Local Mill Will Be Ready For Harvest

Elevator facilities at Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Co. will be in operation in time to receive the 1961 small grain crop, Ray Alderman, manager, said this week. The mill and elevator was recently purchased by Alderman and Charles Cave recently.

Alderman said that by the middle of August or the first of September, he expects to have in operation a completely reorganized milling operation. When it is completed, he said, the company will have a "push button" system. Original plans were to begin milling operations earlier in the spring, but Alderman said that it had been decided to completely overhaul the whole system now rather than wait. When the milling department is ready to go, they will offer complete milling and mixing of feeds.

The retail store will not be opened until the mill is under operation, he said.

In addition to the scales, another grain dump pit will be installed along with grain storage tanks to double the present capacity. Another elevator will be built so that loading can be done into railroad cars and trucks at the same time. The entire elevator-transfer system will be consolidated.

Some Predicting That Tax Question Will Be Solved Only In Special Session

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

In years past, a favorite topic among legislators about this time in the session was, "When are we going to sine die?"

A sine die (final adjournment) resolution gave everyone a comfortable sense of direction. Now there's no need.

Under the new law, the regular session automatically ends after 140 days. For this session the 140th day will be May 29. But with the time two-thirds gone, there's no assurance vital tasks can be completed by May 29.

Both House and Senate are now working on the tax problem, but other measures of major importance — loan regulation, school consolidation claim their time cause delays.

Some observers are freely predicting that the tax question this year, as in 1959, cannot be solved except in special sessions limited to that one subject.

LOAN BILL PASSED

House members passed and sent to the Senate a bill on one of the session's most difficult problems — small loan regulation.

Rep. Criss Cole's bill would allow interest rates up to 39.8 percent on the smallest loans. An amendment was added to allow loan companies to make a service charge of $4 every three months in addition to the interest.

Two amendments were passed with the aim of trying to prevent the market's being taken over by large out-of-state chains. One would prevent the licensing of a loan company owned by a non-resident person or corporation. Another would prohibit any one loan firm's having more than 50 branch offices in Texas.

Another amendment would require the finance commissioner, who would be responsible for loan company licensing and regulation, to approve any charges for insurance in connection with loans.

LOAN INSURANCE RULING

Meanwhile, an attorney general's ruling gave additional direction to the effort to control total charges for small loans.

A loan company, said the opinion from Atty. Gen. Will Wilson's office, is not entitled to a commission for group insurance sold in connection with loans.

Many critics of the small loan industry have contended the loan companies have made extra and unjustified profits by serving as "agents" for the sale of credit insurance to borrowers.

Actually, according to the opinion, the creditor (loan company) is the buyer of the insurance policy and, as such, is not entitled to an agent's commission on the sale.

This opinion, it was felt, will help to clear up the sticky problem of keeping a lid on charges for insurance required of borrowers as security for loans.

SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION WEIGHED

Senate ran into problems over a bill designed to encourage small school districts to economize.

Under present law, if several common school districts in a county consolidate, the first result is that state aid for the combined district is less than for the several separate districts. Government research specialists, however, have long advocated more consolidation in the interest of economy, efficiency and better school programs.

Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells is sponsoring a measure providing that common districts forming a consolidated district of 1,000 pupils or more shall, for 10 years, continue to receive as much state aid as before consolidation.

Sen. Culp Krueger objected that the requirements would penalize many of the low-population counties in his district. Besides, said Krueger, he didn't believe in "paying people to economize."

SENATE STUDIES ANNEXATION

A house-passed bill setting up ground rules for city annexation is being worked on by a subcommittee of the Senate State Affairs Committee.

Rep. W. T. Dungan of McKinney is sponsor of the bill which would allow cities to ring themselves with "buffer zones" over which they could exercise control of building, health and sanitation standards. A portion of the zone could be annexed each year. Bill also provides that an annexed area not provided with municipal services in three years may "disannex" itself.

Spokesmen for the Texas Municipal League spoke in favor of the bill at committee hearing. A representative of the Texas Home Builders Association spoke against it and asked for more control over city extension of control.

70 MPH BILL PASSED

Senate passed and sent to the House a bill that would allow speed limits up to 70 miles per hour on some state highways.

Power to say which roads would have higher—or lower—speed limits would be in the hands of the State Highway Commissioner.

In support of the varying speed limits, Senator Wardlow Lane of Center said it was unreasonable to have the same 60-mile-an-hour limit on new divided highways and old, narrow, twisting roads.

Senator Preston Smith of Lubbock is sponsor. A controversial amendment by Senator Lane would make inadmissible in a court considering a speeding charge "evidence gained by entrapment" or gained by officers "lying in wait unobserved." Presumably this would, in effect, outlaw radar traps.

GOP ASKS ELECTION CHANGE

Spokesmen for the Texas Republican Party appeared before a House Committee in behalf of four bills to change the election code.

Two of the bills set up qualifications for poll watchers and election supervisors. Another would allow voters to put a mark beside the name of the person they wish to vote for instead of scratching all others. Another would repeal the provision for disqualifying a ballot on which two or more names are left unscratched for the same office.

GOP officials said that about 100,000 ballots were thrown out in the last general election, and that probably 100,000 were counted that should not have been. Clarifying the law, they declared, would protect everyone's vote.

BOARDS FAVOR TEACHER RAISES

Answers to questionnaires sent to local school boards over Texas show that 99 percent of the school trustees replying favor raises for teachers.

Boards are divided, however, on how much the raise should be. Biggest proportion, 64 percent, favor the full $800 sought by the Hale-Aikin Committee and the Texas State Teachers Association. About 22 percent favor a $600 a year increase, and 8 percent a $400 increase. Remainder favor some other amount.

Other results: a substantial majority of boards favor adding driver education teachers to the list of authorized special personnel.

A committee of the Texas Association of School Administrators and Texas Association of School Boards conducted the poll.

SALES TAX SENT TO FLOOR

A 2 percent general sales tax designed to raise $189,000,000 a year has been sent to the full House for a decision.

House Revenue and Taxation Committee unanimously passed out the bill by Representative John Allen of Longview. Some members who voted to pass the bill out of committee said they would not vote for it on the floor. They apparently felt that the only way to

If UN Admits Red China, U. S. Should Get Out Of It

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

If Red China is admitted to the United Nations next Fall, what will the United States do about it? That question is being raised, and properly so. A few years ago only the Communist bloc voted to admit the Chinese Reds. But last year the vote was only 42 to 34, with 22 abstentions, opposing admission. It's now hinted that even Britain and Brazil may join Norway, Denmark, Ireland and other non-Communist lands in favoring the seating of Peking. A two-thirds vote is required to let them in and turn the Free Chinese of Formosa out.

The UN charter says an applicant must be "peace-loving." If the Red Chinese can qualify, in view of their recent record, then it is evident that the United Nations is a farce. Red aggression in Korea, their genocide in Tibet, their never-ending threat of force against Formosa; their incursions in India, and their subversions in places like Laos, should be convincing.

If a known tyrant and warmonger like Red China is admitted to the UN, that is at least supposed to be composed of people seeking peaceful solutions, then in my opinion the United States should get out of it.

Operation Abolition is a 30-minute documentary film of a Communist-led riot that took place in San Francisco last May 13 when the House Un-American Activities Committee went there to hold hearings on communist activities in that area. It is a thrilling and living exposure of how Communists operate when they are on the defensive and are in danger of being settled the sales tax issue for this session is to get it to the floor for a vote.

Taxation Committee also heard testimony on an omnibus tax bill by Rep. George Hinson of Minnesota. It is supported by the governor.

Hinson's bill would raise an estimated $156,000,000 a year thru taxes of varying percentages on such items as motor boats, jewelry, watches, soft drinks, restaurant meals, building materials, utilities and gas pipelines.

Soft drink manufacturers were among those protesting at being singled out. Bill was sent to subcommittee for study.

"I Aim At The Stars"

After more than two years of painstaking research and preparations, which included securing the permission of the United States Defense Department and releases and clearances from high government officials in several countries, army generals of two countries and some of the ranking names in the world of science, Charles H. Schneer's latest production, "I Aim At The Stars," the story of Dr. Werner von Braun, opens at the State Theatre Friday.

Curt Jergens stars as Dr. von Braun, and Victoria Shaw, Gia Scala, Herbert Lom and James Daly are also starred. The Columbia release reportedly is one of the more important and unusual films of our time, the first ever produced detailing the life story of a man whose career is still in its ascendancy.

"I Aim At The Stars" is more, according to Hollywood; it is the story of tomorrow, based as it is on the dramatic career of one of the most important of that small group of men—the rocket scientists—who may well hold, for good or evil, the destiny of our world in their hands, depending on whether governments develop rockets for peace or for war and destruction.

Dr. von Braun was the brain behind the deadly V-2 rockets, which rained on London in the last months of the war and which, many believe, might have even turned the tide of war had they come along sooner. "I Aim At The Stars" takes no liberties with history or facts. It shows that Dr. von Braun was a member of the Nazi Party and that he worked for the Hitler government, as did everyone else in Germany at that time. It also shows he was arrested by the Gestapo and thrown into prison, charged with treasonable utterances, and released on the authority of Hitler's High Command to carry on his V-2 work.

"Ten Who Dared"

One of man's mightiest adventures—the conquest of the roaring Colorado River through the Grand Canyon—has been filmed by Walt Disney as a full length Technicolor screen production, and coming to the State Theatre Sunday and Monday.

Titled "Ten Who Dared," it is the saga of Major John Wesley Powell, one-armed scientist and fearless explorer, who guided an expedition down the uncharted Colorado in 1893.

John Beal plays Powell, the

TENSE MOMENT—Walter Powell (James Drury) is pulled to safety by his companions George Bradley (Ben Johnson) and Andrew Hall (David Stollery) in this thrilling scene from Walt Disney's Technicolor screen adventure, "Ten Who Dared."

Farmers Must File Social Security Tax Forms

Many self-employed farmers who have not yet filed their Federal tax returns for 1960 will be doing so before the deadline date of April 17, 1961.

While in some cases no income tax may be due, the self-employment earnings, if $400 or more, should be reported and the social security tax paid, according to Floyd B. Ellington, manager of the San Angelo District Social Security office.

The term "self-employed farmer" also includes the person who operated a farm owned by another on a crop share basis of remuneration.

A schedule F listing the detailed items of income and expenses of the farm operation should accompany the regular Form 1040.

The self-employment tax for 1960 is 4 1/2 percent of net earnings. If the farmer also operated some other business enterprise, such as a filling station or store, that activity should be reported on a separate Schedule C. The maximum to be reported for social security is $4800.

man who led nine others on a mission tense with danger, mystery and excitement.

The authentic journey was filmed along a 370-mile stretch of the Colorado from Utah to Lake Mead. Six years of planning went into it. A picked crew headed by associate producer James Algar fought Colorado River through the Grand Canyon. Their cameras captured some of the most awesome, inspiring scenery ever filmed.

"Where the Boys Are"

What happens when a swarm of college students descend on Fort Lauderdale, Florida, on an Easter vacation in search of fun, relaxation—and romance—makes for entertainment combining love, laughs, music and drama in "Where the Boys Are," coming to the State Theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Much of the picture was filmed by Producer Joe Pasternak and Director Henry Levin on location on the magnificent ocean beach at Fort Lauderdale and in other play spots of the famed resort city, and it is against these backgrounds that the story traces the experiences of four girls in their quest to find the man of their dreams. Only one of the girls makes a tragic mistake; the others are glad they spent their vacation—"Where the Boys Are."

Former Winters Couple Found Dead Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Syler, former residents of Winters, were found dead Saturday in their home in the Oak Cliff Section of Dallas.

Mr. Syler was found with a bullet wound in the head and was in a kneeling position beside a bed on which lay the body of his wife. An automatic pistol containing six bullets was found in the right hand of Mr. Syler, 59, and the cartridge shell of the bullet which was fired into Syler's right temple was found on the floor.

His wife, Martha Alete Syler, 60, a teacher before her marriage, lay fully dressed on the bed. Detective said Mrs. Syler's body bore no sign of violence and an autopsy would be necessary to fix the cause of her death. Justice of Peace Glenn Byrd withheld the verdict in both deaths.

Homicide detectives Marvin Johnson and L. D. Montgomery said that the couple apparently had been dead since Wednesday.

Relatives described the couple as "very devoted" and dedicated in children's charity work since the death of their only child in infancy years ago.

Typewritten burial instructions signed by the couple were left in an envelope marked for "peace officers" on a table in the dining room. The couple requested a eulogy at their funeral and asked that money for flowers be given instead to the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children.

Contents of the note led police to believe they had apparently been typed some time in the past.

Mr. Syler was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Syler. The father was an early-day Winters school teacher. They lived on a farm three miles southwest of Winters which was presently owned by the son. In Dallas, he was an Oak Cliff tool shop owner.

A graduate of Winters High School and Texas A. and M. College, C. R. Syler married Marie White in Abilene in 1935. She had attended Hardin Simmons University and taught English and Latin in Winters High School.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Dallas.

Survivors for Mr. Syler, who was an only child, were not available.

Mrs. Syler's survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Jean Fuller of Abilene, Mrs. Jess Green of Albuquerque, N. M., and Mrs. Made Popnoe of Snyder; a brother, Claude White of Breckenridge; several nieces and nephews.

April 30 Deadline For Employers' Wage Reports

April 30 is the deadline for employers to report their employees' wages, Floyd B. Ellington, Social Security Administration manager for this area has announced.

The earnings of anyone who worked at any time during the period January to March on any job covered by social security, Ellington pointed out, must be reported on or before April 30 to the Internal Revenue Service.

These wage reports must be filed on Internal Revenue Form 941 regardless of how small the earnings or whether one or more workers are involved, the social security official pointed out.

Employers of household workers including maids, cooks, handymen, cleaning women, etc., should use Internal Revenue Form 942 to report cash wages paid to domestic employees, if those wages amounted to $50 per calendar quarter or more.

Tax forms and reporting information are available at the nearest office of Internal Revenue. For social security information and pamphlets, visit your local social security district office at San Angelo.

The key verse to next Sunday's Sunday School Lesson is: Blessed is the man who endures trial, for when he has stood the test he will receive the crown of life which God has promised to those who love Him. —James 1:12. The meditation is by Paul M. Bumpers. James suggested at least two qualities that are most often present when trials bless:

First, trials may bless when we have some ability to patiently endure or to persevere. The ability to endure trials reveals a desirable quality of character and tenacity of purpose.

And second, trials may bless when we love God, when God is our dominant affection. To love God is to know the strength of God. During difficulties we may think often of our trials, be reminded of our weaknesses, and impressed with our hopelessness. On the other hand, mindful of our needs, we may think most often of God and our love for Him. We may dwell on His goodness and be reminded that God is compassionate toward our tribulation for He is a suffering Father.

COOL as an April shower

...thrifty too

The average family, served by WTU, can cook a complete meal for less than 3c with modern flameless electricity and enjoy all the other advantages of an electric range.

Electric cooking is cool cooking because heat goes directly into the food, not out into your kitchen. And this direct contact of surface unit and utensil is possible only on an electric range.

That's why electric cooking is clean too. With no flaring flame, there's no dirt or soot to soil range surface, kitchen utensils, kitchen walls and curtains.

And with automatic electric controls, time and temperatures are exact. No guess work. Heats are measured for you — to assure precise cooking.

Ask your appliance dealer to show you the wide variety of new electric ranges that set the pace for tomorrow's better cooking.

Peace Corps and Defense Dept.
It is a great mistake to compare the proposed Peace Corps with the Civilian Conservation Corps organized by Franklin Roosevelt to give work to unemployed young men during the depression of the 1930's. In order to be successful the Peace Corps must be carefully selected, organized, trained, and disciplined. It must be treated and financed as if some entirely new revolutionary weapon had been discovered which we must either adopt or we will be sunk!

Certainly all nations including Russia will be free to organize similar Peace Corps. I understand that Charles deGaulle is much interested. This development creates an entirely new and apparently overlooked situation. Would it be good or bad for the movement to have different Peace Corps of other nations working within a single nation such as one of the Latin Nations of Central and South America, including Cuba? Frankly, no one now knows. The whole idea is so new with such far reaching possibilities and dangers. If several nations plan to send Peace Corps to a foreign country, surely the members of each will be able to talk with each other since they can speak the language of the country to which they are sent.

If both men and women are accepted this makes a further complication.

Would China Send Peace Corps?
Studying this whole idea with its ramifications, it may result in doing more to bring the nations together than has even the United Nations. There are about one hundred separate nations now in the United Nations Organization. Imagine only a small proportion of these one hundred nations sending out Peace Corps. Furthermore, although Communist China is now being kept out of the United Nations, yet China would be free to send Peace Corps into the leading nations. One more thought, what if China should decide to send Peace Corps into the United States? Perhaps all the above may cause President Kennedy, or at least Congress, to pass the entire problem over to the United Nations to operate. Knowing, however, how slow the United Nations works, this may kill or delay the entire idea as set up. I am strongly for the Peace Corps as set up by the present able leader R. Sargent Shriver Jr. It, however, has great possibilities and may be the one thing to head off World War
III and save civilization.

Civil Defense Meeting Set For April 20

Tom Holland, director of the Winters Civil Defense Unit, announced this week that another meeting will be held at the city hall at 7:30 Thursday evening, April 20, at which time reports will be given by those who are organizing the various units of the local group.

Holland has invited all interested persons to attend this meeting.

The director of the local defense unit stressed that the current effort to organize an active Civil Defense Unit in Winters "is not based necessarily on the probability of a catastrophe but on the possibility of such." In his urgent request for increased interest in the program, he added emphasis by relating the experiences of the people of Waco, which was struck by a tornado on May 11, 1953. He said that on the morning of the disaster, a group of people in Waco had met "to discuss the organization of a fire and rescue squad for the city. Many people were indifferent to the need and the importance of such an organization. The city of Waco was built on an old Indian camp site and was, supposedly, so situated geographically that it could never be hit by a tornado. That very day about 5 p. m. Waco was struck by a tornado which took the lives of some thirty people and injured about 150.

With this incident in mind, Holland pointed out that every citizen in Winters should give serious thought to the organization of a unit in Winters which could operate efficiently and quickly in case this town suffered such a catastrophe.

Public Library Has Book On Cancer

"The Truth About Cancer," by Dr. Charles S. Cameron, medical and scientific director of the American Cancer Society, has been received at the Winters Public Library, according to Myra Glover, librarian.

In this book ignorance and fear are dispelled, and reasonable hope is given to you and your loved ones, that even if cancer strikes, you can help protect yourself.

Dr. Cameron gives information and help that makes this one of the most important books to read. About 30,000 needless deaths occur yearly from potentially curable cancer. Dr. Cameron states that ignorance is more deadly than cancer itself and all of the leading causes of death, cancer is most curable and the easiest to overlook.

Everyone is urged to check this book out of the library, which is open to the public Wednesday and Saturday afternoons from 2 until 5 o'clock.

ment, to support cancer research. The money raised in the April Cancer Crusade is invested in programs of education, research and service to cancer patients. Progress in these fields is like the growth of grass. The eye cannot measure the new growth from day to day, but by nourishing the soil we know what the end result will be.

Mankind may never have to go back to living in trees, but a good many are already out on a limb.

Figure that about 40 acres of topsoil went down the drain at the wash-up after the district track meet at the school Saturday. Seems to be the rule, as we hinted last week, that there cannot be a track meet without a sand storm. The wind was so high officials had a hard time keeping events underway—hurdles blew over, and the loudspeaker stands in a trailer finally went to the ground. A couple of people mildly accused us of having ordered the high winds last week. We didn't order it—we just predicted it. We had as much trouble with the wind and sand as anyone else, and attempted to take some pictures of some of the events. Tried to keep a lens cap over the lens between shots to protect it from the sand. Ran a lot of film through the camera until someone called our attention to the fact that the cap was still on the lens. When we developed the film we discovered that the pictures we took with the lens cap off were a lot clearer than the first ones we snapped.

There's been a lot of excitement these past couple of days, what with the news that the Russians have put a man into space and recovered him successfully, and our country congratulating them on getting ahead of us. Our friend down the street says he figures the event was planned in advance to happen just at this time—more or less a smoke screen thrown up by the Russians to make us Americans overlook the fact that it came tax deadline is on us.

One other development this week is a piece of news that many people were expecting but kept hoping was just a bit of a dream—the resignation of High School Principal Rodney D. Cathey, who will return to the University of Texas and continue work on his doctorate. Not that anyone wanted to prevent his resuming studies to go even higher in his profession—they're all for that—but just a bit of a desire on the part of school patrons to have their cake and eat it too. His resignation is a great loss to the community as a whole.

During the eight years Rodney has been principal of Winters High School, he has been a guiding factor in the search for education. The academic success of many a youngster can be traced to Rodney's influence. He has worked, much of the time behind the scenes, to help deserving youngsters on the way up. And his guidance and counseling can be said to be reflected in the splendid records achieved by many of his ex-students in universities and colleges around the country. His very purpose has been the advancement of knowledge.

We hate to see him leave the Winters school system, but, along with the entire community, wish him well.

High Winds Do Some Damage Here Tuesday Afternoon

High winds, carrying dust and sand at times reaching velocities of close to 40 miles an hour, did some damage in Winters Tuesday afternoon.

Greatest damage was to the roof of a work shop at Winters Lumber co. A gust of wind, or perhaps a small twister, lifted the roof off the building and carried it to the yard of the Eddie Little residence just east of the lumber yard where it was left to rest against a tree. No damage was done on the Little property, it was reported. The roof, about 30 by 40 feet, was left intact, but twisted slightly.

Speculation that a small twister hit the lumber yard was caused by the fact that a 2 by 4 several feet long, from the shed roof framework, was blown up to lodge on a roof at the second story level of the Little residence. The piece of timber was leaning against the house, across a window. No damage was apparent.

Other sources reported several tree limbs had been blown down during the high winds.

STRAIGHTENING OUT LINE

If the boat trip home from the fishing grounds is a long one, part of the time can be put to good use by trolling the line free behind the boat.

Use no hooks, sinkers or lead-ers. Just peel all the line off the reel spool and troll it behind the boat for 10 to 15 minutes.

This free trolling will remove dirt from the line. Also it will take out twists and kinks acquired in the day's fishing.

Winters Science Teacher, Student To Attend Course

An outstanding science student of Winters High School and his science instructor will attend the Texas Nuclear Science Symposium for High Schools to be held at the University of Texas June 11-14.

The three-day symposium is being sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas, with all expenses being paid by West Texas Utilities Company. West Texas Utilities Company is one of the eleven investor-owned electric utilities companies who comprise the Texas Atomic Research Foundation.

Supt. James B. Nevins received notice this week that Winters High School is one of ten high schools which have been selected by the University of Texas to attend the symposium and be the guests of the utilities company.

Selection of the science student who will attend from Winters High School will be made by members of the high school science department and the principal on the basis of interest, aptitude and grades.

All of the science students and instructors will be housed in Kingsolving Dormitory and the Christian Faith and Life Community on the campus of the University of Texas, and will eat together at Kingsolving Dormitory.

The Texas Nuclear Science Symposium will bring together students and teachers who are vitally interested in the scientific frontiers which have been opened by twentieth century discoveries in nuclear science.

The three-day program is designed to supply basic information about nuclear science and related fields of mathematics, radio chemistry, clear science with scientists from several states.

The Foundation and University of Texas are giving teachers and students a front seat to the atom; and a realistic view of the responsibilities which scientists in this field possess.
