Health Screening Service Is Announced For Olton

A unique program of health screening is being sponsored by Olton Grain Coop, announced Fritz Richards, co-op manager, this week.

A team of five paramedical technicians, including a registered nurse, will be in Olton beginning Monday with a sophisticated mobile screening clinic. The van will be located at Olton Grain Coop and will remain until all co-op patrons have had an opportunity to take advantage of the program.

The van is equipped with the latest in electronic bio-medical equipment capable of determining over 110 medical criteria. Once the data is compiled it is interpreted in light of a past medical history by state licensed specialists. After the data has been reviewed, the entire profile including x-rays are sent to the participant's physician. A copy of the data is sent to each participant and they are advised to consult their physician concerning the findings for diagnosis and treatment where needed. The program is not intended to replace regular visits to physicians but rather to act as an adjunct to their practice, by creating valuable and needed medical data on persons who would not normally be seeing a doctor.

"Co-ops have been helping the farmer for years in meeting his needs. I think the health of the farmer and his family is just as important as the other services we provide", Richards says.

"While a majority of people make sure their cars and farm equipment are checked on a regular basis, too few do the same to protect their own bodies until they are faced with a really serious health problem", reports Dan Maguire, coordinator for the Co-op Health Screening Program.

"Whether for reasons of inconvenience, high cost, lack of facilities or just plain indifference, very few Americans have a complete health check annually," he said.

"The Co-op sponsored program eliminates virtually all of the major reasons for not having a yearly checkup. It is convenient, extensive and inexpensive, only $69 for adults and $45 for children," Maguire stated.

Explaining why preventive medicine is so important, Maguire pointed out, "The problem is that most people don't seek medical attention when they think nothing is bothering them. But they should because the time they spend now could save them a lot more time and suffering in the future. We pick up some serious problems. Many people who come through this van have something they should be aware of. It may not be a serious problem now and, in most cases, a simple program worked out with their physician can keep it under control.

"Among the serious situations detected in health screening are heart disease, diabetes, glaucoma, and respiratory problems; things that crop up without you ever noticing. It just makes good sense to protect against the unforeseen."

Screening will begin Oct. 24. Co-op patrons wishing to schedule appointments may do so by calling 285-2691. By making appointments, people will have no waiting period and can complete their visit within 60 minutes.

"This program has really gotten people excited. Throughout the co-ops of the Midwest, we've met with tremendous response. We have screened well over 60,000 people in the last two years. In many co-ops we have run about 35% of the patrons and in several cases well over 50%. We are very pleased with the results and it is really nice to know we are helping people," Maguire concluded.

Marijuana Found

Three stalks of marijuana, growing from the same spot, were "early harvested" last week by local lawmen. Found growing near Olton, one stalk of the lush growth was about ten to twelve feet tall.

Not yet matured, the plant was heavy with seeds and had the potential of implanting countless acres had it reached the proper age and been scattered by West Texas winds.

The marijuana was burned after law enforcement officers brought it into the city.

A Mexican American male as apprehended last weekend by night patrolman Gayle Morgan. Charged with possession of stolen CB radios and marijuana, he was placed in Lamb County Jail. He is currently undergoing psychiatric testing.

City officers worked three accidents during the past week. No injuries resulted from the three.

In other action, three aliens were picked up during the week.

A new visual read-out teletype system has arrived and is awaiting installation. Chief of Police Charles Feagley is also searching for someone interested in the job of dog catcher. Persons may inquire at the police station.

TUNNEL OF FUN - Olton Young Farmers, aided by contributions of local farmers and merchants, worked Saturday to provide elementary school boys and girls with playground "equipment" from tractor tires, utility poles and other materials. Here tires are being partially buried to build a tunnel.

Olton Young Farmers Erect School Playground Equipment

Olton Young Farmers turned out Saturday to serve their community and school by erecting "home-made" playground equipment which has already proved its popularity.

Used utility poles already given to the school along with some other equipment was supplemented by contributions of local businessmen and farmers. Additional work remains to be done and all young farmers are encouraged to come out Saturday and help complete the project.

The Young Farmers chapter plans monthly projects for community service. A future project is the erection of goal posts for the Little Dribblers program.

Not only a group of young farmers, Olton Young Farmers seek membership of men in ag related business. At present, the organization is composed of approximately two-thirds young farmers (35 years of age and younger) and one-third associate farmers (over 35 years.)

Associate members are an important part of the organization says David Britton, reporter for the local chapter. "We need their counsel and advice."

Other officers include Charlie T. Burrus, president; Robert Struve, vice president; Mark Gunter, secretary; Jackie Burkhalter, treasurer and Tommy Hancock, advisor.

Olton Young Farmers express their appreciation to those who contributed to the playground project; Royce Collins, Willie Gene Green, Thompson Implement, Price Pipe and Mower, Hall's Lumber, Farmers Pump, Wood-Jordan-Davis Implement, Mark McFadden and Nixon's Western Auto Store.

In Football Contest

Don Nafzger Widens Gap

Don Nafzger padded his lead for the season in the Enterprise football guessing game and now leads his closest opponents by six points. He has 79 correct picks for the season.

Nafzger was one of six contestants who missed three games each in last week's predicting. Caleb McClure proved to be the best at predicting the tie-breaker and thus claims the week's top money. He was off eight points with a 7-10 prediction.

Missing by 11 points, Nafzger picks up second place winnings with his prediction of 6-14. Ricky Smith was off 19 points with a 7-21 guess and will receive third place money.

Others who missed three games were Jerry LaFrance, 22 points, 7-24; Roger Thompson, 25, 7-27 and Jana Nafzger, 31, 16-24.

Every contestant was given an automatic correct guess on the UCLA-Washington State game last week because we were unable to find the results of that action.

Contestants who have 69 or more points are listed elsewhere in this issue. None of those should give up in their quest of the $50 grand prize for the most correct picks for the season. Standings may still change.

Any contestant can be a weekly winner, too, even one who has never entered.

Listings Sought For Calendar

Listings are being taken for the 1978 birthday calendars sponsored annually by Olton Band Parents. Cost of the calendars is $3 each complete with listings of family birthdays and anniversaries.

Any member of the band or Booster Club can accept orders or persons may call calendar chairman, Mrs. Buster Nicholas, 285-2446.

Proceeds of the calendar sales will go to the band.

New Vice President Named At Bank

Robert Hicks, of Sudan, was elected a vice-president of Olton State Bank at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors, according to Kenneth Burgess, board chairman.

Hicks previously served as Lamb County Supervisor for Farmers Home administration. Before moving to Lamb County he served the farmers in Donley, Gray, Armstrong and Childress counties.

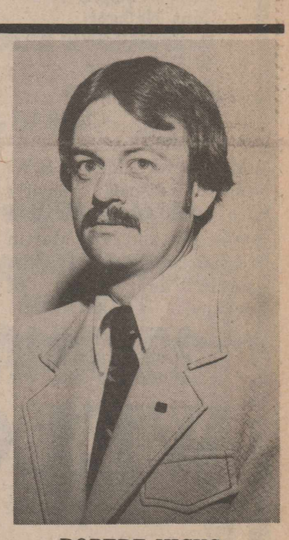

Graduate of Childress High School, he holds a degree in Agricultural Education from Tarleton State University.

He and his wife, Teresa, are parents of two sons, Jason who is eight years of age, and Justin, who is seven.

In the past Hicks has been actively involved in Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis Club activities.

The family attends the Church of Christ.

Dale Cary, president of the local bank, states that he feels Hicks past experiences qualify him as an outstanding agricultural banker. And he adds, "This should add additional emphasis to the desire of Olton State Bak Bank to serve the community."

Where's Dayton, Ohio?

By Rex Boyles

With the boxes all packed and the "goodbyes" all said we cranked up the U-Haul and headed for a new work . . . a new world. Just outside of town, barely out of waving distance, David (my almost 4 year old quiz kid) jumped up and asked, "Daddy, where is Dayton, Ohio? I can't see it." (Can you imagine what it is like to try to answer that for three days over 1300 miles?)

I tried the answers my Dad had always used on me: 'it's just over the next hill", or "just around the next turn". But that didn't work. He just kept asking. (I guess that's what you call the generation gap.) Well, you know this younger generation; nothing would do until I could show him the city.

In order to preserve my sanity and somewhat satisfy my little trucker I wrote a song, a country and western song, a real truck-driving gear-jamming song. (I'm sure you will all want to get a copy when it comes out in my first album.) The first line of the song went something like this, "It's a long way to Dayton, Ohio". (Catchy isn't it? It does lose something without the audio).

Anyway, that song did the trick. David would ask . . . I would sing. He finally quit asking. (I know what some of you are thinking. He did not quit asking just to get me to quit singing!)

We finally did get to Dayton, Ohio, but when we did, David wouldn't believe me. He just started singing . .. "It's a long way to Dayton, Ohio." What a boy!

I just wanted you to know that we got here safely and though we are separated by many miles you are as close to us as our memories, memories I treasure of Pee Wee and Little Dribblers . . . football and basketball games . . banquets and halftimes . . . contests and stock shows . . . lunches at school and sessions at home . . . but most of all the memory of you . . . Rex

Mustangs Drop Opener

Olton Mustangs dropped their 1977 District 3AA opener to the Dimmitt Bobcats by a score of 9-0 Friday night in Dimmitt. The loss was only the second district loss for the Mustangs since 1973.

All of the scoring was done in the first half with Bobcat Dennis Veals scoring from 30 yards out in the first quarter and Matt Howell adding a 26 yard field goal to end the half.

Mistakes again plagued the Mustangs as they gave up the ball 8 times on turn overs. Both of Dimmitt's scores were set up by Olton miscues.

Veals' TD came on the first play after recovering a Brad Allcorn fumble at Olton's 30 yard line. Howell's field goal was set up by a 'Roughing the kicker' penalty against Olton with only 2 minutes to play in the half.

The Mustang Defense rose to stop Dimmitt many times during the night to keep a possible victory within reach. However, Olton was unable to sustain a drive for a touchdown.

"We played aggressive football for the sixth game in a row. However playing hard does not mean that you play good," said Coach Miller. "We feel it is certainly an outstanding tribute to our kids that they continue to play with intensity when we are not winning."

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

By Mozelle Trotter

Be kind to me! I'm in mourning!

Did they have to be so GOOD? Those New York Yankees, I mean? Couldn't someone have hid Reggie Jackson's uniform so he couldn't have shown up?

Oh, well, as the old Brooklyn saying went, "Wait, till next year!"

I like to think I'm a good winner but there's little doubt in my mind that it's Ruf-f-f-f being a good loser. All those good plays that put my boys out were beautiful to a Yankee fan's eyes and to the connoisseur of the grand old game of baseball. But, they were as hard for a Dodger devotee to take as dose of bitter medicine.

All you folks who don't dig baseball have already tuned me out but I still have a cent and a half of my Two Cents Worth yet to say.

We're truly living in a Sick Generation. Enthusiasm is wonderful. Being for your team is admirable but there was nothing akin to sportsmanship in the action of some of the people occupying seats in Yankee Stadium!

Blaming all violent motivations upon television is about as ridiculous as giving all credit for a team win to one person and certainly there is yet to be one victory turned in by a one man team. (Philosopher Trotter speaking).

The Sick, Sick people who threw bottles and other items which could have seriously injured those outfielders did not learn such actions on TV. They were acts of festering sadism.

Phone calls threatening players lives are not practical jokes. They are even graver symptoms of a diseased mind and soul.

"Thank yous" are due American Broadcasting Company for not beaming in on those ugly, disgraceful spectacles. When we all cease giving attention they seek, maybe there'll be a little lessening of that creeping canker of our society.

Making Silk Flowers

Mrs. J.L. Snider directed a "do it yourself" demonstration in making silk flowers at Thursday's meeting of Olton Garden Club. During the business session, Mrs. Jack Allcorn presided over a discussion of the women's clubs' annual turkey dinner.

Also discussed was the Fall District I, Central Zone meeting of Texas Garden Clubs incorporated Nov. 9 in Sunday.

Arrangement of the day was made and described by Mrs. Doyle Pinson. Using a piece of driftwood, she had folded canna leaves into tiny "owls" and placed a tiny cat at the base. Gold and bronze marigolds completed the Halloween arrangement.

Busy Decorating New Home

"Jack says I'm going to have a house full of pillows," is the smiling comment of Mrs. Jack Loftis of the pretty throw accent pieces that are filled with hundreds of her tiny hand stitches.

The colorful pillows, which Rosa makes in square, rectangular and round shapes, are made in the design of Round the World quilts although the tiny blocks are much smaller.

Rosa has also made pretty pillows with crewel embroidery design and the pretty handcrafted items are found in the living room and the three bedrooms of the Loftises' pretty new home.

Their spacious, attractive home arrived in town in April just a few days after Jack escaped serious injuries when a car pulled in front of the truck which he was driving. It replaced the cramped quarters of a mobile home. The wide expanse of yard is Jack's jurisdiction.

Rosa's parents, John and Rhoda Baker, came to the Springlake community in 1923, bringing their family and posessions by wagon and team. Jack and Rosa attended school in Springlake and lived in that community until moving into Olton. They spent a very short time in Del Rio.

The Loftisses have one son, Rex, who works with Continental Air Lines. He and his wife, Rene, live in Odessa. They are parents of a six-year-old daughter, Tammy. Rex has adopted Rene's son, Douglas, and daughters, Alice and Sandra. The three "chosen" children are truly Jack's and Rosa's grandchildren.

Rosa loves to cook and gets compliments from family and friends but she claims Rene is "the best cook." One of the recipes Rosa shares with Enterprise cooks is a macaroni salad that has won raves since Rex was in school and took it to a school function.

Crocheting and other crafts are other hobbies of Rosa's. She has made several afghans.

A small black dog, "Peppi," completes the Loftis household.

The Loftises are members of First Baptist Church.

Bad Experiences From PCP

People label this drug fad everything from "angel dust" to "goon" but it can mean trouble no matter what you call it, the Texas Medical Association says. Phencyclidine (PCP(normally is used as an anesthetic for animals but lately people have been smoking, snorting, eating or injecting it to get a cheap high. The drug has risen from obscurity to fairly wide use in Texas in less than three years.

Often sprayed on marijuana leaves and smoked, PCP is supposed to produce a mellow experience but it can be unexpectedly vicious. National news reports show several people have died while using it and others have committed murder. Apparently PCP hallucinations are as unpredictable as LSD trips. Both can cause short or long-term psychological problems.

Even low or normal doses may produce fright, confusion, anxiety or other symptoms lasting anywhere from hours to years. One reason the drug is so unpredictable is that "bathtub laboratories," also called "pit outfits," make most of it and quality varies. To make the situation even more confusing, many times dealers often say PCP is THC, the active ingredient in marijuana, a Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) official says. Because of its bad reputation and because it is cheaper to make than some drugs, PCP also is said to be cocaine, mescaline, LSD, heroin or other drugs.

A federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) official says many dealers themselves do not know that the "THC" or other drug they offer is really PCP.

But many people buy PCP on purpose. Within the last three years, PCP has become increasingly popular in Texas, the DEA official says. He estimates that PCP easily is one of the top illegal drugs used by people with advanced schooling, including college. In fact, these educated people ranging in age from the mid-teens to the early 30's, seem to be the major group using the drug. The DPS official pegged high school students as the major users. Both stressed that PCP is not used solely by any particular group.

There is no antidote to completely counteract a bad trip on PCP, also known by names including "hog," "wobble," "superweed," "superkools," "crystal joint," "killer weed," "goon," "lovely," "magic mist," "sheets," and "angel dust." However, some medical treatment may be possible. Drug crisis centers and emergency rooms often can handle PCP patients.

"THE ELECTRIC SAVINGS MACHINE"

A good bargain now that will get even better!

Of course, any machine that works as efficiently as the heat pump has to save you money. And for many people, that's the key appeal of the heat pump. Initial costs may be slightly higher than those for a combination heating and air conditioning system, because the heat pump is in a class all by itself—so unique it can't be compared for quality and comfort. Day-to-day operating expenses are the lowest of any other electric heating/cooling system available or on the market today. But the savings don't stop there.

With fuel costs expected to rise during the next two decades, the electric heat pump is a smart investment that will reward your financial foresight for years. Then too, unlike other forms of energy, electricity can be generated from a variety of sources. You can count on having plenty to run your heat pump. Always!
