Soldier Is Convicted In Court-Martial

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—A five-officer military court convicted PFC. Bernis Owen of Seadrift, Tex., today of disrespect in calling an order of his commanding general a "hilarious climax to a chain of injustices."

Maj. Thomas Fuller, president of the special court-martial, announced the decision after a secret ballot which required a two-thirds majority to convict the reservist.

The panel returned from its closed quarters where it considered punishment and handed down a sentence of six months at hard labor and loss of two-thirds pay for six months, a heavier penalty than had been expected. The court-martial is subject to appeal and automatic review by a higher Army board.

Capt. Edgar Nash, head of Owen's defense staff, pleaded with the court to consider Owen had a good record and that he had no intent of being malicious. Nash said Owen made an "honest mistake" based on a "honest conviction."

"Perhaps the man was wrong," the chief defense counsel said, but asked, "Is it criminal to make a mistake?"

Nash said making a mistake could be "foolish, dangerous and unwise" but he questioned whether it was criminal "so long as it is an honest mistake."

Capt. James Spurgeon, the Army's trial counsel or prosecutor, reminded the court Owen was 23 and contended that his act was "deliberate."

"That order," the Army counsel said of the March 19 edict, "forbade any more meetings, by disgruntled army reservists. That order was held up to ridicule by the accused."

In his earlier summation, Spurgeon told the court Owen had been in the Army two years and was a good soldier in college.

"He should know the meaning of the word he used," Spurgeon said, "and the word detracted from the respect due his superior officer."

Nash suggested Army officers should have failed by not "inspiring" the reservists.

"We have made a mistake," Nash told the court and suggested it was the officers' duty to take what men they could get and try to make "good soldiers of them."

Changeover In SACROC Operation Due May 1

A changeover in the operation of the SACROC unit was assured yesterday afternoon with the announcement that ratifications in excess of the necessary 90 per cent had been received.

Hicks Allen, present unit manager of SACROC, stated that the changeover date had been set for May 1. Ratification by at least 90 per cent of the working interest had been required by the amendatory agreement between SACROC and Standard of Texas.

M. L. Brown, Standard of Texas SACROC unit manager, said that several days ago in anticipation of the formal ratification, most of the SACROC employees had been offered employment with Standard of Texas. It is planned that those who accept Standard's offer will be continued in comparable positions after May 1, officials said.

The changeover means that Standard of Texas will assume responsibility for operation of the entire unit.

Heretofore, the unit has been divided into three segments with operations coordinated through the unit manager's office. The segments have been operated by Standard, Sun Oil Co. and Mobil Oil Co.

The announcement of the changeover climaxes studies announced by SACROC last spring on the possibility of putting SACROC's operations in charge of a member operator.

Rusk Off To Make Report

By JOHN A. HIGHTOWER
GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko announced in a joint statement today that their Geneva talks have uncovered some points of agreement as well as differences over Berlin.

It was understood from American sources that one of the points of agreement is that neither side wants to become involved in a war over Berlin. But neither side, it was reported, made a change in major policy.

The statement was issued just before Rusk and leading members of the American delegation took a plane for Washington to report to President Kennedy that the Berlin dispute remains highly dangerous though unlikely to explode in the foreseeable future.

Canadian Foreign Secretary Howard Green submitted a draft declaration to the 17-nation disarmament conference calling for action by no later than Wednesday on outlawing weapons of mass destruction from outer space.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has claimed that Russian scientists have created a global rocket invulnerable to antimissile defenses that can evade American radar detection installations by attacking from any direction.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union in their proposed disarmament plans included provisions reserving outer space for peaceful purposes.

Under Green's declaration the orbiting or stationing in outer space of devices for delivering weapons of mass destruction would be prohibited.

A nation would also be obliged to give advance notice to the United Nations of the launching of space vehicles and missiles.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home gave strong support to the Canadian proposal. He then left for home, but said he would come back any time his presence is needed.

Rusk and Gromyko in their statement said they had made some progress in clarifying points of agreement as well as points of difference.

ference. They added that they agreed to "resume contact in an appropriate way" after reporting to their governments and consulting allies. These discussions are expected to continue through ambassadors in Moscow and Washington.

Rusk and Gromyko did apparently give each other the impression, however, that each believes it is important to continue discussing the dispute in order to keep it from getting out of hand.

American informants said that while neither minister gave ground, the talks were profitable. Gromyko reportedly left Rusk no doubt that the Soviet government presently prefers to continue the discussion rather than force a new crisis. This could lead to a slow easing of East-West tensions over Berlin.

Other foreign ministers who came here two weeks ago to get the 17-nation disarmament conference organized also are leaving this week. Ambassadors and special disarmament negotiators will carry on U.S. officials estimate the conference will continue for months or even years.

The conference is expected to concentrate first on attempts at accord on limited arms controls that could pave the way for a summit meeting in May—just before a progress report is due the United Nations on June 1. If there is a meeting attended by President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Berlin also will be a major topic.

Rusk is expected to report to Kennedy that his talks with Gromyko disclosed no basic changes whatever in the Soviet demands for Western withdrawal from Berlin and for surrender of the Berlin access routes to full East German control.

Rusk will also report complete failure to make any progress toward a treaty to ban nuclear weapons tests. The Soviets refused to consider an international inspection system, as demanded by the Western powers, to police a test ban.

Strike Grips Algiers Today

ALGIERS (AP)—A protest strike gripped Algiers today, called by European settlers in mourning for the 41 Europeans killed when French troops fired into a crowd demonstrating in support of the Secret Army Organization.

Public transportation was at a standstill. Most European stores were closed. No newspapers appeared. Banks failed to open. The big outdoor market was silent and deserted. There were reports that electricity would be cut.

Hundreds of Europeans strolled the streets and most of them seemed to head for the street corner in front of the main post office where the shooting broke out Monday. In addition to the 41 settlers killed, about 200 were wounded. Army casualties were one killed and six wounded.

Some strollers placed modest bouquets of flowers on the bloodstains in the streets. Debris still littered the sidewalks. Lost shoes and berets lay untouched. Passing automobiles had turned some blood pools into long streaks of red on the street pavement.

Only a few policemen and soldiers were visible. Reinforcements had been sent in Monday after the secret army called for a demonstration and a march on the encircled suburb of Bab el Oued. Authorities banned the demonstration but the crowds gathered anyway in a gesture of defiance.

The clash appeared to have drastically altered relations between the citizens of Algiers and French troops.

Initial shock turned to hatred among the European inhabitants. Many shook their fists at the

Coup Appears Likely To Topple Frondizi

By ROBERT BERRILL
BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A military coup to topple President Arturo Frondizi appeared to draw nearer today after he rejected a plea for his resignation from his own hand-picked mediator, ex-President Pedro Aramburu.

Frondizi's insistence on holding on to the office to which he was elected, four years ago drew a proclamation of open rebellion from Gen. Francisco G. Roson, commander of the 3rd Cavalry Division based 180 miles south of Buenos Aires.

Rawson accused the president of betraying Gen. Aramburu's mediation efforts and said the use of force remains the only path open to those opposing Frondizi. He called on all other military units to join him in rebellion.

There was no immediate evidence that Rawson's threat was being implemented by action on any front. The position of the army and a large segment of the navy was still unclear. Frondizi's resignation was the only solution.

Frondizi's office confirmed that "the president of the nation expressed to Gen. Aramburu that he maintains firmly his decision not to resign his post."

Frondizi appeared to stand nearly alone in the darkest hour of his four years in office. He had the backing only of a dihard segment of his own Radical intransigent party.

The "only thing on his side is the constitution," said an associate, dejectedly.

Report Giles Is Seeking Divorce
HOUSTON (AP)—Former land commissioner Bascom Giles and his wife have separated and there are reports of a pending divorce. The Houston Post said today.

Giles, 41, served almost three years of a six-year prison sentence for misappropriation of funds in the veterans' land scandal several years ago.

He could not be located for comment.

Mrs. Giles said in Austin she did not know if a divorce petition had been filed or where Giles is now, the Post said.

Since Giles was released from prison in 1958 he has spent much of his time in Minnesota, where he owns land, the Post said.

It quoted a relative as saying the divorce was agreed on and a property settlement already made. The petition was filed in the Virgin Islands, the relative was quoted as saying.

"I'm in the dark," Mrs. Giles said.

Hughes Seeks Senate Post

BOSTON (AP)—H. Stuart Hughes, a Harvard historian and a grandson of the late Supreme Court Justice Charles Evans Hughes, announced today his candidacy—as an independent—for the U.S. Senate from Massachusetts.

Although a Democrat, Hughes said he preferred not to get into the party battle for the Senate nomination in which Edward M. Kennedy, brother of the President, opposes State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. McCormack is the nephew of U.S. House Speaker John W. McCormack.

To win a place on the fall ballot, Hughes must file some 72,000 signatures on nomination papers.

Announced candidates for the Republican nomination are George Cabot Lodge, son of Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. Rep. Laurence U. Curtis, and George A. Zimmerman of Wellesley.

Living Costs Reach Peak

WASHINGTON (AP)—Higher prices for foods pushed living costs up three-tenths of one per cent in February to a new record.

It was the first increase in the government's living costs index in six months and the largest increase since last July.

In announcing it today, Robert Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics, said however that the increase did not appear to signify a new price uptrend. Forecast continued stability but said March living costs probably also will show some increase.

The February increase put the consumers price index at 104.3 per cent of the 1957-59 base period. This was nine-tenths of one per cent higher than a year earlier.

Food prices rose during the month by six-tenths of one per cent, and were the most important cause for the over-all increase. Food prices had been expected to go down instead of up, but Myers said they were influenced by winter storms in Southern states, particularly in Florida.

Policy Is Unchanged, White House Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today that it has been, and still is, U.S. policy to use "all available means" to prevent the over-running of the West through a massive conventional attack on Europe by the Soviet Union.

This word came in reaction to an article in the Saturday Evening Post by Stewart Alsop quoting President Kennedy as saying that, "In some circumstances we might have to take the initiative in a nuclear war with Russia."

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger did not verify this or other remarks attributed to Kennedy. But he was ready for a question about the article and read this brief statement to newsmen:

"The quotation given in the Alsop article must be read in total context. The President's statement represents no change in American policy.

"It has always been clear that in such a context as a massive conventional attack on Europe by the Soviet Union, which would put Europe in danger of being overrun, the West would have to prevent such an event by all available means. This has been United States policy since the late 1940's,

Skies Are Clear Over State Today

By The Associated Press
TEXAS enjoyed more fair weather Tuesday.

Skies were cloudless and temperatures mostly in the 40s to 50s in early morning. There was some ground fog at Palacios on the coast.

Forecasts called for all sections of the state to warm and continue clear weather through Wednesday.

New Control System For X15 Due Test

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A new control system, designed to enable the X15 rocket ship to reach altitudes of 250,000 feet, will be tested this week.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said pilot Neil Armstrong will test the system in a series of flights scheduled to begin Wednesday. The rocket ship hit 4,093 m.p.h. and an altitude of 217,000 feet in tests last year.

New Counseling System For 9th Graders Begins Tonight

A new system of counseling for ninth grade students and their parents is being instituted tonight by personnel of the high school.

Students who will be in the 10th grade next year and their parents were sent packets of material yesterday along with a time to meet with the counselors. Meeting with the students and parents will be high school principal Robert Clinton, assistant principal J. M. Kayser, and high school counselor Jack Longbottom.

After the introductory remarks the groups will break up into smaller groups for individual discussions. Parents are asked to bring a preliminary schedule prepared from the information sent home by the students.

While admitting that it was a large undertaking for the school personnel, Clinton added, "We believe it will be worth the effort because we will eliminate confusion in the years to come."

The parents and students will be coming in alphabetical order with Lamar Junior High first. Tonight the first 30 students will meet in the auditorium there at 7 p.m. The second 30 will meet at 8 p.m. and the third 30 at 9 p.m. Lamar is also scheduled to have meetings March 29 and April 2. Travis Junior High will have their meetings at 7 and 8 p.m. on April 5, 9, and 12.

By having the parents and students meet with counselors it is hoped that work loads which are either too heavy or too light will be eliminated. Also requirements for graduation can be made clear before the students get too far along in their studies.

Woman Falls Four Stories

DALLAS (AP)—A woman patient, dressed in a white hospital robe, plunged four stories from a Parkland Hospital ledge today as a psychiatrist tried to stop her.

Mrs. Florence Dillon, 41, landed on her back on the roof of the hospital's second floor after she appeared to lose her balance and slipped backward off the sixth story ledge.

Attendants said she suffered possible back injuries. Her condition was serious. Mrs. Dillon, wife of a Dallas dentist, was first spotted at 6:45 a.m. crouching on the thin ledge at the rear of the sprawling hospital building.

Officials made plans to spread a net beneath the woman while a hospital psychiatrist talked to her through a window.

Police said the woman fell after standing up and reaching for the open window, through which the psychiatrist was talking.

KOLACHE, OLD-WORLD TREAT

The enchanting little filled buns known as kolache are of Old World origin, coming originally from Czechoslovakia. They are made in a variety of shapes, of which the round pictured above is a favorite. They also feature a variety of fillings such as popovers, fruit and cheese mixtures. For the simplest filling, and the prettiest, use preserves—either your own prize homemade preserves or any of the excellent kinds you can buy.

KOLACHE

1 1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons margarine or butter
1/2 cup warm, not hot, water

2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg, beaten
About 3 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/4 teaspoon mace
1/2 cup preserves

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine or butter; cool to lukewarm. Measure water into large bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm, water for compressed yeast). Sprinkle yeast in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, egg, and 1 1/2 cups flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in lemon rind and mace and remaining flour to make soft dough. Turn out on floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top of dough. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Punch down; turn out on lightly floured board. Shape into roll 12 inches long. Cut into 12 equal pieces. Form each into smooth ball. Place on greased baking sheet 2 inches apart. Flatten slightly. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Preheat oven to 375° F. Bake with fingers, leaving 1-inch rim. Fill center with preserves. Bake at 375° F. about 30 minutes. If desired, frost, when cool, with confectioners' sugar icing. Makes 12.

LENTEN FARE—Shrimp, in a creamy lemon-flavored sauce, may be served with rice—plain or curried.

Curry Favor With Shrimp

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

HOW DOES an artful cook manage when tastes about flavorings are sharply divided?

Take curry powder. To add or not to add—that's often the question. Part of your family or some of your guests may adore the curry flavor, others may object to it.

Give each his due, say we. Probably the most popular curry-flavored dish in this country is made with shrimp. Well, we've got one on a way around this so you can suit all tastes.

Make up the following creamy lemon sauce with its delicately flavored lemon sauce. Cook the usual accompaniment—rice. Serve "as is" to the favorers of bland food. For the others, add curry powder to a portion of the cooked rice along with a good cut of butter. Bring on a tray of chutney and salted peanuts or French-fried onions (the canned ones are convenient and excellent) and let everyone help and suit himself.

This shrimp dish has a preparation feature that's persuasive. No cooking of the seafood is necessary. Shells and veins are removed from the raw shrimp, then they're cooked in butter in a big skillet and the sauce is made in the same pan.

Use your fingers or a shrimp peeler to shuck the shrimp. We like fingers, but some cooks swear by the peeler. Cut down the center back of each shrimp with a small sharp knife and hold under slowly running cold water to wash away the dark vein. Drain the shrimp and dry on paper toweling before you start cooking.

Fruits makes a refreshing contribution after this dish. You can use oranges, grapefruit, pineapple or bananas or a combination. Add the fruit to salad greens tossed with French dressing. Or serve them as a composite side.

CREAMY LEMON SHRIMP

4 cup butter or margarine

1 1/2 pounds fresh or frozen shrimp (shelled and deveined)

3 tablespoons flour

1/4 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon white pepper

1 cup boiling water

Peel of 1 lemon (removed in 1-inch wide strips)

1 cup light cream

Melt butter over moderately low heat in a 10-inch skillet. Add shrimp and cook, turning as necessary, until pink. Sprinkle with flour, salt and pepper and turn to coat. Add boiling water and lemon peel; stir until sauce is smooth and slightly thickened; cover and simmer 10 minutes. Add cream; mix well and heat but do not boil; remove lemon peel. Makes 4 servings.

Note: If shrimp is frozen and not shucked, defrost and shell and devein, then dry on paper toweling.

Old-fashioned lemon sauce is a delightful accompaniment to baked bananas to be served for dessert.

Ever serve mock champagne? Make it from chilled muscatel and ginger ale. Or combine grapefruit juice with ginger ale.

When anything is exposed by the light it becomes visible, for anything that becomes visible is light. Therefore it is said, "Awake, O sleeper, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give you light."

Ephesians 5:13-14 (read verses 1-14)

When I read the New Testament, I am rather amazed to see how many of the writers used the illustration of "light" when they began to talk about one's experience in Christ. It appears that these men who knew Christ intimately, could compare what they had been before they met Him with what they were afterwards, and the experience was like having the light suddenly turned on in the middle of a dark room.

Groping and aimless wandering became purpose and goal. Confusion and anxiety became peace and calm. Where in the darkness things were fuzzy and indistinct, now in the light they were made clear and given meaning. It is no wonder then that such an experience was given so much attention.

Today, many live in that same darkness and do not know the joys of living in the light of God, and there are unfortunate souls who live in twilight, that half-way place neither light nor dark, who through ignorance and half-truth, think they live in the light; and the delusion is a bitter and frustrating experience.

The true and only light of God comes through complete and sincere self-sacrificing dedication to Jesus Christ. "Therefore it is said, Awake, O sleeper, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give you light."

Mrs. Stoker Gives Fashion Program To Athenium Club

The Athenium Study Club met recently for a regular meeting with Mrs. Arnold Wallace as hostess.

Mrs. Richard Stoker brought a most interesting program on fashion. She used an opaque projector to show the various best dressed women, and told about each and their particular fashion traits.

"On this year's best dressed list, No. 1 was of course, Mrs. Kennedy, No. 2 was Mrs. Loel Guinness, who is often described by magazines and friends, as the 'most elegant woman in the world'."

Her clothes always have a basic simplicity and purity of line. She carries the art of understating to a high degree. The clothes themselves never seem as important as her way of wearing them.

"Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Princess Lee Radziwili is a dark haired, brown eyed beauty. She has a collection of dress- and jacket ensembles in various colors and fabrics. Her fashion signature is simplicity."

Rita Gam has intensely vivid good looks. She says "I'm too hammy I suppose, but as an actress I don't want what I'm wearing to detract from me." She buys all her clothes in two shopping trips a year. She loves beautiful fabrics and has a collection of cloth coats.

"Claudette Colbert dresses much the same on and off the camera. She has basically two looks—romantic evening dresses and what she calls 'the Peter Pan collar look'."

"Madame Helene Rochas is the elegant French woman who is the president of Marcel Rochas perfumes. Her formula for elegance is something like this: 'Everything should be simple, but it shouldn't be too perfect, too conventional—there should always be at least one off beat touch, such as an old fabric or a marvellously designed shoe.'"

"Mrs. Anthony A. Bliss, president of the Metropolitan Opera Assn. is quick and decisive about what she likes in clothes. She often has ready made dresses almost completely restyled until it suits her. She finds a look she likes and sticks to it, often buys same style in many colors and fabrics."

"Mrs. William McCormick Blair Jr. is a charming representative of America abroad as her husband is U. S. Ambassador to Denmark."

"Obviously," Mrs. Stoker continued, "these women are both rich and beautiful, and most of them are young, but a recent article entitled 'Can I learn to be Chic?' in Vogue magazine gives these ground rules: 1. Acquire a figure. 2. Know that you can never be smarter than your culture. 3. Find 3 personal look. 4. Proportion determines the success of a look. 5. Be both adventurous and cautious about taking up a new look. 6. Stick to your type. 7. Don't buy clothes that have become clichés. 8. Wear immaculate, realistic make-up. 9. Practical notes consist of investing heavily in time, and money if necessary, to have clothing properly fitted."

She concluded by saying, "Finally, having learned the rules, throw the book away, and present yourself to the world without affectation, knowing that the mark of real chic is a complete unawareness of clothes once they've been properly put on."

The short business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Wiley Brice, president. The members voted to elect the Snyder Nursing Home a club project. A report from the president concerning the District Convention of Federated Clubs, which met March 16 in Sweetwater was given by Mrs. Brice.

Plans were completed for the bridge benefit to be held March 31 at the Snyder Country Club. Three visitors were present.

Two Factors Dim Hopes For Balancing Federal Budget

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's hopes for a balanced budget in the coming fiscal year are fading fast, due partly to legislative proposals and partly to the economy's recent sluggishness.

While administration officials refuse to concede that the battle is lost, they are increasingly less certain about achieving their economic and budgetary goals.

In January, Kennedy proposed spending $92,537,000,000 in the 1962 fiscal year which begins July 1. He foresaw record revenues of $93 billion—enough to produce a slim surplus of $463 million.

The slower rate of economic advance early in 1962 has put the biggest damper on January's optimism. Other factors have added to the potential swing toward continued red ink spending.

For instance, enactment of the public works program which Kennedy proposed Monday would add $350 million to spending. The tax reform bill awaiting House action would subtract $350 million from revenues.

The public works program, for areas of high unemployment, would whittle the indicated surplus to $113 million. The tax bill, if also enacted, would swing the budget into the red by $237 million.

These figures assume, of course, that all other factors would remain unchanged—which they won't. On the one hand, Congress will be paring down the administration's spending plans. On the other, the possibility of a less vigorous economic advance will present a threat to revenues.

The House Appropriations Committee so far has acted on money bills for five federal departments. It has approved $200 million from these, much of which would have been spent in fiscal 1962. In addition, failure of Congress to pass the school aid bill would cut another $100 million-plus from indicated spending.

Whatever amount Congress may chop from spending with its economy ax could easily be more than offset, however, by a revenue decline if the economy continues sluggish.

In the January-March quarter, the gross national product—GNP—apparently totaled about $350 billion, at an annual rate. This would be $3 billion to $4 billion short of January forecasts.

Administration economists express hope that the balance of the year will see a spending spree by consumers and a step-up in capital investments by business. If both occur, there might be some hope of still achieving the less.

AT TOWLE PARK HERE

Tigers Meet 'Men Today

With high hopes of snapping a four-game losing streak, Snyder's Tigers brace for today's 4 p.m. invasion of Towle Park by Lubbock Monterey's Plainmen.

That contest will touch off a three-game series for the week involving the two teams. In that the Tigers of Coach Speedy Moffett are scheduled to travel to Lubbock for a Saturday doubleheader.

Dalton Walton, junior fireballer, has been granted the starting nod by Moffett. His record is 1-2 for the campaign after marking up a victory over San Angelo and losing to Odessa and Lubbock.

Monterey Coach Bobby Moegele is expected to go along with Danny MacDougall (6-2) as his mound choice.

The Tigers, still searching for a winning combination, will carry a 3-9 record into the game. Their foes are 7-4. All of Snyder's games, however, have been against Class 4A teams and they have yet to meet one sporting a losing record.

Leftfielder Dick Moreland, with 7 hits in 19 trips and a .368 average, will lead the Tiger hitters into the conflict. A switch hitter, he divides his time between outer pasture and hill chores.

Two other Tigers are hitting above .300 — centerfielder Jerry Franks with .303 on 10 bingles in 31 appearances and shortstop Steve Free with 12 saeties in 33 times up for 306. Franks has scored the greatest number of runs of any team member with 7, while Free is the RBI leader for the Tigers with 9.

This week's series will be the last non-district action of the season for the Plainmen before opening their 3-4A campaign Tuesday against Taosca. Snyder plays Brownfield twice before casting off on the District 3-3A sea April 17 against Colorado City.

The Tiger lineup will be as follows: Franks, centerfield, .323; Spencer Dyer, catcher, .296; Free, shortstop, .306; Freddy Miller, second base, .200; Moreland, leftfield, .368; Tim Marcum, third base, .133; Kenny Wellborn, first base, .090; Harley Byrum, rightfield, .247; Walton, pitcher, .187.

Dyer will be joining behind the plate in the absence of regular Bob Smith, who was injured Saturday against Lubbock but should be ready to assume his backstop post shortly. Dyer was pulled in from third and Tim Marcum inserted there in his stead.

Between You And Me

BY JERRY JACKSON

Do you feel dull, depressed? nerves on edge? Have you, perhaps, passed the 30-year milestone (or millstone, as the case may be) and feel the pull of inactivity descending upon you?

If you haven't been sufficiently browned off guard as yet by that commercialized ploy, then the invitation is yours to settle back and be briefed on the following.

A physical education program for men over 30 (or even younger, should a fellow of a mind to "lie" about his age) is being instituted at Snyder High School and will have its beginnings Monday night. Two-week sessions will be held through April, May and June under the school's adult education program and the direction of the athletic department. Fee for the three-month course is ten dollars.

Physical benefit is not the only goal of the program, as fellowship is a fringe benefit which underlies the experiment. It has been emphasized, too, that attendance at all of the sessions is not necessary so that when the inevitable conflicts crop up they should not be a cause for undue worry.

The classes will be held two hours a night for two nights a week during the three-month course. Decision as to which nights to get together is to be formulated at Monday's initial convale.

Some may pose the question as to whether or not such a program is really needed or would be beneficial to anyone something like, "Nobody's kicked sand in my face at the beach lately, and..."

Of course, the main part of self defense doesn't enter into it. Instead, it is a matter of the participants—especially men who hold down jobs with little physical exertion and seldom get exercise—into shape and help them to feel better as an end result.

There is no limit as to age, since it has been theorized that the older men will tend to "eliminate themselves" should there be any undue strain on their physical capacities.

Athletic director Horace Bosick, who is heading up the special physical education class, has brought out that the physical exertion will be taken "very slowly" at the outset, with some organized activities (i.e., group calisthenics) being emphasized at the beginning. From that start, the men will be broken up into smaller groups for activities such as volleyball, basketball, tennis, ping pong, etc. There will also be special instruction in weightlifting for those desiring it.

Origination of the idea for such a class evolved from some of the local doctors, who are of the opinion that it would benefit not only themselves but also many of the townspeople.

President Kennedy has also been plugging such fitness programs to the maximum. "Politics naturally don't enter into it, and any muscles developed will necessarily fall into the realm of bipartisan bipeds."

Men interested in joining the class may do so by mailing their ten dollar fee (personal checks should be made out to Snyder Public Schools) to principal Robert Clinton at Snyder High School.

Those reporting to Monday's first session should also bring with them gym shorts, tennis shoes, a towel and sweat suit (if available).

BALTIMORE (AP) — The National Football League, which filed its suit in U.S. District Court, contends the NFL moved into Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul to undermine the formation of the new league.

The American Football League, which filed its suit in U.S. District Court, contends the NFL moved into Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul to undermine the formation of the new league.

George Halas, majority owner, general manager and coach of the Chicago Bears, testified Monday that the NFL planned its move into Dallas long before the AFL was founded.

Halas said he was named chairman in 1958 of an expansion committee charged with exploring a move into the South and West.

"Houston and Dallas were the leading cities in the Southwest, and we were heading in that direction," Halas testified before Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, who is hearing the case without a jury.

'No Change' In Paret's Condition

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny (Kid) Paret continued in a coma today as Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller studied a rush report by the State Athletic Commission on the grudge fight that cost Paret his world welterweight title and maybe his life.

A medical bulletin from Roosevelt Hospital said the 25-year-old Cuban-born boxer was in critical condition and the outlook was "extremely grave."

Emile Griffith, a new welterweight champion who battered Paret senseless at Madison Square Garden Saturday night, said in a radio interview:

"It's all a nightmare. I pray for Benny's recovery very fast. It's all in God's hands."

The State Athletic Commission went into secret session Monday under orders from the governor, who had said he was "deeply concerned and disturbed."

The commission viewed films of the fight, which was seen by millions on television, and heard testimony from nine witnesses.

The principal witness was referee Ruby Goldstein, who has been criticized by the Paret camp for not stopping the fight sooner in the 12th round when Griffith kept bashing Paret's head, caught between the ropes.

Dr. John Crisp, a chief surgical resident at Roosevelt Hospital, said Paret "is being maintained under hypothermia (treatment to lower his body requirements)."

Crisp said at a news conference that the chances are 10,000 to 1 against Paret's ever regaining full control of his body after the brain damage he suffered.

The doctor said that if he lives he might remain in a coma for a year or more.

Brain surgery was performed on Paret early Sunday.

His pregnant wife, Lucy, has been keeping vigil at the hospital since she flew here from Miami Sunday.

There had been blood between Paret and Griffith for about a year, during which they fought three times, and Saturday night's fight was a real grudge affair.

Griffith admittedly was angry over remarks by Paret that challenged his manhood. Griffith, a millinery designer out of the ring, had said Paret cursed and insulted him before and during the fight.

"I'm sorry now that I ever became a fighter," Griffith said. "I guess I'll go on fighting some time, somewhere, but I don't want to think about it now."

Experience Pays Off; Casper Wins

By BEN FUNK
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—It was right there for the taking—a bundle of cash bigger than he had yet dared to dream of, and an upset golf victory of major proportions.

Paul Bondeson, a remarkable young player at 22, but still a bit gun-shy in the company of the great, had it right in his hands in Monday's final round of the $50,000 Doral Country Club Open.

But when the showdown came on the final holes, and the $9,000 winner's purse rode with every stroke, the tournament-tested veteran, Bill Casper, pushed through to win in dramatic fashion over the nervous rookie.

Leading Casper by four strokes through the 11th, Bondeson finally got the jitters and lost his entire margin on two straight double bogies. They were all even going into the 15th, and here Casper lived up to his reputation as one of the game's best putters by dropping a 35-footer to take the lead.

The blond, gray-eyed Bondeson still had a chance to salvage a deadlock and force Casper into a sudden death playoff when he stepped up to try for a 10-foot birdie putt on the 18th.

The pressure was fierce on the youthful newcomer who had won only $192.50 in 15 pro tournaments. He made a gallant try, but his ball rolled around the rim of the cup but wouldn't drop. Casper wound up with a 71 for a four-round total of 283, five under par, and one stroke ahead of Bondeson, who slipped to a 73. The green youngster had, however, sufficient money to keep him on the tour at a time when he was about to give up for lack of funds and return to North Brook, Ill., where he is a teaching pro.

Casper's victory boosted him from 16th to 4th among 1962 golf money winners with a total of $15,049.

Jack Nicklaus, another bright young star who has competed in only 10 tournaments, took third in the Doral at 285 and won $3,000, the biggest purse of his career.

The old master, Ben Hogan, tied with Ted Kroll for fourth at 286.

Arnold Palmer's 11th place finish and $1,230 check made him the year's biggest money winner with $15,495 at the previous year's season.

Gene Littler, finished out of the money.

Inequitable Sacrifices Spur Woes For Argentina's Rulers

BY INEZ ROBB

In his inaugural address President Kennedy stated a hard-fought truth when he said, "If a free society cannot help the many who are poor, it cannot save the few who are rich." He refrained from adding the plain conclusion, "And it cannot save itself, either."

The years of turmoil in Latin America, particularly as highlighted in the Argentine today, stems in large part from the fact that the big rich south of the border are too often unwilling to save even themselves by graciously surrendering so much as an iota of their economic privilege.

The Peronistas, with the aid of the Communists, might not have rolled up such a stunning total in the recent Argentine elections if President Frondisi's "austerity" program had demanded from the feudal landlords and entrepreneurs comparable sacrifices to those asked of the laboring class, the blue-collar workers and salaried personnel.

Instead, the austerity program lowered the boom of the latter, already bedeviled by inflation, while the big landowners and their allies raked in the chips in the classic manner described in the old song that "the rich get richer and the poor get chancier."

Equality of sacrifice was not demanded of all Argentines in the last election, Peron's "descamisado" (the shirtless ones) and the semi-dispossessed, edged on by the Communists, rose up in protest against the cruel discrepancy.

It is a situation that is certain to repeat itself through much of Latin America if other governments cannot re-e d, in the Argentine situation, the renewed handwriting on the wall. The old oligarchs, stemming from feudal roots in Spanish and Portuguese explorers and colonists, are true Bourbons who can neither learn nor forget.

Too often the very people in Latin America who would suffer the loss of everything from a triumph of Fidelismo are the very ones who fight any reform that might save them, their children, their fortunes and their country from communism.

In Buenos Aires in 1946, six months after Peron came to power, I was stunned by the outrage of the aristocracy that Peron, campaigning for the Presidency, had vigorously sought the working class vote. It was explained to me that never before in Argentine history had a Presidential candidate so far demeaned himself as to ask for the laboring vote!

The old order changed in part of South American, but not much. Friction is already reported as developing over Alliance For Progress funds, predicated on the understanding that tax, land, social and economic reforms would be instituted to better the lot of impoverished masses. Latin American countries are demanding the money without instituting the promised reforms on a scale satisfactory to U.S. observers.

Khrushchev and his global rocket pale in the face of the Argentine situation, the seething unrest and hunger in Brazil, the fighting in Guatemala, the Cuban eyes on Guantanamo and the general appeal of Castroism to the descamisados throughout much of South America.

The United States can and should do much. But unless South Americans are finally willing to face up to feudalism, to scotch it once and for all and to substitute improvement for the many for privilege to the few, the Alliance For Progress will be just another boondoggle.

The Alliance For Progress, in which so many United States hopes and so much U.S. goodwill are involved, hasn't a chance of succeeding unless South American nations are willing to create the social, political, moral and economic climate in which it can succeed.

To coin a pair of clichés that neatly sum up the situation: The chips are on the table and it is much later than we dare think. Copyright, 1962, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Junior Editors Quiz on DESERTS

QUESTION: Which is the largest desert in the world?

ANSWER: Of the hot deserts, the Sahara Desert is the largest. It stretches across 3,500,000 square miles. Deserts exist in almost every part of the world. Northern Mexico and the western United States have a good-sized desert, as does Siberia. There are cold deserts as well as hot ones. The Gobi Desert in Mongolia has below-freezing temperatures during six months of the year. A desert is an area where most vegetation cannot grow because there is not enough water. In some cases, heat evaporates the water too quickly for the earth to absorb it. In others, mountain ranges block off any moisture from the sea and there are no rivers to carry water into the land. Deserts are not made up exclusively of sand dunes. There are mountains in deserts, and plains of gravel and boulders as well. Some plants and animals can live in these barren areas. Minerals, such as borax, potash and nitrates are extracted from some deserts, and oil has been discovered in the Sahara.

FOR YOU TO DO: In spite of the lack of water, people have been living in deserts since the beginning of recorded time. Some live near oases, but others make do with water supplies found in unlikely places. Certain plants store water, for example. How many ways can you find to obtain water in a desert?

(Douglas Seneo of Auburn, N. Y. wins $10 for this question. Send your question on a postcard to Junior Editors, in care of this newspaper.)

Jim Stewart Believes In Keeping Busy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"I feel I'm a little lazy myself," said James Stewart, "but I think a man ought to keep busy."

Although graying a bit now, Jimmy still wears the shy, deceptively easy-going air of "the boy next door" that has been his acting trade mark for a generation. The record shows he has kept pretty busy. In addition to a series of Broadway plays, he has been in some 70 films, won an Oscar and been nominated for an Academy Award three other times.

Outside his profession, he has been equally active. He has done everything from flying bombers in wartime to shooting tigers in India.

Currently he is a trustee of Princeton University, a member of the board of the Air Force Association, a brigadier general in the Air Force Reserve, a regional Boy Scout executive, and participates in a number of community affairs.

He also enjoys half a dozen hobbies, ranging from hunting, fishing and photography to flying his own airplane. Jimmy came here for a Broadway sightseeing after completing his latest film, John Ford's production of "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance," in which he is costarred with John Wayne, Vera Miles and Lee Remick.

Over a huge chunk of luncheon toast, beef, Stewart discussed the philosophy of living that has enabled him to stay on top in show business for so long.

"I place tremendous importance on physical health and well-being," he remarked. "Health is the reservoir of any achievement. It is so important anyone ought to do everything he can to keep it."

Everyone pays lip-service to this goal, but how can you stay healthy in a world of deepening tensions of every kind?

Here is Jimmy's recipe: "First, exercise. Don't necessarily make a big thing of it. Just make it a part of your daily life, even if you only walk around the block."

"Second, allow for a certain amount of relaxation from your completely foreign to your way of earning your living, or the needs of taking care of your family."

"Third, and this is very basic, get a real enjoyment from your work. A man is tremendously fortunate if he likes his work—if it is not bored with his job."

"Boredom is a terrible thing. It destroys more people than anything else I can think of. But if you like your line of work, and try your best to be good in your job, it's unlikely you'll be bored at it."

Daily Crude Flow Rises

TULSA (AP)—U.S. oil production rose last week for the second straight week, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Average daily production last week was 7,339,355 barrels, up 22,453 from the previous week. Oklahoma output rose 15,600 barrels a day, to 589,300.

Texas production is averaging 2,502,520 barrels a day, Louisiana 1,333,000, New Mexico 309,000, Arkansas 80,000 and Colorado 119,600.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico—Chihuahua is sort of the Texas of Mexico. It comprises about 12 per cent of the national territory and is one of the most prosperous states of the country.

Here, the folks become prosperous on everything from cotton to cows. There are also 38 major fruit, grain and vegetable crops raised for export. And this is only the beginning.

Back in the early days, the Spaniards came to town looking for native curios such as gold and silver. And they recruited local volunteers to dig up the gold and silver which was carted out aboard reluctant mules.

This was to help the King with his terrible expenses back home. A sort of Marshall Plan in reverse. Some of the old Spanish mines are still operating and turn out their share of coins. But this was small apples compared to the economic situation today.

After the Spaniards were invited to quit for home, Mexico began looking around to see what was attracting so many foreign merchants. And what they found has produced more pesos than King Carlos' hallucinations.

You may not know it but a lot of the fruit, steak, frozen seafood and vegetables you eat come from Mexico. Neatly packaged and labeled in English so you can read it.

Essentially, Chihuahua is a cattle-mining-agricultural state. But there are also several million acres of timber lands, mostly pine, and some rugged territory in the Sierra Madre Mountains that is believed to have some of the continent's biggest mineral deposits.

The state has around 2 million head of cattle on hand and I can tell you all about Chihuahua beef. Because I was with a group of news scribes that went along to witness the opening of the Chihuahua-Pacific Railway.

This meeting of the two pound steaks occurred at the ranch of Mr. Tomas Valles, ex-governor of the state, who loaded a table with several hundred pounds of prime meat.

Golub Wants To Return

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Alexei Golub, the Soviet biochemist whose defection last fall led to an airport fight between Dutch and Soviet officials, wants to return to the Soviet Union, the Foreign Ministry announced today.

The Foreign Ministry said Golub is in the Soviet Embassy and has asked for his passport.

"The ministry ordered an investigation to make sure that Golub wanted to return home of his own free will."

A spokesman for the Soviet Embassy refused to comment but confirmed that Golub was in the embassy building.

The 35-year-old scientist asked for asylum last October while visiting the Netherlands with a group of Soviet tourists. His wife chose to return to the Soviet Union after a dramatic meeting with her husband at the Amsterdam airport.

Ball Defends U. N. Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undersecretary of State George W. Ball says the United Nations serves American national interests and the United States should continue as its leading member.

Ball gave this strong defense of Kennedy administration stress on the United Nations Monday in a speech which aides described as a major rebuttal to recent criticism.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., last week said the United States should rely less on the United Nations and more on military power, a stronger Atlantic community and direct diplomacy. This and other comments from influential persons, among them past U.N. supporters, have disturbed administration leaders.

Ball spoke at the outset of a two-day foreign policy briefing session for some 800 newspaper, magazine and radio-television newsmen from around the country.

The truffle is a small black fungus, related to both mushrooms and mildews.

"Pick your steaks, boys," he said, "and cook 'em the way you like on the fire pit."

Of course, Mr. Valles has never had much experience with free loading scribes. Otherwise, he would have stood by with a shotgun and handed out one steak per person.

The fire pit was, fifty feet long with a very warm sheet of steel propped on rocks just over the coals. It was said that at least fifty hands got stabbed by forks in the battle for the biggest chunk of steak.

Bert Quint, of the New York Herald Tribune, and your correspondent selected modest two or three pounders a mere inch and a half thick and dropped them on the hot plate.

Bert kept an eye on the steaks and the silverware while I watched the house to see that our colleagues did not remove any furnishings or other items belonging to Mr. Valles. There is no use in letting hungry scribes ruin a good thing.

This was the first steak I ever had hanging so far off the plate that part of it had to be cut on the table. On the second round, we restrained ourselves to small ones that fit inside the 12-inch platters. And Mr. Valles must have been thinking about a loan from the Inter-American Bank to get him back in the beef business again.

For a very modest fee, you can buy Chihuahua steaks at all restaurants, while making excursions around this section. There are good tourist accommodations, good highways and plenty of inexpensive transportation. Flying machines, trains and buses to all points.

The government is working on a project to build more tourist resorts especially in the high Sierras which you can now reach by the new rail line that crosses to the Pacific port of Topolobampo. Chihuahua is one of the up and coming regions of an up and coming country. And I couldn't look a steak in the face right now if I had to.

Davis, one of the members, has compiled a list of aims titled "The Meaning of P-TA." "Chief purposes of the organization are to bring parents and teachers more closely in sympathy with each other and to give mothers an opportunity to study the best methods for the development of the child," it was pointed out.

"Also, it aims to enable parents to become familiar with the work of the school and, in this way, form a close connection between the school and home."

"The purpose is to encourage parents to become acquainted with conditions affecting the life of children outside the school and the home and to awaken community interest in child welfare."

History of the organization, dating from Feb. 1897 when an assembly of parents, educators, clergyman and statesmen convened for the betterment of child life.

Influence of the P-TA was cited in the following area:

1. Better school equipment in the way of furniture, libraries and other material.
2. Better nourishment of children in those schools where assistance along that line is necessary.
3. The establishment of community centers.
4. Provision for instruction in home economics in many schools where this subject had not been previously introduced.
5. Improvement of streets leading from principal streets to school buildings.
6. Provision of a course in physical culture for mothers.
7. Establishment of summer camps for mothers and children.
8. Education of mothers in infant hygiene, through which the lives of thousands of infants have been saved.
9. Medical inspection of schools.
10. Establishing state loan funds for the education of boys.

Eichmann's Plea Attacked

JERUSALEM (AP)—Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner attacked Adolf Eichmann's arguments against the death sentence today, with a series of documents submitted as proof that the condemned Gestapo official was all-powerful in the Nazi plot to exterminate the Jews.

Hunger in the third day of his argument against Eichmann's appeal said a towering mass of captured Nazi documents directly linked the accused to the wartime murder campaign.

Eichmann was condemned to death in December by a special tribunal. The Supreme Court is expected to continue its hearing on his appeal through the remainder of the week.

Early Spring Weather Is Rule Today

By The Associated Press
Pleasant early spring weather prevailed across the major part of the nation today.

There were a few sections hit by light rain or snow but skies generally were fair and temperatures comparatively mild.

The only wet spots during the night were in parts of New England, light drizzle and light snow; the Pacific Northwest with showers and occasional rain, and in the eastern Carolinas which reported showers.

Fog blanketed the snow-covered areas of the extreme eastern Dakotas, northern Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

In Iowa, floods threatened Sioux City and Spencer as the melt of the heavy snow covering some rivers out of their banks. Sioux City was threatened by overflows from the Floyd River on the east side of the city and by the Big Sioux River on the west side. The Little Sioux River gave concern to Spencer, with a predicted crest of 20 feet, 10 feet above flood stage.

In Nebraska, West Point and Valley, in the northeast section, were hardest hit by the flooding Elkhorn River. Two blocks of West Point, a town of about 2,600, were flooded, forcing the evacuation on Sunday of some 200 persons. An ice jam broke again Monday pouring more water over the inundated section.

In Valley, where 90 per cent of the village had been flooded Monday, the water began flowing out late in the day.

Temperatures were in the 40s and 50s during the early morning most of the country. Below freezing marks were confined to most sections of the Great Lakes region, the upper Mississippi Valley and eastern South Dakota.

Separate Collar For Shirt Gone

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It might have been expected, what with the decline of the mustache and the watch chain, that the separate shirt collar also would go.

"For all practical purposes the separate collar is no longer a part of the American scene," said Phillips-Van Heusen Corp. today in announcing it was dropping the line after 60 years.

Cluett-Peabody & Co., another large manufacturer, declined comment on its competitor's announcement.

Phillips-Van Heusen was certain of its course.

"For several years," said a spokesman, "the company has been making separate shirt collars strictly as a service to the few who still wear them."

The company said it was saddened over what it believed to be the passing of an era in the men's wear field, but "demand has diminished to the point where the cost of continuing this service is prohibitive."

The collar was worn widely during the turn of the century, but it was in the dashing Twenties that it reached a peak of popularity.

In its more proper styles it made thin men look very refined but for many years it was not as comfortable as it was neat, but it always was very distinguished.

Phillips-Van Heusen says the separate collar has, in recent years, been almost wholly supplanted by the collar-attached shirt. In 1924 it sold 24 million a year, in 1961 just 18,000.

Carpenter To Go Soon

HOUSTON (AP)—Astronaut Scott Carpenter should not encounter the difficulties Col. John Glenn met in his three-orbit trip around the globe, a space agency spokesman said Monday.

Col. John Powers, public information officer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), said Carpenter will make his space trip in five or six weeks.

"I think Carpenter will find the attitude control system with which Glenn had some trouble to be all right now," Powers said. Glenn had to fix the capsule himself part of the time because the automatic attitude control device did not work properly.

Carpenter will have a new optical device, a sort of telescope, to measure the zodiacal light during his three orbits, said Powers.

Project Mercury will have enough equipment for three more orbital flights after Carpenter's, he said, but it is not certain the flights will ever be made because Project Gemini—aimed at a space rendezvous—is to start early in 1963.

Powers said 12 younger astronauts will be selected for training soon with the original seven spacemen.

Inexperience is but a poor substitute for experience.

The contest is open to all junior high and senior high school students. Awards are sent to the students whose poems are accepted. Mrs. Virginia Short is the instructor under whose sponsorship the poems were submitted.

Demand Seen For Women Engineers

By ROGER LANE

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A government recruiter says that women may provide the ultimate answer to the acute shortage of engineers for aerospace and missile work. William Howe, chief regional recruiter for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said in an interview, "We're definitely trying to interest high school and college girls in engineering."

"Without interesting women, we just can't see how we're going to meet our long range personnel objectives."

Howe joined scores of talent hunters from private segments of the aerospace and electronics industries in an elaborate project for interviewing engineers assembled here for the 1962 convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers.

Of more than 60,000 expected for the four-day meeting, it was estimated that 10,000 institute members will actively investigate a possible switch in jobs, and 1,000 will make a change.

NASA has passed the half-way mark in a nationwide drive, launched last fall, to add to its payroll 2,000 professional level employees by June 30. In the next several years, it wants to hire 13,000 more.

The National Science Foundation recently estimated that 81,000 jobs were waiting for 37,000 graduate engineers turned out by college and universities last year.

The disparity promises to be even bigger this year. While there is a shortage of engineers, surveys have shown that executives of some business firms which employ large professional staffs are cool toward hiring women. In addition, women have tended to stay out of the engineering field.

Part of the trouble is that engineering has always had a connotation among women as being a dirty job—of men in boots, standing hip deep in mud," Howe said. "It will be hard and take time to change that image, and there'll be a marriage problem to fight."

School Is Closed After Explosion

GREENVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Commodore Perry High School in nearby Shakesville was closed today following an explosion in the boiler room Monday that routed 900 pupils.

The blast cracked the chimney and walls, but there was no fire and nobody was reported hurt.

Defectors Wed

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Seventy defectors from Communist North Korea's army were married today in a joint wedding ceremony held at the former National Assembly building. The bridegrooms fled to South Korea during and after the Korean War.

North Segregation Rapped

DETROIT (AP)—Informal segregation in the North is a much more serious problem than segregation in the South, a sociologist told 4,000 elementary school principals Monday.

Dr. Raymond W. Mack, chairman and associate professor of sociology at Northwestern University, said, "We are rapidly and efficiently breaking down the last legal barriers of segregation in the South. In fact, legal segregation is on its last legs."

"But it will take longer to break down the informal segregation, most of which is in northern cities."

"The Southern problem is being solved either by outmigration, or movement of people out of the South, or it is being taken off the hook because their system is vulnerable to law, and so bit by bit it is breaking down."

Dr. Mack addressed the Department of Elementary School Principals of the National Education Association.

"In the North, we have unofficial segregation. You cannot take it to the Supreme Court. It is an efficient segregation, based on where you live and where you go to school," Dr. Mack said. "It is difficult to be a responsible educator and not devote some thought to how this problem of desegregation can be solved."

"If you are a professional educator, it is your obligation to fight for educational opportunity without regard to race, color or creed."

Dr. Mack said that as the degree of automation in industry increases, there will be a decline in the number of jobs which used to be assigned to the lowest grade unskilled workers. He said Negroes were assigned most of these jobs in days past.

He urged educators to realize that in the years ahead there will be fewer jobs in the lowest unskilled labor class and that these workers will have to be given educational opportunities to fit them for jobs in higher classifications.

Bible Argument Leads To Shooting

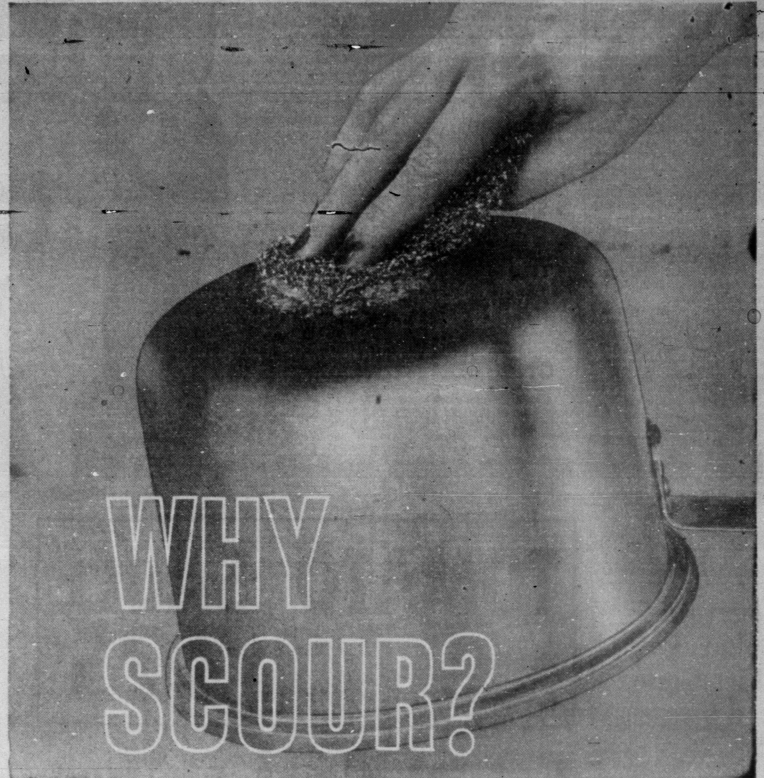

LANDRUM, S.C. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. George Arledge were discussing the Biblical theory of the husband-wife relationship.

She argued the Bible says a husband should respect his wife. He said the Bible tells wives to respect their husbands.

Suddenly the quarrel intensified, police said, and he reached for the family Bible as she grabbed a .22 rifle. Two shots were fired, and Arledge was hospitalized with a bullet wound near the heart and one in the cheek. Mrs. Arledge was placed under technical arrest and permitted to stay home to attend to her five children, all of whom have mumps.

WHY SCOUR?

COOK CLEAN THE FLAMELESS ELECTRIC WAY WITH HEAT AS CLEAN AS ELECTRIC LIGHT

Most homemakers will admit they have a hard enough job cleaning the inside of cooking utensils. Scouring fuel grime from outer surfaces, too, just adds unnecessarily to kitchen chores. But clean, flameless, electric heat is free from by-products of combustion that smudge and soil utensils. Pots and pans, walls and curtains, and the range itself, stay cleaner. You'll be surprised how much time you'll save for other household activities when you cook the clean, flameless electric way. See your electric appliance dealer today.
