HOUSTON (AP) — A
Harris County grand jury might look into whether an agency broke the law when it took organs from a murder victim before an autopsy was performed.

Assistant District Attorney
Don Stricklin told the Houston Chronicle that he does not know when the case will be taken before the panel.
However, "that's where we appear to be headed," he said.

Stricklin has been coordinating an investigation of the harvest of the organs of Edward Jackson Jr. by the LifeGift Organ Donation Center.

Jackson, 36, was beaten
Aug. 7 at a motel room. After he was declared brain dead at a Houston hospital, LifeGift removed the organs after getting the family's permission.
Four of the organs were later used in transplants.

But the Harris County
Medical Examiner's Office objected to the procedure.

Managing Editor

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas! Shopping for Christmas gifts is in full swing today in Pampa as many merchants around the town opened early for the first official day of Christmas shopping.

Many Pampa customers were waiting for downtown stores as well as those located in the mall to open when store owners and managers arrived at their businesses. Some potential customers arrived at store parking lots before daylight in an attempt to ensure the purchase of early morning sale items.

Customers were waiting for Beall's to open as employees arrived at the local store shortly before the 7 a.m. opening time, said store manager Kathryn Phillips. The local business is offering special sales during the morning after Thanksgiving and on Saturday.

Beall's also held an additional special sale with 15 percent off until noon today. Phillips said she was very pleased with the shopping turnout as Christmas shopping officially opened today.

Christy Parker, manager of Dunlap's, said store personnel have been extremely busy all week. She said beginning on Sunday the department store will be open for business each Sunday until Christmas.

Dunlap's will also begin extended store hours until after Christmas. "The shopping turnout has been very positive," said Parker.

Wayne Stribling, owner of Wayne's Western Wear, said his store got off to a good start Friday morning as shoppers were ready to purchase gifts for Christmas.

"Our store was full of customers shortly after we opened at 9 a.m. We have been really busy," said Stribling.

Ken Rheams, owner of Rheams Jewelry, said customers were also flocking to his store shortly after he opened. He said his staff was continuously busy Friday morning. "I just hope it

Wheeler Co. gets courthouse grant

Wheeler County has been named as a recipient of a $21,000 grant from the Texas Preservation Trust Fund to assist the county in its efforts to preserve the courthouse landmark, according to District 30 State Senator Tom Haywood.

The TPTF is a program of the Texas Historical Commission, and is endeavoring to assist the county courthouses with historical preservation following a courthouse being destroyed by fire in north central Texas due to faulty wiring.

Gray County Commission heard reports recently from an architectural firm based in Austin concerning the preservation of the local courthouse. The firm is developing a master plan for the county commission to present to the state by Feb. 1, 2000.

While $200 million was requested from the Texas legislature during the last session for the project, the legislative body approved $50 million to ensure the preservation of the courthouses throughout the state in the 254 counties.

"The financial aid the Texas Preservation Trust Fund provides is a unique resource that contributes to our state's growing heritage tourism industry," said Haywood. "The grant program helps our community and many others create a quality of life that attracts new business to our state."

The THC selected 28 preservation projects from 79 applications to be recipients of the 2000 TPTF grant awards totaling approximately $376,000, said Haywood.

The Texas Legislature created this fund in 1989, the only preservation grant program in the state, to preserve endangered historic buildings and significant archeological sites statewide. The TPTF is an interest-earning pool of public and private monies. The earned interest and designated gifts are distributed as matching grants. The program provides up to one-third of the total project costs for acquiring, planning and developing historic properties.

70-90 job cuts in works at Pantex

Pantex contractor Mason & Hanger Corp. has announced a restructuring that will reduce its workforce by about 70 to 90 employees through voluntary reassignments, resignations or early retirements.

Pantex general manager Bill Weinreich announced the move this week after meetings with the U.S. Energy Department about future work requirements at the nuclear weapons plant near Amarillo.

Mason & Hanger is offering incentives for program but no layoffs are anticipated, said John Simmons, media relations coordinator.

Employees will be given detailed information about the restructuring plan starting Dec. 2, Simmons said.

The restructuring will affect about 3 percent of Mason & Hanger's 2,825 employees at Pantex, with many expected to seek other assignments within the company.

"Mason & Hanger will seek to match these employees to openings in critical areas where their skills may be needed," Simmons said. "We also will look to lessen the impact of this restructuring through internal reassignment and normal attrition."

Simmons said the restructuring is expected to be completed by January, and the realigned workforce should have about the same number of employees as before.

For employees opting to voluntarily leave the company, Mason & Hanger is offering severance pay based on years of service, displaced worker medical benefits, educational and outplacement assistance.

Days counting down to Christmas Parade

Thursday, Dec. 2 at 6:30 p.m. is the big day and time of the Greater Pampa Area Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade.

Bill Bridges, chairman of the chamber, is this year's Grand Marshal for the parade with his theme, "Remembering the Past - Embracing the Future."

Because last year's night parade was so successful it was decided to do that again this year.

And, to make the night even more special, almost every downtown business will stay open late so parade watchers can get in some shopping, too.

Many of the stores will have refreshments at their Open Houses that night and holiday sales discounts will be part of the promotion, too.

There's a change in this year's parade from the usual and that one is for safety which means no candy will be tossed from the floats.

Instead, a party, with Santa and candy, will follow the parade and will be held in McCarley Park. There'll also be a Christmas concert there with the Pampa High School Show Choir and Stage Band.

The parade will line up at the M.K. Brown

Auditorium, beginning at 5:30 p.m. All entrants and participants are to enter through the west entrance on the south side of the building, circle around and exit from the west exit on the north side of the building.

Bill Bridges

The parade will start at M.K. Brown Auditorium, travel along Somerville to Francis where it will head downtown making a south turn on Cuyler followed by an east turn onto Atchison at McCarley park.

More floats are needed for the parade and it's not too late to sign up. Categories are commercial, non-commercial, religious, horses, classic cars, antique farm machinery, bicycles and motorcycles/four wheelers. Certificates will be presented to the top three in each category.

Entry forms and rules can be picked up at the chamber office at 200 N. Ballard.

Ruth Maddox of the Pampa Parks Department helps get the city into the Christmas spirit by hanging holiday lights on a tree on Foster.

Two teens killed in car-train crash; two women dead in separate collision

AVINGER, Texas (AP) — A Thanksgiving Day car ride for two East Texas teens turned tragic when their vehicle collided with a Kansas City Southern train.

James Masterson, 18, of Rowlett, and Brandon Holmes, 17, of Josephine, died in the morning crash along Texas 49.

Police reports said Masterson was attempting to turn the vehicle south along a county road when the train hit the pair at an unmarked railroad crossing. The crash happened near Avinger, about 30 miles north of Longview.

The teens were reportedly returning from a store errand when the crash occurred, Cass County Justice of the Peace Barbara McMillon, told the Longview News-Journal.

"There were two bags of ice in the back floorboard," McMillon said.

stays this way all day," said Rheams.

James Shafer, manager of the local Wal-Mart, said customers were at the store at 5 a.m. waiting for the local store to open for the early morning sales at 6 a.m. He said the types of purchases by customers are varied and appear to include many of the special items on sale.

Christmas decorations are a popular item, he said. Shafer said the day after Thanksgiving is traditionally the number one day of the year for the sale of Christmas decorations.

"There's not one single toy item that just grabs you as in past years," said Shafer. He said some Barbie dolls and Pooh toys have been selling well.

Downtown merchants will be open late next

Thursday as the annual Christmas Parade will be held at 6:30 p.m. downtown.

The stores will be open until 7 p.m. and will have holiday discounts. Many of the downtown merchants will have hot chocolate and cookies for their customers.

Santa Claus will be in front of Texas Furniture from 5-7 p.m. Thursday for children to give him their wish list.

Downtown Merchants Association members are Dollar General, Rheams Diamond Shop, Carousel Expressions, Tarpley Music, Coffee Shop, Heard Jones, Top of Texas Awards & Gifts, Christmas Shop, Pampa Office Supply, Hobby Shop, VJ's Fashion & Gifts, Bank of America, The Gift Box, T-Shirts & more, Best Finance, Sands Fabrics, Images, Kids Stuff, All Its Charm, Brown's Shoe Fit, Foto Time and Taylor's Men Store.

Cut the legalese, write in plain English, say the legal experts centuries, legal documents have been filled with the kind of stilted language used when President Clinton's impeachment trial ended early this year.

In a long and meandering sentence, the Senate "ordered and adjudged" that Clinton "be, and he is hereby, acquitted of the charges in this said article." In other words, the Senate let him off the hook.

But it does not have to be that way, say legal experts who suggest writing in plain English.

Too many lawyers use "words on steroids — artificially puffed-up ways of expressing ideas," says Bryan A. Garner, editor-in-chief of Black's Law Dictionary.

Using clear language, he says, "will give you power as a writer."

Good legal writing makes readers feel smart. Bad legal writing makes readers feel stupid.

Plain-English advocates say many documents — wills, contracts, even airplane emergency-exit row cards — can be written so that ordinary people can understand them.

"Legal issues well presented are inevitably interesting, not boring," Garner told new lawyers for the Jones, Day, Reavis & Pogue law firm during a seminar this month in Washington.

Through his Dallas-based LawProse company, Garner travels the country teaching lawyers and judges how to eliminate the mumbo-jumbo from their writing. He and others are campaigning against writing they consider overdone, such as the long-standing use of "give, devise and bequeath" in wills.

"I defy any lawyer to find a case where a judge says it's not good enough to say 'I give my car to my sister,'" said Joseph Kimble, a professor at the Thomas Cooley Law School in Lansing, Mich.

President Clinton last year ordered use of common, everyday words in federal documents that explain how to get a benefit or service — or how to comply with an agency requirement.

"By using plain language, we send a clear message about what the government is doing, what it requires and what services it offers," Clinton wrote in announcing the initiative. "Plain language saves the government and the private sector time, effort and money."

JESUS CHRIST, THE SAME YESTERDAY, TODAY, AND FOREVER

HEBREWS 13:8

Minister's musing

A young man once came to Jesus and asked the question, "What else?" But that was not his first question. He had first asked, "What can I do to live forever?"

This is of course how most of us would want it, just tell me what to do and I will do it. Of course, this is the wrong approach. Eternal life is a gift of God and cannot be earned.

Fortunately, the Lord was patient with him (and us) and told him that if he would live forever, he would have to keep the Commandments. Again the young man made a mistake. He asked which one he should keep. He (as we) should have known from the scriptures that all were to be kept and that if one was broken then the whole law was broken.

But, once again, in His patience, the Lord gives direction by naming a few — such as adultery, stealing, lying, honor to parents and loving his neighbor as himself.

After the mention of these Commandments, which had to do with his relationship to other people, the young man must have felt good. Because, like many today, the young man says, been there, done that and got the T-shirt. Yet under the compassionate and watchful eyes of Jesus, he must have still felt a little uncomfortable because he then asked Jesus, "What else?"

By CHAPLAIN
WILLARD KIPER

W.P. Baten ISF Unit

At this point, the Lord told him to sell all his possessions and give to the poor and he would have treasures in heaven.

Have you — like I — ever wondered why the Lord did not respond with the commandments concerning our relationship to God and of covetousness? The one's that said that there should be nothing before God? No, the Lord did not ask the young man what was first in his life, but He was getting there.

The reality of this story is not that the young man had too much, but rather he had too little. See, the possessions were not the problem. The problem was, and is, the value placed on them, instead of God. Selling the possessions was just a means of getting to the real problem.

This young man had placed the possessions first in his life. That is a place where only God should be. And He will not share it with anyone or thing. The great thing this young man (and we) had to do was "follow me." The little thing that we have to do is "follow me." The only thing that we have to do is "follow me."

See the Lord never opposes wealth, how else could He get His work done? Lights must burn, literature must be bought, buildings built, ministers trained, missionaries sent, etc. ... but not at any price.

It makes no sense for the wealth to increase as the heart decreases. It is always better to be right than rich. One should always look at their heart along with their possessions and accounts. What an honor for it to be said of a person, in the language of Dryden, "Large was his wealth, but larger was his heart."

Boomers' concept of religion changing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Wade Clark Roof published his influential book on baby boomers and religion six years ago, he found that the post-World War II generation was not just looking to change the way it worships, but was changing the way worship looks.

In 1993's "A Generation of Seekers," the University of California-Santa Barbara religion professor explored how boomers built their own beliefs in a higher power, mounting journeys through a variety of faiths, cults and New Age practices to find what some called a custom-made God.

The generation that broke down traditional morality in the secular world of the 1960s and 1970s had also moved away from traditional religion in the spiritual world. Their parents found the changes threatening and worried they heralded a general weakening of the cornerstones of society.

Returning to the subject in a new book, "Spiritual Marketplace," Roof finds boomers are now surer about their beliefs.

"They have a more mature religion," the 60-year-old Roof said in an interview. "They have a better sense of what they believe in and experience stronger commitments than they did before."

In the new book, he writes, "Identity is still a powerful theme, but its mode of expression is now different: The energizing forces arise out of quests not so much for group identity or social location as for an authentic inner life..."

Roof's latest research has found many subtle changes in boomers' beliefs and practices since his 1993 work.

Back then, he found boomers weren't walking away from God, just from church as they had known it, to pursue a personal journey. His research, surveys and interviews, conducted between 1988 and 1990, showed that most who strayed from church did not become atheists.

Instead, they believed in a God who was more down-to-earth. Christians believed in a Jesus who wasn't necessarily the sole savior of the world.

For his new book, Roof went back to reinterview some of those he talked to before. "They are a more settled generation now," Roof said, and their beliefs are more pluralistic.

The boomers' religious landscape, according to Roof, no longer traces its borders along denominational lines of Jew, Protestant, Catholic. Instead, the lines run along categories that describe how belief affects people's lives: dogmatists, born-again Christians, mainstream believers, metaphysical believers and seekers, and secularists.

For example, dogmatists are reacting to what they perceive as the moral relativism of modern life, trying to get back to a time when right and wrong were less subjective. Metaphysical believers follow in a tradition set in the 19th century, when the turmoil of a changing economy prompted people to join Transcendentalist and Revivalist movements.

Roof found that as many boomers age, they are going back to churches they once left. That does not mean they are renouncing beliefs they picked up along the way.

"This generation is remarkably capable of fitting many things together," Roof said. "They can draw from many sources, but there tends to be a core. Even if they draw from pop psychology, they still build it around their core Jewish faith or core Christian faith."

Even if a person is a Christian, he or she finds much to be learned from, say, Buddhism, Roof said. "You get these constellations that are somewhat diverse in terms of religious practices," Roof said.

He said they express more certainty in their beliefs. Having returned to church or synagogue, they have stayed, tailoring the religion's traditions to their needs.

"There is considerable fluidity," he said. "They're a very mobile generation in terms of what they think. There's a continuing hunger to find spiritual truth, but they have a clearer sense now that some of the things they looked to deliver them earlier, like consumption and materialism, don't work too well."

From whom all blessings flow

Okay, it's not Thanksgiving. That was yesterday. The leftovers may be stored away but the sentiment of the day is as fresh as newly browned turkey. I'm as thankful today as yesterday. Grateful and just plain proud to be on the receiving end of a slew of blessings.

I have seven best friends (in alphabetical order) — Carol, Debby, Jeanne, Kay, Kimberly, Sue, and Toni. I sleep between sheets washed just enough to be velvety soft. When I had surgery this summer, I didn't feel a thing. I tool around town listening to Judi Collins sing "Morning Has Broken," surely one of Christendom's loveliest hymns. And speaking of driving, I am grateful for the auto accidents I haven't had. Thanks, Other-Sometimes-Irate Driver, for watching out for both of us.

When I go to class, I revel in the curiosity of my fellow students. I treasure their questions because they pry away another layer of obscurity covering the hard questions of life. I am thrilled by the depths of this semester's literature. William Faulkner may be hard work, but I see the pen of genius in Yoknapatawpha County, Mississippi. And for that matter, as my classmates and I traced the spiritual development of Ernest Hemingway's characters, I was surprised at how much was gleaned from what was not said about them. The old iceberg technique, as Papa would have said, and another display of literary genius.

There are the blessings of family. I had parents who were honest, simple and real. They taught by example to treat people fairly and equally. No one is more dependable than Aunt Imogene; no one is kinder than Aunt Gladys. My cousin Joe has his own ghost and my cousin Toni knows from whence I came.

As this year winds down, and we look into a new century let gratitude be your enduring spiritual hallmark. Remember from whom all blessings flow, as the Doxology says, and let every day be thanksgiving in your heart.

Mormon church flourishes in the South; more temples planned

By AMY FRAZIER
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — When Chloe Belle Hodge was baptized in 1939, most of the Mormons around Raleigh, N.C., were members of her family. It wasn't rare for some Southern Mormons to go half their lives without setting foot in a temple.

"I couldn't even dream of a time when we would have a church building," said Ms. Hodge, 83.

But she'll soon be able to visit a temple whenever she wants, as Raleigh is one of seven Southern cities scheduled to complete temples by the end of 2000.

"The blessing to have a temple right here at our elbows is almost beyond comprehension," Ms. Hodge said. "I plan to go once a week."

It's an enormous change in less than two decades for Southern Mormons. Until 1983, when a temple was built in suburban Atlanta, Southern members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints had to travel to Washington, D.C., or Western states to perform baptisms on behalf of dead persons, undergo "endowment" that affects one's heavenly state and seal marriages "for eternity."

The church is now working to increase the number of temples in areas with growing membership. Some Southern states have seen their Mormon population grow by 80 percent to 100 percent since 1980, according to statistics in a church-sponsored almanac.

In Alabama, church membership is 27,000 (up from 7,800 in 1974); Florida 105,000 (30,000 in 1977); Georgia 55,000 (14,630 in 1974); Kentucky 21,000 (13,956 in 1980); Louisiana 24,000 (16,000 in 1980); Mississippi 17,000 (6,527 in 1970); North Carolina 53,000 (29,512 in 1980); South Carolina 26,000 (10,775 in 1974); Tennessee 29,000 (15,839 in 1980); Virginia 63,000 (55,789 in 1990).

The growth is due primarily to an influx of Mormons from other regions and to the church's efforts to increase its visibility in the South, said Nancy Eiesland, a professor at Emory University's Candler School of Theology. Conversions and in-migration are related because as Mormons move to the area, they work to bring in new converts.

The church, based on revelations that Joseph Smith said were brought to him in the 1820s by heavenly messengers, has more than 10 million members worldwide and 52 operating temples. An additional 46 are now under construction or in the planning stages.

The temples differ from the chapels used for regular weekly worship. Certain basic ceremonies, including eternal marriage and proxy baptisms for dead ancestors, can only be performed in the more sacred temple buildings.

The Washington, D.C., temple, completed in 1974, was the first east of the Mississippi River.

Until the Oct. 16 dedication of a temple in Columbia, S.C., the only other Southern temples were in Atlanta and Orlando, Fla. Ground has recently been broken on temples in Nashville and Memphis, Tenn.; Birmingham, Ala.; Baton Rouge, La.; Louisville, Ky., and Raleigh.

As a young woman growing up in North Carolina during the 1940s, Mrs. Hodge didn't know if she'd ever receive the sacred ordinances, as the unique temple ceremonies are called.

"We were coming out of the Depression years. A trip to Utah was not to be thought of," she said. In 1944, she hitched a ride with a woman traveling to a U.S. Army post in Utah so she could go to temple.

It was 1967 before Dexter R. Noble, 74, of Atlanta, had saved up enough money to fly his family out to Salt Lake City to visit a temple. "I closed my shoe store for a week to go. That's how important it was to me," he said.

Elder Monte J. Brough, the church's regional president for most of the South, says he expects the church to continue growing in the region.

The South has long carried a reputation for strict, family-oriented conservatism, which the Mormon church shares.

"I think the reason we do so well is that we are very assertive in proclaiming family values," he said. The church is concerned with "not only family conduct and individual values, but the law of chastity and the sacred nature of marriage. ... Part of that is very attractive to a lot of Southerners."

Ms. Eiesland, the Emory professor, agreed that their perception as hard-working, moral citizens has likely helped their establishment in the region. "In some ways, the family orientation of Mormons makes them congenial to much of the Southern sunbelt," she said.

Some traditional Bible Belt religions have spoken out against Mormons. Southern Baptists used a 1998 annual convention in Salt Lake City to evangelize to Mormons, whom they do not consider to be Christians.

Adding to interchurch tensions is the fact that Mormons and some evangelical denominations in the South are competing for converts among the same group: the unchurched, said Marie Cornwall, a Brigham Young University sociology professor.

"Put together the incredible growth in the South with the increasing anti-Mormonism rhetoric that comes out of the evangelical movement and, in the marketplace of religion, these two groups are in competition," she said.

Because of competition, the "strange alliance" between Mormons and Protestants will break down eventually, said The Rev. Chris Graham, pastor of Church of the Savior Baptist Church in Roswell.

"Orthodox Christianity has some specific doctrines that are important, and Mormonism also has specific doctrines that are important to its story. And I think they are potentially conflictual," he said.

In the past, the conflict has sometimes been violent. In 1884, a mob in Lewis County, Tenn., fatally shot four church members during Mormon services.

Orlando Henderson, 43, of Atlanta, left his Baptist upbringing in 1994 to join the Mormon church. It is hard for Southerners to leave their family's church, he said.

"Most everybody followed their family with religion," he said.

"Now, there's a broader base of knowledge with different truths." Such words are heartening for Mormon leaders. "They want to be seen first as a national religion," said Ms. Eiesland, "and then as a global religion."

He builds crosses to save landmark

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — To show support for a 60-foot-tall cross that has overlooked the city for more than 40 years, Larry Butler is working to build thousands of small wooden crosses.

Each of the 2-foot crosses, painted white and stenciled with the words "save the cross," have been cut, nailed and painted by Butler and members of his family. They are free to anyone who will display them. So far they have 10,000 orders and have filled 4,500.

Butler, a truck driver retired at 50 with a disability, doesn't consider himself a religious man. He wants to do his part to defend against atheist Rob Sherman. The Chicago activist has questioned the constitutionality of the lighted cross that has stood on Table Rock Mesa since 1956.

The cross was erected by the local Jaycees on land owned by the U.S. Bureau of Land Management. In 1972, the Jaycees paid $100 at auction for less than an acre of land surrounding the cross.

Keep Practicality in Mind When Shopping for Seniors

DEAR ABBY: This is the time of year people begin thinking, "What should I get Mom, Dad and Aunt Tillie for Christmas?" Well, I am a mom and an Aunt Tillie, and I filled Dad's shoes for more years than I care to count. So, for all of you who haven't a clue what "we" would like, keep reading:

Don't try to buy me happiness with a token gift. Most of all, I'd love just a little of your time.

If you want to buy something for me, I'd appreciate a box of all-occasion greeting cards. A roll of stamps to go with them would also be helpful, so that when my old friends have a reason to celebrate, I'll not have to venture to the store or post office. (An assortment of gift wrap and Scotch tape are another novel idea.)

You all know how much I love flowers — not the cut bouquets from a florist, but real plants from a nursery, delivered at the right time for planting in the spring. Something like that can be enjoyed all year, and I'll remember your thoughtfulness every time I look at them.

My little doggie needs grooming every month. How about a gift certificate? They make terrific gifts. Also, I would never spend household budget money for a manicure, pedicure or massage, but a gift certificate for one would certainly be welcome. Or one for a car wash, or the next trip to the dry cleaner or shoe repair shop.

What about a gift certificate for a dinner for two, so I can treat a good friend to a meal and company because her family is also busy? Have you forgotten how much I enjoy Reader's Digest, Family Circle and TV Guide? I can't afford subscriptions anymore, but they would be a lot more welcome than bubble bath that I'm now allergic to.

Also, if you want to give me something, how about a prepaid phone card, or a few bucks prepaid on my telephone bill? And if you're feeling generous, how about contacting the company that aerates my lawn, the chimney sweep or, for that matter, the mechanic who readies my car for winter?

You see, we're not as difficult to buy for as you thought. You have simply forgotten who we really are. We're not "those old people down the street." We're the parents who always knew what you wanted or needed — because we loved you.

Thanks for the space, Dear Abby. I hope my kids are listening. ANY PARENT OR GRANDPARENT, ANYTOWN, U.S.A.

DEAR ANY: Thanks for a letter that's sure to start a lot of people thinking creatively about the Christmas holidays. Another idea is to create customized gift baskets filled with small cans of tuna, salmon, chicken and turkey, hearty soups, and "goodies" that someone on a fixed income might forgo. Put on your thinking caps, folks. The season is at hand!

DEAR ABBY: Every year I read about the urgent need for organ donation, and the tragedy of people who die waiting for one.

Don't you think it would be a good idea to give people a tax rebate who pledged their organs for transplant upon their death? It seems to me it would solve our country's great need for donor organs with a nationwide system of registration and reward.

I was going to send my idea to Washington, but I believe your column would be more effective, and has no political agenda. Do offer this idea to your readers. PEGGY MARTIN, VENICE, FLA.

DEAR PEGGY: It's an intriguing idea. One way to make the option more attractive would be for the government to forgive a portion of the inheritance taxes for the families of the donors.

relative; you have a ball together. Have a long-overdue conversation with a partner. Tonight: Don't get uptight. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

 Happiness abounds, as you seem to beam in whatever you want. Don't underestimate a child or loved one! Make plans together, encourage another to express his feelings. Someone you meet right now could be passive-aggressive. Tonight: Your charisma speaks.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

 Recent celebrations and meals might be taking their toll on you. Pull back and take some time for yourself. If you need to do something, make a list of what you must do before Christmas from your easy chair. Above all, don't play superman or superwoman. Tonight: Early to bed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

 Listen to others and gather feedback. Your smile helps break another's resistance to going along with a suggestion. Others mean well. You have more options around you than you realize. Humor marks a friendship. A child could be up to no good. Keep your eyes open. Tonight: With friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

 Establish a better rapport with another; make that extra effort. A conversation between the two of you needs to be kept hush-hush. Understand that others might be uncomfortable. Be on alert with a domestic matter or a roommate. Not all is as it seems. Tonight: A must appearance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

 Schedule a day trip or outing to a favorite spot away from home. You need a break. An emotional wish comes true if you allow others the space to creatively express themselves. You could be misplacing your frustrations or internalizing anger. Tonight: Relax to a favorite piece of music.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

 Be careful to put your best foot forward. Opportunity knocks close to home. Entertain and visit with others, but avoid spending more than you need to. Realize that another's point of view may not be on target, even if it is his area of expertise. Tonight: Go for quality time with a loved one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

 Let others make the call; you'll enjoy what happens. At times, you feel like you know what is right for others. Opt for spontaneity, and fun will happen. You could be frustrated with another — be careful how you express yourself. Feelings pop out where you least expect. Tonight: Where your friends are.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

 Pace yourself and get errands done. Don't think about it — just get to the gym! You will feel better. A financial windfall or opportunity needs to be studied rather than leaped upon. Anger comes through despite an attempt to swallow it. Tonight: Talk about your feelings.

DALLAS (AP) — Former Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry was able to spend Thanksgiving with his family.

Landry was released four days earlier from a Dallas hospital where he was undergoing treatment for his leukemia. Although the family was gathering for Thanksgiving dinner, the guest list was short because the chemotherapy has suppressed Landry's immune system, leaving him more vulnerable to infection.

"He doesn't hurt or anything. He walks in the evening," Landry's wife, Alicia, said. "When the weather's nice, we walk outside."

TENNIS

HANOVER, Germany (AP) — Andre Agassi already has the trophy. All he has to do now is win the tournament. The way he's playing, that could be a formality.

After beating Gustavo Kuerten 6-4, 7-5 in his last round-robin match Thursday at the ATP Tour World Championship, Agassi received the ATP trophy presented to the player who finishes the year ranked No. 1 in the world.

"It symbolizes a lot for me professionally and personally," Agassi said after receiving the glass trophy.

"It's a big accomplishment for me."

Even if Agassi fails to win the season-ending event, he is assured of finishing the year at No. 1.

The American has not dropped a set in sweeping his first three matches and became the first player to advance to the semifinals.

The $3.6 million tournament brings together the top eight players in the world, who are split into two groups. The top two from each pool advance to the last four.

Agassi is assured of winning his Red Group. Kuerten, a Brazilian ranked No. 3 in the world, is 1-2 and still in the running.

The group will be decided today, when Pete Sampras, 1-1, plays Nicolas Lapentti of Ecuador, who is 0-2. Under the complicated tie-breaking formula, Sampras needs to win just a set to advance.

The White Group also will be decided today, when Thomas Enqvist (1-1) plays Todd Martin (0-2) and Nicolas Kiefer (1-1) battles Yevgeny Kafelnikov (2-0).

Kuerten was the first man to break Agassi's serve in the tournament and fired 13 aces. But even that wasn't enough to match Agassi's powerful and precise ground shots.

Agassi said he did not feel unbeatable.

"It's the exact opposite," Agassi said. "That's what keeps firing me, the respect for other players."

"It's easy to have an off day and that's all it takes. There's some good tennis out there."

Agassi said he didn't really care who his opponent is in the semifinals.

"It doesn't really matter at this point. They all present problems," he said.

Agassi, who won the ATP Tour World Championship in 1990, is enjoying the best year of his career. He seized the No. 1 ranking after winning the French Open and the U.S. Open title this summer. He also ended Sampras' run of six straight year-end No. 1 rankings.

Second-ranked Kafelnikov, who overcame 18 aces by No. 4 Enqvist, won 7-5, 3-6, 6-4. Kafelnikov also beat Enqvist in the final of this year's Australian Open.

Kiefer, the sixth-ranked German, delighted the home crowd by defeating Martin 6-3, 6-2. Martin, the U.S. Open finalist who is No. 7 in the world, will take on Enqvist today.

Operating Company Cowboys top off championship year with awards banquet

By GROVER BLACK
Pampa News correspondent

It was all over but the shouting...and that is just what they did!

The Operating Company Cowboys, along with guests, parents and sponsors, celebrated a winning season with an awards banquet at the Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ last week.

The shouting was courtesy of the Cowboys doing their team cheer led by coach Henley.

Coaches Mando Ramirez and Dick Henley capped a winning season off with food, trophies, prizes and praise for this year's team.

The post-banquet ceremonies began with recognition of past team members of the Cowboys.

Players from the Harvesters varsity, junior varsity, freshmen and eighth grade were present.

When the guest speaker was introduced, it was none other than coach Dennis Cavalier, the head coach of the Pampa Harvesters.

Cavalier commended Ramirez and Henley on an admirable coaching record, and their ability to prepare young players for a football future.

The trophy presentations were next starting with the best offensive player Eric Kingcade and the best defensive player Dylan Henley. The most valuable player award went to Brody Smith, followed by presentation of individual trophies and prizes to each team member.

In addition to the awards, each team member was given a flag in the team colors with his jersey number on the flag. Those were originally part of the beautiful decorations that were prepared by Cel Henley, Tammi Kingcade, Myrna Smith and Judy Ramirez.

David Smith, the sponsor of the Operating Company Cowboys, concluded with the presentation of the attractive wall plaque to Ramirez, and one to Henley. Smith expressed his sincere appreciation for their season's work.

Coach Mando Ramirez began coaching Tiger League football in 1983 when his oldest son played for the Packers. Then his youngest son was drafted by a team at that time called the Colts, coached by Don Carpenter.

Mando assisted Carpenter until Carpenter retired in 1990 after 28 years of coaching, and Mando, being a Dallas Cowboy fan, renamed the team the Cowboys.

Dick Henley began coaching in 1984 with the Redskins. Later, Henley coached the Raiders from 1990 through 1993.

In that year, Cowboys defeated the Raiders 20-0.

Later in the same season the Raiders defeated the Cowboys 20-0.

That season, Ramirez and Henley at one of the games became angry with each other and decided to meet on the 50-yard line to have words. Today, neither one can remember what they were angry about, but they must have had words because today they are like brothers and have coached over 200 fourth, fifth and sixth grade boys in the past five years.

Each year the coaches say the challenge is to be better than they were last year.

With a record like Henley and Ramirez has, that's a tough challenge. With

Ramirez coaching the offense and Henley in charge of the defense, their five-year record is an impressive 48-10.

Cowboys' defense comes up big

IRVING, Texas (AP) — On a team of first-name-only offensive stars like Troy and Emmitt, it's the defense that's keeping the Dallas Cowboys afloat.

Dallas intercepted Dan Marino five times, with Dexter Coakley returning one of them 46 yards for a game-breaking touchdown in a 20-0 victory over Miami on Thursday.

This was the fourth game the Cowboys defense scored a touchdown. Dallas (6-5) has won only twice without points from the guys whose main duty is to stop the other team from scoring.

"We're getting better every week," defensive coordinator Dave Campo said. "When you win the turnover battle, you give your team a chance to win."

The Dolphins (8-3) lost for the second time in three games to fall a half-game behind Indianapolis in the AFC East. It was the first time Miami was shut out in nearly two years.

"I think Dan was rusty, which is to be expected since he hasn't played in six weeks," said coach Jimmy Johnson, who was surprisingly calm after losing in his return to Texas Stadium. "We just weren't as sharp offensively as we needed to be."

Dallas remained unbeaten in five home games and moved within a half-game of Washington in the NFC East.

The Cowboys' offense was in its sixth straight scoreless quarter Thursday when Coakley provided the kickstart they needed.

Marino began forcing passes, leading to interceptions on three straight drives in the fourth quarter. Coakley had the final one.

"Dan is a future Hall of Famer who keeps his poise," Coakley said. "We didn't know if we had him rattled."

Miami's best drive went to the Dallas 9 in the second quarter. It ended when Marino's lob to rookie Nate Jacquet in the corner of the end zone was tipped by safety George Teague and caught by Deion Sanders. Sanders also had the first of the three fourth-quarter interceptions.

"I had never got him before," said Sanders, who made the 43rd and 44th interceptions of his career. "I really wanted one because I felt this might be the last time I have a chance to get him."

Marino was playing for the first time since he left a game in New England on Oct. 17 because of a pinched nerve in his neck. The layoff left him with bad aim, little touch and without his usual arm strength.

The result: 14-of-35 for 176 yards and as many interceptions in four quarters as he'd thrown in five previous games.

"I didn't have the feel in the pocket," Marino said. "I was just missing guys because my timing was off."

Dolphins kicker Olindo Mare also was off.

Mare, who had made field goals in a team record-tying 20 straight games and entered the game 29-of-32 this season, missed from 52 and 47 yards and had a 47-yarder blocked.

The game was scoreless until Coakley's big play midway through the third quarter.

The speedy linebacker was roaming between Rob Konrad and Yatil Green when the ball went right to him. He then followed a convoy of blockers down the left side to easily score Dallas' fifth defensive touchdown this year.

"I don't think Dan saw me buzzing out there," said Coakley, who is generously listed at 5-foot-10. "He just threw it in my hands."

The Cowboys broke it open in the fourth quarter with two field goals from Richie Cunningham and a 65-yard touchdown pass from Aikman to Raghib Ismail.

"We knew we were going to have an awfully hard time moving the ball 70 or 80 yards without making some big plays," said Aikman, who came off a two-game layoff during which he was recovering from concussions. "We were hoping to play good and take our shots when we got them."

Groom, Borden County meet in six-man playoffs

GROOM — Groom clashes with Borden County at 6 p.m. Saturday in a six-man playoff game at Floydada.

The Tigers will be looking for some revenge after losing to Borden County 52-6 in last year's state quarterfinals.

Groom and Borden County set up for the rematch with easy wins in the second round of the playoffs. Groom rolled by Rochester 48-20 while Borden County routed Sanderson 48-22.

Groom and Borden County have similar statistics.

Groom is averaging 45.7 point and allowing 15.8. Borden County is averaging 44.7 per game and allowing 14.3.

Groom's offense is sparked by running backs Wade Ritter and Garrett Britten.

Ritter has scored 19 touchdowns and Britten 16. The pair have combined for over 1,000 yards rushing.

Junior quarterback Grant Weinheimer is a threat through the air. He completed 8 of 10 passes for 125 yards and a touchdown against Rochester.

Borden County's main player is running back Ed Rodriguez, who rushed for 204 yard and scored three touchdowns against Sanderson.

The Groom-Borden winner will meet either Rule (10-1) or Grandfalls-Royalty (9-1) in next week's state semifinals.

UTEP downs Jackson State

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Freshman forward Roy Smallwood scored 15 points and grabbed nine rebounds to help lead the Texas-El Paso Miners to a 74-58 victory over the Jackson State Tigers on Thursday.

The Miners (2-0) also got 16 points and nine rebounds from junior forward Brandon Wolfram.

Pippen-Barkley feud no longer a fair fight

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Portland Trail Blazers and Houston Rockets have headed in opposite directions so quickly that the Scottie Pippen-Charles Barkley grudge match hardly seems like a fair fight now.

Portland plays visiting Houston on Friday, the first meeting between Pippen and Barkley since Pippen was traded to the Blazers on Oct. 2 following a very public lashing of Barkley and his supposed selfishness.

"I just wish he handled the situation differently," Barkley said this week.

The 36-year-old Barkley has hardly played selfishly this season, averaging 14.3 points and 12.6 rebounds. But the Rockets have been a huge disappointment, starting 3-10 and showing virtually no chance of making the playoffs in what Barkley has said will be his last season.

Pippen, meanwhile, is living the good life. The 34-year-old forward is making $14.8 million this season and his team is 11-2.

The Blazers, whose only loss on their six-game road trip was to Cleveland on Tuesday night, are so loaded with talent that Pippen is third on the team in scoring — 13.3 points, which would be the lowest average since his rookie year in 1987-88.

Longhorns advance in Shootout

BAYAMON, Puerto Rico (AP) — Chris Mihm shook off a leg injury to help No. 20 Texas to a 88-71 victory over Arizona State on Thursday in the Puerto Rico Shootout.

The Longhorns (2-0) will face either No. 18 DePaul or the host school, American University of Puerto Rico, on Friday.

Gabe Muoneke led Texas with 29 points, Mihm had 19 and Chris Owens added 17.

Mihm couldn't finish a driving layup near the game's start and then sat several times in the opening half as trainers iced down his right leg.

He grimaced as he stepped back onto the court after half-time, trying to deal with the pain.

But once play began, the 7-foot Mihm looked as dominating as ever. He converted an inside bucket, then followed with a three-point play as Texas led 48-34.

And Texas kept going to Mihm inside.

He fought off two defenders, missed his shot and got fouled one time. Then set up down low on the Longhorns' next possession and got fouled again.

Mihm, one of 10 preseason Naismith Award candidates, came out for good, wincing as he hit the floor on another hard landing, with 9:02 left. He sat the rest of the game with an ice pack tied just below the knee.

Freshman Shawn Redhage led Arizona State (1-1) with 17 points, all but two in the second half. Eddie House, the team's top scorer with 19 points a game, was held to four.

Muoneke and Owens made up for Mihm's first-half absence, combining for 21 points.

But the Longhorns were down 26-25 with 3:27 left in the first half when they came up with a 10-2 run.

Muoneke and Owens had the final two baskets in the spurt.

Texas started just as strongly in the second half, putting the game away with a 29-16 run as Mihm, Muoneke and Owens combined to convert six three-point plays.

Darren Kelly's jumper stretched the lead to 75-53 with 5:39 left.

SEMINOLES wait for Sugar Bowl foe

By RICHARD ROSENBLATT
AP Football Writer

Florida State might have to wait a little longer to see which team it will play for the national championship in the Sugar Bowl on Jan. 4.

No. 2 Virginia Tech (10-0) and No. 3 Nebraska (9-1) are the top contenders. But if the Hokies beat No. 22 Boston College (8-2) and the Huskers beat Colorado (6-4) in today's games, the No. 1 Seminoles still won't know who their opponent until Nebraska plays No. 7 Texas in the Big 12 title game on Dec. 4, with the Bowl Championship Series standings having the final say on Dec. 5.

The No. 1 Seminoles (11-0) completed their season last week.

What if Virginia Tech and Nebraska both lose? Then Tennessee, Florida and Kansas State are among the teams that could move into title contention.

"We've got to come out like we've done all season long prepared to play the game of our life," Tech defensive end Corey Moore said. "We win that game and we're playing for the national championship. I firmly believe that."

"I think it would be just an absolute tragedy if we don't get a chance to play for the national championship."

The Huskers are trying to focus on Colorado instead of figuring out how they can move ahead of the Hokies in the BCS standings.

"There has not been any talk amongst our team about anything other than Colorado," Nebraska coach Frank Solich said. "I have not heard one word uttered."

In other Top 25 games today, it's No. 7 Texas at No. 24 Texas A&M; Ohio at No. 12 Marshall; No. 17 Arkansas at LSU; and No. 25 Louisiana Tech at Southern California.

On Saturday, it's Vanderbilt at No. 6 Tennessee; and No. 16 Georgia at No. 20 Georgia Tech.

No. 18 Mississippi St. beat No. 23 Mississippi 23-20 on Thursday night.

The Hokies are shooting for the second perfect season in school history, the first since 1918 when they were 7-0.

So far Virginia Tech has dispatched the previously ranked teams it has played this season — 31-7 over Virginia, 62-0 over Syracuse, and 43-10 over Miami.

Tech, which leads the nation in scoring at 41.7 points per game, is directed by redshirt freshman quarterback Michael Vick, who has 1,550 yards and nine TDs passing, 504 yards and seven TDs rushing.

The Eagles, behind quarterback Tim Hasselbeck and running back Cedric Washington, are having quite a season themselves. Right now BC is headed to the Insight.com Bowl, but could move up to the Gator Bowl with an upset.

"I said after the Syracuse game that our kids have hearts as big as oceans," O'Brien said, referring to BC's 24-23 win over the Orangemen on Oct. 30. "They're going to play hard, and that's all we can ask of them. Then you go out there and either you're good enough or you're not. Fortunately, we've found ways to win."

Virginia Tech has won the last three meetings, with BC managing a total of 14 points.

Nebraska has a seven-game winning streak over Colorado, but the past three games have been close. The Huskers won by two points last year, three points in '97 and five points in '96.

Quarterback Eric Crouch leads an offense ranked sixth nationally in rushing at 260.1 yards per game, while the defense is second in yards allowed (234.5) and third in points allowed (11.4). Crouch, who ran for 158 yards and two TDs in the Huskers' 41-15 win over Kansas State two weeks ago, has 694 yards and 13 TDs rushing.

Bowl berths are on the line in several other games Saturday: Pittsburgh (5-5) at West Virginia (3-7), Syracuse (6-4) at Miami (6-4), Oklahoma State (5-5) at Oklahoma (6-4), and Arizona (6-5) at Arizona State (5-5).

Notre Dame (5-6) tries to avoid its first losing season since 1986 when it visits Pac-10 champion Stanford (7-3).

No. 18 Mississippi St. 23, No. 23 Mississippi 20

In Starkville, Miss., Scott Westerfield hit a 44-yard field goal with four seconds left as Mississippi State rallied for a victory.

Mississippi State, which trailed throughout the game, scored 17 fourth-quarter points. After the game, thousands of State fans poured onto the field and tore down the goalpost that Westerfield sent his second game-winner of the season through. Minutes later, they toppled the goalpost at the other end of the field.

Mississippi State quarterback Wayne Madkin took the Bulldogs (9-2, 6-2 Southeastern Conference) 88 yards, hitting C.J. Simmones with a 38-yard touchdown to tie it at 20 with 27 seconds left. Then, Eugene Clinton intercepted Mississippi (7-4, 4-4) QB Romero Miller's pass and returned the ball 27 yards to set up Westerfield's kick.

Jimmy, Jerry together again at Texas Stadium

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Even though he had the last word, Jerry Jones talked only about the good things that Jimmy Johnson did for him.

Maybe it was because the bitter and very public separation of the Dallas Cowboys owner and his former coach was more than five years ago. More likely, it was that the Cowboys had just beaten the Johnson-coached Miami Dolphins.

While Johnson refused to discuss the situation after a 20-0 loss Thursday, Jones openly talked about the three-decade relationship with his former Arkansas teammate and the coach who gave him his first two Super Bowl titles.

"Our success was beyond our imagination. We basically were able to go from our first year when we won one game and it wasn't working out to basically able that when he left in the fifth year we had two Super Bowls," Jones said.

Johnson was coaching in Texas Stadium for the first time since his departure from the Cowboys just two months after winning the second Super Bowl championship at the end of the 1993 season.

"I saw a coach I respect a lot, a really fine football coach," Jones said. "I didn't dwell on the past."

Just before kickoff, Johnson said it felt like any other game once the pregame activities were completed.

When Johnson walked on the field about an hour before kickoff, he received a mixture of cheers and boos from the half-full stadium. He spent much of his pregame time speaking to Cowboys officials, coaches and a couple of his former players.

Johnson and Jones met for less than a half-minute, shaking hands and chatting briefly before returning to their respective corners.

There was no further contact. "It was brief and very civil. It was not in any way forced," Jones said. "It was not unpleasant at all. Even if we had parted under the absolute best of circumstances, we should have said no more."

Jones called the Super Bowl titles "a great culmination" of their work together.

Both Jones and Johnson publicly downplayed the coach's first game back in Texas Stadium. But the stubborn, competitive spirit that led to their public divorce certainly made the game mean more than they let on.

Long before Jones made his way to the field, several Cowboys coaches and other officials sought out and spoke with the coach. Among them were special teams coach Joe Avezzano and defensive coordinator Dave Campo, who also served under Johnson.

Emmitt Smith was the first Cowboys player to seek out Johnson, who he embraced and then walked arm-in-arm with for several minutes while talking. Smith also spoke with his former coach after the game.

Troy Aikman then had a more businesslike meeting during pregame, shaking hands with Johnson and then standing there briefly with his hands on his hips.

"It was great to see him. Jimmy did a great job when he was here, we won two Super Bowls and I respect him for that," Aikman said.

Wedding Invitation Lottery Is Not Winning Any Fans

DEAR READERS: By popular demand, here is my traditional Thanksgiving column:

Today is Thanksgiving Day, so take a few minutes to reflect upon all the things for which you are thankful.

How's your health? Not so good? Well, thank God you've lived this long. A lot of people haven't. You're hurting? Thousands — maybe millions — are hurting even more. (Have you ever visited a veterans hospital? Or a rehabilitation clinic for crippled children?)

If you awakened this morning and were able to hear the birds sing, use your vocal cords to utter human sounds, walk to the breakfast table on two good legs, and read the newspaper with two good eyes, praise the Lord! A lot of people couldn't.

How's your pocketbook? Thin? Well, most of the world is a lot poorer. No pensions. No welfare. No food stamps. No Social Security. In fact, one-third of the people in the world will go to bed hungry tonight.

Are you lonely? The way to have a friend is to be one. If nobody calls you, pick up the phone and call someone.

Are you concerned about your country's future? Hooray! Our system has been saved by such concern. Your country may not be a rose garden, but neither is it a patch of weeds.

Freedom rings! Look and listen. You can still worship at the church of your choice, cast a secret ballot, and even criticize your government without fearing a knock on the head or a knock on the door at midnight. And if you want to live under a different system, you are free to go. There are no walls or fences — nothing to keep you here.

As a final thought, I'll repeat my Thanksgiving prayer; perhaps you will want to use it at your table today:

O heavenly Father: We thank thee for food and remember the hungry.

We thank thee for health and remember the sick.

We thank thee for friends and remember the friendless.

We thank thee for freedom and remember the enslaved.

May these remembrances stir us to service.

That thy gifts to us may be used for others. Amen.

Have a wonderful Thanksgiving, and may God bless you and yours.

LOVE, ABBY

An afterthought: Want an instant high? The surest cure for the holiday blues is doing something nice for someone. Why not call a person who lives alone and invite him or her to share dinner?

Better yet, call and say, "I'm coming to get you, and I'll see that you get home." (Some older people don't drive, and those who do may not like to go out after dark.)

Try it. And let me know the results.

P.S. Special greetings to those of you in the military who wrote from remote corners of the world to tell me that you are using my prayer on this Thanksgiving Day.

To receive a collection of Abby's most memorable — and most frequently requested — poems and essays, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby's "Keepers," P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. (Postage is included.)

What teens need to know about sex, drugs, AIDS, and getting along with peers and parents is in "What Every Teen Should Know." To order, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. BY JACQUELINE BIGAR

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

 Indulgence suits your palette perfectly as you let go and relax. Hang out with family and loved ones. Refuse to get embroiled in post-holiday activities; instead, get into the long weekend. Your smile lights up another's day. Tonight: Make it easy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

 Chatter comes easily; you seem to enjoy yourself wherever you go. Someone you care about and enormously respect pushes you. Be willing to establish your limits and explain where you are coming from. Your intuition serves you. Use it! Tonight: Let the good times roll.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

 Be careful with spending; you could easily go overboard or let go and enjoy. If participating in today's shopping frenzy, stay as close to your budget as possible. Make time for a get-together with friends. Use this weekend to catch up on news. Tonight: Treat yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

 You are personality plus. Remain directed and sure of yourself. You find that a parent or someone you respect is willing to indulge you. Get into the moment. A partner might be too direct for your taste. Avoid a personality conflict. Tonight: You are in control.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

 Make it your pleasure to do little and relax. Others are only too happy to pitch in; besides, you need to slow down. Discover what works by exploring different options. Your findings could necessitate a trip in the near future. Tonight: To a movie or concert.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

 Aim for what you want, especially in a key friendship. Your role in a partnership needs clarifying: Express your high energy; get into a favorite sport or get important errands done. You are a veritable whirlwind. Be careful with spending. Tonight: Where your friends are.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

 You know how to draw others in. Your soft demeanor plays a big role in your current popularity. A loved one or child acts up or could be rebellious. Understand what is happening with others. You have some important relationship choices to make. Tonight: A force to be held.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

 Reach out for another; make calls; understand what you need in order to be happy. Make travel plans, even for this weekend. You need a change of pace and will be revitalized in a different environment. Use your high energy to get into an important project. Tonight: Follow the music.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

 Get together with others. Make calls and reach out for those you haven't heard from over the holiday.

Your special care and nurturing make all the difference. Moods, spending and celebrating go from one extreme to another. Tonight: Go for togetherness.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

 Others are in the holiday mood; join in and celebrate. Get into the joyous nature of the weekend. Get together with friends or invite them over. Your high energy goes into spending and making money. You might want to get a head start on Christmas presents. Tonight: Go along with others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

 You are basically unstoppable. You might not want to slow down, even though it might be a very good idea. Understand what is going on with others; take time to be nurturing. Others depend on you, in many ways that aren't obvious. Tonight: Help out a friend.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

 Understand more of what is going on with a child or loved one; given enough time, he will spill the beans. You have a lot to do. Stay anchored. Listen carefully to a partner when he whispers words of wisdom. Tonight: Spice up your life.
