Kassahn ordered to pay $5 M

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Area cattleman Jim Kassahn and his wife, Paula, lost another legal battle on Wednesday when they were ordered to pay $5 million to Barrett-Crofoot Inc. of Hereford.

The payment was ordered by Amarillo 108th State District Judge Jarl Dowell.

Barrett-Crofoot, a Hereford-based cattle feeding company, had inherited a $5.7 million claim against Kassahn and J.P.'s Family Inc., from First National Bank of Amarillo after the bank and Barrett-Crofoot settled their differences on the matter in March.

The bank had sued the Kassahns in August 1987, seeking payment of $12.7 million in principal due on a loan from FNB. The bank claimed Kassahn had misrepresented his ownership of 37,000 head of cattle.

First National also named Barrett-Crofoot Inc. in the suit. Kassahn's cattle were being fed in the company's feedlots. The bank named the Hereford company to prevent it from selling Kassahn's cattle because the cattle were the collateral for the FNB note.

FNB claimed that Kassahn said that J.P.'s Family Inc. owned 37,000 head of cattle free and clear in order to obtain the loan.

According to court documents, however, Kassahn had an interest in only 16,000 head of cattle, and the cattle were held by a partnership including Kassahn, Ed Barrett of Hereford and Jay Crofoot of Lubbock.

Court documents show the cattle were carried under the names of J.P.'s Family Inc., Kassahn, or BC&K, the partnership.

Barrett-Crofoot was not accused of wrongdoing in any of the actions.

Kassahn, who had several holdings in the Hereford area, is the former president of the First State Bank of Bovina, which was closed last year after being declared insolvent by the State Banking Commission; a former director of American State Bank in Lubbock and a past member of the board of directors of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association. He has been the target of several civil and criminal actions in the past two years.

On Nov. 21, Kassahn pleaded guilty to a fraud charge in U.S. District Court in Lubbock.

Kassahn was accused of defrauding Hale County State Bank in Plainview. He was charged with using the same securities twice; once for collateral for a loan at the Plainview Bank, then later for a loan at a Dallas bank.

Kassahn is awaiting sentencing on that charge. He could receive up to five years in prison, a fine of up to $250,000, and double restitution.

Christmas castaway

A Christmas tree has been stripped of its ornaments and cast beside a dumpster, its "useful" life as a holiday centerpiece completed. In some parts of the state, the trees are collector's items; they're being used to help rebuild beaches along the gulf coast that were severely eroded by high tides during last summer's hurricane season.

European beef ban may be ploy to lower supply

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Bob Josseland of Hereford, president-elect of the National Cattlemen's Association, said Wednesday that a restriction against U.S. meat exports by the European Community may have more to do with a beef backlog in Europe than with concern over growth hormones commonly used in cattle feeding.

Josseland, in a telephone interview from Santa Fe, N.M., said the Europeans have a year's worth of beef in cold storage and have no hopes of depleting the oversupply without cutting down imports.

Josseland originally made that point Monday in a "debate" with an EC representative from Brussels on the "TODAY" show on NBC.

"He didn't have anything to stand on, and when I pinned him down on their oversupply, he didn't have anything to say," Josseland said.

The European Community, beginning Sunday, will ban all beef imports that contain growth hormones. The hormones are commonly used in cattle feeding, and numerous studies performed over the last 10 years show that the hormones have no ill effects in humans.

They (Europeans) know this, but some of the people over in Europe started beating their chests on this a couple of years ago," Josseland said. "They were going to impose this ban a year ago and they delayed it a year, but the politicians pushed it through."

"I think eventually GATT (the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade) will come in and say 'This is unfair,' and they will eventually back down."

Josseland said he felt it could be from six to 12 months before the Europeans open their door to American beef.

"The only thing I see having an impact is on our psychology, not on prices," Josseland said. "I think this action has already been accounted for in our prices. I think people may object when they have to pay more money for a Danish ham."

"But I think a lot of people won't object because America is taking a stand (by imposing 100 percent duties on many European food products). We can show the world we're tired of being patsies on trade."

"When it's all over, and they retaliate and we retaliate again, we may come out ahead. We send them about $150 million worth of goods a year, and they send us $450 million.

In the dispute over beef growth hormones, it may be U.S. cattle producers. The European Community has a year's worth of beef in cold storage, and that may be why it wants to hold down beef imports.

Bliss, Galveston among listed bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Pentagon commission today recommended the Navy abandon its plans to build a reserve homeport in Galveston and shift its fleet to the Ingleside homeport near Corpus Christi.

Under a proposed realignment of military functions nationwide, Texas would still gain personnel at several installations. Fort Bliss in El Paso, however, would see its basic training courses transferred to Fort Jackson, S.C., resulting in the loss of 238 military personnel and 83 civilian employees.

Overall, the state will lose 730 military personnel and 128 civilians, but is picking up 2,445 military workers and 571 civilians.

The proposals are part of a commission plan to close 86 military bases nationwide, partially shut down five others, and realign another 54.

Neither Cannon Air Force Base at Clovis, N.M., nor Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock were affected by today's report. Both had been on various lists of closings.

Commission members said the closures nationwide would save $5.6 billion over 20 years.

"Clearly, this is not a happy report for those affected negatively," said U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm. "Looking at the overall state, however, Texas fared better than any other state in the union, certainly better than any other state with the kind of military facilities we have."

No leads on Pan Am bomb

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Administration, mystified at how a bomb got aboard Pan Am Flight 103, began searching for possible security lapses by U.S. airlines abroad and directed tighter screening of passengers and their baggage.

Government officials acknowledged Wednesday that a week after the Pan American World Airways jumbo jet exploded over Scotland, killing at least 270 people, there are no hard leads on who put the explosive device on the jet or where the deed was done.

Shortly after it was confirmed Wednesday by British investigators that a bomb caused the Boeing 747 to crash Dec. 21 on a flight to New York from London, the Reagan administration promised "all available assistance" in investigating the bombing.

U.S. officials said there was a wide range of terrorist groups that may have been responsible. But Paul Bremer, the State Department's chief of counterterrorism, told reporters it was too early to focus suspicion on a particular group.

"We shouldn't narrow our field of inquiry until we get more evidence or intelligence that leads us in a certain direction. ... There isn't any prime suspect," he said.

The FAA, meanwhile, said it was "reviewing current security measures" being taken by U.S. air carriers abroad because of the bombing and said it was preparing "more stringent security requirements which will afford additional protection to U.S. air carriers and the traveling public."

The FAA in a statement did not cite specific changes that are being directed at the airlines. Agency spokesman Fred Farrar said FAA security experts are still working out details of the new requirements, some of which are likely not to be made public.

Much of the focus is expected to be on tightening passengers screening, inspection of carry-on luggage and taking additional precautions to match all baggage with boarding passengers.

"In some cases it will be a matter of degree," Farrar said.

The FAA is responsible for establishing security requirements for U.S. airlines both in the United States and abroad, although many security measures are imposed in cooperation with the other governments involved.

While little evidence so far has been uncovered to indicate who might be responsible for the Pan Am bombing, U.S. officials said there are a number of potential suspects. They include radical Palestinians such as the pro-Syrian Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, general Command, and the pro-Libyan Abu Nidal group, as well as an Iranian group, the Guardians of Islamic Revolution.

Bremer said among the tasks confronting investigators was to find out how the bomb got aboard Flight 103, where it was placed and what it was made of. It's not known whether the bomb eluded security at Frankfurt, West Germany, where Flight 103 originated as a Boeing 727, or at London's Heathrow Airport, where the flight shifted to a Boeing 747 for the trip to New York.

Senior FAA officials have acknowledged that they are perplexed by the bombing because both the Frankfurt and London airports are considered to be particularly security conscious and Pan Am had undertaken special security precautions because of a tip the airline might be a target of a terrorist bombing.

"The incident points up the need for the international community to adopt even more stringent air security measures," State Department spokeswoman Phyllis Oakley said.

She said the United States had agreed with Finnish police in ruling out any connection between the crash and a Dec. 5 telephone call to the U.S. Embassy in Helsinki from a person who said a Pan Am jet would be the target of a bombing in December. That call had prompted an alert from the FAA and caused Pan Am to increase security at Frankfurt and London, officials have said.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

America made the proper choice on Nov. 8 when it chose George Bush to be the next President of the United States.

I make that statement based not on political ideology or that more plentiful rhetoric. I make that statement based not on party loyalty.

I, in keeping with my waistline, make that statement based on FOOD.

Had we known what each candidate's favorite foods were before the election, we could have had a clearer conscience going into and coming out of the voting booth.

Let us get rid of all of these questions at debates dealing with the killers of wives and thousand points of light and the other faldral.

In 1992, let us remember to ask the real question: "What is your favorite food?"

For which man would you cast your ballot? One whose favorite foods included spinach pie, or one who preferred caesar salad and chocolate mousse.

How could you vote for a man who likes SPINACH PIE? Well, some of you did.

However, he lost.

Yes, Gov. Michael Dukakis lists spinach pie as one of his favorite foods.

How can you like spinach pie. An English teacher would call that an oxymoron. You cannot have spinach and pie in the same dish. Rhubarb, yes. Spinach, no?

How do you fix spinach pie? I dunno, I guess you don't cook the fresh spinach leaves in advance, add five pounds of sugar, place in a graham cracker crust, cook it just long enough to melt the sugar but not long enough to make the spinach stringy, then eat it with your eyes closed.

Dukakis also likes "Cape Cod clam chowder." I know that New England Clam Chowder is made with milk, and New York Clam Chowder is made with tomatoes. I suppose Cape Cod clam chowder has both tomatoes and milk.

And probably spinach, too.

On the other hand, the winner, George the Wimp, likes chocolate mousse and caesar salad.

Caesar salad I'm not sure about. I have this thing about eating raw egg mixed in anything.

Mousse is all right. I've never met a mousse I didn't like.

And that includes Bulwinkle.

Instead of Bernard Shaw asking about the death penalty, lets have

The Frugal Gourmet and Julia Child and Paul Prudhomme ask about food at the next presidential debate.

"Mr. Fudd, what is your most favorite food in the whole world?"

"I wike wabbit vewwy, vewwy much."

"Mr. Wile E. Coyote, how about you?"

"I like those bleep-bleep roadrunners."

And if George Bush decides to run again in 1992, his favorite dish, by the time Congress gets through with his "no new taxes" pledge, will have a different answer.

"Crow. Very well done crow."

I found it interesting the other day when the news was full of reports about George doing some quail hunting.

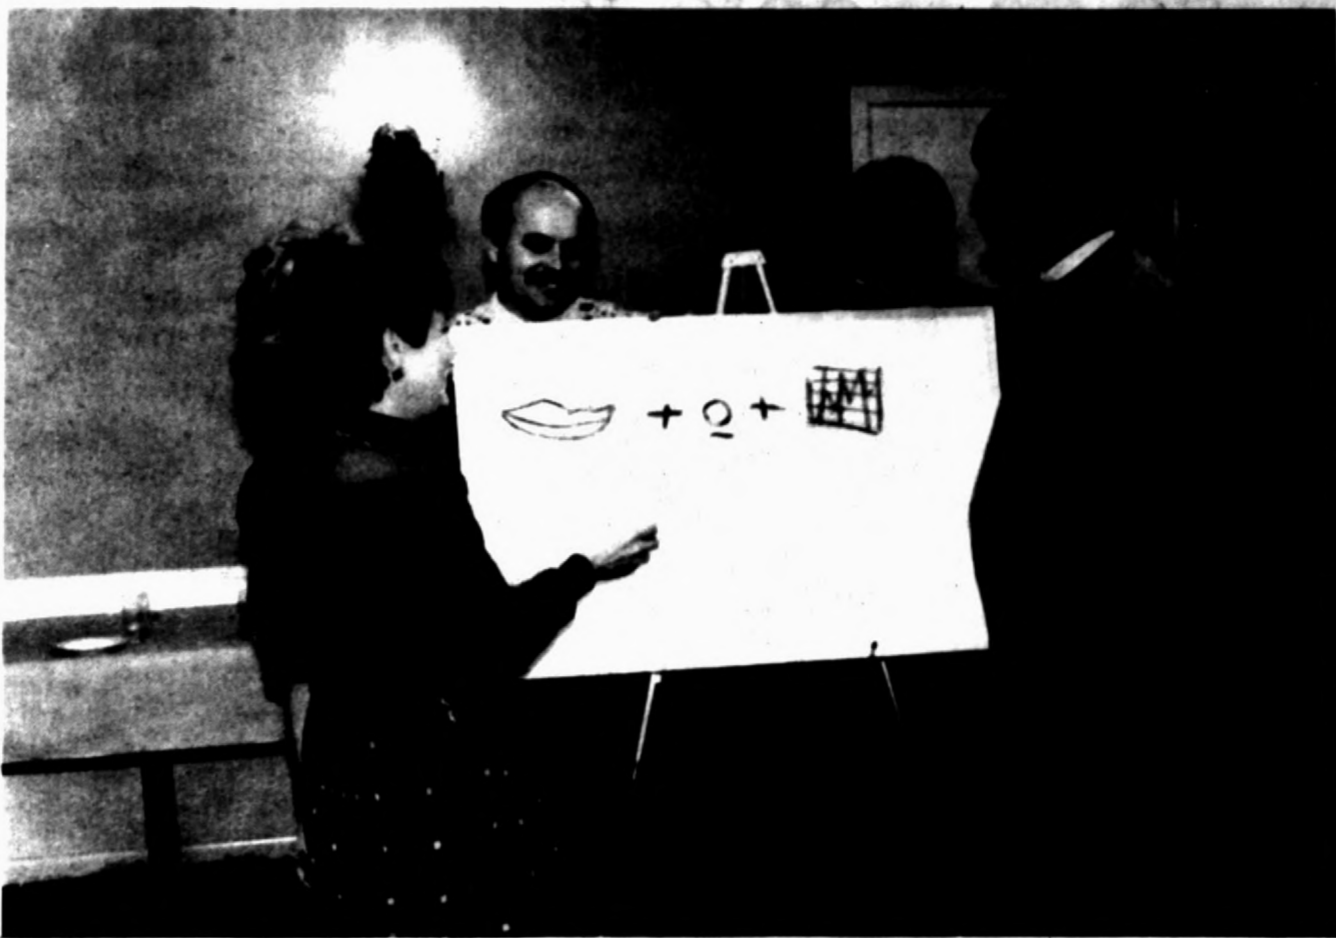

Perhaps the press got it wrong.

He was actually "Quayle" hunting.

Has anyone actually SEEN Dan Quayle since the election?

Elvis has been seen more often in the last two months than has Dan Quayle.

We've spent much of the past eight years hunting for Bush. The whole country may be Quayle hunting for the next four years.

Cheerleaders pom their pons at national contest

DALLAS (AP) — Each year the man who gave the world pom-poms gathers the nation's cheerleaders for a contest and absorbs their energy.

"There's a lot of energetic kids in there," Lawrence Herkimer said Wednesday as he watched one of the more than 400 cheerleading squads go through its routine in the preliminary round of the National Cheerleading Association's National Championships.

The cheerleaders are prevented from building pyramids and from tossing squad members, rules Herkimer said put a premium on creativity.

"They've gotten much more creative, all the dances and the music," he said. "Each year, people come out of the woodwork doing things I've never seen before."

The 2½-minute routines are a combination of yells, gymnastics and dances, sometimes accompanied by high-energy rock music.

Herkimer created the contest in 1983 "to give cheerleaders national recognition for all the hard work they do."

The contest, which this year attracted about 4,000 cheerleaders from 30 states, is just part of Herkimer's cheerleading empire, which includes a supply company, two uniform manufacturers and 375 summer cheerleading camps in 49 states. A national contest for college squads is scheduled for Jan. 7 in Dallas.

A cheerleader in college, Herkimer started the NCA and his Cheerleading Supply Co. shortly after World War II. After seeing color television at the New York World's Fair, Herkimer wanted to add color to cheerleaders' shows at football games, so he and his wife attached crepe paper to sticks, obtained a patent and started a pom-pom factory.

Cheerleading squads that win the top award at the summer camps and those that win one of 35 fall regional competitions are invited to the national contest.

Each team performed its routine before a panel of judges and hundreds of spectators in the Dallas Convention Center Arena during preliminary competition Wednesday. Finals in the contest's six divisions were scheduled for today.

"When you get to the finals level, it's the squad that doesn't make the mistake that wins," said Carol Wagers, executive director of NCA's high school program.

Teams pay their own way to the competitions through fund raisers like candy sales, dances and raffles. The 12-member Yellowjackets squad from Williamsburg City School in Williamsburg, Ky., raised $9,000 to attend the contest.

"Cheerleading is really big in Kentucky and we usually just participate in the state contest," said sponsor Vivian Woods. "But it's fun to see all the big schools from other states."

Regulators pressured to bail out bad S&Ls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal regulators are racing the clock to complete a string of bailout packages for insolvent savings and loan institutions before the end of the year when tax breaks for investors will be cut in half.

Officials expect that before Sunday as many as 200 failed savings and loans will have been dealt with this year, setting a post-Depression record. By contrast, 48 S&Ls were merged or closed last year.

So far the Federal Home Loan Bank Board has handled the cases of 184 failed S&Ls, including two bailouts announced Wednesday that are among the largest.

The bank board put together a $5.1 billion package to assist in the takeover of five of the most troubled savings and loans in Texas by an investment group led by Ronald O. Perelman, the head of Revlon, the cosmetics company.

Also on Wednesday, the bank board pledged $1.7 billion in government assistance in the purchase of American Savings and Loan Association of Stockton, Calif., the nation's largest insolvent S&L, by a group headed by Texas billionaire Robert M. Bass.

The size of the government assistance packages being required to attract new investors points up the depth of the problem facing the S&L industry and the incoming Bush administration, analysts said.

The trouble is that virtually all of the options President-elect Bush can select from to deal with the crisis involve spending more federal money, which will in turn worsen his other big economic problem: finding a way to narrow the federal budget deficit without resorting to new taxes.

Estimates of the total cost to the government of resolving the S&L mess range as high as $112 billion, and losses are mounting by $1 billion a month. For this reason, analysts said, Bush cannot afford to delay seeking a solution.

Ham makes holiday entertaining easy

New Year's Eve is the time most of us make our resolutions. With this holiday approaching, why not decide you won't be a slave to your kitchen?

"Holiday entertaining doesn't have to take a toll on the cook," says Susan Costner, author of Good Friends, Great Dinners.

While she generally recommends dinner parties for six people, she acknowledges that the holiday season often calls for entertaining on a larger scale. "Even when you're entertaining a large group, elegant dishes can be prepared with a minimum of fuss," said Costner. "Especially if you select foods that do most of the work for you."

According to Costner, foods that are versatile, easy to work with and prepare are keys to the success of any party. And rather than starting every dish from scratch, select foods that have been partially prepared or are ready for immediate use. Items like prepared phyllo dough can be used in making appetizers or desserts. Another versatile product is already a holiday favorite--ham.

"Ham was a holiday tradition in our home," said Costner. "It's a tradition I continue today, year-round, actually, especially since the new extra lean hams are low in fat, calories and cholesterol."

"With today's fully-cooked boneless hams, preparation is unbelievably simple. Since it's fully-cooked, just slice and serve."

When planning your menu, don't overlook nutrition, cautions Costner. She recommends making recipe substitutions of low-fat or reduced calorie ingredients such as plain yogurt for sour cream or "lite" mayonnaise for regular mayonnaise.

Or, select items already low in fat and calories such as 96% fat-free ham. With only 90 calories per three-ounce serving and very little cholesterol, such extra lean ham is consistently tender and juicy.

For your party, be sure to choose the highest quality ingredients. Rely only such products to avoid surprises; trying to cut corners on quality to save money can spell disaster.

Costner also suggests planning a party menu so dishes can be prepared ahead of time and refrigerated or frozen until serving time. "By setting aside a day or two for preparation a few weeks before your party, you'll save plenty of time--and headaches--on the big day. Remember, it only takes a few minutes to heat dishes in the microwave especially pre-cooked meats like extra lean ham."

Since you'll save time in preparation, take an extra minute or two to add a festive look to your dishes. "A few sprigs of greenery or a holiday serving dish can add so much to your party," says Costner. "I even select foods with seasonal colors to add just a little more flair."

By sticking to your early resolution, you can make entertaining so easy that you can enjoy your party as much as your guests do.

A recipe for one main dish that combines two holiday classics as baked ham and stuffing follows:

HOLIDAY STUFFED HAM

- 1 extra lean ham
- 3 Tbsp. margarine or butter
- 2 c. frozen whole kernel corn
- 1 1/4 c. chopped red or green sweet pepper
- 1 1/4 c. chopped celery
- 1/4 c. brown sugar
- 1/4 c. vinegar
- 8 c. whole wheat course-textured bread crumbs or cubes
- 2 tsp. dried rosemary
- 2/3 c. fresh snipped parsley
- 4 beaten eggs
- Fresh rosemary for garnish
- Grapes for garnish

Thaw corn in cool running water; drain. In saucepan, melt butter. Add corn, pepper and celery; heat until tender. Add sugar and vinegar. In bowl, combine bread crumbs and rosemary. Stir in vegetable mixture and parsley. Add eggs; toss to moisten.

With sharp knife, make 2 deep slits about 1 1/2" apart down entire length of ham, cutting to, but not through, bottom of ham. Press stuffing into slits, mounding stuffing on top of ham; reserve remaining stuffing. Place ham in shallow baking pan. Cover stuffing and ends with foil. Insert meat thermometer.

Bake, uncovered, in 325 degree oven for 15-20 minutes per pound or until meat thermometer registers 130 to 140 degrees. Place remaining stuffing in casserole; bake, covered, alongside ham. On serving platter, garnish ham with fresh rosemary and grapes. Makes 4-5 servings per pound.

Preparation time: 30 minutes

Cooking time: 15-20 minutes per pound of ham

Holiday Stuffed Ham

A winning combination of two classics--a baked ham and stuffing--can be the answer to New Year's Eve parties. While this version is sure to add elegance to a holiday dinner table, it is a treat to serve year 'round.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister is 82 and I am 85. We never got along the way sisters should but I could always manage with her. In the last few years, she has become very mean and tries to hurt me whenever she can.

My husband is 88. She has repeatedly made remarks like, "I could have married Oswald but he married you because he knew I wasn't interested." Once several years ago I asked him about this and he replied, "The woman is crazy. I wouldn't spit on the best part of her."

Last week Oswald fell at a family gathering and my sister said in a very loud voice, "I'm glad you are stuck with him and not me." He heard this remark and it made him furious.

Now my husband refuses to go to any affair where my sister might show up. This means I will not be attending family parties and celebrations because I would never go without Oswald. Please tell what to do. -No Name Please

DEAR N.N.P.: If your sister succeeds in excluding you from all family affairs she will have won a great victory. Tell Oswald that you both should attend everything and if he doesn't want to speak to her that's OK with you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several years ago you wrote a column about a man who had a modest collection of antique automobiles. Nothing great, he said, but the favorite of all was his 1937 Dodge. He said that car held so many pleasant memories it made him feel good just to look at it.

And then came the blockbuster. He wanted to know if it would be possible to be buried in that great old 1937 Dodge. Instead of a casket he wanted to be seated at the wheel and lowered into the ground.

My husband and I laughed when we read that letter because it seemed so improbable, but I am not laughing anymore. Last night "Dan" told me that he wants to be buried in our 1952 Chevrolet. The car has been on blocks in our garage with a canvas over it for at least 25 years. I have asked Dan at least a dozen times to get rid of that old bucket of bolts but he always found some reason not to. Now I know what has been in the back of his mind all these years.

Dan is 76, in pretty good health and I hope the good Lord gives him many more years, but I shudder to think what our friends and family would do if I carried out his wishes. Yet I feel that if he has had this in his mind for so long he must want it badly and I am prepared to face the embarrassment.

I need to know, Ann, would it be possible to be buried in an old Chevrolet in Sacramento?--Looking Ahead in California

DEAR LOOKING AHEAD: Every cemetery has its own rules and regulations. If you found a cemetery that would permit this you would need at least three plots to accommodate the automobile. You would also need special equipment to lower the car into the ground. Perhaps after Dan checks into the cost of this undertaking he may change his mind.

DEAR READERS: After I printed Will Rogers' definition of diplomacy I received dozens more. The best: Diplomacy is telling someone to go to h--- in such a way that they look forward to the trip.

Do you have questions about sex, but nobody you can talk to about them? Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," will give you the answers you need. ## Cotten holds up Clint Cotten holds up on his way the basket after a whistle is blown during recent basketball action in Hereford. The Whitefaces will face Portales at 6 p.m. (CST) today in the consolation finals of the Clovis Holiday Basketball Tournament.

Ditka is NFL top coach

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer

Mike Ditka, who lost a half-dozen key players to retirement, free agency and injury and himself suffered a heart attack at midseason, was named The Associated Press NFL Coach of the Year today.

Ditka led the Chicago Bears to a 12-4 record and their fifth straight division title. It was the second time the award has gone to Ditka, who also won in 1985, when Chicago won the its first Super Bowl.

That year, the Bears overwhelmed their opponents en route to a 15-1 regular-season mark and three lopsided playoff victories. This year was a struggle from the start as Ditka had to paste together a team that included 13 rookies.

"You talk about a guy who epitomizes the fighter who staggered in the corner but came out slugging," says Dave McGinnis, the team's linebacker coach.

Chicago was picked by many forecasters to finish behind the Minnesota Vikings in the NFC Central after losing running back Walter Payton and safety Gary Fencik to retirement and linebacker Wilber Marshall to the Washington Redskins in the first major free agent transfer in a decade.

That was compounded by season-ending injuries to linebacker Otis Wilson and defensive tackle William Perry and by Ditka's heart attack, suffered Nov. 2. Ditka was back on the sidelines just 11 days later as the Bears beat the Redskins 34-14 in Washington.

But with all the problems, Chicago still managed to tie Cincinnati and Buffalo for the best record in the NFL, 12-4, and will have the home field advantage throughout the NFC playoffs.

Ditka got 33 votes in the balloting by writers and broadcasters who cover each of the NFL's 28 teams. Buffalo's Marv Levy had 23 and Cincinnati's Sam Wyche was third with 19.

Ditka seemed to mellow after his heart attack and vowed to no longer lose his temper in public. But by Monday night's 28-27 season-ending loss in Minnesota — a game that meant nothing to the Bears — he was nearly back to his old self, yelling at players on the sidelines.

At one point, he berated rookie Lemuel Stinson on the sidelines for a roughing-the-kicker penalty when the call was a return. Afterward, he said:

"I did that so that the next time we call a 'hold,' he'll know exactly what that means," Ditka said.

In fact, the 49-year-old coach can sometimes be his own harshest critic.

"My motives are the best in the world. My methods are sometimes lousy," he says. "The more you coach, the more you change. I would love to change a lot of things. I'd love never to get mad at anybody."

Craig gets offense honor

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — Roger Craig laid the groundwork for a record-breaking season on the mountainous trails behind his home on the San Francisco Peninsula last winter and spring.

Sixteen regular-season games and over a mile in total yardage later, the San Francisco tailback is still high-stepping in midseason form. Just like the 49ers, Craig finished strong with two 100-yard rushing games in December as the team marched to a third straight NFC West title.

The six-year veteran has a foolproof method to make the weekly batterings seem less tortuous: undergo worse torture in your spare time.

"I figure I did all my hurting and my suffering in the offseason through the training program I put myself through," he says.

Craig's grueling workouts helped pay off again Wednesday as he was named the NFL's Offensive Player of the Year. He edged Cincinnati's Boomer Esiason 32-29 in the voting by writers and broadcasters in each of the 28 NFL cities.

Randall Cunningham was a distant third with five, followed by Dan Marino of Miami and Eddie Brown of Cincinnati with two each and Herschel Walker of Dallas with one.

"It's a great honor and something I didn't expect," said Craig, 28. "It'll probably take a couple of days for it to really set in. I'll say 'Oh, I was chosen the offensive player throughout the whole league.' That's a phenomenal honor."

Craig's numbers were at times phenomenal this season as he shattered Wendell Tyler's team rushing record by 240 yards and catapulted into third place on the 49ers' career rushing list, trailing only Joe Perry and Ken Willard.

Craig rushed for 1,502 yards and nine touchdowns and caught 76 passes for 534 yards and one score. He ranked third in the NFL in rushing and eighth in receptions, tying Eric Dickerson of Indianapolis for first with 2,036 combined yards. He averaged 4.8 yards per attempt, best in the NFC, and was the key ingredient in the 49ers' second-ranked offense.

Barring injury, sometime late next season he should move into first place among running backs in career catches. Walter Payton had 492 receptions in 13 years and Tony Galbreath 490 in 12. Craig has 434. And he already owns the single-season record for running backs with 92 receptions in 1985, the year he became the only player in NFL history to both rush and catch passes for 1,000 yards.

"He's got just incredible determination and dedication, and he thrives on football, truly thrives on it," said 49ers coach Bill Walsh. "He's as inspiring an athlete as we've ever had."

Try these offseason numbers for inspiration: 15 uphill 100-yard dashes and a series of 220-yard sprints, alternating daily with a fast-paced run of up to eight miles on the steep horse trails near Craig's house in Portola Valley. All on a strict diet of only 2,500 calories a day that enabled him to trim down to 210 pounds.

The Jones father and son training combination, Ben and Jimmy, won eight Kentucky Derbys between them.

Aikman almost chose Arkansas over UCLA

DALLAS (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks almost had Troy Aikman on their side.

When the UCLA quarterback was a senior at Henryetta, Okla., High School he attended the Houston-Arkansas game in 1984.

"I liked what I saw and decided to make Arkansas my first choice for a visit," said Aikman, whose Bruins meet Arkansas in the 53rd Cotton Bowl Classic on Jan. 2.

Then fate intervened. Coach Lou Holtz resigned, taking his wide open offense with him.

Arkansas hired Ken Hatfield, who operated a ground-oriented "Flexbone" offense.

"I was going to use my first visit to go to Arkansas, but Coach Hatfield called and said he didn't feel my talent is what he was looking for in a quarterback to run his offense," Aikman said.

Aikman ended up at Oklahoma where he said Coach Barry Switzer had promised him the Sooners would switch to the I-Formation.

After two years, Aikman transferred to UCLA.

"I might be at Arkansas today if Coach Holtz had stayed," Aikman said. "It's kind of funny how things work out."

He added "I haven't heard a 'Soo-iii-eee pig' from the Arkansas fans since 1984. I imagine I'll be hearing some on Jan. 2."

Aikman is the talk of the town during Cotton Bowl week.

He's such the center of attention on radio, television and in the newspapers that Hatfield told his team: "If you don't want to see him don't watch television and if you don't want to read about him don't pick up a newspaper."

A set of unusual circumstances has centered the spotlight on Aikman, who leads his ninth-ranked team against the eighth-ranked Razorbacks.

The Dallas Cowboys own the No. 1 pick in next spring's NFL draft.

The Cowboys need a quarterback, and Aikman is said to be the best pro-style quarterback to come out of the collegiate ranks since John Elway at Stanford.

Aikman said he wants to be a Dallas Cowboy.

"It hit me driving into the (Texas) stadium when I saw all the names of the legends on the wall that I might play here some day," Aikman said. "I'd love to play for the Cowboys. Of course, it (all the history) would mean a lot more to me if they drafted me."

Aikman said he remembers watching former Cowboy great Roger Staubach on television.

"I never saw him lose a game even when the Cowboys were three touchdowns down," Aikman said. "Staubach was amazing to watch. His shoes have been tough ones to fill."

Among the visitors to the Bruins' Wednesday practice at Texas Stadium was Cowboy Coach Tom Landry.

"I think he's definitely one of the top quarterbacks in the country, if not the top one," Landry said. "If he's that, then he'll be very valuable."

Aikman has had a dizzying round of interviews.

He said it doesn't bother him because of the Heisman Trophy chase he went through earlier this year. Aikman finished third in the balloting.

"I'm not the type of person who really gets caught up in all the hype," he said. "I don't have an ego to fulfill. I know there is a like of 'Aikman-ania' stuff out there but I just try to keep it all in perspective."

Aikman said playing for UCLA helped take the Oklahoma country boy out of him after he transferred from the Oklahoma Sooners.

Hatfield on Georgia list

DALLAS (AP) — Arkansas football coach Ken Hatfield won't talk about it, but Athletic Director Frank Broyles has confirmed reports that Georgia officials have approached Hatfield about that school's vacant head coaching position.

"I am not talking about anything other than what we are doing this week and the game on Jan. 2," Hatfield said Tuesday. "My commitment to this football team and our Cotton Bowl appearance is through Jan. 2. And until that is over I will not talk about anything else."

Hatfield is in Dallas preparing the Razorbacks for their Cotton Bowl date with UCLA on Jan. 2. It will be Arkansas' first appearance in the Cotton Bowl in 13 years.

Glanville admires Buffalo QB Kelly

HOUSTON (AP) — Buffalo Coach Marv Levy calls Bills quarterback Jim Kelly an unselfish star.

Houston Coach Jerry Glanville calls him scary and advises against even watching Kelly warm up before games.

"He's tough and he's unselfish," Levy said. "There are a lot of selfish stars in this league. He's an unselfish star."

Glanville also admires Kelly's talent but he and the Oilers must face the Bills Sunday in an AFC divisional playoff game at Rich Stadium in Buffalo.

"I tell our coaches not to watch him because it makes you nauseous," Glanville says. "He looks like a (pitching) machine. The balls just keep firing out."

The Bills-Oilers winner advances to the AFC championship game against the winner of the Seattle-Cincinnati game.

Kelly is a linebacker who plays quarterback, Oiler defensive end Sean Jones says.

"He's one of the hardest guys in the league to sack because he's so strong," Jones said. "He's not one of these quarterbacks you hit and he'll walk away with his tail between his legs."

"He might hit you back. I saw him in one game wrestle a DB (defensive back) to the ground and then jump on him. That's my kind of guy."

Kelly has been sacked 30 times this season and his quick release helps keep him out of trouble, Glanville said.

"Nobody throws the out (pattern) like he does," Glanville said. "It looks like a bionic arm when he throws it."

Kelly completed 59.5 percent of his passes in the regular season, second in the AFC to Cleveland's Bernie Kosar. He threw 15 touchdown passes and 17 interceptions.

"All we can do is try to put pressure on him and force him to throw on the run," Oiler cornerback Steve Brown said. "Maybe we can confuse him."

Glanville has seen Kelly progress since he came to the Bills in 1986.

"Everything is quicker," Glanville said. "When we finished the season against them (1986) he held the ball and we sacked him five or six times. He won't do that anymore. The good ones gun the ball out of there and you'll see two quarterbacks doing that Sunday."

Levy is doubly appreciative of Kelly's contributions to the Bills' 12-4 record this season.

"He's upbeat by nature. If something goes wrong, he gets himself going and it rubs off on the team," Levy said. "There isn't a better quarterback in football. I think he's the best, particularly for us."

Kelly played for the Houston Gamblers in the USFL where his quarterback coach was June Jones, now the Oilers' quarterback coach.

Having coached Kelly won't be an advantage to the Oilers, Glanville said.

"I think that stuff is overrated," Glanville said. "You still have to stop what you see on the film. I think both teams are good enough they'll worry about executing their game plans rather than worry about what the other side is doing."

Kelly and Oiler quarterback Warren Moon were competing for fans when Kelly was a member of the Gamblers.

"It was different leagues at different times," Moon said. "That was the USFL. They were successful in that league but this league has a way of humbling you and making you find out exactly what type of player you are."

Moon is more interested in finding out which team is better now.

"I think both teams are going well right now and so are the two quarterbacks," he said.

Hoosiers win big; two games tonight

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Indiana sounded a warning blast for future Big Ten foes with its 34-10 whipping of South Carolina in the Liberty Bowl.

As expected, the Hoosiers got another exceptional rushing performance from junior tailback Anthony Thompson on Wednesday night.

Thompson ran for 140 yards on 26 carries and scored twice, but it was the passing of quarterback Dave Schnell that felled the Gamecocks.

"Schnell had a good game once he got in the groove and got warmed up," Indiana Coach Bill Mallory said.

Schnell, a senior with one year of eligibility remaining, riddled the South Carolina defense for 378 yards and two touchdowns as he completed 16 of 31 passes.

"I never, never thought I was going to have a game like this," Schnell said after being named the game's MVP.

"This is just a real confidence booster for me to take into the spring. I just felt real confident tonight against their man-to-man defense and I had a lot of confidence in my receivers," Schnell said.

The Liberty Bowl win capped an 8-3-1 season for Indiana, while South Carolina, which has lost all eight of its bowl appearances, finished 8-4.

Thompson got things started for the Hoosiers with a 48-yard run on Indiana's first play from scrimmage before capping an 88-yard drive with a 7-yard scoring run.

Schnell then began to take charge, hitting Cal Miller with a 10-yard scoring pass with 5:54 remaining in the first half.

Indiana later added a 28-yard field goal by Pete Stoyanovich to lead 17-0 at the half.

South Carolina, which rushed for just 23 yards, had its glimmer of hope early in the third quarter when Mike Tolbert picked up a blocked punt at the Indiana 34 and scored the Gamecocks' only touchdown.

But the Hoosiers answered with a 19-yard field goal by Stoyanovich for a 20-7 edge.

South Carolina pulled within 20-10 on a 43-yard field goal by Collin Mackie later in the quarter before Schnell slammed the door on the Gamecocks.

Schnell opened the final quarter with a Liberty Bowl-record 88-yard scoring strike to Rob Turner.

"I thought we would be able to throw the deep ball and do about anything we wanted if the offensive line picked up South Carolina's blitz, and they did," Schnell said.

Thompson completed the scoring with an 8-yard touchdown run. The touchdown was Thompson's 28th of the year and tied a Big Ten record set by Ohio State's Pete Johnson in 1975.

Tonight, Florida and Illinois play in the All American Bowl in Birmingham, Ala., while Brigham Young and Colorado meet in the Freedom Bowl at Anaheim, Calif.

Florida, 6-5, and Illinois, 6-4-1, make the All American bowl with the worst combined records. Neither team is ranked, although each has a star player.

Emmitt Smith, a sophomore running back, gained 988 yards for Florida despite missing two games because of a knee injury. The Gators were 5-0 before he got hurt.

"It's no secret our offense is different when Emmitt isn't in there," Coach Galen Hall said. "He's the guy in our running game who makes our offense go. Not many players can do what he can do."

Jeff George passed for 2,257 yards under Illinois coach John Mackovic's pro-style offense. George, a sophomore, sat out last season after transferring from Purdue.

The Freedom Bowl matches pass-happy Brigham Young, 8-4, against run-oriented Colorado, 8-3.

BYU, which has produced quarterbacks such as Jim McMahon, Steve Young and Marc Wilson, has not said who will start against the Buffaloes. It could be junior Sean Covey, who started the final five games, or red-shirt freshman Ty Detmer, who started just one game and threw five TD passes against New Mexico.

Both have completed 54 percent of their passes, thrown for 13 touchdowns and 10 interceptions.

The Cougars rank fourth in the nation with 323 passing yards per game. Colorado is seventh with 281 rushing yards per game.

Eric Bieniemy is Colorado's top runner, gaining 1,243 yards in 10 games. His backup, J.J. Flannigan, went over 100 yards in each of the last three games.

On Friday, Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders leads No. 12 Oklahoma State, 9-2, against No. 15 Wyoming, 11-1, in the Holiday Bowl at San Diego.

Sanders will play against Wyoming running back Dabby Dawson, who was a prep school rival in Wichita, Kan. The last time they played against each other, Sanders gained 250 yards for North High and Dawson got 230 for South High.

On Saturday, Iowa, 6-3-3, plays North Carolina State, 7-3-1, in the Peach Bowl. On New Year's Day, No. 19 Georgia, 8-3, faces Michigan State, 6-4-1, in the Gator Bowl.

The national championship will be decided on Monday.

Top-ranked Notre Dame takes on No. 3 West Virginia in the Fiesta Bowl. Both teams are 11-0. Immediately after that game ends, No. 2 Miami, 10-1, plays No. 6 Nebraska, 11-1, in the Orange Bowl.

Top tourney upset: Alaska-Anchorage beats Michigan

By The Associated Press

Now everybody knows: The University of Alaska-Anchorage can do more than just hold an early-season tournament.

The Division II Seawolves pulled the biggest surprise of the college basketball season Wednesday night, stunning No. 2 Michigan 70-66 in the opening round of the Utah Classic.

"I didn't believe it would happen, but it happened," Michigan coach Bill Frieder said after the Wolverines' first loss in 12 games.

The victory may have been a shock to most, but not the Seawolves. They are 58-19 under Coach Ron Abegglen and went to the Division II championship game last season before losing to Lowell.

Still, the Seawolves are most known for the Great Alaska Shootout they host annually. In this year's tournament, Alaska-Anchorage lost to Kansas and Florida, its only defeats in an 11-2 season.

Alaska-Anchorage used a stay-close tempo in the first half to control to Michigan and then went on a 20-4 burst to take charge.

"We wanted to keep the basketball as long as we could and nullify their tremendous rebounding," Abegglen said.

The other Top Twenty teams that played had easier times. Fourth-ranked Illinois routed Tulsa 85-58, No. 5 Georgetown beat Mercer 80-55, No. 7 Arizona downed Loyola, Ill., 106-82, Florida State defeated Central Florida 97-64, No. 11 Missouri got past Arkansas 83-78, No. 12 Nevada-Las Vegas whipped Pepperdine 88-56, No. 13 Seton Hall topped Virginia 84-67, No. 17 Georgia Tech took Houston 87-68 and No. 19 Tennessee beat Miami of Ohio 94-83.

Alaska-Anchorage did get out-rebounded, 34-25, but offset that difference with sharp shooting. It made 27 of 43 field-goal tries while Michigan was just 29-for-61.

Michigan was ahead 36-32 at halftime and led 44-38 with 16 minutes left. But Alaska-Anchorage scored the next 11 points, sparked by a basket by Ron Fischer, who finished with 16 points.

Glen Rice scored 24 points for Michigan, but missed three straight foul shots with Michigan trailing 63-60.

No. 4 Illinois 85, Tulsa 58

Nick Anderson scored a season-high 24 points for Illinois in the first round of the 25th Rainbow Classic in Honolulu.

The Illini, 10-0, raced to a 17-1 lead and held Tulsa without a field goal for 9:44.

Kenny Battle scored 18 points for Illinois. Tulsa is 4-4.

No. 5 Georgetown 80, Mercer 55

Jaren Jackson scored 21 points and unbeaten Georgetown used a 23-4 burst at the start of the second half in the opening round of the Tampa Tribune Holiday Invitational.

The Hoyas, leading only 35-31 at halftime, caused 16 turnovers in the second half.

John Turner scored 17 points and Alonzo Mourning 15 for Georgetown, 8-0. Reginald Titus scored 13 points for Mercer, 5-3.

No. 8 Arizona 106, Loyola, Ill. 82

Anthony Cook's 19 points led six Arizona players in double figures for the Wildcats in the first round of its Fiesta Bowl Classic.

Arizona, which has never lost in its four-year-old tournament, is 7-1 this season. The Wildcats play Pittsburgh tonight for the championship.

Gerald Hayward scored a tournament-record 33 points for the Runnin' Ramblers.

No. 10 Florida St. 97, Central Florida 64

Tony Dawson scored 20 points for Florida State in the first round of the Red Lobster Classic at Orlando.

The Seminoles, 8-0, had beaten Central Florida by 50 points earlier in the season. Florida State will play Villanova for the tournament championship.

Ben Morton scored 20 points for Central Florida, 0-7.

No. 11 Missouri 83, Arkansas 78

Byron Irvin, who transferred from Arkansas to Missouri in 1986, scored 25 points and led the Tigers over his former team.

Missouri led by 14 points in the first half before the Razorbacks tied it at 63 with 5:50 left. Irvin's 3-point shot with 3:57 remaining put the Tigers ahead 72-68.

Woman's Health

Most babies come into this world head first as part of nature's plan. According to that plan, the baby moves into a head-down (vertex) position a few weeks before birth to ensure that the baby's head is at the entrance of the birth canal (the cervix) when labor begins.

Sometimes the baby remains in an upright position in the mother's womb (uterus), and the baby's buttocks or feet, and sometimes both, will be down where the head should be.

Delivery of a breech baby presents special concerns. Because the head, which is the largest part of the baby's body, does not enter the birth canal first, the cervix may not open as much as it should. This makes it difficult for the baby to pass through. Since a breech baby's head is the last part to come through the birth canal, special problems might occur that could make vaginal delivery unsafe. In those cases, the baby may be delivered by cesarean section.

Toward the end of a woman's pregnancy, the doctor will feel her uterus to find out what position the baby is in. If he or she thinks the baby might be breech, the doctor may use ultrasound to make sure. Ultrasound is a safe procedure in which sound waves are used to create an image of the baby on a TV like screen.

If the baby is breech, sometimes its position can be changed. By placing his or her hands on the mother's abdomen, the doctor can turn the baby gently, so that its head is in the downward position. This is called "external version" and can be done when no other problems might make it risky.

If a vaginal birth of a breech baby is attempted, the baby's heartbeat may be checked continuously during labor and delivery by electronic fetal monitoring. If there are any signs that the baby is in trouble, the doctor may perform a cesarean section.

If your baby is breech, you can help your doctor manage your labor and delivery by learning all you can about breech birth. Even though breech babies have a harder time coming into the world, most of them are born healthy and happy.

Single, free copies of "If Your Baby Is Breech" (p-079) are available by sending a stamped, self-addressed, business size envelope along with the name of the booklet to: The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, Resource Center, 409 12th Street, SW, Washington, DC 20024-2188.

Skin can be rescued

What greets a woman when she looks in the mirror?

All too often, it's stressed-out skin, reports Avon's Skincare Laboratories.

Studies show that the fast-paced lifestyle of women today makes them particularly vulnerable to the effects of stress--a major cause of tired, older-looking skin.

According to vice president of research and development, Neil Scancarella, stress damages skin much more than researchers once believed.

"In fact, in times of stress, the skin is one of the first places to suffer. Stress leaves skin looking dry, rough and lackluster, and can add years to a woman's appearance."

"Scientists now know that, under stressful conditions, the body steals vitamins and minerals from the skin in order to supply them to vital organs such as the heart and lungs. This process maximizes the operation of these organs and is part of nearly every stress reaction, including sweaty palms and a rapidly beating heart."

For skin that has suffered the effects of stress, there is hope, however. Now there are skin care products on the market that work to keep stressed-out skin looking younger.

Products containing moisturizers that occur naturally in the skin, plus vitamins such as B-5 and vitamin E derivative are available. Botanicals like camomile, elder and ginseng may also be included in such products.

Together, it is believed that such ingredients will help give a more vibrant, healthy glow even under the most stressful conditions.

Relax on New Year's Day with a football tailgate

New Arrivals

New Year's Day is notorious not only for football, but for recovering from the night before.

Chances are you will have guests to entertain, yet you might already be worn out from the holiday season. Why not have a "football tailgate" in front of the television?

By making easy-to-cook-and-serve items, you can cut your preparation time in half and leave more time to mingle. Plus, it is hassle-free entertaining after the rush of holiday parties most people give or attend, which is what most of us would most enjoy.

Because you are going to be in the comfort of your own home, you might try combining traditional tailgate favorites with some new and creative innovations.

An assortment of salads, including pasta salad and cole slaw, is sure to please a large range of palates. Here are some variations of these traditional salads that will put some zest into football spectating.

Magic Package Chicken from

Rosalca Murphy's The Pink Adobe Cookbook (Dell) is not only easier to serve and cook than fried chicken, the recipe eliminates the nuisance of greasy cleanup!

NAPA BLUE-CHEESE COLESLAW

- 1 head Napa or Chinese cabbage (about 2 lbs.)
- 6 oz. blue cheese, or to taste, crumbled (1 1/2 c.)
- 2 cloves garlic, peeled
- 1/4 c. coarsely chopped onion
- 1/3 c. cider vinegar
- 1/4 tsp. dry mustard
- 1/2 tsp. celery seed
- 1/4 tsp. salt, or to taste
- 1/2 tsp. white pepper
- 2 Tbsp. sugar
- 3/4 c. vegetable oil

In a food processor fitted with the thin slicing blade or with a sharp knife, slice the cabbage into thin shreds. Place in a large bowl, toss with blue cheese, cover and refrigerate until chilled. The cabbage may be refrigerated overnight, if desired.

To make the dressing, in a food processor fitted with the metal blade, mince garlic. Add onion and chop fine. Add vinegar, mustard, celery seed, salt, pepper and sugar; process until combined. With the motor running, slowly pour oil through the feed tube.

Just before serving, toss cabbage and blue cheese with the dressing. Serves 8.

PASTA SALAD WITH FRESH TOMATO PESTO

- Fresh tomato pesto (see below)
- 1 lb. pasta, such as penne, rotelle or small shells
- 3/4 c. chopped celery
- 1/2 c. chopped carrot
- 3/4 c. chopped, peeled and seeded cucumber
- 1 can (15 oz.) artichoke hearts, drained and chopped
- 1 can (4 1/4 oz.) sliced black olives, drained

Fresh Tomato Pesto

- 6 large tomatoes (about 2 3/4 lbs.)
- 4 cloves garlic, peeled
- 2 c. packed fresh basil leaves (about 2 oz.)
- 6 Tbsp. pine nuts or walnuts
- 1 c. grated parmesan cheese (about 4 oz.)
- 1/2 c. olive oil
- 1/2 c. vegetable oil
- 1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper
- salt and pepper to taste

To make the Fresh Tomato Pesto, cut tomatoes in half, crosswise, squeeze out seeds and chop coarse. In a food processor fitted with the metal blade, mince garlic.

Add basil, nuts and parmesan cheese; process until ground. Add olive and vegetable oil, process until blended. Season with cayenne and salt and pepper to taste.

Add tomatoes and pulse 3 or 4 times until finely chopped, but not pureed.

To make the salad, cook the pasta until tender to the bite (al dente). Drain, rinse with cold water and place in salad bowl. Stir in celery, carrot, cucumber, artichoke hearts and olives. Pour pesto over and toss well. Refrigerate at least 1 hour for flavors to blend. Serve at room temperature. Serves 10 to 12 as a side dish.

MAGIC PACKAGE CHICKEN

- 4 Tbsp. butter
- 2 Tbsp. flour
- 1/2 c. milk
- 1/2 c. white wine or dry vermouth
- 1/2 c. chicken broth

- 1 egg yolk, beaten
- 1 dash cayenne pepper
- 1 dash ground nutmeg
- 1 dash ground cloves
- 4 Tbsp. chopped fresh mushrooms

1 tsp. chopped chives
6 chicken breast halves, poached
Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Cut 6 pieces of aluminum foil large enough to make an envelope for each chicken breast. Butter the foil with half (2 Tbsp.) of butter. Make a paste with the remaining butter and the flour and set aside.

Mix the milk, wine, and chicken broth together in a 1-quart saucepan and bring to a boil. Add the paste and stir until smooth. Reduce the heat to low; when boiling has stopped, gently stir in the egg yolk, being careful not to let the mixture boil. Remove from heat and add cayenne, nutmeg, cloves, mushrooms, and chives. Lay each chicken breast on a square of buttered foil.

Divide the sauce evenly over the breasts. Fold edges and seal together but do not wrap too tightly around chicken. Bake for 10 minutes. Serve wrapped in the foil; guests open their own.

The perfect conclusion

Cranberry-Pear Cobbler with its tart red cranberries and sweet pears makes a warm winter dessert. Served with a warm beverage, it's the perfect conclusion to a cozy indoor tailgate party! This recipe is also taken from Easy Entertaining with Marlene Sorosky.

CRANBERRY-PEAR COBBLER

- Pastry
- 1 3/4 c. all-purpose flour
- 1/2 tsp. salt, or to taste
- 1/3 c. vegetable shortening, chilled in freezer until firm
- 5 Tbsp. butter or margarine, cold and cut into 5 pieces
- 4 Tbsp. ice water

Filling

- 1 1/2 c. sugar
- 1/4 c. all-purpose flour
- 1/4 tsp. ground allspice
- 1/8 tsp. ground cardamom, optional
- 1 bag (12 oz.) cranberries (3 1/2 c. berries)
- 4 medium pears, peeled, halved, cored and sliced 1/4 inch thick
- 1 Tbsp. butter or margarine, cut into small pieces
- Vanilla ice cream for serving, if desired

To make the pastry, in a food processor fitted with the metal blade or in a medium bowl with a pastry blender or finger tips, combine flour and salt. Add shortening and butter or margarine; pulse or mix until the mixture resembles coarse meal.

Sprinkle ice water over and mix just until the pastry holds together when pinched between your fingers. Do not form into a ball. Flatten into a disk, wrap in plastic wrap and refrigerate while preparing the filling or overnight, if desired.

To make the Filling, in a medium bowl stir together sugar, flour, allspice and cardamom, if using. Add cranberries and pears; toss until combined. Pour into buttered 7x11 inch glass baking dish or 4- to 5-cup gratin dish. Sprinkle butter or margarine over fruit.

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. On a lightly floured board, roll out pastry about 1 inch larger than the baking dish and approximately 1/3 inch thick. Place over fruit; press against the sides of the dish to form a border and seal the edges. Cut three 2-inch slits in top to allow steam to escape. Bake for 35-45 minutes or until the pastry is lightly browned and fruit is bubbling. The pastry will shrink from the sides. Cool 15 to 20 minutes before serving. Serve warm with ice cream, if desired. Serves 6 to 8.

Names In The News

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William Shatner, Leonard Nimoy and other starship Enterprise crew members gathered in Hollywood to toast completion of nearly all filming for the movie "Star Trek V: The Final Frontier."

With only a few special-effects sequences left to be filmed, cast members on Wednesday sipped a mixture of champagne and green melon liqueur.

Joining Shatner, who plays Capt. James T. Kirk, and Nimoy, who plays Mr. Spock, were DeForrest Kelley (Dr. Leonard "Bones" McCoy), Walter Koenig (Ensign Pavel Chekov) and James Doohan (Engineer Montgomery "Scotty" Scott).

The subtitle, "The Final Frontier," doesn't mean that's the end of the voyages of the Enterprise.

Doohan says the actors have been signed up for "Star Trek VI," and that the producer's services have been enlisted all the way to "Star Trek VII."

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Retiring U.S. Sen. William Proxmire began a two-day stint as a radio talk show host, mixing anecdotes and interviews in a style that won praise from the station's program director.

"For a non-professional, he came across as bright, articulate and somebody who had really done his homework," WTMJ's Mike Elliott said Wednesday.

Proxmire, D-Wis., who is retiring after three decades in the Senate, will not be paid for filling in for vacationing host Kathleen Dunn on the two-hour "Midday" show Wednesday and today, Elliott said.

In ancient Russia, it was believed that a skein of red wool wound about the arms and legs would ward off fevers.

ASK DR. LAMB

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am 22 years old and I have been having problems with anal fissures for about a year. I've seen several doctors and they tell me different stories. They tell me to stop eating highly seasoned foods. I do, and I drink plenty of water and still have trouble. I'm just spending too much money on doctors. Maybe you can give me some advice.
DEAR READER: An anal fissure is really a crack in the skin or in the lining of the outlet of the anal canal. It is usually caused by forceful bowel movements of hard stools. Sometimes it is from a sphincter that is too tight and that causes difficult bowel movements. It may also be associated with hemorrhoids.
I don't think the highly seasoned foods are the big problem. But you need to use measures to avoid difficult bowel movements. That means taking stool softeners — not chemical laxatives. You can and probably should use a bulk laxative such as Metamucil. The soft stool will stop injuring the area so the crack can heal. A regular bowel habit of easy movements of soft stools is the key to medical management of an anal fissure.

If that doesn't work, you may have a sphincter that is too tight and you may need to have it relaxed surgically. Before doing that, I would advise seeing a specialist in gastroenterology. The danger of the sphincter operation is that you may not have adequate control after the operation.
You need to understand these problems so I'm sending you Special Report 68, Hemorrhoids and Anal Fissure. Others who want this report

Lifestyles Policies

The Hereford Brand welcomes news articles of interest from local residents, groups and organizations. Because this is a daily publication, certain guidelines should be followed when submitting news items.

PHOTOS
-Photos of club officers, donation presentations, etc., can be made at The Brand office, preferably after 2 p.m. Appointments for such photos must be made at least 24 hours in advance.
-Lifestyles reporters do not take photos for engagements, weddings, anniversaries or showers.
-On location photos can be made, on approval, providing The Brand has at least TWO DAYS notice.
-No Polaroid pictures are acceptable under any circumstances.
-Photos may be picked up from The Brand after 3 p.m. of the publication date. Published photos taken by Brand staffers may be purchased for $1. Reprints are available at $3.50 for 5x7 photos and for $5 for 8x10 prints.
-Black and white film may be obtained from the staff if approved for publication.

ENGAGEMENTS, WEDDINGS, ANNIVERSARIES
-Engagements should be announced at least SIX WEEKS BEFORE the wedding to ensure publication. Couples submitting engagement announcements after the deadline must choose to have either the engagement or the wedding photo published. Photos should be in black and white but a color photo may be used if the contrast is suitable for reproduction. The engagement announcement must include the date of the wedding.
-Lifestyles reporters ask that all wedding and anniversary writeups be submitted the Monday before the next Sunday publication date. Wedding notices submitted late will be edited considerably.
-There are engagement, wedding and shower forms available at The Brand. This information will not be taken by phone.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS
-Birthday celebrations will only be written for those Hereford residents who are 80 years of age and older. All other birthday wishes, including Quinceaneras, may be submitted to the advertising department.
BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS
-Birth announcements are obtained from Deaf Smith General Hospital. Information on local babies born elsewhere, or who have grandparents in Hereford, must be reported to The Brand within two weeks.

OBITUARY INFORMATION
-Obituary information, with or without accompanying photo, must be submitted to the office by 11 a.m. for that day's publication.
GENERAL NEWS ITEMS
-All photos taken either by The Brand staff or personal photos submitted for publication, are kept on file at the office for approximately two years.
-News items or changes for the Lifestyles calendar of events must be submitted one week BEFORE the Wednesday or Sunday publications.
-General news items for the Lifestyles section must be submitted by 1 p.m. the day before publication and by noon on Friday for Sunday's publication.
-Club reports must be submitted within THREE DAYS of the meeting or will be subject to considerable editing or omission.
-Brief items of interest about former residents or children of Hereford residents are welcome when they concern degrees earned, academic honors, college news, career promotions, etc.

can send $1. with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/68, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.
You can also increase the bulk in your diet with whole cereals and fresh vegetables and fruit.
DEAR DR. LAMB: We are told to walk and walk. Will that cause wear and tear on the hip joint or does the advantage of the exercise outweigh that? I'm 71 years old. I don't take calcium supplements as I'm afraid of kidney stones, but I certainly want to avoid a hip fracture if possible. Is one type of calcium supplement better than another?
DEAR READER: Walking has many advantages for your health. It is also the kind of exercise that most people can do and not have any significant risk of overdoing it — provided they do it right and gradually build up to the desired level.

Walking will not cause arthritis of the hip or in other joints. The results of various studies are not conclusive about how vigorous exercise such as lots of running on paved surfaces will affect joints. However, I don't expect you to be doing that.
Your comment about calcium suggests a concern about osteoporosis. Exercise, including walking, helps prevent it rather than causing it.
The best calcium supplement is milk. Unless a person has lactose intolerance, he or she will absorb more calcium from milk than from any of the calcium preparations. Protein-fortified skim milk provides needed protein and calcium without loading your system with saturated fat or cholesterol.
Other than milk, a person who is likely to form calcium-containing kidney stones is better off to use calcium carbonate, calcium citrate, calcium gluconate or calcium lactate preparations as they help to keep the urine alkaline and prevent stones. And thiazide diuretics, such as Diuril, help retain calcium while preventing the loss of calcium in the urine to form stones.

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Whether the name Gallo is a trademark or a legitimate name that a person can use on products was debated by attorneys representing rival members of the winemaking family.

An attorney for Joseph Gallo, 67, argued Wednesday that his client has a perfect right to label cheese he manufactures with his full name, but an attorney for E&J Gallo, the world's largest winery, contended Gallo is a trademark name that cannot be used without the winery's permission.

"The record clearly established that the name Gallo long since stopped being a family name and became a trademark of considerable significance," winery counsel Patrick Lynch said in his closing argument in a trademark infringement trial. "The name Gallo is virtually synonymous with a brand of wine."

The winery is owned by Gallo's brothers Ernest, 79, and Julio, 77.
Defense counsel Denis Rice said if the winery wins, it would be the only case so far as he knows where a "person using his full name ... would be precluded from using it on a non-competing product."

California man released: bomb threat was a hoax

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The attorney for a University of California lecturer who was arrested following an American Airlines bomb hoax said the incident was all a mistake.

"This man found a note and gave it to a flight attendant and, because of some confusion on the part of the FBI, this charge was filed," defense attorney Ray Twohig said after Peter Canning was released Wednesday on his own recognizance.

Twohig told reporters: "I expect the case to be dropped within a week."

However, the attorney said Canning probably would not fly home to Berkeley, Calif.

"He won't be able to get on a plane," Twohig said.

"He's returning home, but we don't know how," Canning's girlfriend, Rhonda Lieberman, said Wednesday evening at Canning's residence.

Canning, 40, was arrested Tuesday by the FBI after a bomb threat forced a Boeing 767 carrying 198 people to make an emergency landing at Albuquerque International Airport.

He was held about 20 hours before U.S. Magistrate Sumner G. Buell released him following an initial presentence late Wednesday afternoon.

The next hearing date had not been set.

The FBI alleges Canning handed a flight attendant a note that said a bomb was aboard Flight 240 bound for Dallas from San Francisco. The plane landed in Albuquerque, was taken to a remote stretch of runway and was evacuated. Searchers aided by bomb-sniffing dogs found no bomb or weapon, authorities said.

The criminal complaint filed Wednesday by the FBI reads: "(American Airlines representative Joe) Phelan said a passenger, described only as wearing all black, sunglasses, new wave haircut, had passed a note to one of the flight attendants which said there was a bomb on board."

outside California or New Mexico except to travel between the two states. While in California he must stay in Berkeley, San Francisco or Oakland and must report daily to a pretrial agency, the judge ruled.

Ms. Lieberman said Tuesday that Canning had been flying to New Orleans for a convention of the Modern Language Association.

She said Canning, a native of Waterbury, Conn., did undergraduate work at Northeastern University in Boston, spent about five years at Harvard earning his doctorate and a year studying at the University of Paris, two years at Yale, then two years at Berkeley.

Dr. Avital Ronell, a colleague of Canning's, said in a telephone interview from Berkeley that Canning told her over the telephone Tuesday night the note fell off a tray and onto his lap.

"He didn't do it. He handed a note that dropped on his lap from the stewardess' tray," Ms. Ronell said.

She added: "He's in this awful predicament of having shown the stewardess something that needed to be shown. He acted as a responsible citizen and then was arrested for doing what was thoughtful."

Abalos named as assistant DA

Alamo conflict continues

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Alamo is the scene of a modern-day conflict between the Daughters of the Republic of Texas and lawmakers who want the group to open financial records of the shrine's operations to public scrutiny.

A DRT attorney said Wednesday the group is making progress in negotiations with two San Antonio legislators in a move to avoid legislation that would increase state oversight over how the Alamo is run.

If complete financial records of Alamo operations are released, State Reps. Jerry Beauchamp and Orlando Garcia said, they will refrain from filing a bill placing the shrine under the auspices of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"I think we're getting closer to an agreement," Beauchamp said Wednesday.

The Democratic legislators have negotiated with attorney Sam Dibrell, a past president of the Sons of the Republic of Texas and an unsuccessful Republican candidate last month for the 4th Court of Appeals.

Dibrell's mother, Peggy, is secretary of the DRT's Alamo Committee.

"The only reason I was planning to file the bill was they were being so ugly about releasing their records," said Beauchamp. "It won't take any legislation to do what we want them to do if they comply with the state's Open Records and Open Meetings laws."

Garcia also said he was confident an agreement can be reached. Earlier this year, he tangled with the DRT when he sought information on a $1.7 million Alamo reserve fund.

Beauchamp and Garcia said they also want to establish a state repository for the Alamo's financial reports.

The DRT responded that it has filed annual financial reports with the state, but those from some years have not been located.

"The Daughters have nothing to hide and never had anything to hide," Dibrell said.

The Franciscan mission in downtown San Antonio was the scene of a siege and massacre of Texans by Mexican troops in 1836.

Dibrell said the controversy has been "unfortunate" and no one has challenged the manner in which the DRT have cared for the Alamo.

Beauchamp said he has reviewed some financial material on the Alamo and is in the process of obtaining employment and Internal Revenue Service records.

Dibrell said the DRT will comply with provisions of the Open Records Act and Open Meetings Act.

The verbal sparring over who should run the Alamo began with complaints by the League of United Latin American Citizens that the contribution of Tejanos to the battle for Texas independence had been suppressed in historical displays.

The DRT has run the state-owned Alamo with permission from the Legislature since 1906.

FBI agents declined comment following Wednesday's proceedings.

The FBI asked Canning to provide them with a handwriting sample so they could compare it to the note.

"A comparison of his (handwriting) and the note once again resulted in similarities which seemed apparent to special agents involved in this investigation," the complaint said.

Canning, wearing a blue jail suit, entered the courtroom 15 minutes before the hearing was to begin. He was given the complaint. He sat down and read it, gasping at one point and repeatedly shaking his head.

Buell imposed stipulations for Canning's release, banning his travel
