Coal Wage Conference Fails

U.S. TAKES HIS WHISKEY; THEN TAXES FOR IT

Fort Worth Man Pays a Fine But Kicks On Additional Bill

IN FEDERAL COURT

Relief to be Sought Soon Before Judge James Wilson

FORT WORTH, Aug. 4.—Can the United States government under the powers of the Eighteenth Amendment confiscate beer or whiskey and collect taxes on it too?

This question probably will be threshed out in federal court here at an early date following the action of Judge James C. Wilson today in granting a temporary injunction to C. V. Cattlett restraining the collector of internal revenues from collecting a $1,000 penalty assessed against some beer for the manufacture of which Cattlett was fined.

Pleads Guilty.

Cattlett plead guilty in federal court in October, 1923, to a charge of possession and manufacture of extract for brewing beer. He was fined $100 by the court which he paid. In August 1924, the commissioner of internal revenue caused a tax or penalty of $1,000 to be assessed against Cattlett. Cattlett offer a compromise of $200 and when it was rejected filed a plea of abatement.

Cattlett through his attorneys, petitioned the court to grant him a temporary injunction to prevent the revenue collector levying the assessment by means of a distraint warrant. The collector now is in possession of this warrant the petition states and threatens to execute it upon the property of the petitioner.

LYRICS OF LIFE
By Douglas Malloch

Books Without Pictures.

My daddy has just books and books,
Books old and new and big and small—
But there's another thing that looks
To me the funniest of all:
Why folks who read them should begin
them.
Without a single picture in them.

Books without pictures, they are like
Homes without loving, friends who frown,
And not a rose along the pike,
And not a garden in the town;
Books without pictures have about

When I grow up I'd like to be
An artist more than anything,
Because it always seemed to me
Flow'rs were the pictures of the spring,
And moon and stars and lamps alight
The pretty pictures of the night.

I'd like to go, when I'm of age,
Through life with fairy brush and pen,
And put a picture on each page,
A smile on every face again.
I think that's all the world is needing
To make it very pleasant reading.

HEAVY LOSS IS SUSTAINED AS DIKES BREAK

Tales of Heroism Told As Men Battle Against Water

DAMAGE IS $400.000

North Texas Gets Another Million Dollar Shower Tuesday Morning

EL PASO, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Farmers who have been fighting the Rio Grande flood since Sunday dropped exhaustedly into sleep this afternoon as the crest passed Tornillo, Texas. The greatest flow passed Fabens this morning.

Soldiers under Major A. G. Hickson are resting in their camp near Fabens, after having worked since 1 a. m., today. Reclamation service and county forces have been reduced to patrols and officers believe the danger from further outbreaks in protective works is past.

Five thousand acres is regarded as a conservative estimate of the farm lands under water and the damage will run near $400,000. Some of the land which is under, but a few inches of water will be drained as the river recedes without damage to crops, it is said.

Hudspeth Not Worried.

Farmers in Hudspeth county are not anticipating difficulty from the flood, C. N. Newman, head of a large agricultural company there, said this afternoon. The water has spread over such a large area before reaching there that the flow has been greatly reduced.

A break in the Tornillo drainage canal early this morning has changed the course of the river to the canal and flooded nearly a thousand acres more land. Water backed over a large area when held up by a flume in the canal. The flume was dynamited after an attempt to dam it further up and turn the water back into the old river bed had failed.

Stories of the heroism of the men fighting back the flood are being told. Fred Ivey found a break at the head gate holding back a huge flow of water. He thrust his arm into the break and held it while a companion ran for help.

A squad of soldiers under Sergeant Charles Kline, without waiting to strip off their clothing, plunged into swift water in a dike breach that came up to their necks with sacks of sand and held the sand in place until other sacks were brought. A little boy ventured into his home to rescue his dog which had been left tied to a bedpost when the flood surrounded his home. His mother, standing kneedeep in water, screamed when she saw the roof of the building cave in. A moment later the lad emerged, half swimming, from the rear of the building, the dog following.

Borglum To Be Retained For Work In Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 4.—Gutzon Borglum, deposed Stone Mountain sculptor, was vigorously defended from anonymous charges which had been brought against him by parties who sought to have him replaced as sculptor of the Old Trail Drivers monument by Mrs. R. R. Russell, president of the women's auxiliary at a meeting today.

The Old Trail Drivers had given Borglum their word that they would employ him to perpetuate in stone the part they played in settling Texas, and a campaign to raise $100,000 for the monument will be launched under Mrs. Russell's supervision on October 8, when every county in the state will be given an opportunity to contribute to the fund.

Mrs. Russell's mail has been flooded with anonymous letters and circulars attacking Borglum, and seeking to find the truth of the sculptor's part in the Georgia disagreement, she wrote many letters to various organizations interested in Stone Mountain and who knew the parties with the controversy that terminated in Borglum's discharge, and sent a man to Atlanta to personally investigate the sculptor. She gave her findings to the committee Tuesday and read a letter from Mrs. John A. Perdue, president of the Atlanta chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, absolving Borglum from all blame in the controversy.

OPERATORS AND WORKERS SPLIT ON CHECK-OFF

Anthracite Negotiations At Atlantic City Break Tuesday Night

"NO USE TO GO ON"

So Say Interested Parties After Day Spent In Futile Conference

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 4.—(AP) The anthracite wage scale negotiations were broken off at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

The motion to adjourn sin die was proposed by C. J. Golden, president of district number nine, United Mine Workers and was seconded by several operators and passed by the joint committee. The conferees reported they were in complete disagreement on the miners' demands and that further negotiations appeared useless.

Regret Publicity.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers submitted a reply to the letter he received yesterday from Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the anthracite operators conference in which the miners' leader said in part:

"The mine workers representatives deeply regret that the mine operators have seen fit to publicly announce their refusal to negotiate upon a basis of fact.

"Public statements of W. W. Inglis and yourself obviously preclude any agreement. The public advertisements of the anthracite operators given out while the negotiations were in progress, demonstrate that the operators do not propose to make any constructive contribution toward the success of the conference. With these facts in mind the mine workers' representatives are of the judgment it is utterly futile to continue further in the wage scale negotiations."

In Secret Caucus.

The operators went into a secret caucus for 50 minutes and upon their return they asked Mr. Lewis:

"Are we to understand from your letter that in view of our opposition to an increase of wages and the check-off, you refuse to continue negotiations?"

Mr. Lewis answered "yes," according to the account given by Mr. Inglis, chairman of the operators' committee.

August Booked To Better Refinery Situation, Though It Starts Badly.

FUEL OIL IS STRONG WITH GASOLINE WEAK

Tulsa Refiners Optimistic Over Month's Outlook

SINCLAIR BUYS

Refiners Are Storing Fuel Oil for Winter Demand

Although the Sinclair Refining company is reported to have been in the north Texas market and to have taken out 75 cars of 64-66, 375 endpoint gasoline at 14 1-4 cents bottom price, the Mid-Continent gasoline situation fails to react as many think it should. As far as can be ascertained, the Sinclair and other exporters have not entered Oklahoma or Kansas refinery areas for supplies.

The threat of L. V. Nicholas through the National Petroleum Marketers association to establish a large refinery near Chicago, had some refiners guessing. Some refiners thought that the announcement was intended to meet the attack that certain major refiners have been making on him.

Fuel oils are strong at $1.05 to $1.10, and distillates are active, while in Kansas the 38-40 is bringing 4 cents flat, to 3 1-2 to 3 5-8 cents in Oklahoma.

Mid-continent refiners with offices in ulsa were almost as a whole Saturday and Monday in reporting that the incoming of August had eliminated much of the weakness that prevailed during July and that with settled weather that an era of better buying should occur. In fact, several sales managers reported that jobbers were already in the market to purchase their late summer gasoline supplies.

The month of August, the sales managers asserted, should witness perhaps the greatest buying movement of the season. They declare that with crude runs at the refineries being reduced and buying more normal that markets can be maintained.

U. S. motor grades of gasoline are reported firm at 11 3-4 to 12 for the 56-58, 437, and 12 to 12 1-2 cents for the 58-60, 437, with the 56-58, 450, around 11 1-2 to 11 3-4 cents.

Fuel oil, of course, is strong and getting stronger. The last reports from the coal strike centers has intensified the interest in the petroleum product. Inquiry also shows that many refiners are storing fuel oil for the fall, even with present spot prices very attractive.

The business meeting will be held in the afternoon and will be addressed by Jack Ralston of Iowa Park, commissioner of this district for the Ruby Kendrick council of missions. Music will be furnished for all the meetings by an orchestra from Henrietta.

It is announced that automobiles will leave the First Methodist church, Tenth and Lamar, between 6 and 7 o'clock Saturday night to carry the delegates to New London. Ample accommodations will be provided for those who remain overnight Saturday.

Officers Lose $80 in Currency

Four bills of $20 denomination were lost Tuesday morning somewhere in the business district by C. W. Willis, a member of the police department traffic squad, and although Mr. Willis has searched diligently he has thus far been unable to find the $80. He asks that any one having found the money, which was contained in a leather billfold, please return it to the city hall.

The officer left the police station about 9 o'clock Tuesday morning to make his regular rounds. He went down Ohio from Ninth to Seventh, to the railroad tracks crossing Seventh, doubled back on Seventh to Scott, down the east side of Scott to Sixth then back on the west side of Scott to Tenth, back on Scott to Ninth and east to the city hall at Ninth and Ohio. The loss was discovered there.

News of the Fields

Texhoma, Throckmorton

Texhoma Oil and Refining company's No. 3, Reynolds Land and Cattle company, in lot 57, Comanche Indian reserve, southern Throckmorton county, was down to 1,448 feet yesterday and drilling.

Texhoma, Taylor

Texhoma Oil and Refining company has made location for its Taylor A-6, east of the north end of the old Texhoma-Gose pool, north Archer county, to be located 300 feet south of the Taylor A-2. The rig is moving on.

Smackover Deep Sand

Sunday's output of the Graves, or so-called deep sand at Smackover, was 160,295 barrels from 611 wells, of which 152 were dead. Saturday's production was 165,020 from 607 wells with 154 dead. Last Friday the output was 164, 533 barrels from 606 wells.

Balcones Testing

Penn and Wndisor are again trying to find the Woodbine sand along the balcones fault area in the Bazette district of Navarro county, east central Texas. They have contracted with Roy Black, contractor of Corsicana, to drill a well just 1,000 feet north of their last failure.

R. R. Clark, Kinder

R. R. Clark was reported bailing and completing his No. 1, Kinder, in the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of block 49, Clark and Plumb sub-division, block 5, east of Archer City, yesterday afternoon. The well showed an oil sand at 1,195 to 1,197 feet.

O'Donohoe-Gates, K-A

O'Donohoe and Gates have put both their Nos. 5 and 6, Kemp and Allen, lot 1, block 26, KWFVL, south Wichita county, on the pump for about 75 barrels apiece and are starting their Nos. 7, 8 and 9. Both wells were completed in the usual 1,600-foot sand here.

Marland, Logan

Marland Oil company of Texas was down to 1,325 feet with the expectation of finishing up at once and abandoning at a depth of 1,420 feet in their No. 1, Logan well, located in the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of section 34, block 5, Clark and Plumb, east of Archer City, Archer county.

Texhoma, Burnett

Texhoma Oil and Refining company's No. 1-A, Burnett, Perkins and Cullum Burnett ranch "A" lease, about two miles south of the rodeo grounds at Burke Station, south Wichita county, was drilling yesterday at past 1,200 feet after testing sand at about 800 feet.

The N-1 has been abandoned at a depth of 1,953 feet.

Kentucky, Wilson

The Kentucky Oil corporation has abandoned its No. 1, Wilson, William Walker survey, south of the Barkley and Meadows production, central Archer county, at a total depth of 1,570 feet. The well had no oil sand. It definitely defines this formative pool to the south being located but a short distance in that direction from the discovery well.

Consolidated, Dycus

Consolidated Oil company and Texhoma Oil and Refining company are drilling past a last reported depth of 475 feet on their No. 1, Sallie B. Dycus located in the center north and south and 150 feet off the west line of the H. S. Smith survey, about four miles south of Luke Wilson, in the northeast portion of Archer county.

W. Phillips, Wilson

Waite Phillips is drilling the plug in a day or so and completing both Nos. 13 and 14, Wilson, in the original northwest Archer county pool, north part, BBB&C survey, abstract 39. Sand was topped in the No. 13 at Nos. 15, 16 and 17 are all drilling, and No. 18 is a derrick.

The pool shows 11 producers, one duster, two wells on the sand, three drilling and one derrick. All the production is Waite Phillips property.

P. P., Kilcrease

The Petroleum Producers No. 1, Kilcrease, in the southeast corner of the Petroleum Producers twenty acres in TE&LCO survey, block 1809, on the west edge of the northeast extension to the Litchfield pool, is on the pump and expected to show between 75 and 100 barrels from sand at 920 to 929 feet, northeast of Olney, north Young county.

No. 2 is drilling, having spudded yesterday, and is located in the northeast corner of the same twenty acres, just 380 feet north of the No. 1.

Mankins Pool

The Mankins pool, or pools, as drilling has demonstrated its character, in northwest Archer county, south of the little town of Mankins, has to the present, like a number of pools opened in this part of the county, proven rather disappointing. Wells completed with a good initial showing have rapidly developed a large salt water content. There is never a very thick sand body—it is rare that a well anywhere near shows over a foot of oil sand on top of the water.

The discovery well, now something like three months old, and located near the center of the south half of the Ben Howard survey, is still pumping a small well from a 1,700-foot sand. It is a Waite Phillips proposition, drilled in the center of a block of Waite Phillips acreage. Near the southwest corner of the survey Kentucky Oil corporation has a small well, hardly large enough to inspire much offsetting.

What seemed the most likely of any completion in the territory came in the Roy I. Carter No. 1-B, Parkey, southeast of the discovery, which showed originally for about 200 barrels but rapidly developed a salt water complex until today it is reckoned at about 15 barrels of oil and a hundred or more barrels of water a day.

Roy I. Carter's No. 2, Parkey, a west offset was dry, and No. 3 still further west is shut down, undrilled. A north offset to the Carter well, Waite Phillips No. 1-B, Wilson, has bailed salt water at 1,713 1-2 to 14 1-2 feet, and will be abandoned.

Waite Phillips No. 2-B, Wilson, about half way between the discover well and the salt water well, is fishing at about 1,300 feet. It is the only activity in the pool now.

WOLF POOL HAS 2 WELLS AND ONE DRY HOLE

Waite Phillips Area Shows Two Drilling Wells, South of Comac

Two wells with a daily production of approximately 140 barrels, one duster, one well on the sand ready to drill in today and another shut down for water is the score of the Waite Phillips corporation on their 400-acre Wolf block, south of the Comac pool, southwest Archer county. The summary given above is the story thus far of an entire south Archer county pool, production in which is at present confined and will likely remain so to Waite Phillips acreage.

It has been the policy of the Oklahoman in his Archer county activity to drill wildcat wells in the center of a fairly large block of acreage. Until recently six such tries had netted three successful wildcat completions. There is a story vouched for by the Waite Phillips corporation in regard to their Wolf pool of a farm-owner here, D. L. Wolf, who was so convinced that in "doodle-bug" geology lay the real science for well location that he moved the stake after the Waite Phillips engineers had made the location for the first well on his farm, some 1,100 feet distant. The well was nearly down before the error in the location was discovered. Whatever the virtue of the doodlebug, the hole made an oil well, the discovery of a new Archer county pool.

Just 330 feet east of the discovery No. 3 was drilled, a dry hole. No. 2 is a well just 330 feet south of the first well, while No. 4, 660 feet south of the discovery, is drilling the plug today with the sand topped at 1,385 feet. No. 5, 330 feet south and 330 feet west of the discovery well is shut down for water, not yet spudded, after laying two and a half miles of water line. Waite Phillips owns the only production in the field.

Burton Back To Arkansas Again

Hempstead county, north and west of the Smackover oil area of Arkansas, is to receive some thorough drilling, W. G. Burton of Fort Worth, who drilled in the famous Burton No. 1 Hughes, in 28-16-15, in the Louann area in 1923, is moving a heavy rotary rig to the McCaskill neighborhood. Burton has a 11,000-acre block and plans at least seven deep tests.

Oil Gossip

A dispatch from Austin, quoting an interview with Railroad Commissioner C. V. Terrell, states that the Humphreys gas well at Nocona in north Montague county, is the only wild gasser in the state at present. Wild ones in Refugio and Webb county have been brought under control, he says.

The Humphreys gasser has wasted an incredible amount of gas in the last month or so. Efforts to cap it opened a large crater near by, through which the gas would come when the casing head was capped. No attempt is being made to cause the gas to escape through the crater now, recent visitors to the well say, the flow, some 75,000,000 cubic feet a day, being allowed to escape through the casing.

Engineers of the bureau of mines at Washington are in charge of getting it under control. It is said that every method known to their science has met with failure.

HAIL STONES BIG AS EGGS ARE REPORTED

Detroit And Mid-Western Areas Visited by Bad Storms

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Hail stones as large as eggs, snow, floods, violent thunder storms and cool weather have found mention in August's weather chronicle in place of the usual records of skyrocketing temperatures.

Hail was reported in several midwestern states Monday causing considerable damage to the tobacco crop in parts of Kentucky. Snow fell for five minutes over an area of five square miles near Amberg, Wis., and was followed by a damaging hail.

From El Paso came word of damage by flood waters of the Rio Grande.

From 750 to 1,000 acres of tobacco were destroyed by hail in the vicinity of Lexington, Ky., the loss being estimated at more than $100,000. A small loss was sustained by corn and other crops. The hail lasted for less than an hour, but was so heavy that it remained on the ground 3 1-2 hours in some places.

Detroit, scene of a destructive rain on Friday, again was visited by a violent wind and thunder storm. For two hours rain and hail pelted a portion of the business area, flooding several hundreds of basements and filling the streets with 18 inches of water. The hail was half an inch thick.

At Indianapolis the mercury dropped 26 degrees to 58 when hail as large as marbles showered the city for half an hour. Outside of the flooding of basements little damage resulted.

Phoenix, Ariz., where the mercury registered 102, was the leading hot weather point. Elsewhere temperatures in the 50s, 60s and 70s predominated.

DALLAS SCHOOL HEALTH BOARD HAS OPPOSITION

Meeting Takes Stand That It Means Compulsory Vaccination

DALLAS, Aug. 4.—Establishment of a department of health in connection with the Dallas public schools was charged to be a veiled attempt to institute compulsory vaccination and medical examination in the schools at a meeting of Protestants last night. About 50 men and women attended the meeting.

"No matter what kind of promises the school board makes, the establishment of a health department is merely an entering wedge for compulsory vaccination and other iniquitous measures," Fred T. Moseley, chosen permanent chairman, said. "It is part of a nation-wide program of a certain school of medicine. Dr. J. H. Black of the school board is trying to do something he has no right to do. Our schools are for education and not medication."

Announcement recently was made that $25,000 had been set aside for the school health department and a physician and twelve nurses would be employed to conduct examinations of school children.

There was talk of suit to enjoin expenditure of the money set aside for the health work at the meeting last night.

MAN SOUGHT IN DEATH CASE IS CRIME STUDENT

California Case Puzzles Authorities in Spite Of Evidence

MARTINEZ, Calif., Aug. 4.—(AP) Authorities today had accumulated evidence which they believe materially strengthens their theory that a body found in the ruins of the Pacific Cellulose company's laboratory after an explosion last week whose life was insured for $180,000. Their theory was that it was the body another person who had been slain and placed there to indicate that the chemist had met death in an explosion. A recluse has been missing from Walnut Creek since the explosion.

Charred Body.

The body, charred almost beyond recognition, was found following the explosion and fire which destroyed the laboratory last Thursday. At first it was believed to be that of Schwartz, well known as a chemist and who had evolved a formula which, through the artificial cutting of silk fiber, was expected to revolutionize the silk industry.

Although identified by Mrs. Schwartz as the body of her husband, District Attorney A. B. Tinning refused to allow the woman custody of it until legal identification had been established. Schwartz was recently made defendant in a breach of promise suit for $75,000 by Miss Elizabeth Adams of Oakland.

Student of Crime.

One piece of evidence before the authorities today was the statement of Captain C. D. Lee of the Berkeley police force, who said that Schwartz was a student of "perfect crime." Captain Lee said the chemist had made a study of murders for the past two years and seemed particularly interested in the failure of criminals to hide traces of their crime.

One phase of the case which officials are endeavoring to clear up is the disappearance of Joe Rodriguez, itinerant Portuguese farm worker, who has been missing since the day of the explosion. In the belief that Rodriguez was murdered and his body placed in the laboratory friends of the man were sought in an attempt to establish identification.

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 4.—Desperate resistance Monday night on the part of Mrs. Juanita Campbell after she had accepted a ride with a service car driver whom she believed to be a friend and a soldier passenger, saved her platinum wedding and engagement ring from the grip of the soldier.

While her supposed friend drove the automobile along the Austin road just beyond the army remount station the soldier struggled with her in the back seat for the possession of the rings. Grasping her hand with his left, he beat her in the face with the free fist.

Detectives came to her assistance and arrested the driver. He was charged with assault and theft.

Sixty-Two Oily Widows See Money Slipping Off, So Meet With Attorney

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Sixty-two widows swept into the district attorney's office yesterday demanding protection of the law for their oil speculations.

Attaches of the office were bewildered until one of the women exhibited a newspaper want ad reading:

"All widows in the oil syndicate please call at the district attorney's office Monday."

Finally the widow who inserted the advertisement introduced herself and explained that "the promoters of this syndicate have sold us out and we want to know what you are going to do about it."

Deputy District Attorney Ryan patiently explained to the widows that the fact that their syndicate apparently had lost a leasing fight with one of the big oil companies did not necessarily mean the syndicate promoters were dishonest, but that the district attorney's office would dig into the matter and find out. Meanwhile, he requested the widows to go home and try to develop the sangfroid which every oil gambler needs.

BULLETS PASS BETWEEN TWO IN AUTOMOBILE

Neither Injured Though Windshields Are Shattered

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 4.—Ernest Jacobs and his wife miraculously escaped assassination Monday night when both windshields of their sedan were shattered by bullets. Occupants of the car from which the shots were fired sped away before Jacobs could get the number.

Two shots were fired. The upper and lower windshields were shattered and flying glass showered him and his wife. Neither was hurt, although the bullets passed between them.

Jacobs and his wife were coming in on the Frio City road. As they approached a bridge about five miles from the city saw a small touring car approaching. It contained four or five men.

When but a few yards away Jacobs heard a loud report. Simultaneously the wind shield of his car was shattered. A second later the lower windshield was splintered by another bullet. The other car then sped by.

G.A.R. HEAD IN FIGHT AGAINST U.C.V. COINAGE

Al Smith Asked to Cancel Speeches in Behalf Of Stone Mt.

UNIOTOWN, Pa. Aug. 4.—(AP) L. F. Arensberg, national commander in chief of the grand army of the republic today telegraphed Governor Al Smith of New York state, protesting against the governor taking any part in a drive to promote interest in the Stone Mountain Memorial. Commander Arensberg said his telegram was based upon stories printed in New York newspapers to the effect that Governor Smith would make a series of addresses for the Georgia Memorial association.

"As commander in chief, in behalf of the Grand Army of the Republic the 125,000 survivors of the union army, and their six million and more descendants, and the 100,000,000 patriotic citizens of the United States, irrespective of their political belief, I hope you may see your way clear to cancel your engagements, as they appear in the public press, to speak in behalf of the Stone Mountain coinage act, encouraging treason and rebellion and the debasement of the coin of our country," said the telegram. "We protest against any governor in any loyal state misrepresenting the patriotic citizens of his state by approving the actions of traitors to our government."

In a letter to Governor Smith, supplementing the telegram, Commander Arensberg told the New York executive that he was "committing political suicide" by taking any part in the memorial drive.

MEXICO MORE FRIENDLY, IS CAL'S BELIEF

President Not Disturbed Over Situation In Far East

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Relations between Mexico and the United States, President Coolidge understands, are more satisfactory than they were a short time ago.

Reports reaching him from the state department and his talk here Saturday with Ambassador Sheffield, who is on leave from his post in Mexico City, have led him to the conclusion that the outlook is brighter.

Keeping in touch as he is with various aspects of the nation's foreign policy, Mr. Coolidge is hopeful that final action can be had at the December session of the world court proposal. He considers the problem one that is entirely in the hands of the senate which has agreed to resume its consideration on December 17.

With reference to the situation in the far east President Coolidge is confident that an agreement will be reached shortly by the powers on a Chinese policy along the general lines advocated by the state department.

While the president has no one in mind as yet for appointment as ambassador to Japan, he is anxious to make this selection soon, but will not do so until he has had opportunity to discuss the matter with Secretary Kellogg.

MOTION MADE FOR ACQUITTAL OF KIDNAPING

Pickford Case Develops New Angle With Plea Of Defense

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—Arguments on a defense motion for an instructed verdict of acquittal were to be heard in superior court today in the case of Charles Stephens, Claude Holcomb and Adrian Wood, charged with plotting to kidnap Mary Pickford and hold her for $200,000 ransom.

The motion was based on a section of California criminal code which states that "no agreement amounts to a conspiracy unless some act besides such agreement be done within this state to effect the object thereof."

It is the contention of defense counsel that while Stephens, Holcomb and Wood may have exchanged views among themselves, particularly while under the influence of liquor, as to the possibility of kidnaping a screen celebrity, they did not make a single definite move toward consummating their so-called "plot."

BRYAN FORCES ASK MINISTER TO TAKE LEAD

Famous New York Pastor Is Offered Leadership Of Fundamentalists

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The leadership of the fundamentalist forces, of which William Jennings Bryan was the outstanding figure, has been offered to the Rev. John Roach Stratton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church here and long a foe of modernism.

In making this announcement at Asbury Park yesterday Dr. Stratton said he was not at liberty to reveal the names of those who had urged him for the place. They were, however, prominent New Yorkers who had formed an organization with which to prosecute a nation-wide war against the teaching of evolution in tax-supported schools.

Dr. Stratton said he would challenge Clarence Darrow to a series of from 10 to 20 debates on evolution. If Mr. Darrow declines, he said, Dudley Field Malone will be challenged.

In an address at Asbury Park last night Dr. Stratton blamed evolution's "glorification of the flesh" for the "ethical collapse" of the modern generation.

"Monkey men make monkey morals," he said. "The modern dances reflect the pervading philosophy of animalism. The theatre is reeking with moral infamies as a result of its fleshly tendencies. It was this reflection of evolutionary philosophy that destroyed Germany."

Judge Holds Dallas Juries Drawn Wrong

DALLAS, Aug. 4.—The method of selecting names from poll tax lists for jury service in Dallas county, employed for five years or more, was declared illegal today by Judge Royall R. Watkins. Judge Watkins interrupted county officers in the task of selecting 30,000 names from the current poll tax lists to read to them the law which requires that names for jury service must be drawn from the tax list in the county tax assessors' office.

Criminal District Judge Felix D. Robertson, was present and concurred in the position taken by Judge Watkins.

IF SICK TODAY!
TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to buy a bottle for a few cents and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money back.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work. —Adv.

ADEQUATE ASSISTANCE DURING DROUTH.

The railroads and banks of Texas have put themselves behind the drouth stricken farmers in the central part of the state. In the recent conference of railroad and farm representatives called by the Texas railroad commission, ten major lines serving the drouth area pledged themselves to secure the cooperation of outside systems in a cut of 50 per cent in the rates on feedstuffs and seed for planting. Lynn P. Tally, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas, has announced that the banks of the 11th federal reserve district are standing by the farmers in areas affected by drouth.

A cut of 50 per cent in the carrying charge on feed and seeds for the planting of feed will enable the farmers to care for their stock during the present emergency, either by growing the necessary feed or by buying it as a substantial reduction. It is obviously to the interest of the railroads to help the farmers in this way. By granting the assistance asked, every road directly or indirectly serving the drouth section will gain in popular favor and build future business for itself. The rate reduction on feedstuffs will involve a real sacrifice which cannot fail to be appreciated. So sudden and deep a slash in the present charge is bound to bring losses on operation which can only be made good over a considerable period of time.

In consenting to the reduced rate proposed to them, the railroads in the drouth area declare their faith in the future of the section now suffering from unfavorable weather conditions. They subscribe, in effect, to the statement of Calrence E. Gilmore, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, who spoke this encouragement at the Austin conference: "While conditions reported are bad, they could be worse. We are not the sort of people to be destroyed by one disaster, or will those affected rely solely upon others—they will renew their energies, devise new ways and means of working out their own salvation with the sympathetic and co-operative assistance of all agencies in a position to help, and in due time there will be a season of prosperity that will compensate for the depression that exists today."

Mr. Tally's assurance practically parallels that of the railroad commissioner. He asserted that bankers are "thoroughly and intelligently" meeting drouth conditions and stated that the farmers are distressed but not discouraged. Looking then to the general conduct of economic affairs he added, "Business is going on without any check, and merchants are making their usual purchases." He revealed that there is a tremendous reserve money power in Texas to keep affairs prospering in the face of poor prospects in some parts of the state. The liquid wealth of the federal reserve district over which he presides increased more than $80,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1924. This enormous increase adds greatly to the resources of the southwest, besides indicating that there is a vast amount of capital available for credit purposes or long time investment.

ROCKS IN HIS PATHWAY.

General Andrews is finding many rocks in his pathway. He has announced that reorganization of the dry enforcement staff has been indefinitely postponed until the general has had time to comb the nation for men of the calibre he wants for the jobs. He will ask for thirty million dollars for enforcement work next year. How will it be possible for him to obtain big men if the salaries of the big men are to be held within three thousand dollars a year.

Big men are not working for three thousand dollars a year. Big men are not political job hunters. Under the old system the Anti-Saloon league and the senators and representatives picked the federal and the state enforcement officers. These jobs for the most part were given to political strikers or henchmen of the political bosses of the republic.

General Andrews is a Westpointer. President Coolidge is said to have given him a free hand. General Andrews decided to dismiss all the appointees of Commissioner Roy Haynes of Ohio who has been holding his job for more than four years. It is political gossip in Washington that when Warren G. Harding was looking about for a man acceptable to the dry forces of America he called William Jennings Bryan into private conference. Roy Haynes was the favorite of the Anti-Saloon league of Ohio. Although a thick and thin republican he had won the friendship of Bryan. Bryan told Harding that Haynes was the man for the job and Haynes was given the job.

Now there is to be a thorough reorganization and a Westpointer with an army record will be the chief director of the dry enforcement army of America. General Andrews does not believe in red tape. He does not believe in political interference. He does not believe that political bosses should name the dry agents. He believes that a dictator is necessary and that the assistants and agents of the dictator should be picked by the dictator alone.

Prohibition enforcement has been a joke in many states. Wherever there are wet states or wet cities the law has been made a mockery. If General Andrews is to be given a free hand, if the political bosses permit him to pick his own men and if the congress appropriates all the money that he thinks he needs, there is no reason why the Volstead act should not be enforced as all other laws against criminals and crime are enforced in America.

CUT THE WAGES; REDUCE THE RENTS.

Fourteen thousand employes of the American Woolen company in New England had their wages cut ten per cent and a week later these employes were notified that those who were living in company houses would have their rents reduced twenty-five per cent.

Where do the thousands who do not live in company houses come in? Why the discrimination?

William A. Wood is the head of the American Woolen company. He is the man who framed the wool schedule of the tariff act. Is he afraid of the ballot of the wage workers of New England or has the president given him a hint?

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

The Main Entrance.

A teacher in a geography class was trying to give her pupils an idea of Tacna-Arica, the district lying between the boundaries of Chile and Peru, whose possession has long beep in dispute between the two countries.

The children looked at the map of South America. Afterward one of them was asked to point to Tacna-Arica, which she did immediately.

"How did you distinguish it?" asked the teacher.

"It's a blue country!"

"What do you mean by that?"

"It's blue on the map, and there are three or four other blue countries on other parts of the map. Are they all in dispute too?"

It was the eye of the child that had made her answer so promptly. And it is through our eyes that we see most of our geography, until we have traveled.

In one of his later Tom Sawyer stories, Mark Twain sends Tom and Huck Finn up in a balloon. They hope to distinguish the different states as they pass over them, but to their astonishment all the states are green. They had expected that one would be red another blue, and another yellow as they were in the geographies.

When children have traveled with their parents it is much easier to teach them gography than it is the little stay-at-homes.

Lately teachers have observed that children who go to the movies and look at the news reels in the films, take to geography much more readily. They have seen real moving pictures of the different countries, and they remember the pictures better than they could possibly remember all the text ever written.

The eye is the main entrance to the mind.

The impressions it receives appear to be printed on the brain far more clearly than those that come in by the ear.

And that is the reason that when educators generally awake to the need of teaching geography and a great deal of history through moving pictures, they will be able to instill what is now a dull subject with very little trouble.

The business of education is not a progressive business.

It clings to old ideas, old methods.

Innovations are regarded as dangerous, and too often the school text books drag ten or fifteen years beyond the progress of the day.

It was necessary to make them over after the great war, but up to that time they were revised but seldom.

Yet children live in the present outside of school. To them the present is alive and thrilling.

If they could be taken out of the class room, shown what is going on about them and then talked to about these things as a part of their lessons, there would be less trouble to get them interested enough in their work to like it.

And if the moving pictures were brought into the school room and used there daily a good many memories would be clear about geography and history ten or twenty years from now—memories which, as things stand, will be very foggy and uncertain on those subjects.

BRYAN'S ONE TELLING ARGUMENT.

The address, which Bryan intended as his summing up against evolution in the Scopes trial, and which his family has made public following his death, contains much that is characteristic of the great Commoner. It is plainly not a technical discussion of the data of evolution. Neither is it a philosophical document offered in opposition. Rather it is a free discourse resting upon easily understood religious and social considerations. Its power lies in its emotional quality, which constitutes at once its merit and its defect. It will sway the mind of the public for the present and gradually cease to be remembered. Yet there is one telling argument advanced by Bryan which may have a lasting effect because it illumines a weakness in the doctrine of evolution long recognized by its opponents.

"Our fourth indictment," asserted Bryan, "against the evolutionary hypothesis is that, by paralyzing the hope of reform, it discourages those who labor for the improvement of man's condition. Every upward-looking man or woman seeks to lift the level upon which mankind stands, and they trust that they will see beneficent changes during the brief span of their own lives. Evolution chills their enthusiasm by substituting aeons for years. It obscures all beginnings in the mists of endless ages. It is represented as a cold and heartless process, beginning with time and ending in eternity, and acting so slowly that even the rocks cannot preserve a record of the imaginary changes through which it is credited with having carried an original germ of life that appeared some time from somewhere."

The last part of the sentence last quoted contains an erroneous statement, according to geologists. But the extreme slowness of the evolutionary process is admitted by all authorities. Progress, as the evolutionst sees it, has little significance for the human race; the universe is constantly developing and improving, but so slowly that every change reported by the scientific investigator antedates the writtne history of mankind.

The most eminent scientists of the last three generations have confessed their inability to explain the development of man's institutions on the basis of the evolutionary hypothesis. In all essential respects, men of today resemble those who dwelt on the banks of the Nile and the Euphrates five hundred centuries ago. Yet what an advance has been made in ideas and institutions. An adequate theory of progress should take account of such advancement.

WHEN SMOKING WAS A CRIME.

Centuries ago a Persian king cut off the lips of those of his subjects who smoked and the noses of those who ventured to take snuff. In the year 1600 a Turkish emperor issued a royal edict ordering a hole pierced through the cartilege of the nose of a smoker and a pipe inserted into it. Then the offender was seated on the back of an ass with his face toward the tail and driven through the streets of the city while the town criers announced his crime and punishment.

In 1634 a Russian czar not only had his subjects beaten publicly for smoking but were this crime committed a second time death was the penalty. Now all the rulers of the world smoke. Now the factories of America turn out 70 billion cigarettes a year. Now the pipe smokers are more numerous than the sands of the sea. Now millions of fair ladies daintily finger the fashionable cigarette. "Do the world move" Brother Jasper? "It do" brother.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE.

Leo.

Today's planetary aspects are contradictory, and indicative of possible annoyance and probable disappointment,rather than of any actual menace. Poise and self-control will do more than anything else to enable you to pass the day without any untoward results. Above all, irritability and strife should be avoided. Nor correspondence of any importantn nature should be attempted, and no commitments, especially of a financial nature should be made. The signs denote a fair measure of success for any newenterprises undertaken under today's auspices, provided it has received deliberative thought and meticulous preparation.

A child born today will enjoy normal health during its early years, but, at about the period of adolescence is liable to experience a serious illness, at which time only assiduous care and self-sacrificing devotion will tide itover its difficulties. Its dispositon does not promse to be amicable or pleasing, but it will be mentally bright and fairly successful. It is more than probable that it may possess some unusual or peculiar talent—possibly in music or art. If this should prove to be so, this gift should be cultivated and encouraged. In its love affairs, it will be happy and contented.

If today is your bithday, you have good, reliable judgment, are quick witted, capable and observant and possess the happy knack of always appearing to advantage. Your knowledge is not deep; your intellectuality is not solid. You have, however, a superficial smattering, which, combined with an attractive personality, enables you to get away with it, when others, though better informed, would utterly fail. You are neat and fastidious, lay claim, with only a slight show of justification, to an artistic temperament, are fond of travel, a good entertainer, and popular in your circle of friends.

You are not capable of any great ordeep emotions, although you can simulate them with a marked degree of success. By theee means you make life in your home harmonious and acceptable.

HOUSEKEEPER SHOOTS MAN.

Woman Then Tries to Kill Self; Makes Statement.

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Aug. 4.—Calvin W. Berentz was shot and killed in his farm home northeast of Coffeyville early today by Miss Laura Ford, his housekeeper. The woman then inflicted a dangerous wound in her breast.

"I shot Cal Berentz because he ruined my life and don't care for me now," reads a statement signed by Miss Ford.

Berentz was 43 years old and divorced. His two small sons were in the house at the time of the shooting.

16-Year-Old Long Island Girl Made Rich Man's Child

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Mary Louise Spas, 16 years old, of Astoria, L. I., today was adopted by Edward W. Browning, millionaire real estate broker, as sister-companion for his other adopted daughter, Dorothy Sunshine Browning.

Mary's parents were natives of Prague prior to coming to the United States. She was re-named Mary Louise Browning in the papers filed in the court.

Mr. Browning's recent announcement that he sought a companion for Dorothy brought a flood of applications from mothers who were willing to give their daughters up that they might be assured the luxuries of the rich home. The advertiser was kept busy several days interviewing candidates and their parents.

HOW IT STARTED

"Chronology."

When we arrange a series of facts in chronological order we place them in the order in which they happened, in their place with reference to time. So chronology is the system of placing in order of time, of arranging events in their consecutive place.

It is from the ancient Greek name for the god of time that we have this word in modern speech. He was Kronos, also spelled "Chronos," who corresponded to the Roman god Saturn as the original and supreme deity. Whether Kronos was regarded by the ancients as the god of time because he was supposed to have been born of Heaven or Infinity from which we have time, or whether the association was simply the result of similarity between the name "Kronos" and the word "chronos," meaning time, is a debatable question. As it comes to us, however,in our heritage of Greek mythology, we have Kronos or Chronos, the god of time, who has intrenched himself into our language in the word "chronology."

U. S. Shield to Mark National Highways

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The shield of the United States was adopted today as a model for the outline of route markers for the system of national highways being worked out by the joint board for interstate highways in session here.

The shield will have a white background with the name of the state, the initials "U. S." and the route number in black.

A shield designed of smaller size with white background and the letters "L" or "R" in black will be used at approaches to turns. Arrows will be placed at the turns themselves.

An octagon-shaped sign will be the stop signal. It will have a yellow background and black letters. Caution signs will be diamond-shaped with yellow background bearing symbols indicating curves, loose gravel, hills or other sources of danger.

FIRST COTTON IN SHERMAN

Dripping Springs Man Gets a Good Premium.

SHERMAN, Aug. 4.—Sherman received her first bale of cotton late yesterday. It was sold for 26 cents a pound and J.L. Bowling of Dripping Springs, who brought it in, was given a premium of $60. Mr. Bowling brought in the first bale last year, but was 11 days earlier this year.

IRRIGATION

SOMETHING THE IRRIGATION DISTRICT DID NOT HAVE TO PAY MR. WAGGONER FOR.

As we have seen Mr. Waggoner receive the neat sum of three hundred thousand dollars of the irrigation districts money for the right to flood some of his brush land with water, yet the contract provides for possible further payment in section 6 as follows:

"When both of said dams shall be completed, if it shall be ascertained that the lands submerged by the waters—when the water stands at the level of the top of the spillways of each of said dams, plus the forty acres for camp site—plus the land used for constructing said dams, aggregate more than 20,000 acres of land belonging to the party of the first part after excluding therefrom all the land within the bed of fthe Big Wichcita river, which may be submerged by water, then the party of the second part shall pay to the party of the first part at the First ational bank of Ft. Worth, Texas, the sum of fifteen dollars per acre for all such land—in other words the agreement is that when the said two reservoirs are full and the water stands at the level of the top of the spillways that if more than 20,000 acres of the land belonging to the said W. T. Waggoner, and not counting or including within said twenty thousand acres, any part of the bed of the Big Wichita river, shall be covered by water, that then the excess over and above twenty thousand acres—shall be paid for at the rate of $15.00 per acre and it is further understood that the forty accres to be used as a camp site and the lands for the construction of the dam shall be considered as if the same were submerged under this agreement.

One thing that the irrigation district did not have to pay Mr. Waggoner for and that was the bed of the Wichita river. It was subject to river floods anyhow and it is also probable that it belonged to the state of Texas. Most stream beds in this state are the property of the state.

Angry Child Says He Will Kill Self, Found Dead Later

GONZALES, Texas, Aug. 4.—Hugo Kruz Jr., 12, died Monday from rifle wounds said to have been self-inflicted when he became angry with some playmates. He was a son of Hugo Kruz of Cheapside, near here.

According to persons called to the scene, the little boy became angry while playing with friends at his home and ran into the house, declaring he was going to kill himself. No heed was paid to his threat until a shot was heard.

He was found in an upstairs room, shot between the eyes with a 22 calibre rifle. He lived about 30 minutes.

Island of "Booze" Faced With Poverty

NASSAU, Aug. 4.—Bimini island, which rose to wealth and fame when prohibition in the United States caused it to become the bootleggers' paradise, is down and out. The last case of the huge quantity of American rye whiskey which was exported from American shores to Bimini and placed in bond there, has been withdrawn to find its way back into the United States via rum row, and after years of plenty many Biminians face poverty.

A trivial sound to rivet his attention, but as he strained his ears to listen a tremor ran through him and his heart commenced to beat suffocatingly. For these were singularly persistent bats whose feeble squeaking rose and fell with monotonous regularity. Almost unconsciously he found himself counting the seconds that elapsed between the soft twitterings.

Five—seven. Five—seven.

Ramadan and S'rir, by Allah, using again the boyish code that often, years ago, had drawn him from his tent in a fever of excitement to join some midnight escapade the Arab lads had arranged for his amusement. Ramadan and S'rir—how had he forgotten them?

New hope flooded in upon him and his tired eyes blazed as he strove to give the answering signal. But his silence might entail.

He was convinced that his men were near. Was their devotion to go unrewarded? Had they tracked him so far only to fail for lack of the response he was powerless to give? Was the chance to escape to be lost to him after all?

If he could only move, only make some sound that should penetrate to the other side of the thick mud brick wall!

But unable to speak, unable to stir, he knew that every moment the probability of his rescue was growing fainter.

Hope had almost given way to despair when suddenly a dark shape rose level with the window on which his eyes were fixed. Moments seemed like hours as he waited, shaking with apprehension, hardly daring to breathe, while the rusty iron bars of the window bent and yielded to the grip of two powerful hands.

One by one they were silently loosened and removed and then, bit by bit, the tiny aperture was widened until the hole was big enough to admit the passage of a man's body.

Surely it must be Ramadan, his strength was proverbial.

There was a moment's interval, a soul-sickening period of suspense that sent a hundred fears chasing through the watcher's fagered brain, then a slimmer, more agile figure than Ramadan's came feet foremost through the opening to land with the noiselessness of a cat.

The next minute S'rir was bending over him with a long knife in his hand.

"In heaven or hell, O master," he grinned, and cut the cords that bound him.

CHAPTER II.

It was the hour of the siesta.

The big straggling camp of the Sheik lay wrapped in peaceful quietude that would soon give place to the usual bustling activity that prevailed even when the eagle eye of the master was absent.

For the military discipline that was maintained amongst his followers was never relaxed.

A fighting clan that had risen to pre-eminence in the land, they had gone through many peaceful years hoping always for the war that never came.

Too powerful to be molested by adjacent tribes, they were alike feared and detested for their strength and for the strange beliefs that for generations had made them a race apart. Unorthodox, and holding tenets that were peculiarly their own, they had long been regarded with superstitious awe that gave them a singular prestige amongst their neighbors; and proud of their curious reputation they clung tenaciously to their peculiarities, fostering the mystery that surrounded them.

And the events of more recent years had not served to lessen that mystery. The unusual circumstances attending the birth of Ahmed ben Hassan and his subsequent succession to the leadership of the tribe had given rise to extravagant and fantastic tales that had become almost legendary in the country.

For twenty-five years he had ruled his people despotically.

And for them he was still the heaven-sent leader whose miraculous coming had insured the continuance of an ancient name.

Situated in the extreme north of the vast territory the Sheik regarded as his own, the camp was pitched at the foot of a low rocky hill that was the last outcrop of a chain of mountains which lay like a blue smudge on the western horizon. A few stunted trees and two or three clumps of date palms half buried in the sand evidenced the nearness of water, and seemed to be the result of an attempt at cultivation not long since abandoned. Scattered in picturesque confusion the little army of tents lay facing the south, looking out over open desert where mile after mile of sand stretched endlessly, its undulating surface dotted with thorn bushes and reedy-looking drinn that provided food for the camels that were daily driven out to crop its scanty growth. Patrolled by armed guards the camp slumbered confidently under the midday sun and there was little sign of human life, though now and then a figure would emerge, yawning sleepily, from one of the low tents to kick aside the fierce white Kabyle watchdog that was dozing before the entrance, and then wander leisurely in pursuit of some duty or appointment. Pigeons cooed and strutted in the sunlight, and a few sleek, well fed donkeys rolled joyously in the sand or roamed aimlessly poking their inquisitive noses into everything they passed, but avoiding the long lines of picketed horses that stood with down drooping heads, lazily switching at the flies with their tails and waking into activity only when one of their number would strain, screaming, at his headrope to repel the advances of an encroaching neighbor.

That, and the yelp of a dog, the occasional long-drawn bray of a donkey, were the only sounds that broke the perfect stillness.

At some little distance from the main camp, half screened by the clumps of date palms, lay the big double tent of the Sheik.

The entrance flaps were wide open, and under the lance-propped awning two long, lean sloughi hounds slept with their pointed noses resting on their crossed forepaws.

Here too was silence.

But the solitary occupant of the tent was not sleeping.

Alone amidst the barbaric furnishings that had been her home for so long, Diana Glencaryll, who had been Diana Mayo, sat at a little writing table, gazing dreamily into space, a half-written letter lying neglected under her hand. The passing years had dealt lightly with her.

Slim still, and boyish-looking in the neat riding suit she was wearing, she seemed but little older than the headstrong girl who had ridden out of Biskra some twenty years before in search of adventure that had led to appalling experience, and which had terminated far differently to all her expectations, changing the whole course of her life.

And she would not have had it otherwise.

The terrible months of her captivity seemed now only like a faintly remembered dream, her anguish of soul and body but a fiery trial through which she had passed to joy unspeakable.

Happy as few can hope to be she had never known regret, and daily she thanked God for the impulse that had sent her into the desert.

In love with the wild roving life she led, passionately attached to the husband who worshipped her, and content with an isolation that would have driven many another woman mad, her days had been full with self-imposed tasks and she had never found time or inclination to weary.

Until lately.

Her smooth forehead wrinkled with anxious thought as she counted over the weeks that she had been alone. For four months the Sheik had been absent.

For four months she had watched and waited for his return, tormented with fear for his safety.

It was their first long separation and, sick with longing for the very sound of his voice, hungering for the clasp of his arms, she had realized even more than before what his love meant to her, how much his presence was necessary to her happiness.

The days had dragged interminably. And his going had been mysterious. For some time previous she had noticed that he had been more than usually thoughtful and pre-occupied, more than usually silent. But accustomed to his moods, and hesitating always to interfere when her advice was not directly asked, she had refrained from questioning him until his growing and obvious anxiety had at last forced her to speech. And his answers had been vague and unsatisfactory.

One fact only she had gleaned which was in a measure reassuring. It was not the affairs of his own tribe that were troubling him. And what passed beyond the borders of their own territory had seemed to her immaterial. But to the Sheik it was otherwise. Deeply versed in the ways of his people, with a full knowledge of the fickle nature of the Oriental, he had found it impossible to ignore the strange rumors of disquietude and unrest that had reached him from all parts of the country. Confident though he was of the loyalty of his own followers, he still sensed the peril of external influence, and he had come at last to believe that only by personal investigation could he arrive at the truth and track to its source the menace that seemed to be hanging over the land.

Unwilling to add to her anxiety by disclosing the full nature of what he knew to be a dangerous undertaking, he had told Diana very little of his plans and had slipped away one night, unattended and alone.

Idolized by the tribe, and left in the capable charge of his principal headsman Yusef and the faithful French valet Gaston; there was no question of her own safety and she had never given it a moment's thought. It was only for him she feared as day succeeded day and he did not return.

Four months!

She tossed the pocket-book aside with a weary little sigh. Why had this trouble come now, just when the situation was already sufficiently difficult?

Slow tears gathered in her eyes as she turned to a Moorish stool beside her and took from it a double leather photograph frame. And her lips were quivering as she studied intently the faces of the two sons she had borne to the man she adored. Twins but in all ways utterly dissimilar.

Instinctively she looked first at the portrait of the younger and best loved son. It was an enlargement of a snapshot taken by herself, and the unconventional pose, the free, careless grace of the sitter made the likeness seem more real, more natural.

A tremulous smile passed over her lips as she counted one by one the points of resemblance that made him so much dearer to her. In face and figure he was the exact replica of the Sheik. There was the same great height and arrogant bearing, the same handsome face with its cruel mouth and piercing eyes staring defiantly under close-knit brows—the Sheik as he had been when she had known him first, before love had come to soften the harshness of his expression.

And even love had not changed him much, she reflected with another little rueful smile. It was only for her that the stern mouth relaxed into tenderness, only for her that the dark, fierce eyes kindled and burned with the light that even yet had the power to make her heart throb wildly.

And as in form and features so also in temperament did the desert-bred son resemble his father, a resemblance that did not always make for perfect unity between them. For too much alike, both passionate tempered and obstinate, strong will clashed constantly against strong will.

Though secretly proud of his handsome son, the Sheik was intolerant of the younger Ahmed's failings which were so forcibly and painfully reminiscent of his own stormy youth. Resentful also of the fact that, already a man in years, his future successor displayed little inclination beyond the furthering of his own pleasure, he was less lenient than he might have been and his rule was an arbitrary one.

And perpetually in disgrace, the son was chary of showing the real deep love and admiration he had for the father who was, to him, the beau-ideal of what a man should be.

It was Diana who formed the buffer between these two similar and yet opposite natures. Adored by both it was she who softened the father's harshness, she who restrained the son's extravagances—as far as she was able. Wayward and headstrong as he was, she knew the fundamental good that was in him, and she could make allowances where the Sheik could not.

How many times she had stood between them! How many times the deep knowledge she possessed of the character of the one had made it possible for her to understand the point of view of the other. Was there never to be understanding between them also? She leaned back in her chair with a little shiver.

Humphris-Pfeiffer Wedding Solemnized At Methodist Church

One of the most beautiful weddings of the year was solemnized at the First Methodist church last night when Miss Mattie Humphris, popular daughter of Mrs. A. J. Humphris, 312 Burnett street, became the wife of Charles Pfeiffer, also of Wichita Falls.

Church Decorated.

The church was attractively decorated in a color scheme of orchid and pink, with the path of the bridal party roped off with white silk cord. Palms and roses placed around the altar heightened the effect of the decorations. A huge white bell was suspended over the couple's head where they stood dusing the ceremony. Rev. S. A. Barnes, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church, had charge of the ring services.

The bride was attractively attired in white chiffon over white satin, bask style, with a rose petal skirt with crystal trimming. The maid of honor, Miss Bonita Humphris, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Misses Macie McClure, Elsie Harris, Hilda Ingram and Tempe Jordan, all wore orchid chiffon frocks with silver lace, carrying orchid bouquets, with the exception of Miss Humphris, who carried pink flowers. Mrs. Hugh F. Weaver, the matron of honor, wore pink georgette over pink lace and carried an arm boquet of pink roses. The two pages were little Misses Faye Lama Humphris and Onita Reynolds. The flower girl was little Miss Genevieve Williams. Mrs. J. A. Akin Jr. played the wedding march.

Mayor Shepherd Sings.

Ushers were Dr. F. H. Meyers, J. D. Pinkston, V. R. Hoffines and Andrew Humphris. F. N. Hanson served as best man. The bride was given away by Lenly Humphris, her brother.

Mayor R. E. Shepherd pleased the audience with several solos. A feature was that the wedding is the anniversary of his own marriage.

Following the wedding the bridal party and intimate friends were guests at a reception given at the home of the bride. The young couple later left for an extended wedding trip through the east. On their return they will be at home in Houston, where Mr. Pfeiffer will establish a jewelry company. Both young people before their marriage were connected with the Kruger Jewelry company of this city.

BEBE DANIELS IS HERE

Film Favorite Showing At Olympic In "The Manicure Girl"

Imagine Bebe Daniels as the cutie who cuts your cuticle!

She's just that in her latest Paramount starring picture, "The Manicure Girl," which opens today at the Olympic theater.

"The Manicure Girl," directed by Frank Tuttle, who made "Miss Bluebeard" and "A Kiss in the Dark," is an original screen story, adapted by Townsend Martin. Bebe, as Maria Maretti, is a manicurist in an exclusive New York hotel. Her daily duties bring her in touch with "the four houndred," one of whom, a wealthy married business man, played by Hale Hamilton, becomes interested in her.

Edmund Burns, who was Gloria Swanson's leading man in "The Humming Bird," plays opposite Bebe in this one. As Tony Luca, Burns builds up quite a business of manufacturing and installing radio receiving sets. Bebe—as all women do—loves beautiful things and before Burns, her fiance in the picture, "strikes it right" he is unable to keep pace with her. A falling out is the result, during which time Bebe sees the wealthy James Morgan (Hamilton) quite often—until she learns he is married, that is.

A call from Morgan's wife for a manicurist brings Bebe to her home. Some great scenes follow when each learns the identity of the other. The two women hold a council of war and by a clever plan straighten out thing for all concerned.

Other big names in the cast of the picture are Dorothy Cummings, Charlotte Walker, playing Mrs. Morgan; Ann Brody, Marie Shotwell and Mary Foy.

The Adventures Of Ronald in N. York

Ronald Bentley is a modern youth—one for whom the night holds no terrors except that of having to go home before daylight. He lives in a small town, has a wealthy father and is possessed with an unconquerable desire to display his devility at every turn.

John Bentley, his father, has entirely different ideas and wishes to cure his son of his wildness. In such a case, what would seem more natural than to send the boy to New York with the object of letting him get himself into a few real scrapes which would make him content with family life in the old home town.

This he does and here we disclose through letters from Rodney to "the governor," his escapades and his "Night Life of New York."

LETTER NO. 4.

Dear Governor:

It is now three p. m. and I have just emerged from my downy couch, had a dip and am rearing to go. Had a wonderful evening with Meg and the only complaint I can make is that they make the nights about four hours too short in New York. Ran into Carrie at one of the cabarets and she introduced me to a little, willowy vixen with black hair and a skin you love to touch. Her name is Bonnie and bonny she is, no joking. Had a few dances with her and we seemed to hit it off right from the start. Meg was a little peeved but it was all in fun as Nero said to the martyrs. Finally made it up with her and came to the conclusion that the hackeneyed expression, "the sweetest girl in the world" is not all bunk after all. No kidding, dad, I believe that I'm beginning to fall for Meg. She seems to understand my nature more than anyone ever did and after all there isn't much to this fast pace, is there! We're going to throw a wild one tomorrow night and I believe that it'll be a finale for your young son Ronald. Have a date tonight with Zeela of whom I told you yesterday and I know that it'll be a huge success for I've laid away a bouquet of her favorite fruit, pink ladies. Well, dad, the hour waxeth and there's much to see as Columbus said when he started on his voyage, so I'll ring off for this time.

S'long.

RONALD.

NO CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR, SAYS WIZARD

Evans Denies That The Organization Will Enter Race

DALLAS, Aug. 4.—Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the ku klux klan, on a brief visit here, declared today the klan will not be an issue in the next gubernatorial campaign in Texas and that the organization would not have a candidate for governor. Dr. Evans intends to return to Washington today, where plans are being made for a parade of the ku klux klan.

"The only issue in Texas politics next year will be whether we are to elect officials who will serve themselves or those who will farm out their offices to other persons," Dr. Evans said.

"Of course, the klan is for good government and it will be on the side of good government regardless of what candidates are in the field."

Six Murder Cases Are Transferred

Six murder cases pending here have been transferred from the 30th district court in which the indictments were returned to the 89th district court. Closing of the July term of the former court, necessitating the absence of Judge H. R. Wilson from the city, led to the change. Judge Wilson is now holding court in Archer county.

The cases transferred are those of J. L. Marshall, charged with the murder of Harry Swayzee; Robert Whitfield, charged with the murder of his wife, Bess; Farella McJunkins, charged with the murder of L. N. Carroll; Eulestes Henson, charged with the murder of Isaac Dabney; Levi Wilson, charged with the murder of Mathew Roberts, and Ike McKinney, charged with the murder of Charles McKinney. Henson, Wilson and McKinney are alleged to have killed negroes, while Farella McJunkens, negress, is charged with the murder of a Fort Worth and Denver City railway brakeman, a white man.

The Marshall case has been tentatively set for trial before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court on August 31. Whitfield's case has been set for September 2.

Advertising as first employed in American newspapers was in the form of "readers" now employed chiefly as "classified" advertising. It was advertising that was a great success.

More Truth Than Poetry

NO TROUBLE AT ALL

I always have envied the fellows
Who could put any bully away
With a couple of blows on the chin and the nose,
And never get mussed in the fray.
Whenever I've seen such a person
Engaged in exchanging hard knocks,
I have made up my mind that I'd go out and find
Somebody to teach me to box.

But the thought of the smashes and wallops
And slams on the jaw and the chest,
And a hay-making punch where I just stowed my lunch
Might possibly lay me to rest,
Has always allayed this ambition—
So I never have stepped in the ring,
And I'm ignorant quite of the left jab or right,
Or the uppercut, counter or swing.

So utterly lacking in knowledge
Am I of the muscular art,
That when people get mean, I don't bring on a scene,
But turn on my heel and depart.
At the thought that I looked like a coward
I frequently inwardly chafe,
But to be impolite to a man who can fight—
Would hardly prove perfectly safe.

But now I have gone in for boxing
And my friends will be filled with surprise,
When they see me step out and land clout after clout
On chaps who are three times my size.
I've subscribed to a system of teaching
Which is warranted never to fail,
And I'll never get hurt or mixed up in the dirt,
For I'm going to learn boxing by mail!

New Map on This Week's Fight Card

Bernie Irvine, the newcomer to Wichita Falls fistic circles from Tulsa who meets Tom Storey of Douglas, Ariz., Thursday night in the legion ten-round feature, is a fast and shifty but also slambang type of boxer.

Irvine has been sweeping through Oklahoma cauliflower ranks decisively and is coming to Wichita Falls seeking new fields to conquer.

Irvine and Storey head a very attractive boxing program with such favorites as Wildcat Monte, Kid Murdock and Kid Grantie signed for bouts.

IDENTIFIED

(Any person that has done a great thing has done it alone. Especially on a golf course.—Punch.)

I know a man
Who catches fish—
Fish as big as you could wish—
His fish are long with finny tails—
I think in fact that they are whales—
These mammoth fish of scale and bone
He hooks when fishing all alone;
With him I oft go fishing, too—
He catches minnows when I do.

I know a man
Who drives them far—
You'd think he'd knocked one to a star;
His tee shots go both low and straight—
Three hundred yards his normal gait;
These drives that my respect compels
Are always hefted somewhere else;
Whereas with this jazaboo I play,
His drives don't soar so far away.

I know a man
You know him, too—
Who always wondrous things can do—
Only he does them on the day
When he is not with us at play;
Who is he? Well I fear that he
Is you when you converse with me,
I also rather think this stew
Is I when I converse with you!

The idea of the pure amateur is not practical in athletics, tennis, golf, or swimming. If the athlete is not getting money, some one is getting it and getting it at the sacrifice of the athlete.—Henry L. Farrell in the United Press.

So long as the theory of national and international competition in a country as large as our own exists, there is certain to be much justification in the remarks of the U. P.'s critics. he simon pure amateur athlete exists in localized competition that does not take him very far away from his occupation or force him to spend much time away from it. But it is a self-apparent fact that where he must leave his work and travel far to do it, there must be in most cases an urge beyond the love of play behind the action.

Farrell wants the amateur rules revised apparently to permit some return for a man for his time. But it seems to the layman's view that this is not settling the issue. If you are going to reward the athlete for his time away from work, he will be willing to spend more and more time at the play. Most of the men good enough to be attractions in tennis, golf, and athletics are something better than the type of laborer who can be replaced by a time substitute. It is the job and the boss that are being penalized while the competitor is away. How are you going to square the issue there?

The colleges seem to be the final field where the amateur's ability can be capitalized by the promoter without any individual profit to a given person, and even here the heavy returns from a popular sport like football have brought into some question the distribution of the gate. There would be no college problems of the tramp athlete, the alleged proselyting, the rumors of ringers and hired hands, without the clicking turnstile that reaps a professional harvest from an amateur game.

Gaston Francis, president of the Paris baseball league, is in the United States to study our national game. Any sports editor can tell him how to run his league.

Only the 54,480 of them will tell him how in a different way.

The magnate spends a million bucks
To gain his club a winning run—
The scribe he spends no yen at all
In telling how it should be done.
And of the two, the scribe we find
Has much the better time and fun.

Fate Steps In

A peculiar destiny seems to shape the ends of professional baseball when it comes to avoiding difficulties.

The Texas league split its season for the first time in 1919. That year, the Dixie series was yet unborn. There was no prospective series with the Southern association. Shreveport won the first half and Fort Worth the second and a play-off was necessary to settle the pennant outcome.

The Dixie series was inaugurated in 1920 and in view of the scheduled meeting between the winners in the Texas and Southern, a play- off in the Texas league for its own championship would be embarrassing. Yet the Texas loop has played a split schedule every year except 1923. But the Fort Worth club has each time won both halves and it looks as if the panthers will repeat that feat in 1925.

The Lone Star series between winners in the East Texas league and the Texas association was started in 1924. Here too a playoff in one league and not in the other would muss up the dope sheet. Last year Tyler won both halves in the East Texas and Corsicana both halves in the association. This year it is a foregone conclusion that the will be a play-off in both leagues as Paris, the East Texas first half winner, and Temple, the associations' victor, have very slim chances at leading the last half. The situation might be complicated if Corsicana has its appeal against Temple's first half award sustained as the Oilers might then win both halves.

Many golfers, says Francis Ouimet, lug more golf balls than they have use for. And certainly more than the caddy has use for.

Shadow of Wills lies across path of Dempsey—headline. It's a long shadow that throws a four-year reflection.

Good Sense Here

The chairman of the New Jersey boxing commission says that if Dempsey fights in his state, he must meet a logical contender for the title. He sees no reason for a man who has held the title for six years requires a "warm-up" flight before he stakes the crown.

There is no refutation of that argument. Dempsey has contended for several seasons that he could find no competition. Now he wants a trial horse.

But on the other hand, there is no logical sense in any of these state commissions dictating just when a champion must fight.

A little of the old "all comers" program would do a lot to restore confidence sadly lacking in the world of jabs and jolts.

Only you can't get any champion to meet all comers and a commission can't make them. It is still a merry-go-round.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics found their batting eyes today and won the second game of the series with the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 3. Gray pitched great ball to gain his 11th triumph of the season but took things too easy in the ninth and was relieved with the bases full and none out by Baumgartner who stopped a Chicago rally. Champ Takes Wise Crack at Commish

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(AP) Jack Dempsey when informed of today's action of the New York boxing commission banning any fighter who would meet him before he signs articles and posts a forfeit to fight Harry Wills, said:

"If New York bars the Wills match it is open to any or all promoters throughout the country."

In a written statement the champion drew the deduction that the New York body "had in mind some cerain club or promoter to stage this fight. Of course there is method in the official decree, but it is past me to do a lot of guessing."

White All But Kayos Wilder

DALLAS, Aug. 4.—Tommy White, Texas City welterweight, defeated Freddy Wilder of Los Angeles decisively here last night in a ten-rounder.

White, though apparently holding back throughout had the best of the milling all the way. It appeared that had he wanted to knock out Wilder he could have done this at any time.

Though taking it easy, White had Wilder hanging on desperately in the last two rounds, barely averting a knockout.

LANDIS SITS IN ON WESTERN SQUABBLE

JOPLIN, Mo., Aug 4.—(AP)—Decision of the Western league not to transfer its St. Joseph franchise to Joplin after this city had been given assurance that the transfer would be made, will be laid before Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball; with a request that he penalize those responsible and compel them to reimburse local business men who had gone to the expense of making arrangements for an opening day and fitting up a park.

HARRIS HURLS BANK NINE TO HARD VICTORY

Randel Singles in Sixth To Send Over Runners For 2-0 Win

Gabe Harris was right Tuesday afternoon, and blanked the Texhoma club 2 to 0 by scattering five hits through nine innings of great pitching. The Security club gave him wonderful backing in the pinches, and by bunching three hits, and a sacrifice in the sixth scored the victory margin. Trout pitched nice ball for Texhoma, but the two runs bunched in the sixth proved too much for his mates to overcome. This makes the standing in the title series one-all. The deciding game is scheduled for 4:30 this afternoon.

Both clubs were playing championship ball, and the game was filled with thrills, and was greatly enjoyed by the fans. Johnnie McMahon was the fielding star with two great catches of clouts left field that looked good for extra base blows. Both Fat Mathis and Slim Kellogg played great ball at first. Graves came through with a nice catch in right field of Anderson's long drive in the ninth. Montgomery also played great ball at short.

Trout pulled out of a bad hole in the third inning without being nicked for a run. Gordon threw out C. Graves. Harris hit to Johnson, who juggled the ball, then threw low to first with a nice stop of the throw. Montgomery hit to Gordon, who slipped down as he was fielding the ball, and both runners were safe. Mathis walked, filling the bags. Courtney was to anxious, and went out swinging. Johnnie McMahon then raced back to take Graves' long fly for the final out.

Harris Pulls Out.

Harris followed up Trout by getting in a bad hole in the next inning. Thompson smashed a single through the box. McMahon hit to Mathis, who threw to second after Thompson, but Montgomery dropped the throw, and both runners were safe. Anderson hit to Mathis, who threw Thompson out at third. Boone popped out to Brown. Ross walked. Trout rolled out to Mathis, who stepped on first, retiring the side.

Security Bank took the lead in the sixth that proved too much for Texhoma to overcome. Courtney crashed a single to right. Toad Graves bunted in front of the plate, and was safe when Ross overran the ball. Sid Stanfield sacrificed both runners up a notch with a bunt to Trout. Brown went out, Trout to Kellogg. Randel then proved the hero of the game by sending a single down the first base line. Courtney and Graves spiked the rubber. McMahon went far back in left field to take Jelly Graves' long drive.

Poor Base Running.

Poor base running cost Texhoma a run in the seventh inning. Ross walked. Trout grounded to third. Brown pulled Mathis off first with a wide peg, and Mathis' throw to third was too late to catch Ross. Trout made a break for second. Stanfield cut him off with a peg to Montgomery, who ran Trout down. Ross waited too long before breaking for home, and Montgomery cut him down at the plate with a great whip to Stanfield.

Texhoma tried hard to rally in the ninth, but Harris proved too much and held the Oilers in check. McMahon doubled to the left field fence. Graves went far back in deep right to take Anderson's drive, but McMahon reached third. Davis batted for Boone, and walked. Davis stole second. Ross drove a grounder to Montgomery who cut McMahon off at the plate with a perfect throw. Trout fanned for the final out.

BIFF COMMISH BANS CHAMP'S 'CONDITIONERS'

Boxers Other Than Wills Who Meet Jack to Be Suspended

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Though failing to take any further disciplinary action against Jack Dempsey for his alleged dilatory tactics in agreeing to fight Harry Wills, the New York state athletic commission decided it would suspend any boxer who meets the champion anywhere before he signs a contract and posts a forfeit to battle the giant negro challenger.

Dempsey was criticised by the commission whose spokesman, Chairman James Farley, characterized the champion's fistic maneuvers as "disgusting," but it was concluded no good would be accomplished by inflicting further discipline.

Farley pointed out that the board had no authority to declare the championship vacant, although some precedent for such procedure had been set previously in other classes.

The champion's "official ineligibility" dates back to action taken just before he sailed for Europe, dodging the issue with Wills at that time, it was charged.

Farley ridiculed Dempsey's eleventh hour letter to the commission, insisting upon the sincerity of his desire to fight Wills and asserted no official cognizance would be taken of it. The chairman emphasized that Dempsey only could demonstrate satisfactorily that he wanted to meet Wills and should appear here personally to sign an iron clad contract, fixing a date and place for the fight.

Meanwhile Dempsey will not have the commission's approval to any "warm up" matches under the decision which would bar any further "warm up" bouts.

Dealing with another troublesome issue, the commission took no action against Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, for his failure to go through with an agreement to fight his California challenger, Dave Shade, but it indicated it would discipline Walker upon expiration of the time limit, August 15, set for this bout.

Landis Reinstates Wee Dickie Kerr

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Dick Kerr, former White Sox pitcher and hero of the world series of 1919, today was reinstated in organized baseball by Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis.

The commissioner acted immediately after receipt of a special delivery letter from President Johnson of the American league which enclosed a telegram from the player asking his reinstatement. The telegram was accompanied by a letter from Mr. Johnson recommending that Kerr be reinstated.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Informed by the Associated Press that he had been reinstated in organized baseball Dick Kerr said he was prepared to leave this afternoon for Boston to rejoin the Chicago White Sox who begin a series there tomorrow.

Kerr has been pitching this season for Moberly, Mo., of the Illmo league and has had fair success.

Sandlot Baseball Gains in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Plans to stimulate sand lot baseball on a nation-wide scale among the younger generation, featured by special boys' games held with the co-operation of organized baseball were launched today at a conference between Ban Johnson, president of the American league, and Thomas E. Rivers of New York, president of the playground association of America.

It is in line with such plans that two teams of 15-year-old boys representing rival metropolitan playgrounds, will play tomorrow afternoon at the Yankee stadium under the management of Ty Cobb and Miller Huggins prior to the regular game scheduled between the Tigers and Yankees.

Ex-Caddy Leads Field in Tourney

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Raymond J. McAuliffe of Buffalo, N. Y., ten years a caddy, today surprised 97 other public link players by leading the field in the first 18 holes of the fourth annual championship with 70, three less than par, and equaling the amateur record for Salisbury Country club course.

The west produced two men, however, who were right on the heels of the youthful Buffalo representative, Eli Ross of Cleveland, ending his round with a fine 71 after Walter Murray of St. Louis had attained a 72.

Mrs. Jessup Wins Easily at Rye, N. Y.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup of Wilmington, Del., fifth ranking woman player in the country, conquered Miss Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., in the New York state women's championship at the West Chester-Biltmore club today, 6-0, 6-1, in a third round match.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, conqueror of Helen Wills at Seabright, N. J., last week also advanced to the fourth round by defeating Miss Isabelle Mumford of New York, 6-1, 6-2.

FISHER WEAK AT START, PUTS GORMAN DOWN

Lightweight Wrestling Champ Takes Last Two Out of Three

Jack Fisher of St. Louis, American lightweight wrestling champ, after losing the first fall to Jack Gorman of Plainview last night in the feature bout of the first card staged by the new Wichita Falls Wrestling association at the Eleventh and Indiana arena came back and pinned Gorman twice.

The match was fast, scientific and stiffly fought throughout. Gorman won his fall in eight minutes and 55 seconds with a jackknife, combination head and arm lock.

Gorman Says He's Hurt.

Shortly after resuming hostilities for the second fall, Gorman took a tumble and came up limping. They grappled furiously, and there were few lax moments the rest of the way. Fisher displayed adeptness in breaking a number of head locks put on by Gorman. At one stage Fisher had the Plainview grappler all but down with a body scissor and arm lock. They were on the edge of the mat, and after struggling futilely for several minutes to come out of it Gorman reached up with his free hand, grasped the lower rope and pulled off the canvas. This, of course, gave him a respite from the gruelling holds put on by Fisher for the men were moved to the center of the mat.

Fisher won the fall in 16 minutes and 10 seconds with a double arm scissors.

Gorman asked for a doctor during the intermission and complained of having strained his left ankle. The limb was examined by one of his seconds, when time was called the two grapplers resumed action. Fisher took the fall in 50 seconds with a step over toe hold, grabbing the foot Gorman said was injured.

McMullen Pins Brown.

As was to be expected, Gorman challenged Fisher for a return match. Fisher declared, speaking of the injury, "I've had this stall pulled on me many times before."

Tuffy McMullen, Breckenridge 146-pounder, beat Jack Brown of Olney, 142 pounds, in straight falls. The first fall came in eight minutes and 30 seconds with a body scissors and hammer lock. Brown was rarely on the offensive, but contented himself with being tugged and hauled around by his opponent. Occasionally he attempted a toe hold. The second fall came in 10 minutes and 57 seconds. Brown put up a harder fight, and at times seemed on the verge of winning via the toe hold route. McMullen flattened Brown from a standing position with what he termed a lap over scissors. The hold, however, was nothing other than a bear hug that bent Brown's back almost double and forced him to the mat, flat. At this point McMullen applied a scissor to Brown's knee which were bowed up.

City to Remove Sidewalk Stands

City officials will take action next year to see that watermelon and cold drink stands which have blossomed profusely here this summer do not get another foothold on sidewalks and public boulevards.

The council, not without some dissent, has decided to make no ouster moves this late in the season, but it is to serve notice on operators that hereafter they must confine their stands to the limitations of private property. This will affect pop stands operated by youngsters on the boulevards in front of their homes, downtown news stands which utilize part of the sidewalk for displaying papers and magazines, peanut and pop corn salesmen who make similar use of the walks; and all other business enterprises of any nature.

Attention of the officials was called to the steady encroachment of private establishments on public property through a dispute with owners of a watermelon stand on Eighth street. An order was recently delivered to these men asking them to move, but this has been modified so that they can remain until the close of the summer season. Similar notice has been or will be served on all other such places, the commissioners say.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP)—High grade industrials led another broad upward movement in today's stock market. The advance, ranging from one to seven points took place in the face of a stiffening of call money rates and a bear attack against the Pan-American issues, which broke about three points each.

U. S. Steel common was one of the late leaders rising 1⅜ point to 120½ on buying attributed to powerful financial interests.

The so-called "rich men's stocks" which have been whirled upward recently on the prospect of capital split ups and increased dividends again established new maximum prices for the year. American Can touched 215½; Mack Truck 187⅝, Dupont 201, International Telephone 127⅝; United Drug 133½ and Atlantic Coast Line 182¼, most of them closing near the top. Nash motors, which sold as low as 381 yesterday, rallied above 432 today for a net gain of more than 15 points.

Pan-American A stock closed nearly three points lower at 67, B stocks showing a net loss of 3? at 67¼. In some quarters this selling was regarded as a prelude to the offering of common stock of the Pan-American Western Petroleum which will retain ownership of the Doheny California properties.

Further strength in General Motors, which attained a new maximum price at 92¾ was in anticipation of a special dividend distribution at the next meeting while motors, Fisher Body and Hayes Wheel were strong.

Steady accumulation of Loew's Inc., which reached a record top at 32¾, was in anticipation of an early increase in the annual dividend to $3, current earnings being estimated at the rate of nearly three times that amount.

Call money opened at 4¼ per cent and then advanced to 4½. Time money and commercial paper rates held steady.

Except for a future advance in the Danish and Norwegian currencies there were few changes of importance in the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling ruled firm around $4.85? and French francs just below 4.75.

Search Made For Missing Jewelry

A small length of a broken string of a pearl necklace, picked up by a boy near the scene of the fatal crash, has instituted another search for remaining portions of the necklace and two rings belonging to Mrs. J. E. Sisson whose husband was instantly killed early Sunday morning in an automobile accident three miles from town on the Seymour road. One of the rings was Mrs. Sisson's wedding band and the other a diamond ring valued at about $200.

Missed Late Monday.

The jewelry was not missed until late Monday afternoon. At that time the woman, who was herself badly shaken up in the crash, noticed that the necklace and her rings were gone. The district attorney's office was appealed to Monday night and a search made in the vicinity of the accident. Nothing was found, but Tuesday a boy brought a part of the pearl string to the court house and turned it over to officers.

Mrs. Sisson is particularly anxious to regain her wedding ring.

No Funeral Plans.

No funeral arrangements for Mr. Sisson have as yet been made. It was expected that a brother and sister from Little Rock, Ark., would arrive Tuesday but they failed to put in an appearance and plans for disposition of the body are being held in abeyance. The remains are being cared for at the Hines undertaking parlors.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4.—(AP)—The cotton market ruled dull nearly all through day's session until the last half hour of trading when considerable activity developed due to selling on anticipation of heavy ginnings to be shown by the census bureau in its first report of the season, due Saturday. The general price trend was downward although the early trading October traded 11 points above the previous close. The subsequent declines carried that position down 39 points from the early high and closed virtually at the bottom with net losses of 21 to 34 points.

The market was steady at the start in sympathy with better Liverpool than due and first trades showed gains of six points. This gain was soon extended, October trading at 23.54 and December at 23.68, which proved to be the day's highs.

Later the market decline on a private report indicating the crop at 14,333,000 bales for the United States. On this report prices eased off until October traded at 24.08 and December 23.05 or 23 to 26 points drown from the highs.

Postal Receipts In July Increase

Postal receipts for July, 1925, while as other months have done, nevertheless failing to make as pronounced a gain less exceeded receipts for the same mouth in 1924 by $2,690.56, it was announced Tuesday by Postmaster O. P. Mariele. Figures for July this year were $23,592.84 and for last year $20,902.28.

July is one of the lightest months of the twelve, postal officials say, which is in a measure responsible for the mild increase.

For the first seven months of 1924 an increase of $28,712.66 has been noted in the local office over the corresponding months of 1924. This year's figure is placed at $156,806.68 against 128,094.02 for 1924.

Back Oil Taxes Will Be Paid In

Over $45,000 in delinquent oil taxes, some dating as far back as 1915, will be turned over to County Tax Collector Guy Raley in a few days by six oil concerns, now aligned with the Middle States Oil corporation.

Attorneys representing the six companies have accepted a finding of Walter Nelson, master in chancery of the federal court for this district, in which he made an award of $45,738.60 against the concerns in favor of the Wichita county tax collector. His report has been submitted to Federal Judge William H. Atwell for approval and as soon as this is done, which is expected any day, the payments will be made.

The six companies involved, with the amount owed by each, are as follows: Dominion Oil company, $6,376.10; Eureka Production company, $6,725.07; Judson Oil company, $8,918.24; No. 77 Oil company, $2,690.82; Wichcita Petroleum company, $5,861.57; Hobbs Oil company, $15,166.80.

HEAVY

rainfall brings the total up to three inches in Vernon for the past week. The north part of the county has received over five inches during the recent rains.

HEAVY RAINS FALL OVER ALL PANHANDLE.

CHILDRESS, Texas, Aug. 4.—Heavy general rains covered the Panhandle section of the state today, the average reported here being about an inch. The downpour was almost flood proportions in a few sections.

Much feed and grain sorghum have been planted in the past week since the rains started. The additional moisture last night and today will benefit he newly plainted crops, as well as those not yet entirely matured.

AMARILLO AND ITS TERRITORY DRENCHED.

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 4.—A heavy rain, which early reports indicate was general over this section of the Panhandle, fell last night, the precipitation in Amarillo amounting to 1.69 inches. Other towns in this section report rains of from 1-4 inch to two and a half inches. The downpour in Amarillo about midnight was so heavy that some of the downtown streets were flooded.

SLOW DRIZZLE STILL FALLS AT HENRIETTA.

HENRIETTA, Aug. 4.—A half-inch of rain has fallen here, starting about 2 o'clock this morning. Clouds are still heavy and a slow drizzle is continuing.

NEARLY TWO INCHES AT TEXARKANA.

TEXARKANA, Texas, Aug. 4.—Rain totaling 1.88 inches in 45 minutes fell here today.

WICHITA FALLS GETS ADDITIONAL SHOWERS

The continued cool weather in Wichita Falls remained unbroken yesterday and served all the more to spoil Wichitans for the hot weather that probably is yet to come.

A slow drizzle throughout the morning added much to general discomfort in the city, but the clouds cleared away somewhat, the rain stopped and at 5 o'clock the highest temperature of the day was recorded when the thermometer climbed to the 79 degree mark. This is incidentally the lowest maximum temperature for any day during the past 30 days. A minimum temperature of 59 degrees was also recorded.

Reports over the county are that the weather is much the same in the entire district with Henrietta getting the hardest downpour in this section early yesterday morning. Electra and Burkburnett also reported slight precipitations, all of which will prove of benefit to crops, though the ground is reported as thoroughly soaked.

FALLIN TIMBER KILLS MAN

Man Goes Home To Find First Wife, Missing 14 Years, Waiting For Him

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Last night when R. F. Overton, a furniture salesman, went home he found awaiting him his first wife whom he had thought dead fourteen years. She was conversing with the second Mrs. Overton, to whom he had been happily married eight years.

Today Overton filed suit to annul his second marriage, setting out that it was contracted under the belief that his first wife was dead.

Overton married the first wife in Sallsaw, Okla., in 1911. They separated after a quarrel and lost sight of each other. Reports convinced Overton that she was dead, he said, and in 1917 he remarried.

He never heard of her again until yesterday.

LETTERS PROVE LITTLE AID IN DEATH INQUIRY

Officers Admit They Are Still at Sea in Girl Mystery

MATTOON, Ill., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Whether Miss Anna Stollman, 48-year-old former Cincinnati, Ohio, school principal and cultured student, took her own life by poison or was murdered is as much of a mystery as it was last Saturday when her body was found in the cistern of the farm of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Seaman, near here.

Three Days' Work.

Three days of investigation of the many and perplexing angles of the tragedy have thrown no light on the motive for the death. Finding and decipherings of notes found with the body served only to complicate the tangle.

Mrs. Seaman, who with her husband took the body to Cincinnati for burial yesterday, is confident her sister committed suicide. She had been acting queerly for some time, although it was not suspected that her mind had become so seriously affected, said Mrs. Seaman.

Important to the murder theory are some 30 odd scrawled and printed letters, most of them attacking Miss Stollman in some way, which were sent to her sister and Boss Lilly, a tenant farmer living on Mrs. Seaman's farm, a mile and a half away.

Some of these notes, made public by F. S. Schilling, Coles county coroner, were partly undecipherable. One of them said:

"You are as common as dirt, and regular snob, your horse is a nuisance and keep him where he belongs."

Sorry She Cried.

Another read: "We felt sorry when we saw you cry and felt we made a mistake to make a goat of you. We are on our way to Chicago and want to say three times some one has followed your buggy out of the corn field."

One note, believed to refer to written demands for money, said:

"Look under your front door for the check. So sorry we made a goat of you. When R saw you crying he was sorry, too. You happened to be the goat. The day Boss thrashed so we picked you again. We are even with Boss Lilly now, but think we go at it wrong. We thought we would get some money. Sorry we scared you so much. We expected it, but now we are on our way to Chicago. Four men and two women, sorry we made a simp out of you. Since no reward has been offered the first time nor this time by any of your people."

AGREE TO ACCEPT PLAT.

An agreement to accept the plat of the Westmoreland Park addition to the city after it had been approved by the city attorney was made Tuesday afternoon at a special meeting of the city council. It is expected that the acceptance will be forthcoming in a short time.

BARNES SAYS JUSTICE DUE SOME IN CITY

Minister Wouldn't Have His Remarks Condemn Every One, He States

Rev. S. A Barnes, pastor of Floral Heights Methodist church, writing a letter Tuesday under the heading "Justice to Whom Justice Is Due," pointed out that he did not want his denunciation of law enforcement laxity in Wichita Falls, delivered from his pulpit last Sunday morning taken as a condemnation of every officer in the city, county and state.

His letter stated he had pledged his support and co-operation, urging his congregation to stand by officers in law enforcement. For officers that did attempt to enforce the law, he continued, he had the highest regard and respect.

The pastor, also in his letter, uses this statement: "I commended your constable and police commissioner for their recent stand on law enforcement."

Concluding, Rev. Barnes' letter said:

"From the report of the officers themselves and the general opinion of the public, the conditions must be deplorable in our city, and we have come face to face with a tragic situation. If these reports be correct. If the saloons and road-houses are running wide open, as has been reported, if the criminal element defy the law, and our officers are unable to cope with it, then it seems to me that the time has come to enlist outside aid. I pledge my influence and undivided support to every officer and department of justice in helping to restore law and order in our city and county."

Concdent with Rev. Barnes' letter, another epistle was sent The Record News signed "F. Y. Ponder" of 2305 Colquitt street, which said:

"This is to thank you for the front page story and Rev. Barnes' sermon on law enforcement you published this morning.

"I am an invalid of four years and can write but little and do nothing, but if Rev. Barnes accedes to my request he will be able to give you a bit of material for front page use in a short time."

INJUNCTION CASE DELAYED.

The hearing of the city of Wichita Falls in its injunction proceedings against J. W. Culbertson and others, scheduled to have been held in district court Tuesday, was postponed by agreement until Wednesday morning. The hearing on the city's application to obtain a permanent injunction will be held at that time.

The case involves a house that is being constructed in the western part of the city on property that the city alleges is a public road.

CAL PLANNING MEANS OF AID FOR FARMERS

Agricultural Conference To Be Recalled, Is Report

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 4.—President Coolidge will recall his agricultural conference to map out a legislative program for farm aid.

The conference, which was appointed a year ago, presented a program to the last session of congress in which principal recommendations were given aid in co-operative marketing.

Coming before congress in the closing days of the session, the conference report failed of approval with considerable opposition voiced to some of its main proposals.

Spokesmen for the farming territories told the president this summer, however, that they believed co-operative marketing legislation to be the principal need of the farmers and the president has determined to again leave the problem in the hands of his conference, headed by Robert D. Gary of Wyoming.

Officials Promise Work for Drunks

Rumblings against unemployed drunks in the city have broken out again and various department heads are seeking to devise means whereby men assessed penalties in city court and who undertake to lay them out in jail may be put to constructive work in some of the municipal employment agencies.

Police Commissioner Queisser has agreed to furnish as many able bodied men as are lodged in jail each day and to provide a guard for them if other departments give them the work to do and pay for their board.

Day's Figure Reaches $55,600 Tuesday; Have Been Weak.

Building permits took on a healthy spurt Tuesday and after a week of comparative quiet shot up to more lofty heights. The figure for the day amounted to $55,600, this being swelled by one permit for a $35,000 residence that is to be erected by C. E. Bailey at 2010 Santa Fe avenue. The new structure is to be 78 by 48 feet, two-stories in height and of brick construction throughout. The work is being done by the Naylor-Collins company and is to be finished within six months time.

Another permit larger than the average, $10,000, was issued Tuesday for an extensive repair campaign on the Booker T. Washington (negro) school house.
