Cluck wins area title; Bruton gets top office

Two members of the Dimmitt Young Farmers won honors at the Area I convention in Hereford Saturday.

JERRY CLUCK was named the area's Star Young Farmer for 1970, and Danny Bruton was elected Area I president for 1971.

Cluck was named earlier this year as the Dimmitt chapter's Star Young Farmer, and advanced to the Area I title Saturday in competition with other chapter winners from throughout the Texas Panhandle.

As the area winner, he will receive the major appliance of his choice from Southwestern Public Service Co. He also will compete for the title of Star Young Farmer of Texas at the annual convention of the Texas Young Farmers in January in Fort Worth.

Bruton was elected Area I president during the convention business session in Hereford Saturday afternoon. A past president of the Dimmitt Young Farmers, he served during the past year as the area vice-president.

BRUTON joins Glen Odom of Dimmitt in the Young Farmers' state executive ranks. Odom is currently serving as state vice-president. Another Dimmitt Young Farmer, Ben Holcomb, was the state president last year.

Another Castro County man — Larry Hausman of Dodd, who is a member of the Springlake

Two stores burglarized

Burglars took an estimated $700 worth of merchandise from Pat's Second Hand Store and $25 in cash from Ann's Steak House Saturday night.

"WE'RE pretty sure both jobs were done by the same people, and it had to be two or more," Police Chief W. W. Jones said.

Pat Patterson, owner of the second-hand store on East Bedford Street, reported to city police that the burglars had taken an eight-track stereo tape deck and speakers, a record player, a radio-phonograph combination, a camera, several radios, rings, necklaces, bracelets, gloves, billfolds and handbags.

Mrs. Ann Mayhew, owner of Ann's Steak House on Southwest Second Street, reported that the burglars took approximately $25 in change from a juke box in her cafe, but that nothing else seemed to be missing.

JONES SAID the burglars entered the second-hand store by breaking the glass in a garage-type door facing the alley. They entered the restaurant through a window that faces the same alley, he said.

Land Bank sets annual meeting

The Federal Land Bank Association of Dimmitt will hold its annual stockholders' meeting at 8:30 tonight (Thursday) in the First State Bank community room.

Dick Perrin, manager, said the main topics of business will be the annual financial report and the election of two new directors to the local FLB board.

Legion calls emergency meet

An emergency meeting of the Greer H. Estes Post 445, American Legion, has been called for tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock in the Legion hall.

THE executive committee of the Dimmitt Legion post said it is "very important that every member of the post and also the auxiliary members be present at the called meeting."

Local Legionnaires and auxiliary members will decide on important questions at tonight's called meeting, the executive committee said.

Mrs. Joyce Kemper's fate will be decided sometime after the first of the year by a new jury — and probably in another part of the state.

THE MURDER trial ended in a mistrial at 10:23 last Thursday night when the nine men and three women on the jury reported they were hopelessly deadlocked after more than nine hours of deliberation.

Judge John T. Boyd, who presided at the four-day murder trial in 64th District Court here, promptly declared a mistrial and dismissed the jury.

District Attorney Tom Hamilton of Plainview said he would reschedule the case for trial on the District Court's next criminal docket.

JUDGE BOYD said the next District Court criminal-trial session would be sometime after Jan. 1.

"And on this case, I will want to find a time when we can set aside a full week for the trial," Judge Boyd said.

However, Mrs. Kemper's defense attorney, George McCarthy of Amarillo, is expected to move for a change of venue — as he did before last week's trial started. Courts often grant changes of venue for re-trials.

MRS. KEMPER, an attractive, 33-year-old brunette, is charged with murder with malice in connection with the Aug. 14, 1969 death of her husband, Clois Wayne "Buddy" Kemper, 36. The state charged that she murdered her husband by running over him with the family car on a dirt road near their farm home in eastern Castro County.

Mrs. Kemper has pleaded innocent to the charge, stating that her husband's death was accidental. She is free on $25,000 bond, which was continued after the mistrial was declared last Thursday night.

After hearing two days of testimony, the jury was given the choice of four possible verdicts by Judge Boyd: (1) innocent, (2) guilty of murder with malice, (3) guilty of murder without malice, and (4) guilty of assault and battery.

THE DISTRICT attorney had waived the death penalty and was seeking a maximum sentence of life imprisonment.

Testimony of witnesses ended last Wednesday at 4:40 p.m., and the case went to the jury at 11:40 a.m. last Thursday, after Hamilton, McCarthy and special prosecutor Dee Miller finished their summations.

The jury studied the testimony of a dozen witnesses and looked over three dozen exhibits admitted to evidence — a damaged shoe, an empty vodka bottle, two empty beer cans, numerous photographs — in its attempt to arrive at a verdict.

AT 9:15 p.m., jury foreman Ira Brown reported to Judge Boyd that the jury wanted to hear all of Mrs. Kemper's testimony again. The jurors listened intently as Mrs. Kemper's account of her husband's death was read back, then they went back into the jury room.

At 10:15 p.m., the jurors sent out a note that they were "irrevocably deadlocked," and that they would not be able to agree on a verdict with any further deliberation. Judge Boyd declared a mistrial and dismissed the jury.

HIGHLIGHTS of the trial came Wednesday when Mrs. Kemper took the witness stand before a packed courtroom, and Thursday when District Attorney Hamilton challenged Mrs. Kemper's story in his summation and spliced the state's evidence and testimony into a chilling version of the fatal incident as he sought to have her convicted of first-degree murder.

Mrs. Kemper took the witness stand in her own defense at 2:40 p.m. Wednesday and spent a full, emotion-packed hour under direct and cross examination.

Recounting the fatal day's events, Mrs. Kemper explained that she and Kemper had been married two years, but that she was living with her parents temporarily, on the advice of her attorney, pending a court hearing the next day between her and her former husband on the custody of their two adopted sons.

Bill Snider gets first bale

BILL SNIDER (RIGHT) AND FIRST BALE OF COTTON ... with George Strauskulic, Tam Anne Gin manager

Castro County's first bale of 1970 cotton was picked and ginned Friday — and it was a variety that was developed locally.

THE FIRST cotton of the year came from the Bill Snider farm in the Bethel community, and was ginned by B. Campbell's Tam Anne Gin, Inc.

Snider and Gin Manager George Strauskulic set the first bale at the traditional site — the corner of Broadway and Bedford, in front of the ASCS office — at 8:30 Friday night.

The cotton was a Rilecot variety, developed by Ray Joe Riley of Sunnyside. It came from 1,900 pounds of seed cotton, which produced a 480-pound bale and 320 pounds of seed. No tests could be run yet on the cotton's micronaire rating or staple length.

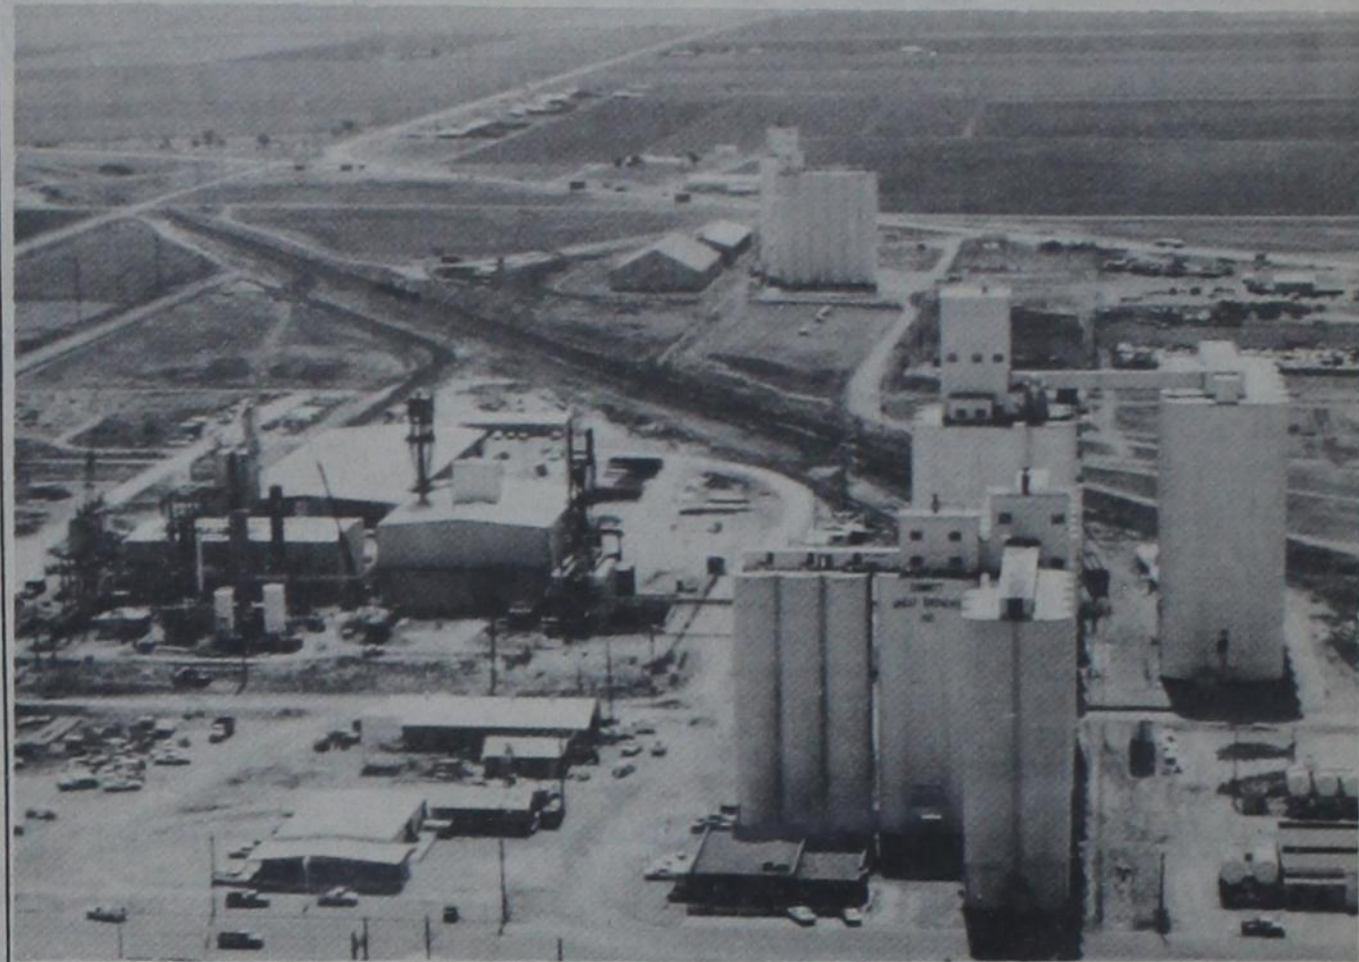

SNIDER said he planted the cotton the first week of May on his farm eight miles west and two north of Dimmitt, and gave it two waterings. Seed cotton for the first bale was hand-picked Friday.

The man who ginned the first bale was J. D. Parker of Tam Anne Gin, Inc.

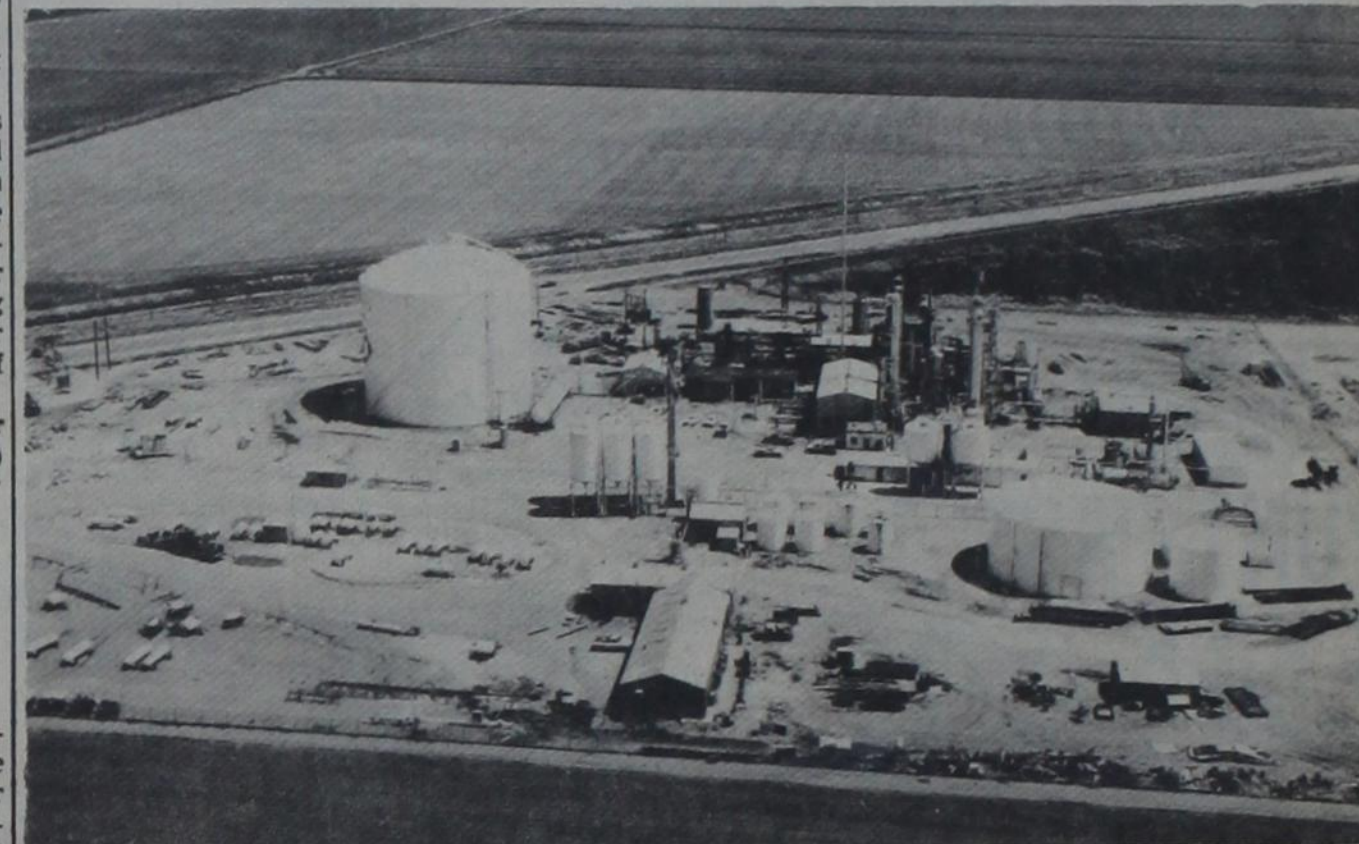

The gin paid Snider a premium price of 50 cents per pound and $100 for his cotton seed.

THE COUNTY'S first bale was the prelude to a cotton harvest that is expected to be the best here in almost a decade. Cotton men are predicting that the county's average yield could run 1 1/4 bales per acre or more.

Local senior citizens to 'speak out' Friday

A county-wide "community forum" for older people will be held in the courthouse assembly room in Dimmitt at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

PURPOSE of the meeting is to get answers and opinions from local residents on the problems of aging. The information will be forwarded to the Governor's Committee on Aging, and eventually to the White House Conference on Aging.

The state and national groups will analyze the information and propose new laws and programs designed to keep senior citizens from becoming our society's "forgotten generation."

Conducting Friday night's meeting will be Mrs. Glenda Rickard of Bethel, volunteer community forums coordinator for Castro County.

SINCE SHE completed a training workshop in Austin recently, Mrs. Rickard already has met with the Hart and Dimmitt Lions Clubs, the Golden Oldies Club of Hart, residents of Nazareth, and with the First Baptist Church Sunday School Dept. and the Bethel Home Demonstration Club, explaining the purposes and goals of the campaign. She is also scheduled to speak to the Dimmitt United Lions Club tonight at 8:30, and is making contact with other civic and church organizations.

Mrs. Rickard has distributed hundreds of questionnaires asking for information and opinions from older residents in the county. She reported this week that about 130 of the questionnaires have been returned to her so far.

SHE WILL pass out more questionnaires at Friday night's meeting. The questionnaires are intended to pinpoint the type and extent of the major problems on growing old in the U.S. Identical questionnaires are being distributed throughout the U.S. to gain information for the White House Conference.

The questionnaires inquire mainly about the problems of money, employment, health and social activities.

"We may uncover problems and solutions we didn't expect," Mrs. Rickard said. "Other organized efforts by senior citizens in other parts of the country have resulted in such things as senior facilities for older people, shopping services, yardwork service, retirement centers and educational programs."

SHE ADDED, "We have too much of a tendency to ignore our senior citizens, but I consider them our greatest national resource. Many older people who feel they aren't qualified for any type of job or service might be surprised at how valuable they would be at teaching younger people such basic skills as baby care, bread baking, needlepoint, carpentry, hobbies, and so forth. They're our best experts in a lot of things."

For those who need transportation to Friday night's meeting, a car pool will be available. Anyone wanting a ride to the meeting should phone Mrs. Beral Hance at the county agent's office, 647-3455, during the daytime or Mrs. Rickard at 647-4247 at night.

'Patrolman' 16 years old

A uniformed "highway patrolman" who was stopping cars and lecturing motorists near Nazareth turned out to be a 16-year-old Dimmitt boy who couldn't wait to become a law officer.

SHERIFF Jack Cartwright said the self-appointed rookie patrolman first came to his attention when a motorist reported that someone had been impersonating an officer for three nights in a row on US 86 near Nazareth.

Cartwright and Deputy Granville Martin approached the spot from different directions and caught the youth in the act — or on the job — and could hardly believe their eyes.

The youth was wearing a meticulously made khaki uniform with a homemade shoulder patch, a cutout print of a patrolman's badge, a tan western hat, and red stapled-on felt pants-ribs. He was packing a pair of handcuffs and a race-starter pistol that fires .22 caliber blanks.

HIS LIGHT colored Chevrolet sedan was rigged with a burglar alarm siren and red blinker lights on a cross-top bar.

The boy had a companion who sat in the car to add to the realism, Cartwright said.

"We didn't charge him with anything," the sheriff added. "He has just been stopping people and lecturing them on the dangers of speeding and drinking, and so forth. We just ordered him to dismantle his uniform and referred him to his parents, and they took care of the situation when they found out about it."

"HE'S A nice kid, really — he never has given anybody any trouble. We knew he wanted to be a law officer; he had been talking to one of our officers here about it. He just couldn't wait, I guess."

'Story Hour' will resume

The Castro County Library will resume its popular "Children's Story Hour" Friday at 1 p.m.

THE PROGRAM, designed for children 4 to 6 years of age, will continue each Friday afternoon during the school year.

ASC community winners named

The county's 15 newly elected ASC community committeemen will meet in Dimmitt Friday morning to organize at the county level.

THE COUNTY convention will be held in the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

Committeemen elected for the county's five ASC "communities" in the mail balloting were:

Community "A" — S. A. Hodges Jr., Jerry Wilhelm and W. H. Simpson.

Community "B" — L. F. Shannon, Houston Lust and John E. Smith.

Community "C" — Ray Robertson, Walter Schilling and H. C. Nelson.

Community "D" — A. L. Behrens, Joe Collins and Orbie Armstrong.

Community "E" — Ray Joe Riley, John Gilbreath and Roy Lilly.

Youth charged in Sunday theft

Sheriff's officers arrested and jailed a 17-year-old Dimmitt boy Monday night in connection with the theft of a heavy equipment jack Sunday afternoon in Flag.

SHERIFF Jack Cartwright said the jack was recovered and returned to its owners, Andy Schumacher & Sons, custom farmers.

Cartwright said two companions were with the youth at the time of the incident, but that charges were not filed against them.

Ladies beautify Tri-State Fair with 'milo bouquets'

By MYRTLE SHEFFY

Saturday Mrs. Fred Bruegel, Mrs. Mary Collins and I went to Amarillo to enter arrangements made of DeKalb maize. This was for the Tri-State Fair, in the commercial building. Oh, yes! Mrs. Glen McKinney who lives out near Bethel or Big Square entered an arrangement of which won third place. All of the Castro County arrangements were in the top ten. These interesting (floral) arrangements of maize may be seen by you if you go to the Fair. There were 50 arrangements on exhibit in all.

We talked with Dorothy Winters of Amarillo. She sends greetings to her kissing cousins Pearl Johnston and Ruby Simms.

A BIG golf tournament was held at the Castro County Country Club last weekend. Much interest, I hear. Don Sheffy came down from Canyon to play with his brother Rex. They said, we are not very good. Mrs. Villars will tell you about the golf. Karen and girls Kristi and Karla visited her mother Polly Bell and brother Lonnie and family.

John and Mitzie Ethridge of Lubbock were here to visit the Ed Wilsons and Truman Touchstones. John played in the golf tournament with Jimmy Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. Liberto Rivas were married 50 years Sunday. They had a renewal service of their marriage vows at the United Methodist Church at 9:30 a.m. Sunday morning. Rev. Jim Pickens read the service. Ted Sheffy attended too and helped the pastor. Mr. and Mrs. Rivas live here for a while, but their home is at Sinton, near Corpus Christi. They have 70 grandchildren and 30 members of the family were here from Lubbock, San Diego, Calif., San Clemente and several came from Sinton. Sunday was Mrs. Rivas' 70th birthday.

MRS. P. O. Goodwin is in Donna and has been for two weeks, visiting her daughter Ricky Pullig and family. Ricky has had surgery and is improving now.

Susan Thornton, a student at McMerrey in Abilene was home to visit her parents, the W. E. Thorntons last weekend. Susan visited a while back with her sister,

DIHS student sell souvenirs

Fifty Dimmitt Junior High School students joined the school's Student Senate members last week in selling Bobcat caps to raise money for the school yearbook.

THE SALE was one of four fund-raising projects being sponsored by the DIHS Student Senate. Other projects included the sale of pompons, booster pins and a bake sale.

Record sales were reported during the Bobcat cap sale. Kyle Touchstone and Brad DuLaney were the top salesmen, selling $40 worth of the caps in an hour.

After the cap sale, the junior high students gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Schaeffer for soft drinks, which were served by Susan Wise, Student Senate president, and Cindy Dyer.

State Fair will have 'fishy' show

There will be something fishy going on at Fair Park in Dallas when the "Exposition of the Seven Seas" opens the 1970 State Fair of Texas in October for a 16-day run.

A SAILING vessel, the SS Seven Seas, lies at anchor in the Women's Department ready to launch a bevy of beautiful models who will be in the swim with "See-Worthy Fashions of the 70's."

These "mermaids" will make a big splash with the crowds who will attend the daily free fashion shows in the auditorium.

To further implement the "Seven Seas" theme a blonde, blue-eyed hula dancer from the "Paradise of the Pacific" will dance the hula on the mid-stage; gaily costumed Czechs will be doing a buncy polka on the maxi-stage and Texas cowgirls wearing western togs will gallop into view riding Texas-size sea horses.

A MARINE setting will be achieved in the decor of the auditorium where the stage curtains have been changed to shades of blue, sea green and sand, and the walls ornamented with such sea creatures as finny fish, playful dolphins, crabs and over-size turtles.

A variety of free entertainment including choral groups, Indian dancers, a brass choir, a singing swinging assemblage of young musicians and drama productions will be presented in daily programs for the enjoyment of fairgoers.

"The fair is traditionally a family affair," said Mrs. Elizabeth Peabody, director of the Women's Department, "and each year we strive to include competition which will challenge the men and boys as well as girls and their mothers. This year two new divisions, photography and scale models, have been added to the premium list as a special enticement to the men of the family."

Irene, who with her husband lives in Phoenix. She says it has been hot, hot, hot there — up to 113 degrees.

Most everyone in Dimmitt went to Farwell to the football game. It was a good one. Of course, the Dimmitt Bobcats won 24-0.

I was surprised at the beautiful homes and the town south of the highway to Clovis. Nice clear yards and streets in Farwell. We saw Aaron and Gloria Isaac down for the game from Canyon. They live in the Hotley Hills addition. Their son Felton plays with the Bobcats and stays with his grandparents, Mrs. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Isaacs.

Several people have asked me to remind the people and school kids to put their trash, such as paper cups, beer cans, candy wrappers, bottles, etc. in the trash barrels. It takes everyone cleaning after himself to have a nice clean town. The school yard at junior high is a mess, pick it up kids.

Several bicycles have been taken from yards in the south side of town. If you borrowed one, "take it home." And children don't leave your bicycles out on the sidewalks. Don't help thieves.

SHIRLEY WISE was hostess Thursday with lunch and bridge. She served chicken spaghetti and congealed salads to guests who were Courtney Armstrong, Ruth Jackson, Carolyn Jones, Mary Ann Pickens, Gail Bruegel, Katy Graham, Ina Cleavinger and Jo Eddie Riley.

Mrs. Ray Bradley was the honoree at an "anticipating" shower and party Saturday in the home of Mrs. Jay Lee Touchstone. Reba used a wicker baby carriage to hold the gifts. This carriage belongs to Mrs. J. M. Wright and is 150 years old.

The serving table was pretty with a centerpiece of small umbrellas over pink flowers. Refreshments were served to out of town guests Mrs. Grace Reger and daughter Elizabeth of Albuquerque, Kristi Wesson of Lubbock, grandmother Vera Webb and mother-in-law Mrs. Don Bradley. Other guests were Paula Birdwell, Fara Render, Elaine Davis, Johna Concell, Jan Baca, Nancy Hollingsworth, Linda Gross, Shari Bradley, Sue Lust, Kay McGee, Wanda Bradley and Mary Jean Copeland of Midland and others sent gifts.

MRS. CURTIS TATE has been visiting her mother Mrs. Kay in Moreland, Oklahoma for two weeks.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Wright recently were, son D. L. and family of Plainview, Mrs. Wright's sister Sara Northern of Amarillo, Mrs. Alma Gibson of Quarah, Mrs. Edna Ramsey of Clovis and Mrs. Sam Long of Hereford. Mrs. Dewey Wright has been ill but is much improved now.

Pam and Mike Bailey and baby of Plainview and Joan Buchanan also of Plainview, were here to visit their parents, the Earl Buchanan and brother Lee and sister-in-law Tommie while Lee was home on leave. Joan is attending X-ray technician's school in Plainview.

Gerald and Ruth Brackett and children have moved here to 307 NW Eighth St. from Plainview. He is with Western Ammonia.

Dan and Hazel Nelson and children Robert, Pam and Melinda are home from a recent trip to Southwest Texas and into Mexico. They went to the Davis Mountain Museum and Observatory and saw all the interesting places around there.

Jack and Jessie Ebeling and sons Bob, Dan and Ken attended the funeral service for Jack's father, Adolph Ebeling at Marble Falls. Mr. Ebeling lived on his farm near Sunnyside for 68 years. Mrs. Ebeling, the mother, is in a rest home there.

Bobby Ebeling visited last weekend with Bennie Hill in Amarillo. Bennie is the son of Ben and Bernice and he is a dispatcher for the Amarillo Globe News.

MR. AND MRS. Edgar Ramey were hosts Tuesday evening with a steak supper at the Colonial Inn Restaurant. "42" was the game later in their home. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Cleavinger, Mr. and Mrs. George Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Sheffy, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Anthony, Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Carlisle, Cletha George, Leola Haberer and Vera Webb.

B. M. and Viola Nelson went to Albuquerque last weekend to visit daughter Mary and Herb Burnham and the boys. They stopped in Clovis for dinner coming home from Albuquerque and saw Maxine Woodell and her dad, Mr. Mays. They went out to the golf course to visit Bruce Woodell. Mrs. Woodell says they are grandparents of a boy named Kaven. He is the son of daughter Patsy and Gerald, Moody of Irving.

Lee Buchanan and his wife Tommie are home on a 20-day leave. Lee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Buchanan. He was stationed at Fort Ord, Calif., where he studied radio, then was sent to Fort Gordon, Ga., where he was in teletype school. Lee and Tommie will leave soon for Germany. Lee is in the US Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Sessions and son of Childress are visiting a few days with his dad, K. C. Sessions. K. C. is with Ted Sheffy at the pig barn.

MR. AND MRS. Donald Layman spent a week with her sister Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Beavers of Stark City, Mo.

Donnie and Janice Hestand have moved back to Dimmitt from Odessa. They are on the Percy Merritt farm off the Hart Road.

Mrs. Ulys Waggoner and daughter Delores of Sulphur Springs are at the farm south of town for the winter. Delores is a junior and plans to finish high school at Dimmitt. They were dinner guests Sunday of son and brother Mr. and Mrs. Winston Waggoner.

Mrs. Winston Waggoner will have throat surgery at Plainview this Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Johnson, son C. J. and Omega, their son Gene and Kitty and son Jack, Keith and Linda Johnson of Plainview and Carl and Beverly Russell and children of Odessa spent a few days on a recent weekend with Jimmy and Merle Johnson of Lubbock at their vacation house on the White River near Crosbyton.

Oh yes! Don and Carol Dennis and son of Stratford went boating and water skiing with the Johnson family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLean have moved back to Dimmitt from Dallas. I don't remember what he is doing. Let's ask him.

THE REPUBLICAN Party convention was at the Sheraton Hotel in Fort Worth last week. Attending from here were Mrs. Helene McFarland and daughter Kippy of the Arney community. Kippy was a page girl. Mrs. Fred Bruegel Sr., sons Mike, a law student at Tech, and Carl also attended. Her daughter Sandy came over from Dallas. Bruegel says they all attended the reception for George Bush and Sen. John Tower, and candidate for Governor Paul Eggers.

Carl and Frances King represented the Democrats in Dallas at their convention.

Mrs. Martha Sadler's guests recently were friends Mr. and Mrs. Carl Webb of Plainview.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Samman were hosts to a large group of relatives who had the family reunion there. It was for her family. The Sammans own the farm known as the Lambert or Morton place on the Running Water Draw.

Bible Thoughts

BOTH PLEASE!

By RONNIE PARKER

I am grateful for our public schools but am also thankful for Bible schools. I want my children to attend both. Parents who care and who have their values right know that their children need great lessons taught from God's word.

If I rob my children of a knowledge of God's word, then I have taken from them the "word of life" (Phil. 2:16). I have kept them back from the message that is God-breathed and "profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works" (2 Tim. 3:16). I have deprived them of that perfect law of God which converts the soul, makes wise the simple, rejoices the heart, and is sweeter than honey and honeycomb. (Ps. 19:7-11).

Sure! Let's have those children in our public schools learning how to make a living. Let's also have them in Bible school learning how to make a life.

the GOOD NEWS!

An excited aliveness!... That describes a man getting good news over the telephone. Then, there is the gospel, which means "The Good News" which gives life when it comes to a man. It generates life anew. This Good News is proclaimed weekly and oftentimes daily, through God's messenger in His Church. Jesus announced the Good News when He said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." Matthew 10:10. Listen to the proclamation of the Good News in the church of your choice

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

CASTRO COUNTY NEWS

SECOND EFFORT GETS TOUCHDOWN—Daniel Frierson, speedy Dimmitt halfback, grits his teeth and gives an extra surge to break this tackle by a Farwell pursuer, and continues streaking down the sideline in a 15-yard run for Dimmitt's second touchdown Friday night. This scoring run came just three minutes after Dimmitt's first TD. Frierson scored all three of the Bobcats' touchdowns Friday night, all in the first half. Kicking specialist Hoyt Hestand did the rest with three extra-point conversions and a field goal to give the Bobcats a 24-0 victory.

Hygrometer is valuable tool for cotton man

Dry, high quality cotton at harvesting time is more than luck.

ACCORDING TO B.G. Reeves, Extension agricultural engineer, cotton should not be harvested with a moisture content of more than eight percent.

Cotton should not be harvested before dew has dried from the lint. This means producers should usually wait until about 9:30 a.m. before getting into their fields. At about 6 p.m. the lint moisture will begin to rise and stripping or picking should be delayed until the next day, the cotton ginning and mechanization specialist points out.

"Even on the smallest farms, a hygrometer can be important in preserving the quality of the product," Reeves says. "For about $15, a cotton producer can get a hygrometer and set it in the field on a stake to observe the relative humidity."

The instrument, set at about boll height, will give the humidity in the field and will usually correlate directly with the moisture content of the lint in open bolls. Within a humidity range of 60 percent or less, fiber moisture will be eight percent or less, he says.

Taking the reading at boll height in the field is necessary, says Reeves, because factors such as wind direction, wind velocity, soil moisture level, stalk size and condition of the cotton itself govern the humidity level in the field and in the fiber moisture.

Six HD members go to convention

Six ladies represented Castro County at the state convention of the Texas Association of Home Demonstration Clubs last week in Galveston.

THEY WERE Mrs. Hattie Howell, Bona Schwen, Rachel Cleaver, Oneida Hutto, Jean Gilreath and Nell Ingram.

The ladies traveled by chartered bus from Amarillo and stayed at the Hotel Flagship in Galveston. Site of the convention was Galveston's Moody Convention Hall.

Hurricane Felice, which hit the Gulf Coast area the day after their arrival, hampered the ladies' hopes for sightseeing before the convention.

Convention speakers included well-known youth worker; Dr.

Malcolm Smith of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, who spoke on space foods; and Mrs. Leslie Scott who reviewed the book, "I've Only Got Two Hands and I'm Busy Wringing Them."

Home Demonstration Club members from Galveston gave a "bathing beauty show" Wednesday night of swimsuit fashions from 1900 to 1970.

Workshops filled the afternoon Wednesday and the general business session was held Thursday. Mrs. A. E. Hodges of Hereford was elected state president.

THE convention adjourned Thursday night with a banquet in the convention hall.

The Dimmitt ladies arrived back home at 11 p.m. Friday.

HD notes

It's fair time-- except in Castro

By IRENE KEATING
This past week was another one busy with fairs.

FRIDAY, Mary Acker and I judged at the Swisher County Fair in the canned goods. They have such a nice fair — it is sponsored by the Swisher County Activities Committee.

I think it is tragic that our county doesn't have a fair. If we did, I know it would really be one we could be proud of. All so, I realize that our problem is lack of facilities to conduct this activity. However, I feel that if you all want a fair badly enough the county's citizens working together, with possibly donated time, could prepare adequate facilities for a fair. It is up to all of us if we want to have a fair again.

To me, a county fair does more than any activity to bring a community together.

...This week is the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo and we have entrants from Castro County. Please look for their foods, clothing, etc., when you're there.

MACHINE washable wool knitwear that maintains its shape and appearance after repeated home launderings on normal wash cycles can be produced by an experimental process being developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The basic patent for wool shrink-proofing, from which this knitwear treatment evolved, was granted to USDA in 1963. The original process has been successfully used in the treatment of woven fabric, but the goal of truly machine-washable wool knitwear has been elusive.

Knitwear presents a more difficult problem than woven fabric. The knit structure is comparatively loose, and yarns in the knitted loops tend to shift and adjust during washing. Also, fibers in the yarns tend to work loose and cause fuzziness or may roll together in little balls during washing.

MOST of the washable knits now available should be handwashed or machine-washed on the gentle cycle to avoid deterioration in appearance.

Extensive evaluation shows that knitwear treated by the new process maintains good appearance after repeated machine washings on the regular cycle.

WSCS discusses minority rights

Mrs. George Webb led the program discussion on "Minority Rights" at last week's meeting of the Ruth Circle, Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First United Methodist Church.

IT WAS the first meeting of the new club year for the Ruth Circle. Mrs. Cecil Ginn, president, conducted the business session and Mrs. Cletha George gave the devotional.

The next Ruth Circle meeting will be Tuesday, with Mrs. Sid Sheffy presenting the study and Mrs. B. M. Nelson giving the devotional message.

Garden Club has first fall event

The Dimmitt Garden Club started its new club year last Wednesday with a coffee in the First State Bank community room.

THE MILADY Garden Club has merged with the Dimmitt Garden Club this year.

Mrs. Jimmy Butler, president, conducted the business meeting as members discussed plans to attend a district meeting of garden clubs in Amarillo in October.

Mrs. Jay Lee Touchstone outlined the year's proposed work program, and Mrs. Joe Benson reported that the club will plant three trees on the grounds of Plains Memorial Hospital.

Cookies and coffee were served to 12 members, a new member, Mrs. Handley, and a guest, Mrs. Adeline Rush.

HART FOLKS are about the most sharing people there are. Friends and neighbors have shared their corn, vegetables, fruit, watermelons and cantaloupes as the vegetables came ripe.

What better way to prove that Hart people have a heart, than to share?

Watch your calendar for the first frost of this fall to come in the second week of October. According to some statistics, the earliest frost came on Oct. 7, 1953.

THERE ARE a lot of green tomatoes this fall, and they surely make good relish or chow chow.

and that helps to make the beans taste better.

Here's a good relish recipe from a friend:

NO-COOK RELISH

3 pints of vinegar; 4 cups sugar; juice of 4 lemons; 2 teaspoons of turmeric; 3 teaspoons of prepared mustard; 1 teaspoon celery seed 1 teaspoon allspice; 1 teaspoon mustard seed; Heat all together and let cool.

Grind together one gallon of green tomatoes, 8 onions, 1 head cabbage, 8 hot peppers, 3 sweet peppers and 1/2 cup salt, and let stand half an hour. Drain well add to liquid, stir well and seal in jars.

"Never have such demands been made on our land and water resources as are being made today. As our population increases, so also do the demands. To meet this challenge, we have had to broaden our concept of soil and water conservation. But the fundamentals do not change. They haven't changed in the more than 30 years that farmers of the United States have been using modern conservation farming methods extensively. Only the approach to the problems varies as we move ahead to get the conservation job done as fast as possible." — D. A. Williams, SCS Administrator.

Do you know how to effectively stretch your food dollar?

Here are some tips that will leave you with more money for yourself after you've taken care of the food demands for the week.

The first thing to learn is to watch for ads and sales. Then do some comparing of prices from one store to another.

You must be sure that your shopping list provides for a well balanced, nutritional diet. To keep your meals interesting include some variety.

Don't allow yourself to be misled by package sizes. Read the labels to see what the net weight of the product is. Sometimes a smaller package will contain more and cost less. Don't let the gaudy packages with their "economy size" distract you. Again, read the labels.

By using your head, you'll save a lot of money.

WATCH NEXT WEEK FOR "EMERGENCY FUND"

We just need 60 more days of nice weather to bring all our crops in.

1971. You've changed. We've changed.

Chevrolet

Worth seeing. Worth owning.
Worth waiting for.

Vega. Not just another little car, but one little car that does everything well. You get more room, more weight and more power than most little cars give you, yet the gas mileage is right in the same neighborhood with the best of them. Vegas come dressed up, too, not stripped to the bone so you have to add a lot to make them liveable. Drive one. You'll see.

Caprice. There's a double layer of steel in the roof, a steel guard beam in each door, power disc brakes up front, a new power ventilation system inside, a wheelbase two and one-half inches longer. You get the looks and comfort of a six- or seven-thousand-dollar car, but at Chevrolet prices. And that's the kind of change during these tight-money times that all of us can appreciate.

A vanishing tailgate. A big change in our big wagon. The window goes up into the roof, the Glide-Away tailgate vanishes beneath the floor. Out of sight. Out of your way for easy loading even in a closed garage or when you have a trailer hooked on.

See what we mean by putting you first? September 29 at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Claborn enters medical college

The office of admissions at Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine in Arlington has announced that Joby Doll Claborn, husband of the former Janet Buckley of Dimmitt, has been accepted as a freshman student for the 1970-71 school year.

CLABORN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Claborn of Friona, is a graduate of Friona High School and Southwestern State College at Weatherford, Okla. At SW SC, he was a pre-medical student and attained the dean's honor roll his junior and senior years. He has also completed a year's post-graduate work at West Texas State University.

Claborn's parents-in-law are Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Buckley of Dimmitt.

Antelope permits go to landowners

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials have issued permits to landowners in the Permian Basin and Trans-Pecos areas for the harvesting of approximately 945 buck pronghorns during the nine-day season beginning Oct. 3.

REGIONAL Wildlife Supervisor Jack Parsons said the final number of permits is subject to slight revision at a later time. A total of 829 of the permits was issued in seven counties of the Trans-Pecos, with Brewster and Presidio Counties getting the major share.

Extremely dry conditions prevailed in the Trans-Pecos during the past winter and spring, which resulted in a slight population. However, a good fawn crop and welcome summer rains have bolstered the herd.

Sportsmen who have not yet made arrangements with a landowner who is to receive permits should do so immediately since, many hunters have reserved hunting rights well in advance of the season.

He explained, "We do not delve into theories, opinions or the various beliefs because they can neither be proven nor disproven. We therefore respect them all."

He added "The search for truth in this manner involves the correlation of the areas of agreement in the findings of science and the statements of theology. This knowledge has been gleaned from science, psychology, philosophy, metaphysics and theology."

Party harmony was apparent in Demo convention, King says

The Texas State Democratic Convention last week in Dallas was "a very smooth convention, all in all," County Demo Chairman Carl King reported this week.

"THERE was a walkout by a faction of the Lubbock County delegation, but otherwise it was the most harmonious convention I've ever attended," King said.

Although Castro County was authorized six delegates at the state convention, the only persons attending from here were King and his wife.

However, the county got credit for its six votes because King voted under the unit rule. No floor votes called for a division of the house or a poll of delegates.

THE MAIN theme of the convention was to weld the party together and back all Democratic candidates for state and national office," King said. "This was the main attitude everybody seemed to have. Gov. Smith expressed it best when he said we could always fight among ourselves in the primaries, but when it comes down to the general election we should all get together and work together."

King said the publicized walkout by a group of liberals in the Lubbock County delegation "didn't amount to much."

"There was one issue that came up that caused a little controversy within our own district's delegations although it wasn't a big donnybrook," King said. "A resolution that had not been submitted for the agenda was proposed in the 30th Senatorial District caucus, to not require candidates for office to pay their own filing fees. I opposed this resolution, which was defeated by a voice vote in the caucus. It never came up on the floor."

DALLAS Memorial Auditorium was the convention site, with the Adolphus Hotel serving as pre-convention headquarters for the registration, housing and credentials of delegates.

In addition to the usual committee meetings, district caucuses and party officer elections, the convention included a tea honoring Mrs. Preston Smith and a "Tops in Texas" banquet with singer Viki Carr as the featured entertainer.

Mrs. Dick O'Daniel of Tulsa was re-elected as the state committeewoman from the 30th Senatorial District.

"The main thing we all realized was that we can win in November if the Democrats of the state will just get out and vote," King said. "The Democratic Party can stand on its record where the Republican Party has no record in Texas, to speak of. It was brought out, for instance, that new industries don't come to Texas just because of the climate — there's the tax structure involved, and it's very important. This tax structure is the result of work by Democratic administrations during the years, and creates a healthy climate for the state's industrial growth."

Growth-planning course for business men slated

"Planning for Growth," a 10-hour course for the area's small business owners, will be offered next month at Hereford High School.

THE COURSE will be presented by the Distributive Education Dept., Division of Extension, of the University of Texas at Austin. The Texas Education Agency also is a cooperator in sponsoring the course.

Designed to enhance the growth of Texas communities by encouraging the growth of small businesses, the course will be taught by James J. Kelly, well-known business researcher and economist.

Kelly spent four years with the Texas Industrial Commission, and before that he was editor of the Texas Business Review and Texas Industrial Expansion for four years. The two monthlies dealing with economic and business conditions in Texas are published by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas at Austin.

KELLY also has seven years of work experience with a regional association where he performed promotional and public relations duties.

Sponsoring the course in this area are the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and the Distributive Education Dept. of Hereford High School. G. C. Graves, former principal at Hart Elementary School, is the director of distributive education for Hereford High School.

The course will be conducted within one week, with classes from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Monday, Oct. 12 through Thursday, Oct. 15 in the distributive education room of Hereford High.

THE FEE for the course is $12.50 per person.

"Planning for Growth" is a 10-hour course in which the small business man studies the tools and techniques now available to help him take a hard look at his future and the future of his business. Emphasis is on the practical approach.

Overall objective of the course is to teach the owner or manager — of all types of business — how to write a "planning package" for his business.

THE material starts with an eight-step "Practical Planning Routine" to give the business man a systematic approach to planning. All elements of a successful business are included in a "Planning Checklist" so that no opportunity for growth is overlooked.

The planning package is then put together. The written plan consists of a marketing plan, financing plan, personnel plan and planning checkpoints.

Kelly is convinced that the growth of small business is the key to the future and growth and economic stability of the state.

"THERE is a basic difference in the men who are attracted to big and small business," he says. "Big business is committee oriented and becomes a structure of specialists. It demands a certain type of man to succeed. Small business does, too — it demands the type who would rather, to put it bluntly, take charge."

"This is the man who belongs in his own shop. He is the one who starts and, somehow, keeps alive the small business. He is the one who gets the payoff — or makes the payments — on his own decisions, whether they are right or wrong."

"He wears many hats, and he needs many skills. And he must continually sharpen those skills."

"HE NEEDS information on markets," Kelly continues. "This course devotes the bulk of its time to market analysis, sales projections, and ways to achieve improvement."

"The small business owner course deals with the problem."

"The small business man is the one who must hire and fire people the course deals with personnel problems, too."

Democrats, Republicans draft platforms at state conclaves

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

State Republican and Democratic parties have put their appeals to Texas voters in writing — via the platforms drafted at their separate conventions last week.

DEMOCRATS, party veterans said repeatedly, "wrote the most progressive planks ever."

Republicans put the emphasis on attacking crime, campus disorders and drug use.

Highlights of the Democratic statement of party goals include:

—A far reaching vocational and technical education program, repeal of annual voter registration requirements and substitution of four years, opposition to a tax on groceries, a minimum foundation program for policemen with state standards of qualification and pay, state civil service, expansion of unemployment insurance benefits.

—Increase in workmen's compensation benefits, creation of a public utilities regulatory commission, establishment of an office of consumer protection, elimination of the $80 million a year welfare outlay ceiling, an increase in minimum wage, sweeping insurance reforms and creation of a state management research commission to promote governmental efficiency.

REPUBLICAN platform highlights are:

—Legislation to end discrimination in state governmental employment and to insure equal pay for equal work, creation of single-member legislative districts, realistic technical and vocational courses commencing at junior high school level and offered in nearly all high schools, condemnation of forced busing of students to achieve racial balance;

—Opposition to a tax on groceries, later voter registration deadlines, inclusion of all insurance company income in calculating auto insurance rates, admis-

Keep your gun away from road

Law enforcement officials remind hunters that not only is it illegal to discharge firearms from public roads, but it also is unlawful to use firearms in road rights-of-way.

BOB CROSS, law enforcement coordinator for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said discharging firearms from a public road or right of way and hunting without a license are two of the most common violations prosecuted during the hunting season.

HEADQUARTERS OF PLANT MATERIALS CENTER AT KNOX CITY
... Where new range grasses and plants undergo field trials

SCS plant-trial center sets field day Sept. 30

Plans are complete for the field day to be held Wednesday at the Soil Conservation Service plant materials center at Knox City.

DAVID SPRINGER, SCS District Conservationist here, said guided tours are planned through the 60-acre center starting at 9 a.m. Bus trips will run continually until about 3 p.m.

To get to the center, Springer said you go north of Knox City on Highway 283 about two miles, then turn left on FM 1292 for 2½ miles. There are signs at both the turn-off and the center, he said.

Springer also said Knox City has a new 3,200 ft. all-weather runway near the plant center for those wanting to fly to the field day in private or chartered planes. Transportation from the airport to the center will be furnished by the Knox City Chamber of Commerce.

GRASS seed dealers, seed growers, conservation district directors, research workers, wildlife enthusiasts, livestock producers and others interested in the search for better plants are invited to attend. The center serves both Texas and Oklahoma, and a large crowd from both states is expected.

Grasses which are attracting wide interest at the center include a desert strain of sideoats grama; a southern strain of sand lovegrass; a western wheatgrass selected for bottomlands and waterway plantings in west central Texas; a grass called old world blue stem collected from an arid region west of the Mediterranean Sea; and a blue grama selection adapted to the redbed soils of western Oklahoma and Texas.

Forbs (broad-leaved, herbaceous plants), native legumes, and woody plants relished by wildlife and livestock are also being evaluated at Knox City. Such plants may have great value, especially for deer, turkey, quail, dove, songbirds and other wildlife when used in mixtures with range and pasture plantings.

Seed or rootstock are collected from promising plants, then are grown and evaluated at Knox City, Springer explained. Those that show the most promise for solving certain problems are then grown under field conditions on farms and ranches of soil and water conservation district cooperators. Selections that prove they can solve a specific problem while being superior to other strains available are then released by conservation districts to commercial seed growers. These producers then grow seed and sell it to the public.

A new grass variety, Selection 75 Kleingrass, was certified and released last year as a result of work done at the center in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Other grass strains proven and put into use by SCS include El Reno, Uvalde, and Vaughn sideoats grama; King Ranch bluestem; green sprangletop; and Grenville switchgrass.

SPRINGER said SCS plant materials work developed ways to harvest and plant most of the range grasses being planted in Texas and Oklahoma today.

Some of the groups who cooperate with SCS in its plant materials work in Texas include Agricultural Research Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M University, Texas Tech University, Prairie View A&M College, Abilene Christian College, US Air Force, US Corps of Engineers, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, and soil and water conservation districts.

Soybean growers to vote Saturday on half-cent fee

Farmers in 23 counties of Texas that produce the bulk of the state's 8½ million bushels of soybeans will vote Saturday in a research and promotion referendum.

IF PASSED by two-thirds of the growers voting or favored by producers of 50 percent of the area's production, an assessment of one-half cent per bushel would be made at the first point of sale on all soybeans produced. Proceeds from the program, if passed, would be invested in research in production and marketing, disease and insect control, and market development at home and abroad.

The referendum is being sponsored by the Texas Soybean Association on certification by John C. White, state commissioner of agriculture.

Since passage of the 1939 Commodity Referendum Act, successfully led through the state legislature by Representative Delwin Jones of Lubbock, producers of peanuts, grain sorghum and turkeys have held referendums and voted self-assessments for research and promotion of their commodities.

The percentage of the funds generated by the program that would be directed toward insect and disease control, foreign and domestic market development and production and marketing research, would be determined by a nine-man board elected by producers on the same ballot as the assessment.

CASTRO County soybean growers will vote in the courthouse assembly room from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. All soybean producers, including farm owners, tenants and sharecroppers, are eligible to vote.

Turkey shocks Longhorns, 32-6

By DAVID BASS
The Hart Longhorns met an inspired bunch of Turkey Turkeys Friday night in Turkey, and when the smoke cleared away at the end of the battle, the Horns were on the short end of a 32-6 score.

TURKEY rang up a touchdown before an offensive play had even been run.

The Turks kicked off to open the game and the ball rolled untouched into the end zone — and Turkey's Jerry Green fell on it for six points. The kick for the extra point was blocked, but the score suddenly stood at Turkey 6, Hart 0.

The Horns never really recovered from that shocking touchdown. After the Turks kicked off again, the Horns could not get moving and lost the ball on downs in Turk territory.

TURKEY could do no better, and punted to the Hart 10-yard line. Then disaster struck the Horns again.

Hart could not move the ball, but couldn't hold onto it either — a Horn fumble on the Hart 1-yard line was picked up by Turkey's Mike Mullen. On the next play, Dennis Irby cracked through the Hart line for the Turks' second touchdown. The kick for extra point failed, and Turkey held a 12-0 advantage.

On Hart's next set of downs, the Longhorns found the going a lot better. With the help of a few big penalties at opportune times, the Horns found themselves on the Turkey 8-yard line. Quarterback Dirk Rambo handed off to Stanley Dyer, who blasted over the goal line for the score. A pass to Erasmo Castillo for a two-point conversion went awry, and the score at the end of the first quarter stood at 12-6 in Turkey's favor.

IT WAS Turkey's turn to get struck by fumble-itis on the Turks' next set of downs, as they fumbled on their own 45, where Carlos Martinez jumped on it to give Hart possession.

But Hart could do no better as the Horns fumbled the ball right back to the Turks.

That's the way the second quarter went — one team would fumble the ball away, and the other team would give it right back.

AT HALFTIME, the score still stood at 12 for Turkey and 6 for Hart.

Turkey came back out after the halftime break looking better with every play.

The Turks received the opening kickoff and proceeded to march 70 yards for a score. The scoring play came on fourth down and goal to go from the 9, where Dennis Irby passed to Neil Guest for the marker. A run for a two-point conversion failed, and the third quarter ended with the score Turkey 18, Hart 6.

IN THE fourth quarter the Turks completely took over the game as the Horns could not move the ball and kept giving it up via punts and fumbles.

Early in the fourth it looked as if the Horns might drive for another score and possibly reverse the tide of the game, but fumble-itis struck them again.

With seven minutes left to play, the Turks found themselves deep in Hart territory again, and Joe Lane ran the final 12 yards for a Turkey TD. Dan Davis ran the conversion play for two extra points, and Turkey had just about put it out of reach, 24-6, midway in the last period.

BUT IT still wasn't over. With just a little over three minutes remaining, Turkey's Billy Vevens shocked the crowd with an electrifying 33-yard touchdown run. The TD revised the score to 32-6 as the two-point conversion run failed.

The Longhorns finally looked as though they were moving the ball in the waning seconds of the game, as Dirk Rambo completed two passes in a row to move the herd downfield. But time ran out on the Horns before they could cap their drive, and the final score remained: Turkey 32, Hart 6.

Cats shut out Steers, 24-0

By JIM MILLER
For the second time this season, the Dimmitt Bobcats unleashed a pair of hard-running backs and blasted a rival school out of the park before halftime.

THE CATS downed the Farwell Steers, 24-0, in Friday night's encounter on the Steers' home pasture.

Dan Frierson again provided the fireworks as he tallied three touchdowns, running out of the newly inaugurated Veer offense.

Although the Steers won the toss and received, that was the last time Lady Luck smiled on them during the non-district encounter.

In fact, the Bobcats notched their first score when Frierson crossed the goal line with just 3 1/2 minutes gone in the first quarter. Hoyt Hestand knocked the extra point home and the Purple Crew led, 7-0.

GENE SHEETS, the Steers' man-under, failed to get his attack moving on the next series of downs, and the host team was forced to turn the ball over for the first time.

Jay Stanton, Bobcat fullback with a puny return, kicked the ball to the Farwell 30. After a short gain by the smooth striding Frierson, Mark Wohlgemuth lofted a short aerial over the middle to Dave Nino, who carried to the Steer 17. Frierson picked up six yards on the next play and then rumped in from the Farwell 12-yard stripe on a right sweep. Hestand converted with 5:45 left in the opening stanza to give the visitors a 14-0 margin.

Garry Erwin returned the Dimmitt kick to the Farwell 28-yard line. The Steers' ground attack sputtered again as big Pat Barrios threw his 215 pound frame into a Steer runner on a big third down play.

STANTON returned the Farwell punt for a nifty 23-yard pickup to the Steer 48. But Randy Chandler nabbed a Wohlgemuth offering and returned it to the Farwell 27 to stop the Dimmitt drive. Garry Erwin made a fine shoestring catch of a Gene Sheets aerial, but the Steers were forced to punt.

The Cats took over on their own 43, and the swift galaxy of Dimmitt running backs soon put the Cats into scoring position. Dave Nino and Stanton led the charge to the Steer 28. Again the Veer T offense was employed as Frierson, the schoolboy version of "Mr. Outside," lashed off tackle for another Bobcat score. Hestand's conversion kick was perfect, giving the Cats a 21-0 edge.

THE HALF ended with the Bobcats holding a 21-0 advantage. The Cats notched 165 yards rushing in the opening half to the Steers' 66 yards overland.

Frierson opened the second half by giving the Cats a first down on a run after Max Newman grabbed a Wohlgemuth aerial for an eight-yard gain. The Cats, however, were forced to punt.

The next series saw the Steers finally generate some offense as Sheets hit Chandler on a 40-yard pass play to the Dimmitt 40. The Steer drive stopped suddenly, though, when Charlie McLean, Bobcat defensive halfback, picked off a Sheets pass and romped 20 yards to the Steer 48. Stanton ended the third frame with a 20-yard run to the Steers 28.

THE CATS' ball carriers drove to the 11, and from that point Hestand banged home a 25-yard field goal to end the scoring at 24-0. Stanton broke loose on a 60-

Wolverines have top QB, tackles

By JIM MILLER
Coach Duane Locke, head mentor of the Springlake-Earth Wolverines, thinks of his quarterback corps and a warm glow appears on his face.

COACH Locke isn't so apt to maintain this look of rapture, however, when the rest of his young inexperienced ball club is mentioned.

Locke & Co. will host the Dimmitt Bobcats Friday night in a non-conference encounter.

The Wolverines, coming off of a 7-3 season last year, have posted a 1-1 record so far this season, downing Amherst 26-0 in their opener and losing a 27-7 decision to Hale Center last week.

ABOUT 10 gridders will sport the Green and Gold in this coming campaign who were around last year. Gone from last year's unit are nine seniors, so some rebuilding has been going on. Especially hard hit through graduation was the Wolverine line.

Let's save the unpleasant for later, however, and talk of Coach Locke's fine array of backfield talent.

At quarterback, two experienced performers head the list. (Notice Coach Locke's widening grin.) Hoyt Glasscock or Mike Cleavinger are both juniors, and both are capable of running the veer offense. Both are of about the same size, and both can throw the ball. At the QB post, at least, the Wolverines are blessed with good depth.

TONY BARTON (185, senior) and Jerry Barden (180, senior) will provide the running fireworks.

Someone once said that it's what's up front that counts. If this is the case, graduation may have caused a major problem for the Wolverines.

Tony Keith 165-pound guard, is listed as the team's best blocker. The tackle positions look fairly stable with Kent Parrish and all-state candidate George Nance providing the muscle.

COACH LOCKE warns, "We may not have the best passing attack in the state, but our ball carriers are strong and like to hit you. We also have some pretty fair receivers."

COACH Brown L Smith's Bobcats, operating out of the House Veer-T offense, will be after their third straight win of the campaign. Smith plans to stay with primarily the same line-up that has brought home the bacon — or pigskin — in the first two cuttings.

The backfield combination that seems to be improving with every game consists of Dan Frierson, Dave Nino and Jay Stanton, plus signal caller Mark Wohlgemuth.

And the Cats have been getting sterling performances from many veterans across the forward wall. Big Pat Barrios and Robert Woolbright, and hustling Henry Rivera have provided many thrills for those who are enthralled with interior line play. Hoyt Hestand, who puts the toe back in the game, has done a fine job from his guard slot. Smith has also been pleased with juniors Nati Anes and Charlie McLean, who have looked good in the late date. Anes is the big, hard-running sort of back that every coach likes to have to maintain ball control, and McLean simply loves to take a running whack at somebody.

THE unbeaten Cats will be favored Friday night, but the heavier Wolverines could be bad news if their attack jells.

Nazareth clouts Leopards, 28-14

By "THE SWIFT"
The Nazareth Swifts, taking on the tough New Home Leopards, came alive with a 14-point fourth quarter to defeat New Home, 28-14, Friday night at Swift Field.

NAZARETH took the opening kickoff and marched down the field for what seemed a touchdown drive when the ball was intercepted by Rick Maloney on a pass from Keith Gerber to Ben Huseman.

From the Nazareth 45, New Home marched for three consecutive first downs with runs by Maloney and Foerster. On this series of downs Nazareth drew two 15-yard penalties for roughing the passer, but still halted the drive.

The Swifts gained the ball on downs before the first quarter ended, but were forced to punt, ending the first period of play with the score 0-0.

New Home, in good field position, mounted a 42-yard touchdown drive led by Foerster and Maloney. Tailback Foerster scored on an 11-yard run and also ran the two-point conversion, making the score 8-0.

The Swifts took the kickoff on the 33-yard line and four plays later were in the end zone on a 26-yard run by David Olvera. A two-point conversion attempt failed. Halfback Melvin Wethington aided on the drive by picking up 26 yards in two carries, while Olvera gained 43 yards in two carries.

At halftime the score stood New Home 8, Nazareth 6. Nazareth drew first blood on a pass from Gerber to Huseman, with a two-point conversion by Melvin Wethington making the score 14-8 with the Swifts on top for the first time.

New Home fought back with good runs by Maloney and Foerster. The Leopards, trying a fourth down pass that was completed, then fumbled and gave the Swifts the ball on the 20. The Swift offense could not move, though, and gave up the ball on a punt by Gerber.

Six plays later quarterback Filming winged a TD pass to tailback Foerster. The conversion was blocked and a penalty was thrown on the Swifts after the play. New Home then kicked from the 45, and the Swifts took over on the 20 — but could not get rolling.

The third quarter ended in a 14-14 tie.

Teacher of week:

Ernest Dutton

This week's teacher of the week is Mr. Ernest H. Dutton.

THIS IS Mr. Dutton's first year to teach in DHS. He received his AB degree at Transylvania College in Lexington, Ky. and his masters in voice from American Conservatory in Chicago. He came to Dimmitt High from Jal, N.M., where he taught music.

Mr. Dutton's pet peeve is students who chew gum in choir.

Among Mr. Dutton's many hobbies are photography, electronics, gardening, horseback riding, swimming, and all sports.

When asked his opinion of our school, Mr. Dutton replied, "I think you have a real nice school and community, and you have the possibility of a very fine high school choir."

Senate adopts qualifications for exemptions

By: RICKY BELL

Student Council met last week, Thursday 17, 1970. The main topic of discussion in this meeting was exemptions. Student Senate decided and voted on these rules for exemptions.

IF A student has one unexcused absence in one class he or she must take that test in that class. Two unexcused absences in two classes will cause them to take tests in these classes. Three unexcused absences in three classes not necessarily the same day take the test in all six classes.

Here are the grades a student must have:

76-80 with 1 absence
86-90 with 3 absences
91-95 with 4 absences
96-100 with 5 absences

Seniors of DHS are exempted with a passing grade and no unexcused absences. Here are their grade points:

75 with 1 absence
80 with 2 absences
85 with 3 absences
90 with 4 absences

Also the Student Senate is now selling mums for $2.50. So, buy your girl, your mom, or your wife a mum.

D-Club elects Garza president

Dimmitt D-Club met Wednesday, September 17, to elect its officers for the 1970-71 year.

The officers elected were Andrew Garza, president; Mark Wohlge-muth, vice-president; Max Newman, Treasurer. They are sponsored by Coach Kenneth Cleveland.

THIS club is composed of all varsity athletes that have lettered in the previous seasons.

The D-Club has about 15 boys and their functions are to support and raise money for athletics.

This year's goal was set at $200.

Editorial

Students favor an open campus

The DHS publications class ran a survey last week, asking three questions:

(1) Do you favor open campus?
(2) Do you think food prices are reasonable?

(3) Do you (a) eat in the lunchroom; (b) snack bar; (c) bring your lunch?

THE POLL was originally designed to try to obtain an estimate of how many students favored an open campus. Unfortunately, we were unable to reach some of the students because of absences or because they weren't in a class. We were able to poll approximately 400 students, however.

Our findings on the first question were that 397 students favored having an open campus while none were opposed.

As for food prices, only 11 students who ate in the lunchroom thought that food prices were reasonable. Fourteen students who ate in the snack bar thought prices were reasonable there. Six students who brought their lunch felt that school lunch charges were fair.

ONE FACT that might come as a surprise is that 161 of the students polled bring their lunch while only 123 students eat in the lunchroom regularly and only 113 eat in the snack bar.

We realize that food prices have gone up in the lunchroom and the freedom of choice has gone down, along with the length of the lines. But we hadn't realized that so few people go through the lunch line.

WE'VE BEEN told by members of the school board that there are two major reasons why students are denied an open campus. One reason given is that the lunchroom would lose too much money.

Last year we had a closed campus and the lunchroom lost $7,000. So...the school board decided we would have to buy a "Class A" lunch plate so the school could receive the government subsidy, which is one nickel per plate.

First of all, five cents per plate is not going to be enough money to offset the lunchroom's loss. Let's face it — as long as the lunchroom hires so much help, and serves so few people at those prices, it's going to lose money.

The school would be better off scaling down production and letting those who choose to eat elsewhere do so.

THE SECOND reason given was that the merchants downtown didn't like the idea of having 450 students downtown during the lunch hour. Maybe several years ago the majority of the merchants were against it; but today, it seems that only two merchants talked to were actually against it, and both of these were from chain stores.

If the school board members do have some reasoning to a closed campus which will justify their stand, we wish they would let us know, because the reasons they have given aren't reasons; they are excuses.

So it seems that 100 percent of the student body is for an open campus, and most of the merchants we have talked to would not mind having one. Dimmitt law enforcement officers can handle any traffic problem that might arise, we were told.

THAT LEAVES it up to the school board members. Teachers have asked them for an open campus, students have asked them for an open campus, but there has been no action taken on the requests.

What is your opinion?

FFA to buy gilt with Sears grant

The Sears and Roebuck Foundation will be giving the Dimmitt FFA Chapter $131 to purchase some breeding stock. The Chapter has decided to buy one good gilt (female pig) with the money. This will start a pig chain in our FFA.

ONE gilt out of each litter will be given back to the chapter each year. The chapter will decide who gets the gilt by writing letters to the committee. The committee consists of boys in the FFA.

Randy Griffitt, three year letterman for the Bobcats, is this week's Fourth Hour Player of the Week.

Griffitt is an offensive tight end and a defensive "seven." He has played football since the seventh grade and made the varsity when he was a sophomore. He has attended Dimmitt Schools all his life, and feels that the inexperienced "Cats will pull off several upsets.

RANDY plans to attend college at either West Texas State or South Plains Jr. College. He doesn't plan on playing football however.

His favorite teams are the World Champion Kansas City Chiefs and the National Champion Texas Longhorns.

Our Seniors of "71" have many favorite songs. Mary Cardenas likes "Who Ever Finds This." Margaret likes "Tighter Tighter." Rosa likes "As the Years Go By."

Isidro likes "Groovy Situation." Action is always arising in P.E. Rosemary loves to jump, her score for broad jumping was 7 ft. The highest for broad jumping was 8 feet.

Mrs. B., shouldn't you watch your language when you spill the glue bottle?

"The Pusher" is a popular song among the football boys this year. FTA sponsored a curb painting last Saturday. This is a door-to-door project, and FTA members will work on this each Saturday until the whole town is canvassed. With the exception of runny paint and cracked house numbers, it went off fairly well.

A big crowd turned out to watch the Bobcats beat the Steers at Farwell last Friday night. Somebody needs to do something about that awful smell as you are going into Farwell. Felton Isaacs got hurt during the game and had to spend one night in the hospital.

We are now on computer!

By DEBBIE BEAMES

The DHS and DHS changed their record keeping this year. The whole school system was programmed through a computer. This was tried this year for the first time. The whole idea of the "DEAL" is to make things fall into place more easily so we can get a new year off to a faster start. But with everything being so different, with learning how to work with the new ways, progress is slow in coming. However, next year our faculty will be "experienced" heh, heh, and trained to use the computer properly. Things will be quicker and easier. Through the computer system our school will be run smoothly without all of the back to school "hassel."

MR. MOORE states, "Right now, it's a lot of hard work but next year it will all be easier."

Mr. Ringo, counselor, says "Alter we get used to it things will be great!"

Murder trial ends with hung jury . . .

parents' home to her own about 4 p.m. to pick up some clothing, and that her husband came in a few minutes later.

She testified that she and Kemper talked "about four hours . . . about the custody case, our children, our crops . . . and we talked about going to Colorado and maybe find some land up there. . . . We had lost our lease on the farm."

Her husband, she said, had gone to tend to another piece of their farmland when she left the house about 9 p.m., planning to return to her parents' home.

SHE SAID that enroute to her parents' home she stopped by the nearby home of Donald Braddock "to see if he could take care of the farm for us if we went to Colorado in a couple of weeks."

Braddock, a former employee of Kemper, was a Texas A&M student at the time, and was home for the summer. Now an Army lieutenant, Braddock was flown here from Fort Gordon, Ga. to testify. His testimony corroborated that of Mrs. Kemper.

Mrs. Kemper said she and Braddock drove to a nearby liquor store but found it closed, then stopped at Braddock's cotton field so he could change his irrigation water.

SHE testified that as she and Braddock started to drive back toward his home, Kemper drove up in his pickup and told her to go home.

"Don said, 'Take me home,'" Mrs. Kemper testified. "Buddy said, 'I'll take him home, and you go on home'

"I drove up to the house and into the drive, but didn't get out of my car. I sat there and sat there . . . maybe 30 or 40 minutes . . . then I decided to go on to mother's and daddy's."

SHE SAID she met her husband in his pickup near the road intersection as she was leaving, and that she stopped when he waved her down.

Scubbing and gasping for breath, Mrs. Kemper continued:

"He came to the driver's side of my car. I had the door locked and the window cracked. He tried to open the car door and said for me to get back to the house. I told him I was going back to mother's and daddy's."

"FOR SOME reason, Buddy got up on the hood of the car, and we were face to face — he was looking at me through the windshield. He told me very loudly that I was going back to the house. I said, 'Buddy, get off the car,' and started down the road, very slowly.

"I don't know why, but Buddy moved to the front of the car and was reaching over to the center of the hood. . . .

"I don't know how, but he just . . . disappeared. I couldn't understand it, but all of a sudden he . . . just . . . wasn't there."

"I was driving very slowly. "HE WAS on the right side of the car with the top part of his body toward the center of the hood, or the top of the hood. It was dark, you know. . . .

"I don't know how far I drove because I didn't stop . . . until I heard . . . I felt . . . something . . . the right rear tire, the right rear end of the car . . . just raised up . . . and I heard this noise."

"I got out and ran back there and Buddy was lying on his side in the road. . . . I told him, 'Buddy, I have to go and get some help,' and he shook his head, 'yes.'"

"I WENT to the (Robert) Lowery's and asked for an ambulance and help, then drove back to where he was. . . .

"I ran back to Buddy, but when I got there he had rolled over on to his back, and I remember thinking that maybe he was all right. . . .

"I picked his head up and laid it on my left arm. . . . I asked if he could talk to me, and he didn't move. I said, 'Buddy, are you hurt?' and he didn't move. I said, 'Buddy, I love you,' and he shook his head. I told him, 'I went to get some help,' and he shook his head. It seemed that if I told him something he wanted to hear, then he responded."

AT THIS point, several other ladies in the courtroom — including one lady on the jury — were crying also.

"Mrs. Kemper, did you at any time intend to do any harm to your husband?" McCarthy asked her.

"Absolutely not," she said. "I loved him."

UNDER cross examination by Miller, Mrs. Kemper said she couldn't explain an empty vodka bottle found in the front seat of her car — which Braddock had said he did not see earlier — and she estimated her speed at the time of Kemper's death to be about five miles per hour.

In his summation for the state the next morning, Hamilton painted a completely different view of the fatal incident and left the jury in a dilemma. Excerpts from Hamilton's closing argument:

"Look at the handprints on the hood of the car (in photos). That man was desperately trying to hold onto the hood and she was gunning him down. His body was being pulled down over the front of the car, right between the headlights. It broke his leg as his foot jammed, he was dragged down, and she ground him under."

"YOU CAN feel it when you hit a rabbit with a car wheel — yet her husband weighed 216 pounds and was over six feet tall. Yet she says she didn't know she had hit him. . . .

"If Mrs. Kemper had been going 5 miles per hour as she said, and if Kemper had been dragged 134 feet as the investigating officers have testified, then he was dragged and rolled for 18.2 seconds after she hit him. And that's a long time when you're rolling under a car. That constitutes malice. She was grinding him in, and she knew she was grinding him in."

Ficking up a shoe of Kemper's which had been found, badly scraped, 1.6 miles up the road from the scene of the incident, Hamilton said:

"THIS SHOE could have been lodged above the drive shaft. That's how it could have gotten this scrape, from the drive shaft turning against it as she drove forward. I contend that she drove in that direction until she decided she couldn't get away with it, so she stopped and backed up. And what happens to a drive shaft when you back up? It starts turning the opposite direction. That's when the shoe fell out. Then she went to the Lowery's with her story about an accident."

In his closing argument for the defense, McCarthy said the state "has built its case on an assumption which it has failed to prove. There is no evidence whatever of any malice."

FIESTA—A crowd of 400 or more gathered on the courthouse lawn last Wednesday for the Mexican Independence Day celebration. Here, Tony Garza (at microphone), one of the two emcees of the two-hour show, draws a laugh from the crowd with a joke. At far left is Elsie Ulloa, fiesta princess. In center of stage, holding bouquet, is Fiesta Queen Linda Gonzales. The young singer in the colorful sombrero is el Ramonino de la Villita of Lubbock, a former national finalist in the Original Amateur Hour. The girl standing next to him is Senorita Blanca del Rosal, vocalist from Chihuahua, Mexico.

Correction

A story about Army Lt. Ronnie D. Hammonds of Dimmitt in last week's issue of the News was erroneous.

THE STORY, which came from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., said that Lt. Hammonds had completed the Finance Officer Basic Course there and would be assigned to headquarters of an Army facility at Oakland, Calif. Instead, Lt. Hammonds is due to be separated from active duty Monday at Fort Benjamin Harrison.

Lt. Hammonds, a certified public accountant in civilian life, plans to live in Houston after completing his tour of active duty next week. Before moving to Houston, however, he plans to make a sightseeing tour of New York City, Columbia, S.C., and Washington, D.C., and visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hammonds of Dimmitt.

First Baptist Church to start week's revival Sunday morning

Howard Lee and Fritz Smith are to be with the First Baptist Church of Dimmitt beginning Sunday morning for a week's revival effort. Both are well-known in Baptist circles for their work in evangelism.

LEE, the preacher for the special services, is the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Gonzales, where he has been for several years. He is a former area missionary for the South Central Texas Area and pastor in the Houston area at Pasadena. He participated in the recent New Zealand Life Crusade.

Smith, an evangelistic singer, also has had a varied career. He has been minister of music at several churches through the state, including Calvary Baptist at Lufkin, First Baptist at Jasper, First Baptist at Galena Park, First Baptist at Garland and First Baptist at San Antonio. He has been in music evangelism since 1966.

In addition he has traveled in Alaska, Japan, Hong Kong, Vietnam, the Philippine Islands and Hawaii as an evangelistic singer.

During the week of revival, First Baptist will present Lee and Smith at "noonspiration" Monday through Friday. Special services will begin promptly at 12 noon, and conclude at 12:30. Lunch will be served by various departments of the Sunday School.

EVENING services will be Monday through Saturday at 7:45 p.m., except on Friday night (6 p.m.). Lee and Smith will be at the regular Sunday services, 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Saturday will feature a special approach in revival. Smith will present a vocal concert of "Your Favorite Sacred Music" as a prelude to the preaching.

The view from your library

By MARY EDNA HENDRIX
Friday at 1 p.m. we will start the weekly Children's Story Hour for children from 4 to 6 years of age.

IF YOU would like to help with this program, please let me know. I would like at least one mother to help me with this each Friday. If you can't tell a story, maybe you would be good at directing the children in games, or at least keep them in the library until the other mothers pick up their children.

I attended a library workshop in Amarillo last Wednesday. The topic was "Cooperation With Other Libraries" such as school, church or public libraries in surrounding towns.

If teachers could give us a book list, we would be better prepared to help students when they come to the county library for information. If the school or church libraries have books they do not need to keep in their collection, then they may be used in the county library.

WE RECEIVED a few more books last week. Some of these were:

"A Day of Pleasure" by Isaac Singer. In these short stories, Isaac Singer writes of his early days in Poland, from 1908 to 1918, when life was often hard but always, to a boy of his imagination, a wonder. Singers autobiographical stories make this world live again.

"Edison at Work" by David W. Hutchings. There have been many good books about Thomas A. Edison. Everyone knows he invented the electric light, the phonograph and many other marvels of our time. But where did he work? What sort of shop did he have? How did he go about discovering his world-changing inventions? The answers are in the Thomas Edison Museum at West Orange, N.J., the laboratories and machine shops he worked in for 44 years, and left for the last time only three months before his death at age 84. It was the first complete laboratory of its kind in the world. This is the first book on this subject.

"The Arms of Krupp" by William Manchester. When Germany's ruling classes buried the last of the Krupps in the rain on Aug. 3, 1967, they witnessed the end of a 400-year dynasty which had armed Germany in three major wars and influenced the course of German and indeed of European history for centuries.

"Food Facts for Teenagers" by Margaret Salmon. What can foods do for you? Is it true that you are what you eat? Can the foods you eat affect your ability to think, see and hear? Your appearance? Your height and weight? Even your disposition and attitudes? They can and they do. In this book, an expert on nutrition shows you why your ability to win a race, succeed on an examination, or qualify for a beauty contest depends, in part, not only on your meal immediately before the big event but also on your eating habits for days and even years before. You will find out that every time you eat you are literally building your future for better or for worse.

Thought for the week: Facing responsibility is groundwork for the better life.

First Christian sets promotions for Bible school

Plans have been completed, according to Minister Bedford W. Smith of the First Christian Church, for "Promotion Day" in the Bible School Sunday and "Rally Day" on Sunday, Oct. 4 in the Bible School.

PAUL FRY is the superintendent.

Revival services for the church are scheduled for the week of Oct. 11 through 18. The evangelist will be Hellins Duhon, minister of the First Church of Christ in Lake Charles, La. He has traveled recently through the Holy Land and is in much demand as an evangelist. "The church feels fortunate in obtaining this great evangelist," Minister Smith said.

GIRL SCOUTS were organized in 1912.

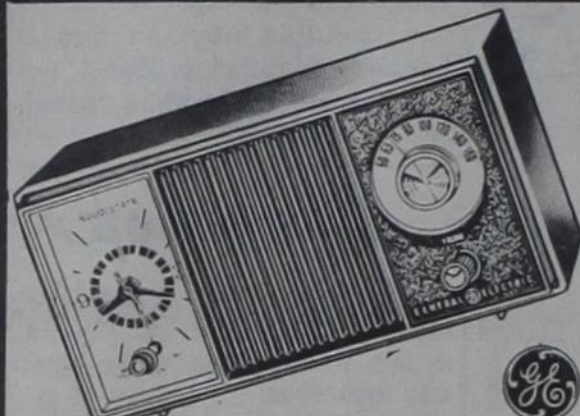

BOY SCOUTS were incorporated on Feb. 8, 1910.

YOUNG FARMER EXECUTIVES—Castro County now has three officers at the area and state levels of the Texas Young Farmers, after Saturday's area convention in Hereford. From left are Danny Bruton of Dimmitt, newly elected Area I president; Glenn Odom of Dimmitt, state vice-president; and Larry Huseman of Dodd, a member of the Springlake-Earth Young Farmers, who is the newly elected Area I treasurer.
