Officer Dismissed

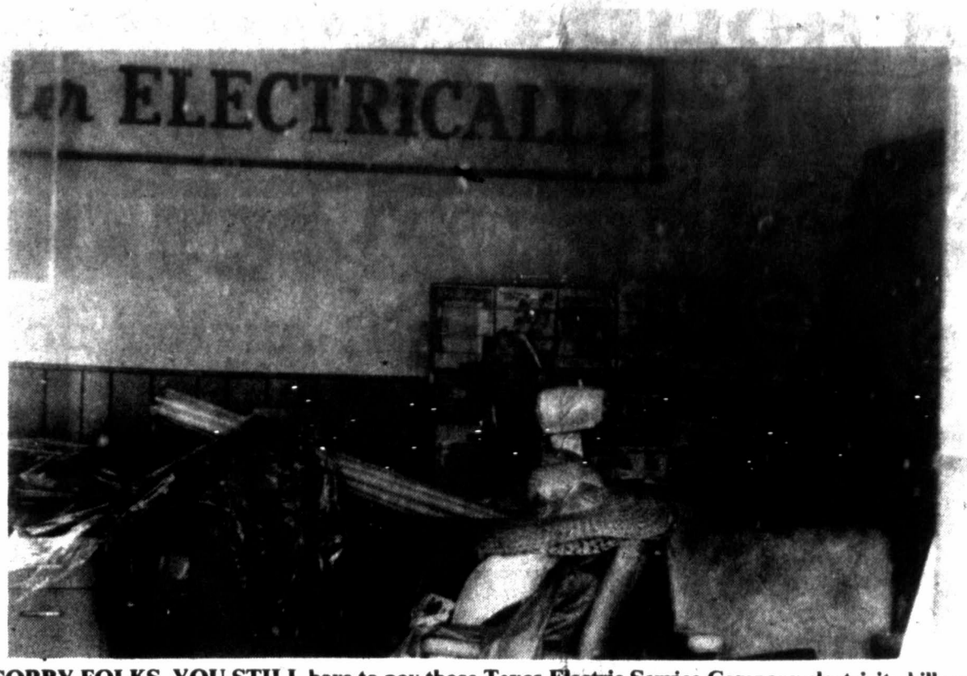
Chief of Police Jimmy Roundtree of the Colorado City Police Department announced Wednesday the dismissal of Police Officer Calvin Davenport.

Chief Roundtree stated that after receiving complaints, especially a complaint of an arrest made by Officer Davenport of a local citizen and of wrong doings on the officer's part in the arrest, an intensive investigation was held. As part of the investigation, added Roundtree, was the officer submitting to a polygraph examination made by the Abilene Polygraph Service on Wednesday, December 9.

The results of the polygraph showed discrepencies in the officers previous answers and Roundtree said "this was the first real evidence we had on the officer to put doubt on the officers' statements." After receiving the results of the polygraph, the officer was dismissed.

"I am not saying the officer was lying, but the ploygraph showed discrepencies in the officer's statement and there is no room in the department for that," concluded Chief Roundtree.

The 21 year-old officer from Andrews began his duties with the CCPD on August 25 of this year.



SORRY FOLKS, YOU STILL have to pay those Texas Electric Service Company electricity bills and the office IS open! They are only having a few little things renovated. Actually they are having major renovations on the office located on Walnut Street which will include a new drive through window for the convenience of the customers.

CISD To Save $$$ On Utility Bills

Rick Morris stated that his company, Oliver Energy Management Company of Lubbock guaranteed that the CISD (Colorado Independent School District) would have a 25 to 30 percent savings on their energy bill. Charlie Uselton, CISD superintendent stated that presently the entire system's bill ran between $150 to $200 thousand dollars a year.

Morris presented a demonstration of the newly installed micro-processor located at CHS and explained how the new computer system monitored all the temperature settings in each of the rooms. He said the computer was pre-programmed for 10 years with holidays and week-ends programmed in.

Morris who was the engineer who installed the new device, stated that this system would be beneficial if a company's utility (gas and electricity) bills averaged $25,000 a year, because the system would pay for its self in three years.

On hand for the demonstration were Superintendent Uselton, B. B. Hardee of the Colorado City Texas Electric Service Company and members of the TESCO offices from Sweetwater and Snyder.

The representatives from the out-of-town TESCO offices, stated they were attending the demonstration to find a way to save money. They stated that the new system had definite possibilities.

B. B. Hardee of Colorado City's TESCO stated, "I think the system is great. It cuts down on the electricity demand and it also cuts down on the operating expenses for the school."

According to Hardee, the system helps during the peak, which is the highest amount of energy used during a 15 minute time span in a day.

Uselton concluded by stating he was very pleased with the system.

RICK MORRIS (extreme right) with the Oliver Energy Management Company of Lubbock, is shown giving a presentation of the micro-processor, which is a device to help save energy, that was recently installed in the Colorado High School and is being installed in all the CISD Schools. The new system is estimated to save the school in the neighborhood of $50,000 on utility bills in a year.

All Child Requests Is Marrow Transplant

By LULU TURNER

While most children are asking for toys and other goodies, Maron Eagle is asking to just get a bone-marrow transplant, which could be the difference between life or death for this six-year-old youngster.

She is a patient of Cook Children's Hospital in Dallas and with the transplant, Maron has a 70 percent chance of being cured. Without the transplant, her future is dim because the chance of cureability is zero.

She said, "I'm not sure about anything else, except the transplant, and right now that's all I want for Christmas."

The hospital appealed to England for a bone marr-

Hike Proposal Filed By TESCO

Texas Electric filed a proposal with the Texas Public Utility Commission and cities it serves which will amend procedures for obtaining regulatory approval of certain fuel charges, according to B. B. Hardee of the Colorado City TESCO.

If accepted, the new procedure would involve TESCO seeking approval of the cost of fuel and fuel-related services provided by any affiliated company before those costs are billed to customers as part of the monthly fuel charge, added Hardee.

The proposal was filed with the PUC in conjunction with Texas Power & Light (TP&L) and Dallas Power & Light (DP&L), which are subsidiaries along with TESCO of the Texas Utilities Company.

Two other TU Company subsidiaries–Texas Utilities Fuel Company (TUFCO) and Texas Utilities Generating Company (TUGCO)–provide fuel and fuel-related services at cost to TESCO, DP&L and TP&L.

Under current procedure, although the PUC has approved the items to be included in fuel cost, the actual level of those fuel costs and other fuel-related costs incurred in the production of electricity for customers have been subject to review by regulators after they have been charged to customers on monthly bills.

Under the proposed procedure, the companies would file an estimate, for approval by regulators, for the cost of fuel provided by TUFCO and TUGCO at least 70 days before the month those costs would be charged to customers.

TESCO President Bill Marquardt said, "this change could not be expected to either raise or lower the customers' monthly fuel charges."

Marquardt noted that TUFCO and TUGCO are non-profit service companies formed after it became evident that, because of increasing fuel prices, it would be most economical for TESCO, DP&L and TP&L to combine resources to obtain fuel.

The proposal was filed after a ruling on December 4 by District Court Judge Herman Jones decreed that the PUC must grant TESCO, Texas Power & Light Company, and Dallas Power and Light Company prior approval before charges by affiliates can be charged to customers.

Persons with toys to donate to the club, may phone 728-5060 or 728-3062 and leave their name and address and the items given will be picked up.

They will pick up the toys through Friday.

Court To Approve Revenue Budget

A full agenda awaits the Mitchell County Commissioners' Court as they prepare for a regular session today (Monday) at 1 p.m.

Among the things to be brought before the court will be the request by C. C. Burt of the Mitchell County Appraisal District for extra help and additional calculators for his office.

The Court will also approve the revenue sharing budget, appoint a member to the Veteran Land Board Committee, and appoint a member to the County Ambulance Board.

Commissioners will also hear details involving an easement for Mesa Pipeline Company, discuss and request bids for repairs to a low water crossing on North Champion in Precinct 1, and approve rural fire contracts.

Rounding out the meeting will be the approval of a juvenile office grant.

Women's Supplement To Be Featured Soon

The Colorado City RECORD will run a special Woman's feature supplement soon spotlighting on the various women's organizations, clubs and jobs in Mitchell County.

Women's Clubs are urged to contact the office at 728-3413 as soon as possible to set up a time to take pictures of the club's officers and an interview.

"We would like to know what your club is all about and let the community know about your organization."

Men Arraigned On Marijuana Charges

The Mitchell County's Sheriff's Department and the Texas Department of Public Safety were busy Wednesday afternoon when two men, one of Colorado City, were arrested and charged with the delivery and possession of a substance believed to be marijuana, according to Sheriff Wendell Bryant.

Bryant stated that John F. Raider of 1120 Walnut Street was charged with the delivery of marijuana. The 46 year-old suspect was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Henry Doss and bond was set at $15,000 on the charge of delivery of marijuana.

The other subject, Jammie Cagle, 38, of Sweetwater, was arrested for the possession of marijuana and bond was set for $10,000.

Both men were released after posting bond.

The officers made the arrests at the rest area on Interstate 20, east of Loraine, at 3:50 p.m., Wednesday.

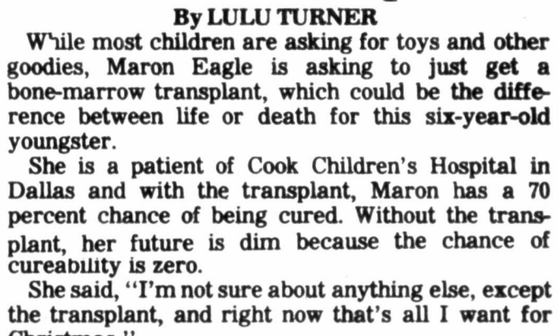
Sheriff Bryant stated that the arrests were made following a lengthy investigation.

Letters Needed

Santa Claus is still taking letters at the RECORD and he is urging all youngsters to drop their letters in the mail.

As a special treat, the RECORD will give away a big ole' Christmas stocking to one lucky boy and girl on Thursday.

All this is required for some youngster to enter, is write a letter to Santa and include a name and address and phone number (if available) and mail it to Box 92, Colorado City or bring by the RECORD Office.



I found this little book, "The Magic Of Love" that was compiled by Sara Tarascio and there were some real inspiring poems. Here are a couple that have stuck in my mind.

"The Magic Of Love"

Love is like magic.
And it always will be,
For love still remains
Life's sweet mystery!

Love works in ways
That are wondrous and strange
And there's nothing in life
That love cannot change!

Love can transform
the most commonplace
Into beauty and splendor
And sweetness and grace!

Soil Conservation Is Subject Talked About In Texas

"The primary objective of the soil conservation effort in Texas is to establish and maintain an effective soil and water conservation district program which will prevent the deterioration of our soil and water resource base. To meet this objective, the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board in cooperation with Texas soil and water conservation districts has recently completed and published a soil and water conservation plan for the state," said Joe Antilley of Abilene and a member of the TSSWCB.

"We hope that through this action we will have taken a major step forward in our efforts to conserve and protect the soil and water resources of this state," Antilley added.

The document enumerates current over all problems and the magnitude of impact which they are having on the state's renewable resources. It also examines regional and special problems as well as indirect problems which are hindering conservation efforts in the state.

Five problems which include improper grazing management, an invasion of brush and weeds, water and wind erosion and irrigation water management are considered to have statewide impact on the productivity of Texas lands according to the document.

"Locally we see our farmers and ranchers looking at soil and water conservation as a means to increase production or as insurance to guarantee the continuing ability of their land to earn a reasonable return on labor and investment," said Jimmy Harrison, chairman of the Mitchell SWCD.

"But on the other hand, these same farmers and ranchers are not as able to install conservation measures as in times past.

"Current problems such as high interest rates, inflation, high energy and production costs, market prices and in some places decreasing water supplies are causing these same folks to be more concerned with paying bills and making payments than spending money for some costly conservation measures," added Harrison.

Figures released by the TSSWCB reveal that improper grazing management affects 38 percent of the state's rangeland moderately and 27 percent severely. Rangelands being invaded by brush and weeds is also significant. The data shows that 39 percent have a moderate problem while 37 percent have a severe problem.

"This is a serious problem as far as we are concerned because both are interrelated, and when taken together, rangeland and pastureland make up 71 percent of the agricultural land in the state," said Antilley.

"Take our conservation district for example. In Mitchell County we have approximately 360,000 acres which are in range and pastureland. Of that acreage 250,000 acres are affected by brush and weeds. These dense stands of brush are robbing plants used by livestock of nutrients, moisture and sunlight. Consequently, this land is not as productive as it could be," said Harrison.

"Our study has shown that 39 percent of the non-irrigated cropland in the state has a moderate water erosion problem while 21 percent has a severe problem. Irrigated cropland has a moderate water erosion problem on 33 percent of its acreage and a severe problem on 13 percent of its acreage," said Antilley.

"Bringing these figures home to our district, our data shows that 50,000 acres are in need of some type of conservation treatment to protect the land from water erosion," said Harrison.

"While some erosion is natural and unavoidable, excessive erosion if left unchecked will eventually lower the productive ability of the soil and in some cases leave the land incapable of producing crops," added Antilley.

Though wind erosion is primarily concentrated in the Panhandle and South Plains area, the document reveals that 29 percent of the state's non-irrigated cropland has a moderate problem while 17 percent has a severe problem.

"People in our county don't need to be told about the problems of wind erosion. They experience it every year when, during a storm, dust accumulates in their homes, causes traffic problems, fills drainage ditches or buries fences and equipment," said Harrison.

"What's worse is that our crops, which are our economic lifeblood in this area, may be destroyed in a short time by abrasion from wind-blown particles. Within the Mitchell SWCD we have 50,000 acres threatened or damaged by this problem," added Harrison.

The document also lists numerous indirect problems which are restricting needed conservation measures on Texas farm and ranch lands.

"The significant importance of this inventory of conservation needs is that Texas soil and water conservation districts are unified in saying that more technical and financial assistance, education, and research is needed to solve the identified concerns," added Antilley.

Traffic Safety Offered

Approximately 70,000 Texas school children will receive traffic safety education annually under a new program sponsored by the Texas Department of Highways and Transportation D-18 and produced by one of the Aetna Life & Casualty companies.

In what is believed to be the largest program of its kind, the early childhood safety program developed and produced by Aetna Technical Services, Inc. of Hartford, Conn., will involve the instruction of kindergarten through fifth grade students in all 254 Texas counties.

"This contract is a clear example of Texas' commitment to child safety. The program's major objective is to reduce the number of pedestrian vehicle and bicycle accidents," said Glenn Winningham, Aetna Technical Services' representative here.

Children in kindergarten through second grade will participate in courses about pedestrian safety while the curriculum is expanded to also include bicycle safety for grades three through five. In addition, students develop an awareness that will lead to safe adult driving habits.

Lesson plans, printed instructional materials, film strips and cassettes included in the 2,510 program sets were purchased by the highway and transportation department with state and federal monies.

These two child safety programs developed by Aetna are used in parts of Rhode Island, Kentucky and Virginia.

Cookie Drive To Begin

All Girl Scouts of West Texas have begun their participation in the 30th Anniversary Sale of Girl Scout Cookies in the West Texas Council.

The girls will be taking orders for the first time this year. After parents sign the permission slip to allow participation in the 1982 Cookie Sale, an Order Card is issued to each Girl Scout by her troop cookie chairman.

Jayree Shaw, Cookie Coordinator of the Council, says the girls will have seven varieties this year for customer choice: Caramel De-Lite Assorted Sandwich Cremes, Thin Mints, Shortbread, Peanut Butter Sandwich, Peanut Butter Pattie and Old Fashioned Oatmeal, each box selling for $2.

If you would like to order any of these cookies, contact any of the local Girl Scouts.

Club Meets Amidst Summer Setting

The VIM (Very Important Music) Society met recently in Loraine amidst an Indian summer setting as noted by those attending.

Joy Culwell contributed her thoughts on "Living-room Dusting Music." She said that "work is not work unless you'd rather be doing something else," with that thought in mind she said, "it's easy to see why she has fitted "living room dusting music" in her daily talk show. Work is not work if you can do it to music. She concluded by saying that she would like to make dishwashing, dusting, etc easier so she plays music to make it more palatable, if not easier."

The rest of the program was as follows: Ann Rowell Gregory-(piano) rendition - Christmas Carols; Marsha McAdams- (organ) arrangement-Quasi Andante; Ricki Harmon-(piano) selection-Giocoso; T. K. Rowell- (organ) - Christmas Song by A. Lulli; and Berta Fuller "Thought for the day."

Guidelines To Shopping

Buying children's toys for the upcoming holiday season is fun and important–but it may not be as easy as you might think, cautions Cindy Wilson.

"As a guide in shopping, ask yourself if the toy is appropriate, safe and worth the cost," she says.

Wilson is a family life education specialist on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Know the child, what he's able to do and what he likes to do," Wilson says. "This is the start to wise toy selection."

Choose toys that suit the child's size, age and developmental level, she continues.

"A toy must fit the child's interests and abilities–not your own–to be a good buy," she says.

Toys are poor buys if they are inappropriate and don't interest the child, she adds.

"In other cases, many toys are poor busy for other reasons. Poorly made toys and dangerous toys are not good buys at any cost," Wilson warns.

"Examine each toy carefully for safety before you buy. Avoid broken or damaged toys.

"Know what toys the child already owns and try to know what other relatives plan to give to avoid duplications."

For more specifics on selecting toys, contact the County Extension Office and request a copy of the leaflet, "Play and Play Materials" (L-924), free upon request.

Also Wilson suggests using the checklist below to help make wise toy selections. If all the questions can be answered "yes," the toy is probably economical, safe and suited to the child you're buying it for:

Is it suitable?

Is the toy suitable for the child's age and abilities?

Will it interest the child? Will it stimulate his imagination and initiative? Can you tell why?

Are instructions for how to use the toy clear-for you AND for the child?

Can the toy be used in several ways?

IS IT SAFE?

Have you read the label so you know what materials the toy is made from?

Are the toy and its parts large enough so they cannot be swallowed by small children?

Have you checked to make sure the toy has no sharp points, exposed pins, sharp barbs or nails which can injure a child?

Have you avoided toys that could strangle a child–with ropes or loops that might wind around his neck?

Have you rejected toys that can puncture, stick and damage eyes? These include toys that hurl or "shoot" forward, arrows, air guns, target pistols, and spring-loaded guns that fire various missiles. Watch out with suction-tip toys–these tips come off of some toys.

Is the toy safe electrically? Make sure it cannot shock.

Have you rejected really noisy toys which can damage hearing?

Will the toy require a minimum of adult supervision?

Is the toy safe for all children in the house? Remember a toy designed for older children may cause harm to curious younger children.

IS IT WORTH THE COST?

Will the child use the toy enough to justify the price paid?

Is the toy sturdy enough to not break easily?

"Finally, don't wait until the week before the holiday to choose toys," Wilson says.

"Start early, make a list, study it, test each toy with the checklist above and do comparative shopping.

"This will take time, but it's worth it–the child's safety and development are at stake," she says.

Annual Christmas Party Held On December Eighth

The Annual Christmas party was held in the Civic Center for the Colorado City Business and Professional Club, Tuesday evening at 7 p.m., Dec. 8.

The Personal development Committee hosted the meeting. Cecille Hubbard was chairman of the Committee, she was assisted by Annie Dixon and Adelle Morgan.

Margaret Oyler gave the invocation. Mrs. Hubbard introduced the idea of what goes into the holiday. What goes into people's minds when the word holiday is mentioned? All of this is part of the Christmas season as the time approaches, we need to bear in mind the birth of the Christ Child-that is bro ught hope and peace to the world. She dug deeper into this subject by reviewing the history of the holiday season in other countries, beginning with a whirlwind trip to France. This was discussed by Virginia Dearen.

Cecille gave a vivid description of ways the holiday season is spent in England.

"Silent Night" was sung by the group when this discussion was ended.

The holidays in Israel was described by Ida Kirschbaum. She noted that Hannukkah is a holiday lasting for eight days and it commemorates the victory of the naecahes in the second century.

Exchange of gifts from the beautifully decorated tree followed.

The employees of the kitchen, Lottie Dawson and Frances Emerson were called in and presented tokens of love for their help and assistance during the year.

Guests introduced were Mrs. C. T. Hubbard, Betty Oyler, Marian Morris and Eunise Woods.

Members present included: Velma Moseley, Eddie Barclay, Anna Staats, Thelma Tidwell, Joy Culwell, Nell Shackelford, Shirley Delaney, Judy Winkle, Mildred Free, Ida Kirschbaum, Ida Miles, Mary Womack, La Rue Powell, Wyone Jameson, Sallie Rogers, Faye Spivey, Pearl Watson, Juanita Schafer, Ethel Hardegree, Margaret Ann Conaway, Mildred Boyd, Cecille Hubbard, Lona Pritchett, Annie Dixon, Virginia Dearen, Nelda Garrett, Jean Holbert, Margaret Oyler and Barbara Gray.

Q. What is the vacuum advance, and how can it be checked?

A. Since efficiency is required at all speeds and load conditions, two devices are associated with the distributor to insure proper ignition timing. One of these is the vacuum advance. The vacuum advance adjusts the distributor's breaker point assembly to meet the load demands of the engine. To check the vacuum advance mechanism, remove the distributor cap and rotor, and move the breaker plate forward against its spring. Pinch off the vacuum advance hose which leads from the engine manifold to the vacuum advance mechanism, with your fingers, then release the breaker plate. It should move back slightly, then hold its position. If it does not hold, the mechanism is leaking, and should be replaced.

Mono Is For Everybody Not Just Teenagers

Infectious mononucleosis, or "mono," as it's commonly called, is not for teenagers only. Although the disease has been known as "the kissing disease" for years, mono may be just as common in children as in teenagers, says the Texas Medical Association (TMA). Many adults have had light cases of the disease without knowing it and are therefore immune to it.

Mono is a blood disease caused by a virus. Symptoms are extreme tiredness, sore throat, swollen lymph glands, enlarged spleen and liver and sometimes fever and rash. Most symptoms go away within a couple of weeks, but a feeling of weakness may continue for as long as a few months. This makes mono a very frustrating condary bacterial infections, such as bacterial pneumonia, ear infections and skin infections. It is generally recommended that someone with mono stay clear of crowds and other places where people and germs congregate.

Contrary to popular belief, mono is not highly contagious. One of the few ways it can be spread is through direct contact with infected saliva. Preschoolers who regularly put objects in their mouths and then hand them to other kids can start a virtual "mono epidemic" in nursery schools and daycare centers.

Teenagers, who often "burn the candle at both ends" while being notoriously malnourished, are more likely than others to pick up the bug. As with most diseases, the more rundown you are, the greater are your chances of catching whatever happens to be going around. disease for usually energetic and active children and teens.

Mono is tricky to diagnose, especially in children, because it can masquerade as many other, more serious diseases, and it can coexist with other diseases at the same time. Blood tests, particularly the Monospot test, can aid physicians in diagnosing mono, but sometimes these tests need to be repeated a few times to get an accurate diagnosis.

Because mononucleosis is caused by a virus, there is little that modern medicine can do to help. The disease just has to run its course. However, a person with mono has much lower resistance to infections than others. Care must be taken to prevent se-

How To Choose That Right Toy

Have your child's "once exciting" electronic "Merlin" or computer football come down with the "no-more-amusement syndrome?"

Before letting more recreational devices end up on the closet floor never to be seen or heard from again, learn to make an intelligent choice as to which games your children will enjoy the longest, says Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.

Since electronic games are usually more expensive, money can be wasted if games become boring to the child, the specialist notes.

Weigh the good and bad points, McCormack suggests.

Purchasers should try out the game themselves to determine how difficult it is and if the child is capable of beating the computer, she adds.

On the other hand, the game may be too easy, she warns. An electronic game should require skillful application for a child's age and ability—otherwise very little challenge exists and he may put the toy aside.

Another point to consider is if the toy is battery operated. If so, are these batteries easily changed, and how expensive are they? You may want to consider using an adapter, McCormack suggests.

Other questions to consider include: does the game require one or two people?; are the instructions easy to follow?; how long does the game last? and are the buttons or moveable parts easy to operate?

McCormack is with the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Reagan V. Brown Announces Term

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown announced his candidacy for a second term in ceremonies at the State Capitol November 17. He stressed his record in office and his 32 years of service to farmers, ranchers and consumers of Texas.

"I do not offer pie-in-the-sky promises; I'm working to keep meat and potatoes on the table," Brown said in presenting the accomplishments of his first term. "Today's economic conditions call for sensible answers from leaders who know agriculture.

"By acting decisively, we have kept the Mediterranean fruit fly out of Texas. California has spent $100 million because of delayed action, but we won the battle with common sense," he said. "As president of the southern commissioners of agriculture, I could unify the 15 states for a successful effort.

"We've been able to provide superior service in administering 60 laws for consumer protection, marketing, and agricultural support programs for about $1 per capita," Brown said. "With frugal management in my term we have returned to the State $1.4 million in contingency funds that could not be spent wisely, in addition to the $2 million in fees collected annually.

"Farmers and ranchers need a state leader who can serve as their spokesman. I have worked for such legislation as the right to farm, gasohol programs, and tax changes for farmland and livestock in Texas. I have testified in Washington on all of the important agricultural issues," Brown said. "I have spoken out for farmers and ranchers in hundreds of urban meetings outlining the role of agriculture in our economy.

"My goal is to improve agricultural profits so that producers can stay in business and provide a steady supply of wholesome food for consumers.

"I am placing my record of service before the people. I am confident of their judgement and a successful endorsement of my candidacy."

Brown has chosen Walter Todd of Dallas as his state campaign chairman and has established a network of coordinators throughout the state.

Baptist Women Meet

The Baptist Women's Night Circle met Dec. 7 at 6:30 p.m., at the First Baptist Church Parlor. Jean Hardee was hostess of this meeting.

Chairman, Betsy Aycock opened the meeting with the business. Plans were made to remember some faithful laides in the church with love gifts at Christmas. Billie Roenfeldt presented the calendar of prayer before the salad supper. After the meal, Mrs. Roenfeldt led in the program "How Shall They Hear." The focus of the program at this time was on "Foreign Mission Study of Southern Baptist."

Ann Staats told about the work of missionaries in Uraguay and Grenada, and Earline Sellier told of the work in Kenya and Nigeria. Then Joy Piland and Sue Keen reported on India, Sri Lanka, Peru and Chili. Katy Morris concluded with France and Israel.

As the meeting closed, Betsy Aycock passed envelopes to each one for the Lottie Moon Christmas offering. The offering is an annual one taken to help foreign missionaries with special needs.

Those attending were Louree Upton, Frances Cooper, Katherine Morris, Billy Roenfeldt, Betsy Aycock, Earline Sellier, Sue Keen, Ann Staats, Joy Piland and Jean Hardee.

Correction

We Goofed—The Colorado City RECORD apologizes for printing the wrong Brownies Troop picture on the front of the December 10 edition, as the winners of the first place honors in the Annual Christmas Parade.

The winning Brownies' float, was the float with a manger scene and a choir of little angels with gold halos.

Unfortunately, we are not able to print the winning float picture in the paper, because the picture did not print due to the lack of light.

December 3 at 11:25 a.m., at the intersection of West 6th and Oak Streets, a 1978 Mercury two-door driven by Fidella Garcia Salazar of Colorado City was in colision with a 1977 Chevrolet two-door driven by Don Ray Miles, Jr., of Snyder. There were no injuries and the accident was investigated by Chief of Police Jimmy Roundtree.

December 5 at 5 a.m., Sergeant Jesse Dominguez and Officer Wayne McGlothin observed a vehicle parked on the interstate without any lights or warning lights. They investigated the two men in the car and a routine check showed a warrant was out on one of the subjects for a DWI offense in San Antonio.

December 5 at 4:02 p.m., Mrs. Floyd Coleman of Colorado City, reported that she left her home and when she returned some plants were turned over and a cassette tape player was missing. Officer George Davenport was the investigating officer.

December 6, Donna Watson of Colorado City, reported the theft of a bicycle and the CCPD had recovered the bicycle earlier. Alberto Castillo, Jr., of Crystal City, was arrested. Elias Franco was the investigating officer.

December 6 at 7:54 p.m., a report of a disturbance at a residence was answered by Chief Roundtree and Officer Franco. John Vernon LeClere was arrested for disorderly conduct.

December 7, Kenneth Childers of Childers Service Station, reported a maroon vehicle with out-of-state license, had put $26 in gas and left without paying. Chief Roundtree was the investigating officer.

December 7 at 7:45 a.m., a 1976 Ford pick-up driven by Frankie Williams Lewis was in collision with a 1968 Chevrolet pickup driven by Enrique Heredia in the 300 block of Oak Street. Officer Davenport investigated the accident.

December 7 at 10:40 a.m., a 1974 Chevrolet car driven by Weldon Walker was in collision with a 1976 Chevrolet pickup driven by Clem Buryl Yost of Snyder. No injuries were reported and Officer Davenport investigated.

December 9, Jan Mitchell of Colorado City, reported a theft from her daughter's car that was parked at Wolf gym the day before. Five cassette tapes and a hubcap were taken. Williamson was the investigating officer.

Take my problems big and small,
Lift me when I tend to fall.

Prompt me what to do and say.
Let me feel you always there.
Lift me when I feel despair.

ow transplant donor, but according to officials, it has not been found yet.

The estimated cost of the transplant will cost $30,000 to $100,000 and a fund has been set up in Maron's name at P.O. Box 1931, Fort Worth, Texas 76101.

All donations will be used for the future.

The potential for the cure is higher with the transplant than with chemotherapy. A transplant may not be the way to go in the first or second remission, but Dr. Thomas Miale, of the team physicians and technicians treating her, stated that Marion has already had two relapses and a transplant is the clearest way to cure her."

The sooner the transplant, the better stated Miale, because everytime she has a relapse, the chances for a cure drops five percent.

According to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bailey of Loraine, all they can do now is wait and pray for a donor.
