Grant money will aid water and sewer project

Although it has not officially been approved, it looks as if Colorado City will be one of the communities slated to receive a $250 thousand Community Development Grant.

In January City Manager Steve Shutt and Council-man Sammy Contreras attended a meeting at the Council of Governments Office in Abilene to apply for the grant.

According to Contreras, who represents citizens of District 1, the city is asking for $249,300 to help replace sewer distribution lines on Cypress, Cherry and Pine Streets. The city will have to provide matching funds of 15 percent.

He added that the additional grant monies will be beneficial to the larger water and sewer project that is currently underway.

"It will help a lot on the big water and sewer project because it will help the district make improvements that the $7.1 million would not be able to cover," he said.

The city is competing against 38 other West Texas communities, including Loraine and Westbrook, for the grant. Of the 38 cities it is expected that 14 to 18 cities will be awarded the state grant monies.

In phase one of the competition, each competing city is judged regionally on a 350 point scale. Colorado City received 323 points and was sixth on the list.

In phase two, the applicants were judged on a state level. During the state judging Colorado City moved from sixth on the list to number two, Shutt said.

Wednesday the city took part in the final phase of the grant application when Donna Pryor, regional coordinator for the Texas Community Development Program, made an on-site inspection.

According to Shutt, the on-site inspection was conducted to verify that everything on the application was true. He added that the city will more than likely be awarded that grant.

"Although it has not been officially approved it's looking better and better every day," he said.

The grant monies are expected to be available sometime in May.

Bulldogs face Wink in playoffs

The Loraine Bulldogs will take on the Wink Wildcats in a bi-district clash Friday, February 24 at 7 p.m. in Stanton.

The Bulldogs, District 26-A champions, enter the bi-district game with a 21-5 record and an undefeated district record.

Loraine Coach Rick Cooper said he believes the Bulldog team is improving weekly and that it has a strong chance to make the regional playoffs in Abilene.

"Our players don't seem to feel the pressure [of being in the playoffs]," he said. "Everyone is working together in a team effort."

The Bulldogs will scrimmage Huckaby Monday night in Clyde at 7:30 p.m.

Local resident recovering from bronc riding accident

Colorado City resident David Blauvelt is on his way to a healthy recovery, said his mother Rebecca.

Blauvelt, 25, was severely injured February 12 while riding a bucking bronc at the Mitchell County Rodeo Arena.

"He was riding a bucking bronc, it threw him and kicked him in the face," she said.

Blauvelt suffered from a broken chin, split nose, loosened teeth, broken cheek bones, a shattered left cheek, shattered eye socket and skull fractures.

He returned home Thursday, just three days after reconstructive surgery Monday morning in Lubbock.

Ms. Blauvelt said she was pleased with her son's recovery.

"I'm thankful he came through it as well as he did," she said.

She added that she felt the people responding to her son's

Burglary suspects arrested

Information from the city's Crime Stoppers line led to the arrest of two suspects charged with the weekend burglary of Producers Co-op Gin.

The suspects, Thomas Rivas Castillo, 50, and Damacio Lujan Rodriguez, 44, both residents of Colorado City, were arrested without incident Wednesday evening.

After receiving the information from Crime Stoppers, warrants were issued for Castillo and Rodriguez's arrests Wednesday afternoon.

Officers were able to recover a welder and portable heater with a combined value of approximately $500.

The burglary occurred sometime during the weekend of February 10-13. According to investigators, the perpetrators made a forced entry through a side door.

If convicted, the suspects could face two years in a state jail facility.

Westbrook Wildcats to meet Rankin Thursday

District 26-A runnerup, Westbrook, will tangle with the Rankin Red Devils Thursday night at 6:30 p.m. in Stanton.

Coach Jim Hill said his team went into the season expecting to make the playoffs.

"We expected that we would make it to the playoffs when we started," he said. "We also knew it would be hard to beat Loraine because they were the team to beat in the district."

Westbrook is coming off a playoff victory over Hermleigh. The victory put the Wildcats in as district runnerup.

The Wildcats over-all record so far this year is 9-13.

A scrimmage game has been scheduled for Monday night in Jayton against the Jaybirds at 6:30 p.m.

Juveniles charged with burglary of motor vehicle

Three Colorado City juveniles between the ages of 14 and 16 were charged Thursday night with five counts of burglary of a motor vehicle.

According to Colorado City Police Officer Charles Rice, one of the suspects stated in an interview that the burglaries began February 10.

The suspects provided information implicating themselves in two vehicle burglaries at Galey's Automotive and two more at A&J Detail. The juveniles have also been implicated in another vehicle break-in that occurred at Skinny's on Second Street.

According to Rice, the juveniles took car stereos from all but one of the vehicles. Various tools and a flashlight were stolen from the fifth vehicle.

Rice said officers received an anonymous tip from the Crime Stoppers line Wednesday night when someone reported that several boys were trying to sell car stereos at Colorado High School.

C-Court signs resolution opposing TUFNS legislation

Mitchell County Commissioners recently signed a resolution opposing legislation that would create a Texas Underground Facility Notification System (TUFNS) because it would have "significant impact" on the way the county conducts routine road maintenance.

The bill was filed by Representative Bill Carter of Fort Worth in response to concerns by telephone and cable companies about damage to their underground facilities.

If passed the bill would create a "one-call" center which all companies and governmental entities owning underground facilities in Texas would be required to join. The center would provide a statewide toll free number and would have maps of all underground facilities in the state.

Lone Star Gas to ask city for rate hike

Lone Star Gas Company Area Manager Mike Schweikhard will ask the Colorado City Council for a rate hike for residential and commercial customers.

A residential customer using an average of five Mcf per month will see an increase of $3.66 in the monthly bill.

"Even though it has been over five years since our last rate change, our cost of doing business has continued to increase during this period," Schweikhard said.

"We must make certain we can continue to deliver reliable natural gas service to all our residential and commercial customers," he said.

Based on Lone Star's application, a residential customer's monthly bill will change from $33.74 to $37.40.

"This increase in revenue will cover the necessary operating expenses, such as maintaining and improving the local pipeline distribution system, that are vital to dependable service," Schweikhard said.

Survey being conducted for day care center

Calvary Baptist Church is considering opening a day care center and is currently determining community need.

The church is seeking such information as how many children a parent or guardian would place in day care and the children's ages; how much a family would be willing to pay and what hours of operation would be required.

Community feedback is important for the church in determining whether or not to proceed with day care center plans.

Please see survey on page 2.

THOMPSON'S PAINT AND BODY SHOP WAS engulfed in a fire Friday afternoon as flames tore through the building at approximately 4:15 p.m. Witnesses said it took almost 30 seconds for the fire to overtake the entire building.

Carbon monoxide poisonings increase

According to health officials, there is more than fire where there is smoke. There also is carbon monoxide, an odorless, invisible—and poisonous—gas.

Wherever there are coals or flames without ample ventilation, the gas can reach levels lethal to humans.

Every year, dozens of Texans die from carbon monoxide poisoning and many more become ill. The Texas Department of Health's (TDH) Vital Statistics Bureau recorded 51 such deaths in 1993.

Dr. David Smith, Commissioner of Health, said, "It's tragic that the number of such poisonings rises in periods of extreme cold, when some people sacrifice fresh air for warmth. We urge all Texans to beware of this danger.

Quade Stahl, in the TDH Occupational Health program, explained that carbon monoxide is a by-product of incomplete combustion. "A flickering or low-burning yellow flame gives off much more of the gas than a hot blue flame," he said.

Vehicle exhausts, unvented or faulty gas and kerosene appliances, smoldering or poorly vented fireplaces and slow-burning fuels such as charcoal release large amounts of carbon monoxide into the air.

Outdoors, the gas mixes with the air and is diluted to a safe level, but indoors, without good ventilation, it can reach poisonous concentrations.

Stahl said that people at home often are in greater danger of carbon monoxide poisoning than those in large work spaces, since small, insulated quarters trap and concentrate the gas.

He added that a major source of the gas is from burners of gas appliances that are improperly adjusted or poorly vented.

To save energy costs, newer homes are sealed tighter than older homes and may pose greater risks, Stahl said.

"Many people have had the early effects of carbon monoxide poisoning without knowing the cause. Anyone who has awakened with a headache or dizziness after sleeping in a closed room with an unvented heater may have had a mild case of carbon monoxide poisoning," he said.

Chemically, carbon monoxide replaces the oxygen in the blood–stream. Lack of oxygen causes headache, dizziness, weakness, sleepiness, nausea and vomiting, which can progress to coma, convulsions and death.

Stahl said persons exposed to the gas often do not recognize these symptoms as carbon monoxide poisoning and fall asleep not realizing the danger of death to themselves or their family members.

Persons who notice some of these symptoms and are near or using a fuel-burning appliance or equipment should immediately go outside to get fresh air, he advised.

All fuel-burning appliances should be checked by a qualified person for properly adjusted flames and proper ventilation in the area of each appliance, he added.

People at high risk of carbon monoxide poisoning are infants, pregnant women, the elderly and persons with a history of chronic heart or lung problems. Even with emergency treatment of serious poisonings, several hours or days may be required for a victim to regain normal oxygen levels in the blood.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has asked that all new dwellings be required to have carbon monoxide detectors similar to smoke detectors. TDH and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention have urged all homeowners to install these inexpensive, readily available detectors.

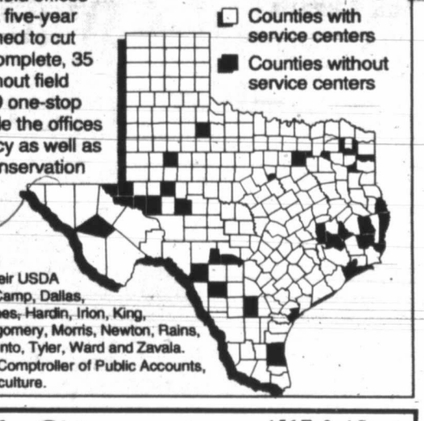
USDA weeds out Texas field offices

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will move 74 field offices in Texas and close 34 in a five-year restructuring period designed to cut federal spending. When complete, 35 Texas counties will be without field offices. The remaining 219 one-stop service centers will include the offices of the Farm Service Agency as well as the Natural Resources Conservation Service. The USDA will save an estimated $2.3 billion nationwide when restructuring is complete.



The following counties will see their USDA offices close: Bandera, Borden, Camp, Dallas, Franklin, Glasscock, Gregg, Grimes, Hardin, Irion, King, Kinney, Marion, McMullen, Montgomery, Morris, Newton, Rains, Real, Rockwall, Sabine, San Jacinto, Tyler, Ward and Zavala.

"I'm grateful to everybody who responded to the situation as well as they did," she said.

Blauvelt had been riding bulls since the age of 14 and had recently begun riding broncs.

Ms. Blauvelt said that she has not asked her son if he plans on continuing bronc riding.

"I don't really know if he's going to ride broncs again or not," she said. "That's something you'll just have to ask him."

She added that he is in good spirits and so far the diagnosis for recovery is positive.

Cost for the reconstructive surgery has been estimated at approximately $20 thousand. A medical fund has been set up for Blauvelt at First National Bank.

If enacted, Mitchell County would be required to notify the center of any excavation at least 48 hours in advance.

According to the bill, excavations include auguring, backfiring, boring, compressing, digging, ditching, drilling, dragging, dredging, grading, mechanical probing, plowing in, pulling in, ripping, scraping, trenching and tunneling.

Normal plowing used in farming and home gardening is excluded.

If the county should fail to notify the center it would face penalties of $250 to $1,000 for the first violation, $2,000 for the second violation and up to $5,000 for the third offense if all three violations occur within three years.

According to the resolution signed by the commissioners, "Creating a Texas Underground Facility Notification System will have a significant impact on Mitchell County, as it does routine road maintenance."

Boxing Club performs well at Pecos meet

The Mitchell County Boxing Club had an outstanding performance in the Golden Gloves Tournament last weekend in Pecos.

Dereck Garcia, Jeromy Espinoza and Jaime Garcia brought home trophies and Dereck was also awarded Best Overall Junior Olympic Fighter of the tournament.

The Team Trophy Award went to Vicente Gaona and David Garcia for their work in training the team.

Officer Tim Atkins responded to the call and recovered four car stereos that were in the juveniles' possession.

"One of the boys told us that they stole the stereos because they wanted to sell them to buy speakers to build a speaker box for his house," Rice said.

He added that all but one of the vehicles were unlocked. The suspects broke the passenger side window to enter the locked vehicle.

All three juveniles are students at Colorado High School and have previous juvenile records.

I am in Heaven, dear one;
Oh, so happy, and so bright!
There is perfect joy and beauty
In this everlasting light.

All the pain and grief is over,
Every restless tossing passed;
I am now at peace forever,
Safely home in Heaven at last.

Did you wonder I so calmly
Trod the valley of the shade?
Oh! but Jesus' love illumined
Every dark and fearful glade.

And He came Himself to meet me
In that way so hard to tread;
And with Jesus' arm to lean on,
Could I have one doubt or dread?

Then you must not grieve so sorely;
For I love you dearly still.
Try to look beyond earth's shadows,
Pray to trust our Father's Will.

There is work still waiting for you,
So you must not idly stand;
Do it now, while life remaineth –
You shall rest in Jesus' hand.

When that work is all completed,
He will gently call you Home;
Oh, the rapture of that meeting,
Oh, the joy to see you come!

B & PW Club holds regular meeting

The Business and Professional Women's Club, Inc. met for their regular session on Tuesday, February 14 in the Civic Center with the Foundation Committee hosting.

Members of the Foundation Committee are Erdine Morgan, chairman, who led the Pledge to the American flag and Juanita Schafer, who gave the club collect.

After a delicious meal was served to two visitors and 14 members, the program, "A Hidden Auction," was presented.

Tandee Curlee was auctioneer for the event. The bidding was fast, accompanied by the auctioneer singing or whistling between sales. Lots of fun was had by all and many nice items were sold by Tandy.

There was a brief recess after the auction, and then President Lovess Curlee called the meeting to order.

Minutes were read and approved and the treasurer's report was read, approved and filed for audit.

Correspondence from Cindy Haynes, who presented the hospice program in January, was read. She thanked the club for having her.

A report on the Woman of the Year for the BPW club was given by Donna Laurens, chairman, and Lovess Curlee was selected as BPW Woman of the Year.

Shirley DeLaney reported on the leadership conference that she and Pauline Light attended in Midland.

Pauline Light also reported on the BPW Midwinter Board Meeting held in Austin on February 12. Mrs. Light will be District 7 Director for 1995-'96.

The Fall Conference will be held in Midland on October 7 and will be held jointly with District 8.

A good report was given on the food booth that the club operated during the FFA and 4-H club's stock show. The club appreciated all the youth who came by and thanked the women for operating the food booth.

Shirley DeLaney, Orientation Chairman, gave a brief discussion about BPW; Margaret Oyler, Mildred Free and Virginia Dearen were reported as being ill; the Good Cheer Chairman presented a birthday gift to Molly Bruce and the meeting adjourned at 9 p.m.

Those attending were visitors Tandy Curlee and Helen Ezell and members Anna Staats, Erlene Sellier, Molly Bruce, Faye Spivey, Juanita Schafer, Christine Cooley, Pauline Light, Louise Logsdon, Shirley DeLaney, Sue Womack, Donna Laurens, Nancy Crow, Erdine Morgan and Lovess Curlee.

The Colorado City Al-Anon group meets Tuesdays at 8 p.m. at All Saints Episcopal Church, 3rd and Locust.

M. Kolman presents program to gardeners

The Colorado City Garden Club met Thursday, February 2 for a Dutch treat luncheon at the Villa Restaurant.

President Brenda Aquillon introduced Marjorie Kolman, who presented a program about making hanging baskets. Suggestions for growing healthy bedding plants were given first as preparation

Plants may either be grown from seeds or purchased at a nursery. If purchased from a nursery, care should be taken to buy only healthy, well developed plants without broken or dead leaves.

When set out, the soil should include some peat moss as well as potting soil. Plants should be watered once a week during the growing season and checked for insects regularly. Rose dust spray can be used if one is careful to apply it to the undersides of the leaves.

A wide variety of plants may be used in hanging baskets. Particularly adaptable are verbena, geraniums, annual phlox, salvia, petunias, double lobelia, coleus and impatiens. Begonias and trailing fuschia grow well and are attractive.

Using plants that are the same color make an especially effective display. Using a carefully selected variety of plants also makes a pleasing display in a hanging basket.

Since baskets are small, care must be taken to water adequately. In addition, fertilizer must be applied on a regular basis and the plants must be sprayed for insects.

Hanging baskets do require special care but make an attractive and rewarding display and are well worth the effort.

The recipient of the Savings Bond presented at the CISD Science Fair by the Colorado City Garden Club was Adam Myers and his most gracious thank you note was read to the club.

Hostesses were Mary Ellis and Marjorie Kolman. Fay Nell Herm and LaVerne Chalker were welcomed as new members.

Others attending were Dorothy Johnson, Frances Myers, Robin Gross, Leslie Scott, Janie Vann, Dovie Brownfield, Marilyn Tartt, Ray Anne Carlock, Jeanine Bodine, Brenda Aquillon and Betsy Aycock.

JIM McADAMS OF COLORADO CITY was recognized by the National Cattlemen's Association, Merck AgVet and Beef Today for his leadership and involvement in the IRM/SPA program. The award was presented by Dr. Duane Maye (left), Manager Cattle Products, U.S. Operations, Merck AgVet and by John Byrnes (right), Director of Editorial Services, Beef Today.

McAdams honored by NCA

Jim McAdams of Colorado City was recognized recently by the National Cattlemen's Association, Merck AgVet and Beef Today for his leadership and involvment in the Integrated Resource Management/Standardization Performance Analysis (IRM/SPA) program.

McAdams was honored during the IRM Subcommittee meeting at the 1995 NCA Convention and Trade Show held January 25-28 at the Opryland Hotel.

"Professionally, the best decision I ever made was to get involved with IRM," McAdams said. His experience with IRM began when he joined a task force to reduce production costs and optimize efficiencies for beef producers.

McAdams is assistant general manager of Spade Ranches, which runs 10,000 head of commercial and registered cattle in West Texas and New Mexico.

He is past chair of the National Cattlemen's Association IRM Subcommittee and has been a part of the IRM/SPA program since 1992, when the SPA became part of the IRM. Since then, SPA has evolved into a quality-audit program for the cow-calf sector of the industry.

"SPA is a business analysis tool that takes your financial records and combines them with your production records," McAdams said. This combined information uncovers the strong and weak areas of a rancher's business, allowing for improved profitability of the operation.

SPA also shows producers how their costs of production compare with costs incurred by other producers. This comparison helps cattlemen evaluate herd production and may help them become more profitable.

"Producers are no longer in a position where they can absorb a lean year," Dan Kniffen, manager of the IRM/SPA program for NCA, said. "SPA will allow them to identify their costs of production, reduce them and make their operation more viable in a lean year."

Prison system will buy 4.7 million pounds of beef

The Texas prison system will buy a record 4.7 million pounds of beef to feed state prison inmates during the coming year.

Texas Department of Criminal Justice officials say the all-time high beef buys are needed to feed the 146,000 inmates TDCJ will house when the current prison and state jail expansion program is completed this year.

Additionally, 20,000 prison staff members are expected to buy their meals daily in prison dining halls. That adds up to half a million meals a day or more than 181 million meals a year.

The record beef purchases will be needed despite the agency's recently announced plans to use a vegetable protein meat supplement in some dishes.

TDCJ has used meat extenders for several years. The agency went to the new supplement VitaPro last month when TDCJ became the national distributor of the product to prisons in other states. TDCJ's profits from this venture will help pay for prison costs, thus saving Texas tax dollars.

The agency's involvement with the protein supplement will not change its double distinction as both a major beef purchaser and a major beef producer.

As a beef producer, the agricultural division of TDCJ runs about 10,000 head of mother cows, primarily Brangus and Braford, on its lands at 13 prison sites and expects to sell about 8,500 calves on the open market in the coming year.

Those calf sales will bring an estimated $3.4 million to the system to help save tax dollars in the cost of running the prisons.

After selling the calves, the agency in turn buys 7.4 million pounds of beef "trim," the least expensive meat, from private producers.

The beef trim goes to the prison system's packing plant at the Michael Unit in Palestine, where inmates process and package it for distribution to prisons throughout the state.

Later this year, TDCJ will open a new beef packing plant at its Amarillo Unit which will provide unpaid jobs for 300 inmates. When the Amarillo plant opens, the Gatesville plant will process only pork raised on the prison farms.

"Everyone wins in the prison beef program," says James A. Collins, TDCJ executive director. "It saves tax money for the state, provides jobs for inmates and is a major market for Texas beef producers."

How to reduce your estate tax burden

How much of your estate will Uncle Sam want? What is included in a taxable estate? What deductions and expenses are available to reduce the taxable estate?

Dr. Wayne Hayenga, professor and extension specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will provide the answers to these questions and many more in a seminar February 21-22 at the Holiday Convention Center, 441 Rio Concho Drive, San Angelo.

Farmers and ranchers will comprise the main audience for this seminar, but Dr. Hayenga will also present basic estate planning tips to be used by all.

The program will include such topics as basic estate planning devices, estate planning tools for agriculture, how to purchase life insurance and valuation rules for property.

One session will be devoted to treating beneficiaries fairly. Dr. Hayenga will show you how to pass a farm or ranch on to one child who is interested in continuing the operation while at the same time treating other heirs fairly.

Dr. Hayenga will also present the most up-to-date changes in estate planning laws and how they might affect estate plans already in place.

The goal of this seminar is to give each participant the knowledge to make informed choices about the best estate planning alternatives for his or her particular family, business and financial situation.

This seminar will explore many tax saving alternatives and relate them to estate planning and administration.

A registration fee of $75 per person includes all seminar materials, refreshments and lunch for both days. Brochures covering the seminar and registration forms are available at the Mitchell County Extension Office.

For further information, contact Mary McMullen at 728-3111.

Three "R's" help reduce pain for arthritis sufferers

Arthritis sufferers can control joint pain if they have access to a pool and remember the "three Rs": relaxation, range of motion and resistance.

"Regular exercise can be better than medication for many people," according to David Brennan, an assistant professor of physical medicine and rehabilitation at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"Pool therapy is good for working sore joints because body weight is supported by water," Brennan said.

The first step, relaxation, is as simple as easing into the pool, tensing the muscles and slowly relaxing them several times.

The second "R," range of motion, involves slowly rotating and flexing the joint or joints needing exercise. This part of pool therapy sometimes requires the help of a professional therapist to determine if the arm or leg is moving correctly.

"Because of pain or a lack of mobility, some people with arthritis are not able to move an arm or leg the way it once moved," Brennan said.

Resistance, the third "R," builds muscle strength around the joint by increasing the speed of underwater movements. Strap-on devices that capture more water with movement can create greater resistance.

Some high-tech pools can provide additional resistance by creating stronger underwater currents with jets or paddles.

A typical pool workout should last about 30 minutes, longer if the patient can also do some light swimming or deep-water running for a cardiovascular workout.

Brennan says a heated pool is better for arthritis therapy because warm water aids movement and decreases pain. The ideal temperature is between 88 and 90 degrees Fahrenheit.

Higher water temperatures may affect the cardiovascular system and limit the workout. Colder water increases pain.

The key to successfully using the "three Rs" to reduce arthritis pain is to progress through them slowly. Since movement in the water appears easy, some people, particularly the elderly and the obese, can overdo it.

"Many people with arthritis pain have not exercised in quite awhile," Brennan said. "Starting slowly will ensure that the cardiovascular system is not overworked and it will decrease muscle soreness the next day."

Consult a physician and, if possible, a pool therapist before starting any sort of exercise for arthritis. Progress slowly through the "three Rs" and arthritis pain may eventually lessen.

Cotton Day at Capital '95 is proclaimed by cotton industry

The Texas cotton industry has officially declared March 7 "Cotton Day at the Capitol '95."

To celebrate the occasion, exhibits will be set up in the underground rotunda of the Capitol from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. The exhibits will include items of interest to everyone.

A full sized cotton bale wrapped in cotton bagging will be one of the many highlights of the exhibit; fashion models representing the Texas Food and Fiber Commission will wear clothing designed with cotton fabric and the National Cotton Women's Committee will display articles made from cotton.

There will also be a sock knitting machine from the International Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University.

Paintings depicting cotton from the field to fabric will be exhibited and a video about the cotton industry may be viewed throughout the day.

Cotton industry representatives will visit with elected officials throughout the day and a proclamation from the the House of Representatives and the Senate will be presented in honor of the day.

"This day will serve to extend the knowledge of our industry to legislators, regulatory personnel and to the private citizen," according to Clemon Montgomery, Cotton Day Chairman and a longtime noted cotton industry executive.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The Round Top Cafe will always be sweet memories for me as it was my first real job, as car hop and waitress, upon graduation in 1939. Managers of the Round Top at that time were Jack and Rosie Contella.

My happiest days would be spent every morning after serving breakfast: I would go to the last stool near the kitchen and would type up the noon day lunch menu.

There I would be watching the door to open, and see a handsome, blue eyed curly haired gentleman wearing a Texas and Pacific Railway uniform walk in with a great big smile.

My courtship began at the Round Top in 1939 with Charlie Minshew from Abilene, Texas. Work went on under the strict supervision of Italian eyes peeping through the slats of a swinging door from the kitchen. My daddy, Keith Miles, had a service station across the street; needless to say, I was sheltered.

I worked there until Charlie and I were married in October of 1941. He was transferred to Dallas and I, as a young bride, followed him, ending my career at the Round Top Cafe in Colorado City, Texas.

Yes, my marriage was made at the Old Round Top, just as Helen and Charles Ezell's was. Charlie and I spent 39 happy years together before his death in 1980.

Thanks for the memories.

Luline Minshew

Westbrook ISD implement gifted and talented program

Westbrook ISD plans to conduct a gifted education program for students in kindergarten through 12th grade who have above-average potential in academic and creative-productive thinking.

The program is designed to challenge students to accelerate above and beyond the regular school curriculum.

Anyone who wishes to nominate a gifted learner is encouraged to come by the appropriate campus office and complete the necessary forms.

Nominated students will go through a screening procedure requiring special testing. Parents will be asked to grant permission for this testing at the time of nomination.

JV Wolves finish season with 8-2 district record

The JV Wolves defeated Sonora, 90-48, on Tuesday, February 14, finishing the season with an 8-2 district record.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice of Public Meeting Lubbock to I-10 Route Study. The Texas Department of Transportation is initiating planning studies to identify possibly freeway routes between Lubbock, beginning at the terminus point of Interstate Highway 27, and terminating at points along Interstate Highway 10 between Fort Stockton and Junction. The study will also identify possible freeway routes located north of Interstate Highway 40 to the Texas state line commencing at Interstate Highway 27 in Amarillo. TxDOT will conduct a public meeting on March 20, 1995, starting at 7:00 p.m. with public input beginning at 7:30 p.m., at the Abilene Civic Center, meeting rooms III and IV, 1100 N. 6th Street, Abilene, Texas, for the purpose of discussing the route study and soliciting input from citizens and other concerned groups. TxDOT will conduct an open house at the same location from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. All interested citizens are invited to attend the open house to provide input. TxDOT will have personnel available to answer questions and provide assistance.

Little League meeting set

A Little League meeting will be held Thursday night, February 23 at the fire station.

Election of officers will be the primary purpose of the meeting and all interested individuals are invited to attend.

Meeting time is 7 p.m.

Gifted Program

Colorado ISD plans to conduct a program that will challenge second through 12th grade students who have above-average potential in academic and creative productive thinking skills. Those wishing to nominate gifted learners are encouraged to stop by the appropriate campus offices to complete the necessary forms. Parents will be requested to grant permission for the screening process, which includes special testing of gifted students. Deadline for nominations is Friday, March 3.

Baseball Boosters meet

The Wolves Baseball Booster Club held their first meeting of the season on February 16. The season will officially open Tuesday, February 21 when Coahoma travels here. Game time is 4:30 p.m.

Officers elected for this season are Dan Morgan, president; A.W. Phillips, vice president and Donna Boyd, secretary-treasurer. Other members present were Shirley Limones, Lulu Boyd, Cheryl Hoyle and Randy Erwin.

Memberships in the Booster Club are available from any club member at $5 per person.

The next meeting will be held at 12 noon February 23 in Collums Restaurant.

Wallace Center plans Hill Country trip

A Hill Country adventure tour, including a one-day excursion to San Antonio, is planned for March 22-24. Three meals are included in the tour, along with transportation and lodging at the Inn of the Hills Resort, Kerrville.

Highlights will include a tour of downtown Fredericksburg; the Cowboy Artists of America Museum; dinner at David Beard's on the Guadalupe River and Rivercenter Mall and San Antonio River Cruise.

There will also be a luncheon at the "Tower of America" restaurant; a tour of the original S.A.S. Factory Store, San Antonio; the factory store of James Avery Jewelers; a city tour of historical Ole Fort Mason, a Medina River Breakfast "Cookout," and wonderful camaradarie with Wallace Senior Citizens.

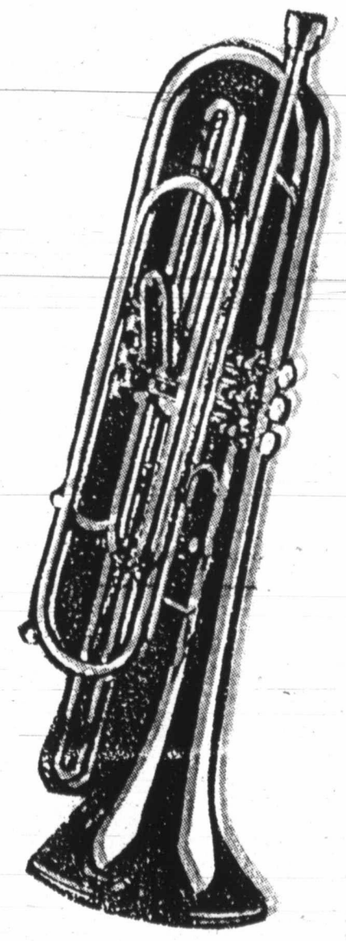
The tour requires a minimum of 30 and a maximum of 46 participants.

The deposit is $50, payable as soon as possible and no later than March 1. The balance is due March 10.

A budget-priced tour, the cost is $229 each for triple or quad; $239 per person, twin and $299, single.

For further information, call Sue Sewell, Wallace Center (915) 728-2392.

ENCOURAGE YOUR KID'S HABIT.



Kids need something better to do than drugs.
Like sports, dance or music.
Because good things can be habit-forming, too.
So get them into a good habit.
Today.
Or they may get into a very bad one.
