CIA agents grilled for info

WASHINGTON (AP) — For hours, the seven men grilled CIA agents and analyzed secret data on the situation in Cuba. Their mission: "Get all the facts" and help President Carter decide what to do about the armored Soviet brigade 90 miles off American shores.

Heading the elite group was former Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, who said the session lasted "eight, nine hours" at CIA headquarters in nearby Langley, Va. All were there at the request of the president.

"The president wanted to get a group of very experienced men to explore fully all the facts regarding the Cuban situation," Clifford said from his Bethesda, Md., home Wednesday night.

The seven experts "went out to the CIA on Monday and we spent all afternoon and a good part of the evening there — eight or nine hours," Clifford said. "We got a briefing and were permitted to ask questions."

The meeting was held to give members of the group a "chance to talk the whole thing over among themselves, then see him (Carter) and see if we couldn't be of assistance in solving the problem." Monday's session was "very thorough. We talked it all out."

The group has not prepared a written report. Indeed, it has not even tried to reach a consensus. "It was not that kind of a group," Clifford explained.

The men, he said, would give their advice to Carter when summoned.

"We were all very experienced," in intelligence and national security, Clifford added, although he declined, as did the White House, to name the other six.

Clifford said he didn't know when the group would discuss its analysis with Carter. The president, however, said in New York City Tuesday that he probably will report to the nation on the situation within a week.

Carter said intelligence reports indicate the brigade numbers about 2,500 troops supported by about 40 tanks and "some field pieces." He said there are no indications the troops have weapons that could threaten the United States, but insisted: "It is a combat unit."

That flatly contradicted comments earlier Tuesday by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, who told the United Nations "all sorts of falsehoods are being piled up concerning the policies of Cuba and the Soviet Union."

Precedent-breaking 1945 meeting

The emperor and the general

By KAY TATEISHI
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — On Sept. 27, 1945, the procession of four old-fashioned black Daimlers left the moat-surrounded Imperial Palace and headed for the U.S. Embassy. On the one-mile trip across bomb-scarred Tokyo, it had no official escort and it obeyed the traffic signals.

Several days earlier, the Japanese Foreign Office had sounded out newly installed U.S. occupation authorities on the prospects for a meeting between Emperor Hirohito and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The answer came back affirmative. But the Japanese leader, traditionally regarded as a deity, would have to break all precedent and go to see the general.

Nearly three weeks had passed since the occupation began in this prostrate country. Sixteen days earlier, MacArthur's headquarters had ordered the arrest of 39 Japanese wartime leaders as war criminals — including former Prime Minister Hideki Tojo, who had bungled a suicide attempt.

Where the emperor was concerned, MacArthur had a different strategy.

On one hand, he intended to reduce Hirohito to an ordinary mortal in Japanese eyes. On the other — and against the advice of some aides — he was determined to treat the emperor with respect.

To do otherwise, MacArthur reasoned, would unnecessarily offend the already beaten Japanese and risk casting Hirohito as a martyr.

"I shall wait and in time the emperor will voluntarily come to see me," MacArthur had predicted. "In this case, the patience of the East rather than the haste of the West will best serve our purpose."

Hirohito, dressed in a cut-away coat and striped pants, with wing collar, button shoes and top hat, arrived at the Embassy at 10:15 a.m. Immediately he was ushered to the second floor, accompanied by his grand chamberlain, Hisanori Fujita; his personal physician, Koji Murayama; and an interpreter, Katsuzo Okumura.

Gen. Bonner Fellers, an aide to MacArthur, took pity on the nervous monarch. Smiling, he extended his hand and said, "Welcome, Sir."

Hirohito found MacArthur dressed in a rumpled khaki uniform, tieless and without decorations or campaign ribbons.

The general immediately sought to put his visitor at ease by recalling that he had met Hirohito's father, Emperor Taisho, after the Russo-Japanese war. Then all but the interpreter and Hirohito were excused.

Seated before an open fire, MacArthur offered Hirohito an American cigarette. Hirohito's hands trembled slightly as MacArthur lit it.

The 38-minute discussion was a secret, but reports leaked out that Hirohito had thanked MacArthur for occupying Japan peacefully, and the general replied that it was wholly due to the emperor's cooperation.

Japanese sources said MacArthur at no time addressed Hirohito as "Your Majesty," but spoke to the interpreter, saying, "Tell the emperor."

According to MacArthur's memoirs, "Reminiscences," Hirohito said he had not come to plead innocence of war crimes, but to "offer myself to the judgment of the powers you represent as the one to bear sole responsibility for every political and military decision made and action taken by my people in the conduct of war."

MacArthur was surprised by the show of courage, saying later that "I was moved to the very marrow of my bones." He noted that Hirohito was "an emperor by birth, but in that instant I knew I faced the first gentleman of Japan in his own right."

Reporters had learned about the meeting but were barred except for a U.S. Army photographer. A report on the meeting was held up by Japanese officials for two days and then only a brief announcement appeared.

The photograph did not appear with it. Japanese Home Office officials, still in charge of censorship, called it insulting and lacking in etiquette where the emperor was concerned.

At Domei, the official news agency which still was operating, a photo editor rushed to my desk, appealing for help in getting the photo made public.

We went to MacArthur's press section, where Col. Donald Hoover fumed over the Home Office action. "Who is censoring whom?" he demanded. Then he called the Home Office and had the order revoked.

The photo appeared on Sept. 30, three days later. It stunned the Japanese.

Carter apologizes; fencing continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — In his own hand, President Carter has told Sen. Edward M. Kennedy he meant no reference to Chappaquiddick when he said he himself could handle a crisis without panic.

Edward M. Kennedy says he appreciates the gesture.

But the fencing goes on. Kennedy, appearing at a $1,000-a-plate party fund-raising dinner hours after a presidential aide delivered Carter's note Wednesday, said he "was glad to get it."

Kennedy said he did not consider the note an apology.

Presidential press secretary Jody Powell said the note was an "explanation" following what the president called "grossly exaggerated" press accounts of the remark, made Tuesday night at a "town meeting" in New York City.

A participant at the meeting had mentioned Kennedy and then asked Carter how he intended to "inspire" voters. Carter replied:

"We've had some crises where it required a steady hand, a careful and deliberative decision to be made. I don't think I panicked."

Kennedy, at a reception before the dinner, said he considers presidential leadership a legitimate issue and intends to make it, not Chappaquiddick, one of the major issues of the campaign — if he runs.

"Were I to be a candidate," Kennedy said, "I'd be talking about the issues which are most in the minds of the American people and I think that's also what he'd want."

In the past, the White House has said that if Kennedy challenges Carter, the president would not make an issue of Kennedy's reaction to the crisis conditions when the senator drove a car off a bridge at Chappaquiddick, Mass., in 1969, resulting in the death of Mary Jo Kopechne.

Carter followed Kennedy's appearance at a poolside reception with a dinner speech laced with appeals for party unity.

Carter said the party had carried the country through a depression, two world wars and a commitment to help the poor in the 1960s "united."

"Now we must face the challenge of 1980 as a united Democratic Party," he said. "With selfish divisions among ourselves, our voice is fractured and cannot be clearly heard."

As for his leadership, the president said, "We have never avoided a single difficult issue, no matter what the political consequences might be."

He then delivered a laundry list of his administration's accomplishments from civil service reform to the fact that "not one single American life has been lost in combat" since he took office.

Traffic Commission will meet Friday

The Big Spring Traffic Commission will meet 10 a.m. Friday in the council room at City Hall to discuss recommendations for the removal of a number of traffic signals in the city.

The commission will consider recommending the removal of traffic lights at 10 intersections, and replacing them with other forms of traffic controls. In addition, the commission will request traffic counts at 14 other intersections to determine for the future whether the signals are warranted, and recommend the immediate removal of three others.

Four other intersections will be studied to determine whether present stop-and-go lights can be replaced with flashing lights.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Oversized tires

Q. Do oversized tires add to the stability of a car in motion? I've heard it both ways.

A. Not necessarily. Increasing the area of the tire that contact the road will usually give a car better traction on dry roads. On the other hand, it likely would worsen the situation on wet roads. Why? Because making the contact patch larger reduces the weight per square inch on the road and can cause hydroplaning at lower speeds. This happens when water builds up in front of the tire until the tire actually is riding top of it, like a water ski. Unless the tread designs allows better water drainage, wider tires may force you to slow to a crawl in wet weather.

Local police to question man held for murder in San Angelo

Local police will question a San Angelo man already under arrest for one murder about possible involvement in the murder of Ann and Tracey Reeves near Big Spring, April 25.

Mrs. Reeves and her 15-year-old son were both shot in the head, and the bodies were discovered near the old Centerpoint School the same night.

Tommy Charles Perez, 33, who was arrested over the weekend in Guadalupe, Calif., will be questioned in connection with the homicide. Perez is a suspect in the Aug. 18 shooting death of San Angelo tavern owner Mike Rios, which occurred after an argument over a cover charge.

"This is just routine. We question all murder suspects who might have been in the area when the Reeves were killed," said Police Capt. Jim McCain.

The captain added, however, that local investigators have information that places Perez in Big Spring on the night of the Reeves homicide.

Perez has been extradited, and is expected to arrive in San Angelo sometime today, said McCain.

"We will question him as soon as he gets here," McCain added.

Polygraph tests results returned to Martin County

STANTON — Results of the three polygraph tests that were administered to Martin County Tax Assessor-Collector employees have been returned to Sheriff Dan Saunders.

Saunders said Wednesday that the results are confidential.

The polygraph tests were administered to the three tax office employees upon the employees' request after the last of three thefts of cash and checks was reported to the Sheriff's Office earlier this month.

During a three-week period, from Aug. 17 to Sept. 5, cash and checks amounting to nearly $1,300 were stolen from the tax office. The thefts occurred at night when the courthouse and tax office doors were locked. Some of the money was removed from a locked safe.

"All I can say is that the case is still very active and still under investigation," Saunders said.

SATURDAY

Disabled American Veterans Big Spring Chapter 47 will hold its annual Forget Me Not Sale all day Saturday. The high school band and boy scout troops will assist the vets. All but 10 percent of the funds will stay in Howard County.

Tops on TV: 'Buck Rogers'

Sci-fi fans may want to tune in on "Buck Rogers In The 25th Century" just to see the man who created the role in the first place. Buster Crabbe plays an aging space fighter pilot in the show, which airs at 7 p.m. on NBC. Late night viewers should pick up on an early Sam Peckinpah movie, "The Ballad Of Cable Hogue," airing at 10:30 p.m. on ABC. Jason Robards stars as wizened old prospector who seeks revenge after being abandoned by his partners. Stella Stevens, who has never been better, plays his true love.

GIVE THE FIDDLE MAN A HAND — President Carter applauds as Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia takes a bow after playing his fiddle Wednesday night in Washington. The affair was a Democratic Gala held at a Washington hotel.

Elvis' mansion a park?

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee Tourism Commissioner Irving Waugh says the state is interested in helping turn the late Elvis Presley's 18-room Memphis mansion and its spacious grounds into a public park.

Graceland, as the singer named the stone residence after he bought it for his mother in 1957, has always been a mecca for Presley fans. Thousands have toured the grounds since his death in August 1977 but have not been admitted to the residence. Presley, his mother and father are buried in a garden beside the house. The city of Memphis has discussed buying the house for the past two years. Waugh said Tuesday the state is willing to help, but wouldn't pay the full cost.

One of two found innocent

CLEVELAND (AP) — One of two men charged in the May 1 kidnap-slaying of supermarket magnate Julius Kravitz has been found innocent by reason of insanity after a judge determined he could not refrain from wrongdoing.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge John L. Angelotta, who heard the case without a jury, made the finding Wednesday against Michael G. Levine, 35, of suburban Lyndhurst.

Kravitz, who was chairman of First National Supermarkets Inc., and his wife were abducted from their Shaker Heights apartment by two men wearing police uniforms in an unsuccessful $1.5 million kidnap attempt.

Nuclear device exploded

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A weapons-related nuclear device with a yield equivalent between 20,000 and 150,000 tons of high explosive was exploded deep beneath the Nevada desert, authorities said.

The explosion, the 13th announced test this year, went off at 8 a.m. PDT Wednesday at Pahute Mesa on the Nevada Test Site 115 miles northwest of here, said Department of Energy spokesman Dave Jackson.

Instructor pleads no guilty

NEW YORK (AP) — A part-time sociology instructor has pleaded guilty to biting off the end of his estranged wife's nose during a heated quarrel over custody of their two small daughters.

Supreme Court Justice Irving Aronin said Wednesday he intended to sentence the man, Marco Mason, 36, to two months in prison and the remainder of a five-year term on probation.

A divorce suit is pending between Mason and his wife, Katherine. The fleshy part of Mrs. Mason's nose was sewn back on in an eight-hour operation, and only a small scar is visible.

Disability pay warranted

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — A laboratory employee who contended he developed anxiety neurosis from working 30 years with radioactive materials is entitled to disability pay, the New Mexico Supreme Court has ruled.

Courts blaze is battled

Big Spring fireman battled a blaze this morning in the Big Spring Courts, 1207 W. 3rd, that began when the owner, Ray E. Shaw, allegedly caught a cushion on a couch on fire with a cigarette.

Shaw carried the burning cushion to the bathtub to extinguish it, but part of the couch was still burning. The fire started in the front room and spread throughout the structure.

Fire Marshall Jim Ryals said the fire caused extensive damage to the owner's quarters. Adjacent motel rooms were not harmed.

The fire department dispatched a pumper and a booster to the scene around 11:30 a.m. today.

HC Women's Rodeo Team grabs championship title

Two members of the Howard College Women's Rodeo Team won first and second places in individual events as the Women's Team took the over-all championship title at the Eastern New Mexico University Rodeo, held in Portales, N.M.

Despite a first, second and third place performance by three members of the Men's Rodeo Team, the H.C. Men's Team failed to place in the Men's team championship.

Pam Mitchell, from Big Spring, won first in breakaway roping; while Sherry Altizer, of Del Rio, took third in the barrel racing event.

Cody Lambert, of El Paso, won first in saddle-bronc riding; Tracy Glover, of Midland, received second in team roping; and Guy Miller, of Lamesa, won third place in calf roping.

New Regional Events Directors were also chosen during the three-day rodeo, with six of the seven director's chairs being filled by HC Rodeo Team students or former HC Rodeo Team students.

Four of the new regional directors are currently attending HC; while two are former students.

Pam Mitchell was elected as goat-tying director; Sherry Altizer will be the barrel racing director; director of the breakaway roping will be Becky Lou Meek, who attended HC last year; the team roping director will be Wes Smith; and the calf roping director is Guy Miller. Mack Altizer was named the national Regional Director. Altizer was active on the HC Rodeo Team last year.

The next rodeo will be held Oct. 11-14 at Sul Ross University in Alpine.

Police beat Six mishaps reported

Wednesday was a relatively slow day for local police.

G.C. Heffington, 2003 N. Monticello, reported that burglars hit a residence belonging to him at 1011 W. 6th, Tuesday night. After breaking in through the kitchen window, the intruders stole a 12 gauge shotgun, a .303 calibre rifle, a .22 calibre rifle, a gold pocket watch and a microwave oven. Loss was estimated at $675.

Burglars stole a pair of binoculars belonging to Doyle J. Smith, 1902 Alabama, from his car, sometime between 7:45 and 9:45 p.m. Wednesday. The car had been parked at the Hillcrest Baptist Church. The binoculars were valued at $55.

Six mishaps were reported Wednesday.

Vehicles driven by Ruben Barajas, Amarillo, and James Shelton, 704 Capri, collided at Gregg and FM 700, 9:50 p.m.

A vehicle driven by Pablo Silva, 1307 Lindbergh, struck a parked vehicle belonging to Henry Honclova, O.K. Trailer Court, 2:05 a.m.

A parked vehicle belonging to Ronnie Love, 201-B 11th, was struck by a

A parked vehicle belonging to Ben Gonzales, Lamesa, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene in the parking lot of the K-Mart Store, 4:08 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Steven Sparkman, 2210 Nolan, and Elise Flores, 1404 Birdwell, collided at 2108 Nolan, 4:15 p.m.

A parked vehicle belonging to Jose Pineda, 3712 Hatch, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene at Fourth and Birdwell, 8:50 a.m.

Gay Greenfield wins barrel racing award

A silver and gold belt buckle, donated by the First National Bank, was awarded to Gay Greenfield last weekend for having the best average of scores in Howard County's First Annual Barrel Race.

The race, which was open to Howard County residents only, was held in conjunction with the Howard County Fair. Gay, 16-year-old daughter of Billy and Lillian Greenfield of Big Spring, came in first in the first and second go-rounds.

Money winners in the first go-round was Ann Clark, first; Terry Himes, second; and Patricia Wright, third. In the second go round, money winners were Wanda Driver, first; Leslie Guitler, second; and Valencia Kirby, third.

Best average in addition to Gay were Kristi Taylor, second; Melody Choate, third; and Shawn Moser, fourth.

The Barrel Race was held Saturday afternoon along with the Howard County Fair Horse Show. Winners of the weanling stallions competition were first, Two Rapid Jack, owned by Dr. Frank Graham of Clyde; and second, Gray Pies Magic, owned by Gaylon McGee of Lamesa.

In the 2-year-old stallions, Tiny Who, owned by C.H. Harrison of Big Spring, came in first.

In aged stallions, Baron Two Jack, owned by Bob Lowe of Clyde, came in first; and Mr. Jaybird, owned by Tena Henkel of Big Spring, came in second.

Baron Two Jack was named grand champion stallion and the reserve champ honors went to Two Rapid Jack.

In geldings, Little Songman, owned by Garland

Soviets call off tour by Moscow Orchestra

MOSCOW (AP) — A planned tour of the United States by the Moscow Symphony Orchestra "will not take place" as scheduled, Soviet official sources said today.

Soviet authorities had been reported earlier to be having second thoughts about the tour following the defection of five prominent Soviet artists in the past month. The tour was scheduled for Oct. 3 through Nov. 4.

The Soviet sources said there was some possibility that the tour would be rescheduled at a later date, but declined to be more specific. The U.S. Embassy in Moscow issued visas for the group on Tuesday.

The sources also refused to comment on the reason for the cancellation.

Diplomatic sources had expected that some Soviet cultural programs abroad would be reduced or delayed following the recent defections. But the Soviet Union, which is strongly committed to cultural exchange as a building-block of détente, is expected to continue its exchange program in some form.

The Moscow Symphony was scheduled to open in New York's Carnegie Hall next Wednesday and then travel to some two dozen cities along the East Coast and in the South, winding up the tour in early November. Thousands of tickets were sold in advance.

Columbia Artists Management, a New York-based booking agent, received a cable Tuesday saying the tour was off, company president Ronald Wilford told a reporter Wednesday.

But Wilford said a cable received Wednesday from Goskoncert, the Soviet agency which handles performing arts tours, "implied that their tour need not necessarily be cancelled."

"We don't want the tour to be cancelled, and we assume they don't want to either," he said at the time.

The Bolshoi Ballet is still scheduled to visit Japan next year, but two trips by Soviet cultural groups to Spain have been cancelled or postponed on short notice and without explanation since the beginning of this month.

Word of the cancellations surfaced following the defections of three Bolshoi Ballet dancers in the United States and of a husband-wife skating team in Switzerland last week.

Moscow observers say it is possible that the latest defections — although embarrassing — are still not enough to provoke the Kremlin into strong action. They note that there are probably fewer than 20 or 30 Soviet defections a year out of an annual total of about one million trips by Soviets to nonsocialist countries.

Missing plane located

Keller cowboy leads Albuquerque winners

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — The airplane which disappeared while carrying four professional cowboys to a rodeo May 22 has been found in Northern California, according to a sheriff's officer in that state. The wreckage was spotted by a hunter Saturday evening, and sheriff's deputies were inspecting the fuselage Monday. There were no survivors.

The cowboys — Brian Claypool, 25, Saskatoon, Sask.; Lee Coleman, 20, Pierceland, Sask.; Gary Logan, 21, Sundre, Alta.; and Calvin Bunney, 19, Duchesne, Alta. — were flying from a contest at Cloverdale, B.C., to another rodeo in Las Vegas, Nev. Claypool was piloting the single-engine plane, and failed to file a flight plan. In inclement weather, the craft crashed into the side of a 6,500-ft. mountain in the timber country 20 miles northwest of Yreka, Calif.

A two-month-long search followed, funded by donations from the cowboys' friends and fellow competitors on both sides of the border, and centered in an area around Medford, Ore. Ironically, the plane was downed less than 50 miles from the area which was searched so painstakingly.

On the brighter side, Art Ray of Keller, Tex., is one cowboy who has discovered a get-rich-quick scheme, and it may take him to his first National Finals Rodeo (NFR) in December. The Texan's bull riding talents have become a hot-bed of high scores and whopping paychecks recently, and his latest harvest was a $6,200 check at Albuquerque, N.M., this weekend.

Judge confirms plan for sale of Furr's

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A federal judge confirmed the sale Wednesday of financially troubled Furr's Inc. to a West German grocer, announced Patrick J. Murphy, president and chief executive officer of the Lubbock-based supermarket chain.

Murphy said proceedings in the bankruptcy court of Judge John Flowers confirmed the plan for arrangement as proposed by Furr's with its unsecured creditors.

Flowers determined that the required majority of creditors had voted for all elements of the plan and specifically found the plan to be feasible and in the best interest of Furr's creditors.

Murphy said final closing and the resulting transfer of ownership to a successful bidding group headed by Willie Leibbrand, a West German grocer, would begin Oct. 8.

Murphy also expressed his appreciation for support given to Furr's by its suppliers, employees and customers during the period after May 22 when the company filed for court protection.

He said the company has successfully reorganized and is no longer under supervision of the bankruptcy court. He said ample capital has been infused into the company by the West German group to enable Furr's to expand and improve facilities and services.

Weather Pleasant weather to continue this weekend

By The Associated Press

Clear skies and warm temperatures continued to dominate the Texas weather scene today.

Forecasts indicated that the warm, but pleasant weather was expected to continue into the weekend.

Forecasts called for mostly clear skies and warm temperatures.

WEATHER FORECAST

WEST TEXAS — Fair through Friday with warm afternoons. Highs near 90 north to middle 90s extreme south except middle 80s mountains. Lows middle 40s mountains to low 60s along the Rio Grande. Highs Friday upper 80s north to low 90s extreme south except middle 80s mountains.

EXTENDED FORECAST

WEST TEXAS — Mostly fair. Not quite as warm the first of the week. Highs mainly in the 80s except low and mid-90s lower elevations of the Big Bend. Lows 50s north to the low 60s south except mid-40s mountains.

WEATHER FORECAST — Clear, warm weather is expected in the forecast period, today until Friday morning, for most of the nation. Cooler weather is expected for the western Great Lakes. Small areas of showers are forecast in the Southwest, Southeast and upper Great Lakes.

Deadline nears for Miss Howard College Pageant

Friday will be the last day to register for the Miss Howard College Pageant, according to Terry Newman, Dean of Students at Howard College.

Applications for Miss HC may be picked up at the Dean of Students Office in the Administration Building, or at the Director of Student Activities-Student-Government Office in the Student Union Building of Howard College.

The pageant, which is sponsored by the Student Government Association, will be held at 7:30 p.m., Monday, October 29, in the Howard College Auditorium.

Those wishing to apply must be 18 years of age or older, must be a student enrolled at Howard College, and must be single.

Currently, 13 contestants are vying for the prestigious honor of becoming Miss Howard College.

Let's hear it for Maine fisherman

It may be true that all the world loves a lover. If so, we should all save a little feeling for Carlton Leighton — if not love, then respect.

Leighton is a Maine fisherman who gave up fish valued at $14,000 to save a whale. If you don't think people still care, read on.

Fishermen and divers struggled in chilly waters to free the 30-foot whale, which was trapped in Leighton's nets.

THE YOUNG whale was considerably weakened from its long struggle when the late confining webs were cut away, but it regained strength as it headed out to sea, leaving Leighton's nets behind.

"That goes along with fishing," Leighton said philosophically, "that stuff happens, and you can't control it."

The whale apparently got tangled in the herring seine at the entrance to Carrying Place Cove. The calf's plight was first noticed by Marshall Stone, who happens to be managing editor of the Bangor Daily News in Maine.

Stone said the whale, caught primarily by its tail, was able to surface frequently for air, but was unable to free itself.

RALLYING TO a call for help, fishermen hurried to the cove and pulled away as much of the netting as possible. Working 'eyeball to eyeball,' diver Hank Stence cut the netting from around the mammal's fins and mouth. Ultimately, he cut away enough so that the whale could swim clear.

The whale responded slowly, as if exhausted, when it finally realized it was free.

"He seemed to get some of his strength back, and started heading slowly toward deeper water, rolling over and over. He was disoriented at first, but seemed to get his bearings," recalled Stence.

The story may not do much to change the course of history but it does indicate that man still cares about the creatures that inhabit this space waystation with him. May it ever be thus.

Liberation?

Around the rim

Eileen McGuire

"If every woman who is tired of working could quit her job, and go home and do needlepoint, many would consider it a cause for rejoicing," Dr. Elizabeth Boyer of the Women's Equity Action League said at a 1970 Senate Subcommittee Hearing on the Equal Rights Amendment.

MS. BOYER'S CONCERN was the ERA, not federally funded day care centers. But her statements apply equally well to that cause.

A local women's group, the Eagle Forum, shared its food recipes as well as some food for thought in a Sept. 6 article in the Herald.

"Most of the group are working women by choice who want to preserve their right to choose," according to the article.

TO LIBERATE WOMEN? Not hardly, ladies. To qualify for a federally-funded day care center, you must be poor.

Women who "choose" to go to work normally have husbands supporting them and can well afford to spend a large amount of their take-home pay for day care centers. Women who have to go to work are often supporting a family on one income and those are the women that the federally funded day care centers serve.

The Eagle Forum wants to preserve its right to choose whether to work or stay home. Federally funded day care centers have nothing to do with them and will not effect their choices one way or the other. Wiping federal funded day care centers off the map will effect my lifestyle.

I don't know if I work out of choice because I am not in a position to choose. I do work out of choice in one aspect — I choose to support my family and keep my family together. Would the Eagle Forum deny me my choice to support my family? If so, what alternative do they offer me?

WHAT ARE THESE LADIES afraid of that they would take away this boon to single parents? If these ladies work out of choice, their children do not qualify for government funded day care and even if they did, they would not be forced into them. If the day comes that one of these ladies falls into my income bracket through divorce or unplanned-for widowhood, she may very well be thankful that government funded day care centers are here.

The Eagle Forum is for day care centers, but against federally funded day care centers. What is the difference? Parents who can afford day care place their children in the first; parents who can't, place their children on a waiting list for the second and if they are lucky, they will make it to the top of the list before they've filed bankruptcy, lost their jobs because they can't pay a baby-sitter and have to stay home with their children, or lost their children because they failed to stay home with them when they couldn't pay a baby-sitter.

THE WESTSIDE DAY CARE Center is 70 percent federally funded. Has the Eagle Forum talked to any of the mothers who are directly affected by federally funded day care centers? If they do, they will discover why federally funded day care centers are needed.

Most of the children who attend the Westside Day Care Center were conceived by couples who could afford them and their expenses. Unforeseen divorces, in many cases, left one parent with the responsibilities for the kids. The other parent "split," taking the family's main source of income with him. Those children out there are not products of uneducated poor people, though the remaining parent may now be poor trying to support the products of a middle class marriage.

YES, THE PARTNER PARENT is normally ordered to pay child support in a divorce hearing, but seeing the figure ordered in the divorce decree may be the closest that the remaining parent ever comes to collecting it.

There are laws and agencies set up to enforce child support payments, but go out to the Westside Day Care Center and ask those mothers why they never see a penny of it. You will hear that the problem is not a lack of law enforcement, but a difficulty in enforcing the law on a person who will use any angle to get out of paying the support.

For example, an employable person may find it more profitable to become unemployed — at least as far as any records show — than to accept regular employment and pay child support. As the old saying goes, you can't get water from a dry well. And there are not enough law enforcers to tail each child support evader to see how much he or she actually does make.

EVEN IF THE CHILD SUPPORT is paid, it may not even be enough to pay for the child's day care expenses, let alone food, shelter, clothing and other necessities. The average child support among my circle is $18 to $25 a week for one child because, you see, the departed parent must also support himself or herself and often a second family. The going rate at a day care center for one child is about $6 a day or $30 a week.

I have a college education and a good job. I also have three children to support on an income that might sustain myself and one child. By the time my children made it to the top of the Westside Day Care Center's waiting list, I was one month away from being forced to quit work because I could no longer afford to work. Literally half of my take home pay was being spent on day care centers and babysitters while I worked. It was not a matter of not wanting to pay for my children's day care; it was a matter of not being able to pay it.

day care center, I would not even be writing this rim. Despite my education, skills, a middle class background and a desire to be self-supporting, I would probably be collecting welfare.

Eventually, I will no longer need federally funded day care centers. The job experience that I am getting now will, I hope, put me into an income bracket that does allow me to support my family. If I had gone on welfare, I may have supported my kids with government assistance for all of their years at home instead of just a few.

If Eagle Forum has a better solution for the mothers of the children attending Westside Day Care Center and the mothers of children who are desperate to get into the day care center, I am eager to hear it.

Any reasonable method that allows me to keep my kids together while permitting me some dignity is certainly welcome.

Pilots smuggled explosives

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — Federal investigators have uncovered chilling evidence that Chile's state-owned airline, Lan-Chile, has been used to smuggle explosives to terrorists in the United States and elsewhere — apparently at the direction of the Chilean secret police.

The smuggling was done by Lan-Chile pilots, taking advantage of the informal exemption that airline pilots enjoy from strict customs searches. The explosives would be in small quantities in envelopes carried by the pilots, who were afraid to incur the wrath of the secret police by refusing. The explosives used in the bombing assassination of exile leader Orlando Letelier in Washington, D.C., three years ago were brought in by Lan-Chile pilots, confessed assassin Michael Vernon Townley told investigators. And Townley's getaway was arranged through the Chilean airline.

MUCH OF THE investigation was based on Townley's statements, though not everything he said was accepted as reliable. Townley told Assistant U.S. Attorney Eugene Proper the explosives he used in the remote-control bomb, which killed Letelier as he was driving to work past the Chilean Embassy, had been "placed in envelopes and sent as correspondence through friendly Lan-Chile pilots."

Townley told investigators that on the day of the assassination he "contacted a Lan-Chile pilot, who agreed to sign a voucher for a one-way ticket to Santiago" for Townley in a false name. The ticket was paid for by Lan-Chile's private account.

In his public testimony, Townley gave the impression that the smuggling operation was the result of "friendly contacts" he had cultivated with Lan-Chile personnel.

But government sources told our associate Dale Van Atta there was a lot more to it than that. They said the pilots were afraid to turn down requests by Townley and other secret police agents. The same fear of reprisal led Lan-Chile executives to cooperate in their government's secret campaign of terrorism abroad, the sources said.

FOR EXAMPLE, a New York official of the airline, Fernando Cruchaga, arranged car rental and credit for Townley in a false name. Meetings between Townley and Chilean secret police agents to plot the Letelier murder were held in Lan-Chile's executive lounge and office at Kennedy International Airport. And on at least three occasions, a Lan-Chile employee spied on meetings between Letelier and a United Nations official, Gabriel Valdes.

Townley also told federal investigators about the Chilean airline's involvement in terrorist missions in Paraguay, West Germany and Mexico.

Campaign strategy

Art Buchwald,

WASHINGTON — Many congressmen and senators who have to run for office next year are in serious trouble. Their constituents are unhappy and they feel that somehow Congress is to blame for a lot of their woes.

Therefore, we may see them campaigning on foreign issues rather than domestic ones. This could be a dangerous time for Americans and the world. In order to win an election many sane legislators are willing to get the voters riled up about different parts of the world which only seem to be a threat to our national security during an election year.

I ATTENDED THE STRATEGY meeting of Congressman Larry Bilge and his campaign staff the other day and it was enlightening.

"Larry," his manager said, "the poll results just came in and the people in your district are sore as hell about energy, inflation, and unemployment, not to mention the price of coffee. We got problems."

"Don't tell me," Bilge said. "I was home last weekend and my own mother told me she doesn't think I should have a raise. And I support her."

THE MANAGER SAID, "The thing we have to do is avoid the issues that are bugging the voters and bring up new ones that they haven't thought of."

"Give me the scenario," Bilge said. "Okay, you're going to a town meeting in Daisy County next week. The first thing they're going to ask you is why they have to pay 90 cents a gallon for heating oil."

"What's my answer?" "You can't do anything about heating oil until the United States gets the Soviet troops out of Cuba."

"Do I want to go to war with Cuba?" Bilge asked.

HIS PRESS SECRETARY replied, "That decision is up to the President, but the time has come to stand up to the Soviets and say, 'No withdrawal — no SALT.'"

"I got it. Now what happens when they ask me what Congress intends to do about inflation?"

"Tell them," his speechwriter said, "that the real danger to this country is not inflation but the Panama Canal Treaty, which you voted against. Say that you are not going to allow a two-bit dictator in a banana republic to push this country around. The time has come to fish or cut bait."

"I like that phrase," Bilge said. "Let me write it down."

THE CAMPAIGN MANAGER referred to his yellow pad. "Okay, now we have a large unemployment problem in the district ever since the Cannibal Radio Co. pulled out and moved to the Sun Belt. Some wise guy is probably going to ask you what you intend to do about jobs."

"There's one in every crowd," Bilge said.

"You tell him the reason they don't have jobs is because we have a missile gap with the Soviet Union, and by 1985 we will be a second-class power. Unless the United States wakes up to the military threat from Moscow the unemployment rate will soar in this country and the economy of the Free World will collapse without the communists firing one shot."

"So much for the unemployment problem. What do I do when they ask me about the high cost of medical care?"

"YOU BRING UP the Cuban troops in Angola. There are now 50,000 Cuban troops in Angola pointing a dagger at the entire African continent, and if Castro doesn't pull them out soon you intend to see that Congress does."

"I know they're going to complain about food prices."

Athlete concerned about ankle weights

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 16 and play high school basketball. I acquired a pair of ankle weights as a present. I plan to use them when I practice basketball before the season begins — four to six hours a day. Will these hurt more than they help me? Will they throw off my shot when I take them off after training? Will they cause any physical problem? — M.P.

The ankle weights are used to increase leg muscle strength, which, as you know, is so important for a basketball player. The weights should not harm you. The effect is the same as when a baseball player uses a weighted bat during practice swings in the batter's circle.

The program should help you. In any athletics the goal of conditioning is to strengthen the specific muscles used in the specific sport. Using ankle weights is an example of "resistance" training, which is very popular among coaches. Combined with the "specific muscle" idea it is quite effective. A handy way for an athlete to determine just which "specific" muscles need to be strengthened is to learn which ones get the most strain while actually playing his or her sport. And, in fact, the best exercise for any sport is actually taking part in that sport.

The ankle weights should not affect the timing of your shots, unless, of course, you were to use them while playing, something officials would not allow anyway.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am on a diabetic diet, but cannot find out how many carbohydrates I should consume each day, also proteins. Can you help me? — E.M.H.

The proportion of carbohydrates (sugars), fats, and protein is based on the total number of calories in your diet. The calorie total varies with your weight. Approximately 10-15 calories per pound of body weight is advised. If you weighed 130 pounds, for example, that would mean about 2,000 calories a day. The specific calorie total also varies with age and activity, the more activity the more calories needed.

Once you figure out the number of calories you need, you can then begin arranging your diet. About 45 percent of the calories should be supplied by carbohydrates, about 20 percent by protein and about 35 percent by fats.

This doesn't help you much, I realize, because diets must be "translated" into what foods can be taken. A dietitian can help you, or you might contact a local branch of the American Diabetes Association. Some large hospitals conduct regular diabetes training classes. You may find help in the booklet, "Diabetes, The Sneaky Disease." For a copy, send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a teenager with extremely dry skin and also quite a bad acne. Could you suggest something that could fight my acne and yet not dry out my skin? The brands I have gotten at the drugstore really dry the skin bad. Any suggestions would be appreciated. — Anon.

Most teenagers with acne have too greasy skin. In fact, drying agents are almost a routine part of acne care, and most over-the-counter preparations are made for that kind of skin.

Since you will not have any luck with such preparations, you should see a dermatologist. He can tailor a program for your dual problem — acne and naturally dry skin. He will undoubtedly use prescription medicines, the kind you cannot get over the counter.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Will you please tell me the difference between trigeminal neuralgia and tic douloureux. — Mrs. M.D.

Both are the same thing, facial pain due to disturbance of the trigeminal

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know you have said that our good works can never get us into heaven, and our only hope is trusting Christ. But if we trust Christ, why should we bother to be good if our goodness doesn't get us into heaven? — Mrs. H.K.

DEAR MRS. H.K.: This is a very serious question. The Bible warns us that unless there is some change in our lives after we have come to Christ, we may actually not be born again and may not go to heaven. James says, "Faith by itself, if it is not accompanied by action, is dead... As the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without deeds is dead" (James 2:17, 26).

The key to understanding this is: when you come to Christ, you not only are accepting some truths about Christ, you are committing your life to Him. You are trusting Him for your salvation and are therefore renouncing your own good works as a way of salvation. But what does God want to do in your life? God did not send His Son into the world just so that you and I would go to heaven some day — although that is certainly a wonderful part of it. Jesus Christ came so that you and I would be His disciples — His followers. Jesus put it simply: "If you love me, you will obey what I command" (John 14:15).

No, we will never be perfect in this life. It is always by God's grace that we are saved. Never forget that. But as you grow in your love and gratitude to God for all He has done for you, you will want to show your love by living for Him.

No safety violations found at TESCO plant

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission, in its latest inspection report, found no items of non-compliance with its requirements in seven safety-related piping systems at the Comanche Peak nuclear plant and one item of non-compliance involving the color-coding of electrical cable, Texas Electric announced Thursday.

The report covers inspection of welding and Question of tapes to be reviewed

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — A state district judge has reviewed taped conversations in which Hidalgo County District Attorney Oscar McInnis allegedly plotted to have another man killed and will be asked today to admit the recordings into evidence.

Lawyers for the State Bar of Texas, seeking to revoke McInnis' law license, said they would ask Judge Joe B. Evins to rule today that jurors could listen to some of the tapes.

Evins told jurors in the disbarment to stay home Wednesday while he reviewed eight hours of recorded conversations between McInnis and jail inmate Daniel Rodriguez.

Texas rangers Joaquin Jackson and Bruce Castel checked the Hidalgo County grand jury room Wednesday for listening devices before Evins and lawyers in the case began the long listening session.

Lawyers remained closeted with the judge until Wednesday at 4 p.m. when Sheriff Brig Marmolejo, his attorney Jon Wood and Rodriguez joined the judge in the room.

The State Bar wants to use the tapes as evidence to support its allegation that McInnis engaged in unprofessional conduct by asking Rodriguez to arrange another man's death.

The man was never killed. McInnis contends his troubles stem from a conspiracy led by Marmolejo set him up in an attempt to force him from office and replace him with Wood.

The conversations took place in April and May 1978 at the Hidalgo County jail where McInnis visited Rodriguez. Three telephone conversations between the men also were recorded by FBI agent Richard Graham.

Criminal murder-conspiracy charges against McInnis were dropped after state and federal judges ruled the tapes inadmissible in court.

However, those rulings do not apply to the disbarment trial, which is a civil proceeding and governed by different rules of evidence.

Rodriguez has testified he suggested the only way McInnis would be rid of the intended victim, Noe Villanueva, would be to "blow his brains out."

McInnis had represented Villanueva's ex-wife in a bitter child custody fight.

Rodriguez, who was serving time on a state murder conviction and federal drug charge, said the district attorney took his remark seriously and asked if he could arrange it.

After the initial discussion of killing Villanueva, Rodriguez told Marmolejo about it and the sheriff gave him a recorder to hide in his boot.

Three conversations between Rodriguez and McInnis were taped in that manner.

The sheriff went to federal prosecutors, who sent Graham to fit Rodriguez with a recorder attached to his back and operated with a switch mounted on his belt.

Graham also taped three telephone conversations between McInnis and Rodriguez. The FBI has identified voices on the tapes and said one conversation on May 24, 1978, dealt with Rodriguez's "lawyer" winning his "case in court."

The bar will try to prove those words were code for the message that a Mexican hit man had killed Villanueva in Reynosa, Mexico, and hidden the body. Rodriguez said FBI agents gave him Villanueva's drivers' license and other personal items to hand McInnis as proof of the "slaying."

piping activities in a total of seven piping systems, including the reactor coolant system.

The three-man inspection team found no items of non-compliance with NRC requirements in those areas.

The team identified one item of non-compliance in connection with the color-coding of electrical cable and issued a notice of violation.

The quality assurance organization of the plant's general contractor, Brown & Root, had determined that a quantity of electrical cable, some installed and some still in storage, had been color-coded improperly.

Specifications called for the cable to have solid-colored jackets. Brown & Root found that in addition to the solid color, the jackets also had a white stripe. According to standard procedure, the improperly color-coded cable was to have been labeled and separated from the rest of the cable until the situation was resolved. When the NRC inspectors determined that this procedure had not been followed for all the cable involved, the notice of violation was issued.

The NRC report also resolves a previous inspection finding involving a failure to follow proper inspection procedures for a number of cable tray supports. The inspector reported that the hangers in question had been re-inspected according to requirements.

Davis' ex-wife testifies in stormy session

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes called the ex-wife of millionaire defendant Cullen Davis to testify in a stormy session that prompted a string of prosecution objections and a warning from the judge.

"I don't see what Mrs. Davis demonstrated," said prosecutor Jack Strickland, who objected 34 times in 37 minutes Wednesday.

Judge Gordon Gray sustained 32 of those objections and at one point threatened to hold Haynes in contempt.

"If you ask that question again you're going to be held in contempt," said Gray when Haynes asked Priscilla Davis about the defendant's $1.2 million dollar counter offer to her proposed $20 million divorce settlement.

With the jury out, Haynes persuaded the judge to allow the question.

Davis is accused of ordering his former pool-shooting crony, David McCrory, to arrange the contract murder of his divorce judge. His first trial on the charges ended in a mistrial in Houston with the jury deadlocked 8-4 in favor of conviction.

The dark-haired defendant maintains he was framed by Priscilla, McCrory and Pat Burleson and that his vast family fortune was the impetus for the alleged scheme.

The scheme was the "$20 million gamble," contended Haynes. He would not comment on why Priscilla was called to the stand Wednesday, but earlier defense attorneys said they felt "obligated" to show jurors the "co-conspirators."

PARKING LOT IS NOW OPEN AT COLLEGE PARK SAFEWAY
SORRY FOR THE INCONVENIENCE.

The blonde witness survived a chest wound and testified in 1977 that Davis was the man in black who gunned down four persons at his $6 million mansion.

That jury acquitted the 46-year-old industrialist of killing Andrea Wilbourn, 12, Priscilla's daughter by a previous marriage.

Mrs. Davis took the stand Wednesday after a 5-day break in testimony caused in part by a juror's broken leg.

Gray dismissed the hospitalized juror from the panel Wednesday and advised the remaining members that "we'll proceed through the trial with 11 jurors."

Mrs. Davis, obviously a hostile witness, told Haynes she met with Burleson, a karate instructor, three times just before Davis' Aug. 20, 1978, arrest, but said the meetings were to discuss "security."

She said her divorce trial was pending at the time and that she wanted Burleson to find her an inexpensive escort to and from the proceedings.

During the summer of 1978, she said, she was paying off-duty policemen to guard her home and could not afford an additional security officer.

Mrs. Davis several times has mentioned her hospitalization and the date of Aug. 2, 1976 — the night of the mansion shootings — but the significance has never been explained to the jury.

Mrs. Davis, 38, was dismissed Wednesday afternoon after two days of defense questioning. Prosecutors had no questions for the leadoff defense witness.

All talk, no action, says Gov. Clements

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says the state attorney general should stop talking and start acting if he thinks he prove liability and recover damages for runaway Mexican oil that has stained the glistening white beaches of South Texas.

"I am not protecting anybody," Clements said on a television panel program carried by a number of the state's public broadcasting stations Wednesday night.

The governor was referring to statements by Attorney General Mark White that he intended to file suit against Pemex, the Mexican state-controlled oil monopoly, and SEDCO, the Dallas-based company that provided the drilling platform for the runaway well in the Bay of Campeche.

"If our attorney general thinks he has a suit against SEDCO then let him sue. Let him go ahead and sue and stop talking about it and get it out of the political arena," said Clements.

The governor is a founder of SEDCO, but his interests in the company have been placed in a blind trust while he is in office. The company now is directed by his son, Gil Clements.

Both Clements and SEDCO officials have denied the company had anything to do with the drilling operation on the Mexican offshore rig.

Clements told the panel that he had consistently said, "If we keep our voices down, remain calm and see how things turn out, I have every confidence the Mexican government would do what they should do as a good neighbor and help us pay for it."

On other subjects Clements said there definitely would be a special legislative session in 1980 although he has not decided on a date.

"We are talking about January or March or maybe September. I have said before that we will include initiative and referendum, wiretapping and looking for drugs and tax reduction for the session," said Clements. He added he had received a total of more than 70 requests of other subjects to be included in the session.

She Won't Stand For Seat-Savers

DEAR ABBY: The practice of "saving seats" needs some guidelines much like the guidelines for tipping. I recently attended a graduation exercise where two people arrived early and "saved" 20 seats in the front row for the rest of the family who arrived one minute before the activities started! At least 500 people walked down to the front row during that time, thinking those seats were available. Because no guidelines exist with regard to this practice, all persons honored the "Sorry, these seats are taken," explanation. May I suggest a rule? One person may save ONE SEAT ONLY in public places. Because this situation occurs frequently, your comments would be greatly appreciated.

NO SEATS IN LINCOLN, NEB.

DEAR SEATS: Your suggestion makes a lot of sense. But a trend has to start somewhere; I'm willing. How about you? Readers!

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a very affectionate man. Don't get me wrong. I'm not complaining; I'm lucky, but I think there's a time and place for everything. My problem is that Henry will pinch me on the behind, or make a grab for me in front of the kids, and it makes me very uncomfortable. I don't mind being patted and pawed when Henry and I are alone, but I get embarrassed when he does it in front of the kids. When I tell him how I feel about this, he says it's good for the kids to see this kind of thing at home, and it's nothing to be ashamed of. I agree, kids should witness love and affection between parents, but isn't there a limit? And if so, where is it?

THE OBJECT OF HIS AFFECTIONS

DEAR OBJECT: Love and affection are indeed beautiful. And children who witness it at home are blessed. But the limit is reached when you begin to feel uncomfortable.

DEAR ABBY: You told AMERICA FIRST, who objected to our taking in the boat people: "Unless you are a direct descendant of the American Indian, you wouldn't be here if your forebears hadn't sought refuge from another country."

Am I to assume that you do not recognize over 20 million blacks in this country who are NOT descendants of American Indians?

OFFENDED IN VALLEJO

DEAR OFFENDED: You are right. I apologize for having overlooked the fact that YOUR ancestors were brought here in chains—to the everlasting shame of those who were guilty of such outrageously inhumane conduct.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine who lives in Hollywood says there is a cologne called "Entice" that is going over big out there, and—are you ready for this—it smells like "sweaty ballplayers!"

Will you please check it out for me? CAN'T BELIEVE IT IN OHIO

DEAR CANT: I did, and there it is! DEAR ABBY: This is for the 34-year-old married woman who quit college after her freshman year, regretted dropping out, but thought she was too old to go back to earn a degree:

You're never too old! I started college at 37 and graduated the same year my oldest daughter graduated from high school. Three years later I took up skiing. Two years after that I started taking piano lessons.

I've been teaching physical education in high school for the last six years and love it!

There are still many other things I would like to do before I settle down in a rocking chair with a pair of knitting needles.

J. IN GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

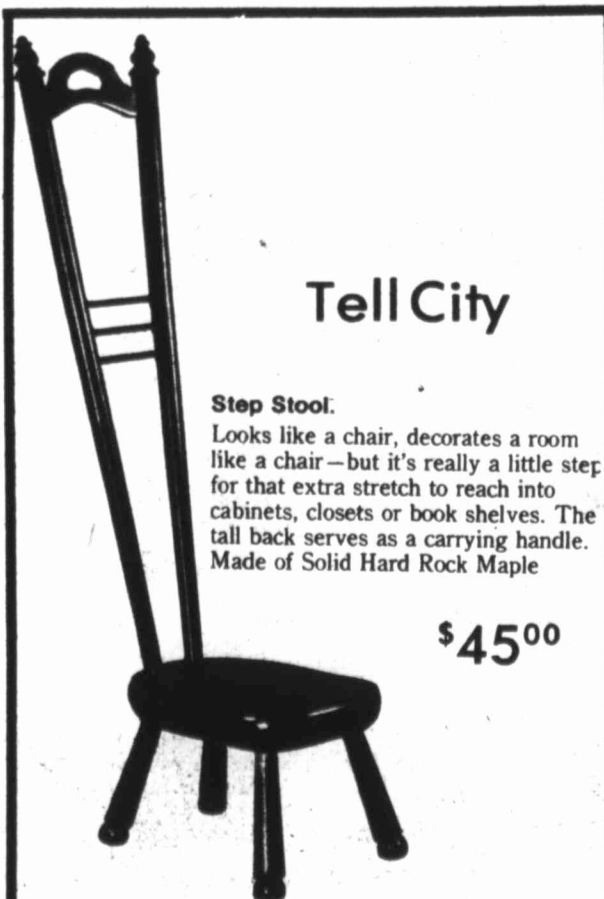

DEAR J.: Congratulations. In no way do I mean to minimize your accomplishments, but I'll wager there are many readers out there who have returned to college, taken up a sport and begun music lessons much later than you. Readers?

DEAR ABBY: Can a person ever REALLY forgive and forget?

LEE

DEAR LEE: Not as long as that person keeps asking himself that question.

Rosebud Garden Club opens new year

The Rosebud Garden Club opened the new club year with a luncheon Tuesday at the Big Spring Country Club with Mrs. Red Womack as hostess. Ten members attended and one guest, Mrs. John Balch.

Mrs. Alpha Morrison and Mrs. Mildred Beckcom received the thanks of Mrs. Tommy Hubbard, president, for helping enter the horticulture specimens for the show which the Garden Club Council sponsored at the Howard County Fair. Many Rosebud Club members won blue ribbons in the horticulture show.

Mrs. Floyd Mays, honorary member of the club, secured landscaping plants and people to help plant them on the new grounds of the Canterbury Retirement Home. Mrs. Womack and Mrs. Hubbard helped with this planting. Nine Arizona golden ash trees were donated in honor of the Garden Clubs of Texas.

Mrs. Clyde Angel will review a book at the Dora Roberts Community Center at a noon luncheon Saturday. Tickets are $3 and the proceeds will go to the Big Spring Garden Council.

The club will have booth at the Arts and Crafts Fair Oct. 20-21 where they will sell horticulture specimens.

The Southern Zone Meeting District No. 1 of the Texas Garden Clubs will be held Nov. 14 at the Big Spring Country Club. Mrs. Odell Womack is the chairman. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. and the sessions at 10. All garden club members are urged to attend. Mrs. C.L. Sparkman, Odessa, will bring the program entitled "Creativity Plus," on flower arrangements with proper backgrounds.

Plans for a spring flower show in the home of Johnnie Lou Avery were finalized and a chairman for the event appointed.

The Rosebud Club and Mrs. Avery will sponsor a student from high school in a speech contest and a poster contest in the elementary schools on litter.

The program presented garden tips for the fall and early spring planting.

Mrs. Womack announced that anyone wishing to could have a memorial tree planted in Comanche Trail Park by contacting any of the garden club members.

elected an honorary member of the club.

On high school smoking areas

By Robert Wallace, Jr., Ed. D.

The Elbow P.T.A. meeting was called to order Monday, by Mrs. Marvin Kendrick, president. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Bill Cregar. Invocation was given by J.F. Poyner, school superintendent.

Cregar gave the Beautification Committee report. All the trees and plants have been planted. The School Board hired Ernest Box to care for this project. Mrs. Doris Vieregge, D&M Landscaping, will landscape around the front of the new offices.

Mrs. Jim Nelson will be hospitality chairman, with Mrs. Doug Parker as membership chairman for the Forsan area and Mrs. Jackie Howard membership chairman for the Big Spring-Elbow area.

Mrs. Garner Thixton, carnival chairman, presented ideas for the upcoming Halloween Carnival, to be held Oct. 27 in the school gym.

Mrs. Kenneth Williams, vice-president, introduced Mrs. Janet Rogers, county extension agent, who introduced Mrs. Irena Griffith, narrator of the Centerpoint Home Extension Club as they presented their Comical Style Show. Models included: Mrs. Jen Davidson, Mrs. Frankie Walker, Mrs. Fannie Kent, Mrs. Inez Petty and Joy, Mrs. Mattie Wren, Mrs. Lucille Petty, Mrs. Maudie Jones and Mrs. Zan Ryan. Another visitor, Mrs. Thrasher from Louisiana, attended along with the group.

Announcement was made of the Big Spring P.T.A. Association Workshop, Tuesday, at 8:30 a.m. at First Methodist Church.

Should high schools have designated smoking areas for teens who smoke? This question brought 2,810 interesting responses from teens in Canada and throughout the United States, and one response (not included in survey) from a high school principal from Morgantown, W. Va.

Being a former high school administrator, I was very interested in the results and surprised that only 48 percent (1,340 teens) were in favor of such an area.

The girls (1,712 responded) answered with only 39 percent in favor of the smoking area. The boys (1,098 answered the question) had a significantly higher percentage — 681 (62 percent) teen boys liked the idea of a school smoking area.

The comments were varied so let's hear what the teens had to say.

From Robert Beachy, 14, Goshen, Ind.: Many teens aren't allowed to smoke at home, so why should they be able to at school? Workshops to help smokers stop would be more like it.

From Sharyn Smith, 16, Astoria, Ore.: My high school had a smoking area but many kids skipped class to join the "group" and smoke.

From Liz Williams, 17, Marysville, Calif.: Many kids in high school are 18. Since 18 is the age to buy cigarettes, then they should be able to smoke them — anywhere.

From Karen Davy, 15, Zanesville, Ohio: Yes! Because otherwise the smokers use the restroom to smoke and they only ruin it for us non-smokers.

Cherlyn Yancey feted at shower

A bridal shower in honor of Cherlyn (Sissy) Yancey, bride-elect of Wayman Wells, was held at the home of Mrs. Omer Decker, 1315 Mesquite Tuesday evening.

The honoree was presented a silk corsage of blue roses, anemones and baby's breath. The bride-elect's mother, Mrs. D.E. Yancey, and the prospective bridegroom's mother were presented silk corsages of blue anemones and baby's breath by the hostesses.

The hostesses in addition to Mrs. Decker were Mrs. Dan Newsom, Mrs. John Hughes, Mrs. H.D. Brown, Mrs. W.R. Pope, Mrs. LeRoy Findley, Mrs. David McNary and Mrs. R.B. Covington Sr.

The hostess gift was a mixer.

The table was covered with a beige lace over a linen cloth centered with a blue flower arrangement, beige and blue being the bride's chosen colors.

The couple plan an Oct. 27 ceremony at Airport Baptist Church with Rev. David McNary officiating.

Supreme Assembly attended in Denver

The Social Order of the Beauceant met in regular stated meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Hall. Mrs. R.L. Lee presided at the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. Steve Baker, president.

Tentative plans were made for dinners to be held in November.

Mrs. Albert Davis and Mrs. Lee Porter are attending the Supreme Assembly of the Social Order of the Beauceant in Denver, Colo. which ends Sept. 29, as representatives of Big Spring Assembly No. 211. Mrs. Dick Mitchell is also attending this meeting as a member.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by Mrs. A.A. McKinney, Mrs. Allen Hull, and Mrs. Alfred to Tidwell to members and Sir Knights.

The next meeting of the Assembly will be Oct. 8 at the Masonic Hall.

Art association plans annual all-day meeting

Members of the Big Spring Art Association held their quarterly dinner meeting at the Kentwood Center, Sept. 17. Becky Smiley, president welcomed as guests Becky Gray and Verma Decker, and announced the following new members: James Martin, Ray Tatum, Delphia Gordon, Coy McCann and Betty Jo Pitts. She also announced that Maurine Mendenhall, Barbara Rogers and Jeri Daniels had renewed their memberships. The Big Country Art Association will have its annual all-day meeting at Abilene Christian University Saturday. John Crump, Anson, will preside and Tad Rose, outstanding young artist of Abilene, will give a demonstration. Big Country art show will be judged by Mary Lou Hodnett, art professor in Arlington, and paintings will be selected for the yearly circuit. Roberta Ross is area chairman and those interested in attending may contact her at 263-4936.

The Alvin Pitman Seminar in San Angelo is announced for Oct. 5-6.

Hostesses for the covered dish dinner were Roberta Ross and Alice Ann Webb.

Little college may have last laugh

Yes, there is a Slippery Rock

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa. (AP) — The little college in this little town, the one everybody mentions with a wink and a smile, will have the last laugh this weekend.

America is about to discover a truth patiently explained on T-shirts sold at the campus bookstore:

"Yes there is a Slippery Rock."

Not that it has been a secret. Fan clubs across the land gather in taverns every fall to wave pennants and sash allegiance to the Slippery Rock football team. Go, Rockets!

"Still," said Zane Gray, the bookstore proprietor, who has an inkling about rib-nudging names, "you would be surprised how many people believe Slippery Rock is really just a put on."

Well, hang on for a bulletin:

Next Saturday the dauntless Rockets will meet a rival Pennsylvania team, the Shippensburg Red Raiders, on neutral turf.

They will play upon the holy gridiron of the University of Michigan stadium, which seats 100,000 worshipers, and the thinking of the 5,700 students on this smug campus is that little of Slippery Rock just might fill that Big League joint.

As a gesture to the college whose cute scores it traditionally announces in the course of its own heroic Saturday struggles, the University of Michigan offered the use of its stadium. Noblesse oblige.

Now it is Slippery Rock's turn to wink.

Anything with Slippery Rock printed on it is a hot item.

Last year, the bookstore sold $250,000 worth of souvenirs to fans in every state, and abroad. To meet the ever-growing demand,

SELLING "THE ROCK" — Zane Gray and Chris DeGruttola pose with some of the Slippery Rock State College tee-shirts, hats, and bibs that are appearing on well-dressed fans around the country. Gray is the director of the college bookstore and Miss DeGruttola is a sophomore at the Western Pennsylvania college.

Zane Gray this year put out a mail-order catalog.

Or you can buy your Slippery Rock cap at Scholz's Beer Garten in Austin, Texas, or at Caccipaglia's bar in Pacifica, Calif., or at Custard's Last Stand in Sylvania, Ohio.

"Everybody, ahem, wants a piece of the Rock," Zane Gray said.

"It was amazing to me when I came here three years ago and looked at the books."

T-shirts, jackets, souvenirs made up 18 percent of the bookstore sales, about five times the average — Notre Dame might be an exception — and before I didn't even know where the place was."

Amazing, yes, and perhaps that is why. Nobody knows where the place is, or even that it is.

But everybody, come fall, aches for a glimmer of sanity, of perspective, of understatement, of relief from the football madness and shouting that hammers the national consciousness. Somehow Slippery Rock State College, out in the hills of western Pennsylvania, has become America's adorable antidote.

Yes there is a Slippery Rock.

Portillo will address U.N. assembly today

NEW YORK (AP) — Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo was to receive the key to the city today, perhaps significant of larger U.S. efforts to improve energy relations with its southern neighbor, and then address the U.N. General Assembly.

Lopez Portillo began his trip Wednesday with a stop in Tampico, on Mexico's Gulf Coast, to speak to state government officials and workers for Pemex, Mexico's national oil monopoly.

On Friday and Saturday he is to meet in Washington with President Carter. And on Monday, the Mexican president goes to Panama to serve as keynote speaker at ceremonies marking the transfer of U.S. ownership of the canal to Panama.

Lopez Portillo is expected to put forward his long-term pricing policy for Mexican oil to keep it from being used as a political weapon. One of the key elements of Portillo's global theory is that all nations keep oil out of the political arena.

The Portillo-Carter talks are expected to occur in a more relaxed light than the two leaders' previous meeting in February when Lopez Portillo lectured Carter that the United States needed a new attitude toward its southern neighbor.

'Irish Cabaret' one of four offerings tentatively booked

Big Spring Community Concerts have something for everyone, and it's all good.

Downtown Lions got this word Wednesday from Mrs. Jean Kuykendall, plus a preview on four of the tentatively-booked season's offerings. Mrs. Kuykendall pointed out that selections are made on the basis of a mix for good entertainment and quality musical value.

Two of the programs have around 30 in their troupes. One is the outstanding Dublin music and dance group known as Jury's "Irish Cabaret." The other is the California Boys Choir, rated as one of the top such musical groups in the country, and in the words of Mrs. Kuykendall — "superb."

A change of pace will be Max Morath, who is regarded as a peerless ragtime pianist, with an exceptional and varied repertoire. Something different in exotic sound will be the Laureate Ensemble comprised of three woodwind virtuosos, a horn and pianist.

"In a large city you would pay almost as much for the Irish Cabaret as our season membership ($12 adult single)," she said. "But that's not all of the bargain. We have reciprocal privileges with the Midland Concert Association, and its series includes the Big Band Festival, a Philippine Dance Festival, Stephanie Chase, famous violinist, Whitmore and Lowe, pianist, and the Texas Opera Theatre presenting "The Barber of Seville" in English.

"We need your money," said Mrs. Kuykendall, for the budget is an ambitious one, "but equally as important we need your attendance and participation."

Renewals are being sought this week, and the new members effort comes next week. Offices will be in the Settles lobby.

Another musical treat was in store for the club when Sam Allen, Lubbock, sang, accompanied by Susan Joslin. Dub Martin mop-and-broom chairman, reported that the club will profit around $450 for its humanitarian activities. Carl Smoot was introduced as a new member.

San Antonio the likely place

Mariachis gather for a first

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — San Antonio is an American center for conventions and mariachi music. So it was only a matter of time before somebody held a mariachi convention here.

More than 300 mariachis from Mexico, Texas, California, New Mexico, Arizona — and, strangely enough, Rhode Island — have gathered at the 1st International Mariachi Conference to exchange their ideas, methods and interpretations of the lively Mexican folk music.

The conference, said coordinator Belle San Miguel, reflects the growing popularity of the distinctive music most Americans usually hear for the first time in a Mexican restaurant while on vacation or a convention in the southwestern United States.

Mrs. San Miguel said there are more than 400 mariachi musicians and at least 33 organized professional mariachi groups in San Antonio, where it is still common for a young Don Juan to hire a mariachi band for a midnight serenade outside his girlfriend's window.

Enraged fathers, she added, also are still known to douse the band with a bucket of water if they don't approve of the suitor or the midnight noise. "One band member told me he would never do those jobs again because his instrument got wet," she said.

Several San Antonio high schools sponsor mariachi bands. The strolling trumpet-and-string bands—in elegant black costumes complete with huge white sombreros — are a staple in the numerous restaurants frequented by tourists and natives alike. There are few San Antonio social events without mariachi bands.

Large groups of mariachis regularly take part in masses at Roman Catholic churches — where mariachi music grew up and remained until it became a secular hit in the 1940s.

Mrs. San Miguel said there are hundreds of other mariachi groups in the southwestern states, especially California. The music is understandably popular in Mexico and South America, but there's also an all-girl mariachi band in Japan of all places.

The wailing string ballads and blaring, staccato trumpet polkas are believed to have originated in the state of Jalisco, Mexico, in the mid-1800s, said Mrs. San Miguel.

The generally accepted story of the origin of the word "mariachi" is that it comes from the French word for wedding, "mariage." Maxmilian, who ruled Mexico from 1864 until 1867, enjoyed the folk orchestras and requested that they play in the homes of the French Court on special occasions such as weddings. The Mexicans reputedly began calling the musicians "mariachis."

The music has never been written down or published, so there are numerous interpretations of the songs, she said. The convention is aimed at bringing together the various groups and giving them a chance to compare interpretations or techniques of playing the unique mariachi instruments.

"There's no correct technique, perhaps because it has never been put down as music before," she said. "Everyone has a different interpretation. It will be like that until we have organized mariachi music."

Mrs. San Miguel, who teaches a mariachi class at San Antonio College and whose four children are mariachi musicians, said a mariachi group should include six to 12 musicians. That can vary, she added.

In addition to trumpets, the band should include guitars, violins, a guitarron, which is a large bass guitar with four or five gut strings, and a vihuela, a small guitar with eight strings.

Among the delegates will be mariachi musicians as young as seven and educators planning to include mariachi music in their ethnic musicology programs.

Brown University Professor James Kitting, a former mariachi musician in California, is the Rhode Island representative. He plans to include the Mexican folk music in Brown's music curriculum, said Mrs. San Miguel.

But the highlight of the whole event is the appearance of the historic Mariachi Vargas de Tecalitlan, considered the most popular mariachi group ever.

If you've never heard of them, Mrs. San Miguel had a simple description: "They are the Beatles of mariachi music."

Inflation, recession

Foundation neglected

WASHINGTON, D.C. — To paraphrase an old story, there was once a man who built a mighty house; a beautiful house complete with scores of rooms, enough, in fact, for every man, woman and child in the village.

And the people were in awe of the gift and they rushed to move into their new homes, as their old ones were in sad repair and they could not afford to rebuild.

But, while that towering house was a masterpiece of gingerbread from the doorstep to the highest turret, the builder had put all of his money into the beautiful shell of the house and had neglected to construct a foundation.

The house and all of the people came tumbling down.

That may be a rather simplistic way of describing the construction of some of our nation's economic and tax policies in recent years, but the description fits. While the Federal Government has concentrated on fancy gingerbread, very pleasing to the general populace, it has neglected the underlying foundation.

We are now facing an economic slowdown, along with rampant inflation and declining productivity. During past periods of recession, the Congress has built a gingerbread house in an attempt to solve the problems by settling on programs aimed at stimulating the economy through increased Federal spending.

Congressman

Charles W. Stenholm

Congressional Comment

But rather than solving the problem, these measures have fueled inflation because more consumer dollars are being chased by fewer goods. Pumping up the demand for goods only gives short-term relief to a sagging economy and does nothing to correct the structural inefficiencies in the marketplace — the foundation — that are responsible for stagnating growth.

It is time for the rebuilding of the foundation of our economic strategy. The emphasis should now be placed on the supply side of the economy. Policies which expand our capacity to produce goods and services more efficiently are the most effective in dealing with our current economic problems.

You fight inflation and recession by producing more goods, cheaper, not by lengthening costly unemployment and welfare rolls.

In order to promote productivity, changes must be made in our tax laws. I have co-sponsored the Capital Cost Recovery Act, designed to encourage real economic growth by stimulating investment in more efficient plant and equipment. This legislation would scrap existing depreciation schedules for fixed assets and substitute in its place a simplified system of rapid depreciation. The proposal would allow a 10 year writeoff for buildings, a five year writeoff for equipment and a three year writeoff for limited investment in cars and light trucks. This is no "quick-fix," gingerbread solution, but a long-term attempt to make the United States more competitive in world markets.

Among major industrialized nations, the United States is 18th in both economic and productivity growth over the past 10-year period.

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals facing big backlog

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals is backed up 18 to 19 months on cases that require oral arguments or special study, the presiding appellate judge said Wednesday.

Judge John F. Onion Jr. of Austin told the Judicial Settlement Conference here the court has disposed of 2,087 cases in 1979, but is facing a backlog of 2,500 cases.

Onion said the backlog has increased significantly in the last 10 years.

"In 1966, 735 new appeals were originated," he said. "And this moved to 2,458 in 1976, 3,267 in 1977 and 3,104 last year."

Onion said the caseload could be eased with the passage of a constitutional amendment which would allow the courts of civil appeals to take criminal appeals.

But that proposal has disadvantages, Onion noted. He said some of the civil appellate courts are in smaller cities, and more than 50 percent of criminal appeals come from Dallas and Harris Counties.

"Equalization of cases is a problem because of the location of some courts, where some people don't want their cases transferred to judges they didn't elect and don't even know," Onion said.

Phil Niekro beats brother Joe to hinder Astros title hopes ATLANTA (AP) — The baseball pitching Niekro brothers made history Wednesday night — but Phil found it hard to be happy. He'd virtually killed his younger brother's chances of pitching in the World Series.

Phil Niekro became a 20-game winner for the third time in his career with the Atlanta Braves and dealt a severe blow to the Houston Astros' National League West title hopes when he outpitched Joe Niekro for a 9-4 victory.

The defeat left the Astros 2½ games behind Cincinnati, which games San Diego 4-3 to reduce its "magic number" for claiming the division title to two.

"It was a must game for us and I didn't hold 'em," said Joe, 20-11. "It was a big game, it really was, and I didn't do the job. But we're not going to give up yet."

"I say we still got a chance," said Astros Manager Bill Virdon, who after dropping a doubleheader to the Braves Monday night had called those chances "next to impossible."

"It's still the same way," he said, "but sure, they (Cincinnati) could lose tomorrow night."

The Astros have three road games remaining against the Los Angeles Dodgers beginning Friday night. Cincinnati closes its series with San Diego tonight and entertains the Braves in a three-game season-ending series beginning Friday night.

Phil's victory enabled the Niekros to become the first brothers in National League history to win 20 games apiece in the same season. The last time it was done in the major leagues was in 1970 when Gaylord Perry went 23-13 for the NL San Francisco Giants and Jim Perry went 24-12 for the American League Minnesota Twins.

Phil, 20-20, also became the first NL pitcher in 74 years to win 20 games and lose 20 in the same year. The last to do it was Irving Young, who was 20-21 for Boston in 1905. Wilbur Wood of the Chicago White Sox became the seventh American Leaguer to do it in 1973 when he had a 24-20 record.

"That's one of the few times I really didn't want to go out and pitch in that situation where a team was trying to stay in the race," said Phil, who says he wants to see the Astros win the division title. "I'm not proud of what I've done."

Phil said the 20-victory accomplishments by brothers will "be something special for us" when careers are complete. "But not now. I'm glad in a way we both weren't going for our 20th tonight."

Niekro's four RBI keyed the victory. Gary Matthews drove in three with his 27th homer and a single and Barry Bonnell had a pair of RBI singles.

Akers praisers powerful Missouri Tiger team

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Coach Fred Akers watched films of a Texas pass falling at the feet of an open receiver and remarked, "We're a little bit away from having what we want."

What No. 4 Texas wants — with No. 5 Missouri on the schedule Saturday — is a passing attack.

Sophomore quarterback Donnie Little was ineffective passing in Texas' opener last Saturday, with two of 10 completions for 10 yards and one interception.

Texas struggled to defeat Iowa State, 17-9, and Akers warned the Longhorn Club on Wednesday, "Iowa State does not have the talent Missouri does."

Akers saluted Missouri's Phil Bradley as the best quarterback in the Big Eight Conference and added, "He's one of the best in the country. He's quick, he throws well — he's a leader."

"Missouri has a very fine football team — they are impressive," said Akers. "They are nationally ranked, as we are, and they deserve it, as we do."

"Last year, Missouri had to outscore teams to win. This year they're winning ball games with their defense," said Akers. "We're getting geared for a real physical contest."

The coach disclosed that kicker Jeff Guy, a highly touted freshman, had not made the 60-player traveling squad for Missouri.

Akers said fifth-year senior Ted Constanzo would be the backup punter to sophomore John Goodson, and he indicated freshman quarterback Rick McIvor would be the No. 2 placekicker to Goodson.

"The best thing that happened to us besides winning" the Iowa State game, "was that we came away without a bad injury. We're as strong as we've been since we started the season," said Akers.

Texas switched its workouts to a high school field to get accustomed to the natural grass on Missouri's field, and Akers said, "I don't expect any problems."

Akers said Texas had been "crisp and sharp" in practice.

He urged club members, however, to attend the game, stating, "We're going to need all the help we can get, so I hope some of you are going."

Rice nearing lofty goals

Boston slugger Jim Rice thought that when he collected his 200th hit of the season, making him only the 17th major league player in history to accomplish that feat three times in a row, his goals for the year were over. He was wrong.

"I wanted the 200," Rice said Wednesday night after rapping a run-scoring single in the first inning, helping the Red Sox beat the Toronto Blue Jays 6-4. "I don't normally set goals, but it was the only thing left to shoot for after we were knocked out of the (American League East) race."

But Rice had a surprise waiting for him. He then was informed that he needed only one more home run to become the fifth player in the history of the majors to hit 40 home runs and have 200 hits in two consecutive years.

The last player to do it was Jimmy Foxx of the Philadelphia A's in 1932-33. The others were Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees in 1923-24, Chuck Klein of the Philadelphia Phillies in 1929-30 and Lou Gehrig of the Yankees in 1930-31.

Very exclusive company. Ruth, Gehrig and Foxx all are members of baseball's Hall of Fame and Klein is acknowledged as one of the game's outstanding hitters.

Rice has four games left to hit his 40th homer of the season and match those all-time greats. The Red Sox play home against Toronto tonight and are at Detroit over the weekend for three games.

"Now, I've got something more to shoot for," said Rice, who last year became the first American Leaguer to amass more than 400 total bases since Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees did it in 1938.

Rice, the AL's Most Valuable Player in 1978, finished the year with 406 total bases as he won the league's slugging title with a .600 percentage.

Reds increase lead

Dave Collins' RBI single capped a two-run rally in the eighth inning as Cincinnati defeated San Diego. Collins' single came after doubles by Ray Knight and Hely Cruz had tied the game off loser Randy Jones, 11-12. Tom Seaver, 16-6, pitched eight innings for the victory before leaving the game for a pinch hitter. Tom Hume finished for Cincinnati to earn his 17th save.

Mets bomb Cubs

Richie Hebner drove in four runs with a homer and a double to lead New York over Chicago. Hebner, who extended his hitting streak to nine games, hit his 10th homer of the season in the first inning after Donnie Moore walked Lee Mazzilli. The Mets chased Moore in the fifth with four runs, two of them on Hebner's double.

Lopes lead Dodgers

Run-scoring singles by Dave Lopes and Bill Russell in the fourth inning led Los Angeles over San Francisco. The Dodgers entered the fourth trailing 3-2. Then Von Joshua started the winning rally with a single and stole second. After pinchhitter Vic Davalillo beat out an infield single, Lopes' hit produced a tie and Russell's single sent the Dodgers ahead to stay.

Pirates near East title

Phil Garner and Tim Foli drove in three runs each and Bruce Kison scattered seven hits to lead Pittsburgh over Montreal. The victory reduced Pittsburgh's number for clinching the East to four games.

It was the last regular season meeting between the two teams. The Pirates won 11 of 18 games and they won't meet the Expos again unless the division race ends in a tie.

Kison, a clutch stretch-run pitcher in his nine-year Pirate career, raised his lifetime September record to 2-6.

Phillies outscore Cards

Philadelphia scored seven unearned runs in the third inning, including a three-run homer by Tim McCarver, en route to a home season-ending victory over St. Louis.

Pete Rose's 23-game hitting streak, longest in the majors this year, was stopped when the Phillies' star went hitless in five appearances.

Winner Steve Carlton, 17-11, worked seven innings while Silvio Martinez, 15-8, took the loss.

Orioles give Weaver present

"That's really something, wins No. 1,000 and 1,100 in the same season," exalted Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver after the Orioles had won their 101st game of the year.

The East Division champions gave Weaver his 1,000th victory on opening day in April. They gave him No. 1,100 against the Tigers with the help of homers by Eddie Murray, Benny Ayala and Doug DeCinces.

Guidry, Yankees dump Tribe

Ron Guidry earned his 12th victory in his last 13 decisions and his 18th of the season with a seven-hit, 11-strikeout performance against Cleveland. Guidry also leads the AL in earned run average with a 2.82 mark.

Oscar Gamble supplied the power for the Yankees, driving in four runs with a double and a homer.

White Sox nip Twins

Jim Morrison walked leading off the 10th inning, stole second, moved to third on a fly ball and scored the winning run on a balk by Minnesota reliever Mike Marshall.

Marshall's appearance was his 89th of the season, an American League record. Rusty Torres smacked a two-run homer for Chicago while John Castino and Ron Jackson hit solo homers for the Twins.

Comer pitches Rangers win

Texas scored all its runs in the seventh inning, the last two on Mickey Rivers' ninth homer of the season. Steve Comer limited the A's to five hits, including homers by Wayne Gross and Jeff Newman, in winning his 17th game.

Reported that Billy Martin ordered Cliff Johnson brushback Yankees in controversy again

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees, banished to fourth place and playoff exile, may still lead the American League in controversy.

In the span of some 12 hours Wednesday, the Yankees faced an investigation by the American League, a warning from the umpires and two published reports of the turmoil that seems to follow them.

One thing the club accomplished without incident was the signing of third baseman Graig Nettles to a three-year contract that one team source said was worth a total of $1.2 million.

The AL said it was investigating Wednesday's report in the New York Times that pitcher Bob Kammeyer had been ordered to throw a "brush back" pitch to the Indians' Cliff Johnson and that the pitcher had been handed $100 after leaving the game at Cleveland on Sept. 18.

New York's other problem involved negotiations with shortstop Bucky Dent, the 1978 World Series hero who claims the Yankees reneged on a three-year contract offer after team President Al Rosen resigned.

The brushback story, by author Gay Talese, claimed Kammeyer had received a signal for a pitch close to Johnson's body from catcher Bruce Robinson, who received the order from Manager Billy Martin.

The Times story also said Kammeyer, removed from the 16-3 loss one batter after his shoulder-high pitch hit Johnson, then was handed five $20 bills by Martin. Talese's story said the Yankees' batboy, standing next to Martin in the dugout at the time, had heard clearly the manager's expressed desire that Johnson be "knocked down" and indicated the money had been a reward for carrying out the order.

Martin later admitted giving the pitcher $100, but only so Kammeyer, Paul Mirabella and Rick Anderson — two other pitchers also routed in the 13-run loss — could "get drunk and forget about today and come back strong tomorrow."

Johnson, who had hit two home runs prior to being hit with the 2-2 delivery in the fourth inning of the game, was traded from the Yankees months after his clubhouse scuffle with relief ace Rich Gossage in April. The scuffle resulted in a thumb injury that required surgery and knocked Gossage out of action for three months.

Johnson seemed to believe the report that Martin ordered him hit.

"The people I'm angry at can destroy me," he said, "so I'm not talking. But I'll be able to do what I have to do when I do it."

AL spokesman Bob Fishel said the investigation would include a full report from the Yankees, along with statements from club officials and the umpires who worked the game. Martin is to appear Friday morning at the New York office of AL President Lee MacPhail.

"It's a joke, that hearing," Martin said.

Prior to Wednesday night's Yankees-Indians game at Yankee Stadium, umpiring crew chief Marty Springstead warned both clubs against throwing at opposing players.

Lopez favored at Bent Tree

DALLAS (AP) — Should Nancy Lopez decide to leave professional golf she should sell Dale Carnegie books on how to win friends and influence people.

The comely 22-year-old super star of the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour doesn't know the meaning of vindictiveness. She is all peaches and cream.

Plus, the lovely, soft-spoken former resident of Roswell, N.M., who has dominated the tour and captivated the fans in her brief 27 months on the cash circuit, leads in money winnings, $174,252.

She will be going for her 17th title in the $150,000 Dallas Open under way at Bent Tree Country Club here. She has banked more than $400,000 in 16 tournaments.

The dark-eyed beauty, who married Ohio sportscaster Tim Melton a few months back, launched her career on the Roswell municipal links, won a dozen big amateur tournaments and then entered the University of Tulsa.

She left in July 1977 and became an instant success. Her achievements drew criticism in the press from some players, but she harbors no resentment. Conversely, she has nothing but praise and apparent admiration and friendship for her tour competitors.

She denies jealousy from other tour players and thinks most of the resentment was fabricated in the press.

"I know so many writers concentrate on my game when I am also a person and fail to recognize the play of those who are winning, or finishing in front of me," she explained.

Ms. Lopez expressed a desire to win the U.S. Open. "If I can win that one I will have achieved my major golf victory."

Since her marriage, she has cut down on tournament play. She said she wants to have children but does not believe now is the time.

STEALING HOME — California Angels baseball fans storm the field and some try to take home plate after the Angels defeated the Kansas City Royals 4-1 Tuesday night to clinch the western division title of the American League.

As World Series of Golf begins

Watson pronounced ready

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "Believe it or not," said Tom Watson, "I'm ready to play."

And that pronouncement can only be interpreted as bad news for the other 35 pros in the $400,000 World Series of Golf, which got underway today on the 7,180-yard, par 70 Firestone Country Club course.

Watson, the outstanding player in golf for the past three seasons, was very pleased with the state of his game during a practice round in perfect fall weather Wednesday.

"I'm driving it well, hitting the ball very well," Watson said. "My putting isn't all that it could be, but that's the first thing that comes back."

Watson, winner of a record $447,636 already this season, hasn't played in the United States since making a successful defense of his title in the Hall of Fame Classic a month ago.

He withdrew from the Ryder Cup team to be with wife Linda during the birth of their first child and also skipped a California tournament last week in which he was the defending champion.

His victory in Pinehurst, N.C., in his last outing was his fifth of the season and virtually assured him of making an unprecedented third consecutive sweep of three of the game's most coveted honors — the Vardon Trophy, Player of the Year and leading money-winner.

And it put Watson in position to become the first player in the game to win $500,000 in a single season. The old record was $362,429, which Watson won last year.

"It's worthwhile goal, something I'd like to achieve," he said.

He could do it here, but must win the $100,000 first prize — the biggest in golf — to do so.

"I didn't know what my attitude might be," Watson said of his lengthy break from competition, "but I'm ready to play, excited about playing."

He faces an elite international field that includes most of the world's best, although the absentees include British Open champion Severiano Ballesteros, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player.

Nicklaus, winner of five World Series, the PGA and the American Golf Classic on this course, and Player, a threetime World Series champion, failed to qualify this year. Ballesteros and the other two European eligibles chose not to compete.

Heading Watson's challengers in the expanded field are defending champion Dr. Gil Morgan, Masters king Fuzzy Zoeller, U.S. Open titleholder Hale Irwin, PGA champ David Graham of Australia, Canadian Open winner Lee Trevino, Ryder Cup hero Larry Nelson and five multiple-title winners from the 1979 tour, Hubert Green, Lanny Wadkins, Lou Graham, Jerry McGee and rookie John Fought.

CBS will provide national television coverage of portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Shavers promises a different outcome in Friday's bout

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Larry Holmes will not see the same Earnie Shavers he easily beat last year when he defends the World Boxing Council heavyweight championship Friday night, says the 35-year-old Shavers.

"When the horse gets so old, you can't teach that horse new tricks," the 29-year-old Holmes said Wednesday.

In their first fight, Holmes won a one-sided 12-round decision that earned him his titling win against Ken Norton.

"I hurt him in the second round with one punch," said Shavers, who contends he was bothered by managerial problems and was not in top condition for the first fight. "If I had thrown combinations, it would have been over. This time I will. I will knock him out in five rounds."

"I don't really believe Shavers has the punching power he says he has," said Holmes, who also feels he will win inside the 15-round limit.

Shavers earned his second title shot — he was outpointed by Muhammad Ali in 1977 — by stopping Norton with a two-fisted onslaught in the first round last March 23.

This will be Holmes' fourth title defense and his first since he looked unimpressive in stopping little-known Mike Weaver in the 12th round last June 22. "I learned I got to discipline myself," said Holmes, who admitted he was overconfident against Weaver.

Shavers said he doesn't expect to see the same Holmes that fought Weaver. "Larry is a much better fighter than that," he said.

One big difference for Holmes between the Weaver fight and Friday night's bout is money. The champion is guaranteed $2.5 million for the fight that will be televised nationally by ABC. He fought for a percentage against Weaver in a bout that was not televised and says that promoter Don King gave him $450,000.

Shavers is getting $300,000, the same amount he got for fighting Ali.

Also on the card are top welterweights Sugar Ray Leonard and Roberto Duran, WBC super banlamweight champion Wilfredo Gomez and heavyweights Jimmy Young and Michael Dokes.

Leonard, of Palmer Park, Md., will fight Andy Price of Los Angeles and Duran, of Panama, will fight Zeferino Gonzalez of San Jose, Calif., in two scheduled 10-rounders that will be televised live.

The ABC telecast will from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. PDT.

Gomez, of Puerto Rico, will defend against Carlos Mendoza of Panama in a bout that will be taped for television. How long the Leonard, Duran and Holmes fights last will determine whether the 10-rounder between Young, of Philadelphia, and Dokes, of Akron, Ohio, will be televised.

Over top rated USC Trojans

Grimsley predicts LSU upset

By WILL GRIMSLEY

The "Week After" is college football's "Monday Morning Hangover." It's deadly. When a heavily favored team or one with an extended winning streak gets upended, it is almost impossible to get it motivated the next Saturday.

This is the stuff of which upsets are made — that plus complacency. These are lessons learned agonizingly by Colorado, Georgia and Texas A&M, the Aggies before before bouncing back against Penn State.

This rule of thumb bodes trouble this week for Notre Dame and Penn State.

Complacency could be the stumbling block for mighty USC: Beware the Ides of the Bayou.

Last week's score: 44-12, 786 Season: 115-32, 782.

Louisiana St. 23, Southern Cal 20: Home fervor fed by Trojan over-confidence pose a nightmare for No. 1 Charles White & Co.

Michigan St. 28, Notre Dame 17: The bowl-bent Spartans, a team of muscle and speed, catches the Fighting Irish in the doldrums.

Alabama 38, Vanderbilt 7: This was once one of Dixie's fiercest rivalries. Remember Dan McGugin? Oklahoma 45, Rice 7: The Owls don't have the bulwarks to keep Billy Sims from another 100-yard game.

Texas 23, Missouri 13: Steve (Bam Bam) McMichael and his friends count tackles like pocket change for the Longhorns.

Nebraska 24, Penn State 20: Cornhuskers average around 500 yards a game, which should be enough to engulf the downhearted Easterners.

Houston 40, West Texas St. 0: The Cougars, with 270-pound tackles, should be nabbed for cruelty to fellow humans.

Michigan 28, California 19: If the Wolverines start looking ahead to hated

Michigan State, the result could be reversed.

Washington 37, Fresno St. 12: A breather for the Huskies before they tackle the meat and gristle of their schedule.

Purdue 34, Oregon 13: On this exploratory trip to the West Coast, Mark Herrmann should take a look at the Rose Bowl.

Arkansas 26, Tulsa 7: With Tom Jones, Bert's kid brother, sharing the controls, the Razorbacks go by air instead of land.

Florida St. 32, Virginia Tech 17: The Seminoles have most of the pitchers and catchers back from the team No. 3 in offense in '78.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, SEPT. 28, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An opportunity for advancement in your chosen field could come your way early in the day so be on the lookout. Control your ambitious nature and be more considerate of associates.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Made practical plans for expansion in your line of endeavor, but avoid extravagance. Strive for more happiness with your mate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make plans to have greater abundance in the days ahead. Take no chances with one who has done you harm in the past.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be sure to handle communications well today and follow your good judgment for best results. Slow down pace at work.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You need to be more thrifty if you wish to gain your aims in the future. Some of your desires can now be realized.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have good judgment now and can easily solve difficult problems. Strive for more harmony with family members. Be wise.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) An influential person of your acquaintance can help you become more successful. Your hunches are accurate at this time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Show a good friend that you are devoted and strengthen the relationship. The evening is fine for the social side of life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Contact higher-ups and get the support you need for any new talents you want to express. Find extra happiness with mate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Doing something thoughtful for your friends brings you added goodwill now. Be careful in the handling of money.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure to follow any rules and regulations that apply you. Influential persons can be instrumental in your getting ahead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Come to a better understanding with associates by showing you respect them. Don't go off on any tangents now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study your agreements with associates and be sure to keep your promises. Make plans to entertain at home this weekend.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can advance quickly because of the fine ideas and the ability to express them. Much success and prestige can come later in life. There could be a fine musician here. Much happiness in this chart.

'Striking' Teachers enjoy bowling

By MICKIE DICKSON
Did you know that Big Spring has teachers striking? It has — it is the Big Spring Teacher's Bowling League which meets each Monday evening at 6 p.m. at the Bowl-A-Rama. 'Striking Teachers' is composed of five teams of four members each.

The league was organized by Craig Fischer, assistant principal of Big Spring High School in October, 1978. At the time there were six teams of three members each, mixed players. The league is recognized by both the American Bowling Congress and the Women's International Bowling Congress.

Bowling team No. 1 is composed of Dolline McCrea, Kathy Davis, James McFarland and David Burke.

Dolline McCrea, 1815 Benton, is a BSHS math teacher, teaching Algebra. Ms. McCrea is single and has been teaching school five years, this being her second year at BSHS. She is a graduate of West Texas State University, having received her B.S. and M.Ed. degrees. Her bowling

'STRIKING TEACHER' ROLLS A STRIKE — Howell Martin, top baseball coach at Big Spring High School and graduate of West Texas State University and Eastern New Mexico University, has an average 145 in his first year on the Teacher's Bowling League named Striking Teachers.

average is 113 and she has been bowling for two years.

Kathy Davis, 407 Johnson, is art instructor at BSHS and is in her third year there. Ms. Davis is a graduate of Abilene Christian University. Her bowling average is 136.

David Burke, Rt. 1, teachers woodworking at BSHS. Budke has taught for six years and is a graduate of West Texas State University.

He's been bowling for two years and has a 159 average.

James McFarland is the Earth Science teacher at Runnels Junior High School and is a graduate of Howard College and West Texas

State University. He is in his fifth year of teaching.

McFarland is a beginning bowler, having started three weeks ago.

Strikers Bowling Team No. 2 has Donita and Wilbur

Cunningham, Betty Knight and Craig Fischer on it.

Donita and Wilbur Cunningham, 1912 Scurry, have 34 years of teaching between them. Donita teaches second grade at Moss Elementary School.

This is her 14th year of teaching, having taught at Ackerly and Sands before. Mrs. Cunningham has been bowling two years and has an average of 120.

Cunningham teaches math at BSHS and is in his 20th year. Wilbur bowled 20 years ago in a league and hadn't bowled anymore until last year. His average is 144.

Betty Knight, 529 Scott, is a library aide at BSHS for her second year. She was librarian at Bauer Elementary School for five years. Mrs. Knight has been bowling for two years with an average of 121. A native of Big Spring, she is a BSHS alumni.

Craig Fischer, Barcelona Apartments, is in his 6th year as assistant principal at BSHS. Fischer is a graduate of Southwestern Texas State University and is single. Team No. 2 was first in the teacher's league last year and Fischer was head league bowler. His bowling average is 145.

Team No. 3 is composed of Cliff and Sue Balzer and Ron and Wanda Walker.

Mrs. Balzer had worked in the attendance office at BSHS for two years and has bowled off and on for several years. This is her first year in the league and she has an average of 128. Her husband, Cliff, is employed at Cosden as Technical Service Representative.

Ron and Wanda Walker, 1808 Alabama, have taught at BSHS a total of 7 years between them. Walker is a graduate of Sul Ross University and has taught drafting five years. He has been bowling for 5 years and has a 130 average.

Mrs. Walker has taught homemaking in BSHS for two years, is a graduate of Kingsville, Texas A&I. She has been bowling three years and has an average of 128.

Team No. 4 is composed of Truett and Doris Vines and Don and Judy Robbins.

Truett and Doris Vines, Gail Route, raise quarter horses on their two acres as a sideline. Truett is in his 32nd year as vocational agriculture teacher and has been bowling off and on for 10 years. His average is 156. Mrs. Vines has worked in the front office at BSHS for four years. She has been bowling one year and her average is 107.

Team No. 5 has Bernard Raines, Nan Howard, Neal Decker and Dorothy Humphries on it.

Bernard A. Raines, 2904 Parkway Rd., has been with the Big Spring Independent School District 27 years and is in his sixth year as World History teacher at BSHS. Monday was his first night to bowl since 1950 and his average was 139.

Nan Howard is assistant librarian at BSHS and has been with them 19 years. Monday night was her first night to bowl so she was trying out her new bowling shoes.

Neal Decker is in his first year as tennis coach at BSHS. Neal is from Marion, Kentucky and a graduate of Western Kentucky University. Decker's average is 170.

Dorothy Humphries, 603 George, is a special education teacher at BSHS, teaching American History, Civics, Orientation and two sections of arts and crafts. Mrs. Humphries is in her 23rd year of teaching. Her bowling average is 111.

Team No. 6 is composed of Howell and Peggy Martin and Jack Jeter. This team has not had a fourth player to date, but will have one next Monday night.

Howell Martin is head baseball coach at BSHS and a graduate of West Texas State University and Eastern New Mexico University with a masters in physical education. This is the first year he has bowled in the teacher's league. He has an average of 145.

Mrs. Martin has taught the third grade at Marcy

Elementary for six years, has been bowling since college days at Hardin Simmons University and has a 130 average.

Jack Jeter teaches United States History to 1877 at Runnels Junior High School. This is his first year in Big Spring, his fifth teaching year. In addition, he is football coach. Jeter is a graduate of Carlton State University, Stephenville, which is in the Texas A&M system. His bowling average is a good 175.

Mrs. Mary Breckenridge, 2609 Wasson Rd., substitutes on the Striking Teacher's bowling league. She is a retired biology teacher who taught at BSHS for 16 years. Mrs. Breckenridge is just beginning her bowling experience.

Team No. 2 of the Striking Teachers is defending their 1978 championship and is ahead with 18 games won and 6 lost.

Team No. 4 is in second place with 12 won and 12 lost.

Third place belongs to No. 3 team who has won 10 and lost 14, with team No. 1 in fourth place with the same number of games won and lost, but team No. 3 has knocked down more pins.

The high men's series which counts the number of pins and the handicap is Jack Jeter with 633 pins. Truett Vines with 605 pins, and Bernard Raines with 562 pins.

The high women's series is Peggy Martin with 609 pins, Wanda Walker with 582 and Cunningham with 562 pins knocking down.

Men's high game is Jack Jeter, 248, Wilbur Cunningham, 211 and Howell Martin, 206.

Women's high game is Sue Balzer, 215, Donita Cunningham, 213 and Peggy Martin and Wanda Walker are tied with 205.

High game teams are No. 6 with 830 pins, No. 4 with 760, and No. 5 with 742.

High series for the teams are No. 6 with 2,321 pins, No. 4 with 2,192 pins and No. 2 with 2,189 pins.

Sue Balzer's LAYERED DESSERT

1. Combine:
1 cup flour
1 cup chopped pecans
1 stick oleo, melted
3 tablespoons sugar

Mix and spread in 9x13 inch dish. Bake at 325 degrees for 20 minutes. Cool completely.

2. Cream together:
1-8 ounce package cream cheese
1 cup powdered sugar
Stir in 1 cup Cool Whip and spread onto crust.

3. Prepare 1-3 ounce package of vanilla and chocolate pudding, mix each separately as directed and spread onto cream cheese layer.

4. Top with 1 1/2 cups Cool Whip (this does better at room temperature). Seal with plastic wrap and refrigerate.

Donita Cunningham's OVERNIGHT COFFEE CAKE

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
2-3rd cups oleo
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed

2 eggs
1 cup buttermilk
Sift dry ingredients. Cream butter and sugars until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk. Beat well after each addition.

Spread in greased and floured 13x9x2 inch pan.

Combine for top:
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
Sprinkle over batter and refrigerate overnight. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 40-45 minutes.

Neal Decker's NEVER-FAIL ICE CREAM

4 eggs
2 cups sugar
Dash of vanilla
Fruit
Milk to fill a 1 gallon ice cream freezer.
Freeze with ice and salt and serve.

Dorothy Humphries' BOLOGNA CANDY

2 cups sugar
1 cup milk
1 pound dates
1 cup coconut
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Heat sugar and milk to 234 degrees. Add dates and cook until thickened and it leaves the side of the pan. Remove from heat and add coconut and nuts. Cool. Roll in wet towel, 2 inches x 18 inches. Refrigerate. This will keep in the deep freeze 6 months.

Betty Lee Knight's BARBECUED BRISKET

4-8 pound beef brisket
1 bottle Kraft Barbecue sauce
1 bottle Italian salad dressing
1 large browning bag
2 tablespoons flour
First, put flour in bag and shake to coat inside of bag, then add the above ingredients, except brisket. Put brisket in bag and tie end, set inside a large pan and cook in a slow oven 250-275 degrees for 6-8 hours.

When done, remove from oven and let set for about 15 minutes. Slice across the grain and serve with sauce.

Dolline McCrea's PECAN PIE

Pastry for 9 inch single crust

1 cup white corn syrup
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 teaspoon lemon juice
3 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup small pecans or large meats, broken

Adjust rack 4 or 5 inches above bottom of oven. Pre-heat ten minutes before baking at 425 degrees F.

Combine first six ingredients after pie crust, and stir until well blended then, stir in pecans. Pour into pastry-lined pie pan. Bake 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake 35-40 minutes or until crust is golden brown and filling is set. Remove to cake rack to cool until just lukewarm. Serve plain or with whipped cream.

MEXICAN CORNBREAD

1 cup yellow corn meal
2 eggs well beaten
1 cup sweet milk
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 No. 303 can cream style yellow corn
1/2 cup bacon drippings
Mix all above and set aside.

Saute 1/2 pound ground meat
Chop 1 large onion
Grate 1/2 pound cheese
Chop 4 japapeno peppers
Grease 9-inch black iron skillet.

Heat — Sprinkle thin layer meal in skillet and brown. Pour 1/2 batter in skillet. Add: cheese, meat, onions, and peppers.
Pour remaining batter in skillet over this. Bake 45-50 minutes at 350 degrees F.

REFRIGERATOR MUFFINS

Cream 1 1/4 cups butter or shortening and 1 cup sugar
Add 4 eggs (unbeaten) one at a time — beating well after each.

Add 1/2 cup dark molasses — beating well.
Stir 2 teaspoons soda into 1 cup buttermilk. Add to mixture.

Add 1/2 cup or more raisins. 1/2-1 cup pecans
Cover tightly and place in refrigerator.
Bake in well-greased muffin tins at 425 degrees about 15 minutes.

Serve hot with butter. The dough may be kept in the refrigerator for a month — tightly covered.

CHOCOLATE PORT CAKE

Pour 1 cup boiling water over 1 cup chopped dates. (Let stand).
Cream together:

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs

1 teaspoon vanilla
Sift together:
1 1/2 cups flour
2 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda

Mix dates and dry ingredients alternately. Add 1/2 cup chocolate chips and 1/2 cup pecans. Pour into 9x12 inch pan. Put 1/2 cup chips and 1/2 cup pecans on top. Bake 350 degrees. 45 minutes.

SAFeway PRESENTS

A $3.00 reason to "steam" clean your carpets.

An HR "Steam" Carpet Cleaning System is the professional way to clean your carpets—for a fraction of the professional cost.

Like most "steam" systems, HR doesn't actually use steam, but rather hot water under pressure. It forces hot cleaning solution deep into carpets, vacuums it up again, and gets out ground-in dirt.

And right now HR has made it even easier to do the job yourself. Simply rent an HR "Steam" Carpet Cleaning System at any participating Safeway store near you. Present this coupon and you'll receive a $3.00 refund on the regular low rental price of $12.50.

Despite Gov. Clements' veto

New welfare office will be built

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The new welfare and youth office building that Gov. Bill Clements tried unsuccessfully to veto will be ready for occupancy in 2½ to 3 years, says Human Resources Commissioner Jerome Chapman.

Chapman reported Wednesday to the board that sets policy for the Department of Human Resources that an architect already has been hired to design the $40 million building.

Chapman said the architectural firm of Jarvis, Putty, Jarvis of Dallas is expected to have initial drawings in 60 days.

The building will house both the human resources department — formerly called the State Welfare Department — and the Texas Youth Council.

Clements had tried to block construction of the building — which will be financed with federal funds — but Attorney General Mark White held Aug. 31 the governor's veto was unconstitutional.

Meanwhile, he said, the department would move into rented quarters, turning its space in the John H. Reagan State Office Building near the Capitol over to the House of Representatives.

The board delayed until Oct. 26 its action on a proposed sharp curtailment of its hearing aid program for needy old persons.

Dr. Emmett Greif, chief of medical services, said the cutback was necessary because the Legislature pared funds for it by 44 percent. When the House Appropriations Committee asked the department earlier this year where budget cuts could be made with the least harm, it listed the hearing aid program.

Help others through volunteer tax tasks

DALLAS — Do you enjoy helping people? Working with them to make a difficult task easier? VITA, the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service, is looking for just such volunteers to help others with tax return preparation.

The People VITA helps — low-income, handicapped, older taxpayers, or non-English speaking individuals — usually cannot prepare their own returns. VITA volunteers reach out to these people and assist them with the 1040A, the more complex 1040, and the schedules which can help them take advantage of certain credits and deductions.

To be a VITA volunteer you do not need any special background in math, accounting, or law. A general education is all that is necessary. Volunteers receive a special two-or-five-day training course in basic tax law and return preparation, depending upon prior experience. As a volunteer, you are not considered a professional tax preparer, and will not be held legally responsible for the return. Rather you simply assist the individual taxpayer to prepare the return in the best manner possible.

State water department studying area well levels

An intensive field survey of water wells in the High Plains area will begin in October, conducted by personnel of the Texas Department of Water Resources.

Purpose of the survey will be to obtain measurements on the depth to water in the aquifer from land surface, with one measurement for every 10 square miles.

The survey is a part of a multi-state study to evaluate the vast Ogallala Aquifer.

TDWR personnel will work in the field gathering and recording depth-to-water measurements from wells included in a statewide network of observation wells, and will also attempt to obtain additional measurements from wells not in the network.

Measurements are made by lowering a steel tape down the well's casing until it is in contact with the water in the well, observing and recording the depth to the water, and retrieving the tape. The process requires only a few minutes and care is taken not to disturb anything in or around the well.

According to a TDWR spokesman, the department has received warm cooperation from the many well owners throughout the High Plains in its effort to document changes in water levels through its annual measurement program in the statewide network of observation wells, and is seeking and confident of receiving the same cooperation from well owners whose wells are not in the network but who will be visited during the coming

An advantage to being a VITA volunteer is the fact that you will be current or up-to-date on tax forms and tax law changes so that preparing your own return will be easier and faster. The VITA training course may also alert you to overlooked deductions or a potential underwithholding problem.

VITA programs can be sponsored by local civic or fraternal organizations, educational institutions, churches, and social groups. Most VITA volunteers provide assistance in their own neighborhoods at schools, libraries, and churches which are conveniently located for taxpayers who cannot travel to an IRS office, and cannot afford professional tax preparation assistance.

During 1979 the IRS trained over 1,300 volunteers in North Texas who assisted taxpayers at 279 sites.

If you would like to become a volunteer, or if your organization would be interested in sponsoring a VITA program, call 742-2440 in Dallas; 335-1370 in Fort Worth; 372-3666 in Amarillo; 747-4361 in Lubbock; 733-6702 in Wichita Falls; or call toll free at 1-800-492-4830 and ask for the VITA Coordinator.

Helping others is what VITA is all about. And by helping others, you'll be giving yourself a boost, too.

Susan Kelley, an Austin lawyer for the Senior Citizens Legal Project, said old people are particularly worried about a proposed rule allowing one hearing aid per lifetime instead of every five years.

"One main cause of the loss or destruction of hearing aids in nursing homes is carelessness by people working in those homes," she said. "...I hadn't thought of that, and I bet the person who wrote this rule hadn't thought of that either."

There should be an addition protecting persons who lose their hearing aids through no fault of their own, she suggested.

The French Connection

The glamorous French cradlephone has been reborn in America, where it's known as Antique Gold®. Its carved gold-colored figures and rich ivory trim make it the last word in period-style decor.

And, because it's genuine Bell, you know you're getting top quality. You never have to worry about repairs, either, because the Bell System retains ownership of your phone's working components and repairs them without additional charge anytime there's a problem.

Make your French Connection at your nearest PhoneCenter Store, where you can also choose from a variety of other colorful and attractive styles. Or call your local Southwestern Bell business office. Choose a phone that's genuinely you and genuine Bell.

The Antique Gold. $24 a month for five months or a one-time charge of $120.
Prices do not include taxes or, if applicable, installation and recurring charges.
If necessary, hearing aid adapters are available from your telephone company.
