OFFICERS OF RESERVES WILL TEST A LAW

AUSTIN, Texas—Texas National Guard officers have gone to court to establish a right to resign their civil offices while they are enrolled for a year's military training.

The state supreme court has set the case for argument October 15, and a decision is hoped for before the Texas guard is ordered into camp. The Texas cavalry is scheduled to leave Nov. 15 and other organizations will report on Nov. 25.

The test case came when Major, William Carpenter, member of the state staff corps, was ordered on active duty to assist in the draft. Carpenter is executive director of the state Unemployment Compensation Commission.

By a ruling of the state attorney-general, Major Carpenter's salary was cut off when he assumed his military work.

An amendment to the state constitution was adopted after the world war to permit state officials to hold National Guard and reserve commissions but the legal department has ruled when they are called out by the president their status changes and a general provision in the constitution against dual office holding becomes effective and automatically forfeits their civil offices.

Among Carpenter's attorneys is Maj. Gen. Claude V. Birkhead of San Antonio, commander of the 4th Division, National Guard. A amicus curiae brief has been filed on behalf of guard officers and reservists who cannot now be tried to the suit because they have not yet been ordered on active military duty.

Among these is Col. Ernest O. Thompson, state railroad commissioner. If his office is forfeited, W. Lee O'Daniel will name successor. Thompson was a candidate for governor against O'Daniel in two campaigns.

UNCLE SAM'S SELECTIVE SERVICE

The National Drawing

Q—In what order will the registrants be considered for classification and induction into service?

A—One of the basic principles of a selective service system is that all registrants shall be treated on an equal basis. The order in which individuals will be considered for classification and possible service will be determined by a national drawing.

Q—Will each local registrant have a definite number?

A—Yes. After the registration is complete in each local area, the registration cards will be shuffled and mixed before numbering. Each person will then be assigned a number, and a list of the numbers in each local area will be posted for public inspection. It is contemplated that there will not be more than 3,500 registrants in any single area, so the numbers will run from 1 to 3,500 or less.

Q—Will Number 1 in each be the first man called for induction?

A—No. Numbers correspond to the numbers in each local area—probably from 1 to 3,500—placed in a container in Washington, D. C., and a drawing order will take place. For example, Number 2875 may be drawn first, then Number 147, Number 3033, and so on, until numbers have been drawn in order in which they were drawn will then be made into a list.

Q—Will the first number on the list—say Number 2875—be the number of the first man in each local area to be called?

A—No. To insure the most complete impartiality in the administration of the selective service act, the drawing will be held at a time only one number will be drawn—possibly by the President of the United States. This number might conceivably be 3033, and will be known as the key number. This will be the number of the first man in each local area for classification.

Q—After the numbers have been drawn in the national lot, what will happen then?

A—A list of numbers, in the order in which the men will be called for consideration, will then be posted in each area so that all will know how soon they may be called. Each man will be assigned a number which is known as the key number.

NAZI PLANES TO "PROTECT" RUMANIA NOW

German airplanes swarmed into Rumania today to "protect" that nation's oil fields as the world anxiously awaited the axis power's next war move.

Nazi officers took possession of the leading Bucharest hotels and 150 warplanes reached the city as rumors flew that 1,500 additional planes and 2,000 tanks would follow.

British diplomats were evacuating Rumania, destroying their papers before leaving, and more than half of them are already in Istanbul.

The Russian and Turkish positions remained in the dark, although the Soviets are reported to be massing troops along the Rumanian frontier.

German bombers struck again at Britain after the British had made heavy raids on the Reich, damaging Hamburg badly and shelling light Nazi naval units in Boulogne Harbor. Five waves of German bombers were turned back from London but they damaged the famous Canterbury Cathedral, attacked the Liverpool docks and narrowly missed the country home where United States Ambassador Joseph Kennedy was staying.

Hungary appealed to Germany to help settle the differences between Rumania and Hungary. Hungary had received a large slice of Rumania after the recent Vienna conference.

In the Far East Americans continued to seek passage home as Siamese troops massed on the border of French Indo-China. Tokyo ordered closing of London branches of Japanese banks and an intensive search went on for the persons who killed Shanghai's pro-Japanese mayor.

Plans were being made to drill in the Lone Star's Watkins well four miles east of Rising Star, today. A small show of gas was reported as the sand was touched.

Good Government In Texas Holding Attention of West Texas C. of C. as a Major Part of Organizations Service

ABILENE, Tex.—Good government in Texas, how it is needed, how it may be had, is engaging the close attention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The organization is, this year, giving unusual emphasis to its long-time work program of fostering better fiscal management and budget making in state and local governments. In the making is a complete plan to be submitted to the people of Texas and to the legislature, covering these objectives:

1. Providing centralized control and up-to-date budget procedure of state receipts and disbursements.
2. Giving greater standardization to and mandatory requirements for budget making in local political subdivisions.
3. Setting up adequate provisions for the collection of delinquent taxes, and basing of local budgets upon 100 per cent collections.
4. Modernizing and improving for local political subdivisions the debt-incurring and debt-paying practices, for the benefit of the taxpayers.

Already drawn and approved by officials of the West Texas Chamber is the plan submitted by Dr. George C. Hester, counselor of the WTCC's Public Expenditure Commission, and D. A. Bandeen, manager of the organization, for reorganizing the financial management functions of the state. This was announced by WTCC's President J. S. Bridwell, in Fort Worth, after an all-day meeting with Jas. D. Hamlin, chairman of the Public Expenditure commission; Dean J. Thomas Davis, vice-president of the WTCC; and Hester and Bandeen.

The general objectives of the plan—Point No. 1 in the WTCC's whole program—as announced by Bridwell, are:

1. To achieve a modern, scientific and complete budget for the state containing all of its financial plans, instead of piecemeal, incomplete and separate plans as at present.
2. To achieve centralized control and supervision of all state receipts and disbursements. Instead of diffusion of this control in more than 100 different departments and funds.
3. To achieve centralization, and control of accounting and independent auditing, instead of uncorrelated auditing and accounting scattered through the many departments and funds.
4. To achieve more effective centralized control over things being purchased, and over personnel in a classified civil service system, instead of decentralization and the spoils system with state employees.

5. To achieve better budget management and execution, with savings and unspent balances reverting to the treasury of the state, instead of no-budget execution and expenditure of balances as at present.

6. To achieve reorganization, consolidation and coordination of administrative agencies so as to eliminate unnecessary duplication of work, personnel, rentals, traveling expense and other overhead items, which admittedly is needed in the state's governmental structure.

President Bridwell said the main virtues of the plan being offered are:

(a) That it utilizes the constitutional and other offices and boards already created insofar as practicable, and reduces the number of agencies in the state's administrative system.

(b) That it enables getting the job done in the democratic way rather than through dictatorial procedure, yet enables a strong executive budget as contemplated by the constitution of the state.

(c) That it makes possible better legislative procedure by enabling the legislature to obtain full and complete information upon which to determine policies and make appropriations, while at the same time giving the legislature its rightful check on administration through the auditing function.

Petaun Outlines New French State

VICHY, Oct. 10. — Marshal Henri Philippe Petaun in a message to the nation tonight outlined the basis of the new French regime which he said would provide a "national authoritarian state" without entangling alliances.

He said that Franco-German relations will dominate French policy and pointed out that Germany could impose either a punitive, aggressive peace or a peace based upon collaboration.

The new authoritarian state, he said would be "socially inclined." It will not copy any foreign experimental regime, he said.

After a transitory period, Petaun said, state organized industries would be restored to private ownership. All professions, corporations and trades will be placed under the authority of the state.

Class strife will not be permitted, he said, and neither labor nor capital nor any other class will be allowed to dominate the new order.

N.Y.A. Will Do Own Registering

The NYA at Ranger, where there are 131 enrolled, will do its own registering on Oct. 16, registration day, County Clerk R. V. Galloway, announced this morning.

It is estimated, Galloway said, that about one-third of the total 131 NYA workers would come within the registration age.

Charles Squires of Ranger will be the chief registrar at the NYA camp and it will be a part of his duties to see that each NYA worker, who comes within the registration age, is duly registered. Assisting Squires will be the heads of the various NYA departments as follows:

Woodwork department — Joe Chambers, Howard Gracey, assistant.

Airplane mechanic department — Mr. Jackson; Jack Hal, assistant.

Radio department — Leslie Kruger; Mrs. Jewell Reeves, assistant.

Metal shop — Henry Tillett; Charles Squires, assistant.

Also on exhibit for Negro Day at the Fair, October 14, will be articles produced by Negro NYA Projects at Cuero, Itasca, Prairie View, Center Point, and Sabine Farms.

"We extend an invitation to all Fair-goers to attend the NYA Day program on October 20 and to visit the exhibit at the NYA building any time during the Fair," Kellam said.

Cashier Missing; Bank Is Closed

Following request of bank examiners to audit books of the Savings Bank of Nanticoke, Md., Mrs. Margaret R. Fields, above, assistant cashier, disappeared. When audit disclosed an apparent shortage, directors closed the bank, voluntarily turned it over to the state banking commissioner to liquidate the assets.

Junior Colleges Should Feature Job Training

DALLAS, Texas—More junior college students should be educated in two-year courses for jobs, for citizenship and for home life, rather than for going on to a university, declared Walter C. Ellis of Washington, D. C., secretary of the American association of Junior Colleges, at a conference of Texas junior college representatives here today.

"Experience shows," he said, "that most junior college students will not go on into a university. They should not be educated for something they will not do if they can be better educated for the things they will do."

The conference was one of 20 being held in a series arranged by the Commission on Junior College Terminal Education, from Boston to Los Angeles and back again to New York, to plan how the junior colleges can better meet the needs of their students.

Although two-thirds of the country's junior college students, according to Dr. Ellis, are preparing for university or four-year college work, three-fourths of them will not go beyond the two junior college years.

"In Texas," he continued, "this maladjustment is much worse than for the country as a whole. Eight out of 10 junior college students in Texas are preparing to go on into a university, but only two go on. Seventeen per cent prepare to quit in two years, but 81 per cent actually do quit."

"The time has passed when everyone who goes to college can be educated for a profession. The profession absorb only 6 per cent of the population. Preparation for these professions is the primary function of the universities. But approximately one-half of the gainful workers in the country, proprietors, managers, clerical and skilled labor, are in occupations which are distinctly on the semi-professional level."

"Here is a wide open field for the junior colleges. More than 300 junior colleges are already giving semi-professional and general education to about one-third of their 120,000 students. But for all the 600 junior colleges in the country, with 200,000 students, the proportion is far lower."

"Twenty years ago, more than three-quarters of the young men of junior college age were gainfully employed. Today the proportion is less than half. It is more and more difficult for young men to find employment before they are 20 or 21 years old."

"Increasing thousands of them must be provided for in the junior college or some equivalent institution—unless we prefer to care for them in reform schools and penitentiaries. The Federal Bureau of Investigation reports that the largest number of arrests for crime and the largest number of commitments to state and federal penitentiaries are of young men 18 or 19 years of age—exactly the junior college years."

Texas junior colleges which offer terminal courses stress chiefly business education, secretarial work and the teaching profession. Dr. Ellis pointed out, though certain institutions have work in agriculture, engineering, aviation and nursing.

OIL INDUSTRY IS IN BETTER SHAPE TODAY

KILGORE, Texas—The American petroleum industry is in far better shape now to meet the very heavy demands of modern mechanized warfare than it was in 1917 for the much smaller demands of the First World War, George A. Hill, Jr., of Houston declared here. Hill, vice-president of the American Petroleum Institute in charge of its division of oil production, spoke at the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the discovery of the East Texas oil field.

"Today the condition of the petroleum industry is wholly at variance with the conditions that existed in 1917," Hill said. "The number of producing oil wells in the United States is nearly twice that of two decades ago. New wells can be drilled five times as fast. Proven reserves of crude oil are nearly three times as great as those of 1917. The number of petroleum refineries has been doubled, and their capacity multiplied by four. Stocks of essential products are two to ten times as large as in 1917, and storage capacities are correspondingly greater. Land transportation facilities for oil are more than twice as extensive, and marine, eight times as large. All of this was done voluntarily by the American petroleum industry, without government subsidy or favor."

"In view of these facts, it may be maintained with confidence that the oil industry is fully capable and entirely willing by voluntary, patriotic co-operation, and without the unnecessary and corroding influence of authoritarian control and compulsion to achieve the objectives of our National defense program."

"The maximum of service to the National defense and to preparedness can be rendered without resort, at this time, to experimentation and to the development and employment of new controls. There is no phase of service, to the most exact requirements of National defense and National preparedness, that cannot be supplied through the voluntary service and voluntary co-operation of the oil industry under the leadership of the President of the United States and his National Defense Advisory Commission."

Hill closed with a tribute to "Dad" C. M. Joiner "who in the true pioneering spirit discovered this greatest single reservoir of national wealth."

"No chart of government pointing the way to this field," Hill said, "No managed economy underwrote his risk. No authoritarian regulation measured his prospect. No bureaucracy supplied him incentive by either mandate or bounty. The true spirit of the pioneer, the independent enterprise of a free American citizen who still believed in and cherished the opportunities that America affords, resided in the will of 'Dad' Joiner. Let us pray that these United States throughout the future, as in the past, may nurture, preserve and proudly cherish the pioneer and let his courageous spirit forever remain the core of free America."

Lessening the Economic Hangover

After more than a year of war, indications are that basic American economy has been only slightly disturbed. The stock market has not behaved hysterically. Food prices, rents, clothing and other commodity costs have not shot up to unhealthy boom peaks. There is no general profiteering.

The billions of dollars of defense appropriations have not yet shown up in the economic picture. There are, of course, certain to have their effects. It is impossible to spend that much money without having something to show for it besides boats and guns and armies. The money is bound to trickle down through to the average man. But there will also be a larger national debt and higher taxes. But all of this is necessary. None of it is produced artificially. There is no panic—no rush to get in on the ground floor of "something good."

A recent survey of food prices generally throughout the United States reflected an increase of less than 5 per cent after the first year of war. Prices were about the same as they were a year ago, but were about 7 per cent higher than just before the beginning of World War II. The small increase reflects a normal fluctuation, caused by greater demand, rather than any speculative activity as a result of the war.

At the same time, wages have gone up. The Investors' Syndicate of Minneapolis has reported that wage earners are receiving about 15 per cent more than they were two months ago and salary workers about 7 per cent more.

Not all of the payroll increase can be ascribed to defense. Most of the defense program, after all, has not even been put into operation. Many economists believe that much of the industrial gain can be chalked up to normal changes, unrelated to the war.

The sane and orderly manner in which business has so far met and balanced the inevitable effects of a major war are encouraging. It's a pretty large order to keep an economic system running smoothly in one country when the rest of the world has forgotten all the rules.

As long as American business can continue to do the things that must be done without losing its head and basking in bloody profits, this country has less to fear from a post-war depression. The job is to build—build as fast as possible—but on solid rock.

Eastland Woman's Son Writes From Far Away Japan

Joe J. Mickle, Jr., son of Mrs. J. J. Mickle, Sr., of Eastland, and who is an officer and a teacher in Kurensai Gakuin University, Neshinomiya, Japan, a school founded jointly by the Southern Methodist and Canadian Methodist churches, has resigned his position as bursar of the school but is still a member of the teaching staff, according to information written members of his family.

Mickle and his wife have been in Japan in missionary work for almost 20 years. They have two daughters, one about 17 and the other 15 years of age, and have never felt that there was any occasion for them to give up their work and return to this country, although friends and relatives, since the present war scare has been brewing, have urged them to do so.

Mickle told his brother, Omar Mickle of Eastland, recently that he gave up his position as bursar in the school to a native Japanese, and that schools operated by foreign religious denominations other than the Methodist, had been instructed by government officials to replace their foreign officers and teachers with Japanese and that these instructions had been complied with. He stated also that it was highly probable that the same instructions would be given Methodist missionaries at no far distant future.

Mr. Mickle, in letters to his folks, hints at evidences suggesting that Japan may be approaching a link with the United States and all countries not aligned with Hitler. He is of the opinion, it seems, that the government of Japan has come to the conclusion that Germany is going to win the present war with England.

Bonded Warehouse For Peanuts Is To Open Monday

The warehouse will be located in the building next door west of the Panhandle Filling Station on West Commerce street. Five hundred tons of peanuts are expected to be handled through the Eastland house during the present season.

CIVIC LEAGUE LAUNCHES NEW CLUB YEAR

The Civic League and Garden Club opened the season with a luncheon Wednesday at the Woman's Clubhouse.

Mrs. H. Hampton of Fort Worth was guest speaker and brought a very practicable discussion on Rose Culture. She discussed preparation for planting, pruning, and seasonal cultivation of roses. She was presented by Mrs. John Turner, who presided.

key. The number was concluded with the assembly singing in unison the closing verse. Clara June Elkins played a Beethoven piano selection.

Red, white and blue were emphasized in a unique manner in the table appointments for the luncheon served at high noon. Settling the color keynote were the center arrangements along the two long linen covered tables. White mums in blue containers with a scattering of red roses among the mums highlighted the color motif. Miniature flags marked the places. Clusters of red, white and blue balloons were used throughout the room. Cornucopias of white mums were won by the speakers.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS . . .

By BOYCE HOUSE

Some time maybe I can write a tribute to Hick Halcomb, my friend who passed on the other day. But not now—the suddenness of his going and the depth of affection which I held for him are such that adequate words just won't come. He was unique—humorous, philosophical, brilliant—and lived a full life, enjoying every minute of his all-too-brief year.

Born in Arkansas, he was successively linotype operator, editor of a West Texas weekly, eloquent stump-speaker, assistant Secretary of State and manager of Jerry Sadler's upset victory two years ago for Railroad Commissioner. Hick was deeply devoted to Sadler and named his recently-completed home in Austin "Hick's Grove," a play on his own name and the name of Jerry's birthplace.

Will the wonders of this mechanical age never cease? Making a key used to be—or so I thought—quite a slow and painstaking process. The other day, having broken the switch key of my car, I took the spare downtown to get a duplicate. Noticing a sign, "Keys Made," in the 5-and-10 cent store, I handed the key over to a young lady who clamped it in place and at the same time put a blank key

W. Weathers, Mrs. L. J. Lambert, Mrs. Joe Pearce, Miss Sallie Morris, Mrs. Edgar Altom, Mrs. W. S. Adamson, and Rev. Jones Weathers attended the Baptist Association meeting in Cisco Thursday from the Eastland church.

MISSIONARY FROM AFRICA SPEAKER AT BAPTIST MEET

Mrs. B. F. Lockett, Baptist Missionary to Africa, spoke Wednesday at the church at prayer services. Mrs. Lockett served in Africa for 27 years.

CLASS RE-ORGANIZED AT METHODIST CHURCH

Re-organization of The Builders Class at the Methodist church was held last Sunday. Election of officers was held with Miss Lorene Davidson chosen as president.

Other officers elected were Miss Mary Young, vice president; Miss Marguerite Quinn, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Andy Taylor, program chairman; Miss Louise Mercer, pianist; Miss Maifred Hale will serve as teacher.

Program for next Sunday will be under the leadership of Miss Maifred Hale, Mary Young, Frances Harris and Mary Lou Harbin.

The class is open to all young people over high school age, including married people. All young people not attending church school some where are cordially invited to attend.

in another grip. She turned a switch and a machine began feeling the pattern of the key and another machine began cutting the design into the blank key. In three minutes the duplicate had been completed.

Tom Martin, humorous "Sage of the Sagebrush," backed Irvin Cobb, Kentucky humorist, out of a debate on politics. If it had been held, that debate might not have been a laughing matter, at that.

Speaking of speaking, this columnist has been a little in demand lately. Clubs and student groups in Temple, Breckenridge, Ranger, Weatherford and Fort Worth seem to have been interested in an informal talk on Hollywood, based on observations while serving as technical adviser on the Texas oil picture, "Boom Town."

Somebody, speaking of the town's skinflint, asked, "How much is he worth?" and my Grandpa answered, "He ain't worth a darn cent but he's got a hundred thousand dollars."

Men have many conceptions of happiness. Nat Floyd, now on an English language newspaper in China used to say in his Fort Worth Star-Telegram days, "I would like to have enough money that I could throw away a razor blade after using it just once." My own idea of happiness would be to buy an alarm clock, set it for 7 a. m., and next morning when the bell started ringing, throw the darn thing out the window, turn over and go back to sleep.

E. M. Howard, Rising Star, met Thursday morning in the office of Mr. Turner and organized for the work they are to do.

The three members of the Board will go to Fort Worth today to attend a school of instruction and after this, it is stated, the matter of clerical and such other helps as may be needed and obtainable, will be given consideration.

Today, America depends on the Telephone

"One, if by land, and two, if by sea"

Waiting on the outskirts of Charlestown, Massachusetts, Paul Revere fixed his eyes on the moonlight of the Old North Church. Suddenly the light lantern pierced the darkness . . . then another white road echoed the pound of galloping hoofs, a midnight rider called the sleeping countryside to arms.

One hundred years later, in an attic only a few feet from the starting point of history's most famous American, Alexander Graham Bell gave the nation a faster method of communication—the telephone.

Today America needs no midnight rides like Revere's. For this country now is protected by a telephone system owned by more than 600,000 American people, employing nearly 300,000 skilled men, women, and used by Americans from coast to coast.

In emergencies today, Americans turn to the phone, knowing they will receive fast, dependable service—a telephone service backed by the national resources of the Bell System.

"Milestone Car" Presented to Contest Winners

Presentation of Chevrolet's "Milestone Car"—the 1,000,000th 1929 model produced by the industry's leader—was made at the New York World's Fair last week to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Weinert (shown here), of Iron Mountain, Mich., owners of the millionth Chevrolet six-cylinder model, built in 1929. The Weinerts were winners of a nation-wide contest conducted by Chevrolet to locate No. 1,000,000. As guests of Chevrolet, the Michigan couple drove to New York, arriving at the Fair with more than 110,000 miles on their '29 car, which Weinert had purchased as a used car, at a price of $25. M. E. Coyne (left), general manager of Chevrolet, presented the new 1940 Special De Luxe model to the Weinerts. Chevrolet's production of a million units this year maintains a seven-year record of a million a year average, with the 1,000,000th 1940 car following No. 900,000 by exactly one month. The well-traveled 1929 model has been returned to Detroit where it will be placed on display.

The new tomatoes have the basic taste of the former plus that of the green pepper. Hawk's is growing a Guinea bean which is 42 inches long and gives no indication of wearing in its wild doing.

Coffee Company Announces Big $3,000 Contest

There's Happiness Ahead... for the housewives of Eastland and community. Today's food page in the Telegram, announces the opening of the first of ten weekly contests to be sponsored by the roasters of Admiration Coffee. There will be a new contest each week with a first prize of $100.00 cash, second prize of $40.00 cash, third prize of $20.00 cash, and twenty cash prizes of $2.00 each. The contest is simple: You merely write in twenty-five words or less "why you prefer Admiration Coffee."

Not a National Contest
It was pointed out that this contest should have special appeal to the housewives of this community in that it is restricted to the Southwest. Unlike National contests where your entry is pitted against many hundreds of thousands, this contest is largely local and hence affords you an extremely good chance of winning a prize. Moreover, you may submit as many entries as you wish in each week's contest.

Southwest's Largest Advertising Campaign
The $3,000 contest is but a part of the Admiration fall and winter advertising campaign which is reputedly the largest and most extensive campaign in the Southwest coffee merchandising history. The campaign is being sponsored to induce more Southwest coffee lovers to try Admiration and learn for themselves why Admiration is the Southwest's favorite coffee.

Newspapers Favored
Although the campaign will be supported by outdoor advertising, radio announcements, and attractive store display material, the bulk of the advertising will be carried by approximately 150 Southwest newspapers.

The Eastland Telegram and other newspapers were selected by the roaster of Admiration to be the backbone of this elaborate campaign because of their versatile ability, often said.

Telegram Selected

Striking advertisements in the Telegram each week throughout the fall and early winter will carry to the housewife the selling story on the deliciousness of Admiration Coffee.

The Telegram was selected for this job because of its outstanding reader audience in Eastland and its trade territory.

Rules of the contest are simple. They are as follows:
1—Using a plain sheet of paper, tell in about 25 words why you prefer Admiration Coffee.

2—Print plainly on official entry blank (which will be found in each of the Admiration Coffee advertisements) your name and address and the name and address of the dealer from whom you buy Admiration Coffee. Attach one Admiration coupon, or facsimile, and mail with your contest entry to Admiration Department C-36, Box 2079, Houston, Texas. Admiration coupons are packed with every can, jar and package of Admiration Coffee.

3—Send in as many entries as you wish, provided each is accompanied by an Admiration coupon or facsimile.

4—Judges will award prizes to the entries which, in their opinion, give the most appropriate reasons for preferring Admiration Coffee. The decision of the judges will be final. No contest entries will be returned and all become the property of the Duncan Coffee Company.

5—Anyone may enter except the employees of the Duncan Coffee Company, their advertising

Man Who Outdid Jonah Will Be On Program Oct. 11

Jonah may have been swallowed by a whale, but John Clements, 75-year old fisherman of Dorchester, Massachusetts, knows what it feels like to be scooped up by a whale, boat and all, and carried out to sea. He will tell the story of his unusual experience when he appears on the Ripley Believe It Or Not show next Friday night, October 11. The show will be broadcast from the Boston Garden before an expected audience of 18,000 people attending the New England Foods Exposition and will go over the CBS national network.

A Boston lad, John Saviskas, who picked up an iron bar and engaged in a battle with a bear to save his brother's life, will also appear, as will his brother.

The odd story of how the reading of a comic strip and a subsequent dream led to the discovery of buried treasure in a burned-down house will be told in person by Fred Rother, of Methuen, Massachusetts.

The show, which falls on the eve of Columbus Day, will present three little known Believe It Or Not about Columbus, the story of how he almost missed going to sea at all, the influence of a poem on his life, and why he refused to have the new land he had discovered named after him, instead of Amerigo Vespucci.

agency and their families.

6—Entries are eligible from any place where Admiration Coffee is sold and prizes are subject to Federal, State and local taxes and regulations. Inapplicable in any jurisdiction where any part of this contest plan is taxed, regulated or prohibited.

7—If your dealer's name is on your winning entry blank he receives a cash award also.

8—Each week's contest closes Saturday, midnight. Entries received postmarked after that date will be entered in the following week's contest. Final contest closes Dec. 21, 1940.
