Alcorn Says Rural Areas Had Nothing To Do With How Legislature Operates

Editor's note: Achin Alcorn, philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sulphur apparently has found out about the latest Supreme Court ruling, his letter indicates.

Dear Editor: I'm not going to argue with the Supreme Court—it's like arguing with a woman, you don't get anywhere, even when you're right—but there was something in the newspapers about the results of the recent decision on redistricting that I want to clear up.

As you know, the Supreme Court says state senators have to follow the same rule as state lower houses, base its membership on population, not on geography.

In reporting this, the newspapers said that city people would be pleased with the decision, that for years the rural areas have held the upper hand in state legislatures.

This is outrageous. They're not going to pin the blame on us country folks. Whatever the state legislature has done in the years past, it was entirely out of my hands. Most of the time I didn't even know about it till it was done. I had nothing to do with it.

Let 'em go ahead and redistrict.

Rev. Dunnam To Organize Church

Organizational efforts to form a new Methodist Church at Mt. Pleasant have begun with the arrival of Rev. Haral Dunnam, who will pastor the new congregation.

Area Students On ETSC Dean's List

Three hundred and thirty-seven East Texas State College students have been named to the Dean's List for high grades made during the spring semester.

This honor roll includes the names of all undergraduates who are registered for a full load of at least 15 semester hours and who made slightly better than a "B" average. Students carrying less than a full load are not included.

Students named to the Dean's List included:

From Red River County — Linda Gay Adams, Detroit; Betty M. Hardee and Robbie Lee House, Clarksville; Jerry Ward Hutson, Bogata.

From Titus County — Joe Edwin Borden and William D. Perdue, Talco; Ollie Jean Green, Mt. Pleasant.

Austin.—U. S. Supreme Court's decision ordering both houses of state legislatures be selected on strict population basis will have a far-reaching effect on the Texas Legislature, particularly the Senate.

In the upper house, no county presently is entitled, by the Texas Constitution, to more than one senator. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith noted that under the new ruling five of the heaviest populated counties would be entitled to 12 of the 31 state senate seats, leaving 19 senators for the other 249 counties. This would create some senatorial districts 300 miles wide. Senate districts now vary from 147,454 to 1,200,000 population.

"The high court's laudable aim of equal representation for all citizens cannot be maintained in such circumstances," the lieutenant governor said. "Equality will be theoretical only. No senator could serve such a great area as adequately as three or four senators (or even one) can serve a single county."

Lt. Gov. Smith promised to ask other lieutenant governors to petition Congress for a review and "practical relief." A similar resolution may be brought before presiding officers of House of Representatives by Texas House Speaker Byron Tunnell. However, it is doubtful how Congress could intervene except by submitting a constitutional amendment spelling out authority for states to have real bicameral (two-house) legislatures if they want to.

A Texas legislative committee already is at work determining how best to comply with a prior Supreme Court decision ordering congressional districts be formed on the basis of population only. Its work may be expanded to include a look at legislative districts as well.

OIL PRODUCTION ROLLED BACK — July oil production will be cut back to the lowest level since March, 1963, by order of Texas Railroad Commission.

In response to purchasing forecasts by 13 major companies, the Commission set July maximum production at 27 per cent potential, or 2,788,685 barrels daily, compared with the present 2-

845,571 barrels.

Presidents of five Texas producers associations declared the decision, "regrettable," and said it would hamper attempts to get the U. S. Congress to effect a "very substantial reduction" in oil imports.

Commissioners also scheduled a July 16 hearing on the 1947 yardstick for fixing oil field allowances.

HIGHWAYS — Texas highways are now valued at $4,500,000,000, Chairman Herbert C. Petry Jr. of the Highway Commission announced.

Petry said every effort must be made to maintain a balanced system of highways, from the farm-to-market roads to the interstate highways, to serve all sorts of traffic.

TAX REVISION RECOMMENDED — Texas Research League proposes the state's unemployment compensation tax on employers be more closely related to benefits paid former employees.

Benefit payments to unemployed have exceeded revenue for five of the last six years, a League study for Texas Employment Commission shows. However, the Texas Trust Fund, from which payments are made, cannot go broke, because a surtax is imposed on all taxpayers any time the fund drops below $225,000,000 on October 1.

League recommends extending "experience rating" of employers to lessen the threat of having a flat rate surtax applied.

TOURIST RECORD SET — Large Texas cities attracted a majority of the record-breaking number of tourists who visited the state in 1963, Texas Highway Department reported.

Out-of-state visitors totaled 11,700,000, some 26 per cent over the previous year. They spent $532,200,000 to show a 12.8 per cent increase over 1962.

Dallas was the stated destination of some 15.8 per cent, while 14.1 per cent were heading for Houston-Pasadena; El Paso drew 9.8 per cent and San Antonio 9.6 per cent.

Highway Department recently released this information in a colorful 16-page brochure available to the public. The booklet

Four Night Rodeo Underway Bogata

Bogata's four night rodeo got underway Wednesday with a horse parade downtown at 4 p. m. Many spectators were on hand to see approximately 170 horses, some with more than one rider. A Texas Department of Public Safety car, driven by an official, led the parade. Bogata School Band followed. Jessie and Jackie Gray were local standard bearers. Members of Mt. Vernon Riding Club participated, riding under their own standards. Some of the group remained for the grand entry.

Attendance was reported as "good" at the first night's show by a spokesman for Bogata Rodeo Association, and business was flourishing at the new concession stand. It is operated by vo-ag. department of Bogata School and the Band Boosters.

Cowboys making highest score in first night performances were Jerry Bob Hansen of Fort Smith, Ark., with 9.6 in calf roping; Ed Bourguin of Gladewater, bareback riding; Red Duffin of Ada, Ok., with 5 in dogging; Ben Jordan of Smithville, Ark., who finished first in bareback riding last year in the Bogata rodeo, was high man in bull riding Wednesday night.

Donna Ann Rozell of Bogata, was first in ladies barrel racing with a 17.3 score. The pig scramble was a success and three belt buckles were awarded. Doing a good "clowning" job and protecting the cowboys from the bulls were Tennessee's Lecile Harris, and "Little John" Ward from Coalgate, Ok.

The annual Bogata rodeo is approved by the International Rodeo Association and stock is furnished by Clyde Crenshaw of Hawthorth, Ok., who has produced shows in this area for several years. Rodeo officials and other western fans are looking forward to three more thrilling shows this week.

SCHOOL RULING — School boards have the right to make rules about students' clothing, State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar ruled in an appeal against an Andrews school board policy.

Mrs. Kenneth King of Andrews made the appeal which led to the ruling. Mrs. King contended that her third grade daughter, Vickie, should wear trousers to school to protect her health.

In upholding the school board, however, Edgar advised that the policy be clarified, and that clear provisions be adopted so the clothing regulation could be suspended for a student whose doctor prescribed trousers for medical reasons.

COMMISSION STUDIES PLAN TO BEEF-U PINDUSTRY — Texas Industrial Commission and the Agriculture Economics Department of Texas Tech have made a contract to study the feasibility of increasing the meat packing industry in Texas, with the hopes a solution can be found to alleviate beef import problems faced by Texas producers.

Findings will be available in the fall of 1965.

CIVIL SERVICE SCHOOLS — Austin Postmaster Oliver Bruck advised the public against paying fees to civil service schools. It costs nothing to compete in civil service examinations, he said.

There is no school operated in connection with civil service by the Federal government, and no school is given advance information which is not available to the public without cost, Bruck stressed.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas is working on a plan to increase park acreage seven times in 35 years, according to W. M. Gosdin, assistant parks director.

Texas Constitution Party representatives held a closed door meeting with the executive secretary to Alabama Gov. George Wallace, giving rise to some speculation the party may support Wallace for presidential nomination.

C. C. McNeil ETCC Representative

C. C. McNeil, Humble Oil & Refining Co. manager, has been appointed to a one-year term as the official representative of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce for Talco, according to Robert P. Green, M. D., East Texas Chamber of Commerce president.

"As our community representative, I feel that McNeil is exceptionally well qualified to fill this post, and I know his services will result in closer cooperation between Talco and the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, as well as between Talco and the sister communities surrounding it," Dr. Green stated.

"If we are to maintain our prosperous economic conditions and develop our great state, then we must join forces in creating an example for all to follow. We must band together in a united voice to develop our area in industrial development, tourism, agriculture, education, forestry, highways, governmental affairs, labor relations, water conservation, and community development," Dr. Green further stated.

As an official representative for the regional chamber in Talco, McNeil will be in a position to offer the services of the regional organization to the local community, and will from time to time assist in keeping the general public informed as to the East Texas Chamber of Commerce "Plan of Action" for the area.

The East Texas Chamber of Commerce serves an area from the Red River to the Gulf Coast and an area bounded by a line from Sherman, Waco, and Austin back to the Louisiana border, thus serving seventy-one East Texas Counties and Caddo Parish, Louisiana. The organization has had a far-reaching impact in its 38-year history upon the economy of the area through its hard-hitting programs.

Hoyt Taylor returned from Marion, O., where he is employed, and spent last week in Talco. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and sons, Scottie, David and Timmie, left last week for Marion, where they will reside.

Two Asphyxiated; Girl Buried At Bridges Chapel

The bodies of Miss Elizabeth Steele, 17, and her fiancé, George Jahos, were found in an automobile which was parked on a road between Dickinson and League City.

According to information received here, the air-conditioner was on when the bodies were found. The coroner ruled that the deaths were accidental and that they were asphyxiated by carbon monoxide gas.

Miss Steele, who was born Dec. 3, 1946, was the daughter of Jess and Nina (Smith) Steele of Dickinson, former Titus County residents. She would have been a senior in Dickinson High School, where she was head twirler with the high school band, was an honor student and chosen Student of the Month for May.

Miss Steele, who was the granddaughter of Mrs. J. W. Smith, had visited here often. She is survived by her parents, one sister, Marilyn, grandmothers, Mrs. Lucy Steele of Mt. Pleasant and Mrs. Smith, here.

Mr. Jahos, who was a college student, was employed for the summer in Texas City.

FISHING LINES

By DICK WOLFF

Many a World War II veteran wouldn't be taking his kids fishing today had it not been for a walkie-talkie. Fighting men used it to tell each other where the enemy was and where their machine guns and anti-tank weapons were dug in. But like other war-developed ordnance, the old walkie-talkie has switched to civilian dress and today is helping fishermen enjoy their favorite pastime even more. Here's the story:

Dr. Phil Grant, companion of many fish-fall and some fish-less weekends, showed me how the walkie-talkie helps fishermen. On Chesapeake Bay, about an hour's drive from Grant's home in Bethesda, Md., is some of the finest striped bass fishing in the country. When you find them, the going is hot and heavy. On good days Grant and I have hooked, netted, and released as many as 30 each. These strippers run as big as ten pounds and average at least five or six. But the trick always is to find the strippers, which are known to move from location to location.

Grant and about a dozen of his fishing friends carry with them small compact walkie-talkies, weighing about a pound and no bigger than a transistor radio. All agreed that the first to get a strike will announce the location immediately. Sure enough, Grant and I hardly pushed off from the dock when a call came in. We gunned the outboard in the direction of the strike. When we arrived three other boats were there, two with fish on. We joined the attack, dishing up Garcia Belets and a new plastic minnow called Luster Lure to begin a good day.

Seeing how Grant's fish network operated, last month I bought one of my own, called a Magnavox Citizens Band Transceiver. Transceiver refers to the fact you send and receive with the same small unit. Next morning, I flew off to nail a brace or two of the "Bush Country's" famed red trout. At Lac du Canard Noir, Sasha, the Indian guide so-named by the Russian trapper who raised him, and I headed north with one Transceiver while Big Jim Kustka, well-known Quebec sportsman, paddled south with the other canoe. I instructed Sasha to call Kustka at the first sign of trout.

This crisp spring morning the "Lac" were a lacy fringe of ice. In a few hours the bright sun would return the sparkling ice to a gin-clear liquid state. The water during this transient time of year is extremely cold, in fact cold enough to make the normally voracious trout somewhat choosy at mealtime.

We cast out at least a dozen different lures, none working until an Abu Reflex spinner was presented. The indifferent trout came to life and surged into practically every cast. "Sasha," I insisted, "give Kustka the word. Switch to the Abu Reflex."

Later, back at camp I held out three 20-inchers to Kustka who grunted something like "bait fish." Later I looked into his fragile birch canoe to behold a magnificent nine-pound native brook trout — a victim of the Abu Reflex and the electronic age.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday at 2:30 at Tension Memorial Methodist Church for Mrs. Paul Arthur of Mt. Pleasant.

Mrs. Jimmy Sloan and Brook of Commerce, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sloan, while Mr. Sloan is at Ft. Hood for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bonham, Mrs. C. E. Jones and Mrs. R. R. Kelley visited V. P. Gibson, patient at Titus County Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ney A. Blackburn of Dallas, spent the week end here with Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Blackburn and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith.

Mrs. Coy Bennett of Saltillo, visited Mrs. B. L. Gieger, Tuesday. Mrs. Bennett, the former Faye Wagner, taught in Talco in the 1920's.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Mewborn, who have been here with her brother, V. P. Gibson, have returned here after spending a few days at their home in Longview.

Mrs. Frank Sloan and Mrs. W. R. Shaw attended a kitchen shower Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Frank Marshall in Mt. Pleasant for Miss Nancy Harlan.

A son was born June 20 to Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Thompson of the Wilkinson community at Titus County Memorial Hospital. He weighed 7 lbs. 13 1/2 ozs. and was named Steven Roy.

Brashier Smith and Ted Gowdy of Canton, Miss., and James Stewart of Norman, Ok., camped at Lake O' the Pines from Sunday until Wednesday. The three young men served together on the U. S. Navy Carrier the Valley Forge, at Norfolk, Va., in 1957 and 1958. They have visited each other once a year since that time.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Neeley Sunday were their daughters and their families, Mrs. B. W. Watkins, Don and David of White Oak, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Simpson, Glenda and Stevie of Longview.
