LARGE CROWDS ATTEND REVIVAL AT BROADWAY CHURCH OF CHRIST, WHERE REV. WRYE OF TENNESSEE PREACHES

Large crowds yesterday and last night attended the revival service being conducted at the Broadway Church of Christ by the Rev. H. W. Wrye of Ashby, Tenn.

At 3 o'clock each afternoon, special attention is given to the children and young folks. Those who attend are enjoying this service, and it is one where a great good can be accomplished among the younger folks.

Monday evening at 8:15, the subject for discussions was "The Penalty for Sin is Death."

The text for the sermon was read from Gen. 2:17, "But of the tree of knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die."

The evangelist presented to us a vivid picture of God's creation of Man and Woman and his placing them in the beautiful Garden of Eden with nothing to do but tend the Garden. All the animals, birds and creeping things God created and put therein were to be subject to their will or command. They could eat of the fruit of all the trees with one exception—the only thing God did not give them was the right to eat of the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil, saying that the "day thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die."

The death penalty for sin is righteous because God is the author of it. If Adam had been incapable of understanding such things, he would be unjust. But God made man in His own image, that is, in his image intellectually, so man was without excuse when he deliberately ate of the forbidden fruit. The trouble with Adam and Eve was their unbelief. They had more faith in the Devil than in God. Satan said they would not die, but instead of death, they would be happier—their powers would be equal to God. They believed that and violated God's law, the law of their creator, and ate the fruit thereof.

When God came walking through the Garden calling Adam and Eve he found them hid among the trees for they were afraid to face God after disobeying His command. When questioned Adam blamed God for his trouble. He blamed God for giving him a Woman. The Woman blamed God for turning a serpent loose on her.

The law was broken and the penalty must be executed, man must die for his crime. God loved his creatures, for they were made in his image but it is impossible for God to lie. All that man might, could or would do would not stop the law from taking its course.

The Lord told the disobedient pair that the seed of the woman should bruise the serpent's head. In this God promises to redeem man. To do so would mean that something equal to the value of man would have to be sacrificed. Man's worth is emphasized by his origin. He was like God in the beginning. Now his purity is adulterated, his image is marred. The seed of the woman was the promised redeemer. To be the seed of the woman, must be without the concurrence of the man and Jesus Christ was the only being that ever lived that was the seed of the woman. Christ said he was equal to God and since He is equal to God, He is equal to God's law, He is equal to God's word and hence to the Law of God. Christ only was equal to the demand: To be able to suffer that awful penalty the Son of God put on the flesh of man and was subjected to all the temptations that man is subjected to, yet without sin. He was sentenced to die. Christ was nailed to the cross and suffered such awful pain in the flesh that a description of it is difficult. Three hours of midnight darkness, tortured by the demons in human form, carrying all the guilt of man from Adam to the end of time. Christ was nailed to the cross and lifted up his eyes in torment and begged for a drop of water, his torture was so great, but no relief was extended. Jesus while in that awful darkness cried for water, but no water was given. Jesus Christ suffered the torments of the damned, giving humanity a look into that fearful death chamber while on the cross.

Oh that awful scene, a miniature hell on earth, Jesus treading the wilderness alone, suffering that penalty for sin, that WE might be saved from the fearful consequences of sin. Why not turn from Sin and Death unto Christ and Life everlasting?

Uncle Sam's Advice To June Brides

WASHINGTON, June 1.—How to can scientifically is part of the voluminous advice Uncle Sam gives June brides through the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

When the fresh fruits and vegetables are available this summer it is well to can a little for the winter months. To guide the new housewives in canning a pamphlet has been issued detailing the intricate art in full.

"Clean and prepare the fruit or vegetable, using only sound products," he advises. "Precook, parboil or scald products. If the vegetable or fruit is to be peeled, dip it in cold water after scalding a parboiling. If no preliminary cooking is needed put it at once in the jars. "Pack products in jars or cans that will seal air tight. To jars or cans of vegetables add salt and hot water if there is no sufficient liquid to fill the containers. To fruits add sirup or fruit juice.

"Adjust rubbers and tops of glass jars or seal in can and place them in the canner as soon as possible. Process at the given temperature for the required time. "Remove jars or cans from canner. Seal the jars air tight at once and place them out of drafts. Cool the products in tin by plunging them in cold water. Keep all canned products under observation at room temperatures for a least one week."

RADIO
NEW YORK, June 1.—Station WCAD, of the St. Lawrence University, Canton, N. Y., recently broadcast a recital on a set of chimes, presented the university by Irving Bacheller as a memorial to his wife, Ann Bacheller is a native of Canton and a graduate of the class of 1882, St. Lawrence. He is the widely read author of "A Man for the Ages," and "In the Days of Poor Richard," among other works.

The chime of ten bells has been placed in the tower of the Gunnison Memorial Chapel on the campus. The largest bell weighs a ton and is tuned for the key of F. The other nine bells are so scaled as to make possible the playing of music in either of two keys. The playing console measures about four feet square and contains ten handles. The console is in the room below the belfry. So careful are the adjustments that slight downward pulls on the handles sound the full tones of the bells with whatever power the chiming wishes to exert. This system permits playing with expression similar to that of a piano.

The chime bears the following inscription: "To Ann Bacheller, musician, wife and comrade. My love of her put a new song in my heart. Therefore let the singing of these bells be the voice of my gratitude."

1926 Model House

THE MAGIC WORD "HOME"

By Cora W. Wilson

In the finishing and furnishing of the house, utility and beauty must go hand in hand. Stationary features, such as doors, windows, fireplaces, and stairs, together with movable objects of the most varied use, curtains, rugs, chairs, desks, and lamps are the raw material. Each of these must be serviceable; each must be well adapted to its own particular use, or it becomes an absurdity. Each piece should be well designed and if possible beautiful. But even this will not make a good interior, all the elements must be combined harmoniously into an attractive whole.

The full idea of "home" involves not only comfort but attractiveness, and the true feeling of home only comes when the expression is of the life and individuality of the owners.

The proportions of rooms in length, breadth and height should be given consideration in the design of the house. Variety and interest of spatial form may be added by different sorts of vaulted ceilings, even of very small size. One should not forget that a room cannot only be built rectangular. What is more beautiful and does not cost any more is to have a circular or ellipse-shaped room, their curved forms make a domed or vaulted ceiling appropriate.

In the best American houses, many of them small houses, the arrangement of the rooms has been contrived, without any sacrifice of practical convenience, as to give an orderly and beautiful ensemble. Perhaps a subtle balance is disguised under picturesque informality. Perhaps symmetry is the governing principle, with rooms connected by doorways in the axes, and forming a suite in harmonious sequence—possibly even with varied shapes succeeding one another, and subordinate to a living-room occupying the place of honor. The conditions for the attainment of such effects go back to your first planning and must be foreseen by the architect.

When the house is still to be planned, utility in spirit, expressed in line and color, may be achieved. For most of us today the way will still be open through the suggestion of historic tradition. Conditions have not so changed here but that the simplicity of living which marked the Colonial still gives the American note. Beyond this, there is the favor of the dominant local tradition, primitive Colonial in Connecticut, Georgian in Virginia, and Pennsylvania, Adam in Salem, Empire in Kentucky and Michigan, Spanish in California and Florida. Whatever the point of departure, a pleasing personality can never fail to create a result in some degree new and individual.

Complete working plans and specifications of this house may be obtained for a nominal sum from the Building Editor. Refer to House 76.

The Tech Readers will be at the head of the list with a collection of new and popular jazz hits. The Tech male quartet will give a variety program of songs followed by the newly organized saxophone quartet. This organization is unique in its nature and will present a new class of music to the music loving public.

Every student of the college is expected to be there and the citizens of the town are cordially invited. A good entertainment is assured those attending.

PRESIDENT ABLE TO BE IN OFFICE

President Horn was in his office for several hours yesterday attending to business. He has recovered from his severe cold but is still weak from his illness. He will be unable to continue his speaking tour and other members of the faculty will take his place. This week winds up the commencement addresses.

This illness is the first that Dr. Horn has suffered in years, in fact it is the first time that he had ever been kept from his office duties because of sickness in his entire school service.

MANY VISITORS AT TECH.

During the past few days several cars of out of town visitors have been at the Tech going over the entire plant and visiting with students here. Most of them are prospective students of the college who are here after their graduation from the neighboring schools.

The next week will see many other visitors at the college owing to the fact that school will be out and many of the parents of the students will be here. Quite a number of out of town people attended the pageant on the campus last night.

HOME ECONOMICS EXPERT VISITING TECH

Miss Dorothy Ellis, state supervisor of home economics in Idaho is visiting Miss McFarlane of the school of home economics. Miss Ellis and Miss McFarlane were school friends at Columbia University and later taught together in the state of Washington. She will spend several days with Miss McFarlane.

CATTLEMEN VISIT TECH.

John Burns, representative of the Hereford Breeders association, and W. B. Mitchell and son of Marfa were visitors on the Tech campus yesterday. They are making a tour of West Texas looking over the commercial and breeding cattle.

They visited the Tech plant and especially the units of the school of agriculture. In speaking of the Tech stock, Mr. Burns stated that he was highly pleased with the work done by the college and thought that it had one of the most complete agricultural units of the state.

FORMER TECH STUDENT FINISHES COLUMBIA TODAY

Harold Gordon, son of Dean J. M. Gordon will take his A. B. degree from Columbia university today. He was a student here during the fall term and took a prominent part in activities being a member of the Tech band and orchestra.

He has also been prominent in student affairs at Columbia. He is a member of the Columbia University band, orchestra, and musical club, won the King's crown, awarded to the students who make the highest record in all musical activities of the university. He was elected to the Alpha Sigma Epsilon fraternity and will be house manager for them this summer. He will also work in the Chase National bank of New York City. He will return to Lubbock the later part of the summer and will hold the position as teacher of science in the Lubbock high school.

STANGEL AND LEIDIGH REPORT O'DESSA TRIP

Dean A. H. Leidigh and W. L. Stangel returned Sunday from O'Dessa where they went to select the Hereford calves donated to the college by John Gist, one of the most prominent Hereford breeders of the Plant.

They left here early Friday morning and arrived at O'Dessa late in the afternoon to be greeted by a host of surrounding citizens before a big barbecue. Later and old fashioned dance featured in the gathering.

They went about the next day looking over the various herds of that section. At noon they were the guests of the Midland chamber of commerce at a large dinner. They selected two Hereford heifers which Mr. Gist donated to the college.

These calves are of the highest breed and are valued at over $500 each. Mr. Gist will make the delivery of the calves personally before the board which will meet Friday. He calves will be brought from O'Dessa by truck. Mr. Gist was very liberal in his gift and the selection was made from his entire herd with the exception of one animal which he reserved.

Pastor's Death Too Calmly Announced, Declare Officials

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—The quiet, undisturbed manner in which Aimee Semple McPherson's "drowning" was first made known is to be investigated by the district attorney's office, it was indicated here.

Thomas Quinn, manager of the ocean park hotel where Mrs. McPherson changed to a swimming suit, told police that the evangelist's secretary waited more than two hours before summoning help.

"Miss Emma Schafer appeared before me on the afternoon Mrs. McPherson is believed to have been drowned and said in a matter of fact tone that her friend was missing," Quinn said.

"She talked calmly regarding this friend whose name she would not reveal and indicated that the friend was merely lost in the crowd."

"Until her second visit to me," Quinn recalled, "Miss Schafer said nothing of the drowning and did not reveal the name of her friend. She did not seek the aid of life guards the first time she came."

The second time she came, Quinn said, "she mentioned Mrs. McPherson's name and declared she believed she was drowned. I immediately summoned the police."

Quinn's statement was believed by many to tie together reports that the evangelist was still alive and has been seen since the hour Angelus temple followers believe she sank while bathing.

The district attorney's office announced it would call Miss Schafer, and Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the missing preacher's mother, for questioning.

An effort will be made to learn why they accepted the news so calmly, it was announced.

Dispatches from northern California indicating that Mrs. McPherson visited her son were heavily scored by Mrs. Kennedy. She declared that she had talked with the boy's guardians and that they denied there was any truth in the rumors.

Only a handful of the evangelist's followers were at the beach waiting for her body to be washed ashore Monday.

COMMITTS SUICIDE TO DIE IN GLORY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Theodore Kappel wanted to die and his death proved one of the most elaborate suicides ever recorded.

Tired of poverty and his drudgery as a janitor, Kappel spent the last month of his life planning a "de luxe" end to his existence. He rented a small room, draped its walls with velvet, spread the bed with a silk coverlet and heaped tables and chairs with flowers.

Silver candlesticks flanked a collection of the man's remaining effects. Silver bowls were used to hold notes in which Kappel explained his reasons for quitting life.

Dressing himself in evening clothes, Kappel lay down upon his ornate bed, fitted a mahogany dice cabinet snugly over his head and turned on the gas.

The man had figured his bank funds to the last penny and directed the distribution of a series of small bequests, made with money that was left over after a funeral director had been paid for services "which might be required soon."

Four trumpeters raised silver instruments to sound a farewell harmony as Kappel's body lay in the undertaker's parlor. They had been paid in advance—$26.40, upon scale.

THEATER OWNERS PLAN TO PRESS FIGHT ON CENSORSHIP

By LINCOLN QUARBERG (United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 1.—Censorship and the "trust menace" were paramount problems confronting more than 1,500 representative showmen gathered here today for the annual convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America.

Both topics were wrestled with by the organization, composed primarily of independent exhibitors, at the Milwaukee meeting a year ago. They were merely touched upon then in the course of the deliberations, and now the showmen are prepared to take definite action, it is said, to curb what they regard as the two major evils confronting independent film exhibitors.

Instead of diminishing, the "trust evil" has magnified during the past year, the independents contend. They point to a series of big mergers recently in the motion-picture industry, and "cups" between major producing companies and theatre chains.

The independent exhibitor is fighting a steadily losing battle, it is claimed, with "trust theatres" controlling virtually all "first-run" pictures, and forcing many of the smaller showhouses out of business.

The division between the independent and affiliated exhibitors is not noted in the battle on censorship. Many of the independent exhibitors, contend, nevertheless, that discrimination is practiced against the smaller producing companies, and that they suffer, as a consequence, from an unfair and drastic censorship.

The filmmen arrived in more than a score of special trains. Lavish entertainment has been arranged for them by the various big picture companies in Southern California.

Leading stars and producers have combined to furnish daily and nightly entertainment for the visiting showmen, and the film plants will buzz with gaiety throughout the week.

R. F. Woodhull, of Dover, N. J., president of the national organization, said that every state in the union was represented at the convention.

New York, Ohio, Illinois and other eastern and middle-western states sent special train-loads of delegates. A replica of the statue of liberty in New York harbor, has been installed on the front lawn of the fashionable Ambassador hotel, convention headquarters. It will be illuminated at night, like the original.

A gala festival at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, with this plant's stars as hosts and hostesses, has been arranged as an entertainment premiere tonight. Tomorrow night, a similar affair, will be staged for the visitors at Unversary City.

DeMille night will be Thursday, featured by a banquet in front of the Colonial studio building, and embellished by a gay costume ball on one of the big movie stages.

The Lasky studio plans an innovation on Paramount Night, Friday, in the way of a featured "shooting" of a gigantic mob scene, with the exhibitor-guests participating as actors.

Warner Brothers, leading independent film producers, will wind up the convention Saturday night with a big radio frolic, extending throughout the entire evening, and including special broadcasting by many of the guests.

Sidney Cohen is scheduled to broadcast a message of import to movie fans from the exhibitors' organization as the grand finale. It was believed he would sum up at that time the results of the association's fight on the "movie trust."

NEGRO LEADER GIVES RACE GOOD ADVICE

Dr. Kelly Miller, for many years dean of Howard university, and one of the best types of negro leaders, gives to the members of his race the following good advice in a recent syndicate letter in a large number of negro papers:

"The fundamental proposition before the negro is to change public opinion. This, I am persuaded, he can not do by continuing to vote the republican ticket, nor yet by dividing his vote between the parties on the basis of sheer expediency. His best chance of propitiating public opinion is by aligning himself with the forces of law and order and public morality. This will put him in right alignment with the conscience of the nation. He will find himself in company with the best men and women intent upon the best welfare of the country. His franchise will be deemed worth while if found to be harnessed to the sound principle of respect for law and its righteous enforcement. People who find themselves working together for the same righteous ends will soon come to recognize and appreciate the worthwhileness of their co-workers."

"I firmly believe that if the negro would stand firmly with the forces of temperance and sobriety in the titanic struggle now waging and should effectively help bring about the victory of righteousness and law, much of the political animosity of which he is now the victim would give way to friendly co-operation and will. I further believe that it would tend to relieve the political animosity of the South whose dry proclivities would greatly appreciate assistance even from those erstwhile held in political disesteem."

THE LORD'S WORD—"And * * * the Lord said unto Balaam, Go; but only the word that I shall speak unto thee, that thou shalt speak." Nu. 22:35.

SCIENCE OF LIVING

Why are there so many divorces? Why do parents fail to understand their children? Why do women think house-keeping more important than home-keeping? Why do women fail to apply the same efficiency in the home that men find successful in business? How can the home be made a career? These are a few of the questions that Vassar College will seek to answer in its summer course, which has been inaugurated to meet the needs of the times and which is known by the comparatively new name of Euthenics. What is Euthenics? It is the science and the art of effective living—not having to do only with being a wife, a mother, homemaker, a member of society; nor with home economics, child training, social work, cooking, politics, mental hygiene, psychology and psychiatry—but it includes all of these and more. Euthenics, it is claimed, will give woman a similar background to aid her to grapple with her problems as scientific study and research gives an engineer. This is an age of progress, hit or miss methods are no longer acceptable, and Vassar will be doing society a vast service in teaching homemaking. For it differs vastly from house-keeping. Anyone can be sufficed to keep a house unacceptably clean and have "a place for everything and everything in its place," as the old saw goes, but it takes a lot more to provide a place of constant cheer and comfort, that possesses that atmosphere of soothing charm—in other words, a home. The home is still and must continue to be the stone of the arch of sane human security and progress. Theories of free love and Communist regimes slight the value of the home as an institution for progress, but it is, nevertheless, the old age passes and the new advances but let us hope that the home, the real, true home, may never pass away as a bulwark of our civilization.

WOMAN'S SPHERE SHIFTS

Women are not fixed in industry, although they have become fixtures in industry. As scientific research, applied to industrial processes and commercial systems, has progressed, so the employment opportunities for women have been advanced, shifted or retarded. But the net result has been a steady expansion of the occupational area open to women. It is little more than half a century since the invention of the telephone, which has created employment for so many thousands of women; and less than a decade since radio revolutionized communication and provided further employment for many women. Neither of these, however, can approximate the influence on the employment of women made by the invention of the typewriter. But even while one writes of the employment opened to women through mechanical devices, other mechanical devices are being perfected to take it away, the automatic telephone switching devices being the most outstanding development. However, the increase in opportunities for employment, whatever the shift in specific occupations, may be depended upon to maintain a consistent high average, for new avenues open up every day to absorb the surplus workers thrown on the labor market by the further invention of automatic machinery.

THE POLISH SITUATION

The Polish situation is fraught with grave dangers for all of Europe. By no means is it true that the whole Polish nation is united in approval of Pilsudski and his assumption of dictatorship, even pending the election of another president. Poland has not yet had time to create for itself a national character. For generations sections of what is now Poland were included in the jurisdiction of other nations. There was German Poland, Russian Poland and Austrian Poland. The difference in these sections is not only one of custom but also one of language. Other elements comprising the body politically are the Liberals, the Radicals, the Communists, the Rights, the Left—in fact Poland is simply a seething mass of petty factions. It was this fact that caused the inefficient operation of the Polish national government, the mistakes of which created a reaction that enabled Pilsudski to sweep enough of them with him to a military coup at once unexpected and complete. It is very hard to judge what is going on in Poland, however. The Pilsudski government says there is no censorship but newspaper correspondents who have journeyed into Germany in order to file their dispatches, uncensored, over the German telegraph lines, state that there is and that Pilsudski is not a flaming dictator, but a broken old man, completely in the grip of a group of army officers who staged the whole uprising and are using Pilsudski for a sort of figurehead. Let us hope this not so. If there has been bloodshed in Poland it will not be the first time, but this time let it not be in vain. Let there rise out of this overthrow of government a new government for the gallant little nation, a government that will be truly representative of Poland, that will consolidate its functions, what will work effectively and constructively toward Poland's advancement and reconstruction.

FED UP WITH SPEED

The race against time around the world in which an American aviation writer is engaging is not so engrossing as such events were in former years. Speedy travel is coming to be an old story. The American public is really beginning to be "fed up" with speed. Of course we can go fast nowadays. There is only too much evidence of that, by land and sea, especially on the paved highways and on water routes frequented by up-to-date speed boats. It looks, from a cursory glance, as if a large part of the population were speed-crazy. On closer inspection, however, a careful observer may conclude that the crazy ones are in a minority—that most people are still moderately sane, and not only do not want to go rampaging around at the utmost possible speed, but are annoyed by those who do. This is particularly true in water sports, where the recent mania for speed boats has spoiled many a river, lake and harbor for those who love natural beauty and charm rather than the noise, smell and vibration of powerful engines. Speed in the air is another matter. That does no harm, as yet. There is plenty of room up there, and will be for some time. And it is mainly in the air that the present world-girdler expects to make his record. Yet is not this, too, vanity? There will be occasions when high speed in transit is greatly desirable, but how often? Will not the average traveler lose much from this very speed, when once he grows used to it? What can he see from a lofty, rapid flight? Air transportation will be little more than a blind hop from one spot to another spot on the earth's surface, with no experience of the intervening land or people. Better keep on the ground and go slow than lose normal human satisfactions and gain only a vain restlessness.

SPRING SUNSHINE

People should need no urging to get out into the sunshine when spring comes. Yet there is a queer, old-fashioned prejudice against it as soon as the days become really bright and warm. That is unfortunate especially for the children, who need sunshine still more than their elders. "Most of the people in the United States and Canada," a Toronto physician tells the American Health Congress, "suffer during the winter and spring for lack of sunlight, and that accounts for the high mortality of these months." Half the year the sun, even when shining, is weakened by its low altitude and thick air, so that the ultra-violet rays are cut off. These are the rays needed to stimulate life, and needed to make children grow. Without them, rickets and other diseases of malnutrition develop. Three-fourths of all babies develop rickets to some extent during the winter, says this doctor. That can be remedied by the use of cod liver oil, egg yolks and certain other foodstuffs, but the very best remedy is sunshine, as clear and strong as possible. The brunets can stand almost any amount of it, and the blonds can stand it if they become accustomed to it gradually. "We must persuade all mothers to put their babies in the sun," he says. "Careful experiments have shown that it will not hurt the babies' eyes, as has been supposed." It will not do the same good to give the kiddies their sunshine indoors, through glass window panes. The glass keeps out the ultra-violet rays. They must get sunlight direct. And so must their elders, if the latter are to enjoy health and vigor. The sun is the great dynamo of vital energy. Don't waste it.

STATE DRY ENFORCEMENT

"I am in favor of state enforcement of prohibition being the major enforcement," says a political leader. "And for this reason, if a governor does not enforce the prohibition law, the people can express their approval or disapproval of it every two years. But the people can get a chance at a federal administration only once in four years." This might be interpreted as the statement of a dry. The same position is taken by many wets. "State rights" is coming to be a big part of the prohibition issue. This might be the most satisfactory solution of the liquor problem as far as individual states are concerned. It would probably give the majority in any state what they want. But obviously it would be a new kind of prohibition. It would weaken the authority of the federal government an dreduce national prohibition to the virtual status of local option among the states. Whatever may be the merits of such a proposal, it is not what was intended when the dry amendment was ratified, and would probably mean modification or abolishing that amendment.

HEALTH NOTES

Periodic examinations and tests in the interest of maintaining health are gaining ground, but if they could be thoroughly popularized and "put across," it would be the greatest medical achievement of the age. The efficiency of doctors and the efficacy of treatments in most cases depend largely upon what progress the disease has made before the advice of a physician is sought; this would be prevented by periodic examinations and tests. However, only too few of the physicians now making these examinations make them with a thoroughness that is complete enough to detect hidden signs of disease not patent at first glance. This creates an even graver situation than before existed since false security is bred in the mind of the person examined that is not justified by the actual facts of his physical condition. There is great need for accuracy, thoroughness and conscience in these periodic examinations or they are worse than useless. This is plainly up to the medical profession. It is their duty, their pride in their profession that is at stake. When they have created confidence the public will respond.

The First Disappointed June Bride

It Is Reported

It is reported that Mark Twain quit school at the age of twelve, but he never told it in any of his campaign speeches that we have ever heard of. We are of the opinion that the politicians who brag about having never gone to school might save the trouble of telling the public about it—they already know it.

It is reported that Governor Ferguson has put the extra session of the legislature off till after the primary. If the Ferguson live up to their challenge to Dan Moody, in all probability, they will never have to call the extra session at all.

It is reported that there is a mix up down Austin way. State Treasurer Hatcher is telling the people that he saved the state several million dollars. The Ferguson claim that they saved it to the state, and Dan Moody says it has not been saved at all.

It is reported that a bill is now before congress to require every person who hunts on his own land to have a license, which would cost him $1.00. That's not so bad, but the trouble is that some smart Elec would get about sixty percent of it for being game warden.

It is reported that man came came into this world without a thing on him, but there is one thing certain he does not remain that way long. It does not take long in this country for nearly everybody to get something on him.

It is reported that the clothes lines are being made much smaller now than a few years back. The clothing is so scant that the lines do not need to be so strong.

It is reported that one young man is so polite and so modest that he will not tell the naked truth in the presence of ladies.

It is reported that it takes personality to borrow money. The matter of collateral has always been the first requirement with our bankers.

It is reported that one Lubbock lady is always saying that it goes without saying, but still she keeps on talking. We are just wondering just what she means by "goes without saying."

That no one has visited the north pole for a week, and the polar bears are feeling neglected.

It is reported that there is at this time more widowers in Lubbock than possibly any other time in the history of the city.

It's the time of year when "wifey" goes to see "pa" and "ma," you know.

It is reported that "week-ends" are very fatal to Texans, especially this class that ride in automobiles.

It is reported that it is not much better luck to count chickens before they come back from the neighbor's garden than it is to count them before they hatch.

It is reported that the Republicans of Texas are trying to adopt the primary system, but they are first picking their candidates, before they are allowed to enter the primary.

That Lubbock has more roses this year than she ever has had, and we congratulate the people of this city in making their homes more beautiful, but there is still much room for improvement.

So Think We

We think that it is much more honorable to make a contract than it is to break one, and we might say that it is also easier to make one than to break one. The thought here is to be careful how you make them.

We think that stubborn humanity is the life of the law profession.

We think some people seem to make capital out of intolerance.

We think it usually makes a great deal of difference whose ox is gored.

We think there is one thing that we say that Great Britain knows, and that is what a general strike is like.

We think in this day and time that you cannot tell just what people are going to do or what they mean by what they say.

We think that possibly more people are fooled in religion more than any other one thing—they think they have it when they do not.

We think that Mothers Day is long passed and forgotten but father is still getting his.

We think that people have blamed politics with more bum speeches than most any other thing.

We think it is about time for the coal miners to be scaring up something that will boost the coal prices before the winter supply is available.

HERE AND THERE

Better Keep This Man
Johannes Tielie, a young Hollander who came to America as a sailor and neglected to go back on board his ship, was rounded up by the immigration authorities and ordered deported.

While loafing around the Battery in New York awaiting the time for his departure from these shores, Tielie saw a man and a woman struggling in the water some distance away. The woman had tried to commit suicide and the man was trying to rescue her without success. Tielie promptly jumped in and saved them both.

It is said that the order of deportation may be revoked because of Tielie's heroism, if a way can be found to overcome the red tape which is entwined with such a proceeding.

It would be pleasing if Tielie might be allowed to stay in America. It would not be surprising if he should make a pretty fair sort of a citizen. We had better keep him.

Big Jim Tully
Big Jim Tully washed automobiles and did other commonplace jobs around a garage in New York for several years before his death, which occurred not long ago. He was not ambitious, and judged by the world's standards he did not amount to much. But he had a heart of gold. He was a friend of childhood.

Each week he drew $30 as wages, of which he used $10 for his modest living expenses and saved the rest. When the opportunity came, he hired a traveling merry-go-round man to set up in the neighborhood for as many days as the savings on hand would permit and turned the outfit over to the poor children in the vicinity for their free enjoyment. This procedure was repeated many times.

When Big Jim died he did not leave enough money to pay his funeral expenses, but his children friends, some now grown up, chipped in and paid the funeral expenses.

Paul Zeiss, aged 31, of Bremer-voerde, Germany, weighs 297 pounds and his brother Anton, one year older weighs 275.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Oil Troubles the Water
New habits produce new evils which have to be solved, which is illustrated by the necessity for an international conference in Washington on June 8 of experts on the pollution of navigable waters by oil. The use of oil as fuel by vessels has resulted in the discharge of oily mixtures near the coast which have caused wide-spread pollution, affecting bathing beaches, harbors and shore prospects with consequent detriment to healthful amusements. Increased fire hazards and injury to fishing industries have also resulted.

Curail Production
Curailment in production of cotton materials, North and South, has taken place, according to the review of the Department of Agriculture.

Wheat Supply Smaller
The world supply of wheat for the remainder of this crop year appears smaller and an active demand results from importing countries, according to the Department of Agriculture. Winter wheat prospects in the United States indicate one hundred fifty million more bushels than last year.

Tariff Offsets Subsidy
A new combine of German iron and steel manufacturers is reported by the Department of Commerce, and, subsequently, the Treasury Department announced increased duties to offset certain foreign subsidies in this trade.

To Test World's Wheat
Wheat from forty-two countries is being collected by the Department of Agriculture for milling and baking tests to compare American wheat with that raised in other countries.

Coal Exports Drop
Coal exports from the United States for April, both bituminous and anthracite, were less than in March, according to the Department of Commerce.

5,000,000 Ldte Spindles
Cotton spindles in the United States on April 30 numbered 57,725,744, of which approximately 5,000,000 were not operated during the month, according to the Department of Commerce.

Basis of Loans
Cotton continues to be the basis of more loans than any other commodity handled through the Federal Intermediate Credit banks; but tobacco recently has been the subject of many rediscounts.

353 Billion Dollars
The national wealth of the United States in 1922 was estimated at 353 billion dollars and the annual income in 1923 at seventy billion dollars, according to the Federal Trade Commission's recent report.

Give $81,222,887 Away
Benefactions of $1,722,887 were made to universities and colleges in the United States in the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1924, according to the Bureau of Education.

16 Per Cent Increase
Increase in the national wealth of the United States from 1912 to 1922 was estimated at 72 per cent, measured in dollars, a real increase of 16 per cent based on the purchasing power of the dollar, according to the Federal Trade Commission's report.

WETS ATTACK BIG BILL BORAH

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The wets have laid a row of tacks down in the path of Big Bill Borah, the new white hope of the dries, with the ferret prying that he will pick up a puncture.

The chief tack layer was Senator Edwards, New Jersey, wet democrat, who said Tuesday that the lure of the White House was causing Borah to play politics with the prohibition issue and who asked the Idaho senator whether he also favored liberal application of the 14th amendment which would require all negroes in the south to be allowed to vote.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

HOUSE
Began consideration of French debt settlement.

SENATE
Took up farm relief bills. Commissioner Costigan of Federal tariff commission attacked recent testimony of former Commissioner Culberson as "deplorably false."

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

CHANGE

Joy comes and goes.
A little while
We wear the smile.
June buds the rose
The bride shall wear
And life is fair,
But Time shall bring
Life's hurt and sting.

All days must end,
The bright, the gray
Soon pass away.
The nights descend,
Change follows fast,
Sickness overcast,
With all their dread,
Are swiftly sped.

And so with care,
It comes and goes,
A cold wind blows,
And chills the air,
The waste of doubt,
Is strewn about,
Through scars remain
Time soothes the pain.

Nor hurt nor wrong,
Nor loss nor gain,
Nor mirth nor pain
Can last for long.
A thousand fears
Bestrew the years,
But in between
Are days serene.

LOCKNEY CLUB TO PLAY HUBBERS HERE TODAY

CITY LEAGUE ORGANIZATION WILL BE COMPLETED FRIDAY

LOCKNEY INDEPENDENTS WILL BATTLE HUBBER NINE THIS AFTERNOON AT THE MERRILL PARK; "STINGY" WILL PITCH

This afternoon the Lockney Independents will meet the undefeated Hubbers at the Merrill park for a nine inning contest. In the first meet of the Hubber and Lockney clubs, the Hubbers easily won the game, but since that time the Floyd county aggregation has added much strength to their line up and will no doubt present a brilliant battle with the local club here this afternoon. "Stingy" Hudspeth, the Denver hero, will no doubt toss the game this afternoon against the Lockney club. Frank is in great shape and with a warm day he will no doubt hurl a wonderful tilt.

Order Dempsey to Fight Wills

BY FRANK GETTY
United News Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, June 1.—Tex Rickard missed his appointment with the New York boxing commission Tuesday, so the fight fathers took matters in their own hands and ordered Jack Dempsey to sign articles not later than June 22 for a fight with Harry Wills.

Loayza Had Fighting Heart

NEW YORK, June 1.—For fighting heart, no boxer of the past or present ever excelled Stanislaus Loayza of Chile.

This dark-skinned scrapper from South America put up the gamiest exhibition seen in New York in many years, when he fought his way to a draw with Phil McGraw, the Detroit Greek, at Madison Square Garden recently.

Those who sat at the ringside marveled as the Chilean took the heavy blows of his sturdy opponent on unprotected head and body, and kept going. It was not that Loayza sustained the terrific punishment and hung on to the last limit of the ten round fight. Staggered and almost blinded, he moved forward every round, slashing out with vicious lefts and rights which rocked his stronger adversary and kept the Greek from inflicting a knock-out blow.

Heads down, fists flying, this pair put up a battle which should situate forever the talk of the old-timers that modern scrappers no longer have the fighting heart. McGraw, himself, bore up under the Chilean's hardest blows, but it was Loayza who really won the honors for fighting on under difficulties.

From the second round on, Loayza was due to be knocked out, it seemed, at any moment. He tottered on the ropes. He could scarcely stand when the bell brought welcome relief at the end of a round. Yet every minute he was in the ring he was advancing, slashing away, seemingly impervious to pain.

A boxer who fights as Loayza does is bound to burn himself out in a short time. The human machine can not stand punishment such as this dusty youngster absorbs with a grin. But Loayza, when he passes, will leave behind an enviable record as one of the gamiest fighters that ever appeared in an American ring.

YOUNG GOLDSTEIN MOST PROMISING LIGHTWEIGHT

BY FRANK GETTY
(United News Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, June 1.—The greatest lightweight prospect since Benny Leonard retired as undefeated champion has risen from the teeming East Side of New York in the person of Young Ruby Goldstein.

It is always easy to be too enthusiastic about a new comer to fistie fame, but this Ruby has stood the test in 23 ring fights, and has never been beaten.

The writer, in the years he has followed boxing, has never seen an able sharp-shooter than this 20 year old son of the Ghetto. When Ruby fires with his rapier-like left, it strikes the mark.

With most boxers, a left lead is in the nature of a faint. When Goldstein lets go, his fist goes smack to the "button", nine times out of ten. Let his opponent duck and dodge as he will, Ruby pops him with that left which strikes like a cobra. A vicious right cross follows, rocking the unhappy opponent's head. There is no wince of motion.

Goldstein is confined at present to six round fights, because he is under age. Next winter, there will be an opportunity to test his talents over longer routes. There is no reason to suppose, if properly handled, that the little Jewish boy can not make

COLORADO REMAINS DERBY FAVORITE

By United News.
EPSON DOWNS, Eng., June 1.—Earl of Derby's Colorado remained the favorite Tuesday in the betting rings near the famous race course where the historic English derby will be run Wednesday.

The odds placed at around three to two against Lord Astor's Swift and Sure proved increasingly popular with the bettors however, and the odds by night fall had shortened from 10 to 1 to 8 to 1.

FORUM TO TAKE PART IN DRIVE

Today at 3 o'clock the Forum club, which consists of the newsboys of the city, will take part in a rabbit drive to be made 4 miles east of town, the rabbits will be used in the gigantic dog races which will be held here June 4 and 5. All newsboys that belong to the Forum will be entertained at the theater this evening with the invitation extended to them by Gene Wofford, manager of the Lubbock Coursing park. The Forum will be given rides to the place of the drive and they are requested to gather at the Wofford Tin shop at 3 o'clock.

MAJOR GAMES ARE DROWNED OUT AGAIN

Rain washed out all but one American league and two National league games Tuesday.

Jimmy Ring, pitching for the Giants against the Phillies, lasted just long enough to let New York win, 7 to 6. George Kelly hit two homers.

Cliff Heathcote of the Cubs duplicated Kelly's performance in a game against the Cardinals which was featured by five homers and was won by Chicago, 10 to 9. Bottomley, Brooks and Hartnett also contributed four-ply blows.

The Giants may have been unfortunate in their victory, for Frankie Frisch, second baseman, injured his leg and was forced to retire. A serious injury to the former "Fordham flash" would prove a severe handicap to McGraw.

QUEENSBORO FIGHT IS RAINED OUT

NEW YORK, June 1.—Inclement weather caused the postponement of the fight card scheduled for the Queensboro stadium Tuesday night in which Dave Shade-Maxie Rosenbloom was the feature. The card will be held Wednesday night.

DOG RACES SHOWING MUCH INTEREST OVER PANHANDLE AND SOUTH PLAINS; 250 RACING HOUNDS ARE REGISTERED

According to Gene Wofford, manager of the Lubbock Coursing park, the dog races are to be held here on the 4 and 5 of June are creating much interest over the state and especially in the interest being shown throughout the Panhandle. Each day Mr. Wofford receives wires, letters and telephone calls regarding the big two day event.

Among those that will be expected here for the races are R. M. Carls, Plano; R. L. Sutton, McAdoo; Percy Gibbs, Amarillo; A. A. Reno, Tyler; C. E. Wagner, Elk City, Ok.; T. G. Moore, Abilene; Adron L. Finley, San Antonio; R. L. Mullins, Wichita Falls; E. J. Harbut, Plainview; P. A. Reed, Floydada; Ralph Alford, Amarillo; Hubert Clark, Ralls; Fred Whitman, Lubbock; Nolon Womble, Ralls; A. Palmer, Eddy, and John McDonald, Bowie.

This afternoon it is thought that enough rabbits will be secured to care for the event, with the aid of the Forum club, which consists of the newboys of Lubbock. They will meet at the Wofford Tin shop at 3 o'clock where they will find free rides waiting for them. After the boys return from the rabbit drive they will all be entertained at one of the theaters with the invitation of Mr. Wofford.

Sport lovers from all sections of the Plains will gather here for the races aside from hundreds of spectators that will witness the event.

Americans Will Defend Walker Cup Wednesday

BY H. C. HAMILTON

United News Special Correspondent, ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, June 1.—In defense of the Walker cup, eight Americans take the links at historic St. Andrews Wednesday morning. They are confident that they will retain the trophy emblematic of the team championship in amateur golf between the United States and Great Britain.

Until the last moment, the British had not decided upon the make-up of their team. They discarded Alex Simpson, the Scot who was runner-up to Jess Swetser in the amateur championship last week, and put A. E. Storey in the lineup in place of W. A. Murray, a quarter finalist.

Two ball foursomes over 36 holes of the Royal and Ancient golf club will be played Wednesday with the teams paired as follows: Bobby Jones and Waits Gunn vs. Cyril Tolley and A. Jamieson. Francis Ouimet and Jesse Gullford vs. Rover Wethered and Sir Ernest W. Holderness.

Jess Sweetser and George Von Elm vs. Robert Harris and Major Hewlet. Robert Gardner and Roland Macenzie vs. A. F. Storey and the Hon. W. G. Brownlow.

Paired as they will be Wednesday, the Americans played two rounds Tuesday, everyone shooting fair golf, but no one displaying anything sensational or sufficient to excite nervous local rumors that the United States would walk off with the Walker cup without difficulty.

A hard fight is expected, but the favorites are determined to win. Bobby Jones and Waits Gunn, playing against Francis Ouimet and Jesse Gullford in a practice match, were three down going to the fourteenth, won four straight holes only to lose the eighteenth and halve the match.

The committee which selected the British team has been subjected to considerable criticism because Storey was chosen instead of Murray or Simpson. The team which will meet the Americans is a formidable aggregation, however.

New 100 Yard Dash Record This Summer

BY FRANK GETTY

(United News Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, June 1.—A world's record of 9.2-5 seconds for the 100 yard dash will be established this summer.

With half a dozen sprinters capable of turning the "century" in better than 9.3-5, it is only a matter of time—and a short time, at that—before the timers' watches show that a full fifth of a second has been clipped from the existing world record.

Already, Charley Paddock, Roland Locke, Jackson Scholz and Don Barber have been clocked in 9.5-10, for the hundred, and Paddock's time probably will be accepted as a new world's record. Three watches caught him in 9.5-10, a fourth in 9.6-10. A slight wind was blowing into the faces of the runners.

Charley Borah, a freshman at the University of California, was only four inches behind Paddock at the finish, so the former must be counted in when the list of sprinters who can break the 9.3-5 is compiled.

Jackson Scholz chased Don Barber the U. of C. track captain across the finish line in the Pacific Association Games at San Francisco early this month, and forced the Californian to do 9.5-10 for the "century". Roland Locke has equalled this mark twice and so has Scholz, but in each case the A. A. U. withheld its official recognition of the record.

The promoters of the Sesqui-Centennial Celebration at Philadelphia are building a monster stadium for athletic games, and will construct the fastest straightaway in the world for the sprints. Given the best possible track and favorable weather conditions—that is, with no favoring wind to detract from the performance—it seems certain that the mark of 9.2-5 seconds, long considered beyond the bounds of possibility, will be reached.

OVER-EATING KILLS MORE THAN OVER-DRINKING DOCTOR SAYS

By CHARLES CLARK SWEET

CHICAGO, June 1. (U.P.)—Being fat is a more dangerous occupation than that of being a locomotive engineer, and there are more casualties in the elementary canal than in the Panama and all other canals on earth. More people die from over-eating today than died from excessive drink in the wettest days before the Volstead Act.

Are you carrying a fatal burden of fat? Knowing one's height one can quickly determine. An individual 5 feet in height should weigh 110 pounds, and for every inch over 5 feet add 5 1/2 pounds.

Obesity, indirectly is the most formidable enemy of longevity as it is the greatest predisposing factor in the causation of diabetes, Bright's disease, apoplexy and heart disease; these being the common and dread diseases of adult life and the cause of 80 percent of the deaths in the United States yearly.

Life insurance investigations have definitely shown that weight, especially in relation to age, is a very important factor in influencing the life span. In the young, over weight seems to lessen the mortality, while in the aged, it increases it.

How are we to attain this desirable level? The remedy is a simple one. If, under proper medical supervision, an individual will take less food than is required to carry on the combustion going on in the body, there is no danger on earth that can prevent him from losing weight, as he draws upon the excess fat stored away in the tissue for the fuel for necessary combustion, instead of depending upon that supplied by food.

Through preventative medicine, health hygiene, periodic physical overhauling, periodic physical inspection the span of life has already been increased to 58 years. How can you and I help combat the physical decay and lengthen the span to three score year and ten?

First we can impress upon individuals the great importance of seeking for the best available source, thorough, protective, periodical physical and dental examination before pain or obvious physical failure compel action.

Secondly by our interest and co-operation in the work of those organizations, like the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which are most valuable factors in the education of the public in the value of hygienic measures in the prevention of disease. We can remedy our physical defects whereby the life span and the health span will be increased. This means greater capacity for enjoying life, as well as for efficient work and service throughout the years.

Johannesburg, South Africa, will spend more than $150,000 on the twenty autobuses for its municipal line.

LUBBOCK WON'T DISAPPOINT W T C C

BIG DELEGATION PLANS TO GO TO AMARILLO CONVENTION

"Will she be disappointed?" "I'll say she won't."

This is what the steering committee for the local chamber of commerce replies to a question from Amarillo regarding Lubbock's delegation at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention that convenes there June 21, 22 and 23.

A letter from the general arrangements committee for the convention sent out to all the West Texas towns advising of plans of the convention, giving the towns a check to see if they are looking after all details of the convention arrived today from Amarillo. One paragraph of the circular read: "It is the purpose of this letter to say that Amarillo is strong in hope your town will be well represented at the meeting to be held June 21, 22 and 23. Will she be disappointed?"

The steering committee composed of F. A. Norman, E. L. Robertson, Spencer Wells, H. L. Allen and H. D. Woods says "I'll say she won't."

"This leads up to the next question," one of the committee men stated yesterday, "Lubbock is going to send the largest delegation that ever departed from a west Texas city."

The Lubbock high school band is going up in full regalia under the direction of James W. Crowley, band master and will enter the mammoth band contest that will be staged there. The band boys are going to give these other west Texas musical organizations their money's worth in competition.

The Lubbock delegation will also compete in several contests on delegation day, June 22. With Lubbock banners and other colors that have already been received by the local chamber of commerce committee, the Hub city representatives will attempt to show the other delegations the west Texas pep generator is located at Lubbock, the Hub of the Plains.

Better get that business straightened up, the committee advises, for when the time comes we're all going and we can't leave you here at home alone.

James Williams, of Post City, was here Tuesday, looking after business. He has just recently sold his paper at Post City, and will retire from the newspaper business as soon as he can dispose of a plant that he owns at Southland.

Mrs. N. L. Peters and children Polly and Jackie will leave today for a two weeks stay in Albany and Ft. Worth. They are accompanied by Mrs. Peters' mother, Mrs. A. Lessock, who has been visiting in Lubbock several weeks.

Bandits Rob Him, Steal Car, Wish Him "Good Day" By United News. SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 1.—Three bandits noked a gun in the ribs of J. A. Daugherty, night garage attendant, early Tuesday and demanded that he turn over all the cash in the place.

"Not content with taking $133, which was all we had, they ordered me to drive them about the city," Daugherty complained to the police.

"Then after I had carried them all over town, they tied my hands and feet, gagged me and threw me out.

"As if stealing the money and car wasn't enough, one of the gang bowed low and said, 'I wish you a very pleasant day.'" ly upon the scene as the Pioneers of this great empire came in search of happy homes and bountiful lands. They were followed by the mad rush of the cowboys as they came in and partook of their noonday meal. This group was one of the most realistic of the entire procession and many old timers in the audience could be heard to give a happy chuckle as the boys rode off.

Then the farmer and his happy bride gave their first "square dance" and the neighbors from miles around made a gala affair. They came afoot, horseback and in wagons and merry was the keynote as the tune of "Turkey in de' Straw" echoed from the coisters of the building.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce appeared in their glory and gave account of all their conquests. Thirty nine students followed in Quest of the Tech and passed in review before the great organization.

The sound of the trumpet was again heard as the little Herald announced the coming of the Queen. The little flower girls came daintily from here and there strewing the sweet blossoms in the pathway of Her Majesty. They were followed by the members of the Royal court who stood awaiting her presence.

Then Queen D'Aun of the House of Sammons in all her beauty and dignity approached the throne and knelt for the precious ceremony. Dean J. M. Gordon, representing President Horn, crowned her Queen of the First Pageant of the Texas Technological college and bade her subjects to do homage for all time to come.

Egbert Boyd and Mrs. R. C. Harrison entertained in honor of Her Majesty with the old Spanish dance, Jarabe Tapatío. The tech of the Future, attired in cap and gown, gave a glimpse into the coming event so the great empire.

The grand finale including all the characters marched in review of her majesty to the strains of Recession.

various laboratories in Texas proved these materials of excellent quality. Serve 3,000,000 Acres The proposed line of railway, according to Engineer Secrest would traverse a practically unbroken agricultural section comprising more than three million acres.

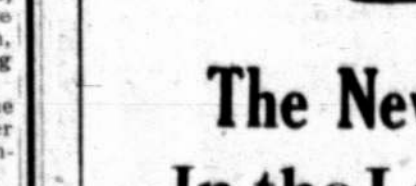

Mr. Secrest has made a resource survey of this territory during the past fifteen months and found that this territory, running from Lubbock to Portales, is approximately 96 per cent tillable and 93.04 per cent proven resourcefulness. The 3.04 per cent difference in the tillable land and the proven resourcefulness of the territory is made up by the sand, clay, gravel and potash deposits in the territory, the engineer pointed out.

To See Land Owners Messrs. Secrest and Henson were here yesterday to see owners of large bodies of land that would be effected by the construction of the proposed line whose aid they want in securing the $300,000 bonus. These land owners included Maple Wilson, Mr. Enochs and others here and McElvey Brothers of Temple. They will go to Plainview and Amarillo today where they will see other owners of land that is situated in the territory the proposed road

The largest body of land owned by a single individual in the territory that would be served by the proposed line is situated in the southern section of Bailey county, comprises 60,000 acres and is owned by W. SYNOPSIS

"Dick" Jennings, political ward boss, has just telephoned Jerome Wallace, candidate for District Attorney, to tell him that the results of the canvass, published by the Star this morning, show that District Attorney John Manning is almost certain of re-election. Wallace demands he is paying Jennings to do "something" and bids him "get out."

Wardless of such fears, the more Country Club had, so by speaking, completely outdone the night, setting in Bob Manning's birthday party a new record. But general exuberance was not exceeded without special effort. So far as expense was concerned, John Manning had been liberality itself and for days, Billie had not only bustled herself with the flat of guests, but had been in frequent conference with different members of the Club's staff. Now, all this effort had been rewarded. It had been a wonderful evening for Bob's young friends. An evening of superlative delight ending with a dance which was a perfect riot of unrestrained joys.

Wardless by their strenuous activities, the members of the orchestra were putting away their instruments. Quieted was the melodeon organ of the saxophone. And the sharp staccato of the banjo and jazz, king jazz, had ceased to echo over the polished dancing floor.

But in the pursuit of pleasure, youth never wearies. Orchestras play till patronesses grow heavy eyed and attendants fall asleep at their posts, yet youth is indefatigable. Midnight merely heralds the dawn of a new day, of fresh opportunity for enjoyment. In the face of the departing orchestra, a group of Bob Manning's youthful guests conferred wistfully upon the porch of the club house as if fearing to depart, lest, by chance, they would overlook some final crumb of the sweetest of pleasure spread for their enjoyment that evening.

"To them came Bob, fairly radiant with excitement and happiness.

"Good night, good bye," he cried, but in his eyes lurked another message: "Stay, why go?"

"Good night—good bye," they answered, and in their faces too was written another message: "We don't want to go—give us but an excuse and we will stay."

Even as they waited with vague longings, there burst upon them temptation in the person of Diane Pifano. Alert, high strung and vivacious, she paused in the doorway of the club house clinging to the arm of Theo Saturn and her gay, careless laugh was like the song of a green as she gazed at the waiting group without.

"That, going home?" she cried as if marveling that such folly were possible.

"The party is over, what else is there to do?" answered Molly Pierce, a demure little maid to whom Diane's gayety and spirit was a thing to be envied. "Aren't you going home?"

Again that laugh of Diane's rang out in the night, provocative, tantalizing in its mysterious promise.

"Going home? The very idea. She shot a glance at Theo whose lids were already laden from want of sleep. "We never go home when there is any place else to go, do we, Theo?"

"Not on your life," he proclaimed opening his eyes very wide indeed in a brave attempt to appear alert and awake. "Din and I just got wide awake about this time of night—hey, Din?"

For this loyal support, he was to be but poorly rewarded. Calmly leaving him in the lurch, Diane made for Bob and slipping her arm through his, gave him a look which proved that regardless of her father's attitude towards the Manning family, her own towards this member, at least, was very kind indeed.

"Come on, Bob, let's finish your party at Calkin's inn?"

"Calkin's inn?" he repeated in surprise and it was clear that regardless of Diane's enthusiasm, he did not share it. "Why, it's too late to think of going there, isn't it, Diane?"

"Too late for Calkin's inn?" They don't know the meaning of the word late there," she thrilled. "It's the very best time right now. They are just beginning to get really gay! Come on—Theo will take the whole crowd in his machine. Let's go!"

"Is—is it a nice place?" worried Molly, afflicted with scruples.

"Haven't you been there?" As astonishment at such woeful ignorance may have accounted for Diane's failure to answer the question precisely. "It's wonderful. Molly, a touch of high life to liven you up."

"A slumming party?" Molly was tempted and yielding fast.

"Slumming party! Great Heavens, no, child! We'll dance—dance to real music—music with pep."

"At this time of night?"

"They've hardly started—we'll dance until morning."

"Until morning?" Molly's eyes grew big. "But what about my mother, Diane? She'd throw a fit if I stayed out until morning."

"Dearie, surely you have a key?"

"Yes, but mother would hear me when I came in."

"Listen, honey," Diane rested a persuasive hand upon the other girl's shoulder. "Mother must not hear. Just be careful. You can get away with murder if you are careful. Why, the other night it was daylight when Theo and I started home from Calkin's and I, Theo?"

"Sure," responded that worthy, sleepily, apparently still suffering from the effects of the trip. "No body around but the milkman—the old ole, bright-eyed milkman."

"Well," continued Diane, "my mother is a good sort, up to date and not too inquisitive. But I didn't quite dare to drift in with the sun beams. So giving old Theo a snappy farewell, I slid in, shed my slippers and was upstairs in my little bed in a jiffy. Diane, what time did you get in last night?"

"Mother asked next day. You can search me—it must have been dearful late," I retorted, giving her the angel eye. You see," Diane went off in a gale of laughter. "It's easy if you're careful. With which wisdom, she smuggled closer to Bob and urged him towards Theo's car."

"Come on, nice boy," she pleaded. "I guess I won't go tonight."

Diane, he said, glancing back over his shoulder as if he felt other eyes upon him.

And, indeed, from just within the palm decorated hall, nothing of this had escaped the sharp eyes and ears of Marjorie, regardless of the fact that she was not alone.

"What are you going to do, Marjorie?" pleaded her companion, regarding her with undisguised admiration.

"Go home, of course, Billy," she retorted with a coldness which would have chilled a less persistent heart.

"With whom?"

"Blind was this youth or he must have remarked her wandering gaze and the uncertainty of her answer."

"Er—perhaps with Mrs. Manning," said Marjorie intent upon Diane's words.

Hope leaped in Billy's eyes.

"I've my car here. Can't I take you home, Marjorie?"

Her answer was prompt and plain.

"No, Billy."

"But, Marjorie—"

TEXAS UTILITIES BUILDING RUSHED

WORK ON HALF MILLION DOLLAR UNIT 60 PER CENT COMPLETED

All steel work on the power plant building for the Texas Utilities Company has been completed and concrete has been poured for foundations of three mammoth engines that will be installed in the building. The building is estimated to be sixty per cent complete.

When completed and equipment has been installed, this building will represent an investment of half a million dollars and is a part of a million dollars building program launched by the company on January 1st of this year.

Hubert L. Allen, manager of the company's business in this territory is in charge of the program with W. S. Barrett supervising the construction work.

Texas Utilities linemen are reported to be making good progress on a high line from Slaton to Southland.

Four Inches of Rain Fall In Lynn County

Special to The Avalanche.

TAHOKA, June 1.—The biggest rain of the season has fallen here within the past few days. Something like four inches of rain has been the average over the county.

The majority of all crops are up and growing fine here with a result that these rains will insure a fine growing season for some time to come. The early crops here were most all worked out which will prevent the weeds from getting a rank growth before it is dry enough to work them out.

Little damage was done anywhere here by the rain. Basements to the stores of Tahoka were flooded, but were kept bailed out as it ran in.

Hereford Band to Have New Uniforms

HEREFORD, June 1.—Business men of Hereford will purchase new uniforms for the Hereford Merit Band before the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Amarillo June 21, and 23. This decision was made at the luncheon meeting of the local Chamber of Commerce Monday.

Hereford will go as a delegation on the second day of the convention, but a large number will attend all three days. Committees have already been appointed to arrange the caravan trip to Amarillo, to work out advertising features for the parade, and to arrange decorations for the delegation.

The twenty-five piece band under the direction of Ralph Smith will head the Hereford delegation. Novel features to properly advertise the famous Hereford shallow water belt are being worked out. The local delegation has already secured headquarters at "The Regent," while in Amarillo. Hereford folks will return home each evening so that Amarillo can better take care of the visitors who travel long distance to the convention.

Tech Officials Select Gist Donation

MIDLAND, June 1.—Dean A. H. Leidigh, and W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department of Texas Tech were in Midland last week-end to select two heifers donated by John M. Gist, famous Hereford breeder of Midland, to the college for their foundation herd.

The two Texas Tech officials were honor guests of "Uncle John," as the widely known breeder of registered Herefords is known, at a big barbecue at Odessa. Townspeople of Odessa joined in welcoming the Lubbock visitors.

Dean Leidigh and Mr. Stangel were guests of the Midland Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon while here. Cattlemen of this section were also guests. Both of the visitors made talks exploiting Tech and praising Mr. Gist. Others who talked were Mr. Gist and County Agent J. B. Snider. Paul T. Vickers was toastmaster.

TAHOKA HOLDS MEMORIAL SERVICES UNDER DIRECTION OF AMERICAN LEGION

Special to The Avalanche.

TAHOKA, June 1.—Memorial services were held here in the court house under the direction of the American Legion. Miss Don Clifton and Miss Katherine Poer gave readings, while the principal address was delivered by B. P. Maddox, local lawyer.

After the special program, the American Legion members and the others retired to the cemetery to decorate the graves of Lynn county soldiers.

Hereford Makes Preparations For Hubber Game

HEREFORD, June 1.—Sled Allen's Lubbock Hubbers will journey to Hereford next Sunday for a game with the Hereford Independents, and local fans are predicting a real game. The Hubbers defeated the local crew in Lubbock several weeks ago, but the locals have improved wonderfully since that time.

Tate, Hereford's twirling ace, will probably start against the Hubbers Sunday. Tate scored his third straight victory last Sunday when the locals beat the fast Clovis team 9 to 2. Tate struck out nine men and allowed only four hits all of which were singles. Tate has allowed only four runs in the last three games and struck out thirty-five men in the same three games.

Preparations are being made to take care of a large crowd here Sunday. Lubbock team will be a good drawing card, as it is rated as the best baseball club in West Texas.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR TOKIO MAN HELD AT DAVIS HOME HERE

Millard Taylor, of Tokio, 73 years of age, died here late Monday following long illness.

The deceased has been a resident of Tokio, near Brownfield, for a number of years and is known throughout the plains country.

Brief funeral services were conducted here yesterday morning at the Davis home at 1502 9th street, by Rev. Walter P. Jennings and the body was carried to Brownfield where final services will be conducted today.

DATES FOR WELLINGTON FAIR HAVE BEEN SET

WELLINGTON, June 1.—Dates for the Wellington County Fair have been set for September 18, 17 and 18. Extensive preparations are now being made for the holding of West Texas greatest County Fair.

E. S. Shoaf, Fair Secretary states contract has been closed with Donald MacGregor carnival Co., one of the southwest greatest classics which consists of ten rides, twenty shows and one-hundred and fifty performers.

At this time Collingsworth county is in progress, and it is believed that the agricultural, poultry and livestock exhibits will exceed any previous year.

Raven being produced in Germany now has a total production of more than twice that of two years ago.

LUBBOCK BOY LOSES FINGERS IN CUTTER

SOUTHSIDE MARKET SCENE OF SERIOUS ACCIDENT EARLY TUESDAY

Vane Harkey, 17-year old son of Mrs. R. M. Harkey, 1709 Avenue J, suffered the loss of all fingers on his right hand at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning when his hand was caught in an electrically driven meat cutter at the Southside Market.

The young man was rushed to the Lubbock Sanitarium where an operation was performed by Dr. Krueger. Harkey has just completed his second year in high school here and had worked at the market during the past school term to defray the expenses of attending school.

The accident occurred when he attempted to dislodge a piece of meat that was hung in the cutter, his fore-finger being caught in the cutter and all were severed before he could break away from the machine.

ENGLISH POLITICS INJECTED WITH LOVE OF JAZZ

LONDON, June 1.—Jazz to be injected into British politics to attract the modern girl. The National Conference of Women Unionists at its convention, discussed plans for giving dances in constituencies throughout the country, at which, during an intermission, speakers will be introduced to solicit votes.

The convention also voted to continue the fight to obtain the admission of women to the House of Lords—one of the few remaining legislative bodies from which women are specifically barred, even though they may hold titles in their own right.

There was only one dissenting vote—that of Mrs. Lily Pierson, of Aldershot, who amid shrill hisses shouted: "For heaven's sake let the men have one place in the country where they can live in peace."

EVANGELIST FAILS TO EVOKE MIRACLE

NO SIGN FROM GOD ANSWERS SILENT PRAYER IN POP-LAR GROVE

TAMARACK, Minn., June 1.—Only the murmuring of a gentle summer breeze through the tall pines and poplars of a northwestern forest answered the prayers of Vernon Ewing's little handful of disciples when they assembled here Tuesday to petition God for a "sign" that he had heard their applications.

A fleecy white cloud dimmed the sun for a time during the hour of silent prayer, but there was no outward sign that the unique ceremony had been rewarded by heaven.

A light rain which had been falling a few minutes before the prayer began and Ewing said this might have been a sign from God, that he was ready to listen.

Promptly at 10 a. m. Ewing, who is an eye specialist and a zealous religious worker, called his group of followers into the grove and told them to kneel or bow their heads according to their own habit of praying.

Only a half dozen men stepped into the prayer circle, although more than a hundred men and women had come to the grove to witness the strange spectacle.

Ewing set the example by dropping to his knees and resting his head in his arms on the stump of a big tree. For one hour they prayed silently while the spectators, headed by Sheriff L. N. Boekenooen and his deputies, watched the skies intently or talked in hushed tones.

At 11 a. m., Ewing rose to his feet, smiled wearily and bade his "sin weary" followers disperse. "God willed differently," he said. "We have no cause to be discouraged. I had hoped that this form of appeal would bring a response, but it did not."

Then the little band of the faithful, many of whom had camped in tents at the scene for several days, went back to their farms and logging camps, obviously disappointed by the unfavorable results of the experiment into which Ewing had led them.

But even though it failed to accomplish its purpose, the open air prayer service was a treat to the natives of this remote community. It brought more excitement, more tourists and more money to Tamarack village than had ever been brought before. The one garage and the one ice cream stand did the greatest three day business in its history.

SECRET SERVICE MEN FIND THAT COOLIDGE IS EASY TO GUARD

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Secret Service men find Calvin Coolidge the easiest of all presidents to guard because of his simple and regular life.

Some of the White House secret service members date their service from Roosevelt's time. Roosevelt and Harding were the most difficult presidents to guard because of their impulsive and irregular habits.

Wilson led a comparatively regular life but moved about more than Coolidge. Harding was the most difficult to protect because of his sudden expeditions to Chevy Chase golf club, to E. B. McLean's country home, Friendship in Washington, and his late impromptu state parties with old senate cronies.

Caldwell was arrested at a local airplane field Sunday night by a federal officer who alleges they found twelve cases of alcohol in his possession.

FASTING HIKER STARTS TODAY

WILL WALK TO NEW YORK FROM CHICAGO WITHOUT FOOD

CHICAGO, June 1.—What is termed by doctors as one of the greatest tests of human endurance ever attempted will be started here Tuesday when Gorge Hasler Johnston starts walking to New York while fasting 30 days.

Johnston expects to reach New York on June 29, and does not intend to eat en route and plans to drink 20 quarts of water daily.

One the long overland hike, he will be accompanied by James H. Hocking, a veteran walker, while a motor car will trail behind carrying newspapermen and a physician. The physician will examine Johnston daily.

One year ago Johnston fasted 30 days and immediately planned the overland endurance test. He weighed 158 pounds when he appeared at the city hall Tuesday morning ready for the start.

LONDON HOTEL MEN TO CUT OUT CHARLESTON

LONDON, June 1.—Hotel men and cabaret proprietors are taking steps to nip the invading Charleston in the bud.

It jolted its way across the Atlantic months ago, but only with the coming of spring have people generally started to dance it—and they have stopped already at most places.

Leading hotels ban it. Notices at some cabarets are placed on every table: "You are requested not to dance the Charleston." In some small suburban dance halls there are spaces reserved for Charleston dancers because the others used the managers for kicks they received.

But dancing masters have dealt it the most damaging blow as far as the conservative London goes with the simple, unanimous statement: "It is not nice."

MODERN WAY FOUND TO KEEP GIRLS IN AT NIGHT

OXFORD, Eng., June 1.—Succeeding where mother fail, Miss Emily Penrose, principal of exclusive Somerville College, has found a way to keep the modern girl indoors at night.

Somerville is a part of Oxford University, and Miss Penrose learned that of some of her 300 girl students were scaling the wall around the college grounds in order to go out in the evenings with Oxford men.

Her reply was to surmount the stone wall, which is ten feet in height, with a three foot one of barbed wire, making a total of 13 feet, and the girls, although indignant, are being indignant indoors, while his what Miss Penrose desired.

When he moves to his summer White House, the duty of guarding the grounds will be handled by military authorities. The secret service men will attend only to the immediate protection of the president's person.

KERRVILLE CAMP STARTS IN JUNE

LUBBOCK MAY BE REPRESENTED AT DR. STEWART'S SUMMER CAMP

With "all outdoors" their classroom and study hall, 150 boys and 75 girls this summer will make progress in their books and grow husky in Stewart's camp for boys and girls near Kerrville.

Lubbock will doubtless be represented by a happy group of youngsters at the camp but while several are planning to spend their vacations there this summer none have stated definitely just when they will leave for Kerrville.

For eight weeks these youngsters, ranging in age from 10 to 21 years, will be under the guidance of a number of the leading high school teachers, men and women of the state. Under the ideal environment for development—mental, spiritual, and physical—many will make as much progress in the eight weeks as they would in an ordinary school term of nine months, into which they did not enter with all their heart and soul, it is claimed.

The first term opens June 15 and closes July 13; the second opens July 13 and closes August 10.

Located Near Kerrville Stewart's Camp for Boys is located on a 27-acre tract one mile west of Kerrville on the picturesque Guadalupe river. Log Cabin Lodge for Girls is located 15 miles southwest of Kerrville in the center of a wooded, mountainous tract of 1000 acres—one of the most beautiful sites for a camp to be found anywhere.

Among the 25 men who will direct the health-building activities of the 150 boys is Billy Disch, baseball coach of the Texas university, whose wholesome influence on boys and young men is recognized over the state. Mr. Disch is the counselor in charge of the Austin district and is assisted by Harvey Williams, Austin high school baseball coach, and by credit in their high schools for the work they had done in the camp.

C. S. Simmons of Houston Central high school will be among those assisting in the academic instruction of the boys, while Mrs. W. W. Crofoot, registrar and assistant dean of girls at Austin high school, will be dean of the academic work for the girls.

A glance at the week-day schedule of camp activities will indicate how wholesome is life the boys and girls will lead: a. m., reveille; 7:15 setting-up exercises and plunge if desired; 7:35, breakfast and inspection of quarters; 8, study of those taking academic work; 11, swimming; 12:30, lunch; 1, siesta; 1:30, athletic program, hiking, fishing, etc.; 4:30, swimming; 6:30, dinner; 7:30, athletic program, campfire, etc 10 p. m., taps.

Each Sunday, two hours will be given to devotional services.

Counselors for Boys Among the counselors of the boys' camp will be: "Bobby" Cannon, a former Texas university football and basketball star, now athletic director at San Antonio Brackett high school, and coach of the five that March 6 won the state high school basketball championship; Bill James, assistant football coach of Varsity; "Shorty" Alderson, assistant Varsity coach; "Big Joe" Ward, Longhorn three-letter athlete, now athletic director of Wesley college; "Rocky" Rundell, for three years a member of the Longhorn football squad; Coach Disch; Harvey Williams, Joe King, "Oz" Higgins and Mack Saxton, Texas university football stars; H. G. Wilson, basketball and track coach at Amarillo high school; W. H. B. Fehl, athletic coach at Beaumont South Side junior high school; L. V. Perkins, principal and athletic director of Cameron high school; F. K. Bright, Giddings high school athletic director, and C. W. Wilkinen, Longview high school athletic coach.

Boys Strong for Sports The boys will go in even stronger for sports than the girls. With "Doc" Stewart and his aides giving instruction, the youngsters will have the advantage of the sport knowledge of some of the outstanding coaches of the southwest. Football, basketball, track, golf tennis and swimming will be the main sports.

"Best Camper's Cup" will be awarded to the boy who adds most to the spirit of the camp, and gold medals will be given for proficiency in the various major sports.

Parents desiring to place their boy or girl in the camp are urged to get in immediate touch with George Bentley, care Bowen's Drug, Lubbock, Texas.

After having her golden locks cut off and adopting the Eton cut, a London miss went bathing and was so severely sun-burned that she was placed under a doctor's care.

PARISIAN GLOVES ARE STYLE IN AMERICA

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Parisian styles in leather gloves continue to dominate in the United States. There have been 8,064,877 pairs of gloves imported into the country from foreign nations during the last ten months, according to the commerce department.

France supplied 80 per cent of the importation. Three American companies recently opened factories in the Canary Islands for the making of articles from the hand embroidered work of the natives.

Rayon is losing its popularity in Germany, and an elaborate exhibit of the artificial silk at the recent Leipzig fair attracted little attention.

STOCKS WHEAT COTTON

New York Finance

By E. WALTER MOCKLER, Financial Editor N. Y. Commercial, Written for The United News.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Stocks acted very unsatisfactorily Tuesday under a bullish point of view. This sluggishness which restricted trading might be credited to the five per cent call money rate. With the withdrawal for holiday purposes as well as the ordinary June 1 requirements still out of banking channels this rate was not surprising. It is believed probable that the rate will settle back on a lower basis within the very near future. One cheerful side light was the fact that the market turned very dull under the pressure, sales falling well below the million share level. This was accepted as proof that the newly born bullish contingent was not disposed to abandon its position on such slight provocation, but was more inclined to hold back their operations for a more propitious moment. Furthermore, there were no special offerings in sight. This meant that the bearish element had lost its confidence for the time and was not disposed to make capital out of the setback resulting from high money rates.

There were two dividend meetings of importance but the market had not expected anything special from these. One was the Mack Truck gathering. Last week Mack truck was one of the real features of the industrial division in general and the motors in particular, but even at that time it was freely predicted that the meeting would bring only the regular dividend. This proved true. In regard to the Aitchison meeting a greater degree of latitude in expectations was possible. Aitchison has a powerful earning power and in addition has large outside holdings.

The street is convinced that there is always an outside possibility of something developing in this company. It is evident, however, that any dividend of the oil lands is a matter for the very distant future, while it was made plain Tuesday at the meeting when only the regular dividends were decided that the time had not yet come for any addition to the regular $1 per year rate.

KANSAS CITY LIVE STOCK.

KANSAS CITY, June 1.—Cattle receipts were moderately liberal here and at most market centers. Supplies here include a good percent of fair to good killing steers and yearling. Trade on this class was active with prices stronger. All heavy killers were slow and dull. Most steers sold around $8 to 9.75 with the tops at $9.90.

Desirable stockers and feeders were scarce. The most desirable kind were steady and others were dull and irregular. The bulk of sales on both stockers and feeders ranged around $6 to 8.50.

Hog supplies here and at most market centers were moderate. The demand was rather indifferent and trade all around was slow and with little change in prices. The market was about steady.

Stock pigs were unchanged with most sales around $14.50 to 15.25. Top fat hogs brought $14.15 to 14. Heavies sold around $13.50 to $13.90; mediums $13.75 to 14.00; lights $13.85 to 14.15.

Hogs: Receipts 1000; slow, few desirable 190 to 230 pound averages to shippers and traders $13.85 to 14.00, steady with Monday's best time; packers going slow; packing sows weak, $12 to 12.40; stock pigs steady $14.25 to 15.25.

Cattle: Receipts 10000; calves 2000; fairly liberal supply fed steers and yearling; few early sales of light weights fully steady, mixed steers and heifers $9.35; undertone weak on matured steers; no early sales of the stock; bulls steady to weak; bologna $5 to 5.50; weaners steady top $11; stockers and feeders scarce. Sheep: Receipts 10000; killing classes steady to 25c lower; top native lambs 017; better grades $16.50 to $16.75; Colorado $16.25 to 16.85; Arizona $16.50 straight; Texas Wethers $8.25.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK.

FORT WORTH, June 1.—Cattle receipts 2750; calves receipts 300; heaves $5.25 to 8.25; stockers $5 to 7.50; cows $4.50 to 5.25; cutters $4 to 4.50; canners $3.25 to 3.75; heifers $5.50 to 9.25; yearlings $5.50 to 9.25; calves $4.50 to 9.50; bulls $3.75 to 5.25.

Hogs: Receipts 500; medium $14 to 14.25; heavy $13.25 to 13.75; light $14.25 to 14.50; mixed $13.75 to 14; common $12.25 to 12.50; packing sows $12.50 to 13; pigs $12.75 to 13.75.

Sheep and lambs: Receipts 4600; spring lambs $13.10 to 15.75; feeder lambs $7.50 to 10; yearlings $10.50 to 13.50; wethers $7.75 to 8; $6.50 to 7.50; culls $1.50 to 2.50; stocker sheep $5 to 6; oats $2 to 4.25.

SWIFT JUSTICE FOR BOMB SENDER

MICHIGAN KLANSMAN GOES TO PEN FOR LIFE FOR THURSDAY'S CRIME

By United News.

MUSKOGON, Mich., June 1.—Five days after mailing the "wedding present bomb" which killed his political rival and two others, Asa K. Bartlett, 28 year old Ku Klux Klan leader and deconstable of Blue Lake township, is en route to Marquette prison to serve a life sentence for the triple murder.

Last Thursday afternoon the deadly explosive was delivered to August Krubach, the township supervisor while he, and his daughter, Janet, and her fiance, William Franke, were opening presents for their wedding which was to take place Saturday.

Believing the package contained another gift, the group of three were unwrapping it in Krubach's tavern when suddenly it blew up, killing the father and fiance and sending the young daughter, who died a day later.

Bartlett was arrested and when confronted with evidence indicating that he was the tavern keeper's politician's principal enemy, confessed that he had mailed the bomb, intending it for Krubach alone.

Tuesday he was arraigned before Judge John Vanderwey, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life in Marquette. The judge said that he was sorry the Michigan law did not permit them to impose the death penalty.

GIRL SCOUT LEADERS APPROVE OF YOUNG WOMEN SMOKING

BOSTON, June 1.—It was surprising, even a bit shocking to some of their hostesses. For who would have expected Girl Scout leaders to approve the feminine use of cigarettes.

Those who did were European delegates to the International Girl Scout Convention at Braintree, N. Y., who spent several days here as guests of local and state leaders.

Three of them not only let it be known that they thought it was all right for nice young women to smoke, but admitted that they themselves indulged in cigarettes.

"I smoke—naturally," said Baroness Myriam de Broqueville. "But of course we members of the Girl Scouts cannot smoke when we are in uniforms."

The Baroness' statement was seconded by Miss Helen Depaux Deumyenschneider of Luxembourg.

That there is any debate being waged in the United States as to whether women should smoke was a surprise to Baroness de Broqueville. Cigarette smoking, she explained, was an every day thing, taken as a matter of course in Europe.

Turkey plans to build three clothing factories and turn wool of that country into wearing apparel for the Turks.

Famous "Mother of the Movies" Is Motherly Off Screen Too

SINCE her never-to-be-forgotten portrayal of the mother role in Francis Ford's "Humoresque" the name of Vera Gordon has been synonymous with the ideal "mother of the movies." Miss Gordon is probably one of the best known actresses on the screen and stage today and her devoted audiences never fail to be on hand for her every appearance—whether it be in person or on the screen.

And this motherliness which has endeared Miss Gordon to so many people is not removed with her make-up, but is carried with her into her private life, for she likes nothing better than the joy she brings to her friends among the "very youngest set" by her frequent candy-making parties.

Vanilla caramels generally hold first place at these parties, and in her recipe for "Miss Gordon's" she takes a leaf from the book of the best professional candy manufacturers by including a small quantity of gelatine, which produces smoother and more palatable sweets and is valuable as an aid to digestion.

Vanilla Caramels
1 cup sugar (white)
1 cup syrup (white)
2 tablespoons evaporated milk
2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon granulated Gelatine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts of any kind or ground, figs or dates
Cook to 240 or, to a soft ball when tried in cold water

Put sugar, syrup, cream and salt together, stirring constantly while cooking. When batch is boiling add evaporated milk and butter. When required degree is reached remove batch from fire, add vanilla that has been soaked in 1 tablespoon cold water, vanilla and nuts or fruit, stirring carefully (without beating) to thoroughly mix. Then spread in oiled pan and when cold cut into 1 1/2 squares and wrap in wax paper.

Texas Candidates Seek Awards In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—Candidates from Texas who have recently filed entry forms in the American Youth Award and American Teacher Award include two teachers who through length of service as well as scholastic qualifications and devotion are believed by their sponsors to have accomplished the greatest good for the children of their state.

A number of Texas cities are hopeful that honor of these awards may be won by their candidates.

Mrs. Kate A. Wakefield, 939 Redan street, Houston, has taught in the schools of Texas for 33 years. Her sponsors are L. J. Chisten, superintendent of schools, and O. W. Kellam, president of the chamber of commerce. They say:

"Left a widow with a family in her early twenties, she began teaching in the year 1893 in the public schools of Sherman, and taught continuously in that city until 1922. In 1922 she went to Austin to be in the state department of education as a state school supervisor. In the school year of 1924-25 she came to Laredo, to be demonstration teacher and general supervisor of grades. This is her present position."

Mrs. Pearl G. Allison, 3201 Trice Avenue, Waco, Texas, has been employed in the schools of Texas for 19 years. Her sponsors are Rev. James M. Bradford, and H. Mathews, Barber Methodist Home cite a record unusual in many particulars. They say:

"This candidate started teaching in a Texas One-Teacher School. Blackboards, crayon, erasers and maps were then furnished by the teacher. After two years this small school grew to a power of two teachers. Pupils and parents became interested, taxes were voted, the state gave aid, and desks were bought. A little later charts, dictionary, maps, flags, library books, encyclopedias, magazines and pictures were moved to our new school—this supplied by the pupils' help. Six pupils of the school became teachers in those same schools. Two boys enlisted for Uncle Sam. Board and tuition were paid by this teacher for six pupils unable otherwise to attend school, two of whom are now teaching. Nine of her pupils are very successful in the business world, fifteen are engaged in teaching, while a number of others have taught for a short time. She is still teaching and encouraging pupils to make their lives lives of service."

The American Youth Award and the American Teacher Award have been established as a tribute to the youth and teachers of America by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International exposition which will be held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1, in celebration of 150 years of American independence. The award is open to all boy and girls between the ages of 13 and 19, and to all women teachers.

Each state and the District of Columbia has been invited to seek out its most outstanding boy and girl and woman teacher and these three will go to Philadelphia as guests of the Exposition for the week of June 28 to July 5, which is to be observed throughout the country as American independence week. They will also visit Washington and at the White House will be presented with medals by President Coolidge. All of their expenses will be paid from the time they leave home until they return.

Boy and girl entrants from Texas, whose entry forms have been filed recently in the American Youth award are:

Edda Victoria Master, 13, 2800 E Avenue, Austin, sponsored by J. B. Watkins, principal of the high school, and Mrs. E. E. Spiller, a teacher.

Arthur Beverly Wright, 18, 1501 Bedell street, Fort Worth, sponsored ed by Doctor Leonidas A. Suggs, and Dr. Thomas S. Sand. The administration of the award in Texas will be conducted by a state committee of which Governor Miriam A. Ferguson is honorary chairman. Hon. A. S. Walker, Littlefield Bldg., Austin, is chairman of the committee.

DRYS SEE NO HARM IN PAYING SOLONS

GIVE CONGRESSMEN MONEY FOR MAKING TALKS THEY ADMIT

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Anti-Saloon League does not regard itself guilty of unethical conduct in paying congressmen for making dry speeches.

This position was taken in a statement issued by the league in reply to the announcement by Representative Tinkham, Massachusetts, wet republican, that he will offer in the House Tuesday a resolution to investigate the use of money by the dry organization.

"Of course, the Anti-Saloon League never paid any congressman for introducing or championing a bill," the statement declared. "Occasionally when a congressman makes a speech for prohibition, his expenses and sometimes a honorarium is paid by the organization that arranged for it. A congressman who has ability enough so that the people want to hear him should not be scopped from this service simply because he is a public official. Vice President Marshall said he had to do this when he was vice president.

The league might have added, but didn't that when Coolidge was vice president, he accepted a fee for addressing a veteran memorial service. Representative Crampton, Michigan, republican, and house dry leader, and Representative Uphaw, Georgia, democrat, are two of the dry congressmen who are understood to have been paid for prohibition speeches.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, acknowledged that $2,500,000 was spent by the national and state dry organizations at the height of the campaign for ratification of the 18th amendment. Wets have charged that the Anti-Saloon League raised campaign expenses of Andrew Volstead, who introduced the Volstead Act in congress after it had been prepared by the Anti-Saloon League legal staff.

The expenditures are defended by the drys who point out that the use of money has not been entirely unknown among the wets. Wheeler charged that the wets in Pennsylvania raised $1,000,000 a year to control politics in the saloon days.

Organized activities of the drys are commanding considerably more than the usual amount of attention just now. Former Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, a dry, has just denounced the "bullying influence" of the Anti-Saloon League as a result of conditions in Kansas where high officials were found to be receiving retainers on the side from state dry leaders.

During the recent senate beer hearings, the wet member of the committee, Reed, of Missouri, had expected to question Wheeler regarding the activities and expenditures by his organization. The dry representative, however, refused to take the stand.

Another organized dry group, the Methodist board of temperance, is urging dry republicans and Pennsylvanians to scratch Ware, the wet republican candidate for senator.

In New York, the state Anti-Saloon League is hunting for a dry candidate to run against Wadsworth, the wet republican senator who seeks re-election. Drys say it would be better to beat Wadsworth and elect a democrat, though wet, would be in the minority where he could do less damage than the influential Wadsworth, one of the majority wheel horses in the senate.

Senator Stanfield's failure to win re-nomination in the Oregon republican primaries recently is attributed to dry indignation over the incident at Baker, Ore., last summer when the senator was sarrested on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He had been dry in the senate. After that incident, he took the pledge personally and attended church.

Many in his state regard him as an able senator and one whose general policies were satisfactory. But the prohibition phase of the campaign appeared to predominate.

Pioneer of Crosby County Dies At Home Near Ralls

RALLS, June 1.—W. F. Montgomery, 83, a resident of Crosby county for 22 years, coming from Rains county, died yesterday at his home north of Ralls.

Mr. Montgomery came to Texas from Alabama with his parents when 2 years of age.

Uncle Sam, as he is known over the plains, leaves a wife, and five children: W. W. Montgomery, Electrician; J. M. Montgomery, P. R. Montgomery, F. C. Montgomery, and Mrs. Julia Arrington, all of Point, Texas. F. C. P. R., and Mrs. Arrington were present at the time of his death.

His first wife was Katherine Rains, daughter of Judge Emery Rains, for whom Rains county was named. Judge Rains was author of the Texas homestead law.

Mr. Montgomery was sheriff of Rains county four years. He was also tax assessor of Crosby county four years.

He served his time with Company A Third Cavalry, Ross Brigade, during the Civil War. He was a Royal Arch Mason.

ONE WAY TO STAY AWAKE

NEW YORK, June 1.—Arrested for vagrancy, Charles Glassford pleaded that he rode around in subways all night for fear he would oversleep and thus lose a job in a restaurant which had been promised him in the morning.

Paris recently passed a law imposing a tax on furnished houses.

Blind Senator Regains Health

After a long illness Thomas D. Schall, the blind senator from Minnesota, is gradually regaining his health through exercise in the gymnasium in the United States capitol. It is necessary for Mrs. Schall to accompany him and assist him in his "dully dozen."

Doesn't Think Woman Pastor Is Kidnapped

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 1.—"I went in bathing with Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson the afternoon she disappeared and I do not believe that she was kidnapped," declared Mrs. Jack Danciger, personal friend of the missing Los Angeles evangelist here.

"Mrs. McPherson was a wonderful swimmer and had a habit of going out where the water was deep," Mrs. Danciger said. "I warned her about the dangers of the under current when we went in swimming the afternoon she disappeared, but she only laughed and tried to persuade me to follow her out to the deep water, but I refused," she said.

Mrs. Danciger is here with her young daughter, Baby Ruth, who is taking a month's rest following the completion of the second of a series in a group of moving pictures in California.

Mrs. McPherson started for the deep water, Mrs. Danciger said she left the evangelist and went back to her hotel. It was not until the later afternoon papers came out with the story of the evangelist's disappearance that Mrs. Danciger knew of the tragedy.

Wild Bears Entertain Tourists

GLACIER PARK, Mont. June 1.—A bear is spoiled when tourists feed it bon bones. Big Glacier National Park is no exception. She just nibbles at her herbaceous diet during the spring months.

Forest Rangers have seen her take her lookout position each year the summer tourist season approaches and from a tree top limb eagerly scan the trail leading to the Granite Park chalets. What is she looking for? Nothing else, but—the first bunch of knickerbocker-clad modern girl hikers. And they're always on the lookout for Lena, too. It has been estimated that Big Lena eats half a ton of candy during the summer months. She is so ravenous on her "sweet spree" that they had to spike the gables of the chalet roofs to keep her from climbing up and pawing for goodies at the bedroom windows at night.

WHAT IS FOREIGN NAME FOR HASH?

DALLAS, Tex., June 1.—Do you know what hash is called in any other language besides the good old "English as she is spoke?"

According to J. Ingels, chef at the Adolphus Hotel here it is Brussels Choissels in the country made famous by Kaiser Wilhelm twelve years ago.

But, according to Ingels in that country the hash is not appreciated unless there is a bottle of wine to wash it down with.

"No meal would be complete without a glass of old port or a stein of pre-voistead. Why, many folks, in the old country, sip a glass of wine in the morning with as much relish and regularity as the American takes his religious glass of hot water," said Ingels.

According to the chef the people of Dallas are very fond of broiled steaks with fresh fish running a close second. Fresh fruit is also eaten regularly by local citizens, he said.

MAYOR PARRISH GOES TO DALLAS

WILL ASSIST IN MANAGEMENT OF AFFAIRS OF BROTHER KILLED THERE MAY 22

Mayor Pink L. Parrish left Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock for Dallas, where he will assist his sister-in-law in settling the business affairs of his brother, W. F. Parrish, who was killed in an automobile accident there Saturday evening, May 22nd.

Mayor Parrish will return to his home here Thursday or Friday.

No meetings of the city commission are scheduled during his absence.

Mayor Parrish had just returned to his home here from Cone, near Ralls, where he attended the funeral services of his wife's uncle when he was called to Dallas.

Prohibition Is Whole Show In Missouri

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 1.—Like an unwelcome infant crying at the top of its voice during a theatrical performance, the prohibition child which was dropped into Missouri's senatorial primary race several weeks ago, now seems to have become the whole show.

Even the more astute and quiet loving politicians of both parties have been forced to acknowledge its presence, including Senator George H. Williams, republican, who hopes to succeed himself. Urged to 7 to succeed himself. Urged to speech by an avowed "dry" opponent, David M. Proctor, of Kansas City, Senator Williams recently stated that the prohibition infant, tho noisy, was harmless.

The fact remains, however, that the voters of Missouri have been thrown into an emotional stampede over the wet and dry issues. It is the dominant, if not the sole, issue of the campaign. Not since 1922 when the "wet" republicans of St. Louis bolted their party to vote for Senator James A. Reed, a democrat, has this state been stirred to such a pitch.

SHRINERS PARADE AT SESQUI-CENTENNIAL

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—The United States began to celebrate the 150th anniversary of its independence with the opening Monday of Philadelphia's sesqui-centennial international exposition.

Despite sulking skies and a pattering rain, thousands of shriners paraded the streets in colorful costumes, including fezzes and camels, and their brass bands blared a lusty welcome to visitors.

'Peaches' Browning Draws Big Crowd

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 1.—One of the principal Memorial day attractions at this resort were the Brownings, Edward and his 16-year old bride, "Peaches."

They had a special policeman assigned to them as they went for a rolling chair ride on the boardwalk, but the crowds collected and "Peaches" insisted on returning to their hotel.

They re-appeared, this time in bathing suits, whereupon the traffic grew thicker than ever.
