Critics Of Viet Policy May Force New Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) Secretary of State Dean Rusk, the administration's chief foreign policy spokesman, has issued a ringing invitation to Congress to vote again on Viet Nam war policy if there is any "doubt" about it.

Rusk voiced his assurance the vote would be as overwhelming as it was in 1964 when Congress handed Johnson the resolution authorizing him to act in Southeast Asia.

"We'll give him a chance to find out next week," Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as the group shut down Friday the public part of its probe of the president's Viet Nam policy.

Morse, the most outspoken among Senate critics of U.S. involvement in Viet Nam, said he intends to force a vote on rescinding the 1964 resolution passed after North Vietnamese PT boats attacked U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin off Viet Nam. Morse and Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, were the only two in congress to vote against the resolution then. The House approved it by a 414-0 vote and the Senate went along 88 to 2.

Morse said he would try to rescind the resolution by an amendment to the bill authorizing $12.3 billion in additional defense funds now pending in the Senate.

His move, however, drew no support from other members of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., called a news conference and issued a statement defending the senatorial debate, which he said could help shape decisions that would avoid a showdown conflict with Red China. But he urged "moderation and mutual indulgence" in the debate.

He called for efforts toward a negotiated settlement, and said the national liberation front — the political arm of the Viet Cong — should take part in the negotiations.

"I believe there is a middle way," Kennedy said, "that an end to the fighting and a peaceful settlement can be achieved."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, ended the sessions at least temporarily after hearing Rusk give a lecture on the roads to war and peace.

"I personally don't see any need for further public hearings," declared Fulbright. But he said he would let the committee decide if it would like to ask Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to appear at closed sessions.

When Rusk left he was closely guarded by a security detail reinforced after a Baltimore television station, WMAR-TV, reported it had received an anonymous telephone call from "a woman with a husky voice" who said: "Dean Rusk will be shot right between the eyes when he leaves that building in Washington."

As the committee rung down the curtain on the hearings that have become the storm center of Viet Nam debate, one committee member put out an invitation to the President for some private, heart-to-heart talks.

Cold Knifes Into Midwest

By The Associated Press

Severe wintry weather, with bone-chilling cold, snow and blustery winds, tightened its grip in the nation's midsection and extended into the Northeast today.

The mercury plunged to 40 below zero at International Falls, Minn., on the Minnesota-Canadian border early today after Friday's -42, a record low for February.

Temperatures 20 below zero and lower were reported across many Nothern border cities and subzero cold knifed across nine states in the Midwest and two in New England.

One below-zero belt covered areas in Montana, Wyoming, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin Michigan, Iowa and Nebraska. Near zero was reported in northern Illinois.

As the cold air and snow moved into the Northeast temperatures dropped to zero in parts of Maine and Vermont and to near zero in other sections of northern New England and northern New York.

Snow piled up to nearly a foot in Milwaukee but tapered off during the night. At least seven deaths were attributed to the stormy and cold weather in Wisconsin including five who died while shoveling snow and two who were killed in a car-truck crash on a snowcovered highway.

Snow fell in parts of the extreme Midwest cold belt, including areas in Nebraska, the Dakotas and Montana. Snow also was reported in northern Ohio, parts of Michigan, northern Indiana, norther Illinois, northeastern Missouri and southeastern Iowa and in sections of the Northeast. Two inches fell at Buffalo, N.Y., during a six-hour period.

Gusty northeasterly winds fanned areas in the Midwest and driving conditions were hazardous from northern Illinois and Wisconsin across lower Michigan to the eastern Great Lakes region.

In other parts of the nation, rain splashed coastal sections of California and in parts of the Southeast. Clear, coo! weather prevailed in most of the Southwest.

More than 150 residents in the Davenport, Iowa,-Rock Island, Ill, area on the Mississippi River were forced from their homes by flood waters caused by a seven-mile ice jam. The river divides the two cities which have a population of some 90,000. The river was nearly two feet over flood stage of 15 feet Friday night. Near zero cold added more ice to the huge gorge, which was reported by Army engineers as "solid to the bottom."

In contrast to the bitter cold in the northern Midwest, mild weather continued in Florida. There was a difference of 116 degrees in temperatures in International Falls with 40 below zero and Key West, Fla., with 76 above.

The admiral was hospitalized Jan. 3 after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage. This followed treatment last November for minor back surgery.

Viet Cong's Hard Core Contacted

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four battalions of U.S. Marines, acting on intelligence reports of a sighting of the Viet Cong's hard core 1st Regiment, surged by helicopter today into the Phuoc Valley 350 miles northeast of Saigon. Initial contact was light.

Two Marines were wounded by ground fire on the helicopters as they were landing in the valley, which lies west of Tam Ky, between Leatherneck bases reports said nine Viet Cong seized a hastily abandoned Viet were killed and the Marines at Da Nang and Chu Lai Field Cong arsenal.

Down the coast, troopers of the 2nd Brigade of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division engaged in several new skirmishes with Viet Cong elements 10 miles southwest of Bong Son. Communist fire downed two American helicopters. The cavalrymen said they killed 37 Viet Cong, captured one and seized two dozen weapons.

LABORITES ANGRY

Chilly Weather Awaiting Wirtz

By NEIL GILBRIDE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A chilly reception awaited Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz today despite the warm Florida sunshine as he flew in to meet labor leaders who say they are angry over the way the Johnson administration is treating them.

Arriving earlier than originally scheduled, Wirtz brushed aside newsmens queries about the rising crescendo of labor criticism.

"I'm going to stay out of your hair," Wirtz told reporters.

He said he had come here early to spend the weekend in the sun with his family before addressing the Executive Council of the 13,000-million-member AFL-CIO Tuesday.

Both Wirtz and spokesmen for AFL-CIO President George Meany said no meetings, formal or informal, were expected between the two over the weekend.

"But they might bump into each other. It's a small hotel," a Meany spokesman said.

Wirtz checked in shortly after midnight at the Americana Hotel, where AFL-CIO officials are holding their midwinter meetings.

Several officials of the Maritime Trades Department indicated Friday the extent of labor unhappiness with the Johnson administration by openly directing their first personal criticism of President Johnson.

The chief complaint was directed at White House and Senate Democratic handling of the bill to repeal Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, pigeonholed in the face of a Republican filibuster.

The repeal bill, which would have wiped out state laws banning union-shop contracts requiring all employes to join the union, was the chief AFL-CIO goal in Congress this year.

P. L. (Roy) Siemiller, president of the International Association of Machinists, the nation's fourth largest union with nearly 1,000,000 members, said: "We're damned unhappy. We think we got short shrift on 14B."

Housewife's Gift Of Soap Turns Tide In Viet Village

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit housewife's 40 bars of soap have been credited with helping turn a small Vietnamese village against the Viet Cong.

Mrs. Alfred Schwartzenfeld read the plea of an American officer for simple items that might help win the friendship of Vietnamese villagers.

The officer, Capt. Sidney L. Linver, is commander of an American advisory unit to the South Vietnamese army.

"I'm not the heroine type," says Mrs. Schwartzenfeld. "I didn't do anthing."

Linver disagreed in a letter he wrote her recently.

"I took the soap and our medical corpsman to a VC-controlled hamlet about two kilometers from the post," the letter read.

"When the 'Doc' and I paid our call last week, the people were a little bit afraid.

"But by going house to house passing out soap we gradually won them over. Doc treated over 200 people in a little over an hour. For some, it was the first time they had ever had any kind of medical treatment.

"The payoff came the night of 18-19 January. The VC attacked the village with two companies. Some of the villagers warned our security squad two hours before the VC hit the village.

'Our squad withdrew from the village in time. The really significant factor is that the villagers did not " the VC that our squad had withdrawn or which way they had gone.

"As a result the VC companies (advancing from different directions) started a fight among themselves. Just to add to the confusion, our squad outside the village called in artillery and mortar fire on the VC.

"The box score in the village read: VC casualties, 25 killed, 15 wounded; ARVN casualties, 0."

Linver said some livestock was lost, some rice was burned and four villagers were wounded. The rice was replaced, livestock was paid for by a South Vietnamese official, and the four wounded were treated by American medics.

"All this occurred the day before the lunar New Year which has great religious significance for the Vietnamese," Linver wrote, adding: "We now 'own' another village, and it all started with a few bars of soap."

Mrs. Schwartzenfeld said she paid only $2 for the soap.

"Others have sent soaps too. Mine just got there first," she said.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 20, and for nearly five years I have carried one of your columns in my wallet. It is so worn I can scarcely read it, but it's done me more good than any single thing I've ever read. girls who need the advice as much today as I did then. I am enclosing the column. I am the girl who wrote the letter signed "Mother Hater."

Sincerely yours,
"WISER NOW"

DEAR "WISER": Yes, I'll reprint the column. And here it is:

April 9, 1961

'Dear Abby:

You will probably think I am a monster, but I am a girl of 14 and I hate my parents. Especially my mother. She is so old-fashioned it's pitiful. She wants to pick out all my clothes and tell me how to wear my hair. And I am the only girl in our crowd who doesn't wear eye make-up. She won't let me go in cars with boys. All she worries about is my reputation, and I swear I haven't done anything wrong. She is killing my chances to go with the right kids and be popular.

Don't tell me to talk it over with her because she will only give me a long lecture on this bull about how it's all for my 'own good.'

I would like to be able to tell her things but, heck, I don't want to get killed. I hate to sneak behind her back, but I have no choice. I sure wish I had a different mother.

Mother Hater"

"Dear Mother Hater:

Girls your age, who feel as you do, regard all adults as the enemy. Perhaps a letter from a girl your age with a different point of view on the same subject will help you more than any advice I could offer:

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and think more girls my age should appreciate mothers who love them enough to care about why they do. I feel sorry for young girls my age whose mothers let them go in cars with boys, wear eye make-up and hair-dos that are too old for them.

I am not allowed to go on car dates until I am 16. My mother helps me select my clothes. I wear no make-up to school, and only a little on special occasions. My mother has lived a lot longer than I have, and I have learned from experience that when she forbids me to do something she always has a good reason for it. I am thankful that I have a mother who loves me enough to raise me right.

FOURTEEN AND LUCKY"

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Why doesn't some smart jeweler design a ring to be worn by widows and divorcees to let men know that they are available? It could be some simple little band with a heart or some other symbol on it. One look at that and a man would know at once that there is no husband on the scene.

NEW IDEA

DEAR NEW: An eligible man with sufficient interest in a woman to find out whether there is a "husband on the scene" can, and will.

CONFIDENTIAL TO REVEREND F. IN TULSA: No one said it better than Harry Emerson Fosdick: "Vital religion is like good music. It needs no defense, only rendition. # Bombers Strike Near Cambodia

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers using a new technique of hitting their targets twice in a row, struck at Viet Cong concentrations only two miles short of the Cambodian border today.

The giant eight-engine warplanes hit three areas of western Tay Ninh Province about 75 miles northwest of Saigon in a repeat of the almost twice daily raids on the section for the past week.

The planes started their one-two punch technique because the Viet Cong had felt it fairly safe to come out of hiding after one strike.

Another innovation was a new fusing device to penetrate Viet Cong tunnels. It is designed to bore straight down. Its effectiveness has not yet been evaluated by ground reconnaissance, the Air Force said.

Viet Cong tunnels and caves are constructed often on three levels in hard and flinty soil. Infantrymen have often run out of explosives in trying to break up the labyrinths.

Today's raids were zeroed on a Viet Cong infiltration point, a central headquarters area, a storage sector and a suspected training ground.

The area, just inside the Vietnamese border, has long been used as a delivery point for men and supplies coming from the north via the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

U.S. intelligence has placed an estimated three Viet Cong regiments in the territory struck by the B52s.

The bombing raids are part of a drive against supplies from the north. Air Force and Navy carrier planes continued to fly punishing missions over North Viet Nam Friday in the constant effort to choke off Hanoi's support for the rebels in the south.

F105s and F4Cs pounded 13 targets all in the area about 30 miles north of the 17th Parallel which divides North and South Viet Nam.

The targets were mostly roads, bridges, buildings and some new underground storage spaces spotted around Vinh. Heavy flak was encountered on some assaults.

The Navy sent 16 missions off the carriers Kitty Hawk and the Enterprise, centering around Dong Hoi's road network and the communication lines about 80 miles west of Hanoi.

One A6 from the Kitty Hawk failed to pull out of a bombing run and pilots of accompanying aircraft said the two-man crew could not have survived the crash. It was the 10th plane lost over North Viet Nam since the bombing was resumed January 31 after a 37-day lull.

Finley Said Team Wasn't On Market

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Charles O. Finley, an owner who once scoured the countryside in search of greener pastures for his Kansas City Athletics, wouldn't even consider a 1964 bid to move the A's to Milwaukee.

The proposal, which never reached the bargaining stage, hinged on Finley selling the franchise to a group of eight Milwaukee businessmen

"The Kansas City Athletics are not for sale," was Finley's curt reply to the proposal made in the fall of 1964. The purchase bid was outlined Friday at a pretrial questioning session in Wisconsin's antitrust suit against the Braves and the National League.

Richard Cutler, a lawyer, said he wrote to Finley in behalf of the businessmen after the eight had failed in an earlier try to buy the Braves and keep them in Milwaukee.

The antitrust suit is scheduled to go to trial Feb. 28.

Monument Gets Good Cleaning

WASHINGTON (AP) — They vacuumed the inside of the Washington Monument this week — just in time for George Washington's birthday.

It was the monument's semi-annual interior cleaning, a time for picking up the dust that two million tourists leave behind each year in the 555-foot-high granite shaft. The monument in 1964 had its first exterior cleaning in 30 years.

Joseph P. Eaglin, monument supervisor, estimates his men cart out two 20-gallon cans of dust each week.

But this week's thorough cleaning included the monument's entire interior — not just the 898 steps and the landings which are cleaned daily.

For the day and one-half of cleaning the monument was closed to the public. The only visitors were the workmen — 20 on each shift — cleaning from 6 p.m. Wednesday until Friday morning.

Twice each year National Park Service workers repaint the benches, the ground floor room where visitors await the elevator for the one-minute ride to the top and the observation deck.

Also, they wash the elevator shaft and roof and erase the crayoned remembrances visitors have left behind.

Special attention is given to the 190 memorial stones that line the inside of the drafty monument's walls. Donated by states, organizations and individuals, they are favorite targets of the crayon wielders.

The only tourists who see most of the memorial tablets are those who use the stairs — and most ride the elevator.

Anybody who gets to the top, however, can see a stone from the ruins of ancient Carthage. It was found seven years ago in a corner of a stair well. It had lain there about 80 years and was to have been set in the wall with the others.

Another stone is slightly radioactive — but not enough to be harmful.

In 1949 a visitor with a Geiger counter found the radioactivity about half way up the monument. It is raw uranium in a memorial stone from Colorado.

Texas Farms Lead In Crop Loans

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas farmers lead those of all other states in the use of government price support crop loans, an Agriculture Department report shows.

Farmers in Texas got $415 million in such loans for the year ending July 1, 1965 the report shows. The total of loans made all farmers in the country was $2,135,000,000.

These loans help bolster farm prices by providing an outlet for crops other than the regular commodity markets.

Mississippi farmers were second with loans of $237 million. Other leading states included: North Carolina $210 million, Arkansas $120 million, Iowa $118 million, Georgia $117 million, North Dakota $96 million. Nebraska $70 million, Kentucky $67 million, Aalbama $59 million and Kansas $52 million.

The loans made that year by commodities included: Corn $227 million, cotton $1,064,000,000, peanuts $48 million tobacco $262 million wheat $261 million and others — including soybeans, sorghum grain, barley, rice, dry beans, flaxseed and oats—$272 million.

The report showed that the department had made price support loans to farmers totaling $44246,909,000 since the first loans in the mid-1930s. Cotton loans for this period led with a total of $13.5 billion, followed by corn at $8.2 billion, wheat $11.9 billion, tobacco $2.7 billion, soybeans $1.7 billion, sorghum grain $2.1 billion, rice $557 million, potatoes $116 million; peanuts $682 million, barley $774 million, dry beans $360 million, oats $360 million, flaxseed $334 million and seeds $63 million.

Reds Stress More Goods For Buyer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party approved today an economic development plan that increases emphasis on consumer goods while continuing heavy industrial development and military spending.

The Central Committee lays down policy which the government follows.

An announcement on a committee meeting said Premier Alexei N. Kosygin reported on the plan for 1966 through 1970. After a discussion, the plan's outline was adopted. It will be published shortly for public discussion.

The committee also heard a report by party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev. It "adopted an appropriate decision," the announcement said, without giving details.

Informed sources said the report was on arrangements for the party congress scheduled to open March 29. Kosygin will present the full economic plan to the congress for formal approval by its approximately 5,000 delegates.

The Central Committee has about 175 full members and 140 candidate members. Not all of them were believed to have attended the meeting, which lasted several hours.

Details of the new five-year plan were not given in the announcement. But earlier statements by Soviet leaders had indicated the broad outlines.

The development plan for this year, the first one in the five-year period, was announced earlier.

Charges Are Dismissed

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) County Judge Vernon Harville has dismissed charges of illegal drug possession against Ray Price and three members of his Cherokee Cowboy Band.

Dismissal came Friday after a defense motion contesting validity of search warrants was filed by defense attorneys.

Charles Harris, another member of the band, pleaded no contest to a similar charge and was fined $100 and $28.25 court costs.

Still another member, James Day, faces a felony complaint of dangerous drugs possession because of an alleged prior misdemeanor conviction.

Charges were dismissed against Price, Robert Fritz, Pete Binke and Francis K. Coleman. All but Fritz listed addresses in the Nashville, Tenn., area. Fritz lives in Corpus Christi.

Police on Nov. 12 confiscated what they called about 1,000 stimulant pills and Price's elaborately outfitted band bus. The band leader bought the bus eight days later at a sheriff's sale for $4,100.

Say Seamen Overstress 'Cong Trade

LONDON (AP) — Leading maritime nations of Western Europe intimated today that irate U.S. longshoremen had overstressed the amount of Free World trade with North Viet Nam.

In announcing a boycott Friday of the ships of foreign nations trading with the Communist-controlled area, spokesmen for the AFL-CIO maritime unions claimed hundreds of vessels would be affected.

Here are views from some of the countries named by the unions as chief offenders:

Italy: Virtually no trade with North Viet Nam, said a foreign ministry spokesman. The U.S. boycott had "no application to Italy."

Norway: No Norwegian ships trade with North Viet Nam so the unions "have the wrong address when they mention us," said Olaf Malterud, director of the Norwegian Ship Owners Association.

Britain: "Our trade with North Viet Nam has always been extremely small," commented Roy Mason, an official of the government Board of Trade. He added: "I am not aware of any British ships under direct control of British owners which are trading with the area."

Belgium: Shipping sources claimed trade was negligible with only 2,000 tons exported to North Viet Nam in the first nine months of 1965.

France: The boycott announcement was largely ignored by morning papers. The government had no immediate comment.

Denmark: No Danish vessels are known to be trading with North Viet Nam, said a shipping official.

Officials At Thomas Rites

HOUSTON (AP) — Scores of officials and countless private citizens paid last respects Friday to Albert Thomas, the man whom two presidents urged to seek his 15th and 16th terms as U.S. representative.

If Thomas, 67, had lived to serve through next January, he would have held his post in the nation's capital 30 years. The veteran Democrat, ranking 11th in House seniority, died of cancer Tuesday in Washington.

Gov. John Connally and other state officials, Sens. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and John Tower R-Tex., joined about 40 congressmen in attending the funeral service.

Television carried the service to thousands of Thomas' constituents. Hundreds of persons stood outside the church.

He was buried in the 419-acre Albert Thomas Veterans Administration Cemetery, the newest and second largest national cemetery.

Schools TV Program To Feature Social Studies

Social Studies as taught in the local elementary schools will be the curriculum area covered on Monday evening's "Know Your Schools" TV program. This all-schools program is broadcast each Monday from 6:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. over Channel 2, SCAT.

Mrs. Jeannie Liner, one of the fourth grade teachers at Stanfield Elementary, and several pupils from her classroom will be present to give viewers a demonstration on how the social sciences are presented in schools today. Fourth graders to assist Mrs. Liner with the program are Jo Lynn Book, Barbara Lacik, Janice Smith, John Boren, Tracy Lammert, Steve Talbott, Jodi Hall, Lynn Leavell, Terri Timmons, Rodney Head, Randy Rotts, Joneva Kaplan, Suzanne Peek, Nancy Treat, Keith Jordon and Darrell Rhodes.

The classification, Social Studies, covers several subjects in schools today. This area in the schools' curriculum includes civics, economics and Texas, American and world history.

Teaching of Social Studies in elementary schools has a broad goal. Its aim is to give an understanding of all peoples of the earth to school children early in their school life. This continuing study begins with the people near at hand and progresses to include all the world, Mrs. Liner advises. Among the many things children begin learning early are how environment influences ways of making a living; how various forms of government affect people; the value of a country's natural resources, and how progress can be hindered by lack of education.

Methods of teaching Social Studies have not changed in the last few years, according to local school personnel. Many years ago, however, each of the subjects now incorporated in the Social Studies group were taught independently. Some of these subjects were not touched upon at the elementary level or were brushed over very lightly. At the high school level, world history courses now cover a broader area of study and include much of the information formerly presented under the label of Ancient history.

Although the approach to teaching Social Studies has not changed for several years, authorities on school curriculum planning advise that changes may be expected soon. One of the most important of the changes will possibly be including the study of anthropology at many grade levles. No definite time has been set, but local teachers believe changes are eminent.

Mrs. Liner feels that geography will be among the areas of study to be changed. "Geography, particularly, has been a boring subject, too full of population statistics, dates to remember, questions of no interest to answer, and nothing to make the student feel he is a part of the entire world," Mrs. Liner emphasizes.

Modern education holds with the idea that if a person knows how to find answers to questions he is making progress. Mrs. Liner maintains, "There is too much knowledge in the world today to keep in one's head, therefore, pupils must know how and where to find needed information. We now try to stimulate curiosity in the minds of our pupils so that they will be interested in finding out things for themselves about their own country and other lands."

Children in the local elementary schools are encouraged to use school libraries and the public library in their quest for knowledge. First grade children go to the library for a story hour late in the first half of the school term. They are aided in selecting books suitable for their reading level. Second grade children are introduced to a greater extent and are taught to use the card catalog and are encouraged to find their own books on library shelves.

Local elementary schools maintain a circulating film library. These educational films are used to supplement text books and class discussions. The film library is housed in the Snyder High School building under direction of the schools' Audio-Visual department. Films in this collection cover all areas of study at all elementary grade levels.

"Children of today gain a greater knowledge about the world at large at a very early age, much earlier than was formerly thought necessary," Mrs. Liner stresses. "A teacher's main objective is to stimulate young minds to think and encourage them to search out facts for themselves. The greatest reward dedicated teachers can expect to earn is to evidence the intellectual growth of children under their tutelage and watch them flower in knowledge and understanding," Mrs. Liner concludes.

Glenda Sehested will be mistress of ceremonies for the 30-minute school broadcast, and will bring news of interest from school administrative sources. Donna Davis has been chosen to bring news comments from all schools in the system. Speech class students fill the M.C. position and present the newscast each week.

Equipment will be operated by high school students. Herbert Eades and Douglas Burney will be behind cameras; Glenn Arnold will handle the mikes; Tom Lowe is to be charged with slide projector operations, and Bobby Wesson will keep check on the audio portion of the program.

On Monday evening, Feb. 28, the "Know Your Schools" program will feature art as presented to children in local elementary schools. Mrs. Rita Traugott and several pupils from her fifth grade classroom at West Elementary will bring the feature program.

Banquet Honors School Athletes

Over 250 persons were on hand Friday night as the Snyder Quarterback Club honored athletes of the school system at the annual All-Sports Banquet.

John Conley, athletic director and head football coach here for seven years before joining the Texas Tech coaching staff five years ago, was guest speaker at the event. Conley was accompanied here by two All-Southwest Conference football players, Tom Wilson and John Porter, who helped pace the Red Raiders to an 8-2 season record and a trip to the Gator Bowl after the 1965 season.

"If you want to participate in college athletics, begin planning for it now, both in the classroom and on the practice field," Conley advised the young athletes. He said academic and playing proficiency requirements today make it virtually impossible for more than a few athletes to compete on the college level unless they have laid the groundwork thoroughly.

"Coaches are not timid about athletics anymore," Conley declared. "The athletic program is a part of education. Our classroom and laboratory are the practice field and the playing field. We teach cooperation, hard work and specialize in physical fitness. And we don't have to apologize for winning."

Wilson also spoke briefly before he and Porter monitored a film of the Texas Tech-Rice football game of the past season. He recommended that the young athletes concentrate on three points: set a goal; develop a desire and sense of pride; work long and hard.

Horrace Bostick, athletic director and head coach here for the past five years and now vice principal of the high school, introduced coaches in the system and members of the various athletic squads in the junior and senior high schools.

Keith Miles, new athletic director and head coach, also spoke briefly.

J. D. Hinton, president of the Quarterback Club, presented a gift to Bostick on behalf of the club. John Boren was master of ceremonies and Fred Wiman, member of the 1965 Tiger football team, gave the invocation.

Jim Ryun Wins Top Indoor Mile

NEW YORK (AP) — It had to be one of the strangest miles ever run.

Ed Dean tried to steal it, which would have ranked right up there with one of Willie Sutton's jobs. Jim Grelle just wanted to win it. And Jim Ryun frankly didn't know what to do.

But Ryun, the leggy, 18-year-old Kansas freshman finally solved his dilemma by running his own race and holding off Grelle's famed finishing kick in a 4:02.2 effort in the New York Athletic Club's Indoor Games Friday night.

There was a scattering of boos when the time was announced, but a resounding cheer for Dean, a Notre Dame runner relatively unknown on the indoor circuit who finished dead last.

The crowd of 15,137 had been lured to Madison Square Garden by the promise of the first sub-four indoor mile in two seasons, and the prospect of an indoor record half mile in the Bill Crothers-Tommy Farrell race.

Neither happened.

Russia's blonde Tatiana Schelkanova salvaged a little with a woman's indoor record broad jump of 21 feet 5½ inches, but Farrell pulled out of the half mile with an old leg ailment and Grelie and Ryun were too busy watching each other to break four.

Dean, running against this country's two best milers, barged out in front immediately, had a 10-yard lead on the field at the end of one lap, 40 yards after four turns around the 11-lap track and was leading by a quarter of a lap halfway through.

The rest of them were just jogging along in his wake as he cut out a 59.2 quarter, a 1:59.6 half and held a lead up to 80 yards until the last two laps. It looked like he was playing rabbit and no one cared, but that wasn't it at all.

"No, I wasn't going to be a rabbit" Dean said. "I thought they might tire each other out and I could steal it. I just wanted to go all out for three quarters and see what would happen."

What happened was that Ryun finally started running in the last two laps and just held off Grelle at the wire. Dean faded to last in the five-man field.

Farrell, the tough little St. John's runner who holds the indoor 880 record, pulled out of his heralded rematch with Canada's Crothers, pleading an old leg ailment.

Crothers went for the record by himself, finishing easily in 1:50 flat — two-tenths off Farrell's mark. He also ran a 48.1 440-yard leg — fastest of the night — on a Toronto relay team and won the Mal Foote Award as the meet's outstanding athlete.

With Miss Schelkanova leading the way, the Russians won two of the three women's events. Tamara Dmitryeva took the 880 in 2:14.9, but Eleanor Montgomery of Tennessee A&I won the high jump on fewer misses at 5-6.

Of the five Russian men, only Igor Ter-Ovanesyan was a winner. He took the long jump at 26-5.

Tennessee freshman Richmond Flowers set a meet mark at 7 flat in the heats and won the 60-yard high hurdles final in 7.1, while Sam Perry of Fordham took a rerun of the 60 in 6.2 after a jostling match wiped out one try.

In other major events, John Pennel took the pole vault on fewer misses at 16-6 with Bob Seagren also clearing that height; Marine Frank Tomeo won the 1,000 in 2:10.8; New York's Charley Mays took the 500 in 57.4; Germany's Harold Norpoth won the two-mile in 8:47.4 and Maryland's Frank Costello took the high jump on fewer misses at 7 feet.

Injured Jockey Not Able To Compete

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Jockey champion Braulio Baeza was knocked unconscious when he jumped from a crippled horse at Hialeah Friday, and he won't ride in the $100,000 added Widener today.

The 25-year-old Panamanian broke no bones, but doctors hospitalized him overnight to see if he suffered a concussion.

Baeza, America's leading rider last year and far ahead at Hialeah for the meeting, was aboard Native Pitt in the ninth race when the 3-year-old colt broke down in the right foreleg.

The horse did not fall and Baeza stayed on as the horse hobbled along for six strides. Then Baeza jumped to the dirt.

'Passivist' Clay Will Have Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — Cassius Clay, the accepted world's heavyweight champion, will meet Ernie Terrell in a title fight in Chicago's International Amphitheatre March 29 despite his draft board proceedings.

Clay, who was re-classified 1-A Friday from his 1-Y classification, intends to appeal on the basis of his Black Muslim religion.

No appeal has been made as yet since Clay has not officially received notice of his reclassification. But the mere fact that he intends to appeal will hold up matters long enough for him to fight Terrell, the World Boxing Association champion, in Chicago.

Clay's attorney, Edward Jacko Jr., said, "We will file an appeal within legal time after we receive notice of reclassification. As of the moment we have not received any such notice."

Jacko said the appeal will be filed within the 10-day period allotted as soon as Clay receives a notice of reclassification.

"I am a member of the Black Muslims," Clay said from his Miami training camp. "We don't go to wars unless they are declared by Allah himself. I don't have no personal quarrel with those Viet Congs."

Jacko testified in Clay's behalf for 40 minutes before local Draft Board 47 at Louisville, Ky., Thursday.

As far as the 15-round title fight in the Amphitheatre is concerned, it will be held and most, if not all, of the 15,000 tickets will be sold to the tune of more than a half million dollar gate.

But top revenue will come from closed-circuit television, which will be handled by Main Bouts, Inc.

The five-member group of Main Bouts Inc. includes two representatives from the Black Muslims.

Clay is assured some $450,000 and Terrell $150,000. The government figures to pick up a half million dollars in taxes which prompted Clay, who is opposed to going into military service, to contend that through taxes he buys three jets for the government everytime he fights.

Not so says the Pentagon, which points out that the price of jets ranges from $2.5 million to $10 million.

UCLA Hopes Fade

Beavers Bomb Bruins, 64-51

By TED MEIER

The Rice Owls were exuberant, the UCLA Bruins downcast. That was the big news in college basketball Friday night.

The Owls ended their 28-game losing streak, the longest for major colleges in 10 years, by smashing the Baylor Bears 89-70.

The Bruins were beaten by Oregon State 64-51 for the first time in eight years, a defeat that diminished almost to the vanishing point their fading hopes of a third straight national championship.

A crowd of 10,307 at Corvallis, Ore. cheered Oregon State as the Beavers wiped out the sting of their 79-35 licking by UCLA earlier in the season. It was the Beavers' eighth straight victory in the Pacific Athletic Conference and increased their first place lead over the Bruins to two games, 8-1 to 6-3.

Bill Doty, with 32 points on 14 field goals and four of five free throws, paced Rice to its home court triumph over Baylor.

A 14-point spree that broke a 42-42 tie early in the second half put the Owls out of danger of losing their 29th straight. The Owls' last previous victory was against Trinity, Tex. in January, 1965. They lost their final 10 games last season and their first 18 this season.

LaSalle upset its Philadelphia city rival, Temple, 86-85 in the second game of a doubleheader at the Palestra after Penn had whipped Columbia 67-58 and took over first place in the Ivy League. Cornell whipped Princeton 86-77, knocking the Tigers out of a tie for the top and climbing into a three-way tie for second with the Tigers and Columbia. Penn is 9-1 in league play, Princeton, Columbia and Cornell 8-2 each.

Arizona edged Utah 71-68, but the Redskins clung to first place in the Western Athletic Conference when Arizona State upended Brigham Young 101-94. Wyoming completed a home team sweep in the WAC by defeating New Mexico 104-85. Utah's 4-2 is tops in the WAC with BYU, WYoming, Arizona and Arizona State tied at 3-3 and New Mexico last at 2-4.

San Francisco and U. of Pacific remained tied for first in the West Coast Athletic Conference. The Dons defeated Ucal, Santa Barbara, 97-67 and UOP walloped Pepperdine 102-76. Gonzaga stayed on top in the Big Sky by taking Idaho State 87-73.

North Carolina State beat South Carolina 68-63 and North Carolina defeated Clemson 70-66 in a doubleheader at Charlotte and remained tied for second in the Atlantic Coast Conference. In another southern game Virginia Tech upped its record to 18-4 with an 82-61 home court victory over George Washington.

In other games Washington State edged California 74-71, Stanford nipped Washington 75-73, Southern California downed Oregon 82-67, Harvard defeated Brown 74-65, Yale whipped Dartmouth 92-67 and Bucknell beat Colgate 65-61. None of the Top Ten teams in The Associated Press Poll played.

Warriors On Rebound

By The Associated Press

Boston's bulge is down to a scant one half game in the National Basketball Association's tight Eastern Division race today thanks to a healthy Nate Thurmond and the rebounding San Francisco Warriors.

The Warriors, with 6-foot-11 up afte missing most of the last up after missing most of the last two games with back spasms, whipped the Celtics 128-106 Friday night, cutting their lead over idle Philadelphia to six percentage points.

Rookie Rick Barry and Thurmond were the key players for the Warriors, who had dropped two staight to lowly New York without their big center.

In other games Friday night, Detroit nipped New York 120-118 and Baltimore held off a late Cincinnati surge for a 118-114 victory over the Royals.

Barry scored 33 points for the Warriors and Thurmond added 23 while controlling both offensive and defensive backboards. Paul Neumann pitched in with 22. Sam Jones paced the Celtics with 21.

The Knicks, playing without big Walt Bellamy, who came down with a fever, overcame a nine-point Detroit lead in the final stages before John Tresvant and Dave DeBusschere scored baskets in the final 90 seconds that pulled out the victory for the Pistons.

Dick Barnett led New York with 31 points while Eddie Miles hit 30 for Detroit, which broke a six-game losing string.

Kevin Loughery and Johnny Egan combined for nine points in the final minutes as Baltimore held off Cincinnati.

The Royals, trailing by 15, staged a furious rally paced by Oscar Robertson, who finished with 44 points. Cincinnati had closed within four when Loughery hit two baskets and a free throw to widen the gap again.

Then Cincinnati narrowed it to two points with 54 seconds to play before Egan hit a basket and two free throws, keeping the Bullets on top.

Don Ohl, still recovering from a fractured left cheekbone, led the Bullets with 24 points as seven Baltimore players reached double figures.

Upend Baylor, 89-70

Rice Owls Do Give A Hoot

By The Associated Press

The spotlight is on Texas A&M and its efforts to stay on top of the Southwest Conference basketball race in a battle with Texas Christian tonight but down at Houston there is excitement over Rice finally winning just one.

Yes, the Owls, who had gone through 28 games without a victory and were facing up to the horrid thought that they might set an all-time record for losing, whipped Baylor 89 - 70 Friday night.

Rice had run into the peculiar situation of averaging more than 90 points per game yet not being able to beat anybody. But their average still was 80 points after they licked the Bears.

The game meant nothing in the conference race but three scheduled this afternoon and tonight certainly do.

The feature is Texas A&M's clash with high-scoring Texas Christian at College Station.

Coach Shelby Metcalf says this is the most crucial one yet—if the Aggies should lose, they might drop into a tie for the lead with hurrying Southern Methodist, which is in second place a game behind and goes after its sixth straight triumph tonight.

And the Aggies play Southern Methodist at Dallas next week.

Southern Methodist meets Arkansas, which is in a tie for third place and still in the race, at Dallas tonight.

In an afternoon televised game, Texas and Texas Tech, both still in contention, clash at Austin.

David Inks Tech Pact

LUBBOCK (AP) — Texas Tech has signed Robert David, 197-pound all-state end from Dumas.

David was sought by all Southwest Conference schools, the three service academies and Oklahoma.

Grady Sings About Robin

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Houston Astros Manager Grady Hatton, surveying the first six days of his club's spring workouts, said Friday he's most pleased with pitcher Robin Roberts's arm condition.

Roberts, 39, who underwent arm surgery after last season, told Hatton he has had no pain since the National League baseball team began training last Monday.

"He has lost eight pounds and appears as healthy as he has ever been," Hatton continued. "With a healthy Roberts, we could have a pretty fair starting rotation with Roberts, Dick Farrell, Bob Bruce, Larry Dierker and either Claude Raymond or Dave Giusti."

Hatton said he also was impressed with Nate Colbert and Gregory Sims, "two youngsters whom we'll have to keep on the roster all season." Hatton said. "They both appear to have all the tools and may become more than 'excess baggage.'"

Colbert plays first base and Sims is an outfielder.

Library Notes

Imagine. Just 26 letters in the entire alphabet, but the combinations are endless. You'll find these letters arranged in ways to make you cry, giggle, love, hate, wonder, and understand in books from your Scurry County Library.

Some new books to choose from are. "Home Furnishing With Antiques" by F. Gordon Roe. This is a book filled with out-of-the-way information and with sensible advice thrown in on every other page. This book is for those who are seeking the pleasures of "creatively using antique things in a personal setting," and for the homemaker who is prepared to "mix it" - antiques, not-so-antiques and modern together.

Col. George Walton in "Wasted Generation" states that more than half of the young men called up by the Selective Service are so fat, maladjusted, or illiterate that they are rejected for military service. Out of every four youths summoned for the draft, two will pass—mostly because the standards have been lowered enough to accommodate their flabby bodies and unlettered minds. Of the other two out of four, one will flunk a relatively primitive intelligence test; the others will fail the physical examination.

Lauren Soth's "Embarrassment Of Plenty" is agrculture in affluent America; the family farm today - how it has evolved from the frontier. "Laugh a Day" by Bennett Cerf is a collection for anyone who wants to read a good story. It is a wonderful handbook - History, Animals, Sports, Professions, Religion, and the Military are just a few of the categories - for anyone who wants to tell a good story. This universally appealng assortment by a master humorist cannot help but make every day a laugh day. "Personalities of Language" by Gary Jennings, is a revealing book which focuses [illegible] human side of language - the unique "personality" of the sounds and symbols used by people around the world. The author traces language through its family trees and branches and shows how tongues, like people, are influenced by cultural and technological exchangs, wartime conquests and defeats, commerce, immigration, tourism, and in some cases, legislation.

Helen Adamson's "Grandmother in the Kitchen" is more than a cook book. Cooking in Grandmother's day was anything but easy, what with roasting on spits before open fireplaces, baking in brick ovens, boiling and stewing in huge copper kettles, stoking up the smoking monsters called Kitchen Ranges, and avoiding like the plague such refinements as "boughten" foods. Yet, in spite of all, Grandmother managed to set a table groaning with goodies, and her guests never failed to ask for seconds. How she did it is the subject of this delectable book.

Wigwam For Vacation

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A Wigwam has been contrived for white braves or brave whites, depending on your point of view and the number of small Indians who will share it.

Actually only 16 feet by 16 feet with bedrooms on a balcony, the Wigwam is a cozy little vacation home, the brain child of designer Ving Smith of New Rochelle, N. Y. It can be put up by two men in two days and the lightweight materials may be hauled in a trailer to the vacation spot.

"The Wigwam idea sort of mushroomed from a psychological feeling that it denotes a simple way of life, and the shape is sort of inevitable for the type of construction used," Smith explains.

The finished second home was exhibited by U.S. Rubber at a recent home furnishings show and the general idea is that it may be built for mass consumption at about $5,000 with kitchen, bath and fireplace.

It utilizes materials touted as care and maintenance free, withstands heat and cold, although if it were to be used as a ski lodge some sort of heating unit would be needed.

Exterior siding is a laminate, Royalite Tedlar with lightweight foam core insulation in modular panels 8 by 4 feet. Panels are decorated inside and out to help cut building costs. The interior wall covering is Naugahyde.

Below that upper structure are modular wall panels framed in aluminum, 4 feet by 6 feet 8 inches on tracks of a 10-foot header is attached to an aluminum 5-inch diameter pole. Four sliding panels are on each side of the house; corner panels remain stationery. Four aluminum poles that give the home its Wigwam shape are raised at the apex forming a cone with a sky dome.

A 20-foot model is on the drawing boards.

The outdoor entrance deck is covered in vinyl carpet that can be vacuumed, rained on, scrubbed.

A balcony for sleeping is reached by a ladder above the 6-foot compact kitchen and dinning area. Sky light-type windows provide light. Cabinets and closets along walls provide storage space.

The bathroom has a shower with a door of roman striped polyplastic. A Nue-Tone light and heat fixture is in the ceiling. A prefabricated fireplace is in the corner of the living room where a sofa becomes a double bed.

All materials, including upholstery and flooring, were chosen for their maintenance-fee factors.

Crusty Rolls

1 package active dry yeast
1¼ cups warm water
1½ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon each sugar and soft shortening
3¼ cups (about) unsifted regular flour
1 tablespoon white cornmeal
Glaze

In a large warm mixing bowl, dissolve the yeast in the warm water. Stir in salt, sugar, shortening and 2 cups of the flour; gradually stir in remaining flour, working with hands when necessary and adding enough flour to make an easily handled dough. Turn out on lightly floured board; knead 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl and turn to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm draftfree place until doubled — about 40 minutes. Punch down dough. Let rise again as previously until doubled — about 30 minutes. Punch down dough; turn out as before. Divide in half; form into two twelve - inch long rolls. Cut each roll into 6 equal pieces; form each into a ball; place on two large greased cookie sheets that have been greased and sprinkled with the cornmeal. Brush rolls with Glaze. Let rise as previously until doubled — about 1 hour. Brush again with Glaze. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven for 10 minutes. Remove from oven and brush again with Glaze. Return to oven and continue baking until golden brown — about 30 minutes. Makes 12 rolls.

GLAZE: In a small saucepan stir together until smooth 1 teaspoon each cornstarch and cold water; gradually stir in ½ cup boiling water; cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened; cool slightly before using as directed.

Slice radishes thin and marinate along with cucumber slices in French dressing. Serve as a relish with hamburgers for something different.

If you've never done any reupholstering and don't want to begin on a living room chair or sofa, you can safely get your experience on a kitchen chair. Not by sitting on it, but by replacing the padding and outer fabric on the seat.

Removal of the chair seat is simple. Usually it's merely a case of unscrewing the four corners underneath. Even when there is a different method of attachment a glance will show you how to get it off.

The seat is made of a piece of plywood, some padding and a covering. Strip off the padding and the material. Measure the seat (you can do this ahead of time if you wish-) and buy a piece of foam rubber half an inch larger on each side than the size of the seat. Get it anywhere from ½" to 2" thick, depending on how much padding you desire. Since foam rubber comes in different degrees of firmness or density, remember the fundamental: The thinner the foam, the denser it should be. In making the purchase, ask the dealer to cut the seat to size. If he can't do it for any reason—or wishes to make a charge not to your liking—don't despair. Foam up to 2" thick can be cut easily with stout kitchen shears.

Drill 10 or 12 holes in the plywood to allow the rubber to "breathe". Using ordinary muslin tacking tape, cement it all around the edge of the foam. After it has dried for about an hour, staple or tack the overhang to the underside of the seat. Incidentally, for any cementing with foam rubber, use rubber fabricating cement, the type found in most offices. (You can get Andy Lang's new booklet, "How To Use Foam Rubber," by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P. O. Box 945, Jamaica, N. Y. 11431.)

If you are using regular fabric iron it before putting it in place. This is not necessary with other types of coverings, such as plastic. Cover the foam with the fabric, drawing it tightly and stapling it in place underneath the seat. Screw the seat back on the frame and the job is over.

You can use very much the same procedure if the back of the kitchen chair needs reupholstering. And if you want the entire chair to have a new appearance, you can paint it apply a clear finish if it already has one, or just touch up nicks and scratches. Decide before you begin the project whether any of this will be necessary, as a good time to do it is when the seat and back are off the chair.

Incidentally, if the kitchen chair has legs which mar the floor, the rubber crutch tips available in most hardware stores can be placed at the bottoms of them to provide protection. They come in different sizes, so measure the diameter of the chair legs before going out to make the purchase.

Cuban Women Required To Do More For Revolution

By ISAAC M. FLORES

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban women continue to play a large part and bear a heavy burden in this, the eighth year of the Fidel Castro revolution.

Many of them work side by side with men in the fields and factories. They stand guard duty carrying rifles and wearing army uniforms and combat boots. They take military training. Many leave their children in special schools while they perform chores as members of neighborhood vigilante committees.

And they are continuously exhorted to do more for the revolution.

While some do so willingly, many are bitter at the changes brought about by communism. They miss the soft clothes, good shoes, perfumes, cosmetics and personal luxuries to which many were accustomed. Cuba once imported the best the United States had to offer.

"They've treated us badly," said a Cuban housewife who eight years ago was considered "middle class."

"One doesn't have to look too closely to see that," she continued, recalling that the revolution's leaders told them from the start: "Forget about stockings, lipstick and such things; the Cuban woman has to work hard now."

"We have worked hard. And we have suffered. But don't think we like it," she declared. She spoke for a large number of Cuban women who say they are tired of "sacrificing."

Though pretty clothes, stockings, cosmetics and similar items did not entirely disappear, shortages have made life difficult for the Cuban woman refusing to give up her femininity.

Most women's clothes are not rationed but the quality is poor and they are expensive. Women have little to select from; the fortunate ones are those who still have wearable clothes dating from the 1950s.

Old dresses and suits are retailored. Many women have learned, from necessity, to sew and make or remake their own clothes. A good seamstress is a prized friend and a popular figure.

Women claim that ordinary street clothes that used to cost 6-8 pesos now sell for 20, or 30 or more — beyond the means of a large number of housewives and working women. The material, a good part of it from Communist China, with some from Japan and Spain, is not good, they say.

Clothing is usually of Cuban manufacture since imports would use up dollars or foreign exchange earnings needed elsewhere.

Shoe craftsmanship and supply are poor. Even the government has admitted the fact and is seeking ways to improve the situation. Women who have prerevolutionary shoes of U.S. and Cuban make consider themselves lucky.

Each person is rationed to two pairs of shoes a year, plus a pair of canvas ones. When dressy high-heel shoes are available, they cost as much as 30 or 40 pesos; and women claim they are uncomfortable and hurt their feet.

Cometics are also Cuban products, "usable but inferior," said one young lady. Lipstick is sold only in the form of refills; there are no containers or tubes.

Some women use a mixture of water and sugar as hair lacquer, though such things are usually available in government-run beauty shops. Others go around with their hair smelling of potent Cuban beer, also utilized as a substitute for hair spray.

Because of a high-starch diet, Cuban women tend to spread around the middle, and girdles are much in demand. They were almost impossible to get until recently. Corsets are now coming on the market at a cost of 15 pesos and up, though the quality leaves much to be desired, according to women who wear them.

Some Fear Red China's Isolationism

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Red Chinese are doing a remarkable job of isolating themselves. There is fear that the more isolated they become, the more violently they are apt to oppose a search for negotiated peace in Southeast Asia. As some here view it, China's reverses make the dragon more dangerous all the time.

Peking has suffered setback after setback in areas important to its policies and ambitions. It has sustained painful political-diplomatic reverses in Asia, Africa and Latin America. Its maneuvers have been so clumsy and so inept as to make it seem the Chinese were almost deliberately intent on losing friends and influence.

As the process continues, Peking's propaganda reflects a determination to prevent the Soviet Union from re-establishing its influence in Communist North Viet Nam or from reaping any benefits from a negotiated peace in that area.

Moscow, evidently regarding the Viet Nam conflict as a threat to its own internal development program, seems preparing for an inevitable showdown in which — perhaps in the spring — Communist party leaders around the world will be obliged to stand up and be counted. Moscow has had considerable success in getting former dissidents back into line.

While the Russians appear to be winning in this contest for influence among revolutionaries in the underdeveloped world, this could be a mixed blessing for the United States. Moscow counsels that there are both violent and nonviolent ways to Communist power, but such a competition could impel it to support armed revolution in areas where it might consider the risk of its own deep involvement to be not too great.

In any event, Peking's insistence that it holds the only key to world revolution is rapidly piling up points for the Muscovites. Peking's blunders have culminated in such things as denunciation of China by Cuba's Fidel Castro — once an ardent admirer of the Chinese way — and an open clash with populous, strategic Indonesia, which not long ago heavily supported China's foreign policies.

It appears that Peking, in the event of a showdown with Moscow, can rely on the support only of the Japanese, New Zealand and Albanian Communist parties and a few odd splinter groups. It cannot rely wholly any more — as it once could — on support either from North Viet Nam or North Korea, where Soviet diplomacy and economic pressure have shown results.

A Junior Editors Quiz About ASTRONOMERS

QUESTION: How do astronomers know there are galaxies outside our own?

• • •

ANSWER: A galaxy is a huge grouping of stars. Until the 1920's, astronomers thought that all the objects in the sky were part of our own galaxy, the Milky Way. After many years of study and controversy, the experts had generally agreed on the size and shape of the Milky Way, but had no knowledge of what lay outside of it. Then, in the 1920's, the brilliant woman astronomer Henrietta Leavitt, studying certain stars which regularly grew brighter and dimmer, discovered a way to relate this change to the true brightness of the star and to use this brightness to estimate the distance. Finer telescopes were also being made. In 1923, Edwin P. Hubble, studying and photographing a mysterious hazy object with a new telescope, found it full of stars arranged in spiral shape as in our own galaxy. Applying Henrietta Leavitt's measurement scale, he found it nine times further away than the known length of our own galaxy—which proved it was far outside; it was a whole galaxy by itself, Andromeda. After this, various other ways were discovered to prove that enormous numbers of other galaxies lie outside the Milky Way.

FOR YOU TO DO: Try to learn the names of the constellations of stars you see in the sky. 2-19

Mrs. Tyer To Attend Austin Meet

The Board of Directors of the 30,000-member National Association for Practical Nurse Education and Service (NAPNES) released a statement today reproving the American Nurses' Association (ANA) for a published proposal which, if implemented, would virtually eliminate the services of almost one-third of a million licensed practical-vocational nurses now employed in the United States.

Any plan that would reduce the nurse supply, the NAPNES reply to the ANA explains, would "jeopardize our nation's health" and be against the public interest.' 'NAPNES points out that "Licensed practical nurses today are providing 75 per cent of the direct patient care (bedside nursing) to our country's ill and aged."

The National Association for Practical Nurse Educatio. and Service is opposing the ANA's "First Position on Education for Nursing" (American Journal of Nursing, December 1965, page 106) which would eliminate the one-year practical nurse training programs. Replacing them would be two-year or junior college courses to prepare "technical nurses."

According to a NAPNES spokesman, this unrealistic plan would create even more severe nursing shortages than now exist. With Medicare to take effect soon, larger numbers of licensed practical nurses will be needed to provide competent patient care. The ANA's two year program would elim nate many of these skilled practitioners and seriously curtail the supply of nurses.

The NAPNES statement pledges "continued efforts to help meet our national health needs by supporting, improving and expanding" the vocation of practical nursing.

Mrs. Rose G. Martin, R.N. of Elkins, West Virginia, president of the National Association for Practical Nurse Education and Service, oldest and largest of the nation's LPN organizations—said that the efforts include accrediting services to schools of practical nursing for improved quality of programs; providing workshops and institutes for all LPN'-LVNs throughout the United States; and working to interpret the expanding role of the licensed practical nurse to the public and to other health and governmental agencies.

The Licenses Vocational Nurses Association of Texas, headquarters 504 Littlefield Bldg., is an affiliate of NAPNES. Mrs. Marguerite Gailey, San Angelo, is the association president, Mrs. Jeanne West Austin, the executive secretary. Mrs. Marjorie Tyer is the president of Division number 50, Snyder, Texas and will attend the meeting.

Look Momma, Two Hands!

For many little girls drying dishes is a chore to get out of.

For 5 - year - old Linda Whitecotton any kitchen task is a delight if it requires the use of both hands. She had only one until last year.

The little blonde beauty of Baltimore, Md., was born a congenital amputee. She had no right hand, only useless knuckle-like bumps at the wrist. She does have a good left hand, and as a toddler, learned to use it with double - duty dexterity.

But because both hands are needed for so many things like dressing dolls or drying dishes, the simplist activity often became a frustrating trial for Linda.

"She'd work so hard to make one hand do the work of two, it was sometimes heartbreaking to watch," says her mother, Joan Whitecotton.

Because Robert Whitecotton, her father, was in military service when Linda was an infant, the family moved about the country. Whenever they sought help for Linda, they found themselves involved in a continuous debate about the advisability of providing her with an artificial hand.

"We couldn't get any agreement as to whether she should be fitted with a prosthetic device early or when she was older; or whether she should have a hook, which would be efficient, or a cosmetic hand which would look natural but might not work as well," Whitecotton recalls.

It was not until the family settled in Baltimore in 1964 that the parents learned of the March of Dimes program to help children with birth deefcts. A friend advised the father to contact the Baltimore County Chapter of the voluntary health organization which arranged for Linda to be seen immediately at the Birth Defects Center at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Within a short time, Linda was wearing a remarkably workable hand, gloves with life-like, flesh - tones plastic.

By moving her shoulder muscles under straps which activate the hand, the determined little girl can make her "new" fingers pick up, hold and release objects of almost any size. Naturally right - handed, she has learned to use the artificial device efficiently in feeding herself, coloring, and even for holding slippery wet dishes as she happily applies the towel.

"She figred out for herself how to expand the space between thumb and forefinger to grasp larger objects. I was sure she had broken a hinge," her father says, "but she knew what she was doing all along."

Proud of her new accomplishment, Linda is not at all reluctant to demonstrate her special hand to kindergarten classmates at Baltimore's Greenfield School.

"You often hear that children are cruel, but we've found that adults are more thoughtless in their reactions to Linda's handicap," her mother says. "Her playmates and her brothers and sister are straightforward in their curiosity, and Linda reacts just as matter - of - factly.

"But many adults notice the artificial hand with obvious shock, then try to make up for it with excessive and misplaced sympathy."

GOOD GRIP NOW . . . Linda Whitecotton, 5, uses her lifelike artificial right hand to help her mother, Mrs. Robert Whitecotton, do dishes.

Daisy's Sour Cream Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon each baking powder and baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 large eggs
1 carton (8 ounces) sour cream
Nut Mixture

On paper, sift together cake flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. In a large bowl, cream butter, sugar and vanilla; thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time. Stir in sifted dry ingredients in four additions, alternately with sour cream, just until smooth each time. Turn half the batter into a greased and floured 9 by 3 inch angel-food cake pan. Sprinkle half the Nut Mixture over the batter. Add remaining batter; sprinkle with remaining Nut Mixture. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out without any dough particles sticking to it — about 40 minutes. Allow cake in pan to rest on wire rack for 10 minutes; loosen sides and turn out.

Nut Mixture: Stir together ¼ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cinnamon and ¼ cup rotary-grated walnuts.

Trying European recipes? When you come on one calling for ammonium carbonate (instead of baking powder) buy the powdered variety at the drug store.

Some good cooks like to brush lamb chops (before they are broiled) with garlic - flavored salad oil. To prepare the oil, let it stand for several hours or overnight with a peeled and cut clove of garlic in it.

Greene Is Complex But Interesting

THE COMEDIANS. By Graham Greene.

Greene's novel is a story, a comment on faith and commitment, and a polemic.

The scene is Haiti, under the dictatorship of Duvalier. The narrator is a drifter named Brown, who thought he had found a haven in running a tourist hotel in Port-au-Prince — only to have the tourist business wiped out by the terror of the dictatorship. Brown's relationship with his mistress Martha, German - born wife of a South American diplomat; also has fallen upon uneasy days.

For contrast, there are the Smiths, a tightly laced couple who have arrived in Haiti from Wisconsin, to carry the crusade of vegetarianism to the heathen — quite laughable characters, except that they bear with grace the staunch faith of utter innocence.

But at the center of the narrative is Jones, who comes to Haiti because many other parts of the world are too hot for him — patiently a rogue and con man, not quite so patiently a faker and a liar, but also a fast talker who gets along because he has the gift of making people laugh. Jones is the joker in his own deck, who knows his glib post as a swank soldier of fortune has only a longshot chance to succeed.

Who are the committed characters in the story? Aside from the visiting Smiths, they are a Haitian doctor of Marxist intellectual stripe and a young, highly inexperienced insurgent.

Of course Greene's polemical ire is directed mainly at the dictatorship, but it also scores the United States as a blind supporter of any dictatorship which pretends to fight (often nonexistent) Communists.

As a story, the book both suffers and gains from the leisurely way that the British often exhibit, and contains some striking passages. As a social commentary it is obscure, and as a polemic it is a bit too heavy handed. The surprising thing is that with all these complications, it remains an interesting novel.

YOU CAN HEAR THE ECHO, by Mary King O'Donnell (Simon and Schuster, $4.95)

Novels based on the assassination of President Kennedy have not made their appearance in great quantity so far. But such a book is "You Can Hear the Echo," written by a former Texan.

The story concerns the reaction of a family with diverse political views in an unnamed Texas city of about 70,000.

The father is a letters-to-the-editor writer of great quantity, a rigid right-winger. His teenage son is a liberal and an admirer of Kennedy.

That should be ammunition enough for a problem, but then there is a Communist family on the block, a step-mother who married only to become a housekeeper, a retarded child and a troublemaking grandfather in a wheel chair.

The author somehow, out of this collection of differing people, seems to compile just about every known reaction, known or suspected, to the killing of the President.

"At times, it seems, she simply is rewriting any newspaper published on those Nov. 22 and Nov. 24 days. It is a weakness in that the actual events are told with too little of a novelist's license.

Some day the book may be priceless as a fictional but largely authentic description of the irrational way some persons acted and thought in those history making days.

The book suffers from failure to state the problem early and clearly, although you can find it there in retrospect.

The author, the publishers report, was born and reared in a small Texas city, not specified. She attended the University of Texas and now lives in San Francisco. One of her previous books won the Houghton Mifflin Fiction Fellowship Award of 1941 and another was a Literary Guild selection.

'Tidbits From Abroad' – Tempura

TOKYO (AP)—Tempura is one of the most famous dishes in Japanese cooking. For it seafood, fish and vegetables are encased in a batter and come out of the frying kettle with a crisp and golden coating.

TEMPURA

Large shrimp
Whole small white-fleshed fish, cleaned and boned
Fresh mushrooms
Green onions (scallions)
Carrots
Eggplant
Green peper
Oil for deep-frying
Egg
Chilled water
Flour
Soy Sauce
Lemon juice
Cooked rice

Shell and devein shrimp making sure to leave on the tails. Slit each shrimp lengthwise along the back without cutting all the way through; open flat, butterfly style.

Slice the fish crosswise. If you like, you may use fish fillets and cut them into bite-size pieces.

Wipe mushrooms with a damp cloth; if stems are long, cut as short as caps.

Remove root ends from scallions; cut into 2-inch lengths.

Pare carrots and cut into thin strips.

If baby (miniature size) eggplant is available, use it and leave unpared; slice each in half lengthwise, then remove seeds. Or use a regular size eggplant and leave unpared; slice, then cut into wide strips.

Remove seeds and membranes from green pepper; cut into strips.

Heat oil to 350 to 400 degrees. (Sesame seed oil is suggested; you may use a substitute, but it will not give so tasty a flavor.)

Combine 1 egg and 1 cup chilled water. Fold in 1 cup sifted flour; batter should not be smooth. (Do not make great quantities of this batter; prepare only this amount as needed.)

Dip the shrimp, fish slices, mushrooms, green onion, carrot, eggplant and green pepper in flour, then in batter. Fry in hot oil for 4 minutes or until coating is golden brown.

Serve at once with a dip of lemon-flavored soy sauce. Accompany with hot cooked rice.

Allow 2 to 3 portions of each of the ingredients for each person to be served.

1. MAKING TEMPURA — Get ready the shrimp, fish and vegetables and prepare the batter.

2. TEMPURA tastes so good straight from the kettle.

3. RUSH individual servings to the table with a dip of lemon-flavored soy sauce and a bowl of rice.

Lots of parsley in the refrigerator? While it is still green and fresh, mince a good portion of it and add to a tossed salad, to cooked buttered rice of noodles or to a sandwich filling.

Lieb's One Of Area's Pioneers

Alfred S. Lieb, owner and operator of Lieb's Super Market, is one of the Big Spring Highway area's pioneer businessmen.

He entered business in that area in October, 1950. Lieb constructed a new building at the present location in 1955 as his ever increasing popularity demanded it. The new building gave him much needed parking space of which he now has an abundance.

Lieb's store has continued to expand through the years. In addition to one of the most complete lines of groceries in this area, he has a drug department and a dry goods department.

His market, managed by L. A. Scott, is chock full of good fresh meats at all times. Lieb's handles Gooch's meats primarily, but Scott has a couple of specialities of which he is justly proud, barbecue and market-made sausage.

In Lieb's expansion program he has added a well - known area - manufactured product, Cactus paints, which are made in Big Spring. Such paint accessories as brushes, rollers, etc, are also carried. Lieb says his paint business has increased remarkably over the years.

Besides his wide variety of merchandise, Lieb's also offer Gift Bond stamps and seven day service. His hours are from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.

As an added feature, this year Lieb has installed refrigerated air conditioning for greater customer comfort.

Star To Tour Texas

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Comedian-violinist Jack Benny will conclude a three-stop Texas tour with a "Benny-fit" concert here Thursday.

Benny will appear with the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra to assist in raising funds for the orchestra's development. He will perform in Houston Sunday and Corpus Christi Tuesday.

In the last 10 years the perpetually 39-year-old penny-pincher has helped raise $4 million for symphony orchestras throughout the nation. The $4 million mark was reached in a concert at Tampa, Fla., several weeks ago.

The orchestra under the direction of Ezra Rachlin will open the program here and Benny will appear for an hour- and 15-minute stint following the intermission.

A black-tie champagne party will honor the comedian following the concert.

Nightly wagering on the 1965 winter-spring harness racing session at Yonkers, N.Y., Raceway averaged $2,179,984.

Trial Of Writers Spotlights Soviet Literary Struggle

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP) The trial of two Soviet writers was only one sign of the situation on the Soviet literary scene. Other signs point in different directions. The path is sticky but not Stalinist.

Apprehension in Soviet intellectual circles over the meaning of the trial of Andrei D. Sinyavsky and Yuli M. Daniel showed that this is a time for Soviet writers and artists to be careful.

But the struggle which has been going on for years between liberals and Stalinists on the cultural front continues despite the stiff sentences — seven and five years — given the two writers.

There are indications that the liberals are holding their own. One such indication is the rising circulation of the youth magazine Yunost despite criticism from Communist party bosses of its sometimes irreverent attitude.

Under Joseph Stalin all 'literature" published here had to follow the approved line of "socialist realism." The heroes had to be truly heroic characters working unstintingly fo. communism.

Intellectuals whose artistic creations offended Stalin sometimes disappeared. Only in recent years have their deaths been admitted. The world did not get even the censored versions of trials on them that has come out on Sinyavsky and Daniel.

Now it is possible for writers to get into print with characters who show the more troubled, unhappy side of Soviet life.

Sinyavsky and Daniel, publishing abroad under the names Abram Tertz and Nikolai arzhak, pushed this much farther than anything which has been published here. Their works questioned the very nature of Soviet society.

Between their extreme and the Stalinist stuffiness of Soviet culture, considerable room for maneuver exists.

It permits realistic, and therefore not very flattering, depictions of many aspects of life in this 49th year of Bolshevism.

Skirmishing over this limited freedom of expression goes on in the Soviet press.

Izvestia, the government newspaper, and Literary Gazette, the paper of the writers' union, have taken the hard line that only sweetness and light should be shown. The most influential paper, the party organ Pravda, has supported limited realism.

MEXICO CITY—Winter, that gorgeous season, is everywhere. Right now! In a few days it may be Eternal Spring again.

There was this front of weather which collided with something. Result, snow in the mountains around town. The city folks turned out like at a circus to see the winter wonderland.

Mr. Pete Camero of Connecticut put on his skiing equipment and gave a demonstration. The local ladies and gentlemen watched and applauded.

A couple of sports minded fellows tried it with water skis. They had to be dug out while the crowd died laughing.

The city is pleasant with sunny days and brisk nights. Apparently, the weatherman has read tourist bulletins and he keeps snow up in the mountains away from the trade.

And the sun tanned visitors from Acapulco hit town and wonder what in the world has happened to weather.

DOWN IN SUNNY CUERNAVACA, Miss Barbara Hutton has the cops chasing a set of burglars. Somebody busted into her Japanese style mansion and lifted a bundle of dollars, pesos and jewelry.

In one journal, they got away with two million dollars. In another, it was 2.5 million pesos. Take your pick.

Miss Hutton, or Princess Chao Doan (her latest) is irked about this situation and has offered a $10,000 U.S. reward for the capture of the culprits.

Ten grand is not much incentive for a man with two million (dollars or pesos) to turn himself in. But maybe it has been a tough winter in Cuernavaca.

Wonder what the poor folks are doing this year?

AN AUTOMOBILE MAN here in the city struck out with the coppers. Mr. Roberto Luna had a passtime of collecting cars. Stripping them down and selling the parts.

He had another weakness, too. "I don't know what happens to me," he told police. "But every time I steal a car I want to go to a baseball game."

During baseball season Mr. Luna averaged a car a week. Drove over to the park and cheered his team on to victory.

With the season over, his luck ran out. The law snared him in a missing 1966 model the other day. Don Roberto confessed. And it appears he will miss the 1966 season unless somebody donates him a television set. (Maybe he collected those, too.)

THE - ON - AND - OFF QUESTION of a monorail for México City is on again. City fathers are trying to figure a means of moving people around without clogging the streets with more buses and taxis.

The monorail idea cropped up after a subway idea was discarded. Then the monorail was discarded because it would cost too much. Then it was reconsidered. And discarded again.

Some monorail folks are in town discussing the matter with the proper authorities. They have built these oddball trains in several cities and claim it is prime transportation.

The authorities are listening hard this time. And the monorails state they can build an apparatus which will move 90,000 passengers an hour. Or maybe it was one passenger 90,000 miles an hour.

I have a terrible memory for anything over $2.35.

Never A Dull Moment With Versatile American Flyers

(Editors note: Once labeled the world's wackiest airline, American Flyers goes where the action is. It has hustled Beatles from coast to coast, flown refugees out of Cuba and carried civil rights workers into the Deep South. And suddenly it's become a leader in the charter airline field.)

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH (AP)— Be it beatles or bulls, nudists or nuns, the jingle of a telephone signals either crisis or challenge for one of the world's liveliest airlines.

"We face a different problem each day," said Mrs. Ruby Hickman, the trim, attractive, dark-haired publicity officer of American Flyers.

"You just can't imagine the unusual sort of things we get involved in."

As a starter she mentioned two American tours with the mop-topped Beatles, a Caribbean nudist venture, civil rights flights into Alabama and a Cuban airlift into Miami.

She tossed in a Hollywood movie colony, an Oregon flood, a New York-to-Florida wedding party, a presidential campaign and the Notre Dame football team.

And would you believe sabotage?

"There's never a dull moment," smiled Ruby, whose aerial adventures with the Beatles earned her the nickname "Mama Beatle."

But despite the madcap experiences, the past 27 years have seen American Flyers grow from an obscure charter service into a leader in the supplemental airline industry.

Nothing reflects success like money, and American Flyers expects to double this year the $25 million business it did in 1965.

"As I learned a long time ago, you've got to keep moving," said Reed Pigman, the aviation wizard who founded the airline in 1939 with a five-passenger Spartan executive airplane.

"In the aviation business you don't stand still."

Pigman, 59, short, serious and cordial, also established a school at Meacham Field in Fort Worth for limited flight instruction. This idea snowballed into what today is the largest civilian pilot training school anywhere.

Known world wide as the American Flyers Airline Pilots Training School, the facility, since shifted to Ardmore, Okla., has produced more than 25,000 pilots, many from foreign countries.

"American Flyers graduates are employed on every airline in the Free World with two or more airplanes," Pigman said.

Pigman's concepts in charter service also aroused international enthusiasm, and American Flyers sales offices spread into foreign countries.

The company currently maintains offices in Toronto, London, Fort Worth, Ardmore, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Dallas, Houston, Washington and New York.

The fleet of aircraft includes DC3s, Constellations, Super Constellations and prop-jet Electras. At a purchase and operational cost of $9 million, Pigman also has ordered a new Boeing 707-320F.

The new jet, he said, has a range of 5,000 miles and seats for 188 passengers.

Despite its widespread operations and frequently zany customers, American Flyers was not generally familiar to the public until a recent incident at the huge maintenance base at Ardmore.

The FBI disclosed it was investigating reports of industrial sabotage there and later filed charges against one of the airline's mechanics.

A company spokesman said sugar turned up in engines of the Super Constellations, used primarily for troop movement, and on occasion an engine would fail in flight.

"Actually, safety was not involved," Mrs. Hickman asserted. "The planes can operate okay on three engines. It was more a financial than safety matter because of engine overhaul and replacement."

Drilling Upswing Waits On Prices

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—The nation's oil drilling contractors were told this week they cannot expect much of an upward swing in drilling trends until crude oil prices improve.

"Drilling will show immediate gains when—and if—higher crude oil prices are posted," said Warren L. Baker, executive vice president of the American Association of Oil Well Drilling Contractors.

Baker said, however, prospects for such price hikes are not bright.

New well completions last year totaled only 41,423, compared to 45,236 in 1964 and a record 58,160 in 1956.

Baker said the chief cause for the continued decline in drilling is insufficient producer profitability prospects, a result of a steady erosion of crude oil prices since early 1957.

"Historically, crude oil prices have a greater influence on drilling rates than any other single factor," he said.

"Drilling invariably drops when crude prices fall, and rise when crude prices improve."

Baker said prospects for improved crude prices are not good even though several encouraging trends have been developing in recent months within the producig segment of the industry.

"The normal influence of these factors is overridden by government opposition to price increases and uncertainty regarding the duration of the Viet Nam war," he said.

Baker made his observations in a bi-monthly report to contractors who drilled 96 per cent of the wells completed last year.

He said crude oil is in tight supply for the first time in many years even though domestic crude producing rates have advanced to record levels.

"Crude oil stocks at the end of 1965 were at a 44-year low," he said. "Such conditions normally would cause drilling rates to advance. Instead, 1965 saw a further substantial decrease in already severely depressed drilling levels."

"However, the chief ingredient in the producer profitability picture—better crude oil prices—still is missing," Baker said.

"Recent Midwest crude price increases are the first step toward supplying this important ingredient, but too nominal and too limited in scope to be more than a regional influence of drilling activities."

Baker minimized a widespread belief a trend toward greater use of wider well spacing has been the price factor for the continued decline in drilling activity.

"Statistics do not bear out this contention," he said. "U.S. exploratory drilling has declined more than field development drilling. If wider well spacing were such a significant drilling factor, field development wells would show a larger decrease than exploratory drilling."

Exploratory wells drilled in unproven areas in 1965 were 10.7 per cent below 1964. Field development wells declined only 7.8 per cent.

"Since the 1956 peak exploratory drilling has declined 36.6 per cent while field development drilling has declined but 26.5 per cent," Baker said.

Man Believed Killed While Hitching Ride

HOUSTON (AP) — A shabbily dressed man apparently fell to his death Friday while hitching a ride on a truck, and police said his pockets contained $1,141.

They tentatively identified him from papers found on the body as Felix Merced Vasquez. Officers also found a New York City to Houston train ticket stub.

The man was found crushed to death at an intersection near some railroad tracks. Witnesses saw a man clinging to the undercarriage of a tank truck earlier but no one saw Vasquez fall from the truck.

Missing Man's Body Found Near Lake

SAN BENITO, Tex. (AP) — The body of James De Witt Dillard, 20, missing since June 15 1965, was found on the bank of a small lake near here Friday.

Dillard went to San Antonio to take his selective service physical and had not been seen since.

Dallas To Get New City Buses

DALLAS (AP) — City bus authorities promise that new transit vehicles will be obtained very quickly. This came after the federal government approved an $8 million grant recently.

E. O. Cartwright, chairman of the transit board, said, "The bus specifications have been drawn up for some time. The entire program will be pushed with all possible speed."

The transit system hopes to buy 310 new buses to make its entire fleet modern.

For the 1965 season the Kansas City Athletics drew 528,264 fans, lowest of any team in the major leagues.

Plumbing Firm Is Area Mainstay

McKinley Plumbing Co., has been one of the mainstays of the Big Spring Highway for over 11 years. Herbert McKinley, owner of the firm, has based his business on the theme, "give the customers what they want," and, it has certainly proved successful.

Dripping faucets, leaky drains, stopped up sewers, a commode that isn't working just right can all be annoyances that are out of all proportion to the time and expense it takes to have them repaired correctly by a professional.

Even though McKinley is a Master Plumber he realizes how important these small repairs are to the householder and is glad to furnish this repair service.

Of course they also do large contracting jobs, but the firm's good name and reputation have been built largely on the repair and remodeling work they do.

McKinley stocks the merchandise in his shop that the people of this area, through the years, have shown they want. One of the most frequent problems facing the householder is the need to replace a hot water heater. McKinley plumbing recommends and installs the Standard American glass lined heater. "In over 16 years of our doing business in Snyder," McKinley said, "we have yet to replace a Standard American before the 10 year warranty expired."

If the customer is one who likes to do his own work, not only will McKinley furnish the needed materials for the job, but will cheerfully give information on how to do it. They are glad to help in any way that they can. Free estimates on any job are also cheerfully given.
