

Hearing Due For Students

By VAN SAVELL. OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — The powerful University of Mississippi student judicial council meets today to map procedures for a hearing for six students who face charges in connection with rioting last week when James H. Meredith entered the university.

Each student will have a private hearing before the council. Since it was established in 1951, only one decision has been reversed. Possible penalties include expulsion, suspension for 20 less than one semester, suspension with suspended sentence, and probation. No names will be released unless a student is expelled.

Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the six were not charged under the federal code meeting of the 27-member faculty senate was expected to consider two resolutions on the demonstrations and college unity. While the student and faculty groups prepared action, the 29-year-old Negro went through his eighth day of classes.

As he left the cafeteria Wednesday night, some 100 students, mostly males, hollered at him. One cursed him. Meredith said he would probably leave the campus for the weekend.

In other developments Wednesday: The Army further reduced its forces in the Oxford area. Some 5,700 regular troops and federalized National Guardsmen remain, compared with 23,600 last week.

Student body president Dick Wilson said Ole Miss students would consider a suggestion by Brown University students for an exchange program to discuss integration.

Postal inspectors began opening packages addressed to Meredith. A Justice Department spokesman said "nothing sinister" has turned up.

Cuban Exiles Declare 'War'

NEW YORK (AP) — A Cuban exile group which calls itself Alpha 66 announced it is declaring war, effective today, on all ships carrying supplies to Cuba.

The announcement was made by Antonio Veciana, 35-year-old leader of the group which says it carried out a raid on Cuba's north coast Monday. He is a certified public accountant in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Veciana issued the statement in a broadcast from San Juan for the American Broadcasting Co. He said attacks will be carried out on any and all vessels, not just those from Iron Curtain countries.

Veciana gave ABC some details on Monday's reported raid on the Cuban port of Isabella de Sagua, 150 miles east of Havana.

He said his force of 30 men inflicted 20 casualties on what he termed "the enemy." Veciana said the casualties included both Russians and Cubans.

His force, said Veciana, suffered five casualties. He declined to say whether they were killed or wounded.

Veciana said the Puerto Rican based Alpha 66 plans to carry out another such raid within the next two weeks and two more by the end of the month.

Cuba Negotiations Hit Snag

By GEORGE ARFIELD. HAVANA (AP) — Negotiations hit a snag Wednesday night and the release of 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners was delayed again. But Prime Minister Fidel Castro planned further talks with negotiator James B. Donovan, possibly later today or Friday.

The talks between Castro and the "New York attorney were reported to have broken down Wednesday. But after the two met for four hours in the presidential palace, a spokesman for the Cuban prisoners' families committee said: "Certain points have to be revised and this will take two or three further meetings."

There was nothing to indicate that the snag was caused by the claim of Cuban exiles that they raided the Cuban north coast port of Isabella de Sagua Monday and killed 20 persons.

There has been no confirmation of the raid or comment on the exiles' claim in Havana. The committee's spokesman would not say what caused the

Kennedy Set To Sign Trade Expansion Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signs into law today the historic trade expansion bill giving him vast power to reduce most tariffs, repeal others and forge economic links with the booming European Common Market. Administration leaders hailed the bill as the crowning legislative achievement of Kennedy's first two years in the White House.

Postage Hike Is Signed Into Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today signed a bill raising postage rates, and boosting salaries for more than a million federal employees.

Kennedy hailed it as an important step toward putting the postal system on a self-sustaining basis and making federal jobs more attractive.

Among the changes: First class mail will cost five cents, air mail eight cents beginning next Jan. 7. With legislators who worked on the bill and representatives of postal unions watching, Kennedy put his signature to the legislation in his White House office as the first item on his day's schedule.

Kennedy, reading from a statement, said the new postal rates would bring in additional annual revenue amounting to $600 million. The new law provides "broad reform" and flexibility in postal system salaries and puts them at a level which would help to prevent large-scale "attrition to private industry," he said.

Cuba Negotiations Hit Snag

Any U.S. payment to Castro is expected to kick up an uproar in Congress. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., and Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., told the Senate they oppose any ransom payment.

Reports circulated in Washington that Donovan was acting for the administration in the negotiations as well as for the families committee. But Edwin Guthman, Justice Department information officer, denied a story in the New York World-Telegram and Sun that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy asked Donovan to take on the assignment last June, saying the White House had a moral obligation to obtain the release of Cubans captured in an invasion the United States allowed to go ahead.

An informed member of Congress insisted, however, that Donovan is acting as an agent for the administration with the full approval of President Kennedy and the attorney general.

Cuban exiles in the United States were worried about the possible effect on the negotiations of the reported raid on Cuba's north coast.

A spokesman in Miami from an exile group calling itself Alpha 66 said the raiders attacked a camp of Cuban militiamen and Russian military men 20 minutes after midnight Monday and stayed ashore for nearly two hours.

In the railroad yards of the city the communiques said, "a warehouse of military supplies and four other strategic points were destroyed, many weapons and some flags of the enemy were captured. No fewer than 20 enemy were killed."

Solons Eye Clock; Fear More Delays

By JOE HALL. WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders struggled to bring the Kennedy bill to a close today but conceded that Friday night was a more likely target for adjournment.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, said he had not entirely abandoned hope for closing shop tonight but that the hope was a dim one.

House leaders confidently predicted final adjournment late Friday. Little progress was made on Wednesday in disposing of the few key bills remaining and no action was scheduled for most of them today.

But nearly every important measure left was in a position to be moved quickly to the White House if only a few bitter disputes could be settled.

Numerous behind-the-scenes conferences were called Wednesday, with White House prodding clearly in evidence. House leaders said substantial progress was made on their thorniest problems.

One source, who asked not to be identified, said President Kennedy told Democratic leaders in no uncertain terms at a White House conference earlier in the week that he wants Congress out of Washington.

Kennedy was reported to have remarked acutely that while he was out campaigning for more Democrats in Congress, the Democrats there weren't helping matters by squabbling and giving the impression they couldn't even adjourn.

Kennedy himself removed one big stumbling block by his last-minute signature on the pension bill for the self-employed.

This meant that Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., chief Senate sponsor of the measure, would remove his objection which has helped block consideration of a final supplemental money bill.

County Gins Are Nearing 3,000 Mark

Scurry County cotton ginning facilities were approaching the 3,000 bale mark today as the harvest began to gain momentum.

A gradual increase is expected to continue this month, but the big push probably will come later, possibly after the first frost.

T. M. Pherigo, representative of the Texas Employment Commission who is handling harvest labor referrals here, reported that 2,922 bales had been ginned.

At the same time, the TEC reported that prevailing wages for first pulling, dryland cotton in both Scurry and Fisher Counties, is 1.50 per cwt. However, rates less than 1.55 per cwt. are not applicable for Mexican contract workers.

The ginning reports by gins included the following: Paymaster 352 bales; Layfield 312; Ira, 212; Dunn, 200; Ch in a Grove, 528; Inadale, 225; Hermleigh, 310; Planters Snyder, 180, and Snyder Co-op, 875.

OLD, OLD COPY OF PAPER STILL BEING SOUGHT

Would you like to earn an unexpected $25? Well, the Snyder Daily News is trying to give someone $25 for an old copy of a local newspaper—an issue of the Snyder Signal which was published before 1900.

The Signal was founded in 1887 and is the subject of our Diamond Jubilee which is commemorated by the Snyder-Signal-GO! issue coming soon. We want to reproduce one of the earliest front pages. We'll pay $25 for the earliest copy of the Signal which appeared in the 1880s.

Several responses in the first decade of this century have come in, but thus far no one has found one for the 80's or 90's.

Look around in the attic or the cellar, how about those old scrapbooks. You might be $25 richer.

He cast his objection to delay adjournment and keep Congress in town in case Kennedy vetoed the pension measure.

However, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., did not withdraw his objection.

He is leading the Senate in another round of tug-of-war with the House over prestige. This round involves a 45 billion agriculture appropriations bill.

He has been insisting on funds for construction of a number of new agriculture research facilities which the House opposes.

But Russell and the House manager of the bill, Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., did get together Wednesday for a long talk. Afterward, Democratic leaders said they were hopeful of a compromise but kept the details to themselves.

THE SNYDER PRODUCERS CLUB made its first gold-coated appearance at the Communications Officers Association meeting Wednesday. Head of the organization Jack Craft is shown with Margaret Wood, Snyder police radio operator who helped with arrangements for the meeting and at right, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Walker of Sweetwater. Walker was installed first vice president of the association at the meeting yesterday afternoon.

Procedures For Disaster Main Topic

Defense and disaster radio procedures were the main topic of the fall meeting of the West Texas, New Mexico Communications Officers Association meeting yesterday at the Snyder Country Club.

Speaking to the nearly 75 officers in attendance at the meeting were Frank T. Cox of Austin, with the state division of defense and disaster relief; Inspector C. O. Layne, with the Austin office of the Department of Public Safety; George Killam, county attorney of Scurry County; and Leo Hull, with the Big Spring police department.

The group's business meeting followed the addresses. Officers elected at the spring meeting in Sweetwater assumed their offices. New officers are Orville Steele, Midland, president; M. D. Walker, Sweetwater, first vice president; Paul Forrest, Midland, secretary; and Mrs. M. D. Walker, Sweetwater, treasurer.

The spring meeting will be held in Midland, Lamesa was selected as the site for the next fall meeting.

The Snyder Chamber of Commerce cooperated with the Snyder city police in hosting the affair.

U. S. Would Aid Worker Training

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The United States today offered to help developing countries set up special training camps for turning out skilled workers.

Frank M. Coffin, a deputy administrator in the Agency for International Development, put forward the plan at an international conference here sponsored by the Peace Corps.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is attending, putting the full weight of the Kennedy administration behind the conference, now other nations are expected to follow.

The United States today offered to help developing countries set up special training camps for turning out skilled workers.

He said talks are under way with Brazil and Pakistan for such centers and added: "Considerable interest has been expressed on their side and we hope for a positive outcome. The host country would, of course, carry the primary role in providing the site and to the extent possible—buildings for trainees and their maintenance and markets for skills of graduates."

In the course of a few years they would take over full financial and operational responsibility for centers.

Under the program he outlined the Peace Corps would provide instructors for the centers at the start, AID missions would help with funds and the role of the U.S. armed forces would be limited to giving professional advice on training techniques.

Coffin pointed out the military had developed rough drafts in the United States into skilled and functioning laboratory technicians, car mechanics, air other skills.

Storms Hit North Texas

By The Associated Press. Violent thunderstorms pounded parts of North Texas and inflicted some property damage at Paris overnight.

Sticky heat lingered in most sections of the state Thursday. One of the storms booming southward from Oklahoma hit Paris with gusty winds which tore away parts of roofs, left a few power lines and smashed upper story windows of downtown stores. A 2.48-inch downpour flooded Paris streets temporarily.

The thunderstorms also belted other parts of the Red River, including Denison, Blossom, Detroit, Bogata and Deport.

By early morning the storms had played out, leaving clear to partly cloudy weather everywhere except the Fort Worth-Dallas area, where skies were overcast.

Forecasters promised about the same kind of weather for at least a couple of days, including prospects for occasional afternoon thunderstorms in most sections.

Laredo recorded a summery high of 96 degrees Wednesday afternoon. El Paso and Galveston were coolest with marks of 87.

Holiday Entertaining Can Be Creation Of Hostess

Highlight your table settings, for holiday or other special entertaining, with flower centerpieces that harmonize with your favorite dinnerware patterns.

Whether you plan a formal, or informal, sitdown or buffet dinner, the dinnerware you propose to use should determine your choice of flowers, and of the colors of your lines and dining accessories.

Use the color of design of your dinnerware as a guide in planning a floral centerpiece, giving first consideration to color. However, try to achieve a definite harmonious link between your centerpiece and dinnerware in both color and design motif.

Since flowers are available in such wide varieties and colors, you should be able to match almost any color in your favorite dinnerware. Should your plates have more than one color, your centerpiece can be made to harmonize with any one color, or with several colors in combination.

You can create interesting, unusual and striking centerpieces to highlight your table settings by using fresh flowers alone or combined with foliage, fruit and vegetables, and dried material.

If you choose a floral or fruit design, for instance, you often can duplicate in your centerpiece the actual flowers or fruit, depicted on your plates. Where your plates have a center design and a colored border, even the border color can be repeated in the flower container.

For example, let's assume you are planning an informal, sitdown dinner. You decide to use your favorite fruit pattern dinnerware—with olive-green border—depicting, against a white background, a red and a yellow-red apple, with stems and foliage attached, and a few yellow-colored grapes. You plan to use a table cloth which is a lighter shade of the yellow-green colors of the pattern, and yellow napkins.

To highlight this table setting, a good choice for your centerpiece would be a combination of yellow fuji mums and maroon-colored pompons, supplemented by brilliant red and yellow apples, bunches of wine-colored grapes and grape ivy. Your use of an olive-green flower container would echo the border color of the plates, giving you a perfectly coordinated setting.

Often, the design motif of dinnerware can be repeated in an accessory included in the flower arrangement. If you were using, for an informal buffet dinner, plates designed with a large rooster, in red, brown and yellow colors against a white background, your centerpiece could contain one or two miniature rooster figures. An arrangement of red carnations, varicolored croton leaves and dock, with a few wood shavings at the base of the arrangement, would add to the air of informality and duplicate the colors of the dinnerware.

For a formal sitdown dinner, if your dinnerware featured a few delicate blue flowers against a white background, a centerpiece of blue cornflowers combined with agapanthus, sweet peas and white pompons would be an excellent choice, displayed on a light-blue tablecloth with white napkins.

Israeli Artist In Rush To See Picture--Movie, That Is

By INEZ ROBB
When Reuven Rubin, the famous "painter laureate of Israel," arrived in New York recently, he dashed off, as might be expected, to see some pictures.
But Rubin, who has been exhibiting his own pictures off and on in New York for 41 years, did not go to the city's museums or its established galleries. He headed straight for the movies to see "That Touch of Mink."
"Two of my pictures hang in that movie," the artist said with obvious satisfaction a few days ago. "My paintings hang in museums and private collections round the world, but never before have they hung in a cinema."
"Weeks before my family and I arrived from Tel Aviv, many American friends wrote to say they had recognized two of my pictures in 'That Touch of Mink,'" said the artist, who is a surprising combination of slim boulevardier and tanned, weather-beaten Israel pioneer.
"When they wrote that the star in the picture was Cary Grant, it wasn't hard for me to understand how I had managed to 'break in' to the movies at the age of 69. When I exhibited in Los Angeles in 1942, Barbara Hutton bought five of my pictures."
"I heard she had given two of them to Mr. Grant, then her third, husband, I believe. I have only one reservation. I think the artist ought to rate a line in the credits along with the hair dresser, don't you?"

An agless man with an artist's thatch of white hair and gift of gab, Rubin is back in New York for his first exhibition at the Wildenstein Gallery in nine years.
New York may often be a nightmare to its inhabitants, but it is a "dream" to Rubin who first came to the city to paint and study in 1920. While New Yorkers deprecate the swift replacement of old landmarks by gleaming skyscrapers, Rubin foresees a fantastic metropolis of bronze and glass.
Literary Award Goes To Porter
BOSTON (AP)—Katherine Anne Porter, author of the best-selling novel "Ship of Fools," has been awarded the Emerson-Thoreau Medal of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences for distinguished literary achievement.
Clare M. Fuses, chairman of the award committee, said the medal was given for Miss Porter's short stories, especially those in her two volumes, "Flowering Judas" and "Pale Horse, Pale Rider."

"The city is so exciting to me that I go around in a dream," he explained. "It is so astounding that I cannot even imagine what it will be like in another decade. I only hope I shall see it then."
"And American art! It has become a self-confident adult, it is filled with a great independence that it has earned and deserves. It is in so sure of itself that it doesn't care what Paris says or does. In addition, the artist has at last found his real place in American society. There isn't a successful business or professional man today who doesn't have original art in his office as well as his home. That wasn't so 40- even 20-years ago."
"Although my painting is a poetical expression of realism, I like the evolution of American abstract art. It is in the American tradition, although that doesn't mean that abstract art is the only art."
Rubin goes from New York to Los Angeles for an exhibition there. While he and Esther Davis Rubin are so close to Hollywood, some enterprising studio ought to investigate their romance.
They first met on the Mauretania in 1929, bound home for Palestine. He was a successful artist whose New York exhibition had been a complete sellout. She was an exceptionally pretty New York high school girl who had won a city-wide oratorical contest and a trip to the Holy Land.
Four minutes after Rubin saw her on board ship, he introduced himself and asked her to marry him. For conflict, there is the fact that at first she thought he was crazy, then her parents thought they were both crazy.
But eventually married and have lived happily ever after.

All Modern Offices Need Pep Leaders

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—No business office today is complete without its unofficial morale boosters.
Most large firms have a personnel department which officially tries to pep up the group loyalty of employees with such fringe benefits as free turkey rattles, bowling leagues and annual picnics and dances.
The attitude of the average hired hand toward these organized corporate goodwill gestures ranges from one of darkest suspicion to one of hearty acceptance.
The philosophy of the opportunist may be expressed thusly: "If the company is giving it away for nothing I'll take it—even if it's only a framed photograph of the board chairman. After all, I can throw his picture away, and still keep the frame."
But in addition to its paid cheerleaders, every office also has its quota of self-appointed joy spreaders. They take upon themselves the task of convincing the rest of the herd that life can still be wondrous—even if a fellow does have to work every day for a living. Perhaps the following characters of this ilk are familiar in your own office:
"Nostalgic Ned"—He tries to make everyone feel grateful by telling how many minor things used to be in the old days.
"Why," he wheezes, "You would not believe it. I can remember when we stood up and saluted when the boss entered, they gave us only a quarter hour for lunch, and they docked part of your pay if you made more than two trips a day to the men's room."
"Flannelmouth Fred"—He spends most of his time going around indiscriminately patting all the other employees on the back and saying, "You're doing a grand job."
Secretly, he hopes this will bring him to the eye of management as a man with executive talent. But the rest of the hired hands are sure on Fred. They know that after they finish doing their work, he'll ask them to help him do his.
"Rainbow-top Roseanne"—The executive secretary, a glamor gal with a middle-aged spread, fondly believes she gives every man in the place a thrill by tinting her hair a different exciting color every month.
She would be distressed to know that half the men merely think she is off her rocker, and the other half think her wig has faded.
"Bankrupt Ben"—This guy is a reverse philanthropist. "Lend me $50," he wheedles. If you do, he gives that he has benefited you by giving you a fresh interest in living and a new hope—the wild hope that somehow, some day, he may pay you back.
"Woeful Wilbert"—"Gee, I wish you was on top of my job the way you are," he sighs enviously to each and all. Wilbert, who was born with 12 thumbs, is always in trouble. But he makes all the other employees—who were born with only 10 thumbs—feel like unrecognized geniuses.
"The Great Himself"—The boss has his own inimitable way of giving everybody a shot in the arm. Along about this time of year he posts a notice on the bulletin board saying: "If business keeps up like this, we probably won't lay off half the staff at Christmas—we'll lay off two thirds."
What would office life be like without these choristers of sweetness and light, who in their various ways do so much to reconcile us to the wear and tear of the long rut and the daily routine?

Junior Editors Quiz on HISTORY

QUESTION: Where did the Pilgrims land?
ANSWER: People often think there is disagreement as to where the Pilgrims first landed in America, but this is not so. The Pilgrims left an exact account, and this is the basis of the map our artist has made. The Mayflower left England September 16, 1620. Finding dangerous shoals ahead, she steered north and sighted Cape Cod, which had been named by Gosnold in 1602. At (1) she followed the inward curve of the Cape, circling around until she came to the great harbor now called Provincetown. Here, on November 21, 1620, she anchored; and (2), at about the spot marked by the cross, the weary Pilgrims landed and gave thanks to God. The famous Mayflower Compact was drawn up in this harbor. But the country looked too sandy for a permanent settlement, and so a group of the men took the ship's boat and started off to explore. At 3, they landed and had the first encounter with the Indians (spot marked by cross). Pushing on, they followed the curving shore until they came to the harbor we know as Plymouth. This place had good water and soil. They returned to the Mayflower and the ship set sail for Plymouth. On December 28 they landed on Plymouth Rock. Nearby, they began their permanent settlement.
FOR YOU TO DO: The Mayflower Compact was one of the first written constitutions in history. Find the text and study it. You will realize that this great document is at the heart of the American idea.
(Marilyn Herpich of Litchfield, Conn. wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper.)

MEXICO CITY—Don't ask me how much things happen in the Lord of Chumpon was discovered by a group of frogmen and brought here for an operation.

And the Mexican Government, which has always gotten furious about such things as monarchs and royalty, gave Lord Juan Bautista Vega a general's suite in the Military Hospital with a red carpet to talk around on.

How it all started, Mr. Pablo Bush Romero and his frog gentlemen were operating along the coast of Quintana Roo, which is on the Yucatan Peninsula near British Honduras. Diving for Spanish galleons and making maps of the ocean floor and such.

They came across something very historical and discovered there was an old Maya manuscript pertaining to the matter. And the document was reported to be in the Maya village of Chumpon, which is four days ride by mule into the boondocks.

Now in Mexico, one does not go barging into native places and say, "hey! We're from the government so hand over all your papers."

You ask permission. And Mr. Pablo Bush got hold of a fellow from Chumpon and said the frog people would be mighty grateful for a short look at the document.

The people of Chumpon thought it over. Finally, they said things could be arranged if the frogmen were presented by the Queen of England and brought along her portrait.

"For Heaven's sake," said Mr. Bush, "what does Queen Elizabeth have to do with you folks?"

"Elizabeth" queried Chumpon. "What on earth happened to Queen Victoria?"

Mr. Bush held on to a tree so he wouldn't collapse and rushed back to camp to study the books for a while. What happened was that a great many years back, the Mayas were upset at people who kept moving into their territory. And the British, being

Deletion Of Service Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—Civil Aeronautics Board Examiner Thomas Wrenn recommended Wednesday that Midland-Odessa, Tex., be deleted from the route of American Airlines.

The finding supported a tentative conclusion of the board in its order last March setting up the Midland-Odessa case.

The West Texas cities are served also by Continental Airlines and Trans-Texas Airways. The examiner said elimination of American's stops would reduce the quality of air service available at Midland-Odessa to Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and El Paso.

Wrenn said American's position showing in attracting Midland-Odessa traffic was due to a failure to exploit the market. He said since the board cannot force an unwilling airline to engage in a vigorous competitive effort there, it would be a "useless gesture" to keep American service at the point.

Wrenn proposed that American drop its Midland-Odessa service when the CAB decides another case involving local air service in the Southwest.

For club and church socials, arrange pompons, cattails and leaves in inexpensive straw copies. One can be displayed on each small table, or the cornucopia arrangements can be grouped together on a large serving table.

Girl Has Other Things On Mind

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Judy Rae Bushong, an unusual 16-year-old girl in nearby Springfield Township has other things on her mind besides whether or not she will wear bloomer-type shorts in gym class.

"I would like to convert heathens in Mexico or Germany or something like that," says the attractive, 5-foot-3, 110-pound girl. Judy is due to be expelled from high school unless she consents by this weekend to wear the shorts in gym class.

Neither Judy nor her father, the Rev. Herbert I. Bushong, a gas station attendant and part-time pastor of the non-denominational All Souls Harbor Church, has shown any signs of wavering. She was suspended Sept. 24 for refusing to wear the shorts and was ordered expelled from Springfield High School last Monday. However, Supt. of Schools Charles L. Rieger delayed executing the order to see if Judy would comply.

The Rev. Mr. Bushong, like his daughter, believes baring knees is sinful and he says he'll fight the case to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

The shorts bare the legs to about mid-thigh.

"I have received more than 20 letters from all over the country and West Germany," Judy says. "All but two praised my stand. I want to fight on the battleground of Christ and convert the heathens. Even my boyfriend says I shouldn't wear shorts."

Several ministers have backed Judy's stand.

"This is not a religious question," says Rieger. "I admit I had second thoughts and asked cotinsel about whether I was being stubborn. I was advised and truly believe that if the school system gave in to Judy we would be wide open for any pressure group that cared to raise a question."

Brown-haired Judy does not use cosmetics but does put her hair up in curlers. Her home contains a record player, but only religious hymns are played on it. There is no television set in the home, although an aerial sprouts from the roof.

The Lord took the television set away," Judy explains. "We used to have one up till a year ago, but my father prayed until we quit watching it. He traded it in on a power lawnmower."

The Rev. Mr. Bushong has an eighth-grade education and received his minister's license after completing a correspondence Bible course.

He has been married three times. His first marriage ended with his wife's death, his second in divorce. There are six children in the family.
