Washington, D. C.—One of the strangest lobbies appeared in Washington this week. The representatives of this lobby have periodically visited the Capitol for the past several years.

They are a group of Amish bishops and ministers who ask help from Congressmen to be freed from Federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance and Social Security.

The Amish, a group of the Mennonite religious faith are opposed to participation in the program because of their beliefs. In their habits and mode of conduct they remain much as they were in the 17th Century.

It is a paradox that two hours of driving from the hustle and bustle of the Nation's Capitol will bring one to greet communities of hese people. Along the roads leading through the area where they live are signs posted "Slow—Watch for Horse-drawn Vehicles."

When an agent of the FBI before the war, it was my privilege to know some of these folks in Indiana and Ohio. Visiting them, the first thing noticed were the

Corner on Cotton

BY BOB COLLINS

As little understood as any function in the cotton industry is the role of the cotton merchant . . . yet without him the industry would be in about the same predicament as if all gins closed down . . . after all, there is nothing so useless as a bale of cotton until it reaches the manufacturer . . . without the merchant (often known as a shipper) the cotton would have an almost impossible trip . . . here's what the merchant does—or at least part of what he does—he buys cotton of all kinds and assembles the different kinds into even running lots for sale to spinners . . . since his livelihood depends upon cotton markets, he seeks and developes new markets . . . and he has taken American cotton to markets all over the world . . . since the merchant does business on a "year-round" basis the farmer has a market when he wants and needs it . . . also the merchant offers the spinner a constant source of supply . . . and he guarantees that the spinner will receive the cotton he wants . . . and guarantees quality, weight and delivery . . . and the merchant, or shipper, not only pursues markets but by his services encourages the spinners to use cotton in preference to other fibers . . . for all of this the merchant makes a profit of about one per cent.

Study Group

Committee made up of members from seven major cotton exporting countries will present its recommendations for averting a cotton price war to the Cotton Exporting Countries' Study Group within next two or three months . . . the study group is made up of members from 12 nations.

Weevils

A boll weevil lays an average of about 81 eggs . . . but sometimes she may lay 450 . . . she only needs to be five days old to start laying . . . incidentally there are more male weevils than female . . . just thought you would like to know!!

Orders Up

Cotton mills had more firm orders on June 1 than at any time since early 1951 . . . also the spinners were getting higher prices . . . "mill margin" was at highest point since late 1956.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M. D. Commissioner of Health

Summertime is barefoot time! Think back Mom and Dad to the summers when you dragged your feet through the dust, let mud ooze up between your toes, or if you were a city dweller, maybe you splashed in the gutters after a light rain.

But along with this great childhood pleasure of going barefoot goes a danger of possibly contracting tetanus—but not necessarily!

Lockjaw, or tetanus, cases jump in summertime because exposure in the form of cuts, or puncture wonds are more frequent in warm weather when people are out-of-doors.

The germs of lockjaw are commonly found in soil—especially manured soil. They enter through a break in the skin and emit a deadly toxin which cause jaw and neck muscels to constrict so severely that jaws involuntarily close, vise-like.

Slowly the muscle constriction spreads to other body muscles until the victim is bent like a bow.

Lockjaw germs are spore- formers, which means they can live for years outside an animal body. Its life processes lie dormant in a tiny seed-like pod, siffing about on the ground until finally perhaps thru a nail puncture it gets back into live tissue.

The wound may heal over, but inside, protected as it is from the air, the spore may begin "revegetating" and emitting deadly toxin.

The primary source of the grems is the intestinal tract of all animals. They're passed onto the ground in animal dejects, easily available for re-entry into a human body when that body is cut or scratched or otherwise wounded.

Exposure to lockjaw are so common that it is mere common sense for everyone to maintain a high level of protection via immunization. Such shots should be given children early in life, at the discretion of your family physician, and then maintain immunity with periodic boosters, especially following exposure.

Law Changes In Hauling Of Grain

Several laws that will effect the hauling of small grains away from the farm were called to the attention of farmers and truckers today by Captain C. W. Bell of the License and Weight Service of the Texas Department of Public Safety. Captain Bell called attention to a new law that became effective May 30, 1959, that will have considerable bearing on owners who plan to transport seasonal agricultural products this coming season. This new law permits owners of commercial motor vehicles, truck-tractors trailers or semitrailers who are transporting their own seasonal agricultural products to market, or to other points for sale or processing, the owner may, by paying an additional fee, receive a short-term permit allowing him to haul loads of larger tonnage, not to exceed the gross or legal axle weight limitations, for a limited period of less than one year. These permits may be obtained for periods of three, six or nine months by making application to the County Tax Collector of which the owner is a resident. Captain Bell further

Mrs. W. B. Tillotson returned home Monday from a few days visit in Fort Worth and Dallas. Her daughter Ann, who had been visiting in Fort Worth and her cousin Dianne Holland of Dallas came home with her. Also Mrs. Annie Tillotson, who had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Thay Martin and children in Memphis, Tenn., since June returned to her home here, with Mrs. Tillotson.

A TRIBUTE TO OUR MOTHER

This simple but sweet article, "The Shepherd", written by Julien C. Hyer, was truly befitting to the philosophy of life of our dear Mother, Allie D. Campbel.

We shoud like to share it with you.

Her children, Duncan Campbell, Piccola Foreman.

THE SHEPHERD

HONEY

"Carry down the man a present—
a little honey" Genesis 43:11

"It will not cost you any money—
This gift I'd call a "bit of honey"---
A word of thanks, a compliment—
some praise, a bit of sentiment—

These keep your contacts nice and sweet—And make the people that you meet—Feel glad that you have come their way—And kindly manners you display—Are gifts of honey that make friends—And bring you back Rich Dividends."

—Julien C. Hyer

CHOOSING GOLD OR GOD

"The love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows" (1 Tim. 6:10).

Many chose Gold to their grief. Money is a blessing when used wisely. What the apostle condemns is "the LOVE of MONEY" The madness which makes men worship it, gloat over it, exalt it above everything else on earth and in heaven, lie for it, cheat for it, steal for it, oppress their suffering fellow men for it, violate every law of God and men for it, even kill for it, and damn their souls in hell for it. "Such 'love of money' rather than love for the Master, the worship of Gold, instead of the worship of God, the longing for silver, rather than the longing for the Saviour is, according to God's own word, "the root of all evil," the source of all kinds of crime, the destructive force behind the suffering which have engulfed the globe since sin cursed the human race.

Choose God! Then even here on earth "the unsearchable riches of Christ" are yours. The treasures of His truth, that Christ wants everyone of you in heaven. Nothcan secure, are yours. The wealth of this wonderous love, his precious peace for soul and mind his strength for battling evil and resisting temptation, his word which overcomes doubt; the privilege of prevailing prayer, the vision to see your hindrances as helps, your aafflictions as advantages, your death as the entrance into eternal life.

Chris wants everyone of you in heaven. Nothing need keep you from Him. Your past life may have been black, bitter and brutal; you may feel yourself utterly undeserving and unworthy of any consideration, but Jesus came to "seek and save the lost." Obey his glorious gospel today. Be baptized into Christ today. The way is clearly, unmistakably outlined in God's guide book to glory.

Richard Posey Marries Temple Girl In Candlelight Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony performed Saturday at 8 p. m. in the 7th and Ave. G. Church of Christ, in Temple, Miss Carol Anne Wheeler daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wheeler Jr., 1317 S. 2nd St., Temple, exchanged wedding vows with Richard David Posey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Posey of Rotan.

James LeFan, minister, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by six seven-branched candelabra with burning white Cathedral tapers, and banked with arrangements of white Fuji mums, palms and greenery.

The Ave. G. Church of Christ chorus, directed by Barnell Berry, and Miss Janice Porter presented the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, he bride wore a floor length gown of peau de sale designed with a yoke of Alencon lace trimmed with seed pearls and sequins and a scooped neckline. The skirt was caught in a bustle back with a bow falling ino a chapel length train. The double tiered white illusion veil was attached to Alencon lace embroidered with seed peals. She carried a bouquet of white roses and her only jewelry was a rock crystal necklace and errings, a gift of the bridegroom.

A SINGLE STORY EXPANDED RANCH HOME

Within the wide range of contemporary styled homes, the single story expanded ranch is the most popular.

Architect Clifford N. Wright, A.I.A., has achieved a plan of this style, offering many features which make it a comfortable home for family living, in and out of doors.

The V-cut board and plywood panel exterior provide warmth in color and a tasteful combination with brick veneer highlight masses. The attached carport gives an economical auto cover and a unique approach to a covered entry. Unlike the usual carport, generous enclosed storage has been incorporated into this design.

The entry, slate floored, opens directly to the living room and family room.

Sliding glass doors to the terrace and large glass areas make the living room airy. Lighting in the entire house is controlled by Luxtrol Light Controls, a unit that takes the place of on-off switches and makes it possible to select the exact level of light by merely turning a dial.

Luxtrol permits a more versatile use of functional lighting to achieve exciting, decorative effects. Ideas are limitless. Planters, draperies, china, sculpture, works of art, all become centers of visual interest. During the day, light controlled by Luxtrol supplements natural light to prevent extremes in brightness between indoors and outdoors or to provide that extra light needed on cloudy days. In the evening, Luxtrol controlled lighting makes every room take on added beauty, warmth and flexibility.

Folding louvered doors open the study/bedroom to the living room for a large entertaining area. The desk, like all built-in furniture is a tremendous space saver. Throughout, except in baths and bedroom hall, the ceilings are sloping studio type.

The family room, with its expansive view of the yard is a lovely place for each member of the family to enjoy himself. The storage closet is ideal for card tables, chairs and hobby or game equipment. This room may also double as a formal dining area and with Luxtrol Light Control, the mood of this room can be changed instantly for a gay party or a quiet dinner.

The adjacent kitchen is the ultimate in modern design. Built-in appliances, generous size snack bar all add to the ease and convenience of the home maker.

Both baths have built-in lavatories with cabinets below and bath tubs. Maintenance free ceramic tile covers the floors and wainscots.

The usual home basement is dark and unpleasant and therefore does not lend itself to refinishing. Here, by generous use of windows and Luxtrol Light Control the basement can be converted for future recreation or hobby room.

Copies of these plans are available at $15 for one set or $35 for three sets from Clifford N. Wright, 19115 Schoolcraft, Detroit 23, Michigan.

We put the light in Your window

Had you come 25 years ago young fellow, your light would have been a kerosene lamp. But your Dad and a lot of other folks like him organized an electric cooperative and built their own electric system. It was the only way we could get electricity in our rural area.

Now you are going to have to help guard it. Some people would have you think the government built the system and gave it to us. That isn't true. We borrowed the money and we are paying back our loan with interest. Our cooperative is a business managed, tax paying partnership and we are happy to welcome you as a member. Because the Cooperative brought electricity to your farm you'll lead a healthier, happier life.

Grow strong young fellow. You'll want a light in the window some distant night when your son comes into the world.
