Hermleigh Seniors On Trip

By BUCK SITTON

The graduating class of seniors at Hermleigh High School took Horace Greeley's advice. Following graduation exercises Friday night, they went west Saturday morning.

They boarded Santa Fe Train No. 75 from Houston at Snyder at 5:30 a.m. Train 75, one of the few passenger trains still operating in West Texas, took the eager students to Clovis where they filed into a special chair car on the "San Francisco Chief."

The group received special rates from the Santa Fe for the round trip, according to local station agent L. C. Ochsner. Some 20 graduates originally were scheduled to make the annual senior trip, although a few of them did not go. They were accompanied by Mrs. Roxie Soules, teacher at Hermleigh High School and tour director. Other adults who boarded the train are Rev. and Mrs. Bob Creswell, Mrs. Dale Hess, Mrs. Roy Collier, Mrs. Frank Kubala Mrs. Mildred Simmons and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jordan.

Leaving the Chief or Train No. 1 at Merced, Calif., the group was to spend Sunday afternoon and night on a visit to Yosemite National Park. A special bus was available for the trip to the park.

The itinerary calls for the students to board a Santa Fe train again Monday morning for a ride through the San Joaquin Valley to Richmond. From there, a bus ride over the Golden Gate Bridge will take the graduates to the Golden State Hotel in downtown San Francisco. The remainder of the day and Tuesday will be spent on sight-seeing tours of the Bay Area. Places to be visited are the Muir Woods in Marin County, Chinatown, and Fisherman's Wharf.

Wednesday's schedule calls for a train ride to Bakersfield and a bus trip to Los Angeles. The group will spend the night at the Biltmore Hotel there.

Thursday and Friday will be filled with visits to Marineland of the Pacific, Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm and the Movieland Wax Museum. Friday night, the youngsters can see the Los Angeles Dodgers tangle with the San Francisco Giants or the California Angels test the Chicago White Sox in professional baseball games.

A Gray Line tour bus will take the group to Universal City Studios Saturday for a glimpse at movie stars and the motion picture industry. Another baseball game is on tap for Saturday night.

Following church services Sunday week, the group will board Santa Fe's "Grand Canyon" special (Train No. 24) for the return trip. It will be a through trip to Snyder, although special car 780 housing the group will be switched to Train No. 2 at Clovis. Arrival time back in Snyder is set for 9:05 p.m. Monday, May 29.

"Most of the youngsters have never been to California and they are excited about going," said one parent at the Santa Fe station here Saturday morning.

Who wouldn't be, Mr. Greeley?

ALL ABOARD! — Carolyn Chitsey (left) and Virginia Finch prepare to board Santa Fe Railway Co. train No. 75 for the first leg of their journey to the West Coast.

COUNT NOSES — Mrs. Roxie Soules, Hermleigh teacher, and L .C. Ochsner, agent for the Santa Fe Railway Co., make sure that nobody is left behind as the graduating seniors at Hermleigh High School begin a 10-day annual trip.

U. N. COUNCIL GIVEN WARNING

Middle East Is Menace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Secretary-General U Thant warned the U.N. Security Council today that in his view the situation in the Middle East now is "more menacing than at any time since the fall of 1956," when Israeli troops and the British and French attacked Egypt.

Thant gave the warning in an official report to the 15-nation council following up his announcement to the General Assembly Friday that, by request of the United Arab Republic, he was pulling the U.N. Emergency Force out of the Gaza Strip.

The force of 3,400 men has guarded the Egypt-Israel line since the 1956 invasion was halted by assembly appeal.

Thant did not ask for a council meeting.

But the United Nations announced that Foreign Secretary Paul Martin of Canada had an appointment to call on Thant this morning

Diplomatic sources said Martin had canadian Ambassador George Ignatieff urge Thant privately Friday to call a Security Council meeting.

Thant told the council Egypt had the right to demand withdrawal of the U.N. force.

"The timing of the withdrawal of the United Nations Emergency Force leaves much to be desired becaus of the prevailing tensions and dangers throughout the area," he said.

"It also adds one more frontier on which there is a direct confrontation between the military force sof Israel and those of her Arab neighbors."

Explaining his action in that respect, Thant said that when Egypt "decided to move its troops up to the line which it had a perfect right to do", the buffer function which the force had been performing "was eliminated."

Thant said that while he had to order the withdrawal "there is good reason to fear that the withdrawal of the U.N. force will give rise to increased danger along the armistice demarcation line and the international frontier between Israel and the United Arab Republic."

The United Arab Republic is Egypt's official name.

Thant said the U.N. force had been a deterrent and restraining influence along both lines.

He said there were "some particularly sensitive areas involved notably Sharm el Sheik and Gaza."

American Pilots Down Five MIGs

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes dueled with Communist MIGs over North Vietnam for the second straight day today and American pilots reported they shot down five, and probably a sixth.

The sky warfare raged as about 10,000 U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops were heavily engaged by North Vietnamese in the demilitarizd zone separating North and South Vietnam..

The swirling dogfight, in which American pilots made their second big MIG kill in two days, occurred during a raid on a truck repair facility eight miles north of the North Vietnamese captal of Hanoi, the U.S. Command said.

This brought to 69 the total of MIGs downed over North Vietnam. There was no report immediately of any U.S. plane losses.

Three of the MIGs and the one probably destroyed were credited to Air Force planes from the 8th Tactical Fighter Wing based in Thailand. The planes were said to be the MIG17 model, an older version of the jet fighter. Pilots flying swift Phantom jets out of Da Nang, in the northern part of Vietnam, got the other two. The Air Force in Da Nang said both were MIG21s, the newest and best in the North Vietnamese air force.

This sky battle occurred about 25 miles northwest of Hanoi. Both MIGs were brought down by air-to-air missiles.

On Friday, American pilots reported shooting down four MIGs, and possibly a fifth, and destroying two on the ground as seven U.S. planes were downed by intense antiaircraft fire in a raid on Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital.

Aground the fighting centered in the demilitarized zone, with the Americans determined to root out the North Vietnamese who have been shelling them from that supposedly neutral zone.

Teen-Agers In Hong Kong On Rampage

By FORREST EDWARDS

HONG KONG (AP) — Mobs of Chinese teen-agers raged through Hong Kong Island's crowded Chinese Wanchai section tonight, attacking Europeans and painting pro-Communist slogans on buildings.

The violence broke out after a day of anti-British demonstrations through the main financial and business district of this crown colony on the edge of Communist China.

A European photographer was beaten. Another European was cornered, kicked and smeared with red paint. A third was chased down a street by gangs swinging paint buckets and brushes.

As thousands of Chinese applauded from sidewalks and balconies, the teen-agers painted the office of three pro-Nationalist Chinese - language newspapers with such slogans as "Traitors to the Chinese People" and "Enemies of Chairman Mao."

The Wanchai branch of the Bank of Bangkok was daubed with red paint and the fronts of two British banks were painted with demands that "British Fascists must pay in blood for their blood crimes against the Chinese people."

Earlier, anti-Communist and pro-Nationalist Chinese posters were pasted on the Hong Kong post office, raising fear that the two Chinese factions might clash in fighting as serious as that in which at least 60 persons were killed in 1956.

Snyder Selected As AFS Bus Stop

For the second time, Snyder has been designated as a two-day stop for a bus - load of foreign exchange students this summer

An American Field Service bus is scheduled to arrive here on July 1 with 41 students and two adult sponsors. A similar bus-stop was made here in 1965, when more than two-score foreign students participated in a variety of activities during their brief visit.

There will be 19 boys and 22 girls among the students on the bus this year. Like the [illegible] 1965, they will be on a cross-country tour following a year of studies in high schools in the western part of the country. Their bus will wind-up at AFS headquarters where they will take transportation back to their home countries.

Harold Lacik is chairman of the arrangements committee for the bus stop this year. The local AFS chapter makes the arrangements for housing and for entertainment of the visitors.

Local families who can provide accommodations for one or more of the exchange students have been asked to contact [illegible] after 5 p.m. on weekdays. The youngsters will be here for two nights.

DISCUSS AFS ACTIVITIES — Discussing plans for an AFS bus stop here are four persons at Snyder High School who have more than a casual interest in the American Field Service program. From left are Barbara Crowell, who was an AFS student to Chile last summer; Murry Bowden, president of the SHS Student Council; Hernan Hechenleitner, foreign exchange student from Chile, and Virginia Grove, Student Council sponsor. The Student Council initiated the AFS program in Snyder.

Sunbather Menace To Navigation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A 22-year-old curvaceous blonde was described in Municipal Court Friday as a menace to navigation. She also was fined $50 for indecent exposure.

Nadia Pobihushka, a Canadian, was arrested a week ago while sunbathing in the nude on Government Cut jetty.

Police Lt. Jerry Kerdierski testified that a small flotilla of pleasure boats anchored dangerously close to the rocks, and Sgt. Bill Dabney said, "Quite a few fishing boats were creating a jam in the cut, taking in the sights."

'Although she was a menace to navigation, I didn't try to make a case out of it," Kerdierski said.

Miss Pobihushka said she had been sunbathing on the jetty for the four years she has lived here, "but that was the first time I ever took the bottom off."

She said she was only trying to even out her tan.

When it was founded in 1914, Mothers Day captured the American imagination as few other national holidays have. On one occasion, according to researchers at Hallmark Cards, more than 42,000 doughboys at an Army camp in Ohio stood at attention and recited the Lord's Prayer for their mothers. The year was 1918.

Panbroiling Tip

This is one time when you need a hot frying-pan: when you panbroil chops or steaks that are still frozen. The hot skillet is necessary so meat browns before it starts to defrost and moisture gathers, thus delaying browning or making it difficult.

Reduce the heat after the meat is browned. Turn it occasionally during the cooking so it can cook through.

HAPPY VACATION

Outfit Bride To-Be With Cookware

Aside from all the fun of a bridal shower lies the practical purpose of helping the bride and groom fill their needs for a future home. A kitchen shower, for example, can provide even an inexperienced cook with beautiful tools to hlep her become an expert.

The bride-to-be will need utensils, of course, and a basic set of decorated ceramicware can provide her with essential equipment that is attractive as well as useful.

A 1-quart tea kettle, an 8-inch skillet, and a 1½-quart covered casserole would be a nice "starter" set for you to choose for the bride. No need to worry about color scheme, either, as the gay Fiesta pattern will blend well with any kitchen decor.

The durable construction of porcelain-on-steel insures years of cooking pleasure. Even the bride's first "burned" dinner will wash off with a little soaking in warm sudsy water. And, as the utensils are so attractive, she can even serve the prepared foods in them.

Garnish For Pork

Whether you roast a pork loin or plan to serve pork chops, serve kaboles of sweet potato chunks and spiced crabappies. Both come in cans or in glass and may be kept on the shelf for convenience. To make the kabobs, cut sweet potatoes into one-inch chunks and alternate on the skewers with crabapples. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Broil two to three inches from heat for approximately 8 to 10 minutes.

Design Cooker For All Seasons

A unique multi-purpose cooker is an ideal all-seasons utensil.

Not only is it wonderful for steaming hearty vegetables of the fall season, such as broccoli and cauliflower, but it also cooks to perfection the tender asparagus of spring.

The inner basket with handles has holes in it to allow the gentle steam to thoroughly cook the foods. Even corn-on-the-cob is crisply tender when prepared in the multi-purpose cooker. The handles on the basket make it easy to remove the prepared food.

Virtually anything that can be cooked by steam can be cooked in this versatile cooker. Hot dogs, clams, frozen vegetables, shrimp, potatoes, and lobsters, to name a few, all taste so much better when cooked by steam. The gentle steam helps to preserve all the nutrients of the cooked foods.

Once you have a handy multi-purpose cooker, you will wonder how you ever got along without one.

Way With Leftovers

Both potato and macaroni salads are rather basic dishes. And since they are, they can be varied in many ways, thus enhancing the dish.

For example, both kinds of salad can be delightful if you slice frankfurters, smoked sausage links, baked ham or even assorted "cold cuts" to mix with the standard ingredients. This will boost the protein content of the meal thus giving more nourishment.

Sliced "cold cuts" can always be fashioned into rolls or cornucopias to give a meaty garnish at the base of the salad, thus adding interest and color as well as food value. Or, alternate slices on one side of the platter while the other side holds the salad.

Appetizer Special

It's cool for a warm evening and has elegance, too, this simple idea for an appetizer. Make it an hour in advance so all ingredients have time to chill thoroughly: slice one pound of roast beef or lamb into ⅛ inch thick slices, then cut into narrow strips. Next, slice four green onions thinly and mix with one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon lemon juice and once cup of dairy sour cream. Pour this over beef or lamb strips. Chill. Before serving, place chilled mixture in lettuce cups. Garnish with thinly sliced green onions dusted with paprika, if desired.

Ceramicware Goes Modern

Would you believe that modern ceramicware utensils were probably born out of the ancient cultures of Egypt and Greece?

The base metals were of gold, silver, bronze and occasionally copper. Then in 1830, a Bohemian craftsman tried dusting powdered porcelain on red-hot cast iron utensils, and a new era dawned.

Our modern ceramicware is a far cry from the crude "old fashioned ware Ceramicware with a base of heavy gauge steel now is available in a multitude of attractive patterns.

Future Of Bordering Laos Bound To That Of Vietnam

By BOB POOS

PAKSE, Laos (AP)—A pilot flies 350 missions against a Communist enemy. An infantry patrol clashes with a North Vietnamese unit and kills six of them.

This sounds like Vietnam but it's Laos. Here there's also a war, on a smaller scale.

The forces are of about the same size, both numbering around 70,000 according to a U.S. militar yattache.

Western sources estimate that about 15,000 of the Communists are North Vietnamese regulars actively engaged in fighting royal Laotian army troops. Possibly 5,000 more North Vietnamese guard the series of roads and paths in south-central Laos that has come to be known as the Ho Chi Minh trail used for infiltration into South Vietnam.

"Laos' future is inextricably bound with that of Vietnam," a U.S. source said. "The fighting there has undoubtedly drained off men who otherwise would be here."

Westerners differ in opinions on whether North Vietnam would launch a major invasion if the allies either accomplished a clear-cut victory in South Vietnam or signed a peace treaty suddenly.

"I don't think so," said one American observer. "They have no claim on Laos that could by any stretch of the imagination be termed legitimate, even by them.

"Fourteen nations—including the United States and Red China—have signed an agreement respectively Laotian neutrality and a major invasion might bring the wrath of the world down on them."

Some other Americans, particularly those working in the field on various aid projects, don't think Hanoi would worry much about world opinion if the pressure in South Vietnam were suddenly relieved.

"They'd hit this place like a thunderbolt," one said.

Meanwhile, the Laotian military situation seems to be improving slowly. Government forces have about two-thirds of the country under control and Westerners think the Laotian army, never particularly famous for being an aggressive force, is improving.

"There are no really elite Laotian units, but there are some crack officers and their men do well in the field," an American source said. "You have to consider that the Lao just are not an agressive people. In the past their land has always been one of plenty and they have not had to be aggressive to survive."

One bright spot for the government has been the behavior of 10,000 neutralist troops formerly under the controversial mystic, Gen. Kong Le, now in exile.

The neutralist colonels were able to keep their troops in hand and most proved willing to serve under combined neutralist-royal command.

Last month a combined neutralist-royal force began an operation about 35 miles east of Pakse that is aimed at recovering an area long dominated by the Communists.

This correspondent visited a group mobile—regiment—led by Thao Ly, one of the most aggressive colonels in the country. He has attended two U.S. Army military instruction courses and speaks excellent English.

The troops seemed to know what they were about. They were in good physical condition, and carried well-kept weapons.

The Communists seem content with keeping their supply trails to South Vietnam open and trying to tighten their hold on territory they occupy. They are armed mainly with semiautomatic and automatic rifles from Communist-bloc nations and the deadly light machine guns of Soviet design and Chinese Communist manufacture that have taken a toll of allied soldiers in Vietnam. They have plenty of mortars and some heavy machine guns.

The Laotians are main yuleiep dwit hKorean War vin equipped with Korean War vintage American Garand rifles, M1 carbines, .45 caliber pistols and light machine guns.

The Laotian air force consists of 20 or so American T28 single-engine propellor planes, former trainers that have been equipped with bomb and rocket racks and machine guns.

One often hears reports of mysterious American Special Forces men secretly training the royal Laotian army forces. This writer found no evidence of that in visits to Laotian military installations ranging from military region headquarters to regiments and battalions in south, central and north Laos.

American authorities seem satisfied to let the Laotians fight their own war in their own way. The dollar amount of American military aid to Laos is kept secret, but the Laotian forces were almost totally dependent on it.

Land Reforms Important To Vietnam's New Constitution

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON (AP) —"To the tillers belongs the soil."

"Destroy the feudal land barons."

Throughout the underdeveloped lands of the world, Communists make powerful use of these and similar slogans in bidding for the popular support vital to any Vietnam-style insurgency.

The figures are subject to challenge, but the Viet Cong claims to have seized nearly 2.3 million acres from prosperous landlords and to have turned them over to the peasants.

The power of the slogans is perhaps as great as the "No taxation without representation" that helped turn American colonists into armed insurgents.

Farmers make up 80 per cent of Vietnam's population and without their support no meaningful victory is possible here.

Despite Saigon claims of action in land reform, U.S. officials cite figures to indicate Premier Nguyen Cao Ky has turned over only about 20,000 new acres during his nearly two years in office.

The evidence is that little has been done about land reform since President Ngo Dinh Diem fell in 1963.

Diem expropriated 229,000 acres from French estate owners and another 1.12 million from landlords who held in excess of 247 acres.

He distributed much of the best land to government figures and those whose loyalty he deemed important in the countryside.

There are still about 800,000 acres of land to be sold from the Diem edicts before 1963. About half is rated as cultivatable.

"What has never been but must now be recognized by the Vietnamese government is that only a real revolution in the countryside can bring victory over the Communists," an American source has commented.

Maj. Gen. Nguyen Duc Thang, head of the government's embattled pacification program, echoed the view and said: "It is no good to try to tell the people that the Communists are bad. We must show them we can do more for them and give them a better life. This must not only be in relationship to past regimes but also better than the life the Communists promise."

Ky is given good marks for intentions by some Americans. They point out that he must battle centuries-old, Mandarin-style economic exploitation in the countryside.

The members of this society are powerful men and pay money in the right places seeking to insure that reforms don't threaten their way of life.

These elements were strong enough to emasculate efforts to write tough land-reform legislation into Vietnam's new constitution.

U.S. sources are not certain how much of the Communists' claimed 2.3 million acres really have been turned over to the peasants or how much they firmly control.

The Communists do not charge for the land as the government does, but they tax it heavily to keep their war machine in operation.

The government sells its reformed land on an average for about $80 an acre, a sum few peasants could hope to amss under the present tenant-farming system. Few realize that Saigon gives farmers 12 years to pay for the land and charges no interest.

Despite a government law setting rent ceilings at 25 per cent of the annual crop, rents commonly are 30 to 50 per cent or higher.

Most peasants are too poor to buy fertilizer and some have to eat their seed to stay alive. The landlord has to provide it, at a price.

Or the peasant can borrow money. Interest rates of 10 per cent a month are common.

Billions of U.S. aid dollars since 1954 have altered little for the peasants. Half of the seven million acres of farm land are worked by tenants.

There is some running room in the land problem for many areas. The war has become so fierce that the peasants caught in the middle worry most about staying alive.

But the issue is certain to flame anew.

An old Vietnamese saying holds: "He should own the land who rubs it between his hands each season."

Road Taxes Tallied

DALLAS (AP)—Special state and federal road taxes in 1965 cost the average Texas highway user an average of $145 a year, according to a compilation published by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association. The levies on auto owners cost Texans $800,372,000, the report showed. State road user taxes alone cost $446,223,000, of which 52 per cent was accounted for by the 5 cents a gallon state tax on motor fuel.

Junior Editors Quiz on COLLEGE DEGREES

QUESTION: What are the college degrees and why are they so named?

* * *

ANSWER: The system of degrees which universities and colleges use today started in Europe in the 1300's and was based on rankings then in use by the craft guilds. In the guilds, an apprentice, after sufficient work, became a journeyman. A college student could earn the degree of bachelor, which meant young man or young knight. With more work, the journeyman became a master craftsman. The college student received a master's degree, meaning he had mastered some subject. With still more work and teaching in medicine, theology or law, the student might become a doctor (this word originally meant teacher). In the same way, a college student today, graduating after four years of study, usually becomes a B.A. or B.S. (Bachelor of Arts or Science). One or two more years of study may earn him a master's degree such as M.A., Master of Arts. With two or three years more work, he may earn the doctor's degree, such as Ph.D., Doctor of Philosophy. There are many more special degrees, such as C.E., Civil Engineer, B.F., Bachelor of Forestry, etc. Caps and gowns (right) indicate degrees obtained by the wearer.

STRANGE DACHSHUND — Greenback, a strange dachshund, began nursing Queenie, another dog's puppy, after she was foiled in her attempts to adopt newborn kittens.

HAPPILY REUNITED — Carrolldon Burleson, 7, holds Tiger (left), a mother cat that was reunited with her kittens following an estrangement enforced by a jealous dachshund. The dog and mother cat had played with one another until after the kittens were born.

Determined Dachshund Trades Cat For Puppy

HERMLEIGH — A dachshund dog owned by Mr. and Mrs. Travis Burleson of Route 1, Hermleigh began nursing another dog's puppy when she was foiled in her attempts to adopt newborn infant kittens.

Greenback, the unusual dog, took an instant motherly interest in two kittens born to Tiger, a cat owned by the Burlesons.

"She ran the mother cat out of the shed and began nestling up close to the kittens," said Mrs. Burleson.

Greenback also began developing milk about the same time, according to Mrs. Burleson, who said the dog would interfere with all attempts of the mother cat to rejoin her kittens.

"Her (the dog's) breasts kept getting larger, so we had to do something about it," explained the farm wife.

They obtained a puppy from the Jerry Gannaways of Hermleigh. Queenie, the puppy, began nursing as soon as she was placed in the shed with Greenback.

Tiger was happily reunited with her kittens in another barn behind the house.

"That dog still hangs around the barn," said Mrs. Burleson, "but she continues to nurse Queenie. She growled when the puppy first began nursing, but she didn't chase her away."

Greenback received its unusual name from Travis. It is the only one of several dogs owned by the Burlesons that will chase cows.

"It's worth at least two hundred dollars," Mrs. Burleson said her husband told her.

As far as the farm family is aware, the dachshund may not have any puppies of its own.

"She showed up at our house about 10 months ago and has not given birth to any puppies during that time," explained Mrs. Burleson.

Maybe you can't teach an old dog new tricks, but Greenback is a young dog that has come up with some new tricks that nobody has heard of.

INITIATED — Dwain Butler of Snyder is one of nine new members initiated into the Tex-Texas Tech Chapter of Sigma Pi Sigma, national physics honor society. Butler has been selected for the dean's honor list for four semesters. A graduate of Snyder High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Butler of Sunray Camp.

British Ban Beatle Song

LONDON (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corp. has banned the radio and telvision broadcasting of a song from the Beatles' new record on the ground that it "could encourage a permissive attitude to drug taking."

The song, "A Day in the Life," on the long-playing record "Sergeant Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band," is the first Beatles number banned by BBC.

In the song John Lennon and Paul McCartney tell of catching a bus, having smoke and going off into a dream.

The Beatles criticized the ban Friday night at a dinner party at the home of their manager, Brian Epstein, to celebrate the release of the new album, scheduled for June 1.

McCartney said: "The BBC have misinterpreted the song. It has nothing to do with drug taking It's only about a dream."

1968 Autos To Cost More

By CHARLES C. CAIN

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors President James M. Roche and Henry Ford II agree that auto buyers face a "substantial price increase" on their 1968 cars.

Roche, interviewed after GM's annual stockholders meeting Friday, used the same word, "substantial", that Ford had used Thursday at the Ford meeting.

"I am not going to get into a dollars and cents game with you fellws, but the word substantial is substantially correct," Roche told newsmen. Most industry observers have predicted a price hike of about $150.

Roche expressed optimism that the auto industry was over the hump in its battle to end a sales slump.

"Reports since March have shown the market is picking up and based on preliminary reports, I think the second 10 days of May will run ahead of 1966," he said.

Roche and GM Board Chairman Frederic G. Donner, who announced to stockholders that he would retire Nov. 1, took pretty much the same viewpoint that Ford had at his stockholders' meeting:

— Both companies are having some problems with the federal government on adjusting to new auto safety standards. Donner explained, "We do have a problem of communications in this area. There is good reason to believe a closer and more constructive working relationship will be established between the industry and government."

— Neither has had any formal contact with the United Auto Workers on new contract demands. "I have read some things in the paper but until we begin negotiations in early July, we will not know exactly what the union has in mind," said Roche.

Added Donner, "We will bargain hard to reach a fair and equitable settlement. We hope to accomplish this without interruption of production but we will not accept an agreement which does not reflect fully the equities of all concerned."

Auto industry critic Ralph Nadar, who was nominated in absentia as a GM director last year, was not placed in nomination this time.

But his name came up when Wilma Soss of New York, president of the Women Stockholders Federation of America, asked about the status of Nader's $26-million suit against GM.

Donner said there had been no out of court settlement and that the case had not gone to trial.

The suit was filed last year after GM admitted before a Senate hearing that it had hired private detectives to dig into Nader's private life. Roche apologized at the Senate session to the senators and to Nader for GM's conduct.

Oil Import Law Is Recommended

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP)— More and more oilmen are saying President Lyndon B. Johnson apparently has junked his 1963 decision that the Interior Department—not the White House—set national oil policy.

Johnson made the decision just 17 days after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. It was interpreted as an obvious effort for the new president to free himself in advance of any suggestion his Texas background might influence such policy matters.

The decision drew relatively little criticism until two months ago when the Interior Department announced increased imports might be used as a weapon to force a rollback of a gasoline price hike..

The furor caused by the announcement not only has brought criticism of the White House and the administration in general but of President Johnson himself.

Industry spokesmen contend the imports threat, while made through the Interior Department, was authored in the White House or, more specifically, by Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Major and independent operators have joined in the protests, and, in some cases, with pleas for a congressional investigation of the threat. The threat was branded as blackmail and as being irresponsible.

Some spokesmen for the major gasoline retailers said the threatened action would make a shambles of the mandatory program to control oil imports and that the administration was without price control authority. Independents charged that the administration was deliberately dismantling the control program that was designed for the sole purpose of guaranteeing adequate oil supplied for national defense.

Most of the early remarks were directed toward the Interior Department, the White House or the administration but President Johnson's name has figured prominently in recent criticisms.

Rep. Bob Price, R-Tex., said on May 11 Congress should write the oil import program into law and insulate it from and economic tomfoolery. He suggested President Johnson follow some advice he offered, as a senator, to President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1958.

"The domestic oil industry is reeling under the impact of imports," Johnson wrote Eisenhower on March 6, 1958. "Some action is necessary to keep the domestic oil industry in a healthy state...."

Price said the same advice still is appropriate.

"So, I say to the President that, just as he so aptly put it nine years ago, 'some action (still) is necessary' not to keep but to restore the domestic oil industry to a healthy state," Price said.

Four days later, Johnny Mitchell, president of the Jade Oil Co. of Houston and Los Angeles, expressed regret, but said the real problems of independent producers "can be traced down to our own President Johnson."

Mitchell said Johnson, as a senator, failed when faced with an opportunity to have good import controls spelled into law. He said the Johnson administration now is cutting loopholes in the controls that became mandator in 1959.

TOP HOMEMAKERS — Ruby Hirst (left) and Rosa Hartley received awards in homemaking at a recent assembly program at Snyder High School for their work in junior, chapter and state organizations. Snowcone Stand Is Hit By Burglars

Clarence Johnson, owner of a snowcone stand at 3301 Avenue M, reported a burglary of his business Friday, according to a City Police report.

Loot taken included a gallon of pigs feet, a box of beef jerkey, two boxes of gum, one box of candy, and 10 packages of potato chips. The loss was set at $7.

Entry was gained through a window.

"The attitude of our President has not swerved one inch from the pattern that the independent producing segment is no longer necessary and is of no concern to him or the nation," he said.

Mitchell charged that the nation has been dependent upon foreign oil the past five years and no longer is in a position oilwise to sustain a major war.

A huge spray of pink carnations and sweetheart red roses came from President Lyndon B. Johnson. Mrs. Hanks and her late husband were friends of the Johnsons for many years and helped the President in his earlier campaigns.

Dr. Skiles said that Mrs. Hanks made tremendous contributions to "local life, in the communications area, and to churches and institutions and causes that are worthy."

Acting Job Is Hazardous Duty

DETROIT (AP) — A man wearing a dark suit, black turtleneck sweater, sunglasses and wide-brimmed hat toted a submachine gun into a Detroit Bank and Trust branch office.

Another fellow sat grimly at the wheel of a big, black car parked out front.

A passer-by called police.

Officers and FBI agents swarmed to the scene.

"We're only acting!" David McLaughlin yelled frantically, his submachine gun clattering to the floor.

"I can't think of a better way to get killed," a policeman said.

An advertising agency, using the bank as a set, had failed to notify police that they would be filming a phony bank holdup.

SPORTS

Reds Whip Phillies, Giants Trip Astros

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Some people see spots in front of their eyes. No one can blame Shag Crawford if he sees lines in front of his.

Crawford is a National League umpire who for the past two nights has been involved in controversies involving lines orange and yellow lines that adorn the outfield walls of Houston's $21 million Astrodome.

The latest dispute came in San Francisco's 6-2 victory over Houston Friday night.

Willie McCovey hit a drive off the leftcenter field fence in the eighth inning that Crawford ruled was a home run. The umpire said it hit above the yellow line that runs from the 390-foot mark in left-center to the 390 mark in right center.

Crawford's decision brought an immediate and vehement protest from the Astros, who contended that the ball hit bed low the yellow line. Unlike the night before, however, Crawford was berated but not bumped.

In Thursday night's dispute, the umpire was bumped by Giants' Manager Herman Franks as an aftermath of an argument triggered by a homer hit by Jim Wynn.

The Giants said Wynn's hit was foul, but Crawford said it was fair and hit above the orange line, which runs from the 390 marks to the right and left field foul lines.

For bumping Crawford, Franks was fined $100 by President Warren Giles of the National League.

Frans didn't say if he received $100 worth of entertainment from watching the Astros complain about McCovey's homer.

In other games Cincinnati whipped Philadelphia 6-1, St. Louis stopped New York 6-3, Atlanta edged Pittsburgh 3-2 and Los Angeles crushed Chicago 8-0.

In the American League, Chicago mauled Kansas City 9-1, Detrot defeated New York 4-2, Baltimore outslugged Washington 11-5, Boston nipped Cleveland 3-2 and Minnesota topped California 5-2.

McCovey's homer came two outs after Tom Haller snapped a 22 tie with a homer off the right field fence. That blow struck above the yellow line, too, but there was no argument.

Rich Allen's two-out throwing error in the eighth inning helped Cincinnati past Philadelphia. Lee May reached base on the error and scored on Jim Coker's double. After Leo Cardenas was walked intentionally, pitcher Jim aloney socked a two-run double.

Roger Maris' run-scoring single in the fifth broke a 2-2 deadlock and started St. Louis on its way. Maris' hit drove in Lou Brock, who also hit a homer on the first pitch of the game. Tommy Davis and Al Luplow homered for the Mets.

Atlanta overcame a 2-0 Pittsburgh lead with three runs in the sixth inning. Joe Torre walked, Rico Carty doubled him home and Mack Jones slugged a two-run homer.

Don Drysale pitched a six-hitter, stymieing just about all of the Cubs except Ernie Banks, who collected four of the hits. Jeff Torborg hit a three-run homer for Los Angeles in the fourth inning, and Jim Lefebvre contributed three hits to the Dodger attack.

Cokes Holds Onto Title

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS Tex. (AP) — Curtis Cokes successfully defended his world's welterweight championship against Frenchman Francois Pavilla then said he had an agreement to fight Gypsy Joe Harris in July "if the money is right."

Cokes beat Pavilla on a technical knockout in the 10th round Friday night but the finish was confusing since the referee Pat Riley said he actually awarded the verdict to Cokes because a Pavilla backer leaped into the ring and not because Pavilla was in no condition to continue.

But there was no question of Cokes' superiority and Riley was of the opinion that Cokes would have won anyway had the fight gone on.

Moreover, the fight was a financial bust with only 2,870 persons paying $23,100 — about $40,000 less than the cost of staging it—and leaving Kemeth Hayles, promoter for the Greater Dallas Sports Association, as confused as the versions of the fight's finish.

FIFTEEN TRIM PAR

Stockton Grabs 4 Stroke Lead

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Dave Stockton, somewhat stunned by an unexpected four stroke lead in the National Invitation, resumed his battle Saturday with the Colonial Golf Club course.

"I guess I really shocked a lot of people," the slender Californian, 25, said Friday after trimming four strokes from par 70. "It shocked me."

The 66, coupled with Thursday's record-equaling 65, gave him a 36-hole total of 131, four strokes ahead of power hitter Tom Weiskopf.

Weiskopf slammed out a 65 Friday for 135 and a comfortable two-stroke edge over Homero Blancas, alone in third place at 138.

Blancas was one of a record 15 contestants to break par.

"This was a great round of golf for me from every point," especially putting," he exclaimed, disclosing that he'd just changed putters.

One stroke back at 139 were Ben Hogan, Gardner Dickinson, Rocky Thompson, Deane Beman and Bobby Nichols. Both Nichols and Hogan, with opening 67s, slipped to 72s.

Beman, making an auspicious debut as a pro, shot a 68, as did Thompson. Dickinson had a 67, Tommy Aaron and George Archer shared the next slot with even par 140s.

Stockton again turned to his putter for help, faltering midway through the round, and once again it responded somewhat miraculously.

He shot a three-under-par 32 on the front nine, sinking birdie putts of 20, 7 and 6 feet. But he missed five straight greens beginning at No. 6 and saved par on four of them with clutch putting.

He took his only bogey at 10, narrowly missing a 15-footer.

"I kept needling my caddy," he said. "He was getting pretty excited out there....people kept taking our picture and he was in his glory....and so was I."

He confers constantly with his caddy, whom he identified only as "Rabbit," and says he got his only bogey Thursday because he didn't follow Rabbit's advice.

Highlight of Friday's round was a 70-foot birdie putt at No. 13.

Like Weiskopf, he is seeking his first PGA victory after three years on the tour. Weiskopf, at 24, is in his second year.

"I really think this is one of the best rounds of golf I've ever played in my life," Weiskopf said of his 65. "I missed a couple of short birdie putts, but every putt I hit grazed the hole, so I can't complain."

He collected six birdies, two-putting the par 5 first hole for his first, then dropping putts of 18, 10, 15, 12 and 6 feet. e g eot his only bogey after a rendezvous with a trap t the par 4 15th.

"But I have no complaints," he smiled. "No ifs, and or buts about it."

Marilyn Out Front By 3

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Marilyn Smith, who has known numerous successes in 12 years on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, carried a three - stroke lead into today's second round of the $10,000 Babe Zaharias Open.

After Miss Smith the field of 39 pros became congested with four tied at par 70 — Mickey Wright, Kathy Whitworth, Carol Mann and defending champion Shirley Englehorn — and four more at 71.

SR. TRYOUTS SET

Tryouts for the Senior Baseball League will begin at 6 p.m. Monday at the Tiger practice field according to an announcement by league officials.

RECEIVES AWARD — Dr. Robert Hargrove (left), coordinator of the Little League Association, presents a trophy to Leland (Mutt) Herod on behalf of the Association. Herod was instrumental in organizing the Little League baseball program, and he served as coordinator for 15 years.

Giants, Yanks Win Farm Loop Tilts

The Giants tromped the Cubs, 14-5, and the Yankees shelled the Indians, 18-1, in opening games of the Farm League baseball program Friday night.

Clay Hill, the winning pitcher for the Giants, aided his own cause with a sterling 4 for 4 performance at the plate. Included in his hits was a double in the 6th.

Bill Hill, infielder, rapped three hits, including a double in the 1st frame. Sam Stephens notched two singles, and Tracy Lambert, Rod Head and Ricky Howell each punched out one.

Weldon Sears and Burns each hit a double and a single for the Cubs, and Keith Jordan added a single.

The Yankees erupted with 7 runs in the 2nd and 8 runs in the 3rd after taking a 2-0 lead in the 1st. They added another tally in the 4th.

Kornegay, the first baseman, sparked the Yank attack with a triple and Smith, the centerfielder, hit a single. Featherson, the winning hurler, put the Indians down without a hit.

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — Brothers Max and Doug Bentley, former stars for the Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, were named today to the Saskatchewan Sports Hall of Fame.

Cincinnati Ready For NFL Pro Grid Berth

NEW YORK (AP) — Expansion of the American Football League to 10 teams in 1968, possibly by adding Cincinnati, and selection of the Super Bowl site will be the main topics of discussion Tuesday when the two major pro football leagues meet.

Although both the National Football League and the AFL will meet at the same hotel, no joint sessions are planned. However, the joint merger committee that worked out plans for the leagues to join by 1970, undoubtedly will huddle.

The blueprint for expansion calls for the AFL to add its 10th franchise for the 1968 season with two additional franchises contemplated by 1970 when the leagues probably will begin playing an interlocking schedule. The NFL has added New Orleans as its 16th team for the 1967 season.

Cincinnati appears to be in line for the next AFL franchise, possibly with Paul Brown, former Cleveland part owner-coach as a key figure. If and when a franchise is voted, only the city will be announced, not the new owners. A new stadium is in the works for Cincinnati.

Miami's Orange Bowl is among the leading sites under consideration for the Super Bowl game between the NFL and AFL champions. New Orleans' Sugar Bowl and the Los Angeles Coliseum, where the first Super Bowl game was played before 63,036 fans last January, also are under consideration.

The Orange Bowl, due to have a capacity of 75,000 by November is given a good chance to land the prize, probably for Sunday, Jan. 14, 1968. The Miami Dolphins of the AFL play their home games there, and the stadium also is the site of the Playoff Bowl between NFL runner-up teams, tentatively set for Sunday, Jan. 7.

The AFL regular season ends Dec. 24 and the NFL Dec. 17. However, the NFL has divisional playoffs Dec. 23 and Dec. 24 leading up to a Dec. 31 title game. The AFL title game also will be played Dec. 31.

A management consultant firm which has been making a survey of pro football since February will make a report on its findings and its recommendations for implementing the merger.

One of the major decisions to be made will be whether the NFL will have a president to act on the same level as Milt Woodard, president of the AFL. Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the two leagues, has continued his duties as head of the NFL until some determination is made on a successor.

It is possible the NFL will decide to operate without a president but set up an administrator under Rozelle.

The NFL's policy of not permitting a majority stockholder to be a majority stockholder in any other team sport — or vice versa — will be discussed. There is a rather vague guideline at the present and some owners want to define it further in the light of investments by football men in new pro soccer, hockey and basketball leagues.

The player representatives from the 16 NFL clubs will meet with the 16 owners and commissioner Rozelle Friday to discuss mutual problems. Presumably, the nine AFL player representatives also will meet with their club owners during the week.

Little Loop Openers Are Close

The Yankees slipped by the Indians, 1-0, and the Giants won a 9-7 slugfest over the Cubs in initial Little League action Friday night.

J. Brandon opened the 4th for the Yanks by reaching first on an error. A single by T. Welsh singled him to second and he scored when R. Hunter cracked another single. Welsh also singled in the 2nd to pace the Yank attack, and McClanahan collected the only other hit for the victors — a single in the 3rd.

The Indians threatened in the 3rd when B. Hollis singled after two were out. He advanced to second on an error, but McClanahan, the winning pitcher, fanned the next batter to put down the rally.

The only other Indian hit was a one-baser in the 4th by C. Anderson.

The Giants exploded for five runs in the 4th frame on five walks, a double by T. Gardner and a single by S. Wittie. It put them ahead 8-4. Each team tallied twice in the 1st. The Cubs added single runs in the 2nd and 4th, and the Giants pushed across one in the 3rd.

Another run was credited to the Giants in the 6th, and the Cubs rallied with a tally in the 5th and two in the final frame.

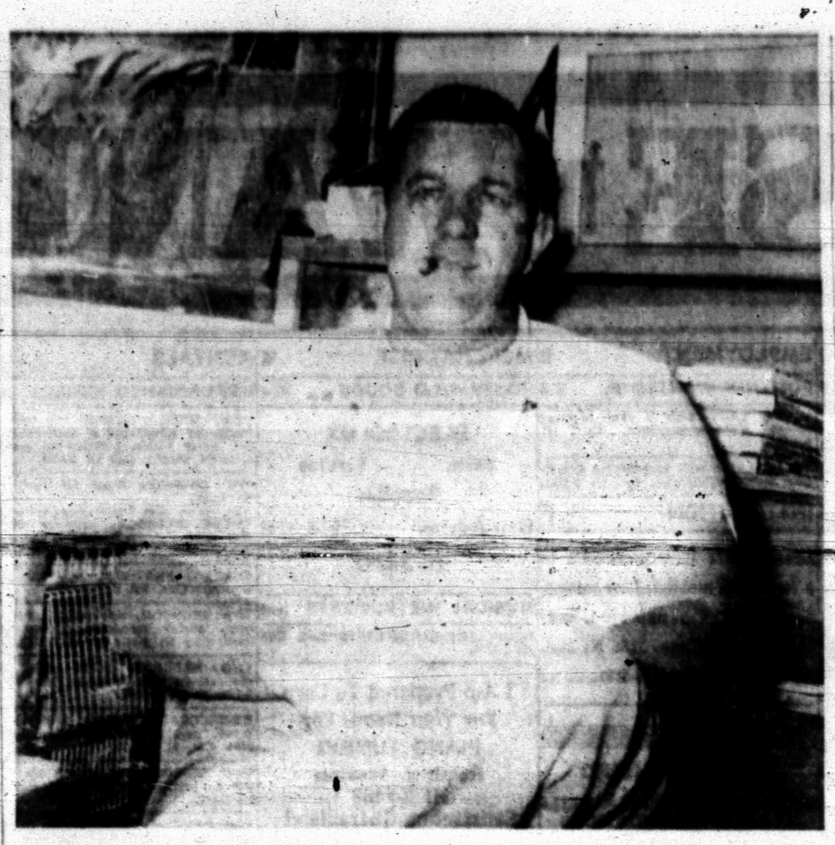

Witte collected two singles to lead the Giants and Robbie Hicks and B. Bell each rapped out two hits for the Cubs. One double.

Cougars Clip 'Horns

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The University of Houston Cougars scored four runs in the ninth inning Friday to defeat the University of Texas Longhorns 4-3 and take the NCAA District 6 baseball playoff.

The Cougars, in winning the final game of the best-of-three series with Texas, is the first team to qualify for the College World Series at Omaha, Neb., June 12. Houston will play the District 8 winner in the opening game at Omaha.

Texas' Jimmy Raup had shut out Houston on two hits for 8 2-3 inning. Reliever Al Clements was charged with the loss.

SPORTS FAN — One of the biggest boosters of the Snyder High School athletic teams over the past six years has been Chester Simons, Snyder Police Chief. Here, he relaxes during a visit to the school athletic office. The cigar came from a box presented to him by the Police Department. Chester will take over as new chief at Coffeyville, Kansas June 1.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

CHIEF CHESTER SIMONS

Staunch Sports Fan Recalls Hey-Day

Chester Simons, Snyder's Police Chief, is one of the biggest sports fans in West Texas in more ways than one. He'll probably continue the interest when he moves to Coffeyville, Kan., next month.

He stands about six feet, six inches in height and weighs close to 300 pounds. When he's not working, he can usually be found on a local athletic field or at the ball park.

Until this year Chester umpired most of the non-district baseball games involving the Snyder Tigers. He also referees football and basketball games around the county.

His interest in sports dates back to his high school days in Waco when he participated in football and basketball. He was a member of the Waco High School team that reached the finals in football before losing to the Lubbock Westerners.

"Their coach died before the playoffs began," recalled the chief, "and their team was fired up with a desire to win for their coach." Waco lost that championship clash two touchdowns to three.

The high school basketball team also went to the finals before losing.

"Slater Martin pitched in a basket in the final five seconds to beat us for the state title," declared Simons.

Chester also has more than a passing interest in boxing. He won the Golden Gloves heavyweight championship and fought several professional bouts out of Dallas.

"I met a major while I was in the Army," said the Chief. "He was an attorney in civilian life and a boxing promoter in Chicago. He sent me a contract after I was discharged from the Army, but I never sent it back to him."

Stationed at Blackland Army Air Force Base near Waco during the early part of World War II, Chester played tackle for a service football team. Most of his teammates were well-known in the world of sports. Some of them had played professional ball, and many of them had won All-American honors in college.

"I was just a kid of 19 then," said Chester "and I thought I was in pretty high cotton to be on the same team with such guys."

Following the war, he received gridiron scholarship offers to Baylor and Rice, but declined them since, by then, he was married and had a family to support.

However, he maintained his interest in sports and was the catcher for a softball team near Waco that won the National Championship in 1950. A year later, the team finished as the runnerup.

Chester and his wife, Mary Lou, are parents of four children. Chester, Jr., the oldest, is a member of the Bryan Police Department. Jerry, 18, was an outstanding shot putter for the Snyder High School track team, and he won a scholarship to Coffeyville Junior College in Kansas. He turned down several other offers. Other children are Linda, 7, and Robert, 5.

The police chief also won a bunch of medals while serving in the European Theatre of Operations. Reluctant to discuss his wartime exploits, he modestly says only that one of the medals was presented to him . . . in connection with a machine gun nest."

When he reports to his new job as Chief at Coffeyville, Snyder will have lost one of the best police chiefs it ever had and the Tigers will lose one of their staunchest supporters.

Highlands May Repeat

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) —New Mexico Highlands, last year's winner, was one victory away today from winning the NAIA Area 2 baseball playoff.

Highlands was the only undefeated team remaining in the double elimination tournament after edging State College of Arkansas 4-2 Friday. Sam Houston eliminated Angelo State 14-4.

Sam Houston's game with State College of Arkansas was postponed because of rain Friday night and rescheduled for 11 a.m. today. The winner meets Highlands at 2 p.m.

Sonics Lose, Spurs Win

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Amarillo and Dallas - Fort Worth, the first and last place clubs in the Texas League, each reached a milestone in the current season Friday night.

For Amarillo it was only its 10th loss in the five-week-old season. For Dallas-Fort Worth it was its 10th triumph.

Arkansas handed the Sonics their first shut out of the year 3-0 as Joe DiFabio pitched a two-hitter. The game was called after 5⅓ innings because of rain.

Scientist Searches For Superdog

By DENNIS LEE ROYLE

MULDERSDRIFT, South Africa (AP) — For thirteen years, South African geneticist Dr. Daan Marais has been trying to breed the world's largest and smartest dog. Now, 800 dogs later, he feels he's nearing success.

His ultimate aim is a mammoth watchdog and hunter with supercanine intelligence, strong and courageous enough to tackle a leopard or baboon, the scourge of cattle farmers in southern Africa.

Top weight of Dr. Marais' superdog would be in the 230-pound region. It will have the wiliness of a wolf, the strength of a Great Dane and the cuddly affection of a St. Bernard.

"I want a dog which, apart from being a hunter-killer animal, will also be docile and affectionate with children," he said. "During the past thirteen years I have tried to incorporate, by selective breeding, these physical and psychological characteristics into the dog.

"Now I have a kind of prototype which has massive strength, stamina, courage and yet is docile with a high degree of superintelligence," he said.

The latest litter will resemble giant boxers, with huge chests, tapered hindquarters and large, square foreheads. They will finally develop into 250-pound monsters, bearing strains of St. Bernard, English mastiff, Great Dane and a touch of European wolf.

By cross-breeding with a wolf, Dr. Marais has changed the doleful expression of the St. Bernard. Its eyes now have the sharp cunningness of the wolf. The inclusion of wolf blood into his superdog has also changed the texture of the St. Bernard's fur.

Strange new psychological changes have been induced into the superdog. Its hunting instincts have taken on the characteristics of the wolf, yet it still retains a friendly disposition toward humans.

"In another eight years I should have the perfect animal," he said. "One which can be used for hunting, has stamina and courage enough to take on anything, from the marauding leopard to the killer jackals who plague many cattle farmers in southern Africa. On the other hand if the children want a quiet, docile monster, he'll be just that. It will be all a matter of training."

WOUNDED John Mills gasps "there wasn't time" to test his courage on Rod Taylor blasts at the attacking Indians in this scene from "Chuka," which is coming tothe Ritz Theater here Thursday, June 1.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem in our family that is growing worse. Our son is 11 years old and he is the most moneyhungry kid I have ever seen. All this boy thinks about is money. When I ask him to do a simple chore, such as emptying the trash, he says, "How much is it worth to you?"

If he lends a friend a dollar, he charges him outrageous "interest." He carries his lunch to school, sells it to the highest bidder, buys himself a bottle of milk for lunch, and pockets the difference. His father and I are pleased that our son respects money, but we think he is overdoing it. What should we do?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: An excessive preoccupation with ANYTHING, be it money, food, sex or what-have-you, is a symptom of an unhealthy personality. Children usually mirror their parents' attitudes, so perhaps without knowing it you have had more to do with shaping the boy's values than you think.

If you and your husband can't cure his "money-hunger" with reason and patient example, perhaps a psychiatrist can help him. (You'll probably have to pay the kid to go, but it could be worth it.)

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My sister eloped last January and my parents and I are going to visit her and her husband next week-end.

I have never met my brother-in-law. Would it be proper for me to kiss him? Or should I just shake hands?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: If you're a fellow, just shake hands. If you're a girl, a sisterly kiss would be in order.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am only 15, but I learned a lesson I will never forget.

When my parents used to tell me they "worried" when I didn't come home when I said I would, I thought they were silly. Well, now that I got a taste of my own medicine, I dont think they're so silly anymore.

Last Saturday night my folks went out and said they'd be home around midnight. Well, it got to be one o'clock in the morning, then two, then three and they still weren't home. Ab-bly, I nearly went out of my mind imagining they were both dead in a ditch somewhere with the car on top of them.

Finally, at 4 a.m., they came home. It seems they ran into some old friends and were just sitting around their apartment talking over old times. They didn't bother to call me because they didn't think I'd worry. Believe me, I will NEVER give them the kind of night they gave me.

• • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CONCERNED ABOUT MY GRANDCHILDREN'S FUTURE:" Your letter revealed a treasury of insight into the threats of population explosion, but it is too long for publication.

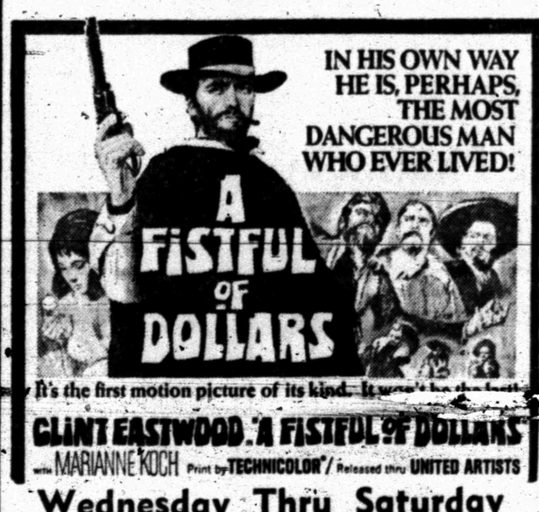

Lord Brain, a famous obstetrician and gynecologist in Great Britain said it this way: "When, wherever you live in the world, you can have children only when you wish, that will be a revolution with more far-reaching effects on the pattern of human culture than the discovery of atomic energy.

Widow's 'Might' Proves Powerful

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Her name didn't come up when the American Jewish Committee reported Friday on a movement in many parts of the world to erase hostile references to Jews and other non-Catholics from Roman Catholic textbooks.

But the widow's might could be felt, behind it all.

Mrs. Leonard M. Sperry decided that the best memorial for her husband, a Los Angeles industrialist who died in 1963, would be a center in Rome "to ferret out material in textbooks that is hostile to Protestans, Jews and other ethnic groups and if possible get them corrected."

Mrs. Sperry lectures and talks and buttonholes unstintingly to help raise money from friends and foundations to carry on the work.

"I do it," she explains, "because, first of all, it's the thing my husband believed in most. My husband was a genius, a real practitioner of human relations."

Too, she says, "I am interested in having little children taught the truth and not the distorted view of the last 1900 years."

When her husband died, she says friends and family wanted to do something in his memory instead of sending flowers. He had been an American Jewish Committee vice president and so the money was sent to the committee in his memory "until I found the thing most meaningful to do.

"My husband has contributed to a Judeo-Catholic chair at the International University for Social Studies Pro Deo in Rome, and when we took a vacation there later he visited the Pro Deo and liked is so much.

"I felt this project, then, would be the most all-embracing. The concept behind it, I would say, is man's better understanding of man. The chair became a small department. We had the budget only to do a pilot study in Italy and Spain."

The pilot study has produced results. At the 61st annual meeting of the Jewish committee this was the report:

Since the Leonard M. Sperry Center for Intergroup Cooperation was estabilshed in December 1964, the Catholic and non-Catholic scholars working there have analyzed 142 of the most popular Italian texts published in the last 15 years, and 115 Spanish of the last quarter-century.

Many unfavorable references were disclosed and Catholic authorities, expressing shock, recommended correction, in line with the recent Vatican Council II's declaration on relations between the Catholic Church and non-Christian religions.

Mrs. Sperry is also involved in a similar project being carried on with French language Catholic textbooks at Louvain University, Belgium.

"None of this would probably have come about if it had not been for Pope John opening the windows," she says.

Mrs. Sperry, a sixtyish mother of three grown children, grew up in a family dedicated to philanthropy, the Max Adlers of Chicago.

Over the years she has worked with more charities than you can wave a checkbook at, and even now, with all her work with the Pro Deo center, she still supports a noodle factory for the poor in Hong Kong.

"You can't develop human relations on an empty stomach," she says.

Parents Serving Boys' Sentences

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ga. (AP) — For the next three months, the father—or the mother—of two Twiggs County youths will spend Friday nights in jail.

They also will see that the children are in school and that they attend church regularly for the next three years.

The sentence, actually an agreement arranged by Supreior Court Judge Harold E. Ward, came when the two boys —age 11 and 12—were charged with breaking into a house twice and taking a box of .22 caliber cartridges and a half loaf of bread.

"They wouldn't admit they stole it" Ward said, "but my thinking is the children stole the food because they were hungry. I can't fathom someone stealing a half loaf of bread unless they are hungry."

The judge said he felt the parents were more responsible for the children's trouble than were the youngsters.

Ward, who said he had visited in the home, noted there are nine other children in the family. "There's not much food in that home," he said. "The total family income is well over $100 a week, which I think is enough for them to furnish the bare essentials."

The judge said he asked the parents if they would volunteer to serve the children's sentence. "I couldn't in good conscience sentence children to the training school for what I thought was the fault of the parents," he said.

The father started serving the term Friday. The parents will alternate in serving the sentence.
