

City Commission Denies Zoning Change Request

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

City commissioners denied a re-zoning request, authorized advertising for bids for roof repairs at the Community Center and endorsed a resolution calling for local control and reduced funding for Legal Services Corporation during their regular meeting Monday night.

Commissioners considered a request from Richard Lyons for a zoning change for the north 200 feet of the south 360 feet of the west half of Block 3, Ricketts Addition from A Residential to D-1 Tourist Court, in order to permit the placement of a trailer park.

City fathers acknowledged the receipt of a letter of protest carrying the signatures of six residents of that area who opposed the zoning change and also heard comments from two additional residents of that area opposed to the change during Monday night's meeting.

Commissioner Wes Fisher commented that such a move could constitute "spot zoning" and Commissioner Emory Brownlow added that a change in zoning for that area now would "leave the area wide open" in the future.

Fisher moved that the zoning change request be denied and the motion was seconded by Bud Eades.

The resolution passed unanimously.

City Manager Dudley Bayne informed commissioners that continuing problems with roof leaks at the Community Center have prompted the question of a need for roof repairs.

In discussing the issue commissioners discovered that roof work has not been done at the Community Center in 20 years.

Commissioners approved a motion to seek bids for repairs to approximately 9,384 square feet of roof surface.

Commissioners also approved a motion to purchase an easement license at a cost of $150 from the Santa Fe Railroad in order to allow the city to bore through an area of railroad right-of-way to tie into a new 15-inch sewer line.

Commissioners endorsed a resolution similar to one endorsed by the county commission at its last meeting calling for a nine-member local board to oversee activities of Legal Services Corporation, parent organization of Texas Rural Legal Aid, and also calling for a cutback in funding for LSC.

Wes Fisher brought the resolution before city commissioners for their consideration.

"This doesn't say everything we would like, but we must do this for the benefit of the city," stated Fisher.

Commissioner Brownlow moved the resolution be approved with a second from Fisher, and the matter received unanimous approval.

City fathers were informed of a medical absence in the municipal judge office which is expected to last about three weeks and discussed the possibility of an amendment to the city charter during the next election to provide for chain of command in such instances.

Bayne will be filling in for the municipal judge on day-to-day matters during his absence.

Bayne informed commissioners that Dr. H.A. Cavness appeared before a recent EPA hearing on fluoride content of city water and added that the city has sent protesting correspondence over EPA standards concerning fluoride.

"If we have to do what they want us to do as far as reducing fluoride, it will be almost impossible and may cost so much people can't even water their yards," stated Bayne.

Bayne commented on EPA claims that the fluoride in the water may cause mottling of the teeth.

"They're getting into cosmetics and I think that's none of their damned business, but EPA just won't give up," stated Bayne.

City fathers reviewed the latest census figures on Hereford which revealed an increase of 1,000 persons over the initial census count here.

The latest census figure places Hereford's population at 15,814.

Cloudburst Soaks Westway Area

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

A massive cloudburst inundated isolated portions of the western area of the county with rainfall of up to five inches Saturday night, prompting heavy runoff and the first rise of Tierra Blanca Creek in many months.

Although much of the western portion of the county, where massive acreages of dryland wheat are planted, was sorely in need of moisture, the intense rainfall which plummeted rapidly to earth washed off for the most part, failing to add noticeably to the subsoil moisture accumulation.

Tierra Blanca Creek was running full as it wound its way into Hereford Sunday following the Saturday night cloudburst, and a number of lakes to the west of Hereford were reportedly filled.

One of the heaviest rainfall accumulations from Saturday night's cloudburst was reported from the J.W. Meyer home two miles west and four miles north of Westway.

Mrs. Meyer reported that a four-inch rain gage at that location overflowed and water and mud washed under the front door of the home.

"Gravel from the driveway washed into the yard. Fences in the area were washed out and there was water running in the draw," commented Mrs. Meyer, pointing out that the Meyer family was forced to try three different routes before successfully making its way home Saturday night, due to water-covered roads.

A farm two miles west and six miles north of the Meyer home received rainfall of two inches, according to Mrs. Meyer.

The Barrett-Crofoot West Feedyard reported between four and five inches of rain from Saturday night's downpour and a spokesman for that yard indicated that lakes in that area were standing full.

Hail accompanied rainfall near the Nick Yosten farm six miles west of Hereford on FM 1058 and one mile north on FM 1057.

Yosten reported that rain ranged from 2.50 to 2.80 inches at his home place, with hail falling on a farm five miles west and two miles north of Hereford.

According to Yosten, the storm apparently moved in from the east.

He reported that grain sorghum and corn were damaged by hail and high winds at that location, but was unsure of the severity of the damage.

In the Westway vicinity a rainfall accumulation of 1.70 inches was reported from the Johnny Jesko farm while the Roger Jesko farm north of that location received three inches of rain.

The far western portion of the county received lighter rainfall accumulations with .60 inches reported at Bootleg.

Services Set Wednesday For Pioneer H.D. Culpepper

H.D. Culpepper, 97, a pioneer of Deaf Smith County, died Monday at 7 p.m. at Deaf Smith General Hospital after a long illness.

Services have been set for Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. at Rose Chapel at Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home with Eugene Fooks of Carlsbad, N.M. officiating. He will be assisted by Rev. Mack McCarter, minister of the First Christian Church.

Burial will be at West Park Cemetery. Services are under the direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mr. Culpepper first came to Deaf Smith County in 1924 from Silverton. He served as County Commissioner for Precinct Three from 1934-46. He was a member of Central Church of Christ and IOOF. He was a retired farmer.

Born July 19, 1883 in Savoy, Mr. Culpepper married Hettie Mae McDaniel Dec. 20, 1904 in Durant, Okla. Mr. Culpepper was preceded in death by his wife who died in April of 1967.

Survivors include two daughters, Zelma Kuykendall of Dove Creek, Col. and Verna Featherston of Tulsa; four sisters, Jewel Keaton of

New teachers will be recognized and the usual fun, games and prizes will be on the agenda when Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce conducts another "Fun Breakfast" Thursday beginning at 6:30 a.m.

The chamber breakfasts are held every two or three months, with all interested persons invited to attend. Community announcements, games, and cash prizes are highlights of the event.

This month's breakfast will be sponsored by Computer Systems and Solutions, a new business being established here by Mr. and Mrs. Mike Patrick and Bobby Jones.

Mike Carr, C of C executive vice-president, announced that new teachers and school personnel have been invited to the breakfast. The chamber will introduce all the new teachers, and local businesses will sponsor tickets for the teachers.

All persons planning to attend the event are asked to make reservations by calling the chamber office, 364-3333, so that plenty of food will be available.

Sue Pirtle: She Hopes Movie Will Help Relate Cowgirl Story

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor and MAURI MONTGOMERY
Sports Editor

Sue Pirtle, a 27 year-old cowgirl rodeo champion, has been through the familiar routines of draws and dallies, rigging and riding innumerable times during her rodeo career.

A frequent competitor in the Cowgirl Hall of Fame All Girl Rodeo here and a past holder of the All-Around Cowgirl title in the local event, those routine procedures took on a bit more importance for the Ada, Okla. native during the final performance of the rodeo here Sunday afternoon.

The motions she went through Sunday were not only for herself and the competition at hand, but for a film crew recording the knocks and bumps, the thrills and spills that are part of this cowgirl's chosen career.

The film crew was from "The World of People," a new TV show set for this fall, and members of the crew took footage of the cowgirl's activities in the Hereford GRA-sanctioned rodeo.

Even as the cameras rolled, Ms. Pirtle rode well enough to capture the bareback bronc title, although Cindy Nottingham of Goodwell, Okla. took the All-Around Cowgirl title this time.

Sunday's performance was just the latest appearance before the cameras for this keen-on-competition cowgirl, however, as she performed stunts as a stand-in during the filming of an upcoming television movie that was inspired by her career.

The movie, "Rodeo Girl," is scheduled to air at 8 p.m. Wednesday on local CBS-affiliate KFDD TV in Amarillo.

The movie asks if the wife of a champion rodeo performer has the right to try for a rodeo career of her own.

The main character in the movie, Sammy Garrett, portrayed by Katharine Ross, thinks so, and decides to take a serious try at rodeo, although her husband doesn't approve.

The movie is based on the career of Ms. Pirtle, who won 11 world championships between 1974 and 1979, and who specializes in bareback bronc riding.

Ms. Pirtle served as an advisor for the movie and also doubled for Miss Ross in actual rodeo events, being thrown from a bucking horse in one scene to provide realism for the film.

The cowgirl considers the movie not so much as a portrayal of herself as an opportunity to help fellow GRA competitors.

"It's sort of strange to be the center of so much attention, but I think rodeo life, and especially the woman's role in it, is important. For that reason, I'm glad to do anything I can to help relate that life," she stated.

"CBS came to me and asked if they could produce a script for the movie from actual occurrences on the rodeo circuit as seen through me and I said sure. I thought it would be a great honor," she continued.

Ms. Pirtle pointed out that once she agreed to the movie, she was informed that she would be the technical advisor.

"So much of the movie has gone down like I've seen it in my experiences. The story overall took about two years to write and has been in extensive shooting stages for the last two months. I think Katharine Ross has done a good job of acting and on the whole the movie is quite a good and accurate representation of what it's like on the circuit," she stated.

Rodeoing began for Ms. Pirtle in Ada, Okla. at the age of six, and by age 11 she was competing in five rodeo events.

As a director of the Girls Rodeo Association, she strives to improve conditions for women in her sport.

She points out that the purse in girls' rodeo events is "a far cry" from that awarded male riders and ropers, but adds that the payoff for women winners is improving.

"Any other job would be too confining," she comments concerning her time on the girls' rodeo circuit.

"I'm not confined. It's not an eight to five job. I don't have to answer to anybody and I get to travel across the country," she stated.

The cowgirl adds, however, that there is a price to be paid for sitting atop twisting, cavorting broncs.

"I've had horses step on me. I've also had a broken arm and leg, lacerations, a separated pelvic bone and concussions," she remarked matter-of-factly.

"You know this life isn't for everybody because there's a lot of hard knocks involved that many women wouldn't enjoy enduring...But for me, it has been very fulfilling...I've enjoyed the knocks, and the rewards," she concluded.

No Jury Yet For Clayton Trial

HOUSTON (AP)—One by one the prospective jurors were taken to private quarters for questioning, out of the hearing of the media and the public, but eight hours later there still was no jury for the Brilab trial of Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton and two others.

The tedious selection of the 12-member federal court jury was expected to be completed sometime late Tuesday with testimony to begin the next day.

The decision to isolate the prospective jurors was made by U.S. District Court Judge Robert O'Connor.

A panel of 104 persons had been trimmed by 17 during the morning hours, most of them excused for job-related or personal reasons.

One woman, however, was dropped when she told the judge, "I have a bias against all politicians, local state or federal."

Two other panelists were sent home when they admitted that their acquaintance with labor leader L.G. Moore, a prominent figure in this FBI undercover operation, might taint their feelings, and their final verdict.

Clayton and Austin attorneys Donald W. Ray and Randall B. Wood are on trial for charges of extortion, racketeering, fraud and conspiracy in an alleged insurance kickback scheme.

L.G. Moore, regional director of the Operating Engineers Union, will stand trial at a later date.

The June 12 indictments by a federal grand jury came after a 10-month FBI probe called Brilab, a member of "Bribery and Labor."

Several persons have been charged and more indictments are expected.

Prosecutors told Judge O'Connor Monday they would need about a week and a half to present their case. Defense attorneys estimated their part of the trial would last three weeks.

But, at the rate of the jury selection and the amount of testimony to be presented, two months of trial seems to be a more realistic estimate.

Prosecutors said they planned to call as witness several FBI agents, along with Rusty Kelly, the administrative assistant to Clayton, and Bob Johnson, a member of the state Employees Retirement Board.

The potential jurors were asked if anyone knew Clayton, a member of the legislature for 20 years.

Top Finishers In Rodeo Listed

Cowgirls closed out competition in the Cowgirl Hall of Fame All Girl Rodeo here Sunday afternoon with Cindy Nottingham of Goodwell, Okla. taking the All-Around Cowgirl honors.

Sue Pirtle paced the field in the bareback bronc riding competition to take that title home to Fort Worth with her.

Donna Jones of Center, Tex. captured the bull riding title and Bonnie Pleasant of Ramah, Colo. was the winner in calf roping competition.

Gloria Paulson of Bakersfield, Calif. won the goat tying event and the barrel racing championship of the local rodeo was won by Martha Josey of Karnack.

The steer undecorating competition was won by Mary Gilbert of Ft. Worth.

Gail and LaRae Higgins of Peoria, Ariz. were the winners of the team roping competition.

Jana Johnson, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Johnson of Hereford, was crowned rodeo queen Saturday night.

In excess of 100 cowgirls participated in the GRA-sanctioned rodeo here, vying for an added purse of $7,000.

Judge Vows No

Minors in Facility

HOUSTON (AP) — A probate judge has vowed he will no longer place children or "people unable to defend themselves" in the Harris County Psychiatric Hospital after learning of several unsuccessful sexual advances toward a child by an adult patient there.

Judge Jim Scanlan said Monday he knows of no child ever physically harmed at the institution, "but it's what we don't know that scares me to death."

Scanlan, who is in charge of mental incompetency commitments for Harris County, said several sexual advances — all unsuccessful — were made on a 9-year-old boy before they came to his attention.

The boy since has been transferred out of the Harris County facility.

Thirty-six minors were admitted to the facility in the first six months of 1980, officials said.

Bickering Delays

Overdue Budget

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Councilmen were still working on a new budget when this West Texas city entered a new fiscal year Sept. 1. Now it appears that unless relations improve between the council and the mayor, the process could take until Sept. 1 of next year.

Like a family arguing over whether to take a vacation or use the money to replace the old, worn-out car, the two sides have been bickering for the past six weeks over how to divide $77.4 million among city departments whose requests totaled $102 million.

But the squabble reads more like a script from "All in the Family" than "Father Knows Best." No one has called anybody "Meathead" yet, but Alderman David Escobar and Mayor Tom Westfall have come close.

"We have a total lack of leadership," Escobar complained.

"Mr. Escobar represents a well known, old-style politician in El Paso ... more interested in cutting deals and making trade-offs," Westfall shot back.

Westfall, a retired FBI agent, wants to balance the budget by trimming such programs as arts and parks in favor of more money for police and firemen.

Desegregation Plan

Arousing Many

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The nation's second largest school district today began busing about 40,000 pupils under a desegregation plan that had school officials wary, children confused, parents angry and anti-busing factions hoping for a last-minute change.

Eleventh-hour changes in the plan were possible as the California Supreme Court was asked to rule on whether nine schools should be part of the plan.

The court Monday received a letter from the judge overseeing the desegregation program, a petition from the American Civil Liberties Union and a telegram from the school board, all requesting changes or clarification.

Meanwhile, a hot line to field questions on the plan, which involves some 80,000 children in grades one through nine at some 130 schools, opened Monday with "all nine lines constantly ringing," said one volunteer.

"We're inundated with hundreds and hundreds of calls — parents and even kids wanting to know where they'll be going and why," said another.

At the same time, more than 1,000 bus drivers were hoping to get "the right kids on the right bus" for rides that average 45 minutes, said school transportation director Max Barney.

Some parents threatened to lie down in front of buses, and pickets were expected at some schools, sources said. About 50 security officers were assigned to patrols, officials said.

The ACLU on Monday asked the state Supreme Court to set aside a state Court of Appeals decision that took nine schools out of the program.

States Compare Rape Cases

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Louisiana investigators are bringing a stack of offense reports to Texas, hoping to find a link between a bizarre series of rapes in both states.

Capt. Sam Burns, chief of detectives in Shreveport, La., said two detectives will meet with district attorney's investigators here today to compare notes on Texas' "Traveling Rapist."

West Texas authorities believe that a single individual may be responsible for 16 attacks on young attractive women in several

West Texas cities. The victims report the rapist always wore gloves and a ski mask and carried a flashlight.

He usually was armed with a gun or knife.

The Lubbock district attorney's office opened its confidential files to The Associated Press because they said publicity on the case might lead to new information.

The story, said Lubbock District Attorney's investigator Hal Hensley, sparked dozens of phone calls from across the country, including a call from Burns, who has been investigating similar rapes in Shreveport.

A Shreveport police officer, Ed Lynch, has been indicted on three counts of rape and one count of attempted rape in that city, Burns said. Burns said Lynch has been released on $180,000 bond.

But the rapes continued while Lynch was in jail, Burns said, leading him to believe more than one man was responsible for the attacks.

"We had a number of rapes here by what we feel like was possibly two people," Burns said. "And after Lynch was arrested we've had a couple with the same M.O. (method of operation)."

Hensley said Lynch was not the focus of his efforts.

"(He) could not have committed a number of the (West Texas) rapes simply because, according to my information, he was in jail at the time," Hensley said in Lubbock. "Going on with that ... if he didn't commit some of them, he didn't commit any of them because we firmly believe we are looking for one person."

Turkish Generals Cut Curfew, Open Banks

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkey's new military government shortened the curfew, reopened the banks, ordered 70,000 strikers back to work and announced the Cyprus peace talks will resume today.

The five generals who make up the ruling National Security Council cut the curfew to between midnight and 5 a.m. It had been in effect from 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. since Friday's bloodless coup toppled the government of Prime Minister Suleyman Demirel.

Banks reopened Monday, while the new leaders reassured creditors they would honor commitments made by Demirel's government.

They also impounded the funds of politically extreme labor organizations and ordered strikers back to work.

Officials announced the resumption of long-deadlocked peace talks between the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities on Cyprus. The 25,000 Turkish troops in the northern part of the island, under Turkish occupation since 1974, have remained confined to their barracks since the coup.

Turkey's new rulers used the curfew to round up political activists suspected of contributing to the terrorism that claimed some 5,000 lives in the past five years. Some Ankara residents said the curfew had allowed them nights uninterrupted by terrorist gunfire for the first time in nearly two years.

Police sources estimated as many as 5,000 suspected terrorists had been rounded up, but they said many had been released after questioning. The sources reported 78 parliamentary deputies in custody.

Top military sources said the politicians and suspected terrorists would be tried in special courts.

Demirel and main opposition leader Bulent Ecevit were among those arrested. Sources said they will most likely not face trial, but will be barred from politics. The sources said the special courts probably would try Alpaslan Turkes, leader of the ultra-nationalist Action Party, and Necmettin Erbakan, chairman of the Moslem fundamentalist National Salvation party. They did not specify what charges would be lodged against them.

The generals, headed by Gen. Kenan Evren, 62, brought down a government incapacitated by months of political infighting. Many Turks welcomed the coup as a first step toward dealing with terrorism and a battered economy.

Lawyers Say DA Won't Help Wives

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Attorneys suing Tarrant District Attorney Tim Curry say they want prosecutors to change the way they handle wife battering cases because some of the women could later be killed by their husbands.

The $4.9 million lawsuit claims Curry and former assistant Louis Barnett failed to protect two battered women who were killed by their estranged spouses.

"We make no bones about the fact that one of our goals is to force the (district attorney's) office and the police department to change their policy," said Joe James Sawyer, one of the attorneys for the plaintiffs.

Sawyer and two lawyers from West Texas Legal Services — Sister Sean O'Reilly and Steven Young — filed the suit Monday on behalf of the victims' young children.

The suit alleges that both women repeatedly asked Curry's office and local police for help, but no action ever was taken against the men who threatened to kill them.

The suit also claims Curry's office has a policy of "non-intervention and non-arrest" for wife-beating cases that resulted in the women's deaths.

A spokesman for the district attorney's office said Monday that "no specific criteria" are used to decide which cases will be prosecuted. But he acknowledged his office is reluctant to pursue the cases.

Marijuana, Mischief Arrests Made Here

Hereford police made an arrest for possession of marijuana and also arrested two suspects on charges of criminal mischief here yesterday.

Dario Gamez, 29, of Hereford, was arrested in the 500 block of Lee Street on charges of possession of a controlled substance. According to a police department spokesman, Gamez was stopped by police on a traffic matter and an officer smelled marijuana, prompting a search of the man's car and discovery of a marijuana cigarette.

John Slentz, 19, and Rodney Allen Barrett, 19, both of Hereford, were arrested by city police Monday night on charges of criminal mischief and discharging a firearm within the city limits.

The police spokesman reported that the suspects were observed shooting out windows and street lights with a shotgun.

City to Get

$17,591.19

Tax Rebate

Texas cities levying the optional one percent city sales tax will receive $25.5 million in rebates for September, according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Hereford's share of the rebates will amount to $17,591.19, compared to a net payment of $21,535.57 in October of last year, down six percent.

The latest rebate brought the total for the city for 1980 to $334,948.26.

According to Bullock, this month's city sales tax allocation brings the 1980 payments statewide to more than $418.5 million, compared to $364.5 million paid to cities through October of last year.

The city sales tax is collected by merchants and businesses along with the state sales tax and is rebated each month by the Comptroller to the cities where it is collected.

Police currently have a warrant for the arrest of a suspect in connection with the theft of a purse containing $575 in cash. The purse was taken from the apartment of Mrs. G.B. Treadway at Bluewater Gardens sometime Monday.

Sharon Brown of 510 Schley informed police that her son's viola was stolen from Shirley School sometime last week.

Mary Oleary of 505 Union informed police that her car was egged sometime early this morning.

Police issued 14 traffic citations Monday and investigated three non-offense reports.

Tax Appraisal Board To Meet

A meeting of the Deaf Smith County Tax Appraisal Board has been scheduled for Thursday at 8 p.m. in the City Commission courtroom.

The board will consider contracts of the local taxing entities, discuss a timetable of the appraisal district functions, and consider establishing central appraisal files.

The meeting is open to the public.

Iran Attacks Joint Oil Pricing

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Iran kept up its attack today on the proposal to set up a joint system of pricing and production controls for the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, saying it ignored the needs of the oil nations.

Iran's opposition and the resulting split between it and Saudi Arabia was good news for the United States and other industrial countries. It meant that the Saudis would not increase their prices before the end of the year and would not reduce production. And that meant that the present glut on the oil market would continue, putting pressure on other OPEC producers to sell for less than the cartel's official base price of $32 for a 42-gallon barrel of crude oil.

Oil ministers and other representatives of the 13 OPEC nations opened a three-day meeting Monday called to agree on machinery to adjust crude oil prices upward every three months to keep up with world inflation, currency fluctuations and economic growth in industrial countries, and to reduce production whenever necessary to keep the price up. The goal is to raise the cost of oil eventually to the price of other sources of energy, which OPEC economists estimate is now the equivalent of $60 a barrel.

Amir Sepahban, Iran's representative on the commission named to work out pricing formulas, said the proposed long-range strategy was being urged as a system that would allow consumers to predict the prices they would have to pay.

"Why do we need predictability of prices?" he asked. "Nobody gives us any predictability of prices of the things we buy."

"When you look at the formulas, not one single formula has to do with the economics of OPEC countries. You can invent any kind of prices you want, but there's no guarantee it will stick in the market."

Couple Marry in Home Ceremony

An archway of greenery and white daisies decorated the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Caudill when Brenda Payne and David Curtsinger repeated wedding vows Sept. 13 in Lovington, N.M.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton F. Payne of Conroe. The groom is the son of Jane Caudill and the late Eddie Curtsinger, who was a lieutenant in the Hereford Police Department at the time of his death in 1973. Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Curtsinger of Hereford are the groom's grandparents.

Rev. Harry Pittiam, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Lovington officiated at the ceremony.

Shelly Caudill served as her sister's maid of honor with Lonnie Jennings of Denver City serving as the groom's best man.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Marty Ward of Lovington, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." The couple is at home in Denver City where he is employed at Shell Oil Refinery.

It's been explained to me a thousand times and I still don't understand it.

Why is it that men embarking on a fun-filled, pleasure-seeking, leisure-paced vacation feel obliged to start at four in the morning?

I ask you, what good are breathtaking colors of the Smoky Mountains... in the dark? How can I feel the pulse and excitement of New York City where David Hartman going to work and a passed-out wino are the only things on the street? What good is a vacation if you can't keep awake through lunch?

We were the first family ever to "See America First" by headlights. Every morning before hitting the road the alarm would go off in the middle of the night. Picking my way through the darkness, I'd guide arms and legs through clothes. It was like threading a needle with wet spaghetti. As the kids continued to sleep, I'd walk them to the car and arrange them in the back seat. I'd wait until the motor was running and we were ready to leave before I did my last dastardly deed on those still sleeping... flush!

My children never awoke asking, "Where are we?" It was always, "What time is it?" They could never play games other children played, like "Count the Chevies" or "Out-of-State-License-Plate Rummy." There weren't any other cars on the road.

We'd sit there like zombies, listening to the hog and grain markets on the car radio, trying to figure out if we ate a candy bar what meal we would spoil.

Once as we stopped at a roadside park for a potty break and I hooked my sweater over the hood ornament to keep from falling, a station wagon pulled in with another family. They looked terrible. The kids stumbled along with blankets dragging on the ground, their hair uncombed, their eyes puffy and glazed. The woman and I didn't say anything at first. Our eyes met in that rare moment of understanding without words. Finally she said, "Would you have married him if you had known he was nocturnal?"

A few weeks ago on vacation the alarm went off at 3:30 as my husband whipped out of bed and began to dress.

"Why are you doing this?" I mumbled.

"I've told you before, the children travel better by night when they can sleep."

"We don't have children with us."

"There's no traffic on the road and I can make better time."

"We're flying."

"If we start early, we can stop early and be sure of getting a hotel room."

"We're going home."

"I'm basically sadistic."

Now that makes sense!

Additional members of the committee include Rosemary Thomas, Virginia Thomas, Marie Yeager, Evelyn Blankenship, and Donna Gooch.

The Newspaper Bible

SICKNESS? OR JUST PLAIN SIN?

Since earliest times men have seen the earth and sky and all God made, and have known of His existence and great eternal power. So they will have no excuse (when they stand before God at Judgment Day).

Yes, they knew about Him all right, but they wouldn't admit it or worship Him or even thank Him for all His daily care. And after awhile they began to think up silly ideas of what God was like and what He wanted them to do. The result was that their foolish minds became dark and confused.

Claiming themselves to be wise without God, they became utter fools instead.

And then, instead of worshipping the glorious, ever-living God, they took wood and stone and made idols for themselves, carving them to look like mere birds and animals and snakes and puny men.

So God let them go ahead into every sort of sex sin, and do whatever they wanted to — yes, vile and sinful things with each other's bodies.

Instead of believing what they knew was the truth about God, they deliberately chose to believe lies. So they prayed to the things God made, but wouldn't obey the blessed God who made these things.

That is why God let go of them and let them do all these evil things, so that even their women turned against God's natural plan for them and indulged in sex sin with each other.

And the men, instead of having a normal sex relationship with women, burned with lust for each other, men doing shameful things with other men and, as a result, getting paid within their own souls with the penalty they so richly deserved.

So it was that when they gave God up and would not even acknowledge Him, God gave them up to doing everything their evil minds could think of.

Their lives became full of every kind of wickedness and sin, of greed and hate, envy, murder, fighting, lying, bitterness, and gossip.

They were backbiters, haters of God, insolent, proud braggarts, always thinking of new ways of sinning and continually being disobedient to their parents.

They tried to misunderstand, broke their promises, and were heartless — without pity.

They were fully aware of God's death penalty for these crimes, yet they went right ahead and did them anyway, and encouraged others to do them, too.

Ann Landers

Conditions of Heart Attacks

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is 42 years of age. We have three children, a lovely home and two cars. Everything is wonderful, but I have been worrying about something for a long time. Both my husband's parents died in their 50s of heart attacks. His older sister (now 49) suffered a severe coronary last year. Six months ago she had a stroke. His brother (age 45) had a mild heart attack right after Christmas.

I love my husband and I want to keep him for a long time. What can I do to help him stay alive? Maybe if I knew more about the subject I could be more effective.

What causes a heart attack? Who are the prime candidates? Is exercise important? Does diet matter? What about eating eggs and fatty foods? Is alcohol good for people with heart trouble? Is it true that overweight folks run a greater risk? How about heart surgery? What is the rate of survival?

Can you provide me with answers, Ann? — I Read You In Warren, Pa.

DEAR WARREN: The answers to your questions (and many more) can be found in a booklet titled, "Heart Attacks," offered free of charge by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Dr. Robert I. Levy, who heads the National Heart, Blood and Lung Institute, has done a superb job of explaining in simple language everything you ever wanted to know about heart attacks but didn't know whom to ask.

Anyone interested should send a postcard to: Consumer Information Center, Department 662H, Pueblo, Colo. 81009. Print your name and address clearly and say, "Heart attack booklet, please."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just finished reading the letter from "N.Y. Question" regarding the swinging sadomasochistic marriage. I am writing on an impulse to substantiate your response. In a generation whose motto is "Anything goes," it takes courage to declare something is "sick, sick, sick."

I am a 27-year-old homosexual and know several people who practice S and M as a way of life. I have never been involved in that stuff but have witnessed plenty. One of my best friends was mixed up with it.

It was sad to watch someone I liked deteriorate. Eventually I severed contact because I couldn't endure the severe change in his personality. My friend is still looking for a better trip and is becoming increasingly weird and miserable. SM is sick, and it is practiced among straights as well as gays. I cannot believe that people who abuse each other's bodies and enjoy pain are normal. Good for you, Ann. — Chearing in Costa Mesa, Calif.

DEAR CHEERING: Of course, you are right, but many people thing SM is the private property of gays because of the porno films and gay publications that advertise SM paraphernalia. Thanks for writing to inform the unsophisticated — which most of us are.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am fed up with women who push the notion that females are discriminated against. A case in point: The letter screaming, "Don't call us 'the girl.' We have a name. Use it!"

I am a white male, 27, who does building and maintenance work. I don't expect to be called "sir" but I resent it when someone says, "Let one of the boys do it." It happens all the time.

I hope you will publish this letter so everyone who works in an organization will realize that flunkies have names, too. — Fed Up On Women In Little Rock

DEAR ROCK: Here's your beef. But why blame women? I'm a woman and I printed it.

Program Available To High School Students

WTSU — West Texas State University's Upward Bound is seeking high school students in a 50-mile area of Canyon who have the potential to pursue a post high school education, but who may be lacking motivation.

The program for the 1980-81 year will serve 70 students from Hereford, Canyon, Amarillo, Friona, Tulia, and Happy on 23 Saturday mornings before the end of the spring semester in May of 1981.

Upward Bound, directed by Roger Scott, is a pre-college preparatory program designed to raise skill and motivational levels of high school sophomores and juniors who wish to enter a post-secondary school following high school graduation. The participants in the program must meet limited income criteria.

The first session will begin at 9 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 20, on the WTSU campus. From 9 a.m. to noon, the students will attend learning enrichment sessions in math, reading, English and biology. The four 40-minute sessions also include counseling and tutoring periods.

All transportation from their hometowns to campus and back, any room and board involved, lunch early Saturday and any cost of cultural activities visited by the group will be provided for the participants.

Upward Bound students may eat lunch in the WTSU East Dining Hall or receive a stipend of $5 each week for expenses. The students also may use any WTSU facility while they are on campus.

In return, Scott said the Upward Bound program asks "meaningful participation." A student who misses three or more Saturday sessions without an excuse will be dropped from the program.

Two full-time Upward Bound counselors, three WTSU students who serve as tutors and three part-time teachers work with the students. The counselors also visit students' schools in the area during the months to check grades and to visit with the students about problem areas.

"They need us," said Scott. "Many of these students never see a high school counselor so maybe they don't get the information they need about college."

The Upward Bound program at WTSU has been operating since 1967 and has received funding for the next 36 months. The program was granted $130,655 from the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Upward Bound also sponsors a concentrated summer enrichment program in which participating students stay on campus for six weeks and receive counseling and instruction in language, science, reading, economics and career orientation.

"A large percent of these students go on to college and eventually graduate," said Scott. "We follow them right on through."

The program also will aid a student in finding financial aid to attend a post-secondary institution for academic, technical or vocational training.

Area high school students interested in the Upward Bound program must complete an application, a medical history form, a parental permission form and obtain several references.

Additional information may be obtained from Roger Scott.

Nazarene Revival Starts

The week-long revival at the Hereford Church of the Nazarene begins tonight at 7:30 with Rev. and Mrs. Harold Glaze as feature speakers.

Services will be held nightly at 7:30 and on Sunday at 10:45 a.m. and 6 p.m., according to Bob Huffacker, pastor of the church.

"Rev. Glaze...is sincere and forceful with fresh and stimulating sermons designed to challenge and appeal to all ages. Mrs. Glaze adds her charm, dedication and musical talents to make this a popular and effective duo," Huffacker said.

Bus service is a critical lifeline to rural America. The industry provides a vital and essential express and freight service to those communities and to tens of thousands of farms throughout the country.

Broadcast of Community Concert 'Preview' Slated

Hereford residence will have an opportunity to watch a preview of Harvey Pittel perform before he arrives here in February 1981 with the Hereford Community Concert Association.

Pittel, said to be an extraordinary saxophonist, will perform on the "Today Show" Wednesday morning on NBC-TV. The daily morning show begins at 7 a.m. on KGNC, Channel 4, in Hereford.

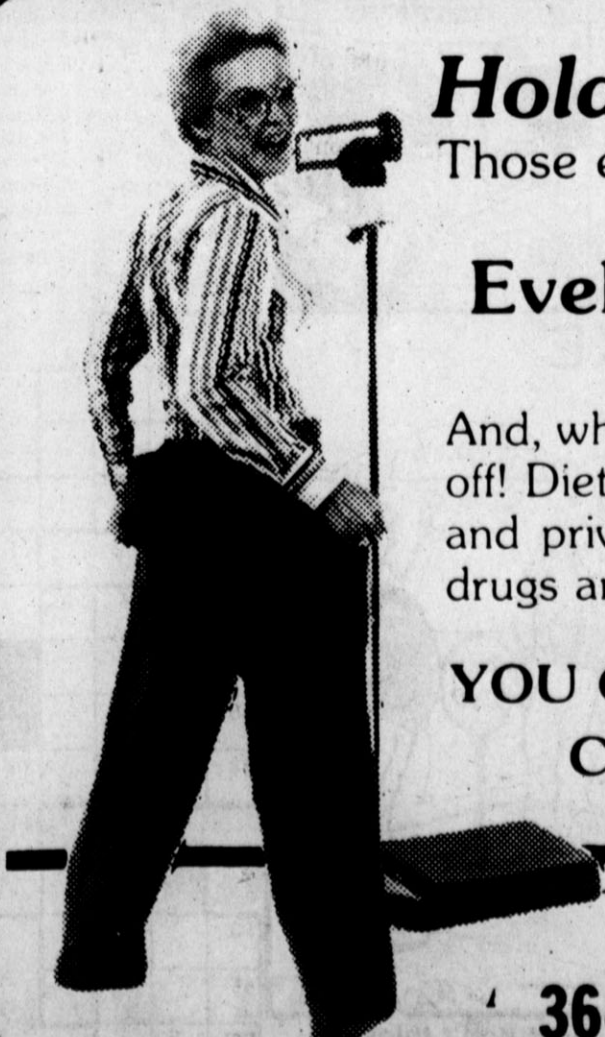

According to Mrs. Ted Panciera, a member of the association, Pittel is scheduled to arrive in Hereford for concert in February of 1981.

"He is an excellent performer, and we felt this would be a good way for people to sample his show," she said.

According to Mrs. Panciera there is still a limited number of concert memberships available for this year's season.

Memberships are $15 for adults, $6 for students and $35 for families with no limit on size.

For more information contact Mrs. Labray Ballard, membership chairman; Mrs. Gene Streun, co-chairman; or call Mr. or Mrs. Ted Panciera at 364-0311.

Former Art Teacher Among Artists In Annual Art Show, Sale at WTSU

Former Hereford school art teacher, Jon Birdsong of Amarillo, will be among 20 area artists who will have paintings and sculptures on display and for sale during Homecoming at West Texas State University.

The Second Annual Scholarship Art Show and Sale will be featured from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Friday, Oct. 3, and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 4 in the WTSU Activities Center.

Birdsong will have several watercolor paintings on display and for sale at this time.

Participating artists will donate a percentage of sales to a football scholarship fund. Hosts for the show and sale are members of the Quarterback Club, a support organization for WTSU athletes.

Last year's sale produced $4,800 in donations from the artists for three scholarships of $1,600 each.

Persons making a $10 donation to the fund will be eligible for a drawing. WTSU

Homecoming also will feature a carnival Tuesday, Sept. 30; Pigskin Review variety show Thursday, Oct. 2 and Friday, Oct. 3; bonfire on Thursday, Oct. 2; and parade, barbecue, alumni activities and afternoon football game on Saturday, Oct. 4.

Other artists scheduled to participate in the scholarship show and sale include R. Russell Brown, a WTSU alumnus who lives in Canyon and paints watercolors; James Ivey Edwards, an instructor at Clarendon College who has been painting for 14 years; Danny Gamble, a native of southwestern Oklahoma who now lives in Canyon and paints watercolors and acrylics; Bob Hunnicutt, of Channing, bronze statues; and Don Ray, also of Channing, bronzes.

Other artists are Harold Scott of Oklahoma, oil painting; Jack Thompson of Plainview, who does art work in pencil, ink, oil, acrylics and bronze; Richard Thompson of Channing, a WTSU graduate, paintings and bronzes; Jim Ward of Canyon; who works with oil paintings and bronze sculpture; Tom Warren, president of the Western Artists Guild who produces oils, watercolors, bronzes and solid steel sculptures; and Garland Weeks, Canyon, bronzes.

Also included in the show are Randall Sherrod, Randall County district attorney of Canyon who sculpts bronzes; Justin Wells, Amarillo, paintings; Kenneth Wyatt of Tulia, paintings; Paul Wylie, pencil sketches and bronze; Carla Martindale, Amarillo, pen and ink sketches graphic design and acrylics; Estelle Pruitt, Panhandle, watercolor and pen and ink sketches; Jerry Teaff of Bula, acrylics; Gary Ward, Canyon, pastels, portraits and Western sculpture; and Andy Caire, bronzes.

Ben Konis, who paints oils and pastels, will not show his work, but will make a donation to the scholarship fund.

Veterans Officers Named to Post

The appointment of Jerry Lash and Walter Speegle as Veterans Affairs Officers for the Lubbock District Office of the U.S. Small Business Administration has been announced by Russell Berry, District Director.

Lash and Speegle, career employees, have been given the responsibility to coordinate and execute an outreach program for veterans, to better inform them of business services available to them from the SBA.

One of the first priorities in the new post will be to start and maintain liaison with local veterans groups and to enlist their support in getting more veterans to attend SBA-sponsored workshops and briefing sessions where services offered by SBA can be more fully explained to veterans.

Berry stated that SBA is required by law to give "special consideration" to veterans in helping them get started in business or to remain in business. The assistance of ferred by SBA includes help in obtaining bank loans, advice on how to start a business and manage it successfully, and information on how to obtain government procurement contracts.

Lash and Speegle may be contacted at the local SBA office located in the Federal Building, 1205 Texas Avenue, Room No. 712, Lubbock, Texas. The telephone number is 806-762-7462.

VA Program Helps Buy Headstones

A new Veterans Administration benefit has helped pay for headstones or grave markers for almost 40,000 veterans buried in private cemeteries since it first became available in 1979.

The legislation permits VA to reimburse part of the cost of an individual headstone or marker placed on the grave of a veteran buried in a private cemetery. The reimbursement cannot exceed the average cost of headstone purchased by VA for this purpose. The current amount is $53.00.

Families of veterans who select a burial site for a deceased veteran in a private cemetery now have two options for VA assistance in marking the grave. VA will provide a headstone or grave marker free of charge and ship it to the consignee designated on the application. Cost of placing the marker in a private cemetery must be borne by the applicant, however. If a marker other than the VA standard is chosen, VA will reimburse up to $53 toward its cost.

Application for reimbursement can be filed at any VA Regional Office. Applications for the VA headstone or marker should be addressed to Director, Monuments Service, Department of Memorial Affairs, Veterans Administration, 810 Vermont Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20420.

The VA assistance on headstones is in addition to the $300 burial allowance and a $150 plot allowance.

Even Duel Match Play at 2-2

Whiteface Netters Fall To PHS, LHS Squads

By Mauri Montgomery
Brand Sports Editor

Net play between Hereford, Plainview and Lubbock High had been comparatively described as being close any day of the week (especially before district play began). Each would try to set an early mark of dominance among the 4-5A field — the winner of such trials would be favored to give powerhouses Monterey and Lubbock Coronado a run for their money. And when the three squads paired off in dual-match competition this past weekend, the story was little different — it was a narrow battle, but the Whiteface tennis team found out the meek shall not inherit honorable district status with respective losses of 4-7, 3-6, 4-5 to Plainview and 3-7, 3-6, 3-6, 2-7 decisions to Lubbock High.

"It was fairly close all the way down the line, but the difference there is that we're not winning the close ones," said head coach Robert Cox. "We had five split set matches against Plainview and we didn't pull one of them down, and that's the sort of stuff we've got to eliminate if we hope to field a successful season."

I don't want it to sound like I'm crying because I'm not. We had some good individual performances on both the boy's and girl's teams, but on the whole we were flat and just weren't generally prepared or mentally ready to play," he said.

We're not out of shape as far as strokes are concerned — we hit the ball pretty well, but we're not getting up for these matches like we should be doing with teams like Plainview and Lubbock High. These are teams we're going to meet again in district competition," he added.

In the Hereford team's play in doubles against Plainview, the squad could manage only three wins out of seven matches overall.

Kim Sims and Carol Zinser upended PHS's Ortiz-Morgan 6-3, 6-3 while the Herd's Shelly Gentry and Whitney Parris duo capped a 6-2, 6-2 margin over Bulldog duo Stanford-Igo in the girl's segment of play.

Danny Perez and Eddie Lindeman became the only boy's pair to overcome an opponent during the competition as the doubles team side-stepped PHS's Butler-Smith 6-5, 6-3. The win came after defeats suffered by Adolfo Garcia-Trent Thomas to Harris-Havenhill 6-4, 6-2 and the Raymond Duncan-Robert Castro split set loss of 6-7, 7-6, 6-3.

In singles competition with Plainview, Robert Castro delivered a 6-0, 6-1 tally over Robert Sooter and Danny Perez notched straight set victories of 6-2, 6-2 in play with Chuck Morgan as the HHS boy's singles team only balast during the affair.

Dolly Montemayor swept her rival Evelyn Gardner 6-5, 6-3 as the only prominent girl's victory of the day. And the HHS beleaguered HHS crew fared little better against Lubbock High.

The Whiteface duo of Duncan-Castro routed LHS's Williams-Colena with decisive 6-2, 6-3 margins as the Herd's only recorded win in that portion of play in the dual-match proceedings.

Robert Castro and Michael Morgan's respective tallies of 6-2, 6-3 and 6-3, 6-5 over Lubbock opponents spurred the only singles wins added up by the team in boy's play. And to make the Herd's disadvantage complete in the remainder of play, Kim Sims swung a split set 7-5, 6-7, 6-2 win over LHS's Smith and Hereford netters Dolly Montemayor and Whitney Parris capped wins over Lubbock's Russell and Williams with sets of 6-2, 6-4; 6-2, 6-2 as the Whiteface's only other victories.

"Looking at our play this past weekend indicates we need some improvement, as compared to play with district teams," Cox said. "Lubbock and Plainview are about on the same plain as us as far as talent goes — we're really all very close and we have to play some of our best matches to win against them. I think we could and should have won both of our matches this past weekend, but we didn't have our heads in the games."

The Hereford netters are scheduled to volley against Lubbock Dunbar and Estacado in Lubbock Saturday as the team's first competition with the two Lubbock squads.

HHS netter Dolly Montemayor shucks a serve off her racket toward an opponent in a dual-match between the Whitefaces and Plainview this past Saturday. Even though the Hereford team lost the competition, Montemayor managed to win her particular dispute against PHS's Gardner 6-5, 6-3 during singles play in the two team's clash. (Brand photo by Robert Cox)

White Places Second In Cowgirl HOF Rodeo

The Cowgirl Hall of Fame Rodeo gave local talent a chance to shine with its designation as a GRA-sanctioned open rodeo, and local barrel racer Debbie White of Summerfield put the opportunity to good use in the first round of barrel racing competition here.

Miss White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack White of Summerfield, posted a second place finish in the first go of a barrel racing with a clocking of 16.25 seconds for the course.

The ride topped the 16.31 performance of former world champion barrel racer Martha Josey of Karnack, who eventually won the barrel racing title of the local rodeo with an average time of 48.42 for three goes.

Miss White also topped barrel racing notable Connie Combs of Comanche, Okla. on her first go, bettering the 16.29 mark of the Oklahoma, cowgirl.

Junior Varsity Nips Clovis

weekend as the squad delivered a 21-12 defeat to the Clovis Wildcats Saturday in Whiteface Stadium.

And the Herd's control of the clash was evident in early going play as quarterback Charles McDowell faked a punt and slipped through unsuspecting Clovis defenders for a 50-yard touchdown right before halftime. Rod Simon made the extra point conversion good in order to bolster the Whiteface squad with a 7-0 padding going into the lockerroom at intermission.

The deftly administered blow capped all the momentum the HHS crew needed going into third quarter's play also, as runningback Alfred Ball eluded the Wildcats for yet another long scoring run of 35 yards late in third quarter play. Following Simon's successful PAT attempt the Whitefaces maintained a firm 14-0 advantage until Clovis scored on a 30-yard dive play to bring the Wildcats back into the contest in the final period of the game.

But the Clovis team, hankering to cut the deficit they induced to an even slimmer margin, tried for a two-point conversion play rather than a field goal opportunity and missed thus putting the squad out of a touchdown's length away from the Hereford team at 14-6.

And the Clovis squad never full recovered from that Hereford advantage even though it made one final stab at evening the score late in the fourth quarter.

After Grady Brown pulled down a 20-yard pass reception of McDowell in the waning minutes of play in that quarter to put the Herd out front 21-6, the Clovis Wildcats capped a 10-yard dive play as their last futile plunge against the Whitefaces before the end of the clash. Once again the New Mexico squad attempted a two-point play to edge their faltering tally even higher, but as had been the case of things all night long for the squad — the Herd was a foe not to be denied.

The Whitefaces are slated

YOU AUTO KNOW

By Don Henslee

I'm having a problem with the 4-speed transmission on my 1979 Mustang (just out of warranty, of course). It has become really hard to shift from one gear to another. At first I was told it was a linkage problem. That was checked out and proved to be fine. Does this mean I'll have to tear the transmission apart and rebuild or replace it? Hopefully not. You need to investigate further. With the engine idling and the brake set, hold the clutch pedal about 3/4 inch from the floor and move the gearshift lever between first and reverse gears several times. If this goes smoothly, the clutch is releasing fully. If the shift is not smooth, there could be a clutch linkage problem. If the difficult shifting is accompanied by gear clashing, the trouble is probably located within the clutch itself.

Forecaster Results

The old phrase "You just can't win for losing" took on a special meaning for those of us on the staff in this week's fearless pigskin predictions.

The joke is over! Somehow we've got to come up with someone we can beat in the guest forecaster berth (whether by hook or crook) or we'll all have to leave town in order to save face. Why just this morning I saw our publisher leafing through flight schedules for entrance into Iran and Pakistan.

Mauri
Montgomery

He tried to convince me it was only due to his keen interest toward leftist platforms, but as we sat eye to eye we both knew the score. He was contemplating a hop out of the country just as surely as he was the undisputed holder of last place in the weekly fearless predictions.

I could only pity him in his defeatist attitude, but at the same time I knew how he felt. After all, I had considered leaving also, but found there weren't any rooms available in Dawn this time of year - tourists you know - and therefore tried to reserve a room in Umbarger.

I was told that one James Stout (also a heavy loser this week after hitting "Speedy's" unmentionable mark of 14-12) had beat me to the punch.

James and Speedy (two of Sports Prognosticators Inc. finest) tied with 12 incorrect picks apiece, but unlike Speedy who still hopes for a sniff out of the depths of the field, James fared much better a week before.

For that reason and that reason alone, Stout still maintains a slim edge of 60 per cent right over Nieman's floundering .58.

Then came that old and despicable Okie-Bob Nigh who had jaunted past me and into the leader's ranks after posting a 18-8 tally along with this week's guest Irene McKinster.

I admitted defeat against McKinster for she was a winner in her own right - grid picks were her forte. But Nigh had to have cheated some where down the line. Anybody who hated the Dallas Cowboys with as much fervor as he did, had to be a pin-up guy for some post office bulletin board at one time or another.

Nigh cast a percentage of 65 out of the wood-work to take over solitary reign in the leader's circle on the staff, while McKinster lengthened the guest forecaster's advantage to 75 per cent correct.

I regretfully have to announce that things haven't changed very much since my forecaster debut on the college newspaper. I have begun my characteristically long and slow descent into anonymity. Why do you think I took and continue to take such vicious stabs at my cohorts. It's for no other reason than, I won't be able to in the near future - I will no doubt be the one-man cellar squad soon, very soon.

Falling from a percentage of 68 to 63 percent in just one week's time makes Umbarger look better and better all the time.

"Can I have the floor James?"

After viewing this week's football contest results, it's readily apparent to me that we offer the contest for no other reason than to keep some of the winners away from our guest forecaster spot - we couldn't afford to have them beat us every week like they happen to be doing now.

This week's contest winners were David Caldwell of 604 E. 3rd St. and Jerry Morgan of 512 Sycamore Lane after both posted seven losses and had identical guesses of 21 on the tie-breaker game (Monterey 21, Wichita Falls Rider 10).

Third place was snagged by Dorothy Ohlig of 409 Blevins after the picker missed eight contests and added up a 31 on the tie-breaker score for an exact guess.

Eight others who missed eight games included Patrick Higgins, Kyle Streun, Paul Hamilton, Jim Marsh, D.B. Knox, Gary Duggan, John Streun and Shirley Wyssmann.

There were a total of 245 entries this week with nine disqualified for the use of illegal entry forms. The entry must be a form clipped out of the paper or an exact photocopy of it in order to be eligible.

Former Chief Tackle Shoots Self, Wife

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Teammates and associates of James E. Tyrer, former Kansas City Chiefs All-Pro tackle, expressed disbelief Monday that he would be driven to kill his wife, Martha, then commit suicide.

Tyrer shot his wife as she slept early Monday, then turned the gun on himself, police said.

They said the bodies of Tyrer, 41, who played offensive tackle for the Chiefs from 1961 to 1973 and his wife, Martha, 40, were found in the upstairs bedroom of their two-story home on the city's south side. A 17-year-old son told police he heard three shots and found the bodies. Two other children, ages 11 and 13, were asleep at the time.

Officers said Tyrer and his wife each suffered a single gunshot wound to the head. A .38 caliber revolver was found near Tyrer, according to police. Both bodies were found on the floor near the bed.

His teammates and associates described Tyrer as disciplined, conscientious and hard working.

"He was such a strong, stable guy," said Len Dawson, former Chiefs' quarterback and a close friend of Tyrer. "Something had to snap. He was a great family man. Doing something like this is completely contrary to his character."

Police Capt. Frederic Smith, homicide unit commander, said Tyrer apparently first fired one shot that did not strike his wife as she slept. When she awoke and started to get up from the bed, Tyrer shot her in the head and then placed the gun in his mouth and fired a third shot, police said.

Family members told police Tyrer had been out of work recently, but gave no indication that he was depressed. However, a church pastor disagreed. The Rev. Ted Nissen said Tyrer was having trouble moving from his sports career to other pursuits and had lost some confidence in his abilities.

Tyrer had been involved in several businesses, including marketing, tire sales and a household goods distributorship, according to Bob Sprenger, Chiefs public relations director.

An All-American at Ohio State, Tyrer joined the Dallas Texans football club in 1961 and played with the club two years before the team moved to Kansas City and became the Chiefs. He was on various all-pro teams from 1962 to 1971. He retired in 1974 after playing one year for the Washington Redskins.

Tyrer played on three championship teams during his pro career, in the 1962 American Football League championship game; and in Super Bowls I and IV after the 1966 and 1969 seasons. He was inducted into the Chiefs' Hall of Fame in 1976.

Chiefs' President Jack Steadman said he was unaware that Tyrer was having problems.

Houston Offense

Overwhelms Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — On those rare occasions when the Cleveland Browns got their hands on the ball, the Houston Oilers defense made sure it didn't matter.

And Oilers quarterback Ken Stabler made certain his defense didn't have to work too hard, controlling the ball for more than two-thirds of the game in Houston's 16-7 National Football League victory over the Browns Monday night.

The left-hander lulled the Browns — and perhaps many of those watching on prime time television — to sleep, connecting on 23 of 28 short and intermediate range passes for 187 yards to set up three Tony Fritsch field goals and a 2-yard touchdown run by Tim Wilson.

"The way we were controlling the ball, it wasn't necessary to throw long," Stabler said. "I think it's a confidence-builder to control the ball, because nothing but good things can come out of it."

So efficient were the Oilers that after Cleveland's Brian Sipe hit Calvin Hill with a 3-yard scoring pass early in the second quarter, Houston ran off 63 of the next 76 offensive plays.

Houston running back Earl Campbell, held to 7 yards in the first period, came alive in the second period and finished with 106.

"It's so great to have a guy like Earl," Stabler said. The Browns held a 7-3 edge at halftime, Houston's three points coming on a 25-yard Fritsch boot that capped the first of two nine-minute drives. The second half was all Houston.

"I don't know where the second half went," said Sipe, who finished with 12 completions in 25 attempts for 106 yards. "We were on and off the field two times. We couldn't get a first down."

The Oilers took the second-half kickoff at their own 33, and, helped by a Browns' holding penalty that nullified an Elvis Franks interception, took a 10-7 edge on Wilson's score.

The Browns ran off their only three plays of the quarter, punted, and Stabler engineered an eight-minute drive leading to Fritsch's 29-yard field goal early in the fourth period.

On that drive, Cleveland chose not to accept an interception by Thom Darden which would have given them the ball inside their own 5. Instead, they took a penalty that left the Oilers in a third-and-29 situation near mid-field.

Stabler then hit Mike Barber with a 14-yard pass and was roughed by Lyle Alzado, giving Houston a first down at the Browns' 20.

"We felt we could stop them and get the ball on the 20-yard line," explained Browns Coach Sam Rutigliano.

Following the field goal, the Browns ran off their obligatory three plays, punted, and Stabler directed his second nine-minute drive. The Oilers settled for a 17-yard field goal when three Rob Carpenter plunges on first-and-goal from the 1 failed to pay off.

The victory improved Houston's record to 1-1; Cleveland fell to 0-2.

Atlanta Routs Los Angeles, 9-0

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

Atlanta had just whipped Los Angeles 9-0 when Braves Manager Bobby Cox predicted the Dodgers would win the National League West.

"I like LA's pitching," said Cox after his team pounded the Dodgers for 13 hits, including Bob Horner's 33rd homer of the year off Burt Hooton in the first inning.

"I like their ball club," Cox added. "They are experienced. They've been down the stretch before. I think they've got the best pitching staff in the league. Hooton just didn't have his great stuff tonight."

Despite Cox's confidence in the Dodgers, who stayed in a tie for first in the West because the last-place San Diego Padres beat the Houston Astros 6-3, the loss was Los Angeles' 10th in 15 games with the Braves this season.

In other NL games Monday night, Cincinnati beat San Francisco 6-2 and St. Louis beat the Chicago Cubs 5-1. In the American League, Texas blanked Oakland 2-0 to assure the Kansas City Royals of at least a tie for the West Division title, and Seattle whipped the Chicago White Sox 12-1.

Horner, playing with a 15-stitch cut on his ankle from a spike wound suffered Sunday, hit his two-run homer in the very first inning. He later got his third RBI with a ground ball, while Gary Matthews also knocked in three for the Braves.

"I can't move very well, the ankle's real sore," Horner said. "Taking pain pills just doesn't get it. We need these games and it's very important that I play."

The Braves third baseman said the ankle bothered him during the game, but not during his home run trot. "That felt pretty good," he said.

Tommy Boggs, 10-9, pitched his second five-hit shutout of the season against the Dodgers, who have been blanked only two other times. He retired 17 of the first 18 batters he faced.

"I think we're as good as any team in the National League, bar none," Boggs said of the Braves, who are 28-9 the last five weeks. "A lot of people say it's a fluke but it's not. If we don't win it this year, we'll be contending next year."

Boggs could offer no explanation as to why he has been so successful against the Dodgers.

"They got a lot of right-handed power and really that's to my advantage," he said. "I throw them hard stuff to jam them and then pitch away and that seems to help me some."

Padres 6, Astros 3
Jerry Mumphrey had two RBI-singles, Gene Richards highlighted a three-run rally with a two-run double in the fourth inning and Bob Shirley pitched a six-hitter for San Diego to keep Houston from moving into first place in the NL West.

Houston had a 2-1 lead going into the fourth before the Padres broke the game open against Nolan Ryan, 9-9. Tim Lannery's run-scoring single preceded Richards' climactic double.

Richards, asked who he favors in the close NL West race, said: "It just all depends on which team has the best home record. Houston usually beats us, Cincinnati usually beats us, but we play Los Angeles real tough. It's going to come down to that last week."

Reds 6, Giants 2
Tom Seaver flirted with a National League record for career one-hitters before settling for a three-hitter that boosted Cincinnati within 4½ games of Houston and Los Angeles.

Seaver entered the ninth inning looking for his sixth career one-hitter, which would have established a modern NL mark. But Darrell Evans homered for San Francisco's second run and Rennie Stennett singled.

Dan Driessen had a two-run double and Ray Knight a two-run homer to highlight the Reds' offense.

Rangers 2, A's 0
Texas assured Kansas City of at least a division title tie as Al Oliver's 2,000th career hit drove in the first run of the game in the sixth inning against Oakland. Jon Matlack, 10-7, allowed eight hits in 61-3 innings before having to leave with a leg cramp, with John Henry Johnson finishing the shutout to gain a save.

The 33-year-old Oliver, in his 13th major league season, joined Pete Rose and Rod Carew as the only active players with 2,000 hits and a career average of .300.

Cards 5, Cubs 1
Andy Rincon pitched a five-hitter in his major-league debut and contributed a run-scoring single in St. Louis' four-run sixth inning that beat Chicago. Keith Hernandez and George Hendrick triggered the outburst with consecutive doubles that broke a 1-1 tie.

Mariners 12, White Sox 1
Mario Mendoza drove in four runs with a two-run double in Seattle's nine-run third inning and a two-run triple.

DRIVE-THRU LINES
GOT YOU DOWN?

DRIVE-IN TO A SONIC!

No one likes to waste time and money. That's why one reason many people go to drive-thru restaurants, whenever you're unfortunately, the popularity of the drive-thru has resulted in some problems. First, there's the long line to wait in, and then you have to wait to place your order. Not only do you waste time, but while your car engine is running...you're wasting gas!

Drive-in to a Sonic and we'll wait on you, you won't wait on us. Order to drive-thru restaurants, whenever you're unfortunately, the popularity of the drive-thru has resulted in some problems. First, there's the long line to wait in, and then you have to wait to place your order. Not only do you waste time, but while your car engine is running...you're wasting gas!

So remember, you don't need to wait in long lines, just drive-in to a Sonic for fast, convenient service.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—A constitutional amendment dealing with property taxation will be found on November's ballot.
Amendment 3 is a proposal to require a single appraisal district and a single board of equalization within each county for ad valorem tax purposes.

This amendment was adopted by the Legislature to fulfill the intent of the Property Tax Code which was enacted last year. The Code establishes single appraisal districts and boards of equalization within counties for all taxing jurisdictions except county governments. Counties currently have constitutional authority to handle their own property tax matters, and the amendment was designed to include this level of government in uniform taxation.

The Code did permit counties to join school districts, cities, water districts, and other taxing entities in the single appraisal districts. It is interesting to note that 84 percent, or 215 counties, chose to do so. It seems that these counties determined that the new system would be more cost efficient and workable.

The voters now must decide whether to require the remaining 39 counties to join the single taxing districts or not. Those persons advocating the passage of the amendment contend that it necessary to prevent conflicts in appraisals and thereby to promote uniformity and equality; they also contend that duplication would be completely eliminated in the process. Opponents claim that county taxes could increase and that county commissioners need to retain this power.

I hope that all voters will seriously consider this issue and cast ballots reflecting what they believe will be best for the State as a whole.

Speaker Clayton will explain over a nine week period ending October 24, the nine constitutional amendment proposals which will appear on the November 4 ballot.

POLLY'S POINTERS

—Mousy odors trapped—

DEAR POLLY — How can one clean up the black and get rid of the odor in a bureau drawer that is stinking from mice droppings from a mouse nest? — CURTIS
DEAR CURTIS — Try spreading that disinfectant product used in cat boxes and then filling the drawer with crushed newspaper. Close drawer tightly and leave for several days. If need be, add fresh newspaper and close again. When the odor is gone the inside of the drawer could be painted or covered with pretty adhesive-backed paper. That would be far easier than trying to remove the black spots that have doubtless penetrated through the wood. Good luck! — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — The lady with the terrible odor in her refrigerator should try lemon juice. I had tried everything — soda, vinegar and even bleach — and the odor remained.
When I called a refrigerator repair service, they told me to try lemon juice and it did the job in one cleaning. — GLADYS DEAR POLLY — My Pointer will not help Ray, who has a smelly refrigerator after it was turned off for several months, but will prevent such a disaster in the future. When my freezer or refrigerator is going to be turned off for any length of time from a few days to a few months, I defrost the box and then put in a small paper cup with about a half-cup of ground coffee in it, and close the door. After the refrigerator is put to use again, the nice fresh smell of coffee will soon disappear and there is no lingering musty smell to worry about. — JEAN

DEAR POLLY — After my hall, living room and dining room were carpeted I had some strips of carpet left over.
There was a blank wall in the hall and I had loads of pictures of my grandchildren but no frames for them. I cut the carpet strips so they were about one inch wide, put sticky carpet tape on the backs of the strips and used them to make a big frame of carpet to go on the wall. The pictures were arranged inside this "frame" and covered with clear plastic adhesive-backed paper. — MRS. B.

Bentsen Proposes New Statute of Limitations

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Senator Lloyd Bentsen, saying "there is no good reason to accord the criminal element greater protection than law-abiding citizens," has proposed a five year statute of limitations on the enforcement of federal regulations.

"Forgers, embezzlers, thieves and extortionists are protected by a statute of limitations. If they perpetrate a crime and remain undetected for a specific number of years, they can be assured of immunity from prosecution for that deed, no matter how strong the case against them," Bentsen said in Senate remarks accompanying legislation he introduced.

"But there is no statute of limitations for the honest, hardworking, small businessman or entrepreneur who unwittingly violates one of the rules or regulations that spew forth from this city like volcanic ash from the summit of Mount St. Helens."

"The taxpayer who happens to violate a dictate of the Department of Energy or the Environmental Protection Agency is liable forever; and he would be well advised to maintain records that go back years and years just in case he is called to account by a federal agency for an alleged misdeed sometime in the distant past."

The Bentsen bill would place a five year statute of limitations on the enforcement of rules and regulations promulgated by federal agencies. The legislation would also limit to five years the time required for individual record-keeping.

The statute of limitations would not apply in cases of fraud or willful or knowing violation. In addition, actions and records relating to dangerous material would be exempt from the five year rule.

"At a time when compliance with federal rules and regulations creates a $100 billion annual drag on our economy it is obviously in our national interest to reduce wherever possible and appropriate the crushing burden of federal interference," Bentsen said.

"This burden falls most heavily on the shoulders of small and medium-sized enterprises. The Fortune 500 corporations can afford the lawyers and accountants required to keep abreast of and in compliance with all federal regulations. They can afford to microfilm their records and keep them indefinitely," Bentsen said.

"But the small company frequently lacks the resources for this sort of monitoring and record-keeping. They are more likely to put their scarce resources into the sort of research and development of new equipment that our economy needs so desperately. These are the companies that would benefit most from this statute of limitations on enforcement of federal regulations and the limit on record keeping requirements," Senator Bentsen said.

Young Americans have seen so much hypocrisy in one generation it's little wonder that the draft-registration in some areas is only 30 percent effective and that up to 50 percent of those who do register identify themselves as "conscientious objectors."

Hear this quote, please: "Why not postpone the next war until the cause is so popular that everybody would know what he is fighting for, then you'd not have to draft anybody?"

Will Rogers said that in November, 1926.

Stunt for TV Ends in Crash

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — As 5,000 people and a television camera crew looked on, a motorcycle daredevil attempting a feat that had defied Evel Knievel crashed into a wall after a 170-foot leap over the fountains at Caesar's Palace.

The stunt for ABC-TV's "That's Incredible!" was at least the second for the show to result in injuries.

Gary Wells was in critical condition today after hours of surgery to repair a tear in the main artery of his heart. He also suffered broken legs, a fractured pelvis and a concussion, officials said.

Wells' doctor was "optimistic" about the daredevil's recovery, but said Wells was not out of danger.

The 23-year-old motorcyclist had completed the jump Monday when his dirt bike clipped the edge of the landing ramp, skidded along a parking lot and crashed into a retaining wall. Six spectators were injured when they fell 15 feet as the wall gave way.

The jump was to have been broadcast on a segment of ABC-TV's "That's Incredible!" Monday night, but it was dropped from the program after the crash. A brief ABC announcement to viewers said the motorcyclist, who holds the world's motorcycle jumping record, had been injured earlier in the day.

Network officials were not available for further comment.

In another "That's Incredible!" injury, Steve Lewis, 27, of San Diego, was injured July 6 while trying to jump over two cars speeding toward him at 100 mph. He suffered extensive foot and knee injuries in the incident.

Lewis, also the world's light heavyweight kickboxing champion, has jumped over one car traveling at 70 mph, a stunt he performed more than 25 times, including once for the ABC-TV cameras.

Wells had said he had no doubt his jump would be successful.

"The jump's going to be very difficult because of the limited takeoff area and confined stopping area. I'll be running over a couple of speed bumps, then making an S-curve 300 feet before I hit the takeoff ramp," he said earlier this month.

Monday's jump was the first stunt at the fountains at the Strip resort since Evel Knievel failed 13 years ago in an attempt to get his motorcycle over the waters. Knievel suffered numerous broken bones at that time.

Wells had seen Knievel attempt the fountain stunt, and recently had commented, "To see him crash didn't bother me. I just assumed he didn't know what he was doing because he wasn't successful."

Wells set the world motorcycle jumping record of 155 feet 10 inches on Aug. 18, 1971, raised the mark to 175 feet in Phoenix in January and then jumped 175 feet 4 1/2 inches in Australia in April.

He managed to stay on his motorcycle as it roared across the parking lot, but then fell or leaped off just before it plowed into the wall. He was thrown 25 feet from the wrecked machine.

As hundreds of people moved in for a better view, a 15-foot section of retaining wall 15 feet above the crash scene gave way, injuring six people.

They received minor injuries.

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas lawyer was shot and killed Sunday by an armed masked bandit who interrupted a party at his lavish home just north of downtown, police said.

B. Russell Niederer, 39, was chasing the gunman when he was shot in the chest, officers said.

Police investigators said about 20 people were at the house when the gunman, wearing gloves and a blue bandana mask, walked into an open garage by an enclosed patio and grabbed Niederer around the neck.

Two men wrestled with the gunman after he was distracted by a woman who entered the patio area, but were unable to get his gun. The bandit shot Niederer as he fled.

Texoma alone could provide as much water as the entire City of Dallas system, they say.

Using devices such as inflatable dams and concrete walls beneath steambeds, the $170 million project would be one of the first of its type in the United States.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Mayor Carole McClellan might cheer the winner but she also had to console the loser in the finals of a weekend tennis tournament here. Facing each other across the net were the mayor's 15-year-old, identical-twin sons.

Dudley McClellan, who is one minute older than his brother Bradley, won the match, 6-4, 5-7, 7-6.

"It was as close as it could be," said the mayor.

The twins play as a doubles team for Austin High School.

HOUSTON (AP) — Nine persons were killed in eight separate traffic accidents in what police said was one of the deadliest weekends of the year for the Houston area.

The dead included a father and son, Isaac Franklin, 51, and Henry Franklin, 20, who were killed when struck by an automobile while changing a tire on their car on a freeway shoulder.

HOUSTON (AP) — Seven firemen were treated for exposure to toxic fumes Sunday in a fire at a chemical plant.

In 1978, nearly 24 percent of all restaurant orders were for hamburgers.

AVISO PUBLICO

Breves Declaraciones Explicativas De Las ENMIENDAS CONSTITUCIONALES PROPUESTAS ELECCION GENERAL 4 DE NOVIEMBRE DE 1980

PROPOSICION NO. 1 EN LA BOLETA

Resolución Conjunta #35 del Senado propone una enmienda constitucional que autorice a la Legislatura permitir a los bancos establecer y operar máquinas registradoras automáticas (teller machines) dentro del condado o ciudad en donde están los bancos compartiendo el uso de las máquinas registradoras de acuerdo con las leyes antimonopolistas, si acaso esta operación resulta conveniente para el público. La Legislatura ya aprobó la autorización de esta legislación (H.B. 1510) para la proposición de esta enmienda.

La enmienda propuesta aparecerá en la boleta como sigue: "La enmienda constitucional permite a la Legislatura autorizar que los bancos usen máquinas registradoras automáticas (teller machines) dentro del condado o ciudad de su domicilio en un plan de cooperación para conveniencia pública."

Resolución Conjunta #97 de la Cámara propone una enmienda constitucional que conceda al Estado y al acusado el derecho de una apelación interlocutoria en los siguientes fallos de la corte en causas criminales: los fallos antes del juicio sobre la constitucionalidad de una ley; sobre la petición para anular, destituir, o desear una acusación; y sobre una petición para suprimir la evidencia.

La enmienda propuesta aparecerá en la boleta como sigue: "La enmienda constitucional autoriza la apelación de ciertos fallos antes del juicio de una corte en una causa criminal por el Estado o por el acusado."

Resolución Conjunta #98 de la Cámara propone una enmienda constitucional que requiera una evaluación de todos los bienes sujetos a los impuestos de ad valorem y proveerá únicamente una junta para revisar avalúos dentro de cada condado. El requisito constitucional de que la corte de comisionados del condado sea la junta de avalúos será eliminado, y a los oficiales electos del condado o de la comisión directiva de la unidad fiscal se les prohibirá servir como miembros de la junta de revisión de avalúos.

La enmienda propuesta aparecerá en la boleta como sigue: "La enmienda constitucional requiere solamente una evaluación y una junta para revisión de avalúos en cada condado para determinar los impuestos de ad valorem."

PROPOSICION NO. 4 EN LA BOLETA

Resolución Conjunta #18 del Senado propone una enmienda constitucional permitiendo a la Legislatura autorizar que los bancos usen máquinas registradoras automáticas (teller machines) dentro del condado o ciudad de su domicilio en un plan de cooperación para conveniencia pública.

La enmienda propuesta aparecerá en la boleta como sigue: "La enmienda constitucional autoriza los juegos de bingo por grupos con propósitos caritativos solamente sujetos a las limitaciones de que la operación de los juegos tiene que ser aprobada en elecciones de opción local, y que todas las ganancias tengan que ser usadas en Texas."

PROPOSICION NO. 5 EN LA BOLETA

Resolución Conjunta #86 de la Cámara propone una enmienda constitucional que permita a la Legislatura autorizar al Gobernador para que ejerza control fiscal de los gastos de ciertos fondos financieros previamente asignados, sujeto a las condiciones y limitaciones proveídas por la ley y sujeto a la aprobación de un comité ejecutivo del presupuesto que constará del Gobernador, Gobernador Teniente, Presidente de la Cámara de Representantes, Presidente y Vice-presidente del Comité de Finanzas del Senado, y Presidente y Vice-presidente del Comité de Asignaciones Fiscales de la Cámara de Representantes.

La enmienda propuesta aparecerá en la boleta como sigue: "La enmienda constitucional concede al Gobernador el poder para ejercer control fiscal de los gastos de los fondos asignados según la ley."

PROPOSICION NO. 6 EN LA BOLETA

Resolución Conjunta #8 del Senado propone una enmienda constitucional que permita al Gobernador remover a un oficial de su cargo aunque este haya sido previamente nombrado por el Gobernador y confirmado por el Senado. El remover al oficial será únicamente bajo el consentimiento del Senado, y si la Legislatura no está en sesión, se convocará una sesión extraordinaria del Senado, la cual no durará más de los días, para considerar la eliminación del oficial en caso.

La enmienda propuesta aparecerá en la boleta como sigue: "La enmienda constitucional autoriza que el Gobernador remueva a los oficiales nombrados bajo consejo y consentimiento del Senado."

Resolución Conjunta #121 de la Cámara propone una enmienda constitucional que autorice a los condados con una población de 5000 o menos, que construyan y mantengan caminos privados cobrando razonablemente por el trabajo. Por ley, la Legislatura puede limitar esta autoridad. Los ingresos recibidos por trabajo en caminos privados se pueden usar solamente para construcción, para adquisición de derecho de paso, o para el mantenimiento de caminos públicos.

La enmienda propuesta aparecerá en la boleta como sigue: "La enmienda constitucional autoriza que los condados con una población de 5000 o menos trabajen en caminos privados."

PROPOSICION NO. 8 EN LA BOLETA

Resolución Conjunta #36 de la Cámara propone una enmienda constitucional que cambie la jurisdicción y autoridad de las cortes de apelación del Estado. La enmienda cambiará el nombre de Cortes de Apelaciones Civiles a Cortes de Apelación, dando a estas cortes jurisdicción de apelación sobre casos criminales y civiles. La enmienda cambiará el título de los Jueces Asociados de la Corte Suprema a Jueces, y requerirá que los miembros de la Corte Suprema sean abogados con licencia del estado de Texas mientras permanezcan en el puesto.

La enmienda propuesta aparecerá en la boleta como sigue: "La enmienda constitucional que cambia el nombre de Cortes de Apelaciones Civiles y el nombre y requisito de los Jueces de la Corte Suprema y dicta la jurisdicción y autoridad de las cortes de apelación."

La enmienda propuesta aparecerá en la boleta como sigue: "La enmienda constitucional que cambia el nombre de Cortes de Apelaciones Civiles y el nombre y requisito de los Jueces de la Corte Suprema y dicta la jurisdicción y autoridad de las cortes de apelación."

Resolución Conjunta #54 de la Cámara propone una enmienda constitucional que define la propiedad que posee cualquiera de los cónyuges como separada, incluyendo las dos clases—de bienes raíces y los bienes inmuebles—los tales fueron propiedad de alguno de los cónyuges antes del matrimonio o fueron adquiridos después como un regalo, ya sea un legado de bienes raíces, o de descendencia. Las parejas que están por casarse o los que ya están casados, y sin la intención de defraudar a sus acreedores preexistentes, pueden repartirse de vez en cuando, entre sí y por escrito, toda o parte de su propiedad. Pueden también intercambiar un interés común en bienes poseídos o que van a poseer por un interés común en la comunidad de bienes. La enmienda permitirá a los cónyuges venir por escrito que los ingresos o bienes derivados de cualquier propiedad particular seguirán siendo propiedad particular en lugar de ser comunidad de bienes como sería si no existiera este convenio por escrito. La enmienda propone que el regalo de un cónyuge a otro se supone que incluye todos los ingresos y bienes derivados de tal regalo.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY GEORGE

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—A new tax revolt may be brewing in Texas.

At the grassroots level, taxpayers are upset with local tax increases—and their complaints are communicated to the State Capitol along with the question: what happened to the promised tax relief?

In 1978 voters approved the Tax Relief Amendment which authorized the Legislature to follow up in 1979 with tax relief legislation. Taxpayers were expecting to benefit from new tax breaks this year, but they are enraged to find their property valuations are going up, in most places.

Find the Scapegoat

For the average taxpayer, no explanation is readily available, which adds to the frustration.

As a general rule, when the taxpayer inquires at the local tax office, he is told the blame lies with the Texas Legislature, a charge which many legislators are quietly preparing to throw back into the faces of local officials.

Another scapegoat is the newly-enacted property tax reform law, also known as the Peveto Bill, after its author, Rep. Wayne Peveto of Orange.

The Peveto Bill was already somewhat of a legend on the day of its passage last season. Peveto had worked on the property tax code reform for six years, researching and polishing after each defeat until it was finally approved by two House votes and one Senate vote last year.

Clements Endorsement

The bill was hailed as both a blessing and a curse at the same time. Governor Clements listed it as his foremost legislative achievement of the session, and it had the backing of several labor groups as well. Other legislators felt the reform might cause confusion which would inevitably lead to higher taxes, not lower taxes.

The Peveto Bill definitely contains some advantages for taxpayers, notably a provision for a local referendum to roll-back taxes and provisions for truth-in-taxation.
