March Aimed To Mountains Of Serbia

Soviet Bridgehead Over Vistula Is Said Breached

By DANIEL DELUCE
Associated Press War Writer

MOSCOW, Sept. 1.—Red Army flying columns, skirting the southern shoulder of the Transylvanian Alps after marching triumphantly through Bucharest, headed today in the direction of Serbia's northeastern mountains, where Marshal Tito's partisans are battling the common enemy.

A junction between Soviet and Yugoslav partisan forces became a prospect of the near future as Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's armored scouts approached within 120 miles of the Yugoslav-Romanian frontier.

The German command was reported trying to organize a new defense line along the Olt river, which runs within 75 miles of Serbian territory.

Offensive Stemmed?

(The German communique asserted today that the Russian summer offensive has been stemmed from the Carpathians to the Gulf of Finland. Below the Carpathians in Romania, the Germans said nothing of the Soviet capture of Bucharest and Ploesti.

(Since the drive began in June, the Germans claimed to have destroyed 4,200 tanks and 5,000 guns and taken 13,000 prisoners. Russian communiques have listed 1,185,476 of the enemy killed or captured in the drives. Among the casualties, Moscow said, were 35 captured generals and 15 others killed.

(The Germans said they had breached the Russian bridgehead over the Vistula river in South Poland 110 miles below Warsaw.)

The Soviet forces, which paraded past the rubble of German-bombed buildings in Bucharest yesterday, drove rapidly westward along the Bucharest-Craiova railway.

U. S. Bombers Attack Brest

LONDON, Sept. 1. (AP)—American medium bombers assaulted German strong-points in besieged Brittany at the port of Brest today at the request of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, whose troops then began an all-out assault to free the prized Atlantic harbor of elements of three enemy divisions.

The attack on gun positions, motor parks and two forts on the edge of Brest was only one of numerous operations by Allied warplanes based in Britain and France as the return of good flying weather enabled them to bomb and strafe the foe at many points.

British four-engined Halifaxes bombed long-range weapon supply depots in northern France without loss.

British Mitchells bombed German troops concentrated near Abbeville and in danger of being cut off by the Allied advance across the Somme, as the return of clear weather today enabled Allied Air forces to hurl their full weight into the war.

Wave after wave of Allied warplanes thundered out from Britain continuing the aerial pressure maintained last night by RAF Mosquitos. The Berlin radio said enemy bomber formations were approaching Germany at mid-day.

The woods in which the Germans tried to hide near Abbeville failed to protect them, and the RAF crews watched their bombs burst across the center of the target area. One bomber was lost.

Dusseldorf Main Target

Dusseldorf was the principal target for blockbuster-carrying Mosquitos last night. Other Mosquitos stabbed at undisclosed objectives in Germany, and ranged over northern France pounding transport and supply ahead of the

Regime Of New Premier Falls In Bulgaria

Neutrality Plea Fails To Obtain Way Out Of War

LONDON, Sept. 1. (AP) — The Bulgarian government of Ivan Bagrianov fell today shortly after its failure to win an easy way out of the war by pleading neutrality and amid indications of far-reaching internal developments within the Balkan kingdom.

Simultaneously it was disclosed that the European advisory commission had drafted armistice terms for Bulgaria — a demonstration of British-American-Russian solidarity on the terms which the Balkan satellite must meet to get out of the conflict. Russian armies were pushing along the country's northern frontier, ready to send tank columns coursing across her northern plains.

Rumors spread throughout Europe that Hungary was trying to contact the Allies on armistice terms.

Southeastern Front Cracks

With Romania already out of the Hitler lineup and negotiating in Moscow for terms on which she might join the Allies as a cobelligerent, Hitler's southeastern front thus appeared to be falling apart in three countries.

Bagrianov read a proclamation in which he said non-Bulgarians (German) troops in the kingdom were ordered disarmed in keeping with his government's policy of trying to avoid war with Russia, the Berlin radio reported. The proclamation also said the government had ordered the withdrawal of Bulgar occupation troops in Greece and Yugoslavia, a process started several days ago. The Bargrianov government will remain in office until a new cabinet is formed.

Berlin immediately launched a campaign of denials to contradict the rumors that Hungary was seeking a way out, but Budapest itself was silent. Reports reaching London from Turkey said Hungarians there had intimated that Bulapest was seeking terms.

The Allied terms for Bulgaria were kept secret, inasmuch as they involve military operations.

Lubbock Child Has Infantile Paralysis

The first poliomyelitis case in Lubbock since Oct. 2, 1943, was reported this morning to Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer.

The patient is Barbara Butler, 5, daughter of E. L. Butler, 1904 Twenty-seventh street. She is in Lubbock General hospital.

The child became ill Wednesday and was taken to the hospital Thursday, but the illness was not diagnosed definitely as polio until this morning, Dr. Rollo reported. Her illness does not appear to be critical, he was advised.

The case brought the reminder from Dr. Rollo that very little is known about polio — particularly as to how it is spread. But flies and vermin are believed to be the most common carriers.

Therefore, the health officer advised that alleys be cleaned immediately, garbage cans sprinkled with lime and that everything be done to eliminate potential breeding places of flies and mosquitoes.

Outer Defenses Of Gothic Line Broken

Nazi Resistance Mounts In Italy

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Sept. 1—Eighth army troops have broken through the outer Gothic line defense in northern Italy to a depth of 1,000 yards at one point but are meeting strong German resistance north of the Foglia river, where the Nazis have hurled in tanks in repeated counterattacks, Allied headquarters announced today.

The 1,000-yard penetration was made west of Borgo Santa Maria, where the strongpoint of Montecchio was captured. Tank supported infantry followed through and established themselves among the Nazi defenses.

In Pesaro steady fighting was reported continuing between British and Polish troops and the German First parachute division—their old enemies of Cassino.

Pesaro Not Captured

(Dispatches from Rome yesterday declaring that Polish troops had captured Pesaro apparently were premature.)

Pesaro is now divided between the Germans and the Eighth army, which is established along the railway line running through the town.

In Belevedere Fogiliense, 4½ miles southwest of Montecchio, the Allies penetrated the first line and pushed on to within 1,000 yards of Monte Gridolf.

The Germans were described as "almost back on their main defensive positions" in the Appenines, where close contact was being maintained.

"Significant Gains" Made

The communique said "significant gains" were made in the Florence area. Patrols which crossed the Arno river northwest of Florencve yesterday failed to make contact with the Germans.

Artillery and patrol activity continued on the Fifth army front.

The Adriatic drive was supported strongly by airpower.

In some cases fighter-bombers had to drop their explosives only 1,000 yards from Allied troops.

Draft Policies To Stay Same

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Selective service reported to Congress today that the armed forces, estimated at an overall 11,417,000, can be kept at full strength without changing current draft policies, barring unforeseen military reverses.

This means, Col. Francis V. Keesling, jr., informed the Senate and House military committees, that if future induction calls remain constant, few men over 26 will be drafted during the remainder of this year.

During July, 83 per cent of the men inducted were between 18 and 26, he said.

Some Not Included

While only 10,384,000 registrants had been inducted or enlisted up to August 1, Keesling reported, that total does not include nonregistered enlisted men and women and registrants over 38 now in the Army or the Navy. It does, however, include an estimated 1,500,000 separations from service.

Total Army personnel, he added, can be assumed to be "at least" its goal of 7,700,000, while the Navy recently announced its strength at approximately 3,717,000.

The House military committee released Keesling's report without comment, but several members said privately it confirmed their suspicions there have been inducted an estimated 2,000,000 more men than were necessary.

Powerful Air Raids On Japs' Homeland Seen

Allied Bombers Blast Formosa, Other Islands

BY LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Thousand plane raids on Japan were forecast by the U. S. army air commander for the Pacific as Allied bombers slashed at Formosa, key to the area he named as potential bases.

The attack on Formosa, off the China coast, was made by China based Liberators and Mitchells, Tokyo radio reported today.

Other bombers raked the perimeter of Japan's defense from the equator to Paramushiro in the North Pacific.

General Destruction Rained

Heaviest blows centered around the southern Philippines. Davao, largest city of the southern Philippines, was left ablaze in the eighth raid in recent weeks, four Japanese ships including a destroyer were sunk or crippled in the Dutch Celebes to the south; Palau and Yap to the east were hit in daily softening up raids.

The regularity of these raids extending over 4,000 miles emphasized Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon's promise of "unremitting bombing" of the Japanese industrial empire, spread over Japan, Korea and Manchuria. He indicated the attacks in force would come after Formosa, the China coast and some of the Ryukyu islands, reaching out toward Nippon, have been seized.

War's Duration Estimated

With the main Nipponese armies and defensive air force still to be engaged, Harmon predicted the Pacific war would last at least a year after Germany is defeated.

So far the heaviest bombed Japanese base is by-passed Rabaul in the southwest Pacific. It has been blasted by some 20,000 tons of bombs. More than 110 vessels have been sunk in its harbor and ten times as many Japanese planes shot down defending the fortress. American commanders acknowledged the loss of 244 planes, probably only about half the actual losses.

Change Reflects Fears

Perhaps in preparation for the expected American invasion of the continent, Tokyo announced the appointment of Gen. Naosaburo Okabe as supreme commander in North China, replacing Gen. Neiji Okamura.

In southwest China, American-made flame throwers, rifles and machine guns aided Chinese in knocking out a half dozen enemy strong points in the Burma road sector.

Switzerland Avenue Of Retreat Asked?

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 1 (AP) — Stokholm political circles said today it was understood that the Germans had asked neutral Switzerland what its reaction would be if part of Marshal Kesselring's armies in Italy withdrew into Switzerland. These sources said Switzerland gave an unfavorable reply.

Virtually the only communications left open to German armies in Italy are through the much-bombed and frequently disrupted Brenner pass route, and via Swiss railroad. Switzerland recently permitted transit of seriously wounded German troops and medical personnel from southern France.

Sailor Killed, Body Of Woman Is Sought

HOUSTON, Sept. 1. (U.P.) — George Raymond Overturff, 25, San Diego, Calif., sailor, was killed today when his automobile struck a bridge abutment on the Humble highway at Greens bayou.

Deputy sheriffs believed that a woman also died in the accident.

The sailor was thrown from the automobile by the force of the collision and his body crushed on the concrete roadway.

A woman's shoe and other feminine effects were found in the smashed automobile, causing belief that a second passenger had been thrown into the bayou waters in the crash.

Lorraine Basin Overrun, Berlin Radio Reports

Sedan, Verdun Left Behind As U. S. Avalanche Races To Belgian Border; Patton Gains 65 Miles In Single Day

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, Sept. 1—An American avalanche of men and tanks passed over the historic fortress cities of Sudan and Verdun, rolling up to or across the Belgian border and threatening to spill over into Germany before nightfall today.

(The German radio said two groups of six to eight American divisions each were pushing on from Verdun and already were overrunning the Lorraine basin, annexed by Germany in 1940 and considered by Berlin a part of the Reich itself. Metz was within artillery range of the advancing Americans, the broadcast said.)

Patton Links Reims, Verdun In Less Than Day; Task Required Four Years In World War I

BY ROBERT N. MILLER
United Press War Writer

VERDUN, Aug. 31.—(Delayed)—"They shall not pass" was the watchword here in 1916-17 when a million men fought in the mud for a few square miles of shell-scarred earth.

"They shall not halt," was the slogan today when Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, jr.'s rampaging armored spearheads rolled over the historic battleground at tourist speed and continued pellmell in pursuit of the German remnants fleeing toward their own border.

In less than 24 hours, Patton's Third army linked Reims and Verdun, an accomplishment that took the Allies four years to complete in 1918 and cost hundreds of thousands of lives.

Lost Few Tanks

We lost a few tanks and suffered amazingly few casualties in today's march to Verdun. We took the concrete forts without opposition and raced on past thousands of well-kept graves marked by the white crosses of men who died in the mud to do what 1944 Yankee armor did at 35 miles per hour.

World War I trenches still were visible. The old concrete fortifications of Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg still stood but not a shot was fired from them.

Lt. Col. Edward McConnell, Paxton, N. C., led the first U. S. armored spearhead into the city about noon after crossing the Meuse below Verdun and looping behind.

Slight Resistance Met

Another column approached simultaneously from the front. McConnell said neither of the columns met any great resistance. The Germans stationed a few 88's and anti-tank guns on the outskirts to exact a slight entry fee but they were wiped out before they could hit their targets.

There was no organized defense of Verdun — Verdun the name planted in the military memories of a generation as the symbol of defense.

It was Gen. Henri Phillipe Petain who said in 1917, "ils ne passeront pas" (they shall not pass.) Today the old marshal and other members of his Vichy government were reported enroute to Germany to escape the vengeance of his countrymen.

Villagers Cheer Troops

Cheering villagers along the route into Verdun waved us forward with news that the Germans were only a few hours ahead. Evidence of the Nazi retreat lay along the road in the form of broken vehicles and abandoned equip-

Nazis Fleeing Rhone Valley

Tanks, Infantry Harass Retreat

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press War Writer

ROME, Sept. 1.—U. S. Seventh army troops have made contact with German forces retreating up the Rhone valley toward Lyon, and the enemy already is fleeing north and northeast of that big city, Allied headquarters announced tonight.

Tanks and infantry encountered Germans between Tournon, 10 miles above Valence, and le Bourg du Peage, 11 miles to the northeast. Valence, 55 miles south of Lyon, and le Bourg du Peage were captured yesterday.

General Killed

(A communique in London of the French forces of the interior said the FFI had killed 500 Germans, including a general, in fighting toward Valence. Frenchmen liberated the Loire department by seizing Montbrison, 37 miles southwest of Lyon, it added.)

Allied airmen reported heavy German movements on roads leading north and northeast from Lyon.

American units were reported to have reached Voiron, 15 miles northwest of Grenoble, and 55 miles from the Swiss border.

Dispairing Order Given

Apparently despairing of ever getting their 19th Army out of southern France as an intact fighting unit, the Nazi command has ordered its units "to return to Germany by their own resources," an official report said. Such an order was given by artillery personnel in the Nimes area, prisoners related.

From Narbonne a French flying column, in a sweep around southern France's Mediterranean coast, was reported thrusting down to the Spanish border after shoving through Montpellier, Beziers and Narbonne—60 miles from the Spanish frontier—without meeting enemy resistance.

Other French units were well beyond Ales, 38 miles west-northwest of Avignon.

GERMAN SITUATION "HOPELESS"

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP)—A German military spokesman described the German situation today in northern France as "hopeless for the time being."

British Near Abbeville

The British, slashing away at a rate of nearly 30 miles a day, stabbed to Longpre, but 10 miles from Abbeville where the Germans reached the channel in 1940, and all but cut off all the channel coast southward to Le Havre.

The British were within 65 miles of Calais, where German guns have barked at Dover across the narrowest part of the channel for more than four years.

A 22-mile race north of Amiens took another British column to Hebuterne, 12 miles from Arras and 39 miles from the fields of Flanders in Belgium.

While the British neared Dunkirk, the Canadians to the southwest worked off another drudge, driving to within three miles of Dieppe where 3,000 Canadians were lost in the raid of 1942.

Closing Fist On Calais

While Montgomery threatened to close a fist on Calais and Dunkirk, this time with Germans in the trap area, Berlin broadcasts reported a swerving American column of six armored and motorized divisions had cut off Germans in the Seine and Somme areas, reaching the Vervins area 30 miles northwest of Pethel—and 15 miles from the Belgian border.

But it was to the northeast—through the Ardennes invasion route, the Sedan gap and then across the Meuse, backdoor to the Maginot line—that the main American thrust seemed directed.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's armor ground out an advance of 65 miles in less than 24 hours to

Pope Optimistic On Anniversary Of War

LONDON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Pope Pius III, speaking over the Vatican city radio, said tonight that "on this fifth anniversary of the war, the spirit of injustice is dying out."

"This barbaric world is going to end and a new world of humanity and Christianity is to be created," the pontiff continued.

"The new world must be one of social justice and fraternity of all the human family," the pope said, "after so many years of uncertainty, humanity expects of the world a better social order. This social reform must be based on divine justice.

"The new world must be such that men will not have to worry about their bread and shelter," he continued. "The social state of workers must be improved and capitalism will have to make concessions to this end."

Stevenson May Step Into Role As Peacemaker In Demo Rift

AUSTIN, Sept. 1 (AP) — The possibility that Governor Coke R. Stevenson may step into the role of peacemaker for restoration of harmony within state Democratic ranks developed further here today.

At a press conference Governor Stevenson, answering questions concerning the party's elector squabble said:

"I don't mind discussing with both sides some plans that will allow the will of the voters to be expressed. I believe in that fundamentally. Whatever the will of the people is it ought to be expressed."

His statement, linked with recent visits to his office by representatives of both pro-and anti-Roosevelt factions, lent credence to undersurface indications that elements of both factions were attempting to reach an amicable settlement of differences before the state convention in Dallas Sept. 12.

The governor maintained a policy of neutrality when the party split on the elector issue at the May 23 state convention here, continued that policy after the May 23 meet.

His statement today was the

Hundreds Of Thousands Of Yanks Will Begin Coming Home Soon After Germany Collapses

BY REUEL S. MOORE
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—With the collapse of German resistance, the exodus of hundreds of thousands of American troops from Europe will begin.

Today, five years after the second World War started, the Army is perfecting plans to reverse its great mass movement of humanity.

Some of the Americans in Europe will come fairly soon after Germany quits, some will go directly to the Far East to fight the Japanese, and some will remain abroad to enforce the first phases of European peace.

Many To Go To Pacific

American commanders in the Pacific will have first call on American manpower released with Germany's defeat to meet their immediate needs, subject to limitations of transportation facilities and the strategic situation in that theater.

Because of the type of warfare in the Pacific, the Allies will not need there immediately too large a portion of the troops released in Europe. In the island to island fighting amphibious combat forces are small compared with the large European armies.

Until there is a place for them to fight, large numbers cannot be utilized. And it is not anticipated that the Pacific commanders will ever need all the forces released by peace in Europe.

So when Germany capitulates, that part of the American forces freed from combat there are not needed immediately for combat in the Far East will start moving homeward as transport is available.

Punitive Executions Charged To Nazis

ROME, Sept. 1. (AP) — An official Italian investigating commission accused Nazi Germany today of killing more than 320 hostages at the Ardeatine caves near Rome last March 24, and recommended that the full facts be referred to the Allied War Crimes commission so that the guilty persons might be punished.

An interim report of the commission, appointed by Col. Charles Poletti July 11, said the executions were in reprisal for deaths of some Nazi troops on the Via Rasella March 23 and were believed to have been ordered by Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring.

The investigation disclosed, said the report, that the hostages were shot separately with revolvers or tommyguns fired at very short distances into the heads or necks of the victims. From the positions of the bodies, it continued, it was presumed the victims were forced to climb upon the bodies of others already shot.

Yank Airmen Happy At Wartime Quirk

BUCHAREST, Aug. 31 (Delayed)—(AP)—Russian troops arriving in this Romanian capital today found 1,100 American airmen here—prisoners of war who had been liberated the day King Mihai proclaimed an armistice and who have since been given the run of the city.

The fliers were particularly elated over the German bombardment of the prison wing of the hospital where a number of Americans had been kept prior to Aug. 24.

On that day thye moved out and German prisoners were moved in. Only a few hours later Nazi divebombers came over, apparently singled out the building and plastered it with bombs.

Sharp Cut In Needs For U. S. Oil Seen

AUSTIN, Sept. 1 (AP)—Texas oil producers were told Thursday to prepare to adjust themselves to reduced allowables in the face of Allied successes in battle which will ultimately lessen the war demand for petroleum from this state.

Col. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission, said that capture of the Ploesti oil fields by the Russians should shorten the war.

"This brings us to a consideration of reconversion of the oil producing business from heavy war time demand to the lessened demand that must follow victory over Germany," Thompson said.

More Oil Possible

Thompson noted that when the Netherlands East Indies are freed from Japanese control, there will be made available to the Allied forces additional large supplies of oil.

"Relaxation or even abandonment of rationing here at home will help take up part of the slack, but doubtless there will still be less demand than now even should rationing be completely done away with," his statement said.

"The oil producing plant in Texas consists today of 101,501 producing wells. The allowable production set for Texas oil wells for September, 1944, is 2,311,718 barrels per day.

"This compares with Texas oil production of 1,355,102 barrels per day in September 1940, the year before entering the war.

Independent Faces Problem

"The oil producers should contemplate and prepare for the shock of reduced allowables . . .

"When it is remembered that the oil producer is selling his oil for a pre-war low price and his costs of operation, drilling and exploration have all gone up very decidedly, you can see that the little oil producer has been getting by only because of higher allowables. He has been selling his goods off his shelves for less than cost of reproduction but he was selling lots of it.

"Now with the prospect of reduced demand the little independent oil producer faces a real conversion problem."

'Holiday' Ends For Distillers

BY JOSEPH LAITIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 — A month-long "holiday" for beverage alcohol distillers ended at midnight last night after what an industry spokesman described as "30 glorious days and nights" of production devoted exclusively to replenishing dwindling whiskey stocks.

"From now on," the spokesman said, "no one has to worry about where his next bottle is coming from."

First Since 1942

The War Production board authorized distillers to produce beverage alcohol during the month—for the first time since late in 1942—when it was found there was more than enough industrial alcohol on hand to meet war needs.

Declaring that another holiday might be possible "in the not too distant future," Dr. Walter G. Whitman, head of WPB's chemical bureau, said a study showed that the diversion of a month's output of alcohol from war uses did not affect munitions output.

All Orders Obeyed

"I can state categorically that it did not harm any of the war production programs," he said. He added, however, that it did reduce their reserve stockpile to a point where the situation would be "tight" until September output of war alcohol begins to flow.

Whitman said all distillers had obeyed the order to keep the beverage alcohol spigot turned to "off" until one minute after midnight on the morning of August 1, when the holiday began. Until then they were running full tilt at making industrial alcohol, used in manufacture of synthetic rubber and other munitions.

One Doesn't Convert

The holiday was not unanimous for the industry. One distiller in Lynchburg, Tenn., learning that he could not use corn for potable alcohol production, declared:

"If I can't make bourbon, I might just as well make industrial alcohol."

Most distillers were understood to have concentrated on making neutral spirits to be used later in manufacture of gin and cordials and as a blending agent to stretch existing stocks of aged rye and bourdon.

Several Months Supply

While there was no immediate official estimate of the amount of neutral spirits produced, it was believed to be between 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 gallons, which is several months output in normal times.

The effect of the August holiday has already been felt in most areas where retailers and wholesalers released large whiskey stocks upon receiving assurance that more was on the way.

Because it is almost certain that another holiday will be declared next year, it is believed the liquor supply will continue easy, at least for the remainder of this year.

Roosevelt-Truman Meet Set Sept. 8

An attendance of 500 or more at an area meeting of Roosevelt-Truman club members in the courthouse here at 8:30 o'clock Friday night, Sept. 8, was predicted Thursday by W. W. Campbell, president of the Lubbock club. J. O. Jones is chairman of the executive committee.

"We're inviting all Democrats who believe that Texas electors should support the nominees of the party to attend," Campbell said. "We promise some interesting revelations on what the 'O'Daniel Democrats' are trying to do in Texas."

The county Roosevelt-Truman club is increasing its membership daily and clubs are being formed in other counties of the area, Campbell said. Similar clubs have been formed elsewhere in the state.

The Sept. 8 meeting is being staged in advance of the State Democratic convention at Dallas on Sept. 12 so that "delegates can be informed on what to expect" at Dallas, Campbell added.

Unemployment Commission To Begin Taking Compensation Claims Of Veterans Monday

Local employes of the Texas unemployment commission, 1207 Thirteenth street, will start Monday receiving claims of veterans of World War II against the government under an agreement with the veteran's administration, Lubbock Manager Hunter W. Richardson announced Thursday.

In common with nearly all businesses and official offices, and by instruction, the local office will be open that day, which is Labor Day.

The act provides that honorably discharged veterans of World War II may be entitled to readjustment allowances provided they have had active service since Sept. 16, 1940. Such active service must have been 90 days or longer, or the veteran must have been discharged due to service connected disability.

Eligibility Is Defined

In order to be eligible, Richardson said, a veteran must be totally unemployed, partially unemployed, or self-employed and earning less than $100 per month and must be registered for work at an employment service office. He must be able to work and available for work and a resident of the United States at the time of filing claims.

Depending upon a veteran's length of service, readjustment allowances may vary in duration from eight weeks minimum to 52 weeks maximum. Readjustment allowances are payable during a period of two years after discharge or termination of the present war, whichever is the later date. Totally unemployed veterans who file claims and are otherwise eligible, will receive $20 a week, while those who are partially employed may receive the difference between their weekly earnings and $25. Claims for readjustment allowances will be taken on a weekly basis and checks in payment thereof mailed weekly to eligible veterans, he said.

Classes of instruction are being conducted for commission employes in order to fully prepare them to answer any questions of World War II veterans. The commission urges discharged service men and women who are interested in knowing more about the act to contact the commission office where a representative will be glad to thoroughly explain all phases of this new legislation and assist the veteran in filing his application for any allowances to which he might be entitled.

Section 6-A of the Texas Unemployment Compensation act, which provides for the preservation of benefits for members of the armed forces, becomes inoperative Monday, Richardson explained. This section of the Texas act was passed by the last session of the legislature in order to preserve benefit rights to individuals who were inducted into the armed forces on and after Sept. 19, 1940. The provision was worded so as to be operative until such time as the Congress of the United States provided financial assistance to discharged or released members of the military or naval services of the United States.

Tech To Close Army Contract Sept. 30

The Texas Technological college contract in the Army Specialized Training Reserve program will be cancelled officially Sept. 30, President Clifford B. Jones said Thursday.

First steps taken by the college to reconversion from a wartime to a peacetime program, the cancellation of this contract was activated by two cogent reasons. Dormitory facilities are needed and other colleges are able and anxious to increase their ASTRP quotas.

This decision works no hardship upon the War department, President Jones said. He added that Tech's relationship with the Eighth Service command has been exceedingly pleasant and entirely satisfactory.

Three Negroes Sent To Chair For Rape

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 1. (AP)—Three Florida negroes were condemned to death by electrocution today, after admitting in militia-guarded circuit court that they raped a 22-year-old white woman on gunpoint.

Guards took the negroes from the court shortly afterward without incident.

Each pleaded guilty when court opened.

Battle For France Sets Unique Record

By CARL C. CRANMER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's armies have set a unique record in the field of military operations—the virtual liberation of France from a beachhead.

They have almost, but not quite, equalled the record of Adolf Hitler, who in 1940 completed the conquest of France in 37 days.

Since the St. Lo breakthrough by Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's American forces on July 25, the Allies in 37 days have almost overrun France, but they have not yet swept Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg into their bag as Hitler did in his famous blitzkrieg.

Astounding To Germans

Probably the most astounding thing to the Germans, the feature which perhaps has upset their calculations more than anything else, is the fact that Allied spearheads have driven from Normandy, taken Paris and pushed almost to the German frontier itself from a beachhead.

There is yet no indication that any great amount of supplies for Eisenhower's armies are coming through ports. Cherbourg is the only large port held by the Allies, and demolitions to the harbor works there were extensive.

Marvelous engineering developments and supply management have made possible the powering of the great drives in progress today. It is a feat which Hitler, who ordered his garrisons to button themselves up in the ports of Le Havre, Brest, St. Nazaire and Lorient, apparently thought impossible.

Great Contrast In Battles

This is the great contrast in the 1940 battle of France and the 1944 battle. For in 1940 Adolf Hitler had his land bases close to the frontier, his troops in their assigned positions, his mountains of supplies close to the front.

When he gave the word on May 10, he hit the Allies with terrific power all at once. Allied lines were shattered and all was over by June 17.

The Allies have been in France 88 days, counting today, but 51 days of that time were spent in the time-consuming process of winning, widening and building up their bridgehead for the offensive.

Began At St. Lo

Beginning at St. Lo American armored columns have not yet equalled the speed of the Nazi spearheads in 1940.

In 11 days the German panzers speared 190 miles from the German border to Abbeville on the channel, an average of more than 17 miles a day.

The Americans have traveled a much more circuitous route in arriving at Sedan, not far from the German starting point.

Starting at St. Lo they have swung through an arc of 450 miles—Avranches, Nantes, Chartres, Paris—in 37 days, an average of more than 12 miles a day.

Speed Picking Up

But their speed has been picking up as German demoralization grows, and the last few days they have been going faster than the Germans ever did. The British, in reaching Amiens, rolled 60 miles in two days.

The routes of the contending armies are very similar. In 1940, Hitler struck through Luxembourg and the Ardennes on the northern French border, pushing on to Abbeville on the channel while his armies in Belgium and the Netherlands engaged and held a large part of the Allied force in the north. The result was that the British were trapped and had to be evacuated from Dunkirk.

In 1944 the Allies struck further south, engaged the bulk of the German forces around Caen and the lower Seine, while Bradley's 12th American army group swept to the east and fashioned a succession of traps.

A breakthrough at Sedan may open the way into Germany.

Russian Offensives

mechanical power of his army. Huge self-propelled guns, squat and thickly armored tanks and a seemingly endless stream of motorized infantry crossed the city from end to end.

On the Black sea coast south of Constanta Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's patrols ranged along the Romanian-Bulgarian frontier but the bulk of his Third Ukranian army was hastening on westward for a joint sweep up the Danube with Malinovsky.

Meanwhile on the northern end of the long front the first definite offensive success in the Warsaw sector in over a week put the Russians less than 12 miles north of the old Polish capital.

It was still too early to say whether the Russians would be able to sustain their attack in this sector, for it bristles with the strongest German concentrations anywhere on the eastern front.

Thomas Motion Is Due Today

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 1. (Special)—Defense council of Jim Thomas, 50, who was convicted Wednesday of the murder of Dr. Roy Hunt of Littlefield by a jury recommending death, is expected to file a new trial motion today. Statutory period for filing will elapse tonight.

Curtis Douglass of Pampa and George McCarthy of Amarillo, defense council, informed Thomas after the jury brought in a verdict after 2 hours 40 minutes of deliberation, they would appeal from the conviction to the court of criminal appeals in Austin.

In the meantime, speculation sought to evaluate which link of the state's long chain of circumstantial evidence was strongest.

Perspective seemed to focus principally on two short pieces of string. Both had been admitted into the evidence as state exhibits.

One piece, the state had its witness say, was found on the bed of Dr. and Mrs. Hunt, both of whom had been slain. The other piece was found in an improvised stove in the garage of an Amarilloan, S. L. Veasey.

The state's inference was that the string had been cut from one of several bonds that lashed together the bodies of Dr. and Mrs. Hunt.

This is how the state sought to weld the link to other links—and to Jim Thomas.

Witnesses said Thomas had been seen at both towns, Amarillo and Littlefield, about the time of the slayings. Officers found a piece of string at each place. A state department of safety police identifications expert said the strings matched — in grade of fiber, in number of strands, in diameter, and precisely in depth where a sharp instrument had sliced partly through its diameter before the cord parted jaggedly.

State witnesses attempted to bolster Thomas' alleged appearance at the Hunt residence through tracks of tennis shoes later found by officers at the Veasey residence. State proved that Thomas had ready access to premises of the Veasey home and that he had been there a few hours before the Hunts were slain, and had reappeared there about the moment the bodies were discovered.

Its inference was that Thomas found the inch-long piece of string in his clothing after he had returned to the Veasey residence, and pitched it into to the stove to hide every vestige of evidence.

Juxtaposition of time elements and appearances here and there, as related by witnesses, probably forged those pieces of string into a steel link stronger than any other one the state hammered together, one generally heard.

SECOND NEWTON TRIAL MAY BE SET SOON

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 31. (Special)—The second trial of Dr. W. R. Newton of Cameron, on a charge of assault with intent to murder the late Dr. Roy E. Hunt of Littlefield in May of 1942, likely will be set in 64th district court for late in September.

Judge C. D. Russell indicated that uncertainty was due to Army service of Dee Dodson, former court reporter who reported the first trial. Dodson is due for a furlough and will be available for reference, or possibly to report the second trial.

It was intimated by Judge Russell that the trial might be set for the week of Sept. 25 or Oct. 2.

Dr. Newton was convicted and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary, but the court of criminal appeals reversed and remanded the conviction.

Mrs. Newton also is charged in the case. Her trial, postponed several times, has not been set definitely.

Appeal To Negroes For Blood Assailed By War I Veteran

FORT WORTH, Sept. 1. (AP)—An appeal to negroes to give their blood to the Red Cross in Washington for plasma was condemned today by a past commander of the Bothwell Kane Post No. 21, American Legion.

Frank Ogilvie, a World War I veteran, denounced the move, in a telegram to President Roosevelt, as an attempt to achieve racial equality by pumping "negro blood into the bodies of our helpless white boys who lie wounded and dying on the fields of battle."

He told the President he had received a handbill, purportedly distributed to government workers in Washington—and especially to negroes—calling them to a mass meeting at the Red Cross blood donor center on Labor Day and to offer their blood and to protest blood plasma segregation.

Several Groups Cited

Ogilvie said the circular was issued by the CIO United Federal Workers of America, the Washington Industrial Union council, the National Negro congress, the National Association for Advancement of Colored people, and the laborers' district council.

"In the name of every decent white man and white woman in America and as a veteran of the last war, I respectfully urge you as head of the American Red Cross not to permit this damnable plan to be carried out," he wired the President.

"The thought of mixing negro blood plasma with the blood of our helpless wounded is so horrible and repugnant to every decent minded man that this outrageous movement and every other similar movement to forcibly commingle the races must be stopped," he said.

advancing Allied troops.

RAF fighter bombers and rocket-firing planes yesterday flew nearly 1,000 sorties, most of them after suppertime, destroying or damaging more than 400 motor vehicles, eight tanks, 63 railroad cars and 13 locomotives.

In all operations yesterday and last night only eight Allied planes were lost. No claims were made of enemy aircraft destroyed.

MEDITERRANEAN AIRMEN BAG 166 ENEMY PLANES

ROME, Sept. 1. — At least 157 enemy planes were destroyed on the ground and nine shot down in aerial combat in the past two days by U. S. 15th Air force Mustangs during strafing attacks on three Romanian airdromes, Mediterranean Allied Air forces headquarters announced today.

A Mustang group commanded by Lt. Col. Charles Boedecker, Dallas, Tex., swooped over the Reghin Air field in Romania yesterday and destroyed at least 60 Nazi planes on the ground and scored nine aerial victories.

On the preceding day another Mustang group destroyed 83 aircraft on the Groszwardein, Romania, airdrome in what the MAAF command described as "the most effective machine-gunning of German aircraft on the ground in a single air field ever carried out in the Mediterranean theater."

Two Mustangs Lost

Only two Mustangs were lost in the three operations.

Mass strafing was scheduled after reconnaissance disclosed that German planes driven from their normal Danube bases by the advancing Russian army had massed on the three fields.

The possibility Nazi pilots were extremely short of fuel was seen in the fact that virtually none among hundreds of parked planes took to the air when the Mustangs attacked.

RESERVE BALANCES UP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Member bank reserve balances increased $210,000,000 during the week ended Aug. 30, the Federal Reserve board reported yesterday.

ABC Rodeo Netted $7,808, Dickey Says

Announcement was made at the luncheon of American Business club today in Hilton hotel by President J. Ray Dickey that $7,808.50 was netted from the Boys club benefit rodeo held here last week, of which $5,461.50 was from ticket sales.

A check for $1,006.15 was turned over to Dickey by Lubbock Lions club at the luncheon as profits from a concession stand it operated. Donations totaled $1,340.85, making a total of $7,808.50 turned over to the Boys club fund.

The ABC board of governors agreed that all Boys club bills would be paid at once. After these bills are paid, Dickey announced, the club will have a balance for operating expense of approximately $2,200.

Lt. Rex Webster of the U. S. Navy, on leave and visiting in Lubbock, recounted experiences aboard a destroyer in the Mediteranean, as guest speaker at the luncheon. He was introduced by Jack Campbell, program chairman.

New members introduced to the club were: John Hagood, introduced by Ed Bergman, and W. E. Humphreys, introduced by Ben Smith.

An out-of-town guest was J. D. McPhaul of Lamesa.

The Royal Academy of Arts, Britain's principal art organization, was founded by King George III in 1768.

Cathedral At Reims Intact

By ROBERT RICHARDS
United Press War Writer

REIMS, France, Aug. 30. (Delayed)—The world famous cathedral of Notre Dame stood undamaged and serene in the late afternoon sun today as American armor streamed past in pursuit of the fleeing Germans.

Many of the city's inhabitants told me they had expected their city to be turned into flaming ruins and their ancient cathedral crumbled as they were in World War I. But the Germans pulled out ahead of the advancing Americans.

In Heart Of City

The relieved Frenchmen gathered in groups to stare silently at the cathedral which is in the heart of the city. They had done their best to protect it by stacking sandbags half way up the front and by hastily constructing wooden frames around the statues—scant protection had a tank battle developed in the neighborhood.

The great center altar was shut off by iron gates. Only three of the famous stained windows remained in the frames. One worshipper said the other windows had been hidden since 1939.

Inhabitants Bewildered

The watchers showed only a little of the enthusiasm which greeted the Americans in other French cities. They were friendly, waving occasionally and smiling, but there were few cheers and none of the eager cheek-kissing.

Some said this was because the inhabitants were bewildered by the turn of events, were stunned by happiness, or had spent their high spirits in an earlier demonstration celebrating the sparing of the city. They have memories of the horror of the other war which made Reims a battleground.

Barge In Too Early

The city was taken officially around 6 a. m. when an infantry division poured in, looking for a fight and finding only civilians.

A medical detachment, consisting of a jeep, a weapons-carrier and an ambulance, was the first American group to enter. These vehicles missed a turn and barged into the city at 9:30 p. m. while it was still filled with Germans.

"Frenchmen crept out of the night calling, 'You're the first Americans here'," said Capt. Sidney H. Barback of Bethlehem, Pa. "They pointed to windows of all the buildings saying 'They are full of Boches.' We were scared as hell and were about ready to scram.

Prisoner-Patients Happy

"About that time the Nazis turned searchlights on us. They saw the big Red Crosses on our helmets and someone shouted in German 'It's the Red Cross.' No shots were fired. We got out of there."

About the happiest men in the town were 30 Americans, prisoner-patients in a German hospital. An Eighth Air Force sergeant who was shot down in a raid on Schweinfurt last October said:

"I have been here 11 months and never in my life has anything happened to me like seeing my own folks again. A lump just started in my throat and kept hopping from my mouth to my belly. The Germans didn't treat me too badly but the food was terrible and I had to listen to all sorts of propaganda."

Women To Demand More Appointments

DALLAS, Sept. 1. (U.P.)—Leading Texas women completed plans today for a conference in Austin on Sept. 7 which will demand that state officials use more womanpower on key boards and commissions.

The meeting — to be called the Texas White House conference—will be under direction of Dr. Mattie Lloyd Wooten, dean of women of Texas State College for women, and District Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas.

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, former governor, is one of six feminine political figures who will state the case of women through their own experience in government.

The women say they are represented on only nine of 44 boards and commissions of the state government.

The well-dressed gentleman of the 18th century wore lace collars, cuffs, garters and shoe rosettes.

Few Ration Changes Due For September

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (U.P.) — Present point values of all rationed meats will continue through September, but the supply of better grades will be smaller, the Office of Price administration said today.

Many kinds of cheese will cost you two more red points a pound next month. A can of condensed or evaporated milk will have a new value of one point instead of two-thirds of a point.

Creamery butter will remain at 16 points a pound but process butter not generally bought for table use, will go up six points a pound to a new value of 12 points. Farm butter will stay at 12 points.

Although there was no change announced in the point value of canned salmon, the war food administration reduced the civilian allocation of that commodity from 130,000,000 to 83,000,000 pounds of the 1944 pack.

Another WFA announcement provided some offsetting good news for civilians, however. That was the statement that the civilian allocation of citrus fruits—oranges, tangerines, grapefruit, lemons and limes—will be 10,978,000,000 pounds, or 2,300,000,000 pounds more than civilians received during the just-ended season. Canned citrus fruits and juices and citrus marmalades already are on the ration free list and, in view of the announcement, undoubtedly will stay there.

The new ration period will begin Sunday and extend through Sept. 30.

Senate May Inspect Anti-Jew Proposal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP) — The Senate elections committee agreed today to consider a request that it investigate the introduction at the Ameriea First party's national convention in Detroit this week of a resolution calling for either the deportation or sterilization of Jews.

Chairman Green (D-RI) announced the committee would meet tomorrow to consider a protest by the non-sectarian Anti-Nazi league, whose headquarters are in New York City, that the resolution was designed to incide racial strife.

Beef Available And Much Of It Is Point Free This Fall; Old Favorite Dishes Return

THERE will be considerable beef available this fall and it has been announced that much of it will be point free. More utility grade cattle are coming to market than normally because the government's need for corn for war purposes has meant fewer cattle sent to the Corn Belt for feeding. This means many old favorite recipes may be used, for this meat is particularly good as pot-roasts, stews, Swiss steaks, meat pies, croquettes, meat loaves meat soups and hamburger. When cooked slowly at low temperature, by any of these methods, the beef will be tender, palatable and nutritious. In other words, moist heat methods—braising and stewing—will be best for the beef you will welcome now.

Plain And Fancy Pot-Roasts

On a cool autumn evening one of the most welcome of American dinner dishes is pot-roast. And this season beef cuts for just such dinners will be plentiful. Jessie Alice Cline, home economist, suggests as good beef cuts for pot-roasts, the rump, blade, heel of round, or the arm of beef. She points out also that pot-roasts may be cooked either in the oven or on top the range, but always at low temperature. Oven temperature should be 300 degree F., and when the meat is cooked on a burner the heat should be kept at simmering temperature and the pot-roast never allowed to boil.

A pot-roast may be as simple or as elaborate as you wish to make it according to seasonings, trimmings and what you serve with it. It will be eqully nutritious and delicious whether you make it a plain meat meal with vegetables cooked and served separately or cook the meat with snappy seasonings and simmer the vegetables in the same pot. Here are several suggestions for your pot-roast dinner.

Blade Pot-Roast

4-5 pound blade pot-roast
4 tablespoons lard or drippings
Salt and pepper
2 cups water

Wipe meat with damp cloth. Brown in hot fat. Season to taste. Add small amount of water, cover tightly and simmer gently, adding water when necessary. Cook until tender, allowing about 1 hour to the pound. This is delightful served with steamed rice.

Pot-Roast With Vegetables

2½-3 pound beef pot-roast
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
Salt and pepper
Water
6 carrots
6 potatoes

Brown pot-roast in hot fat. Season and add water. Cover and cook slowly for 4 to 5 hours. Add vegetables and cook half an hour longer. Remove to hot platter and thicken gravy with flour.

Pot-Roast With Tomato Gravy

4-5 pound blade pot-roast
4 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 clove garlic
½teaspoon thyme
½cup vinegar, 1 cup water
Salt and pepper
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
4 tablespoons flour
6 slices rye bread
Boiled onions
Boiled carrots

Brown pot-roast in hot fat. Add garlic (in one piece), thyme, vinegar and one-half cup cold water. Season. Cover and cook slowly for 3 hours. Add tomatoes and simmer about 1 hour longer. When meat is tender, remove to hot platter. Remove garlic. Make a paste of flour and remaining water and thicken the gravy. Serve with rye toast dipper in gravy, and the boiled onions and carrots.

WASHING MACHINE HINTS

You should wash clothes in washing machines just long enough to get them clean. Follow the directions which come with the machine or those you have learned from your own experiences. Jot down your own findings. Over-washing wastes power and is often hard on the clothes. Bed linens, table linens and slightly soiled articles will get clean in from 6 to 7 minutes washing. Clothes that are moderately soiled will require from 7 to 9 minutes. Very soiled clothes like overalls will need about 15 minutes.

TASTY EGGS AND SHRIMP

For deviled eggs de luxe shred cooked shrimp and add to the masked egg yolk mixture. Arrange the deviled eggs on a bed of crisp greens and top with whole shrimp and mayonnaise. This is a salad bowl worthy of a main-dish position on your menu.

ONE-MEAL CANNING

If pint jars are used for canning food whenever possible the processing time will be less. A pint jar holds just about the right amount to feed a family of four, thus eliminating the left-over problem.

CALAVOS FOR SPREAD

If you happen to have some calavos on hand which have ripened more quickly and thoroughly than you anticipated, make a sandwich spread of the meaty fruit. Simply mash the pulp, season with salt, pepper and a dash of Tabasco sauce.

Vinegar will help remove corrosion on nickel fixtures.

Chocolate Cake Is Ever Popular

Vary the appeal of ever-popular velvety rich chocolate cake by serving it with different icings or as cupcakes or a sheet cake cut into squares. For the icing there's always the choice between white or fudge, and the brown-sugar goodness of caramel frosting is especially popular with the men folk. For variation, try a pink peppermint topping or grated orange rind and orange juice in a powdered sugar icing, with orange sections to decorate.

For a quick and really festive dessert for unexpected company, bake chocolate cake in a jelly-roll pan in a thin sheet,. Serve with a layer of ice cream between two layers of cake and pour a caramel sauce over all. Or cut the cake into squares and put a dab of frosting in the center of each square. Decorate with colored bits of gum drops cut to represent petals and leaves. Cutting gum drops is easy if sharp scissors dipped in hot water are used.

This recipe for delicious chocolate cake calls for a shortening blended from meat fats and vegetable oils. Its bland flavor and white color make it suitable to use in creamy forstings, too.

DELICATE CHOCOLATE CAKE

Yield: Sheet pan 17" x 12" x 1" or 35 pieces.

½ Cup blended shortening
2 Cups brown sugar
1 Teaspoon vanilla
2 Eggs
2 tablespoons cocoa
½ Cup boiling water
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ Teaspoonu salt
1 Cup buttermilk

Cream blended shortening, sugar, and vanilla until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at at time, beating well after each addition. Dissolve cocoa in boiling water, and add to creamed mixture. Mix well. Sift flour, baking powder, soda, and salt together. Add alternately with buttermilk, adding flour first and last. The batter is very thin. Pour into a sheet pan 17" x 12" x 1". Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 30 minutes. When cool, cut into squares and ice with Quick Icing.

QUICK ICING

¼ Cup blended shortening
1 Egg white
1 Tablespoon cream
2¼ Cups sifted powdered sugar
½ Teaspoon vanilla

Beat shortening, egg white, cream, and vanilla until blended. Add powdered sugar to form a thick spreadable frosting.

DELECTABLE SPREAD

Chopped raisins, celery and raw carrots make a delectable sandwich spread. Moisten with mayonnaise seasoned with a bit of curry powder if you want to give a truly dazzling effect.

Carrots And Water Cress Give Colorful Dress To Your Salad

Nutrition authorities advise us to eat one raw vegetable every day. If you have a generous supply of carrots, try using finely shredded raw carrots in a molded gelatin salad. For color contrast, combine them with crisp green water cress chopped medium fine, or with tender young spinach leaves from your garden.

CARROTS-WATER CRESS SALAD

1 package orange flavored gelatin
1½ cups boiling water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ teaspoons salt
1 cup finely shredded carrots
1 bunch water cress

Dissolve gelatin in hot water, add lemon juice and salt. Cool until mixture begins to thicken. Add carrots, water cress stems cut in 1-8 inch lengths, and 1-2 of water cress leaves coarsely chopped. Turn into 1-quart ring mold or 1-2 dozen individual molds which have been lightly rubbed with salad oil. Chill until firm. Turn out on serving plate. Fill center with short cut water cress sprays. Serve with mayonnaise or French dressing. Serves 6.

Try dressing carrots up a little by serving them in a meat and bread ring.

MEAT AND BREAD RING

4 cups enriched bread cubes
2 cups cooked meat (any type) cubed
2 beaten eggs
1 cup meat broth or milk
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups medium thick white sauce
2 cups cooked sliced carrots
2 bunch water cress

Mix bread cubes and meat. Beat eggs, add liquid, salt and pepper. Combine with bread mixture. Pour into greased 9-inch ring mold (lining the bottom of mold with narrow strip of waxed paper to prevent sticking). Press firmly into mold. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 45 minutes. To the hot white sauce, add carrots, water cress stems cut in 1-8 inch lengths, and 1-2 of water cress leaves chopped medium fine. Mix lightly and heat thoroughly. Unmold bread ring and fill center with creamed carrots and water cress. Garnish with short cut sprays of water cress. Serves 6.

⅛ teaspoon pepper
Grated cheese

Add all remaining ingredients except cheese and spaghetti, cover and simmer gently for 30 minutes. Cook spaghetti in boiling, salted water for eight minutes. Drain, and serve meat balls and sauce over the cooked spaghetti. Serve the grated cheese separately.

EASIER TO OBTAIN

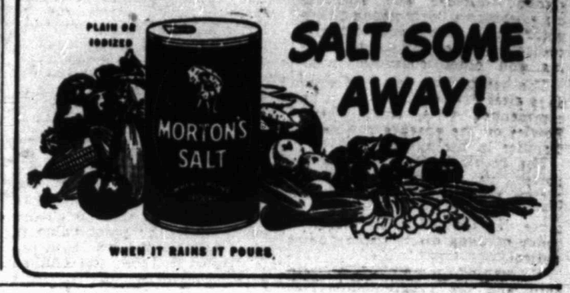

Various kinds of flavored gelatins are becoming easier to obtain than several months ago. Make these gelatin desserts really nutritious and serve them with a soft custard sauce.

SERVE SALADS PROMPTLY

To make your salads famous and mouth-watering, don't allow them to grow weary with waiting. Serve salads promptly. Attractive arrangements are welcome only if they avoid giving a labored-over appearance.

FEED 'EM PARSLEY

Try to induce your family to eat some of the parsley you use for garnish. It is loaded with vitamin A. Chopping it fine is a persuasive means to this end. In soups, in sandwich spreads and in salads the flavoring is excellent.

Flavor? As for flavor—well, Admiration's is best described as an experience all its own. It simply does something to you, this unique flavor. You can recognize it at the first whiff, whether in a hotel, cafe, or drifting in from the kitchen.

A Superb Blend of CHOICE COFFEES

In these days of corner-cutting, "saving" on ceiling prices, and so on, we cannot emphasize too much the choice, expensive coffees which are exclusively used in the Admiration blend. They are the secret of its delightful, inviting flavor. They make it stand apart from every other brand in America. They make it stand apart today in particular, when so many people are complaining that some established brands have suddenly gone flat or acid-tasting. Admiration never has and never will vary in aroma, richness and flavor, even from package to package. You can rely on that.

"Do Nothing Policy" Is Charged To OPA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The director of the standards division of the Office of Price administration, Harry D. Robinson, resigned Thursday and attributed his action to a "do nothing policy" within the agency with respect to controlling the quality of clothing and other consumer goods.

The resignation came only two days after President Roosevelt had commended OPA chief Chester Bowles on the absence of internal disputes in the agency.

The retiring official told a reporter his resignation was "in protest against a lack of action on my recommendations aimed at protecting the public, and the tendency of Congress to oppose price control."

"I wanted something definite done and the program has just laid there," he declared, explaining that his recommendations had gone to various division heads as well as James F. Brownlee, deputy administrator in charge of price.

Willson's wife, the former Miss Virginia Lambert, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Willson, all reside at Spring Canyon ranch, Handley, Tex.

Before entering Marine aviation in September, 1942, the Texan was art instructor at Texas Wesleyan college, Fort Worth.

Manufacturers Deny Political Spending

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP) — The National Association of Manufacturers informed the House campaign expenses committee today it has not solicited, received or contributed any money to further a candidate in either the primary or general election in this presidential year.

President Robert M. Gaylord made the statement in response to testimony by Sidney Hillman of the CIO political action committee that the NAM is "overripe for inquiry."

Congress Plans Brief Holiday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Congress cleaned up odds and ends today for a brief Labor day holiday, after clearing major issues of the summer session into compromise-seeking conference committees.

The House, in a burst of speed, passed the war demobilization and reconversion bill late yesterday by a shouted vote, immediately appointed conferees to meet with Senators in an effort to find common ground between two diverse measures.

The bill's twin, surplus property disposal, is being threshed out in a similar joint committee.

House Refractory

The House reconversion bill sets up machinery to unwind the nation's gigantic war effort but it differs widely from the Senate proposal. The House knocked out federal plans to retrain war workers for other jobs, return the migratory employes to their homes at government expense and put 3,500,000 federal employes under unemployment compensation protection. A small bloc in the House sought to have these provisions revived, along with a guaranteed $25 a week in unemployment compensation for 52 weeks but was overridden by a vote of 188 to 54.

On one major point both branches agree — unemployment compensation war workers should remain in the hands of the states.

House and Senate had only routine tasks today, arranging to adjourn over the holiday until Tuesday.

White House advisor Bernard Baruch, asserting in a statement that unemployment compensation is "must legislation," said the House bill "seems certainly inadequate."

"The most important determining factor," his statement declared, "is the cost of living as it varies in the different states. The purchasing power of unemployment compensation should be the primary concern.

"It would be obviously advantageous to the whole economy to have unemployment compensation cover as many groups as equity would permit. Legislation certainly should guard against encouraging idleness of causing hardships."

Today Is Battle Of Sedan Anniversary

(By The Associated Press)

Sedan, a town of 17,000 population just north of the Meuse in northern France, is one of the most famous battlefields of military history.

It was there that the French armies in the war of 1870 were so completely destroyed by the Germans that the command had to agree to an unconditional surrender. The Germans captured 82,000 prisoners. France was defeated. The date was Sept. 1, exactly 74 years ago.

first outward indication that he might take more than a passing interest in this issue at the Dallas convention.

Long Range View Cited

"The elector situation is but an episode in history and it is necessary to take the long range point of view in the interest of equity," he said.

The problem before a peacemaker is a tough one. Some of the electors named at the May 23 convention have announced publicly they will follow the instructions of that convention and vote, if elected, in the electoral college for some Democrat other than President Roosevelt. Pro-Roosevelt interests have attempted to line up sufficient votes at the September convention to replace these electors or bind them to support the party's national nominee. This group takes the position that the September convention can overthrow any action of the May convention.

If a peace plan has been proposed its details have not been announced.

"COMMITTEE FOR DEMO NOMINEES" FORMED

HOUSTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Declaring that "an aroused Texas Democracy should take control of the September convention," repeal the May convention's instructions given electors to vote against the national nominees and insure a slate of Democratic electors pledged to Roosevelt and Truman, a group of Houston citizens today announced formation of a "committee for Democratic nominees."

The committee issued a statement urging that "all real Democrats join us in our fight for fair play and party integrity and to impress on every loyal Democratic delegate the necessity of going to the Dallas convention."

"We submit that Democratic electors should vote for Democratic nominees and Republican electors should vote for Republican nominees," the committee stated. "We submit that the Democrats who desire to vote for President Roosevelt and Senator Truman should not have to form a new party for that purpose; that anti-Roosevelt extremists have no right to seize the machinery of the Democratic party, block off the main highway and tell real Democrats that they must use a rough and dusty detour.

"We recognize the right of all Texans to vote as they please. We simply demand that those who desire to vote against President Roosevelt either form a new party themselves or vote the Republican ticket. They must not, they shall not, violate Texas traditions of more than a hundred years and deliver the state into the hands of the Republican party by indirection."

Robert F. Peden and John O. Douglas, attorneys, are co-chairman of the committee.

Members include former Gov. James V. Allred and George W. Cottingham, editor of the Houston Chronicle.

Harper had been a resident here since 1916.

and units may expect later to proceed to the Pacific after an interval at home. But the shrinking over-all combat manpower requirements will permit the Army to commence discharging troops after victory in Europe. Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said recently that this plan would be ready for announcement soon. Meanwhile Army sources will not discuss the plan.

It will be based, however, on a point grading system. Soldiers will be allowed points for dependents, age, length of service, combat assignments, overseas duties, decorations and wounds. Release will be in order of the largest number of points. The over-all reduction is expected to range from 1,000,000 upwards.

Subject To Modification

This plan will be subject to possibility modification by Congress, where there is some sentiment favoring discharge of fathers first, and also persons with certain skills.

Any such plan will be complicated to administer. For one thing it will tear apart some of the most experienced combat units, and experience is a prime battle asset. So discharges from organizations which continue fighting must be controlled so as not to affect fighting efficiency. The process of replacing those discharged would be similar to replacement of casualties, though often the process would be more abrupt unless regulated.

Troops will be given a chance to choose service with the occupation forces. It is anticipated the latter may be made up entirely of those who wish to remain. This option will increase the chances of those who want to be discharged.

The Army has given no indication of the size of the occupation forces to remain. It is accepted that the Allies will occupy all of Germany. Thus the Americans probably will be called upon to provide a much larger occupation force than in the last war.

Then the Americans were first asked to provide 15 divisions. The Third army of occupation which once reached that strength tapered off rapidly in 1919 and finally dwindled to a token force. The last Americans started for home four years after the armistice.

If Britain, Russia and the United States share the occupation task, each probably will need at least one sizeable army of a number of divisions, plus air forces and organization troops. The army of occupation throughout will continue a well balanced combat force. At the outset there may be a disproportionately large number of service and supply troops, pending the organization of civilian relief agencies. The Army will turn relief work over to these as rapidly as possible.

Large Force To Remain

The Americans probably will be called upon to hold several hundred thousand troops in Europe for some time.

After the last war movement of troops homeward in the peak months slightly exceeded the earlier movement overseas. By the end of June, 1919, seven months after the war, about three quarters of the total expeditionary force of 2,000,000 has returned home.

A comparison with this war is difficult because there are so many variables. After Nov. 11, 1918, all available American transport was devoted to repatriation. In this war, first call for transport will be to accelerate the war in the Pacific over longer lines of communication. American tonnage is much greater. But so are the forces in Europe and Africa, probably nearly double the first A.E.F. These troops have been moving overseas since January, 1942. So it will take many months to get them home or to the Pacific.

Although the over-all size of the Army—now 1,700,000 — will shrink after European victory, selective service will continue to induct 18 year olds, thereby increasing the chances of discharge for those with long service. So far as indicated, WAC enlistments also will continue.

World Food And Agriculture Agency Has No Magic Formula

BY OVID MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. — The proposed international food and agriculture organization offers the world no magic formula for easing mankind's struggle for food and clothing.

No group is more aware of this than its author — the interim commission of the United Nations food conference which met at Hot Springs, Va., last year. The conference directed the commission to draft plans for a post-war world food agency to help all nations eliminate hunger within their borders and to improve conditions for farmers.

Outline Announced

The outline of such an agency has been announced by the commission. Reactions to the agency were mixed. Some persons hailed it as an instrument for blotting out hunger. Others expressed keen disappointment because the organization was given no powers whatsoever to protect farm prices.

These conflicting reactions reflect largely deep-seated differences of viewpoint as to the character of post-war food and agricultural problems. These differences might be tagged roughly consumer and producer viewpoints.

In simple words — consumers want plenty of food at cheap prices. Farmers, on the other hand, want to produce abundantly, but only at remunerative prices.

Consumers Want Expansion

Broadly speaking, the consumer viewpoint of the future food problem is this: World food production must be expanded sharply if all persons are to have enough to assure them health-sustaining diets. In other words, the task ahead is one of pushing production to levels never before reached.

The producer retorts: What you say is true, but what about prices and markets for expanded production? In the past, farmers have often been confronted with unmarketable surpluses and ruinously low prices. We fear the return of surpluses and low prices after military demands of the war disappear.

The consumer viewpoint sees the job of the international agency largely that of promoting increased production.

The producer viewpoint sees the task as largely one of stabilizing world markets and prices.

Must Represent Both

The world agency must represent both viewpoints and it must reconcile its seemingly dual responsibility.

As has been pointed out, the world agency, as proposed by the commission, would be an advisory organization only. Its job will be to show the world how to increase food production to limits required while at the same time outlining ways and means of assuring producers just returns.

The physical task of increasing production is the lesser part of the food organization's task. Science and technology will provide the answer here. The food agency's responsibility will be that of advising various nations to apply these twin aides.

The bigger part of the job will be outside the scope of the food organization. Before agriculture can produce abundantly, consumers must have the money to buy its products. Money means jobs. A well-fed world must of necessity be a well-employed world.

Thus the formula for freeing the world from hunger must include not only prescriptions for increasing food production, but recipes for putting millions to work.

Use of the beam scale for weighing was known to Egyptians in 5,000 B. C.

Techsans To Build 'From Ground Up'; Schedule Tough

The Texas Tech Red Raiders took to the field today at Tech stadium to whip themselves into shape for one of the toughest football schedules in the Southwest, and faced with the task of rebuilding from the ground up on the team to carry the school colors into the grid wars.

Coach Delicate Dell Morgan won't know until sometime today just what he will have to make into a football team that will face such gridiron greats as Texas A. & M., Oklahoma A. & M., Tulsa, Texas Christian, Southern Methodist, Rice, New Mexico, Southwestern university, West Texas State Teachers and both local Air Bases during the coming season.

Don Dudley Arrives

The arrival Thursday afternoon of Don Dudley, star wingman from Wichita Falls, boosted the Tech lettermen to three that will answer the call this season. Dudley is awaiting call from his draft board, but will remain in school until that call comes.

T. M. Cox, a blocking back, and Bobby Hayes, a guard, are the other lettermen expected back this year. Ed Robertson and Don Grove, a pair of tackles, are the returning squadmen. Jack "Spider" Dillon, who won a freshman letter in 1942, and since discharged from the Marines, will be back.

Schoolboy Material Promising

This is the Tech "experience" that will be the nucleus for the club this season. But some highly promising high school stars will fill out the squad with which Coaches Morgan and Polk Robison will build the team.

Morgan said Thursday night that he expected 54 men to check out uniforms today, with about 18 more to come out Monday. At full strength, Morgan expects about 75 or 80 men to be battling for places on the club. These men will come from the ranks of senior classes in high schools of last season, and offer some promising material.

Three Teams Hot On Heels Of Leaders

Tigers Trim Lead Of Browns With 4-3 Victory By Trout

(By The Associated Press)

Detroit won the American league "August" pennant by roaring through 27 games with 19 victories at a fancy .704 pace and today had the St. Louis Browns on the run within easy shooting distance of the Tigers, Yankees and Red Sox.

One over-sized horse blanket would cover the four contenders, all grouped within 3½ games of the Brownies, but New York rested in second spot at the moment, only two lengths back.

Steve O'Neill's Bengals were a game back of the Yanks.

Tigers Show Superiority

During the past month the Tigers showed wide superiority over the field although they spent most of August in the east and were tied with Chicago for fifth Aug. 1. The Yanks gained ground by taking 19 and losing 13 since July 31. Boston just stuck above water with 16 of 31 and the Browns sunk below .500 with a 13-14 August record.

Last night Dizzy Trout stepped in to grab a 4-3 verdict over St. Louis in the opener of an important four-game set and helped win his own game with a ninth-inning single. Trout later was forced at second but the man who forced him, Doc Cramer, scored the big run on Pinky Higgins' single after an infield out. The veteran Willis Hudlin, brought up from Little Rock, was the loser, relieving Sig Jakucki.

Yanks Grab Pair

While the Tigers and Browns prepared for their night game, the Yanks grabbed a pair from Washington, 9-4 and 4-3 behind Rookies Walt "Monk" Dubiel and Mel Queen to pick up a game and a half. Johnny Lindell's triple unloading the sacks ruined Mickey Haefner in the opener and Frank Crosetti's ninth inning homer with two out downed Alex Carrasquel in the finale.

No other American leaguers were scheduled and the entire National loop enjoyed an open date.

DIMAGGIO BACK HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, Spet. 1 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, the former New York Yankee outfielder, was back home in San Francisco today on what he called "Army business" after two months in Hawaii. DiMaggio declined to discuss his reported illness while with the Seventh Army Air force, but said he would not ask for a medical discharge. He said he was in top condition.

Engines for more than 6000 heavy bombers, totaling nearly 30 million horsepower, were produced by a single automotive concern during 1943.

Uniforms Issued At High School; About 100 Out

Uniforms were issued today, and working out started as the Lubbock Westerners opened the 1944 football season with about 100 turning out to battle for places on the Westerner and two Cowhand elevens. Another workout will be held Saturday, but teams will resume the regular schoolday schedule starting Monday.

Boys Invited Out

Coach J. Mule Davis extended an invitation to all boys in senior high school who wanted to play football to be on hand this morning. Cowhand gridmen will start along with the Westerners, but junior high elevens will not start workouts before Monday.

Davis will have charge of the Westerners workouts, assisted by Dixie White. The Cowhands will be worked out jointly for a few days, then will be divided into Black and Gold squad and turned over to Coaches Marlin R. "Shorty" Hayhurst and George Philbrick.

The Westerners will start the season's grind in District 1-AA with seven lettermen returning for this season. Backing up these lettermen are 15 squadmen off last season's Westerner eleven and many promising candidates from the Cowhands of last year.

Expect Better Team

At this time last year, the Westerners boasted of two lettermen and seven squadmen. This fact has given rise to hopes of Lubbock fans that the Westerners will present a much stronger ball club than last season, but very few have bolstered hopes for any championship ball club when the flag race gets underway.

The lettermen offer the nucleus of a ball club, but will find two men playing new positions this season from those at which they won letters last year.

Johnny Davis and R. W. Moyers will be back in the backfield this season. Billy Bob Harris, another backfield letterman, will be found at end this year. Clinton Benefield, letterman guard, will be at the other wing post. Charles Pressley at center, Johnny Pearson at guard and O. C. Foster at tackle are the other lettermen.

Hemphill-Wells Wins Second Half Title

On the strength of Bob Galey's good right arm and potent willow, the Hemphill-Wells Cats won the second half championship in the junior baseball National league by beating Bill Dean's Service, 6-2, in the playoff game Thursday afternoon at Chapman field.

The same two teams meet again Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the same field for the league championship. Dean's won the first half.

Galey pitched a two-hit ball game against the Deanmen, and was never in any real danger. He batter in five of the six runs scored by his mates as he combed a double and a triple off the delivery of Woods, the Dean's ace.

Woods hurled a great ball game, limiting the Cats to five hits, but the two hits by Galey proved too great a blow. Galey's double in the first inning scored two runs, and his triple in the fourth scored three more.

Camp Bowie Gridders Call Off LAAF Tilt

The football game between LAAF and Camp Bowie has been cancelled, it was announced Thursday by the LAAF Physical Training department. This game was to have been played Oct. 28 but circumstances have arisen at Camp Bowie that necessitate calling off the game.

Efforts are being made to arrange another game on that date, it was reported at LAAF.

Horned Frogs To Be Shorf Of Experience, But Big And Tough

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

FORT WORTH, Sept. 1. — They're not overly supplied with experience byt they're big, rough and tough—the kind of footballers Dutch Meyer likes to work with—and you can expect to hear from Texas Christian's Horned Frogs in the Southwest conference race.

This is not predicting championship doings for the boys in purple but it's a forecast of some rugged old ball games for opponents of the resurging Frogs, especially along the October and November gridiron trail.

Only five lettermen return from the 1943 team but the 1943 Frogs were very weak. Coach Meyer had just as soon forget about them—especially the T. C. U. team that played the last half of the campaign when naval V-12 transfers had swept away most of the squad and he had to appeal to the student body for enough men to finish the schedule.

Gets North Side Star

Yesterday he got the fellow he figures will round out the kind of squad he was aiming at. This youngster is Johnnie Sherrod, who was an outstanding star with North Side (Fort Worth) High school last fall and had the college scouts running around in circles with a great passing exhibition in the all-star game of the Texas high school coaching school at Wichita Falls this summer.

Meyer has three letterman back at end but the starters will be Harry Mullins, 180-pound Fort Worth Tech High school boy, and Merele Gibson, who played a couple of years of junior college football at Independence, Kansas.

All-conference Clyde Flowers and Albert Cragwell, a big fellow from Stephenville high, are the tackles.

At guards will be N. B. Thomas, a 1943 letterman, and Albin Holdke, who played at North Texas Agricultural college last season.

Center is Bryan Taylor, a rugged 210-pound Corpus Christi High school product.

Has Rice Letterman

Joe Kucera, who lettered at Rice last year, has been the top contender for the quarterback or tailback slot but Sherrod now has edged into the picture along with a couple of promising high schoolers—Scott Rainey of Fort Worth Tech and Jim Busby of Corpus Christi.

Meyer is high on Norman Cox, a 195-pounder from Grandfalls High school who has stepped into the fullback slot in a way that leaves Flowers to his tackle job. The TCU halfbacks will be two Dallas schoolboys—Jesse Mason and Bob Ruff of Woodrow Wilson.

"We'll be 100 per cent better with out running game and we'll be doing well with our passing because we will have better receiving," the Frog mentor said. "Jim Lucas last season was an excellent passer but the boys just couldn't catch his throws."

Yes, Meyer is feeling very good these days; he has the kind of boys he knows will play football, and quoth the chunky mentor of the Horned Frogs:

"We're going to be tough to handle every Saturday."

Tennis Doubles And Singles Titles May Leave United States

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 1 (AP)—The good neighbor movement in tennis isn't receiving much encouragement from the current contenders for the national titles, but Mexico's delegation still hopes that "the best thing that ever happened for tennis in Latin America" will take place.

That would be a victory for Ecuador's Pancho Segura, the top-seeded player, in the singles championship and for the Mexican brother team of Armando and Rolando Vega in the doubles. If that should happen, it would be the first time both titles left the United States in one year.

Wreathed in smiles after the Vegas pulled out a hard second-round match against Lt. Victor Seixas and Pfc. David Freeman yesterday, Carlos Tscalona, president of the Mexican Tennis association, said that a few more such triumphs would provide just the kind of encouragement Mexico's players need.

"We have about 15,000 tennis players in Mexico City," Escalona explained, "and a stadium that seats 5,000 spectators."

Segura was troubled only by a slow start yesterday as he whipped Freeman, 8-6, 6-1, to enter the quarter final round. Today he's slated to meet Major A. H. (Zan) Carver, an Army flier who recently returned from 11 months of overseas duty.

The PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says the easier a man's job is, the more time he has to get disgusted with it.

Those Japs who, in 1941, were going to "dictate the peace terms in the White House" will eventually have them rammed down their throats — in the doghouse!

THE guy's a bear for punishment. In fact, the government ought to give him a Congressional Medal of Honor, the Distinguished Flying Cross or, at the very least, the Purple Heart. He's earned it.

We're referring, of course, to Clarence Bestwick who, for purely patriotic and civic reasons, has gone back in as manager of the Lubbock county rationing office due to the resignation of Frank Ford.

Mr. Bestwick, as most people will remember, accomplished the impossible by increasing public respect, confidence, admiration and good will for himself while holding the double-tough job of No. 1 "No Man" prior to his resignation several months ago and Mr. Ford's appointment. A business man, he operated the rationing office in business-like fashion. He was courteous, helpful whenever legally possible, and applied commonsense to the OPA rule book. He never got tough unless some unreasonable person pushed him into it and when that happened, he got just as tough as necessary to handle the situation.

In short, he was "just what the doctor ordered."

Now Mr. Bestwick is back at the job until such time as County Ration Board Chairman Roy Furr and his aides can find a satisfactory, permanent successor to Mr. Ford, who has gone to the Federal Land bank office here as successor to the late R. S. Rodgers, sr.

Roy Furr certainly hit the jackpot — as well as proved his persuasive powers—when he got Mr. Bestwick to fill in.

Mr. Bestwick cannot possibly give more time to this essential public job without making a personal sacrifice, as he previously did. The truth is, Mr. Bestwick is a good business man, can make more money for himself with his left hand than he can running the rationing office with both hands and feet.

As one who hasn't asked for an extra pint of gasoline; a tire, or a tube, or anything else — and who has always been operating an automobile on a lesser ration than the regulations permit, The Plainsman can, without embarrassment, hail Mr. Bestwick's return to office—along with 99.44 per cent of the people who have had occasion to view his public service.

SINCE Lubbock isn't noted as a city of either careful or expert automobile drivers, it is in order, we think, to point out that school starts Monday and there'll be more kids on the streets at certain times than there have been since school closed up for the summer.

The responsibility of maintaining a high safety record in the matter of school children rests squarely on the shoulders of the motorists of Lubbock.

The City of Lubbock blandly overlooks maintaining any sort of a traffic law enforcement. Drivers are permitted to do just as they darn please and are invited to "get by with everything they can," because there's nobody around to pinch 'em if they violate speed and other traffic regulations.

Therefore, the individual driver must discipline himself — which he will do, of course, if he wishes to dodge trouble and the terrible worry which must follow any accident involving his automobile and a child.

So let's all of us drivers start being extra careful beginning Monday.

Let's remember, especially, that school children in their exuberance, often forget traffic dangers, and aren't supposed to think as clearly as adults.

In short, let's face our responsibilities in this regard — and live up to them.

Nazi prisoners of war in California concentration camps object to working extra hours.

Probably on the theory that when in the U. S., do as the Americans do!

That man on Avenue Q says be true to your teeth and they won't be false to you.

LIKE almost everyone else who has followed the case at all closely, The Plainsman was very much surprised over the death penalty's being assessed Jim Thomas by a Hale county jury which heard Thomas tried for the murder of Dr. Roy E. Hunt in Littlefield last October 26.

We figured Thomas would draw a 25 or 50 years penitentiary sentence should the jury find him guilty. But we did not anticipate a death sentence simply because no witness in the case testified as having seen Thomas at the actual scene of the brutal and mysterious killings of Dr. Hunt and his wife.

R. C. Hankins, Avalanche-Journal staffer who has had charge of this newspaper's coverage of the Hunt murder cases ever since Dr. and Mrs. Hunt were found dead in their bed, likewise was surprised at the assessment of the death penalty.

He covered the trial for Avalanche - Journal papers, and he says he actually expected a "hung jury," due to the fact that the evidence against Thomas was purely circumstantial.

THE Plainsman cannot sit as judge and jury in the Thomas case—or any other, for that matter. Nor do we imply any criticism of either the court or the jury in this discussion. They heard the testimony. They were on the ground. We neither heard the testimony, nor were we on the ground. Furthermore, the record Jim Thomas has as a convicted perpetrator of crimes of violence does not entitle him to the sympathetic consideration of anyone opposed to crime and acts of violence.

However, and purely as speculation on a case of public interest, we'll guess here and now that:

(1) The Plainview verdict will be reversed and another trial of Thomas ordered, or:

(2) That even if the conviction is confirmed by the state Court of Criminal Appeals, the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles will recommend that the sentence be commuted to life imprisonment.

The bases of our guesses are these:

In the first instance, Thomas' defense attorneys have a good chance to claim successfully that the trial was not moved sufficiently far from Lamb county, scene of the murders, to assure the defendant of a fair trial;

In the second instance, few are the times when the death penalty is carried out when conviction is based entirely upon circumstantial evidence.

We reach these conclusions entirely apart from consideration of whether or not preponderance of opinion is that Thomas perpetrated the twin killings. The conclusions are based entirely upon our observation of Texas court proceedings.

ASSUMING that the Thomas jury reached the correct verdict when it voted "guilty" — and that is the only assumption which can be made under the American system of jurisprudence—its voting of the death penalty was likewise correct.

Yet it is a matter of common agreement in this section that the whole story of the Hunt murders has not been brought to the surface, either by investigating officers, or by the state's prosecutors.

Thomas' defense counsel, by "playing possum" and offering no witnesses in the defendant's behalf, didn't do Thomas any good at Plainview, nor did it evidence any interest in aiding solution of the mystery while attempting to prove that Thomas is not guilty as charged.

Even if it can be shown, beyond any doubt whatsoever, that Jim Thomas killed Doctor and Mrs. Hunt, but no reason for the acts is proven, the people of West Texas will not be satisfied.

Therefore, investigating officers must not consider the Hunt murders as "a closed case." Instead, they must continue their probing as far into the future as is necessary to ferret out all of the underlying facts and reasons involved.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT

(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

SERVICE wives, sitting at home alone and without much money to spend, sometimes speak bitterly of the "lucky" women, whose husbands are still with them, particularly those whose men are drawing down fat pay checks in war plants.

MILLETT

But those "lucky" women have their troubles, too. Over and over again they write of the troubles that have come into their lives along with their husbands' big pay. A typical letter came today from a woman who says she has been married 13 years, and in that time had built up a fine companionship with her husband. Always in the past she accompanied him on fishing trips, etc., and they had good times together.

Now the husband is earning a lot of money in a war plant. But he isn't saving it or spending it on his family. He is throwing it away on the young girls who work along beside him in the plant, and who, because there aren't many young men around, are using their flattery and their come-on on any family man with enough money in his pockets to show them a good time.

STICK TO JOBS

THIS wife says: "All the parties are stag affairs now. At least no wives are invited. A man who wanted to take his wife with him on a party would be considered a freak."

The most pitiful thing about those letters is the fact that there is nothing much to tell wives, that will help them. They are doing what they know they must do—sticking to the job of running their children, trying not to let their bitterness and indignation drive them into the divorce courts, and telling themselves their husbands have been hit by wartime restlessness and may get over it in time.

But how they would laugh if they could hear themselves called "lucky" women, or "women that the war hasn't touched."

Group studies indicate that a book purchased by one individual is used at least five times.

Today's Journal Editorial

SYSTEMATIC PAPER-SAVING

As in almost everything else worthwhile, Lubbock's record in waste paper pickups has been outstanding. Four pickups have netted around 400,000 pounds of the material that is described as the war's No. 1 salvage need of the present.

The fifth pickup has been set for Sept. 17. This date still is more than two weeks away. But now is the time for the start which will determine the degree of the success of that effort. If the potential maximum of waste paper is to be collected then, people must start saving at once.

As a matter of fact, great numbers of people are saving their waste paper systematically, and have been since provision was made for the collection of this material. System is necessary to be sure of having a maximum quantity of paper when pickup time comes around.

Various people naturally have various systems. One we learned about the other day was that employed by a prominent Lubbock business man. As in the case of most people, he has his favorite chair at home. But he has given up that chair for the duration of the waste paper needs. It has become the "waste paper chair," and is assigned a conspicuous place in the family living room. Paper is placed on it as it accumulates. The chair has overflowed with paper for each of the last two pickups. It will be overflowing again before Sept. 17.

Other saving methods doubtless are just as effective as this one. But it seems to be the experience of most people that they will save more paper if there is something to keep them reminded of the needs.

Actually, no one should require urging to do all they can in drives of this kind. The war need should be enough to obtain fullest cooperation. If it isn't enough, then the selfish realization that continued supplies of many paper products—such as paper sacks—will depend upon waste paper, should be.

No one can be in any doubt that the Sept. 17 pickup here will be another success. But it will be an even bigger success if everyone not already started will begin saving for it without further delay.

Generalissimo Chiang Writes To FDR

Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—It has now been exactly one year since Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt met in Quebec and announced what was considered one of the major campaigns of the entire war—the drive to retake Burma and penetrate through China to Japan.

During that year absolutely no progress has been made. This fact, coupled with the fact that other drives against Japan (under U. S. command) are far ahead of schedule, has caused high officials to review Far Eastern strategy.

It was expected that the campaign under Lord Louis Mountbatten based on India would be synchronized so that it would gain certain objectives while the American drive in the Pacific made equal progress. They were to go hand in hand, converging on Japan at about the same time.

PEARSON

However, one Allied blow is now going to hit Japan early and the other blow is late—so late it may never hit at all.

U. S. experts who have studied the Far Eastern situation make no secret of the fact that conditions in India is one of the big factors holding up the Burma campaign. In this connection, they have had occasion to study a hitherto-unpublished letter which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek wrote to President Roosevelt regarding India

The letter was handed to Sumner Welles, the Undersecretary of State, on July 28, 1942, by Chinese Foreign Minister T. V. Soong; handed to the President by Welles on July 29. In it, Chiang gave Roosevelt some homely Chinese advice for the British, saying: "Good medicine, though bitter, cures one's illness; word of sincere advice, though unpleasant, should guide one's conduct."

He advised the British to "magnanimously accept my words of disinterested advice, however unpleasant they may be." Chiang advised the British to let the Indian people become a free part of the United Nations, urged President Roosevelt to lead the way.

In handing the letter to Sumner Welles, Chiang's brother-in-law, T. V. Soong, told Welles orally that the people of all Asia regarded India as a test case in gauging the sincerity of the United Nations.

PORTIONS OF LETTER

THE essential portions of Chiang Kai-shek's letter to President Roosevelt follow:

"For a long time the Indian people have been expecting the United States to come out and take a stand on the side of justice and equality. I therefore venture to lay before you my personal views on this question.

"From the point of view of the Indian people, their consistent purpose is to secure national freedom. With this object in view, the Indian National Congress, in seeking national independence, is dominated by sentiment rather than by reason. Consequently, I believe attempts at repression in the form of either public censure or force, whether military or police, with a view toward compelling the Indian people to capitulate, will have the opposite result.

"The Indian people as a whole only desire freedom for their country, and their only expectation is that the United Nations will sympathize with them in their aspiration.

"For the sake of our common victory, the United Nations must seek to stabilize the Indian situation and to secure the Indian people's participation in the joint war effort.

"The United Nations depend upon India to contribute to the war effort, whereas the Indian people have little to depend upon from the outside world. From their own point of view, their movement for independence is not something new that has come into existence after the outbreak of war. Once, they abandon hope of an amicable settlement, they are liable to take any risk without hesitation.

SPUR TO PEOPLE

"THE only way is for the United Nations, and especially the United States, which they have always admired, to come forth as third parties and to offer them sympathy and consolation. This will help them regain their sense of proportion and strengthen their faith that there is justice in the world. Once the situation is eased, it can be stabilized and the Indian people, grateful to the United Nations for what they have done, will willingly participate in the war. Otherwise the Indian people, in despair, will have the same feeling towards other members of the United Nations as they have towards Britain and, when this comes to pass, it will be the world's greatest tragedy, in which Britain is not the only loser.

"It is my opinion that, in order to uphold the British Empire's prestige and safeguard her real interests, the British should unhesitatingly show extraordinary courage, forbearance, far-sightedness and resolution by removing the causes which aggravate the situation. In this way the deceptive Axis propagandists will have no occasion to take advantage of those causes.

EFFECT ON WAR

SHOULD, however, the situation be allowed to drift until an anti-British movement breaks out in India, any attempt on the part of the British to cope with the crisis by enforcing existing colonial laws will only help spread disturbances and turmoil. The greater the oppression, the greater the reaction. Even if such measures should prove effective in curbing the movement, the spiritual loss and blow to the United Nations will far exceed that resulting from any reverse in the field.

"I earnestly hope that the United States will advise Britain and India, in the name of justice and righteousness, to seek a reasonable and satisfactory solution, for this affects vitally the welfare of mankind and has a direct bearing on the good faith and good name of the United Nations. The United States, as the acknowledged leader of democracy, has a natural and vital role to play in bringing about a successful solution of the problem.

"The war aims of the United Nations and our common interests make it impossible for me to remain silent. An ancient Chinese proverb says: 'Good medicine, though bitter, cures one's illness; word of sincere advice, though unpleasant, should guide one's conduct.' I sincerely hope that Britain will magnanimously and resolutely accept my words of disinterested advice, however unpleasant they may be, and believe that they are voiced in the common interests of the United Nations.

"Chiang Kai-shek."

MORE than 700 field movie "theatres" have already been set up in France, outside the cities; at least 550 shows are grinding every night, some all night. The muddy and weary GI's crowd the tents and stables and barns when word flashes that there is a "show" on. They whistle and shout and applaud; every pretty girl is greeted with wolf-howls as she flashes on . . . In one of these emergency "theatres," the picture was "Andy Hardy's Blonde Troubles." As Bonita Granville hit the screen, a private from Brooklyn leaped up and shouted: "Oy—by ME should be such troubles!"

A bloodless brawl in the heart of the rum and rumba sector, at the door of one of the class clubs, involved some interesting names: Lois De Fee, the Eiffel eyeful; Cmdr. Antonovic, of the Yugoslavian Merchant Marine; Lt. Louis Vargas, flight surgeon in the air forces of Brazil and son of its President. Lois had been seen steadily with Vargas. But she was coming out of the bistro with the Yugoslav—when they ran into the Brazilian—who was with a beautiful showgirl. The gesticulating was something monumental—but Lois, who could probably lick both warriors, put her 6-foot-3 between them and averted an incident which, who knows, might have been referred to Dumbarton Oaks.

Joan Edwards and Luba Malina have worked up a routine for camp and canteen shows, a take-off on the Cherry Sisters—and they'll supply their own fruit and vegetables . . . Musicians' Union Emperor Caesar Petrillo has issued another decree—the bandleaders must call off their convention, or else! . . . No "holiday" on mailing liquor to any servicemen, in or out of the country, for Christmas . . . Vaughn Monroe, on the Paramount stage, will play opposition to himself when his first film, "Meet the People," goes into Loew's State, across the street.

My advice to all who are ambitious to write songs is that they start an organization; through inexpensive ads in national media they could quickly find each other. Then they could subsidize an agent for the time it would take him to begin to make sales. There's no such animal, but they could make one. He, in time, could crash those locked doors. They could also get in on or start a sustaining radio program on which only unpublished songs would be heard; the publishers would listen in, and if they smelled merit in a number they would come after it hotfoot.

That is the only suggestion I can offer an unorganized body of men and women with artistic labor-pains who, I have found, are legion.

BILL BENDIX, rugged roughneck who reaches stardom in "Abroad with Two Yanks," is the latest pin-up for the bobby-soxers . . . But he is only a stand-in for Lt. Col. Tex McCrary, who is in Normandy . . . Martha O'Driscoll has been "warned" by her numerologist to drop the O; but she has been warned by her studio that numbers count only on dice—and no dice . . . But Claire Luce (the actress, not the genius) goes in for palmistry. When she told Diana, the palmist at 1-2-3, that her next play will be "Strafford on Avon," the seeress studied her hand again and said: "Undoubtedly something about Shakespeare!"

Walter Winchell hit it on the button as usual. Hedy Lamarr's husband No. 1, Fritz Mandl, munitions-faker in Argentina, has been slapped into Mr. Hull's official hound-house . . . Parisians Didn't Starve, But Had Much Discomfort, Under Nazis

French Did Not Fare As Badly As Italians

BY ERNIE PYLE

Special Correspondent

PARIS (By Wireless) — Eating has been skimpy in Paris through the four years of German occupation, but reports that people were on the verge of starvation apparently were untrue.

The country people of Normandy all seemed so healthy and well fed that we said all along: "Well, country people always fare best, but just wait till we get to Paris. We'll see real suffering there."

ERNIE PYLE

Of course, the people of Paris have suffered during these four years of darkness. But I don't believe they have suffered as much physically as we had thought.

Certainly, they don't look bedraggled and gaunt and pitiful, as the people of Italy did. In fact they look to me just the way you would expect them to look in normal times.

However, the last three weeks before the liberation really were rough. For the Germans, sensing that their withdrawal was inevitable, began taking everything for themselves.

"Little Things" Missing

There is very little food in Paris right now. The restaurants either are closed or serve only the barest meals—coffee and sandwiches. And the "national coffee," as they call it, is made from barley and is about the vilest stuff you ever tasted. France has had nothing else for four years.

If you were to take a poll on what the average Parisian most wants in the way of little things, you would probably find that he wants real coffee, soap, gasoline and cigarets.

EATING is the biggest problem right now for us correspondents. The Army hasn't yet set up a mess. We can't even get our rations cooked in our hotel kitchens, on account of the gas shortage.

So we just eat cold K-rations and 10-in-1 rations in our rooms. For two days most of us were so busy we didn't eat at all, and on the morning after the liberation of Paris some of the correspondents were actually so weak from not eating that they could hardly navigate.

But the food situation should be relieved within a few days. The Army is bringing in 3,000 tons of food right away for the Parisians. That is only about two pounds per person, but it will help.

In little towns only 10 miles from Paris you can get eggs and wonderful dinners of meat and noodles. Food does exist, and now that transportation is open again Paris should be eating soon.

Few Automobiles Running

Autos were almost nonexistent on the streets of Paris when we arrived. That first day we met an English girl who had been here throughout the war, and we drove her for some distance in our jeep. She was as excited as a child, and said that was her first ride in a motorcar in four years. We told her that it wasn't a motorcar, that it was a jeep, but she said it was a motorcar to her.

Outside of war vehicles, a few French civilian cars were running when we arrived, but they were all in official use in the fighting. All of these had "FFI" (French Forces of the Interior painted in rough white letters on the fenders, tops and sides.

ALTHOUGH it appears that the Germans did conduct themselves fairly properly up until the last few weeks, the French really detest them. One woman told me that for the first three weeks of the occupation the Germans were fine, but that then they turned arrogant. The people of Paris simply tolerated them and nothing more.

The Germans did perpetrate medieval barbarities against leaders of the resistance movement as their plight became more and more desperate. But what I'm driving at is that the bulk of the population of Paris — the average guy who just gets along no matter who is here — didn't really fare too badly from day to day. It was just the things they heard about, and the fact of being under a ruthless and arrogant thumb, that created the smoldering hatred for the Germans in the average Parisian's heart.

Detest Of Germans Shown

You can get an idea how they feel from a little incident that occurred the first night we were here.

We put up at a little family sort of hotel in Montparnasse. The landlady took us up to show us our rooms. A cute little French maid came along with her.

As we were looking around the room the landlady opened a wardrobe door, and there on a shelf lay a German soldier's cap that he had forgotten to take.

The landlady picked it up with the tips of her fingers, held it out at arm's length, made a face, and dropped it on a chair.

Whereupon the little maid reached up with her pretty foot and gave it a huge kick that sent it sailing across the room.

Rommel Reported In Plot To Kill Hitler

LONDON, Sept. 1. (U.P.) — The London Evening Standard said in a Paris dispatch today that German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, Marshal Albert Kesselring, German commander in Italy, and Gen. Ernst von Stuelpnagel, former commander in Paris, were involved in the abortive plot to kill Adolf Hitler and that Stuelpnagel committed suicide when the attempt failed.

The dispatch was from the Standard's correspondent, Philip Grune, who said his informant was a French underground worker closely connected with German administrative circles in Paris.

Stuelpnagel, the informant said, drove to Verdun and shot himself in the head when he learned of the plot's failure.

Damage Studied In Ploesti Oil Field

MOSCOW, Sept. 1. (U.P)—Russian and Romanian salvage experts today were assessing the damage done to the Ploesti oil fields by torch-bearing Germans before they fled southward with the Soviet forces in close pursuit.

Red army soldiers worked with Romanian engineers and civilians in extinguishing the fires started by the Nazi arsonists, the Red Star correspondent accompanying the Russian forces reported.

Thick smoke and flames covered dozens of miles around the Ploesti area and many of the Russian troops were forced to travel through "walls of fire," the correspondent said. Front dispatches said that although the Germans had inflicted considerable damage through the area, it was believed that the speed with which the Russians entered Ploesti left them insufficient time to destroy the wells, pipe lines and complicated refinery plants.

Germans Flee Rhone

declared the situation remained "unchanged" on the Riviera, following American occupation of Nice.

In the Alpine regions along the French Italian frontier farther north, however, the Americans entered the village of Condamine.

From the devastated village the Americans pushed along mountain highways and paths and made contact with enemy outposts just northwest of nearby Lagache pass on the Italian frontier, some 55 miles north-northwest of Nice.

With the American Third army armor striking swiftly through the Argonne to get astride the last escape route into Germany, enemy elements withdrawing from the Rhone valley and Lyon had need of every bit of speed they could muster to slip through the closing jaws of the Allied trap.

Nazi Admits Straits

A report from Patch's headquarters quoted the captured Gen. Otto Richter, commander of the Nazi 198th Infantry division, as saying "the 19th army is undertaking to extricate itself from southeast France by any means possible."

Richter, an ardent Nazi, demonstrated how well he was indoctinated with the latest German morale building theme by predicting that at "the westwall defense line the Germans will bring out another secret weapon."

The Seventh army continued to be favored by ideal blitz weather.

INDECISION REFLECTED
NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—The stock market today started the new month with just about as much indecision as it exhibited throughout August and, while scattered postwar specialties continued to attract a certain demand, numerous leaders were unable to shake off small minus impediments.

From the opening on, the ticker tape frequently was at a standstill and volume of around 600,000 shares was another of the smallest for the last several months. Prices were well jumbled near the finish.

In front the greater part of the session were Chicago and North Western preferred, American Cable and Radio, Fransworth Television, Masonite, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Lase, Douglas Aircraft, Homestake Mining and Dome Mines. Utilities, steels, motors, oils and rails were exceptionally narrow.

Bonds were uneven and listless.

official German news agency, then said in a Berlin broadcast today that Bagrianov had announced resignation of his cabinet. He took office June 1.

A dispatch last night from Istanbul gave no hint as to whether the closing order applied only to the Turkish section of Bulgaria's border. The action appeared to imply impending developments within the country.

Only yesterday Moscow strongly rebuked the Sofia government for declaring itself a neutral and then failing to intern German armored forces remaining in Bulgarian territory.

Diplomatic Exchange Barred

One effect of the Turkish-Bulgarian border closing, the Istanbul dispatch said, was to bar for the time being the exchange of Turkish and German diplomats, which had been scheduled for today at the frontier.

An Ankara dispatch said the Turkish foreign office had decided to intern, as of today, the 310 Nazi diplomats and 150 German civilians who were awaiting exchange.

In Moscow it was learned as Romanian and Russian representatives began peace negotiations that Russia, Britain and the United States may join in a declaration concerning Romania's claims to northern Transylvania, annexed in 1940 by Hungary with Hitler's approval.

Yanks Nearing Reich Border

reach Verdun—a pace which left official headquarters communiques lagging many hours behind. But even at that gait he could catch few fleeing Germans.

Reach Belgian Border

On a 70-mile front Americans had stabbed to or across the Belgium border in the vicinity of historic Sedan, reached to within 49 miles of the German frontier at Verdun, and in an eastward thrust through St. Dizier to Commercy had advanced to within 58 miles of Germany's Saar.

They had crossed at a jump the famous Argonne forest and the Meuse where Gen. John J. Pershing's doughboys fought for six bitter weeks in 1918, and driven through or past some of the most important works of the old French Maginot line.

Verdun is only 30 miles from the duchy of Luxembourg and 46 miles from the rail center of Metz.

Commercy is 14 miles from Toul and 26 miles from Nancy, important fortress cities in the border region, and only 10 miles south of St. Mihiel where American troops made history in 1918.

Driving Huge Spike

With Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First U. S. army on the left and Patton's forces on the right the Americans were driving a huge spike into the same vital area where in 1918 Pershing's penetration across lines of escape out of northern France and Belgium forced the November armistice.

Front line dispatches last night told of the drive across the Meuse between Sedan, historic battleground of 1870, 1918 and 1940, and Charleville, and to the outskirts of Sedan itself. Sedan is but five miles from the Belgian border.

Verdun fell yesterday to Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army troops who advanced 65 miles from Reims in less than 24 hours. The swift stab directly through the Argonne forest where American doughboys fought and died in 1918 carried across the Meuse river to the rear of the old Maginot line.

Yanks Plunge Beyond Meuse

Associated Press War Correspondent Edward D. Ball, writing from Verdun, said the Americans plunged on beyond the river Meuse in close pursuit of the Germans who put up only a brief fight for the city.

Another column, advancing from St. Dizier, captured commercy, on the Meuse river 10 miles south of famed St. Mihiel and 28 miles west of Nancy.

Front dispatches last night said U. S. First army forces had penetrated Sedan, five miles from Belgium.

Everywhere the Germans were in full flight for the dubious safety of their homeland fort lines.

Battle Of France Over

"The battle of France is all but over," wrote Associated Press War Correspondent William Smith White, "What is developing now is the beginning of the battle for Germany."

To the west along the coast of France, Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's 21st army group, now in high gear, rolled up the buzz bomb belt at a mile an hour rate and captured General Eberbach—at breakfast—in a final ignominy to the broken German Seventh army he commanded.

The escape gap for the guardians of the flying bomb sites in the Le Havre sector was narrowed to 20 miles by a British plunge to within 20 miles of Abbeville. Through this funnel the Germans were in fast flight for Flanders.

Canadians Near Dieppe

To the south Canadians were north of Rouen within 15 miles of Dieppe. Canadian, Belgian and Dutch troops fought their way 17 miles west of Rouen to within ten miles of Le Havre.

The British were across the Somme river on a 12-mile front at Amiens and had slashed north to Mailly, half way to Arras, in a drive which placed them within 45 miles of Belgium and 65 miles of Dunkirk.

On the southernmost American flank a 20-mile advance east of Troyes carried to Bar-Sur-Seine within 160 miles of a linkup with spearheads of the Seventh army driving up through southern France.

Belgians Raise Flags

Supreme headquarters had no late information on battlefront positions in the Sedan gap, but the Belgian government in London ordered its red, yellow and black national flags raised at its headquarters this morning in salute to arrival of the Americans at the frontier and the bright promise of liberation.

In a fanout north of Paris, the left flank of the American First army shot patrols within a mile of Compiegne, 43 miles from the French capital. These reconnaissance forces presumably went along the main road, by-passing the historic forest where the armistices of 1918 and 1940 were signed.

The British were pouring troops and armor across the Somme bridgehead on both sides of Amiens into the back door to the Pas de Calais coast, center of the flying bomb bases and reported site of some great concrete works of the threatened giant V-2 rocket bomb.

Yanks Battling Into Brest

On the Brittany peninsula, Americans were fighting their way through the last defenses of Brest in a battle now left 400 miles behind the main fighting line. Cleanup of the last Nazis on the Daoulas peninsula southeast of the port was announced and the Americans pushed almost to the coast on the tip of land.

As the Germans fell back a statement by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that "three German field marshals and one army commander have been either dismissed or incapacitated by wounds" implied confirmation of reports that Field Marshal Guenther von Kluge had been replaced as enemy commander-in-chief in the west.

The other two German field marshals are Karl Rudolfe Gerd von Rundstedt, Von Kluge's ousted predecessor, and Erwin Rommel, reported severely wounded.

Bucharest Gravely Damaged By Nazis

MOSCOW, Sept. 1. (AP)—German fury vented in three days of continual air attacks last week turned Romania's gay capital of Bucharest into a city of gaunt and blackened ruins, Romanian armistice delegates declared here today.

The city, reached yesterday by Russian troops, was attacked heavily by German planes on Aug. 24, 25 and 26 after young King Mihai gave the order which toppled Gen. Ion Antonescu from the premiership and severed Romania's ties with the Axis.

(Joseph Morton, Associated Press correspondent assigned to the Balkans after covering the war in Italy, reached Bucharest in time to witness the arrival of the first motorized Soviet column and said it moved through the city rapidly.

("I was struck to see every single vehicle was American made," Morton wrote in a dispatch received in New York last night.)

The sumptuous royal palace which former King Carol built now is a wreck after a series of Nazi raids.

Lt. Col. Ion Focseanu of the army general staff declared "the Germans in three days caused more deaths and damage than all the Anglo-American raids caused in five months.

"Those who knew Bucharest in peace time would find it almost unrecognizable now. Block after block you see only skeletons of buildings."

Montgomery To Be A Field Marshal

LONDON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, whom many consider Britain's best general and who is certainly the nation's most spectacular field commander, last night was appointed field marshal supernumerary by King George.

The announcement of the appointment, which becomes effective today, came only a few hours after Gen. Eisenhower revealed that Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley had been given equal status with Montgomery as field commander of an Army group. However, unofficial sources emphasized the Montgomery appointment had no connection with this and had been planned for some time as recognition for his "invaluable services to the empire."

Neither will the appointment involve precedence in the field, these sources said. Montgomery as field marshal will carry no more authority than Gen. Bradley.

As field marshal, Montgomery in terms of international military titles will hold a higher rank than that of his commander, Gen. Eisenhower, although the latter has the highest rank granted by the United States. Montgomery occupied a relatively higher rank for a while in North Africa before Eisenhower was promoted from lieutenant general. Some military leaders in the United States have urged Congress to create a rank comparable to field marshal in the American armies.

Plagiarism Charge Names "Big Brownie"

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 1. (AP)—A plagiarism suit was filed in federal district court today against Rutherford Montgomery, author of "Big Brownie," a Literary Guild Book-of-the-Month selection for May.

Eleanor Roosevelt, as a member of the Literary Guild Selection committee, was also named as defendant in an action asking the court to halt sales of the book and order an accounting of profits.

John M. Holzworth, who said he worked in Alaska eight years under the U.S. Biological survey and the National museum in Washington, D. C., charged in his complaint that the book's plots and incidents copied his "Twin Grizzlies of the Admiralty Island," published in 1932 by J. B. Lippincott & Sons. Both books deal with Alaskan bears.

Supplies Keep Pace With Racing Allies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP) — Undersecretary of War Patterson reported today that "supplies had kept pace" with battle operations in France.

"The difficulties of getting up to the front has not retarded the advance at any time, and I don't think it will," Patterson told his first news confernce since returning from a visit to the French front.

The supply program was so carefully planned and integrated with battle plans, he said, that army engineers were ready with the exact bridge needed to cross a given river at a certain place—"and that applied to everything right down the line."

He added that engineers were laying pipe lines at a rate of 70 miles a day to carry fuel to the rapidly advancing troops.

Sub-Standard Wage Rate Is 50 Cents

DALLAS, Sept. 1. (AP) — The Eighth regional War Labor board said today the sub-standard wage rate for the three-state region had been set at 50 cents an hour.

Employers paying rates between 40 and 50 cents, however, must apply to WLB for approval before adjusting to 50 cents, the announcement said.

Employers paying rates less than 40 cents an hour may increase to 40 cents without WLB approval; rates in excess of 40 cents must be approved by WLB, but "approval up to the new sub-standard of 50 cents per hour is practically assured," the board said.

The region includes Oklahoma, Louisiana, and Texas.

Truman Target Of Republicans

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—The Republican governors of Kansas, Pennsylvania and Minnesota tonight called the Democratic administration the tool of "pressure groups," accused Democratic vice presidential candidate Harry S. Truman of inconsistency and termed the New Deal "name-calling, hate-making and backward-looking."

The three governors were speakers on the second of a series over NBC, which the Republican National committee is sponsoring as "a prelude to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's opening campaign address at Philadelphia Sept. 7."

Gov. Andrew Schoeppel of Kansas spoke from Kansas City, Mo., Gov. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania from Harrisburg, Pa., and Gov. Edward J. Thye of Minnesota from Minneapolis.

Gov. Schoeppel, bringing the "pressure group" charge, said:

"At this particular time, we have a new pressure group which looms large on the New Deal political horizon and seems all powerful in its council. This group to which I refer is called the Political Action committee. It has as its head Sidney Hillman. It takes its doctrines direct from Earl Browder. This Earl Browder-Sidney Hillman Political Action committee is not democratic. It is made in the image of nothing that is American. It is an import, an item by item, chapter and verse import of the fatal political doctrines of Europe, which time and time again destroyed Europe's freedom and everything else worthwhile.

". . . they want a fourth term administration because they want a government in Washington that is indebted to them up to the ears. And they expect to collect on that debt."

Governor Martin asserted that since his nomination Senator Truman had not repeated his statement that the war might be lost in Washington because of "red tape and bureaucratic waste" because when he made it "he was only a United States Senator bent on winning the war," while now he is "a candidate hungry for votes."

"I wonder," Martin said, "what he would say if votes were not his chief concern about this week's tragic collapse of the War Production board, the most important civilian agency for speeding victory . . ."

Governor Thye quoted Dewey's statement—"America is young and does not know defeat"—and praised his political doctrine and "vision for the future of America."

"What a welcome relief it is," he said, "after the name-calling, hate-making, backward-looking talk of recent years."

ment.

Not even in the Argonne forest did the Germans try to fight back. Only small knots of disorganized Nazis were encountered there, where hundreds of thousands of Americans fought in World War I.

There was little evidence of war as the American column rolled into the forest. A few wrecked German vehicles served as reminder.

The Germans who had been at such pains to blow up the bridges on the Marne had not touched the Meuse bridges.

It was almost incredible to the Americans and must have been even more so to the French, who said the Germans had not even bothered to turn the big guns in the Verdun forts around, so sure were they that no Allied troops ever again would cross this way. Verdun was one of the links of the Maginot line.

Eyebrow Dye Cause Of Federal Charge

TEXARKANA, Sept. 1. (U.P) — James E. Byrd, an employe at the Lone Star Ordnance plant and former manufacturer of an eyebrow dye, asked dismissal today of a government suit charging the dye was injurious under the conditions of use prescribed in the labeling.

United States Attorney Malcolm E. LaFargue filed an information in the government's suit, and Judge Ben C. Dawkins issued a court order for the seizure of 43 packages of the brow tint which had been shipped to a Shreveport, La., concern.

Judge Dawkins' order charged that the tint violates the federal food and cosmetic act as "it contains a poisonous and deliterious substance xxx which may render it injurious to users . . ."

Byrd denied that the tint is harmful when used as labeled.

The defendant has until Sept. 4 to contest the seizure.

Draft Board Member Struck; Man Held

ABILENE, Sept. 1. (AP) — Jack Taylor Davis, 25, father of three children, who was charged with attacking a draft board chairman, has been placed under $1,500 bond following a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Ida M. James.

Davis, who lost an appeal from a 1-A classification, had been scheduled to leave yesterday for an induction center. He was charged in a complaint sworn to by a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent with striking here Wednesday A. Heathington, chairman of Taylor county's Selective Service board No. 2.

Physicians Say Sen. Norris Is Sinking

McCOOK, Neb., Sept. 1. (U.P)—Physicians attending former Sen. George Norris said today he was "growing steadily weaker."

Norris, 83, suffered a cerebral hemmorhage Tuesday. The physicians said his temperature was above normal and his condition continued to be critical.

Norris does not respond to anything said to him, but does show signs of recognizing persons at his bedside, his physicians said.

Verdun Fitting War Anniversary Victory

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Our recapture of the ancient fortress town of Verdun, immortalized by the heroic Allied stand in the last world conflict, is a fitting memento to hand Herr Hitler on this fifth anniversary of his war against humanity, and with it we give him back his triumphant cry of five years ago today before his puppet reichstag —"Sieg Heil!"

The Allied forces of northern France, whose tornadic advance has driven the broken German armies into the war-scarred valley of the winding Somme, have at long last returned as victors to the battle grounds where four and a quarter years ago civilization faced one of its greatest crisis of all time.

Via the route of "blood, toil, tears and sweat" we've arrived back at the historic spot where the Nazi dictator thought he had placed the mark of bondage on the brow of mankind. We also stand in Verdun, only fifty miles from the broder of the Reich. The disorganized Hitlerite armies of the west, crippled by 400,000 casualties since D-day, are on the run.

It's an interesting commentary on bullies that the already beaten Hitler is whining and trying to finagle a compromise peace. He wants a deal that will save his skin and enable Germany to prepare for another conflict.

Because the peoples of the United Nations have determined to outlaw war, widespread satisfaction is being expressed over renewed assurances from Secretary Hull that there will be no alteration in the Allied demand for unconditional surrender. A lot of folk have been worried for fear the aggressor nations might escape just punishment. In this connection I have a letter from a mid-western newspaper editor who, after speaking of a war bereavement in his own family, says:

Must Punish Severely

"Multiply that by the thousands of fatalities, the missing in action, the crippled and maimed. I think you have there the basis for one good reason why the punishment must be severe. Americans who have lost loved ones will not be content with any flowery words. They will not demand pillage and rapacious action by our soldeirs—but God, how those people and those nations must pay before we are going to feel that we have been repaid only a small part of the grief they have caused us."

That seems to be the consensus. Thus there's good cheer in General Eisenhower's declaration yesterday that the battle will be carried decisively into the Reich. He spoke of utter destruction of German military power. A dose of war on the "sacred soil" will do the Germans good. After that can come our constructive effort to help them become peace-abiding people.

Gonorrhea Cure Is Given New Impetus

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—The cure of gonorrhea with one shot of penicillin, mixed with beeswax in peanut oil, was announced in Science, official journal of American scientists.

The report was made by Capt. Monroe J. Romansky and George E. Rittman of the Army Medical cvorps. They treated 12 cases with the single-shot method, and 11 were cured.

Addition of the beeswax causes the penicillin to last much longer. One of the handicaps in giving the new drug is that the human body excretes it quickly. The peanut oil played the role of a carrier for the beeswax.

With the beeswax the penicillin remained in the patients' blood for 6 to 7 hours, compared with 2 hours, the best result when other solutions were used to try to prolong the drug's action.

The report said there was no pain from injection of the beeswax mixture and that no allergic reactions were noted.

Texas Turkey Output Drops Two Per Cent

AUSTIN, Sept. 1. (AP)—A two per cent decrease from last year's turkey production of 3,724,000 birds is indicated in Texas, the United States Department of Agriculture reported today.

Over the country, however, turkey production is expected to reach a record high of 35,666,000 birds or 8 per cent more than last year.

The unusually hot dry weather with resulting poor pasturage was not favorable for best development of turkeys in Texas during July and August. Recent rains, however, have improved the grazing outlook for the rest of the season.

Veterans' Champion Answers CIO Attack

FORT WORTH, Sept. 1. (AP)—Virgil E. Goodman, one of the organizers of the "Veterans Political Action committee" today replied to an attack made upon him by the political action committee of the CIO by stating "those birds claim to be championing the rights of the boys who are getting blown to pieces over there—well if they were, they certainly wouldn't be going out on strikes in any war plants."

The CIO group in a resolution adopted at Dallas Wednesday accused Goodman of exploiting veterans and workers through his "chairmanship" of the veterans' political action organization.

Army Losses Total 1,279,000 Men

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP) — The Army announced today it had lost a total of 1,279,000 men, chiefly through discharges, from the start of the war through June 30.

Comparable figures from the Navy were not available.

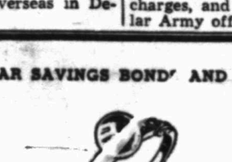

The Army's latest accumulative round figures, the announcement said, showed that 967,000 men, including 17,000 officers and 950,000 enlisted men, had been given honorable discharges.

Total deaths were 74,000, including 16,000 officers and 58,000 enlisted men. This figure includes both battle and non-battle losses.

Prisoners of war and missing were 16,000 officers and 56,000 enlisted men, a total of 72,000; while "other separations" were 4,000 officers and 162,000 enlisted men, a total of 166,000.

"Other separations" included men placed on inactive status but not discharged, dishonorable discharges, and retirements of regular Army officers and men.

Cultured Pearl

June birthstone

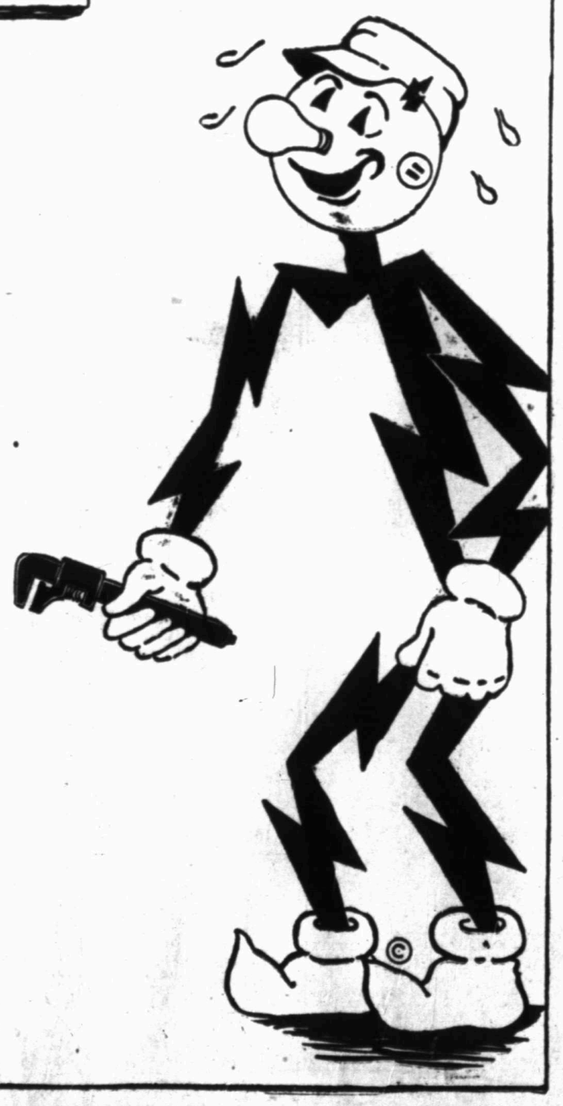

Cultured pearls are those grown scientifically in living oysters. The method used is to insert a bead as a nucleus or "irritant" in the oyster, which is then lowered to a specially prepared bed in the bottom of the tropical sea.

It takes from three to five years to make a cultured pearl. The layers of nacre deposited upon the nucleus are similar in structure to those of the Oriental or natural pearl. And upon the total thickness of these layers depends much of the beauty and value of the cultured pearl.

LABOR DAY

". . . . means
EVERY DAY
for me!"
says Reddy Kilowatt
your Electrical Servant

The biggest Labor Day parade this year will consist of a lot of you folks parading right up to the shop gates to work as usual, turning out war materials. Still others will work on farms, helping produce needed food, and many of you stay-at-homes will keep busy in your Victory Gardens all day.

More power to you! That's the way to celebrate a wartime holiday. Best of all, it's the American way, because you're doing it voluntarily—no dictator shoved a gun into your back to drive you to work.

While you're at it, think of me: I'll be "laboring on Labor Day," too. I'll be turning the wheels in your plant; helping you out with the farm chores; probably even pumping the water you sprinkle on your garden. I'll be working just as I do twenty-four hours every weekday, every Sunday, every holiday, throughout the year. Yes, every day is Labor Day for me, and I'm always prepared to serve you!

George Long Named To New Tech Post

Appointment of George Long, former assistant purchasing agent of Texas Technological college, to the new position of superintendent of campus grounds was announced Thursday by President Clifford B. Jones.

Recently created, this position has been made possible to a large extent by donations of Lubbock citizens to whom the college is greatly indebted, President Jones said.

"Heretofore, insufficient funds have limited improvements of the campus which looks worse than most of the high school and college grounds of this state," the president said, "and we are delighted to anticipate some substantial improvements in its appearance."
