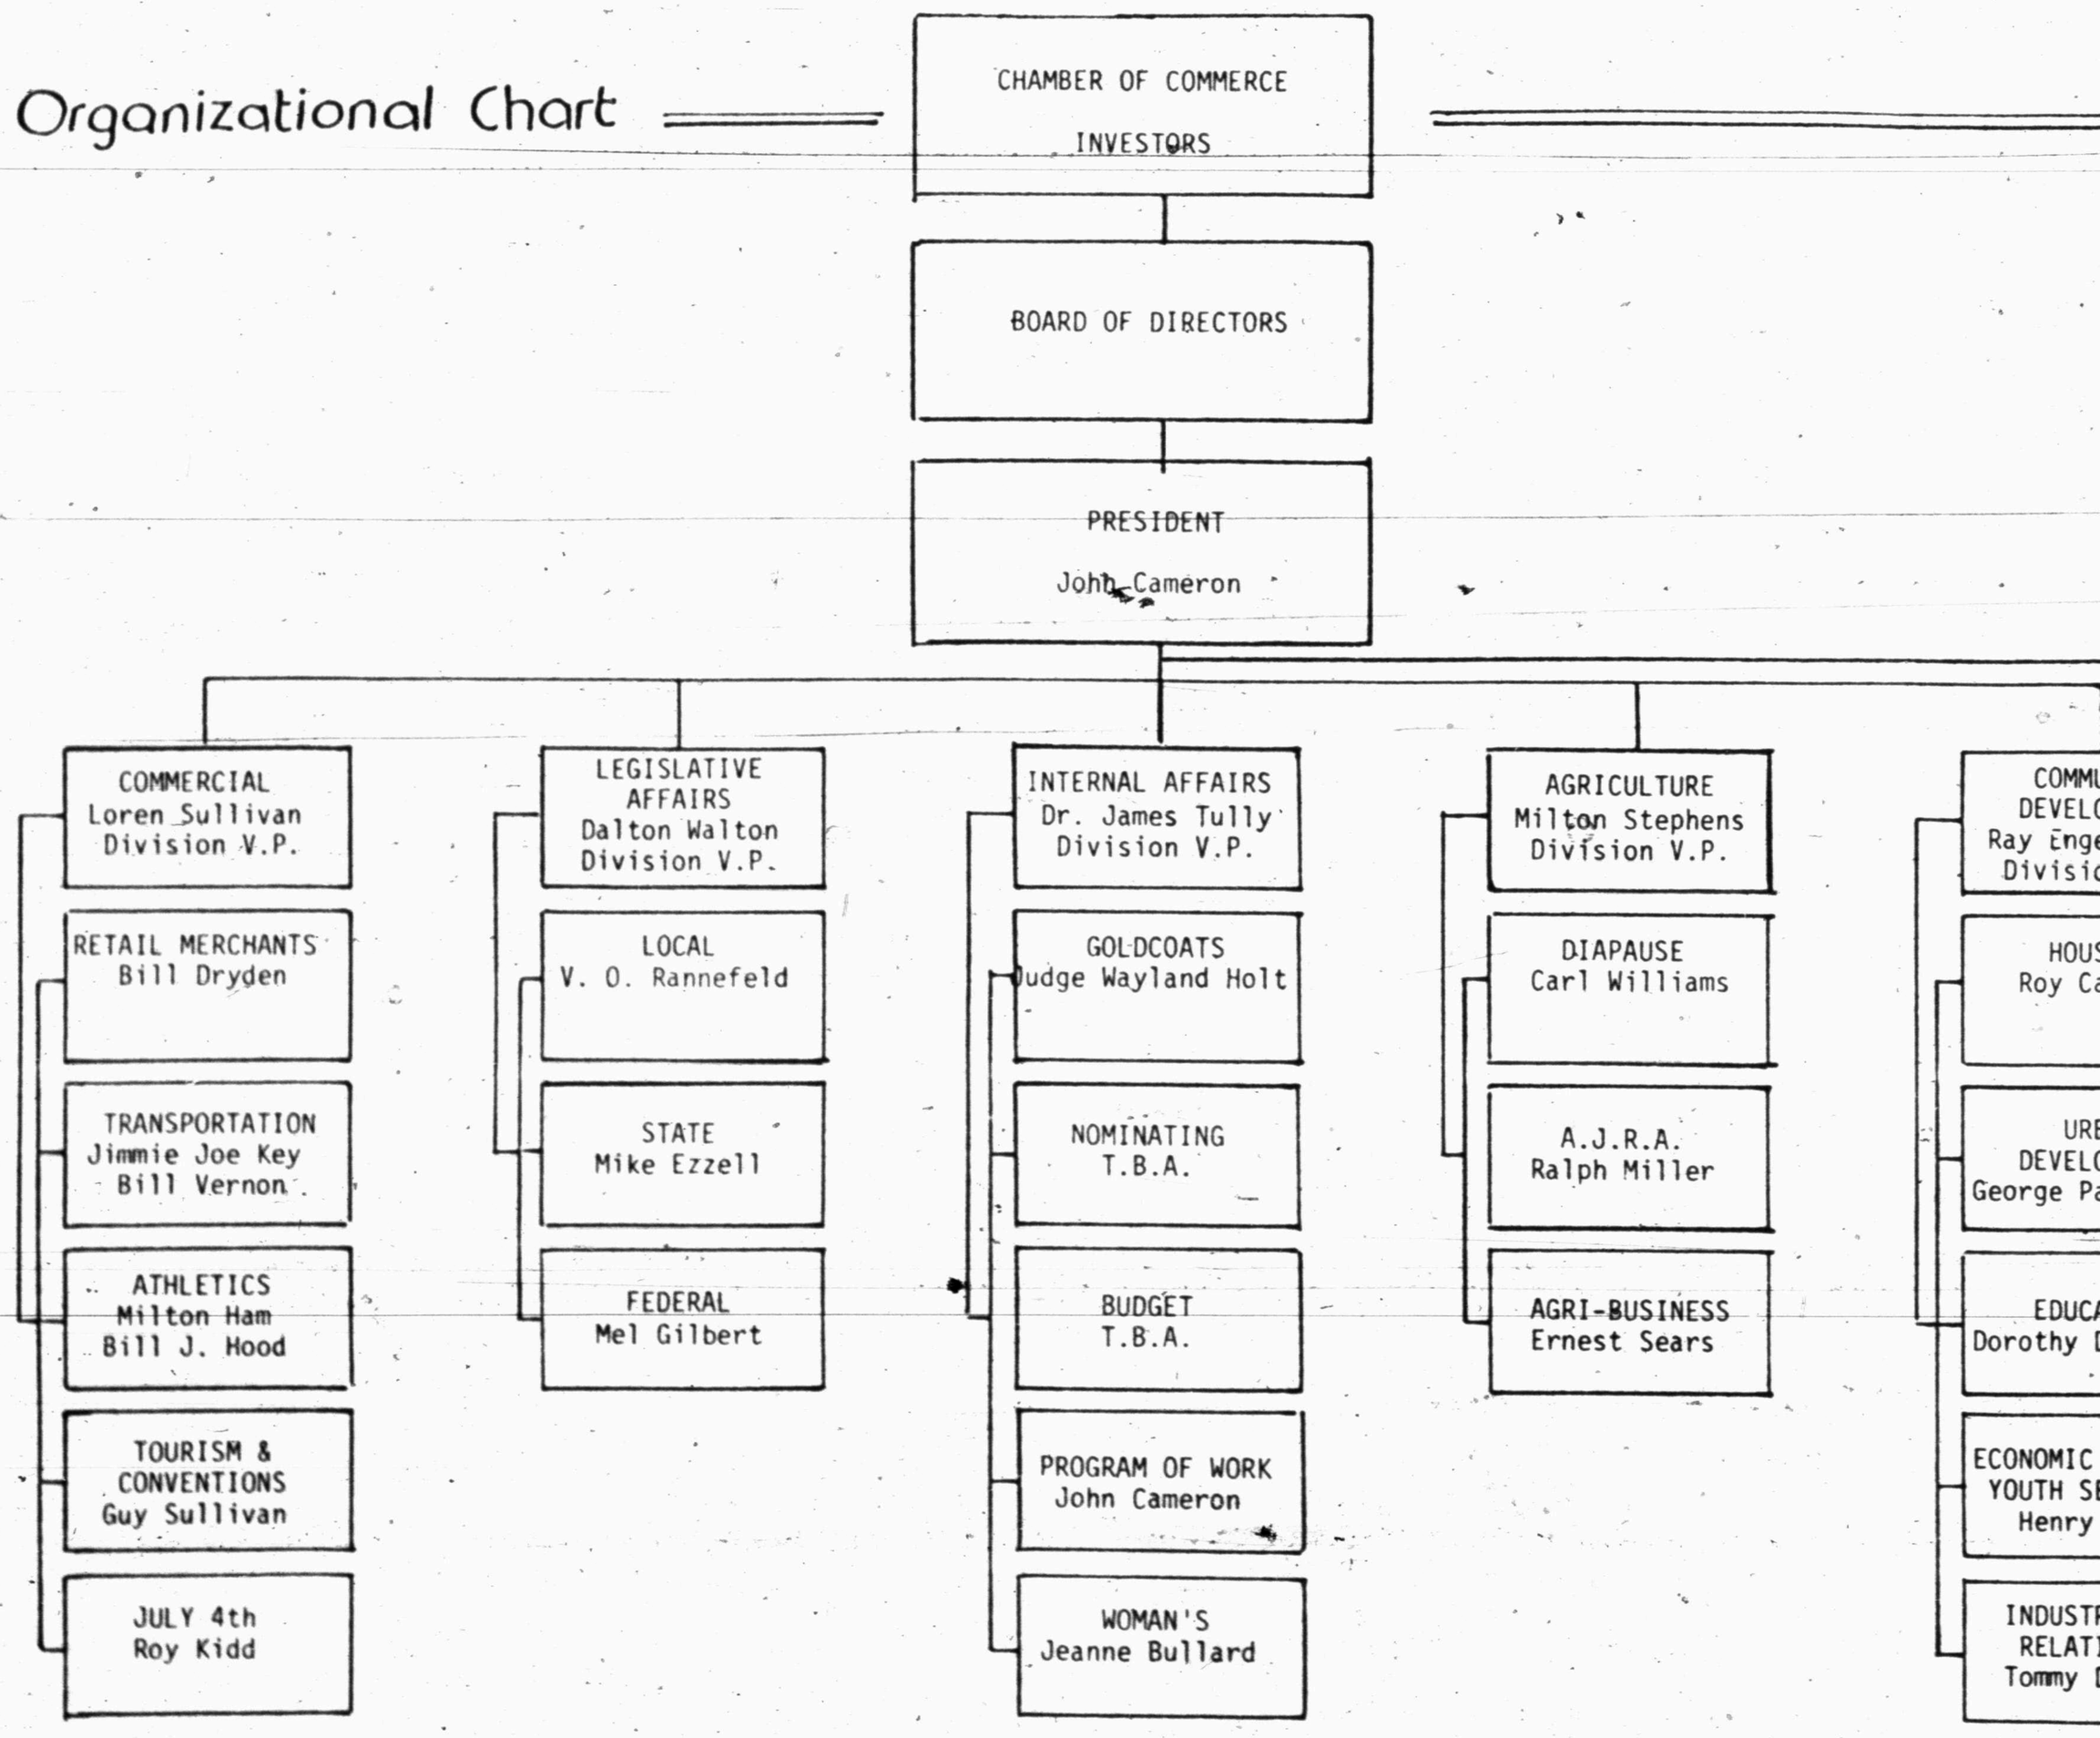

I appreciate the support you have given me and the Snyder Chamber of Commerce and promise the continuation of the effective and efficent leadership of the Chamber through your new president, John Cameron. I know he, through the board of directors, will dedicate themselves to the betterment of Snyder and Scurry County.

Yours for a better Snyder, I remain

Gold Coater Of The Year

Paul Sizemore

Paul Sizemore, a veteran workhorse in Snyder civic involvement, is recipient of the first annual Gold Coater of the Year award.

The award will be presented each year to the member of the Gold Coat organization who has accumulated the most points based on community service.

The Gold Coaters is a 50-member organization that serves as the goodwill ambassadors of the chamber of commerce. The group works in a variety of activities from greeting visitors to Snyder to a ribbon cutting ceremony for a new business.

Sizemore is a familar face in community volunteer circles. In 1972 he served as president of the Snyder chamber of commerce. He just recently was elected to serve as president of the Scurry County Industrial Foundation.

He has worked on virtually all committees of the chamber and has given his time and financial support to many other community organizations. He has helped in membership drives and on various projects throughout the past year.

However, Sizemore is no "Johnny-come-lately" in chamber work. He was one of the most active workers in projects that led to Snyder being designated an "All America City" in 1969 and was one of the local delegation that made Snyder's presentation before the All America City jury in New Orleans.

Your Chamber Of Commerce

Chamber Facts

The Snyder Chamber of Commerce is organized for the purpose of advancing the economic, commercial, professional, cultural and civic welfare of Snyder-Scurry County.

To encourage the growth and to protect the interests of existing industries and businesses while giving assistance to any new firms or individuals seeking to locate in the county.

WHAT IS IT?

A voluntary organization of business, industrial and professional PEOPLE, united together to totally develop and improve the community. Any community worth living in is worth improving ...

WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE?

To improve the civic, cultural, recreational, educational and economic climate of the total community ...

WHY SHOULD I BELONG TO THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE?

Because this is your individual opportunity to collectively join together on a common ground to discuss, plan and develop the future of YOUR community.

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST?

As much of YOUR TIME as YOU are willing to volunteer. Financially, just a token investment of dues annually, to totally develop our Program of Work. Your investment will be based on your type of business, industry or profession ...

WHAT HAS THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DONE FOR ME?

It has helped make Scurry County a bigger and better place to live, work and relax.

HOW MANY MEMBERS BELONG TO THE SNYDER CHAMBER?

Approximately 500 persons, representing all types of business, industry, professions, educators, organizations, clergy, government and individuals.

WILL I ATTEND MEETINGS?

This is entirely up to you ... if you choose to become active on a committee, or task force you should be available whenever the committee meets. Standing committees meet roughly once per month ... special project committees and task forces meet as many times as needed to complete the plans for their project.
