Judge Carl's Family Believe San Antonio Man Kidnaped

MYSTERY HANGS DEEPER AS NEW CLUES APPEAR

Former Burkburnett Man Was Attorney for Woman Who Poisoned Children

AUTO STILL MISSING

Acquaintances Trace Ex-Jurist from Austin to New Braunfels Tuesday

BULLETIN.

By The Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. —Information that J. F. Carl, missing San Antonio lawyer, had received a letter threateneing his life if he did not withdraw as attorney for Mrs. William Hauptrief of San Marcos, charged with poisoning her four children, gave police and state officials at Austin a new theory Wednesday night as to the mysterious disappearance of the former associate justice of the fourth court of civil appeals.

E. M. Carl, brother of the missing lawyer, gave officers the latest clue in the case which has baffled Austin police since Tuesday afternoon.

AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—Conductor Bob Ayres tonight identified a picture of J. F. Carl of San Antonio as that of a man who boarded his car at Lake Austin Monday night at midnight and rode back to the Austin street car barns, there leaving the car and walking toward town.

By The Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 3.—While one party of searchers drag the Colorado river for the body of Judge J. F. Carl of San Antonio, once associate justice of the court of civil appeals and formerly of Burkburnett, and another hunt for his automobile his family becomes more worried than ever over his strange disappearance.

Judge Carl has been missing since Tuesday forenoon. His clothing was found on the banks of the Colorado river near the Austin dam late Tuesday afternoon. Mysterious circumstances surrounded his sudden drop from view.

Valuables Removed.

All valuables were removed from his clothing which was found 150 feet from the river. His car which he was seen driving Tuesday forenoon, cannot be found.

Monday afternoon he left San Antonio in his automobile for Austin to attend the state democratic convention. He was seen in Austin that evening. He had an appointment to be at New Braunfels Tuesday to arrange for a habeas corpus hearing for Mrs. Annie Hauptrief of San Marcos, confessed poisoner of her four step-children.

Seen in Austin.

Early Tuesday morning Judge Carl was seen to leave a hotel in Austin and apparently start toward New Braunfels.

At 10:30 Judge W. S. Anthony, assistant district attorney at San Antonio, saw Judge Carl in New Braunfels headed back toward Austin. Judge Carl did not keep an appointment with Comal county officials in regard to the Hauptrief case, although he had arranged to have a conference with them Tuesday.

Late Tuesday afternoon his clothes were found along the Colorado river. There were no footprints on the bank. The family express the belief that he has been kidnaped.

COLORADO RIVER FAILS TO YIELD UP BODY

AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—The waters of the Colorado river below the Austin dam were being dragged this mornin in an effort to locate the body of Judge J. F. Carl, attorney of San Antonio, who disappeared Tuesday morning. Judge Carl had come here to attend the democratic state convention as a delegate from Bexas county.

No trace of the whereabouts of Judge Carl had been found at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, police headquarters reported.

Finding of the clothes of Judge Carl near the dam Tuesday afternoon caused friends of the missing man and local police officers to believe that Carl had suffered bodily injuries. Carl's clothes were found early Thursday afternoon a short distance from the dam by police officers. There was no evidence of a struggle near the neat pile of clothes which consisted of hat, shoes, shirt, coat and trousers. No money or other valuables or any papers were in the pockets of the trousers or coat.

The clothes were identified as be[illegible] Judge Carl by Eugene [illegible]onio, a close friend [illegible]haus first start[illegible] Carl it was [illegible]

MEADE—While a sheriff's posse scoured the country-side around Meade today for two members of a trio of bandits who made an unsuccessful attempt to hold up the Golden State Limited of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad near here late last night, County Attorney C. C. Wilson examined Alonzo Pizneo, a Mexican, and third member of the trio, who was captured in a gun battle with officers during the attempted holdup.

COOLIDGE TO AVOID POLITICS ON SUNDAY

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—With enthusiastic reports before him from his campaign manager, William M. Butler, and other political advisers President Coolidge turned his attentoon today to work on his next speech to be delivered in Baltimore Saturday morning at the unveiling there of the LaFayette statue.

The president meanwhile has told advisers he considered it inappropriate to discuss political questions in his speech before the Holy Name Society convention here later this month. The address, he pointed out, will be before a religious assemblage and will be delivered under present plans on Sunday.

Wheeler Scores Opponents' Delaying Klan Remarks

By The Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 3.—Senator Wheeler, vice-presidential candidate on the third ticket, left Portland today, pushing forward his speaking tour in New England, with stops scheduled at Lowell, Mass., and Manchester, N. H. Rain delayed his Tuesday efforts but did not halt him entirely, and in his night address at Portland, he began criticized the democratic and republican parties and introduced the topic of the ku klux klan.

Nonpartisanists Refuse To Support Pres. Coolidge

By The Associated Press.

BISMARCK, N. D., Sept. 3.—The republican state committee as controlled by the nonpartisan league this afternoon refused to pledge support to the candidacy of President Coolidge. It is recommended, however, that the four LaFollette electors who were pledged on the Coolidge ticket in the March republican presidential primary in North Dakota should withdraw.

Winant is Nominated

By The Associated Press.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 3.—Captain John W. Winant, Concord financier, was conceded the republican nomination for governor today by his chief opponent, Major Frank Knox, publisher of the Manchester Union and Leader, when the returns from 247 of the 294 electoral districts gave Winant a plurality of 2,004. The totals were Winant 18,606, Knox 16,612.

BRITAIN DEFIES CITY COUNCIL ON WATER RATE

"Give Us Lower Rate Or Your Successors Will," He Warns

SCHEDULE "FOOLISH"

C. of C. Head Asserts City Commissioners Are "Mesmerized"

Defiance, unqualified and uncompromising, was hurled at the city commission Wednesday by A. H. Britain, president of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce which is demanding a lower rate on water used in Wichita Falls.

"We propose to get cheaper water," Judge Britain asserted. "If we cannot get it from this council, then we will get it from another."

Charges Politics.

Judge Britain charged that certain members of the city council had been "mesmerized" by Frank Lawton, manager of the city water department, who has opposed the schedule of rates proposed by the chamber of commerce, and further asserted that members of the council were "playing politics" in cutting the minimum rate, used by a majority of voters, while keeping the rate for large users high.

"We did not want the water rate to be taken into politics," Mr. Britain declared, "but apparently that is what the city council is going to force use to do. If they want a fight, then we will give it to them, and we are not going to let up until we get a fair and equitable water rate for this city—a rate that will make it not only possible for all citizens to use water and plenty of it in beautifying their homes, but one that will make it possible for great industries to locate here and add their impetus to the growth of Wichita Falls.

"I have no political interest in the matter—I simply want this city to take the rank to which she is entitled."

Ridicules New Rate.

Mr. Britain then ridiculed the rate adopted by the council terming it "foolish" and the only one of its kind in the United States, so far as he is informed.

"The rate is absurd," he declared. "It proposes that a minimum rate of 25 cents per 1000 gallons be charged

Pop Geers, Vet Of Racing Game, Killed on Track

By The Associated Press.

WHELLING, W. VA., Sept. 3.—"Pop" Geers, etervan of the race track, died here this afternoon from injuries sustained in a race at the Wheeling state fair grounds today.

Geers was injured when his horse, My Lady Guy, fell, throwing Geers and the sulky in a heap. Before track officials could reach him the horse had stepped on his chest. He was taken to a Wheeling hospital unconscious. Geers was in second place when the accident occurred.

Dario Resta Is Instantly Killed

By The Associated Press.

BROOKLANDS, England, Sept. 3.—Dario Resta, famous automobile racing driver, was killed today while attempting to establish a new world's record.

He was killed instantaneously when his racer plunged through the iron fence bordering the track here. His mechanician, Perkins, escaped with minor injuries.

The car, Resta's Grand Prix Sunbeam, plunged from the track on the straightaway paralleling the railway track during the second lap. The wreckage caught fire and the car was destroyed.

Resta only recently arrived from America.

FLIERS TO HOP BOSTON FRIDAY

By The Associated Press.

PICTOU, N. S., Sept. 3.—The American army aviators will not hop off for Boston until Friday at the earliest. This announcement was made by Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, in command of the world flight, immediately on the arrival of the planes this afternoon.

Smith landed minus his rear spreader-bar, connecting the pontoons and this damage will have to be repaired.

LIGHTNING DAMAGES NEW ELECTRA SCHOOL

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Sept. 3.—During the severe electric storm of Monday night, about 10:30, lightning struck and demolished the large chimney on the new high school building and the falling brick damaged the roof of the building considerably.

The damage was estimated at $1,500 fully covered by insurance. Workmen were put on the job immediately to rebuild the chimney.

The new building will be formally opened to the public Thursday in a public program, already announced, and this accident will not interfere with the occasion.

5-Foot Rattler Slain in Kiddies Playground at Burkburnett Home

BURKBURNETT, Sept. 3.—A rattlesnake, measuring over five feet, was killed about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon by E. M. Mullins in his yard near the Tidal Western refinery.

As snakes are rarely seen in Burkburnett, and only small ones, it is supposed that this big fellow is one of several reptiles which are reported to have escaped from the exhibition pens of a carnival located last week on a lot joining the Mullins yard, and which left the city last Saturday.

The rattler was discovered near where the neighborhood children were playing, making its way to a dripping hydrant. It showed no alarm at the approach of people; but coiled. It took five shots to kill it. The poison glands had not been removed, as is often the case with snakes on exhibition.

A steady outlook is being reported in the neighborhood for the rest of the escaped carnival snakes.

BRYAN-DAVIS PIPE APPEARS

Old Fashioned Corn-Cob Is Big Temptation To Demo Nominee

By The Associated Press.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 3.—The "Bryan-Davis" pipe, a corn cob, was born in Lincoln today.

The pipe, received in the mail by Governor Charles W. Bryan from a citizen of Nebraska, will be boosted as a democratic emblem representing the great staple product of the middle west as opposed to the trick "high priced and patented" pipe of Chas G. Dawes.

He Swore Off.

Although he had sworn off several years ago, Governor Bryan said he felt it "a great temptation to encourage agriculture by suggesting that the corn cob pipe would enable those who wanted to smoke to do so at a reasonable price."

It will be a "common sense" pipe the vice-presidential candidate smilingly remarked and one that's made of the great staple product in the agricultural sections.

The farmer, he said, "will not have to get over to the high priced, patented pipe that only those who are able to retire can use."

Comparing the corn cob and the underslung, Governor Bryan said they show the "difference in the stands of the two major parties."

Socialism Charge Faces Captain in U. S. Army

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Denial that he was either a socialist or a communist was made today by Captain Paxton Hibben, officer's reserve corps, whose fitness to remain in the army is being investigated by a special army board of inquiry.

His name had been placed on the advisory board of the Soviet Russia Pictorial without his consent, Captain Hibben testified.

Teapot Dome Receiver To Be Appointed at Later Date

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 3.—United States District Judge Blake T. Kennedy declared today that he may not appoint a receiver to replace Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss, resigned, even though applications may be handed him for a new appointment. This action, he declared, was in view of the fact that the bureau of mines was on the ground at Teapot Dome and was competent of handling the government's interest.

Hoboes Lead To Rout Of Bandits

By The Associated Press.

MEADE, Kans., Sept. 3.—While routing three Mexican laborers from the blinds of the Golden State Limited of the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific railroad here last night, Meade county authorities frightened an automobile load of highwaymen, who were hiding near the depot preparing to hold up the train, County Attorney C. C. Wilson declared today.

Acting on a tip city and county officers armed themselves and awaited the train's arrival.

When the train stopped at the depot three Mexicans were discovered riding at the rear of the engine. Believing them to be the highwaymen, officers opened fire.

While the shooting was taking place, witnesses saw a large motor car filled with men speed away from a spot a few hundred feet ahead of the engine.

MacDonald Favors Arms Meet Held in Europe

By The Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 3.—The British prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald, declared tonight that he favored holding the proposed disarmament conference in Europe instead of Washington, because it should be attended by the premiers of Europe, who would thus be able to devote time to the conference.

DEMOS FINISH AUSTIN SESSION

Anti-Klan Platform Adopted With Recommendations For Legislative Action

Complete copy of the platform adopted by the state democratic convention will be found on today's editorial page.

By The Associated Press.

CAPITOL, Austin, Sept. 3.—A strong anti-klan platform including a plank favoring laws which would require the klan membership to be published, was adopted today at the closing session of the democratic state convention. In addition the convention endorsed and ratified the nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson of Temple for governor.

Klan Plank Incorporated.

The klan plank, regarded as the most important in the party declaration of principles, was incorporated into party policy after the organization had been subjected to grilling for a day and a half. The klan, heretofore a dominant force in the councils of the party, made sporadic efforts to hold its own in the open convention, but the leaders, apparently determined to exterminate it as a political force, within 15 minues after

AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—Secret political organizations working within the democratic party have been banned, nay, ruthlessly condemned and eliminated by the democrats of Texas who dominated the convention of the party for 1924. This is the decree of the democracy which triumphed over klan candidates and klan politics in the run-off primary.

General Crane Keynoter

General M. M. Crane, who was lieutenant governor when Hogg was governor and attorney general for four years, sounded the keynote speech as temporary chairman and his declaration was a scathing denunciation of klan politics and the alleged methods of the secret political organization. General Crane addressed a remarkable assemblage and no more exciting scene has ever been witnessed in a democratic convention in this state than the demonstration which followed the conclusion of the keynote speech.

HEARING IS HELD

Antis refuse to Bring Witness, Choosing to Await Grand Jury Action

By the Associated Press.

HERRIN, Ills., Sept. 3.—The ku klux klan today buried the last of its dead slain in the battle fought on one of Herrin's street Saturday while Coroner William McCowan and his jury of six men inquired into the causes of the fight and sought to learn who was responsible.

Evidence For Klan.

The evidence laid before the jury was more or less conflicting and barring one witness, Mrs. Chester Reid, widow of one of the men killed, the testimony plainly was the side of the klan.

The other side ignored the inquiry, Sheriff Calligan saying he would not testify at the inquest as "it didn't mean anything," but that he would wait for the convening of the grand jury at Marion, September 22.

The jury, after waiting most of the afternoon for witnesses that didn't appear, adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Charles Willard was the klansman buried today. Impressive ceremonies were held for him and he was interred with all honors the ku klux klan could bestow on one of their own.

Four Protestant ministers officiated at the services held at the First Methodist church at Herrin. The edifice was packed with people, perhaps a thousand, while several hundred, unable to get in, remained on the outside.

Regalia Is Worn.

At the city cemetery about 20 klansmen donned their robes, but not their masks, while Rev. P. R. Glotfelty, pastor of the Methodist church, also garbed in klan robes, conducted the klan burial ceremony.

Statements by several witnesses that State's Attorney Delos Duty, and Herrin's city judge, E. N. Bowen, took part in the shooting were vigorously denied by Mr. Duty.

Many people here had predicted that today would bring a fresh outbreak when the opposing forces would meet at the coroner's inquest. But, they did not meet. Some give the military credit, for it is a certainty that the soldiers do command respect from both sides and the appearance of khaki clad men is welcomed by both factions.

Guards Are Present.

At the inquest a guard was stationed outside the door who searched every person that entered the room. Inside were a dozen more soldiers, each one carrying a loaded rifle with the bayonet fixed. A sergeant stood back of the judge's bench, raised a foot or so above the floor, with a dozen hand grenades within easy reach. Behind a long table where the coroner, his jury and newspaper men sat, was a sentry with an automatic rifle held at port-arms and ready for anything.

Mrs. Reid was the first witness to appear and from her testimony it appeared that her husband was the first man killed.

Her testimony was:

"On Monroe street we saw them dragging a man past Smith's garage. My husband jumped out of the car and exclaimed: 'Look here,' and ran across the street. Then shooting started. My husband raised his hands and cried: 'Don't shoot men, you will kill my baby.' Then John Smith pulled down and shot him. My husband was motioning for me to come to him. I don't know how long he lived, but he never knew anything."

Houston Murphy, an employe of the Smith garage, and Alvin Townsend testified that Smith did not appear on the scene until after the trouble was over.

Not a "Ma" Victory, Says Lynch Reaffirming 1926 Candidacy

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Lynch Davidson, former lieutenant governor of Texas, announced on the liner Berengaria just before he sailed for Europe today that he would be a candidate for governor of Texas in 1926.

Commenting on the recent primaries in the Lone Star State, Mr. Davidson said:

I do not regard the result as a 'Ma' Ferguson victory, but it was an anti-klan victory.

DEMOS

the convention opened yesterday began to use the steam roller with what the convention soon recognized as telling and remarkable effect.

Steam Roller Worked.

The opening skirmish came with a speech from the floor, even before the permanent organization was effected, demanding that alleged klan delegates from the fourth senatorial district be unseated. The demand was quickly followed by others of a similar nature and in each case the temper of the delegates was unmistakably demonstrated by attempts to howl down the klan spokesmen. Temporary Chairman M. M. Crane of Dallas, when the right of the convention was challenged to substitute other delegates, announced that each side should have a fair hearing but in the end enunciated the doctrine that for 16 years party rules countenanced the practice and that the rules should stand until they were changed.

Klan Shorn of Power.

From that moment it became apparent that the klan was shorn of its power as a political factor in the convention. Attempts to clinch it by the platform declaration was regarded as entirely successful. Meanwhile, however, many speakers voiced the sentiment that it was not the desire of the party to drive klansmen from the party. Rather, it was declared, it was desired that they abandon what was said to have been attempts to dominate the party and stay within the folds. Such speakers as Joseph Wedon Bailey, former United States senator, Chairman Crane and even James E. Ferguson, husband of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, the nominee for governor, joined in the plea to the klan to purge itself and stay in its political home.

Wheelhorses Come.

Apparently word of what the convention was about to do in relation to the klan had got abroard for such veteran democrats as Riezi M. Johnston of Houston, Senator Bailey and a host of other wheelhorses in the party, some of whom had not attended a democratic convention in many years, were present.

Denounce the Klan.

A platform vigorously denouncing the klan, calling for publication of memberships of secret societies, demanding publication of liquor sales by druggists, calling upon the legislature to respect Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson as the leader of the party, endorsing Governor Neff's administration, advising maintenance of state highways and sounding a note of triumph for the national democratic ticket was adopted.

The convention demanded resignation of national committeewoman Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth of Fort Worth, the last party official of reputed klan affiliation, and referred the demand to the executive committee for action.

Adoption of the platform, election of a new state executive committee to serve two years, approval of the candidates nominated in the run-off primary were the main accomplishments of the convention.

Much Oratory Heard.

Most of its time was occupied in oratory against the klan. It was a return, many said, to the old faces in politics who have been turned to the wall for several years. It brought together again Joseph W. Bailey, former United States senator; General M. M. Crane of Dallas, former attorney general; former Governor James Ferguson, Jed Adams, new national committeemen, and others who have been absent from the party councils and some of whom have been opposed to each other.

The new executive committee held a brief informal session this morning and decided to meet in Houston next Monday for business. It will then consider selection of candidates for railroad commission and state treasurer.

At the close of the conevntion Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson held an informal reception on the platform as hundreds of visitors crowded around to chat with them. Mrs. Ferguson, the nominee, has attended the convention throughout its deliberations. In a speech accepting the nomination last night she asked for the combined support of the people of Texas in making a good governor if she is elected in November.

Climax Came Swift.

The initial struggle soon after the convention opened was sharp and the climax swift. It gathered force in the meeting of the committee on resolutions where a numger of anti-klan pronouncements were introduced, ranging from publication of its membership to investigating its alleged activities in connection with what was asserted to have been flagrant misuse of power in a coalition with certain corporations which enabled them to partially escape taxation or secure special privileges. "Go to the bottom of this thing," said Mr. Johnson, before the committee, "and you will find the root of much of the trouble."

The platform was largely the work of Mr. Ferguson. He submitted to the committee a draft of what he regarded as a suitable expression of principles on which his wife could make the race for governor. Each idea, and indeed, much of the language of the document was finally written into the platform and endorsed by the convention.

Drug Stores and Liquor.

The platform, aside from the klan declaration, declared for a rigid investigation into the alleged activities of druggists and physicians who do not obey the liquor laws; asserted that state expenditures should be kept within constitutional limits, which Mr. Ferguson insisted upon before the committee, indicated that taxation should be reduced to the least amount consistent with good judgment in conducting the affairs of the state, which Mr. Ferguson again summed up before the committee in the sentence: "Not what we want but what we can pay for."

Other platform pronouncements were regarded of relative minor importance.

The convention began with a tense air fo expectancy, apparently due to apprehension over the klan issue, but as the power of the majority manifested itself, the tenseness gave way to easy tolerance and finally to good-natured raillery.

Only a Few Left.

Leaders and delegates poured from the hall the moment the convention adjourned a few hours later, the throng, which had filled the hotels and crowded the state senate chamber to suffocation, had thinned to comparatively few.

Mrs. Ferguson and her husband were the outstanding figures of the meeting. The woman nominee for governor was repeatedly cheered by the delegates, who were no less generous with their applause for Ferguson himself, who, in a speech before the delegates last night whimsically described himself as the person who would "hang around the governor's mansion in Austin and carry in the wood and water."

Former Governor Ferguson, at the close of the convention, made the following statement to the Associated Press.

Ferguson's Statement.

"I am gratified at the action of the convention, and of course personally I have just cause to be proud. A long fight for vindication has been realized and I am deeply thankful to find with the coming of vindication that I am at peace with my God, my country and my fellowmen. This is, of course, only personal and it is not so important as the great interest of the masses is and should be. My wife will go into office with but a single purpose, and that to render some efficient service in return for the great honor which the people have bestowed upon her.

"One of the great gratifications which every democrat must feel in regard to this convention is that it has been the greatest step toward peace and harmony in Texas politics that has been taken in many a year. I believe from this time on, the prominent men of the state will realize more than ever the obligation resting upon them to put the interest of the state above and beyond that ambitions of men."

Mr. Ferguson said "Ma and Pa" are going back to Temple to pick a little cotton, can a few preserves, set the hens to laying and make a little money to come down to Austin on."

The deliberations of the new state executive committee are attracting the interest of many who are candidates for the position on the railroad commission, created by the resignation of Dr. Walter Splawn, and for state treasurer. C. V. Terrell, former treasurer, was appointed to fill out Dr. Splawn's term.

To Meet On Call.

The committee, after an informal session, decided this morning to meet at the call of the chairman, and it was later announced the call probably would be made at a meeting at Houston next Monday.

So far as the actual business of the convention was concerned, the real convention was held Monday night in a caucus of Ferguson supporters, at which the officers of the convention were selected and the program outlined. This program was followed to the letter in the convention proper.

The committee also had before it the question of unseating Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth of Fort Worth, national committeewoman. A resolution adopted by the convention recommended her removal and the substitution of Mrs. H. B. Broaddus, of Colorado. Mrs. Bloodworth was charged on the convention floor with klan sympathies, which, it was said, made her out of harmony with the party.

Adams Succeeds Love.

The new representative of the party in national councils is Jed C. Adams of Dallas. He succeeds Thomas B. Love, who resigned after the nomination of Mrs. Ferguson because he said he was against "Fergusonism."

Lemons Bleach the Skin White

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—A for the first 4,000 gallons. Then, instead of cutting the rate for the larger user of water, it increased to 27 cents for the next 16,000 gallons, 26 cents for the next 20,000 gallons, and so on. It can be readily seen that the minimum charge takes care of such expenses as bookkeeping and reading meters. It certainly does not cost any more to keep an account of one who uses a million gallons than that of one using only 4,000, and neither does it cost any more to read the meters.

Economically Unsound.

"The rate is economically unsound. It is opposed to the economic fact that greater production costs less per unit than small production. It makes an insignificant cut in the rate of the small user, and penalizes the larger. I dare say no such rate prevails anywhere else in the United States, in water business or any other business.

"They say they can't get by with a lower rate. Well, they promised it to us when we voted bonds to buy the privately owned water plant, and when we voted bonds to build Lake Kemp and created an abundant and inexhaustible supply of water. The old company paid interest on its bonds, paid taxes on its property to both state and city and county and to the schools, and yet it made a profit on a rate practically the same as that just adopted. Every tax payer in the city now pays $1.00 per $100 tax for the water supply; the municipally owned water plant has no taxes to pay, and pays but part of the interest and sinking fund on its own bonds. Then why the municipally owned plant can not operate with a lower rate, I do not see.

Committee Investigates.

"The chamber of commerce appointed a committee of some of the best and most conservative minds in the city to investigate the water situation and propose a schedule of rates. This committee, with only the good of the city at heart, worked hard and faithfully for months on the project, and at last arrived at a rate which it considered fair to patrons of the water system and safe for the system to put in effect.

"We held back the report until the last city election because we did not want it mixed in with politics.

"We only asked for a square deal, for a rate that would justify large industries to locate here and help our city grow; we haven't got it.

"The chamber of commerce demands a rehearing on the water rate; we shall submit our figures again with an earnest appeal that they be adopted. If they are adopted, then well and good; if this council rejects them, we shall get a council that has the best interests of the city at heart.

City Officials Silent.

City officials declined to comment yesterday on protests made by chamber of commerce directors on the water schedule in effect here. It was intimated unofficially, however, that the city council was contemplating no immediatte action on the matter.

Following a long study the council several months ago adopted a new rate structure for the water department, using as a basis figures submitted by a chamber of commerce committee named to investigate local water charges. The committee was appointed at the request of Mayor Frank Collier.

The proposed rate of the committee brought a prompt protest from water department heads who declared that they would be ruinous insofar as putting the department on a self-sustaining basis was concerned. Eventually, a compromise in which suggestions from both the chamber of commerce and the water department were heeded was reached by the council.

M'DONALD

frage, this apostle of democracy is a master of invective and when he distributes vitriol he lets it loose in large quantities. There were many klan delegates in his audience and doubtless klan sympathizers and they must have received scant comfort while the flow of oratory was on. It is said that the klan never had more than 350 delegates claiming seats in the convention and that more than 150 counties sent anti-klan delegates to Austin.

McDonald Arouses Audience.

Chares C. McDonald of Wichita Falls was even more vitriolic than General Crane and his address aroused the audience to indescribable frenzy. As forecasted by this writer, the dominant element of the convention showed no mercy or compassion for klan claimants for committee assignments or for any place in the machinery of the state organization. This was in keeping with the precedents established by the klan convention in the city of San Antonio two years ago and in the May convention this year.

At Waco R. Harper Kirby and Mrs. Claude De Van Watts were thrown out after their district had made them delegates to the Madison Square Garden convention. No mercy was shown at San Antonio to the anti-klan leaders two years ago, no mercy was shown at the Waco convention and the same tactics or methods were employed by the anti-klan democrats to their foemen before and since the organization of the Austin convention.

If all is fair in love and war and poiltics then the anti-klan leaders were perfectly justified in adopting the methods practiced by the klan leaders at the two preceding conventions. These methods are not fair; these tactics can not be defended by lovers of fair play, but it must be conceded that the precedents established by the klan leaders were employed with amazing directness by their political foemen who are now in the saddle. They hog-tied the minority in the two conventions they controlled and now they are hog-tied themselves by their victorious fellow democrats who swept the state in the run-off election.

Joe Bailey Comes Back.

Joseph Weldon Bailey, like General Crane, is back with a vengence. As the permanent chairmen of the convention he was given what the political reporters call a magnificent ovation. It was magnificent in volume and intensity, just as the reception given General Crane had been in the early stages of this remarkable political gathering. Mr. Bailey is a master orator, he knows the fundamentals of democracy, he is a state rights democrat and the foremost champion of the ancient dogema. He does not believe in bloc control, bloc domination, preachers in politics, secret political organizations and he did not hestiate to make his position clear on this momentious occasion.

Crane and Bailey are ancient political enemies; Ferguson and Crane and Bailey are ancient political enemies but all the Bailey men and all the Crane men of other years clasped hands together in the campaign which led to the nomination of Mrs. Ferguson. They stand together against klan politics and klan politicians.

Judge Joseph E. Cockrell, called the most powerful Methodist layman in Texas and the man who started the prairie fire against klan candidates, is another dominant figure of this convention. He is rich, he is ambitious. He is opposed to bloc politics, secret or otherwise and like Judge Thomas M. Henderson of Milam, he is a life long prohibitionist.

William A. Hauger did not attend the convention. He sent a letter to Mrs. Ferguson in which he pledged her his vote and influence on November election day. Judge John Mathis of Houston did attend the convention but before coming he wired Mrs. Ferguson congratulations and pledged hearty support. These men were close to Zeke Marvin at San Antonio two years ago and were of the Big Five in control at Waco this year. A friend of the two veteran said to the writer, "Hanger and Mathis are democrats before they are klansmen."

Klansmen Have Rough Day.

Klan leaders from the province of Dallas, namely Michael T. Lively, George Butcher and Walter LaFayette Thornton had a rough day of it. Also Dr. Alexander Campbell Parker. Their names were submitted to the convention for places on the three important committees. This was as far as they traveled. Ceasar McDonald of West Texas otherwise known as Charlie, let loose a thunderbolt and when the smoke had cleared away three anti-klansmen from Dallas county were given the important committee assignments.

This proceedure followed wherever it was deemed necessary or in keeping with the political color scheme of the hour. Claimants for seats in counties where Mrs. Ferguson had overwhelmed Felix D. Robertson, were given the right of way and the proper credentials. As selected, the state committee should be a harmonious body. It is strictly anti-klan. Three or four klan democrats were elected from senatorial districts but the precedentas established by the May convention by the klansmen themselves was strictly adhered to and poison ivy administered to the victims. Charles F. Greenwood forecasted a platform that would be short and snappy—not vague or indistinct on the issue of klan politics. It is said that Joseph Weldon Bailey had a large voice in the shaping of the platform and that Mrs. Ferguson was given great consideration and that the pledges made by the Fergusons in the campaign crystalized into emphatic planks.

Hicks Among Absent.

Marshall Hicks, marvelous weilder of the gavel at San Antonio and Waco, did not attend the convention. He is away down in southwest Texas recovering from the ardorous labors attendant upon the Madison Square Garden convention. Colonel R. M. Johnston and many veteran democrats of Houston participated in the deliberations. Harris county sends Senator Charles Murphy and five anti-klan representatives to the thirty-ninth legislature. More than two thousand delegates and spectators attended the convention from other counties, coming from the Red River and the Rio Grande, and the Colorado Mountains and the Gulf coast country.

Cyclone Davis of Hopkins county was cast out and the Brinn delegation given the right of way. This was a crushing defeat for Cyclone, backed by the klan and the more radical of the farm-labor partisans of his section. Former Mayor Charles E. Kely of El Paso and Senator B. F. Berkley of Alpine directed the selection of the state executive committee in their section of the state.

Faces Turned From Wall

Convention goers are reminded that hundreds of faces that had been turned to the wall reappeared in the political picture gallery of the commonwealth. Those who came back demanded a clean sweep. They won their demand. Now many powerful leaders say that the klan will disappear from politics in Texas, becoming a purely fraternal organization with a diminishing membership as time rolls on.

More radical klansmen who place the klan first and the democratic party second, are said to be very sore over the crushing defeats that have been meted out to them and will either bolt the ticket or remain away from the polls in November.

There is going to be an exciting after-convention campaign as the militant democrats who are opposed to bloc politicians and bloc politics, say that the democrats of Texas will be organized as never before in order to roll up a huge majority for John W. Davis and the entire democratic ticket in November.

WILBARGER FAIR IN BIG OPENING

Parade Principal Event Of "Vernon Day" At Exposition

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Sept. 3.—Wilbarger county's twelfth annual fair was officially opened today by a parade which formed on North Main street, proceeded around the court house square and then out to the fair grounds west of the city. This was Vernon day and all merchants closed their doors for the afternoon.

Today Visitors Day.

Tomorrow is visitors' day and the day after will be club girl and boys' day at which time all club members will be admitted to the grounds at half price. Saturday, September 6. the last day of the fair, is Wilbarger day.

The town was full today of people who came to be here when the fair officially opened.

The exhibits in farm products are exceptionally good this year on acount of the fine crops.

Racing Card Excellent.

The racing card is the best that has eer been placed here and the vaudeville acts and fireworks in front of the grandstand are features that are employed at the Dallas fair and other big fairs.

The San Antonio Carnival company arrived Monday and the carnival has been in full swing since that time.

The live stock products and poultry exhibit are both good.

CROWELL BOASTS THREE COLLEGE TEAM CAPTAINS

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Sept. 3.—While the town has always been noted in this section for its remarkable high school athletes, Crowell claims a new distinction this year in that it has turned out three college team captains.

Tom Bevehly, red-headed shortstop of the Decatur Baptist college Indians, has been elected captain of the nine for the coming season. Beverly was captain for two years of the local high school team and plays an all-around infield game.

Roy Awbrey, lanky backfield man, will display his stellar qualities this year as captain of the Indian football squad with which team he performed last season. Awbrey has already left here for Lake Worth where he with Coaches Dickson and Fullingham will supervise the conditioning of the squad for the coming season.

Gordon Bell, who played three years of high school basketball with Crowell, will return this year to Baylor, where he will captain the quintet of 1925.

State Briefs

ABILENE — Congressman and Mrs. Thomas L. Blanton and their children have gone to the Matthews ranch in Shackelford county where they will spend ten days with Mrs. Blanton's people. They will then go to Austin where Tom, Jr., Matt and Miss Annie Blanton will enter the University of Texas. From Austin the congressman and his wife will return to Washington in preparation of the opening of congress.

SAN ANTONIO—The district attorney enquiring as to the business of a witness on the stand who had been an observer of a street fight, brought the answer "I run a still." The court almost swooned. It developed that the witness meant an oil still with the Grayburg Oil company.

STAMFORD—The El Paso chamber of commerce is ready to press its cause for an extension of the Santa Fe northwestwardly from El Paso to Lubbock through Carlsbad and the famous Carlsbad caves district. D. A. Bandeen, president of the chamber of commerce, gave out the report. Recently W. H. Simpson, assistant general manager of the Santa Fe lines said that his road was ready to proceed with construction whenever the demands seem to justify.

STAMFORD—A conference called to meet at Fort Worth, Sept. 11, to consider the participation of Texas in a grand state exhibit at the Southern Exposition in the Grand Central Palace, New York, January 19 to 31, 1925, inclusive.

CLARENDON—It is expected that the 1924 enrollment of the Clarendon college this fall, the school opening September 9. President G. S. Slover declared that prospects were growing brighter every day, there being letters making reservations in the two dormitories.

DALLAS—Mrs. Margaret Zimmett, 75 was killed on Second Avenue Tuesday when she was struck by a touring car. Mrs. Zimmett lives just outside the city limits and was on her way to a rural mail box to mail a letter when she was struck. The driver of the car was questioned by the district attorney.

LUBBOCK—On Admistice Day, November 11, the corner stone of the new Texas Technological college will be laid if Contractor Ramsey can get material on the ground. An interesting celebration is being arranged by the citizens for the occasion.

CANYON—A local business man and severeal associates will erect and complete a modern bottling works in time to care for next springs cold drink trade, is the announcement made public.

ABILENE—Forty-four marriage licenses were issued during the month of August as against 12 divorce cases filed for trial. During the September term of the district court approximately 20 divorce cases are set for trial, some continued from the July term.

JACKSBORO—Wesley Ramsey, 28, son of J. N. Ramsey, died here Tuesday morning following an automobile accident in which he lost control of the car and went into a ditch, catching him under the car crushing his chest. He lived four hours.

BALLINGER—Contesting the result of the July primary, Earl McWilliams who defeated Sheriff Flynt by 28 votes is made defendant, the plaintiff alleging votes to the number of 80, cast in different boxes, which votes he asks be excluded. Suit was filed in district court here Monday.

AUSTIN — Adjutant General Barton Tuesday received confidential verbal report from Capt. Tom Hickman of the conditions in the Big Lake oil field on University of Texas land in Reagan county. Rangers were sent to Big Lake oil field to check bootlegging, hi-jacking and other lawlessness.

HASKELL—Horses of Haskell county are being trained for running races to take place at the Haskell County Fair association race track during the fair, October 2, 3 and 4.

AMARILLO—Cyrus Frost, 18 years old being brought back from Canadian for trial on an alleged criminal charge, leaped from the car window of a Santa Fe train near Whitedear and has not been recaptured. He was in charge of Deputy Sheriff J. W. Potter.

SHERMAN — A contract has been signed by the Sherman Municipal band to provide music for the county fair at Tishomingo, Okla., for three days beginning Sept. 10. The American legion of Tishomingo is staging the fair.

SAN ANGELO — The case of the state vs Andy Meador, charged with murder in connection with the death of Asa Rawls, an employee of the Meador ranch in Andrew county, was continued in district court here until the January term. The illness of Lud Williams of Waco, a defense attorney was set forth as the grounds for continuance. Meador was tried and convicted here June 12, last [illegible] given a 20 year sentence. Spivey to Contest Appeals Election

WACO, Texas, Sept. 3—Associate Justice Spivey of the 10th court of civil appeals in a petition filed in the 19th district court here today contests the right of J. A. Stanford of Waco as to the democratic nomination to the office he now holds. Judge Spivey was appointed a member of the court by Governor Neff when that tribunal was created and on the face of the returns was defeated by Judge Stanford in the primary by a majority of 272 votes.

Judge Spivey contends in the petition filed today that the election laws were not complied with in many respects as to convassing returns. Charge is made that in some places in the district were incorporated towns levied a poll tax for 1923 that persons who did not have a poll tax receipt were permitted to vote. He also claims that votes were cast in the city of Waco by persons whose names did not appear on the list of qualified voters. A hearing on the petition has been set for September 15.

FOARD CO. WILL HAVE BIG FAIR

New Building Completed To House Exhibitions

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Texas, Sept. 3.—Preparations are being completed for the fifth annual oard county fair to be held here Sept. 9-10-11. The advertising committee has scattered posters and banners over the adjoining counties, and the advertising campaign also included booster trips to all the surrounding towns.

The new exhibit building has been completed at a cost of over a thousand dollars. This exhibit building measures 68 by 100 feet, and will house all the community exhibits. Every community in the county will compete for the large prize which goes to the community showing the best exhibit.

Among the attractions which have been procured for the fair is a special bull-dogging act by Jack De Graffenried, rodeo man, who has just returned from London, where he performed in the Tex Austin rodeo. De Graffenried will bull-dog steers from an automobile the first day of the rodeo and will bull-dog from a horse the next day.

Childress Now Building Bridge on Red River

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Sept. 3.—The bridge over Red river on the Wellington road is nearing completion. The work is held up awaiting the arrival of material furnished by the state. An effort is being made to get the bridge in connection as soon as possible so that crops can be brought into Childress.

CROWD EXPECTED AT ABILENE FAIR

Reduced Fares and Exceptional Attractions Will Feature Exposition

Special to The Record News.

ABILENE, Sept. 3.—Reduced fare rates on the railroads and added attractions are expected to draw record crowds this year for the West Texas Fair at Abilene, September 22-27 inclusive, this year. Fare will range between one and one-third and one and one-fifth the usual one-way rate for a round trip.

The fair program includes two days of auto-racing on an exceptional dirt track with large purses. The Baylor Bears will play football with the Simmons Cowboys, and the Abilene state championship high school team will meet Stamford high school squad. Other exceptional features will be provided this year.

ENROLLMENT FOR SCHOOL BEGINS AT FREDERICK

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Sept. 3. — Enrollment of the senior and junior classes for the coming session of the local high school has been completed with a total of 110 for the two classes. Enrollment of the lower classes will be completed later this week. Free text books have not all arrived yet but it is hoped to have them here for the opening of school Monday.

Twenty-two have enrolled in the college class, and others have indicated their intentions of taking their freshman college work at the local school.

Former Henrietta Girl Weds Denton Man

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, Sept. 3.—News has been received here of the marriage of George N. Rucker and Miss Kinney Holt, both of Denton, the wedding taking place in Dallas Saturday evening in the study of the First Presbyterian church, Dr. William M. Anderson performing the ceremony. TOM BLANTON OF TEXAS.

Tom Blanton of Texas should love the people of the Seventeenth Congressional District. He was renominated by a vote of 53,310 to 4,930 and when the convention was held he was given a unanimous endorsement for all his votes as congressman and for all the measures that met with his strenuous opposition.

He was commended for his fight against free garden seed, for his bill preventing national law makers from buying anything but necessary office supplies, for his fight against the unjust tax rate in the city of Washington, for his vote against turning Muscle Shoals over to Henry Ford, for his opposition to the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, for his strenuous effort to repeal the Howell-Barkley bill and for his fight against organized labor in its attempt to force the closed shop upon the employes of the government.

Lastly Tom Blanton of Texas received this send-off from the convention: "Our congressman is hereby assured tht in his future endeavors he has the confidence, good will and commendation of practically a unanimous constituency who will heartily support him in all of his fights for the people."

Tom Blanton of Texas is able to point with pardonable pride to the vote of his district. He overwhelmed 'em.

The Democratic Platform

CAPITOL, AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—The following platform was adopted by the democratic convention:

National Approval.

1—The democratic party of Texas in convention assembled adopts and approves the national democratic platform recently enunciated by the national democratic convention in the city of New York. We are proud to endorse the candidacy of John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan as our candidates for president and vice-president. We call upon the people of the state to help in carrying their candidacy to the people of the nation.

Economy of State.

2—At this time it is well to emphasize the imperative necessity for strict economy by the coming administration in the maintenance and management of all state institutions. We invite the attention of the next legislature to the necessity of keeping appropriations within the constitutional limits of taxation. Our party commits itself to an adequate support of all educational eleemosynary and other institutions of the state. The makers of our constitution placed a limitation upon the legislative power of taxation for the purpose of protecting our people against extravagance and an unnecessary expenditure of public funds and we invoke the observance of this limitation.

Woman Suffrage.

3—We congratulate the democracy of Texas on the fact that it has written a new page in the history of the government of the United States by recognizing the action heretofore taken whereby women were given the right to vote and participate in the government on equality with men and have made this recognition so emphatic that it can not be questioned by the nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson by an overwhelming majority—the standard bearer of the party for the office of governor, and we pledge to her in her campaign and her administration the united support of every democrat in the state. We especially endorse and commend her purpose to materially reduce the burdens of government.

Ku Klux Klan.

4—We emphatically condemn what is known as the invisible empire of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan as an undemocratic, un-Christian and un-American organization. We condemn its activities in politics and elsewhere as against the fundamental principles upon which the government was founded. We call upon all those who have joined this dangerous order through misapprehension as to its real purposes to withdraw from the same and lend their aid and influences to free the country from the strife and dissension which, as an insidious organization it has aroused among the people. We applaud the attitude of our great leader, the honorable John W. Davis, with reference to the klan's activities and adopt in full his condemnation of the same in his speech at Seagrist as part of our platform and principles. We demand the passage of law requiring the public registration of all such secret organizations and likewise a law against the wearing of masks, hoods or otherwise concealing their identity in public or private places.

Child Labor.

5—We favor the enactment of such additional laws as will fully protect child labor in Texas from exploitation and abuse. . . . . We oppose the ratification of the 20th amendment to the federal constitution dealing with this question.

Prohibition.

6—Prohibition is written into the constitution of the United States and into the constituion of the state of Texas and must forever remain as written. The laws enacted by the congress and by the state legislature when properly enforced are believed to be reasonably adequate to accomplish this purpose. . . . We commit the democracy of Texas and all coordinate agencies to a strict enforcement of those laws. . . . Prohibition in Texas is therefore settled for all time so far as human foresight can determine and accordingly any attempt by demagogues and agitators to inject it into the campaign where vital issues are involved is to be depreciated. . . The democracy of Texas will tolerate no weakening and no laxity in the enforcement of liquor law and will favor provisions for the appointment by the governor of assistant district attorneys for their special enforcement when, in the opinion of the executive, local officers are amiss in their duties.

Drugstore Liquor Traffic.

7—A certain class of druggists and physicians are suspected of violating the spirit, if not the letter, of the law in the unlawful traffic in intoxicating liquors under the cover of prescriptions and we pledge the incoming legislature and executive to do whatever may come within their province to remedy this particular evil by appropriate legislation.

We suggest that the legislature could do much to remedy this blight by enacting measures requiring detailed monthly reports to be filed with the county clerk of the county by each druggist filling liquor prescriptions, showing all purchases of liquor made by him and the cost thereof of gross profit on such sales, and such of and all sales and showing the amount statement should also make a full exhibit as to the quantity sold, the name of the physician giving the prescription and said report should be published monthly in some newspaper in the county where the sales are made, and adequate penalties should be provided for the violation of any of the provisions of the law by druggists or physicians.

Courts.

8—We approve the efforts of the Texas State Bar association looking to making more efficient the dispatch of the business of the courts, and we commend to the favorable consideration of the legislature their recommendation that the rules of practice and procedure in the courts be made by the supreme court with the aid of such members of the bench and bar the court may appoint.

Pat M. Neff.

9—We endorse the administration of Governor Pat M. Neff: and we praticularly commend the earnest effort made by him to suppress lawlessness in every form and his determination that the violation of the law should be followed by adequate punishment.

Lieut. Gov. T. W. Davidson

10—We commend the determined effort of Lieutenant Governor T. W. Davidson while acting governor in suppressing mob violence in the state and arousing the public conscience upon this subject.

Highways.

11—We regard it as a waste o. the people's money to build expensive highways without adequate maintenance. We commend the present effort to evolve a system maintenance of roads. We do not believe any road bond issue should be made for the maintenance of the roads to be constructed.

OBREGON CALLS REBELS TRAITORS

Gives Figures on Cost Of Suppressing Most Recent Revolt

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3.—Fifty-six thousand men, including 25,000 traitors from the army, took part in the recent revolt headed by Adolfo de la Huerta and the cost to the Mexican government in suppressing the movement was approximately 60,000,000 pesos, President Obregon declared in his final presidential message to congress last evening.

Outlining accomplishments of his administration for the last four years the president declared that peace had been consolidated throughout the country, the government had fostered equitable distribution of the national resources, the position of the working classes had been visibly bettered through increased wages; more efficient union organization and wider education and the liberty of the press had been sustained.

The real objection in the mind of the average American to public ownership is that it leads inevitably to dictation by political organizations to the individual, and inexorably the [illegible] hand of paternalism appears.

HERRIN SHERIFF RIFLED REGISTER

So Charges Garage Man, Who Says, "He Came To Get Me"

HERRIN, Ill., Sept. 3.—The preliminary hearing of Dr. R. J. Black and Claude Craig, charged with murder in connection with the killing of six men here Saturday, was continued until September 12. Failure of Assistant State's Attorney Roy Henson to appear was given as the reason.

John Smith, in front of whose garage the shooting took place, asserted today that Sheriff Galligan had come to the garage to "get" him (Smith) and not to seize an automobile as the sheriff has said in his statement.

"When they (Galligan and his deputies) found I was not in the garage," Smith said, "they ransacked my cash register, taking $100 in addition to several pistols. When Charles Denham (alderman of Herrin) passed the garage in his machine, Galligan and his deputies opened fire, Dewey Newbolt was not in the garage, as is contended by Galligan, but was with Denham in the automobile. Newbolt was instantly killed. Two others who were in Denham's motor car were shot in the back of their heads.'

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By Mary Blake.

VIRGO.

Today's planetary aspects are neither good or bad; they are more negative than positive, and do not favor the making of any important decisions, or the taking of any significant action. They rather counsel usual duties and obligations, and the maintenance of the spirit of self-control, and the vibrations portend annoyances and disappointments, which, unless met with deliberation and calm, will bring about difficulties and misunderstanding.

A child born today will enjoy normal health, provided it is given plenty of out-door exercise—a country life for preference—and wholesome environment. Its character will be dependable; its disposition more taciturn than demonstrative; its mentality quite up to the average, especially in those matters that relate to nature's works. The child will have an inherent love of truth, and an abhorrence of anything that is deceitful or hypocritical. Its taciturnity of disposition can, to a large extent, be ameliorated by daily association with children of its own age.

If today is your birthday, you, in spite of your natural abilities and your steady efforts to achieve success, have not attained your goal, because of your inability to grasp opportunity, or to create it. It is only mediocre men that wait for opportunity to come to them; strong, able, alert men go after opportunity, and the braniest of them make opportunities.

You complain of your bad luck; you, however, forget that the opposite of counterpart of bad luck—opportunity—comes and goes, the bad alternating with the good and the good alternating with the bad. Success lies in taking your bad luck cheerfully, and in never letting your good luck go by.

Many of the great changes in your life can be traced to small things, a chance acquaintance, an accident or some little happening. A time comes to everyone when a thing must be done, or a great benefit missed. If it is done, all is well. If not, it is unlikely that the chance will come again. This is opportunity, although it is foresight that leads anyone to take advantage of the condition of things.

HOW IT STARTED

"MOSAIC" WORK

This name for the beautiful stone inlay work which we associate with palatial grandeur has no relation to, although it has the same spelling as the word which indicates relationship to Moses.

Derived from the Latin through the French mosaique the word really means "pertaining to the muses." And in this sense it is sometimes used to express the quality of fine arts in general.

Mosaic work, the inlay of small colored disks in patterns, is an ancient form of art, some of its most beautiful examples having been unearthed in the excavations of Pergamus, a city in ancient Greece. And Pliny explains its beginning and the origin of its name with the information that such floors were first used in the grottos conseerated to the muses.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE ISLAND OF CRETE

In the Island of Crete, if one doesn't take care,
He is lulled to an indolent ease,
By the perfume of spice that hangs thick in the air,
And the comforting song of the breeze.
There is plenty of fish and abundance of wine,
And the thing we call work is unknown,
For why should one labor who knows he may dine
With scarce any toil of his own?

No push and no zip have the people of Crete;
The natives are quite as resigned,
And idle and useless and dull and effete
As they were 'ere old Homer went blind.
They dance on the sand, when the evenings are cool,
And join now and then in a song,
But rest and repose is a general rule,
And the go-getter doesn't belong.

How sad to observe, in the world of today,
Where the watchword is "Hustle or bust,"
The somnolent reign of the sluggard holds sway,
And the future is taken on trust.
How dreadful is life in the island of Crete,
Which might be an Isle of the Blest,
Where the populace live but to drink and to eat,
And spend their whole lifetime in rest!

In the world, let us hope, there is no other spot,
And never another such race,
So calmly and wholly content with a lot—
So idle, so vain and so base.
But I'll pack up my grip, if the chance comes along,
For I fancy that life would be sweet,
Spent eating and drinking and harking to song
On this same little island of Crete!

THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYES

By JEAN NEWTON

"I—ME—MY"

A young girl dreamed dreams of romance in the days when knighthood was in flower. She found her prince; they became engaged—and married.

They loved each other; but they were human. Occassionally he was late in the morning—and that would effect his disposition. Once, coming home tired, he forgot to kiss her. At such times she felt like overlooking the crime, like helping and comforting him.

But always before her were the dreams of the story book lady and her knight. At all costs that dream must not be spoiled. She must be a knight's lady. And no knight ever forgot to kiss his lady.

So instead of overlooking the bad disposition or the forgotten kiss she would be petulant and upbraid him. "It was I to whom you were rude"—"Me you did not kiss!" You insult me—degrade me!" "Is that all I mean to you " "Is that my romance?" "I—me—my!" He loved her, but she almost lost him.

Just in time a wise old woman said to her:

"Stop thinking of yourself, my dear. You love him don't you? Then think of him—of what you should be to a man coming home tired to you. Forget yourself and follow your impulse to cheer, to sooth him. Give him without stint the charme he knew when he courted you. Perhaps you have been so busy "I—my—meing" that you have neglected all that? He will respond your thinking of him, your charm will react on him. When you overlook a fault, he may not say anything but he will appreciate it. He will want to court you again. He'll think of you without being told to."

The last thing in the world that will make anyone, particularly a man think of you is telling him to. As the old mammy said: "Sup-press yo'self." Think of him—and he will think of you!

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

The campaign for bread made of the whole grain of the wheat is not only rampant in America but in Europe.

The efforts of millers to please the eye by whitening the flour, and to do so by extracting all things that interfere with its perfect color, have resulted in taking away from the flour those elements of the grain which are necessary for the sustenance of the human body.

A book, recently published in England, holds that cancer, which is increasingly prevalent in civilization, is due to devitalized food and that the best cure for this mysterious and horrible disease is the preventative influence of whole wheat or whole meal bread. Doctors are not yet agreed upon that to which the germ of cancer is due but it is the general impression that it must be due to malnutrition of some sort, at least that malnutrition furnishes it a favorable soil on which to work.

Another terrible disease is that of blood poisoning, such as took off the son of President Coolidge. It is averred, in some circles, that blood poisoning only attacks those whose vitality is weakened by under nourishment and that the continuous use of the products of devitalized products is favorable to blood poisoning.

Whatever conclusion we may reach as to the influences which react favorably to these two 'reases it cannot be doubted that the continued use of devitalized flour is not beneficial to the race. We have seen considerable instances recently of attempts to popularize whole wheat flour and the products of the same. Wheat is the natural food of the human body and probably more people live upon the products of wheat than upon any other one thing except those of rice.

It is established that devitalized rice, or polished rice, brings on the disease known as beri-beri.

It is also well known that the disease of pellagra is caused by the eating of food products made of devitalized corn flour.

Just what nourishes the human body is among the secrets of that mysterious science known as organic chemistry but there are considerable grounds for believing that the use of whole wheat flour, or the use of the whole grain in some way, is beneficial and that the use of devitalized flour, or flour made white in the endeavor to make it pretty, is responsible for diseases of more than one kind.

In the interest of good health, therefore, the use of whole wheat flour should be encouraged.

GLEANINGS FROM THE BOOK OF LIFE

BY CLARK KINNAIRD

THE LAW OF COMPENSATION

Polarity, or action and reaction, we meet in every part of nature; in darkness and light; in heat and cold; in the ebb and flow of waters; in male and female; in the inspiration and expiration of plants and animals; in the systole and diastole of the heart; in the undulations of fluids, and of sound; in the centrifugal and centripetal gravity; in the electricity, galvanism and chemical affinity.

Superinduce magnetism at one end of a needle; the opposite magnetism takes place at the other end. If the south attracts, the north repels. To empty here, you must condense there.

An inevitable dualism bisects nature, so that each thing is half and suggests another thing to make it whole; as spirit, matter; man, woman; subjective, objective; in, out; over, under; motion, rest; yea, nay.

Emerson, pointing out these things, observed that while the world is thus dual, so is every one of its parts.

"The entire system of things gets represented in every particle. There is something that somewhat resembles the ebb and flow of the sea, day and night, man and women, in a single needle of pine, in a kernel of corn, in each individual of every animal tribe. The reaction so grand in the elements, is repeated within these small boundaries.

"For example, in the animal kingdom, the physiologist has observed that no creatures are favorites, but a certain compensation balances every gift and every defect. A surplusage given to one part is paid out of a reduction from another part of the same creature. If head and neck are enlarged, the trunk and extremists are cut short."

Emerson sees the same dualism underlying the nature and conditions of man.

"Every excess causes a defect; every defect an excess. Every sweet has its sour; every evil its good. Every faculty which is a receiver of pleasure, has an equal penalty put on its abuse. It is to answer for its moderation with its life.

"For every grain of wit there is a brain of folly. For everything you have misses, you have gained something else; and for everything you gain, you lose something.

"Nature hates monopolies and exceptions, the waves of the sea do not more speedily seek a level from their loftiest tossing than the varieties of condition tend to equalize themselves."

TO KILL FAMOUS BIRDS

VENICE.—Pigeons — kin of the famous birds who make their home beneath the eves of St. Mark's cathedral in far-away Venice—of Italy — brought to Venice-of-America by the city's founder, the late Abbot Kinney, are victims of sanitation. These winged inhabitants who for years have made their homes beneath the arched promenades of this city will be exterminated at the ruling of the local health officer and the sanction of the board of trustees.

City Health Officer Sands explains that the pigeons are "filthy and unsanitary" and are believed to carry and spread disease in the Canal City.

The job of killing these birds of famous origin will undoubtedly be left to the police department, it being unlawful for persons to use firearms within the city limits.

A Straight-From-the-Shoulder Talk to Over-Strict Mothers—How to Get Away From a Cruel Step-Mother—The Too-Affectionate Girl Who Wants Her Fiance to Be a Kissing Bug.

Dear Miss Dix—I am only a child and as far back as I can remember I have associated only with people ten, fifteen and twenty years older than I am. I have been expected to enjoy the things they did. I have never been allowed to dance, or play cards, or to go to parties, or have boys come to see me, or do anything but stay at home and be an old maid, although I am only twenty years old. In the last two years, whenever I expressed a desire to go with the boys, I have been laughed at and kidded in my home until I did not feel like letting them come. Whenever I visit out of town I always have company, but never yet have I had a date in my own home. As a result of all this I lead a very lonesome life.

Mother still clings to old fashioned ideas, and even these are limited, so far as amusement for young people is concerned. I do not wish to do anything wild, but I do wish I could get her to see the modern viewpoint.

LONESOME GIRL.

Answer:

I do not know of any more pathetic individual than that of an only child who is brought up in a household of old people with fussy, mid-Victorian ideas, and who is expected to do just exactly as mother thinks she did when she was a girl.

For mother has forgotten that when she was young she was hungry for pleasure, and that she was boy crazy, and that she wanted to dress like other girls and go with the crowd and have a part in all the fun. She didn't enjoy the instructive conservation of her elders in those days nor prefer knitting sox for the heathen to going to parties. But she thinks she did, and so she forces a bleak premature age on her daughter, which cuts her out of all the pleasures that belong to her time of life.

Of course, all mothers think that they have a divine commission to be their daughter's conscience and decide what is right and wrong for them to do. So if mother happens to be narrow and rigid, and prejudiced in her views, it makes it pretty hard for the girl. You have to do in Rome as the Romans do if you want to play about with young Romans.

So if mother won't let daughter dance and thinks card playing is a sin and the automobile a devil wagon, why, it leaves daughter stranded high and dry on the barren rocks of home, which is hard on daughter.

Hostesses won't invite her because she is a white elephant on their hands at a party. Boys fight shy of her and never take her anywhere because she doesn't fit in modern society. And so the poor girl has to spend here evenings communing with the best authors, instead of having a normal time talking foolishness to boys and girls of her own age.

It is a pity that somebody don't jolt these mothers awake and make them see that we are living in a new world with new standards of value, new standards of conduct, and that most of their old fashioned theories of what a girl should do have gone into the discard, and that they have no right to impose their hide-bound restrictions on their daughters.

But when mother won't change and a girl sees herself not only being cut out of a good time, but being done out of any chance to marry, and being jockeyed into a drab, blind alley that ends in a spinster's retreat, she is certainly justified in rebelling against maternal restrictions and making a fight for her right to happiness.

The overstrict mother is just as bad a mother as is the neglectful mother who doesn't look after her girls at all.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl fifteen years old. My mother died when I was ten years old and my father married again. My stepmother is very unkind to me and I am asking you for advice about what to do.

A Broken-Hearted Little Girl.

Answer:

When we are in a bad place, my dear, the brave thing and the wise thing is to fight out of it. We can always do this if we have the grit and courage to fight. By this I do not mean for you to fight your stepmother. That will get you nowhere and every time you have a quarrel with her it simply makes your lot worse and fills you with bitterness and hatred.

So get along with her as well as you can. Give in to her and save all your strength for fighting the conditions that surround you and fitting yourself to get away from her as soon as possible.

Don't run away from home, for that would only be jumping out of the frying pan into the fire. A fifteen-year-old girl is like a little lost lamb when she is out in the world alone, and there are thousands of wolves in sheep's clothing just waiting to devour her.

And don't be foolish enough to get married while you are still a child in order to get away from a cruel stepmother. You are too young to know what you want in a husband, and you might find yourself married to a man from whom you could not get away who would be even unkinder to you than your stepmother is. And anyway, you would have all the burden of wifehood and motherhood thrust on you while you are nothing but a child yourself, and you'd miss all the fun of girlhood.

The first thing for you to do is to study very hard and try to educate yourself, because the more you know and the better education you have the better position you will be able to get when you start out into the world to seek your fortune. Put all of your mind and your thoughts on your books and you will be amazed to find how quickly the time goes and how much happier you will be, for work is the cure-oil every sorrow.

Don't spend any time pitying yourself because you are a little, unfortunate stepchild. Whenever you are tempted to dwell on that just run to your books and concentrate on a history lesson, and you will forget your own troubles in learning about the sorrows of the great people who had much more serious things than bad stepmothers to endure.

Then decide what you want to do to make your own living, what occupation you want to follow, and fit yourself to do that so throughly that you will be able to command a high salary. And before you know it you will not be a poor, little, persecuted stepchild. You will be a happy, independent, successful woman.

A Lost Lady

BY WILLA CATHER

CHAPTER XXI

Death

It had cost Niel something, but now that he had taken the step, he was glad. As he put in the night hours, sitting first in one chair and then in another, reading, smoking, getting a lunch to keep himself awake, he had the satisfaction of those who keep faith. He liked being alone with the old things that had seemed so beautiful to him in his childhood. These were still the most comfortable chairs in the world, and he would never like any pictures so well as "William Tell's Chapel" and "The House of the Tragic Poet." No card table was so good for solitaire as this old one with a stone top, mosaic in the pattern of a chess-board, which one of the captain's friends had brought him from Naples. No other house could take the place of this one in his life.

He had time to think of many things; of himself and of his old friends here. He had noticed that often when Mrs. Forrester was about her work, the captain would call to her, Maidy, Maidy," and she would reply, "Yes, Mr. Forrester," from wherever she happened to be, but without coming to him,—as if she knew that when be called to her in that tone he was not asking for anything. He wanted to know if she were near, perhaps; or, perhaps, he merely liked to call her name and to hear her answer. The longer Niel was with Captain Forrester in those peaceful closing days of life, the more he felt that the captain knew his wife better even than she knew herself; and that, knowing her, he—to use one of his own expressions—valued her.

Capt. Forrester's death, which occurred early in December, was "telegraphic news," the only state news that the discouraged town of Sweet Water had furnished for a long while. Flowers and telegrams came from east and west, but it happened that none of the captain's closest friends could come to the funeral. Mr. Dalzell was in California, the president of the Burlington railroad was traveling in Europe. The others were far away or in uncertain health. Dr. Dennison and Judge Pommeroy were the only two of his itimates among the pallbearers.

On the morning of the funeral, when the captain was already in his coffin and the undertaker was in the parlor setting up chairs, Niel heard a knocking at the kitchen door. There he found Adolph Blum, carrying a large white box.

"Niel," he said, "will you please give these to Mrs. Forrester, and tell her they are from Rhein and me, for the captain?"

Adolph was in his old working clothes, the only clothes he had, probably, with a knitted comforter about his neck. Niel knew he wouldn't come to the funeral, so he said:

"Won't you come in and see him, Dolph? He looks just like himself."

Adolph hesitated, but he caught sight of the undertaker's man, through the parlor bay-window, and said, "No, thank you, Niel," thrust his red hands into his jacket pockets, and walked away.

Niel took the flowers out of the box, a great armful of yellow roses, which must have cost the price of many a dead rabbit. He carried them upstairs, where Mrs. Forrester was lying down.

"These are from the Blum boys," he said. "Adolph just brought them to the kitchen door."

Mrs. Forrester looked at them, then turned away her head on the pillow, her lips trembling. It was the only time that day he saw her pale composure break.

The funeral was large. Old settlers and farmer folk came from all over the county to follow the pioneer's body to the grave. As Niel and his uncle were driving back from the cemetery with Mrs. Forrester, she spoke for the first time since they had left the house. "Judge Pommeroy," she said quietly, "I think I will have Mr. Forrester's sundial taken over and put above his grave. I can have an inscription cut on the base. It seems more appropriate for him than any stone we could buy. And I will plant some of his own rose-bushes beside it."

When they got back to the house it was 4 o'clock, and she insisted upon making tea for them. "I would like it myelf, and it is better to be doing something. Wait for me in the parlor. And, Niel, move the things back as we always have them.

The gray day was darkening, and as the three sat having their tea in the bay window, swift squalls of snow were falling over the wide meadows between the hill and the town, and the creaking of the big cottonwoods about the house seemed to say that winter had come.

One morning in April Niel was alone in the law office. His uncle had been ill with rheumatic fever for a long while, and he had been attending to the routine of business.

The door opened, and a figure stood there, strange and yet familiar—he had to think a moment before he realized that it was Orvill Ogden, who used to come to Sweet Water so often, but who had not been seen there now for several years. He didn't look a day older; one eye was still direct and clear, the other clouded and oblique. He still wore a stiff imperial and twisted mustache, the gray color of old beeswax, and his thin hair was brushed heroically up over the bald spot.

"This is Judge Pommeroy's nephew, isn't it? I can't think of your name, my boy, but I remember you. Is the judge out?"

"Please be seated, Mr. Ogden. My uncle is ill. He hasn't been at the office for several months. He's had really a very bad time of it. Is there anything I can do for you?"

CHAPTER XXII

Niel Is Worried

"Oh, I'm sorry to hear that! I'm sorry." He spoke as if he were. "I guess all we fellows are getting older, whether we like it or not. It made a great difference when Daniel Forrester went. What is your uncle's trouble?" he asked suddenly.

Niel told him. "I was to have gone back to school this winter, but uncle begged me to stay and look after things for him. There was no one here he wanted to entrust his business to."

"I see, I see," said Mr. Ogden thoughtfully. "Then you do attend to his business for the present?" He paused and reflected. "Yes, there was something that I wanted to take up with him. I am stopping off for a few hours only, between trains. I might speak to you about it, and you could consult your uncle and write me in Chicago. It's a confidential matter, and concerns another person."

"It is simply," Mr. Ogden began at last, "a rather delicate suggestion I wish to make to your uncle about one of his clients. I have several friends in the government at Washington just at present, friends who would go out of their way to serve me. I have been thinking that we might manage it to get a special increase of pension for Mrs. Forrester. I am due in Chicago this week, and after my business there is finished, I would be quite willing to go on to Washington to see what can be done; provided, of course, that no one, least of all your uncle's client, knows of my activity in the matter."

Niel flushed. "I'm sorry, Mr. Ogden," he brought out, "but Mrs. Forrester is no longer a client of my uncle's."

Mr. Ogden's normal eye became as blank as the other.

"What's that? He isn't her lawyer? Why, for 20 years—"

"I know that, sir. She didn't treat him with much consideration. She transferred her business very abruptly."

"To whom, may I ask?"

"To a lawyer here in town; Ivy Peters."

"Peters? I never heard of him."

WATER

Capacity for Absorbing and Giving Off Heat

If we take 100 pounds of water just at the freezing point and add to it 100 pounds of water at the boiling point, the mixture will have a temperature just half way between these two points, or measured by the Fahrenheit thermometer, the temperature would be 122 degrees, 90 degrees above freezing.

Now suppose we take 100 pounds of water at freezing temperature, 32 degrees Fahrenheit, and add to it 100 pounds of iron which has been heated to 212 degrees Fahrenheit, which is the boiling point of water. Instead of raising the temperature of the water 90 degrees, as in the case above, there would only be an increase in temperature of about 9 degrees, or one-tenth as much.

In other words, a pound of iron contains only about one-tenth as much heat, temperature being equal, as a pound of water. You can heat 10 pounds of iron just as quickly as one pound of water, temperatures being the same.

Lake Kemp is a considerable body of water, and it is a great heat reservoir. Pound for pound the water of Lake Kemp contains approximately 10 times as much heat as iron at the same temperature.

Water will absorb and give off more heat, weight for weight, than any other substance commonly known.

This property of water is what causes climate along the sea coast to vary according to the influence of ocean currents rather than latitude. The warm Japan current causes the roses to bloom in January in Portland, Oregon, while at the same time the cold Artic current causes Portland, Maine, to be icebound.

SOCIETY NEWS

One of the first club meetings of the season was that of the Carrigan Mothers' club, which held its first session at the Carrigan school Wednesday afternoon, planning the work for the ensuing year.

Mrs W. D. Cook, president, presided. The Rev. W. D. Cook led the devotional and made a short talk in which he stressed the value of co-operation between the parents and teachers.

Mr. Markham, who is in the extension department of the University of Chicago made a talk to the club telling of the advantages that may come from extension teaching. He pointed out the aid that the showing of pictures brought to the children in teaching them.

Another visitor to the Carrigan school was Mr. Smith, Texas representative of the extension department of the University of Chicago. The club will meet again the third Wednesday in September.

Clears Complexion

"Oh! how clear and beautiful your complexion is today, my dear!"

THERE IS a certain joy—a certain pride—in knowing you are admired, whether it be from father, brother, husband or sweetheart! And back of that joy is the satisfaction of knowing all is well.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps, wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness which is not theirs. But why the wondering—the hoping—the praying for that craved for attractiveness—that clear skin—that beauty. A clear skin—is the barometer of one's condition. A healthy skin radiates beauty. Pure, clean blood means a clear skin.

S.S.S. is waiting to help you. It will rid your blood of its impurities and give you that clear complexion. Since 1826 S.S.S. has been ridding people of blood impurities, from pimples, from blackheads, boils, eczema and from rheumatism, too. Because S.S.S. is made from fresh herbs and barks, it may be taken with perfect safety. Try it yourself. You will not only look better, but you will feel better, too.

PREMIERS HEAR LEAGUE DEBATE

MacDonald of England And Herriot of France Attend General Assembly

By The Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 3.—Prime Minister MacDonald of England and Premier Herriot of France brought the weight of the governments of the British empire and the French republic to the support of the league of nations today when they attended the session of the league's assembly.

A great audience gathered to greet the premiers, but did not have the pleasure of hearing either speak, for the two statesmen sat quietly with their respective delegations and listened to the debate on the work of the league's council during the past year.

The feature of today's discussion was the laudatory remarks of Dr. Fridtjof Nansen of Norway, concerning American traditional adhesion to the idea of arbitration. He emphasized the importance of the declaration for adherence to the world court of justice made by Secretary of State Hughes and indicated to the delegates and other auditors his impression that the entire force of the United States would inevitably be cast in support of any reasonable arbitration development as a means of preserving peace.

Lost Articles.

One Mother Says:

My children bring home lost articles that they have found on the streets or in some public building. I always offer a prize to the first child who finds out the rightful owner. No matter whether the article is of great value or little, we make a complete search. If no owner can be found I put the article away and teach the impressionable young girls and boys that they must not use things that do not belong to them. You can scarcely estimate the value of such a lesson in rightful ownership.

Facts About Child-birth

IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering, pain and dread experienced during expectancy, as well as at child-birth is entirely unnecessary.

An eminent physician, Dr. J. H. Holmes, expert in this science, first produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend," which aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily, during the constant readjustment, month after month, right up to the climax of child-birth.

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally. Three generations of expectant mothers have used it. "Pains disappeared in two days after using 'Mother's Friend,'" writes a user. "I owe my life to 'Mother's Friend,'" declared another. Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Start today and experience the wonderful comfort it will give you.

COPLIN WOULD TAKE PROMOTION

Expresses Ignorance of Any Proposed Change In Oil Division

"You may say for me that I have been in Colorado for the last several weeks and did not know there was any change in prospects, but should the railroad commission see fit to elevate me to the position of oil and gas supervisor, of course, I could not refuse."

Change in Prospect.

This was the statement of T. L. Coplin, deputy oil and gas supervisor for the Wichita Falls district Wednesday regarding dispatches from Austin forecasting his selection as chief of the oil and gas division of the Texas railroad commission.

The dispatch related how Chairman Gilmore has twice voted for Mr. Coplin, once when R. B. Walthall was given the position by the votes of W. A. Nabors and W. S. Splawn, both of whom have been retired from the commission, and again when H. E. Bell of Gatesville was given the position. With Lon Smith, for many years a warm personal friend of Mr. Coplin, going into the railroad commission, it is believed Mr. Coplin will very likely be selected for the important place.

Stationed Here 5 Years.

Mr. Coplin has been stationed in Wichita Falls for the last five years, coming here at the peak of the oil boom and establishing state control over the oil production of the district at a time, as he says, "when conditions in the oil fields were most chaotic."

"CATFISH" MARTIN IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

A verdict of not guilty was returned Wednesday in the 89th district court in the case of Wesley "Catfish" Martin, charged with receiving and concealing stolen property.

Evidence in the case was heard Tuesday by a jury and Special Judge Ralph Mathis but arguments were not heard until yesterday morning. The jury was out less than an hour before coming in with its evrdict.

Martin was alleged to have aided in the theft of some auto tires from a local filling station and to have concealed the goods after they were stolen.

Archer county oil farm of 40 acres reported sold to Mutual Oil company for $600,000.

BEFORE TWINS WERE BORN

Was Very Miserable. Felt Lots Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyocena, Wis.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my twins were born because my sister used it and recommended it to me. I was so I could scarcely go about my daily work I was in such misery. But after I began taking the second bottle I was feeling lots better. I took three bottles and a half before I was confined and finished the bottle while I was in bed. I got up feeling fine and have taken care of the twins alone ever since. I recommend the Vegetable Compound highly and will sing its praises in the future."—Mrs. Ida Gerritz, Wyocena, Wis.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after childbirth, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother both before and after childbirth. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and can be taken in safety by nursing mothers.

DALLAS, Sept. 3.—Wichita Falls took both ends of a double header from Dallas, winning the first 5 to 2, and the second, 4 to 3. The double victory swept the series for Wichita Falls.

Dick Morgan of the Spudders held Dallas scoreless until the ninth inning of the first game Wichita Falls used both Fussell and Brett on the mound in order to capture the second affair.

The double victory swept the series for Wichita Falls.

The Spudders scored in the second inning After White fouled out, Metzler singled through short, took second on a passed ball, and went to third on infield out by Smith. Morgan singled through short, scoring Metzler.

Spuds Two in Fourth

Wichita Falls counted twice in the fouth on three hits and a sacrifice, Golvin led off with a single to center. White sacrificed, pitcher to first. Metzler grounded out to second. Smith doubled over third, scoring Golvin and came home himself when Morgan singled to center.

The Spudders scored the remainder of their tallies in the seventh. Morgan beat out a hit through the box. Fitzgerald walked. Callaghan forced Morgan at third, pitcher to third, sending Fitzgerald to second. GILSTRAP BELIEVES ELECTRA ELEVEN TO BE BETTER IN '24

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Sept. 3. — Electra's 1924-25 football squad, according to the new coach, "Bully" Gilstrap, a former college star, will surpass that of last year. Thirty players reported to the coach Monday, when instruction was started. Another meeting will be held Monday of next week, when it is expected that the number to report will reach 50, from which it is expected to select a first and second team that will be hard to beat in this section.

At present only verbal instructions are being given, but as soon as school opens next week, field practice will begin in earnest.

CLARENDON GRID TRAINING STARTS

Bulldogs and High School Squad Combine In Workouts

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, Sept. 3. — The monotony of things was broken Friday when Clarendon College Bulldogs stormed into camp for pre-season training. Coach H. T. Burton announces that about 50 aspirants have arrived in camp.

Bulldogs who have put in appearance are: Slaton, captain; Hillyer, Clark, Miller, Trostle, Parks, Stocking, Terrell, Vaughter, Byrd, Parker, Dennison, Russell, Corbin, Spooks Goldston Behrens, Wilson, Henry, Jim Crow, Cohen, Avery, R. Trostle and W. Trostle, Smith, Johnson, Powell, J. Vaughter, Byer and Allen.

A number of these are known throughout the Panhandle and west Texas for their ability on the football field and the Bulldog lineup is attracting considerable attention. The outstanding players that are added to the Bulldog banner this season are without doubt Lee Powell of Wellington and Jim Crow of Portales, New Mexico. Both of these youngsters were much in demand by schools in this section of the state and will be a drawing card for the Green and White.

The Clarendon high school Bronchos have united with the Bulldog squad for the first few weeks training and are showing some real stuff. Altogether, Coach Burton has mobilized what appears to be an extraordinarily good bunch, which coupled with the far-famed Burton tactics is expected to give a good account of themselves throughout the season.

Triple Bid for Beall

NEW YORK.—Giants and Washington Senators are said to be bidding for Walter Beall, leading pitcher of the Rochester International league, with the Yankees on the inside track.

High Grid Squad Takes Grind At Faster Pace Now

More men are reporting for practice at each session of workout of the Wichita Falls high school football aspirants. The number practically reached the 50 mark Wednesday. Practice sessions are held each morning and afternoon at the junior college building and with the prospects for a game on September 13 the men are rapidly getting down to business. The squad is being taught the primary principles of the game by Coach Bud McCallum. Passing, handling the ball and exercising muscles that have grown tight during the long winter months are parts of the program at each practice.

Copeland Back.

Desirous of getting back into the harness Captain "Sparkplug" Copeland gave up his job Wednesday and will be with the team in the future. Copeland has been doing fine hard work during the summer months and is in the pink of condition.

Buck Steed, speedy little halfback of last year and one of the brightest prospects for the backfield man for the present season, is unable to attend the early practice due to a boil that has been bothering him considerably. He will be ready to get into harness within a few days.

Patton On Hand.

One of the new men who practiced with the team Wednesday was big Jim Patton, ranked as one of the best all-around men in the high school. Patton has never gone out for football in the past and should make a good man. Another new man that has reported is Paul Beddo, who won his spurs with a local scout team. Paul is a backfield man and should prove a valuable addition to the team.

YANKS ADD BRIGHT PROSPECT TO STABLE

NEW YORK.—The Yankees have added a batting prospect to their "futurity stable" who doesn't know what it means to strike out. At least he fanned just three times in 40 games this season while playing with a strong semi-pro team around New York.

He is Albert "Bibbs" Raymond.

Raymond, while hitting at a .500 gait for his team, hung up one record of 15 consecutive hits.

He bats and throws left-handed.

T. A. HURLER GOES TO TERRE HAUTE

TERRE HAUTE, Aug. 30.—The other day the Terre Haute club of the Three-Eye league sold their pitching ace, Walter Miller, to the Cleveland Indians for the neat little sum of $5,000. The Hoosier outfit will have a new star to take his place next season, however, if reports from Texas mean anything.

The Terre Haute management has purchased Nugget Nugent, strikeout king of the Texas association, for delivery at the close of the Texas season this fall.

This is Nugent's first season in professional baseball. He is only 19.

Whatever happens to the St. Louis Browns between now and the end of the American league schedule is going to happen in their own backyard. The schedule throws most of their remaining games in St. Louis.

AMERICAN GOLF QUEEN DETHRONED BY MIRIAM BURNS

NYATT, R. I., Sept. 3.—An exciting match that went to three extra holes today assured a new queen in American golf this year. Miss Edith Cummings of Chicago, was dethroned as champion by Miss Miriam Burns of Kansas City, in the second round of the women's national tournament at the Rhode Island country club.

The result was the more pleasing to Miss Burns because in the recent western women's title event she lost the championship to Miss Cummings by 12 and 10, illness being a large factor in her defeat there.

Miss Glenna Collett of Province had an easy surviving as did another fromer champion, Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia. Miss Audrey Fust's longer hitting enabled her to offset the excellent short game of Miss Elizabeth Gordon of Province.

GRIPS ON CLUBS
LEATHER OR ROUGH?
USE ROUGH GRIPS—
– IF YOUR HANDS PERSPIRE
– AND IN SUMMER
USE LEATHER GRIPS—
IF YOUR HANDS ARE TENDER
IF YOUR HANDS ARE DRY AND DON'T PERSPIRE IN COLD WEATHER.

Is it better to have smooth or rough leather grips on clubs and why?

Answered by
BILL STRACHAN
Wichita Falls Golf Club Professional.

The answer to this question depends greatly on the player's hands. If the hands are "clammy" or "sweaty" I would certainly advise a rough grip. On the other hand, if the hands are inclined to be dry I would advise the leather grip. However, there are many players with perspiring hands who are unable to use the rough grips. This is because their hands are too soft, for they do not play enough to get the hands hardened. Therefore, in such cases I advise the grip being tapered down or a little rubber knob or bulge put on the end of the shaft. This makes the grip very compact and gives greater control, especially at the top of the swing. It is a matter of taste, of course, as to what grip is used. I use rough grips in the summer time and leather grips in the fall or very cold weather. I do this because my hands are very small and I cannot get the control necessary in cold weather with the rough grip.

BUFFALO FANDOM WANTS JENNINGS

BUFFALO—Buffalo fans are wondering whether or not Hughie Jennings can be separated from his job as chief aide to John McGraw and talked into accepting the management of the International league club in the "Niagara Falls suburb." Also if John McGraw will let him go.

The Giant leader entrusts Jennings with all the detail work of keeping the Giant squad in condition. The fiery-headed ne took the first squad of Giants down to Sarasota, Fla., last spring and the whole kindergarten was going full speed when McGraw made his appearance at the blue and gold trimmed camp.

RICH SQUARES OF WITH CAHILL IN SECOND TEN-ROUND EMBROGLIO

Levine and Jones Round Out Attractive Program in Eight-Canto Semi-Final

A card chock full of action! That's the program for the weekly legion fight night this evening beginning at 8:30 in the open air arena at Tenth and Ohio, declared Promoter Don Wofford Wednesday.

Little publicity has been given the main event of ten rounds between Nick Gundy of Oklahoma City and Dickie Dixon, Fort Worth bantam, but this bout is expected to prove a whizzer throughout. The two boys will weigh in at between 116 and 118 pounds. Dixon is well known to a majority of Wichita Falls fans, gaining much popularity because of his clean and clever manner of battling here on numerous occasions.

Gundy Slugs.

Gundy tangled with the classy Frankie Fink at the legion arena little more than a month ago, and fought Fink on even terms. Fink was the better ring general, but Gundy carried the fight to him nearly all the way. Though in trouble during the early rounds, Gundy fought back like a Trojan and refused to give ground. It is seldom that sluggers are found among the little fellows, but the Oklahoma wop happens to be in this minority class.

Ringside critics are of opinion that Gundy will pound his way to a victory over Dixon. Dixon, however, does his best fighting when his opponent it taking the scrap to him.

Rich and Cahill.

In the second ten-rounder of the night, Harmon Rich, Wichita Falls welter, will square off with Rusty Cahill of Graham, baseball player and fighter. Cahill is a catcher on the ball team, and yesterday Rich opined that he will continue catching tonight, boxing gloves sumstituted for baseballs. Cahill has battled Leonard Fox, Roy Fisher, Hamp Brown and others known to Wichita Falls ring followers. He slapped the sleep punch over on Jimmy Bibb, popular Fort Worth battler.

Levine and Jones.

An eight-round semi-final calls for Tabby Levine, Wichita Falls amateur featherweight scrapper, and Bobby Jones of Oklahoma City, one of Gundy's buddies.

Jones for awhile took 'em all both going and coming. When in good condition he's hard to beat. Levine has not yet failed to put up a good fight.

There will be a curtain raiser, also.

Coyotes Buck Bigger Elevens This Season

According to a new rule of the Interscholastic league the schedule of the Coyotes will be far different from that of last year, according to Coach Bud McCallum. In 1923 there was only one class in the league and the small schools had the handicap of having to play the larger schools and in this way were often eliminated the first part of the season. This year there will be two classes, one composed of the larger schools of the state and the other of the smaller schools. In this district Wichita Falls will compete with Electra, Vernon, Amarillo, Plainview and possibly another large high school in the panhandle. The winner of the district will be determined on a percentage basis.

Coach McCallum is regarding the Electra game as one of the hardest of the season. Electra lost only two letter men while the Coyote line and backfield has been shattered by the departure of proved material. An interesting feature of the Electra game will be that of the two coaches. When the two teams play they will be coached by men who played side by side on the University of Texas eleven. Bully Gillstrap, three letter man and end of the state's eleven will coach Electra this year.

Billy Whiskers

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY.

The guard was trying to drive the twins out of the flower beds, you remember.

They were too spry for him, however, and when he drove them out of one bed they simply ran into another and stood eating until he was again within striking distance of them. Then they would scamper away and begin on another bed. They did this until the man was so angry that his face was as red as a turkey cock's, while his breath came in gasps. At last he tripped over the hose and fell sprawling in a puddle of water. This, however, gave him an idea, and he determined to turn the water on the kids. Up he got and without looking to see if they were still there, he turned the hose where they had stood but a second before. But alas! The stream of water hit his best girl, who was walking between two of the flower beds pushing a baby carriage. The kids were nowhere in sight!

"Oh, Rosy, Rosy, forgive me, forgive me! I thought you were a goat!"

"So I look like at goat, do I, you misearble old clumsy fellow, you! Take that—and that—and that!" as she struck him over the head with one of the baby pillows, and then began to cry. Blinded by her tears, she pushed the baby carriage right over the flower beds, heedless of where she was walking, sobbing, "He thought I was a goat! I don't look like at goat, I don't, Boo hoo hoo!"

By this time the gardner had collected his wits enough to go to her and explain. The last the kids saw of them as they bounded away, he had his arm around her and was loving her, much to the amusement of passersby.

"I smell something good" said one of the twins.

"So do I! Lets go see what it is."

"It comes from over by that big red brick building."

They trotted over and found it came from a popcorn wagon.

"Yum, yum! It is popcorn with butter and salt on it!"

"Oh, I just love it don't you?"

"Yes, but I like it best with chocolate on it. Wait until the man who owns the stand is not looking and then we will run up and grab a bag."

"I know a safer plan. Here comes two little girls with bags in their hands. One has a bag with buttered corn in it and the other has one with chocolate poured over the corn. I saw the man fixing it for them. We will hide behind these bushes and when they are opposite us we will jump out, grab the bags and run. Which girl do you think has the buttered corn and which the chocolate?"

"The girl with the pink bow has the buttered corn, so you take her bag, while I go for the other one."

"Oh, oh! you horrid things! Where did you come from?" wailed one little girl when the kids jumped out of the shrubbery at her and grabbed her bag of chocolate popcorn.

Spread That Powder, Sweetie; You May Be a Duchess If You Watch Step; Amarillo Needs 'Em, We Supply 'Em

Girls of Wichita Falls—keep your nose powdered during the next two weeks; keep your personality and personal appearance above par, you are a possible candidate for Duchess. A secret committee composed of members of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce is watching you and deliberating on your attributes.

The local Chamber of Commerce recently received a request from Amarillo that a Wichita Falls girl be selected as Duchess to represent Wichita Falls at the Amarillo fair the latter part of this month. Acting on these instructions, a secret committee was appointed Tuesday with orders to select the lucky girl. Yes, very secret and the names of the men on the committee will never be revealed.

From the thousands of pretty girls in Wichita Falls only one will be selected. The rest will be disappointed and the committee does not wish to have the wrath of the fairer sex falling on their innocent shoulders. Therefore they intend to keep their names secret and Wichita Falls will never know the names of the men that make the choice. The girl must be pretty, representative, have good personality and other attractions that are required. If you have these attributes consider yourself a candidate and "watch your step during the next two weeks."

FOSTER NEW HEAD OF POULTRY ASS'N

F. A. Foster was elected president of the North Texas Poultry association meeting held last night at the court house with a large attendance of poultry fanciers from this section present. Vice presidents named were J. B. Reighard, S. D. Doyle and A. P. Devers, Guy R. Jones was reelected secretary and Floyd Billingslea treasurer.

Directors elected were F. A. Foster, J. B. Reighard, S. D. Doyle, Mrs. A. P. Devers, Floyd Billingslea, O. P. Maricle, Guy R. Jones, L. R. Norton and E. H. Carver.

A detailed address on various phases of the poultry business, chief of which was a discussion of the marketing of eggs and the essentials of production was given by M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth and Denver railway. Reid Estes, an Iowa Park boy, spoke briefly on some of his experiences in poultry raising.

Plans were made for an exhibition of poultry at the Texas-Oklahoma fair and it was decided to encourage all poultry raisers in this section to place exhibits.

KENTUCKY GETS SAND, PARRISH

Muce Rigging Up For Test on Forty Acres To South

The Kentucky Oil corporation has encountered the 1,600-foot sand of the new Parrish-White district in their No. 1-B, northeast corner of the northeast forty acres of the northwest quarter of section 26, H&TC-RRCO survey, abstract 1197, Archer county. The top of the sand was picked up at 1,606 feet, the total depth of the hole now being 1,610 feet. Casing will be set tomorrow if possible and the well drilled in and completed.

Tex-O-Kan should be the next to reach the sand on their No. 2, White, almost a diagonal offset to the Kentucky test to the northwest. The sand should be encountered here some time today.

Across a forty acres south of the Kentucky's offet to the Magnolia No. 1, Parrish, H. A. Muce is rigging up for test, this to be the furtherest south of the group. Exact location is 150 feet each way from the northwest corner of the southeast forty acres of the northwest quarter of the section.

Magnolia, No. 3, Carter-Macon, E-2, and Kentucky, C-1, (Magnolia No. 1 east offset) are all drilling, while E. W. Carter to the east is still held up with a demolished derrick.

Special Agents Get Invitation To Oil Meeting

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Sept. 3.—The American Oil Men's association has extended an invitation to special agents of the department of justice, or any other governmental department, to attend the semi-annual convention of the association to take place late in September or early in October.

Program for the meeting is in the hands of Sheldon Clark, E. E. Grant, P. C. Crenshaw, and John D. Reynolds. The action of the A. O. M. A. in inviting governmental representatives is taken because at the last session of the Western Petroleum Refiners' association at Dallas, three special agents of the department of justice dropped in to "listen" to what the refiners were saying. W. H. Gray of Tulsa, head of the National Association of Independent Producers digressed from his set speech there to take a severe rap at the special agents.

Of late Mid-continent oil companies and partciularly the associations have been sorely harassed by special agents dropping in unannounced and demanding to see their records, although the federal courts have repeatedly ruled that the records of an oil company and trade association can only be turned over for their inspection by the permission of the parties so "examined."

Two "55's" Going Up for American

The American refining company has started the erection of two new 55,000-barrel crude storage tanks on the hill back of their refinery north of the city to add to their present storage facilities.

MUCE-ROBERTS MAKE BEAVER CREEK LOCATION

Muce and Roberts have made a location and have a derrick up for a test 450 feet north and 150 feet east from the southwest corner of the twenty acres just east of the Hammon, Lee, Bullington lease, McCarty land, Beaver Creek district. This test will be about 537 feet east of the Hammon, Lee, Bullington No. 2, McCarty, 1,600-foot producer, and in event of making a producer, will extend the 1,600-foot pay of this district that much to the east.

TEXHOMA MAKING CONNECTION WITH MURCHISON-FAIN

The Texhoma Oil company has laid three inch pipe for and will make connections immediately with the Murchison and Fain et al production in the southwest quarter of block 41, White land, the Mruchison and Fain production in block 29, Wilson land, and the Wilmot Farm Oil company production in block 4, SPRR CO survey, Wilmot land.

OIL WELL SUPPLY COMPANY SALESMAN DROWNED AT TULSA

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Sept. 3.—C. T. Henthorne, 36, Oil Well Supply company salesman, and brother to N. G. Henthrone, secretary and treasurer of the World Publishing company was drowned here Sunday afternoon while swimming in Spring Creek near here.

COMMERCIAL-MUCE DRILLING, ROLLER

The Commercial Petroleum company and H. A. Muce have spudded and are drilling at about 300 feet on a test 700 feet south of the Couch production south of Burkburnett, test located on the Roller estate.

AMERICAN SETS 15½, NO. 3, BURNETT

The American Refining company has set 15-inch casing at a depth of about 300 feet in their No. 3, Burnett, Panhandle, Carson county southwest corner of the northwest quarter of section 113, and are drilling.

OIL INVESTMENT TEST GETS SAND

The Oil Investment company has encountered a sand at a depth of 1,612 feet in their test on the Belle Z. Lyles land, SPRRCO survey, abstract 1231, Hooper and Wade sub-division, Archer county, northwest of the Waite Phillips producer. It was intended to core yesterday afternoon.

American Petroleum Institute Will Continue to Issue Weekly Summary

Refiners' Association Report Discontinued For Present

The American Petroleum Institute at New York has announced that it will continue the issuance of its weekly summary of the petroleum industry in the United States, in spite of the adverse criticism of the department of commerce and justice, United States government.

The Western Petroleum Refiners association recently discontinued their weekly summary of the refining industry based on reports of refiners reporting to that association, the department of commerce maintaining the summary an act in "restraint of trade" and the department of justice deeming such illegal.

Other Reports Probable.

In its place the officials of the refiners association have signified their intention of getting out a weekly analysis of figures put out by the department of commerce, and other data which will be useful to members of the association. The old weekly summary carried figures from approximately 140 refiners estimating the gasoline and other refined products in storage, and the decrease or increase over the figures of the week before, and the amount of crude and other oils run to stills and the corresponding change from the figures of the week before.

The weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute carries production figures, estimates of gasoline stocks, imports and exports of petroleum and other data of general interest to the industry.

Federal Summaries.

The reports of the department of commerce and interior are monthly affairs, giving such information based on the reports of government agents.

Statements by officials of the American Petroleum Institute deny any illegality in the issuing of the summary, declaring the purpose of the institute to function as an aid to industry, rather than "in restraint of."

TWO WILBARGER TESTS DRILLING

Bridwell and Heydrick are drilling at a depth of about 1,500 feet on their No. 1, Dill, southwest corner of section 84, H&TCRR block 14, Wilbarger county, offsetting the Wells-Guiberson producer to the last. Winnipeg Drilling company is drilling at about 450 feet on a south offset to the Wells-Guiberson producer, test located in the northeast corner of section 190. Both tests are being drilled with a rotary.

Market Letters

Grain.

Clement Curtis and company of Chicago today wired their correspondent, W. N. Graham of Wichita Falls, Texas, as follows:

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Wheat market closed strong and 1 to 1¼c higher after a barely steady opening. Trading early was influenced by lower Liverpool prices. The advance near the close was due to short covering and was stimulated by the evidence of heavy export business and by good milling demand. Exporters say that export business reminds them of war days. Much of the selling early in the session was by houses with connections in the northwest. Reports from Argentine were conflicting, one that drouth continues serious, another that rains are forecast. Although primary receipts continue heavy the demand is good and cash prices are holding fairly well.

Corn—Good speculative buying after a slight break early due to forecast of warmer weather caused prices to advance and close strong with a gain of 1 to 1¼c for the day. Crop advances are mixed. Cash corn is in good demand at firm prices.

Oats—Trade fairly active, with considerable buying of September and selling of December by shipping interests was the chief feature. Scattered liquidation and hedging pressure caused an easy market early. A moderate decline brought good support, however. Reports are increasing of inquiries for export.

NEW SUPPLY HEAD

D. J. BROWN.

D. J. Brown is the newly appointed vice-president and general manager of the Oil Well Supply company, with offices at Pittsburgh. Mr. Brown has been with the Oil Well Supply company since 1887, and has served successively as order clerk, purchase and sales agent, assistant manager, treasurer, and vice-president and sales manager.

He is well known in the oil well supply business and has established a reputation for business ability and integrity.

"BEAR TAILS" FIGHTING FOR RICH OIL LAND

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Title to rich oil lands in Oklahoma is involved in the case of John Beartail and Louisa Beartail, full blood Creek Indians, versus Pauline F. Halsell, which the supreme court was asked today to review in a petition for a writ of certiorari.

The case goes back to the time when the government sought to divide land of the Creek nation among the Indians. The petition sets forth that the full blood Indians opposed the breaking up of the land and offered no aid to the commission which made the allotment. Later they sought to claim the land, whose value had been increased by the location of oil.

Organize 26 Oil Companies During August

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Twenty-six new oil companies were organized in August with capital aggregating $67,475,000, the largest being the American Maracaibo, of Delaware, with capitalization of $50,000,000. Thirty-one companies were formed in July with total capital of $57,135,000 and 33 in June, with aggregate capitalization of $23,574,000.

PAGEANT OPENS CHILDRESS FAIR

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Sept. 3.—"The Pageant o' the Green Belt" to be staged the first night of the Childress state fair, September 16, will be under auspices of the Woman's department club. It will be an historical pageant showing the history, growth and development of this county. It was written by Mrs. W. E. Davis.

The committee in charge follows: General chairman, Mrs. Frank Dorsey; assistant chairman, Mrs. Jerry W. Davenport; stage manager, Mrs. W. B. Howard; dance director, Mrs. A. J. Brown, Jr.; musical director, Mrs. J. W. Mitchell; chairmen for scenes: Scene 1, coronation of queen, Mrs. W. B. Howard; scene 2, Indian days, Mrs. J. A. McMims; scene 3, white letters, Mrs. F. M. Phipps; scene 4, civil war days, Mrs. Jack Brown; scene 5, years of peace and prosperity, Mrs. J. M. Crews; scene 6, world war period, Mrs. Tom Huggins; grand finale, Mrs. Tom Huggins.

The pageant is to be given in front of the grand stand. The characters portrayed will be local men and women who were active in pioneer days and it is possible these same people will take part. The ranch scene will be put on by some of the famous cowboys of this section.

The American Legion is planning a sham battle, with several hundred ex-soldiers taking part.

The Childress fair expects the biggest attendance in history. It is building a new grand stand and the sale of box seats will open this week.

EXPORTS BOOST WHEAT VALUE

Price Closes More Than One Cent Up After Brisk Buying

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Wheat rallied sharply today on reports of heavy export business with France, Germany and Italy. Offerings which were readily absorbed by strong commission houses and seaboard interests who were removing hedges were largely responsible for the upturn. Wheat closed one cent to 1⅜ cent higher, with September 1.24⅝ to 1.24½ and December 1.29⅝ to 1.29½; corn advanced 1 cent to 1½ cent, oats were unchanged to ¼ cent up and provisions 7½ to 17½ cents lower.

Corn rallied sharply on commission house buying.

Short covering improved investment buying, and reports of some frost damage in the Canadian northwest, carried oats higher after a weak start.

Weakness of hog values affected provisions.

Delinquent Tax Publication Soon

The delinquent tax rolls of the Wichita county water improvement district No. 1 are now complete and will be published on September 10 showing a description of the property the name of the delinquent and the amount due. The publication of these rolls was postponed from July 15 because of requests of many tax payers for that delay and because it was felt that by September 10 all delinquents would be in a position to pay who really desire to do so.

Immediately after the publication the attorney for the district will begin the filing of suits to foreclose the tax lien on the property of the delinquents and collect the taxes in that way.

Youthful Hunter Freed

Alleged to have been hutning doves out of season, Verdis Ballard, a local youth, was tried and found not guilty Wednesday in the county court at law. The case was heard by Judge Guy Rogers and a jury. Ballard was arrested August 27 by A. H. White, game warden for this district.

Boyer Sacrificed Own Life to Save Spectators from Death, Inquiry Shows; "I'm Glad" Were His Last Words

By The Associated Press.

ALTOONA, Pa., Sept. 3.—Joe Boyer, speed king of the automobile world, went to his death on the Altoona speedway yesterday a hero, it became known today when the last words of the pilot were disclosed by the doctors who amputated his crushed legs.

Examination of the wrecked machine showed that a blowout caused the accident, and veteran men said it was little short of miraculous that the car speeding 125 miles an hour did not run down the bowl and crash into the spectators. This speculation brought out the fact that Boyer sacrificed himself to save others.

"I'm glad I saved them," the driver told those who carried him into the hospital.

The body will be shipped to his home at Detroit today. Mrs. Boyer on an automobile tour, was informed of the accident yesterday at London, Ontario.

MONEY At Work

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Although not so apparent, depreciation is as much an expense of doing business as though it were paid for in cash.

Suppose you were running a store and bought a truck for delivering. Let us imagine it was worn out and worthless at the end of three years. It is apparent that the expense of delivering must include the cost of the car, distributed over the three years.

In the same way any building is constantly undergoing deterioration; each year it is worth just a little less than it was the year before. Depreciation is one of the costs of doing business and should be figured in with the rest of the expenses. Some schemes of accounting care for this fact by each year reducing the value of buildings and equipment carried on the books and charging the reduction as one of the costs of operation. The important fact is that depreciation should be accounted for and that no enterprise should count profits and forget this item of expense.

Cattle Active At 25 Cents Up From Last Week

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 3.—Cattle shippers were favored today, the market showing activity for the third successive day, and values on most all classes were around 25 cents better than at last week's close. The day's trade was ten to 15 cents higher on beef steers and strong on other classes of cattle. The call market was a steady and brisk affair. Receipts were close to 4,000 head of cattle and 2,300 claves. Steers sold up to $6.25, a car of yearlings brought 7.50, cows went at 4.75 and good calves reached $7.00.

Buyers were bidding lower on hogs through sympathy with conditions at other trade centers, and as a result it required most of the day to dispose of a run of 900 head. Most of the day's supply found an outlet at 9.25 to 9.65.

As far as pigs were concerned, there was no real change in the market.

In the sheep house receipts were around 1,200 head. Lambs were purchased on a steady basis, the best here going at $11.00. Offers on wethers were considered 25 to 50 cents lower, however, and a few decks were forwarded.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Cattle 10,00; killing classes 25 cents higher; top 11.25 paid for long yearlings; numerous loads yearlings and handyweight steers 10.75@11.00; mixed steers and heifers 10.50; best matured steers 11.15; light yearlings sold at 8.25 to 11.25; cow 5.00@6.75; western grass heifers 5.50@7.00; veal calves to packers 13.00@13.50, outsiders upward to 14.00.

Hogs 20,000; uneven, 10 to 20 cents lower; butchers 9.75@10.15; lights 8.50@9.00; sows 8.60@9.00; pigs 7.25@7.75; estimated holdover 18,000.

Sheep 31,000; fat lambs steady; natives 12.00@13.25; culls 9.00@9.50; range lambs 13.00@13.50; sheep weak to 25 lower; ewes 4.00@5.75; feeding lambs around steady; early sales desirable feeders 12.75.

BEARS HAMMER STOCK PRICES

Favorable Factors Had Been Discounted Before Holiday

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Stock prices developed reactionary tendencies today, but trading continued on a restricted scale, total sales again approximating three quarters of a million shares.

Various reasons were forthcoming from market observers for the downward trend. In some quarters the belief was expressed that the pre-holiday rally had discounted all the favorable news and absorbed most of the new buying, leaving the market open to attacks by bear traders. Stiffer money rates also were considered a contributing factor.

Except for the default on the B. B. and R. Knight, Inc., bonds, trade news was largely favorable.

U. S. Steel common closed a point lower at 108⅝ on total sales of about 15,000 shares. American Can showed a net loss of 1½ points at 132 and Baldwin closed 1⅝ lower at 122.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe touched a new high at 109½, but later slipped back to 107 for a small fractional net loss.

Rails yielded with the industrials, although exceptionally good buying was noted in Norfolk and Western, Nickel Plate common preferred and Perre Marquette, up 1⅝ to 2¼ points.

Clara Hamon Is Seeking a Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—Clara Smith Hamon Gorman, who before her marriage to John W. Gorman, motion picture producer, was tried on a charge of murdering Jake Hamon, Oklahoma oil magnate and politician, has filed suit for divorce in the superior court here against Gorman, whom she charges with cruelty and intoxication.

After her acquittal of the murder in 1920 Mrs. Hamon came to Los Angeles to enter motion pictures. It was while arranging to produce a film depicting the Hamon shooting case that Mrs. Hamon and Gorman became acquainted and were married.

Less Carbon

Humble Motor Oil is an unblended oil. The range between its light and heavy fractions is very short; it does not vaporize as quickly, decompose as readily, or leave as much residue in the form of accumulated carbon as do blended oils.

Even under the most trying heat conditions, Humble Motor Oil retains enough of its lubricating body to protect against abrasion and consequent overheating of the bearing surfaces. Recent tests have shown that blended oils deposit more carbon, by weight, than do unblended oils; and that the deposit from blended oil is of a heavier, flintier character—the kind that causes trouble in the motor.

Humble Motor Oil is the safe and efficient lubricant for your motor. You can get it wherever you see the Humble Oil Signs.

SHOWERS NOT GOOD ENOUGH FOR COTTON

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. — Crop and weather conditions in southern states during the week ending yesterday, summarized today by the department of agriculture, show the week was moderately warm in the cotton belt and beneficial local showers occurred in many sections but most localities are still dry and general rain is needed.

Light to moderate showers occurred at about three-fourths of the reported stations in Texas but too light to be effective alone at half of these. The progress and condition of cotton continued very good in the extreme western and northwestern portions but poor to only fair elsewhere.

Opening: October 23.50; December 23.70; January 23.82; March 23.92 bid; May 23.90 bid.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 3.—The cotton market developed a firmer trend today notwithstanding an easier opening on lower Liverpool cables than due and on the execution of overnight selling orders. After October, December and January had traded 12 to 18 points below the closing levels of yesterday, the market rallied and continued on the up grade for the balance of the session with only insignificant reactions, from time to time. Late in the last hour of trading, October sold as high as 23.92, December at 24.04 and January at 24.05, or 42, 35 and 30 points up from the early lows. There was a reaction right at the end and the close showed net gains for the day of 12 to 15 points.

The opening decline here was hardly a full response to the course of Liverpool and the tone soon steadied and shorts covering rather liberally, fearing that the bureau report Monday night not show as feeling was due to the lower condition large a crop indication as last month. This averages of late private reports and more conservative crop indications.

THIMBLE THEATRE The Joke's On Castor. —By Segar

WHAT A SAP! WHAT A SAP! WOW!—SOME FUNNY LOOKIN' DAME I MARRIED
AND AFTER SHE HAS ME SAFELY HOOKED SHE TELLS ME SHE'S HAD THREE HUSBANDS BEFORE—
AND NOW SHE BRINGS HOME THREE KIDS I DIDN'T KNOW SHE HAD
CATHTOR, AINT THITH A WONDERFUL EVENING? I CAN FEEL ROMANTH AND LOVE IN THE BREEZE
OH THEE THE MOON THMILING DOWN AT ME
SMILING AT YOU ME EYE !!
IT'S LAUGHING AT ME!

ITINERARY FOR TRIP ARRANGED

Fair Tour Reduced From Three Days to Only Two

Instead of making a three days trip as previously planned it was decided at a meeting of the trade extension committee of the chamber of commerce to cut the trip to two days. The meeing was held Wednesday morning.

The trip will be made September 16 and 17 to advertise the Texas-Oklahoma Fair to be held here September 29 to October 5 inclusive. A ticket for the entire trip will sell for $26.50 and it is thought that approximately 110 tickets will be sold.

Meet Again Today.

The committee will meet Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock to receive consignments for selling tickets and a report will be made at the business meeting at the Kemp hotel Friday at noon.

One of the attractive parts of the trip will be a Scotch Highland dance and a bag pipe act. Frank Humphries, a local man, who has played before King George and Kipling, will handle the pipe while George Hodgins and other local Scotchmen will stage the dance.

Schedule for Trip.

CITY LOSES IN BUILDING FIGHT

The city lost its first fight over the new building code Wednesday when Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law ruled in favor of J. Carrithers, local building contractor, who had appealed a conviction from the city police court. He was found guilty and fined for alleged faulty construction of flues on houses he had erected.

The building code stipulated that flues should be built according to certain specifications and the charge against Carrithers stated that he had failed to comply with these regulations. In his appeal to the county court, however, attorneys for the defendant held that the flues were not to be used for fireplaces using coal as fuel and that hence the city rule was unnecessary and unduly costly.

THREE HELD ON DRUG CHARGES

Three charges alleging violation of the federal narcotic laws have been filed with U. S. Commissioner Lantz and all three defendants are now held in the county jail pending perfecting of bond. Two of the counts allege sale of morphine while the third alleges possession of the drug.

James Warren, arrested Aug 27 by Federal Narcotic Agent Austin and Herbert McKay, arrested several weeks ago by members of the sheriff's department are held for sale of the durg. The former's bond was set at $1,000 and the latter's $750. Bond of $1,000 has also been set for John Dennard, arrested Aug. 27 by the sheriff's force for alleged possession of the drug.

SEEK 2 RUNAWAYS

Two 14 year old white boys ran away from home at Wilson, Okla., Tuesday morning and headed for Wichita Falls, was the report received over the phone by police officers Wednesday night. Parents suspect they are to be found at a home some little distance from the city the name of the occupant being given to the officers, who immediately began search for the missing boys.

BACK FROM HUNT

E. D. Trevathan, H. Willis, W. L Hawkins, J. A. Messer of Wichita Falls and G. S. Hawkins of Frederick Okla., recently returned from a four-days' hunting trip to Wheeler county. Thirty prairie chickens were bagged by the party. The party reported that the crops in Wheeler county were in a fine condition and that the cotton crop this year would be well above the average yield.

When the present boxing regime in this city got under way, Simmons was usually one of the principals, and by his clean cut and sportsmanlike actions in the ring won many friends among Wichita Falls fandom.

Tourists Retrace Steps From North And West As Summer Weather Wanes

A right-about-face in the auto tourist business has been noted in this city and transient machines are now running to the south and east instead of north and west as has been the case most of the summer.

Situated as it is on the Colorado-to-Gulf highway and being the principal point on all north Texas and southern Oklahoma roads, Wichita Falls annually plays host to thousands of motor caravans. Practically all cars from south Texas and points further east, as well as other north and central Texas communities pass through here on their way to Colorado and the west.

From spring until late summer, say garage dealers and care-takers at the municipal tourist park, a surprisingly large number of transcient cars are headed for the north. The balance stays with the north and the west bound machines until late in August, they say, when it swings sharply the other way.

The southern and eastern returns are now in full swing, with prospects that the tourists season will wane rapidly after the middle of the month. Business at the city tourist park still holds up well, reports indicate. The big camp is practically filled every night and revenues from the small camp fee charged each tourist are enough to meet all operating expenses of the place, city officials say.

BOBO WIELDS KIWANIS POWER

Local Man Will Name Committees for Texas And Oklahoma

When Julian Bobo, well known Kiwanian of this city, was elected district governor of the Kiwanis clubs of this district at Lawton Tuesday he secured the highest honor that may be given to a Kiwanian of Oklahoma or Texas. The Kiwanis district is composed of the entire states of Oklahoma and Texas and enrolled in it are thousands of Kiwanians.

Mr. Bobo is the chief executive of this district and in his hands rests the responsibility of appointing all the committees.

Mr. Bobo said Wednesday that he would not take office until the first of the year and at that time all the committees would be appointed.

All the Kiwanians who attended the annual district convention have returned to Wichita Falls and all declare the meeting most successful.

Among the Wichitans who attended the convention were: Dave Shepherd, E. F. Riley, G. W. Pond, Frank Queisser, R. H. Peterson, Rev. F. T. Datson, Luther Hoffman, Homer Sanderford, J. T. Gant, W. R. Crouch, J. M. Bonner, Dr. F. R. Collard, Van Lesley, Kenneth Bebe, H. D. Wolff, J. C. Crane, Julian Bobo and R. R. Watland.

TEXAS SCHOOLS FAR DOWN LIST

Hubbard Tells Teachers State Rangs 35th In Education

In a stirring address before the 900 teachers attending the joint county teachers' institute at the Junior college building, Dean L. H. Hubbard of the University of Texas Wednesday morning told those assembled that "Texas ranks thirty-fifth among the states of the union in education. This is a thing that all Texans should be ashamed of. There are some schools in Texas that rank among the best in the United States but taken as a whole this state stands thirty-fifth. Every boy and girl in the state should be allowed nine months of school each year and every boy and girl in the state should have an equal chance."

Schools Here O. K.

Dean Hubbard was high in his praise of the schools of this district saying that they ranged among the best in the state. He told the assembly that a school is ranked according to the salary paid the teachers, the length of the term and the attendance record of the students.

W. L. Hughes of A. & M. college and head of the rural school department of the institute followed Dean Hubbard with an address in which he said that Texas was not doing its duty toward the 600,000 boys and girls living in the rural school districts of Texas. Mr. Hughes was also high in his praise for the work being done in this district.

J. H. Allison of Wichita Falls made a short address to the teachers in which he urged them to instruct the students in spelling, patriotism and good habits.

Attend Sectional Metes.

Following the addresses the teachers attended the various sectional meetings of their departments.

In the round table discussion S. H. Rider, dean of the Wichita Falls Junior college spoke on "The Work of the Junior College." W. R. Bradford of Iowa Park spoke on "Do Our High Schools Give Too Much Credit on Summer School Work?"

The high school section is being led by Dean Hubbard who is regarded as one of the best educators in the state. W. L. Hughes who has charge of the rural school section also stands high in the educational department of Texas.

The institute will come to a conclusion Friday morning.

F. B. Creighton, boy scout executive who left Wichita Falls Wednesday morning for Denver, Colo., to attend the national convention of the boy scout executives, announced that the annual scoutmasters' school would be opened here in Wichita Falls immediately after he returned to this city.

OPTIMISTS TO AID T-O FAIR

Send Representative On Trade Trip; Plan For New Members

L. G. Stogner, president of the Optimist club of this city, was elected by acclamation at the regular weekly luncheon of the club yesterday at the Kemp hotel to represent the club on the Texas-Oklahoma fair trip to be held Setember 16-17. Preceding the election, M. A. Bundy, chairman of the trade extension department of the chamber of commerce, urged all the members to attend the trade trip which will be made in the interest of the Texas-Oklahoma fair. He said that it had been decided to be gone only two days on the trip instead of three.

Forty Already Sign.

He further added that more than 40 business men of the city had already said they would go and this number was expected to go well above 100. The party will leave Wichita Falls the morning of September 16 and go north to Duncan, Okla., swing back into Texas the next day and hold their last meeting at Graham. From that place they return to Wichita Falls the night of September 17.

Two Vocal Numbers

Arch Smith, a member of the club, rendered two vocal solos, being accompanied at the piano by Miss Katherine Kilander. Frank Humphrey entertained the members with a solo from a bagpipe. It was announced that he would accompany the boosters of the Texas-Oklahoma fair on their trip.

President Stogner announced that there would be a meeting of the directors and officers of the club Friday night at 8 o'clock at the Chevrolet headquarters on Lamar street. He further announced that a membership campaign would be held in the near future.

FAIR OFFICIALS AT WILBARGER FETE

R. E. Shepherd and Fred Res-r, officials of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association, were in Vernon Wednesday attending the Wilbarger county fair. They carried advertising material pertaining to the Texas-Oklahoma fair to be held here September 29 to October 5 inclusive. This advertising material was distributed at the fair Wednesday by the local men.

DAN CUPID FORGES DOUBLE BOND HERE WITH OKLA. CITY

Oklahoma City and Wichita Falls were double-hitched Wednesday in a rather complicated marital venture involving cousins, et al, of the two points.

Licenses were issued by the county clerk to John A. Kearby of this city and Avis B. Carter of Oklahoma City, while at the same time a license was given to Wilma Kearby of Oklahoma City, a cousin of the Wichita Falls man, and C. H. Frady of this city.

SAUL'S CHILDREN'S DAY BREAKS ALL RECORDS

Three thousand youngsters took advantage of childrens' day at Sauls, according to C. C. Leatherwood, manager. Souvenirs of pencils and tablets were given away to the boys and girls.

This marks a new high mark for childrens' day, according to Mr. Leatherwood.

New Salvation Army Head Here

Commandant O. T. Johnson and family arrived in Wichita Falls Wednesday afternoon to take charge of the Salvation army post in this city, succeeding Adjustant David J. Swanson who was recently transferred to Houston.

Commandant Johnson comes to Wichita Falls from San Antonio where he has been in charge of Salvation army work since last February. He had charge of the army work in Tulsa, Oklahoma for four years prior to his transfer to San Antonio.

Commandant Johnson announced Wednesday that he would deliver his welcome address tonight. The open air meeting will be held at Seventh and Ohio streets at 7:15 p. m., and the regular meeting will be held at the Salvation army headquarters on Seventh street at 8 p. m.
