Dawson Man Killed In Auto Crash

$32,000 Loss Is Caused In 'Flash' Blaze

By EMMETT SHOCKLEY
Avalanche Staff Writer

ROPESVILLE, Dec. 8—The O. K. Grain Storage elevator, filled with more than 1,000,000 pounds of maize, burned to the ground here Thursday afternoon, causing a loss estimated at $32,000.

Although the wooden elevator, located in the southwest part of town was completely destroyed by 4 p.m., one and a half hours after the discovery of the fire, a ten-foot pile of grain continued to burn into the night before Levelland firemen, equipped with tank trucks, extinguished the blaze.

Ropesville is about 18 miles southwest of Lubbock on the Lubbock-Brownfield highway.

Water Supply Short

Fire department units from Lubbock and Brownfield were first dispatched to the scene shortly before 3 p.m., but the lack of water in Ropesville forced them to stand by helplessly as the elevator burned down. Ropesville has no municipal water supply, and the water carried by the trucks was sufficient only for extinguishing some of the stacks of nearby railroad car garin doors, which had caught fire.

A light breeze blowing from the northeast blew sparks from the fire away from the town, and from two cotton gins located directly across the highway from the elevator.

A possible change in the direction and velocity of the wind prompted action tonight to extinguish the blaze completely instead of allowing it to burn itself out.

Allen Johnson, manager of the elevator, said the elevator contained about ten carloads of maize, valued at about $20,000. Cost of the elevator and equipment destroyed raised the loss estimate by Johnson to $32,000.

The elevator and the grain were fully covered by insurance, according to Harvey Allen of Amarillo, part owner of the Amarillo Oil Mills company, which owned the elevator. Allen arrived in Ropesville about 6:30 p.m., to survey the damage.

Workers Notice Blaze

Leon Young, worker at the Goodpasture elevator, located about 100 yards north of the burned elevator, first discovered the fire about 2:15 p.m., when he was returning from lunch.

Young said he noticed flames shooting from the top of the elevator, and he rushed over and notified Lloyd Jones, who was on duty in the O. K. Grain Elevator office about 75 yards from the elevator.

Jones grabbed a fire extinguisher and ran out to the elevator, but was unable to get near the blaze because of its intensity.

Telephone service in the community had been temporarily disconnected shortly before the fire began, and residents were un-

FBI To Check On Shipments Of Uranium

By JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. — The Federal Bureau of Investigation has entered the widening and somewhat confused inquiry into charges that wartime shipments of U. S. atomic materials aided Russia's A-bomb project.

An informed congressional source said today that papers concerning lend-lease shipments to Russia, which were given to the House un-American Activities committee by G. Racey Jordan, have been turned over to the FBI for scrutiny.

The committee reportedly expressed deep interest in Jordan's notations listing contents of mysterious suitcases which he said he opened over the protests of Russian guards.

Material Found

Jordan, ex-Air Force major who was a lend-lease liaison officer at Great Falls, Mont., has told of finding an "Oak Ridge" folder, Panama canal maps, a mass of blueprints, and other data.

The G-men followed their customary policy of "no comment" on the Jordan papers.

Meanwhile, other developments included:

1. Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, wartime chief of the Manhattan atomic project, declared in an interview with International News Service that the probe should be pursued because it is "vitally important to the American people."

Reports Withheld

2. Groves, who on Wednesday denied that ex-Vice President Wallace or the late Harry Hopkins ever "pressured" him in Russia's behalf, said that he had purposely withheld from Wallace—then head of the Board of Economic Warfare—a number of secret atomic reports.

3. The Canadian government confirmed that in addition to uranium shipments sent to Russia from the U. S., 500 pounds of uranium oxide and 500 pounds of uranium nitrate went to the Soviet Union from Canada in 1943.

4. In this connection, the un-American activities committee revealed that it has sent two investi-

Freezing Drizzle Indicated For South Plains Area Early Today

By TOM DAVIS
Avalanche Staff Writer

SUB-FREEZING temperatures and light drizzles may fashion a blanket of ice over the South Plains early this morning, the Weatherman said last night—predicting a continuation of the cold blast that moved into Texas Thursday.

A light drizzle—freezing as it hits—was the early morning outlook, with the mercury expected to hit a low near 24 degrees in the Lubbock area.

Prospects for the ice coating came on the heels of a frigid Thursday in West Texas, when daytime temperatures failed to go above 34 degrees in Lubbock.

A slight break in winter's grip may begin around noon today, the forecaster said, with fog and drizzles expected to lift and temperatures beginning to moderate.

However, highest reading expected in Lubbock today will be in the middle 40's, the forecaster said.

"There will be a gradual moderation in the cold temperatures Friday afternoon and Saturday," the Weatherman said, "but it will be a

Roy D. Smith Fatally Hurt Near Lamesa

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Dec. 8. — Roy David Smith, 42, a resident of the Woody community near Lamesa, was fatally injured in a car-truck collision about 3 p. m. Thursday six miles south of here on Highway 87.

Smith's death pushed the South Plains' and area traffic mishap toll for the year to 99 killed. More than 640 persons have been injured.

Smith was killed when the 1947 Plymouth he was driving sideswiped a large truck loaded with cotton. He died several minutes later en route to a Lamesa hospital.

Truck Driver Not Hurt

Santos Gaipon of San Angelo driver of the truck, was not injured.

The traffic fatality drove the year's total for the area within one of the 100-mark and set the 1949 record at seven more than the 92 predicted for the South Plains in January by the Texas Highway patrol. Smith was the 42nd to die in automobile accidents in the region within the last 40 days.

(Robert Lee Mimms, 56, of Robertson, died earlier in the day at the Crosbyton clinic from injuries suffered in an auto mishap west of Ralls on Dec. 1 to send the year's total to 98.)

Unable To Pass Car

Dawson county Deputy Sheriff Lawrence West, who investigated the accident, said Smith apparently tried to pass a car as he drove south along the highway and was unable to pull back into his own lane before meeting the northbound truck.

Smith had been employed as a night watchman for the Bill White gin in Lamesa. He suffered head injuries in the wreck and all his arms and legs were crushed. He died before a Higginbotham Funeral home ambulance from Lubbock could get him to the hospital. Funeral arrangements are pending.

It was not immediately determined where the dead man was going at the time of his death. His

Chiang Names Island Capital

By IAN MACKENZIE

HONG KONG, Dec. 9 (Friday) —China's Nationalist government set up another capital on the fortress island of Formosa today and placed further ground resistance to the Communists on the mainland virtually on a guerrilla basis.

Premier Yen Hsi-Shan led the flight of government officials from imperiled Chengtu to Taipeh, Formosa, yesterday, thus abandoning the mainland struggle with the Communists that has been waged for 22 years.

Taipeh, on well-fortified Formosa, just over 100 miles east of coastal Fukien province, became the Nationalists' fifth capital in 1949, a year that marked sweeping retreats before the multi-pronged Communist offensive.

The flight from Chengtu came as Communist forces were reported to have struck to within 20 miles southeast of that Szechuan province city, which became the fourth Nationalist capital after the fall

U. S. Envoy, Staff Reach Tientsin

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (INS)—The State department announced tonight that Consul General Angus Ward and his staff of 19 arrived at Tientsin at 8:30 a. m. (CST) today, and will embark on the S. S. Lakeland Victory Sunday.

The department announcement said that Ward and his party are presently staying in the consulate residences at Tientsin and none of the party required medical attention despite their 13-month ordeal at Mukden, where they were stationed.

The department earlier had received a message from the consulate at Tientsin saying the special train of American deportees was due at the Chinese Communist port.

Train Is Checked

A check on the train on which the Reds sent the Ward party out of Mukden showed it had passed through an intermediate point safely.

Ward, held under House arrest for more than 13 months, clapped into jail for one month, convicted of beating a Chinese coolie and then ordered deported, is coming out of China at a critical moment.

Crippled Woman Is Fatally Attacked By Pet Bulldog

WARSAW, Ind., Dec. 8. (INS)—Coroner Dr. O. H. Richer reported tonight that a year-old pet English bulldog bit Mrs. Dollie Fries, 76, about the face and caused her death by strangulation.

Mrs. Fries is an arthritic cripple and the dog, owned by Mrs. Fries' daughter, reportedly became excited when she was teasing him and fatally bit her.

The coroner said the dog—"Emile" — was owned by Mrs. William Wierick, daughter of Mrs. Fries. Mrs. Wierick said she was at work when the dog apparently attacked her mother.

Lubbock Votes On Bond Issues Tuesday

Dispersal System Must Be Finished

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third of three articles discussing the $1,075,000 bond issue upon which the qualified citizens of the City of Lubbock will vote next Tuesday. The issues include $550,000 for enlargement of the sewage disposal plant and system and $525,000 to buy rights-of-way necessary to the completion of the City Highway Dispersal system).

FIVE major projects remain in the uncompleted portion of the Lubbock Highway Dispersal system.

They cannot be built until the City supplies rights-of-way for them; and the city cannot supply rights-of way unless the $525,000 bond issue proposed for that purpose is approved next Tuesday.

Here are the projects:

1. Nineteenth street eastward from Texas avenue to a conjunction with East Broadway at a point about two miles east of the entrance to the Fairgrounds; this would enable much through and heavy traffic to skirt the central business district.

2. Thirty-fourth street entirely across the city from the east to the west city limits, linking the Levelland and Tahoka highway.

3. Northeast Avenue Q from Third street through the Country club addition to the Plainview high way.

4. Avenue A from Broadway to Nineteenth street.

5. Four railroad underpasses, each of four-lane width, as follows: Avenue A at Fourteenth; on Fourth street at Avenue J; Nineteenth street near Avenue A; and Northeast Avenue Q at North Second street.

KIEFER

This program will involve the construction of approximately 10 miles of paving, all of 64-foot, four-lane width.

Every penny of the construction costs estimated at $1,611,000 will be paid by the State and Federal highway departments.

They have advised the City repeatedly that they are ready to get busy as soon as complete rights-of-way for the various projects are supplied. But they won't move an inch until the titles to the necessary property are laid before them.

THESE projects will mean a great deal more to Lubbock than traffic convenience. They

CAA Alerts Area For Missing Light Plane

The Lubbock police department announced last night that the Civil Air authority in Amarillo has alerted all local and area officers for a small plane long overdue on a flight from Fairbanks to Amarillo by way of Waco.

The craft, a single-engine Navion, left Fairbanks at 5:04 p.m. and failed to report on a scheduled radio call Waco.

The name of the pilot, believed to be the sole occupant of the plane, was not immediately known.

Bad weather limited flying throughout the West Texas area last night to planes equipped for instrument flying, the CAA reported.

Cold Weather Boosts Christmas Shopping

Shopping traffic was heavy in Lubbock stores on Thursday as Christmas sales were stimulated by the coldest day-time temperatures of the season.

But in spite of the cold weather, most stores reported that sales were unusually light on heavy clothing, such as overcoats, mackinaws, double-weight underwear and snow suits for children.

A side check on the sale of heating stoves in hardware and appliance stores also showed a slow market in spite of the cold.

"Our previous spells of cold weather have already produced that type of buying," one store manager said. "Most sales now are in the Christmas gift line."

Most stores contacted in the survey reported above-average store traffic and sales for the middle of the week, although a few managers said business was "just about average for this time of the year."

In general, store managers attributed the steady buying on Thursday to the nearness of Christmas, with the cold temperatures getting second-place credit.

Band Clinic To Open Here Today

More than 1,000 high school students from over the Panhandle-South Plains region began jamming Lubbock hotel and tourist court facilities Thursday night as they poured into the city for the seventh annual Texas Tech-Lubbock Public schools band clinic.

Representing approximately 40 schools from Amarillo to San Antonio, the students will display their talents and observe during the two-day clinic which begins at 9:30 a. m. today.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech will deliver the welcoming address to the 'teenagers at 1 p. m. today in the J. T. Hutchinson Junior High school auditorium. A dance for the students in the Tech band hall tonight and a smoker for the directors in the Hilton hotel will conclude the first day's activities.

Clinic To Be Divided

Open to the public, the clinic will be divided into four classifications according to size of schools represented and simultaneous performances will be given. Band members selected to participate in the clinic will convene at the respective clinic halls at 9 a. m., while sessions will get underway at 9:30 a. m.

No contest is being staged in conjunction with the clinic, which will see outstanding musicians from each of the schools represented participating in one of the divisional bands. Other high school band members attending the meet will observe as the bands play music which will be required in interscholastic competition next year. Estimates of the number attending range as high as 1,500.

Meeting Places Set

The class AA band will be directed by Raymond T. Bynum, director of the McMurry college band, and will hold sessions in the Lubbock Senior High school auditorium. Class A musicians will meet in the J. T. Huchinson auditorium under direction of Robert

City Will Renew Efforts To Get Reduction In Gas Rate

THE question of lower gas rates in Lubbock was revived unexpectedly at the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon after having been dormant for many months.

The commission also accepted bids but deferred the award of contracts for 101 blocks of pavement under a new arrangement which would increase the cost to the property owner about 10 to 15 per cent, but would greatly hasten such improvement.

Members of the commission likewise took action designed to plug suspected "leaks" in some of the competitive bidding for the city's business. Mayor W. H. Rodgers was asked to notify city employes that the disclosure of the amount of any bids before the deadline set for their submission will be cause for immediate discharge.

Final action on 10 ordinances providing for extension of the city limits was deferred because of the absence of Commissioner W. B. Price.

The ordinances were passed on first reading after public hearings last week. Members of the commission said they did not want to act finally on the proposals until all are present—which is expected to be at a special meeting late next week. The proposed "Westchester" annexation ordinance along the Levelland highway west of the city limits still hangs fire, with no action taken for or against.

The gas rate question was revived when C. I. Wall, vice president of the West Texas Gas Co., proposed the renewal for two years of the contract under which the company supplies gas for municipal uses at 11 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Subsequent discussions brought out that the city paid the company $73,798 last year for somewhat less than 700,000,000 cubic feet of gas—with this year's bill

Bandit Suspects' Troubles Mount

Troubles for four Bonham youths charged with blazing a trial of crime in towns over half the state continued to mount Thursday.

Latest development was the possibility of a trial before Christmas in Dickens county for three of the youths on charges of armed robbery.

A grand jury will be impaneled by Judge Alton B. Chapman at 10 a. m. Monday in the 110th district court of Dickens county to investigate informal charges that three self-admitted hijackers robbed A. W. Wallace in Dickens county a brief time after they had robbed him the night of Nov. 26 in his Crosbyton drygoods store.

Jury Asked to Report

Judge Chapman, telephoned by The Morning Avalanche at his Floydada residence, said he had asked Dickens County Sheriff C. C. Kimmel to have the November term grand jury panel of 16 men report.

The jurist said it will be asked to investigate reports that William Robert Leeman, 22, Talmadge Monroe Bonham, 17, and James Thomas Scrivner, 21, robbed Wal-

Eisenhower Urges Americans To Guard Against Dictatorship

(By The Associated Press)

GALVESTON, Dec. 8.—"If all Americans want is security, they can go to prison," General Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia university, said here today.

"They'll have enough to eat, a bed, and a roof over their heads," he told a combined meeting of this resort city's luncheon clubs.

"But if an American wants to preserve his dignity and his equality as a human being, he must not bow his neck to any dictatorial government."

The trim wartime leader of America's armies, on what he calls an "informal" visit to Texas, said Americans "must not be tempted by subsidies or false leaders. The message I want to bring to you today is that we as citizens must attempt to understand the nature of our times."

He urged his listeners to vote in every election "from school board members to presidents."

"America will never be lost if we vote," said he.

He quoted from Patrick Henry's "Give me liberty or give me death," and added that regardless

Burglars Loot Perryton Drug Store Of $150,000 In Jewelry

(By The Associated Press)

PERRYTON, Dec. 8 — Burglars carted away an estimated $150,000 in diamonds and watches here today in the biggest jewel theft in the history of the Texas Panhandle.

They cut a hole in the roof of Burk's drug store on Perryton's Main street and stole the sample cases of two diamond salesmen which had been left in the store overnight. In addition, 31 watches were taken from the store.

Officers in five states searched for the thieves.

Perryton is a town of 5,000, about 120 miles northeast of Amarillo. Sheriff Ray Phagan told this story of the crime:

The burglars used a stepladder to reach the top of an abandoned trailer in the back of the store and then mounted to the roof. They cut a 14-inch hole in the air-conditioning vent and dropped into the drug store kitchen. A linoleum knife was found in the kitchen.

The thieves drilled holes around the combination knob and in the hinges of the drug store safe, but weren't able to open it.

"They jammed it though," said Otis Burk, owner of the store. "I

Proposal To Rearm Germany For Defense Of Europe Stirs Furor

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Recent discussion of the possibility of eventual German rearmament to aid in the defense of western Europe has created a furor in Germany itsef.

The Bonn government has taken cognizance by saying that it would be willing—if pressed by the Allies—to form an army and place it under a general international command such as envisioned under the Atlantic pact.

Papers Oppose Plan

Many German newspapers, on the other hand, are crying that it is merely a plan to use Germans as mercenaries and cannon fodder in case of war with Russia.

Most of the Germans profess, of course, to be opposed to militarism. Dr. Uulich Noack, who hasn't yet been classified as Nazi or Communist but whose views are not far off the Communist line, is leading a movement of some consequence which advocates unification of an unarmed Germany as a neutral buffer between east and west.

But the right to maintain any army is of course a part of natimmal sovereignty and pride if nothing else. Many Germans are still capable—avidly capable—of playing coy on the subject in the hope of reviving armed strength which they will then gamble on finding a way to use for Germany's selfish interests and the advancement of their own power.

The whole discussion is premature, since German rearmament must in any event come second to that of the Marshall plan countries. The decision will not have to come until a start has been made on that, or until the possibility of war becomes far more pressing than it is now.

If war does become an imminent threat, the decision will be made by geographical fact and the Allies will use Germany as best they can.

The crux of the question will be how to use the Germans without giving them sertngth to use themselves and without creating the possibility that German nationalists would gain sufficient control to switch the new strength to the other side if that seemed expedient.

Pierra Rysen, 20-year-old Swiss, has reached Brussels on a round-the-world trip he hopes to make on $1, to win a $12,000 bet.

Difficulties Seen In Proposed TSTA Move

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8 (AP) — Joe P. Moore, school superintendent here, says the proposal to move headquarters of the Texas State Teachers association from Fort Worth to Austin may run into difficulties.

The move was unanimously approved by the TSTA executive committee and won a majority vote of the House of delegates. Supporters said it could be financed by surplus money on hand, by bond issue and by use of a portion of the permanent fund.

But Moore, chairman of the board of trustees of the permanent fund, said last night the constitution forbids use of the permanent fund for such a purpose.

"I don't believe, after a careful study of the constitution of the TSTA, that the executive committee of the association can make any use whatsoever of the permanent fund toward procurement of a headquarters building in Austin or in any other city," he said.

There is about $293,000 in the permanent fund.

Seaman Gets Death For Attack On Girl

HOUSTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—A criminal district court jury deliberated only 47 minutes today in returning a death penalty against a man charged with rape of a 10-year-old La Porte girl.

Allen Conway Williams, 38-year-old merchant seaman, had been charged with attacking the child October 20.

He testified in court that if he attacked the girl he was drunk at the time.

"I'm not guilty," he said softly as Ray Clark, clerk in Judge Frank Williford's court, read the verdict.

Arthur E. Heidingsfelder, an attorney for Williams, said he will seek a new trial and if unsuccessful will appeal.

Year In Small Town For Young Doctors Suggested To AMA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP) —A proposal that doctors be required to devote one year to general practice in a town of 5,000 people or less before becoming a specialist was taken under study by the American Medical association.

Dr. A. C. Scott of Temple, Tex., submitted the idea to the association's House of delegates. It was referred to its council on education and hospitals.

Dr. Scott told a reporter the plan would accomplish these two main objectives:

(1) Distribute young doctors over rural areas where they are badly needed; and (2) Broaden their experience and make them better in any field they choose for specialization.

The Texan said the council may report its findings to the association's annual convention in San Francisco in June.

New Fort Worth Police Chief To Hold Two Jobs Temporarily

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8. (U.P.)—Newly-appointed Police Chief George T. Hawkins started his first day in office by announcing today that he would double "for several days" in his former position as vice squad head.

Hawkins, who was named yesterday to succeed R. E. Dysart following the latter's resignation, said he would assign a new man to head the vice squad in the near future.

Dysart, who resigned as chief after serving since 1945, will remain with the department as a captain—his former capacity. Dysart resigned as chief because he was tired of the job which wasn't "worth the cost," he said.

UN Approves 'Hands Off' Policy Toward China Proposed By U. S.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—An American-sponsored policy for all nations to keep hands off China and let the Chinese people settle their own difficulties was approved today by a big vote in the United Nations assembly.

The assembly also turned the China case over to the year-around Little Assembly for continuing study of Nationalist charges of Russian help to the Chinese Reds.

Partly satisfied, Dr. T. F. Tsiang, chief Nationalist China delegate here, told reporters his government would fight on indefinitely from inside China, and on Formosa and Hainan.

Tsiang To Press Charges

He said he would press his case in the Little Assembly as soon as possible, perhaps early next month and would offer detailed information to back his charges that the Soviet Union is helping the Communists of Mao Tze-Tung.

The hands-off policy, backed only by the moral force of the UN was approved 45 to 5. Only the Russian bloc, which did not take part in the debate and which has boycotted the Little Assembly, voted against the proposal.

The proposal of Ecuador, Cuba and Peru for keeping the case alive in the Little Assembly was approved 32 to 5. Seventeen nations abstained, including Britain.

Britain is reported planning to recognize the Chinese Communist regime shortly, perhaps after the Assembly adjourns.

Key Provisions Listed

The key provisions of the hands-off policy mentioned in the resolution were for all states:

1. To respect the political independence of China and to be guided by the principles of the United Nations in their relations with China.

2. To respect the right of the people of China now and in the future to choose freely their political institutions and to maintain a government independent of foreign control.

3. To respect existing treaties relating to China; and

4. To refrain from (A) seeking to acquire spheres of influence or to create foreign-controlled regimes within the territory of China; (B) seeking to obtain special rights or privileges within the territory of China.

SKITCH HENDERSON

Tech Students To Attend Dance Tonight

"Skitch" Henderson and his orchestra will furnish the music in the Texas Tech Recreation hall for an all-student dance beginning at 8 p.m., today.

Marking the first attempt by the Recreation hall committee to secure name bands for dances on the campus, tonight's admission charge is $1.80 couple or stag. Tickets have been on sale in the dean of men's office this week on a first-come first-served basis, with only the capacity of the hall being sold.

A piano concert will be presented by the bandmaster himself at 5 p.m. today, with tickets costing 60 cents each, including tax.

The British-born 30-year-old band leader billed for tonight's program studied at Lord's School of Music in England with the ambition of becoming a concert pianist. He came to America at the age of 16, however, heard this country's popular music, and set out to make himself a career in that field.

Appearing with such big-name artists as Frank Sinatra, Bing Crosby, Tommy Dorsey and Artie Shaw, Henderson waited until after service in World War II to orgnize his own band. Since doing that he has made personal appearances at such places as the Stevens hotel in Chicago, the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York, Surf club at Virginia Beach, and others.

The orchestra's first recording hit was "Five Minutes More" on a Capitol disc, while Henderson had charge of the musical score in the motion picture "Magic Town," starring Jimmy Stewart.

William Goetz Seeks Actress For Title Role In 'Louisa,' New Hollywood Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Motion Picture Editor

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8—When William Goetz isn't listening to the art experts on the authenticity of his Van Gogh printing, he is looking for "Louisa." Now don't get me wrong — "Louisa" is a movie character, a youngish grandmother whom you will see with a galaxy of interesting men.

First and foremost, by right of his youth, is Ronald Reagan, who has been borrowed from Warners for "Louisa." Then there is Charles Coburn and Edmund Gwenn in top character roles.

Al Hall, who has been in New York with his beautiful wife, Marge, and who now only makes the movies he wants, will direct "Louisa," which goes before the cameras next month.

Long Stay Possible

All signs point to Errol Flynn spending more and more time in Europe.

Just before he took off for India and "Kim" he signed a joint contract with William Marshall, which calls for them to make "The Bargain" in Paris next year.

Flynn has already done a writing job, but a professional scriptter will be engaged for a story polish.

Jack Warner has first dibs on the dashing Flynn, and he can set no date for the Marshall venture until he knows when Jack wants him for his next Warner drama.

Errol has been in Europe now for almost a year, and he makes no secret in saying he loves Paris and the bright spots on the continent, and, of course, that's where the Princess Ghika wants to be

Willy Wyler is sending his brother, Robert, to London to look at some of the new plays. Bob couldn't be happier because his wife, Cathy O'Donnell, is in London with the "Miniver" company.

Robert Stack is escorting Pat Neal to the "Hasty Heart" opening on Dec. 14. Shelley Winters' date for that night is Farley Granger, who once had eyes only for the Neal. gal.

Gogi and Janet Thomas fly to Hollywood immediately after their marriage ceremony Thursday. Friday night Don Loper and Colonel Northrup are hosting a cocktail party in honor of the newlyweds.

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE
PAGE FOUR. LUBBOCK, TEX. FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1949

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

ONE of the most beautiful Christmas messages we have read this season is from the pen of Mrs Dora Davis of Wichita Falls, president of the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs. It is printed in the current issue of the organization's magazine.

Mrs. Davis selected as her theme, "Let's Have No Blackout of Inner Life." It follows.

AT THIS time Christmas comes again. It comes to a world all too uneasy in the absence of war, but to a world not at peace.

There are millions living where justice and good-will are absent and they wonder today if there can possibly be room for joy in the hearts of men. Until there is room, there can never be peace.

This world of love, joy and peace, cannot be a reality just merely by wishing for it, or by talking for it. We must change our ways of living, change our ways of working, change our ways of owning, so that there is more equality and more sharing, so that people do not have to fight one another for bread and jobs in a world where science and modern machinery make it possible for everyone to have a good life.

MUST NOT FEAR

WE MUST not be afraid of one another, of differences in color and nationality and creed. We must prize the differences between us which enrich life.

But the differences are far less important than all the things that we have in common as human beings.

This is kind of a mid-winter in the spiritual life of people—we can look forward and put forth the best that is in us, to the shaping of a new world, a revolution in the hearts and human relations of men.

FAITH AND COURAGE

WE CANNOT afford to let this Holy Hour pass without joining our voices to those of others in a petition that "wars between mankind shall be no more. This is the season when we must renew our faith and courage and send out the best in us, to revive a feeling of security in this quicksand world, for more of the Brotherhood of man—love for our neighbor, peace and good-will on earth, so that they may not seem so far away from today's world. This is the time to hold out a helping hand to those less fortunate than we.

As we celebrate Christmas, let us help to make merry the spiritual life of people. Let us work to the end that there will be no blackout in the inner life. Let us touch hands with those of other nations, and somehow through it let us smile and in one language or another, be sure to say there CAN and WILL be a world with "Peace on Earth, good-will toward men."

TREE ORIGIN

SOMEONE called to ask us to trace the origin of the Christmas tree.

Many tales are told and one concerns the friendly German Saint Boniface. It is said that when he left Rome to convert the semi-civilized tribes of Teutons in the eighth century, he was horrified by their custom of venerating the pagan god, Thor, whose symbol was the thunder oak under which human sacrifices were made.

Turning to the tribe, to which he had been preaching, Boniface pointed to a young fir tree standing straight and green in the wild forest. "Here," he said, "is the living tree, with no blood upon it. This tree shall be the symbol of the new faith. See how it points to the sky. Let's call it the Tree of the Christ Child.

"Take is up and carry it to the chieftain's hall, for no longer shall you return to the forests to conduct your secret rites of shame.

Town Talk

MESDAMES W. C. WOOD, R. L. Sigler and R. P. Coats were hostesses at a luncheon given Thursday afternoon at the Lubbock Country club. One hundred guests were on the list.

A Christmas motif was used in decorations. Centering the table was a large rose colored candle surrounded by rose Christmas balls entwined with ivy. Glistening snow and pine greenery complemented the arrangement. Other table decorations were of candy canes and Santa Claus boots filled with brightly-colored balls and greenery.

Places were marked with Christmas corsages made of artificial fruits, berries, miniature pine cones and clusters of Yuletide bells.

Mrs. M. Norvel Young spoke on the highlights of her trip to Europe and Asia. She was presented with a bottle of cologne by the three hostesses. Also speaking was Mrs. Charlotte Carter.

Out-of-town guests were Mesdames M. S. Boss of Seminole, R. B. Cowden, Foy Proctor, R. T. Germon, John Dublin and Wade Heath, all of Midland.

Entertaining with a luncheon this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Hilton hotel will be Mesdames Marshall Pennington and Frank Junell. Places will be laid for 22 guests.

Decorations will carry out a red and silver Christmas theme. Centering the table will be small silver trees from Juarez, Mexico, in which will burn miniature red candles. One of the trees will be decorated with colored Christmas balls. From each side of the centerpiece will be red candles arranged in silver containers.

Regular family night activities will be observed tonight at the Lubbock Country club.

Only members of the club may attend.

Mesdames W. T. Bradbury, P. T. Glazner and William G. Newton will be co-hostesses at an annual Christmas luncheon today at 1 o'clock for members of the Garden Study club.

A centerpiece of six red candles trimmed with pine, holly and multi-colored balls will predominate. Other table decorations will consist of two china Santa Claus boots filled with holly and holiday balls. Hanging from the mantel will be four red velveteen Christmas stockings.

Place cards of cookies shaped like a Santa Claus boot will be used, with the names of the guests written in icing.

Mrs. O. L. Byrd is to review the book, "Mary," by Sholem Asch.

Silver Key, men's social organization of Texas Tech, will entertain with its annual Christmas dance tonight from 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock in the ballrooms of the Hotel Lubbock.

Decorations will be holiday theme, with a large decorated tree centering the dance floor. Adorning the ceiling will be brightly-colored streamers of metal foil paper. On one wall will hang the Silver Key emblem bearing the letters, "SK," on which will reflect revolving lights in various colors.

The Techsans orchestra will provide music for dancing.

Parliamentary Law Taught For Nurses

A parliamentary law course sponsored by the Lubbock Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, with Mrs. H. F. Godeke as teacher, has 49 persons enrolled. The class met Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights at the hospital.

Classes will be offered Dec. 13, 14 and 15 from 7 until 9 o'clock.

POSTPONE PROGRAM

The open program planned by Music Appreciation club for Saturday at Adair recital studio has been postponed indefinitely, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Robert Adair, club president, Wednesday.

You shall keep the feast at home, mid family, love and laughter. The thunder oak has fallen and someday there shall be no home in the whole world where children are not gathered around the green fir tree to rejoice at the birth of Christ."

The custom of decorating the Christmas tree has been traced from Rome to Germany, and from there to England and the United States.

Association Plans Program For Tonight At New Museum

Tonight at 7 o'clock the annual meeting of the West Texas Museum association will be held in the auditorium of the new museum building on the circle at Texas Tech college.

In charge of the informal reception committee will be Mesdames Roscoe Wilson, third vice president of the association, and Clifford B. Jones. Other members of the committee will be Retha Martin, president of the association; Dr. Clifford B. Jones, first vice president; J. D. Hassell, jr., second vice president; Chas. A. Guy, fourth vice president; Jess C. Levens, fifth vice president; Dean James G. Allen, secretary; Mrs. C. D. Eaves, treasurer and Dr W. C. Holden, director. Wives of the officers will also serve as receptionists.

Preceding the program, a ranch-style meal will be served informally from a U-shaped table, covered with red checked table cloths. Table decorations will be authentic articles of ranch life from the museum collection of branding irons, barbed wire, lanterns, ropes, and miniature chuck-wagons.

Dean Allen will give a summary of the museum's past, honoring those who have made the present building possible. The museum program, activities and policy for the future are to be given by Dr. Holden. Committees that will actively assist in carrying out this program will be appointed.

Special guests of the Museum association will be members of the Texas Tech Board of Directors and their wives, Messrs. and Mesdames Charles Thompson of Colorado City, Mark McGee of Fort Worth, Chanslor E. TO MARRY — Mrs. Bertha Hyman of 2610 Twenty-third is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her sister, Linnie Marie Maner, pictured above, to Lewis Melvin Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Carson of Hurlwood. The wedding ceremony will be performed Sunday, December 18, at 8:30 a.m. in the First Baptist church chapel.

Since the building is not entirely complete, Dr. Holden emphasizes that this is not an official opening of the museum. Tentative plans for a grand opening, featuring special exhibits and including all the Southwest, will probably be next fall. The museum will be open to the public and in active use by Jan. 15.

CHRISTMAS HINT FROM TEXAS WOMEN!

Skip Tie That Blinds!

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Since nothing ever will dissuade fond women from selecting Christmas neckties for their menfolk, it's about time to put out some guideposts for the frenzied shoppers.

So says Countess Mara, who designs some of the world's most expensive ties for some of the world's most prominent tycoons.

If you want your man to wear the tie around his neck instead of in his closet, warns the chic Countess, you must put some real thought into his tastes and personality. The usual grab-bag is predestined for disaster.

Women's mistakes in tie-buying, she points out, have provided grist for a booming business in tie-swapping, as long-suffering males try yearly to dispose of the little horrors wished on them by well-meaning relatives and girlfriends. But all this annual tie hysteria is unnecessary if the ladies will learn to look before they leap at the tie counter.

If you're serious about becoming a tie connoisseur, says this expert, you won't use your man's complexion or hair as a color guide. The fact that he has big blue eyes may not mean that he prefers blue ties of the same shade; in fact he probably detests them.

The color cue should come from his wardrobe, says the Countess. If he's a navy-blue-suit man, stay away from green and brown ties. If he wears brown a lot, then all those woodsy tones are his dish. If he's the gray flannel type, you can practically shoot the spectrum.

But color isn't the only consideration. Come Noel, good will toward men can be demonstrated further if female tie buyers will stop for a moment to consider their men's temperament, career and hobbies. As the Countess points out:

"A man's cravat can be a conversation piece—the one way in which he can express his personality."

If he likes to fish, hunt, ski or golf, you'll strike a responsive note by selecting a hobby cravat.

If his interests run to spectator sports, you're safe in selecting a tie designed around the theme of baseball, football or racing.

If he has an unsatisfied yen for travel, he'll go all out for a cravat suggesting the magic of far-away places.

If he's the tired-businessman type who likes to relax with two on the aisle at the season's musical comedy hit, he'll go for a tie full of stylized chorus girls.

All these motifs, however, must be handled with restraint, to form a pleasing and not-too-garish design in a color that will blend with his wardrobe.

QUEEN OF TIES — Countess Mara and cravat crown.

FIRESIDE COMPANION — Gay and colorful hostess coat in plaid taffeta, with zippered front closing and stand-up portrait collar.

Two Men Killed In Plane Crash

HENRIETTA, Dec. 8 (AP) — A light plane crashed in a rainstorm on the Alton C. Moore ranch seven miles southeast of here today. Both men were killed.

The bodies of James Arthur Batty, 36, the pilot, and David H. Wood, were found several yards from the wreckage, which did not burn. Both men were from Dallas.

Mrs. Moore said she and her husband heard what sounded like an explosion and looked up in time to see pieces of the wings and other debris in the air.

Moore went to the spot and found the wreckage and the bodies. The crash scene was about a half mile off Highway 287.

Sheriff Joe Peden said the men were identified by personal papers. The plane, a Beechcraft Bonanza, belonged to Mustang Aviation, Inc., of Dallas, which sent men to the scene to investigate.

A spokesman for Mustang aviation said Batty had been employed by the firm at times. The two men left Mustang field at 11 a.m. for Plainview where Batty was to deliver the plane. They were to stop first at Memphis, Hall county, Tex.

A Hawkins ambulance took the bodies to a Hawkins funeral home.

Men's Jobs Given

Batty was a business manager of the Beverly Hills sanitarium in Dallas. Wood was a boiler salesman.

Batty was a native of Dallas. He played on the Southern Methodist university football squad which went to the Rose Bowl in 1936. He received a degree in chemical engineering from the University of Texas in 1940. He was an Air Corps veteran of two years in the China-India-Burma theater. His Dallas residence was 6814 Kenwood.

Survivors included his wife; a son, James Martin Batty, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Batty of Dallas. Wood's residence was 5544 Goodwin, Dallas. He was survived by his wife.

Labor Party In Britain Drops Sharply Since Pound Devalued

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J., Dec. 8—Devaluation seems to be having serious political consequences for the British Labor government.

The Labor Party's popularity among British voters has slumped sharply. Whereas the Conservative and Labor parties had been running virtually neck and neck throughout the summer and early fall, the Conservative party began forging ahead soon after devaluation of the pound. Today it holds a substantial lead.

Whether it will still run ahead when the general election is held, probably in February or March, remains to be seen.

Throughout England voters were asked by the British Institute of Public Opinion:

"If there were a general election tomorrow, how would you vote?"

Here is the trend since August:

	Aug.	Sept.	Nov.
Conservative	37%	39%	41%
Labor	37	36	32
Liberal	10	9	11
Others	2	2	1
Undecided	14	14	15

On the basis of the total expressing a preference for a party, that is, eliminating the undecided, the percentages are:

Conservative	48%
Labor	38
Liberal	13
Other	1

The undecided group will, of course, play an important part in determining the outcome of the election when it is held. A last minute shift of the undecided toward the Labor government could assure its re-election, just as a shift of the undecided voters toward President Truman in the American presidential election was a vital factor in his victory.

The British Institute, which forecast the 1945 British election with an error averaging only one percentage point, is making continuous studies of political sentiment in preparation for the election campaign.

The election is of special interest to Americans because when it starts it will indicate whether socialized Britain wants to continue with its brand of the Welfare State.

However beneficial devaluation may have been to Britain economically, the move has not been popular with the British public.

Twice as many think that its effects are bad as think that they are good. An overwhelming majority believe that prices are likely to go up.

Here are the results of a British Institute survey on devaluation, the first to indicate how the British people view the situation.

"Have you heard or read about devaluation of the pound?"

Yes	96%
No	4

"Do you think that, on the whole, its effects are likely to be good, or bad?"

Good	21%
Bad	44
No effect	4
Don't know	27
	96%

"Do you think that prices are likely to be affected?"

Go up	77%
Go down	2
No effect	5
Don't Know	12
	96%

Hopeful Note For Labor

One hopeful aspect in the political situation from the Labor point of view is that most Britishers seem satisfied with the way the government has handled the food situation.

Although food is still painfully short, the average Briton is not grumbling so much about the food crisis as he did in earlier years.

"Do you think the Government has handled the food situation well or badly?"

Very well	18%
Moderately well	41
Badly	38
No opinion	3

On the other hand, British voters are dissatisfied with the progress made in housing, as the following results show:

"Are you satisfied or dissatisfied with the Government's progress in housing?"

Satisfied	25%
Dissatisfied	64
Don't know	11

The question facing the Attlee government is clearly whether it can get the British people into a happier frame of mind about housing, devaluation and other problems by the time the election is held. If it can, it may be able to squeak through for another term of office.

Corsicana Man Found Dead In Hearne Tourist Court Cabin

HEARNE, Dec. 8 (AP)—A Corsicana traveling salesman was found dead today, lying fully clothed across the bed in a Hearne tourist court cabin.

Littlefield And Olton Face Playoff Opponents Today

Wildcats Picked By Seven-Points

ODESSA, Dec. 8. (Special)—A thundering gridiron explosion is expected here Friday afternoon when the Littlefield Wildcats and Ballinger Bearcats collide in a state Class A quarterfinal game.

Kickoff time for this clash between the sole survivors of the Northwest Texas playoff will be 2 p. m. Sponsoring officials here anticipate a crowd of at least 5,000 fans.

Bone-Crusher Forecast

Littlefield and Ballinger boast two of the state's outstanding ground attacks, so a real "bone-crusher" is forecast.

Chiefly because of a 19-pound-per-man advantage in the line, the Wildcats are rated a seven-point favorite over the District 7-A titlists. However, Ballinger was a two-touchdown underdog against Wink last week, and came through with a smashing 33-7 triumph. The game wasn't as one-sided as the score indicated, but the alert Bearcats seized upon numerous scoring opportunities to overcome a 7-6 halftime deficit.

Wildcats Rugged

Littlefield, after beating down Lefors by 26-6 in last week's second round of the state playoff, hasn't been overly impressive in workouts this week. But the rugged Wildcats already have proved their class by cruising to 11 straight wins since losing to Dalhart at the start of the season.

Pacing Littlefield's smashing T attack will be such stalwarts as "Triphammer Tom" Bailes, Gene Renfro, Frank Gage and speedy Charles Askew. Quarterback Don Crossley will direct the team's offensive.

Hallmark Sparks Ballinger

Ballinger will counter with a backfield that features Dan Hallmark, a fleet 175-pounder who is acclaimed as one of the state's finest ball-carriers. The well-balanced Bearcat secondary also includes Jimmie Endacott, another dangerous broken field runner. Quarterback Jimmie Davenport does the team's passing, but has been handicapped in earlier games by ineffective receivers.

Ballinger is undefeated in 12 games, but was held to a 13-13 tie by Coleman, a District 7-A rival.

Similarly, Littlefield was limited to a 7-7 scoring tie by Sudan in District 4-A, but won the game on penetrations.

Crucial Schoolboy Tussles Scheduled

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

One game Friday night and four Saturday afternoon will produce one state champion and four semi-finalists in Texas schoolboy football.

The major contest will be Saturday afternoon at Dallas when Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio tries to uphold the faith of the sports writers by licking Sunset of Dallas for the state City Conference title.

Jefferson has been the favorite since September to sweep up the championship. Those who put cash on the line are giving six points that Jefferson beats Sunset.

Friday night, Port Arthur entertains Marshall in the first quarter-finals game of Class AA. Port Arthur is a 17-point pick to blast the Mavericks and sweep into the semi-finals with ease.

Saturday afternoon Wichita Falls entertains Austin of El Paso. Wichita is accorded a 14-point bulge.

Highland Park of Dallas plays Abilene at Dallas—in crosstown competition with the state title City Conference game. Abilene is picked by five and one-half points by those who wager.

In the southern bracket of Class AA Austin goes to Alice to determine the Marshall-Port Arthur winner's opponent in the semi-finals. Austin is the heaviest favorite in the list, being given a 26-point margin over Alice.

A total of 57,500 fans is due for the five games with the biggest turn-out expected at Port Arthur where 15,000 are due to jam the stands. Wichita Falls looks for 14,000, Alice 8,000 and the two Dallas games are expected to draw 10,000 for Sunset-Jefferson and 10,500 for Highland Park-Abilene.

In last week's opening round of the state play-offs we hit eight out of ten, missing only the Austin (El Paso) upset of Lubbock and Austin's victory over Corsicana. Not too good but not bad. Here's how they look this week.

Friday night—Marshall at Port Arthur; we'll take Port Arthur by two touchdowns.

Saturday afternoon—Sunset vs. Thomas Jefferson at Dallas: Thomas Jefferson has too much speed and finesse for Sunset, Jefferson by two touchdowns; Austin (El Paso) at Wichita Falls: after last week we'll believe anything can happen (Austin 37, Lubbock 12) but we don't think the El Pasoans have two straight games like that in their system— Wichita Falls by three touchdowns; Abilene vs. Highland Park at Dallas: the wagering boys are taking Abilene, we think they'll lose their shirts on that—Highland Park by a touchdown; Austin at Alice: Austin ought to win this one by a healthy margin, say 20 points.

Idalou Girls Cop Win Over Post

Approximately 700 persons watched Thursday night as the eight-team statewide basketball tournament for girls got underway at the Roosevelt gym. The tourney continues through Saturday night.

Opening action were Idalou and Post, with Idalou taking a convincing, 26-18 victory over the Antelopes. Butler paced the winners with 11 points, and Stewart was high for Post with eight markers.

Bynum marked itself as one of the favorites by trouncing Meadow by a 69-34 count, with Dorothy Howard hitting the basket almost at will to roll up 32 points. Belew had 14 for the Broncos.

The host school, Roosevelt, swept to an easy, 42-14 win over Abernathy after a 25-6 halftime margin. Margaret Rucker's 18 tallies were high for the winners, and Abernathy was led by Vineyard.

Completing Thursday's schedule, East Chambers toppled Aledo into the consolation bracket with a 34-16 triumph. Ryan's 18 points led East Chambers, and Head and Kirk scored five each for Aledo's sextet.

In Friday's consolation bracket Post meets Meadow at 6 p.m. and Abernathy plays Aledo at 9 p.m. Idalou opens play in the winning bracket against Bynum at 7 p.m., and Roosevelt takes on East Chambers at 8 p.m.

Admission is set at 50 and 25 cents.

'Roos, Mustangs In Title Tussle

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 8 (Special)—The old test, "speed vs. might," is due another performance here Friday afternoon when Olton's tricky Mustangs meet the powerful Kress Kangaroos for the Region One Class B football championship.

A crowd of 3,000 spectators is expected for the 2:30 p.m. kickoff at Plainview High stadium.

Team Styles Differ

The tussle is made-to-order for fans who like to study, and compare, football styles.

Coach T. M. Cox of Olton will field a light, speedy aggregation that is noted for its hustle and dangerous passing attack

Kress, with a 33-pound-per-man weight edge in the line, is expected to rely chiefly on a power-driving attack that carried the Kangaroos to the District 2-B title and through the bi-district playoff with highly regarded White Deer.

Olton Has More Strength

Olton, titlist in District 3-B and winner over Meadow in the bi-district round, generally is conceded to have greater reserve than the heavier Kangaroos, however. The Mustangs have galloped to 10 successive victories since bowing to Class A Andrews at the beginning of the season.

Kress dropped a district game early in the campaign, but finished strong by upsetting Turkey, the pre-season 2-B favorite. The triumph gave the kangaroos the district pennant.

Dorrough Leads Kress

Olton's starting backfield will include Jimmy Millsap, Huck Nichols, Ray Durham and Gerald Allcorn, all of whom share passing duties for the Mustangs.

Halfback Buster Dorrough is expected to be Kress' top offensive threat, although he suffered a slight injury last week against White Deer. Halfback Bennie George is rated as the Kangaroos' No. 2 ball carrier.

Boys Town Football Fan Will Get Free Trip To Cotton Bowl

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Dec. 8. (AP)—Herbert Sutton not only is getting back his 38 candy bars—he's getting a free trip to the Cotton Bowl.

The 15-year-old Roanoke Rapids, N. C. boy, who is at Boys Town, Nebr., lost the candy betting that his favorite football team, the University of North Carolina, would beat Notre Dame this season.

Herbert's troubles came to light when he wrote the university the other day asking for pictures of tailback Charlie Justice and End Art Weiner. He told of his bet.

Students sent him 38 candy bars yesterday. The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity here then voted to finance a trip for him to Dallas to see North Carolina play Rice on Jan. 2. The invitation depends on the approval of Father Weggner, director of the famed Boys Town, founded by the late Father Flanagan.

HART BEATS McADOO

In a Major league basketball tilt, Hart Furniture downed McAdoo Motors, 55-41, Thursday night. Scoring honors were divided between Meeks of McAdoo and Troy Ennis of Hart Furniture, each with 15 points.

Hamilton Leads In Miami Open

MIAMI, Dec. 8. (INS) — Bob Hamilton, of Landover, Md., took the lead at the end of the first round of the $10,000 Miami Open golf tournament today with a six-under-par that was a stroke better than his nearest competitors.

Hamilton toured the outgoing nine in 31 and came back in with 33, finishing the 18 holes just as darkness enveloped the Miami Springs Country Club course.

Right behind Hamilton in a deadlock for second place were Fred Haas, jr., of New Orleans, and Gene Dahlbender, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., who both turned in 65's.

Haas posted a 30 on the out nine and got a par 35 on the return route. Dahlbender shot a 32-33 to make up his 65.

Three relative unknowns among the golf pros were tied for third place with 66's. They were Tommy Bolt, of Houston, Tex.; Wally Ulrich, of Minneapolis; and Ernie Ball, of Oak Park, Ill.

The fourth place among the early leaders in the four-day tournament was also shared by three professionals — Pete Cooper, of Ponte Vedra, Fla.; W. M. Rittenhouse, of Evansville, Ind.; and Doug Ford, of Harrison, N. Y. They all scored 67's.

Eleven golfers were deadlocked in fifth position at the end of the initial round with 68's.

Among them were Sam Snead, the leading money-winner this year; Chick Harbert, low-scorer among the professionals in last year's open; and Herman Keiser, a perennial threat in pro golf circles.

Defending champion Frank Stranahan, the wealthy amateur from Toledo, equalled par with a 70 today.

Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist who has been doing big things in golf all year, fell one over par with a 71.

Kansas State Upsets Long Island, 58-51

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (INS)—Ernie Barrett's prolific second-half set shooting led Kansas State to a 58 to 51 upset victory tonight over Long Island university at Madison Square Garden.

A crowd of 16,531 fans saw CCNY defeat Southern Methodist, 67 to 53, in the second half of a college basketball doubleheader.

Barrett's performance was the outstanding one of the evening. He hit with five straight sets in the second half and personally escorted his Wildcat mates into the lead.

Barrett scored a total of 15 points. Leroy Smith of LIU, tallied 21.

It was the first loss in eight outings for the Blackbirds.

Local Fighters Dominate TAAF

Williams Scores Only Knockout

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

TAAF boxing tournament bouts rocked into the final rounds tonight with a good opening card of two novice bouts, two exhibitions and 11 open class fights at Sled Allen's arena, with Lubbock fighters holding an edge over the rest of the field.

Although there are no teams entered, fighters from Odessa, Plainview and Reese Air Force base could win only two of 10 matches against local fighters.

Most impressive performance of the night was turned in by Light Heavyweight Dan Williams, who pounded out a second round knockout over Phil Withrow of Odessa. But the best scrap of the night was the first one in which Pat McCarty of Lubbock decisioned Steve Ward of Odessa in a fine lightweight encounter.

Three TKO's Chalked Up

Aside from Williams' knockout of Withrow, there were no other kayoes, although three technical knockouts were chalked up. Referee Bo Sexton stopped the middleweight fight between Homer Rudd and Jack Rodrique when it became obvious that Lubbock's Rudd could go on no longer. The TKO came at 1:17 of the third round.

Bantamweight Ray Thornton scored a TKO over Eldon McNutt of Plainview at 1:01 of the second round, after McNutt had been saved by the bell at the end of the first round. And Welterweight John Pritchard hung up a TKO over game Frank Campbell of RAFB at 0:29 of the second round. It was Campbell's first fight and he was game, but no match for the more experienced Pritchard.

Williams Has Easy Go

The McCarty-Ward fight was a standout. McCarty went down from a stinging right in the first round, taking a nine count, but bounced back to carry the fight. McCarty won the second round when Ward tired. There was action all the way, with both boys trading leather generously. The third round was a duplicate of the other two, with McCarty landing the more telling blows.

Williams, opening like a windmill, had little trouble with Withrow. He landed some telling blows below the heart that weakened the Odessa fighter and a straight left jab to Withrow's face had him loop-legged. Williams finally closed in for the kill early in the second round, pumping lefts and rights to the body and head.

Finals Tonight

It was a good fight card, all told, and the finals tonight should be much better. There will be nine bouts, with two fighters appearing twice in the middleweight and featherweight divisions.

The card brings together Bill Gillespie of Plainview and McCarty for the lightweight title; Thornton and Ken Nunnely of Odessa for the bantamweight title; Pritchard and Roy Forbes of Lubbock for the welterweight title; Withrow and Cotton Martin of Odessa in the heavyweight match; and Williams and Harry Meredith of Odessa for the Light heavyweight crown.

Chester Jackson Paces Techsans

Baylor Outclasses Red Raiders, 58-37

WACO, Dec. 8 (AP)—Baylor turned on the steam in the second half tonight to outclass Texas Tech, 58-37, for its second straight basketball victory.

Don Heathington paced the Bruins with 16 points, and Chester Jackson led Texas Tech with 13.

The spunky Red Raiders quintet fought the Bears almost on even terms the first half, but wilted under a second half field goal barrage by the Bruins to go down before 3,000 fans.

Most of Jackson's 13-point total came on long shots near midcourt. Jim Eddins and Charlie Pinnel scored six and seven points respectively for Tech.

The Bears and the Raiders matched goal for goal the first period, with the score 22-16 at the midway point. However, the second half the Bruins woke up and started hitting, sinking 75 per cent of their field goal attempts.

Leading the last half parade of points for the Bears was Gerald Cobb, junior letterman, who netted 11 points in the final frame. With five minutes to go, Coach Bill Henderson of Baylor sent in sophomore reserves to finish the game.

Heathington was playing his first game of the year for the Bruins, having missed Monday's opener because of influenza.

Ropes Cagers Gain 42 To 30 Victory Over Sundown Quint

ROPES, Dec. 8 (Special) — Three basketball games were played here tonight with Sundown, and Ropes quintets winning two.

In the top game, Ropes boys took a 42-30 victory at the expense of Sundown, with Don Reynolds of Ropes and Bobby Clark of Sundown each getting 12 points. Ropes led at the half, 21-10.

The girls won, 26-19, with Dale Tibbets getting nine for Ropes and Burns scoring six for Sundown.

In a "B" team game, the Sundown boys won, 29-15.

Reese Air Force Base, Hawkins Service Gain City Loop Wins

Reese Air Force Base and Hawkins Service Station racked up impressive City Recreation Department basketball games on local courts Thursday night.

In the first game, the Airmen downed the Henely quintet, 40 to 29. Curtis Heath led the Air Base with 10 points and Buster Wylie was high point man for Henely's with 12 points.

National Guard bowed to Hawkins Service's fast-shooting team, 22 to 56. Saw Davis and Larry Sharpe led the winners with 19 and 17 points respectively. Norman Stear and Alvin Fatee led the Guardsmen with eight points each.

Wellman Wildcats Rack Up 41-31 Cage Win Over Brownfield Cubs

WELLMAN, Dec. 8 (Special)—Wellman's Wildcats outscrapped Brownfield's Cubs here tonight in a "B" team basketball battle, ending with a 41-31 victory.

For the winners C. S. Sloan scored 20 points, being outshone by the Cubs' Odell, who scored 21 markers.

Lubbock To Meet Big Spring Five

The stiffest test of the new basketball season faces the Lubbock Westerner basketball squad at 8 o'clock tonight when Big Spring invades Chapman fieldhouse.

Coach David Cook is sending the Westerners on the court for their fifth game. Thus far the local quintet has scored double victories over Abernathy and Plainview, former 1-AA rivals, and has not been defeated.

Cowhands To Play

In the opener at 6:30 p.m. the Lubbock Cowhands engage Big Spring's "B" team. Since organized with Dee Alexander as coach, the Cowhands have taken two straight, both at the expense of Plainview.

Some reorganization has been seen on the Westerner squad the past few days. Since the completion of football season several boys have been sent back to the Cowhands, and their places have been taken by former gridders. One of the last to report is Mac Taylor, and he joins Bobby Day, Wayne Noland, Garnet Reeves, Morris Turner and Dean White.

Footwork Stressed

Thursday at practice Coach Cook sent the team through drills on fundamentals and then into a 15-minute scrimmage. Following the scrimmage there was hard work on footwork and passing drills as the boys weaved up and down the court, topped off with laps around the court. All of which added up to a very tiring workout.

Coach Cook will probably send his regular starters into the game tonight, with Jimmy Sexton and Tom Cheatham at forwards, Richard Allen and Carl Ince at guards and Jim Wilson at center.

Alexander is faced with a big problem, that of trying to determine the better boys for his Cowhand team. Thursday there were 34 boys working out, and of this number approximately 12-14 will be kept on the Cowhands, with some finding berths on the Pioneer squad.

Probable starters for the Cowhands in the opener will be Sammy Adams and Bill Davis, forwards, Charles Brewer and Bobby Sexton, guards and Tommy Yelvington, center.

Admission to all Westerner nonconference game will be 60 cents for adults and 30 cents for students and children.

J. T. HUTCHINSON WINS

J. T. Hutchinson Junior High defeated Boys club Hornets, 30-19, Thursday at the Hutchinson gym, with Hill scoring 17 points. Don Washington paced the losers with 12 points.

Villemain Faces Lamotta Tonight

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (INS)—Middleweight champion Jake Lamotta emerges from mothballs tomorrow night to confront Robert Villemain of France in a non-title encore to their meeting nine months ago.

The ten-round business at the Garden tomorrow harks back to last March, when Lamotta was awarded a 12-round split decision over Villemain. So amazed was the New York Boxing Commission that the referee and judge who voted for Jake were suspended forthwith.

It seemed that Villemain won the fight, but that has had no lasting effect on the current betting, which makes the guy from the Bronx a 13-to-5 selection. The fight contract is pegged at 165 pounds with a 161 bottom.

The International Boxing Club says it expects around 12,000 people and a gross gate of $40,000 for the occasion.

This will be Lamotta's first fight since he won the middleweight crown from the late Marcel Cerdan in a furious match that went nine rounds at Detroit last June.

Jake and Marcel were to meet in a return bout late last September, but Lamotta asked out, claiming a shoulder injury which somehow did not keep him from playing golf the next day, and the date was postponed until the first week of this month.

Cerdan, returning to the United States to resume training for the December match, died in the crash of an Air France plane in the Azores, and the IBC dug up Villemain as a substitute, non-title foe for Lamotta.

New Baseball League May Be Formed Soon

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8. (AP)—Prospect for formation of a new baseball league in Texas and Louisiana "looks favorable," a spokesman for the minor league association said today.

The comment was made by Robert Finch, public relations director of the minor league which is holding its annual convention here.

Finch said that Howard Green, former president of the Class D Longhorn League in Texas, outlined the proposed league's situation to officials of the National Association.

The public relations director said it will be up to George Trautman, National Association president, to decide if the new loop will be admitted to orgnized baseball. Trautman is in a Columbus, O., hospital and had to miss the convention.

Strife In Baylor's Athletics Denied

WACO, Dec. 8. (AP)—Dr W. R. White, president of Baylor university, today said the athletic council would meet tomorrow to "more clearly define the duties" of football Coach Bob Woodruff and Athletic Director Ralph Wolf.

White at a press conference denied there had been a break between Woodruff and Wolf.

Rumors have been circulating in Waco of friction between the two men. Last night anonymous mimeographed handbills were distributed in Waco and on the Baylor campus, alleging such friction.

White said he believed the proposed action by the council should have been done a year ago. "In fact it should have been done three years ago, but we have been so busy that we just let it rock along."

He said the differences between the two men centered on two points.

1. "The varying concepts that prevail east of the Mississippi and west of the Mississippi on the functions of an athletic director.

2. "The lack of a clear cut definition at Baylor of the duties of the two men."

"All this would have been settled amicably and quietly if outsiders had not stepped into the picture," White said.

Minor Loops Vote Against Repeal Of Controversial 'Bonus' Rule

Major Deals Fail To Materialize

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8. (INS)—Baseball's controversial bonus rule was kept in force today as the minor leagues at their winter meetings in Baltimore voted down a repeal amendment.

The rule prevents players who receive special compensation for signing from being farmed out to lower classification leagues without being subject to waivers and the draft.

Major league interest in the Baltimore proposal ran so high that Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, took the convention floor to urge defeat of the repeal amendment.

With a three-fourths majority needed to pass an amendment to the major-minor agreement, the vote was 32 leagues favoring the amendment, 26 opposing it and one abstaining.

May Sign Graduates

In another important legislative move, the minors voted to make signing of high school players permissable after the youth's class graduates. Previously, a player could not be signed so long as he remained in school.

The Pacific Coast League's annual plea for exemption from the player draft was rejected, 55 to 4. An amendment adjusting broadcasting and television regulations to those of the big leagues drew considerable discussion but was passed, 51 to 8.

Small Leagues Vote No

The majors previously adopted similar legislation to conform with federal monopoly laws.

It was the lower classification leagues that defeated the bonus repealer, apparently feeling they could not compete for young players if the majors and higher minors could pay bonuses and then farm out the players.

The majors themselves were evenly divided on the proposal to eliminate the rule. Most clubs are dissatisfied with the present rule, but they have conflicting ideas on what changes are necessary.

The minors' decision was vital because it virtually precluded any chance of the legislation being brought up at the majors' own meeting next week. Even if majors agreed to a change, the proposal would have to be approved by the minors.

Texas Loop Votes Yes

With Giles leading bonus supporters as representative of the Reds' minor league farm system, the repealer was actively backed by the Philadelphia Phillies' farm director, Cy Morgan.

The three largest minors, the Class AAA International, Pacific Coast and American Association, voted solidly in favor of wiping out bonus provisions. The Class AA Southern Association went along with the Triple-A's, but the Class AA Texas league voted to retain the rule.

The minors cleaned up 45 proposed amendments to the major-minor and minor league agreements today and will conclude their business with a short executive session tomorrow. The annual convention banquet is scheduled tonight.

As the confab neared an end, expectations of a startling major league deal began to fade. Club presidents and general managers openly discussed trading hopes earlier, but key managers such as the Boston Braves' Billy Southworth and the New York Yankees' Casey Stengel have begun to hedge on the players supposedly on the block.

Harry Davis Signed To Pilot Gold Sox

AMARILLO, Dec. 8. (Special)—Harry Davis, former first baseman for the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns, has been signed to manage the Amarillo Gold Sox in 1950.

The announcement came from Baltimore, Md., where Gold Sox officials are attending the annual Minor League and National Association conclave.

Davis last year piloted Gadsen of the Class B Southeastern League and had been there two years after leaving the position as manager of Marshall of the Class C East Texas circuit.

Prior to that time, Davis had served as manager of Toronto in the International League and Greenville of the Class B Big State League.

Davis served with Detroit in 1932 and 1933 and with St. Louis in 1937. His home is in Shreveport, La.

Springlake Schoolboy Cagers Defeat Idalou Quint, 21 To 7

SPORTS Slants

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

The big question in the minds of South Plains sports fans this weekend is, "Can Austin of El Paso stage two upsets in succession?"

The Panthers, conquerors of Lubbock last week, journey to Wichita Falls this week for a quarterfinal battle which commands the attention of grid followers throughout West Texas.

Frankly, I think Austin has reached the end of the trail. Against Lubbock, the hustling Panthers reached a peak that they can't be expected to hit again. Moreover, they caught Lubbock "asleep," and capitalized on the Westerners' drowsiness.

Wichita Falls, however, will be awake—thanks to Lubbock's example—and it appears that the Coyotes are too tough for the El Pasoans.

I pick Wichita Falls to win, possibly by as much as three touchdowns. But even if they lose this week, my hat will be off to the spirited Austin gridders for their amazing accomplishment against Lubbock. They played a whale of a ball game to turn the trick.

Running quickly over the list of other Class AA and A playoff games, here's how the parlay cards view them:

Abilene over Highland Park by seven; Port Arthur over Marshall by 13; Austin over Alice by 21; Littlefield over Ballinger by seven; New Braunfels over Mexia by seven, and El Campo over Uvalde by seven. No odds are listed on the Garland-Mineola game in Class A, while Sunset is favored by six over Thomas Jefferson in the City conference finals.

Bids Accepted On Paving Work

sure to be considerably higher.

The proposal quickly snagged on two points:

One was the commission's contention that the rate to the city should be reduced to 10 cents—the amount paid by Southwestern Public Service Co. for the fuel. Officials estimated that a 1-cent cut in the rate would aggregate a saving of $7,000 to $8,000 next year.

Rate Reduction Question Raised

The other snag was the question raised by Commissioner E. K. Hufstedler as to "what has become of the general gas rate reduction we were asking last spring?"

He referred to a demand made upon the gas company officials at that time to show cause why the domestic gas rate in Lubbock should not be in closer conformity to those of Amarillo.

According to the information laid before the city commission at that time, gas users in Lubbock were paying a base rate of 45 cents per 1,000 feet for the fuel while those in Amarillo, served by the same company, paid only 23 cents. City officials said Thursday this same discrimination continues.

Query Gets No Answer

There was no answer to Hufstedler's query except, "we just haven't followed through on it," due to the rush of other business.

"But we'll follow through on it now," the mayor declared after the meeting.

The upshot of the discussion was a motion by Commissioner Clarence Whiteside that the gac company be notified: First that the city will renew its contract for 2 years at 10 cents per 1,000 feet; and calling upon officials of the gas company to justify, if they can, the discrimination against Lubbock gas users in favor of Amarillo consumers in the matter of domestic gas rates.

Hufstedler seconded Whiteside's motion and the mayor and Commissioner John Spikes voted for it.

Paving Plan Announced

Under the new paving plan considered, officials explained, individual projects will be broken up into units of about 50 block each and let to individual contractors who will carry the "paper" involved—meaning the liens which allow the individual property owner to pay for the paving in front of his property in three installments. Under the arrangement, the first payment would be due when the work is finished and the next two in one and two years at 6 per cent interest.

In the past the city has carried all the paper and, until recently, property owners were allowed five years in which to pay for pavement.

R. L. Oldham, city director of public works, explained that the paper ties up so much money that pavement work will be limited sharply next year unless some new plan of financing is devised.

So officials came up with the plan of letting the contractor handle the liens. Under this arrangement, the contractor would collect them and his cash would be tied up.

Test Bids Called

As a test, bids were called for opening Thursday on two projects —one involving 54½ blocks of paving in South Lubbock and the other 46½ blocks in the northern portion of the city.

Bidders for the South Lubbock project were Kerr & Middleton, $148,927.52 and J. R. Fannin, $152,992.71.

The only bid on the North Lubbock project was $138,276.61 by Warren & Purtell. All the bidders are Lubbock residents.

According to the tentative computations of C. J. Griggs, assistant city engineer, this would make the property owner's cost of paving a 30-foot street about $2.14 per front foot or $107 for a 50-foot lot.

Under the plan which has been followed, the cost has been about $1.96 a foot—about $88 for a 50-foot lot.

Griggs estimated that about 85 per cent of the paving in Lubbock is 30 feet wide.

27 Miles Are Paved

He and Oldham reported, as a sidelight, that about 27 miles of streets were paved and nine miles resurfaced last summer. Lubbock now has 105 miles of street paving, they estimated.

Members of the commission agreed that the question now before those wanting pavement in Lubbock is this:

Are they willing to pay 10 to 15 per cent more to get paving next summer, or do they prefer to wait until the city accumulates the money to carry the liens?

The answer to this question, as expressed to members of the commission within the next few days, probably will determine whether contracts will be awarded on the basis of the bids opened Thursday.

If the plan meets approval, officials said, more paving probably can be laid next year than this year—which set an all-time record for any year in any West Texas city.

Program May Be Delayed

If the plan is not favorably received, members of the commission declared, next year's paving program will be very small.

The term "leaks," in connection with bids submitted to the city was mentioned when M. D. Lakey, city purchasing agent, submitted proposals to supply Lubbock with 480 electric meters.

Lakey said that last Monday was set as the deadline for submitting bids. At that time, he continued, five were received, four proposing to supply the meters at $11.30 each. The other set $11.45 each as his asking price.

After the deadline, Lakey continued, one of the bidders—G. E. Jones, of Amarillo—submitted a new bid of $10.84.

The members of the commission were frankly curious as to why it happened that Jones' came in with a lower figure after his and the other bids had been opened by the purchasing agent.

Mayor Rodgers bluntly declared his suspicion that "somebody" on the city payroll has been tipping off some bidders as to the amounts of the bids of others competing for the same business.

The mayor and others of the commission made clear that Lakey is not under suspicion. But the purchasing agent acknowledged that others sometimes have access to such figures. Many bids, he said, are submitted in envelopes with nothing to indicate their contents.

The result of the discussion was instructions that any city employe who discloses any bid in advance of the deadline date for submitting it will be subject to instant discharge.

he meters were ordered from the General Electric Supply corp., the only Lubbock bidder. The total amount of the cost was computed at $5,424.

The commission also authorized the purchase of 70 leather jackets at $23.50 each from Levine's department store for members of the police department. The bid was the second lowest of six submitted. The lowest, $21 by J. C. Penney company, did not meet specifications set out in the call for bids, officials said.

The purchase of two station wagons from Kuykendall Chevrolet company for the engineering department at a net total cost of $2,844.70 likewise was approved. The bid was the lowest of four for that type of car.

Other Business Transacted

Other business transacted by the commission included:

The recommendation by Marion Sanford, chairman of the City Civil Service commission, that the compensation of police detectives be increased by an unspecified amount. They now are paid $160 a month plus a cost of living bonus of about $80. The amount is only $10 more than is paid uniformed officers, whose uniforms are supplied.

"After a detective pays for his own clothing, he is worse off financially than if he had not been 'promoted' from the uniformed ranks," Sanford commented.

The commission's reaction to the recommendation was highly favorable, although no action was taken upon it immediately. Members took occasion to praise warmly the work of the civil service commission, comprised of Doyle Justice, Alex McDonald and Sanford.

The commission approved the lease of the officer's club building at the former South Plains Army Air field to the new Lubbock Elks club at $190 a month. The rent for the first two years, totaling $4,560 is payable in advance and will be used for repairing the building. Ed Colby, municipal airport manager, said the structure is in such bad condition now that it will become worthless unless repairs are started soon.

A proposed ordinance was approved under which any construction started within 30 days in any area annexed to the city can be completed within two years.

Grain Elevator

successful in their attempts to call Brownfield and Lubbock fire departments until someone drove down to Meadow and called from there.

Trucks Rushed To Scene

A booster truck from Lubbock arrived about 3:05 p. m., less than 20 minutes after receiving the call. A truck from Brownfield arrived a short time later.

Cause of the fire could not be determined, but it was believed to have been due to a short circuit in the area of the electrical hoist motors at the top of the elevator, which was approximately 80 feet from the ground.

Observers said there was little smoke at first, with flames shooting as high as 200 feet above the ground. A farmer living five miles west of town reported seeing the fire from his home, and a school bus driver two miles further west also reported seeing the blaze.

Walls Caved In

As the fire burned downward, witnesses said the sides caved in toward the middle, and the blaze began smoking intensely when it reached the grain.

Telephone linemen working in the vicinity cut down electrical connections into the elevator, after they had burned loose apd were creating a hazard laying on the ground.

L. A. Townsen, agent for the Santa Fe railroad, said the fire destroyed about 300 railroad car grain doors stacked near the elevator. Almost twice that number were saved by firemen. Spilling grain set ties on a siding on fire for about 50 feet alongside the burning structure. Townsen said two sections of railing probably would have to be relaid near the scene of the fire.

Johnson was in Lubbock at the time the fire was discovered, and did not return until after the elevator had been destroyed. He made several attempts to find water trucks in the area for hauling water to the scene to put out the smouldering grain until the Levelland fire department arrived with the tank trucks.

Although the fire started during a comparatively quiet moment in the afternoon, more than 50 cars had stopped and almost 100 people had gathered at the scene within a few minutes of the time the alarm was spread. Cars were parked along the side of the highway for as much as 75 yards in one direction.

Spectators respectfully remained at a distance for fear of falling debris, but after the roof fell in and the walls buckled, the elevator burned down through the grain steadily and with few spectacular flareups.

The elevator, approximately 20 by 24 feet, was constructed from wood and covered on the outside with tarpaper weathering. Tin roofs that had been over the elevator and the loading section and metal grain funnels were all that remained of the building late tonight.

Boston Opera Group Gains Favor Of Lubbock Audience

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche Staff Writer

Bursts of spontaneous applause at intervals throughout the performance and prolonged applause at the close of Thursday night's presentation of "Carmen" by the Boston Opera company in Senior High school auditorium showed appreciation of the audience of approximately 900 persons.

Leonora Corona, one of the two Texas singers who ever achieved distinction of being a leading singer in the Metropolitan Opera Co., showed herself to be the possessor of a beautiful voice of extraordinary range and flexibility.

Carmen Graceful, Charming

Her voice was round and rich in texture and apparently completely at her command. Appearing as the gypsy girl, Carmen was graceful and charming and flirtatious in the first two acts, turning into a sinister and dangerous woman in the third and fourth acts, when she had tired of Don Jose because of her love for the toreador, Escamillo.

Don Jose, played by Rene Castelar, sang with a strong voice often appealing in quality and displayed a strong stage personality which with his voice qualities made him popular with the audience. In the last act, his heartbreak at having killed the woman he loved was communicated to the listeners.

Toreador Wins Favor

John De Merchant, appearing as Escamillo, also won favor with the audience with his redition of the Toreador song.

At close of the performance, the three leading singers answered a curtain call together, then individually, then with Francesco Foti, who directed the orchestra of 24 players which excellently supported the stage performance. They answered another call as a threesome.

Mara Gordon, appearing in the role of Micaela had sweetness and flexibility. The secondary parts were taken by Laurene Buttlar, Dorothy Schauer, Ricco Froelich, Paul Farber and Michele Ladique.

Wayne Groce, commander of Allen Bros. post of the American Legion, which sponsored Wednesday night and Thursday night operas by the company of 90 expressed himself pleased. "We accomplished the purpose we set out to accomplish," he said.

Youth Arrives In Lubbock, Last Remembers Fort Worth Bus Ride

A 20-year-old Fort Worth packing house worker who walked into the sheriff's office about 8 o'clock last night and said he last remembered being in Fort Worth early Thursday, was given "lodging" in the county jail pending arrival here of his father.

The youth's father, when notified of his son's presence here by telephone, said the boy had been ill for sometime and was subject to spells of "blacking out."

The youth did not know how he arrived in Lubbock, and last remembered riding on a Fort Worth city bus about 7 a. m. Thursday.

Audit Of Pockley County Funds By Dallas Firm Still Incomplete

LEVELLAND, Dec. 8 (Special) — A formal audit report by a Dallas accounting firm checking into funds under the control of J. Warren Pearcy, ex-Hockley county auditor charged Wednesday with forgery, still has not been filed, officials here said tonight.

Pearcy was charged specifically with forgery of the name of a Dallas chemical firm salesman to a county warrant after a telephone report by the special auditors set a deficit in the funds of his former office at $17,757.18.

Pearcy, county officials said, has given them a check in the amount of $10,000. He offered to repay "the deficit that the special auditors charge me with," in a statement to newsmen Wednesday.

Bandit Suspects

lace at point of a gun after releasing him from their car in Dickens county, taking five $1 bills from him.

Two Are Denied Bond

Two of the suspects, Leeman and Scrivner were denied bail in a Thursday afternoon hearing before W. H. Nickson, Crosbyton justice of peace, on robbery with firearms charges growing out of the drygoods store hijacking. Bonham was admitted to $15,000 bail, inasmuch as he claims he was a juvenile the night of the robbery, attaining his 17th birthday next day.

District Attorney John B. Stapleton of the 110th judicial district was at the hearing.

He informed officers present, including Sheriff Foy Addison, his deputy J. N. Poteet and County Attorney Lloyd A. Wicks, jr., all of Crosby county; Sheriff Kimmel, and District Attorney Lloyd Croslin of the 72nd judicial district which embraces Crosby county, that a speedy trial could be arranged in Dickens county.

Judge Chapman told The Morning Avalanche that, if there is no contest, any indictments that may be voted "could be tried the same day they are voted."

"If a contest were indicated, we would try to set the case for sometime later this month," he said.

"We try not to let our criminal docket get congested in this district."

Addison said the three suspects were "identified without hesitancy" in a series of lineups at which Wallace, his son, Orville, his wife, and his wife's mother appeared.

He said he lined up six persons, including one of the defendants, in each instance, changing positions of those in the lineup each time a witness was brought in.

The Crosby and Dickens sheriffs removed the defendants from Lubbock county jail and transferred them to Crosbyton late Thursday morning. Sheriff Addison and Poteet returned them after the hearing.

Leeman, Bonham and Orville Wayne Mann, 21, are charged in robbery with firearms cases in Lubbock county, as well. Those charges grew out of the Nov. 19 hijacking of Archie Skibell at Economy Department store.

All three waived examining trials on Wednesday in Lubbock. Bonds for Leeman and Mann were set at $25,000 each, while Bonham's bond was set at $5,000.

All have admitted the three robberies, but there has been no indication that the defendants had learned that they had taken Wallace outside Crosby county. Wallace claims he was shot in the head when released from the gunmen's car. The defendants claim that Leeman slugged him with a pistol, instead.

Freezing Drizzle

very slow process."

Thursday night fog and drizzles in the Lubbock area caused at least two commercial airliners to cancel scheduled landings at Municipal airport here.

Light Fog Sets In

Light fog set in at 2:45 p. m. Thursday, increasing in density until visibility was cut to less than three fourths of a mile at the airport north of Lubbock shortly before 11 p. m.

Drizzles and mist fell between 9 and 11 p. m., adding only slight moisture to the .03 shower that fell between 6:15 and 7:30 a. m.

While high school football games at Plainview and Odessa this afternoon will be played under refrigeration, the forecaster said any drizzles or light rain at three points should clear by noon.

The Plainview clash is the Class B regional playoff between Olton and Kress, while Littlefield and Ballinger tangle at Odessa in a Class A quarter final match.

Cool Weather Seen

With South Plains weather moving to the east, the Saturday weather for the Wichita Falls Class AA game between Austin of El Paso and Wichita Falls should be about the same as Friday weather at Plainview and Odessa.

The Weatherman said there was not much chance that freezing drizzles expected early this morning would leave a coating of ice on streets and sidewalks. Trees, cars, houses and grass may pick up the film of ice, he said.

None of the weather signs for today pointed to a repetition of the heavy sheets of ice that turned the South Plains into one big skating rink last winter.

The semi-rain which fell last night and was expected to continue this morning was seen by the Weatherman as insurance against even lower temperatures.

Without the moisture, the forecast might have called for a reading as low as 20 degrees or colder this morning, he said.

Thursday's highest reading in Lubbock, 36 degrees, came at 1:30 a.m. Low readings of 31 came at 9:30 a.m., and from 11 p.m. to midnight. Afternoon maximum was 34 degrees.

Sub-freezing temperatures were general in the Panhandle Thursday. Perryton, on the Texas-Oklahoma line, had the day's low of 17 degrees. Light sleet fell during the night, the first moisture in that area in 30 days.

Dalhart shivered in 23 degrees and Amarillo in 27 degrees.

Pampa's 22-degree minimum was the lowest recorded there this season. The town's Santa Claus parade was held under cold, overcast skies. A light sleet fell during the morning. Moisture is badly needed on wheat lands. Beneficial rains fell in the Wichita Falls area. More than half an inch was measured during the day.

Truman Assumes Reporter Role

KEY WEST Fla., Dec. 8. (AP)—President Truman assumed the role of an inquiring reporter today to probe into the habits of newsmen covering his vacation activities.

He discovered that they stay up late, forget to eat breakfast, but write home to their wives.

He reserved until a later date an inspection of their quarters "to see how you are keeping house."

Ross came back alone to see the reporters at 3 p. m. (CST) news conference at which he disclosed officially:

1. That the President will spend Dec. 23 to Dec. 28 with his family at his home in Independance, Mo. He is flying back to Washington, Dec. 20 from his vacation here.

2. That Mr. Truman will speak from his home at Independence by radio Christmas Eve at 4 p. m. (CST) to light the living tree on the White House lawn at Washington by remote control.

3. The arrival of Pace for budget conferences. He could not say whether the budget is substantially completed, or discuss the prospects for an appeal for increased taxes.

4. That the President will "not retreat" from his insistence upon passage of a liberalized displaced persons bill which has been opposed by Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) of the Senate Judiciary committee.

110 Farmers Attend Program Held Here

A total of 110 area farmers attended a program at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the Tech stock judging pavilion sponsored by the Lubbock County Production and Marketing association and the Texas Extension service. The program was one of a series of eight designed to familiarize county farmers with the 1950 farm program.

W. R. Tilson, of Meadow, district director for the farm bureau, explained the purposes and aims of the bureau to those at the meeting. He showed how the bureau trys to help the farmer prepare agricultural products.

D. W. Sherrill, county agent, showed educational films on livestock management and soil conservation.

Walter Y. Wells, administrative officer of the association, explained the cotton allotment program and marketing quotas for 1950 to the meeting.

Refreshments, furnished by the Farm bureau, were served by the Tech Dairy manufacturing class.

The next scheduled meeting will be at the Frenship school in Wolfforth Saturday.

will mean much in terms of the enhancement of property values; in the accessibility of many portions of the city—particularly east and north—which now are difficult to reach.

They also will mean a great deal in terms of traffic safety by eliminating grade crossings which become increasingly hazardous with growth and by providing thoroughfares which are safer because of their width and their engineering, particularly at curves.

Some questions have been raised during discussions of the proposed bond issue as to whether Lubbock's credit is good enough to allow these new obligations.

No one should be uneasy on this score. City of Lubbock bonds are among the soundest of any city in this country.

Significant proof of the City's credit standing was supplied a few months ago when some Lubbock bonds were offered for sale. More than 45 investment houses wanted to buy some or all of them. They were sold at an average interest rate of 2 1/2 per cent—a remarkably low rate for any city bonds.

With these new bonds voted and sold, the City's tax bond indebtedness still will be less than 8 per cent of its assessed valuations. A city with a 10 per cent debt is considered within sound and conservative limits.

As a matter of fact, Lubbock will be a considerably better credit risk if these bonds are voted than if they are rejected.

Defeat of the sewage disposal plant bonds will be risking the community's health.

Defeat of the Highway Dispersal system right-of-way issue would be a barrier to progress.

The City which would do either of those things is not likely to be regarded as a good and safe place for investments.

gators, Louis J. Russell and Courtney Owens, to Canada to renew an investigation once halted at the request of the dominion government.

Seeks To Testify

5. Groves indicated that the line of questioning when he testified Wednesday kept him from adequately describing the Russian threat to atomic security. He expressed a desire to return and testify more fully.

6. Republican members of the committee angrily accused the Democratic majority of attempting to "whitewash" administration dealings with Russia on atomic matters.

Three Republican members of the committee, Reps. Nixon, Calif., Case, S. D., and Velde, Ill., formally protested to Chairman Wood (D-Ga), that they were not notified of Wednesday's hearing. They charged that a "quickie" hearing was called in a "whitewash" attempt. The three demanded adequate notification of future hearings.

To Resume Hearings

7. The committee prepared to resume public hearings Dec. 19-20, when Groves is expected to return to the witness stand and Wallace presumably will ask to be heard.

8. Hal Bergman, investigator for the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy committee, returned to Washington to report on conferences with Jordan and Groves. Committee Chairman McMahon (D-Conn), is expected to decide later this month whether to order a separate hearing by his group.

9. Port officials at Longview, Wash., said that apparatus used to detect uranium was loaded aboard a Russian ship at Longview in May, 1947, under a U. S. export license.

It was learned that one phase of the FBI inquiry centers on a note written on White House stationery and bearing the initials "H. H.," which Jordan said he found in the Russian "Oak Ridge" folder.

Robert C. Davidson, Plainview bandmaster, will be in charge of the Class B group, assembling in the Tech band room, while the junior high group is headed by Joe L. Haddon, assistant director of the Tech band, and will meet in the J. T. Hutchinson band room.

Tech Band To Play

The Texas Tech band, directed by Prof. D. O. Wiley, will play for all attending high schoolers both afternoons of the clinic from 1 to 3 p...m, rendering music which will be required in 1950 contests. Many band directors from North and West Texas will be present at the clinic other than those bringing students for participation.

Music for tonight's dance on the Tech campus will be provided by a dance band from Amarillo High school. Both the dance and the smoker, staged by the Adair Music company of Lubbock, will begin at 8 p. m.

Program for both days of the clinic is identical, with sessions beginning at 9:30 a. m. Schools who will have students participating include Lubbock, Amarillo, Lamesa, Plainview, Sweetwater, Hobbs, N. M., Midland, Odessa, Mineral Wells, Levelland, Littlefield, Andrews, Tulia, Seagraves, Floydada, Spur, Sundown, Denver City, Pearsall, Whiteface, McCamey, Fort Stockton, Eastland, Santa Anna, Haskell, Dimmitt, Eldorado, Kermit, Post, Lockney, Muleshoe, and O'Donnell.

Increase In Yellow Jaundice Cases At Tech Is Reported

Several cases of hepatitis (yellow jaundice) reported at the Texas Tech infirmary recently do not constitute an epidemic, Dr. Embree R. Rose, director, said Thursday.

Dr. Rose said as many as 12 to 15 cases have been reported at the hospital this fall, with an upsurge during the past week, but that an epidemic of the disease has in no way been reached.

Yellow jaundice is a disease common in young people at this time of year, he said, and is characterized by a feeling of weakness and perhaps an upset stomach. Cause of the disease has never been determined and a long period of rest is the only cure. It is not known if the disease is contagious, but indications are that it is caused by a virus of some sort, the physician stated.

Period of recovery from the disease is from one week to three or four months, he said, with the average time taken this fall by patients at the Tech infirmary being about 10 days.

"Yellow jaundice can be serious," Dr. Rose stated, "but only rest and plenty of vitamins are needed for the type we have treated so far this fall."

Eisenhower Speaks

of race, creed or color, "the dignity of the human being should be preserved."

Eisenhower injected a Texas note in his speech. He said he liked to think of David Crockett, one of the heroes killed in the Alamo, as "a man who had the interest of his country deep in his heart."

Thousands cheered as Eisenhower drove down Broadway in Galveston. He came here from Houston where he spoke to 15,000 persons at the annual chamber of commerce banquet.

His first stop in Galveston was at the American Legion home where he was honor guest at a flag ceremony.

Then, at the head of a motorcade, he was paraded down Broadway, a street thronged with persons awaiting a sight of him.

His address was made in the marine room of Galveston's $2,000,000 pleasure pier.

The general was accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower.

A reporter asked her "would you like to be the wife of the president of the United States?"

She replied:

"What American woman wouldn't want her husband to be president?"

Eisenhower left here about 3 p. m. by automobile for Rockport. From there he will go by boat to St. Joseph's island for several days of hunting as the guest of Sid Richardson, Texas oilman.

Eisenhower's next speaking date is Dec. 15 at the annual dinner of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce.

"We have found no fingerprints as yet and we have arrested no suspects," Phagan said.

SKILLED CRAFTSMEN WANTED

Nationwide Training Program Assist 449 Lubbock Young Men

Classroom instruction and on-the-job training are being combined for 449 Lubbock young men who, as registered apprentices in many different trades, are learning while they earn.

They are taking part in the nation-wide program of the U. S. Department of Labor Bureau of Apprenticeship to raise the standards of skilled work through better training, said Vincent J. Southwick, field representative for the West Texas area.

The size of the program is indicated by the fact that as many as 4,635 employers in Texas are now participating in 900 apprenticeship programs.

Carpenters Lead

In the United States, 238,357 registered apprentices are learning trades through the program, with 6,360 joint management-labor committees administering the programs. Of these, 3,208 are in the construction industry.

Of the 449 apprentices registered in Lubbock, 78 are carpenters, 53 electricians, 32 plumbers and 18 painters. The other 268 are in various trades including machinists, auto mechanics, dental technicians and numerous others.

The apprentices meet for classes one or two nights a week, and learn theory and methods of their jobs, and during the week while engaging as apprentices in their trades, they put their new-found knowledge to practical use.

Employers Enthusiastic

Employers generally are enthusiastic about the program, saying that it begins to pay off close to the beginning, resulting in better quality and more efficient work.

Each trade is administered by a joint apprenticeship committee consisting of three members of management and three of labor.

The carpenters' joint committee consists of M. L. Hogan, chairman, A. H. Kilpatrick and J. B. Buford, representing labor, and George Glover secretary, W. B. Abbott, jr., and Jack Swain, representing management.

Carpenters' instructors are M. T. Horton, Joseph P Ramey and F. O. Bennett, sr., holding their classes in Carroll Thompson Junior High school on Tuesday and Thursday nights for Lubbock's 78 registered carpenter apprentices.

Electricians Committee

Members of the electricians' joint apprenticeship committee are C. A. Anderson, chairman, F. C. Fletcher and Leon Henry, representing management; G. E. McClellan, R. A. Sparks and H. D. Parks, representing labor. Garrett Fox and W. A. Case serve as instructors when the 53 registered apprentice electricians meet for classes on Tuesday and Friday nights at the junior high school.

Serving as the joint apprenticeship committee for the painters are Gaston E. Jones, chairman, Paul Moyers and Edwin Merritt, representing management, and James Comer, secretary, L. E. Bell and Carl Moyers, representing labor. D. L. Stone is the instructor, and the 18 apprentice painters meet on Friday night at the junior high school for classroom instructions.

Ross Mathis, chairman, Wayne Kirk and J. R. McKinley, jr., represent management on the plumbers joint apprenticeship committee, and Chester L. Privitt, secretary, Sam Davenport and R. L. Atkison represent labor. J. L. Gott and C. C. McQueen are instructors when the 32 apprentice plumbers convene at Forty-fourth and Ave. Q for classes on Tuesday and Thursday night.

The Federal Committee on Apprenticeship, Southwick explained, is not new, having existed for over 15 years and being the oldest function of government composed and maintained by joint labor-management cooperation.

He pointed out that related instruction, as the program is called, is of paramount importance in apprenticeship and the future ability of journeymen depends to a large extent upon the apprentice's ability to study and grasp advancements in procedure and techniques.

Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin recently gave his ideas on the apprentice training program when he pointed out that increased skill and productivity resulting from the training will keep building costs down.

"The skills developed through the nation-wide apprentice training program . . . will be an important factor in increasing productivity, and this increased productivity will aid greatly in keeping the cost of building within reach of the American public. Employers and labor are doing a magnificent job in providing thorough training for apprentices . . ."

Lubbock Auto Supply Firm To Give Yule Bonus To Workers

It promises to be a very merry Christmas for the 30 employes of Ferguson Auto Supply company who once again this year will participate in what is probably the city's most unusual Christmas bonus plan.

Christmas gifts aggregating $12,500 will be distributed among the 30, for an average bonus of $416.67. Amount of salary and length of service are considered in computing the individual bonus, but no employe will receive less than $100 regardless of length of service, said Fred D. Pinkston, vice president and general manager of the firm. Many will receive much more.

The good news will be passed out at an annual dinner next Monday night in Lubbock hotel. A. L. Ferguson, president of the company, will be present for the party.

The auto supply company, which wholesales automobile parts, supplies and service equipment over a wide West Texas area, has had some type of Christmas bonus plan since it was established 21 years ago.

In the last three years, however, the firm has followed the plan of taking a sizeable percentage of its net profits and distributing it among employes as "accrued salary."

For most employes that means an extra two months' to four and a half months' salary every year. Last Christmas employes received an extra four and a half months' salary down the line.

There is also provision to distribute bonuses among nine salesmen who travel on a commission basis.

Pinkston sees three distinct advantages to the plan in use for the past three years.

"First of all, it provides an incentive for our employes to stay with us," he explains. "Second, it serves to bring about better cooperation on the part of all employes, and third, every man and woman in the organization will do his or her part to keep expenses down and thus increase the net profits which are divided among the employes."

Finance Firm Loses Safe To Burglars Despite Warnings

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 8 (U.P.)—The local office of the Pacific Finance Co. had plenty of warning that burglars were coming.

Last month a gang hauled off safes from the company's offices in four Texas cities—Austin, Lubbock, Dallas and Texarkana—and tried unsuccessfully at a fifth, in San Angelo.

Pacific headquarters at Los Angeles sent out warnings to all its 75 offices in the west and southwest that the easy-loan burglars apparently liked the company's money.

Fred Whitcomb, Oklahoma City manager, passed the warning to local police. Then he took other precautions.

Every night the venetian blinds were pulled up and lights were left on. The safe was placed in the open so it could be seen by anyone from the outside, lights shining down in it like a new automobile in a show window.

Last night the thieves paid their visit. They pried open the back door and worked in the full light over the safe. They didn't even pull down the blinds—just wheeled the 600-pound safe out the door, pushed it down a flight of stairs and carted it off.

Whitcomb wouldn't say how much money was lost. But he expects another letter from Los Angeles.

Police said the car driven by Kerns after striking Miss McSpaden collided with another injuring the two passengers, Mrs. Myrtle Losey, 60, and her daughter, Mrs. Hazel Acree, 29, both of Redmond, Mo. Kerns suffered cuts on the forehead.

Two Soldiers Held As Bank Loot Recovered

AMITE, La., Dec. 8 (AP)—Two Fort Bragg, N. C., soldiers today led sheriff's deputies to a hollow stump where they had cached more than $4,000 taken in the robbery of the Kentwood branch of the Guaranty bank of Hammond, La., Tuesday.

Sheriff Tom Sanders said his deputies went out in the woods shortly after the pair made an oral statement admitting the holdup.

"They radioed back about 7 a. m. (CST) that they'd found the money."

Sanders identified the men as Donald D. Redman, Houston, and Freddy Brant, 26, of Roseland, La.

Sanders said charges would be filed later today.

MILITARY DICTATORS FORESEEN

Western Diplomats Worry Over New Russian Satellite Policy

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

PARIS, Dec. 8.—Leading western diplomats are concerned over the significance of Russia's current policy in the Soviet satellite states.

It is not clear to the western governments whether the Kremlin's latest moves in Eastern Europe are intended merely to consolidate Russian domination of the puppet states or portend something more sinister.

This western diplomatic anixety applies particularly to the appointment of Soviet Marshal Rokossovsky as virtual military dictator of Poland and rumors that Moscow is planning similar moves in Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary.

Russia Fears Titoism

If Stalin's Napoleonic-like appointment of his marshals to run conquered countries is prompted by fear of Titoism, the western diplomats think there is no cause for alarm.

What worries the western diplomats is whether this westward movement of Russian military power has any other significance.

It is known that the unification and reinforcement of the satellite states' armed forces has been intensified recently under the direction of Soviet military authorities.

Three Phase Action Noted

The organization of these satellite forces has been effected in three stages:

1. A purge during which officers suspected of being hostile to the Communist government were eliminated;

2. A second phase during which Russia took control over the directional and transport services of these forces;

3. A phase of re-armament and increasing of the effectives of the satellite armies.

Important efforts have reportedly been made during the last eight or ten months under Soviet direction to re-equip these armies with modern weapons.

Czech Army Well Equipped

The Czechoslovakian army is already well equipped by the famous Skoda armament works. During recent months, the Hungarian and Bulgarian armies are reported to have received light modern armoured vehicles, medium tanks, anti-tank weapons and small arms.

Diplomatic advices indicate that the Soviet-sponsored rearmament programs for the satellite states aim at increasing the military powers of the eastern European armies by about 25 per cent to 30 per cent before the end of the summer of 1950.

Western military experts believe that the fighting value of the satellite armies—even if re-equipped—is not likely to be sufficient to allow them to be used other than as additional supporting divisions for the Red army, or as occupying forces for conquered territories.

Mobility Is Sought

It is considered highly improbable that Russia could ever risk using them as front line troops in any war against the West.

Meanwhile, western intelligence reports give the impression that the aim of Soviet strategy is to develop the Red army into a highly mobile force, capable of moving with great rapidity so as to occupy a country and establish a pro-Soviet government before an enemy army could intervene effectively.

This is believed to be the reason why nearly all Soviet infantry divisions have, according to intelligence reports, been motorized.

Western military observers think that the Soviet high command has decided that tanks have become too vulnerable to powerful guns, such as the new 90mm American weapon; and that the Red army's real advantage will lie mainly in a speedy advance and in the use of great quantities of self-propelled guns.

These western military observers believe that if war comes in Europe, the Soviet high command plans to break through western defense with the help of a large number of fighter and ground support planes rapid enough to escape the action of anti-aircraft guns.

It is further believed that the initial Soviet attack would be followed by great quantities of self-propelled guns and tanks which, in turn, would be followed by motorized infantry.

According to some western military intelligence reports, seven out of Russia's 12 known main artillery factories are concentrating their efforts upon the construction of self-propelled guns.

San Antonio Man Named Head Of Welfare Administrators' Group

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 8. (INS)—James B. Atlee of San Antonio has been elected chairman of the National Council of Local Welfare administrators of the American Public Welfare association.

Atlee, who is Department of Public welfare supervisor at San Antonio, was chosen unanimously at an annual meeting of the council in Washington, D. C.

He served as vice-chairman of the group this year.

Atlee has been with the Welfare department since 1937, when he became a field worker in the Houston office.

Fire Gong Fails To Convince Pupils Watching School Movie

NEVADA, Mo., Dec. 8 (U.P.)—Fire Chief Carl McCowan ran into trouble when he called a surprise "fire drill" at a local school.

McGowan rang the fire gong. Nothing happened. He rang it again.

Miss Opal Campbell, principal opened the door and told him:

"Go away. The children are watching a movie. We'll be through in five minutes."

McGowan, not to be denied, declared there was a fire. He rang the gong again. Finally the peeved pupils marched out, in the slow time of two minutes and 57 seconds.

A little moist soap applied to the end of a screw will make it drive easier into the hardest of woods.

Austin Police Convinced 'Mop Handle' Burglar Is Dog Lover

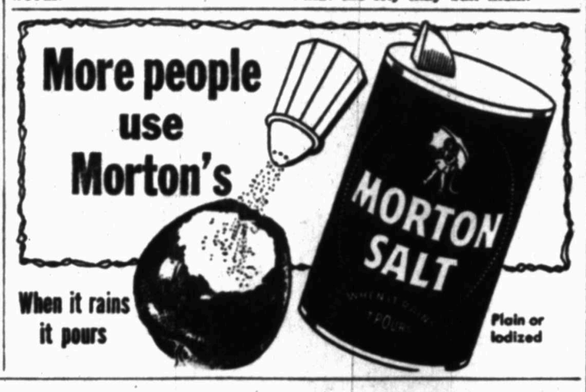

AUSTIN, Dec. 8 (INS)—Police are convinced that Austin's "mop handle" burglar is a dog lover.

The burglar, who has eluded police for months despite a long record of stealing valuables through windows with the aid of a mop handle, pilfered a billfold from Mack Cawthon while Cawthon's dog slept peacefully.

But the next morning, when police came and attempted to re-enact the crime, they were unsuccessful. Cawthon's dog wouldn't let them get near the spot.

Mortgage Loans Totaling Near Million Dollars Reported Here

Lending institutions made 167 mortgage loans totaling just short of a million dollars in November, a tabulation completed by Weldon Gibbs of First Federal Savings and Loan association has revealed.

The 167 loans aggregated $912,166, slightly under the October total of $965,577 issued on 171 mortgage loans. The figures include only non-farm mortgages under $20,000.

September's loans in Lubbock numbered 151 totaling $857,514 while August was the record month of the year with the seasonal rush of building resulting in 207 mortgage loans totaling $1,125,578.

The preceding three months showed loans as follows: July, 152 loans totaling $879,111; June, 135 mortgages totaling $772,486; and May 148 mortgages totaling $855,440.

During November a continued high proportion of mortgage loans in the $10,000 to $15,000 class was noted.

The tabulation showed that November loans in Lubbock were made by institutions as follows: the savings and loan association, 16 loans totaling $57,255; insurance companies, 22 loans totaling $136,750; banks and trust companies, 32 loans totaling $195,628; individuals, 30 loans totaling $92,268; and all other classes of lenders, 67 loans totaling $430,265.

WCTU Head Blames Heavy Drinking For U. S., Yalta Failures

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 8. (INS)—The head of the Woman's Christian Temperance union pointed out that Joseph Stalin's moderation in drinking enabled him to outmanauver the heavier drinking American diplomats at the Yalta conference.

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, in commenting on "Roosevelt and the Russians, the Yalta Conference," a recently published book written by the late Edward R. Stettinius, jr., declared:

"The book, intended as a defense of Roosevelt at the sessions, refers to continuous drinking in toasts and dinners, starting with 'refreshments' that included brandy, vodka and champagne for the Americans when they landed (at Yalta) from their planes.

Woman Blames 'Revels'

"The Yalta conference has been called a disaster to American diplomacy by many international authorities. What else could be expected from our government heads when they met with others in revels to try amid such circumstances to decide the future of the world."

Mrs. Colvin pointed out that the Russians, even Stalin, were much more abstemious. The WCTU head declared:

"Stettinius, attending the conference as American secretary of state, wrote that he was 'highly amused to notice that Stalin would drink half of his glass of vodka and, when he thought no one was watching surreptitiously pour water into the glass."

She concluded:

"Certainly Mr. Stettinius' revelations . . . confirm the fears of thinking people as to what happened at Yalta and its effect on our future."

"Ike's" In No Rush!

THERE already has been much speculation, and undoubtedly will be a great deal more, on whether Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be a candidate for President in 1952.

But, whatever "Ike's" hopes and plans may be, it is a safe bet he will not disclose them publicly for some time to come. He doubtless will ignore attempts like that of Sen. Hugh Butler, Nebraska Republican, to smoke him out the other day on whether he is a Republican, or a Democrat, and whether or not he aspires to the White House.

To declare his intentions now, particularly if he is considering entry in the race, would be political stupidity on General Eisenhower's part. He immediately would become the target of everyone who might oppose him for any reason.

General Eisenhower certainly is not stupid. If he plans to become a candidate—and some of his actions lately suggest the possibility—it borders upon certainty that he will await a more opportune time to declare his intentions. That probably would not be sooner than 1951 and possibly not before early 1952.

A Wise Decision

THE U. S. Supreme court handed down a decision of much potential significance this week bearing upon relationship between military and civil courts.

A former soldier appealed from a court martial sentence in Germany. The case was important because the military spokesman contended that civil courts have no right to review the findings of military courts.

The highest court in the land properly refused to uphold the theory that military courts are on a parity in authority with civilian tribunals. It upheld the theory that in this democratic land the aggregate rights of all the citizens—civilian and military—are superior to those of any one group—in this instance, the military. It ruled that the individual has rights as a citizen which he does not sacrifice when he becomes a member of any of the armed forces.

Only in a military dictatorship can a court martial become a tribunal of last resort, beyond which there is no appeal. The United States happily is not yet a dictatorship, and military courts still are subordinate to higher authority, as the recent Supreme court decision emphasized.

Rally, Tech-Exes!

SPOKESMEN of the Texas Tech Ex-Students association have reported their organization in such financial straits it may have to disband. That certainly should not be allowed to happen.

The more than 11,000 former students of Texas Tech are one of the greatest of all potential assets possessed by the college. In an active and enthusiastic organization, these ex-students, probably could do more for Tech than any other group. They are the "old grads" who, in practically all colleges and universities, are the first reliance of their alma mater when problems are faced or achievements of many kinds are sought.

At the moment, the former students of Tech are being urged to contribute to their association's Loyalty fund. It is to be hoped that most of them will do that at once and as generously as they can.

But the organization must not be allowed to disband. Before that is considered, the active members of the association should present their problems to the college and to the people of Lubbock with a feeling of confidence that advice and help will be forthcoming which will point the way out of their difficulties.

People should enjoy living nowadays. It certainly costs enough.

Another reason a woman says that she has nothing to wear is that it gives her an excuse to buy a new outfit for the occasion.

Paul Hoffman says, "The magic is in action, not in words." But many people don't want to acquire the magic touch the hard way.

Must Be Getting Neurotic

The Cameo

By VIRGINIA TEALE
Distributed By NEA, Inc.

(THE STORY: Two murders concern a valuable cameo which has passed from hand to hand in the art colony of Dolorosa. After the death of Neil O'Neill, by the same kind of sharp instrument that took the life of Martin Falter, Charlie Reddy, a young lawyer, questions Hagar Blair and Stephanie Smith, who is really Neil's niece. Hagar says that at the time of Neil's murder she was lured some distance from Dolorosa by a phone call and there bashed in the head by a pottery jug. After Reddy leaves, Hagar examines the cameo box. In the bottom of the box are engraved numbers.)

HAGAR was examining the numbers, once more considering their possible purpose, when Stephanie returned to the room.

"He's gone," she announced. "Don't worry, Hagar, everything will turn out all right, he'll look out for us. Wasn't he wonderful to bring me the cameo?" She came to lean over Hagar's shoulder, "What are you looking at?"

"These numbers, See, engraved in the bottom of the box: Ten, dash, four. Eight, dash, two. And, underneath, six.

Stephanie peered at them: "Are they dates, d'you think?"

"Might think so, except for this six down here all by itself. Or, it could be some kind of jeweler's code. Probably nothing important, anyhow." She placed the cameo flat on one palm and stared at it: "Pretty bloody process, getting hold of this thing—maybe it's jinxed, like the Hope diamond."

"Let me have it, Hagar. I'll try again to open it."

"Be nice if you could. Can't you remember how your mother used to open it?"

Stephanie fingered the cameo's surface: "She pressed something. There's a little spring somewhere in the frame."

"A secret spring!" Hagar crowed. "This gets cornier all the time!"

"I seem to remember," Stephanie mused as she pressed the frame experimentally, "that one of these pointed sections must be pushed down to spring the lock, but I've tried all 12 of them and nothing happens."

Hagar leaned back on her pillows, "I wonder why your mother wouldn't consider selling it when she knew it could mean the difference between feast and famine for her little girl."

"My father told her never to let it out of her hands. It was their most important possession, he said, it would insure our future. Mother wouldn't part with it because she kept thinking father might still be alive."

"You don't expect him to appear, do you?"

"Oh, no. I've been sure for a long time that I'm completely alone in the world."

HAGAR grinned at her. "Except for me. And don't forget your friend, Charlie Reddy, he's very much in the picture, if I'm any judge."

"Mr. Reddy—Charlie—is very nice," Stephanie said primly.

"Oh, pot! You'd better open up those eyes and take a better look, if that's the best you can say for him! He's smart, he has a good sense of humor, and he's perishingly handsome. Wish there'd been somebody like him camped on my trail back about 20 years ago. I wouldn't be such a dried up old prune now if there had been." She wagged a warning finger: "Better look sharp, girl, and grab him before summertime comes along and all those long-legged bronzed blondes start parading the boardwalk!"

Stephanie's honey-brown hair tossed silkily and her blue eyes flashed:

"Charlie's intelligent; he doesn't go around admiring legs!"

Hagar glanced significantly at Stephanie's underpinnings: "Let me tell you something: If he's like most men, he won't even realize you have an intellect until he learns to take your dimples for granted."

Stephanie titled her small nose, then her eyes slid obliquely to Hagar and she broke into laughter.

Hagar gave a gratified chuckle, "And let me give you a bit of information I picked up once under a haystack . . ." she stopped abruptly and stared at the cameo: "Hey! Look there at the pin!"

The cameo had opened in Stephanie's hands. Both women stared at it.

Hagar spoke first: "What did you do? Do you remember what you were doing to it when it opened?"

Stephanie's hands seemed frozen on the pin, her two thumbs were resting on two of the points of the gold frame at opposite sides of the center.

HAGAR hopped off the couch and leaned tensely over the girl's shoulder: "Don't move your hands, girl, until you get their bearings! Look carefully now: one thumb is one the second point down from the top, left side, and one is on the second point up from the bottom, right side. Just suppose those 12 points on the frame are numerals on a clock dial—you'd be pressing 10 and 4. Remember that—10 and 4." She raced to her desk, "I'll write that down, 10 and 4."

She scribbled the numbers and handed the paper to Stephanie who accepted it without lifting her eyes from the cameo.

"Now," began Hagar jubilantly, "we can—what's the matter? Oh! Your folks—I forgot to look at their pictures, I was so excited." She peered down. "Mmm. Uh-huh. Your mother, there, very beautiful. Handsome father, too. Distinguished. Even with that mustache, I can see his resemblance to you. That's probably why Neil never recognized you, you look like your father's side of the family He looks like some pumpkins, badges and medals all over his jacket. Military man, I suppose?"

A clear drop splashed the picture of the woman. Stephanie grabbed up a corner of her skirt and carefully blotted it.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

DEAR Jane:-

Bill and I are so terribly tired of the city, we just can't stand it another minute. May we come out to your place for the weekend just for a rest, for some of that wonderful country air—and to get away from it all for even a couple of days?

Love,
Ruth"

That is the note Jane, one of our friends out here in the country, got last week from a cousin in New York City.

BRANDEIS

Of course, she couldn't say no, and she likes Jane and Bill, her husband. So she wrote back and said, "Come, by all means."

So, Saturday afternoon Walter, Jane's husband, met Ruth and Bill at the train and took them to his lovely country home.

After the usual greeting and salutations, they all sat down and talked about this and that, dinner not being ready for a couple of hours.

After a while Jane noticed that Ruth was fidgeting quite a bit and Bill didn't seem any too happy.

Then she remembered.

"Could I offer you a little drink?" she suggested.

Both guests perked up. "That would be lovely" they chimed—and until dinner several highballs helped to while away the time.

The dinner was nice, and after it Walter suggested a little walk.

"It's wonderful out," he said, "there's a full moon and the fresh air will do you good."

Ruth was terribly sorry, but she hadn't changed into her country clothes yet, and you know what walking with high-heeled shoes is. Couldn't they have their lovely walk tomorrow when they'd get the full benefit of the sunshine and all that sort of thing?

And Bill seconded the motion, adding that the dinner had been so wonderful he was too full for walking, anyway.

SO they played Canasta till one in the morning and, having had six or seven drinks during the evening, they were too tired to get up before noon the next day.

In the meantime Jane and Walter had gone to church and, when they returned Ruth and Bill were sitting in the living room, each with a highball in their hands.

Then came Sunday dinner and another few games of Canasta.

Bill and Ruth had intended to stay until the Monday morning train back to the City.

But suddenly Bill remembered a very important business engagement in New York early the

"That poor deportment grade comes from us kids losing a strike!"

TO NEW INDUSTRY

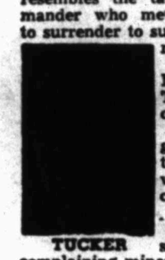

Lewis Expands Union

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The embattled John L. Lewis's present strategy in his dispute with the government and the coal operators resembles the tactic. of the military commander who met his frantic aides' advice to surrender to superior forces with this calm reply.

"My right wing is broken! My left wing is retreating! Therefore, I shall order the center to attack."

Nor does Mr. Lewis's grudging order for resumption of a three-day work week represent any basic change in his long range

TUCKER

It is only a truce and is designed solely to appease complaining miners, their wives and children during the holiday season.

WORRIES: The resourceful head of the United Mine Workers has his worries, plenty of them. He expected to break the solid front of the operators as his rival, Philip Murray, smashed the solidarity of the steel corporations in his deal with Bethlehem. He did not want to call a strike that would, as some of his followers say, "kill Santa Claus" in the coal fields.

He has not won a major victory for his miners while Mr. Murray's gains were being acclaimed inside and outside the labor movement. It is no wonder that some of the Iowa-born Welshman's admirers ask: "Is the old man beginning to slip?"

SWITCHING: John L., however, is not frightened by interested and disinterested warnings that his demands for higher pay, shorter hours and welfare funds will price coal out of the market, and thereby destroy him as a labor or political power. He prepared for that possibility long ago.

He knows that householders are switching to oil and gas as never before. He realizes that the government hopes to expand the field of hydroelectric power for industrial purposes. His charts tell him that almost every railroad except the coal-carrying lines are shifting from his fuel to diesels.

Superficially, it would seem that eventually, and largely because of the tribute he exacts, there would be a constantly lessening market for his "black diamonds." The operators' spokesmen, government intervenors and his own people have asked if he had given any thought to this prospect.

SHIFT: The unemotional answer of the political alchemist is that he has been studying that problem for years. His solution for the question of a dwindling market for coal as energy is the growing need for it as a base for hundreds of plastics and synthetic articles. That is what he means when he says, in effect, he will order his "center to attack."

Ten years ago, he organized District 50, and placed his brother, Dennis, in charge of the new union. While the older and more picturesque brother has been hogging the headlines, mixing in politics and parading through the U. S. courts, Dennis Lewis has quietly obtained a grip on most of the large and small industries which require coal and its by-products for the manufacture of everything from glass to nylons.

Should Mr. Lewis be defeated in the domain which he has ruled for so long, he will shift his operations into a field which is less susceptible to government or management control because it ramifies through all American industry.

POPULATION: John L.'s ever-present concern is the almost tragic decrease in the mine population during the very years when he was making them one of the highest-paid group of workers in the United States.

Whereas he once commanded an army of almost 600,000 men and their families, the number of soft and bituminous workers has dwindled to approximately 400,000, possibly less, and is growing smaller every day. Two factors lie behind this trend.

The young men are refusing to follow their fathers and grandfathers below the ground, a movement which was accentuated by their broadening experiences in World Wars I and II. They are unwilling to live, marry and bring up their children in the mining towns and on the hillsides of the scarred regions. They want a fuller, a brighter, a better life.

DRIFT: No sociologist, John L. has neglected entirely this aspect of the human problem. He has not concerned himself with such living standards as homes, schools, sanitation, health, etc., save as he has obtained more money. And that alone is not enough.

To keep his army intact and prevent or slow increasing mechanization, he must continue to obtain higher wages, a shorter work-week, medical care and pensions. He cannot stand still, especially as the benefits he has brought them since NRA days and the period of his friendship with Franklin D. Roosevelt have not sufficed to check the drift away from the mines—and from him.

Thus, unless he can emerge from his new attack more victoriously than he has in the recent past, there may be no "center" with which to charge.

It is hard to understand why the average person is so all-out nuts about the world, as it is only a highly temporary and not an altogether desirable place of residence.

The man of the house is the one who gets more enjoyment out of the holiday fruit cake than he does the holidays.

SOLON SUGGESTS NEW LINEUP

GOP-Southern Demo Bloc Doubted

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — Senator John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) now comes out in favor of a sort of shotgun wedding for the Republican party and Southern Democratic conservatives. In effect, he would legalize in formal union a relation that has existed now in Congress for a dozen years or more.

STOKES

It is refreshing at least, finally to have the forthright senator, who never has made any bones about his staunch conservatism, give public confession for his party to a common-law marriage about which each party has been embarrassed. It has been a skeleton in the closet of our politics.

Plan Is Not New

His proposal is not new. It has popped up often in the recent long, lean years of republican desperation. Even his suggestion that the Republican party change its name in order to remove the still-lingering antagonism in the South to the party that conducted the civil war and reconstruction was made a few years ago by another Republican, Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, House party leader, who, like the senator, proposed "American party."

This Republican - Southern Conservative Democrat party idea has received fresh stimulus through the issue of "welfare state" and "statism" raised against the Truman Fair Deal and whipped up of late so furiously.

IT IS GIVEN weight by assumption of leadership of this crusade in the South by one of the Democratic party's outstanding leaders and most eminent former office-holders, James F. Byrnes of South Carolina. He gains added luster and, in some cases, brand-new luster with elements fighting the Fair Deal because he was a former cabinet officer for President Truman and now has turned against Fair Deal policies.

A realignment of parties in this country to produce two of distinct and different philosophies—broadly conservative and progressive—long has been agitated. That it has gone nowhere in recent years when it had its best opportunity is significant.

It is conceivable, of course, that the barriers might now be broken down, but it is worth-while to identify those barriers just to see what the task would involve.

For one thing, many important Republican leaders are dead-set against a formal marriage of convenience with southern conservatism, particularly now on the heels of the Dixiecrat movement that exploited the racial issue as its chief stock in trade. Some of these same leaders, though, are willing to work with it in Congress on economic issues where the union is not so apparent.

A formal and open union would be a confession of bankruptcy and desperation they don't like to make.

Would Aid South

An active and alert Republican party in the South, operating on its own, would be a splendid thing to provide competition and break up the stultifying and paralyzing one-party system there. Its strength has been increasing in the South. But in the last national election many southerners who wanted to bolt their own party preferred to vote Dixiecrat rather than Republican, which tells something.

Senator Bricker says airily that the Republicans and southerners could accommodate themselves on the civil rights issue. The only accommodation would have to be a compromise for the Republicans and they would compromise the issue on which the party was founded and the only issue on which the party can today take anything like a united stand. Even so, it hasn't taken a very bold stand in Congress because of its continual flirtation with the southerners for their votes against Truman Fair Dealism, as against Roosevelt New Dealism before that.

ANOTHER thing, which is a historical fact, is that many big interests, including absentee financial and industrial landlords of the south, want to see southern conservatism remain in the Democratic party so that it will be a drag and millstone against progressivism. That helps them when the party is in power. Their idea is to keep both parties as conservative as possible. This strategy goes a long way back. It is that of infiltration.

For these and other reasons, among them that economic and social progressivism is on the increase in the South and is weakening southern conservatism, Senator Bricker's solution hardly seems the salvation of the Republican party.

Dallas Man Holds Wrecked Cars After House Damaged

DALLAS, Dec (AP).— Those two cars in Ernest Brewster's front yard were still there today.

A week ago tonight the two collided on the street by Brewster's Dallas home and rammed into his house.

"Nobody's gonna take those cars away until I get damages for the crack in my house," Brewster declared.

Wreckers came several times to remove the cars, he said, but he told them to go away, and they did.

HST's Report Of Soviet Atom Blast Rated Top News Story

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (INS)—President Truman dramatically announced last Sept. 23 that an atomic "explosion" had occurred in Russia—a news flash that ended the American monopoly on atomic energy.

His brief statement, with all that it implies, was rated today as the paramount news story of 1949 by International News Service editors looking back on the ten major stories of the year.

Atlantic Pact Second

Until that grave announcement the unprecedented North Atlantic pact was the major story. It now takes second place and the collapse of nationalist forces in China is third.

Listed as fourth and fifth in the selection are the Berlin blockade-lifting, and the two exclusive questionnaire-interviews obtained from Premier Stalin by Kingsbury Smith, European general manager of International News Service.

The Stalin interviews contributed to an easing of the East-West tension, and led indirectly to the lifting of the Russian Berlin blockade.

Stalin offered to meet President Truman in Russia or otherwise behind the so-called "iron curtain" to discuss mutual problems. He also said Russia would consider issuing a joint declaration against any intention of resorting to war to settle those problems.

U.S. Rejects "Deal" Idea

President Truman did not claim that Russia has an atomic bomb in his September announcement. But two days later Tass said Russia has "an atomic weapon" and has known the secret of the A-bomb since 1947.

U.S. Secretary of State Acheson later told reporters that fundamental U.S. foreign policy would not be altered because Russia had an atomic "weapon."

How far Russia has progressed in atomic energy is not known. An interesting discrepancy in Soviet official statements abroad and for home consumption was noted in the U.S. State department's "Voice of America" broadcasts to Russia.

The American stations recalled Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky's present-tense statements at the United Nations that Russia is using atomic energy to blast mountains, change the flow of rivers, irrigate deserts.

Future Tense Used

The Voice of America then pointed out that Pravda changed the text of Vishinsky's statement in the Russian homeland. It quoted Vishinsky as saying "we want to," putting it in the future tense.

Here are the ten 1949 stories given top billing by International News Service:

1. President Truman's announcement that Russia had succeeded in getting off an atomic explosion, with Russia subsequently claiming they have the "know-how" to make an atom bomb.

2. Signing of the North Atlantic alliance pact, marking the first time in history the United States has pledged in advance to go to the aid of a European nation threatened with aggression.

3. Sweeping Communist victories in China.

4. Lifting of the Berlin blockade by Russia, easing the cold war tension.

5. Kingsbury Smith's two exclusive interviews with Stalin which indirectly led to the negotiations that ended the Berlin blockade.

6. Conviction of 11 top Communist leaders on charges of criminal conspiracy.

7. Army-Navy-Air Force unification row culminating in the ousting of Admiral Louis Denfield as chief of naval operations.

8. The suicide of former Secretary of National Defense James Forrestal.

9. The tragic story of the futile efforts to rescue Kathy Fiscus, the little girl who fell in an abandoned well near Los Angeles.

10. The Yankee victory in the world series after the two closest pennant races in baseball history.

Gas Line Blast Causes $1 Million In Damage

CENTRALIA, Mo., Dec. 8 (U.P.)—A Panhandle Eastern gas pipeline exploded five miles from here today causing a fire which did an estimated $1,000,000 damage.

Charles Wright, company engineer, said two nearby cooling towers burned down and smoke and fire damaged the main engine room and several other buildings. He estimated the loss at "pretty close to $1,000,000" but said the area was still "too hot" to determine the cause.

The 22-inch pipeline, which is eight to ten feet underground, blew a 25-foot hole in the earth. No one was reported injured.

Wright said this area may feel a temporary gas shortage but doubted any shortage would result at the eastern terminus, Detroit. The line's western terminus is in the Texas Panhandle.

People calling from five to ten miles away reported seeing the huge column of smoke. One person said he heard the explosion ten miles away.

Firemen Rescue Los Angeles Youth From Difficult Plight

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8 (U.P.)—Two-year-old Philip Burrows got his head stuck in a toilet seat.

His mother, a doctor and firemen worked for hours yesterday to free the lad from the wooden ring he wore around his head like a crown.

When the youngster found himself trapped he yelled for help. A doctor tried smearing his head with grease, without avail. Firemen with axes and saws were more successful.

Adolphus R. Jackson, Jr., Son Of Former Houston Mayor, Dies

HOUSTON, Dec. 8 (U.P.) — Adolphus R. Jackson, jr., son of a former Houston mayor, died early today at his home here. He was 56.

Jackson's father, A. R. Jackson, sr., served as the city's chief executive in 1904-1905.

Surviving are his wife, a son, three brothers and one sister. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Because of a water shortage, firemen at Guehenne, France, extinguished a farm fire by using cider for their hoses.

"Then I tried Skinner's," says Mama. "It's the deluxe macaroni—so good that thousands love it, just boiled with salt and butter. Now my family asks for two Skinner one-dish dinners a week—and I save enough on groceries so now I can get a nice new dress now and then."

Reed entered the hospital last Sept. 7 and underwent a major operation. He returned to his home Nov. 2, but suffered a relapse and entered the hospital again on Nov. 26.

Navy Escorts Torpedo Bombers Bought By Uruguay To Florida

GRAND PRAIRIE, Dec. 8 (U.P.)—Naval authorities said today that the naval air station here had escorted 10 torpedo bombers purchased by the Uruguayan government to Pensacola, Fla.

The bombers, carrying 12 officers and 16 enlisted men, were to proceed to Corry field, Miami, then take off for their final destination at Montevideo, the Uruguayan capital.

Commander Barry Holton, public relations officer here, said the Uruguayan government bought the PBM's several months ago and moved them to the Fort Worth Municipal airport for reconditioning.

The bombers and Uruguayan airmen were taken to the naval station here for a two-month study in operation and maintenance.

Holton said PBM's ordinarily were carrier-based planes, but that the Uruguayan government planned to use them as ground planes because it has no aircraft carriers.

CAP Executive Board Members Close Eighth Annual Meeting

KERRVILLE, Dec. 8 (AP)—Executive board members of the Civil Air Patrol ended up their eighth annual meeting here today with a brief executive session and then went deer hunting.

General Carl Spaatz, former head of the Air Force and now chairman of the CAP board, was principal speaker at the annual banquet last night.

He told the group of several hundred military and civilian airmen that "no nation is secure in the future without the proper development and force of the airplane."

Col. D. Harold Byrd, of Dallas, vice chairman of the board, again paid tribute to Texas CAP fliers who helped guard coastal waters during the war against the submarine threat. Nine Texans were presented air medals Tuesday night.

Byrd said that air medals were being sent to others, including: Paul C. Barker, Alice; Charles T. Heno, Alice; Morrisett W. Horne, Big Spring; Lloyd Martin, Waco; Jesse L. Pate, jr., Amarillo; and Coy J. Roden, Wichit Falls.

FIRST PATIENT VIRTUALLY CURED

Doctor Claims Success In Use Of New Type X-Ray On Cancer

By JOSEPH RAITI
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Dec. 8. — A University of Illinois scientist reported today that initial betatron treatment of a cancer patient has been a success.

A 72-year-old man reportedly dying from a throat cancer has been virtually cured.

Dr. Roger A. Harvey, head of the university's radiology department, said the tumor of the first patient to be treated with the betatron x-ray machine has healed.

Absolute 'Cure' Uncertain

The university scientist said the patient is not absolutely cured because medicine does not recognize a "cure" unless five years have elapsed without a recurrence of the illness.

The aged man was critically ill when first subjected to rays from the betatron machine 14 weeks ago. Several other patients with forms of cancer previously considered beyond the realm of medical aid, have since been given the treatment. Dr. Harvey reported:

"The results are encouraging, but we have had too few cases to evaluate properly the place of the betatron in cancer therapy."

High Voltage Used

The betatron, used at the University of Illinois Chicago campus for the first time in this country, utilizes 25 million volts of electricity. Scientists believe its greatest use will be in treating cancers located in spots inaccessible to ordinary methods.

Conventional x-ray machines cannot be used on locations such as the throat and portions of the head because they are too dangerous. Intensive heat developed at the skin areas usually results in damage to tissues.

The betatron, with its high voltage, penetrates deeper into the body developing maximum intensity at the area being treated without damaging the skin.

Dr. Harvey reported the second patient treated with the super x-ray machine had a huge cancer of the jaw in which an operation was impossible. He said the tissue in this case has healed, except for a small spot, although the fate of the bone has not yet been determined.

The third patient suffered a cancer of the throat which had affected one vocal cord and was beginning to damage the other. The treatment appears to have arrested the infection.

A fourth patient is being treated for a brain tumor but results of the betatron treatment are unknown to date. Dr. Harvey said, however, that specialists have reported nerve symptoms in the patient have been reduced.

ATOMIC MATERIALS SHIPPED TO RUSSIA—At left, Louis J. Russell, chief investigator of the House Un-American Activities committee, as he disclosed in Washington, that three shipments of atomic materials were sent to Russia in 1943, and that no evidence had been found that Hopkins was involved. At right, a former major in the Air Force, Major George Racey Jordan of New York, shows his diary at the home of news commentator Fulton Lewis, jr., in Leonardtown, Maryland. Jordan announced the diary would support his charges that Harry Hopkins and two anonymous State department officials "gave Russia the A-Bomb on a platter." (NEA Telephotos).

Texas U. Students Of English To Be Aided By New Filmstrips

AUSTIN, Dec. 8 (INS) — Students in freshman English at the University of Texas will soon be seeing filmstrips as part of their studies.

The colored, cartoon-type filmstrips are being prepared by the university extension division's visual instruction bureau to illustrate phases of theme writing, grammar, diagramming, sentence structure, punctuation and spelling.

English professor Joseph Jones first experimented with the visual aids in 1945 under a University Research council appropriation.

"Educational Screen" magazine published his trial results, proving that, even under severe limitations, the filmstrips are valuable in college level English teaching.

Art work on the strips is expected to be completed early in 1950. The drawing has been in progress 18 months.

Looking At Life

next morning, which would make it absolutely necessary for him to take the five o'clock this very afternoon.

Ruth agreed. "We'd love to stay," she said, "it's so heavenly out here and we are having such a marvelous time. But you know what business is these days."

So they left on the five o'clock. Neither Ruth nor Bill had set foot outside for that "wonderful country air," nor had they done one single thing they could not have done in New York City.

There is no moral to this story —but does it sound familiar?

DROUGHT BRINGS FAMINE

By Christmas, South Africa will be in the grip of its worst-ever meat famine, attributed to recent droughts, Cape Town reports and cattle and sheep breeders think it may last five years.

Honorable Retirement Advised For Over-Age Milk Containers

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 8. (INS)—The average milk can will transport some $6,000 worth of milk and cream during its eight or nine years of life.

That is the belief of Texas A&M dairy husbandmen who say that badly battered milk cans are weak links in the chain between the farmer and the milk plant.

After that eight or nine years of faithful service, the A&M dairymen say, the milk can is ready for honorable retirement.

Dents and crevices in old cans tend to harbor and furnish breeding places for bacteria, while rust spots may cause the milk or cream to have a metallic flavor.

Old cans lower the quality of milk, the experts declare, and thereby rob the farmer of income and often render the milk unfit for use.

Dallas Man, Paroled From Prison, Joins Ranks Of Ministers

DALLAS, Dec. 8 (INS) — Alfred Palmer has turned to religion to help him on the long road back from disgrace and imprisonment.

Palmer, recently paroled from the federal correctional institution at Seagoville, Tex., where he had served one year of a two-year sentence for mail fraud and income tax evasion, is now a non-denominational minister in Dallas.

The 39-year-old former auto supply store chain owner was ordained into the ministry by the Rev. Grant H. Hankins of Dallas.

Decision Reached In Jail

Palmer made his decision to become a preacher while he was imprisoned at Seagoville. He has been active in church work since 1939.

He began studying for the ministry in prison and now says he will devote the rest of his life to helping others who are friendless and without hope.

"I have no malice in my heart for anyone and I blame no one," he says. "I believe that if I had taken up the Lord's work back in 1939 when I first felt the call, I would not have gotten into trouble."

Palmer built up a chain of auto supply stores prior to his imprisonment. Shortly after the war he was adjudged bankrupt, and was subsequently charged with fraudulently concealing some $6,000 in cash assets. In May, 1947, he was sentenced to two years in the federal penitentiary.

He believes his conviction should serve as a warning to others who "place the value of money above everything else."

"I studied hard to build up a good business," he says. "I stood alone against powerful interests. They broke me. I lost everything, including my freedom.

"But I am not angry at anyone. I served my time and I hope to show the authorities that paroled me that I am worthy of their trust."

LUZON LEADS IN RAINFALL

NEW TREATMENT EXPERIMENTAL

'Wonder Drug' Arthritis Cures Still Years Away, Doctor Says

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—A nationally known research specialist warned today that magic "wonder drug" cures for rheumatoid arthritis are still years away and that sufferers should not delay resorting to the old standby treatments.

Dr. Edward F. Rosenberg, director of the arthritis clinic at the Michael Reese hospital in Chicago, emphasized at the American Medical association clinical session that work on cortisone and acth is still definitely experimental.

Dr. Rosenberg told AMA family doctors" that the two big problems in the use of these magic drugs are the wholly inadequate supply and the "side effects" in patients, which include rounding or swelling of the face, a little abnormal growth of hair, a dropsical condition, and acne, an affection of the skin.

Women More Sensitive

He said that women seem to be more sensitive to the reactions than men.

The specialist said that cortisone and acth are simply "working tools" which research men hope will lead to satisfactory remedies. But he emphasized that it "may be years before physicians will be prescribing cures for rheumatoid arthritis."

Raw materials for the production of cortisone are obtained from the African plant strophanthus and Mexican yams.

But technical chemical processes are necessary to transform the raw materials into the finished drug, and to start these processes an acid derived only from animal bile is necessary now. This acid is in limited supply.

Larger Supply Desired

Dr. Rosenberg expressed the hope that large supplies of cortisone eventually will become available.

He pointed out that acth, which produces the same results as cortisone, is obtained only from the very small pituitary glands of animals. Highly limited supplies, he said have been available to him only from hogs and horses.

He said experiments by him with other compounds which have been prominently mentioned produced only "negligible results."

Dr. Rosenberg warned that the two to three million sufferers from rheumatoid arthritis may incur permanent deformities if they wait for magic cures and fail to cooperate with doctors in the old standby treatments of non-wonder drugs, diet and physical therapy.

Older Treatments Cited

Older drug treatments include vaccines and gold salt injections in the veins.

With the old standbys, Dr. Rosenberg declared, about 70 percent of the rheumatoid arthritis sufferers make a reasonable recovery, and are able to work.

This is not true he said, of osteoarthritis, where joints become permanently deformed. And neither are the new drugs applicable to this disease, he explained.

He said about 25 percent of rheumatic sufferers have rheumatoid arthritis and 25 to 30 percent osteoarthritis.

Japanese Industrial Teachers May Use Texas U. Publication

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (INS) — Japanese industrial teachers may soon train students by use of a University of Texas publication.

The university extension divisions's Industrial and Business Training Bureau has received a request from the Chuo-Kyoiku-Tosho (Central Educational Book Publishing Company) of Tokyo for permission to translate a shop teachers' handbook published by the bureau in 1947.

Editor Junnosuke Inami wrote that he wanted "to make these valuable suggestions available for Japanese industrial teachers."

Seasickness Cure Put To Use In Combatting Effects Of X-Ray

ROCHESTER, Minn., Dec. 8. (U.P.)—Rochester doctors are using an anti-seasickness drug to combat X-ray sickness.

The new drug, dramamine, was uncovered early this year as the most successful agent yet to prevent or cure motion sickness on ships or planes.

Doctors said they tried dramamine for the new purpose because of a similarity between motion sickness and radiation sickness symptoms, which often accompany X-ray treatments.

Dramamine was used on 82 patients and results were termed excellent in 25 per cent of the cases and good in another 53 per cent.

It takes 30 men about four years to paint the George Washington Bridge, the suspension span over the Hudson River at New York City.

Better Rural Highways Believed To Be Solution To Slump In Farm Population

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (INS) — The Texas Rural Roads association believes that better farm-to-market highways are the solution to halting the exodus from Texas farms.

The association has pointed out that while 123,000 persons settled on farms and ranches in the state last year, at the same time 134,000 were moving into the towns and cities.

The trend has been the same during most of this century, the association said.

The group said that a joint survey made by the U. S. Department of agriculture and the Texas Agricultural Experiment station had showed that poor transportation facilities was the chief reason for deserting the country in favor of the towns.

Bad roads, the survey disclosed, is believed by farmers to be the major cause of a low level of living and a lack of conveniences in rural areas.

According to Wayne C. Rohrer, assistant professor of the Texas A & M department of agriculture, only one out of four Texans live on farms and ranches.

One out of three persons in Texas were rural dwellers in 1940 and nearly half lived outside the towns in 1920, Rohrer observed.

LACKS CIVIL AVIATION

Austria is one of the few European countries with no civil aviation of her own, Vienna points out, because the Russian occupation authorities have persistently opposed its establishment.

Ecuador has banned imports of popular music phonograph records.

More Than 2,500,000 Vehicles Licensed In State During Year

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (INS)—Motor vehicle registrations in Texas this year have already doubled the total for the entire year of 1933.

The motor vehicle division of the Texas Highway department announced that more than 2,500,000 vehicles have been licensed during the present registration year.

Passenger cars acounted for 1,845,732 of the total.

The registration is an increase of some 205,000 over that of an identical period last year. Highway officials anticipate an additional 150,000 registered vehicles by April 1, the close of the current registration year.

In 1917, which was the first year automobiles were registered in Texas, only 194,720 vehicles were licensed.

HOARDING BY HOUSEWIVES HIT

Hike In Sugar Prices Expected To Boost Cost Of Morning Cup

By SAM DAWSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 — Coffee, sugar and cream—what's ahead for the morning cup, pricewise, and who's going to say what that price will be?

Some answers to the question people everywhere are asking may come today: From Boca Raton, Fla., where the National Coffee association is meeting; from New York where sugar futures advanced yesterday to a new season high; and from Washington where "controls on food speculation" are asked.

Housewives Blamed

Some members of the coffee association blame the housewife for the sudden jump in the price of coffee. When she found the price of coffee higher almost every time she visited the store, they say she started hoarding and this sent prices still higher. They add that if she'll stop hoarding, prices will level off—around their present record highs.

Some U. S. government officials think the Brazilians (who produce most of the world's coffee) may have exaggerated the probable effects of their drouth on the coffee crop and started asking more for the green beans than was justified.

Others note that this put a squeeze on traders who had sold short on the New York futures market and their rush to cover sent green bean prices climbing spectacularly — around 70 percent in a short time.

Brannan Urges Law

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan says "many millions of dollars in higher consumer prices" are involved and he thinks we need laws extending government control over speculative trading in imported agricultural products.

U. S. officials are reassuring you that there will be enough coffee next year for everyone—although consumption is running about seven per cent ahead of last year in the United States, and about four per cent in Europe. But some Brazilian shippers say Washington is underestimating the damage to the crop by the drouth.

Sugar traders seem to think the price of sugar may go up next year, and some of them are bidding higher for future deliveries. Before the month is over you should be able to get some idea of what the price will be. The secretary of agriculture will announce shortly just how much of the sweetening for your cup of coffee will be admitted into the country from other lands—that will largely determine the price.

Texas Paper Supports Plan To Exchange U. S.-Mexico War Flags

EL PASO, Dec. 8. (AP)—West Texas is coming to the support of a proposal that the proposed exchange of battle flags with Mexico be combined with dedication of the Big Bend international park next October.

The proposal was advanced editorially by the El Paso Times. It has been suggested that President Truman and President Miguel Aleman of Mexico personally exchange the battle flags at the ceremony.

The Alpine Chamber of Commerce wired President Truman yesterday suggesting the ceremonies be combined.

At Marathon, R. M. Treadwell said invitations have been sent to President Truman asking that he attend the dedication and bring about a meeting of the presidents of both nations in Big Bend National Park.

Port Lavaca Returns To Normal As Mexican Field Workers Leave

PORT LAVACA, Dec. 8 (U.P.) — The coastal town of Port Lavaca today was back to normal after being flooded with Mexican field workers.

For the last few weeks hundreds of Mexican braceros had been in town, declining to return to Mexico until paid subsistence money by the cotton growers who employed them. After no more money was forthcoming—and they had seen all of Port Lavaca—they decided to return to Mexico. The employers provided transportation for them back home.

Sheriff Leonard M. Fisher of San Patricio county estimated a total of 2,300 braceros marked time in town for several days. But, he said, they were well behaved and caused no trouble and "got us out of a hole when we had lots of cotton and no one to pick it."

Kansas Educator Defends Mentality Of Modern Man

WICHITA, Kans., Dec. 8 (U.P.) — Cecil Read, head of the Wichita university mathematics department, spoke up today in defense of the mentality of modern man.

It certainly is not true, said Read, that only five or six men in the world understand the Einstein theory of relativity.

"There are at least 100 men in the world who know what Dr. Albert Einstein is talking about," he said.

The Kashmir Government, India, is building new canals to bring 15,000 acres of new land under the plow.

CONGRESS EXPECTED TO ACT

Federal Aid To Public Schools Assured, Education Head Says

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 8 (AP)—A. D. Holt, president of the National Education association, said tonight there is "every assurance" Congress will provide federal aid for public education.

The Senate at its last session passed legislation to provide $300 million a year in grants to states for teachers' salaries and other school operating expenses. The bill got bogged down in a religious controversy in the House.

Extended Benefits Expected

"We have every assurance that Congress when it reconvenes will extend to all phases of our public school program the federal assistance which has enabled vocational education to make such magnificent progress in years past," Holt said.

In an address prepared for delivery before the American Vocational association, Holt added that vocational education is a federal aid program "which has been in successful operation for 30 years."

He cited Mississippi and Connecticut as examples of opposite extremes in per capita numbers of school children and finances for their education and of how federal aid for vocational education makes it possible for both states to maintain relatively high minimum salaries for qualified vocational teachers.

"This aid has enabled Mississippi as well as Connecticut to employ teachers who meet the high standards and qualifications in vocational education," Holt said.

"On the other hand, lacking federal aid to establish a satisfactory minimum salary, only 41 per cent of the regular public school teachers in Mississippi are college graduates as compared to 64 per cent for Connecticut.

"It is no wonder that the vocational program stands as an oasis in the desert for the school systems of thousands of the poorer communities throughout the nation."

Holt, who is also executive secretary of the Tennessee education association at Nashville, said federal aid tends to increase, rather than decrease, state and local efforts in support of education.

He added that in seeking general federal aid the National Education association has "no desire to supplant special aid for vocational education."

"Instead of advocating the discontinuance or reduction of federal aid to vocational education, we advocate the extension of its well-proved benefits to include all aspects of our public school program," he said.

Citrus Growers Replace Half Of Trees Destroyed In Winter

HARLINGEN, Dec. 8. (AP)—Rio Grande valley citrus growers have replaced about half of the estimated 2 million trees destroyed by last winter's severe freeze, a survey shows.

C. W. Waibel, nursery inspector for the U. S. Agriculture department, estimated yesterday another 1 million trees will be interplanted or used to replace occasional trees in groves.

Waibel estimated about 6 million trees damaged by the freeze will be removed.

New A-Bomb Tests Expected To Include Underwater Explosions

By DARRELL GARWOOD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Unsolved problems concerning atomic-blasted seawater today led scientists to predict that a subsurface A-bomb explosion will be part of the new Eniwetok tests.

The scientists pointed out that there has been no data on underwater explosions since the Bikini tests in 1946. The probable effects of a shallow-water, harbor blast remains a mystery.

A "new series of tests of atomic weapons," expected to involve bombs six times more powerful than the original, is officially planned at the 40,000-square mile Pacific proving ground based on Eniwetok atoll.

Blast Raises Column

The Bikini underwater blast raised 10 million tons of water in a column 2,200 feet thick to an altitude of 6,000 feet.

No exact mathematical formula is available for calculating the amount of water that would be raised by a bomb six times as powerful, but it apparently would be nearly double.

This has an immediate application to naval strategy. At Bikini, all ships within 2,000 feet wert knocked out and all those within a mile were drenched with radioactive spray. Since then, ships in fleets on maneuvers have been based more than a mile apart.

Great Upsurge Possible

Some estimates are that an atomic blast in shallow water, such as New York harbor, would raise no water, but would cause only a great upsurge of fire and steam.

Such effects never have been measured. It is estimated that under certain atmospheric conditions the radioactive moisture would be lethal within a mile of the shore.

This is uncertain, however, since the human body can withstand considerable radioactivity if the source is removed properly. Careful experts confine themselves to saying that hundreds of blocks would have to be evacuated.

Exact Formulas Available

By contrast with the sub-surface explosion, there are exact mathematical formulas for measuring the increased effect of more powerful bombs which burst in the air.

The blast effect would increase, according to the cube root of the power, 1.8 times in the case of a bomb six times more powerful.

This would increase the radius of total destruction from 2,500 to 4,500 feet, and the radius of destruction or severe damage from 5,000 to 9,000 feet.

Danger Area Boosted

The heat radius of a bomb increases according to the square root of the power—2.4 times if the weapon is six times more powerful. The radius of severe heat burns would go up to about two and a half miles.

These effects were carefully measured at the last of the atomic bomb tests, also at Eniwetok, in the spring of 1948. Three bombs, all dropped from platforms, were exploded at that time.

The new Eniwetok tests are being prepared in an atmosphere of great secrecy. Almost no exact information is available.

It is known only that several thousand military and scientific personnel and at least a score of warships will be involved.

EGYPT'S FIRST PREMIERE

Egypt saw its first world premiere of an American film when "Prince of Foxes," starring Tyrone Power, Orson Welles and Wanda Hendrix, "with a cast of 50,000," was shown recently in Cario.

"NO LUCK" FOR THE PRESIDENT AND FIRST LADY—There was plenty of sunshine but the fish weren't biting when President and Mrs. Truman fished in the Atlantic Dec. 2 off the Navy submarine base at Key West, Fla. "No luck," was the President's comment. (Photo made by the Navy Dec. 2) (AP Wirephoto.)

State Employment Expected To Reach Peak In Christmas Rush

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (INS) — The Christmas rush is expected to push employment in Texas to a peak for the year.

The Texas Employment commission predicted that the December non-farm job total would reach about 2,357,000.

The employment expansion will result chiefly from seasonal additions in wholesale and retail trade, transportation, post offices, food processing, and apparel, according to the commission.

In addition, the return of workers idled by labor disputes is expected to raise employment in primary metal, fabricated metal and machinery industries.

Ecuador is considering making rice production and export a government monopoly.

Texas U. Professor Tackles Mathematical Research Job

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (INS)—A University of Texas professor and 11 students are doing some mathematical trail-blazing with the aid of the U. S. Office of Naval research.

The project, supervised by Professor Edwin W. Titt, is a new method of solving partial differential equations.

Dr. Titt believes that the theory may bear heavily in physics and engineering problems.

While the theoretical aspects are now keeping the mathematicians busy at the university's mathematics research laboratory, practical applications have also been successfully tested.

Dr. Titt conceived the intricate theory 15 years ago, but because of the work's wide scope he did not attack the problem until he had obtained research workers and the Navy contract.

A two-volume textbook being written by Dr. Titt will contain comprehensive treatment and applications of the new theory.

Decline Reported In Forest Fire Losses

LUFKIN, Dec. 8. (AP)—The loss from forest fires in Texas this year is down sharply from last year.

In 1948 there were 3,164 forest fires. They burned 355,329 acres of forest.

So far this year, the Texas Forest service said today, there have been 767 fires, which burned 14,675 acres.

Well-spaced rainfall was given the chief credit for the sharp decline. Officials at both the Texas Forest service and the U.S. Forest service said evenly-distributed rains were the main reason for the drop.

Last year's heavy fire losses came after long periods of drought. In national forests in Texas there were 470 fires last year, burning 3,000 acres. Only 70 acres have been burned in the national forests this year.

Rain alone was not responsible for the brighter picture, the services said. Hard work by personnel of the services, and increased caution on the part of the general public, also were credited. The services said last year's heavy losses moved the public to be much more cautious.

Texas Cotton Crop Near Six Million Bales

All-Time Record Set By Harvest

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 — The Agriculture department estimated the 1949 Texas cotton crop at 5,900,000 bales today in a final report of the year. It was more than a third of a national estimate of 16,034,000 bales of 500 pound gross weight.

Nationally, production was a little over a million bales more than was produced in 1948. The Texas yield was set at 264 pounds an acre off 10,725,000 acres.

Unusually favorable growing weather gave Texas a record crop. The state's previous all-time record was 5,628,000 bales in 1926. In three other years it has exceeded 5 million bales. Texas produced 4,150,000 bales last year.

Production Cut Expected

With a surplus supply produced above market needs by this year's crop, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has set planting allotments calling for a 20 percent reduction in 1950 production. The 1950 allotment for Texas is 7,637,029 acres.

As the department's estimate was announced the cotton subcommittee of the House Agriculture committee planned a Washington meeting to see whether something can be done for hardship cases under the new cotton quota.

The meeting will be held Monday. No hearing was planned, but Department of agriculture officials have been asked to sit in.

Areas Hard Hit

The national cotton acreage quota is 21 million acres. Committee officials said farmers in some areas had been hit hard by their allotments under it.

Quota Change Unlikely

The officials said Rep. Pace (D-Ga), chairman of the subcommittee, wants to see what can be done about adjustments without changing the national quota.

Originally the meeting had been planned this week for Memphis. There state directors of the department's Production and Marketing administration (PMA), are gathered. But the committee meeting was postponed and changed to Washington because PMA officials could not get necessary information together in time.

About 100 farmers' representatives from 20 cotton growing states at the PMA gathering hammered at the new acreage allotment system in a closed meeting at Memphis last night.

Ralph Trigg, PMA administrator, told newsmen he would lay the complaints before Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D-NC), chairman of the House Agriculture committee, in Washington Monday.

The state committeemen said the system proposed last week is inequitable. They said it takes acreage from planters with large growing records and gives a better

Tech To Study Building Plans

Architect's plans for four new buildings on the Texas Tech campus will be presented members of the board of directors construction committee in a meeting in the administration building at 1 p.m. today.

Drawings for the science, music, home economics, and engineering buildings have been completed and are ready for presentation, according to Frank Junell, assistant to the president.

Members of the construction committee will study the plans today and draw up recommendations for presentation to the full board o fdirectors meeting at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in the president's office. It is expected that the booard will ask for construction bids on the buildings at Saturday's meeting.

Broad Plan Noted

The four proposed structures are part of a multi-million dollar building program now underway at the college. The science, music and engineering buildings will be complete new edifices, while the home economics appropriation will go for additions to the present building.

Other buildings already in the planning stage include an addition to the petroleum engineering structure which would more than double its size and a student union building.

If approved for construction by the board of directors, the science building will probably be located midway between and due west of the present library and chemistry halls. The engineering structure will be erected directly east of the present one and the music building will face Nineteenth street from a position south of the Recreation hall.

Construction is already underway with excavations complete for two wings to the Administration building, while a building to house the Texas Tech museum is nearing completion on the campus.

Discovery Swabs 20 Barrels An Hour

Gaines Wildcat Hits Flowing Production

Samedan Oil corporation of Tulsa No. 1-E. A. Andrews, central-south Gaines county wildcat which has apparently assured discovery of commercial production from both the Ellenburger and from the Devonian, was swabbing at the rate of 20 barrels of oil per hour natural from perforations in the Devonian at 10,056-070 feet.

The venture, located on the northwest side of the Robertson field, has shown for flowing production from the Ellenburger, when it flowed seven barrels of oil hourly from perforations between 11,900 and 11,960 feet

After developing the flow from Ellenburger operator set a retainer above that horizon to test in the Devonian.

Operator will continue to swab to get an accurate gauge of the Devonian producing ability before attempting completion.

The discovery is 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 19, block A-24, psl survey. It is 15 miles southwest of Seminole.

SOUTHEAST TERRY WELL TAKES DRILLSTEM TEST

Tide Water Associated Oil company No. 1 J. P. Nystel, Southeast Terry county prospect from the Silurio-Devonian, was taking bottomed at 11,595 feet and was taking a drillstem test.

Operator took a core from 11,570-595 feet. Recovery was 15 feet of lime which was bleeding oil. Increased signs of gas were shown by a mud logging unit. The zone at 11,510-570 feet made 2,720 feet of free oil during a four and one-half hour drillstem test.

This prospective discovery had a recovery of 1,220 feet of clean 31 gravity oil, 1,060 feet of heavily oil and gas cut water blanket and 180 feet of mud cut oil in a drillstem test in the Silurio-Devonian from 11,469-545 feet.

Previously the venture showed gas and yielded 970 feet of clean oil in a drillstem test in the Pennsylvanian from 9,350-375 feet.

No. 1 Nystel is four and one-half miles northeast of the shallow Adair pool and 14 miles south of Brownfield.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block C-38, psl survey.

NORTH CENTRAL SCURRY TEST DRILLS DEEPER

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 Lunsford, on the south extension of the North Snyder field of North Central Scurry county, was drilling deeper after flowing at the rate of 30 barrels of oil per hour.

The flow came in a drillstem test from 6,404-504 feet. The tool was open one hour. Gas was at the surface in six minutes, mud in 17 minutes and oil started flowing out in 23 minutes. It was flowed to pits to clean for an estimated 30 barrels per hour.

It is slated to drill to 6,800 feet and try for completion.

No. 1 Lunsford topped the Canyon lime reef at 6,380 feet to give it a datum of minus 3,947 feet on that marker.

The development is 467 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 19, block 1, J. P. Smith survey.

Three and one-half miles north of the Diamond-M Canyon field, Seaboard No. 1 Bart Branson, wildcat to test the Canyon lime reef, was drilling below 6,178 feet in lime and shale and was boring deeper.

This venture is 1,667 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 258, block 97, H&TC survey.

LONE STAR COMPLETES NEW SCURRY PRODUCER

Lone Star Producing Company has completed its No. 2 O. C. Rosson in the Kelley field of Central Scurry county for a calculated 24-hour potential of 540.88 barrels of 43.6-gravity oil and no water. Gas-oil ratio was 848-1.

Open flowing tubing pressure was 1,020 pounds. Shutin casing pressure was 1,080 pounds.

The flow was through a one-quarter inch tubing choke.

The new well is 660 feet from north and east lines of the lease in section 209, block 97, H&TC survey.

EXTENSION TO NORTH SNYDER FIELD SET

Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 3 G. E. Parks, stepout from production on the northeast side of the North Snyder field, has been completed for a calculated 24-hour potential of 1,988 barrels of 43-gravity oil, following natural with no water through a one-half inch tubing choke.

Location is 680 feet from west and 1,960 feet from south lines of section 448, block 97, H&TC survey.

Accountants To Hold Meet Here

Approximately 200 accountants from the Northwest and Panhandle district of the Texas Association of Public Accountants are to gather in Lubbock today for opening sessions of a two-day tax accounting conference at the Hilton hotel.

M. E. West, Lubbock, president of the northwest district, and Lubbock members are official hosts for the conference. Accountants from Amarillo, Pampa and Borger on the north and from as far south as San Angelo are to attend.

Speakers Named

Speakers on the conference program will include: J. T. Logan, Fort Worth, deputy collector-instructor with the Internal Revenue department, who will discuss individual, partnership and petroleum tax accounting; James B. Jarratt, Wichita Falls, former revenue agent, now a practicing accountant, and who has recently returned from New York university's tax clinic, will discuss corporation tax accounting; and L. H. Anderson, Midland, state president of the association.

Panel discussions will follow each of four sessions of the conference, beginning Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock and continuing through Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

State Representative Preston Smith of Lubbock will address the ference, beginning this afternoon group at a banquet at 6 p.m. to-

Accounting students at Texas Technological college are to be special guests at the conference, West said.

Theater Chain Sale To Have No Direct Effect On Houses Here

The sale of the Griffith Consolidated Theaters, Inc., owner of some 130 motion picture theaters in Texas and Oklahoma, to Video Independent Theaters, Inc., in Oklahoma City will have no direct effect on Lubbock's theaters in the chain, according to J. B. Rhea, city manager of the Lindsey Theater chain here.

"The president of the concern, Harry M. Lowenstein, died of a stroke last August," Rhea said, "and L. C. Griffith, the owner, wanted the company to reorganize and go back into the hands of the men who started it. It was part of a long range plan of his."

The officials of the Video concern are eight former employes of Griffith.

The ownership change, effective Dec. 1, was announced Wednesday in Oklahoma City by W. T. Spears, of Altus, vice-president of the Griffith concern. He said the sale was precipitated by the retirement of the owner and founder, L. C. Griffith.

Lubbock theaters in the Lindsey chain include the Cactus, Lindsey, Clifton, Lyric, Tower, Plaza, and Corral.

TO NATIONAL MEETING — Off for a national meeting of the Junior Vegetable Growers association in Washington, D. C., are Doris Marie Prater, left, of Spade school, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Prater; Nevella Crump, center, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Bob Crump of Shallowater; and Mrs. Prater, right. The two girls will represent Texas at the meeting Monday through Thursday and will give a team demonstration on "Treating Vegetable Seeds to Control Seed-Borne Diseases." Their expenses are paid by the Burpee Seed company. The trio are pictured as they left Lubbock by train Thursday afternoon. They will spend a day or two in New York City before the meeting in Washington opens. (Staff Photo.)

Solons Plan Study Of Cotton Quota Setup

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—A meeting to see whether something can be done for hardship cases under the new cotton quota will be held Monday by the cotton subcommittee of the House Agriculture committe.

No hearing is planned but Agriculture department officials have been asked to sit in.

Committee officials said farmers in some areas have been hit hard by their cotton acreage allotments under the 21,000,000 acre quota.

They said the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Pace (D-Ga) wants to see what can be done about some adjustments without changing the national quota itself.

The meeting originally was planned for Memphis this week, where state directors of the department's Production and Marketing Administration (PMA) are meeting, but it was postponed and changed to Washington because PMA officials could not get necessary information together in time.

13-YEAR DREAM TO COME TRUE

Group To Be Honored Tonight At West Texas Museum Dinner

A 13-year-old dream will officially come true at 7 p.m. today as members and guests of the West Texas Museum association attend a dinner in the almost completed Texas Tech museum.

Honoring all those who had a part in completing the new two-story structure after planning since 1936, the ranch style dinner will be attended by approximately 150 persons, mostly from Lubbock.

Actual opening of the museum for public use will not be made until some time during early 1950, according to Curator W. C. Holden, since a great deal of interior work is yet to be completed.

Board Members To Be Guests

Tonight's dinner will be attended by several members of the Tech board of directors as honored guests. To be held on the second floor of the north wing of the building, the dinner will be provided by the museum association.

Built in an effort to give visual evidence of South Plain-Panhandle history, the Tech museum is constructed along the same Spanish achitectural lines as other buildings on the campus. It is located across the street northeast of the central circle on Tech campus.

Dean of Men James G. Allen will deliver the principal address tonight, officially thanking all those who had a part in constructing the new building. Dr. Holden will outline policies and plans for operating the museum and several committees will be appointed.

Committees Selected

Standing committees, with their chairmen, which will be officially set in motion tonight include the pioneer rotunda, James H. Milam; accessions, Mrs. W. P. Clement; donor, Roy Furr; murals, W. C. O'Mara; musical programs, Dr. Gene Hemmle; ceramics and objects of art, F. A. Kleinschmidt; lecturers and special programs, Dr. E. N. Jones; and committee to plan the formal opening, Dean Allen.

The formal opening itself probably will be staged next fall in conjunction with the college's Silver Anniversary celebrations, Dr. Holden has announced.

Plans for erection of the museum actually dates back farther than 1936, the year in which funds for the foundation of the building were raised. That drive was followed by one on the campus during the war years, while an appropriation by the state legislature last year allowed final completion of the project.

Britain will buy all of Australia's gold production, paying dollars for it.

Witness In Bridges Case Declares He Quit Reds Because Party Put 'Russia Over Anything Else'

By CONSTANCE HITCHCOCK
INS Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—A witness in the Harry Bridges perjury trial told today how he quit the Communist party because it "placed interest in the Soviet Union over anything else."

The testimony was given by Stanley Benjamin Hancock, a former Erie, Pa., and San Diego, Cal., newspaperman who had previously testified for the government that he attended a Communist "fraction" meeting with Bridges and others in San Diego in 1935.

Wanted To "Help" People

Hancock was asked by government Attorney William Paisley to explain why he joined the Communist party and why he quit it. Hancock testified:

"I was greatly concerned over the widespread hunger in our country. I was shaken by the condition of our people and I considered efforts to help them halfhearted. I wanted to do something for them.

"I left because I learned that the Communist party was not interested in human beings but placed their interest in the Soviet Union over anything else."

Under cross-examination by Defense Attorney James MacInnis, the witness told of experiences in various California strikes after quitting a San Diego newspaper job in 1933.

MacInnis brought out that Hancock had been arrested four and possibly six times, once for turning on water in homes where it had been turned off for non-payment of bills.

Defense Hits Snag

MacInnis, seeking to soften the effects of Hancock's testimony that he was present with Bridges at the Communist meeting in San Diego, ran into a snag when he asked:

"Could a non-Communist be invited to a 'fraction' meeting"

Hancock replied:

"No sir, not to my knowledge."

Under questioning by MacInnis, the witness told in detail of economic conditions in California in the depression years, testifying to low wages of agricultural workers and use of California's criminal syndicalism law to jail strike leaders.

Called "Reluctant" Witness

Hancock was described out of court by chief Prosecutor F. Joseph Donohue as a "reluctant" witness but Hancock denied this.

He said he quit his job on an Erie newspaper last Friday and that he had never told his employer about his past Communist affiliations.

Under MacInnis' questioning Hancock said he was asked to be a witness at the trial last September by Immigration Inspector William Kaiser who went to Erie to meet him.

The witness said he later flew to San Diego with Kaiser and interviewed various persons in connection with the case.

The questioning brought out the information that Hancock was not served with a subpoena to act as a witness until after he reached San Francisco.

Completes Cross-Examination

MacInnis completed his cross-examination late in the afternoon and the witness was dismissed after the government asked just one question on re-direct examination.

The question was put by associate prosecutor Paisley who asked exactly how many Communist party meetings Hancock attended with Bridges and Henry Schmidt, co-defendant in the case.

Hancock said he could recall attending only one such meeting with the pair and that that was in San Diego in 1935.

Perjury charges against Bridges, Schmidt and J. R. Robertson, all officials of the CIO longshoremen's union, are based on their testimony at Bridges' naturalization hearing in 1945. The government charges they lied when they swore that Bridges had never been a member of the Communist party.

Plea Of Innocent Entered For Dazed Slayer Of Three Children

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Dec. 8 (U.P.) — An automatic plea of innocent was recorded today for John S. Conner who killed his three children because he didn't want them to suffer the mental agonies which have tortured him.

The $7,000-a-year engineer stood in dazed silence at his police court arraignment on triple murder charges until Judge James R. Duncan asked if he wanted a lawyer to defend him.

"No, I don't think so," Conner replied.

Because he appeared without an attorney, an automatic plea of not guilty was entered for Conner, and he was held for action by the Alexandria grand jury.

Judge Duncan indicated a lawyer would be appointed for him despite his apparent desire to make no defense.

Conner had told police he killed his children for fear they had inherited mental taints that periodically plunged him into fits of depression. At his arraignment today——after a night under close watch in the Alexandria jail—he appeared worried and dazed but displayed no other signs of emotions.

Psychiatrists have said that expert treatment might have saved him from the mental slump that made him slay his son and two daughters.

Soldier Finds Baby Girl Abandoned In Bus Station Locker

HOUSTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—A baby girl, about two weeks old, was found abandoned in a bus terminal parcel locker this afternoon.

Police said the baby apparently was in good health. They had no idea how long the child had been in the locker.

The child was found by Pvt. James A. Lawson, 23, Fort Bliss, who was enroute to his Georgia home on furlough.

Blanket Covers Child

Lawson said he opened a locker at the Greyhound bus terminal and found the baby, wrapped in a pink blanket. A bottle of milk was lying beside the child.

"I was so flabbergasted I didn't know what to do," he said.

He called a porter who notified police, who took charge of the child.

The locker in which the baby was found was about a foot square at the opening but about three feet long.

Arguing Couple Seen

Mrs. Lydia Rose, 66, Almeda, told police she saw a couple with a baby arguing in the terminal about 1:45 p. m. The child was found at 3:05 p. m.

Mrs. Rose said that during the argument the woman made the man take the baby, wrapped in a pink blanket. She said the couple left about 2:15 p. m. and reappeared a short time later, still arguing.

When the woman returned, Mrs. Rose said, she was carrying a paper shopping bag, similar to one which was found on the bottom of the locker in which the child was found.

Blaze Routs Guests From Hotel In Fort Worth; Damage Slight

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8. (U.P.)—More than a dozen guests were routed from the La Salle hotel here today by a blaze that was quickly extinguished by firemen.

Damage was estimated at only $50 to the hotel, and firemen attributed the blaze to a gas heater being placed to close to a wall in one room.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Ida M. Johnson, 72, when she went to her room and found it in flames.

There were 3,997 British Scouts camped in foreign countries this year, not counting 800 Rover Scouts who went to the Moot in Norway.

WOULD GIVE NATION WEDGE

U. S. Recognition Of Communist China Urged By Naval Official

By GEORGE L. SCOTT
INS Staff Correspondent

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 8.—Immediate recognition of Communist China by the United States was recommended today by Commander William T. Greenhalgh of the U. S. Navy as a "foot-in-the-door" wedge against Soviet aggression in the Far East.

Commander Greenhalgh, who served with occupational forces in China, Japan and Korea, declared that this action should be taken to "save face" with the Chinese masses against the time when Russia attempts to collectivize China.

Revolt Is Possible

It was Greenhalgh's opinion that the small land holders in China will bitterly resist, through revolution any move by the Soviet to move them from their "good earth." He declared:

"If we do not join Great Britain in recognizing Communist China, our opportunity to keep a foot in the door to China will have vanished. When the time to be recognized as a friend arrives, our opportunity will have vanished.

"U. S. prestige in the Far East is on the wane. We are losing out by default.

"If China falls completely to the Communists, it is entirely possible that all of the Far East, including Japan, will fall with her."

Reds May Handle Problems

The naval commander, traveling over the nation with the Armed Forces Industrial college, said frequently voiced doubts over the ability of the Communists to absorb China should not be banked upon.

Greenhalgh said it was his opinion that the Soviets recognize the difficulties of setting up a collective system on the land in China similar to that in Russia.

He believes they will bolster their Asiatic fortress by creating a ring of buffer states through Manchuria, Mongolia and Sinkiang and use China as a base for propaganda and guerrilla warfare against other East Asia countries.

This tactic would be similar to their guerrilla war against Greece.

The naval commander said:

"No one can safely predict the outcome. A new era of nationalism is under way. Progress of a social upheaval cannot be denied. The entire colonial system, as we have known it, is nearing an end."

Greenhalgh pointed out that Russia alone is the great colonizing nation.

"In failing to capitalize on this situation," Greenhalgh said, "we have neglected to use one of our greatest propaganda weapons. Instead of branding Russian conquered countries as satellite nations, we should call them colonies and drape the hated robes of imperialism around Soviet Russia."

The U. S. population increased 28 per cent between 1924 and 1949.

Refugee Cites Older Reason For Fleeing

HOUSTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—Dr. Tibor Eckhardt, former member of the Hungarian parliament, today told how he encountered a fellow refugee in New York City.

Eckhardt went into the barber shop of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. The barber he chose turned out to be his old barber back in Budapest.

"So you had to flee the country?" Eckhardt said he asked.

"Yes," came the reply.

"Was it from the Nazis or the Communists?"

"Neither," said the barber, it was from my wife."

Northern Wheat Belt 'Alarmed' By Drouth

DENVER, Dec. 8 (INS)—The weather man gave little promise today of moisture which might alleviate a drouth which has held the wheat belt east of the Rockies in its grip since early fall.

Nearly nine weeks have gone by without an appreciable amount of rain in most of Montana, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Eastern Colorado, Western Kansas and the southern wheat states.

Crop experts have reported the situation "somewhat alarming" but it is not considered grave as yet. Winter wheat stands in some sections is doing well where sub-soil moisture is present but the general crop prospect is far from good.

C. W. Lane, crop analyst for the Santa Fe railway system said that topsoil over the entire west and southwest is "beginning to show the effects of open fall weather and two months without moisture."

Ranges are dry throughout most of the Rocky Mountain states.

Wife Of Illinois Governor To Obtain Divorce, Paper Claims

CHICAGO, Dec. 8. (INS) — The Chicago Herald-American today reported that Mrs. Ellen Borden Stevenson will obtain a divorce from Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois early next week.

In a telephone interview with the American from her hotel just outside Las Vegas, Nev., where she is establishing residence, Mrs. Stevenson refused to state what grounds would be offered in her divorce suit. She said:

"I really can't say, but aren't they usually mental cruelty out here?"

The suit is being prepared by Attorney John Sinai of Reno.

Burglars Rob Second Electra Liquor Store

ELECTRA, Dec. 8 (AP)—Prying air conditioners loose from windows is becoming an increasingly popular way of performing a robbery in this area.

Today robbers used that means of entering the Dee Jones liquor store on highway 287 a mile west of here. They took $900 in cash and five quarts of whiskey.

Earlier this week the Ed Albus liquor store here was robbed of $600 in liquor by thieves who gained entrance via the air conditioner window.

Revisions In U. S. Tax System Urged At Bankers' Convention

By JAMES RUSSELL
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Dec. 8. — The Investment Banker's association of America wants to change the federal government's tax structure so that no taxpayer would have to give the government more than half of his earnings.

That recommendation was included in a report from the IBA's federal taxation committee adopted by delegates to the association's 38th annual convention at today's session in Hollywood.

The committee added that it's likely that Congress will adopt at least part of its tax revision proposals next year.

Other changes the committee suggested to Uncle Sam include relief from double taxation of corporate income and a different tax treatment of capital gains.

The report declared that revision of the federal tax structure is essential if the United States is to continue to have "the prosperity of free enterprises." It added "If we have no prosperity, the government will lack vital revenue to carry on."

The convention is scheduled to adjourn tomorrow after the installation of Albert T. Armitage, of Boston, as president, succeeding Hal Dewar, of San Antonio.

In other actions today, the IBA's governmental securities committee urged that a savings bond sales campaign be launched early next year when veterans begin receiving insurance dividends.

The committee said that purchases of "F" and "G" bonds "have declined sharply this year." It said the "E" bond sales have held up well.

Catholic Judge Claims Church Allegiance, Duties Do Not Clash

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Dec. 8 (INS) —A Catholic judge who recently declared "I may be a Catholic but I am a citizen of the United States first" today toned down his previous statement.

District Judge Luis E. Armijo today said he found no conflict in allegiance to the church and his duties as a civil officer.

In his previous statement Armijo had said he would not be bound by the Pope's declaration that Catholic civil judges could not divorce Catholic couples.

The judge was sternly criticized in the Catholic press following his original statement.

New Varieties Of Peaches Developed At Texas Stations

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 8. (INS)—A new variety of peach "which really does have the skin you love to touch" is among the several hundred new ones being tested at Texas Agricultural Experiment stations at Stephenville and Lindale.

Research workers at state and federal experiment stations in many parts of the nation are busy trying to develop such new varieties that will outproduce and yield more desirable fruit than the varieties now commonly known.

New Types Developed

They have come up with several outstanding new peaches.

In tests made at Stephenville, a new variety called Dixiegem looks very good, according to John Hutchison, associate extension horticulturist of Texas A & M college. The skin has a red blush with a yellow base, and it ripens four or five weeks before the Elberta.

Next in order of ripening is a new peach known as the Dixiered. This is the one with the skin you love to touch, according to the experts. It is not as large as the Dixiegem, but it is "most attractive in appearance." The trees tend to overbear and it is a good idea, they say, to thin the fruit early in the spring so the fruit left will attain full size.

A comparatively new variety which has been tested thoroughly throughout most of the state is Halehaven. It is a yellow freestone and the trees are unusually vigorous. In Central Texas it ripens from mid June to early July.

Improvements have been made on the old standby, Elberta. The new strain is known as the Sullivan Elberta. The improvement has added extra color and a slight tendency for the fruit to ripen earlier than the standard type.

Hutchison says the Frank variety is not new but if peaches are wanted right on into August, it fills the bill. It is a yellow clingstone peach that can be used for pickling and preserving and is also a good peach to use fresh.

These varieties will furnish fruit through the summer season and Hutchison says they are his recommended varieties for Central, East and North Texas. He says there are other good varieties but suggests use of the new ones.

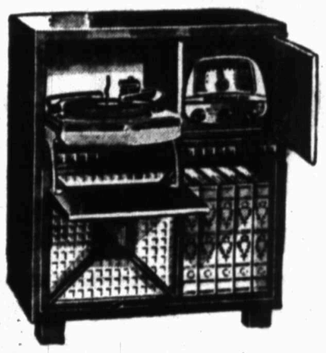

For the southern part of the state, a new variety known as Southland has done well under the climatic conditions common to that section. This peach is a yellow freestone and needs only 200 hours of cold weather during the dormant period to produce a good crop of fruit. Hutchison suggests southern part of the state try a few trees of this new creation.

In radio's earlier days, the more controls a receiving set had the more efficient it was thought to be.

BURLESON RETURNS FROM TOUR

Texas Solon Urges Limitation On Aid To Backward Countries

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—The president's so-called point four program for development of backward areas abroad should be limited to providing scientific "know how" and lending aid in health and education programs, Rep. Burleson (D-Tex.) said today.

A member of the House Foreign Affairs committee, Burleson returned recently from visiting Central and South American countries.

He left by automobile today for his home in Texas.

Needed Finances Lacking

He said that he found that while scientific "know how" and technical advisers were needed to expand industries in some countries, they were in no financial condition to employ such assistance.

"It's a noble thing to do what we can to improve the welfare of the less developed parts of the world," he told a reporter.

"But there is a practical consideration in regard to the extent we can lend assistance, and as to how we should go about it."

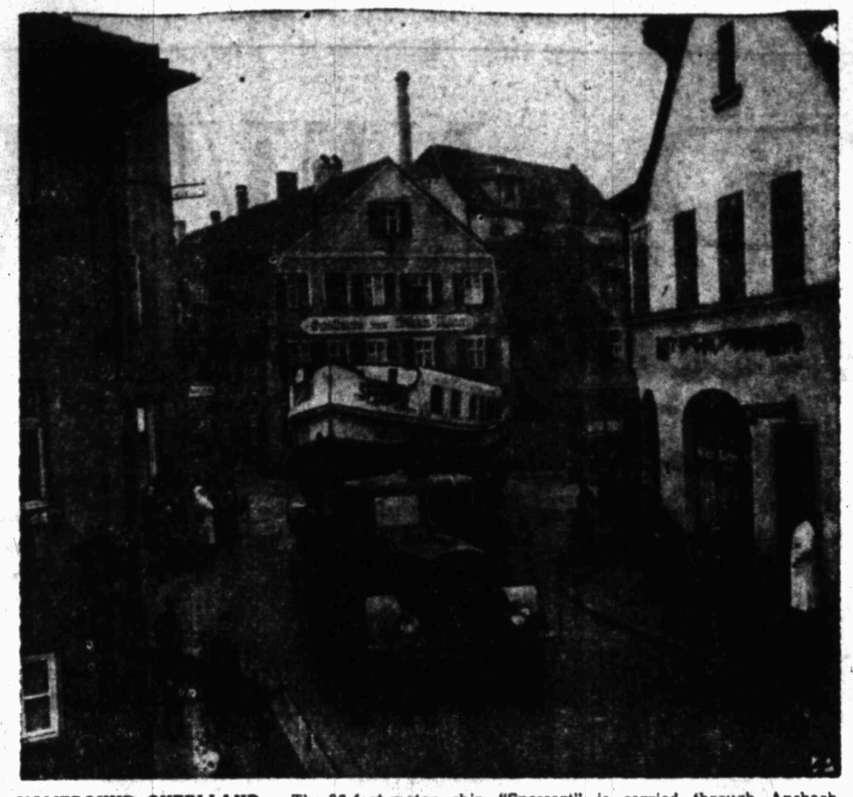

Any large scale American investments in such projects as construction of railroads or financing of mining developments in other countries, Burleson said, should be made by private individuals and companies.

Two bills dealing with the subject are pending before the House Foreign Affairs committee.

"One of these was introduced by Committee Chairman Kee (D-WVa.)," explained Burleson, "and more or less embodies the proposal of President Truman in the fourth point of his annual message to Congress last year.

"It's objective is to create what it describes as a 'favorable climate' for investment of private capital in development of the natural resources in these other lands. The measure is nuclear and nebulous, however, and leaves much latitude as to the definition of a 'favorable climate.'

"Under the Herter proposal, the U. S. government would act as an intermediary between American private investors and the foreign governments or foreign private companies seeking financial aid."

Texas Farmers Able To Boost Corn Crop By Use Of Hybrids

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 8 (INS) — The use of corn hybrids in Texas is enabling farmers to produce more corn per acre than was ever possible with the common varieties.

The results of corn tests conducted this year by the Texas Agricultural Experiment station at 17 widely-scattered locations show that farmers may expect even greater yield from newly-developed hybrids.

Full Use Delayed

The full use of hybrid corn by Texas farmers began only eight years ago.

J. S. Rogers, who is in charge of corn investigations at the experiment station, said that three hybrids tabbed Texas 24, 26 and 28 are showing the greatest promise.

Rogers recommended Texas 11-W for farmers preferring to plant white corn.

All the hybrids show a wide range of adaptability, Rogers said, and should give good results in any area where the older hybrids are now grown successfully.

The tests this year showed that Texas 24, 26 and 28 may generally be expected to produce from five to ten per cent more corn than the hybrids now available.

Texas 26 and 28 are particularly suited for the Blackland prairie and the western corn-growing regions of the state, Rogers said.

These two varieties were described as highly drought-resistant, and experiments have shown they will out-yield the other hybrids under conditions of limited moisture.

Texas 28 and 20 are recommended for East Texas, where they produced the highest test yields of any other varieties.

Outstanding Crops Cited

Rogers said that Texas 28 appears to be the real king of the hybrids, since it has produced outstanding yields wherever tested.

Texas 26 is the earliest of the new hybrids and produces a large yellow-dent grain that resembles Texas 18.

Texas 24 is superior to all of the Texas hybrids in standing ability and is well adapted to areas where lodging is a serious problem.

Texas 24 is also more resistant to earworms and ear rots than the other hybrids, Rogers declared.

More than 2,000 acres of the new hybrids were produced by seed growers in 1949, he added, so there should be no shortage of seed for farmers who place their orders early.

SUIT IS SETTLED

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8 (INS) — The $11,000 suit brought by restauranteur Fred Brosio against actress Gail Russell was dismissed today when it was announced that it had been settled out of court. Brosio claimed that Miss Russell had owed him the amount since 1946.

U. S. Contingent Of Beauties Enjoys Stopover In Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 8 (INS) — America's pretty "Lucia Bride" contingent arrived by plane in Copenhagen tonight enroute to Stockholm for next Tuesday's traditional pre-Christmas festival.

Danish photographers ignored Japanese Nobel prize winner Hideki Yukawa in their rush to snap pictures of Norma Freeman, of Chicago, Miss Lorraine Olsen of Seattle, and the others.

Miss Freeman, chosen as "Lucia's bride," said she was thrilled at the prospect of the Swedish festival of lights, an ancient and colorful pageant marking the beginning of the Christmas season.

One of her maids of honor, Miss Olsen, said "none of us plans to be a movie star, we've certainly been given enough publicity on this trip."

The contingent will stop over in Copenhagen and go on to Stockholm Saturday.

Traffic Officer Finds Kindness Unusual, Effective Method Of Controling Public

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The way the cop on the corner looks at it, you've got to treat the public like people.

The cop in this case is Pvt. Ray Taylor of the Washington traffic division. He guards life and limb at one of the busiest intersections in the world. Fourteenth and Pennsylvania, three blocks from where President Truman lives.

Taylor, who is tough enough to lick his weight in pedestrains, is one of the most popular officers in town.

Tough Words Absent

Unless it's necessary, he doesn't have a blackjack, a revolver or a tough word for anybody—and his boss, Capt. Lorain Johnson, will back me up on that.

The private, father of two and a man who claims he takes most of his orders from his wife instead of his captain, is only 31. He has a reputation of being able to smooth things out with his hand-waving and his whistle.

He's proved it time and again.

Not long ago, a local driver, who should have known better, made a left turn at the officer's corner. Taylor first gave the man a "hand signal."

Whistle Does Job

That didn't work, so he tooted his whistle. That worked.

"I had to give the man a ticket," the private said.

Later the offender, who apparently realized the cop on the corner had been pretty nice about it, came around and apologized in person.

Officer 863, as the private sometimes is known around the neighborhood, doesn't pull his punches when a punch is what is called for. He'd give his brother a ticket if the brother deserved it. In fact, some pretty big names in Washington have received "Taylor-made" tickets.

Mostly, though, he works on his theory that "people should be seen and not hurt," something he made up himself.

Walker Gets Break

"A guy behind the wheel of a car made of steel has a lot better chance of living than a guy who is walking across the street. I give the walker a break," he said.

But even in protection of the walker, the most polite copper in Washington keeps his manners.

"He'll get out his whistle on you if you walk against a light, but he'll "Sir" you to the point where you'll be humble and most likely wind up by thanking him for sirring you.

Woman Ignores Light

Not long ago a woman pedestrain took a chance against the lights at Taylor's corner. He hand-waved and that didn't do any good. He used the whistle.

The lady stopped and gave our friend a slice of her tongue. She added to the insult with:

"You young whipper-snapper, you. You changed the light on me."

The copper "Yes M'amed" her. She thanked him with "you dear boy, you," and went on her way.

Taylor easily handles the country drivers who come in here from Urich, Mo., Farmer City, Ill., and other places where traffic isn't much of a problem.

The officer kills 'em all with kindness.

Austin Man Shoots Estranged Wife, Kills Self, Official Says

VICTORIA, Dec. 8. (AP)—A justice of the peace said today that Joe L. Ludwick, 68, of Austin shot his estranged wife three times today, then killed himself at a ranch home 20 miles east of here.

Justice Alfred C. Baass said he would return a verdict of suicide in Ludwick's death.

Irma Ludwick, about 45, was in a critical condition at a hospital here tonight. She was shot three times in the neck.

Baass said that Mrs. Ludwick had been working as a nurse at the J. N. Keeran ranch for more than two months. He said Ludwick came to the ranch today and asked her to sign a deed on a home in Austin.

When she refused to sign the deed, Baass said, Ludwick shot her three times with a .38 caliber pistol and then fired a shot into his head. Baass said Ludwick fell dead in a hallway of the ranch home.

Except for certain free market sales, Czechoslovakia still rations all food.

AMA Levies $25 Dues For Fund To Fight 'Socialized Medicine'

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—American Medical delegates today levied $25 dues assessment on all members to raise $3 million to fight "socialized medicine" in 1950.

The AMA House of delegates voted for the first time in the organization's history to impose on the membership a system of dues, ranging up to $25 a year. The delegates agreed to collect the maximum from the 120,000 active members for the first year.

The action was unanimous. The only controversy that arose was over the method of collection. The delegates finally agreed that local medical societies shall collect the dues and send them to the AMA secretary.

Session Closes Today

The dues issue was the main one in the five-day AMA clinical session, which closes Friday.

The delegates went on record against the Senate bill providing for free medical examinations and free treatment in needy cases for school children.

Dues collection is a radical departure from previous AMA practice. It was resorted to because a $25 "voluntary assessment" imposed some time ago had not produced entirely satisfactory results.

Large Fund Used

Dr. Louis H. Bauer, of Hemstead, N. Y., chairman of the AMA board of trustees, revealed, however, that $1,394,000 had been spent from funds collected through the voluntary assessment. The money was used in the battle against President Truman's compulsory national health insurance program and in promoting voluntary health insurance plans.

Dr. Bauer said about the same amount probably would be spent in 1950 in continuing the program, which is aimed at educating the public on the AMA point of view.

He warned that compulsory health insurance would "encourage chronic illness" and said doctors want to see a three-fold expansion of voluntary health insurance to cover persons over 65, individuals as well as groups, and illness which is financially "catastrophic" to the sufferer.

Legion Head Speaks

The business session that adopted the dues plan heard George Craig, national commander of the American Legion, assure physicians that the Legion was on "the same team" with them in the fight against nationalization of medicine.

Dr. Bauer explained that the $25 assessment is only for 1950, and that the trustees may recommend a smaller amount next year.

The plan provides that an active member delinquent for one year in payment of dues would forfeit his membership 30 days after formal notice if he failed to pay up within that time.

Faster Than Sound Flight Like Sitting In Chair, Pilot Claims

DAYTON, O., Dec. 8. (INS)—How does it feel to fly 100 miles an hour faster than the speed of sound?

According to Capt. Charles (Chuck) Yeager, who has done just that, it can be compared to "sitting in your armchair at home."

The 26-year-old Hamlin, W. Va., test pilot said in an exclusive interview for the Dayton Daily News:

"Anybody can fly faster than sound as long as he wants to, so far as the physical effects are concerned."

Captain Describes Flight

Capt. Yeager described the flight as sitting in your armchair while the earth spins on its axis at a speed which reaches 1,035 miles an hour.

However, he said the movement is hardly noticeable since "everything about you is traveling at the same speed."

Capt. Yeager did not say where or when the faster than sound flight was held.

He added that the noises of the aircraft's engine, instead of leaving the plane, stay with it...The plane is traveling faster than the sound.

Jurists Urge Tough Sex Violation Laws

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8. (INS)—Jurists testifying before a state assembly committee today proposed that California unload its sex criminals on other states.

It was suggested that sex violation penalties be made so severe—including death in the gas chamber—that sex offenders will flee California.

Harsh penalties were called for by Superior Judges Robert H. Scott, W. Turney Fox and William McKay and Municipal Judge Arthur S. Guerin.

Judge Guerin contended that the "vast army of sex degenerates living in California" would not leave until laws covering their offenses are made more stringent.

He added that after a study of the probation reports of more than 100 sex offenders he was "forced to conclude there is no cure for them."

Another jurist, Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke, expressed the opinion that legalized prostitution "would have a beneficial effect to a greater degree than the death penalty."

But he added:

"However, I do not advocate it."

Los Angeles District Attorney William A. Simpson backed the death penalty and opposed legalized prostitution. He called the state's sexual psychopath law "only a refuge for people who are criminals."

He added:

"I'm not so sure that they (sex offenders) are sick people. They are close to the category of mad dogs and there is justification for disposing of them."

Carlsbad Potash Firms Refuse To Reopen Strike Negotiations

CARLSBAD, N. M., Dec. 8. (INS)—The answer of Carlsbad potash firms to union requests for the reopening of negotiations is still "no."

Members of the International Mine, Mill and Smelter workers CIO union have been striking for higher wages and better working conditions since Nov. 19.

Officials of the potash firms said they will not renew bargaining discussions until the union complies fully with provisions of the Taft-Hartley act.

THREAT TO CROPS UNDER FIRE

Agriculture Department Plans Fight Against Weed Menace

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—The Agriculture department announced today establishment of a new division to probe and curb the farmers' enemy—the weed.

Dr. Robert M. Salter, chief of the Department's Bureau of Plant industry, soil and agricultural engineering, made the announcement in a speech to the sixth annual meeting of the north central weed control conference at Sioux Falls, S. D. He said:

"We are deeply concerned about the tremendous drain of the weed menace on agriculture.

To Set Up Study

"It is our intention that the establishment of the weed research division will give the emphasis to study of this important problem that its seriousness merits.

"All work on weed research in the bureau, regardless of the crops involved, and including work on machinery for weed control, will be coordinated by the weed division."

Meanwhile, Agriculture Secre- Brannon predicted that farmers next year will be paying relatively higher prices than they receive for the first time since 1941.

Brannon also asserted that farm cooperatives represent one of the strongest bulkwarks against "state socialism and Communism," and should continue to receive special tax treatment.

The secretary, speaking before the Consumers' Co-operative association at Kansas City, Mo., forecast net farm income next year will drop about one third below the postwar peak of 1947, dipping for the third consecutive year.

In connection with the benefits of farm cooperatives, he declared:

"These benefits have been shared even with that minority of business which blindly and selfishly persists in seeing our cooperatives as the institutions of Socialism and, yes, even Communism. Nothing could be further from he factual truth."

The department announced the purchase of an additional 20 million pounds of wheat for export to Turkey.

The flour is to replace a like amount which the department reported purchased on Dec. 2 but which sellers subsequently were unable to deliver.

Longtime Fort Worth Union Leader Is Claimed By Death

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8. (U.P.)—James Edward Turnbow, 64, who served as head of the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers local No. 156 longer than any other president, died today.

Turnbow had worked for the city 22 years as electrical foreman, or in other capacities. Until last year, he was president of his union—an office he held for 10 years.

Court Upholds U. S. Claim Of Tax Fraud

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP) A federal tax court has upheld the government's huge tax-fraud claims against Chicago gangster Frank Nitti, who killed himself in 1943.

Although it left room for some recomputation, the court yesterday held that the Revenue bureau was justified in seeking $441,237 for income Nitti received through labor racketeering and gambling ventures, but did not report for tax purposes.

The sum represents $294,158 in evaded taxes and $147,079 in penalties.

The court noted in its opinion that the gangster—whom it called Frank Nitto, but who was more widely known as Nitti—committed suicide in March, 1943, a day after he was indicted on labor racketeering charges.

Two of his associates—union leader George Browne and Browne's "personal representative" William Bioff were officials of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and Motion Picture Machine Operators (IATSE).

The court said Nitti, Browne and Bioff participated in a racket which involved collecting money from theater executives in return for immunity from "vigorous union demands" against the theaters.

It appeared unlikely that the government could collect the full amount it claims.

The gangster's own holdings when he died amounted to $146,490; in addition he had given his son Joseph $29,970 in government bonds and his wife $125,000 in cash.

The court held that his wife is liable up to the full $125,000, but that the son is not liable on his father's tax deficiency.

Air Chief Defends B-36 'Atom' Bomber

BEAUMONT, Dec. 8 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Roger Ramey told the Beaumont Lions club today the B-36 bomber is "the best bomber we have."

The Eighth Air Force commander indirectly answered criticism of the giant atom bomber by saying practice maneuvers have shown it to be far from defensless against fighter planes and radar.

He said successful maneuvers have been held at altitudes as high as 40,000 feet.

ATOMIC WARFARE DEFENSE PLANS PUSHED

AEC, Armed Services Report Studies Underway On Decontamination Of Radioactive Equipment

By GLENN M. GREEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 — The Atomic Energy commission and the armed forces reported tonight that searching studies are under way to help the doughboy decontaminate "hot" equipment and areas in atomic combat zones.

Only a one-sentence hint of the developments was given by the AEC in a report issued today on the handling of radioactive wastes. Actual work on the developments is being carried on by the Army and Navy.

Atom Defense Studied

The report coincided with an official announcement from Germany that officers and men of the U. S. occupation forces are undergoing an intensive atomic defense training program geared to a 1950 deadline.

An armed forces spokesman in Washington said:

"All three branches of the service are working together, and more or less steady progress is being made. The Navy is concerned with shipboard and water decontamination at its Treasure Island, Calif., base.

"The Army is conducting studies on the land phase at the Edgewood Arsenal, Md., chemical warfare service."

Neither the services nor the AEC would elaborate on the exact nature of the decontamination developments.

A high-ranking Army officer said that training at a special school located in the center of the U. S. zone of occupation is geared to a strategy of atomic defense by early 1950.

Hope To Save Millions

However, armed forces spokesmen emphasized that the training of Army, Air Force and Navy personnel at the school "carries no suggestion" that the U.S. is preparing to drop an atom bomb "on anyone."

The AEC announcement on decontamination said:

"At Oak Ridge and other laboratories, the development of better methods of decontaminating buildings, equipment and general areas is under investigation.

"This work will be useful not only in the atomic energy program but also to the armed forces in developing means of decontaminating equipment in combat zones."

The agency said it is using strippable films and special paint on the walls of "hot laboratories" at the Argonne, Ill., and Berkeley, Calif., laboratories to prevent permanent contamination of the walls.

It said it hopes to save a million dollars a year in the near future by a 50 per cent reduction in the amount of dangerous liquid atomic wastes it now stores in underground tanks at Hanford, Wash.

Auto, Truck Crash Into Motel; One Person Killed, Three Hurt

LONG BEACH, Calif., Dec. 8 (INS) — An auto and a truck collided early today on a rainswept street and skidded into a motel, bringing death to one driver and serious injury to three other persons.

Dead was Sylvester Quint, 38, auto driver. Injured were Mr. and Mrs. Lyman W. Middleton of Waterloo, Ia., and truck driver Beeny Ogle of Bell, Calif.

The two vehicles smashed into the motel room occupied by the Middletons, completely wrecking the building. Both Mr. and Mrs. Middleton were described in "fair" condition at Seaside hospital.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—Cotton futures turned lower today on selling influenced by the Dept. of Agriculture forecast placing the 1949 cotton crop at 16,034,000 bales. This was 510,000 bales above the official November forecast and a good deal larger than anticipated by traders.

Losses extended to 85 cents a bale, but the market subsequently recovered partially on mill buying and short covering. General sentiment among traders was that more cotton will go into the loan than previously expected. Some dealers thought holders of spot cotton might sell more freely so long as prices remained above the loan.

In early dealings most old crop deliveries established new highs for the season on aggressive covering for mill and export accounts.

STOCK MARKET HOLDS STEADY

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—Fast stepping trade produced only minor price changes in the stock market today.

In one of the liveliest sessions of the year, most leading shares showed only fractional changes. Gains outnumbered losses at the closing bell by a moderate margin.

Business was excellent, with the day's turnover at 1,720,000 shares. This compared with 1,630,000 shares Wednesday and the year's high of 2,020,000 shares touched a week ago.

U. S. Steel was an easy first on the active list, largely by virtue of a special offering of 50,000 shares at 25⅞.

The 50,000-share block of steel—which was rumored to have been offered by an out-of-town seller—was snapped up in 15 minutes or so.

Steel common opened ⅛ lower at 25⅞ on transfer of 5,000 shares but finished the day ⅛ ahead at 26⅛.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at 69.5. An advance in the industrial group was counterbalanced by declines in the railroad and utility groups.

Rails ran into a little selling trouble. Union Pacific lost 1⅝ at 82, and fractional declines were posted for Pennsylvania 14⅛, and Nickel Plate 93⅝.

Chicago and North Western Common lost ⅛ at 9⅛ and the preferred ⅞ at 24⅞ in the wake of omitted dividends for both issues. No payments have been made this year.

Several carriers struck out on their own with minor gains, including Canadian Pacific at 15, and Rock Island 40⅛.

Most steels and motors slipped a bit, among them Republic Steel at 23⅝, Youngstown Sheet 74¼, General Motors 69, Chrysler 61, and Studebaker 34.

Closing higher were Goodyear (up 1⅝ at 43⅜), Goodrich, Firestone, Sears Roebuck, Admiral Corp. (New), American Telephone, Peoples Gas Light and Coke, American Smelting, Dow Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, American Woolen, Armour, Trans-America, Continental Motors, Gulf Oil, and Paramount Pictures.

Lower were U. S. Rubber; Lockheed, Southern California Edison, Phelps Dodge, American Cyanamid, Union Carbide, Texas Co. and Warner Bros.

Higher in the curb were the preferred issues of Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Kaiser-Frazer, Pancoastal Oil, International Products, Humble Oil, Cities Service, and American Republics.

Pushed back a bit were Imperial Oil, McLiler-Wohl, and Atlas Plywood. Sales of 430,000 shares compared with 440,000 Wednesday.

Railroad bonds improved. U. S. governments showed only minor price changes in over-the-counter dealings.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—Moderate selling pressure sent grains down a bit without causing any serious losses on the board of trade today. Wheat was about the weakest cereal throughout the session.

Small scale hedging pressure served as a depressing influence in wheat. More cash wheat has come to market recently particularly in Gulf of Mexico ports.

Wheat closed ⅛-1⅛ lower, December $2.19; corn was ¾-1⅛ lower, December $1.27⅞-1.28, oats were ⅛-1⅛ lower, December 75⅛, rye was 1 to 2 cents lower, December $1.42, soybeans were 1⅝ to 3 cents lower, December $1.31, and lard was unchanged to 3 cents lower, December $10.12.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8 (AP)—Wheat No. 1 hard, 2.36-42.
Oats No. 2 white 92¼-93.
Corn No. 2 white, 1.63-65, nominal.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.30-35.

Tech Officials Study Plans For 1950 Summer Program

Course schedules and departmental budgets for the 1950 Summer session at Texas Technological college were discussed at a meeting of deans, department heads, and administrative officials at 4 p. m. Thursday in Aggie auditorium.

Courses for the summer months will be offered in accordance with a current survey among students expecting to attend school during that time. Those subjects for which the most preference is stated will be offered so far as possible, according to Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of the college.

Bulletin for the summer session will be released some time in February, he said, and the college catalog for the 1950-51 long session is scheduled for printing in April.

Expansion Of Texas U. Medical Facilities Studied By Regents

HOUSTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—Increasing the University of Texas' participation in the $100,000,000 Texas medical center was listed as a major objective of the school's board of regents.

Board Chairman Dudley K. Woodward, Dallas, told reporters of the objective as he and other regents inspected university property here.

The group visited the university's school of dentistry, the M. D. Anderson hospital for cancer research, and several pieces of property recently willed to the university by the late Will Hogg, Houston oilman.

At noon the group met with the Harris county legislative delegation and discussed forthcoming appropriations requests of $2,397,000 for the dental school and $1,350,000 for the Anderson hospital, a radiological institute and an isotope laboratory.

Other projects planned by the university for construction at the medical center include a postgraduate school of medicine and a school of public health.

The state legislature is expected to consider appropriations requests for the dental and hospital projects next month.

Woodward and eight other regents were to leave for Galveston late this afternoon. They will inspect the university's school of medicine there tomorrow and Saturday while holding a regular board meeting.

O'DONNELL, Dec. 8 (Special)—Funeral services for C. H. Doak, 76-year-old retired banker of O'Donnell who died at 7:30 p.m. today in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Major Rodgers of Vista, Calif., after a long illness, will be held Saturday in Vista, relatives here have been notified.

Record Crop Grown

break to those with little previous land in cotton.

Brannan has proposed rigid marketing quotas on the 1950 crop. Growers will vote on quotas at a referendum Dec. 15. Before they can be put into effect they must be approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting. Under a quota program excess sales would be subject to a stiff penalty tax.

The national crop estimate was 510,000 bales more than the 15,524,000 bales forecast a month ago. It compared with 14,877,000 produced last year, and with the 10-year (1938-47) average of 11,306,000.

Record crops in Texas, California, Arizona and New Mexico accounted for 50 percent of this year's crop compared with 31 percent for the 10 year average.

Dallas Man Retires After 42 Years As A Post Office Worker

DALLAS, Dec. 8. (AP)—J. B. Mason, 60, who has carried the U. S. mail in everything from saddlebags to a helicopter, retired today after 42 years in the postal service.

He delivered mail by helicopter while visiting in Los Angeles in 1948.

Shivers May Call Session In January

AUSTIN, Dec. 8 (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers said today the legislature's special session likely would not be called until late in January.

There was some possibility the lawmakers could not be summoned to the extraordinary meeting until February. The date depends on when a report rounding up needs of state hospitals and special schools can be drawn and submitted to the governor.

Official surveys to determine these needs are under way. A meeting of the state hospital board originally set for Dec. 19 to begin work on its pre-session recommendations has been put off until after Christmas.

The special session will be called primarily to provide operating funds for the state hospitals and special schools, and to consider the meeting of building and other needs. This and related topics, including finances, will be submitted to the session by Gov. Shivers.

He indicated today he might broaden the field of submissions if the session makes fast progress on the eleemosynary problem. He said he thought if the legislature got down to work it could finish in less than 30 days.

Senator Demands Major Slash In Federal Budget For 1951

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (INS)—Sen. Byrd, (D-W Va.) demanded tonight that President Truman slash $7.5 billion from the 1951 federal budget to head off "national insolvency" and "ultimate socialism."

The Senate's leading exponent of governmental economy also predicted that any presidential request for higher taxes would "deal a savage blow to free enterprise" and might lead to a major depression.

The senator proposed a budget of $36 billion for the fiscal year beginning July 1 which would cut defense spending by $2 billion and prune foreign aid and veterans programs by $1.5 billion each.

Official Named To Receive U. S. Prisoners From Reds

SEOUL, Dec. 8. (INS)—The senior attache of the U. S. embassy in Seoul was appointed today to receive two American ECA workers from the hands of North Korean Communists who have held the Americans prisoners since last September.

The men held in North Korea are Alfred T. Meschter of Kinderhook, N. Y., and Albert E. Willis of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Dr. Harold J. Noble, embassy attache in Seoul, will go to the Yoyan Station on the mid-peninsula border which divides North and South Korea, to receive the Americans when they are liberated by the North Koreans.

LEADER REPUDIATES CONFESSION

Five Defendants Plead Guilty In Bulgarian Titoist Treason Trial

By DIMITER MISHEV
Associated Press Staff Writer

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Dec. 8—Five more fellow defendants of Traicho Kostov, former Communist deputy premier, pleaded guilty in the Bulgarian Titoist treason trial today and threw blame on Kostov in the process.

(A British foreign office spokesman, commenting in London on Kostov's repudiation yesterday of the bulk of his pre-trial "confession," said: "It has happened in the past that these puppet shows have not gone according to plan.")

Ivan Stefanov, former finance minister, wound up a recital of guilt begun last night before the special seven-man court. He like Kostov, is charged with treason, espionage, treachery and sabotage —crimes punishable under Bulgarian law by death.

Another Pleads Guilty

Nikola Nachev, former Communist deputy construction minister and member of the ministerial council's financial and economic committee, pleaded guilty to similar charges.

The next to plead guilty was Boris Christov, for three years a Bulgarian commercial representative in Moscow.

Then came in succession:

Tsonov Tsonchev, former governor of the Bulgarian National bank, who said he personally delivered economic espionage information to U. S. Minister Donald R. Heath and a former American military attache named Colonel Yatceevich. The U. S. State department has denounced the Bulgarian charge that Heath was involved in the plotting as a crude and fanciful tale.

The U. S. Army Register does not list any officer named Yatcheevich.)

Nikola Pavlov, former administrative secretary of the Bulgarian Politburo, and a deputy of Kostov on the financial and economic committee.

Ivan Tutev, former foreign trade director.

They are among 11 former government and business leaders accused of plotting to overthrow Bulgaria's Communist regime and make the nation a vassal of Yugoslav Premier Marshal Tito. The trial follows by two months Hungary's execution of many persons, including former Foreign Minister Laszlo Rajk, on charges of similar plotting in Tito's behalf.

Stefanov told the court he had served for years as an agent of the British intelligence service and, among other things, turned over to Maj. Frank Goesling the 1946-47 state budget, "especially the expenses of state for military necessities."

He said Kostov shared with him the information from talks with Tito and other Yugoslav leaders "concerning our joint work in Bulgaria." He said the No. 1 defendant had agreed with the Yugoslav delegate to the United Nations, on the creation of a federation incorporating Bulgaria with the purpose of "strengthening political and economic relations with the western states."

Nachev identified himself also as a spy for Britain and said Kostov, his superior in the financial and economic committee, had close connections with the British intelligence service.

Christov, accused only of treason and espionage, admitted the charges and said he acted under Kostov's orders.

Students To Conduct Model Legislature

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (AP)—About 200 high school boys and girls registered here today for the third annual Hi-Y model legislature this weekend.

Big event of tomorrow's opening session will be selection of a governor from four candidates already chosen, from Fort Worth, Houston, Amarillo, and Corpus Christi. Oath of office is to be administered by Supreme Court Chief Justice J. E. Hickman. Gov. Allan Shivers will deliver the governor's message to the model assembly.

Dr. W. R. White, Baylor university president, will also address the students.

In tomorrow and Saturday committee meetings, deliberations on bills and resolutions introduced by various Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs will be debated.

Sen. G. C. Morris, acting lieutenant governor, and House Speaker Durwood Manford, will act as coaches of Senate and House, respectively. Assisting in coaching duties will be Noel K. Brown, senate parliamentarian, and Sen. Keith Kelly of Fort Worth in the Senate, and Austin Attorney William B. Cassrow and Abilene High school Principal Joe Humphrey in the House.

Candidates for governor are Melvin Henderson of Fort Worth, Gordon Marshall of Corpus Christi, Beach Mott of Houston and Charlie Thompson of Amarillo.

Officers already chosen in three previous training periods are:

Betty Hornbeck, Abilene, lieutenant-governor; Brownie Harsh, Houston, speaker of the House; Anne Collins, Tyler, secretary of the Senate; Sue Etchison, McAllen, clerk of the House; Joyce Johnson, Corpus Christi, reading clerk of the Senate; Bill Bramley, Abilene, reading clerk of the House; Rudy Guerrero, Galveston, chaplain of the Senate; and Edward T. Miller, Dallas, chaplain of the House.

Man Denies 'Grief' Slaying Of Doctor

LA CROSSE, Wis., Dec. 8. (INS)—Testimony ended today in the murder trial of Arnold Larson, chunky La Crosse auto salesman charged with the slaying of his family physician.

Judge Roland Steinle said he will ask the jury either for a first degree murder finding—which carries life imprisonment in Wisconsin—or an innocent verdict.

Both the defense and prosecution will make their concluding statements tomorrow.

Larson suddenly burst into tears when the defense attorneys rested their case at 1:40 p.m. He quickly regained his compusure.

The stocky La Crosse auto salesman, on the witness stand in his own defense, denied he ever had admitted slaying Dr. James E. McLoone, either to his pretty wife, Nola Larson, or to anybody else.

Larson Denies Quote

Larson even denied a widely circulated prosecution quote which had him saying:

"Some people build monuments for their kids. This is my monument for my son, Jimmy."

When his chief defense counsel, Arthur E. Sheridan quoted the statement to Larson, the salesman replied:

"That doesn't even make sense. I never said it."

The 35-year-old Larson is accused of firing four bullets into the doctor's back on Nov. 14, 1947, in a "grief" slaying for the death of 2-year-old Jimmy Larson, whom McLoone had attended.

Wife Adds Testimony

On Tuesday, Larson's wife, Nola, 27, allowed to testify against her husband, told the jury of 11 men and one woman that he had confessed the murder to her last Aug. 6. She claimed Larson told her: "I killed the . . ."

Today, Larson denied he ever made that or similar remarks to Nola or anybody else. He repeated his denials under cross examination of District Attorney Robert Johns.

One of the earliest magazine articles describing "how to build" a television receiver bears the date of July, 1928.

Texan Killed Under Collapsed Chimney

DAINGERFIELD, Dec. 8. (AP)—A shower of bricks from a toppling chimney at the Lone Star Steel plant killed a workman here today.

Fatally injured was Billy Lynn Crawford, 22, of New Boston, Tex., an electrician.

The top third of the 200-foot chimney collapsed. Plant officials were not able to immediately determine cause.

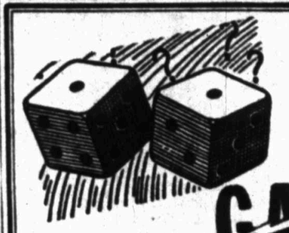

The giant chimney adjoins a blacksmith shop and a big stove which supplied hot air to the furnace.

The falling bricks caused no property damage.

Crawford was leaving work when the chimney gave way.

The accident occurred at 4:20 a. m.

POSTAGE WARNING IS SOUNDED

Post Office Prepares To Handle Huge Volume Of Christmas Mail

Watch that postage!

That was the advice of Lubbock postoffice officials who are setting machinery in motion to handle the huge volume of Christmas mail which can be expected at the postoffice.

Many persons still are under the impression, they said, that an unsealed card with no writing except the signature can be mailed for one and one-half cents.

Effective last Jan. 1, the postage for such greetings was increased to two cents. Such cards are classified as third class mail.

Have Forwarding Privilege

If cards are sent first class—sealed and bearing three-cent stamps—senders will have the forwarding privilege if the cards are sent to the wrong address and also will have directory service for location of proper address. Third class greetings are forwarded if the addressee has moved, but no directory service is given if incorrectly addressed otherwise.

Postal officials gave a hint for correct addressing of parcels.

Many well-intentioned persons address packages on both sides, but packages should be addressed on one side only. The reason is that the package may be stamped, perhaps with marking showing it is insured, and that stamping will not show on one side of the parcel.

Should Have Name

The package should contain the name of the sender—not just the sender's address. Postal regulations instruct employes to open packages not bearing the sender's name. If they find no name inside, they are instructed to stamp the package, "Sender Unknown."

Request was made that packages be packed and wrapped well, because volume has increased and packages may receive rough treatment. In some cases, packages will be under tremendous weight of other packages. One employe reminded that the postoffice clerk "is not being contrary" if he turns a package down. He is trying to assure that it will reach its destination.

One woman, when told a package should be wrapped better, informed the clerk she would go to a sub-station and the package would be accepted there.

Save Time, Trouble

Persons sending packages may save themselves time and trouble if they will be sure packages are wrapped securely before getting into one of the long lines sure to develop during the Christmas rush. They also may save themselves time if they realize that, under postage increases which went into effect Jan. 1, postage will be about 30 per cent higher than last Christmas, it was stated. Some persons have learned they did not have enough money for postage with them.

Packages may be sealed with gummed tape only if they bear a fourth class sticker on which printed information states that return postage is guaranteed and that the package may be opened for postal inspection if necessary.

"Don't use Christmas wrapping for outside wrapping of a package," was another piece of advice. Such wrapping often is not so sturdy as plain wrapping.

Use Special Delivery

If packages are mailed late, a special delivery stamp will assure their immediate delivery upon arrival in a town. Otherwise, they will be held until next regular delivery.

If a notice of attempted delivery is left at a home, it is advisable not to call at the postoffice for it until the following day, it was stated. Such a package may still be on a truck, or may be in the parcel post annex which has been established on Tenth street for handling of packages.

"No packages (insured or not insured) are to be left unless someone is home to receive them."

Packages may be sent by parcel post or air mail parcel post. Comparative prices for postage for a five-pound package being sent to Dallas are: Ordinary parcel post, 25 cents; air mail parcel post, 92 cents.

Special delivery rates for packages are: 25 cents, up to two pounds; 35 cents, from 2 to 10 pounds, and 45 cents, over 10 pounds.

To Add Extra Help

As soon as volume makes it advisable, an extra parcel post window will be established at the postoffice. Extra help is to be added.

Postal officials advised persons sending Christmas cards to mail them either at the postoffice, a sub-station or at one of the central boxes located downtown or at Broadway and Ave. Q, 19th and Ave. M, or 19th and Texas. Trucks call at the central boxes, but foot carriers pick up mail at the other boxes.

Sub-stations are located at Hemphill-Wells Co., Lavender and Hull Drug store, Mark Halsey Drug store No. 2 at Broadway and College, Henly's on North College, and Mark Halsey No. 5 at Nineteenth and Ave. Q.

The advice on mailing was given by Postmaster Amos Howard and several other postoffice representatives.

Top Mystery Writer To Adapt Broadway Hit, 'Detective Story,' For Hollywood

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Motion Picture Editor

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8.—The greatest of all modern mystery writers, Dashiell Hammett, will be with us shortly after Jan. 1 to adapt "Detective Story" for Willie Wyler at Paramount. Even the great Conan Doyle never created more popular detectives than Hammett's "Thin Man," "Fat Man," and "Sam Spade" characters—and he has made a fortune from all three via novels, movies and radio shows.

Although Hammett did not write "Detective Story,' the Broadway hit, he likes it so much he consented to write the treatment.

I'm glad William Wyler is throwing himself into a heavy working schedule. He and Margaret Tallichet were so broken up over the death of their little boy, and work is the only solace for Willie right now.

Actress Gets Role

One of my favorite young actresses, Barbara Del Geddes, who has been in New York with her husband and daughter, has herself the top femme role in "Port of Entry" and a chance to be directed by Elia Kazan.

Barbara heads for New Orleans where "Port of Entry" will start within 11 days with her, Richard Widmark, as a young health officer, a different type of character for him, and Paul Douglas in the top male roles.

Producer Sol C. Siegel, in casting a vote for Barbara, remembered "I Remember Mama" and "The Long Night" and forgot "Caught" which she made with James Mason.

Furs to Be Sold

Those gorgeous furs worn by some of the stars on the screen—the ermine coat worn by Betty Grable in "Lady in Ermine," the white mink coat which adorned Ginger Rogers in "Barkleys of Broadway," the silverblue mink stole that enhanced Virginia Mayo's beauty in "Always Leave Them Laughing," and Signe Hasso's black Russian broadtail coat in "A Double Life"—are all going under the auctioneer's hammer.

They belong to Al Teitelbaum, who rents all the Hollywood studios furs, and he's decided to sell his studio furs.

Girl's Eyes Okay

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Such good news that Danny Kaye's little daughter, Dena, who underwent an eye operation, is all right. She is with Danny and Sylvia in New York, and you can imagine their fright when their baby had trouble with her eye.

Writer Sara Hamilton and Mrs. Jules Stein are grandmothers again. The Larry Oppenheims, Sara's daughter and Doris' son, have welcomed a son in Kansas City. He'll be named Jules after his step-grandpa, the head of M.C.A.

Talk in our best British literary circles is that the friendship of George Bernard Shaw and Lady Astor has cooled.

Romance Gets Serious

Cleatus Caldwell's romance with Jimmy Van Heusen is getting serious. They were a foursome at Mocabo with Johnny Myer and Patti Lydon.

Maxie Rosenbloom back in town was cooing with Julianna Blue at Charley Foy's. She's no relation to Ben Blue, the entertainer there.

Welcome to Roy Rogers, whose comic strip will be syndicated in many newspapers by King features.

Bob Hope will play 40 state fairs in July and August at $20,000 a shot. That means the Palladium in London is out of luck.

Adolphe Menjou's son, Peter, who is a snappy 14, is starring in the El Rodeo school play, "The Kid Himself." Peter, who is a good looking youngster and nearly six feet tall, will be directed by Actor John Hoyt.

Former Light Seen

Betty Underwood, once the light in Scott Brady's eye, glimpsed at the Windsor with Marvin Finch, M'Liss McClure's ex.

Sarah Churchill's raves about Harvey Stone's comedy got him a contract with the London Palladium April 1, and maybe a royal command performance.

Maureen O'Hara has written a story for a national magazine, "How I Am Raising My Child in Religion," non-sectarian in appeal although Maureen is a good Catholic. It is a plea to all parents to give their children the joy and happiness of Sunday school and church activities and solid roots in their faith.
