Wet Areas in Dry Counties Are Held Illegal

Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

The biggest mistake that most of us make is a failure to do properly with the leisure time we have. The problem of what to do with idle hours is becoming increasingly serious in social economy, since the perfection of labor saving methods and mass production has shortened the time required for work. The laboring man goes home in the afternoon at 4 or 5 o'clock where he once did not leave his job until dark. Similarly, he goes to his work later in the morning. In many cases he has half of Saturday off.

The leisure that this allows him is the time that he has gained to spend with his family, to spend at recreation or at self-improvement. The satisfaction of living, after all, is the satisfaction of cultivating ourselves and our abilities. Mere sensuality is not living. The gratification of appetites is a sordid process at the best. The cultivation of fine and wholesome appetites, however, is the splendid business of living. Men sharpen their wits in the business battle and win by improving their thinking and strategy to compete with others. Artists battle against standards and the difficulty of obtaining public acclaim. All are gratified by success that is measured in practical terms. But their greatest satisfaction comes from the consciousness of inner improvement.

The average man or woman can use their leisure time to great and profitable advantage if they have the will power to set themselves against standards. Dr. Elliott, late president - emeritus of Yale university, devised a system for self - improvement through organized reading that helped a person wonderfully in this direction without the expenditure of much time daily. Fifteen minutes of sensible reading daily is much better than an hour of aimless, uncertain thumbing of books or the mere following of an inclination. But it is not necessary for anyone to follow a patented system. One may devise one's own system, simply by a careful selection of material bearing on a certain object.

I am saying all of this as preliminary to a reminder that Cisco has an advantage in this direction that larger towns would prize. Andrew Carnegie, the centennial of whose birth occurs this year, devoted a great part of his enormous fortune to the establishment of liberaries. Fort Worth has one such, and the number of people who make use of its facilities for self-improvement is enormous.

Cisco doesn't have a Carnegie Library, but it has one as good or better than the Carnegie Foundation would have established in a town of this size did it gauge its appropriations by the standard of what it gave Fort Worth. The women of the Twentieth Century club are the donors. For years they have worked unceasingly in behalf of such an institution and that which they have developed is one in which not only they but all of Cisco may have a pardonably great pride. The library has cost them a great amount of money over the years. But it owns its own specially built and splendid brick building and its stacks are full of thousands of volumes ranging from the latest works of fiction, biography and research to standard classics of all time.

This is National Book Week and it is appropriate that attention be paid to the Cisco Public Library during the week. To stimulate interest in the library and National Book Week, the Twentieth Century club plans an Open House at the Library building from 3 to 6 Saturday afternoon.

The women feel that the people of Cisco are not availing themselves of the opportunity that the institution offers them. They are disappointed. They have provided the library for the use of Ciscoans and failure of you folks to take advantage of its facilities is regarded in a large measure as the failure of their enterprise. Patronize the public library for your own good and to make more beneficial and influential the contribution that these women have made to the civic and cultural welfare of this community.

CISCO TAKES THANKSGIVING FOR HOLIDAY

Cisco will be closed, except for the drug stores, service stations and cafes today as the city celebrates the national holiday of Thanksgivng.

The post office windows will not be opened and there will be no city or rural deliveries during the day. Postmaster Luther McCrea said. Special deliveries will be made and box mail will be put up, he said.

The First National bank will not be open, President Alex Spears said.

All of the retail institutions except those named, will observe the holiday, Miss Lucile Self, secretary of the Retail Merchants association, announced.

Union Service

No special programs or events will be given here in observance of the day, except the union service at the First Methodist church at 7 a. m.

The big attraction for Cisco people will be the annual Cisco and Abilene football clash at Abilene at 2:30 in the afternoon. The game will have no bearing on the district championship except that the faint possibility of a defeat of the Eagles by the Cisco team would clinch the title for Breckenridge even if the even more faint possibility of a Ranger win over the Buckaroos were to astound this part of the football world.

The public schools and Randolph college closed their doors Wednesday afternoon not to reopen them for classroom work until Monday morning. Many of the teachers have gone to San Antonio where they will attend the Texas State Teachers association.

There will be no edition of the Cisco Daily Press this afternoon.

NEW UNREST ENGENDERED IN EUROPE

(By Associated Press)

The Italo-Ethiopian conflict engendered new European unrest today as Italian sources said a powerful resistance would be made if the League of Nations presses for an extension of sanctions, and the British cabinet meets to consider the proposed oil and coal embargo, which is believed to be one of the gravest decisions regarding the conflict.

Italy announced that the northern army advanced slightly, occupying two villages on the southeast front lines at Makale.

Ethiopia claimed fresh victories on both fronts, insisting that the Italians in the north had retreated to Adigrat.

The United States is understood to be considering its quota of the system to govern the export of war materials.

The League of Nations general staff of experts assembled to determine whether sanctions are to be enforced.

LAVAL KEEPS TIED TO GOLD

PARIS, Nov. 28. (AP)—Premier Laval strengthened hopes for saving the cabinet today, informed sources said, by pinning the government to the "golden franc." The financial issue superseded the question of the dissolution of the nationalistic league, on which the leftist forces intended to attack the government at the opening of parliament tomorrow.

REBELLION IN BRAZIL IS CRUSHED

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 28. (AP) — Loyal federal troops today forced the surrender of a rebellious group of enlisted men at the aviation school at Villamilitar, fixed bayonets for a charge against the revolting third infantry regiment. The rebellion spread to the troops here shortly after the government announced it had recaptured Natal. A group of sergeants and privates had attacked the aviation school, but surrendered in the face of the overwhelming attack of the federals. After the sergeants had assumed command of the troops, bombing planes soon roared over the school and dropped bombs, and the rebels capitulated.

When the third infantry group revolted at Praiavermelha, the government bombarded the barracks, the infantry advanced with fixed bayonets.

Memorial Service For Dr. Randolph Clark In Spring

A beautiful and inspiring memorial service was held in the auditorium of Randolph college Tuesday morning in honor of Dr. Randolph Clark, who was buried in Stephenville Sunday afternoon. A picture of the pioneer Christian educator was placed on a table on the stage, and remained there through the services. After an opening hymn, Dr. Tyndall led in prayer. Then E. B. Isaacks read a few verses from the eleventh chapter of Hebrews. The Randolph chorus sang a couple of appropriate selections.

Mrs. Alfred Irby talked about the Add-Ran college days. She painted a beautiful picture of Dr. Clark's life and work with the college, of his kindness, nobility, of his cheerful and unfailing friendship. President J. R. McKissick then spoke on "As I Knew Him." He told of Dr. Clark's wonderful ability as a preacher and leader of men.

Professor H. R. Garrett pronounced the benediction.

Belief Borah Is to Make Race for President Grows

WASHINGTON, D. C. Nov. 26. (AP)—Senator Borah bluntly asserted Sat. that should he receive the "unexpected and great honor" of being president, he would veto as unconstitutional such legislation as the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill. His stand was given in a letter to the National Association for Advancement of Colored People. It replied to one sounding his views, as a presidential possibility, toward the anti-lynching bill he opposed in the senate. The Idaho republican's quick response to the challenge and his wording of it, furthered the growing belief that he will get into the presidential race.

Gann, 60. were found at the Gann home seven miles north of here Tuesday, where the men "batched" while Mrs. Gann had gone on a visit. Officers were inclined to believe that a third person was involved in the tragedy. They did not think it was a case of slaying and suicide.

HIGH COURT RULES UNDER 3.2 BEER LAW

AUSTIN, Nov. 28. (AP) — The court of criminal appeals today, freed 26 persons convicted of violating the old prohibition law, while the state supreme court held that wet precincts are not permitted in a county which voted dry by local option.

The appeals court held the new act, providing for misdemeanor penalties for violating the package sale law with local option, repealed the Dean law. Repeal of the old felony act held to be invalidation of convictions pending before it on appeal and also pending indictments.

The supreme court determined the policy in its decision of two cases involving construction of the local option clause in the 1933 constitutional amendment legalizing the sale of 3.2 beer.

The supreme court also denied a rehearing on its decision rendering unconstitutional the act proposing discounts for prompt proposing discounts for prompt payment of ad valorem taxes, and denied a rehearing on the court's decision upholding the railroad commission's rule regulating spacious oil wells.

Progress Made in VFW Program Says Commander

"Visitations, hospitalization and rehabilitation are included in the huge program the war veterans associations have undertaken," said E. E. Weisman of El Paso, department commander of Texas of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, who was scheduled to speak here Tuesday night. Mr. Weisman was a caller at the Daily Press office Wednesday morning, and speaking of the many disabled veterans in west Texas said:

"The high dry climate of west Texas naturally attracts this class of veterans, which increases the burdens of those organizations and officials who are attempting to care for them.

"While results are slow, yet we can tell that we are making some progress. There are now 1,625 disabled veterans in El Paso county, many of whom received no compensation of any character.

Thanksgiving

A SYMBOL OF GRATITUDE SINCE THE DAYS OF THE PILGRIMS

THIS IS THANKSGIVING DAY. It should stand today for what it stood in that primeval wilderness of early Colonial America when a struggling, forlornly brave little band of settlers set it aside as a day of thanks for the blessings they had received.

How much more we have to be thankful for than had those wearisome Pilgrims.

Today, in our comfortable surroundings, it is even difficult to imagine their sufferings. Unfortunately, our many blessings have become such a habit of our daily lives that we are prone to overlook them entirely. As we gather about the family board today let us, as good citizens, remember the homeless and the friendless and, if possible, put a speck of sunshine into their lives.

Let us observe the occasion in the becoming and strengthening spirit of community and national service. Let us avoid the perils of indifference which has threatened our prosperity. In short, let each and every one of us be sincerely grateful in our hearts.

It is in that spirit that we send this brief message to our many friends and patrons.

FIND BODY IN AREA BURNED BY KEROSENE

Lying in a flame-seared area of linoleum covered floor, her clothing burned off and a broken oil lamp beside her, the body of Mrs. M. A. Buchanan, aged Cisco resident, was found Monday morning in the bedroom of the home she occupied alone on East Tenth St. The chimney of the lamp was some distance away, and oil that had gushed from a hole in the lamp had all been burned. A rug on which the badly burned body lay had been partially consumed by the flames. The linoleum prevented the flames from destroying the house, it was believed.

The tragedy occurred early Sunday night, it was established, probably as Mrs. Buchanan was preparing to retire. The body was found by Mrs. Jack Seeves and Mrs. Earl Ayres, neighbors who visited Mrs. Buchanan frequently.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ayres and Mr. and Mrs. Reeves said they heard a disturbance about 8 o'clock Sunday evening but each family took it to be noises from the other and did not investigate. Mrs. Reeves went to visit Mrs. Buchanan Monday morning, however, and failing to arouse her, called to Mrs. Ayres and together they entered the house and discovered the tragedy.

Justice of Peace Joe Wilson Monday morning returned a verdict of accidental death from burning. He said that the lamp either had exploded or Mrs. Buchanan had fallen with it. Most opinion held to the theory of an explosion.

Mrs. Buchanan had lived in the house for the past five years.

Farm Animals Visit "Beauty Parlor" On Way to Exposition at Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—There is a trip to the "beauty parlor" facing thousands of America's finest farm animals.

It'll be their first stopping place when they arrive in Chicago for the 36th International Live Stock Exposition in the new stock yards amphitheatre November 30 to December 7.

The "beauty" treatment comes just before the formal opening.

Some breeds of cattle look best with curled coats, accomplished by applying special combs to dampened hair. Horns and hoofs are scraped, sand-papered and polished. Horses' maines and tails are braided and trimmed with rosettes; pigs are washed and oiled, and sheep must be sheared by experts to bring out the blocky forms that shepherds consider ideal.

Many in Competition

B. H. Heide, manager of the show, says great interest in this year's exposition is due to the notable success of recent state fairs, many of which established all-time records for both number of exhibits and visitors. He expects more than 12,000 animals to be competing.

Beef cattle herds are to be entered from such distant points as New England and the Pacific slope states, in addition to the provinces of Alberta, Ontario and Quebec in Canada.

Sheep breeders from 14 states and Ontario have made entries for ten different breeds. Swine exhibits, largely from the corn belt, are 40 per cent in excess of last year's entries.

King Of Steerdom

Draft horses. says Heide, are coming from nine states and Canada to stage one of the biggest shows in the history of the exposition. Some of the contenders have recently been imported from Scotland, France and Belgium, the native lands of the Clydesdale, Percheron and Belgian horses.

Interest in the exposition will center in selection of the grand champion steer, scheduled this year for Tuesday afternoon, December 3. The judge will be Walter Biggar who annually makes the trip from his home in Dalbeattie, Scotland, to officiate in this important ceremony.

Next in importance is the sale of the grand champion on the auction block after a two-day reign as the king of steerdom. Last year's champion sold for $3 a pound on the hoof, far under the record price of $8.25 a pound bid for the 1929 champion.

The Childress Bobcats came to town Friday afternoon and ran up 23 first downs to score two touchdown and a point after touchdown for a 13 to 0 victory, but the game was much better than the statistics would reflect.

The Loboes made only five first downs during the game, but the home town fans will always believe that nullification of a brilliant aerial touchdown raid of the local by an offsides penalty had much to do with the outcome of the game.

The Loboes broke out with a series of short flat zone passes and laterals that had the Childress lads dizzy for a spell. They started that business just as soon as the game opened. Woods tossing to Wende who lobbed to Beasley for a 15-yard gain and a first down on Childress' 40-yard line. A pass was incomplete and Woods was stopped at the line but on the next play Woods rifled to Burnam who took it racing across the Bobcats' secondary and ran to within inches of the goal line before he was forced out. The double-off-side penalty, however, completely nullified the gain and Stansbury was forced to punt, the ball rolling out on Childress' 25.

The Bobcats showed a markedly superior running attack, slashing through the Cisco line for great gains, and doing a few things with laterals and passes themselves. Let it be said to the credit of the officials that they inflicted as many and as severe penalties on the visitors for infractions of playing rules, penalties which undoubtedly cost them touchdowns. Taking the ball on their 25 the visitors marched down the field in a stunning succession of first downs, but were set back by a 15-yard penalty that even a pass of the same distance, Patton to Andrews, failed to overcome. The threat was halted when a long aerial was grounded in the end zone and the Loboes took the ball on their 20.

The Loboes retaliated with another drive, featured by Beasley's 24-yard canter around his left end on a reverse, but the attack bogged down and Stansbury was forced to punt, Burnam dropping the Bobcat receiver on the Childress' 23.

Carter, quarter and chief running and passing back of the visitors, a clever and capable player, and Carter and Terrell, hard driving ball carriers, resumed their offensive campaign with similar effect, losing the ball when Cisco recovered a fumble, but regaining it when Rainwater intercepted Stanbury's pass on the 50-yard line. This time the visitors would not be denied, even by a 15-yard penalty, such as halted their original attack. A pass and a lateral, simulating Cisco's tactics, overcame the set-back by a gain of 16 yards. An earlier five-yard penalty again the visitors likewise had failed to halt their succession of first downs in the campaign. Patton was the chief ground-gaining influence in this march to a score, driving off tackles and throwing passes with deadly effect. Carter made the score when he dove over late in the second quarter from the one-yard line. Stephens kick was no good and the score stood 6 to 0.

Cisco opened up with fair ground gaining tactics in the third quarter, but their rate of gain was not enough to offset penalties for offsides. As the game wore on the Loboes were obviously tired, and their open game worked with less effect against the stronger visitors, who scored their second touchdown late in the fourth quarter, Terrell plunging over after a drive replica of the first, off-tackle down the field that was almost a slashes being mixed with passes and laterals Stephens' kick was good to make the score 13 to 0.

Sinclair engineers have found that, by and large, the oldest crudes make the toughest motor oils. The crude oils used in making Sinclair Opaline and Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oils are among the oldest ever discovered.

Each of these oils gives a lubricating film that will withstand a pressure of more than 3 tons per square inch. This toughness has been proved on special Film-Breaking Machines in Sinclair's East Chicago Testing Laboratories.

From the Chief of Police to the Housewives and Citizens of Cisco

THIS IS A WARNING to BE-Ware of STRANGERS posing as salesmen, solicitors or inspectors calling at your homes. THEY SHOULD NOT BE ADMITTED UNTIL THEIR CREDENTIALS HAVE BEEN CHECKED UP AND VERIFIED AND THAT YOU ARE SURE you are dealing with local people — REPRESENTATIVES OF LOCAL FIRMS. IN MANY CASES and from our police records lack of caution on the part of householders in allowing STRANGERS —without reliable credentials in the homes have resulted in costly property losses and bitter experiences. Often the man or woman calling today

—THE STRANGER — is the "spotter" or "locator" for a professional who follows in a later date.

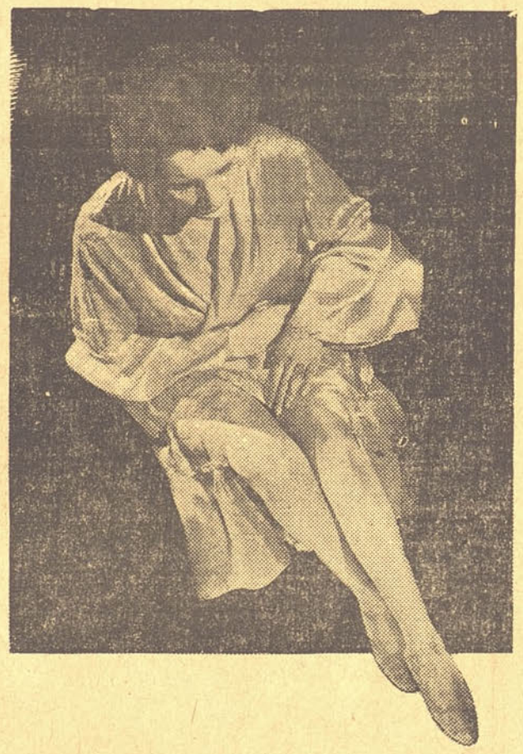
DO NOT PAY CASH IN ADVANCE TO STRANGERS— On an order as too often we have had reports from our own citizens that THEY HAVE NEVER RECEIVED ANYTHING FOR THEIR CASH IN ADVANCE—much less the refund on the down payment.

DO NOT CASH CHECKS for STRANGERS — or issue a check to a stranger on an order as many times these checks have been altered and later cashed by an innocent party.

IT'S BETTER TO BE SAFE THAN SORRY — be absolutely sure you KNOW with whom you are dealing before granting admission to strangers to your home. IN CASE YOU ARE SUSPICIOUS PHONE THE POLICE AT ONCE — Phone 539. DO NOT DELAY THIS — as it will aid the police to locate the itinerant.

ONE NEED NOT BE AFRAID of OFFENDING the honest salesman known to you as a local citizen REPRESENTING LOCAL FIRMS, THEY HAVE THEIR CREDENTIALS WITH THEM — welcome such investimation.

M. L. PERDUE,
Chief of Police, Cisco, Texas.



BE SURE and compare values before you pay down that small deposit

This lady pictured here bought hosiery from an itinerant peddler. When they came they had a flaw in them --- Who is going to make them good? The peddler is gone, and the store it came from has its headquarters in a distant city.

Randolph Clark Funeral Sunday at Stephenville

Funeral services for Dr. Randolph Clark, 91-year-old co-founder of Add-Ran college which later became Texas Christian university, and father of Dr. Lee Clark, dean of Randolph college here which was named for him, were held at Stephenville Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Dr. Clark, whose death occurred at Dallas Friday night, was formerly pastor of the Stephenville Christion church, and his wife is buried there.

Dr. Clark died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. F. Holloway whose husband was for several years superintendent of Ranger schools. The aged educator had made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Holloway at Ranger and later at Dallas.

Founded Add-Ran.

The institution moved to Waco some years later and changed its name to Texas Christian university, transferring to Fort Worth in 1911.

Dr. Clark had not been actively connected with the school since but had retained his interest in its removal from Thorp Springs, it and held an honorary membership in its board of trustees.

He was a native of Texas and was one of the best known men in the ministry of the Christian church in the state.

Born in Harrison county August 15, 1844, he began preaching at the age of 26. Since that time he had been engaged in college work, teaching, and preaching. Feeble health forced his retirement from active work about four years ago. The greater part of his preaching was in evangelistic work and special meetings.

Funeral services will be held in Stephenville, Texas, where he made his home for many years, and burial will be there beside his wife who died a number of years ago. The day and hour had not been set tonight.

Both Dr. Randolph Clark and his brother served in the Confederate forces during the civil war. He was chaplain of the trans-Mississippi division, United Confederate veterans, at one time.

Candidate for Governor.

He was a candidate for governor of Texas against Charles Culberson on the prohibition ticket.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Holloway of Dallas and Mrs. F. H. Chandler, Mrs. E. T. Chandler, and Mrs. M. D. Hassler of Stephenville, and two sons, Lee Clark, dean of Randolph college, and J. L. Clark, head of the history department at Sam Houston State Teachers college, Huntsville.

A son, John J. Clark, died a few years ago.

Dr. Clark was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark. He was educated at Carlton college, Bonham, and Bethany college in West Virginia.

On July 5, 1870, he married Miss Ella Lee of Bonham, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Roswell Walter Lee.

In addition to his children, he is survived by two brothers, T. M. Clark a teacher at Randolph college, which was named in honor of Dr. Randolph Clark, and Joseph Clark of Stamford, and two sisters, Mrs. Ida Nesbitt of Abilene and Mrs. Joseph Rodgers of El Paso.

Father of C. C. Clarkson Dies at 11 p. m., Sunday

Death of M. L. Clarkson, 80-year-old father of C. C. Clarkson who was stricken while on a visit to his son's family here, occurred at the Clarksson home at 11:08 Sunday night. Mr. Clarkson, a native of Indiana who had lived for the past ten years with a daughter, Mrs. C. A. Dunn, in California, came to Cisco about four months ago and was stricken on the first of September. He received treatment at Dallas at one time.

The body was shipped at 10:55 Wednesday morning to DuPont, Ind., his birthplace, for burial. It lay in state from 2:30 Monday afternoon until that time at the Green Funeral home. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clarkson and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright accompanied the body. Mrs. Wright is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clarkson.

Mr. Clarkson was 80 years of age on October 21.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Eunice Bateman of Spadra, Cali.; Mrs. Dunn of Patton, Cal., and Mrs. Phoebe Ricketts of Vernon, Ind., and five sons: Harvey and Andrew of Indianapolis, Ind.; C. E. Clarkson, formerly of Cisco, now of Murray, Utah; Lewis Clarkson, of Buenos Aires, Argentina, S. A., and C. C. Clarkson of Cisco. His wife died 22 years ago.

Prospects for State Aid Said To Be Gloomy

AUSTIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—Adam R. Johnson, Texas relief director, Sat. summed up gloomy prospects of state aid to the needy ending in midwinter with employment conditions unimproved. Johnson said that without federal aid 'charges are we will be out of business by the first of the year." There was a possibility, he said. that state aid will be curtailed sharply and extended only to unemployables until February first. Economies and reduced rations enabled the state to accumulate a surplus of $1,300,000 from various sources to match $700,000 of state money, last proceeds of the $20,000,000 relief bond issue voted two years ago.

REPORT SHOWS PROGRESS OF SCHOOLS OVER FIVE YEARS

A summary report of the progress and activities of the Cisco public school system during the five years he has been superintendent has just been submitted to the Cisco school board by Supt. R. N. Cluck. The report deals comprehensively with the system, its activities and progress and makes recommendations for its mprovement.

The report is divided into the following sections:

Scholastic Standards

The Cisco schools this year were in the state, regardless of size, rated among the first 25 schools. The system has maintained its affiliation with the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges, which has 273 affiliates in the state. This rating is based upon the percentage of graduates attending college and the percentage of failures in college subjects by these graduates. Association records show that 34 per cent of the 1933 graduates attended college in 1934 and that their percentage of semester hours failed was only 15.1.

The Cisco schools employ an "honor point" system of graduation. Graduates are divided into three groups according to their work over the four-year period in high school. These are the high honor graduates, honor graduates and graduates. Members of the first group must have averaged 90 or above during their four years in school, and members of the second group between 80 and 90. Members of the graduate group who fall below an average of 80, are not recommended for college, although, the reports says, in many instances students from the lower group have made splendid college records.

Percentage of students in the two honor groups has steadily increased. The honor point system, by stimulating incentive throughout the four years, has improved interest in making higher grades throughout all the classes.

Encouragement toward higher scholarship is carried into the lower grades through awarding certificates of merit and attendance certificates.

Students representing the high school in athletics are required to pass three or four in the semester during which they participated in order to be eligible to receive a sweater or letter award.

All members of the high school faculty are now required to have degrees and are assigned to the field in which they majored. Non-degree teachers in the grades are asked to complete 24 semester hours of college work every three years until they receive their degrees.

Curriculum Improvements.

A course in diversified occupations to meet the practical needs of the average boy or girl was introduced last year. The course enables the boy or girl unable to go to college to enter the business world upon graduation from high school with two years of technical training in his or her chosen field.

Commercial law introduced into the system and Latin I and II reintroduced.

Hour recitation plan adopted.

Fourth grade included in departmental work, causing children in this grade to be taught by specialists in their respective fields.

Attempt made to add public school music. Due to unexpected crowded conditions course has been temporarily discontinued and the teacher assigned to regular teaching position.

Special supervision assigned to physical development of children through a program that not only develops the body but teaches proper health habits, etc.

Cisco has the best adult education program in the state, according to W. E. Marshall, district supervisor of adult education in the state department of education.

Material Improvements.

Library facilities greatly increased over the five years. Heating system at high school improved Playground equipment added. Remodeling of west ward building under way through WPA appropriation and repairs secured for other buildings in the system. Concrete floors in high school halls rebuilt. Interiors of all school buildings recalcimined.

New and up-to-date grade card system for grade schools adopted to carry detailed information regarding child's work and progress.

Dothan school district brought into Cisco system through contract with Dothan trustees by which schooling is furnished all pupils of that district. The bus routes added to bring high school students from eight outlying common school districts to Cisco for schooling.

Transfers into Cisco schools have greatly increased.

School grounds landscaped and beautified. New bell system installed at high school. Stage repaired and new ceiling installed in auditorium.

Teachers' salaries paid more promptly than in several years.

Extra-curricular activities are planned for the development of character and preparation for useful citizenship. Each student, in addition to any academic or athletic credit, is required to earn credit in some literary or club activity. For those interested in music, the band and choral club are maintained. The Cisco Lobo band has won the west Texas contest several times in recent years. The choral club took second place in state contest at Belton.

A dramatic club is maintained. A museum of natural science is being developed. Students are encouraged in newspaper activities, publishing a small school newspaper regularly.

Free community night programs are presented at the high school at intervals, made up of numbers given by pupils from the various schools. These have brought school and patrons into closer contact and have helped to build a community spirit that is vital.

Recommendations made, many of which have already been undertaken, include:

Extend public school music in the grades to all ward schools and make it a permanent plan.

Part-time evening classes in vocational home economics for the women of the town, three-fourhs of the expense to be met by the state and federal governments.

Experiment with a class of home economics for boys.

Work out a plan through which pupils in grades four to seven may be promoted by subjects, as is practiced in the high school, provided the student does not fail in more than two subjects.

Provide part time elementary librarian in order that children may be taught early the value of books, and to raise the standard of reading.

Put out a printed course of study for the Cisco schools as soon as new curriculum is adopted by state department of education.

As soon as finances will permit, employ specialist to supervise all grade school work.

Extend vocational courses to pupils in sixth and seventh grades.

Provide evening classes in commercial work, three-fourths of the expenses to be paid by the state and federal governments.

Add an additional teacher and grade to east ward if enrollment increases.

Give consideration to the advisability of employing a school nurse.

That you seriously consider some plan for providing a gymnasium large enough to accommodate the entire system.

Secure an expression teacher to be placed in the schools, her salary being what she makes through fees and tuition.

Seriously consider introducing vocational guidance, business English, commercial geography and more industrial work as the need arises and finances will permit.

Buy duplictaing machine (worth its cost as a teaching aid).

That you add additional library books and materials to the ward school libraries.

"HUDDLED"
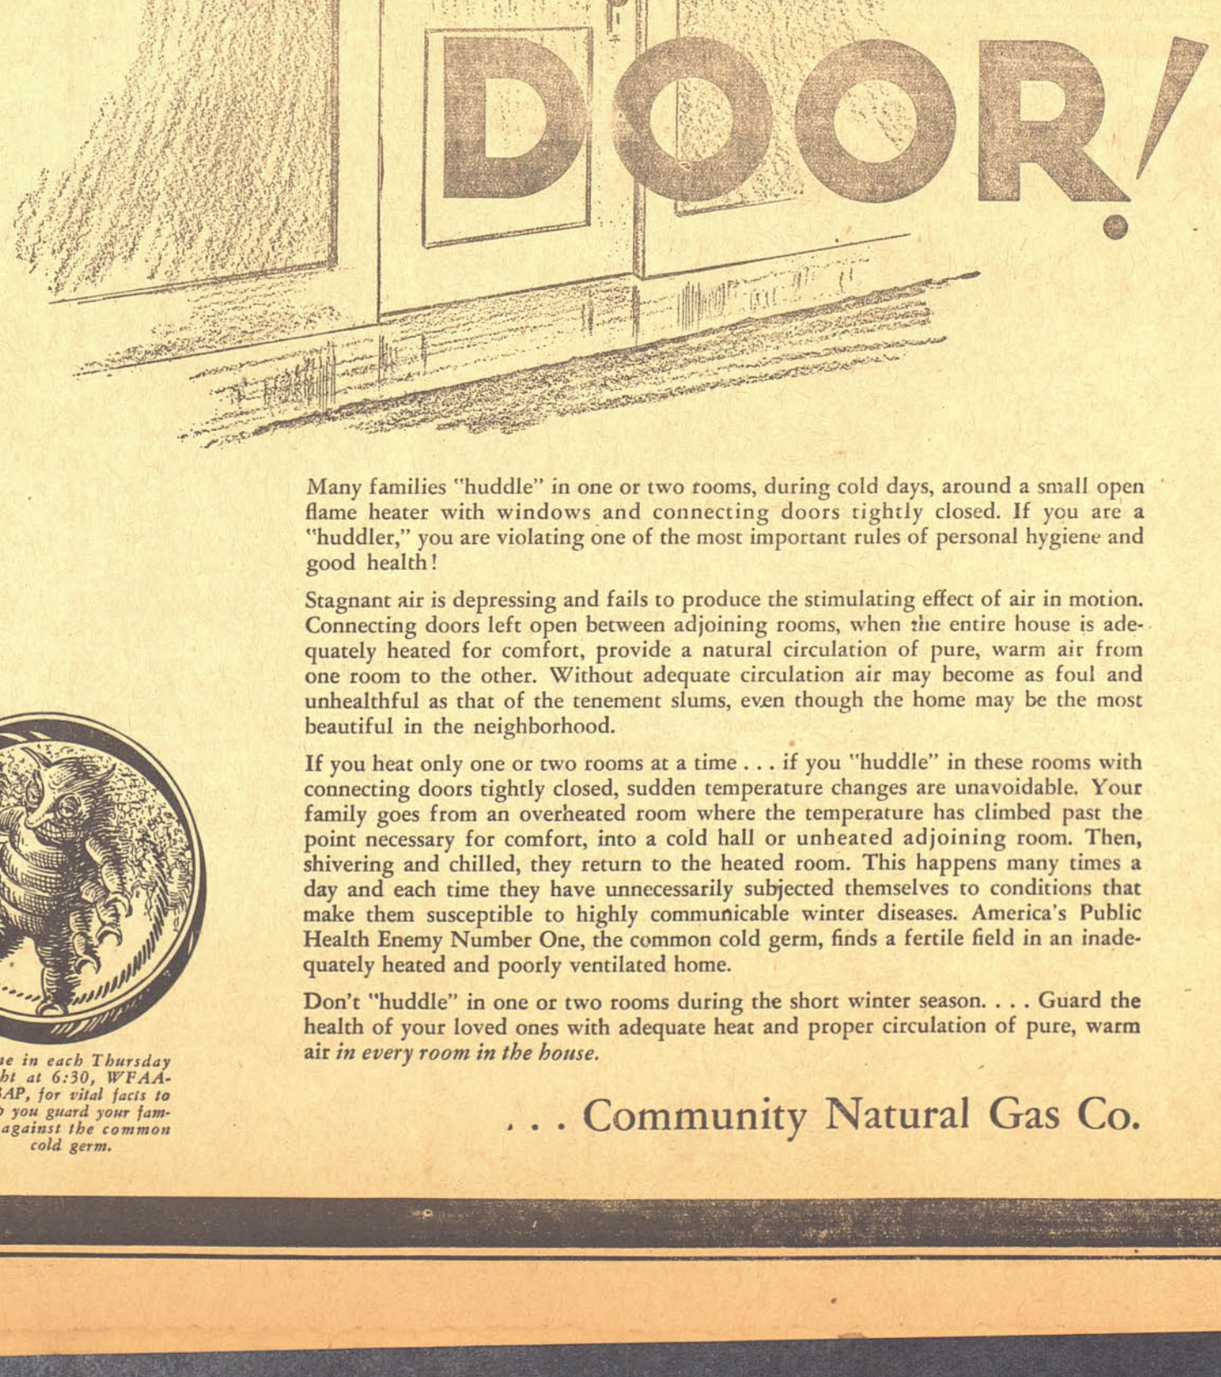
CLOSED DOOR!



Many families "huddle" in one or two rooms, during cold days, around a small open flame heater with windows and connecting doors tightly closed. If you are a "huddler," you are violating one of the most important rules of personal hygiene and good health!

Stagnant air is depressing and fails to produce the stimulating effect of air in motion. Connecting doors left open between adjoining rooms, when the entire house is adequately heated for comfort, provide a natural circulation of pure, warm air from one room to the other. Without adequate circulation air may become as foul and unhealthful as that of the tenement slums, even though the home may be the most beautiful in the neighborhood.

If you heat only one or two rooms at a time . . . if you "huddle" in these rooms with connecting doors tightly closed, sudden temperature changes are unavoidable. Your family goes from an overheated room where the temperature has climbed past the point necessary for comfort, into a cold hall or unheated adjoining room. Then, shivering and chilled, they return to the heated room. This happens many times a day and each time they have unnecessarily subjected themselves to conditions that make them susceptible to highly communicable winter diseases. America's Public Health Enemy Number One, the common cold germ, finds a fertile field in an inadequately heated and poorly ventilated home.

Don't "huddle" in one or two rooms during the short winter season. . . . Guard the health of your loved ones with adequate heat and proper circulation of pure, warm air in every room in the house.

Tune in each Thursday night at 6:30, WFAA-WBAP, for vital facts to help you guard your family against the common cold germ.

No Foreign Wars, But U. S. Will Be Prepared --- Blanton

"I will never vote to send our American boys to fight a war in any other country," Cong. Thomas L. Blanton told the 85 persons gathered at the Laguna hotel for the regular monthly dinner of the Cisco Boosters Monday night. "But you people needn't be afraid that we won't be prepared to meet any foreign invasion."

Cong. Blanton said the country would be adequately equipped to repel any attempt to invade American shores or possessions, and declared that preparedness is the best assurance of peace. His statements came in the course of an interesting discussion of the necessity of military defenses for the nation which concluded an address that began with assurance of assistance in the development of the Lake Cisco state park area.

Blanton urged that the park be made a metropolitan one rather than a state-owned and controlled resort. "You don't want Austin charging your folks for every use they make of the park," he said. "It wouldn't set well with them. Why, they might charge you every time you went out there to have a picnic. You don't want anything like that."

He said that Cisco would already have had a CCC camp for the development of the area had not 54 camps of the number originally allotted to Texas been cut off because of the lack of manpower on the relief rolls to man them.

"The only way to get a camp is to get one for the next six-month period," he told the group. He explained that the first step is to get state park board approval, which already has been obtained. The next is to secure approval of George Nason, national park service representative at Austin. From Mr. Nason the route of approval goes through National Park Service Rep. Maier at Oklahoma City, to the headquarters of the service at Washington and, finally, to Sec'y Ickes of the Interior.

"It must go through that routine before it is placed on approved status," said Blanton. "When you get that approval I promise you that Cisco will get one of the first two camps that are allotted to my district. I want one camp to go to the site of Old Fort Griffin, up there in Shackelford county on the Clear Fork."

Blanton showed a strong liking for the project to develop this historic site into a park that would always commemorate the history of the frontier days in this section of the state.

Preceding his address, for which he was introduced by President Johnny Cox of the Boosters as presiding officer, the diners, including visitors from Eastland, Baird, Putnam and Moran, heard numbers by the "German Band" of the Cisco high school, directed by R. L. Maddox, and three clever readings by Mrs. James Moore.

NOT THE SAME ANTEATER

The anteater, belonging to the zoo last year, was a rather playful kitty, and offered no objections to visitors reaching through the bars and rubbing his fur. In fact, the kitty rather enjoyed the operation. Being a lover of pets, Bill Joiner was one of those who frequently fondled this pet. Last Sunday, in taking a number of small children to the zoo, he again attempted to fondle the anteater. To his surprise the animal resented this display of affection by seizing his middle digit and taking a piece out of his finger. No one had told him that a new animal had replaced the old one. It was another anteater.

Baird Jury Gives Rockett 5 Years

BAIRD, Nov. 26.—After deliberating less than an hour, a jury in 42nd district court at Baird returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Page Rockett, 19, and assessed a five-year penitentiary sentence. Arguments in the case, which opened Thursday, were completed Friday at mid-afternoon.

Rockett, resident of the Pioneer community in Eastland county, was charged with a statutory offense. Complaining witness was a 16-year-old Cross Plains girl, who testified she was assaulted on the night of November 9, near Cross Plains.

J. D. Taylor, 20, also of Pionees, was indicted on the same complaint. He has not been tried.

Fifty Reported Dead In Italian Storm

ROME, Nov. 26. (AP)—Reports from southern Italy showed a minimum of 75 persons had been killed in a two-day storm.

Fifty are dead at Cantanzaro province, 23 at Regglio province and two in Sicily. Relief measures were being pushed.

Menacing rumbles from Mount Etna frightened the residents. Two slight earthquakes were felt at Messima.

The cuiminating point of the Appennines, the Gran Sassó d'Italia at Abbruzzi, is 9,560 feet high.

Historical Dep't For Centennial Creates Interest

DALLAS, Nov. 26.—Establishment of the historical department of the Texas Centennial exposition under Professor Herbert Gambrell of Southern Methodist university has created state-wide interest amongst private collectors and owners of historical heirlooms.

Hundreds of offers of historic mementoes of the heroes of Texas history have been pouring in from city and farm house. The private offers alone would fill the spacious hall of 1836 in the Texas Hall of State which has been allocated for the historical exhibit. Plans are being discussed for an additional space for historical exhibits in the million dollar building.

From Dr. William E. Howard, of Dallas, noted as a private collector of Texania, comes the proffer of such priceless documents in connection with Texas history as the last will and testament of General Santa Anne who was vanquished by General Sam Houston at San Jacinto. Also a certified signature of King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella of Spain; the autographs of 120 Texas and national figures for whom Texas counties are named; the autograph of every president of the United States and the picture and signature of every viceroy of New Spain who ruled Texas from Mexico City.

Added to this will come exhibits from the Garcia library at the University of Texas in Austin which will include the original account of Cabeza de Vaca of his adventures in Texas published in Zamorra, Spain in 1529.

The original Texas declaration of independence and the constitution of the republic and the state of Texas will be brought from the state capitol at Austin, under guard of Texas rangers, to be exhibited during the exposition in Dallas.

60 PER CENT TO BE GIVEN ON '35 CROP

Word has come from the state cotton allotment board that all cotton producers of Eastland county who have an allotment basis of 1630 pounds or above will receive an additional allotment of cotton tax exemption certificates within the next few days, according to C. Metz Heald, county agent. Those producers having an allotment basis of 2400 pounds or above will receive 20 per cent additional certificates, which is half as much as they received in the original issue. Those between 1630 pounds and 2400 pounds will receive enough additional to make their allotment up to 60 per cent. Those producers with an allotment basis of less than 1630 pounds have already received an additional allotment. This will make a total of at least 60 per cent allotment to every producer in the country on this year's crop, except the producer who began planting cotton in 1935 for the first time since 1927. He will receive a total of 40 per cent for the year.

The county agent and the cotton control committeemen were gratified at this additional allotment. They have been trying to get some relief in this matter ever since it became apparent that the two-bale regulation would work a hardship on approximately 40 per cent of the cotton farmers of this county. Numerous individuals as well as the county organization have written letters to the officials explaining this unjust situation and seeking to have it remedied.

Mr. Heald said that each producer will receive a card notifying him just as soon as his certificates arrive in the county office. He especially urged the producers not to deluge the office with inquiries before the certificates arrive, because it is impossible to tell a producer exactly the poundage of certificates he will receive. He also urged those producers above 1630 pounds to delay buying certificates, in case they are contemplating such, until they receive this new allotment.

J. E. Ellis, No. 1 E. F. Adcock, Sec. 82, Jas Hamilton survey, Comanche county. Commencing date, 11-20-35. Depth, 1,500 feet.

Ray T. Hoff, No. 1 L. M. White et al, Sec. 42, Leagues 3 and 4, McLennan county school land, Eastland county. Commencing date 11-25-35. Depth, 1,500 feet.

Applications to Plug

Hightower Oil & Ref. Co. No. 1 A. J. McLaughlin et ux, Sec. 12, HT&B Ry survey, Brown county. Commencing date, 11-22-35.

Sinclair Prairie Oil Co. No. 5 H. Baxter, Wm. Miller survey, Brown county. Depth 1,299 feet.

Same company's No. 8 R. L. Westerman, N. B. Mitchell survey, Brown county. Original depth 1,457 feet, plugged back to 1,320 feet.

Same company's No. 7C J. H. Fry, Geo. Stubblefield survey, Brown county. Depth 1,298 feet.

Plugging Records

Frank M. Green Oil Co. No. 6 Davis Farm, S. A. & M. G. survey, Brown county. Completed plugging 11-13-35. Depth 1,300 feet.

Ragsdale & Garrett, No. 1 W. B. Webb, H. Odle survey, No. 128 Coleman county. Depth 1,508 feet.

RUST WELL IS SHUT DOWN

The Monarch Oil company's No. 1 Rust, drilling on the Rust farm on the Eastland highway, is shut down until December 1 at around 1,500 feet. The five and six inch casing is being pulled preparatory to drilling the hole to a depth of 5,000 feet, according to information given the Daily Press. This well was spudded in several months ago for a shallow producer or gasser, the objective depth being around the 1,500 foot level. Reaching that depth the well failed to be a producer, of either oil or gas, when the operatives decided to make it a deep test. If their intentions are carried out this will be one of the few deep tests to be drilled in that area.

PROGRESS MADE IN GORMAN FIELD.

GORMAN, Nov. 27.—Gallagher and Lawson now have the well on the Moates tract in good condition. They raised the tubing about ten feet Wednesday and the well is now flowing close to four barrels per hour. The well has been acting much stronger than that at times and would then shut off. They tried the swab and other remedies and then concluded the tubing was too low in the hole. With its raising the well began a steady flow.

The Hampton well of Martin and Case has run into hard luck. It was down within a hundred feet of the anticipated pay when it lost a string of tools in the hole. The crew has been fishing for the past week and has about decided to try to drill by them down to the pay level.

On the Johnson tract the Hoffman and Page well is going right on down. It is now down to 1,100 feet and making plenty of hole each tower. The well will not be finished for sometime yet.

On the Payne tract Brewer et al are spudded in and have the bit going right down. This well will be a more vital well than any which is now drilling for it is far enough from the other producers to get quite a bit of country proven up.

TWO WELLS TO DRILL NEAR EASTLAND.

EASTLAND, Nov. 27.—Drilling applications for two wells near Eastland were on file Friday at the railroad commission office.

S. M. Dickerson of Waco will drill No. 2 Laura E. Murrell, five miles south of Eastland, section 30, block 2, H. & T. C. railway survey. It is planned to drill to 1,375 unless gas or oil is found in paying quantities.

Ray T. Hoff of Comanche will drill No. 1 L. M. White et al, seven miles southeast of Eastland, block 2, McClennan county school land leagues 3 and 4 survey. Drilling to a depth of 1,500 feet is contemplated.

Date of the Murrell well start was scheduled this week and the White well is scheduled to begin Monday.

NEW TEST OF MORAN SAND.

ALBANY, Nov. 27.—St. Mary's Oil & Gas Co. of West Virginia No. 1, Ella and W. G. Webb, is a new location for a 2,200 foot test in center of north 80 acres of university survey No. 68, four miles west of Moran, southeast Shackelford, indicating a revival of the deeper sand and lime prospects for the Moran area, which has been producing oil for more than 20 years. The new test is less than a half mile south of the famous Tarrant-Cloud No. 1, rated as having produced not far under a million dollars worth of oil, coming in at 300 barrels daily from the Moran (Strawn) sand at 2,200 feet the well has produced continuously for more than 20 years.

Fortex Oil Corp. No. 1, R. E. Burns in northeast quarter section 18, Orphan Asylum lands, 8 miles southeast of Albany is drilling at 1,400 feet on another Strawn sand test.

A. A. Michaels No. 1, Florence J. Whitney, is drilling at 1,040 feet on another Strawn sand test in J. Gregg survey No. 4 just across the line in Stephens county.

Material has been moved in on the W. A. Carter farm, center of east half section 70, Lunatic asylum land, at Sedwick, Texas, for what is reported to be a 4,000-foot test by Niola Oil Co. and other East Texas operators.

NEW AREAS ARE OPENED.

ALBANY, Nov. 27. — Poly Oil corporation No. 9, Florence and Delia Spears, is showing up for 25 barrels or better from Bluff Creek sand 792 to 802 feet after a ten-quart shot, having been drilled to 755 feet in March, 1935, and plugged as a dry hole, but cleaned out this week and drilled 37 feet deeper for a nice producing well, making nearly a quarter-mile south extension for the Eaheart pool. The new well is located in the northwest corner of south 140 acres of southwest quarter section 1, Blind asylum, a half-mile southwest of Albany corporate limits.

J. L. McMurray heirs-L. C. Heltzel No. 2, Dawson & Conway, is drilling at 1,500 feet in center of southwest quarter section 193, E. T. Ry. a northeast advance test in the Bluff Creek pool, and will drill the sand this week.

Roeser & Pendleton, Inc.-Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 3, J. P. Morris, is drilling at 400 feet in the northeast quarter of section 205, E. T. Ry., south offset to last completion by Livingston & Wellman on A. J. Swenson in section 206.

Ray & Staniforth No. 2, J. P. Vickers, is drilling at 1,350 feet on second location out of southeast corner of east half northwest quarter section 207, E. T. Ry., an interesting test two miles west of Bluff Creek pool.

Reliance Oil & Royalty Corp.-Jones & Stasney No. 12, G. R. Davis, is preparing to spud in northeast corner of T. & N. O. survey No. 4, on the lease where the operators have completed eleven producers and no dry holes.

Albany Oil Co.-Wm. Pardue, Jr., No. 6, G. R. Davis, is a new outpost test north of the G. R. Davis pool in center northeast quarter of southeast quarter section 218, E. T. Ry.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 1, T. G. Hendrick, is drilling at 815 feet in center of west line of section 181, E. T. Ry., a new test for northwestern Shackelford, which will go to the 1,900 foot horizon.

W. T. Jordan No. 1, L. G. Davis, is drilling at 1,180 feet in northeast corner of section 39, block 12, T. & P.

Grisham-Hunter Corp. No. 1, W. D. Reynolds Trust, is drilling at 1,150 feet in northeast corner of east half of northeast quarter section No. 37, block 12, T. & P. Both the Jordan and Grisham-Hunter tests have created an active area southwest of Albany, being east of the three thousand acre block leased by Condor Petroleum Co. of Abilene on the W. D. Reynolds Trust and L. C. Davis ranch several months ago.

Oyster & Rhodes No. 2, Dennis Manley, is driling at 450 feet, a new test in northeast quarter of section 37, block 14, T. & P. southwestern Shackelford.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Thus saith the Lord: And I will repoice in Jerusalem, and joy in my people: and the voice of weeping shall no more be heard in her, nor the voice of crying.—Isaiah 65: 19.

* * *

"Joy shall banish all their sighs,
Perfect love dispel their fears;
And forever from their eyes
God shall wipe away their tears."

* * *

When divinely alive we may find our emancipation—for we love. We may have sunbeams hot from the sky, and the fragrance and beauty of life is the flowing of the indwelling spirit of him who is life. When once this control is grasped it will go with us all the way and lead us out of the tangle.—Burr.

Thanksgiving Day

ABOUT every land and peoples there grows up in time a body of peculiar institutions, traditions and customs. Thanksgiving Day is an institution peculiar to America. It had its beginning almost coincident with the beginning of American colonization by the Pilgrim Fathers who sought religious liberty at the expense of all that civilization held dear in convenience and comfort. It is correct today to say that the institution of Thanksgiving has lost much of its real significance. The holiday, with its indulgence and gaeity, has been retained and its pleasures increased by a service of the human appetite. But the underlying reason for the day is at best only formally served in the halls of the churches which recognize the institution.

TO appreciate the vital meaning of the day one would have to endure the experiences that its founders endured in their struggle to establish a home in the bleak American wilderness of New England three centuries ago. Imagine a group of people, reared in the comforts of European society, ignorant of the first means of subsistence in a raw wilderness, depending upon the fortuitous friendship of natives to teach them, ravaged with disease, with nothing but a burning faith in a stern deity to steel their resolution—imagine such a group set down at the outset of winter on a "stern and rock-bound coast" of New England three hundred years ago. Imagine their experiences in the long, harsh winter, the effect of the fevers which killed off so many of their number. Then think of the summer, with its kindliness, the bountiful crops that were raised with the aid of the friendly natives the homes that were built. One may well imagine what a great surge of thanksgiving arose in the hearts of those people who, they firmly believed, had been led through the most terrible of trials and tribulations by the hand of the god they worshipped. The day of Thanksgiving which they set apart was devoted to hospitality and feasting on the fruits of their labors, but it was a day of deep and sincere feeling and rededication such as does not now exist.

BUT it is a great and good day, for all that, for it signifies the success of a founding and embodies in the sculpture of the American national character an appropriate figure of recognition and gratitude to a power beyond the human.

Hitch-Hiking

DANGERS attendant upon picking up strangers on the highway are illustrated in the experience of a Dallas motorist who Tuesday brought a man, fatally shot, to Breckenridge with the report that the man had attacked him. The victim was shot three times in the chest and died shortly after being brought to Breckenridge. The motorist said he had picked the man up near Dallas and that near Caddo, 12 miles east, the stranger had attacked him. Breckenridge officers released the motorist after hearing his statement.

THERE are few desperate men on the highways compared to the great number of transients who ask rides. Most of these people are simply seeking transportation and have no desire to prey upon the public except as regards charity in the form of free gasoline and wear and tear on equipment. The logic of the hitch-hiker argues that the gasoline will be burned anyway and the wear and tear on the cars will occur whether or not the motorist has a "dead head" passenger, otherwise the machine would not be on the highway. The argument is satisfying to the opportunist reasoning of the "Knights of the road" who do not look for fundamentals. They fail to see in public acceptance of their status an encouragement of parasitical growth. There is too much surface reasoning, or reasoning motivated by sympathy rather than common sense, on the part of the travelling public itself. Many drivers of cars see the condition of the hitch-hiker as a plight which inspires sympathy. These motorists are usually innocent of experience with the highways. They simply respond with a Christian desire to be of help to the needy and generously offer a seat in their machine to the applicant. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred their innocence is rewarded with the belief they have done a good deed. The rare times that the good gesture invites an attack upon them makes believers out of the victims, of course.

WHAT the good-hearted motorists fail to realize is the fact that their charity encourages the condition by which their sympathy has been aroused. Even though they never encounter the occasion criminal, they make it more certain someone else, just as trusting as themselves, will meet some of this breed. Moreover, they do not appreciate the fact that a person, in the condition to beg rides on highways, is subject to periods of desperation that would make a criminal out of a law-abiding citizen. Out of the mass of people who go up and down the highways seeking free transportation, subject to the irresponsibility of unemployment and concerned almost entirely with the single problem of keeping alive and getting along, a great percentage are potentially anti-social. To cut down this number and reduce the floating population is an important problem of the public peace, and the motorists who succumb to a sympathetic regard for the plight of the hitch-hiker has a definite responsibility in the premises.

Moley Asks Campaign To Provide Shelter

NEW YORK, Nov. 27(AP)—Raymond Moley, former ace braintruster of the Roosevelt official family, Tuesday called for a truce in the name-calling and mud-slinging battle between business and politics.

He demanded a united campaign designed to provide shelter for the 93 per cent of the people whose family incomes as shown by the record of 1933 were less than $3,000 per year.

Abilene and Cisco Will Renew Grid Rivalry This Afternoon

GAME STARTS AT 2:30 AT EAGLE FIELD

The SMU - TCU Southwest conference championship game at Fort Worth Saturday has taken away all the publicity from a game at Abilene this afternoon, but a couple of teams will be taking that fray quite seriously. The Eagles of Abilene, traditional foes of the Cisco Loboes, will be endeavoring to again smother the Cisco boys under an avalanche of touchdowns to wipe out memories of other years when the Loboes rose to great heights in the west and knocked the Eagles off a perch that no other team had been able to do short of the state championship.

Both teams are out of the title chase. Breckenridge will formally annex the flag on the same afternoon by trouncing the lowly and oft-defeated Ranger Bulldogs in the Buckaroo backlot. If Ranger should pull the impossible and defeat the Buckies, it would be the first victory that the Bulldogs have gained against any team this season. On the other hand, the Breckenridge team is smarting with memory of a crushing defeat handed them by the Bulldogs last year and the probability is that they will endeavor to retaliate good and plenty.

Grudge Battle

The Abilene-Cisco fray, likewise, may be a grudge battle. It always is. Moreover, it is due to be closer, since the superiority of the Eagles over the Loboes is not so great. Taken for what the dope may be worth, the Cisco Loboes held the Buckaroos to a closer score than did the Eagles and scored upon them, which was something the Abilene team never got close to doing.

The game will start at 2:30 this afternoon. Both teams are believed to be in good condition. Some of the Cisco boys are recovering from injuries, while Abilene's star backfield threat, Moser, has been on the hospital list frequently and may be handicapped by his injuries this afternoon.

The Eagles are pointing to stop Beasley's swift jaunts, just as the Cisco team is studying methods of keeping Moser bottled up. However, there are other players on both teams who will bear watching. Abilene has much the advantage in the form of reserves who can be thrown into the game to relieve the starters or take places made vacant by casualties.

Five years have gone by without you knowing all the hardships confronting your school's financial condition. Your board of trustees, realizing the burden of taxes through conditions affecting your ability to pay, have been very lienient on delinquent tax matters. In fact, lenient to the extent that today more than $60,000.00 or twice the amount of the annual tax levy is past due and outstanding. This condition can be corrected without embarrassing or offending the citizenship and patrons through a co-operative spirit.

The facts involved creating conditions herein and the adjustment of same, necessitates the employment of one experienced in tax laws, who can efficiently serve the tax payers as well as your school board. For this service we have employed Mr. Rex Ragan to assist Mr. Walker in working out the many difficult problems in tax matters.

Mr. Ragan comes to you highly recommended by tax payers as well as government authorities, engaging him. A great deal of time, deliberation and thought have been given the matter and we sincerely ask your co-operation, to the extent of your ability. Mr. Ragan's duties are to pursue every available effort to collect the many thousands of dollars on unknown and non-resident property and to assist and work with you in arriving at some defniite plan of settlement that will come within the law giving you the greatest advantage possible. His several years experience in this chosen profession is at your disposal and the board of trustees heartily endorse the introduction of Mr. Ragan, as one trained and experienced and anxious to help you, thereby effecting a harmonious program in a community interest. HIGH COURAGE

SYNOPSIS: Although she is being tried for the murder of her uncle, Anne Farnsworth is almost happy. For Tecla Sorki, her old nurse, just has testified that Anne's name really is "Anne Farnsworth," that she was the legally adopted daughter of Luke and Lucinda Farnsworth. But she is by no means secure, for Tom Farley, her most bitter enemy, is assisting the district attorney, and she realizes that her lawyer's case is pitifully weak.

Chapter 39

WELCOME RETURN

"Your ho nor!"

Bedlam had arisen among the legal lights. All were before the bar, all clamoring for recognition.

Judge Benson looked down, rapped smartly for order. "The case will proceed," he said. "As long as the defendant waives the technicality, and admits to both names it will not be necessary to put the state to additional expense. Mr. Lenholm, call your witness."

Again Anne crossed to the witness chair, but this time the floor was as firm as her confidence. Instead of being nameless, she had two names; instead of parentless, there had been two who might have loved her had they lived. And most important of all, Luke Farnsworth hadn't neglected to make her his own, nor to protect her against the cupidity of his own brother-in-law.

Anne told her story that afternoon, told it clearly and concisely. Unknowingly, the interruption of the morning had disrupted the state's plans. They had hoped to cross-examine her when she was tired from a day in court. As it was she completed her version of Lee Farnsworth's murder at five o'clock.

But her cheeks were pale from the ordeal, and her lips trembled as Sharlee cried hysterically when she pictured the bullet passing her own head to lodge in the heart of her foster uncle.

Back in her cell, she sat with eyes bright. Everything seemed to fit like parts in a picture puzzle. Surely something would happen to prove her innocence. And she was Anne Farnsworth. Annikki Nielsen Farnsworth, part Finnish like John.

At the thought of John her face clouded. Queer he had never come near the courthouse. But she believed in him. She had to believe in him, just as she had in Luke.

Lenholm had warned her that on the morrow would come the hardest day of her trial. It was then the state and the special prosecutor, Tom Farley, would seek to cut the mesh of her neatly woven story with sharp questions. They would try to destroy every vestige of truth.

Grey clouds blanketed the window when she awakened. Tomorrow, she would know her fate. She arose, dressed carefully in a warm suit of golden brown, then brushed her hair until it shone. She added a touch of rouge and lipstick to protect her from revealing her emotions to curious eyes.

Court convened, and Anne went immediately to the witness chair to face the district attorney.

He plunged into his cross-examination. "Miss Farnsworth, you say you have never before seen the gun filed here as exhibit A, and yet it has been established that your foster father had it in his possession for several years. I suppose you have some explanation for that?"

"I had no occasion to see it," Anne answered readily.

"We'll let that drop for the present. Miss Farnsworth, you say that while you were in the boat at the scene of the murder, someone called your name. Will you repeat what happened at that moment."

"I was about to jump up on the wharf, when someone called 'Anne.' "

" That's all. Miss Farnsworth, you are positive the name used was Anne?"

"Yes,"

The district attorney gave the jury a knowing smile, then turned back to Anne, "and yet you admit you were known in Union Town by no other name than Nikki? You were surrounded by fisherman from Union Town. and yet you say some one called 'Anne.' Is that true?"

"Yes, it is," declared Anne wonderingly. Queer that she had never before thought of that.

"Miss Farnsworth, you were in a boat some four feet below the small forward deck of the Ahti, upon which the deceased was standing. Do you believe that a bullet fired from behind you would pass your head, then change its course, veer upward and lodge in the breast of the murdered man?"

Anne's eyes widened in surprise.

"Answer please, Miss Farnsworth?"

"That would be true, unless—"

"Answer yes or no."

"Your honor," interposed Lenholm," the district attorney is asking the defendant to give an answer calling for a deduction upon her part. I believe she should have the right to qualify her answer, and give her reason for arriving at that deductive answer."

"You may answer in full, Miss Farnsworth."

Anne remembered her days at school, the confusion of angles and triangles, and remembering these, she faced the court with astonishment.

"If," she began hesitatingly, "if that bullet had been fired from a point below me and behind me, aimed at me, and missed me, it would have continued at an upward angle and struck Lee Farnsworth—" she paused, "horrified at the thought.

"Do you mean you have some enemy among the Finnish people who have stood by you so loyally? That one of these, perhaps one of the Sorki brothers, broke into your house and stole your gun—"

"No," Anne interrupted with scant regard for court courtesy. "That gun has never been in my home nor in my possession."

She saw Lenholm lean back with a sigh of relief, and realized she had been baited, but by sheer honesty had evaded the trap.

"The shot, you yourself admit, must have been fired from within a few feet of the boat on which you stood. Miss Farnsworth, answer this question. Did you fire that shot?"

"She did not!"

A huge voice boomed out from the door. Anne looked up. She saw Judge Ansel Kellogg thrust his bulk into the crowd gathered there, saw the sheriff follow, and behind them came other officers, in uniform.

They spread along the railing, covered every exit, and remained motionless while the big man proceeded through the room to face Judge Benson.

"If the court please,. and with the permission of the district attorney and Mr. Linholm, I wish to present fresh evidence in this case, which I feel will prove the innocence of the defendant, Anne Farnsworth, my client."

The judge on the bench eyed his colleague a moment, looked at Tom Farley, who had arisen and seemed about to launch a harangue against the intrusion, then looked at Anne Farnsworth.

"Would you like a recess in which to consult with the defendant or Mr. Lenholm?" he asked, and it seemed to Anne he was pleased with the turn of events, which had left her wide eyed with hope and amazement.

Anne watched Judge Kellogg as he shook his head. "I need no conference with either. I desire that the trial go on without pause."

"Very well, proceed Mr. District Attorney."

The district attorney looked at Judge Kellogg, then at Judge Benson. "Mr. Kellogg has spoken of fresh evidence. I believe it would be advisable to hear that at this time. I yield to Mr. Kellogg."

"That will be all, Anne." The judge nodded to her, and as she passed on her way to her chair he patted her shoulder and smiled.

Immediately Ansel Kellogg asked for one Leighton Jones to be called as witness, and a moment later a tall, grim-visaged man appeared at the door. Anne started. "Buttons," she whispered. The man looked down and smiled, then went on to the witness chair.

"Your name?" asked the clerk.

"Jones, sir, Leighton Jones, but known to the family as Buttons."

"What family, Mr. Jones?" asked Kellogg.

"The family of the late Luke Farnsworth, sir. I worked for him for fifteen years."

"Then you know the defendant in this case?"

"I do sir, and a finer little lady—"

"I understand and agree," interrupted Kellogg laughing. "Buttons, when did you leave the Farnsworth home?"

"As soon as those people made it so uncomfortable Miss Anne had to leave. None of us would stay on, sir."

"How soon after she left did you leave?"

"The next day, sir, March eleventh it was, sir."

Judge Kellogg turned to Lenholm, then to the clerk of the court and asked for exhibit A. With the revolver in his hand he showed it to the witness. "Have you ever seen this weapon before?"

"Yes sir," declared the man emphatically, "many times, sir. Mr. Luke always kept that in his room, in the bottom drawer of his chiffonier where he kept his pajamas."

A gunsmith throws a bomb, tomorrow.
