FORMER RANGER GIVEN LIFE TERM FOR MURDER

Search Of Lake Kemp Ends When Missing Crowell Man Appears At Littlefield

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

E. Grant Lantz, assistant manager of the cement products bureau of the Portland Cement association, comes to Wichita Falls to show cement dealers and contractors and others what is being done and can be done in the use of color in cement work.

Until quite recently nobody thought of anything but its natural grayish color in connection with cement and then along came a man in New Orleans, we believe it was, who conceived the idea of mixing colors in his sidewalks and the streets about his home to carry out a color scheme in his house. The idea took hold because it gave pleasing results and now it is being rapidly adopted throughout the country.

How quickly new things and new practices are adopted in this country. A year ago color in concrete was a new venture in the realm of aesthetics; today it is being widely used.

Senator Morris Sheppard, author of the 18th amendment, gets left off the board of temperance and morals of the Southern Methodist general conference because he voted for Al Smith in the last campaign and Bishop Cannon, who attained some notoriety because of a brokerage account, is given a vote of confidence, re-elected to the board and will probably be chosen as its chairman largely, we suspect, because he was active against Smith. In these opposite actions we can see something of the power of emotion to sweep aside all other considerations.

Hundreds of young people are graduating from high schools and from colleges in Wichita and all other counties of this section this week. For the moment the graduate holds the center of the stage, and it is a happy and auspicious moment. Talker would take nothing of the joy, the glory and the exaltation of this period from any graduate. Tomorrow comes the workday and more of life. Talker would wish for every graduate that he or she might carry over into tomorrow some of the exaltation of graduation time, and he is sure that most of them will.

Twenty years ago this week the graduating class of the Wichita Falls high school, when there were no mid-term graduates, numbered 25. This week it numbers 224 taking no account of those who graduated at the mid-term. There is a number of high schools in the county this year that have many more graduates than did the Wichita Falls high school 20 years ago. For instance, a class of 50 graduated this week from the Burkburnett high school. Where there were a dozen graduates 20 years ago there are a hundred today. With a greatly increased number of citizens who have at least graduated from a high school and with better training for life and citizenship than those who graduated 20 years ago what progress can we not expect these young people to bring us withing the next 20 years.

Talker does believe the graduate of this week is facing tomorrow with better training in living and in the use of knowledge to meet the greater complexities of life today than was the graduate of 20 or 30 years ago to meet the complexities of his day.

Thirteen men indicted in connection with the Sherman mob rioting have been transferred to the Dallas county jail, reads a dispatch. The fact that anybody is in jail is an indication of a changing attitude toward mob violence. There was a time when a grand jury would have solemnly declared it could find no evidence, there would have been no arrests and nothing would have been done to punish anybody.

The harvest field and the cotton patch are absorbing some of the surplus labor and relieving unemployment as summer opens, and slowly industrial activity is being resumed where mills and factories have been idle. We will hope that before the seasonal demand for labor slackens the country will have recovered from its depression and will be moving forward in another cycle of progress that will provide employment for all.

Tom Love's name goes on the ballot for the Democratic primary by court ruling and James E. Ferguson's name goes off by court ruling and the voters hear the claims of more than a dozen candidates amidst much confusion while our governor hesitates in his decision whether to run or not to run. The confusion seems to grow and we are about to become discouraged and disgusted when we recall that political issues have rarely been well defined and clear cut and personalities have often before been more confusing than the issues. Maybe it's because we have so many candidates that the confusion is so great. If that is true reducing the field to two by the first primary ought to give us something definite to vote about.

Crowell Sheriff Delivers News Halting Efforts To Find Body

Special to The Record News

SEYMOUR, Texas, May 23.—Eight boats which have been dragging the waters of Lake Kemp for the body of J. H. Carter since last Saturday were called in to shore at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon when word was received that the man for whom they searched is alive and well in Littlefield, Texas.

Sheriff Miller of Foard county, where Carter makes his home, rushed out to the lake as soon as relatives of the missing man were convinced that it was really his voice they heard in a long distance telephone conversation between Crowell and Littlefield. The sons of Mr. Carter started at once for Littlefield where their father is said to be visiting in the home of a nephew. He arrived there around 6 o'clock Thursday evening, the nephew said.

Carter, who is 60 years old and a well-known Crowell farmer, disappeared from his home last Thursday morning. From Vernon he mailed a letter to his wife, telling her he was going to "take a swim in Lake Kemp," and instructing her not to look for the body. In the letter he gave instructions about financial affairs, including the disposition of a $12,000 insurance policy.

A widespread search began at once, and on Saturday morning Carter's abandoned truck, holding his trousers and shoes, was found on a knoll in Flippen park at Lake Kemp. Hundreds of people, directed by John Crawford, game warden, joined in dragging the waters of the lake for his body, searching day and night for almost a week before the news of his whereabouts was received Friday afternoon.

Foe of Treaty

The London treaty "was not necessary at this time," Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, chairman of the navy general board, told the senate foreign relations committee in Washington. He is pictured above as he testified that, in his opinion, the United States navy should have been built up to its maximum strength under the terms of the Washington treaty before a new pact was formulated.

SIX NAMED IN DRY CHARGES

Officers Seize 130 Gallons Of Liquor, Three Cars

Complaints naming six Wichita Falls men on charges of violating the prohibition law were filed Friday as the aftermath of a series of raids and liquor seizures late Thursday and during the early morning hours Friday in which members of the sheriff's department confiscated three automobiles and about 130 gallons of whisky and pure alcohol.

The series of arrests began with a chase of about a mile through the eastern section of the city which resulted in the arrest of Ray Fowler and the seizure of the car he was driving. H. L. White and Charlie Gant, deputies who made the arrest after the chase, said they found broken wet pieces of glass on the floor of the car.

Efforts to determine the ownership of the machine led to the arrest of two other men, not at first suspected on liquor charges, according to Sheriff W. G. Bralley.

NEW YORK, May 23. (INS)—Mrs. Charlotte Fixel, who says she was the common-law wife of A. L. Erlanger, millionaire theatrical magnate, received a blow today in her fight to share in the Erlanger millions when the Appelate division of the supreme court held that she was not entitled to a jury trial on the issues. It also approved the appointment of Saul A. Baron as temporary administrator of the estate.

Fort as Republican candidate for the U. S. senate.

HOOVER SWINGS BIG CLUB OVER SENATE'S HEAD

President to Call Special Session if Treaty Is Not Acted Upon

AIMED AT OPPONENTS

Threat Seen as Effort to Overcome Objections to London Pact

WASHINGTON, May 23. (US)—President Hoover swung a club over the senate today by announcing he will call a special session immediately following adjournment if the senate fails to act on the London naval treaty during the regular session.

Coming at the height of opposition to the treaty during the senate hearings, the president's threat was interpreted as a drive to force senators into line in the face of the heavy bombardment of the pact from the high command of the navy.

It came at a time when senators, weary from a session of more than a year, are anxious to hurry home for their political campaigns. It was regarded as warning senators they cannot get away until the treaty is acted upon.

Johnson Asks Time

President Hoover's curt announcement followed within a few hours the emphatic warning of Senator Johnson, Republican of California, leading treaty foe, against the administration's effort to jam through the treaty.

The issue was brought sharply to head when Senator Fess, Republican, or Ohio, a White House spokesman, arose to demand that the foreign relations committee go into executive session to prevent the hearings continued "indefinitely."

Johnson attacked "gag rule" and at a secret session, which Fess did not attend, the committee decided to proceed with the hearings next week. Johnson has several more witnesses.

Treaty Opposed

Other high spots of the treaty controversy were:

Rear Admiral Robert E. Goontz, retired, a former commander-in-chief of the fleet, and technical advisor as he declared "at the so-called Washington conference," said the London treaty imperils adequate national defense.

Rear Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of the bureau of ordnance, stated the treaty gives Great Britain superiority over the United States both in cruisers and battleships.

Rear Admiral H. H. Hough, member of the general board, assailed the abandonment of time-tested principles of national defense in the treaty.

Rear Admiral George O. Day, also a general board member, said the treaty, in sacrificing the 5-3 ratio with Japan, greatly handicaps the United States.

CHICAGO, May 23. (AP)—Reporters and photographers met Agnes Bowers, 13-year-old champion speller of Nebraska, at the railroad station today and the interview wasn't so satisfactory—but the pictures were all right.

One of the scribes pushed himself over for a fall by asking Agnes to spell Acidophilous, although the sweet young girl suggested anything else but a word meaning acid loving.

"A-c-i-d-o-p-h-i-l-o-u-s," spelled Agnes, now you spell Ankylosis."

"A-n-c-h-," stammered the reporter looking helplessly toward one of the photographers, as though his joints were ankylosed (fused solid.)

"A-n-c-k-" suggested the photographer, "No."—Well, I gotta be takin' a picture."

Agnes is on her way to Washington for the national spelling contest next Tuesday.

GRAF RESUMES BRAZIL FLIGHT

Zeppelin Takes Off Ahead Of Schedule

RACIFE (PERNAMBUCO) Brazil, May 23. (US—The Graf Zeppelin hopped off for Rio de Janeiro at 11:37 p. m., tonight, 10:37 p. m., E. D. T.), 23 minutes ahead of schedule.

Dr. Hugo Eckener orderd the passengers abroard at 11 o'clock and the craft was ready for the jump down the eastern coast of Brazil to Rio and Sao Paulo, center of the German colony in Brazil, 20 minutes later.

The 1,200-mile leg down the Brazilian coast, which Dr. Hugo Eckener had planned to start at dawn today, was later scheduled to begin at 6 p. m. (5 p. m., E. D. T.), just after the quick darkness of the tropics has settled and the cooler air enabled the graf to gain greater lift. The midnight time for the hop-off was decided upon late today.

There were no announced changes in the passenger list on this first flight of a dirigible to the South American continent, and the 15 men and four women who flew the equator will now journey further toward the southern tip of the Americas in another history-making tour.

The craft was refueled here throughout the night, and the same trouble which occurred at the Seville landing field was again manifest here in supplying water to the Graf. The pipe line was too small at Seville and again at Jequia field, and firemen were finally called to bring their pumps into action to transfer several tons of water to the Graf's containers.

Upshaw Challenges Blaine to 'Pro' Debate

WASHINGTON, May 23. (INS)—William D. Upshaw, former member of congress from Georgia, a speaker for the Anti-Saloon league, challenged Senator Blaine, Republican of Wisconsin, in an open letter today to debate prohibition. He protested Blaine's action in taking his name Tuesday when he applauded F. Scott McBride, Anti-Saloon league chief, when he was a witness before the senate lobby investigating committee, of which Blaine is a member.

He wrote Blaine used the tactics a "lawyer would employ to confuse and humiliate Dr. McBride."

'MA' FERGUSON ENTERS RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Announcement Follows on Heels of Decision by Supreme Court

AMNESTY IS INVALID

Impeached Governor Loses Fight for Place on Demo Ballot

AUSTIN, May 23. (UP)—In the wake of the state supreme court's refusal to certify her husband as a candidate, Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, the woman who canned peaches in Texas' White House while serving as governor of the state, today announced her candidacy for re-election.

James E. (Farmer Jim) Ferguson, elected governor twice only to be impeached during his second term for misuse of office, was denied a place on the Democratic primary ballot when the Texas supreme court held invalid the amnesty act, passed in 1924 and restoring to Ferguson the right to hold office. The amnesty law was passed during Mrs. Ferguson's administration but later was repealed.

In his application for a writ of mandamus compelling the Democratic state executive committee to place his name on the primary ballot, Ferguson contended the repeal was illegal.

Impeached in 1917

Ferguson, on a platform of relief for the dirt farmers of Texas, first was elected governor in 1914, defeating Tom Ball, of Houston, for the Democratic nomination. He was impeached by the state legislature in 1917 for alleged misconduct while in office.

"Ma" Ferguson, the first woman to be elected governor in the United States, went into Texas' gubernatorial mansion in 1924 of an anti-Ku Klux Klan platform. Her administration was fraught with charges of graft, however, and she was defeated by Gov. Dan Moody when she ran for her second term.

Mrs. Ferguson's state highway commission resigned en masse when Moody, then attorney general, uncovered alleged irregularities in the letting of highway contracts. She also was threatened with impeachment proceedings because of her wholesale letting of pardons.

Jim Acts as "Advisor"

During "Ma's" administration, her husband constantly was near her, receiving her callers and acting as "advisor to the governor."

After the victory of Dan Moody retired the Fergusons from politics, they settled down on their "Belle of the Bosque" ranch near Temple. "Farmer Jim" returned to raising cattle and "Ma" to canning vegetables and preserving fruits. For four years, the fiery couple remained in seclusion.

Early this year, however, Fer-

TOM B. STOWE FOUND GUILTY AT VICTORIA

Defendant's Former Wife And Daughter Sob as Verdict Is Read

APPEAL TO BE TAKEN

Accused Man's First Spouse Furnishes Money for Defense

VICTORIA, Texas, May 23. (AP)—Tom B. Stowe, 49, former state ranger was sentenced to life imprisonment today, for the murder of Alvin Marshall, 27, farmer, whom Stowe testified he shot in a fit of anger because his home had been broken up.

Counsel for Stowe announced an appeal would be taken.

Stowe's former wife, Mrs. T. E. White of Shreveport, and his daughter by his former marriage, Mrs. Gertrude Allen of Beaumont, sobbed aloud when the verdict was read.

Present Wife Leaves

His present wife, Mrs. Vertille Smith Stowe, whom he alleged Marshall had insulted, remained in the courtroom until arguments were ended but left with her parents for their home at Hunt, Lee county, without hearing the verdict.

Stowe remained silent throughout the arguments of attorneys and calmly smoked one cigaret after another. He bowed his head and closed his eyes for a moment as he heard the jury foreman read the conclusion.

Mrs. White told reporters that she mortgaged her home in Shreveport for $2,000 to provide funds for Stowe's defense, after he had appealed to her for aid.

Women Not Called

The state stressed the fact that Stowe's wife and her mother, Mrs. S. W. Smith, were not used as witnesses to corroborate the defendant's testimony as to Marshall having insulted his wife, declaring that only the defense could have called Mrs. Stowe as a witness.

The defense replied that it preferred to forego Mrs. Stowe's testimony as to the alleged insult rather than have the state take advantage of her to question her on irrelevant atters, and that nothing had prevented the state from calling her mother as a witness.

'MA' FERGUSON ENTERS RACE

Former Woman Governor To Seek Re-Election

guson announced he would be a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination—again calling on the "dirt farmers" to elect him.

To Seek Rehearing

When he asked the supreme court to force the state Democratic committee to place his name on the ballot, he announced that, in case his plea was denied, "Ma" Ferguson again would seek the governor's toga.

"I will ask for a rehearing of the case before the supreme court," Ferguson said tonight. "My case should have been tried by the regular supreme court, instead of a tribunal made up of men appointed by my bitter political enemy, Dan Moody.

"My wife will make the race, however, and will announce her platform within a few days."

LOVE PROMISES FIGHT TO FINISH

DALLAS, May 23. (AP)—Thomas B. Love of Dallas, state senator and candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, served notice tonight that "if my name is not printed on the ballot as a candidate for governor in every county in Texas at the coming July primaries somebody is likely to go to jail for contempt of court."

Senator Love also asserted he was in the race to the finish.

"Since, on July 4, 1929, I declared my purpose to become a candidate for governor before the Democratic primary election, for the purpose of carrying the anti-Tammany message to the people of Texas, there has never been the slightest thought on my part of withdrawing from the race for governor."

He said he wanted "now to express the hope, once for all, that neither the press nor the people will take seriously any such canards which may hereafter be set afloat."

Senator Love said that within the past week he had received reports "from every section" that beyond question there would not be 25 of the 250 counties of the state in which he would not be one of the two high men and in a substantial majority of them he would lead the ticket.

Butter Prices Low Because of Yield

WASHINGTON, May 23. (UP)—Overproduction of butter and not competition from oleomargarine is the cause of the low butter prices prevailing in the western dairying states, Dr. J. S. Abbott, secretary of the institute of margarine manufacturers, told the organization's annual convention here today. He said an "anti-margarine" campaign was under way in these states.

"Analysis of statistics compiled by the agriculture department shows an excess of 28,512,00 pounds in the butter output of the eight great dairying states in 1929 over the previous year's total," he said. "This helped bring about the surplus which depressed the price."

Waco Jail Breakers Recaptured Within Hour

Six Named In Liquor Charges

While they were being held for questioning, Charlie Gant and Warren Belcher, deputies, arrested two men directly across street from the courthouse and seized their car, in which the officers found 17 half-gallon jars of whisky. Charges were filed against these two, Cecil Davis and Flavil George, for possession and transportation of liquor, although it was pointed out they had no connection with the other arrests.

At about the same time, Dick Morris and H. L. White, deputies, arrested a negro after they found a quart of liquor at a place in the negro section of town. The negro was being held Friday, no charges having been filed.

Late Thursday night, shortly after midnight, coincidence in the form of an automobile collision near the courthouse added the missing link in the chain of incidents which led to the final solution of the investigations, with the exception of determining the ownership of the seized automobiles. Gant and Belcher chanced to be near the scene of the accident. In one of the cars, the officers found two 10-gallon kegs of whisky, 31 half-gallon jars of whisky, about 15 pints of labeled liquor and two five-gallon cans of pure alcohol thought to have been brought from Mexico. The cans were boxed and wrapped in Mexican newspapers and the pints were labeled with the name of a Canadian distillery.

John Williams was arrested after the accident and the car taken. Subsequent investigations and the discovery of relationship between Williams, against whom charges were filed Friday, and the two men arrested earlier led to obtaining of a search warrant for a house in a fashionable residential section in the western part of the city. A raid at the place discovered two 30-gallon kegs of whisky, 12 half-gallon jars of liquor, an empty keg, several cases of empty half-gallon jars, an electrical ageing apparatus, testers, artificial Bourbon flavoring and a labeled bottle corresponding to those seized after the crash.

Charges were filed Friday against Ezra Williams and C. E. Wayson, the two arrested earlier in connection with the ownership of the car, the complaints having grown out of the raid at the house. Charlie Gant and Warren Belcher, deputies, were assisted in the raid by F. E. Summers and A. L. Stubblefield, city detectives. Sheriff Bralley said Friday two women and a 14-year-old boy questioned in connection with the inquiries were released. Investigations into the car ownership will be continued Saturday.

guests at a luncheon given by the chamber of commerce and all civic clubs of that city jointly in the American Legion hall.

Rev. J. M. Perry, pastor of the Vernon Central Christian church, gave the invocation and led a sing-song. Roy J. Daniel served as toastmaster. The address of welcome was delivered by George H. Wilson, president of the chamber of commerce.

Maurice Cheek, Wichita Falls attorney who gave the response, made a decided hit with the audience and kept the crowd in an uproar with his humorous remarks concerning the citizenship of Vernon. Miss Catherine Pierce of Vernon, gave two violin numbers accompanied by Miss Flossie Bowman. Russell Austin of Electra gave a reading. Miss Kathleen Ralston of Iowa Park, sang several numbers with J. S. Pitman of Wichita Falls, at the piano. Mr. Pitman gave a piano solo. "The Stars and Stripes Forever." Frank Humphrey of Wichita Falls presented a bagpipe solo. R. E. Shepherd, former Wichita Falls mayor, sang two selections.

The trippers arrived at every stop either on time or ahead of schedule. Quanah, northern terminus of the journey, was reached shortly after 4 o'clock. After a dinner there at which no program was presented the delegation started back to Vernon for the dance.

At Iowa Park the address of welcome was made by Mayor Tom Pace. Mr. Shepherd responded. A group of girls met the visitors there and pinned flowers in the lapels of the Junior chamber of commerce members.

E. R. Brown, chamber of commerce director at Electra, welcomed the trippers to that city with Gaze McDermett responding. In Chillicothe the delegates were welcomed by George Moffett. Floyd Randel replied.

Tire Dealer Explains 'Extra Safety Margin'

An explanation of "that extra margin of safety" which is being widely advertised by the General Tire company in connection with its "blow-out proof" tires was given Friday by Paul Putty of the Dixie Tire Service company, local distributor of General tires.

"When motoring, it is the difference between a constant, uneasy premonition of possible disaster if a tire should blow out at high speed, and the care-free confidence of the driver who knows that his tires are blowout proof and that he can safely drive his car at whatever speed it may be capable of without danger of being hurled off the road into a ditch by a blowout tire," said Mr. Putty.

"Most modern tires are safe—up to a certain point, which varies according to the worth built into the tire. It is beyond that certain point that the qualities built into the General blowout proof dual balloon provide 'that extra margin of safety.'

"At present-day speeds, it often is that 'extra margin of safety' that makes the difference between safe motoring at high speed in heavy traffic on a narrow roadway and disaster, perhaps death, when a blowout tire in a fraction of a second sends a heavy car hurtling into a ditch or down an embankment because a big, fat tire has suddenly gone flat and has wrenched the steering wheel from the grasp of the driver.

"A blowout comes without warning. It hides under rubber that still looks good and usually 'blows' at the instant of greatest danger.

"The same qualities that make the General dual balloon blowout proof also make it skid-proof, because it travels safely at lower air pressure than is recommended for any other tire, it clings more tenaciously to the road and insures 'that extra margin of safety.'"

Eyewitness Describes Slaying Of Haskell County Youth in Liquor Row

EASTLAND, Texas, May 23. (AP)—The state rested late today in the murder trial of Will Fritts, after presenting the testimony of Mrs. W. R. Hamilton, eye-witness to the shooting of Earl Hamilton, 17, with whose slaying Fritts was charged.

She said Fritts came to her home in Haskell county the night of Oct. 24, 1928, and asked for Hamilton and the two talked together on the front porch.

Mrs. Hamilton declared she heard the youth say, "'yes, I testified I got it from you." He had been a witness against Fritts in a liquor case. She heard a shot and rushed to the door, and, she testified, saw Fritts shoot young Hamilton in the back as he ran around the house. He fell dead at the back door.

The witness said W. R. Hamilton went to the front porch and Fritts shot him. He died soon after being taken into the house. She said she notified L. R. Winnegar, tenant on their farm.

Winnegar testified to hearing the shots before Mrs. Hamilton came to his door. He said he saw a man leave the Hamilton home, get into a car and drive away, leaving the lights off until he had driven several hundred yards. Winnegar said he notified officers after seeing the two men were dead.

The defense offered several witnesses who said Fritts had behaved peculiarly at times for several years and they tought he was insane.

Fritts slumped in his chair and appeared asleep during most of the trial today.

Youth Who Interceded in Unequal Fight Cleared of Murder Charge

QUANAH, Texas, May 23.—Lawrence May, 20, was cleared of a charge of murder here Friday when the Hardeman county grand jury declined to return an indictment against him in connection with the death of Frank Beavers, taxi driver, last March 13.

Young May, the son of Robert R. May, transportation superintendent for the Forth Worth and Denver, interceded in a fist fight between Beavers and L. O. Page on the station platform at Quanah. A blow from May sent the older man to the brick platform and resulted shortly afterwards in a fatal cerebral hemorrhage.

May boarded a train at the station immediately after the fight and before he knew of the seriousness of Beaver's wound. When he read of the man's death he returned to Quanah and surrendered to county officers.

The youth was a member of a Fort Worth and Denver survey crew and interceded in the fight after he had warned Beavers that Page had already "had enough."

Curtis Cook gave the invocation, and Everett O'Dowd, Junior college graduate and student pastor, pronounced the benediction.

"The vital question before the younger generation of today is 'will you master material or will it master you'?" Dean Thomas said. "Think above the crowd; don't go one way just because everyone else is on that road. Go your own way; be different!"

"Do not yield to the four idols of the modern world, the idol of the tribe, of the cave, of the theater, and of the market place. Success depends not upon the material things of the world, but on the spiritual life."

"I just wanted to wash his face."

On the basis of that statement, R. V. The woman denied the allegations against her and said she took the boy in her house only to scrub his face.

Re-Election Brings Protest From Fitzhugh

elected him a member of the board.

The report of the committee on temperance and social service, a separate body of which Josephus Daniels is chairman, was adopted by the convention without opposition.

Daniels, who had threatened to oppose the report on the convention floor and offer a minority report, unless certain sections of it written by Cannon were deleted, at the last acceded to adoption of the report.

"The report as a whole so truly represents the spirit of our church, we decline to make a minority report," he explained.

While making the motion for the adoption of the committee report Mr. Daniels said that there were two or three paragraphs which he "could not" endorse. Mr. Daniels' group had been beaten by the Cannon faction in several tests on the convention floor.

Speaking of his war-time chief, President Wilson, the former secretary of the navy declared amid applause: "Woodrow Wilson wrote that the 18th amendment ought not to be repealed and the Volstead act ought not to be repealed. I stand with him in those declarations."

The board of temperance and social service will hold its annual meeting at Lake Junaluska, N. C., July 2.

WOMEN DENIED RIGHT OF CLERGY

DALLAS, May 23. (AP)—Southern Methodist women desirous of having the right to preach today received an expression in their favor from the general conference of their church but they were no nearer their goal than before.

The quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, voted 174 to 159 to grant equal rights of clergy to women. However, the bishops held that the proposal was a suggested change in the constitution and that as such, it would require a two-thirds vote for adoption.

Women who drafted the equal rights memorial at the meeting of the women's missionary council at Amarillo this spring, planned to carry on the fight. They hoped to obtain the two-thirds vote necessary to submit the proposed amendment at the next quadrennial convention.

This was the first time that the matter had ever been submitted to the general conference.

RECIPES

Fish and Potato Croquettes

One cupful cold flaked or canned fish
One cupful mashed potatoes, salt and pepper to taste
One egg or two egg yolks.
Two tablespoonfuls butter.

If the potatoes are cold, melt the fat and mix it with the fish, potatoes and other ingredients. Season carefully (minced parsley, celery salt and a little onion juice are desirable). Shape and crumb, egg and crumb again. Fry in deep fat. Serve on a hot platter, garnished with parsley and slices of lemon. Makes about 10 croquettes.

Note—Cold chopped ham, chicken or veal may be used instead of fish. Use one egg yolk in the croquettes and either the white or another egg yolk for dipping. Mix the egg used for dipping with a tablespoonful of water.

Filled Grapefruit

Select medium-sized grapefruit and halve them; cut out the membrane between the sections of pulp; sweeten lightly and fill the centers with chopped maraschino cherries and cubes of oranges.

Asparagus in Casserole

One bunch asparagus
One cup grated cheese.
One-fourth cup butter
Three tablespoons flour
Two cups milk
Salt and pepper.
Three tablespoons buttered bread crumbs.

Cook asparagus in salty water until tender. Make a cream sauce by mixing flour into melted butter and stirring in sweet milk. Cook until thickened; remove from the fire and stir in grated cheese. Season to taste. Place layer of asparagus in the bottom of a buttered baking dish and cover with cheese sauce; repeat until all the asparagus is used. Cover with buttered bread crumbs and set in the oven to heat and brown. Serve hot. This dish might be combined several hours ahead of time and placed in the refrigerator until about time to serve.

Pickled Peach Salad

Drain whole pickled peaches and arrange on beds of crisp lettuce which has been dressed with a French dressing in which the juice from the peaches has been substituted for ordinary vinegar. Garnish with whipped cream mayonnaise and cream cheese balls. Season the cream cheese with mayonnaise and salt and sprinkle with paprika.

Peppermint Candy Ice Cream

One half pound peppermint candy. (Use the hard sticks or pillows).
One cup milk
Two cups double cream.

Dissolve the candy in the milk in the top of a double boiler. Chill; add the double cream and freeze until firm, pack in ice and salt for an hour or more to harden. If an electric refrigerator is used, chill the candy and milk mixture until firm; remove to an ice cold bowl and beat quickly; add the whipped cream during this beating process; return to the tray and finish freezing.

Porcupine Cookies

One-third cup shortening.
Three-fourths cup sugar.
One-third cup thick sour cream
One egg.
Six tablespoonfuls grated sweet chocolate.
One cup bran.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One and one-half cups shredded cocoanut chopped.
One and one-half cups pastry flour
One half teaspoonful cream of tartar.
One fourth teaspoonful salt.
One half teaspoonful soda.

Rub the shortening to a cream and work in the sugar slowly. Stir in the well-beaten sour cream and the egg, also beaten. Add the chocolate, bran, vanilla and cocoanut; then add the dry ingredients, sifted together three times. Drop heaping teaspoonfuls two inches apart on an oiled baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven—350 degrees F.—about 10 minutes.

Frozen Fruit Cocktail

Combine equal portions of white cherries which have been stoned, pineapple cubes, orange sections, and strawberries. Sprinkle with sugar, a few grains of salt, orange juice and pineapple sirup. Pack in ice and salt until almost frozen and serve at once. Do not freeze this mixture too long. This may be frozen in the pan of an electric refrigerator.

Paprika Crackers

Select small unsweetened crackers; brush with butter and sprinkle with paprika; set in a hot oven for five minutes before serving.

The Economy of Entrees

The very fact that a dish bears a French name frequently sets it down in popular estimation as something too elaborate and too expensive for ordinary use. As a matter of fact, however, the entree must have been invented by a clever chef in the interest of thrift and true economy, for it not only serves to dress up a menu and to save it from triteness, but it affords, also, many a tasty method for making use of cold cooked meats or cheaper cuts, and on occasion will prove a splendid aid in stretching the more expensive portions, while making them even more delicious and appetizing. Lack of bulk is one of the principal characteristics of an entree.

The original mission of the entree was to usher in or follow the roast, but in this era of simpler living the entree is served frequently, even in large hotels, as the main dish of the dinner.

Many entrees are prepared from protein substance but choice fresh vegetables as mushrooms, cauliflower, tomatoes and asparagus and some fruits—notably in fritters—are also used. A sauce is necessary for an entree and skilful cooking is expected.

If chickens are to be used for a little dinner of five or six guests, it is possible to plan to make the same fowls answer for several family luncheons or dinners as well. Two good-sized roasting chickens weighing from four to five pounds will provide for four menus, as follows.

Supreme de Volaille a la Duchease. (This is the most elaborate dish.)

Separate the breasts from the two chickens and divide each into four fillets making eight in all. Dip these in a well-beaten and seasoned egg and then in fine bread crumbs. Place them in a frying pan with two tablespoonsful butter; cover the pan and let the meat simmer without browning for 10 minutes. At the same time saute a dozen large mushroom caps which may be halved, taking care that they do not brown perceptibly. (Canned mushrooms may be used.) Meantime make one and a half cupfuls of rich thin white sauce seasoned with half a teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, one-eighth teaspoonful of paprika and a dash of mace; pour this sauce over the chicken breasts and mushrooms, cover closely and set aside to simmer gently until the chicken is tender. While the chicken is cooking, cook until tender in boiling salted water, six good sized potatoes; drain and mash them well, adding one-third cup of hot milk, two tablespoonfuls butter, one-eighth teaspoonful pepper and one-half teaspoonful salt; fold in one well-beaten egg while still hot. Beat the potato to a cream, turn out in a mound on a round platter and garnish with strips of pimiento. Surround with the chicken fillets and mushrooms, setting little heaps of buttered peas, flecked with pimiento, here and there. The sauce is to be poured about the edge of the platter before the placing of the peas. At a luncheon for women this quantity will serve eight but more should be allowed if served at dinner.

Cuisses de Volaille aux Epinards. (This may sound very formidable, but it is merely deviled chicken legs with spinach.)

Separate the legs from the second joints and score the fleshy part of each deeply. Make a sauce of a tablespoonful of mixed mustard, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one tablespoonful each of chili and Worchestershire sauces, one-half teaspoonful of salt and a few grains of cayenne pepper. Lay the joints in this sauce, rubbing it well into the scored surfaces. Cook eight thin slices of bacon with a small chopped onion until it is crisp, then remove the bacon, keep it warm, and place the chicken legs in the fat together with any remaining sauce; simmer until well done. In the meantime, cook half a peck of carefully washed spinach in a little water until tender; drain well and chop fine; season with one teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful each of pepper and paprika and two tablespoonfuls of butter; arrange in a mound on a hot platter, sprinkle with three tablespoonfuls of buttered bread crumbs. Lay the chicken joints about the spinach and garnish with the bacon curls and sprigs of parsley or watercress. Serves eight.

Chicken Giblets a L'Indienne. (Use not only the giblets but the wings of the fowl).

Slice the livers and gizzards; halve the hearts and cook all but the livers in a little boiling salted water until partially tender; drain and dry. Slice a medium-sized onion and saute until a light brown in two tablespoonfuls of butter; add a tablespoonful of curry powder, a cupful of strained tomato juice, the juice of one lemon and half a teaspoonful of salt. Add the giblets and the wings, divided at the joints and the tips removed; cover the saucepan closely and let simmer until well done, adding some of the liquid in which the giblets were cooked, if necessary. While this is cooking, wash and cook in plenty of rapidly boiling water, one cupful of rice, adding one teaspoonful of salt. When tender, drain, rinse with cold water, cover with a clean cloth and set in the oven to dry off and reheat. Serve the chicken giblets in the center of the platter with the rice heaped about the edge as a border. Serves four.

Eggs in Jelly

Dip the chicken feet in boiling water; let stand a few minutes; place in cold water and the skin and nails may be easily peeled from them, leaving them white and clean. Place these with the backs, necks and wing tips in three pints of cold water; add one onion, one carrot and a piece of celery (all cut in bits). Simmer slowly for several hours; strain through a cloth and cook down the liquid to half the original quantity. Season with three-fourths of a teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful paprika, one-eighth teaspoonful pepper and add one-half a tablespoonful of cold water. When the gelatin is dissolved set aside to cool partially. In the meantime hard-cook four eggs; chill and shell and cut in halves lengthwise. Arrange the eggs in a mold; place rings of stuffed olives here and there, also any bits of minced chicken taken from the bones and pour the cooled chicken broth over all. Chill well and turn out on a serving dish and garnish with chopped parsley and pimento. Double the quantity of gelatin if the chicken feet are not used. This is a delicious cold entree and is excellent for Sunday night's supper. It should be served with mayonnaise dressing or a salad which is garnished with dressing.

Spring Luncheon Shown At Last Cooking School

Largest Crowd of Institute Attends Closing Lecture Given Here by Mrs. Frances Northcross

By MRS. L. N. CASON
Record News Society Editor

A nurse surrounded by many children on the lawn of the Memorial auditorium Friday attested the unusual number of mothers inside taking advantage of the last program of The Record News and Daily Times cooking school directed by Mrs. Frances Troy Northcross. The largest crowd of the four days' session heard the last lecture. The Ozarka Water company furnished Ozarka water for the children cared for by the nurse and the Brown Crack and Candy company kept them supplied with crackers and orange wafers.

Mrs. Northcross

A delightful spring luncheon was the particular feature of Friday's lecture. Mrs. Northcross gave recipes for broiled fish, a spring salad that was voted one of the most attractive dishes of the school, and told how to French fry potatoes perfectly, and also gave directions for creamed potatoes as a delicious garnish. Seasonings and garnishes as usual made romance in all dishes.

Salad Demonstrated

The salad made on the stage was demonstrated step by step. The first advice was to go to Bailey-Moline and get one of the lovely trays on which to serve it.

"Wash your lettuce," Mrs. Northcross said, "cut the stalk out and let the water run through it and then wrap it in a soft cloth and chill the released leaves." Each ingredient of the salad was to be chilled—this being particularly stressed. Two cucumbers were used in the salad, each with the green rind peeled back in strips, the cucumber sliced partly through and then soaked in ice water not salted. Onion tuberoses were next made. ("They look much more like tuberoses than they smell," the lecturer interpolated.) Little fresh green onions, with the green top left on, were sliced downward from the top, soaked in cold water until it really looked like a flower and then a bunch of them tied together and put on the tray. Next came the radish roses which were radishes with the red peeling sliced back to make petals, then soaked in cold water and tied in a cluster and added to the bouquet of vegetable flowers. The last flower was the turnip calla lily, made by cutting a peeled turnip in half, slicing a slice so thin one might see the shadow of the knife from the center—turning it carefully and pinning in its center with a toothpick, a sliver of golden carrot to make the stamen. With the green lettuce, this salad is a perfect one for spring, to be served with French dressing. Mrs. Northcross recommends a teaspoonful of Staley clear syrup to a cup of oil for French dressing and directed that before making, the bowl be rubbed with a clove or garlic.

Fish a Valuable Protein

Fish should be on the family menu as many as three times a week, the lecturer said. She mentioned many ways in which fish might be used, naming salads, souffles and creamed fish as a variety of ways in which fish might be served. The fish to be broiled was rubbed inside and out with a cheesecloth rag dipped in Crisco. Just enough water was put in the broiling pan to keep the dripping fat from smoking and the fish was broiled in an oven at 450 degrees. Mrs. Northcross directed that fish should be broiled not over 15 minutes to the pound. "Fish is a form of protein" she said, "which is tough and tasteless if overcooked." She used the drippings for sauce, seasoned to taste with a little lemon juice, a teaspoon of chopped parsley, two tablespoons of butter, paprika, peppercorns, bayleaf and just a suggestion of onion, adding just a little grated cucumber if the fish is to be served to adults only. The fish was broiled skin side down so the skin would be on top when it was turned on the hot platter rubbed with raw onion. Directions were also given for potatoes to be used as a garnish round the fish. After being boiled, (and only potatoes, rice and macaroni are to be boiled in salt water, Mrs. Northcross said), put the potatoes through a ricer, heat milk, butter, salt and pepper and pour the hot milk into the hot potatoes; put in a pastry bag after beating well and use for garnish around a broiled fish. "Creative beauty adds to every dish," Mrs. Northcross said.

A fish souffle recipe was given using a cup of white sauce, white fish that had been boiled in cheesecloth and then put through a ricer, two beaten eggs. Beat the eggs, add the sauce and fish and cook in a casserole. The same recipe may be used in ramekins, always putting the baking dishes in hot water unless one has a perfectly insulated oven.

A gold cake, the recipe for which was given on the Friday menu, was one of the things demonstrated on the stage. The yolks of eggs, which Mrs. Northcross stated could be safely kept for a week in a well iced refrigerator, were creamed with the sugar and shortening. "The longer one beats the yolks the better the cake," she said. A little flour was added before the milk, and after all flour was in, not more than 30 beats were ever to be given, was the final direction.

Prize Recipe Given

A pineapple meringue cake which won the prize over 8,000 cakes was a demonstration of interest to all women present. The meringue was put on the raw batter and both baked at the same time. These layers were filled with a pineapple filling which Mrs. Northcross made on the stage, stressing the directions by urging that the pineapple used be drained long enough to insure all juice being eliminated. One cup of whipping cream, one of crushed pineapple, one and one-half tablespoons of powdered sugar with one-fourth a teaspoon of vanilla made the filling and Mrs. Northcross said she always saved a little cream to cover up any imperfection in the cake. "The first step in good housekeeping," she said, "is to learn to cover up all mistakes. Icing covers many imperfections."

Recipes for orange muffins were quoted from the menu, explicit directions being given to cook them in small muffin rings. The little muffins will make a delightful bridge breakfast dish, the audience was told.

An all-round icing was made and directions given for making from the same recipe such variations as cholocate, caramel, orange and coffee icing. The last, Mrs. Northcross said, is ideal with chocolate cake, ginger bread and little cakes. The essence of coffee to be used for this icing is made by measuring two tablespoons of coffee to a cup of water and percolating eight minutes. Recipes for caramel icing and several other choice recipes are to be printed later in The Record News.

"Never wash your coffee pot with soap," the lecturer advised. "Use mineral wool to rub it out and scald occasionally with hot water and soda and always keep it when not in use in the open air and in the sunshine when possible." She stated that coffee was better made with Ozarka water. Mrs. Northcross' only objection to Wichita Falls is the city's water supply.

Timables and rosettes were made and cooked on the stage, Mrs. Northcross telling the audience they could buy the irons at Noble-Little Hardware company. Directions were given for the use of each iron and notebooks were busy when directions were given for testing fat to insure the proper temperature of 350 F.

Electricity, a Silent Servant

"Have you ever thought of the courage it takes for a woman to get up and tell a crowd of intelligent women the same thing every day?" Mrs. Northcross asked, as she demonstrated the method of using the Thor Washing machine installed on the stage by the courtesy of the Texas Electric Service company. She quoted one little boy in the audience when a steak was broiled. He had listened patiently to all other demonstrations, but when the delightful fragrance of the steak floated in the air, he looked up and told his mother he just could not stand it any longer. Another child asked his mother to tune in on another station; he had heard this speaker long enough. But, Mrs. Northcross said, so many representative firms had arranged this party for the women that she did not feel she would be giving them justice if she did not tell of the lovely things they had furnished. Electricity she called a silent servant, and told laughingly of a letter from her son in boarding school. "The greatest invention of the age has been installed in this school," he wrote. She expected to read of something far different from the next line which said, "We have an electric washing machine, and whoopee, I won't have to wash dishes any more." Electric equipment was demonstrated on the stage by Mesdames Goodwin and Mashburn of the Texas Electric Service company.

Mrs. Northcross Receives Gift

Speaking the appreciation of Wichita Falls merchants, utility and ice companies, M. M. Toole of the Star Furniture company, talked briefly on the American home, thanking the women who had attended the school and the splendid woman at the head of it and presenting her, in the name of the Star and Micks Furniture companies, with a handsome little electric clock. Mrs. Northcross brought a ripple of laughter when she said in gracious response that she was particularly delighted because her watch was never right and a heavy round of applause came when she added that the gift was just what one might expect in Texas.

Many lovely gifts were presented to women present at the close of the lecture. Five baskets of groceries were given to Mesdames A. B. Curry, E. B. Zittel, J. H. French, A. G. Hughes, and Burt Lowery; Mrs. Cora Sibley was presented with a book of tickets for 1,000 pounds of ice, through the courtesy of the ice manufacturers of Wichita Falls; Bebb's lovely flowers used on the buffet were presented to Mesdames L. W. Goodwin and C. H. Lawing; pots of red geraniums from Bebb's that had made the stage so bright and cheery went to Miss Hazel Jones, Mesdames Muehlberger and C. R. Webb and Mrs. D. Castile received a lovely basket of flowers from the same firm; Mrs. J. C. Holcomb received a vegetable baker from the Wichita Hardware company; Mrs. H. H. Vining, a kitchen drying stool from the North Texas Furniture company; Mrs. R. M. Morrow a silver cream and sugar set from Kruger Jewelry company; Mrs. O. M. LAMESA, Texas, May 23.—A wire to the sheriff's office here Friday from A. M. Bennett, Dawson county deputy sheriff, stated that Ira McKee, wanted for the murder of W. R. Billingsley, Sparenburg merchant, had been arrested near Athens, Texas. He probably will be returned here Saturday, the wire said.

No other details were given concerning the arrest.

McKee will face a murder trial here on his return. An indictment has already been returned during a special session of the 106th grand jury this month. He was indicted for murder at the same time a true bill was returned against Mrs. Emma Mayhall, who has been charged as an accomplice.

M. GRUVER TO LEAVE OLNEY

Chamber of Commerce Executive Resigns

News was received here Friday afternoon of the resignation of M. Gruver, for almost five years secretary manager of the Olney Chamber of Commerce, to become effective July 15. In presenting his resignation to the Olney chamber, Mr. Gruver explained that he will go to Colorado to handle the affairs of his father's estate. Action on the resignation is expected at the meeting of the board on Monday night of next week.

Mr. Gruver came to Texas from Los Angeles in September 1925. For a short time he was connected with the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, working in the traffic department with J. W. Chatham. Later he accepted the executive managership of the Olney chamber which he has operated with marked success since that time.

The manager expects to take his wife and five-year-old daughter with him to his Colorado home in July. He has not announced his plans beyond his handling of the family estate.

Decisions End Two Tax Cases

City National Bank and Taylor Appeals Closed

Special to The Record News

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The U. S. board of tax appeals today decided two cases involving deficiency assessments which had been levied against the City National bank of Wichita Falls, the surviving member in the merger with the National Bank of Commerce during 1920. The proceedings involved assessments of $24,668 levied against both banks for the period from Jan. 1 to April 30, 1920. They were consolidated for hearing and decision.

The board held the levy against the National Bank of Commerce was barred by the statute of limitations and that the waiver by C. E. Basham, vice president of the institution, was without proper authority. It was held, however, that the City National bank was transferred of the National Bank of Commerce and that notice served on it of deficiency assessment is not barred by statute of limitations. A dissenting opinion was filed by Commissioner Smith, holding that there were abnormal conditions due to seasonal business during the period under discussion and that the bank should be permitted to recompute the income for those four months under a special assessment.

In another decision handed down by the board assessments of $242 and $35 levied against D. P. Taylor and Mrs. D. P. Taylor, for the years 1924 and 1925, were sustained. The petitioners, residents of Wichita Falls, had claimed substantial losses due to sales of properties known as the "77" ranch, and "rooming house on Travis street" by the trustee in bankruptcy named to conserve property of Taylor.

Uncle Sham's Music
It Surprises Europe
Hara-kiri
The Millet Racket

BY EMILE GAUVREAU

Cultured, skeptical Vienna, which knows music, entertains the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra and is amazed to discover that Mr. Toscanini's musicians are the best that have ever visited Europe. Nothing to equal their timing and precision on the strings has ever been heard before by the Viennese. A complete and very pleasant surprise for those who read that Uncle Sham rules a nation of money grabbers who tolerate bomb throwing, daylight murders and synthetic gin. Fortunately it is not all like that, and New York's superb orchestra displays the better side of American life.

Admiral Takarabe, Japanese minister of the navy, returns to Tokio with his part of the London treaty. A Japanese gentleman who thinks the admiral has sold Japan out "under pressure of tyrraneous America and Britain" presents a dagger to the admiral to be used in the "proper manner." If the admiral compares what Japan got with what our own delegates brought home he may find some reason to ignore the idea of hara-kiri. If that suicidal custom were prevalent in this country there would have been a number of important funerals some weeks ago.

Paris is still much upset about the false Millets and the grandson of the famous painter, who engineered the sale of the fraudulent paintings, is in jail. An art-loving gentleman named M. Bourzat bought a fake Millet in good faith for $3,000 and then, in true American fashion sold it to M. Miehaud for $7,000, making what our art dealers would term a fair profit for the day. Some of our American art dealers, reading about the Millet frauds, would say: "They can't put you in jail for that!"

Ethical gentlemen of our bar association might take a little time to look into the activities of Mr. William F. Doyle, a horse doctor with other lines of endeavor. He is not a lawyer, but has been appearing for a large list of clients before the board of standards and appeals and collecting enormous fees, apparently not included in his income tax. The officials who heard the pleading horse doctor in his many cases, never objected to his lack of legal training. Their attitude might also bear some scrutiny. This whole affair has the ear marks of what is popularly known as a "swell racket."

New York pedestrians crossing the street anywhere except at a corner at a given police signal are to be arrested for their own protection. It is the departing Mr. Whalen's idea and may prevent fatalities. But what will law do about it? A pedestrian's jay-walking is not dangerous to an automobile or those riding in it. Can a citizen be locked up for contributory negligence to himself? In this law-ridden country the fanatics would have a great time with such a law. A man might be arrested for taking a drink because it was injuring his kidneys.

What You Owe Dad

WASHINGTON—It costs fathers an average of $7,238 to raise their children to the age of 18, according to information coming out of the recent White House conference on child health and protection. The figures are: Cost of being born, $250; food, $2,500; clothing and shelter, $3,400; education, $50; health, $284; recreation, $130; insurance, $54, and sundries, $570.

Marriage used to spoil careers but nowadays success seems to depend on three or four of them. Stew Nugent, on parole, takes no chances, an' allus wires to Michigan City prison fer a reservation before attemptin' a bank holdup.

A Nation of Tourists

YOU GET something of a conception of the extent to which the American people go touring about in their autos every summer when you learn that the hot dog and soft drink stands along the roadside do a total business of around $500,000,000 a year.

This figure is furnished by Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce. He finds that there are now between 110,000 and 125,000 roadside stands; that more than half of them keep open all the year around and that new ones are being added at the rate of 3,000 a year.

Half a billion dollars is a sizable turnover for any business. The hot dog stand is pushing its way up into the rank of major industries. Some organizing genius probably will come along presently and loop a few thousand of these establishments into one vast, coast to coast chain; meanwhile the industry, unique in a land of great mergers, is composed of innumerable small, one-man concerns—a new field for individualism in the business world.

It isn't the size of this business that is interesting, however, so much as it is the meaning back of it. The number of tourists must be simply stupendous for the hot dog and pop sales to rise to half a billion dollars. That sales figure reflects a spread of the vacation habit greater than anything the world has ever known before.

The surface of the earth has been pretty well furrowed, in the course of history, by the migrations of its peoples; but was there ever anything like this annual migration of Americans and Canadians? Millions of men, women and children go roving every summer. They make the wanderings of the romantic gypsies look puny. They cover a whole continent.

Dwellers in the interior go spinning off to see what the oceans look like; coast folk swing over the mountains and have a look at the midlands. Mountains and lakes and rivers and sea beaches and deserts slide under the wheels of a million cars, and provincialism goes out of existence under a million sets of rubber tires. The whole nation shuffles itself each year, and Mr. Average Citizen, perched behind his steering wheel, does more traveling in one month than his ancestors did in all their lives—and does it in incomparably greater comfort.

And—just to set the picture in its real proportions—the incidental food and drink bill of these roving tourists comes to half a billion dollars.

There never was anything remotely like it before. Its ultimate effects can hardly be estimated; but you may be sure they will be profound. The American spirit, 50 years hence, will be infinitely the richer because of this background of wandering.

The Rail Commission's Decision on the Wichita Valley

THE DECISION of the state railroad commission, allowing the Fort Worth and Denver to change the schedule of trains on the Wichita Valley from night to day, is a distinct disappointment to Wichita Falls—the kind of disappointment that rankles. Wichita Falls feels, rightfully, that the spirit of fairness and cooperation with which it has dealt with the railroads and with the commission has not been returned in like manner.

From a viewpoint of public convenience, the railroad commission's decision shows distinct favoritism to the lower end of the valley line. Because the shoe pinched a little down Abilene way, the commission reversed the leather and put the squeeze on Wichita Falls. The commission seems to believe that it is more important to satisfy a few folks on the lower end of the Valley line than to please a great many on the upper end of the line.

The only excuse for the decision of the commission is that it allows the Valley, subsidiary of the Denver, to save a small sum, allegedly, in operation expenses. To this newspaper's way of thinking, the action is not justified in view of the preponderance of testimony showing the great inconvenience that customers would be put to on the upper end of the line. Mail, express and freight, a great amount of which flows from Wichita Falls down the Valley, will be delayed 24 hours by the commission's decision.

If this city draws a lesson from its experience in this controversy, it will be to turn an extremely suspicious eye upon any future suggestions offered by the Denver company. Not so many weeks ago Wichita Falls heard the plea of the Denver that it be allowed to discontinue day trains out of this city on the Valley. Wichita Falls did not protest. When the reduction in service was nicely disposed of, came this suggestion of the Wichita Valley which struck directly at the economic well being of many Wichitans and many of Wichita Falls' friends along the upper end of the railroad.

The Record News believes the Texas commission has put far too much importance in the Denver's efforts to make profits on one of its subsidiaries. It believes the case should be reopened, and that Wichita Falls should fight the matter to the last cross tie. Any other policy seems to be "getting us nowhere fast."

Careless Driving

FATAL automobile accidents during 1929 showed a 10 per cent increase over the figure for the year before. Nor is this the worst of it. The National Safety council, after studying the situation, reports that the increase was chiefly due to careless driving on the part of the average motorist.

We like to blame motor accidents on trucks, or on traffic congestion, or on willful pedestrians who dart out into the street without looking; but evidently all of these alibis are deserting us. As a nation, we seem to be growing more careless on the highways—and this at a time when every year's traffic toll calls to us in louder and louder tones to exercise the greatest possible care lest our automobiles become a curse instead of a blessing to us.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Swords, helmets and breastplates, and a torch to carry on. In such terms we think of the more than 200 high school and Junior college graduates handed their diplomas Friday night.

Never yet have we known a graduation day that did not pierce us somewhat with the thought of farewells to be bidden; the first steps trying out new paths and the knowledge of dreams and illusions to be inevitably shattered.

So lightly they tread the strange new paths of life! So fearlessly the 1930 girl and boy face their world—for that is the way they think of the world today.

Is it a torch to light them to higher, better ways they hold on high? Or will it be a searchlight for material things?

Their swords are gleaming and they are ready for the fray. Helmets they wear that guard them well against the assaults of this century—the helmets of self-confidence.

But breastplates are thin. Already that armor has been pierced when graduates saw diamonds and furs and cars given as presents; presents that made them feel there was injustice in the world.

And is the graduate armed with that sword to fight for food and clothes, or does he dream only of position and acclaim and prominence?

Stalwart Knights of old are envisioned for them. The glamour of King Arthur's court, when men went forth to battle for ideals and to wear their ladies' guerdons.

But life runs in the same beaten path. Ideals must be tempered in the crucible of experience and the torch for future generations will be carried by those who do not lay their armor down.

Girls who dream of careers will settle into happy domesticity and be content to help shield the flame of the torch for posterity. Some women have careers, but she who upholds the dream of honor does more for the world than the career blazoning its way across the sky.

The graduating class will have some suns and many stars; it will have meters that flash in brilliance. They catch the eye and draw it from the stars. But when the meteors are gone, there is a steady, soft brilliance to the evening star that has been balm to many weary hearts.

Young Man Cannot Win Success With Extravagant Wife

I get hundreds of despairing, nay desperate, letters from men asking how they can curb their wives' extravagance and make them see that unless they save and get a start in life while they are young they are doomed to a poverty-stricken old age.

These men are not stingy. They are generous and anxious to give their families every luxury and comfort, but they are ambitious. They want to succeed and make a place for themselves in the world. At middle age they want to be sitting pretty on the sunny side of Easy street instead of skulking along in the shade of Poverty Flat, and they know that in order to do this they must live within their incomes and save up some money.

But strive as they may, they cannot do this because their wives spend faster than they can make. No matter what speed they put on, they are never a lap ahead of the bill collector. And nothing they can say to their wives registers. All of their remonstrances, their prayers, their entreaties fall on deaf ears.

Of course, wife agrees theoretically that they should economize. Some time, but not now. Of course, she agrees that they should lay up something for a rainy day, but why start now when the care is shabby and she has seen a new one that has a thousand new gadgets, or when they just must move into a more expensive apartment, or when she positively must have a lot of new dresses, or go to Europe?

So she goes out on another shopping orgy and husband sits down and tears his hair and wonders what he can do with this dear woman, whom he loves and who loves him, and who is good and kind, but who is ruining his life and letting all his hopes and ambitions and dreams slip through the hole in her pocketbook.

Now any woman is a mighty poor sport and a mighty poor wife who isn't willing to economize and cut her budget to the bone to help an energetic and ambitious young husband to get a start in the world. Also, she is a very stupid woman and a very short-sighted one, because every dollar that she saves and puts into his business will come back to her multiplied a hundred or a thousandfold in the future.

This has been proved over and over again. Ninety-nine per cent of the women in this land of ours who are now riding around in limousines and wearing Paris confections and ropes of pearls scrimped on cotton frocks that they made themselves and darned their stockings and walked 20 blocks to cut-rate butcher shops to get cheap meat when they were young married women in order that the money they saved by their scrimping could go to pay off the note in the bank or hire a new clerk in the store or expand the business.

The prosperity of many and many a millionaire concern has been built on the dimes that a thrifty wife pinched, and I have heard many a rich man say in speaking of his days of struggle that he owed his success to his wife just as much as to his own efforts, and that without her thrift and economy he must have failed.

For no poor young married man can succeed unless he has the cooperation of his wife. She can always waste more than he can earn, for it is literally true, as the homely proverb says, that a woman can throw more out of the back door with a teaspoon than a man can put in at the front door with a shovel.

No man is more unfortunate than the one who is married to a woman who is so weak, so dull, so self-indulgent that she cannot be made to see the necessity of saving, who cannot be made to appreciate that it is in his youth that a man's opportunity to get established in business comes to him, and that the only way that he can take advantage of this is to have some money laid by. Such a wife breaks her husband's heart by her lack of team work. She fails him when he needs her most. She paralyzes his ambition. She kills his initiative and slows down his efforts, because he sees the futility of trying to go ahead when she is holding him back by her extravagance.

And such a wife turns her husband's life into ashes and dust because she enslaves him to the milliner and the dressmaker and the butcher and the baker and the eaterer. Many a man has nothing to show for a life of toil but a mountain of bills.

But sometimes husbands are responsible for rtheir wives' extravagance. Sometimes a man lets his bride start off on the wrong foot by permitting her to rent a more expensive apartment than they can afford, and buy more elaborate furniture than he can pay for, because he is too much in love with her to refuse her anything, or because his vanity makes him want to pose before her as a go-getter.

Many men never tell their wives about how much they earn so that their wives do not really know whether they are being extravagant or not and many men never talk over their business affairs with their wives, never make their wives feel that they have any real interest in it, or that what they do affects their husbands' prosperity.

Many a woman would be willing to deny herself in order to save for the business if her husband had made her realize that it is her business and that she is just as responsible for its success as he is. It is a common thing for women who have been extravagant wives to become penurious widows when their husbands' money passes into their own hands. A lot of wives feel that all they can get out of their husbands is just that much to the good, but when it is their own money they are spending it is a different tale. So it is a wise man who talks over his business with his wife and makes her feel that she is an active partner in it.

I am sorry for any woman who isn't willing to help her husband build up his business. She is missing one of the most enjoyable experiences in life. And she is missing having the 50-cent string of glass beads she did without turn into a diamond necklace 15 or 20 years later.

"Elaine was constipated several years ago and I gave her California Fig Syrup. It helped her so wonderfully that I have used it ever since for all her upsets or colds. It has kept her strong, energetic, rugged."

Children suffer when bowels are not regular. Breath becomes fetid; tongue coated; eyes dull. When these symptoms are neglected, biliousness, feverishness, lack of appetite invariably follow.

The first dose of California Fig Syrup relieves these symptoms and activates sluggish bowels. Successive doses help tone and strengthen weak bowels; improve appetite; encourage digestion and assimilation. Try it with a bilious, headachy, constipated child and see how it helps!

The pure vegetable product, endorsed by doctors for 50 years, always bears the name California. So look for it when buying.—Adv.

Charlene Kinder Presents Lovely Piano Numbers

Interested friends and patrons of the Greathouse conservatory gathered Thursday evening to hear Miss Charlene Kinder, piano pupil of Miss Kathleen Criswell, who was presented in recital at the conservatory, assisted by Kathleen Cason, Roberta Shaw and Margaret Bone, voice pupils of Dorothy Greathouse, who were accompanied by Miss Thelma Adams.

The program of classical music given by Miss Kinder showed decided talent. Her splendid technique and excellent interpretation held her audience through the numbers and brought forth an enthusiastic encore after "The Lark" by Balakirew was given. Miss Kinder, whose home is in Archer City, is also known as the possessor of an exquisite voice and has been a very popular singer in Wichita Falls in the past season.

The three voice pupils assisting her had a pretty stage presence remarkable in girls of their age. Kathleen Cason opened the program, showing perfect artistry and rhythm. In the two songs given, her intonation was perfect and her phrasing refined. Her dramatic lyric soprano voice responded beautifully to the tonal arrangements of her song, "Sing, Sing, Birds on the Wing."

Roberta Shaw's coloratura soprano voice was exquisite in quality and her rendition of her numbers showed great acting possibilities. "Carmela" was given in Italian with a depth of feeling. She finished with an old Italian peasant song, "Gliometta," which she sang with a delightful grace shown in all her songs. Margaret Bone closed the vocal numbers in a lovely lyric soprano voice. Her style and interpretation were splendid, particularly in her first number, "Calling Me."

The program was given as follows:

CLASS OF 1910 MEETS TODAY

Graduates of 20 Years Ago Open Reunion

Members of the Wichita Falls high school graduating class of 1910 now living in this city completely cleared the decks Friday night of any and all activities which might interfere with a holiday on Saturday, for during Saturday and Sunday, the second reunion of the class will be held with a large part of the original personnel, and many of its teachers of 20 years ago, present.

Climaxing more than a year of effort on the part of Burton Stayton, Lester Jones and Mrs. Eva B. Shelton to obtain the maximum attendance, the reunion Saturday will witness the return of some who have not met in many years, and others who came to Wichita Falls 18 months ago for the first class reunion held since graduation.

Saturday's reunion program will open formally at 1 p. m., when all members of the class and its high school faculty who are present will hold a banquet at the Wichita club. Burton Stayton will act as toastmaster, and following a varied program of toasts designed to aid the renewal of acquaintances, Lester Jones wil engineer a prolonged session of reminiscence.

At six o'clock Saturday evening, the '10 graduates and their families together with their teachers and families, will embark from the corner of Thirteenth and Bluff streets by street car for a picnic at Lake Wichita. They will travel as in May, 1910, in a streetcar of that period, and with O. L. Gibbs, present justice of the peace here, as conductor. Mr. Gibbs was favorite conductor with the high school students a score of years ago, and will make his appearance again in service uniform for the picnic trip.

On Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, all parties to the reunion, together with their families and friends, will be guests at a reception to be given by Mrs. Carter McGregor at her home in the County Club Estates. Members of the present school board, public school principals, teachers and supervisors are especially invited to attend the reception, it was announced.

Out-of-town persons whose attendance at the reunion was assured Friday include Prof. H. A. Fairchild of Ardmore, Okla., Mrs. Selma Barker, San Antonio, Prof. H. H. Guice, now of Dallas; Prof. William Craig, of Texas Technological Institute of Lubbock; Miss Clara Parker, former Latin teacher, and now of Texas university; William Bilderback and family, Fort Worth; and Mrs. Laura Haines Smith and Mrs. Maude Walker Sherwood, of Dallas.

500 Scouts to Join In Field Day Here

Approximately 500 Boy Scouts, representing six counties, will meet in Wichita Falls Friday, May 30, to participate in a field meet to be held in Weeks park. The boys will sleep out Friday night and on Saturday morning will engage in the 26 events that are scheduled to take place. The camp fire program for Friday night calls for a stunt from each of the troops represented.

The counties that will be represented include Archer, Jack, Clay, Wichita, Young and Throckmorton.

Hoover Denies Hilles Displaced in Party

WASHINGTON, May 23 (INS)—President Hoover today took formal cognizance of public reports that Charles D. Hilles, Republican national committeeman for New York, had been dropped from the New York political triumvirate and displaced in matters of federal patronage.

Mr. Hoover issued a statement denying the truth of this report, which arose following a conference at the White House several days ago in which William J. Maier, New York state chairman, and William H. Hill, Hoover manager, the other two members of the triumvirate participated.

For Rail and Road

LONDON.—A new type of motor coach to be seen on the roads here can run either on railway tracks or on the highways. The coaches will hold 50 passengers, will be driven by gasoline and will have flanged wheels for driving on the tracks. A contrivance will adjust the pneumatic tires to the coach when it wishes to travel the open highway.

Poppy Day Sales To Start Early Saturday Morning

Poppy day will be celebrated all over the United States Saturday when the auxiliaries to the American Legion will be on the streets selling the little flowers made by soldiers, sold in memory of soldiers and the proceeds used for the support of crippled and sick soldiers and their families.

The local auxiliary has planned the strongest campaign of any year, stating that all proceeds go to the benefit of sick and disabled soldiers who served in the late war. They ask each individual buy and wear a poppy Saturday honoring the soldiers who once marched shoulder to shoulder to fight for their country but whose hands can only make poppies now.

Masses of poppies will be laid upon the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at the Arc de Triomphe, Paris, on May 30 and upon the same tombs in Westminister Abbey, London, and in the national cemetery, Washington, D. C. Poppies are not just glowing masses of color for such garlands, the women of the auxiliaries urge, but they are symbols of each crippled soldier's courage to live. Poppies will be on sale at every down town corner all day Saturday.

Cudahy Stockholders Told of Good Business

Despite the unsatisfactory conditions which have existed in many lines of industry during the past six months, the Cudahay Packing company has shown normal production and sales and an even greater amount of net earnings during the first half of the fiscal year, according to a letter to stockholders in the company here from E. A. Cudahy, chairman of the board.

To quote from Mr. Cudahy's letter: "The belief expressed in December, 1929, that there would be no falling off in our business as a result of the drastic decline in security prices nor from the effect of that decline on industrial activity, has been fully justified. Our inventory prices are considerably lower than at the beginning of the year, the live stock situation more favorable and with the increasing summer and fall demand for our products, which is characteristic of our business, the indications are that the company's earnings for 1930 will compare favorably with those of the preceding year."

Police Arrest Man On Forgery Charge

A complaint charging forgery was filed in district court here Friday against W. R. Horton, who with two other men was arrested Thursday in connection with the passing of several checks which bore the name of the Patton Mattress company, according to police reports.

The three men were arrested by O. A. Roberson and A. Spencer of the police department following calls from local merchants who said the checks they had cashed had proven worthless. The other two men were being held in the city jail for further investigation, according to information given by Sgt. John C. McIntyre.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Long Neck

Question—N. C. writes: "My neck is very long and I would like to know if it is possible to shorten it without an operation. I have been using an apparatus I bought, something like suspenders, that fits under the arms and over the head and is supposed to press your neck down from one to two inches, but I get no results. It only makes my neck stiff. What is your advice?"

Answer: You cannot make your neck any shorter by an operation or otherwise. You can develop the muscles at the side of the neck and also the shoulder so that the neck will appear normal. Weight-lifting exercises are excellent for shoulder development. Also, use exercises which move the head forward, back, and to the side, adding resistance with the hands. Do not exercise too much at first or you will have a sore neck.

Blocked Heart

Question—H. M. asks: "Is there any cure for a blocked heart, and what causes a blocked heart? Must I give up all hope?"

Answer: A blocked heart usually means stenosis of the heart valves; they have thickened and the openings grown smaller. Such conditions can often be relieved through a general constitutional treatment with proper dieting and correct physical culture exercises. As the quality of the blood passing through the heart is improved, the valves tend to relax, making the openings more of a normal size. Regulated exercise will also help to correct the incoordination of the heart muscles.

Highway Building Possible, Says Trapp

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 23. (UP)—Former Gov. M. E. Trapp, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, said today that Oklahoma's present highway system can be completed and even expanded during the next four years under the present highway revenue producing laws without bonds or any additional taxation.

Trapp pointed out that state and federal aid last year produced $12,382,011 for highway purposes in Oklahoma and that the revenue is estimated higher this year.

"The fine progress Oklahoma is making today in providing modern highways is being done under the sale laws that were adopted when I was governor, with the exception of minor amendments, the most notable of which was an increase of one cent a gallon on gasoline, a wise step inaugurated by the present administration."

Oklahoman Wounded In Attempted Holdup

CLINTON, Okla. May 23. (UP)—O. W. Perkins, 22, said to be the son of a Beckham county assessor, was in a hospital here today with probable fatal wounds received in an attempted holdup last midnight.

Perkins and his wife stopped at a filling station between here and Weatherford and purchased gasoline and oil from C. A. Cross, 58. While Cross was making change for a $10 bill, Perkins produced a revolver.

Cross, who formerly was a United States marshal in the Indian territorial days and Oklahoma City plainclothes policeman, knocked the gun from Perkins' hand and struggled with the man.

When Perkins attempted to escape, Cross fired five shots at him, one striking him in the body.

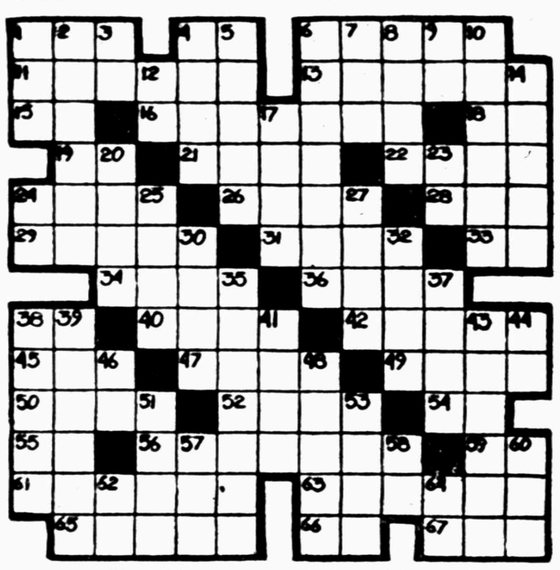

May Beetles Invade Schlweswig-Holstein

HANOVER, Germany, May 23. (AP)—An Egyptian grasshopper plague is paralleled here by a May beetle invasion which is raging in many parts of Schlweswig-Holstein.

Swarms of beetles are descending upon the fields, in the streets and even invading homes. The situation has made suspension of school sessions necessary, the children helping their parents fight the bugs.

The younger generation is having a great time scooping the May beetles into sacks, barrels and tubs, boiling water is the method of extermination. The mixture then is fed to pigs and chickens, which seem to relish the diet.

PANTHERS BLANK SPUDDERS SECOND TIME, 1-0, TO SWEEP SERIES

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

A news story the other day carried an account of a St. Joseph, Mo., sports editor who was beaned by a player on the St. Joseph team who disliked the scribe's stories of baseball as she is played in that city. The player caught the scribe in the club house and wielded a bat with great effect, cutting a large gash in the scribe's head. Needless to say, the player was given his immediate release by the management of the club.

We lay six to one that the argument was over an error. In nine cases out of 10 where a player and a scribe mix up, you can find the reason in the error column of the score pad. Believe it or not, but reason has of late filtered into the baseball camps, and in these modern days most players, when they think they have been outraged by a scribe who is too lenient with his errors, merely takes a trip around to the newspaper office and asks the scorer to go over the play by play and see if he, the scorer, wasn't wrong in assessing the error. Usually they come to some kind of understanding. Either the scorer convinces the player that he did commit an error, or the player succeeds in convincing the scorer that he couldn't have handled that ball for all hades. The latter case is the least likely to happen. Nevertheless, the battle is one of words and not of fists, or, to go further, with bats.

But every now and then a wild-eyed customer like the St. Joseph player appears on the scene, and it goes mighty hard, mighty hard, indeed, for the scorer. Especially is is he a thin, meek youngster and without much experience in scoring baseball games. It is for these thin, under-nourished and relatively inexperienced ones that we plead. We earnestly desire that they have a break down at the club house among the stalwart players. It will mean that the tender young thing who is trying to learn scoring will indeed learn. He'll have it pounded into him eventually, if he stays around the club house and listens to the players. But the pounding will not be done with baseball bats.

We are very serious in this plea, inasmuch as we belong to the class of relatively inexperienced. So far we are pleased to state that our scalp is intact, our neck fixed securely on our shoulders, and all our bones are distributed o'er our anatomy in the proper places and enjoying steady growth. We already measure up to six foot one, and should the present state of things rock along, and some Spudder player doesn't dwarf us with a blow on the bean, we may yet realize our ambition to be six foot six and three-quarters. Our Spudders have a knack of reasoning, for which they should be blessed and in addition treated to a drink or something. We have quarreled over the day's scoring, and many times heated words have seared the air, but never yet has a blow been struck. And may this peacefull condition continue for ever and ever, world without end, amen.

The Izzak Walton league is conducting an active campaign in the interests of prevention of the sale and interstate shipment of the black bass, king of the fresh-water game fish of this continent. Without the aid of the Waltonites the first steps in the direction of the preservation of this fish could not have been taken, and there is every reason to believe that before the present session of congress is completed, a bill placing the responsibility for the restriction of commercial use of the fish with the United States Bureau of Fisheries, will be passed.

A recent bulletin from the national headquarters of the league traces the history of the movement and points out the defects of early legislation in the field, and leads up to the present efforts being made in direction of securing better conservation laws. The first feedral law to stop the sale and interstate shipment of the bass was sponsored by Senator Hawes of Missouri and passed in 1926. The law, however, was defective, and 11 states have failed to pass the necessary laws to make the Hawes act effective. Senator Hawes, in the last session of congress, attempted to remedy the defects, but without success. In the present session, Senator Hawes, Congressman Hudson of Michigan and Congressman Hull of Illinois joined hands with the Izzaw Walton league and determined on the enactments of amendments which would place the responsibility of bass conservation enforcement not on the states, but directly in the hands of the federal government. The new bill was passed to the house committee on foreign and interstate commerce, where it is today. The league, having succeeded so well in the first stages, now is organizing a drive to have the bill reported out of committee and acted upon.

The strength and influence of the league was plainly manifested when with its aid the Hawes amendments were passed by the senate, and no doubt its present drive will result in action by the house. And if a prodding is needed anywhere, it is in the house. The league influence made itself felt at once in the senate, which is more agile than the house. But it must work doubly hard in the house, which so often becomes as unwieldy as row bot stranded on a muddy bank.

New Burk Golf Course To Be Opened Saturday

Special to The Record News

BURKBURNETT, Texas, May 23.—The new nine hole golf course which has been under construction during the past two weeks will be ready for the official opening Saturday, for which no charge will be made. William (Bill) McCoy, a professional golfer, is supervising the work. Earl Rader of Ardmore, Okla., is president of the course and it is to be known as the Burkdale Golf course, located four miles south of the city on the Roller ranch on the Ed Martin place just south of the Lions club park. This course is going to be one of the best nine hole courses in this section of the state. A large crowd of enthusiasts were out looking it over the past week-end.

NEW INFIELDER TO JOIN TEAM

Chappie Geygan Acquired From Brewers

Special to The Record News

FORT WORTH, May 23.—For the second time in three days the Fort Worth Panthers today shut out the Wichita Falls Spudders, and made it three in a row over the league leaders. The score was 1 to 0. Dick McCabe proved the better of Hal Wiltse and took credit for the blank. Last Wednesday Dick Whitworth pitched the Cats to a 5 to 0 shutout over the Spuds.

Manager Snyder, who yesterday drove in the winning run as the Cats defeated the visitors, 7 to 6, today was at it again and drove in Mallon, who had tripled, with a double, giving the home towners a margin narrow enough, but which the visitors were unable to surmount.

McCabe let the Spudders have five hits, while the Cats got six off Wiltse.

The Spudders tonight journeyed to Shreveport, where Saturday they open a four-day series with the Sports.

After today's game, A. B. Huff, road secretary of the Spudders announced that Chappie Geygan, outfielder of the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association, had been acquired by the Spudders, and would join the club in Shreveport Saturday. Bear Allday, Spudder reserve infielder, recently was sent to Springfield, Mo., of the Western association.

Hammond Denies Story of Projected Sale of San Antonio Ball Club

SAN ANTONIO, May 23. (AP)—Vehemently denying that his visit to Dallas was in regard to the sale of his stock in the San Antonio Baseball club, or that any such was brewing, Homer H. Hammond, president of the Indians, in a long distance telephone conversation today, informed the Evening News that all stories to this effect were misleading and branded them as such.

"My business to Dallas was merely a pleasure trip and it is indeed a shame that a man can't risk leaving the city without fear of having his ball club sold in the papers. You can inform them all that there is no such deal brewing," Hammond stated, sticking to this even when informed that President A. J. Gardner of the Texas league was supposed to have confirmed the story of the projected sale.

LEAGUE OFFICIALS OUT OF CITY

Both J. Alvin Gardner, Texas league president, and his secretary, Milton Price, were out of the city Friday evening and confirmation of Mr. Gardner's supposed statement that a sale of Homer Hammond's interests in the San Antonio Baseball club was contemplated was impossible.

Defiance Tires and Tubes!

A double guarantee—ours and the manufacturer's standard warranty.

Inside prices, wholesale prices and other such arguments used in merchandising tires are shattered with the presentation of Defiance prices.

The Defiance tire program was conceived by executives of a number of the country's largest department stores as a means of affording the best tire value on the American market regardless of cut prices, discounts or concessions that might be offered on other lines.

The Defiance program is fundamentally sound, as it provides a means for motorists to obtain most unusual tire value any day, week or month without the necessity of bartering or bargaining.

Such drastic departure could not be accomplished without considerable effort.

It affords us genuine pleasure to be one of a group of large stores in metropolitan cities which have made such a plan possible.

We pass along to you the saving that is effected by volume buying on a factory cost basis.

You get these low prices every time you buy Defiance tires.

The "Spirit Behind Defiance"

There is no manufacturing process, no raw materials, no machinery used in the manufacture of an automobile tire today, that has not been used, purchased, leased or acquired, if such process, materials or machinery would improve the present construction of DEFIANCE TIRES.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 23. (AP)—The feature in cotton here today was the final evening up of the May position in which trading locally ended at midday. Additional notices were issued and were evidently stopped by the leading lost interests without much change in the differences. After an early bulge on covering and reports of some rain in the Southwest, prices eased off under realizing. July contracts sold down from 16.40 to 16.25 and closed at 16.29, while the new October declined from 15.00 to 14.82 and closed at 14.84. The general market closed steady, at net declines of 5 to 10 points.

While definite figures on the amount of cotton taken up on May contracts in the three futures markets of the country were not available, it was estimated at 570,000 bales, probably the largest month in the history of the market. Some unfavorable private crop advices were received here from the Southwest but appeared to make very little impression on the market after the early buying orders had been executed. Port receipts today 14,397. U. S. port stocks 1,714,355. Exports 15,835, making 6,437,886 so far this season.

Prices Swing Upward as Market Reacts Strongly to Bullish Tactics

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 23. (US)—Improved sentiment toward the stock market found reflection today in a strong market in which the leading issues enjoyed the briskest advances in over a week. That professional maneuvers, strong sponsorship and short covering were mainly responsible for the betterment was obvious in view of the small volume which ranged somewhat over two million shares for the day. Nevertheless, the demonstration from the market itself that recent selling had been overdone created a noticeably more favorable attitude in stock circles, although the improvement in prices may have been chiefly the result of internal conditions. Many traders, finding that no profits were obtainable on the buying side were testing short-selling as a possible profit-producer but this, too, has proved costly. There were no outstanding news developments to change general sentiment, although the further progress of the tariff bill hastened the early removal of this factor on the market, at least as an important contributor to general uncertainty.

Influence of the tariff on general business is recognized in important quarters. Not only has it forced delays in contemplated expansion projects involving decision between domestic and foreign production, but it likewise has considerably delayed buying. Many consumers of raw products, notwithstanding their recognition of the need for restocking their inventories, have been awaiting final determination of the rates before proceeding with buying. Bankers recognize that the vicious rates proposed will undoubtedly bring retaliatory measures from other nations, but at least with final adoption of the bill the consequences can be more accurately measured.

Several more commission houses followed the lead of the two big wire houses which on Thursday recommended purchases. The response continued to be light, although the improvement in industrial stocks on the average exceeded three points among the leaders. The general market continues to be more or less a trading affair.

Uniform strength among the automobile stocks under leadership of General Motors has been a prime factor in the better sentiment prevailing both in speculative and business quarters. The auto trade has suffered such a decline in activities that many other industries were materially affected and if the strength of the motor shares reflects actual improvements in sales the entire industrial picture would appear much brighter. Report that Chrysler's sales have been showing an upward trend appeared to confirm statements that there has been some recent improvement in automobile demand, although slight. Some comfort was also derived from analysis of trade figures. Production of motor cars in the first four months of 1930 showed a greater decrease from the record-breaking 1929 level than sales. Also, production has been below the average for the three years immediately preceding, while retail sales exceeded the three-year average. These facts tend to confirm manufacturers' statements that stocks of autos are exceedingly low.

Wheat and other grains yielded part of the gain scored earlier in the week. Cotton ruled in narrow range, while foreign exchanges remained dull.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, May 23. (AP)—Wheat on the cash grain market here today showed the effect of the break in contract values and closed with a loss of 3 cents. Corn was 1c lower and oats 1@1½c off. Sorghums continued in good demand while oats and corn were fairly well taken. Wheat and barley were slow.

Mills bids $1.12½@1.13½, basis ordinary No. 1 hard milling for such wheat as they wanted.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 94@95c; No. 2 white and No. 2 yellow 98@99c.

Oats—No. 2 red 55@56c.

Barley—No. 2, nominally, 70@71c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $1.98@2.00; No. 2 kaffir $1.65@1.67.

Dealers quoted as follows, basis delivery Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn 91@92c; No. 2 white or yellow 95@96c; No. 3 white oats 51½@52c, to which add 1c for delivery group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 23. (AP)—Reports of unusually favorable prospects for the United States 1930 spring wheat crop had a bearish effect on wheat values today. The outlook for the Canadian crop also was reported as relatively auspicious, and selling was further promoted by non-fulfillment of predictions of widespread frosts last night.

Closing quotations on wheat were weak, 1⅜@2⅛c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1⅛@1⅞c down, oats ⅝@⅞c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

In connection with the new domestic spring wheat outlook, Chicago crop authorities indicated today that high condition figures were to be looked for in the monthly trade summaries on June 1.

Reversal of the wheat market's action compared with yesterday was rendered the more striking because of upturns in Liverpool quotations and of continued bullish crop advices from Europe, especially France.

Corn and oats prices receded with wheat, and as a result of reports that the new corn crop in many sections is 20 days or more ahead of last year.

Provisions were somewhat firmer as a result of upturns in the value of hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat: July $1.04⅛, $1.06⅛@⅛; Sept. $1.06⅞@1.07, 1.09⅛; Dec. $1.11⅝, $1.13⅝. Corn: May 79⅝c, 80⅛c; Sept. 80½@⅞c, 81⅛@⅛c; Dec. 74⅛c, 75⅛c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, May 23. (US)—The wheat market, owing to the narrowness of the trade, become overbought on the advances and oversold on the breaks. Hence the erratic trend ok prices. A continuation of such action is expected pending new developments of sufficient interest to broaden trade.

Commission houses generally advance the opinion that conditions appear to indicate that new developments in wheat stand better than an even chance of favoring the bull side. Therefore the advice favors purchases on the setbacks.

Any damage that may have been sustained by the corn crop because of unfavorable weather for germination so far appears to find an offset in the progress of seeding, which is reported well ahead of average.

Broomhall today confirmed reports of sales of 15,000 tons of rye by Russia in Rotterdam at 51c per bushel C. I. F. He added that offerings are still being made.

Argentine shippers are reported having difficulty in obtaining exportable grades of wheat. Exports from this country are expected to be insignificant for the remainder of the crop year.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 23.—The Pandem Oil company of Wichita Falls reported a strong showing of gas while coring from 6037 to 6052 feet at its No. 1 St. Joseph Orphanage, in the northeast of the southwest of the southeast of 17-12-4w, a wildcat test northwest of Oklahoma City, in the Bethany area. It is drilling ahead.

Cromwell-Franklin Oil company and Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company No. 19 Trosper park, in the southwest corner of 12-11-3w, in the northern part of the field, flowed 2867 barrels of oil in three hours against 1800 pounds back pressure. Oswego lime was topped at 5990 feet, and sand from 6325 to 6397 feet. The oil tests 38 gravity at 63 temperature and the well is making 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Their No. 16 Trosper park, in the southeast of the northeast of the northeast of 13-11-3w, flowed 210 barrels of oil in 15 minutes but was shut in until a treating plant could be erected. It was cutting 35 per cent and the oil tested 38.8 gravity at 68 temperature. The Oswego lime was topped at 5996 feet and the Arbuckle lime from 6132 to 6400 feet. The well is also making 13,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company No. 2 Werner-Speegle, in the northwest of the southwest of the southwest of 24-11-3w, had the Oswego lime at 6153 feet, sand at 6310 feet and the Arbuckle lime from 6580 to 6602 feet. It flowed 1692 barrels of oil in 23 hours. The test will be drilled deeper.

Its No. 6 N. Emerson, in the southwest of the southeast of the southwest of 30-11-2w, had the Oswego lime at 6137 feet, the Detrital at 6270 feet, set the six-inch casing at 6369 feet and drilled to 6590 feet. It made 129 barrels in 24 hours and 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Fifty-two wells in the field produced 101,734 barrels of oil Thursday. There were two wells that made more than 10,000 barrels each.

The Shell Petroleum corporation started a drilling campaign on its second lease in the Oklahoma City field, with the announcement of No. 1 Egermeier, in the northeast of the northeast of the southwest of 23-11-3w, on the west side of the field. This location will force three more locations.

FOUR GROWERS HANDLE BULK OF VEGETABLES PRODUCED HERE

SALES LIMITED TO THIS AREA

Leading Growers Give Views on Marketing

(This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the problems of truck marketing in the Wichita area.)

A system which has evolved almost automotically, and largely because no organized system seemed available, is now predominant in the marketing of vegetable produce in Wichita Falls, according to information given the Record News this week by leaders in the industry.

Despite the fact that there are scores of small plots on all sides of the city from which garden produce is being sold, and that the highways leading east and west from the city are lined with orderly and quite extensive truck farms which appear to be designed for commercial activities, the bulk of fresh vegetables produced in this community is being handled very largely by a quartet of growers and a wholesale market recently established on the corner of Tenth street and Ohio avenue.

Little Retail Buying

Although the new produce market is avowedly open to both retail and wholesale trade, and already enjoys patronage of both kinds, the retail business is negligible and the wholesale business large in volume, according to growers availing themselves of its services. Local growers are furnished stalls without charge, while out-of-town growers or hucksters of produce are assessed a daily rent which effectively encourages exclusion of foreign-grown vegetables. Retail sales are limited simply for the reason that few individuals take the time and trouble to go to the market early in the morning to select the small amount of beets, carrots or turnips which their respective households will require during the day. A further contributing factor, growers say, is that they do not bring in a large bulk of produce for which they have not received orders during the preceding day.

But the market serves another purpose. Transactions which take place there during the hours between 4:30 and 7:30 a. m. each day supplement the "organization" of distribution which has asserted itself without definite direction. The four growers through whose hands the majority of locally grown produce reaches the consumer arrive at the market, along with many others, between 4 and 4:30 a. m. Their functions soon extend beyond those of growers, some selling, some buying, even some trading, in rough but practical distribution of the preceding day's harvest.

For the sake of clarity in detailing the manner in which produce of this immediate district is reaching its market, these four key-producers may be styled A, B, C, and D. For the most part, A and B fill up the produce racks of larger local retail stores, with such vegetables as can be grown here, by the opening hour, supplying such amounts as estimated needs of the day's business indicate. Practically all of the larger groceries in the city, including the foreign-owned chain establishments, draw their supplies from A and B.

Grower C is more purely a wholesaler. He not only sells large quantities regularly to the local wholesale houses, for both local and outside distribution to retail stores, but regularly supplies considerable quantities of various crops to other members of the quartet. Grower D also is a wholsaler, primarily, but only a small part of his produce is consumed in Wichita Falls. Upon his fields numerous operators of traveling wholesale merchandising depend for fresh bunched vegetables which leave this city usually at night, and by early morning are being distributed to retail stores in various cities further west and north.

No definite organization has been attempted or effected; there are no by-laws, written or unwritten, governing the daily handling of produce, but it operates quite systematically day by day with A, B, C and D functioning as wholesalers in the manner outlined. Maintenance of a balanced supply for the outlet which each has established requires extensive bargaining between themselves sometimes. A and B draw upon C for mustard greens which their own fields can not provide for the coming day's demands. Aside from the loads prepared for various outgoing trucks, D may bring in several dozen bunches of turnips which local wholesale houses were unable to get for that day from C, the usual source.

Sale of the vegetables grown by members of the key-quartet does not represent the full measure of their places in the scheme of marketing, however. Numerous growers whose gardens are too small to produce in regularly commercial quantities find an outlet, at current market prices, for such surplus produce as they have from time to time by turning over such items to A or B for delivery to local stores. Such surplus of the smaller producer does not represent merely the excess of his production over needs of his own household; for in most instances, he is supplying large amounts of vegetables to his neighbors. Both the Iowa Park and Petrolia road districts present variously the anomaly of one resident supplying fresh gardens produce regularly to many of his neighbors in a community which has the appearance of being given uniformly to small farming.

It appears that the growers who deliver directly to retail stores dispose of practically none of their crops to wholesale produce dealers here, while the farmer who supplies the wholesale houses with large quantities daily concerns himself only with that trade. The retail stores now are paying their growers (A and B) about 10 to 15 cents per dozen bunches more than C and D receive from wholesale purchasers.

The view of the four leading growers discounts the practicability of a public market which would anticipate direct patronage from a large number of individual shoppers. The fact that this community can not produce a complete line of vegetables, they pointed out, makes it improbable that many housewives would make a trip to the market in order to select from the grower's truck the items available there for the day's needs. Quantity production for retail and wholesale establishments in the city, and for truck-line merchandising to other cities in less productive areas, remain preferable outlets, they said.

Questioned relative to proposals that provision should be made for sale of Wichita Valley vegetable produce in other parts of the country either by local canning or refrigerated carload rail shipments, several truck growers expressed the view that such a market could not be obtained for crops now being grown here. Seasoned conditions which favor the raising of a good crop in the vicinity of Wichita Falls usually indicates that other sections of the country will be raising most of their required vegetables of the same kinds at about the same time, it was pointed out. Attention was called to the fact that in 1929, scores of truckloads of late summer and early fall produce went from Wichita Falls to Dallas and Fort Worth at good prices, whereas those cities have marketed vast amounts of produce in Wichita Falls during the past month. That situation was described as being due to an epidemic of insect blight and drouth from Fort Worth eastward to Louisiana, creating a shortage which represented an emergency instead of a permanent condition.

Canning Situation

Outside of local consumption growers said, Wichita Falls' best and only dependable outlet for vegetables now in production here is to be found to the south, west, and northwest in cities which can be reached overnight by motor trucks. Transfer of mixed carlots of produce to other sections through the only methods by which such movement could be made would place the merchandise on the markets at least two days late and in poor condition to attract a price in which any profit could be anticipated. Much re-handling, incident to such shipment, it was said, causes a much greater deterioration in quality of the produce than results from its being purchased at the field, carefully loaded on a truck, carried directly by the owner to point of delivery overnight, and placed on retail markets the following morning in as good condition as that shown in stores here from the same gardens.

No optimism was expressed relative to the probability of producing enough of crops which lend themselves well to canning for the profitable operation of a canning plant in this vicinity. Large per-acre yield and low producing costs are requisite conditions, according to the opinions expressed, for the profitable marketing of produce to canneries. Such produce as readily can be grown here under present conditions, it was said, brings a price which is fairly commensurate because it is of good quality, and can reach the consumer's table within a few hours after removal from the garden. Its freshness and ready accessibility are the elements which bring fair produce prices here up to the limit of this and surrounding communities' consumption, as the growers see it.

It was admitted in various comments that Wichita Falls and the territory extending south, west and northwest to a distance of 125 to 150 miles, regularly consumes more vegetable truck than growers here are now supplying. The spring of 1930, it was said, has been one of the most unfavorable for vegetable production because of the unusual severity of weather in January and February and because of a serious insect epidemic. Insects of both common and uncommon varieties have completely blighted many large patches of different produce, it was reported, and has rendered growers here frequently unable to supply the demand for mustard, radishes, etc. With normal conditions obtaining in this vicinity, areas now given to vegetable cultivation here will amply supply the maximum capacity of their territory for consumption of fresh vegetables, growers believe.

In connection with expressions of doubt that sufficient amounts of the right kinds of vegetables could be produced here to afford a profitable canning industry, various truck farmers expressed the conviction that dairying will witness a tremendous development in the Wichita valley during the next few years because of the feed-growing capacity of much land which does not return good vegetable crops, and the regularity and extent of a market for dairy products.

Commercial raising of vegetables near this city is limited practically to the Petrolia road section, the Iowa Park road community to City View, and the section between this city and Lake Wichita.

MAJESTIC: Alice White in "Show Girl in Hollywood." She may surprise us with something worth while, of course. Talking shorts. Sound news.

STATE: Last day of "Such Men Are Dangerous." Warner Baxter doing overtime duty. Pat Rooney comedy. Talking news.

Just how long Maurice Chevalier will be supplied with suitable vehicles for his really pleasing capacities remains very much a question, considering the talkiedom's established habit of forcing the growth of such fruitful plants. Insipid flavor and woody texture have not popped out in the third Chevalier harvest, however, which is now thrilling the matinee matrons at the Strand. This one is "The Big Pond"—a title which at first may seem to be a wide shot, but which really has some connection with the romanticism which is this boy's style.

In this one case at least producers have been fortunate in finding stories which give play to Chevalier's contagious good nature without apparently rehashing the scenes and situations with which he first scored as a favorite. A moment's thought will show that this truly is something to notice. Aside from Ruth Chatterton, what other prominent star has been so well treated? Understand we are not nominating this story of "The Big Pond" for next year's Pulitzer or anything like that, for the stories are not to be taken seriously. It merely occasions an easy opportunity for Maurice to make love prettily to Claudette Colbert—what a punishment!—and to sing light melodies with a healthy humor which seems to be genuine.

Should there be those who doubt the capacity of modern women for soaking up the spirit of romance which is laden with dashing princes, kidnaped princesses, etc., a matinee siesta at the Strand will provide great enlightenment. The joyful exclamations, breathless exhortations and giggled applause which greet the virile French Lochinvar as Barbara waits on the pavilion reveals much as to woman's masculinization—which is, in matters of this sort, quite largely phooey.

JAMES KING JR. HURT IN CRASH

Youth Injured as Car and Bicycle Collide

James King Jr., 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James King, 2009 Eleventh street, suffered serious injuries about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon when the bicycle he was riding and an automobile collided head-on in the street in front of the boy's home.

The child was rushed to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital where an examination revealed a fracture of the collar bone, serious cuts about the face and head and severe shock. His condition was reported not to be critical and attendants stated Friday night he was resting quietly.

The car was driven by Miss Mary Cochran of Paris, Ark., who is in Wichita Falls visiting at the home of Syd Cochran, 1407 Hayes street, according to police reports of the crash. Officers reported the boy had been riding his bicycle on the sidewalk and had turned down a driveway into the street, opposite his home. The crash occurred in front of the residence at 2010 Eleventh street.
