JFK Set To Unveil His Defense Plans Tonight

Address Set For 8 P. M.

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy unveils to the nation tonight a broad plan for stepping up defense against the Communist threat to Berlin and throughout the world.

In advance of his 8 p.m. (CST) radio-TV broadcast, Kennedy scheduled his usual Tuesday morning White House meeting with Democratic congressional leaders.

This gave him an opportunity to brief his legislative chiefs on points he will cover in his speech and in a formal message to Congress Wednesday.

But House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., told newsmen after the meeting that the President "didn't tell us what he is going to say tonight." He added that "of course I wouldn't tell you" even if the President had discussed his speech.

Informed sources said Kennedy's strategy was set to provide for a step-by-step Western strengthening as Communist pressures mount on Berlin and a long-term increase in ability to counter the Reds should they turn on the heat elsewhere.

This involves a boost in the U.S. preparedness program above the $43 billion Kennedy has already asked for the military this year, bigger arms contributions by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies, and further teamwork among the allies in diplomatic, political and economic tactics.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who has announced a big arms build-up, says he will sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany at the end of this year. This treaty, the Kremlin chieftain says, will wipe out the rights of the United States, Britain and France to Communist-surrounded West Berlin.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy himself did most of the speech writing as the President and his aides worked on tonight's address.

Among those stopping off at the White House Monday were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and Walter Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

The attendance of Dillard Heller led to speculation that Kennedy might want to raise taxes to cover the expanded program. The President has been reluctant to seek further taxes, on grounds this slows recovery and the economic pickup already under way will bring in added revenues.

One major item in the Kennedy package is civil defense. Informants said the chief executive wants to raise to around $300 million—triple his present budget the federal outlays for preparedness against any Soviet attack on the United States. This apparently would include large scale installation of shelters against radioactive fallout from atomic blasts.

Military proposals prepared for White House consideration reportedly included stepping up the regular armed forces by 100,000 men or more, including a couple of Army divisions and a Marine division; a higher state of National Guard and reservists preparedness and some rise in weapons production. The Army now has 14 divisions, the Marines 3.

No Tip-Off On Kennedy Berlin Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy discussed foreign aid and other subjects with Democratic congressional leaders today but not what he will say tonight about Berlin.

"Of course the President didn't tell us what he is going to say tonight," House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said with reference to Kennedy's scheduled report to the nation.

Rayburn said the breakfast conference included a discussion of foreign aid legislation. "We think we're in pretty good shape" on foreign aid, Rayburn said, "I don't think it's going to get any worse."

He reported the military construction appropriation bill would come before the House today and had a "pretty good chance."

He also said an omnibus farm bill might come before the House Wednesday or Thursday. A companion measure is being debated in the Senate.

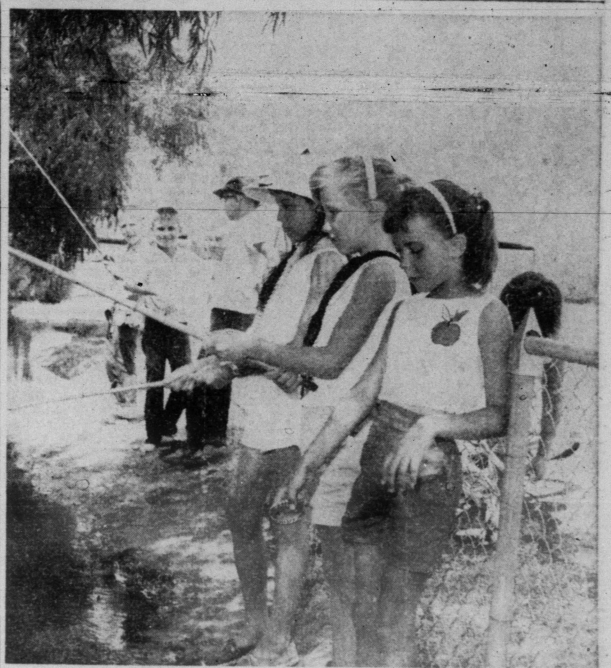

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Senate majority leader, reported that Kennedy was pleased that, as he put it, the economic upturn in the nation in the last three months has been better than in any similar period in the last 20 years. He said also that Kennedy was pleased with the progress of the foreign aid bill.

Firemen Called To Blaze On Avenue Z

City Fire Department was called out at 5 a. m. today to a fire in a vacant house at Twenty-third and Avenue Z.

Firemen extinguished the blaze within 20 minutes.

The house was owned by Raymond Dill of Denver City.

Congress Ready To Support Fund Hike

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress appears ready to support an expected request by President Kennedy for an increase of $3 billion or more in defense spending.

But there is a sharp difference of opinion among members on whether action should be taken at this time to increase taxes.

Kennedy outlines to the nation in a television-radio broadcast tonight the grave challenge raised by Soviet Premier Khrushchev's threat to try to squeeze the West out of Berlin.

The President will follow this up Wednesday with a message asking Congress for funds to bolster the nation's defense capabilities.

The general belief among the lawmakers is that Kennedy has ruled out any crash program and will ask for an orderly step up in the strength of Marine and Army ground forces, plus more intensive training for National Guard and reserve units.

To pay for all of this, some members of Congress have argued that Kennedy should ask for an immediate increase in corporation and personal income taxes.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, said he is one of those who personally urged Kennedy to seek new taxes.

"I think the President should lay the Berlin situation before the people bluntly and should ask for the taxes needed to pay for strengthening our defenses," Humphrey said.

Humphrey said, however, that the President had been urged by other members to defer any tax request until it can be determined later whether present tax rates will bring in sufficient revenue to avoid any large deficit.

There were reports that Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, had argued for an effort to cut non-defense spending and a delay in any decision on new taxes until January.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee, said that if any recommendations for tax rises are imminent he had not heard of them.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, a member of Byrd's committee, told the Senate Monday that it would be critical for the President to ask tax increases on the basis of increased defense expenditures.

He said Kennedy hadn't asked tax hikes for proposed increases in civilian spending.

Rep. Earl Wilson, R-Ind., a member of the House Appropriations Committee, wrote Kennedy urging him to cut domestic spending measures in favor of the military preparedness program.

Park Facilities Expansion Sought

Scurry County's recreational facilities for larger groups are located in Snyder, but these are the only ones without equipment for cooking and on-the-spot preparation of meals.

This was brought to the attention of county commissioners Monday when Simon Best presented a petition requesting expansion of facilities in Towle Memorial Park.

The petitioners asked the court to consider installation of cooking facilities in the exhibition building.

Russell Jones, county park superintendent, said a tentative estimate on the cost of providing cooking facilities in the park building was pegged at $13,000. It was estimated that desired expansion of the building itself would cost approximately $40,000 to $50,000.

Commissioners took the request under advisement for further study. The current county budget shows about $12,000 in the permanent improvement fund which has not been committed for this year. The proposed budget for next year has some $35,000 as yet uncommitted in the permanent improvement fund. However, some other projects are pending and could claim part of the uncommitted allocation.

In other business, the court made plans to establish two voting boxes in the new community center at Union which is now under construction. A voting box for voters residing on the northside of U. S. Highway 180 will be located in the north part of the building, while those living on the southside of the highway will have a voting box in the south part of the building. The highway there is the dividing line of Commissioners' Precincts.

Claim France Breaks Order

TUNIS (AP)—Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba accused France today of violating the U.N. Security Council's Bizerte cease-fire order by refusing to withdraw to their prebattle positions and by extending their hold on Tunisian territory.

Bourguiba warned at a news conference that fighting may break out again. He said he had told nations that had offered volunteers to help Tunisia that he needed trained guerrilla fighters, planes based in Tunisia or other countries, arms and mobile anti-aircraft batteries.

Bourguiba did not accuse the French of renewing the attack. But he said if they did not withdraw from Bizerte city into the naval base enclave, "fighting is bound to start again."

"We have decided to resist until the end and we are prepared for new hostilities," the president declared.

"We have decided to inform the Security Council that this cannot continue. This situation cannot last indefinitely."

While Bourguiba spoke, U.N.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold conferred with Tunisian officials in an effort to keep the crisis from reaching bigger proportions.

Hammarskjold, who arrived in the Tunisian capital Monday at Bourguiba's invitation, was studying Tunisia's case against France in one of the thorniest and most difficult tasks of his career.

A number of Tunisians doubted that the U.N. official would produce a solution that would satisfy Tunisia, which wants total unconditional French withdrawal from the Bizerte base.

Hammarskjold had a three-hour session Monday night with Bourguiba which a Tunisian official described as exploratory.

The U.N. chief was tight-lipped when he emerged from Bourguiba's seaside summer palace 10 miles outside the capital. His only comment to newsmen was that he had not scheduled a visit to the city of Bizerte, which the French in four days of bloody fighting captured before a cease-fire call from the U.N. Security Council stopped the shooting.

Rewritten Farm Bill Advancing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rewritten general farm aid bill advances today toward the voting stage in the Senate.

In an effort to head off a bitter fight, the Senate Agriculture Committee has ripped out controversial features of the bill sought by the Kennedy administration.

Some committee members feared such a fight might kill chances for any general farm aid legislation this year.

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., assistant Senate Democratic leader, and Allen Ellender, D-La., the bill's floor manager, predicted passage without adoption of any major controversial amendments.

Ellender told the Senate the bill's one-year emergency wheat program would help the farmer, the taxpayer and the nation's economy. He estimated that under its terms the huge wheat surplus now estimated at 1.45 billion bushels could be reduced by about 200 to 300 million bushels.

The measure would offer higher support prices—up from the current $1.79 a bushel to about $2, he said—as an inducement to retire more than 10 million acres from wheat production. It would retire 5.5 million acres under mandatory provisions and nearly as much, he figured, through voluntary compliance.

Solons Spend Day Thumb-Twiddling

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas lawmakers spent a day of legislative thumb-twiddling today with neither house ready for floor action on any major bill.

With the appropriations bill headed for a conference committee and Senate committee hearing on the tax bill not scheduled until Wednesday, both houses only had routine matters on tap.

One of the more important actions scheduled was appointment of House Conference Committee members to meet with their Senate counterparts to study a spending bill.

The conference committee was made necessary Monday when the Senate took only a few seconds to reject the House version of the appropriations bill.

The house amended the original Senate measure to spend about $16 million more from the state's general revenue fund.

National Guard Pilot Is Honored

AUSTIN (AP)—A Texas Air National Guard pilot who sacrificed his life in a crashing plane to save the lives of others was honored in ceremonies today in the governor's office.

The pilot was Capt. Gary Herod, who stuck with his disabled jet plane while it was over densely populated Houston, to maneuver it down into a rural area.

It was too late for Herod to parachute when he had cleared the heavily populated area. Herod, of San Antonio, was killed in March. His wife, Mrs. Oretta Herod, now of Dallas, accepted the distinguished Flying Cross, the Texas Meritorious Service Medal and the National Guard Association's K. L. Berry Award.

Passengers Are Freed By Castro

MAINE, Fla. (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro today released the passengers and crew of an Eastern Air Lines plane hijacked over Florida and flown to Havana.

Pan American World Airways received word of the Cuban Leader's decision from its agent in Havana and put a DC7B and crew on standby at Miami International Airport.

The Swiss embassy in Havana had been trying to arrange for the return to Miami of the passengers and crew. An embassy spokesman said its efforts were hindered because of the Castro revolutionary celebration.

Tentative plans for the airlift called for the PAA plane to take off at 2 p.m. (EST) and return to Miami about two hours later. Eastern officials consulted with Pan American over arrangements for the flight.

Passengers On Plane In Good Spirits

By JOSE MARIA ORLANDO

HAVANA (AP)—Passengers on the U.S. airliner hijacked during a flight from Miami, Fla., were reported generally in good spirits today but encountering delays in unwinding the red tape to allow their release from Cuba.

No one aboard was hurt when the Eastern Air Lines plane was diverted to Havana Monday. Passengers and crew spent the night at the Havana airport hotel.

Cuban officials said a passenger on the plane seized control because he had been repeatedly forbidden by the U.S. officials to go to Cuba.

No mention was made in a Havana radio account of the fact that the pilot was forced to make the flight here at gunpoint, nor did the radio give the passenger's name. It said he feared reprisals against his relatives in the United States.

The Cuban government seemed to have no objection to allowing the passengers and crew to return promptly, but Swiss diplomats, who handle U.S. affairs here since the break in diplomatic relations, found all government offices closed for the celebrations marking the anniversary of Fidel Castro's revolution. That delayed the necessary official permission to leave.

A Swiss spokesman said the embassy hoped to get the passengers aboard a Pan American Airways flight to Miami, but a Pan American spokesman said a special flight might have to be arranged. The line's regular flights are jammed with Cuban refugees.

The Eastern Air Lines prop-jet Electra was on a flight from Miami to Tampa, New Orleans and Dallas with 33 passengers and a crew of five Monday when an unidentified passenger pulled a gun and forced the pilot to fly to Havana.

Prime Minister Castro was said to have no objection to returning the passengers and crew and soon as arrangements could be made.

His government reportedly intends, however, to hold the plane unless the United States turns over six Cuban planes that have been seized in Florida to satisfy a legal judgment against the Cuban regime.

The passengers and crew were being held under close police guard and newsmen were prevented from talking to them. Reporters saw them from a distance when they landed at Havana's Jose Marti Airport. No one appeared to have been injured in the incident.

One of the passengers was Luis Rodriguez, No. 1 contender for the world welterweight boxing championship. He was en route to Dallas for a fight Thursday night with Curtis Cokes.

Because the Foreign Ministry was closed for the anniversary festivities, the Swiss Embassy said it also had not been able to present a U.S. demand for return of the plane and the personnel which the State Department rushed to Havana as soon as it was informed of the incident.

Switzerland has represented the U.S. government in Cuba since Havana and Washington severed diplomatic relations.

The Federal Aviation Agency in Florida was the first to sense something wrong aboard the Electra when the agency's radar scope showed the plane make a sharp turn off course about 20 miles southwest of Pahokee, Fla.

The agency's report was picked up by the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) at Colorado Springs, Colo., and the Homestead, Fla. Air Force Base was ordered to send up a fighter to intercept the $3½-million airliner.

Capt. W. G. Hayes, flying an F102 Delta Dagger, intercepted the airliner and wagged his wings in a futile effort to turn it back. He turned back to his base when he reached the three-mile limit of Cuban waters.

Connecticut Doctor Dead In Galveston

GALVESTON (AP)—Dr. Carroll Handley of Ridgefield, Conn., was found dead in his hotel apartment here Monday night. He was on vacation in this city.

Handley was connected with the New England Institute of Medical Research. He was a specialist in drugs related to high blood pressure.

Handley, 49, graduated from the University of California in 1934 and won his doctor of philosophy degree there in 1940. He was professor of pharmacology at Baylor University at Houston from 1947 to 1959. He transferred to the University of Texas in 1959, remaining there a year.

He took Mrs. Handley, a native of Galveston, and their two children with him to Connecticut where the family arrived just two hours before one of the heavy snowstorms that hit New England last winter. Mrs. Handley and the children returned almost at once to Texas to escape the snow.

Handley was a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; the American Society of Pharmacology; the American Chemical Society and the New York Academy of Science.

Two years ago while cleaning a shotgun, the weapon discharged and Handley lost a foot. Authorities at the Ridgefield said he had been in almost constant pain since and had difficulty in being fitted to an artificial foot.

Accidents are the nation's fourth greatest killer, says the National Safety Council—but they can be prevented.

"Why did you do it?" detective D. E. Byrnes asked.

"We just wanted to teach ourselves how to drive," one boy replied.

Says Hike Won't Increase Profits

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP)—A House committee heard Monday an assertion that the $30 million more Texans will pay in auto insurance premiums because of the recent rate increase will not enrich insurance companies that much.

Angus McDonald, chief actuary of the rate-making State Insurance Board, testified Monday before the committee inquiring into the recent increase in auto insurance premiums.

Rep. Will Smith asked if insurance companies "broke even, does this mean the companies will make just that much additional profit?" McDonald replied "Absolutely not."

"They will not make any more money than on Jan. 1, 1960, the day the safe driving insurance plan went into effect," McDonald said. The plan raises the premiums of drivers with traffic violations on their record and lowers the rates of drivers with no violations. The actuary said the penalties and bonuses have not balanced out as expected.

McDonald said the board allows for a 5 per cent profit before taxes in figuring company expenses as a factor in rate-making. "If everything comes out like you expect," the companies should net 24 per cent after taxes, he said.

Most states also figure 5 per cent profit, McDonald added.

McDonald said auto insurance experience in World War II proves safe driving can reduce auto insurance rates.

"Drivers themselves can control the frequency of accidents. In World War II we all began to drive more carefully because we knew that if we wrecked our car we would start walking," he said. The actuary said this attitude was reflected in fewer accidents and insurance claims. He said insurance rates are based on the loss experience of companies.

The committee is to report back to the House when it completes its investigation.

Virus Halts Flow Of Polio Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service said today that two of the five major manufacturers of Salk polio vaccine have temporarily suspended production because of the presence of a virus in their product.

The virus, a newly discovered one, came from monkey kidney tissue, used to make the vaccine. Although production was halted, officials stressed there was no evidence the virus would sicken man.

The service said that all Salk vaccines released during the last two months had been tested for presence of the virus, designated SV40, and only those which were free of it were cleared for general use.

Under law, the service does not identify the manufacturers involved, but it was learned that the firms which have suspended production are Merck Sharp & Dohme, a division of Merck, Inc., and Parke, Davis & Co.

The two firms together have accounted for something like 25 per cent of the nation's total output of Salk vaccine.

However, a service spokesman said it is not expected that withdrawal from the market will cause a general shortage of the vaccine.

The service said the monkey virus is known to multiply in man under certain conditions but there is no evidence that small amounts, when introduced through the vaccine, produce illness in man.

In Philadelphia, Merck Sharp & Dohme confirmed it had stopped production.

A company spokesman said the National Institute of Health in Washington has ruled the new virus was not dangerous to humans. Therefore, none of the vaccine now in the hands of doctors has been recalled, the spokesman added.

Merck Sharp & Dohme said it stopped production "several weeks ago." It declined to say how much vaccine it had manufactured this year. The Salk vaccine generally is regarded to have a six-month expiration date.

In New York, a spokesman for Charles Pfizer & Co. said the company had had no virus problem and that production of the vaccine was proceeding normally.

Private Satellite System Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, in a statement of policy, has announced that a U.S. communications satellite system should be owned and operated by private companies—if certain requirements are met.

Among the requirements he laid down was "maximum possible competition."

In his statement Monday Kennedy again invited all nations to join in the space network "in the interest of world peace and closer brotherhood among peoples throughout the world."

He drew up guidelines for business requirements and government responsibility in the program which is still in the research and development stage.

With these guidelines, he said, "I am anxious that development of this new technology to bring the farthest corner of the globe within reach by voice and visual communication, fairly and equitably available for use, proceed with all possible promptness."

The president noted that science and technology have progressed to a degree that communication through the use of space satellites has become possible.

Through this country's leadership, this competence should be developed for global benefit at the earliest practicable time," he said.

Both industry and government have pressed for a communications satellite, calling it an urgent national objective.

Kennedy said private ownership and operation of "the U.S. portion of the system is favored, providing that such ownership and operation" meet policy requirements.

These include:

A new and expanded international communications system, including service to unprofitable areas; opportunities for foreign participation in the system; effective competition in buying of equipment; structure of ownership or control which will assure "maximum possible competition" and development of an economical system.

The federal government for its part, Kennedy said, will among other things, conduct and encourage research and development in the field; handle international agreements; provide technical assistance to newly developing nations to help maintain a global system.

Kennedy put policy coordination in the hands of the National Aeronautics and Space Council.

Zapata Bank Probe Continues

By B. F. KELIUM
ZAPATA, Tex. (AP)—The Zapata County grand jury today continued its probe of the closing of the county's only bank after hearing its president testify he "just closed the doors and left town because the bank ran out of money."

"I am the only one responsible for the operation of the bank and I made the decisions," grey-haired Manuel Medina told a packed court room of depositors at a receivership hearing before Judge James Kazen of Laredo.

He told George Byfield, court appointed receiver, that deposits at the privately-owned bank fell off some $200,000 the past few months.

"The people just withdrew their money," he said.

The bank, one of the few privately-owned in the nation, closed its doors last Tuesday.

Medina was found at a motel in Nuevo Laredo by a Laredo Times reporter and appeared voluntarily at Monday's hearing.

Medina, dressed in a grey suit, red tie and a western hat, answered questions in a loud, clear voice but appeared nervous at times and frequently chewed on his horn-rimmed glasses.

He said deposits amounted to $600,000 to $700,000.

Medina invoked the Fifth Amendment on at least three occasions in dealing with questions from Byfield in connection with the condition of the bank.

He refused to answer when asked if he thought the bank was insolvent. He acknowledged overdrafts amounting to approximately $275,000, given by Medina and members of his family, but he refused to comment further on them.

Medina said he had no appreciable cash and testified that the only property owned by the bank was that on which the institution was located and some nearby property which he estimated to be worth $50,000.

The president was on the stand an hour and 20 minutes. His attorney, Gerald Weatherly of Laredo, said Medina would appear again if ordered by the court. Weatherly said he would also appear voluntarily before the grand jury.

"We have nothing to hide," Weatherly told newsmen. "Mr. Medina will cooperate fully with the receivers."

Meanwhile, residents of the county waited and hoped as Byfield and his staff examined the bank records.

Earlier, Byfield told newsmen he found only $7,000 in cash in the preliminary check. Later he said it appeared depositors might recover more than at first believed.

"I see possibilities of a substantial recovery for depositors although it is going to take lots of time and effort to liquidate the bank's assets," he said.

Dist. Atty. Oscar Laurel put it this way: "A regular chartered bank has audits periodically but in this case we had to start from scratch."

Meanwhile, citizens began tightening their belts as ready cash became scarce and county officials began trying to figure out ways to meet payrolls.

Officials went to Laredo seeking money to finance the bank.

"I am confident we will get the money to operate the county," county attorney Joe Caldwell said. Doug Hensley of Harlingen, fiscal agent hired by the county, said the county would probably issue time warrants.

Common Cold Vaccine Revealed By British

LONDON (AP)—The British Medical Research Council reported today a vaccine against the common cold is now a possibility following a scientific breakthrough.

The council said it is collaborating with three commercial drug manufacturers who are working on a vaccine.

Salisbury discovered that with modification of the technique of tissue culture, viruses of the common cold could be grown consistently.

But the council cautioned that if many types of cold virus exist, prospects of developing a reliable single vaccine are not so bright.

Sugar Beet Hike Unlikely Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—There will be no opportunity next year for American farmers to grow any substantial increased quantities of sugar beets.

The reason: The Kennedy administration is unlikely to make any recommendations for new sugar control legislation until next year. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman disclosed this Monday.

This means that any legislation assuring domestic producers a larger long-term share of the domestic sugar market will not become law soon enough to affect plantings next year.

The factor limiting domestic beet production is processing. Present plants are operating at capacity. Processors hesitate to build new plants unless they are assured of a long-term quota.

Many farmers have urged that a part of the quota normally held by Cuba be given to domestic producers.

Gymnasium, Pool Named For Victim

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—The gymnasium and swimming pool building of the new $14 million Douglas MacArthur High School of Saginaw Township will be named for Peter M. Beach, the 18-year-old Yale University student who was killed in the July 10 roof cave-in during its construction.

It will be called the Peter M. Beach Athletic Building.

The Saginaw Township board of education decided Monday on the name. Young Beach, son of Glenn M. Beach of Saginaw, associate architect, worked as a laborer on the project while on vacation from Yale. Beach was killed and six men were hurt in the collapse of the 100-ton roof.

NOT SO INSCRUTABLE

If It's Not What You're Drinking, It's Something Else

By RICHARD STARNES

Sam Meachley, boy bachelor, put down his glass, which had not contained pink lemonade, and said, "Ha."

"There was an undercurrent of bitterness in that bon mot," I was just thinking about the way things are going. Anybody thinks the world isn't in an awful shape ought to have his head candied."

I had framed some reply redolent of pure logic, which now escapes me, when Sam continued, "I mean, look at the way kids carry on nowadays. Two, three days ago a herd of them beat up a couple of detectives in the Bronx with tire irons, busted bottles and bits of trace chain. Not just cops, detectives. He shook his head in disbelief."

"When I was a kid you would no more think about beating up a cop than you would think about hitting a kid who wore glasses. In those days it was an article of faith that there was an automatic $50 fine for hitting anybody who wore glasses. When I was a kid nobody had $50. But beating up two detectives..." He wagged his head again.

"In my day there weren't two detectives in the whole Tenth Precinct. There was one, a guy seven feet tall who wore a derby hat and got a free shave every morning at Vagononi's. We used to like to watch, principally because he was the only real detective we ever got to look at, and partly because when he took off his coat we'd see his revolver, which was three feet long and was worn in a shoulder holster. It was the only

Suspect Is Not Nazi Physician

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Fingerprints of a German-speaking foreigner arrested in the Brazilian hinterland are not those on record for Dr. Joseph Mengele, once the Nazi physician at Auschwitz concentration camp, the international police agent here said Monday.

Amoroso Neto, who returned Sunday from the Mato Grosso, said the man under arrest there, Joseph Kanat, also does not have SS tattoo marks. A border marshal arrested Kanat a week ago because he thought Kanat resembled photographs of Mengele published recently in a Brazilian magazine.

Just How Much Do You Dream?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

You may think you never dream—but you do. Everyone spends up to 20 per cent or more of his sleeping hours dreaming. If you have a high intelligence quotient, you dream more.

Some people mistakenly think a stigma is attached to being fingerprinted, but as a matter of fact, only one in five of the 152 million fingerprints in the FBI files belongs to a criminal or crime suspect.

How helpful are you around the house? A survey found 83 per cent of husbands now assist their wives with chores ranging from shopping to bed-making and dish-washing. But about one in six men resolutely proclaimed they refused to do "women's work."

Getting away from it all may make your ulcer worse rather than better. Doctors have found many normally active men often become more tense when frustrated by enforced rest away from their work.

Federal income taxes take more than seven times as much out of the average wage earner's dollar today than in 1941.

Gen. U.S. Grant was one of the least musical of U.S. presidents. "I know only two tunes," he once remarked dryly. "One of them is 'Yankee Doodle,' and the other isn't."

Upcoming soon: A new printing ink which promises to make newspapers smudge-proof. That could be one of the biggest boons to reading since the invention of the alphabet.

Wise crack of the week: "Ah, for the good old days," sighs Walter Slezak, "when the only kids who saved up to buy knives were Boy Scouts!"

The first "credit cards" were probably rings worn by 13th century German knights and entrusted with their family coat of arms. Linnekeepers, recognizing the owners as men of worth, billed them later for their charges so they wouldn't have to carry money on the robber-infested highways. The penalty for counterfeiting a family ring: Death.

Pony Express riders—like airline pilots now—were among the elite of their day. They earned from $100 to $150 a month, plus rations of bacon, beans and buffalo steak.

It was Jonathan Swift who observed, "May you live all the days of your life."

Daily Crude Flow Rises

TULSA (AP)—An increase in Oklahoma boosted the daily average domestic oil production by 34,995 barrels to 6,975,460 during the week ended July 22, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Oklahoma rose 17,560 to 508,000 barrels.

The Journal estimated 1961 production at 1,461,903,400 barrels compared to 1,437,570,200 a year ago.

Colorado was up 700 barrels to 128,800; Louisiana, 75 to 1,125,325; and Arkansas, 50 to 73,500.

Production was unchanged in Texas at 2,447,300 barrels and New Mexico at 302,100.

Littlefield Group Joins Republicans

LITTLEFIELD, Tex. (AP) — Some 100 conservative Democrats of this West Texas farm and ranch country have announced they are switching to the Republican party.

They explained their action Monday night in a resolution blaming the Kennedy administration with "irresponsible spending to buy votes and power by pretending to give people something for nothing."

R. W. Manley, former county commissioner, was elected chairman of the group, estimated at about 120.

Manley said the philosophy of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., "has wide support in our area." He also praised Sen. John W. Tower, R-Tex., adding:

"We feel we cannot help them by continuing to call ourselves Democrats when the Democratic party is against everything these two outstanding Americans stand for."

The group termed the adopted resolution "a declaration of independence" and charged the policies of the "new frontier are certain to result in new tax loads and ruinous inflation."

A meeting with Republican party organizers was set for Aug. 7. Howard Horne, former president of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, presided at Monday night's meeting. He said it was a follow-up step taken at a meeting in Littlefield June 22 to consider what direction conservative Democrats should take in "view of the speeded-up trend to the left the New Frontier has taken."

Horne called the meeting "a grass roots movement." He said representatives were present from Olton, Spring Lake, Earth, Amherst, Pleasant Valley, Sapde, Sudan and other Lamb County communities.

Another speaker was Gil Lamb, operator of Radio Station KML at nearby Mulberry. Lamb said Littlefield is in Lamb County, about 50 miles from the New Mexico line. President Kennedy carried the county in the November general election.

There Is A Comet Wilson Now

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — "I've been looking for one all my life," said the man credited with discovering Comet Wilson while flying at 29,000 feet off the Oregon coast.

A. Stewart Wilson, 34, of Seattle, second officer on a Pan American World Airways flight from Honolulu, said he was looking casually for the planet Mercury with his binoculars.

Then a wedge of light appeared and narrowed to a point — the head of a comet.

At San Francisco, other airline pilots also reported seeing a mysterious light Sunday and Monday Mornings, but Wilson, an amateur star gazer, apparently was first to report it.

When Wilson got home he tried to telephone Harvard Observatory. He couldn't raise anyone so he wired. Monday Harvard reported the discovery and said the name would be Comet Wilson.

The new comet has a long tail and third magnitude brightness, which makes it two to three times dimmer than the North Star but much brighter than the Milky Way.

Harvard said it can be seen in the northeastern sky in early morning.

Boys Are Accused Murderers

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Two boys, 12 and 13 years of age, are charged with committing murder while perpetrating another felon, arson. The two, Frederick A. Wilson, the older, and James C. Rogers, both of nearby Santa Venetia, are accused of setting the North Western Pacific Railway $500,000 tunnel fire in which a fireman died.

District Atty. Roger Garety asked that both be tried in juvenile court.

The charges were filed Monday. Garety said both admitted setting last week's fire which resulted in the tunnel underpinnings being burned out.

Lincoln Avenue sank into the tunnel at one point. Fireman Frank Kinsler, 24, and his truck dropped into the cavity. Shortly afterward an apartment house dropped into the blazing tunnel and burned.

Destroyed By Fire

Junior Editors Quiz on FISH

QUESTION: Can fishes hear?

ANSWER: As you probably know, sonar is a method of sending vibrations under water, to detect where the bottom is and the presence of submarines or enemy mines. Any person who has worked with sonar will tell you that fish are attracted by vibrations and noises made under water. This is proof that fishes do hear. Further proof will be found by studying the actual fish. Although they do not have outer ears, the bones inside a fish's head (A in our drawing) pick up vibrations coming through the water and take these to an inner ear. Another way fish hear is shown in B. This is a line along the fish's side called the "lateral line." Slow vibrations coming from close-up objects are picked up by hearing organs along this line. It must be a great help to a fish in the dark, deep ocean to have his own "sonar" system.

FOR YOU TO DO: When you catch your next fish, look for the lateral line. Maybe you won't catch one—perhaps the fish heard you coming or you made a noise. Then keep an eye open for a fish brought into the house for dinner. This poor fish may have had ears, but his getaway was too slow.

(Pearl K. Kent, of Doornin, Ga. wins $10 for this question. Mail your question on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper.)

Ozark Town Put On Map

By WICK TEMPLE
GASSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The U.S. Commerce Department has put this tiny Ozark Mountain town on the map by granting it the nation's first project under the new Area Redevelopment Act.

Gassville, whose single paved street is U.S. Highway 62, will get a federal loan of $31,000 and a grant of $28,000 to help pay for a water system vital to a new industry. The grant was announced Monday.

Horse Show Slated At Boys Ranch

Boys Ranch of West Texas will have its first quarter horse show Saturday, Roy A. Minear of Midland, president of the ranch, has announced.

For the past eight months, boys, staff and directors have been building a first class rodeo arena at the ranch. The arena will offer the boys an opportunity to have their own roping rodeo events as well as other special events, such as the quarter horse show.

The first quarter horse show will begin at 9:30 a. m. Saturday at the ranch, which is located 17 miles west of San Angelo on U. S. Highway 67. Alvin L. Cole, box 716, Sterling City, will accept entries. Cole is a member of the Boys Ranch executive committee and well known in the Quarter Horse Association. He will serve as show manager.

The show is approved by the American Quarter Horse Association and the Quarter Horse Association of West Texas. Bill Hale of Odessa will serve as judge.

The Chuck Wagon Gang of Odessa will serve a barbecue luncheon. The show will include the standard hunter classes for Quarter Horses, Junior and senior performance classes will include roping, reining, cutting and barrel racing, plus western pleasure classes for all ages.

As the realm of youth activities which provides for showing of unregistered horses by youngsters 18 and under, events will include roping, barrel racing and western pleasure classes. This will be divided into two classes, 15 to 18 and 14 and under. A bull riding contest also is slated.

The American Quarter Horse Association will furnish a trophy for the top all-around winner in the youth events. Other winners also will receive various trophies.

Movie Star Hurt In Auto Collision

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Madlyn Rhee, 25, suffered a face cuts Monday in a head-on auto collision and was taken to a hospital.

The Mar-Bax Shirt Co. is building a $70,000 plant here to employ 1,000 from a four-county area. In the manufacturing of men's shirts, its $2.5-million annual payroll will give the area's sagging economy a vital boost.

Gassville's population is 233 and its business center consist of three general stores, a post office and two antique shops. Many of its people are retired.

"But we're proud people to day," said Mayor Harry Jowett, 70, a retired circuit-riding Methodist minister. "Now we've got what it takes to develop our town and give our young people jobs at home where they belong."

The town is in Baxter County in the north-central section of the state, 20 miles south of the Missouri border.

The plant is being financed by a $335,000 bond issue voted by Marion and Baxter counties last November. Many older residents vigorously fought the bonds because they will mean a five-mill tax. The company will pay $18,000 a year rent for 35 years. This money will largely amortize the bond issue.

The bond issue was made possible by a 1960 state law allowing counties to pool forces to build industry. After the bonds thought it was ready to go.

But Gassville didn't have enough assessed valuation to build a water system, and insurance companies insisted the modern plant must have plenty of ready water in case of fire.

The four counties applied for the redevelopment money even before the law was passed three months ago. They will raise the rest of the money for the water system through a newly created water district.

People here were sure the federal money was coming. That's why the construction was begun and the company began training 420 workers in vacant buildings in Gassville and surrounding towns.

But we didn't know we were going to be first on the redevelopment program," said Jowett, who receives no pay for his work. Negotiations for the shirt factory began a year ago this month, in days when Gassville's income was from tourists, retirement pay and agriculture, in that order.

Gassville has a colorful history. Jowett, who was born in England and came here in 1945 to retire, said the town got its name from an old storekeeper famed for his long-winded tales.

Swedish Soldiers Going To Congo

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Swedish soldiers serving with the United Nations forces in Palestine will be transferred to the Congo to replace Tunisian units called home, the Swedish Foreign Ministry said Monday.

Tunisia's decision to call home its 3,200 troops in the Congo because of the Biebrte crisis seriously weaken U.N. forces there.

Parking Plan Is Opposed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An angry, jeering crowd of 2,000 persons hurled rocks and eggs and shouted profanity at Mayor Richardson Dilworth Monday night as he tried to defend his controversial $40-a-year parking fee plan.

Several persons reportedly were injuring Councilman Gaetano P. Giordano, who opposes the plan. Giordano, a Democrat as is Dilworth, represents the South Philadelphia district where the mayor wants to set up the experimental plan. He pleaded for the crowd to hear the mayor out. He suffered a cut eye when hit by either a rock or flying glass in the school auditorium where the mayor spoke.

Some of the crowd smashed the rear window of a police car in which two boys who had been arrested were placed. Several persons smashed five windows of the car of Edward Lain, 21, a newsman for television station WRCV.

All available highway patrolmen were sent to reinforce 40 regular officers who had been detailed to the meeting.

Dilworth was led from the stormy meeting by police and driven to his Society Hill home where officers stayed on guard overnight. He said "a small core of about 10 to 12 young fellows seemed to trigger it all."

The outcry of "Let's crash it" by a group of 10 husky youths reportedly touched off the violence outside the auditorium.

There were about 500 persons inside the auditorium and 1,500 others outside in the schoolyard.

From the outside crowd came a barrage of rocks and bottles which crashed through panes of glass in the auditorium. Radio stations WRCV and WCAU were cut off from their remote broadcasts when telephone lines were ripped off. One group tried to overturn a mobile radio car.

Dilworth, his wife standing by him, declared that he was "going to say what I've come to say regardless of what you do."

"Down with Dilworth," shouted the crowd.

The mayor shouted himself hoarse and never did finish his prepared text in which he defended his plan by saying that "the problem with which we are faced is the problem of the automobile threatening to engulf our city."

Protests have mounted since Dilworth announced his plan for an area covering 16 streets, car owners would have to pay the fee to park their cars either on the streets or in a municipal parking lot. Parking is free in the area now, but prohibited on one side of the street.

Grain Stocks Plentiful

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government report on grain stocks as of July 1 showed today that the nation is in no danger of running short as a result of this year's drought and a cutback in production under a feed grain program.

Wheat stocks at the beginning of the 1961 crop marketing year were reported at 1.41 billion bushels, up 7 per cent from the record set a year ago. Thus the reserve and surplus supplies are considerably larger than this year's indicated crop of 1.26 billion bushels.

Market demands for wheat between now and the 1962 harvest are expected to total about $1.25 billion bushels.

Feed grain stocks July 1 were at a record high of 109 million tons—an increase of 10 per cent over a year ago. These stocks included 2.81 billion bushels of corn, 751 million bushels of sorghum grain, 323.84 million bushels of oats and 132.12 million bushels of barley.

Farm stocks of corn July 1 totaled 1.44 billion bushels, up 11 per cent.

Judging Begins For International Beauties

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The fun ends and the tension starts Monday night as 32 young women — most from faraway lands — face the judges for the first time in the International Beauty Congress.

The parades, parties and trips to movie studios are over. Now four nights of serious scrutiny will determine who wears the crown of Miss International Beauty and receives top prize of $10,000.

In the initial judging, one-third of the contestants will appear in evening gowns, one-third in playsuits and the rest in native costume. The groups and their attire will be rotated Wednesday and Thursday nights.

The delegates visited Warner Bros. studio Monday, talking with movie and television stars and collecting autographs.

Accidents in farm homes killed 2,700 persons in 1959, says the National Safety Council.

Sandwich two ground beef patties together with your own "secret" in the middle, like onions, cheese, relish... Grill to perfection... serve with corn-on-the-cob.

Mother Says Affair Led To Shooting

FORT WORTH (AP)—A heartbroken West Texas farm woman, Mrs. Vera Kinsey of Midland, Monday night bared details of a tragic chain of events that led to the death of her ex-husband and four of their five children.

The trouble began, she sobbed to newsmen, when she became pregnant by another man.

This led to a divorce, granted July 6. The 41-year-old Mrs. Kinsey came to a Fort Worth maternity home to have her child which she said had been placed for adoption.

Her anguish was almost unbearable as she waited on a platform for a train to take her back to Midland and her surviving daughter, 15-year-old Vera Louise Kinsey.

Vera Louise was shot in the stomach early Monday when her three brothers and sister were shot to death by their father who then turned the gun on himself.

The girl was reported in good condition at a Midland hospital. Asked if she would like to get back her baby that was placed for adoption, Mrs. Kinsey said tearfully:

"I surely would."

Mrs. Kinsey related that she had spoken with members of her family on the telephone Sunday night and that she thought she was going home to a reconciliation with her husband of 20 years.

"We had agreed to be remarried," she sobbed.

She said that in a telephone conversation with her 17-year-old son, James David Kinsey, one of the four children who died in the shooting, the youth told her that her former husband wanted to know if she could bring the baby home with her.

"I told him no. It was too late."

Sharp Earthquake Jars New Zealand

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—A sharp earthquake alarmed sleepers over a wide area of central New Zealand early today.

It lasted less than a minute and is believed to have caused no great damage. A loud rumbling noise preceded the shake in some places. Buildings shook and structural noises added to the alarm. The quake was centered 50 miles northeast of Wellington.

Red Police Slow Refugee Traffic

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP)—A Western official said today tightened control by Communist police has succeeded in cutting down the flow of refugees into West Berlin.

"More people are trying to come now," he said, "but fewer are getting through. It used to be that one was stopped by every two that made it, but now it's nearer one-for-one."

Other sources, however, minimized the role of police controls in checking the refugee flow. They pointed out that many, who planned to flee after school ended July 8 have probably made it by now. A large number of young people are among the refugees.

Gagarin To Lead Parade In Havana

HAVANA (AP)—Soviet space man Yuri Gagarin was to lead an hours-long parade of 70,000 athletes and dancers through the streets of Havana today in celebration of the eighth anniversary of Fidel Castro's revolutionary movement.

It was the second day in town for Gagarin, 27, who got a rainy hero's welcome Monday on his arrival for the four-day celebration of the 28th of July Movement.

Prime Minister Castro personally escorted the Soviet major through a round of social functions. Wherever they went the Cubans cheered wildly.

A drenching thunderstorm broke as the Soviet plane bringing Gagarin landed at flag-decked Jose Marti Airport outside Havana.

Gagarin and the welcoming delegation were soaked to the skin, Castro, dripping, threw his arms around the smiling space man and gave him a clammy bear hug.

Gagarin flashed his wide grin at the spectators, then rode with Castro and President Osvaldo Dorticos into Havana in an open-topped car. In some places along the 10-mile route cheering crowds stood knee-deep in water.

Thousands more crowded the presidential palace where Gagarin and Castro appeared at an evening reception.

The government without explanation canceled the final big event of the anniversary festivities, a trip to Giron Beach for the unveiling of a memorial to Cuban defenders killed there in the ill-fated anti-Castro invasion last April. Castro, Gagarin and a party of officials, diplomats and foreign guests were to attend the ceremony.

Each day of National Farm Safety Week emphasizes a different aspect of farm safety. Beginning Sunday, July 23, the daily themes are: Reverence for Life; Safety Begins at Home; Agricultural Chemicals; Prevent Falls; Highway Safety; Farm Machinery; and Recreation Safety.

The official, who watches the refugee flow carefully for a Western mission in Berlin, said the numbers arriving are still somewhat above normal even for this peak vacation period.

Over the weekend—Saturday afternoon to Monday afternoon—the arrivals numbered 2,575, but it was nearly 3,000 the weekend before.

The Western official said Communist police seem to be doing everything short of actually stopping trains to check the stream.

Their difficulty is compounded by the fact that Berlin is a main rail transfer point for East Germany and would-be refugees can buy tickets within the country, then flee when they reach there.

Hundreds of subway and elevated trains go from East Berlin to West Germany everyday, and it is virtually impossible to check every passenger on each one.

In addition to troubles with the youth, the Reds are also having difficulties with farmers who insist they want to get out of collectives.

Neues Deutschland, the official daily of the East German regime, told today of a meeting at Brunsen, northwest of Berlin, where Communist farmers tried in vain to get the farmers' consent to stay.

The Communists tried to convince them that in West Germany farmers are losing their land to rocket bases and military airfields. The farmers admitted they did not want this to happen to them, but they would not take back their withdrawal applications.

East German farm land was collectivized in the spring of 1960. In theory, any farmer can withdraw in practice it takes great courage to buck official Communist policy. There have been persistent reports of farmers trying to withdraw—but none that they have actually been permitted to do so.

Western experts blame collectivization for many of the supply difficulties in East Germany that have been helping increase the flow of refugees to the West. Farmers were promised an eight-hour day, and many of them are taking the promise seriously—even at peak work periods when they are traditionally in the fields from dawn to dusk.

Wayland Mathis was elected to succeed Roy Meador as president. Other officers named include Martin Murphy, vice president; James Maxwell, secretary, and Rex Nail, treasurer.

Methodist churches from throughout Scurry County were represented in the group of some 60 men who attended.

Ladies of the host church served dinner to the group at the outset of the session.

Methodist Men Elect New Slate

Canyon Area Methodist Men elected new officers last night at a meeting held in the Fluvanna Methodist Church.

Charlie Lawrence, county judge from Seminole and a well-known Methodist layman, addressed the group on men's activities in the church.

Wayland Mathis was elected to succeed Roy Meador as president. Other officers named include Martin Murphy, vice president; James Maxwell, secretary, and Rex Nail, treasurer.

Grady The Cow Dies Near Silo

By NORMAN ROWLAND

YUKON, Okla. (AP)—Grady the cow, a 1,200-pound Hereford who jumped through a 17 by 25 1/2 inch silo feed door into national prominence 12 years ago, died Monday not far from the silo where she spent four confusing days.

Her owner, Bill Mach, said the 18-year old cow "just got tired and died of old age." Mach found Grady dead in her corral on his ranch Monday night.

Grady jumped into the silo on Washington's Birthday in 1949, after having a hard time giving birth to a calf which died.

For the next four days, Grady paced inside the silo. John Randolph, Associated Press staff member at Oklahoma City at the time and now AP general executive for Asia, was one of the first reporters on the scene.

From the time Randolph wrote "hi diddle diddle, the cat and the fiddle, the cow jumped into the silo," until Grady oozed her way out of her prison, the 6-year old bovine held the nation's attention.

Before Grady was freed, Mach heard from folks in 45 states and several foreign countries.

Former Oklahoma Gov. Roy J. Turner, a breeder of Herefords, suggested she be anesthetized so "she can be relaxed and put back through the little door."

An Air Force officer said the Army had a helicopter that could lift Grady out of the silo. This plan didn't materialize.

Some people wanted to dismantle a portion of the silo. There were a block of advocates of greasing Grady so she could squirt through the opening once a little pressure was applied from behind.

National Farm Safety Week, July 23-29, cosponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the National Safety Council, has as its theme this year, "Safety Is a Family Affair."

One of the grease advocates was Ken Toolil, executive editor of the Toledo (Ohio) Times. Toolil, who was appointed Times' cow editor during Grady's hectic experience, added a new twist by suggesting she be put on a strict diet for a few days before greasing.

The greasers won. Ralph Partridge, Denver Post farm editor, flew here and smeared the fiddly cow with about 10 pounds of axle grease. A veterinarian gave her a sedative to calm her nerves.

A lariat was looped around her de-horned head and manpower was supplied from behind. After a few minutes, Grady caught on, wiggled her hips a couple of times and squeezed through.

Grady settled down, lived quietly afterwards and gave birth to several healthy calves.

She also stayed away from silos.
