Deep Rock Is To Swab Open Hole In C-E Martin Test

Deep Rock Oil Company No. 1 McWhorter, Central-East Martin County wildcat, five miles north and slightly east of Stanton is preparing to swab on the open hole in the Spraberry at 7,790-7,850 feet.

This exploration has shown good possibilities of producing petroleum in commercial quantities when it ran a drillstem test at 7,790-7,850 feet.

The tool on that investigation was open for four hours. Gas surface in one hour and 45 minutes. There was a strong blow of gas for the remainder of the test.

Clean Oil
Recovery was 938 feet of clean oil and 940 feet of salt water. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was from 190 to 760 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure, after 30 minutes was 2,825 pounds.

Operator then tried to swab the pay section through tubing, without running casing. That effort was unsuccessful.

A 5 1/2-inch liner was then set from up in the 7-inch casing which is bottomed up 8,883 feet. The liner was run to 7,790 feet, and cemented there.

To Test Natural
The plug has been drilled out and operator is now preparing to swab to bottom to clean out and test naturally.

Informed sources report that the water which was shown in the drillstem test at 7,790-7,850 feet apparently was eliminated when the liner was cemented at 7,790 feet.

They think the water might have been coming from the section above the one which carried the oil.

The open hole section from 7,790 feet to the total depth at 7,850 feet will be swabbed until it is cleaned and tested naturally. It will then be Hydratrac and tested further.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 31, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Y&H Yoakum Test Is Awaiting Orders

York & Harper, Inc., No. 1 Wright, Midland-Glorieta discovery in Northeast Yoakum County, is at total depth of 6,074 feet in line awaiting orders.

A drillstem test in the interval from 6,018 to 6,074 feet, with tool open five hours, developed 2,120 feet of water, 180 feet of load oil and 380 feet of new oil. No fluid surfaced while tool was open.

This test indicated as a discovery on a drillstem test from 5,591 to 6,020 feet.

Tool was open six and one-half hours. Gas was at the surface in one hour and 45 minutes. Oil was at the top in three hours and seven minutes. No gas was made on the headers, but pipe fillup was at the rate of 14.86 barrels per hour.

Recovery was 430 feet of oil and gas-cut salt-sulphur water which was 25 per cent oil.

This project is three and one-half miles northeast of the closest producer in the Cobb field which gets its production from the Glorieta.

Drillstem is 660 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 13, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

SE Martin Wildcat Is Given Hydratrac

Operator treated the open hole section from 7,038 to 7,187 feet in Ryan Consolidated Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Willie Peters, possible Spraberry discovery in Southeast Martin County, with 1,500 gallons.

Swabbing was to start Tuesday afternoon to clean out and test. The well was shut-in to allow the Hydratrac solution to break.

A drillstem test, which lasted 12 hours, was made in the above open hole some prior to the Hydratrac injection.

During the test there was a good blow of air for three hours. Gas surfaced in five hours. No fluid came to the top while the tester was open.

Recovery was 1,020 feet of salt water and 3,440 feet of oil. Some of that oil was new oil and some of it was load oil. There was no breakdown on the make up of the oil.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 11, block 36, T&P survey and one mile north of Stanton.

Midkiff-Spraberry Gets Two Producers

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company filed potential with the Railroad Commission of Texas for two more new producers in the Midkiff-Spraberry field of Southeast Midland County.

Reds Present New Point In Fifth Day Of Armistice Talks

MUNSAN, KOREA—(P)—An Allied spokesman said Communists raised a new point in Korean war cease-fire discussions Tuesday. But that came as no surprise to the United Nations delegation.

The spokesman did not report the nature of the new point.

Both he and an official communique said "some progress" was made in the fifth day of armistice conference at Kaesong. Delegates still are arguing about the agenda.

The spokesman, Col. James A. Norell of Mountain Home, Idaho, said he had no idea how long delegates would be working on the agenda.

Another Allied spokesman said it was "a definite possibility" that the United Nations delegation might be expanded to include Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. S. Eighth Army commander.

He added that this might be likely after an agenda is agreed upon.

The negotiators spent an hour and 35 minutes on it Tuesday. They will resume at 10 a. m. Wednesday (6 p. m. Tuesday, CST).

Announcement Brief
There was considerable "back and forth discussion," Norell said, but no heated arguments.

Allied announcements about armistice meetings were brief, but Communist reports were even shorter. The North Koreans' Pyongyang radio merely gave the time the meeting opened and the time it closed. Its reports have been terse since the talks resumed Sunday.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Communist delegate, opened Tuesday's sessions, a U. S. Eighth Army announcement said. Most of the 55-minute morning session was devoted to a discussion between Nam and Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief United Nations delegate, of the Allied proposals for the agenda.

Considerable time was required in clarifying definitions and in making translations.

In the afternoon, Nam elaborated on the Reds' idea of what the agenda should include. He apparently came (Continued on Page Eight)

Ruling On Draft Appeals Amended

WASHINGTON—(P)—Workers claiming occupational deferment from the draft now may appeal to the appeal board in the state where they work rather than to their home board, Selective Service said Tuesday.

The agency also amended its regulations to enable an employer to file such an appeal for his employee with the local board instead of with the employer's home board.

The change in procedure is effective only for cases claiming occupational deferment, including agriculture.

Big Spring Boosters Visit Here Tuesday

Rodeo boosters from Big Spring were scheduled to visit Midland Tuesday.

Due to arrive at 5:30 p. m., the boosters were to present a program downtown then cover the business district advertising the eighteenth annual Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion, slated to open Wednesday night and continue through Saturday.

Police escorted into Midland was to be provided, Chamber of Commerce officials said.

Run Your Business, We'll Run Ours, Says Mayor Of Wide-Open Galveston

DALLAS—(P)—Galveston's bars, bordellos and gambling clubs still are wide-open, despite the Texas Crime Committee's investigations, Mayor Herbert Y. Cartwright said Monday night.

The chunky, 36-year-old resort city mayor was visiting here with some Galveston businessmen. He crossed trails with Rep. Fred Meritt of Texas, chairman of the Crime Investigating Committee, who spoke here Monday to a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, a journalism fraternity.

Meritt said he expects his crime committee to recommend laws to the next Legislature that will get vice convictions, with or without cooperation of local officials. He said such a law would allow the transfer of a case to a Travis County court in Austin if state law enforcement officers were unable to get action from local officials.

Cartwright told a reporter: "We don't butt into the affairs of our sister cities and we don't want them to butt into our affairs."

Just Honest About It
The youthful mayor said prostitution and gambling could not be legislated out of existence. He said it is better to regulate vice than to let it go on behind closed doors.

"We're just honest about it," he said. "I could find a crap game in Dallas in five minutes."

Representative Meritt said the next elections will show whether Galveston citizens want laws en-

THE TREE OR NOT THE TREE—That is the question which may help determine if a 40-mile-long vacancy strip exists through Midland County and three neighboring counties. Fort Worth Attorney James C. Wilson, Jr., contends these hackberry trees are the same ones referred to in an 1876 survey involved in his vacancy claim. The trees, located in a hackberry grove five miles east of Stanton, are in the vicinity of the line between Blocks 36 and 37. Opponents to the vacancy claim say a 1904 survey reports finding stumps at the particular surveyor's location of these trees.

Senator Cites Flood As Reply To Critics Of Control Projects

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senator McClellan (D-Ark) Tuesday pointed to the disastrous Kansas-Missouri flood as an expensive answer to critics who call flood control projects "pork barrel" legislation.

"If Congress a few years ago had appropriated $300,000,000 for flood control reservoirs in Kansas," he told reporters, "we would have spared this flood loss of at least twice that amount."

Mr. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of Army Engineers, has estimated the damage will be at least $750,000,000 and may be much higher.

McClellan said similar potential flood danger exists in at least 100 other places over the country, and he added: "A flood like the Kansas City flood could happen at any of these places—and as at Kansas City, it could be prevented."

Absolute Refutation
But, he said, too often when Congress votes money for flood control someone raises a cry of "pork barrel."

"What is happening at Kansas City," McClellan said, "is an absolute refutation of this false charge" (Continued on Page Eight)

Telegraph Operators Accept Wage Boost

WASHINGTON—(P)—Western Union Telegraph Company employees have voted to accept a company offer of a 17-cent-an-hour wage boost.

Adolph Brungs, head of the Western Union Division of the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union, told reporters the count of ballots is not complete, but the vote for accepting the proposal is substantial.

Some 35,000 employees are involved. They had planned to go on strike July 2, but called it off to consider the company's offer.

Merchants To Hold Super-Value Days Each Wednesday

Wednesday Super-Value Days will be inaugurated this week by Midland merchants who are offering special bargains in general merchandise for the benefit of Midland and area shoppers.

Super-Value Days will be held Wednesday of each week, except when Wednesday falls on a holiday or during the week in which $4-Dollar Days are observed. $4-Dollar Days are observed the first week of each month.

A majority of Midland merchants will participate in the weekly Super-Value Days event, offering special values in practically every line of merchandise.

Super-Value Day advertisements will appear in The Reporter-Telegram on Tuesdays preceding the special Wednesday sales events. The ads will be grouped for the convenience of the buying public.

Battered Kansas Cities Mobilize For Cleanup Task

KANSAS CITY—(P)—The battered Kansas City area mobilized Tuesday for a herculean cleanup task as flood waters, swirling eastward, struck new blows at Missouri River cities.

Receding flood waters in this metropolitan area of 900,000 left block after block of muck-covered ruin.

And in Kansas, a line of wrecked or partially damaged towns and cities stretched across the eastern and central parts of the state.

The latest damage estimate for Kansas and Missouri is $750,000,000—the nation's costliest flood.

Water still covered many sections but it fast was slipping back into river channels here and in Kansas.

But to the east of Kansas City, small cities along the Missouri felt the full force of the turbulent river.

Lexington, Wellington, Norborne and Hardin, Mo., were flooded. Some dikes in Central Missouri gave way. Oklahoma suffers.

The runoff of Kansas flood waters also buffeted Oklahoma, Miami, in Northeastern Oklahoma, suffered its worst flood beating in history from the Neesho-Grand River.

High water poured over 130 to 150 blocks of the city of 12,000, forcing approximately 3,500 persons from their homes.

The flood has brought death to 17 persons, tied up highway and rail transportation, forced more than 70,000 from their homes and severely damaged the industrial capacity of numerous towns and cities.

In Kansas City, Kan., and Kansas City, Mo., four major industrial areas covering thousands of acres were flooded. Water during the height of the flood stood more than 20 feet deep in some places.

Truman Flies West For Aerial Survey Of Flooded Areas

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman flew West Tuesday for a quick aerial inspection of flood damage in Kansas, Oklahoma, and his home state of Missouri.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, and by Charles E. Wilson, mobilization director.

Wilson went along to view defense plants hit by the nation's costliest flood.

The party took off in Truman's personal plane, the Independence, at 10:47 a. m.

The President and Wilson expected to return late Tuesday.

Before leaving, he talked half an hour with Gov. Forrest Smith of Missouri at the White House. Governor Smith remained in Washington.

A downpour of rain threatened briefly to delay the departure, but shortly before the take-off the sun broke through. There was a heavy haze, but it was understood weather conditions in Missouri and Kansas were favorable for the aerial survey.

Greyhound Liner Hits Parked Gas Transport Truck

BIG SPRING—Four persons were killed and 21 others injured about 3:30 p. m. Monday when a loaded Greyhound bus crashed into a parked gasoline transport truck during a blinding rainstorm 15 miles east of here. There was no fire.

Passengers were crushed when the big interstate bus smashed broadside into the rear of the truck. The right side of the bus was split open and the left seats were crushed against the transport, The Associated Press reported.

The dead: Oliver Harvill, about 47, and his wife, Ruby, about 45, of Farmersville, Calif.; Pfc. Rafael A. Mendoza, 23, of Fort Hood, and Mrs. Mary E. McDaniel of Douglassville, Texas.

Private Mendoza's home address was given as El Paso. His body has been sent to Goodfellow Air Force Base at San Angelo.

Mrs. McDaniel was traveling with three-year-old Rosemary Durham of Texarkana, Texas. The child was not injured.

A woman who lived in Midland about 30 or 35 years ago, Mrs. Ora Denton, about 45, was among the seriously injured. Mrs. Denton, who suffered an arm injury, now lives on a ranch near Globe, Ariz.

Two Injured Critically
Listed as critically injured are Willie Lee Watkins, 27, who may have internal injuries and whose brother lives at Atoka, Okla., and Frank Jacob Kilmer of Chicago, whose left leg was amputated.

Driver of the bus was P. L. Furrill of Pecos. He suffered shock, but otherwise was not hurt.

The driver of the truck, E. E. Furlow of Odessa, said he pulled up and parked on the highway shoulder behind a stopped gravel truck, because rain had reduced his visibility. He was driving a Johnson Brothers truck of Odessa.

Highway Patrolman F. O. Williams said the driver of the bus apparently applied his brakes when (Continued On Page Five)

13 Commies Sent To Jail Third Time

NEW YORK—(P)—Thirteen indicted Communist leaders were ordered to jail Tuesday for the third time when they failed to produce court-approved bail.

The order came from Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff.

Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan Monday disqualified the Civil Rights Congress Bail Fund from posting bond and gave 14 defendants until Tuesday to obtain bond from other sources.

Thirteen made no bail application when they appeared before Holtzoff. One Admitted To Bail

An application to put up $10,000 bail for the fourteenth defendant, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, was made by Grace Hutchins, not further identified.

While the 13 were led from the courtroom, the court ruled the bond offered by Miss Hutchins acceptable and admitted Miss Flynn to bail.

Judge Ryan had rejected bail from the Civil Rights Congress Bail Fund on the ground its trustees declined to identify contributors to the fund and had not submitted proof of title to the bonds.

When the trustees declined to disclose the source of the fund's securities, Ryan revoked the fund's $165,000 bail in the case of the 14 Communist leaders now facing trial on a charge of conspiring to advocate and to teach violent overthrow of the government.

First jailed on arrest, and then bailed, the majority of the second group was jailed again when Ryan revoked the bond.

An appeals court order brought them temporary release on bail again, until Tuesday's order, sending them back behind bars for the third time.

Draft Board Asked For Six Selectees As August Quota

Selective Service Board 137, which serves Midland, Glasscock and Sterling Counties, has received official notice of an August induction call for six men.

This is in line with the recent announcement in the state that the August call for 485 men had been increased to 722. Previously, the board here had no quota for August.

Mrs. Nell Roberts now is clerk at the draft board office, which is located at 321 East Texas Street. Office hours are 10 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 to 5 p. m. daily except Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays.

The office telephone number is 2-3301.

★ LATE NEWS FLASHES ★

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior Chapman said Tuesday that unless the oil industry's steel needs are met, the nation may be forced into gasoline rationing in the next eight to 10 months.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senate Tuesday passed a $25,000,000 emergency appropriation for aid to flood-stricken areas of the Middle West.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government Tuesday lifted a three-month-old ban against putting a spare tire on new automobiles at the factory.

FORT WAYNE, IND.—(AP)—The death toll in the Monday night collision of a Nickel Plate freight train and a Wabash passenger train near here rose to four Tuesday with the finding of an unidentified negro woman's body under an overturned refrigerator car.

Trumanites Fight Gamely In Defense Of Price Rollbacks

WASHINGTON—(P)—Administration forces in the house, seeking partial victory, stood fast Tuesday in a determined defense of price rollbacks.

Immediately at stake was the 10 per cent price rollback on beef prices which Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle has termed the symbol of the whole attempt to stabilize prices.

Of more far-reaching effect was the fate of the overall price rollback principle and the prospect of bans on all future rollbacks affecting non-agricultural as well as farm products.

As the House neared the showdown stage on the rollback controversy in the economic controls bill before it, these possibilities emerged:

1. The House, with substantial Republican backing for the Administration position, will vote to keep the price rollback on beef.

2. At the same time, it will prohibit future rollbacks in all segments of the economy.

Republican leaders, favoring what they term "reasonable" controls indicated they would be willing to allow President Truman to keep the beef rollback.

But GOP members, together with Southern Democrats, appeared determined to write an outright prohibition against all future rollbacks.

Farm state leaders, who have taken a "no compromise" stand on all rollbacks, including the one on beef already in effect, conceded privately they may have to settle on these terms.

'Missing' Woman Is Safe At Home

Alice Horner is safe at home. Police Chief Rube Hemingway said Tuesday the 56-year-old Indianapolis, Ind., woman who disappeared from here three weeks ago, had been located.

Police have been seeking clues to her whereabouts since she disappeared from her motel cabin, a few days after her arrival here to marry a Midland construction worker.

The marriage was called off following an argument.

Monday, she told Indianapolis police she had caught a train out of Midland and returned to her home.

Assassins' Bullets End Life Of Former Lebanese Premier

AMMAN, JORDAN (AP)—The body of Lebanon's former Premier Riad El Solh—cut down Monday by assassins' bullets—was flown home to Beirut Tuesday. Authorities said one of his slayers is dead, another lies wounded by his own hand and a third still is sought by police.

Two of the assassins tried to escape, police said, but an Arab Legion officer killed one, identified as Mechal El Dick of Lebanon. A second man—Mohammad Abdullatif El Salahi of Haifa—shot himself, but still is alive.

Before World War I, the Ottoman Turks, who then governed most of the Arab world, condemned El Solh to death, but his sentence was commuted to permanent exile. He was condemned to death again when the French took over Syria and Lebanon as a League of Nations mandate, but fled to Switzerland.

In spite of the fact that hundreds of thousands of men, women, and children weigh more than they should and most of them have a more or less active desire to reduce, few seem to realize how much they are putting their health in danger by remaining fat.

Obesity has been shown to have an unfavorable effect on a large number of diseases including high blood pressure, diabetes, toxemia of pregnancy, heart disease, and even cancer.

The fat person runs increased risks from surgery, is more likely to develop gall bladder disease and to sustain fractures and a whole host of other hazards.

A person between 45 and 55 years of age who is 25 pounds overweight has a 25 per cent increased chance of dying within the next year as compared with someone of normal weight.

More weight increases the dangers proportionately. Aside from every other disadvantage of excessive fat, the heart has to do extra work to pump blood through all this unnecessary tissue.

All this has given rise to the expression "digging one's grave with the teeth," a saying which is far too near the truth to be comfortable.

It is probably wise for everyone to know his or her ideal weight and to make an effort to reach it and stay there. This is not necessarily the average weight for age, sex and height since this may well be too high, especially for people of small frame and for those who are more than 30 years old.

Tables of "ideal" weight cannot be presented here, but a few selections may help some readers to place themselves.

Figures on this have been prepared by a large insurance company: for women more than 25, height five feet—from 105 to 129 pounds depending on the size of frame; height five feet five inches—from 119 to 145 pounds depending on frame; height five feet nine inches—from 133 to 162 pounds also depending on frame.

Range For Men
Similarly the range for men (varying with the frame) runs like this: five feet six inches—from 129 to 157 pounds; five feet 10 inches—from 144 to 175 pounds; six feet two inches—from 163 to 202 pounds.

Tables also have been prepared for growing boys and girls of different ages and heights. But there are variations between individuals which may be quite normal—in size of frame, for example—so it is best to arrive at an ideal with the assistance of the doctor.

Young People Attend Camp

CRANE—The Rev. J. F. Kendrick, pastor of the First Christian Church, accompanied five junior and intermediate young people of the church to the Southern Christian Service Camp near Kerrville last week.

The young people attending were Deana Horne, James B. Williams, Betty Fraley, Dorothy Kendrick and Wayne Young.

Mr. Kendrick taught "The Life of Paul" and "Jesus, The Son of God" at the camp. He also served as assistant recreational director.

Suffers Arm Burns

STREUM RUSSELL, 409 South Mineola Street, was given emergency treatment Monday at Western Clinic Hospital for first and second degree burns about the arms and hands suffered when he slipped and spilled hot asphalt on them while working on a roof.

Parties Honor Midland Visitor

Mrs. Leonard Shepherd of Coronado, Calif., was honored with a coffee Thursday. The coffee was given by Mrs. Shepherd's mother, Mrs. H. C. Wood. The honoree is the former Charlene Wood of Midland.

The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of Spring flowers.

Those attending were Mrs. Leon Clark, Jr., Mrs. Jan-a-W. Strawn, Mrs. Gene Essary, Mrs. Larry Wiles, Mrs. Warren Reynolds, Mrs. Charles Alken, Mrs. Charles Lynch and Mrs. Gene Tabor.

An outdoor luncheon was given for Mrs. Shepherd Monday in Cole Park.

Those attending the luncheon were Mrs. Don Miller, Mrs. Leon Clark, Jr., Mrs. Larry Wiles, Mrs. Gene Essary, Mrs. Charles Lynch, Mrs. Warren Reynolds, Mrs. Gene Tabor, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Charles Alken.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wood, 810 South Big Spring Street. They will return Wednesday to Coronado where Shepherd is an electronic technician first class in the U. S. Navy.

Ruth Circle Meets With Mrs. Siard

Mrs. W. P. Siard was hostess to the Ruth Circle of the St. Mark's Methodist Church Monday.

Following the business meeting, the group attended the opening revival service in the St. Mark's Church. The speaker was Dr. Ray Johnson who took for his subject, "The Twenty-Third Psalm."

The next meeting of the circle will be held at 7:30 p.m. August 6 in the home of Mrs. Jack Locke.

Those attending were Mrs. H. G. Brewer, Mrs. Bill Smith, Mrs. Locke, Mrs. C. S. Aycock, Mrs. William Sandeen, Mrs. Charles Poole, Mrs. W. S. Withers and Mrs. Ned Swallow.

Fire Department Holds Barbecue

The Midland Fire Department held its annual barbecue Saturday night at Cole Park. Approximately 200 persons attended.

The beef was donated by Poy and Leonard Proctor, Midland ranchers. Other ranchers donated money for the food. After the barbecue the remaining beef was used to give a supper for the Midland Indians, following their Saturday night game with the Roswell Rockets.

'Mrs. Indian' It's Baseball Outside, Inside Jacome Home

By JUDY RANDOLPH

Little David straightened his strong back, bringing the ball behind him, then after a slight pause, raised both arms above his head and threw a hard straight ball. A little high maybe, David, but you could make any three-year-olds' league in the country.

But David's pitching skill is no surprise since he has had an excellent teacher, his father, Eddie Jacome.

Mrs. Jacome finds her whole life as a housewife is centered around baseball. Sitting in the front room is a bookcase filled with small bats, balls and gloves for David and her other son, Kenneth, who is two years old.

Out in the yard she can hear the two youngsters hollering "Slide," as one of them slips into home plate. Of course, when he's not on road trips, their father is out there with them, proving by his boys that one is never too young to learn the insides of baseball.

Asbury Circles Meet For Study

Mrs. Jesse Hooper, circle leader, gave the devotional and conducted a short business session at the Monday meeting of the Builders Circle of the Asbury Methodist Church.

Mrs. Hooper completed the fourth in the series of talks on "We Seek Him Together."

Mrs. Preston Pirle spoke on how to help others to worship.

The closing prayer was given by Mrs. J. S. Grimes.

Others present were Mrs. George Dameron, Mrs. Grace Wright and Estelle King.

The Friendship Circle met Monday in the home of Mrs. Dennis Ford.

Mrs. J. P. Carson, Jr., and Betty Russell completed the study, "Christian Vocations."

During the business meeting the circle decided to sell watermelons after church July 29. A business meeting will be held at 9 a.m. Monday.

Others attending were Mrs. George Lawless, Mrs. W. J. Wilson and Mrs. J. A. Andrews.

NEWCOMERS Arkansas Native Likes Opportunities In West Texas

"For opportunities, I'll take Texas," stated one new Midlander. But Mrs. Rex O. Bozarth continued that she savored her native state of Arkansas for scenery and climate.

Mrs. Bozarth and her husband moved here two weeks ago from Houston. Bozarth, a petroleum engineer, has been transferred to the Midland branch of the Hughes Tool Company.

Bozarth, an amateur photographer, recently took second place in a contest for the Hughes News in Houston. His winner was an informal shot of his two-year-old son, Lon Dee. The 27-year-old Bozarth does his own development on a small scale.

A collection of pipes for the man of the house decorates the Bozarth home at 2405 West College Street.

After graduating from a junior college in Fort Smith, Ark., Mrs. Bozarth moved to Houston and there discovered the boy-next-door, Rex. They have been married three years.

Bozarth was graduated in June from the University of Houston.

Seven Odessans Attend Lodge Meet

Seven guests from Odessa were present at the Monday meeting of the Rebekah Lodge in the Odd Fellows Hall. The visitors were members of the George Knoff Lodge 119.

Patsy Sperl, noble grand, presided over the meeting. Plans were made to hold a formal initiation service at 8 p.m. Monday in the Odd Fellows Hall. The group was invited to attend a meeting in Odessa July 27 to hear a state officer speak.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Grady Pulley of Big Spring was admitted to Western Clinic Hospital Monday as a medical patient.

Spain's Potentialities

U. S. military men long have been represented as wanting Spain drawn into the Western orbit for strategic reasons.

With the forbidding Pyrenees guarding its border, with wide stretches of flat plateau and plain, it is rated highly, both as a defensive bastion and a staging area, particularly for air operations.

But up to now, political factors have outweighed military considerations. Spain's Premier Franco, a Fascist dictator, bitterly is disappointed by moderate and liberal elements who are in command of other Western European governments.

Out of deference to their shaky position, the United States has not insisted on tighter ties with Franco.

Franco's friends in Congress, especially men like Senator McCarran of Nevada, deplore this situation. They argue that a valuable potential ally against communism is in effect being snubbed.

The contention is that not only Spain's geography but its 500,000-man army ought to be thrown into the balance on the Western side.

Probably no one will deny the strategic worth of Spain's geographical features. But new evidence coming to light in recent months suggests that Franco's army might prove a very doubtful advantage.

First Leon Dennen, NEA correspondent in Europe, and now C. L. Sulzberger of the New York Times, reported that a widespread movement against the Franco regime is developing in Spain.

According to their accounts, numerous Spanish generals are cooperating with this movement. It is said to be headed by a General Aranda, a now inactive commander who once was a Franco military hero for his exploits in the Spanish civil war.

Irving Brown, an AFL representative in Europe, sent a confidential report to his Washington headquarters on the anti-Franco activity.

It was his judgment that the Spanish army is not united. The anti-Franco generals command large areas of Spain, and raise serious doubts about Franco's ability to control those sectors if a showdown should come.

Adds Brown in his report: "In the event of war, the people of Spain will not support Franco and will use any arms they can get, including the arms the Soviet Union may parachute to them, against Franco. In other words, Franco is not even a good military asset, let alone a political one."

Certainly Brown's report is not the final word on the political and military condition of Spain. But it fits in with earlier reports. And there is no question that a broad anti-Franco movement embracing elements of the army is a reality.

This does not mean that U. S. military thinkers must abandon the idea that Spain may have a useful role in the Western defense scheme. But it does indicate that there ought to be a careful revaluing of Spain's potentialities in the light of 1951 facts.

Furthermore, there is enough substance in these accounts to give some pause to those lawmakers who rise to their feet and shout for Franco every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

In There Pitching

It is a safe bet that almost from the moment William Oatis, AP correspondent in Prague, was arrested by Czech police, the United States government has been working to obtain his freedom.

The government never relaxed at any time its efforts to win the release of Robert Vogeler from his Hungarian prison, and they finally were fruitful. We must hope that once careful planning and shrewd dealing will restore an innocent American to the normal life of the free world he knew.

Meantime, when you read of a senator or somebody else shouting that nothing is being done and that we ought to send the Marines after Oatis, take the charitable view. Just assume the gentleman doesn't understand how these things are accomplished.

Vacation 'Coffee Breaks'

From now until Labor Day, Americans will be taking to the highways in the summertime quest for new horizons and vacation vistas. They will start early and drive late in the rush to reach their objectives. And they will pile up fatigue that piles up highway death.

L. S. Harris, secretary of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Commissioners, points out that none of these people would think of working like that in their offices. Instead, they take "coffee breaks" during the day to ease the tension. His idea that motorists ought to take "coffee breaks," or something like them, to break the strain and monotony of fast, long-distance driving makes a lot of sense.

Enjoy the things you dislike and you'll find another way to happiness.

Frankenstein Monster

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Defense Mobilizer Wilson cooperates with labor on price controls; Missing British diplomats bring on State Department housecleaning; Both diplomats were neurotic and should have been fired.

WASHINGTON — Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson has had many bitter battles with labor both before and after he came to Washington. However, the former General Electric boss pulled shoulder-to-shoulder with labor leaders last week in a closed-door assault on Congress for failing to pass effective price controls.

More than 100 House members, including about 30 Republicans, heard Wilson, AFL President Bill Green and CIO Secretary-Treasurer James Carey denounce the badly gutted price control bill as a boon to Joe Stalin and an invitation to ruinous inflation.

"If the dollar goes down to 25 cents in value because Congress has failed to control prices, Joe Stalin will have gained a great victory without firing a shot," the ex-head of General Electric declared at the secret meeting, called by House Rules Chairman Adolph Sabath of Illinois.

"I do not agree with labor all the time, but I agree with labor on this. We are moving into a period of stepped-up production for defense that will greatly increase the pressure on our economy."

Yet Congress is about to pass legislation that weakens controls on inflation instead of stiffening them. "I'm from big business and I'm proud of it," continued Wilson. "Even though this spokesman for labor"—he pointed to CIO's Jim Carey—"has ripped into me from time to time in the past, but we've got to realize—all of us, business, labor, the farmer and Congress—that we must pull together unselfishly if we are going to win the battle against inflation."

Carey, AFL President Green and Charles Anderson, an official of the railroad brotherhood, vigorously supported Wilson.

In the background of the State Department's re-examination of 500 members of its staff from top to bottom, including the suspension of several career diplomats pending security hearings, was the mysterious disappearance of the two British diplomats.

This scrutiny is no reflection on any particular person, and many of those suspended merely face technical charges. It is significant, furthermore, that the FBI woman informer, for many years a member of the Communist Party, recently testified that she knew of no Communist in the State Department, though her job was to list the membership of all Washington Communists.

The State Department, however, is taking precautions, lest the same thing happen to the American diplomatic service that happened to the British. For, with the disappearance of the two British career men, it was necessary to fly special couriers all over the world to change the secret codes of both the United States and Britain. In addition, almost every secret known to the two countries was exposed—probably to the Kremlin.

Furthermore, this tragic loss of secrets could have been prevented by more alertness on the part of British authorities—which is why the State Department is staging a new self-inspection.

The most widespread and thorough search in history now has been conducted for Donald MacLean and Guy Burgess. Allied agents have spent hundreds of hours trying to track down the missing men. They have combed the continent, searched the dives of Montmartre, inspected the waterfronts of Rotterdam, Antwerp, and Le Havre; have even checked as far away as Argentina. But so far every trail has led up a blind alley.

Every day that passes makes it more conclusive that MacLean and Burgess have disappeared behind the Iron Curtain—as was first predicted by the companion who started off with them and then came home.

Meanwhile here is the story of what happened, as intelligence officers carefully have pieced it together. It is a story illustrating the need for housecleaning all diplomatic deadwood before it is too late.

News of the failure of Burgess to leave the United States in May, Guy Burgess had become a diplomatic failure. Perhaps as a result, he also had become an outspoken anti-American. There is no record, however, that he engaged in any pro-Russian activities while in this country. What he had been asked to leave the United States because of drunken-driving and a strong protest by Virginia's Governor John S. Battle.

Burgess was sexual deviate, and an extensive search has been made to locate his friends in Washington. So far the search has proved futile. Burgess apparently had no close friends except for some of the dregs of the city.

2. Actually Burgess was no more than a diplomatic flunky attached to the British Embassy. Associates report he was neurotic, unreliable and a bore. One associate described him as "an explosive mass of frustrations and inner conflicts." He should have been house-cleaned long ago.

3. MacLean was of a different caliber. Only 38 years old and son of a distinguished father, he was the chief of the American Division of the Foreign Office—a post in which he knew every vital allied secret.

In recent years, however, MacLean had become increasingly unstable. Due to overwork he had two nervous breakdowns. He also had acquired a personality unbalance somewhat similar to Burgess' and his American wife was concerned.

4. Before Burgess and MacLean left together for France on May 25, Burgess, the bachelor, told friends he was going to "visit the Continent" for several weeks. He was starting six weeks' leave from the Foreign Office, preparatory to looking for a new job. Significantly he didn't mention MacLean's name in any conversation about his forthcoming trip.

MacLean, however, didn't have any official leave from his government post. That Friday, when he left home, MacLean told his pregnant wife: "I'm going away for the weekend and will be back Sunday night or Monday morning." He did not say where he was going. And he didn't mention Burgess' name.

5. As far as the authorities can determine, neither man took more than a limited amount of money. Their bank accounts have been checked thoroughly and no heavy withdrawals were made prior to their departure. Neither man is thought to have taken more than $200, although they could have hidden funds in their clothes, funds received in advance from the Russians.

6. An exhaustive check of each man's wardrobe indicates both of them took only enough clothes to last for a relatively short trip. MacLean had only enough clothes for the weekend.

7. Intelligence officers are certain that both Burgess and MacLean got as far as Paris. However, there's absolutely no record of their arrival or presence in the French capital.

The pair left Southampton on the Channel steamer "Falaise," docking at St. Malo. They proceeded from St. Malo to Rennes by taxi, telling the taxi driver they were trying to catch the 1:18 train to Paris. For some strange reason they had left their bags on the steamer—maybe for the purpose of starting completely fresh in the strange new Soviet world they were entering.

Despite thousands of interviews by the French police and British agents, the trail of the two British diplomats ends right here—with the two men, frustrated, at odds with the world, running bareheaded to catch the Paris train.

Q—Who was known as "the Father of Medicine?" A—Hippocrates, the Greek physician and teacher of medicine. Sixty books are in the "Hippocratic collection," but the master probably wrote only six or seven of them. Others were written by his pupils, or by later teachers at the school of Cos.

Q—How fast does sound travel? A—Through dry air, at a temperature of 68 degrees (F.), sound travels with a speed of 1,130 feet per second. The speed increases with temperature. At the freezing point of water, it is 1,088 feet per second.

Q—In Colonial Virginia what was an "ordinary?" A—An ordinary originally meant a place which just served meals. A tavern was a house licensed to sell liquor to be drunk on the spot, and an inn was a house for the lodging and entertainment of travelers. However, the terms were interchangeable.

Q—Why is a wedding ring worn on the fourth finger of the left hand? A—The fourth finger of the left hand was chosen as the ring finger because it is believed that a special artery leads from there to the heart.

Q—What is the meaning of the initials "L.A.?" A—They stand for the Latin phrase, id est, meaning "that is, or that is to say."

Henry VIII had the spinning wheel brought to England from India, thus replacing the distaff and spindle.

PETER EDSON'S Washington News Notebook

Will Tom Dewey's Far East Trip Start Political Tongues Wagging?

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's trip to the Far East was made at the suggestion of Ambassador John Foster Dulles, who has been chief negotiator of the Japanese peace treaty.

Originally, Governor Dewey had planned to go to Europe. Ambassador Dulles, who was Dewey's principal foreign policy adviser in his races for the presidency, reminded the governor that he had been to Europe two years ago, but had never visited the Pacific.

Since the Far East is to be an important area, Dulles thought Governor Dewey should become better acquainted with its problems, first-hand.

Ambassador Dulles arranged the trip and made appointments with many of the people Governor Dewey is to see in Japan, Formosa, Hong Kong, Indo-China, Indonesia, Singapore, Australia, and New Zealand. Too Many Men

U. S. Air Force is having a tough time trying to figure why it needs so many men, and what they all do. When the Air Force had 48 groups, it had 411,000 men. Doubling the size of the Air Force was expected to call for only twice as many men.

But the personnel estimates for the 95 group Air Force now being built up call for more than 1,000,000 men. The brass can't understand it. Orders have been given by Chief of Staff Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg to cut personnel and budget manpower on an inadequate basis, if necessary, to get the numbers down.

The word passed down to all lower echelons of command is, "You just don't need that many people." Not On Wall Street

While the Hungarian Communist government continues kicking Americans around, Hungarian embassy officials in the United States are going right ahead with plans to reopen the New York and Chicago consulates. They were closed in retaliation for American businessmen Robert Vogel's arrest and imprisonment on phony spy charges.

Hungarian government did have to get a new location in New York. Before the Vogel arrest, they had consular offices in Wall Street area. They decided that wasn't a good address for Communist country offices, so they changed.

Get Slide Rule Ready

Biggest manpower shortage now reported is in graduate engineers. Survey of American industry has indicated that 70,000 young engineers now are wanted by employers. But only 29,000 engineering students were graduated by technical schools this June.

And only 19,000 high school graduates have indicated they will enter engineering schools this Fall. Assuming the customary drop-outs and failures, this will nowhere near supply demand for engineers four years hence.

This also explains importance of recent Selective Service policy for deferring college students, as announced by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey.

Dr. Arthur Flemming, manpower adviser to Mobilization Director C. E. Wilson, has just set up new advisory committee of educators and industrialists, to increase number of students taking engineering courses.

More women may be urged to take up engineering. And a new scholarship plan, to finance qualified students unable to get money for their own technical education, may have to be adopted.

Military Government Out

Transfer of the Pacific Islands Trust Territory from Navy Department to Department of Interior supervision leaves very few spots under U. S. military government.

Wake, Midway and Johnston Islands, important as mid-Pacific air bases, still are under the Navy as U. S. possessions. The Ryukus and the Bonin-volcano Islands are under military government, pending settlement of the Japanese peace treaty.

American Samoa is in the process of transfer to territorial government, and the Navy yard there is being closed. It will throw some 500 natives out of work and cut off a payroll that has done a great deal to keep the island economy going.

Many natives on all these islands want to enlist in the U. S. armed forces, but there are no recruiting provisions.

Message At High Speed

So many costly gadgets have been hung on highspeed jet aircraft that there's practically no room left for the pilots. They are cramped in awfully close quarters. And as the range of jets is constantly being increased, there is no opportunity for moving about or relaxing.

After seven-hour flight missions, plane crews come in pretty well fatigued. The remedy for this now has been found—in another gadget. It's a compressed air pulsator, built into the pilot's seat. When he begins to feel stiff, he turns on the air. The gadget then gives him an ever-gentle massage, which is supposed to make him feel dandy again.

Gadgets Take Over

The ultimate in aircraft will come when there are so many gadgets on planes that there won't be any room at all for the pilot. Everything will be done by remote controls, making the aircraft nothing more than guided missiles. Aircraft designers have thought up a real fancy name for such planes. It's "uninhabited aircraft."

Seafood Battle A Draw

The great Washington National Press Club clamor debate on the relative merits of Maine lobsters and Louisiana crayfish ended in something of a draw.

Republican Senator Owen Brewster of Maine said the northern shell fish were firm, like Republicans. Southern species, on the other hand, were soft-shelled and flabby, like Democrats. Democratic Rep. F. Edward Hebert of Louisiana countered with a question. Which would you rather hold in your arms, Babe Didrikson or Dorothy LaMour?

Baukage, the radio commentator, who had to preside over the debate when Federal Mediator Cyrus Ching got tied up in Washington's transit strike negotiations, finally gave the award to—the red herring.

What's RIGHT?

You are writing a business letter and want it to sound informal.

WRONG: Use the salutation "My dear sir."

RIGHT: Use the person's name: "My dear Mr. Smith."

(My dear Sir is not incorrect—but it is the most formal salutation for a business letter.)

U. S. Warns Use Of Sex Hormones May Be Dangerous

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Food and Drug Administration says sex hormones distributed by two Los Angeles firms might bring on cancer in men and injure Women's reproductive organs if used without medical supervision.

Following a federal court ban against interstate shipment and sale of the chemicals, Dr. Edwin E. Nelson, medical director of the Food and Drug Administration, warned men particularly against doctoring themselves with male sex hormone tablets.

He said the male hormone, known chemically as testosterone, could awaken dormant cancer in the prostate glands of many men.

The firms named in the court order were Vita Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (El-O-Patic Pharmacy), and the Waywood Pharmaceutical Company, (Rudson Products Company), both of Los Angeles. Nelson said each firm had conducted a nationwide sales campaign.

Dunlap's Nomination Gets Panel Approval

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The nomination of John B. Dunlap of Dallas as commissioner of internal revenue was approved unanimously Monday by the Senate Finance Committee.

He will succeed George J. Schoeemaker, who is resigning July 31. Dunlap has been in the Bureau of Internal Revenue several years.

He has headed a special unit tracking down tax evasion among racketeers for the last two months.

Suddenly Kenneth Montijo laughed

—and San Lorenzo was obliged to postpone learning whether he or Duke Rogers could draw a gun faster.

"Good idea," he roared gleefully. Sounding the war, whoop of the Apaches, he flung himself across the table.

Charity's battle was utter but brief. When the mists that had clouded her brain lifted she found herself kneeling on top of Angel, sensing ecstasy in every fiber of her being as her thumbs pressed deeper into the tender defensesless throat. Slowly she relaxed. What a poor scrap of a thing this beaten Angel was! If he were only as insolent as she had been an hour ago: "Your Douglas will swear the night is day, or day night, if I but whisper it in my sleep," she had boasted.

"It's midday," Charity said. Angel stared at her out of eyes that begged dumbly for mercy. "I say it's midday," she repeated. "It can't be," Angel croaked, "the night—"

BUT Angel had sloughed her disguise as a lady. She was angry. Angry with Duke for having permitted himself to be outwitted, even after she had warned him that Ken Montijo was to town and meant trouble; angry with Montijo who stuck his nose into other people's business; angry most of all at Charity, who, though crushed, humiliated and sobbing only an hour or so before, was now, without the sense to know what it was all about, the center of attention—with two of the most dangerous men in New Mexico on the verge of shooting each other over her.

Charity did not know the meaning of all the names Angel called her, but she recognized enough of them to guess the remainder. As lady she was insulted. All the fury of the past three days entered. She was avenging Douglas; she was avenging Montijo; she was avenging the degradation of her own recent tears.

As the women struck and clawed the two men relaxed their mutual wariness long enough to stare.

WILD WEST CHARITY STANDISH BY CHARLES JUDAH

EVERYONE, except Duke Rogers, Angel, the stranger and Charity Standish edged away from the table. Rogers' temper was mounting. "What if I don't feel like taking your bet?" he snarled at the stranger.

"Then I'd make such an attractive offer that no honest man could resist it. I'd bet $5000 against the lady's L. O. U. and the money here on the table that I can throw 10 double-aces in succession."

He tossed the dice. Surely enough the double ace came up. "One," he said.

Duke snatched at the dice, but again he was too slow. Quickly, yet without apparent effort, the stranger retrieved them and threw again.

"Two. Three. Four. Five—"

Duke Rogers realized that he was not only being exposed as a cheat but made to look a fool as well. The former did not matter so much since everyone in San Lorenzo knew that he was a cheat and that he was a cheat and the visitors themselves half expected it. But he could not afford the ridicule. He would be laughed out of New Mexico Territory. His mind worked rapidly. Gun play was well enough, but he preferred to have his opponent off balance when it started. He leaned far over the table and spit. The stranger wiped his face and threw the dice.

"Six. Seven—"

Men were crowding towards the door. The stranger was not a stranger to anyone but Charity. He was Kenneth B. Douglas, and though San Lorenzo had long speculated on the outcome of a gun fight between Ken and the Duke no one was anxious to witness it.

"Eight. Nine—"

As he called each new rolling of the double ace Montijo's voice was soft, but to Duke Rogers it was a bell tolling doom.

"Ten!"

There was a brief pause. Charity's note and the money were still in the middle of the table. Rogers reached towards it. A knife flashed past his hand. Speechless, the gambler stared at the wickedly winking blade that pinned the L. O. U. to the table. A moment of thick silence was broken by Angel.

"You cheap, dirty louse," she screamed.

Keeping his right hand free, Montijo swept up the money, and with it Charity's note.

"Remember your manners, Angel," he admonished, indulgently.

BUT Angel had sloughed her disguise as a lady. She was angry. Angry with Duke for having permitted himself to be outwitted, even after she had warned him that Ken Montijo was to town and meant trouble; angry with Montijo who stuck his nose into other people's business; angry most of all at Charity, who, though crushed, humiliated and sobbing only an hour or so before, was now, without the sense to know what it was all about, the center of attention—with two of the most dangerous men in New Mexico on the verge of shooting each other over her.

Charity did not know the meaning of all the names Angel called her, but she recognized enough of them to guess the remainder. As lady she was insulted. All the fury of the past three days entered. She was avenging Douglas; she was avenging Montijo; she was avenging the degradation of her own recent tears.

As the women struck and clawed the two men relaxed their mutual wariness long enough to stare.

Charity's fingers caressed the throat. "It's midday!"

Angel thought she was mad. "If you say so," she conceded.

"A white's black if it pleases me."

"White's black," Angel repeated obediently.

CHARITY sighed. It was a sterile game. She got slowly to her feet.

"Life still till I tell you to move," she commanded, and looked across the room.

Duke Rogers' back was bent like a bow against the gaming table. The point of Ken Montijo's knife was pricking at Duke's throat.

"Don't," Charity cried, forgetting her own recent lust to kill. "Why not?"

"Murder."

"Would anyone care?"

Charity touched Angel with her foot.

"She might."

"Isn't there a better reason?"

"You might be hanged!"

"That's an unpleasant possibility," she admitted.

Have a Laugh

By BOYCE HOUSE

Speaking of golf, as we were recently—

A friend of ours who has put on a lot of weight says he has given up golf. He explained, "When I could see the ball, I couldn't hit it and when I could hit it, I couldn't see it."

A business man who took up golf was terrific. But the other day he hit the ball and sent it sailing to land a short distance from the hole. He looked around and asked the caddy, "What did I do that was right?"

PROPOSED ST. ANDREWS PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—Funds have been subscribed for the erection of the initial units of the proposed St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, pictured. A Victory Dinner was held Monday night in connection with a finance campaign conducted jointly by the St. Andrews and First Presbyterian Churches. The Fellowship Hall and class rooms, shown at right, will be erected as the first step in the planned construction program. The church plant will be erected in Northeast Midland, across the street North from the David Crockett Elementary School. Carroll & Daeuble of El Paso are the architects.

UN Planes Again Blast Red Centers

TOKYO—(AP)—Allied warplanes continued to pound Communist supply routes in Korea Tuesday as ground action slowed to a virtual halt.

B-29 Superforts dropped high explosive bombs on the rail yards at Sinmak, only 33 air miles northwest of Kaesong where cease-fire negotiations are being held.

Other B-29's hit Opa, between P'yongyang and Sinanju, and Hungsu, just north of Sinmak. More than 100 tons of bombs were dropped in all.

Night raiders pounded Red airfields, road traffic and supply and troop centers.

There was little ground action.

Need For Drive-In Is Ruled Harsh

DALLAS—(AP)—Concho Theaters, Inc., has been told to go ahead with construction of a drive-in theater in San Angelo, Texas, which originally was banned by the National Production Authority.

NPA said Tuesday its Appeals Board had upheld the builder's appeal from the agency's Construction Controls Division. The latter division had rejected the application. The appeals board authorized the work "on the basis of unreasonable and exceptional hardship." Regional NPA Director Ernest L. Tutt said.

OIL WORKER INJURED

C. M. Warner, 407 South Mineola Street, an employe of Baker and Taylor Company, received emergency treatment at Western Clinic-Hospital Monday for removal of a steel fragment which punctured his leg when he was hammering a chain at a rig.

KNEE IS INJURED

Delbert O'Neil, 16, of 109 South Dallas Street was given emergency treatment at Midland Memorial Hospital Monday for lacerations of his right knee suffered in a motor-scooter accident.

St. Andrews Church Finance Campaign Is 'Over-The-Top'

It was a Victory Dinner and then some Monday night as leaders and workers in the $60,000 building fund campaign of the St. Andrews Presbyterian Church reported cash gifts and pledges totaling $80,395, or 134 per cent of the minimum goal.

The Monday night event, held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church, was the last scheduled report dinner, although a clean-up report meeting is to be held at 5:15 p.m. Friday in the church.

The funds will be used in erecting the first unit of a new church plant for St. Andrews, which was organized last December, under the sponsorship of the First Presbyterian Church.

Campaign leaders, jubilant over the results of the drive to date, said 92 families, or 23 per cent of the prospect listings, yet are to be contacted. They predicted the final figure will exceed the $100,000 mark. More Units Planned

The Rev. Lewis O. Waterstreet, pastor of the St. Andrews Church, pointed out the $60,000 figure was a minimum goal, and that funds in excess of that amount will be used in erecting additional units and in equipping the building, landscaping the property and paving abutting streets.

The immediate building program calls for the erection of initial units of a master plan. Each of the rooms will be used for various purposes until additional units are proposed. The Fellowship Hall, designed to seat 150 persons, will double as the sanctuary, Mr. Waterstreet said.

The congregation now is meeting in the auditorium of the David Crockett Elementary School. The new church building will be located across the street north from the school property.

Dr. R. Matthew Lynn, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, said the oversubscribing of the goal is one of the greatest and most progressive strides in the history of Presbyterianism in Midland.

Joint Campaign

The campaign was conducted jointly by and among members of both the First and St. Andrews Presbyterian Churches. More than 125 persons participated in the drive, which was launched July 2, when Dr. Hubert Hopper of Houston, a former pastor of the First Church here, addressed Midland Presbyterians at a Loyalty Dinner held in the high school gymnasium.

Paul Sheahan, campaign director, Tuesday announced a breakdown of gifts and percentages of quotas, by sections, as follows: General Gifts—$14,066, 128 per cent; Special Gifts—$35,464, 197 per cent; Big Gifts—$29,875, 96 per cent; Friends—$990.

John Drummond, chairman of the Building Fund Committee, and Jerry Covington, general campaign chairman, joined Dr. Lynn, Mr. Waterstreet and other officials, in expressing sincere appreciation to all workers and to all persons who had parts in the staging of the successful campaign. They also commended members of the two churches for their cooperation and generous giving.

Temperatures Soar After Brief Respite

By The Associated Press

Skies cleared and temperatures rose over Texas Tuesday. Monday, light showers over the state brought relief from the heat to some areas.

Corsicana reported the top state temperature with an even 100 degrees, while Presidio, usually Texas' hottest spot, cooled down to a mere 97 degrees, due to a light rain.

The lowest state temperature was in the "High Lonesome" country—Marfa. That Big Bend community recorded a top temperature of 81 degrees.

Throughout the state, 99 degrees was the general top average. The mercury hit that mark in Alice, Childress, Mineral Wells and Junction.

HOSPITALIZED TUESDAY

Mrs. Helen Bundrant of 2609 West Watson Street was admitted Tuesday to Midland Memorial Hospital as a medical patient.

FOR MINOR SURGERY

Mrs. Norene Spellman of 303 West Montgomery Street was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital Tuesday for minor surgery.

MEDICAL PATIENT

Randall Barnes, seven-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Barnes, 319 South Fort Worth Street, is a medical patient in Western Clinic-Hospital.

Bus Crash—

A list of other injured passengers from Associated Press reports include:

Sidney Duncan, 43, of Oakland, Calif., who suffered a crushed left leg; Mrs. Ada McClendon of Richmond, Calif., who was enroute to Shreveport, La., to visit her sick sister, and Mrs. Henry E. Thomas, formerly of Los Angeles, who suffered a head injury and was reported unconscious.

Treated And Released

Mrs. Thomas' husband was treated for shock and later released. The couple was enroute to Bogalusa, La., with their three children, whose ages are 11 months, three years and four years.

Those treated here for minor injuries and released include: Mrs. R. M. Motley, Durant, Okla., who was traveling with her three children, Bobby, Thomas and Richard; Pearl Cameron of Augusta, Ohio; Mrs. R. L. Gillikin, Norfolk, Va.; Betty Slayman of Brownsville, Pa.; Walter Bibby, Smackover, Ark., and Mrs. Bonnie Smith, Winnsboro, La., who had been living in Huron, Calif.; Bunyan Price, Rising Star, Texas, and E. S. Vaughn, Goree, Texas.

The AP said an unidentified motorist carried five injured bus passengers 20 miles to the C. L. Root Hospital in Colorado City. The five: Marzelle Murphy, Birmingham, Ala., treated for shock; John A. Sawyer, Jr., of London, England, apparently only shaken up; T. C. Overall of Chattanooga, Tenn., injured spine; M. B. Gray, Birmingham, Ala., back injuries and fractured rib; and Barbara Gwinney of Inspiration, Ariz., contusions of the left arm, left thigh, and right jaw.

The motorist took the injured to Abilene after they had been released.

The impact of the crash into the rear of the truck caved in the side of the bus. The two sides of the bus were pushed to within three or four feet of each other. The AP said.

Patrolman Williams said he understood there were 31 passengers on the bus.

Visibility Limited

The stopped gravel truck was driven by S. D. Hayes of Big Spring. He said he had pulled off the road to check his air brakes.

Furlow, driver of the transport, said he believed his truck was completely off the road, but that his left rear wheels "might have been on it."

He said he couldn't see more than 20 feet because of rain and blowing sand when the crash came.

The bus driver said he was driving 20 miles an hour when he saw the gasoline truck through the rain and sand. He said he saw he would not be able to stop or pass on the left because of on-coming traffic and tried to pass on the right.

Sheriff Jake Burton and Big Spring Police Chief Pete Green described the wreck as the "worst" they had seen in their careers.

Burton guessed 4,000 automobiles full of curious onlookers jammed the area near the accident.

Eight ambulances answered the call and a fire truck stood by, spraying water on the gasoline truck. The rain let up minutes after the accident occurred.

SURGICAL PATIENT

Mrs. A. M. Cuthbert, 1507 South Colorado Street, was admitted to Western Clinic-Hospital Monday for surgery.

Eyesight Restored To Man, Woman By Cornea Transplants

DETROIT—(AP)—"I knew I was going to see," said a graying mother of six after surgeons performed an eye operation to improve the sight that has been failing 20 years.

She was right. Doctors report Mrs. Lena Campbell will have good vision from her right eye in two months.

The same is true, they say, of the left eye of William Lowe, 64-year-old resident of White Lake, Michigan.

Both will owe this to the corneas from the eyes of Lawrence Shannon, 32, a Detroit office worker who died last week of a brain tumor.

With the permission of Shannon's mother, surgeons grafted his corneas onto the eyes of Mrs. Campbell and Lowe.

The operations were performed last Tuesday. On Sunday, an examination showed both were successful.

FOR MEDICAL TREATMENT

E. E. Leaton of 308 West Pennsylvania Street was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital Monday for medical treatment.

MEDICAL PATIENT

Brenda K. Whiteside, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olen R. Whiteside of 222 West Montgomery Street was admitted Monday to Midland Memorial Hospital as a medical patient.

Blacksmith Given Life Term For Rape

FORT WORTH—(AP)—A 23-year-old blacksmith was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Texas Penitentiary Monday for criminally assaulting a 38-year-old mother of four.

Judge Willis McGregor sentenced Leon D. Abbott after a Criminal District Court jury found him guilty of rape.

His victim tearfully pleaded from the witness stand for his life after District Attorney Stewart Hellman asked for the death penalty. "I hate capital punishment—even if I had been killed, I wouldn't want him to get the chair," the woman said.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

Mrs. C. D. Willingham, 1708 North Weatherford Street, underwent surgery Monday at Western Clinic-Hospital.

Bodies Of Four Area War Dead Returned

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—The bodies of 38 Korea war dead from Texas, including that state's first Medal of Honor winner in the Korean conflict, arrived here Monday.

They were among 451 American dead brought home aboard the U. S. transport Furman Victory.

The Medal of Honor winner was M/Sgt. Travis E. Watkins of Gladewater.

The Texas dead, as announced by the Defense Department, include: First Lt. Riley C. Gazzaway, Odessa; Pfc. Lewis C. Gibson, Lubbock; Sgt. Raymond S. Randolph, Earth; and Pfc. Glennie R. Robertson, Vernon.

SURGICAL PATIENT

Mrs. Petra Acosta of Midland was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital as a surgical patient.

Baudouin Takes Over As King Of Belgians

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM—(AP)—Twenty-year-old Baudouin I was proclaimed king of the Belgians Tuesday. He succeeds his father Leopold III, who abdicated Monday after an ill-fated reign of 17 years.
 Standing erect in front of his red and gold throne in the National House of Representatives, the young monarch took the oath to uphold the Constitution and assumed the royal powers.
 Loud bursts of cheering and applause roared up from the assembly as the youthful king spoke.
 Slowly and clearly, Baudouin said: "I swear to observe the Constitution and the laws of the Belgian people; to maintain the national independence and integrity of the territory."
Thousands Cheer
 The new ruler took the oath in the khaki uniform of a lieutenant general, highest rank in the Belgian Army. He wore only one decoration—the crimson sash of the Order of Leopold.
 Outside cannon boomed, church bells pealed and thousands of Belgians cheered in the bright sunlight. It all was in marked contrast to Monday's brief, quiet ceremony at which Leopold signed his abdication papers before 350 persons in a royal palace ballroom.
 Tuesday, thousands packed the hall, built to house 230 persons.
 After taking the oath the king gave a short speech, first in Flemish, then in French.
 "I will devote myself to the service of the nation," he said.

Pickets in Omaha Are Conscientious

OMAHA—(AP)—A "catch-as-catch-can" variety of picketing turned up in a dispute between a union and an Omaha dairy.
 The General Drivers and Helpers Union (AFL) dispatched pickets in automobiles to trail Alamito Dairy County trucks. When the trucks stopped at a store, the pickets jumped from his car and began parading around the truck.
 The dispute involved the union's efforts to organize Alamito workers.

Two Guards Injured As Colorado Prison Rioting Is Quelled

CANON CITY, COLO.—(AP)—Five subdued convicts stirred restlessly in barren, solitary cells Tuesday while officials probed their bloody attempt to free 10 dangerous criminals from the Colorado State Prison.
 Two guards were wounded, neither seriously, in the fighting that broke out Monday when the five convicts, brandishing knives and a revolver, tried to spring 10 prisoners from isolation cells. The 10 included incorrigibles placed in solitary for bad behavior.
 Heavily-armed guards trapped the five convicts in a cellhouse and quelled them with a torrent of tear gas.
 The prisoners held five guards as hostages for a short time during the 45-minute uprising. Warden Roy Best said the escape plot was planned by Harold Hathaway, Pueblo, Colo., robber with a long record of prison rebellion. He is among the 10 in the isolation cells.
Shot In Back
 Chet Yeo, a captain of the guards, was shot in the back after breaking loose from the convicts. He was wounded twice before in previous breaks at the prison. Guard Amos Murley later suffered arm and leg wounds from a ricocheting bullet while the trapped convicts exchanged gunfire with guards.
 The prison, housing 1,250 convicts, is 120 miles southwest of Denver.
 The five rebellious convicts are Charles W. Garton, 31, sentenced 25 to 29 years for kidnaping at Pueblo; Lee Mora, 18, a life-tenner convicted of murder at Pueblo; John W. Davis, 31, serving 20 to 30 years for kidnaping and robbery at Denver; Arthur Fisk, 34, serving 20 to 30 years for kidnaping at Denver, and John D. Henebery, 20, two to eight years for trying to help Denver County jail prisoners escape.
 Davis told a reporter he took part in the break because "I wanted to go home. I ain't got any more comment."
 "I'm sorry I did it," Garton told a reporter. "I've learned my lesson. I'm pretty beat up. The gas got me."
 Warden Best directed his investigation toward the source of the prisoners' weapons.

Police Chief's Report Tosses New Problem Into Laps Of City Councilmen

A speech by Police Chief Rube Hemingway before the Kiwanis Club Monday tossed a new problem Monday afternoon into the laps of the men who run the city's government.

The problem is two-fold: First—City authorities must determine the size of a police force necessary to the adequate protection of Midland, and,

Second—They must help solve the problem of recruiting enough men to bring the size of the force to its authorized strength.

While Hemingway's report that only a handful of men were carrying the burden of policing the city caused the raising of a few eyebrows, it has long been regarded at City Hall as a serious problem.

Figure Theoretical
In the first place, the present force is not even up to the authorized strength of 33 men. Actually, this figure is only theoretical. Several weeks ago, when a series of resignations threatened the safety of the city, it was agreed to permit the men to work an hour's extra duty each day and thus earn an additional $25 monthly, in lieu of a pay raise.

This additional money actually cut three men from the authorized strength of the force, leaving only 30.

The present strength of the police force is only 28.

On paper, this number is not too far off the desired strength, using the rule-of-thumb estimate of one policeman for each 1,000 population.

But this strength of 28 must be whittled down considerably.

It includes, for instance, a meter mechanic, a clerk in corporation court and three dispatchers. While essential, these five are not available for general police duty, so this cuts the figure down to 23.

Of these 23, the police chief and Capt. Jim Wilkerson are pretty well tied up with administrative duties and two more men have a full-time job in handling the bureau of records and identification, leaving only 20.

And this number is even further reduced by the one day off per week, the annual vacation and the annual sick leave.

Spread the available men over three shifts and the result is a pitifully thin force of police officers.

Monday's daily roster can be considered typical.

Dispatcher Not Included
The list included a total of 22 men, including two lieutenants and one officer who had the day off and 19 men on active duty during the day. This includes the chief, captain and the identification bureau but not the three dispatchers.

For a long 24-hour period, these men must maintain routine patrol of the streets, check the city's more than 700 parking meters regularly to detect violators and answer scores of complaints which will reach headquarters.

During the school year, they also must keep an eye on the city's 11 schools.

Through the use of staggered shifts, Hemingway and Wilkerson are attempting to have peak manpower during the periods of peak demands.

The day began at 7 a.m. when two patrolmen report for duty and were joined at 8 a.m. by Sgt. Jimmie Joyce, chief identification officer.

Headed By Truman
At 8:30, the first platoon, headed by Sgt. Jack Truman, went on duty with two motorcycle officers reporting 30 minutes later. So, until 1 p.m., a force of eight men was patrolling the city.

At 1 p.m., the first section of Lt. Dick Hemingway's second platoon went on duty and a total of 11 men were available for the normal afternoon shopping crowds. At 4 p.m., the remainder of the sec-

Compressed Air May Drive Autos

DECATUR, Ill. —(AP)—A compressed air motor that would drive a car at speeds of 100 miles an hour may be a development of the future.

Paul L. Franck, of Washington, D. C., who has been working in the field of compressed air motors for almost 30 years, seeks the original drawings of a model invented by Louis C. Kiser 25 years ago. The Decatur man, a former locomotive engineer, built his invention from a Ford motor converted along the principles of a steam engine.

Kiser tried to organize his own manufacturing firm. He and his partner ran out of money before operations got started. Kiser was so discouraged he sold the invention for junk and moved to Arkansas, where he died in 1927.

Bob Meyers reported on the boys baseball project and D. C. Baldwin reminded Optimists of prizes which await those bringing in new members.

Cash Left On Bus Returned To Man

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. —(AP)—The bus pulled out of the station with H. E. Holmes' wallet containing more than $1,000 still on the seat he occupied.

At 4 a. m. the bus station employees got in touch with the sheriff's office, the sheriff's office got state police headquarters at Pontiac. At 4:37 a. m. the state police reported they found the billfold on the bus. It contained $1,050 in money orders, a $35 check and between $25 and $30 in cash.

A half hour later Holmes picked up his money.

Douglas To Poll Bar Group For Opinions In Judgeship Fuss

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) said Tuesday he will poll the Chicago Bar Association to determine whether he or President Truman is right in their federal judge selections.

Truman passed over two of three men recommended by Douglas for judgeship vacancies in Illinois.

Douglas said in a statement he believes Truman's two choices are "worthy men," but he added he feels his own selections have "superior qualifications."

Douglas had recommended appointment of William H. King, Jr., a former president of the Chicago Bar Association, and Benjamin P. Epstein, a judge of the Cook (Chicago) County Circuit Court.

However, Truman nominated Joseph Jerome Drucker and Cornelius J. Harrington to the bench.

Drucker is a nephew of Rep. Adolph Sabath, Chicago Democrat and 85-year-old dean of the House. Harrington is a circuit judge in Chicago.

Congressional insiders interpreted Truman's appointment as another indication of a growing coolness between him and the Illinois senator.

The rift between Douglas and Truman generally has been attributed to these factors:

1. While supporting most Administration proposals, Douglas has followed an independent course on others. He has led a drive aimed at cutting federal spending.

2. Reports that Douglas may become a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1952 if Truman does not run. Douglas has denied any such intentions though it is generally believed he'd like to have a hand in picking the nominee.

CAL FARLEY HERE

Cal Farley, prominent Amarillo businessman, head of the famed Boys Ranch near Amarillo, and a former governor of Rotary International, was a Midland visitor Tuesday.

A young crow can eat its weight in food in a day.

Battered—

a seven block area and injured 14 firemen was left to burn itself out. Fire Chief Harvey Baldwin called it the most destructive Kansas City fire in more than 30 years.

The fire destroyed or damaged 24 major firms. Preliminary estimates indicated damage would run well over $1,000,000.

The flames were fed by oil and gasoline floating on flood waters.

Receding waters left scenes of desolation. Houses stood on end, laid on their sides or tilted at weird angles. Porches hung on the tops of light poles, bedding on utility wires.

Tanks and barrels were perched on roofs. Household furniture was smashed and covered with thick mud. Piles of debris—floating lumber, porches, roofs and window frames—were swept against some buildings.

It will be weeks before wrecked gas lines, broken water mains and telephone and light circuits can be repaired.

Engineers worked feverishly to restore to operation the Turkey Creek Pumping Station, which normally supplies two-thirds of Kansas City, Mo., with water. The full task of supplying the city now is being carried by on station.

St. Louis Threatened
Water pressure was improving, although there still was a serious shortage in some sections.

As the flood waters rushed eastward across Missouri, Army Engineers at St. Louis called for more help to sandbag dikes along the Mississippi River. The Missouri empties into the Mississippi north of St. Louis.

The swollen Mississippi has inched its way into the river front industrial area in St. Louis, but officials hope a major overflow can be averted.

that these projects are of a 'pork barrel' nature."

McClellan predicted the Senate Appropriations Committee, of which he is a member, will restore some of the flood control projects cuts which the House made this year.

For the fiscal year which started July 1, the House voted a total of $488,382,000 for flood control and navigation, compared with Truman's request for $624,256,000.

Senator Chavez (D-NM) also said that "possibly an extremely probably" the Senate Appropriations Committee will restore some of the flood control items eliminated by the House.

HERE FROM KERMIT

Charles Green and Steve Baldwin of Kermit were Midland business visitors Monday. Green is manager of the Kermit Chamber of Commerce.

INJURED AT TENNIS

with the English and Chinese translations of his remarks already prepared.

Both Joy and Nam, who do virtually all the talking, read their statements.

No Red Guards Seen
During the give-and-take discussions across the green-topped table, they have plenty of time to write their replies while translators are reading the English and then the Chinese translations.

"The afternoon session of the conference was more formal," the Army statement said. It added:

"The United Nations command delegation felt that some progress may be recorded in the conference sessions."

For the third day there were no Red guards near the tiled building where meetings are held. The Allied party saw only two armed Communists in Kaesong.

Both were North Korean police. One stood in a traffic circle with a red flag in one hand, a white flag in the other. He presumably was directing the almost non-existent traffic. The other was leading an ox cart.

BILL REED'S PITCHING IMPRESSIVE—

Indians Drop 11-8 Game To Vernon As Joe Berry Stars In Relief Stint

Jittery Joe Berry, the shaky Vernon manager, was calm enough to turn in a nice five-inning relief chow here Monday night and as a result his Dusters hung up an 11-8 win over the Midland Indians.

Berry came into the game when Stan Graywac—eventually the winner—was being treated roughly by Midland batmen and except for one Indian surge at the start of Berry's mound stint, he had them well under control.

Law Ballard took the loss for Midland, being chased in the fourth with no outs and Dusters all over the bases. He gave way to Lefty Bill Reed, who pitched great relief ball, fanning five and allowing but three hits. But it was too late, as Berry had the Indians swinging in frustration.

The Dusters—aided by a couple of errors—scored six runs in the second inning on five hits, after Midland had scored one in the first. Two Tribe men in the second—driven in by Hayden White's second double of the night—cut the advantage to 6-3, but Ballard was rocked for four more runs in the fourth and the Redskins were down 10-3.

Still they fought back and managed three runs in the fourth, all coming on a line-drive home run by Rudy Escobar, which cleared the fence just to the left of the center field scoreboard. It was Escobar's fifth home-run poke for the Tribe this year.

In the fifth, Eddie Melillo tripled Dick Campbell in, after Campbell had singled J. B. Gibbs home. Then Reed and Berry settled down to their fine relief duel, with no more scoring until Vernon got to Dave McKenzie in the final frame.

Former McCamey Player Named To Coach Boling High

McCAMEY—Jack Belcher, former McCamey High School, Sul Ross College and San Angelo College star, has been named head coach at Boling High School, near Wharton.

Belcher has been head coach at Southwest Texas Junior College at Uvalde the last two years.

He has been working on his doctor's degree at the university of Texas this Summer.

Bonura Ponders Protest

Zeke Bonura, Midland's huge baseball manager, said in the dressing room Monday night after Midland's 11-8 loss to Vernon that he would investigate the status of Vernon Manager Joe Berry, who pitched relief ball for the Dusters the last five innings of the game.

"I don't think Joe should have been in there," Zeke said. "He told me at a barbecue Sunday night that he was on the suspended list for 10 days, and the way he talked I don't believe it was up. Anyway I'm going to investigate, and if Berry was on the suspended list, I'll ask President Hal Sayles to throw the game out."

Bonura was bounced from the game by Umpire Sykes in the ninth inning after a ruckus over a strike Sykes called on Rudy Escobar. It was the first time he has been bounced since taking over the Indian managerial position.

BONUS BEAUT—Johnny Blanchard singled and tripled in his first two trips to the plate as a pinch-hitter for the Kansas City Blues. The Yankee paid the 18-year-old Minneapolis high school outfielder $50,000 for signing. (NEA)

King's Row
By Larry King

From the aroused cries of irate fans, it would seem some of the paying customers disagreed violently with many decisions called by Umpires Sykes and Hjerstedt Monday night.

And, it's possible some of the fans have better suggestions to improve umpiring—or at least, perhaps, they think they do.

Anyway, a fan is going to find a lot of things to complain about, see some things he thinks can be improved, and by the same token he's going to be pleased with a particular play or piece of officiating, and want to tell someone about it.

That's why we're going to start a Sunday column called the "Voice of the Fan."

Any fan having something to say—good or bad—may write a letter to Sports Editor, The Reporter-Telegram, and have his opinion expressed in the column. The only requirement is that the letter be clear, and signed by the writer.

Of course, the idea of the column isn't to slam someone just for the sake of slamming. It's to open the way for suggestions, as much as anything else. Both orchids and onions will be accepted.

CR—
We were told Catcher Bill Herring of Vernon only suffered a cut eye in the collision on the diamond at Indian Park Sunday afternoon, but Vernon Manager Joe Berry says that isn't true.

According to Berry, Herring's eye was broken in two places, and he was flown to Oklahoma City to a bone specialist.

That's a tough break for the already-small Vernon squad.

KR—
A new second baseman will be in the Indian lineup Tuesday night.

He's Bob Crumley, who isn't new to Longhorn League fans. Crumley performed with Roswell last season, well enough to be named to the Longhorn League all-star team.

Manager Bonura said Crumley would take over the second sack immediately, and Eddie Melillo will go to third base. Crumley is a limited service performer.

MEDICAL TREATMENT
Ernesto Alvarado, eight-month-old son of Mrs. Lucy Alvarado, received emergency medical treatment Monday at Western Clinic-Hospital.

WT-NM League—Blue Sox Dump Dukes Into Fourth Place In Standings

By The Associated Press
The front-running Abilene Blue Sox rebuilt their lead to six games in the West Texas-New Mexico League Monday night. The other three first division clubs, in a battle for position, broke ties for spots with a game separating each.

The Blue Sox dumped Albuquerque 5-3 to add to their lead. The loss dropped the Dukes into fourth place, eight games back.

Jim Melton racked up his fifteenth win of the season in besting the Dukes. He gave up eight hits but scattered them well.

Amarillo's improved Gold Sox nipped Lamesa 4-3 while the Lubbock Hubbers were besting Borger by the same score to allow the Hubbers to take undisputed possession of second place and send Lamesa into third.

Jim Reynolds got his eleventh win of the season in the Amarillo game. Reynolds beat his former mates but had to call for help in the ninth.

Paul Dobkowski singled with two outs in the ninth inning to score the run that gave Lubbock its win.

A grand-slam home run by Jake Phillips climaxed a six-run ninth inning that gave Pampa a 6-4 victory over Clovis in the other game. Lefty Joe Borrego has pitched shut-out ball until the ninth inning explosion.

EMERGENCY TREATMENT

Oscar Baker, a foodhandler at Ranchland Hill Country Club, was given emergency treatment Monday at Western Clinic-Hospital for cuts on two fingers received while at work.

Plastics Win In Playoff

Errors hurt Standard of Texas Monday night, as it dropped the first game of the final playoffs to determine the City Major Softball championship, by a margin of 4 to 1, to Western Plastic.

Jack Dunlap, winner, and Chester Campbell, loser, each allowed five hits.

Plastic scored in the first frame when Simpson singled a man in after a walk and an error. Standard tied it in the third when Bill Voss hit a home run to center field. The ball, well tagged, was chased by the center fielder and left fielder, who ran together. Voss trotted around the bases while the two were getting up.

But Plastic won it in the bottom of the same inning, when Walker doubled in two runs after two batsmen reached base by error.

Second game of the playoff series is slated for 8:15 p.m. Tuesday at Wadley Park. Phil Brock will hurl for Western Plastic, with Milt Montgomery going for the Standard team.

The score: R H E
Standard 4 001 000 0-1 5 5
Plastics 102 100 4-4 5 2
Campbell and Davis; Dunlap and Simpson.

Race Getting Closer In AL; Dodgers Win

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Results of the next three days may throw the American League race into one of the tightest four-team scrambles of record.

Only two and a half games separate the front-running Red Sox and the fourth-place Indians as Boston invades Cleveland for a three-game set while runner-ups Chicago and New York clash in a three-game argument of their own.

A mere half game can separate all four clubs when the last putouts are made on Thursday. All it would need is for the Indians to sweep the set from the Red Sox and the Yankees to win two out of three from the White Sox.

The Red Sox lost a full game to each of their pursuers Monday, when the tail-end St. Louis Browns roused themselves with a seven-run fifth inning to upset the Sox 9-5.

Chicago turned on their Philadelphia tormentors with an early blast to register a 9-5 victory over the Athletics and cut Boston's margin to one game. The Yankees, out-hit almost two to one, outlasted the Tigers in Detroit 8-6 to stay within a half-game of the White Sox.

They pulled even with Chicago in percentage, however, at 600. Cleveland walked to an easy 8-2 triumph over Washington to cut its first-place gap to two and a half games.

It's a different story in the National League. The front-running Dodgers snapped their four-game losing streak with a decisive 11-2 win over Cincinnati to retain their eight-game margin.

Giants Back To Second
New York's Giants slipped past St. Louis into second place by vanquishing the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-6 in the rubber of their three-game set. A five-run eighth inning kayoed Gerry Staley and gave the Philadelphia Phils a 5-2 victory over the Cardinals. Boston's Braves spotted Chicago four runs in the first inning and came on to win 9-4.

Ted Williams slammed his eighteenth homer for the Red Sox but it went to waste as the Browns teed off on Ellis Kinder and Bill Wright for six hits and added three walks for seven runs in the big fifth inning.

Manager Paul Richards shook up his Chicago lineup and the White Sox responded by shelling a pair of Philadelphia hurlers for 15 hits, including homers by Orestes Minoax and Don Lenhardt.

A two-run homer by Yogi Berra and another four-bagger by Joe Collins offset spotty pitching by newcomer Artie Schallock and Frank Shea and gave the Yankees

Baseball-loving Midlanders are in for special treats Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

At 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Midland's small-fry diamond artists—members of the Little League—will meet in a three-inning exhibition battle.

Three pitchers and two catchers will be used by each team. For the Cubs-Real-tors-Lions nine, Larry Cooper, Lupe Hernandez and Don Kidwell will pitch in that order, while Jim Owens, Bennie Sanchez and Dennis Patton will go in that order for the Eagles-Yank-Card team.

Boys slated to see action for the first group are Cooper, Gregor Smith, Frank Parks, Douglas Hatfield, James Tom, James Horton, Clay Stringer, S. L. Vann, Joe Stout, Gary Sanford, Hernandez and Kidwell.

'Ladies Night'
Immediately following the Little League game, Ernie Nelson, popular southpaw hurler, will make his initial start of the 1951 season. Nelson, who won 21 games and lost nine last year while toiling for Midland and Vernon, recently joined the Indian team.

The ladies will be treated Wednesday night.

By clipping a coupon from the sports page of The Reporter-Telegram, they may be admitted to the contest free. James N. Allison, publisher of The Reporter-Telegram, will pick up the tax check for all ladies. The coupons will be presented to the gate keeper at Indian Park. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

Artesia Drillers will oppose the Indians both Tuesday and Wednesday, as the Indians close out their current home stand.

Longhorn League—Broncs Lose Ground In Scramble For Second Position

By The Associated Press
The Artesia Drillers may be a second division ball club but they showed by their fight Monday night they are not afraid of the big boys.

Scheduled for a make-up double-header with the front-running San Angelo Colts, the Drillers bowed as expected in the first game but fought stubbornly in the second to force the Colts to be satisfied with a standoff.

San Angelo won the opener of the Card 4-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Tony Lozano but the two clubs battled 11 innings to a 5-5 tie in the second game stopped by the league curfew rule.

The one victory increased the Colts' lead to six and one-half games over the Big Spring Broncs, losers to the Roswell Rockets 12-10 in a runoff. Roswell closed the gap to only a game and a half in their fight to replace the Broncs in the runner-up spot.

Odesa also closed in on the Broncs with a 14-8 decision over Sweetwater. The Oilers rallied for seven runs in the eighth inning to move just eight and one-half games back of San Angelo and two games out of the second place.

Vernon, the only other club with a chance to get into the playoff picture as things look now, trimmed Midland 11-8 despite a roster riddled by injuries. With only 11 men in uniform, Manager Joe Berry came in as a relief pitcher to hurl five innings of four-hit ball to save a lead built up early in the game.

Texas League—Buffs Add To Lead With 1-0 Victory Over Dallas Eagles

By The Associated Press
The high-flying Houston Buffs added to their Texas League lead Monday night. And they did it at the expense of the club they were trying so hard to catch just a fortnight or so ago.

The Buffs edged the Dallas Eagles 1-0 in a thrilling pitcher's duel between Walt Lanfranconi and Dick Bokelmann. Houston got only five hits off Lanfranconi but two singles and a double by Eddie Kazak came in the first inning for the only run of the game.

Bokelmann stopped the Eagles with four hits, for his ninth win of the season.

The victory increased Houston's lead to nine games over the Eagles who now are only one game in front of San Antonio and Beaumont, tied for third in the standing.

Cats In Running
The surging Fort Worth Cats, still in the running for a first division berth, also are breathing down the necks of the once high-flying Eagles, being only three games out of third and four games back of Dallas.

The Cats moved closer to the promised land with an 8-4 decision over San Antonio while Beaumont moved into a tie with the Missions by blasting Tulsa 9-2.

Oklahoma City and Shreveport, strictly second division clubs, put on the show of the night with a 13-inning affair that broke wide open at 4-4 at the end of eight innings and went scoreless until the final frame. Then the Indians scored six runs and the Sports four. The final score: Oklahoma City 10, Shreveport eight.

Jersey Joe Walcott Gets Another Crack At Heavyweight Title

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Jersey Joe Walcott, the 37-year-old heavy-weight challenger who claims he was robbed in two of his previous attempts to wrest the title from Edward Charles and Joe Louis, gets his fifth and probably last chance Wednesday night.

A confident Walcott meets Charles Field at 8 p.m. (CST). He says he should have won the decision in one of his previous meets with the champion—and he's equally certain he was victimized in his first fight with Louis.

Louis, who is slated to meet the winner, will be at the ringside. Charles is the 4 to 1 favorite.

Negotiators Busy On 'Bracero' Pact

MEXICO CITY (AP)— Mexican and United States negotiators went into their second session Tuesday in an attempt to work out a new agreement covering Mexicans who go to the U. S. for harvest work.

The negotiators first met Monday. They then divided into five committees. These met Monday night, worked for an hour, then recessed to meet again Tuesday.

Manuel Aguilar of the Mexican Foreign Office and Carl Strom, leader of the U. S. delegation, agreed that it would take about "eight or ten days" to work out the new agreement. Both sides presented proposed draft agreements. The task of the committees is to bring out compromise version of these drafts.

WINDOWS WITH A BUILT-IN "CRASH"—This special window, designed to reduce hazards of flying glass during a bomb attack, was developed by the Pittsburgh (Pa.) Plate Glass Co. When hit by blast pressure, the window's four triangular sections, sealed together and hinged to the frame by a glass-plastic laminate, automatically give way. Top window has broken apart, minus any flying glass fragments. Bottom window has been repaired after crash by use of a fastening bolt at center. Adhesive tape, putty or chewing gum will serve same purpose.

Wartime Promise Fulfilled, So Attorney Builds Catholic Church For His Hometown

Guiding spirits of Dickson's new church are Edward Henslee (right), who vowed he would build it if his son came home safely from the war; Bishop William L. Adrian (center) who designed and carved the altar; and Rev. William Barr Grannis, the parish priest, who designed the interior.

DICKSON, TENN. (NEA)—A wartime vow has had its fulfillment. Because of that, a new church, St. Christopher's Roman Catholic Church, is near completion here.

The vow was dated 1941, just after Pearl Harbor. Ens. Edward Henslee, Jr., was serving in the Navy. His father, Edward Brown Henslee, promised that if his son returned safely he would build a Catholic church in Dickson. And he would dedicate it to St. Christopher, the patron saint of travelers and those on hazardous journeys.

Lt. Cmdr. Edward Henslee, Jr., did return safely. And his father was one to keep his promise. For a while, he was held back by the material shortages of the postwar period. But he kept talking and planning and thinking about St. Christopher's.

Others tried to make him change his mind. They said that it was too costly a project for one man. But Henslee, a successful Chicago lawyer who still maintained a showplace farm near his hometown of Dickson, knew he could swing it. They said that Dickson didn't need a Catholic church. But Henslee knew Mass was being held in a private home, which was less than adequate.

Strong Support

He got enthusiastic support from others, however, and went ahead with his plans. Master builder Dewey Proffitt was called in. Henslee outlined his ideas—a red brick church with the white pillars of Southern Colonial architecture—and Proffitt drew a sketch on the back of an envelope.

That was all. No blueprints; just that first sketch. The interior was designed by Rev. William Barr Grannis, the young priest of the parish. Henslee, Grannis and another friend, Bishop William L. Adrian of Tennessee, selected a two and one-half-acre site in the Tennessee countryside.

When construction started, the

MEASURES INTERFERENCE

Interference to radio or television produced by electric fans, refrigerators, automobile ignition systems, and other sources, now can be measured by a noise meter. Frequency range of this new type meter stretches from ordinary radio to radar.

Lots of people have heard the whippoorwill, but comparatively few have seen the bird, for it rarely flies in the daytime.

IN THREE DIMENSIONS

Newest entry in the field of color television is a system which not only produces images in natural color, but also in three-dimensional perspectives.

CUTS TROUBLE

Use of neoprene, a synthetic rubber, as covering for outdoor telephone wires, has cut maintenance troubles by 35 per cent, offsetting its higher costs over older coverings.

Solons Order Mud Guards But No Rain

AUSTIN—Texas truckers have been put on notice to heed the provisions of a new law enacted by the 52nd Legislature requiring the installation of mud guards or flaps on heavy vehicles.

Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said the law, which became effective June 21, requires that mud flaps be installed on any road tractor, truck, truck tractor, trailer or semi-trailer, excepting pole trailers, when operating on the highways when the roadway is wet.

Bar-Bells Put Belles In Shape As Gals Take Up Weight-Lifting

High, high up she rises: John Terlazzo, a man with muscles on his muscles, shows Joan Zanichelli how lessons in weight-lifting give a girl a lift. Joan's a weight-lifting pupil.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Most persons have the idea that girls who frequent gymnasiums are either too fat or too strong. The consensus of opinion has always held to paraphrase Dorothy Parker: Men seldom make dates. With girls who lift weights. But things have changed. Weight-lifting, and other forms of heavy exercise, are the latest vogue for beautiful young ladies who want to keep in shape. John Terlazzo's gym, for one, has a ladies' night twice a week. Ladies' Night at the Gym is an awe-inspiring sight. A group of dainty damsels, in tight T-shirts and loose muscles, lift bar-bells, bend knees and otherwise spend two busy hours. Some come to lose pounds, some to gain.

Loss Or Gain
Terlazzo, a smiling man with muscles on his muscles, explained that varying exercises can result in a loss or increase in weight.

"See that girl!" he said, pointing to a tall red-head straining to lift a bar-bell. "She came in January. She only weighed 115. Kinda spindly, you know. Now she's up to 125, and you can see her for yourself." She came over. Her name was Joan Zanichelli, and she worked as a secretary. She said she loved lifting weights, felt wonderful and thought her training sessions were working wonders. Terlazzo beamed.

"See that girl!" he said, pointing to a pretty blonde wearing the uniform plus a choker with a rose on it. "She hasn't been here very long, but she seems to like it."

Swings Weights
The blonde, who turned out to be an actress named Fran Gregory, was lying down on what looked like an inclined ironing board. She was swinging two weights around in her hands.

"That exercise," whispered Terlazzo, "is very good for bust development." He said it had something to do with tensions and pull. The incline made the exercise help a certain set of muscles. Later, she would do the same thing lying horizontally, which would build up other muscles.

"Have to exercise all the muscles in the chest region," said Terlazzo, "otherwise the result would be—well it wouldn't look just right, thing, he explained, is that plain that's all."

In Bad Shape
"We had a girl come in here last time," he said, "who was in terrible shape. Just awful. She was so out of shape that I had her just bend down and touch her toes and she was stiff for a week. I'll gradually increase her exercising, then add weight resistance, and she'll be in good shape in a couple of weeks."

He ran over to help singer Lea Kane, a little brunette, adjust a pair of iron boots on her feet. Then he ran back to explain that kicking and swinging the legs with those things on the feet helped build up the leg muscles.

Some of the girls, Terlazzo said, are worried at first. They are afraid they'll develop great, bulging muscles. But he tells them to forget that nonsense.

"Women are different from men," he said. "It's something to do with glands. They'll never get big biceps, for example. They don't have to give that a second thought. They'll just get in better shape."

It is estimated that less than one-third of the words in any standard English dictionary are purely of English origin.

Bar-belle in action: Joan Zanichelli proves that a secretary can carry a lot of weight and keep in shape at the same time.

Prospective Brides Learn How To Fix Faucets As Well As To Be Good Cooks

They'll be handy brides: At Boston's Franklin Square House, Phyllis Schwartz of Lawrence, Mass., left photo, gets a lesson in faucet-fixing from John Kooperman so she can surprise her husband-to-be, who's an electrician. Luette Lurvey, right photo, of Bar Harbor, Maine, has a similar idea as she learns how to change a fuse under the guidance of William Brown.

BOSTON (NEA)—The graduates of a new-style bride's course: in Boston's Franklin Square House for Girls loom as one of the most attractive offerings of the matrimonial season.

How many of this year's June brides, for instance, are able to re-wire a broken toaster plug? Put a new washer in a leaky faucet? Hew a set of bookshelves? Paint the inside and outside of a house?

In fact, how many June bridegrooms can do all these things? And how many who can, would prefer to have their wives do them?

You can find some of the answers at Franklin Square House, one of the world's biggest hostels for women. There, young ladies, still wearing the dress-up clothes they wore to dinner, spend their evenings applying wrenches to plumbing fixtures, tearing apart electrical appliances, sawing and hammering at household articles of wood and metal.

They're all residents of the hostel, a block-long, eight-story stone building housing social halls, dining rooms, bowling alleys, a gymnasium, infirmary, laundry room, sewing room and roof garden for 900 working women and students, age 17 to 40.

They're probably the most efficient and talented of the estimated half-million women who've made Franklin Square House their home during the past half century.

The majority of the several score girls enrolled in the Bride's Course are engaged to be married, although Miss Olive Wilbur, hostess at Franklin Square, is quick to point out: "They don't have to be on the brink of matrimony in order to take the course."

Most of them couldn't tell an electrical plug from a blown fuse before enrolling. Now, in addition to thorough grounding in repairs by instructors from the hostel's maintenance staff, the young women make furniture for future homes in the woodshop.

They learn how to plan and budget nutritious meals in the cooking class. They get pointers on the care of floors and woodwork, the handling of colors and fabrics, in the housekeeping course.

And, in the sole co-ed class, they can invite their fiancés to the jewelry workshop, where, among other articles, wedding rings are produced.

Why do so many engaged girls whose marriage already is assured bother to learn the home jobs which men usually are supposed to do?

"Most of the brides-to-be reply: 'What if a fuse blows out when my husband's not home? Suppose there's an emergency?'"

"That hard-working latch won't bother you any more—I replaced the knob with a steering wheel!"

"BANDIT" ON WHEELS—With slot machines handling everything from laundry to soft drinks, it was inevitable that someone would invent a gadget to relieve them of their coins. It's pictured above, a strictly legitimate mechanical "bandit" used to extract money from parking meters and vending machines. Al Struzinski and Jim Diodato of the Philadelphia Bureau of Traffic Engineering are trying it out on a parking meter.

Ant-Eater Bites Boy In California

PASADENA, CALIF. (AP)—It becomes the lot of a few men to be bitten by an ant-eater named Olga. But to 14-year-old Leslie Adams, it came in his appointed rounds. Olga bit him on the thumb as he stooped to pet her while he was delivering a newspaper to her owner, Mrs. R. J. Mattison.

Promise—

(Continued From Page One) well-intentioned people who had originally tried to discourage Henslee changed their minds and offered help. He refused all such contributions because he insisted this was his project alone.

But he accepted gifts of statuary and fittings from organizations like veterans' associations and Jewish and Protestant groups. The steeple bell came from a Lutheran church. The cherry paneling and woodwork came from an old plantation house. Bishop Adrian himself designed and carved the altar.

As the church rises, those connected with it feel that it is a labor of love. "It may come to pass," says Bishop Adrian, "that other parents whose sons—and daughters, too—are embarking on the perilous journey into war and wartorn areas may come here to seek St. Christopher's help. In time we may find that St. Christopher's Church in Dickson has become a shrine to which anxious families will travel from all parts of the world to pray for the safe return of their children."

Edward Henslee, Jr., now a lawyer in Chicago, says, "Perfect strangers stop me on the streets these days to ask how the church is going. Even in Chicago people want to know if I'm the man the church is being built for. If the interest in St. Christopher's continues, we'll be seeing people making pilgrimages to Dickson. After all, St. Christopher got me home all right."

All that Henslee himself says is a simple statement of faith: "God was good to me when I called on Him. The least I can do is keep my share of the promise."

Old Chief Scoffs At New Boot Training But It's Producing Better Bluejackets

New style "boot training" may seem easier than the old days, but there's plenty of hard realism in this fire fighting lesson as new sailors learn how to put out a flaming plane.

SAN DIEGO, CALIF.—(NEA)—Is the Navy getting soft in its "boot" training?

A salty old retired chief who has just made an unofficial inspection of the Navy's huge recruit training command here says: "I don't see how they make sailors out of those kids the way they're handling 'em. They don't swear at 'em. They baby 'em. They teach 'em about ballots, as if that's got anything to do with sailing a ship. They even call 'em 'son'—instead of 'Mac.' It ain't like the old days." The chief is dead right about one thing. It's not like the old days. But in spite of his doubts, all the evidence is that they're turning out the finest bunch of apprentice seamen, headed for the fleet or advanced schools, the Navy has ever had. He has heard this claim from fleet commanders and commanders of advanced training schools at Navy installations all over the U. S.

Los Angeles Blonde Wows Paree In 50-Pound Dress

PARIS—(NEA)—There seems to be an international swapping of stage talent these days. While New Yorkers are cheering French stars like Mistinguett and Josephine Baker, Paris is all excited about a young blonde from Los Angeles named Mary Meade.

Miss Meade is getting the break of a lifetime. She's the star of the super-revue at the fabulous Casino de Paris. She cavorts around the stage in breathtaking costumes made of such stuff as ostrich plumes, singing nine songs against an exotic mirror background.

All in all, it's a pretty good job for a 26-year-old girl who's never appeared in this type of production before. Miss Meade has had considerable American experience in other phases of show business—movies, television, concerts. She also did a three-month stint in the Philippines and Iwo Jima, entertaining GI's in 1947.

In Leading Role

Her casting in the leading role in the Casino's revue is even more remarkable, because Miss Meade's French is somewhat sketchy. She was singing at Dinard, a plush Parisian night haunt, when she was spotted by talent scouts for Henri Varna, producer of the Casino's shows.

Despite her lack of fluency in French, Mary Meade isn't fazed by it all.

"People in show business are much the same in every country," she says. "Maybe they are more excitable here and leave so many things to the last minute. But somehow or other all the pieces miraculously fall into their place at the right time."

She admits to being thrilled that she's been assigned the same dressing room used by past Casino headliners, people like Maurice Chevalier and Mistinguett. She gets on famously with her dresser, although she doesn't speak French and the dresser can't talk English.

Mary Meade Out West: In Paris she's covered up.

"Gay Paris," the current revue at the Casino, is one of the most lavish in European night-club history. It took two years to complete, and is estimated to have cost more than 350,000,000 francs, about $1,000,000.

There are 40 tableaux, one following the other at lightning speed in keeping with Varna's slogan, "Keep the show moving." There are 200 in the cast, and 2,000 costumes in all. The entire stage is backed by an enormous mirror, which Varna uses to multiply the effects.

Mary Meade, billed as the "great international star," wears the most elaborate costume in a very elaborately costumed show. There are silks, velvets, laces, diamonds, jewels, spangles. But in one scene Miss Meade tops them all in an immense crinoline in red velvet which weighs 50 pounds.

It takes three persons to slip it over her head. It could hide another person in it, as well as Mary Meade. That costume typifies a "cover up" trend in the Casino's costumes, once noted for a tendency toward nudity.

The show still offers a few unclad mademoiselles, but as costume designer Jose de Zamora points out, "The general tendency is definitely more dressed up."

Moscow Aims At Stopping Fuel To West Nations

By LEON DENNEN
PARIS—(NEA)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's entire NATO defense program may be jeopardized by a drastic fuel oil shortage in Western Europe, F. P. Hellin, a former adviser to the Soviet Oil Trust and a top oil expert, told this correspondent.

Increased Cominform-inspired political and economic strife in the oil-producing areas of the Middle East threatens to deprive the NATO countries of 90 per cent of their source of oil.

"Should Moscow be as successful in creating trouble in Saudi Arabia, Iraq and Kuwait as it was in Iran, Western Europe will lose nine-tenths of the oil needed for defense and economic reconstruction," Hellin said.

He predicted a new wave of pro-Soviet violence in the Middle East. Other Russian experts in close touch with Cominform activity tell me the same thing.

Anti-American Feeling

The anti-Communist International Confederation of Free Trade Unions reports that agents of the Cominform's World Federation of Trade Unions have recently been concentrating in great numbers in the oil-producing centers of the Middle East.

The outbreak of Israeli-Syrian armed clashes, new restlessness among the Kurdistan tribes, as well as the phenomenal increase in anti-American and generally anti-Western feeling are but portents of bigger things to come, the ICFTU's Middle Eastern experts believe.

Although Europeans still study anxiously events in the Far East as unfolded by the Truman-MacArthur debate, Western diplomats are awakening to the fact that it was in the Middle East that Stalin recently gained another bloodless strategic victory.

Moscow Exploited

Iran's efforts to nationalize its oil industry and the resulting Anglo-Iranian conflict are partly due to an awakening Arab nationalism stirring everywhere in the Middle East. But by playing on the anti-Western (especially anti-British) sentiments of Dr. Mohammed Mossadegh, Iran's new Premier, Moscow was able to exploit the situation to its own advantage.

The westward flow of Iranian oil has been squeezed to a trickle, despite Premier Mossadegh's recent assurances that deliveries to "former customers" will continue without interruption. It may be reduced even further in the coming months.

Yet Iran's annual output of more than 30 million tons of crude oil represents more than one-third of the Middle East's total output. Also, its Abadan refinery, the largest in the world, can produce annually 25 million tons of refined oil. The joint refinery capacity of the newer oil fields in Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Bahrain and Kuwait is only about 17 million tons per year.

No Soviet Tankers

The loss of Iran's crude oil alone would be bad enough, but if Western Europe were unable to draw refined oil from Abadan, the immediate results would be still more serious, the London Sunday Times recently said.

"Already the world's refineries are fully stretched, and the disappearance of 25 million tons of annual refinery capacity would be disastrous," the British newspaper pointed out.

Soviet Russia has little hope of getting hold of the Middle East's oil, it is believed here.

The Russian have no tankers for seaborne transport. Such railway communication as exists is wholly inadequate. The rumored construction of a pipe line from Abadan to the Caspian Sea is regarded by oil experts as a superhuman, if not wholly fantastic, project.

Exports Cease

But Moscow also is aware that the United States could do little to relieve the oil shortage in Western Europe. The United States ceased to be an oil exporter after the last war.

Though producing about 250 million tons annually, America must import about 10 per cent of its oil (about 75 million tons) from Venezuela. At the same time, the bulk of the Venezuelan oil—as well as the relatively unimportant quantity available in Canada and Mexico—is badly needed in the Western Hemisphere.

Idaho has the world's largest lumber mill, at Lewiston.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The average canasta player gives away a tremendous amount of information about his hand. He doesn't mean to do it, and he doesn't realize what he is giving away. Fortunately for him, in the average game his opponents are not alert enough to gather in the information that is being handed out.

Let me illustrate this with an example from actual play. Both sides had made unimportant melds, and the pack then became frozen. A long struggle for the frozen pack developed.

At length one player moaned and groaned and discarded a queen. This was the first queen that had appeared as a discard or as a meld.

This discard got by safely enough, and each of the other players made a safe discard. The tremulous player drew from the stock and got another queen—which he promptly discarded without even putting it into his hand.

Now, you card detectives, here's a problem for you. If you had to make a discard to that tremulous player, would it be safe or unsafe to throw a queen?

The answer is not even close. The chances are overwhelming that the tremulous player did not throw a singleton queen into a big frozen pack. He broke up at least three of a kind. Certainly he didn't like to discard the first queen of the hand, but certainly he was making a play that had some element of safety. He had more queens in his hand.

There was no way for him to avoid giving that information away. If a man picks his discards at random, he is a sure loser, but the opponents won't be able to work out the meaning of his discards. If a man picks his discards for a logical reason, he'll have a better chance to win, but the opponents may be able to work out the logic of those discards and thus learn something about the player's hand.

The big mistake came at the tremulous player's next turn. He drew a queen and discarded it without putting it into his hand. In other words, he made it clear that his hand had not changed. If he held queens before that play, he still held them after the play.

It would be suicidal to discard a queen to our tremulous hero. Just discard something else and thank him mentally for tipping you off by failing to put the card into his hand.

See how different the situation would be if he had put the queen into his hand and had then discarded it (or one of the other queens). It would then seem that he has discarded a second queen and that his hand has changed. In these circumstances, it is a fair chance that he has broken up his queens and no longer has a pair. You might well discard a queen to him on that assumption.

Nightmarish Venus Trip Only 146 Days

Coming in for a visit to Venus, the space ship noses down toward a landing, which is the pilot's job. Those two characters up front are members of the Venus Chamber of Commerce, South Nightmare branch office.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—OK, bored citizens, dig out that atmospheric helmet. Unpack your de-gravity suit. We're off on another trip into space, this time to Venus. Our navigator for this meteor-dodging junket is a nice looking young man named John M. Wuerth. He has the imposing title of project engineer in the Electromechanical Department in North American's Aerophysics Laboratory in California, where they're busily developing guided missiles.

As North American's plant magazine, Skyline, explains, its Venus vacation is the result of spare knowledge which Wuerth happened to have left over from his guided missile studies.

Now stick with this, kid. Remember you're a pioneer. Leave From Equator

For reasons which will be explained more or less lucidly in the next paragraph or so, we take off from earth at six o'clock in the evening at some place on the equator. The trip, if all goes well, takes 146 days.

Then, Wuerth explains: "We'll climb vertically in a rocket ship at an acceleration of 2Gs, or two times gravity, for 13 minutes. Our space traveler will be comfortable enough under this acceleration; pilots often withstand 2Gs and more. At the end of 13 minutes we will have reached 25,600 miles per hour, which is greater than the velocity needed to keep from falling back to the Earth. At this point power will be cut off and we will spend the rest of the trip coasting in an orbit of our own until we land on Venus."

What could be simpler? But in case you're confused, here's what happens:

Wuerth says it's like jumping off the back of a speeding train. The Earth is the train speeding in its orbit. The back happens to be the spot of departure on the equator at 6 p.m. Our departure speed is enough to get us away from Earth's pull of gravity, but we still have enough backward speed to keep us going in the general direction of the Earth in space, but in a decreasing arc.

Moving Backward

As soon as we get out of the pull of the Earth, we get in the pull of the sun. Actually we're moving backward through space at 84,600 miles an hour. But as we're curving toward the sun, we're closing in on Venus moving in its orbit, which is inside that of the Earth's. Get the picture?

Maybe Wuerth's explanation can clear it up:

"The Earth travels around the Sun like a ball on the end of a string. The centrifugal force resulting from the Earth's motion balances the Sun's attraction, and keeps the Earth from moving the 146 days driving around the country.

"It can easily be shown that the only critical item in getting on the proper orbit to Venus is the speed at the instant of power cut-off. An accelerometer, an instrument for measuring the rate of change of velocity, seems to be the best for this job. And with a one-tenth per cent error accelerometer, now commercially available, it would cause the space ship to miss Venus by almost a million miles. An improvement of the accelerometer to .0015 per cent error would assure meeting Venus at the end of 146 days."

Then you put the key questions to Wuerth. You will meet Venus traveling at about 5,400 miles an hour. How can you land safely? And, of course, how do you get back?

"That," he says, "is the job for the pilot. I'm just the navigator."

HUGE HAILSTONE

Largest hailstone on record is one which fell at Potter, Neb., July 6, 1928. It was 17 inches in circumference and rates as the largest ever recorded in the world.

Wake Up To More Comfort

Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. # Drive a Lincoln

Standard equipment, accessories, and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

THERE'S a car waiting for you in our showroom... a car for you to see and drive. But we give you fair warning; drive a Lincoln a mile or two and you will certainly want to drive it home.

For you will prove to yourself—with a few miles behind the wheel—that all the things you've heard about a Lincoln's incomparable comfort and its superior performance and roadability are true.

And you will discover what Lincoln owners know: that lesser cars cannot satisfy the man who once has tried a Lincoln on the road.

But falling in love with a car is not enough, of course. There comes the all-important question of fitting it into a budget. And, in this connection, you are due for a surprise when you come into our showroom.

You'll find that Lincoln's price tag is much lower than you probably think. And the car you have to trade may also be worth considerably more than you realize.

In fact, the step upward to ownership of America's finest automobile may be well within your stride.
