ACCUSED BY HUNGARIAN GOVERNENT—The Very Rev. Dr. James H. Cockburn, left, director of reconstruction and interchurch aid of the World Council of Churches, and Cyril Black, right, professor of history at Princeton University, were named by the Communist-ruled Bulgarian government as spy contacts for the 15 top leaders of the United Evangelical Church who were indicted on charges of spying for the United States and Britain.

Russia May Be Moving to Take Bloc States in Union

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Eastern European assaults on churchmen have stirred American suspicions that Moscow may be getting ready to discard the "peoples democracy" system in Soviet satellites.

They also have revived the idea that Russia is moving toward absorbing the Soviet bloc states into an expanded Soviet Union.

Top authorities on relations with the Communist world said today the trend appears to be in these directions, although it is too early to be sure either will come about. Officials are virtually unanimous, however, on one point: under pressure from Moscow the process of shaping the satellites into the Soviet mold has now been speeded up.

Authorities read this meaning into Hungary's trial of Cardinal Mindszenty and defiance of American displeasure, the indictment of fifteen churchmen in Bulgaria, and the current purges in Poland and Czechoslovakia.

A by-product of the Mindszenty trial was the case of Selden Chapin, U.S. minister to Hungary. Hungary charged that Chapin was involved with the cardinal in his alleged offenses, and asked the diplomat's removal. The U.S., disputing this, called Chapin home "for consultation." The U.S. expelled a Hungarian legation aide in retaliation for the forcing out of two U.S. representatives from Budapest.

The Mindszenty case, in Bulgarian, Polish and Czechoslovakian developments all are taken here to support the conclusion that the Soviet bloc is determined to crush the last remaining opposition quickly so as to present a solid front against the Western world.

The satellite "peoples democracies" permit a continued existence of some opposition political parties, while the Communists have a free rein in putting their totalitarian system into effect. The course of recent developments has been in the direction of one-party states like Russia.

What has taken place in Bulgaria in the last two months is expected by officials to set the pattern for the other Communist-run countries. In Bulgaria the Communists and Socialists combined forces to form an overwhelming dominant worker's party which is Communist in all but the label.

Poland likewise is in the process of combining Scoialists with the Communists. The one step remaining is to outlaw all parties but the Communist.

Some officials believe the process is nearing completion and look for Bulgaria or another of the group to proclaim the first new one-party state possibly in a few weeks.

First National Capital Now Half Million

The First National Bank has increased its common stock capital from $75,000 to $200,000, it was announced this morning.

The bank now has a capital of $200,000, surplus $200,000, reserves and undivided profits in excess of $180,000 — making the combined capital structure more than a half-million dollars.

The officers and directors said that at this time the bank has deposits or more than $11,000,000. There are 19 employes of the bank.

The history of the present bank dates from 1906, when the First State Bank was organized by T. D. Hobart, Siler Faulkner, J.S. Wynne, J. R. Sewell W. H. Fuqua, and a few other early Pampa citizens. The institution had a paid in capital of $10,000.

In 1907, B. E. Finley joined the bank, being elected cashier and active manager. Later he was elected president, in which capacity he served until his death in 1934. In 1908, the First State Bank was nationalized, becoming the First National Bank.

The officers of First National are J. E. Murfee, Jr., chairman of the Board of Directors; A. A. Schuneman, president; B. D. Robison, active vice president; Frank. M. Carter, inactive vice president; C. M. Carlock, cashier; H. W. Morrow and J. C. Mitchell assistant cashiers.

The Board of Directors, all of whom are of Pampa, are Murfe, E. J. Dunigan, Jr., C. P. Buckler, E. L. Green, Jr., Carter and Schuneman.

Legislature Up to Ears in Controversy

AUSTIN —(AP)— Up to its ears in controversy, the 51st Legislature started its sixth week today.

The session faces as heavy a week of public committee hearings on proposed legislation as any veteran employe could remember. The weight comes not only from the large number of bills, but from public interest in them.

The Senate Finance Committee will receive and probably act promptly on a subcommittee report today on an emergency appropriation of four million dollars for the prison system.

The bill went to subcommittee last week when senators decided they wanted further itemization of how the money would be spent. The subcomittee headed by Senator A. M. Aikin Jr., of Paris was asked to report back at today's (2 p.m.) session.

A measure by Senator Fred Harris of Dallas to establish a medical school in Dallas also comes under the eye of a subcommittee today. There has been some talk a plan may be put forward at one stage or another of this bill's progress to establish the school under auspices of Texas Tech, rather than of the University of Texas.

Two important bills were up for hearing tonight.

One drew the eye of the oil industry. By Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe, it would permit cooperative development of fields. Various organizations of oil and gas producers have come out for or against the measure, and it may be necessary to extend the hearing over two nights.

The House Education Committee at 7:30 p.m. will consider a bill to increase the salary of the state school superintendent.

Altogether, public hearings have been announced for 75 bills or proposed Constitutional amendments this week.

Ice Cream, Candy Taken Off Menu

FORT WORTH — (AP)—Ice cream and candy have been taken off the menu at the R. Vickery Elementary School lunchroom to make certain that the students buy "well balanced" meals.

R. E. Jones, the principal, said today the ban resulted from an inspection made by Mrs. Emma Nance, a Department of Agriculture consultant who works in cooperation with State Department of Education school lunch officials.

WCTU Proposes Seven Bills To Tighten Liquor Control

AUSTIN —(AP)— The Texas Women's Christian Temperance Union today tossed out seven bombs designed to blast any attempts to slacken state liquor laws.

Mrs. Claude DeVan Watts, WCTU president, announced the union would sponsor seven bills in the Legislature to chink any and all cracks in Texas liquor control statutes.

"The Texas Women's Christian Temperance Union has been forced into a statewide fight to defeat a new attempt by the liquor interests to break down our liquor control laws," she said in a statement. "I refer to the by-the-drink sales bill now pending in the Legislature."

She sounded a call to arms to all WCTU members "to immediately exert themselves in opposition to this disguised saloon bill, and we call on all the Christian people of our great state to join us in the fight."

The WCTU's seven restrictive liquor sales proposals are:

1. To make it illegal to have or possess in any motor vehicle on any public highway or street in Texas any bottle, flask, jug, can, or other container of intoxicating liquor or beverage on which the original seal has been broken. "We believe such a measure will greatly reduce the driving and drinking menace," the WCTU president said.

2. Make it illegal to serve or sell for consumption off the premises where sold any container of intoxicant on which the original seal has been broken or removed. "This is designed to eliminate drinking in automobiles outside taverns, and beer parlors," Mrs. Watts said.

3. Make it illegal to sell intoxicants within 300 feet in any direction from any establishment where motor fuel is sold.

4. Make it illegal for any dealer to deliver any intoxicant to any place within 300 feet in any direction from the property of any church, school, hospital, eleemosynary or private charity institution.

5. Require every vehicle used in delivery of intoxicants to display large signs on both sides and at rear to be illuminated at night, bearing the words "liquor delivery."

6. Make it illegal to receive payment for the sale of intoxicants at any place except within the walls of a licensed liquor-selling establishment. "Under present laws a liquor dealer may accept an order by telephone, deliver his wares and collect at the points of delivery," she said.

7. Make it illegal to serve any intoxicating beverage to any sitting person unless food equal in retail value to the value of the intoxicant is served at the same time. "This is designed to curb 'table drinking' and eliminate 'drinking parlors' masquerading as restaurants and cafes," Mrs. Watts said.

AMA Proposes Health Plan Alternative

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The American Medical Association's substitute for President Truman's health insurance program was assailed by Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) today as "a plan to perpetuate pauperism of the sick and helpless."

"I consider the AMA proposal a cheap imitation of the real thing," he told reporters. Dingell is one of the authors of administration health legislation.

The AMA announced organized medicine's alternative plan in Chicago last night, proposing expansion of voluntary hospital and medical care plans instead of federal health insurance. Some leaders in the medical profession have attacked the Truman administration plan as "socialized medicine."

Dingell said he thinks Mr. Truman's program has an "excellent chance" of passage in Congress. Some others were not so sure.

Republicans charted an all-out fight on the proposal for universal medical care insurance. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) proposed instead that the federal government help states finance voluntary health insurance programs.

More trouble ahead was indicated as Senator Hill (D-Ala) said the administration program "goes too far in the matter of compulsion." The Alabaman said he is working on a "better plan" than that suggested by the President.

The AMA plan would create a new "federal department of health" headed by a doctor of medicine with cabinet rank. While emphasizing the expansion of voluntary hospital and medical care plans, the AMA would establish in each state "a medical care authority to receive and administer funds with proper representation of medical and consumer interest."

Dingell said today the President's new proposal is bound to call for compulsory insurance. Some administration sources said the program, to be financed by payroll taxes on employers and employes, would cost about $6 billion a year when it gets going.

The President has invited Democratic members of the House Ways and Means Committee to a White House session on Tuesday. He may tell them then just what he wants in the way of expanded social security — including health insurance.

Austin's Weather Called 'Screwball'

AUSTIN —(AP)— The weather man today said "screwball" was the only word for what happened here last night.

At 11:30 p.m., the temperature was 71. By 2 a.m. it dropped to 50. Looked like the expected norther was in. The cool air didn't even reach Bergstrom Army Air Field—five miles southeast of Austin.

By 7 a.m., the temperature was back up to 70. The norther apparently was over.

The weather man said strong south winds apparently pushed the norther back where it came from—the north.

Registration Fees For Nurses Hiked

AUSTIN — (AP) — A bill to increase nurses registration fees $1.50 annually was trimmed back to 50-cent annual increase by the Senate's Committee on Public Health today.

Present registration fees are 50 cents a year.

The bill, by Senator Carlos Ashley of Llano, as amended was given committee approval.

'Ike' Chairmans Defense Parley

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States has called Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower back into service to help answer grave questions of future military policy.

The wartime supreme allied commander was named by the White House last week to serve as temporary chairman of the joint chiefs of staff — a group which includes the top military men of the Army, Navy and Air Force, as well as the chief of staff to the President.

Eisenhower is on leave from his job as president of Columbia University. As principal advisor to President Truman and Secretary of Defense Forrestal, he will have an important part in deciding vital defense questions.

'Bracero' Labor Problem Discussed

LAREDO—(AP) — Watson Miller, Washington, U.S. commissioner of immigration, arrived here today from Mexico City where he discussed the "bracero" labor problem with authorities there.

He was accompanied by Frank H. Crockett, immigration inspector here.

Miller goes from here to Brownsville for an official visit. He is expected to return here before leaving Tuesday for Washington.

Town Partly Wrecked by Wind Gust

ALVARADO, Texas—(AP) — This little Johnson County town counted $50,000 damage from a powerful gust of wind which demolished a few structures, damaged others and scattered two over 10 acres of land.

The wind blew in about 3 a.m. yesterday. It passed through town in a hurry—residents said it lasted less than a minute at any one spot — traveling in a northeast to southwest direction.

Fire Chief A. L. Creswell estimated the damages.

The city was drenched with four to five inches of rain within a two-hour period.

The wind knocked out windows, toppled chimneys, and interrupted utility facilities for a brief period.

A granary and tool shed belonging to E. L. Prestridge, a farmer living about one-half mile east of here, were demolished.

T. W. Hooks reported two houses scattered over 10 acres of land. He also said his car body and paint shop was ruined.

The two-story frame residence of H. P. Johnson was moved four feet off its foundation.

A brick building used by the Fundamentalist Baptist Church was practically destroyed and one 10-room residence was twisted out of shape.

Houston Fat Stock Show Breaks Records

HOUSTON —(AP)— Footsore Houstonians discarded their cowboy boots and Western attire today after last night's record breaking closing of the seventeenth annual Houston Fat Stock Show.

A total of 377,428 persons entered Sam Houston Coliseum during the 12-day exposition, the largest total in the show's history. The previous record was 350,000 set during last year's 16-day show.

W. Albert Lee, president of the stock show, said officials already are planning the 1950 exposition. The dates will be Feb. 1-12.

For 50 Cents Romantic Lovers Can Serenade Sweethearts by Proxy

SAN MARCOS, Tex.—(AP)—For half a dollar romantic lovers at Southwest Texas State College here can get a girl's quartet to serenade their sweethearts.

It's a special St. Valentine's Day offer made by the Shakespeare Literary Society, a social organization of girls, to raise money. "It's more fun than work," said one of the girls.

For a dime, the society will telephone a Valentine greeting, for 15 cents the message goes in person.

POPE ADDRESSES SECRET MEETING

Blizzard Lashes West Again

By The Associated Press

The misery-dealing Great Plains blizzards had opened up a broad new front in North Dakota today with the worst 24 hours of weather the West has had in two weeks.

Six North Dakota counties were added to the disaster area as a result of weekend storms which stalled relief and rescue operations in some parts of Nebraska and reduced them by 50 percent in others.

In Southern California, temperatures sank deep into sub-freezing levels again, necessitating more orchard heating. Minimum readings of 24 degrees were expected today in some sections of the citrus fruit region.

The 500 passengers on three trains stalled for several days at Rawlins and Hanna, Wyo., were rescued and taken to Cheyenne in buses.

The Red Cross has begun a survey of urgent need with six ski planes in North Dakota. Farmers and ranchers were reported in need of food and fuel.

Major Gen. Lewis A. Pick sent a staff of officers to open headquarters for the rescue work at

McLean Boy's Pig Named Grand Champ

The two-day Top o' Texas Junior Livestock and Hereford Breeders Show and Sale began as scheduled at 9:30 a.m. today and by press time both the grand and reserve champion pigs of the Junior Livestock Show had been selected.

Vernon Turner's "Pat" was deemed grand champion pig as well as first place winner in the senior division. Turner, McLean, is a FFA member. The champ weighs 238 pounds.

"Roy," a 189-pounder, was picked first place winner in the junior division and reserve champion. "Roy" belongs to James Gaines, Wheeler, who is also a Future Farmer of America.

Other senior division winners include: "Mike II," 228 pounds, belonging to Vernon Turner; "Joe" 218 pounds, Billy Frank Harlan, McLean; "Buster," 242 pounds, David Wilson, McLean; and "Snowball," 223 pounds, Donald Pierce, McLean.

Wilson is a 4-H Club boy while the remaining senior division winners are FFA. The prizes in both divisions ranged from $5 for first place to $1 for fifth. The awards will be presented at 5:30 p.m. today at the Kiwanis-sponsored banquet at the Recreation Building at Recreation Park.

Other junior division winners include: "Pete," 194 pounds, belonging to James Gaines, Wheeler; "Boe," 194 pounds, Billy Frank Harlan McLean; "Bill," 189 pounds, Richard Gaines, Wheeler; and "Joe," 194 pounds, Richard Gaines, Wheeler.

All junior division winners are Future Farmers of America members.

Homer Brumley, Hereford, judged both fat pig divisions.

The judging of the Junior Livestock Show will be completed this afternoon after the two divisions of calves have been shown.

Following the annual Top o' Texas Hereford Breeders Association's banquet at 7:30 p.m. today at the VFW-American Legion Hall, an oldtime Western dance will be presented.

Glen Studebaker and his orchestra will provide the music and the public int invited o attend. Botn semiformal dressers and jean-wearers will feel at home at the dance for both square and modern dance music will be presented.

Texas' Cold Wave Loses Arctic Sting

By The Associated Press

A blizzard that moved into the Texas Panhandle late Saturday was losing most of its arctic sting as it struggled southward today.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the storm had been reduced considerably by a warm front that moved up from the Gulf and was literally pushing the cold right out of Texas.

Much of West Texas, especially in the Wichita Falls area, was sheathed in ice from yesterday's freezing drizzle, but elsewhere temperatures were comparatively mld.

Even in the Panhandle and the Northern sections of West Texas temperatures were far above those that had been predicted for early today.

A fine layer of sleet on the ground this morning made driving hazardous in Pampa, and the fog that cut visibility in town to about 300 yeards helped keep traffic at a slow pace most of the day.

Pampa had a low Sunday night of 16 degrees, and the low for the weekend was 14 at 9 a.m. yesterday.

At 6:30 a.m. Amarillo reported 24 degrees. A low of four degrees had been predicted.

Skies today were cloudy over all except South and extreme Southwest Texas.

At dawn freezing drizzle continued at Childress, Clarendon, Lubbock, Abilene, Big Spring and Wichita Falls.

Wichita Falls was hard hit by the ice. Big trees were torn out by the roots because of the ice load.

Texas' weather yesterday included a freak wind storm at Alvarado that did an estimated $50,000 damages.

The blow struck about 3 a.m. It demolished a few structures, damaged others and interrupted utility service for a time.

Bank Swindle Investigated

FRANKLIN, Tex. — (AP) — A grand jury convening here today is due to investigate complaints against S. B. Jones, 47, Hearne, Tex., charged in the $81,000 hot check swindle of the First State Bank of Franklin.

Jones, an insurance man, is charged in eight complaints with swindling by worthless checks. The loss caused the First State Bank to merge, last Dec. 18, with the First National Bank of Franklin. Stockholders of the First State Bank absorbed all losses.

The First State Banked cashed worthless checks totaling $81,000 during the Thanksgiving Day holidays last year.

Jones was arrested near Matamoros, Mexico, and returned to Texas Dec. 14. Mexican authorities found no substantial amount of money on the Hearne man when they picked him up.

Jones told a reporter in an interview: "I have at no time violated any criminal law."

Jones is free on bond.

Strikers Discuss New Wage Plans

GALVESTON —(AP)— A new wage proposal by management will be voted on Tuesday by striking employes of the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corp.

The offer is a 14-cent-an-hour increase to all maintenance workers and operators and an 18-cent-an-hour hike to some special operators.

The new offer does not include a retroactive clause.

Fourteen hundred carbide employes are affected by the strike and 2,000 Ford, Bacon and Davis workers, employed by the company on an expansion program, have been unable to work because of it.

Court Discusses Hopkins' Successor

The County Commissioners Court convened shortly before noon and it was expected to discuss the appointment of a commissioner from Precinct 3 to succeed the late Jim Hopkins.

County Judge Bruce Parker will actually make the appointment, but it is customary to discuss probable successors before hand.

Jury Selected for District Court

A jury was being selected in 31st District Court this morning to try the case of M. Roberts, vs. the Texas Employers Insurance Company, a workmen's compensation case.

Attorneys John Merchant and Bob Wilson, both of Amarillo, are representing the plaintiff and the insurance company, respectively.

Three other cases on the docket were temprorarily passed this morning by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich.

Southern Publishers To Meet in Texas

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. —(AP)— The Southern Newspaper Publishers Association will hold its 1949 convention in November at Mineral Wells, Tex.

The convention site was picked Sunday as the executive group of the association met here. Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, executive vice president of the Houston (Tex.) Post and president of the SNPA, presided.

Pontiff Says No Society Can Last When God Exiled

VATICAN CITY—(AP)—Pope Pius XII said today that when civil government contradicts divine and human rights "bishops and the faithful themselves are bound by their conscience to resist unjust laws."

Adressing a secret and extraordinary consistory of the College of Cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church on the case of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, the Pontiff asked prayers to the end that:

". . . those who rashly trample upon the liberty of the church and the rights of human conscience may at length understand that no civil society can endure when religion has been suppressed and God, as it were, driven into exile."

The Pope said "our soul is crushed with most bitter grief" by the trial and condemnation of the Hungarian primate.

In a brief speech to 16 cardinals closeted with him in the Consistorial Hall of the Apostolic Palace, the Pontiff declared the Hungarian primate's trial had not been fairly reported.

"The principal object of the trial," the Pope said, "was to disrupt the Catholic Church in Hungary and precisely for the purpose set forth in the sacred Scripture: "'I shall strike the shepherd and the sheep of the flock shall be dispersed'." (Matt. 36:32).

The Pope declared Cardinal Mindszenty's physical condition during the trial was "inexplicable except as the result of secret influences which may not be publicly revealed; to prove this there is the fact that a man endowed with the full vigor of a forceful nature suddenly appears weak and mentally unbalanced."

The Pontiff branded "completely false" the Hungarian government's assertion that "the whole question

Del Rio Left Off List of Accredited

AUSTIN —(AP)— The State Department of Education said today that Del Rio Public Schools had been removed from the accredited list because of segregation of Latin-American pupils.

"This gives them a chance to get in court now and see how they stand," explained Dr. L. A. Woods, state school superintendent.

In a letter to W. P. Wallace, Jr., president of the Board of Trustees of the Del Rio Independent School District dated Feb. 12, T. M. Trimble, first assistant state superintendent wrote:

"The state superintendent has asked me to notify the Del Rio Independent School District that as of today it has been removed from the list of accredited schools until segregation of Latin-Americans and Anglo-Americans has been corrected as per agreement with your Board of Trustees on my recent visit to Del Rio."

Dr. Woods recently notified the Del Rio Board of Trustees it would have to place all Latin-American and Anglo - American pupils of the same grade in the same school building or risk loss of accreditation.

The trustees have been allowing Latin-American children to attend the schools of their choice.

State Deaths Total 10 as Traffic Leads

By The Associated Press

A rash of traffic accidents over the weekend upped the violent death toll in Texas to ten today.

Five highway accidents in widely separated sections of the state claimed six lives.

Fire was blamed for one of the other deaths.

Spencer Moore and Curley Nation, both residents of near Crystal City, were killed early yesterday when their car and a truck were in collision on the Laredo highway near Asherton.

Raul M. Lopez, 41, San Antonio, was fatally injured there last night when his car and another crashed.

Other deaths included:

Juan Avila, 53, of La Pryor was killed Friday night in a head-on collision of two trucks near La Pryor.

Andrew Quijana, 5, died Saturday in Dallas of burns suffered Thursday when his clothing caught fire while he was playing near burning trash.

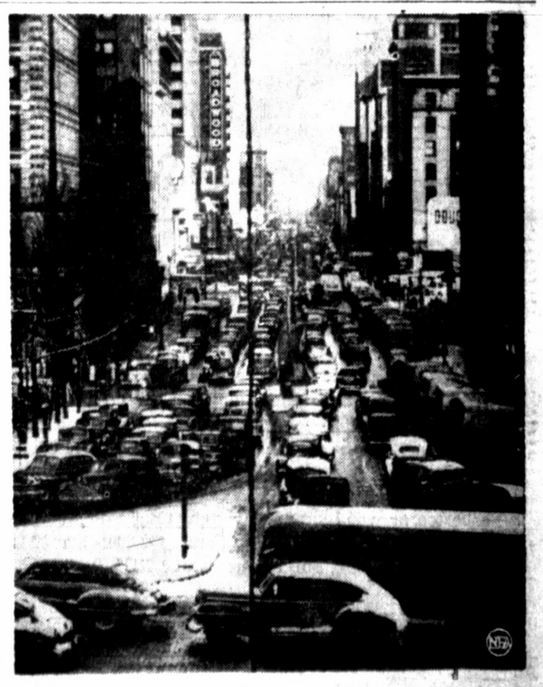

Carroll Francine Carter, 17, of Abilene, a student at North Texas State Teachers College, was killed Saturday night in a highway accident near Fort Worth.

Laura T. Sawyer, 28, a Biggs Field hostess, was killed Saturday near El Paso when she was thrown from a horse.

Fritzie Lloyd Sifford, 23, of El Reno, Okla., died Sunday in a Dumas, Tex., hospital of injuries suffered Saturday night when hit by an automobile near Dumas.

Rosa Lee Carr Henderson, 29, a Negro maid, was stabbed and shot to death Saturday night on a crowded Houston City Transit bus. Charges of murder were filed against her husband, Porter Henderson, 40.

Virginia Warren, 30, also known as Virginia Gooch, was found dead in bed in a home at Abilene Sunday. An autopsy was performed but a verdict awaits analysis of her stomach contents.

TRANSIT STRIKE CAUSES TRAFFIC JAMS—Several hours after 11,000 members of the CIO Transport Workers Union went on strike in Philadelphia, more than three million bus, subway and trolley riders were trying to gain transportation by auto and other means. This traffic jam on Broad Street, caused by the extraordinarily heavy influx of cars, was typical of the crippling effect of the strike.

Man Is Fined on Assault Charge

A fine of $25 and costs was placed Saturday morning on J. B. Oglesby by County Judge Bruce Parker for an assault on Ellen Wiggins during a family row.

County Attorney John Studer said the row resulted over the custody of a child and that Oglesby pleaded guilty to striking Mrs. Wiggins.

The incident occurred Thursday, court officials said.

Friday afternoon Joe McNeil, charged with illegal transportation of liquor on a complaint filed by State Liquor Control Board Agent Bill Money, entered a plea of not guilty and was released after posting $500 bond. McNeil was apprehended by Money Friday.

After being refused seats at an Anti-Slavery convention in London, Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton held a women's right convention at Seneca Falls, N. Y.

COMFORTABLE WARMTH

Cool floor-line air enters at the bottom of this modern convector radiator and is warmed by natural convection as it passes through the heating element within the cabinet. The heated air is discharged into the room in gentle convected currents through the outlet grille near the top. Circulation of warmth in this manner is even and constant, eliminating uncomfortable layers of alternating hot and cold air.

Rising Interest No Burden on Home Buyers

Mortage interest rates which are rising slightly in some sections of the country are not expected to materially increase the monthly payments on new homes nor put a brake on home purchases. In most cases the new higher rates are still 1 or 2 percent lower than pre-war rates. Families with old mortgages will not be affected since the higher rates apply only to new loans.

A rise of one-half of 1 percent is the generally accepted figure, it is reported by the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information. This means only a 28-cent increase in monthly payments on each $1,000 of a 25-year mortgage drawing 4 and one-half instead of 4 percent; 26 or 27 cents on shorter term, higher interest loans.

Where monthly payment on principal and interest is now $52.80 on a $10,000 25-year 4 percent mortgage, the payment on new loans written at 4 and one-half percent would be $55.60; payments rise from $63.30 on a 4 and one-half percent 20-year loan to $66.60 for a 5 percent 20-year mortgage.

Chimney Must Not Support Nor Be Supported by Home

Regardless of the type of fuel burned for home heating, a chimney is necessary to maintain a draft to bring fesh air to the fire and to carry away harmful gases resulting from combustion. The flue through which the air and gases pass and the surrounding masonry must be safe and efficient, with all joints tight. Defective or overheated chimneys are the greatest single cause of residential fires.

A masonry chimny must stand free, giving no support to and receiving no support from the house; should extend at least 2 feet above the highest point of the roof; be protected from weather with a cap of stone, tile or concrete on top of the perimeter to shed water; and the flue lining should project a few inches above the cap.

The roof and all floors and walls should be built so that no combustible material is within 2" of the chimney and this space should be filled with fireproof mineral wool insulation.

A chimney is best located near the center of the house so cold winds will not chill it, causing it to lose heat and draw poorly. If exposed to the outside, the outer chimney walls should be at least 8" thick to reduce heat loss and chance of air leaking into the flue. Joints in the flue lining must be tight. Each piece of heating equipment must have a separate flue, two or three of which can be placed in the same chimney. When multiple flues are used, their joints should be staggered 7" or more.

The most common fault in chimney construction is failure to coordinate flue area and height. While a chimney may be tall enough, the flue cross-section may be too small for proper combustion. For a furnace the flue's inside dimension should be at least 8x12"; for small equipment like a stove, 8x8" is sufficient; for a fireplace, 17 square inches of flue area are needed for each square foot of fireplace opening. The best construction practice is to make all flues large enough for any type of equipment. A chimney is expensive to remodel if changes are made in heating methods.

When placing a chimney on the outside wall of a house, consideration should also be given to appearance of the chimney and its architectural unity with the house.

Engineers Advise Insulating Home While Building

For maximum savings, both in the size and cost of the heating plant and in cost of the insulation, the best time to insulate a house is while it is being built, according to engineers of the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information.

Installed cost of full-thick batts or blankets of mineral wool amounts to only about 3 percent of total construction cost. When a home is completely protected with this material in walls and roof, a smaller heating system is required with a cost saving for this equipment of 25 to 30 percent.

The fireproof mineral wool fits snugly between studs, joists and rafters and the tough paper vapor barrier on one side of the batts or blankets provides a flange for fir mfastening to the framing members. Installation during construction is rapid since the space to be insulated is accessible. The batts or blankets are put in place as soon as plumbing and wiring are finished and before wall and ceiling finish is applied.

Man Dies After Receiving Reward

HUNTSVILLE — (AP) — Thurman Williams, who gave police the rifle that linked him with the death of C. N. Herridge for a $100 reward, died in the electric chair here early yesterday morning.

Williams was convicted of fatally shooting Herridge in Houston on Oct. 28, 1947. Testimony revealed he was trying to take Herridge's automobile.

Police offered $100 reward for the murder weapon. Williams took his rifle to the police. The rifle was traced to him and connected with the shooting.

"We are doing," the Pontiff told the 16 assembled princes of the Roman Catholic Church, "what the outraged rights of the church and the dignity of the human person clearly demand."

This apparently was a reference to the excommunication of all those involved in the arrest, trial and imprisonment of the Hungarian primate and his sentencing to life imprisonment in Budapest last week.

The Potiff's allocution contained no mention of further ecclesiastical punishment.

It was a speech phrased in sorrow rather than anger.

The unprecedented assembly convened six days after Cardinal Mindszenty, primate of Hungary, was sentenced to life imprisonment by a Hungarian People's court.

The leader of the church in Hungary was the first cardinal in modern times arrested while actually wearing the purple of a prince of the church.

Saturday, the Pontiff called for special masses to be said throughout the Catholic world April 3 "to expiate the crime of the enemies of God."

Although he did not mention communism by name, the Pontiff asserted "a conspiracy has been formed against the Lord" in certain countries.

DEL RIO

Earlier this month Del Rio school officials sought a federal court opinion on whether their action violated an anti-segregation charge. If it didn't, they sought an injunction to keep Woods from withdrawing accreditation. Federal Judge Ben H. Rice indicated Feb. 10 he probably would not pass on Woods' threat.

Judge Rice said he believed he did not have jurisdiction to determine questions raised by different school industries over the state as to segregation facts in their individual cases.

He said Dr. Woods should determine the proper exercise of his authority.

General Pick said that the storm in some parts of Nebraska was the worst in the relentless series since Feb. 2. At Neligh and Alliance work of removing the snow was virtually halted during the worst of the Saturday storm, and at Valentine about 80 percent of the equipment had to be withdrawn from operations.

In South Dakota, the Army had opened 921 miles of roads but the gain was lost by wind which choked off another 1,000 miles by drifting snow.

Despite additional snowfall of from two to six inches in Wyoming, the Union Pacific Railroad hoped to clear today the last stretch of its snow-clogged right-of-way between Rawlins and Rock Springs, Wyo., and to resume operations of trains, but strong winds again were whipping up new drifts. Two trainloads of hay arrived at Green River yesterday and ranchers started clearing roads for quick movements of the feed to their hungry livestock herds.

Freezing rain was reported falling today in portions of Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and North Texas, with the rainfall extending eastward through the New York and Central New England.

Temperatures were below zero in Northwestern Wisconsin, Northern Iowa, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Eastern Montana, and parts of Utah, Wyoming and Nevada. In the South, Northwest and Eastern sections of the country the mercury was around normal.

Suit Settled; Divorce Granted

Judge Lewis M. Goodrich Friday in 31st District Court approved an agreed judgment awarding Erwin C. Thompson, Thompson Paint and Glass Co. $714.09 in a debt suit brought by Thompson against W. T. Williamson.

An additional divorce was granted Friday afternoon by the Court but the judgment was not handed down.

• McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

BY WILLIAM McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

It is sometimes surprising how little we know of the background of our associates. Bridge players often play in tournaments from three days to a week, and seldom do I find one who knows anything about the other's business.

For example, Mrs. Ralph H. Schellenberg, with Harry J. Fishbein, has for years operated one of the largest bridge clubs in the United States, the Mayfair Bridge Club of New York City. Only recently I learned that she formerly was in the theater, and that at one time she was a customer's woman in Wall Street.

Her biggest asset is her memory for names. The late Heywood Broun found her memory invaluable when she served as his secretray. While Fishbein is the bridge star of the Mayfair, Mrs. Schellenberg's memory for plays is so good that she often plays a hand with all of the skill of our finest experts. Today's hand is an example.

Mrs. Schellenberg (South) played low on the opening lead of the six of spades, but won the second spade lead with the ace. Now the average player might lay down the ten of diamonds and take the finesse. East would win and return a spade. Now declarer would have only five diamond tricks, a club trick and two spades.

Declarer must establish either the clubs or the hearts for the ninth trick. Mrs. Schellenberg remembered that one of her first lessons from the maestro was, count your tricks, so instead of playing the diamond, she laid down the king of hearts.

West won and led back another spade which declarer won with the king. Now she took the diamond finesse and East had no more spades to return—so Mrs. Schellenberg made four-odd.

CIO Starts Drive For Texas Members

GALVESTON —(AP)— CIO labor leaders plan to "organize the unorganized" in Texas.

Van A. Bittner, national director of the CIO organizing Committee, addressed a meeting of top CIO labor leaders to that effect here Saturday. Bittner is vicepresident of the United Steel Workers Union.

"The drive to increase CIO membership in the South is not new," Bittner said. "It is a continuation of a movement to enlist new members in Texas and 10 other Southern and Southwestern states," Robert Oliver said.

Oliver, state CIO director, explained a million dollars has been allocated for the membership drive.

Medical Prices Will Increase

Shortages always raise prices. The Texas Medical Association, by restricting enrollment in Texas medical schools to barely enough to replace deaths and retirement has cut down our supply of doctors, especially in our rural areas, thereby causing a shortage and higher fees for services, while 3,000 pre-med students find the gates barred against them. They want to relieve that shortage but can't.

This same Medical Association now plans to get control of the supply of all competitive healing professions, medical and non-medical so they can cut off replacements in these healing professions and make the shortage even more acute and thus raise the prices even higher than they are today.

The medical "Basic Science" bill (Senate Bill 63) is designed to give them complete control of all branches of the healing arts and it is being pushed by unlimited funds and a high-priced lobby. If we the people do not write, phone or visit our senator and representative we will have this infamous legislation forced upon us. Let us stop it.

This is a call for action. If you do not know the name of your senator and representative in Austin you can phone this newspaper for their names. Address your letters to them at "Capitol Station," Austin, Texas.

Write, wire or phone today. Stop that "Basic Science" bill.

German Recovery Instills Hope

BERLIN —(AP)— General Lucius D. Clay, reviewing the past year in Western Germany, said general recovery has been so good it has instilled a "real hope for the future" in the German people.

The biggest single danger from now on, he said, will be inflation. But, he added, adequate controls are believed to have been established.

The American military governor said the standard of living of the 40 million persons living in Western Germany has been raised so that they now have enough to eat.

He recounted the finish of the deNazification program and predicted it will prevent the "really bad" Nazis from coming back to power.

Let's Make It A Big Day

This is the fifth year the livestock show and sale has been held here, and, despite the weather, buyers and spectators can continue to make it a progressively bigger event with the passing of this occasion.

Officials say they would like to see a large number of buyers out for the junior livestock show tomorrow morning at 9:30, with a corresponding interest being shown in the afternoon sale of Hereford breeders' stock.

Four-H and FFA boys from four counties have some 75 calves and 25 hogs going on the block tomorrow morning. These boys from Gray, Wheeler, Roberts and Carson Counties have done a fine job of grooming this stock, though the weather for the past eight weeks has presented them with their greatest problem.

It would be gratifying, not only to the men and boys directly involved in this show and sales event, but also to the cattle industry as well, if there would be a good turn-out tomorrow.

This is our chance to show a real interest in one of the basic industries of the High Plains country. Come on out to Recreation Park, and let's make it a big day.

What Two Billion Dollars Means

The oil industry is spending about $2,000,000,000 a year to maintain, modernize and enlarge its domestic facilities. That is an impressive figure. But almost no one can really visualize what a billion dollars represents. So a breakdown made by The Lamp, a publication of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, is of unusual interest.

For instance, for each additional automobile which comes into use today, the oil industry must spend more than $530. That is the amount of money which has to be invested in the facilites that provide the car with gas, lubricants, and other petroleum products.

To provide fuel supplies for every new oil burner, the industry must invest $670. It costs it about $970 to prepare for the needs of a single truck, and $108,000 for a 2,000-horsepower Diesel locomotive. Finally, each new commercial airplane that goes into service means an expenditure by the oil industry of $221,000.

As The Lamp observes, these figures are not just bookkeeping items. Their physical manifestation can be seen throughout the country, in the shape of new oil wells, new refinery units, new and larger tankers, new pipelines and laboratories, new service stations — and all the rest of the facilites oil must have to do its vital job.

This is indicative of the terrific job the oil industry has had to do to meet our needs. It is, also, the answer to those who think that when an industry has a good earnings record it is proof that it is exploiting the consumer. Without good earnings, the enormous investment in new oil facilities could not be made — and then we'd have an oil shortage that could turn into a national crisis.

MOPSY Gladys Parker

Fair Enough -- by Westbrook Pegler

Public housing, meaning subsidized housing in which all the people pay part of the rent of a lucky few, was one of the noisy subjects of both parties in the late campaign. It was not an issue. The Republicans and their candidate would not brave the scorn of those who would have said that they were landlords at heart and that they delighted in the sight of gaunt and ailing veterans and their spouses and their children huddling in crates or culverts. It takes dispute to make an issue of a subject. There being no dispute, public housing remained only a topic of discussion.

The recent landlords' strike, a feeble gesture which seems to have been organized by a few owners of property under professional instigation, died of intimidation. The threat by one United States attorney to prosecute landlords who should join this strike under the laws forbidding sedition was a symptom of the corruption of the intelligence of men who take the tainted shilling of the creeping fascism of Washington. The same district attorney and all others in the Department of Justice would suffer actual, indubitable sedition without raising a hand if it were committed by strikers of any of the labor unions. In hundreds of cases they have permitted such strikers to violate federal laws. And in one flagrant case there was a flat charge of violent insurrection made by President Roosevelt against the Communists of the United Auto Workers. Violent insurrection must proceed from sedition, but, even though Roosevelt made this charge, there was no prosecution. The union in this insurrection has since become one of the mightiest in the country, inferior to only the teamsters and the mine workers.

It has always been argued that strikers who take to the picket lines with slingshots and ballbearings, tire chains, bale-hooks, clubs studded with nails, and sticks mounting razor blades in grooves are at worst, guilty of disorderly conduct, assault or involuntary manslaughter. It has been held that they are not entirely responsible because they are made desperate by their need of the boons for which they are striking. These have included orange soda on the hokey-pokey wagon in the factory in addition to the colas and strawberry; coconut candy-bars as well as nougat; overtime on overtime and higher wages. It is not improper of such strikers to demand wages in excess of the highest scales ever paid in their particular occupations and such desires are never stigmatized as greed. Yet such strikers, boasting that, by concerted action through unionism, they are getting as much as $5,000 a year, are the most eager applicants for public housing in which a portion of their rent must be paid by other citizens earning less.

Landlords who organize become not a union but a lobby and sordid greed is their motive.

The Hon. Ralph W. Gwinn, of Yonkers, N.Y., by diligent study of public housing at home and abroad and of the predatory rackets of the construction unions, has become the first authority on the corruption already wrought and inevitably to be wrought by this evil. In order to deal honestly with the subject a public man must understand in advance that he will be abused and slandered. But, having resigned himself to suffering in the interest of principle and the public good, he may have the satisfaction of winning all arguments, though losing all fights.

Mr. Gwinn has often pointed out with a gusto which easily could have been malicious that the truly needy, meaning the penniless sick and old, the utterly useless, the congenital paupers and the families of men in prison certainly, should be the first claimants of homes built at public expense to house the poor. He has pointed out at the same time that all such elements of society are as firmly excluded as the haughtiest Wall Street Tory. The minimums which they would have to pay are out of their world and moreover such trash would be undesirable tenants and offensive to the privileged clients of the public largess.

"Skilled workers, small tradesmen, professional people and especialy government officials and party voters always manage to get a large share of the government dwellings when this form of patronage is handed out," Mr. Gwinn said in one of his orations into his sleeve in Congress. Unable to be heard against indomitable apathy on the covert badness of a racket adorned in the robes of charity, Mr. Gwinn inserts his reflections in the record as "extension of remarks" and sometimes causes them to be mailed under his frank.

The audience is small, however, the subject is one which requires studious reading and, altogether, his results are not worth-while except to establish a record for the use of the reaction should it ever come.

"At the core of many of these projects," said Mr. Gwinn, "are the Communists and socialists nicely bedded down with low rents and compensated with government pay while they organize and lead other tenants in the agitation for more plunder and corruption of government. In my district is Mulford Gardens, a 550-family unit government house. A family of four earning more than $1,700 cannot qualify. But 275 families have incomes running above this legal maximum and up to $8,000. The managers of Knickerbocker Village say they have many apartments in this low-rent building occupied by tenants with very large incomes. When they tried to make the over-income tenants move, and rent the space to low-income veterans, the tenants went to court and the court upheld them. Relief families are turned away from public housing.

"Yet one of the neatest deceptions used to build public emotional support for this $7 billion burden is to advertise that it is a gift to the poor, or the low-income families. The New York Supreme Court recently ruled that $4,500 is low income. These $4,500 families are being supported through the taxes of millions of families with much lower incomes.

"Tenants of government housing were organized in San Diego and Oakland so thoroughly that the vote was as high as 100 to 1 for candidates for Congress belonging to the party that built the houses."

Although the "landlords lobby" was one of the monsters of the presidential campaign, I, who receive most of the propaganda going, including thousands of pages of union and government stuff, have never had a line of copy or a telephone call from any spokesman for the owners of rental property.

No intelligent man will invest five dollars today in any rental property because he knows that he simply becomes to a large extent the host, not the landlord, of his tenants, and may go to jail for refusing their imperious demands for further shares of his savings or income.

You (educators) have failed not in teaching the skills to work but in teaching the willingness to work . . . Industry tells you not to train your students so hard for technical work. Put the emphasis on the willingness to work, on adjustment to life.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES

What Do You Owe To The Community?

The question as to what each individual owes to the community and the nation is a very important one.

A member of a board of education explaining why he was on the board recently told me that he took the job as a member of the board of education because he felt he owed something to the community. That the community had helped him make money and therefore he felt he should be willing to give something to the community.

What this business man does not seem to understand is that he could not make money in the community on a competitive basis unless he was giving something to the community. He would not have a money profit left if he had not given efficient service—if he had not benefited those who bought from him: If there had not been two profits—one—for the seller and one for the buyer. Every one of his customers believed that they were getting more for the money when they spent it with him than they would get by spending it in any other way. They believed that they were satisfying a human want with the expenditure of less energy by buying from him than they could in any other way. So this business man was already giving something to the community. He is doing this on a smaller scale than a big manufacturer, of course. Ford, for instance, gave far more to the people of the nation than he was benefited. So the man who makes a profit has nothing to apologize for. He owes no one anything. Entirely too many business men think that they have to apologize for making a profit, and that they owe something to the community in the line of taking a public job that does not pay them for their time. There are very very few of these kind of jobs in any community. Even a job on the Board of Directors of the chamber of commerce that takes the time of the board members is not rendering a service to the community if the chamber of commerce runs to the city or the county or the state or the nation to get the public officials to pass discriminatory laws protecting them from competition or giving them special privileges. They are not giving anything to the community or the nation; they are rendering a disservice to the community.

About the last place a man can give anything to the community is getting on the board of education and compelling those people who do not trust tax supported teachers in educating their children to pay for their kind of education. Instead of being a service to the community, they are rendering a disservice. They are being a party to collective robbery—to public plunder. They are trying to spread an education that cannot define stealing without embarrassing those believing in compulsory "education". Its advocates cannot define freedom. They cannot define right from wrong. They are in effect contending there is no Higher Law. That there are two gods—the god of the majority, and the god of a man's conscience.

Best Way to Help Community

The best way any man who has been financially successful in the community can help the community is to gain understanding himself. He should devote enough time and energy to come to know that if it is immoral for one person to do a thing that it is immoral for a subdivision of the state to do the same thing. He should come to know that no individual or group has a moral right to initiate force against another individual to get part of their life energy. He should come to know that the best way to learn moral principles is to study (and that means pain) a few of the close reasoners of the Ages—such men as Moses, Jesus, John Lock, Herbert Spencer, Immanuel Kant, Frederic Bastiat, and Lincoln; and such modern thinkers as Leonard Read, Isabel Paterson, Henry Link, Rose Wilder Lane, Dr. Orville Watts, and Congressman Ralph Gwinn. If the business man who wants to serve his community would devote some of his spare time in studying these keen thinkers and become informed, he will be rendering a real service to the community.

No man can become informed or gain understanding without helping everyone that comes in contact with him. He thus will be rendering the best and most lasting kind of a service to the community. One cannot give away wealth without getting it, nor can one help another person get understanding and understand God's Law without himself first improving his own understanding in God's Law.

Yes, the way that a man can render the best servi to a community is to inform and develop and better himself spiritually, and morally. Of course, to learn is painful. It isn't as popular as getting on a board of education and leaving the impression with the public that you are a real leader and are willing to make a personal sacrifice in order to serve the community. The real sacrifice is to cut out a lot of time that is used to amuse and entertain ones self and devoting that time to the painful process of learning. That is the way to promote education in the community, not by joining the majority where the ill-informed out vote the wise 10 or 50 to 1. Where instead of helping promote education all you are doing is helping spread miseducation.

The columns are open to any member of any board of education or any public school teacher to refute the above, provided they will answer questions without contradicting themselves

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Two high explosive swashbucklers on the Republican side of the House aisle — Rules Committee Member Clarence J. Brown of Ohio and former Majority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana — are only now approaching speaking terms after a grammar school boys' exhibition of childish, political soreheadedness.

In miniature, their personal display of temper and rivalry reveals what is wrong with the raging Republicans today. Save for his private comments on his political protege, even Al Smith and the late FDR kept their bitter feud on a fairly lofty level. Only their cronies knew how much they hated each other.

EMBITTERED — Mr. Brown was Senator Robert A. Taft's pre-convention manager, and the big, bulky Clarence had every reason to believe that Mr. Halleck would support a fellow-Middle Westerner at the Philadelphia convention. Mr. Brown counted on the boy from Indiana to deliver his delegation to Senator Taft.

But the ambitious Hoosierite, despite his relatively minor role in the party, thought he saw a chance to cop the vice presidential nomination. In a surprise move, he threw his support to Governor Thomas E. Dewey, and, with Pennsylvania, he helped to smash the Taft-Stassen coalition against the Albany entry.

But Mr. Dewey could not afford to have as running-mate one of the most reactionary Republicans in the House, and the man largely responsible for giving some substance to the Truman charge that the 80th session was a "do nothing body."

The public snub embittered Mr. Halleck, personally and politically. His resentment boiled over when, in addition, the Democratic sweep robbed him of his majority leadership.

OPPOSITION — Nor was Mr. Brown, a normally dour individual, in a particularly happy mood when he returned to the Capital for the January session. In fact, it is doubtful if there are two grumpier individuals on the House side today than Clarence and "Charley."

As a leading member of the anti-Truman, bi-partisan alliance on the Rules Committee, the Ohioan had swaggered around as one of the most influential figures on "the Hill." He could dictate the fate of legislation, and he was one of the orgenization's strong men.

In fact, his bitter opposition to many rather liberal, Senate-passed measures was, with Halleck's obstinacy, largely responsible for so many losses of Republican House seats last November.

Oddly enough, although he headed Senator Taft's campaign, he seamed to take special delight in bucking and blocking measures which the Ohio senator had steered through the upper chamber.

POST — But Mr. Brown, like Mr. Halleck, lost his halo soon after his return to Washington for the current session.

In revising rules of procedure, the Democrats quickly stripped the committee of that name of its czaristic power over legislation. The erstwhile Buckeye boss became only another member of the minority.

Nevertheless, he was strong enough to pay off old scores against Mr. Halleck. When the Hoosierite lost his majority leadership, and when Former Speaker Martin stepped down into the minority leader's shoes, Mr. Halleck demanded the next most important post. He wanted to be assistant minority leader, or Republican whip.

But Mr. Brown argued, quietly and effectively, that Representative Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, who handled that job during Republican rule, would be retained. Mr. Martin, who also disliked the Halleck sellout to Dewey, agreed. So, "Charley," like Mr. Brown, is merely a member of the oppositon.

OFFICE — Messrs. Brown and Halleck are now speaking to each other, although so far only through the loudspeaker system in the House.

A few days ago, when Mr. Brown was assailing the Truman administration from the well, Mr. Halleck stood up alongside the minority bench, grabbed the "talkie" instrument and interjected a few rhetorical questions in an attempt to amplify the Ohioan's indictment.

Without lifting his eyes from his notes, Mr. Brown snapped: "I thank the gentleman from Indiana."

Although Mr. Halleck lost out as minority leader, he still keeps the luxurious office space that goes with that post. Mr. Arends must do his "whipping" from remote and inconvenient quarters in the House Office Building a block away.

In short, the GOP bosses in the House have a post-election "mad" against each other.

REDS — —Although the House onAmerican Committee under both the Dies and Parnell Thomas regimes admittedly deserved criticism, a windup survey entitles them to considerable credit: They did awaken millions of citizens to the dangers of Communist designs in this and other countries.

In its ten years of life, this group published 600,000 copies of documents dealing with the Reds' philosophy and procedure here and abroad. The most popular has been "100 Things You Should Know about Communism in the U. S. A." More than 500,000 copies have been distributed. The second best seller has been "100 Things You Should Know About Communism and Labor."

In addition to the direct demand, which exceeds present supply, summaries of all findings have been reprinted in newspapers and magazines, and relayed over the radio. The general support for the administration's anti-Russian program is due largely to this propaganda.

WHY HOUSING COSTS ARE HIGH

President Truman has urged that the Government go into slum clearance and Government housing in a big way. Everyone knows that Government construction is generally far more expensive than private construction. Therefore, what he is doing is asking the taxpayers to put their hard-earned cash into building houses and selling them at a loss to those favored citizens who, by hook or crook, are able to take advantage of the taxpayers' largess.

During the whole period of this nation's existence, private builders have supplied the country with adequate housing. Now, when, as the President admits, the nation is more prosperous than at any other time in the past, he assumes that our people cannot be housed without Government intervention.

The President's excuse for Governmental intervention is the admitted fact that building costs are now exorbitant. He is certainly on firm ground when he urges "all elements of the building industry substantially to lower costs." Doubtless, he knows that the major reason why housing prices are too high is that labor monopolies in the construction field have cut production per man to absurdly low levels, while at the same time raising sharply the pay per man hour.

In a subcommittee report made to Congress, it was stated:

"So far it has been established for a fact that labor unions acting either alone or in combination with contractors and suppliers of building materials have managed to achieve total monopolistic control over the building construction of whole cities and even of considerable areas adjacent to these cities. In nearly all our big cities, union bosses determine where and when the building craftsmen shall work, if at all, what his rate of production shall be, and what the rate of pay shall be. They arbitrarily limit the number who may join the union. That makes workmen scarce and forces wages up."

Investigation by the subcommittee revealed that a brick mason is limited by union law as to how many bricks he can lay in a day. He is now pemitted to lay a maximum of 500 bricks a day, as compared with 1,000 a day in 1940. Similar restrictions apply to lathers and other craftsmen.

These labor monopolists force restricted production by prohibiting incentive payments for high individual production, thus robbing both the public and the good conscientious worker, who gets no more and no less than the waster and the slacker. This is not the system that has made American industry the greatest in the world!

To illustrate the dangerous effect that such monopolistic practices are having upon our economy, the Congressional report brings out the fact that more than half of the heads of American families must now work 2½ days to get in exchange one day's service of a building craftsman. Most farmers must work a whole week of 70 hours to purchase 16 hours of building craftsmen's services.

This situation is the direct result of the monopoly which labor holds over the whole American construction and building industry. Here we have the explanation of why the average man finds the cost of a new home almost prohibitive.

Why does the President not suggest the obvious remedy—that is, the elimination of the labor monopolies which are causing the trouble?

loves a fat man, but America's number one "pitch lady" —Kate Smith— is still proving a plump girl can get along in the world without counting her calories.

For 18 years come next May 1st—her fortieth birthday— the moon has been coming over the mountain for big-hearted Katie.

It has been a full, round, golden moon—both for Katie and for radio. In her 18 years at the top she is estimated to have grossed $15 million—a mark equalled by few entertainers.

She and her longtime partner-manager, Ted Collins, the well-known philanthropist of professional football, are reported to share $10,000 to $12,000 a week even now.

But a big income alone doesn't explain a big girl like Kate. She's grown with the times.

Eighteen years ago she was merely a fresh new mellow contralto voice over the air waves. Today she is also a fairly strident contralto opinion.

For Katie doesn't just pitch tunes anymore. She now pitches home-spun philosophy. She pitches for causes, too — the Red Cross, the Army Nursing Corps, better treatment of veterans. She also pitches against things—like the 20 percent luxury tax on baby powder, heavy disease and racial intolerance.

Kate likes her role as a kind of poor woman's Dorothy Thompson. She enjoys her talking program as much as she does singing. It excites her.

There is little likelihood of her being idle. She writes two magazine columns on cooking and makes an average of 60 phonograph records a year.

Like any fat girl who was kidded in her youth for being overweight, Kate is still sensitive. But today she realizes fully that her stoutness is a capital asset. And the hurt helped her portray her life's role — the congenial warm hearted, big sister of everybody in distress. She likes the role and lives it.

THREATS TO PRIVATE BUSINESS
(Railway Age)

Private business in this country is confronted by the uphill task of preserving itself from starvation brought on by ever-increasing competition conducted by government.

How big a job this is going to be is plainly indicated by the demonstrable fact that a substantial majority of the American electorate has lost its one-time veneration for the principles of economic freedom.

Only a modest gift of horse sense is required to reach the conclusion that, if people are going to oppose socialism only in the special cases where it is to their immediate interest to do so, then capitalism can never expect to command a majority of the votes when any specific project for socialization is proposed. For example, the socialization of the steel industry not only might do no direct harm to the railroads and other consumers of steel — it might even give them a selfish advantage, by increasing the supply of steel and reducing prices by transferring a part of the cost to the taxpayers. The further spread of socialized electric power would similarly benefit all large users of electricity, by providing power at prices subsidized by taxation.

The only chance capitalism has of mustering up enough votes to prevent its extinction lies in the prospect that people who do not want their own businesses socialised will, somehow, get smart enough to oppose socialism for the "other fellow" as well as for themselves.

It surpasses belief that so obvious a conclusion could persistently escape the comprehension of brains which have risen to the top of many of the country's largest enterprises, but ... a booklet published by such a citadel of alleged "conservatism" as the National Highway Users Conference demands that highway costs continue to be spread by taxation among non-users of the highways — a position applicable with equal persuasiveness to paying the costs of any economic service in precisely the same coercive manner.

The "highway users" are exercised by the fact that there has arisen in many states a strong and apparently spontaneous movement for financing long-haul highways of the "super" category by tolls rather than by taxes. This movement is plainly a revulsion against the continued socialization of long-haul highway costs, now that the kind of roads demanded by high-speed, long-haul traffic has become so fancy and so expensive.

A railroad and a long-haul highway are, economically, precisely the same kind of facility. Since the railroad is privately owned, it has no taxing power, enabling it to force people who do not use the railroad to help pay for it.

If the "highway users" position against toll highways is tenable, then financing railroad fixed plant by taxation instead of by charges on railway patrons would be equally valid.

If the "highway users" are going to insist on continued socialized financing of long-haul highways which compete with railroads, then they will inevitably force socialized financing upon the railroads, or the railroads will have to fold up — which is not economically or socially tolerable, because there are transportation functions performed by the railroads which the highway cannot assume, at costs within the limits of practicability.

An intelligent looking, but somewhat seedy, individual haltingly crept into the editorial sanctum the other day.

"Maybe I should have gone to my doctor, or maybe to the county court," he said, "but I thought maybe you could tell me if I am going crazy."

We asked him to unfold.

"Well," he said, "I dreamed two nights in a row that taxes were going down—local taxes, state taxes, federal taxes. I woke up feeling so good that I got suspicious. Then I read the papers. . . What kind of meals and rooms do you get at these institutions, anyhow?"

Well . . . .

Dear me, it seems there's trouble every time my husband's eye wanders off the sports page of the newspaper. Now he's noticed a story about some lady Indians in South America who grow their hats right on their heads by starching their hair straight up and coloring it with a vermillion dye they get out of trees.

Now George is complaining because he wasn't born a backwoods Indian with a simple unspoiled child of nature for a wife, who got her new hat out of the jungle. At this point, I'd like to remark that it's probably a lot easier to beat a new hat out of the wild Amazon jungle than it is to get the money for one out of a husband.

The story says that this tribe of hat-growing Indians is gradually vanishing. I'd vanish, too, if I saw any friends coming while I was wearing a hat like that!

VICE PRESIDENCY . . . . . by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Vice President Alben W. Barkley made his inaugural off-the-cuff address as America's Public-Luncheon-and-Dinner-Guest-Speaker Number One before the General Federation of Women's Clubs the other day. It was a lulu.

Real purpose of the luncheon was to launch the G. F. W. C. "Build a Better Community" $60,000 prize contest. This is a most worthy enterprise under which the women's club that does the most to improve its community in the year ending Jan. 15, 1950, can win up to $10,000. There are second, third and state prizes and a sweepstakes prize to boot. The Kroger Co., midwest grocery chain, is generously picking up the check for the prizes.

After Mrs. J. L. Blair Buck, president of the federation, and Joseph B. Hall, president of Kroger's, had explained all about the contest, Vice President Barkley was called upon for appropriate remarks. This is a spectacle with which Washington and the nation at large will become increasingly familiar in the next four years.

The President is obviously too busy to attend al these things. As vice president, it is therefore Barkley's job to be the honored guest at as many functions as can be crowded into his schedule. As some wag remarked, "There wasn't any need to raise the vice president's pay because he won't have to buy a meal for himself from now on, as long as he holds the job."

Mr. Barkley can do this to perfection. Years of experience as Democratic leader in the Senate have schooled him on making remarks on any and all occasions. Just give him an audience.

IT GOES ON AND ON

Sentences roll on and on and on and on and on in regular rivers of words flowing endlessly, tirelessly towards the period which they sometimes never seem to reach because they are larded with prepositional phrases, dependent clauses modifying the original meaning to make sure that his listeners understand exactly what he means, and in such a way that there will be no embarrassment to the Democratic Party, to which he is ever loyal to such an extent that he manages to get in a plug for everything in the platform, so that by the time you reach the predicate you have entirely forgotten what the subject was or what relation it had to the verb, if any.

If this style leaves the audience somewhat breathless, it doesn't Barkley. He lets go with another just like it. It is pure oratory.

That was the way it was when he opened his vice presidential career at the club women's luncheon. The Senate wasn't in session that day so he could get away, and the ladies snagged him.

"I am on this program," he began, "as a link. Not the missing link, I hope (laughter), but as the link between your organizations and the government of the United States."

Then he turned serious and launched right into the middle of his theme, which might be labeled "Co-operation," and boiled down from 30 minutes to 30 seconds something like this:

Nobody would advocate the removal of the United States government from the fields of regulation of securities . . . air travel . . . communications. Our life has become more complex . . . the wilderness frontiers are gone . . . people live closer together . . and this had made it necessary for the government to enter many fields . . . economic . . . social . . . co-operating with every level of community effort . . moral . . intellectual . . physical.

He had always believed that every child had the right to be born into the community with every advantage that would fit him for whatever he might be called upon to do . . . the advantages of education . . . there was great need for federal aid to education . . . and a federal health program . . . not for the purpose of having the government take over the practice of medicine . . . but for improving wholesome health and social conditions. There must be adequate housing . . . soil conservation . . prevention of disastrous floods, Every city, county and state government was not created just to enable people to run for office . . he was speaking not as vice president but as an American . . . and that was why the General Federation of Women's Clubs should be congratulated for this excellent program which it was now launching.

Whew! All this strictly ad lib and without a note. That's your vice president for you! What a man!

Douglas Captures Texas Open Meet

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)— Golf's touring crack shots moved on to Houston today with a comparative newcomer to their ranks — tall Dave Douglas of Wilmington, Del. — climbing to sixth money-winner of the year through victory in the $10,000 Texas open.

Douglas, playing his second year on the tournament trail shot 22 under par for 72 holes to win the $2,000 first money with a total of 268. His final round was a blistering 65 over Brackenridge Park's 6,400-yard par 71 course yesterday. It edged Slammin' Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, Va., by a stroke. Snead wound up with a five-under-par 66 and a 72-hole total of 269.

Douglas, 30-year-old professional whose only first place until yesterday was the Orlando, Fla., Open in 1947, had the Texas Open in his hip pocket as he came to the final hole. He drove onto the green 15 feet from the pin and needed only a two-putt job to win.

Sportsmen's Tourney Dates Completed

AUSTIN —(Special)— Plans for the first Texas Sportsmen's competition at which state champion sportsmen will be selected moved forward today following a meeting in Brownwood of local groups handling arrangements.

The meet is scheduled for April 3-9 on the old Camp Bowie grounds at Brownwood under sponsorship of the Texas Wildlife Federation. State champions will be selected in skeet shooting, trap shooting, plug casting, fly casting, pistol marksmanship, and both small bore and large bore rifle marksmanship. In addition, there will be a championship bench show for all types of hunting dogs.

Loy Brown, of the Brown County Sportsmen's Association and second vice president of the Texas Wildlife Federation, has been selected as local general chairman for the competition.

Peggy Kirk Wins

PALM BEACH, Fla.—(AP)— Peggy Kirk of Findlay, O., won the 24th annual Palm Beach Women's Golf Tournament Saturday by defeating Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Texas, 2 to 1.

The outcome duplicated the final of a year ago with the same contestants and the same score.

WARREN'S WARM UP

By Warren Hasse---News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What, when and where was the largest crowd ever assembled to witness a boxing match?

WHAT HAPPENED: The loss to the Sandies Saturday night in the final 15 seconds of play was a very disappointing outcome to many fans, but none felt worse than the players and their coach. They really wanted that game, and very nearly had it won. But the fine shooting eye of Little Jack Little snatched the game and the championship away for the time being.

Now the Harvesters are in a three-way tie, and they must win tonight to remain in it. Though no decision has been made as yet how the tie will be played off, probably one team will be drawn out of a hat, and that team will draw a bye. The remaining two teams will meet for the right to play the third team. Settlement of playing sites will probably depend upon the flip of a coin, although they may be played on a neutral court.

Back to Saturday's game, the Harvesters looked good most of the time. They played much better ball than in the first meeting. They missed several easy lay-up shots, but so did the Sandies. The Green and Gold had to fight back from an early five point deficit to gain a nine point margin at the start of the fourth period. They played scrappy ball all of the way to this point, aggressive ball, trying to score at every opportunity. But from here on they were outhustled by a fine Sandie team.

The Harvesters appeared content to play a defensive-offensive game, if there is any such thing. They took the ball down court, but lacked the same zest they had shown to this point in trying to score. They hung back in mid-court, apparently fearing a Sandie score rather than attempting to score themselves, although they had outscored the Amarilloans in the last two periods by a total of 23-9 with their scrapping offense. This lack of attack in the final period is what probably cost them the ball game.

Roses, for his fine play, go to Senior forward Bill Bond. His fight and rebound work under the baskets at both ends of the floor was amazing and outstanding. He undoubtedly saved the Sandies from getting many more baskets by his fine work on the backboards.

The Harvesters should know by now that the Sandies aren't invincible, even at the hands of a Pampa athletic team, and they can be whipped. But it will take constant fight, with no let-up to do the job. If the two teams should be pitted together again in the possible playoff, Warmup looks for the Harvesters to score a wide-margin victory.

ANSWER: The largest crowd ever to see a fight, 120,757, witnessed the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Franklin Field in Philadelphia and paid $1,895,733 to see Tunney score his upset in 1926.

DOTS AND DASHES: The crowning of the basketball queen before the game Saturday was rather strange. . . From where Warmup sat, team captain Malcolm Douglass kissed the queen . . Yet when Derral Davis walked past he was wearing the lipstick. . . His was a shade like Cherie McDaniels', though —— The Harvesters hit another of those fine records from the foul line . . . After missing the first one of the night they made thirteen straight before missing again, finishing the night with 13 of 15 attempted — "Everybody's Critic" claimed that in twenty years he had never gotten a seat at the scorers table in Pampa. . . So, always thinking of his elders, Warmup personally offered him a seat there to make sure he would have one this year. . . But he kindly refused the offer with the statement he would rather sit up in the stands. . . . But he moved down onto the Amarillo bench before the game started——The boys who did the radio broadcast of the game had their tongues hanging out when the affair was over. . . They really had a tough time of it trying to keep up with the fast play and making themselves heard above the roar of the crowd —— The clock caused considerable confuson by first jumping 15 seconds ahead, and then freezing with 15 seconds left to play——The crowd was stretched out a block long, an hour and a half before game time, waiting to get tickets. . . Every available seating space was filled to overflowing. . . We surely do need a good place to play ball.

Hogan May Go Home

EL PASO — (AP) — Bantam Ben Hogan, famed professional golfer, may be able to leave a hospital here for his Fort Worth home by next weekend.

Hogan's wife said yesterday that if his recovery from automobile accident injuries continues as well as it has been doing, he may be able to make the trip.

Hogan suffered a fractured pelvis, rib, shoulder and broke an ankle bone in an automobile-bus accident near Van Horn, Tex., Feb. 2.

Mrs. Hogan was only slightly injured.

Harvesters Close Conference Race With Plainview Tonight

Tonight the Harvesters meet the Plainview Bulldogs in a game they must win to remain in the district 1-AA basketball race, which at present is knotted up in a three-way tie among Amarillo, Lubbock and the Harvesters. They certainly blew their chance to gain sole possession of the championship Saturday night.

The Harvesters already hold one decision over the Bulldogs, a 54-40 victory garnered at Plainview last Tuesday night. Plainview didn't look too tough that night, but the Harvesters could be far below par tonight, a let-down from the high pitch of the Amarillo contest. They can't afford to be down for this contest, though. They need this win and need it badly.

One feature of the Plainview team will be the Indian style haircuts that many of the team members wear. They have a fine crop growing up the middle, but they are shaved clean on either side.

Bob Kay is the leading scorer and is challenging Derral Davis for the scoring honors in the district, so this may turn out to be an individual battle of two high scorers. At Plainview, Davis looped in 23 points, his highest total of the year so far. And this game tonight is his final conference game, his last chance to add to that total.

Game time is 8 o'clock and the game will again be broadcast over KPDN for the benefit of those unable to attend tonight.

Amarillo Boxers All Eliminated

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Tom Adams of Abilene is a heavy favorite to defend his light heavyweight crown here tonight in the finals of the State Golden Gloves. The other champion shooting for a second title may have rough going.

Adams, who has won his division for the last two years, takes on David Carter of San Antonio.

Carter, 175-pound Trinity University student, has barely managed to get by a couple of opponents.

Little Fred Morales of Allen Academy in the Temple region faces a tough task defending his flyweight title. He tangles with a rough, tall irish boy, Pat Riley of Dallas.

Morales scored a technical knockout over Henry Kagawa, 1946 champion, Saturday night to gain the finals.

Riley advanced by comfortable margins over all foes.

A couple of former champions are in the field of 16 — all that's left from the more than 100 amateur boxers who started last Wednesday night.

Herbert May held the middleweight crown in 1946. He meets Bob Walke of Corpus Christi in this division tonight.

Valentino Luna, Austin, was bantamweight titlist in 1946. He's in the featherweight class now and faces Billy Dickerson of Brownwood in the championship bout.

The pairings (championship class):

Flyweight: Pat Riley, Dallas, 111 vs. Fred Morales, Temple, 109.

Bantamweight: Roland Conway, Dallas, 118 vs. Ed Stephens, Beaumont, 119.

Featherweight: Valentino Luna, Austin, 127 vs. Billy Dickerson Brownwood, 127.

Lightweight: John O'Glee, Dallas, 133 vs. Eddie Garza, San Antonio, 136.

Welterweight: Pete Gil, Austin 148 vs. Billy Burkhart, Abilene, 146.

Middleweight: Herbert May, Houston, 160 vs. Bob Walke, Corpus Christi, 158.

Light Heavyweight: Tom Adams, Abilene, 174 vs. David Carter, San Antonio, 175.

Heavyweight: Don Thompson, Odessa, 200 vs. James Hoff, Houston, 194.

The St. Louis Cardinals will conduct a mass training camp at Albany, Ga., next spring, with 400 players from 13 farm teams in action.

Arkansas Takes Over Lead in Mad Southwest Conference Cage Race

By the Associated Press

The Southwest Conference basketball race is almost like the children's game of "Button, Button."

Who's in first?

Arkansas right now. Early last week it was Baylor, Rice and Arkansas. Tomorrow night, late, it will be Arkansas and—Baylor or Rice. By Saturday, well. . . ?

Southern Methodist started the standings see-sawing last week by upsetting Rice, 47-46. Arkansas climaxed the dizzy doings by virtually eliminating the University of Texas Longhorns from the title race, 54-50.

The Razorbacks' Saturday night victory over Texas was their second of the week. The first score was 60-54. The twin victories over Texas put Arkansas alone at the head of the conference standings. The situaton, however, is temporary.

There are five games on the schedule this week. The most important are those matching Rice and Baylor tomorrow night at Houston; Texas and Baylor at Waco and Southern Methodist and Arkansas at Fayetteville, Ark., Saturday.

Addition of the morning line to Hialeah's printed program this season has been enthusiastically received.

In 1948, when they won the National League pennant, the Boston Braves had the lowest percentage in the league for hitting home runs at home.

Although the New York Giants hit 57 less homers in 1948 than they did the previous year, their 1948 total of 164 still led the National League by 56.

January Telephone Damage Reaches Ten Million Dollars

January was the most costly month Southwestern Bell Telephone Company ever has known—ten million dollars damage from ice, sleet, floods, zero cold, wind. Winter's paralyzing blows brought the most costly disaster in company history, and also the most extensive.

From San Antonio and Pecos, through most of central and west Texas, diagonally across Oklahoma, southeastern Kansas, northwest Arkansas, and Missouri to Hannibal on the banks of the Mississippi River, new storms caused additional damage every few days. And floods in Arkansas washed out miles of long distance lines. The areas affected are shown on the map above.

These figures show the extent of the damage: 24,000 poles down, 36,000 crossarms broken; 4,800 long distance circuits knocked out; 53,000 telephones temporarily silent; 200 communities isolated for a time.

Service restored quickly

Two things made it possible to restore service quickly.

First, the diligence and skill of 4,200 telephone men. They came with their trucks and tools from all parts of our company territory and from other Bell System companies—Mountain States, Illinois Bell, Southern Bell.

Disregarding personal hardships and in the finest traditions of the business, these men worked from dawn to dark—from "can" to "can't" as Plant men say—seven days a week, under conditions that were always difficult. Sometimes they could scarcely walk on the ice crust, and their trucks were immovable on slippery highways. But, one way or another, they got to where they were needed, and they got the job done.

Reason No. 2—the teamwork that characterizes Bell System service.

Western Electric Company, supply unit of the Bell System, marshaled its nation-wide resources. From Western's warehouses or outside suppliers in 45 communities scattered through 21 states, the materials moved, at once.

A steady stream of poles, crossarms, drop wire, cable, insulators, steel strand, tie wire—all the things the storms had smashed—flowed into the iced area. At no time was work held up by lack of supplies.

Wire shipments during the month were more than was required by Southwestern Bell in all of the fourth quarter of 1948 for normal purposes. In addition to wire, thousands of poles, crossarms, and tons of pole-line hardware were moved by truck, by express, and by air into the storm areas.

Equipment is standardized

In the Bell System telephone equipment is standardized. The parts that fit in Texas work equally well in Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, or anywhere else. Thus, even the construction gangs from the other companies found no equipment puzzles—and their own tools worked perfectly.

Bell System teamwork met the challenge of these storms. Most of the service has been restored. But permanent repairs, especially on toll lines, will take months to complete. For every wire damaged by the storm must be retied and "resagged" to meet Bell System standards before the job will be finished.

Just a few suggestions to the man who feels his business and his name are so well-known he needs no sales help!

WHEN - - -
man becomes a creature of habit so thoroly he will certainly buy this year where he bought last year . . .

WHEN - - -
younger fresher and spunkier concerns in your line cease starting up and taking "your customers" away thru advertising . . .

WHEN - - -
population ceases to increase and no new folks want to live and work in your town . . .

WHEN - - - you have thoroly convinced everyone who ever has or ever will be in your store that they will now and forever get better buys from you . . .

WHEN - - -
business principles reverse themselves and the non-advertiser does more business than the successful advertising merchant . . .

WHEN - - - men stop making tremendous strides in business thru well-planned newspaper advertising . . .

WHEN - - - you can forget the words of wise merchants the world-over who attribute their success to wise use of newspaper advertising . . .

W. H. Henry Lane Starts New Service for Pampans

Best Service Found Here

The Shamrock Service Station, 400 W. Foster, provides just about the best service that is available in the state of Texas.

The station is managed by Charles Ford, who has been in the gas and oil business the greater part of his life. The station carries all the leading brands of oil in addition to handling Shamrock gasoline.

The little white and green service station is always tidy as if it had just been through a vigorous scrubbing. It helps make Foster and Somerville corner one of the best looking corners in Pampa.

Versatility Is Shown at Berry's

Berry's Pharmacy, 100 S. Cuyler, handles every drug store need.

Jointly owned by H. C. Berry and Clyde Oswalt, the pharmacy has stood on "the friendly corner" for the past six years.

Some of the different necessities sold at Berry's include: Ronson table and pocket cigaret lighters, electric clocks, greeting cards, thermos jugs, Meekers billfolds, luggage, pipes, waffle irons, coffee pots, orange juicers, tea pots, toasters and a hundred and one things.

The complete cosmetic department, under the management of Mrs. Emma Olsen, has everything imaginable that will beautify women. Featuring Helena Rubenstein's cosmetics, Mrs. Olsen carries bath powder sets, perfume, cologne and sachet sets, lades' billfolds, Evening in Paris perfume kits and Old South toiletries.

The men's department is just as completely equipped as is the women's.

Also, every nationally known drug is carried by the pharmacy. When one needs a prescription filled, he may rest assured that Berry's will handle it promptly and efficiently.

The final touch to the pharmacy that gives it that personal appeal is the complete soda fountain. More and more the Pampa business people are stopping in at Berry's for their morning coffee.

'I'm Not Going to Waste Away My Life Over a Hot Old Stove'

"I'm not going to spend my whole life over a hot stove," many Pampa housewives have said.

And why should they? With the Pampa Baking Company right at hand there is no need for any woman to spend hour upon hour in the kitchen.

The Pampa Baking Company, 848 W. Foster, has been owned and operated by Frank Rapstine for the past year. Regardless of one's desires in the bread and pastry lines, the local bakery is the place to contact.

Henderson-Wilson Service Station Is Camping Grounds for Pampa Cars

The Henderson-Wilson Phillips 66 Service Station, 301 W. Kingsmill, is the camping grounds for many Pampa cars.

The station owned by R. F. Henderson and J. B. Wilson for the past two years, is indeed a versatile station. Featuring Phillips 66 products, the station also handles Lee tires and tubes. Phillips radios, irons and batteries and a full line of Phillips chemical products such as polishes, waxers, radiator cleaners and so forth, also are sold at the local station.

Customers are quick to note the washing and lubrication jobs, pick up and greasing services and tire repair jobs are especially well done at the tan-brick, maroon trimmed station.

Besides the owners of Henderson-Wilson Service Station, three other men are employed. Ray Sanger, who specializes in lubrication work, has had more than 10 years of experience in his field. Bob Lewellyn and A. V. Adkism are filling station attendant and porter, respectively.

WAA SELLS LAND

DALLAS —(AP) The War Assets Administration announced it had sold 23.53 acres of land, buildings and two spur tracks at Camp Normoyle, San Antonio, to C. S. McCreless and Roy L. McGregor of San Antonio. The purchasers paid $276,500 for the properties, the WAA said.

SINGER WEDS

CHICAGO — (AP) — Singer Mel Torme and Candy Toxton, movie starlet were married Friday night.

Martin Will Head Cancer Drive

J. Ray Martin, underwriter for the Business Men's Assurance Company, again will serve as Gray County chairman of the American Cancer Society drive.

The drive is scheduled to start the first part of April. This year will mark Martin's third consecutive year as chairman. He has been in the insurance business in Pampa for the past 15 years. His office is 107 N. Frost and has been since 1935.

BMA pioneered health, accident and hospital insurance. The company specializes in life income annuities and group insurances.

Mobilgas Handled at Hall & Pinson Tire Co.

Mobilgas is sold from the 301 W. Foster corner, the Hall & Pinson Tire Company.

The reddish brick front of the company has plenty of drive-in space to provide speedy service to Pampans.

Owned and operated for the past five years by Omar V. and Leymond O. Hall and Dale Pinson, the company offers renovation service for autos. After one of the Hall & Pinson renovation jobs, the cars appear to be almost like new.

Other items sold at the tire company include Kelly-Springfield tires, batteries, accessories and seat and floor mats.

BLOCKADE TIGHTENED

BERLIN —(AP)— The Russians tightened their blockade yesterday to stop the Swedish Red Cross from supplying food for Western Berlin's children.

Fi-Blak Home Insulation Company Is Now Located at 835 S. Barnes, Pampa

THIS IS IT! The new truck that will be used at the latest business enterprise in Pampa. Fi-Blak is the only genuine rock wool and is now available here for the first time. It prevents wall sweating and is fireproof.

Pampans, as well as people the world over, find themselves saying at the end of each winter: "I won't live in this house another winter unless I get it insulated. Why freeze?"

Then there are Pampans, and others, who say at the close of each summer: "I'll swear, I won't live here another summer until this joint has been insulated. Why swelter?"

But the approach of the next hot and cold seasons generally find home owners still putting home insulation further into the future.

For the first time Fi-Blak, the shield of comfort, may be obtained right here in Pampa and it is the only genuine rock wool. Therefore, these "put-it-off" people should do more than swear they wil check into home insulating.

Henry Lane, who has been in business in Pampa for the past 20 years, now offers Fi-Blak to those who want to live in comfort in this changing Panhandle weather. He will offer free estimates of the total cost of an insulation job on your home.

A furnace tender who tossed every third shovelful of coal into the ashcan would lose his job promptly, but the effect is the same when homes continue year after year to pour out precious heat through uninsulated roofs and walls.

The U.S. today contains some 37,000,000 dwelling units — so it appears there are many who should look into home insulations.

To the ordinary home owner insulation is simply a more or less effective barrier to retain heat in winter and keep it out in summer. However, Fi-Blak provides more than that. Modern transportation enables the wealthy and many of the poor to migrate with the birds south in winter and north in summer. But, for the middle-class folks who have regular jobs and must "stay put," insulation is a thrifty means of maintaining homes at comfortable temperatures.

Still another extra dvidend, seldom stressed but well recognized by mortgage lenders is the fact that insulation in side walls and ceilings reduces the number of times the interior of the house must be redecorated during the lifetime of a loan. With wall paper and pant in better condition, the house is not only a better place to live in, but a better mortgage risk as well.

Insulation is no better than the man who installs it. That is why Pampans should contact Lane and get the job done right with Fi-Blak. The natural time to install insulation is when the house is first built, as it costs less then; however, insulation can be added to existing homes at any time with relatively little expense compared with resulting saving in fuel costs and gain in comfort.

Paint Line at Thompson's

Thompson Glass and Paint Company, 219 N. Ballard, has been operated from its new location since June 1.

E. C. Thompson, owner, formerly ran his business from 119 W. Foster. Frank Nelson is in charge in the floor-covering department and provides excellent workmanship.

The paint company has the only complete stock of paints in Pampa. Besides its many paints, it carries wallpaper, wall covering, Wall Tex wall covering and paint brushes. Many Pampa homes now have their kitchen and bathroom walls covered with Wall Tex.

During an oft-painting season, the company was able to stock paint and more paint. So when you're needing a particular kind of paint that isn't to be found —go to 219 N. Ballard.

At Thompson's many items are kept stocked that are to be found nowhere else in Pampa.

17 Years Service— Peg's Cabs

The year 1949 marks the 17th straight year Pampans have been served by Peg's Cab Company, 207 N. Frost.

The company, owned by C. M. "Peg" Whittle, has provided countless services to Pampans. Fourteen dependable drivers are employed and have a smile for all their customers.

Four new special built Chevrolet taxis recently have been added to the company. There are now 12 cabs in use, eight of which are two-way radio equipped.

Special services provided by Peg and his crew include "town alarm clock service," which means the company, upon request, will phone any home in Pampa so they may catch that train or bus or to get up and greet another day; giving information out of city and rural directories and messenger service for the phone company on long distance calls. On order is a new telephone switchboard—so Pampans will be assured of even speedier telephone service.

Peg was formerly associated with Safety First Bus Company which was in operation during the Pampa boom days.

Regardless of weather conditions Peg's cabs are always on the go and are ready to call your door shortly after you have telephoned 94 requesting a cab.

Martin & Turner Insurance Agency Handles Many Types of Insurance

Martin & Turner Insurance Agency during the past five years has gathered many followers in the Top o' Texas area.

The agency, owned by J. Ray Martin and Mrs. J. M. Turner, carries every type insurance. The business is built upon honesty, so it is little wonder that so many Pampans have turned to 107 N. Frost to receive wise council and advice in their insurance needs.

Specializing in fire, auto, casualty and hail indurance, bonds and loans, the agency represents only stock companies. The owners have spent many hours with the customers explaining in detail the provisions of their various types of insurance.

When getting auto loans through Martin & Turner, Pampans are assured there will be no extra service charges.

Another type of insurance handled at the agency is polio insurance. Four local cases last summer had policies with the agency, which saved parents and the national Polio Foundation a great deal.
