War With Mexico.

Don't forget that in a war with Mexico, the plain common people of the United States will shoot down the plain, common people of Mexico. Not much different to taking down your gun and shooting your poverty-stricken, uneducated neighbor around the corner.

Where's the glory?

Don't forget that the fellows who are shrieking for war are not going to fight. The men who will have to fight fevers, smallpox, jungle horrors and the poor, downtrodden peons down in Mexico are our own boys of the mill and shop and field.

You'll find no plutocrats, politicians or warlike newspaper
editors on the firing line!—Austin

One by One They Fall.

If by any stretch of the imagination or mixing of metaphor anti-prohibition candidates for governor may be spoken of as roses, we might epitomize recent happenings in the ranks of the antis by saying with the poet:
"One by one the roses fall."

Early last fall Hon. Chester Terrell of San Antonio became a candidate for governor, declaring that "prohibition was not an issue in the campaign." Later he discovered that prohibition was an issue in the campaign and that he was on the losing side, and he dropped out.

Senator John G. Willacy, also an anti, announced himself a candidate on a platform calling for the "elimination of prohibition." He soon learned that prohibition could not be eliminated and gracefully eliminated himself.

Hon. W. A. Hanger of Fort Worth, put himself in the race and called on all who wanted to
"sidetrack prohibition" to rally under his banner. The people declined to rally and Mr. Hanger took himself out of the race.

Hon. Clarence Owsley of Fort Worth, was brought into the field by his friends to "overshadow prohibition." He failed, and gracefully stepped aside.

Hon. Sam Sparks of Austin, danced into the ring to the tune of "down with the prohibition issue," discovered that he had made a mistake and danced out again.

A round dozen other antis who had dreamed that prohibition sentiment waning played the roll of receptive candidates long enough to discover their error and drew back without making formal announcement.

Hon. James E. Ferguson of Temple, the author of the plan to put an end to prohibition agitation by vetoing all liquor legislation, quietly projected himself into the campaign, and now blooms alone in the anti prohibition garden.

Mr. Ferguson will wither in the springtime and fall in July.

Airless tires are being put to the

The sellers say to run goats in.
A. C. Schreiner also purchased a car of the same kind to be made into a delivery truck for the Chas. Schreiner Company.
Mr. Wm. Sporn also bought a five passenger ford with the air-less tires, to use on the mellisa

OFFICIAL PROGRAM of FIESTA SAN JACINTO

APRIL 20 to 25, Inclusive

April 20-25, inclusive, Adopted April 1, 1914.

The Fiesta San Jacinto and Battle of Flowers, the great patriotic celebration of Texas' Independence, will take place in San Antonio April 20-25, 1914. New and interesting features have been added this year, and there will be amusement features for all kinds of people every hour in the day and up to 11 o'clock at night. Kline's famous carnival shows will show night and day on the plazas. These shows have been the features at Dallas State Fair, the Illinois State Fair and other big attractions throughout the country, and are the best of the kind to be had. Thrilling free acts will be shown afternoon and evening on Alamo and Main Plazas. "Daredevil" Schreyer will make a death-defying dash from a height of eighty feet on a bicycle and dive into a tank of water. The Mexican Village will be open every day and evening on Haymarket Plaza and will be an interesting exhibition of Mexican customs. Band concerts and other attractions will make up a week of continuous performance throughout the week.

Railroad Rates.

Most attractive railroad rates have been granted by the terminal lines entering San Antonio for the 1914 Fiesta and they are probably more liberal than in many past years.

The usual convention rate of a fare and a third from points 50 miles or less from San Antonio, and a fare and a fifth from points beyond 50 miles, will be on sale for the entire week, beginning April 19 and running to April 25, with return limit to April 26.

Two "Three-Days Popular Excursion" rates have also been arranged, the rates being less than one fare for the round trip.

Tickets for the first of these will be on sale for night trains of April 20 and morning trains of April 21, limited to return on night trains of April 22.

Tickets for the second will be on sale for night trains of April 23 and morning trains of April 24, limited to return on night trains of April 26.

Rates for these excursions are figured on a basis of 75 per cent of one-way fares from points within 150 miles of San Antonio, and 65-75 per cent of one-way fares from all points beyond the 150-mile radius.

Monday, April 20.

Triumphal entry of the King of the Fiesta will take place at 7:30 p. m. His Majesty and suite will arrive at the I. & G. N. depot, where they will be met by a squadron of the cadets of the West Texas Military Academy and Pease Military School, directors of the Fiesta Association, members of the San Antonio Automobile Club, and other automobile owners of the city. The triumphal procession will pass through the principal streets and mass on Alamo Plaza, where on a specially erected grandstand the mayor and city council will turn over to His Majesty the keys to the city, making him the ruler of Carnival Week. Afterward His Majesty will hold court at the Grand Opera House, where a Fiesta Fete, with three hundred performers, has been arranged in his honor.

Tuesday, April 21.

On Tuesday morning the visiting bands from many Texas towns and cities will arrive and parade through the streets.

At 2 p. m. the Ben Hur Patrol, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of San Antonio, will give an interesting parade.

At 4:30 p. m. the music parade will take place, showing the history and progress of music. Beautiful symbolic floats will be in this parade. Many bands will participate.

At 8 p. m. on Alamo Plaza, the visiting bands will contest for prizes. One feature of the contest will be the playing of the contesting bands en masse the prize song of the Fiesta, "The San Antonio Spring," written by J. W. Buford.

At 8:30 p. m., at the Grand Opera House, the Fiesta Fete will be repeated.

Wednesday, April 22.

The first annual dog show of the San Antonio Kennel Club will open at 117 Main avenue. One hundred prizes, including twenty-eight silver cups, will be awarded and over three hundred dogs have been entered in this contest.

At 10:30 a. m. there will be a street parade of dogs, valued at $50,000, which are entered in the bench show.

At 2:30 p. m. the Horse Show, for the benefit of the Army Widows' and Orphans' Fund, will be given at Fort Sam Houston.

At 8 p. m. the Parade of Famous Plays will take place, this being one of the most spectacular features of the Fiesta. The parts of different characters will be taken by people well known in the social life of San Antonio and Texas.

Thursday, April 23—Home-seekers' Day.

At 4:30 p. m. the Civic and Trades Display Parade will take place. This parade will have over one hundred entries of specially built floats that will illustrate the trades and industries of San Antonio.

At 8 p. m. at the Majestic Theater, the Queen of the Year will hold her court, attended by her Maid of Honor, the Princess of the Seasons, and by the twelve Duchesses of the Months. To this court will come, as visitors, the Duchesses and Maids of Honor, attended by a Knight and escorted, from twenty Texas towns and cities. Celebrated court dancers will appear before Her Majesty, and a spectacular and beautiful event will be shown to the delirious of the visitors. Seats on sale.

Friday, April 24.

At 4:30 p. m. the Battle of Flowers, justly the most celebrated event of the year in Texas, will be staged. Participating in this patriotic celebration will be the Governor of Texas, Her Majesty the Queen of the Year, His Majesty the King of the Fiesta, the Princess of the Seasons, the Duchesses and their Maids of Honor, and the patriotic ladies of San Antonio in gorgeously decorated floats.

Saturday, April 25.

Traveling Men's Day will be the feature of the closing event of the Fiesta. Traveling men from all over Texas and their friends, the retail merchants, will take part in the comic parade at night. Fun, frolic and merry-making will mark the closing hours of the Fiesta and the week's entertainment will end in "A Night of Frolic."

PEACH PROSPECTS LESS GLOOMY FOR GROWERS

SHORT CROP, BUT BETTER QUALITY EXPECTED

Austin, Tex., April 7.—According to reports received by Commissioner of Agriculture Ed R. Kone, the peach crop will run not less than one-fourth of normal, but owing to the thinning done by frost the fruit will, in the opinion of Commissioner Kone, be uncommonly larger and fine and the crop will weigh almost, if not fully, as much as bumper crops of the past and bring growers as much money, with less labor.

"The other fruit crops will yield satisfactory financial returns," says Commissioner Kone. "I regard the situation as one full of encouragement for fruit raisers, who certainly have a good deal coming to them and who, I believe, are pretty sure to have it given to them this year. There can't be glutting of markets and loss if ordinary sense and skill are displayed in handling, packing, shipping and distributing, and, with the lessons taught by previous experience put to good use, there is no reason why growers shouldn't obtain money returns that will put an indelible smile on their faces. At the same time, the consuming public will not have to go without plenty of fruit or have to pay more for it than the quality of fruit offered will be worth."

The department of agriculture is in receipt of letters of various recent dates from over the state from correspondents that, being classified, give the following as the condition and prospects of the fruit crop at the time they were written, and that Commissioner Kone says warrant the observations that follow:

North Texas—Good prospects for apples, grapes and berries. Apples will probably be somewhat less than a full crop; berries fair yields; grapes up to normal. Peach, pear and plum crops will likely be very light. Elberta and some other varieties will be almost an entire failure. Other varieties will produce, in some parts, a fifth and in others from one-fourth to one-half a normal crop.

East Texas—In most sections there will be no Elbertas and in others small yields. The total peach yield will, it is thought, run from 25 to 27 per cent. Outlook for apples, plums and berries good, but berries will be later than usual. A singular circumstance reported from Scottsville is that Elbertas on high lands are a complete failure, while those on low spots have fair settings of fruit.

Southeast Texas—Early varieties of peaches have lost most of their fruit, but all standard varieties promise good yields. Plums in fine condition. Outlook for berries satisfactory. No damage to citrus.

South Central Texas—Figs good. Berries fair. Prospect of heavy crop of Satsuma oranges and figs and 25 per cent yield of peaches.

South Texas—Honey peaches a complete failure. Mamie Ross, Elberta and Rogers peaches promise 75 per cent of a normal crop. Alexander, Early Wheeler and Mayflower peaches not yet in bloom, but promising. Indications are for 75 per cent crop of Japan plums and 40 per cent crop of pears. Citrus, figs, grapes and berries in prime condition.

Central Texas—Mamie Ross peaches, 50 per cent, and Elberta, 75 per cent less. Burbank plums all right. Happiness plums, 50 per cent decrease. Garber pears a failure. Kef pears, 50 per cent decrease. The yields of plums and pears will probably be less, rather than more, than those indicated.

West Texas—Apples promise a full crop. Peaches and plums will each give about one-fourth of a crop; plums about one-half a crop, and peaches from one-fifth to one-fourth of a crop.

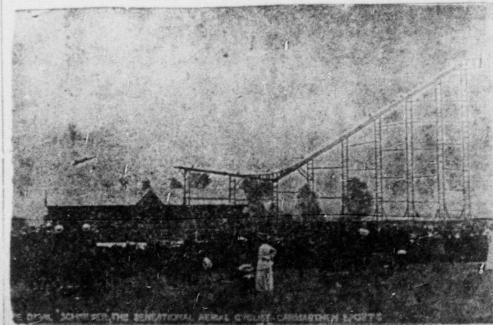

Panhandle—Apples, grapes and berries, full yields. Plums, apricots, pears and cherries, largely decreased yields. Peaches, one-fifth to one-third of a crop, according to location of orchards and varieties.

CATTLE RECORD BROKEN.

Receipts at Fort Worth Stock Yards in March Greatest in Eleven Years.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 7.—The eleven years' record of the Fort Worth stock yards for the month of March was broken last month in point of cattle and calf receipts. Marketing of grown cattle was by far the most liberal of any March on record. The calf crop was only equaled by the 1913 March receipts. The cattle run, however, was large enough to overcome the slight decrease in calf statistics. The aggregate count was the most generous on record.

The sheep supply, running over 30,000 head, was far ahead of receipts for any previous March. In fact the supply was just about double the supply of a year ago, which broke all previous records.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE WOULD ASK NEW LAW

MEMORIAL TO COMING LEGISLATURE PART OF PLAN.

Would Prohibit Sale of Liquor Within Ten Miles of Institutions of Learning.

According to Dr. J. H. Gambrell, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, another step, in addition to the petitions being circulated for the purpose of securing prohibition by constitutional amendment will be taken in the interest of prohibition. This step is to take the question direct to the next Legislature in the form of a memorial asking that the sale of intoxicating liquors be prohibited within ten miles of any State institution of higher learning or denominational institution of the same class. On this question he said:

"Some time back the board of trustees of Baylor College, Belton, the great woman's school of the Texas Baptists, instructed me as a member of the board to take up the matter of securing a law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors within ten miles of all State institutions of higher learning and denominational institutions of the same class.

The board of trustees of all denominational colleges will be asked to memorialize the next Legislature to pass such a law. The conviction is wide-spread that all Texas institutions of higher learning ought to be relieved of the menace to the young life of the State gathered in them which is furnished by the open saloon in their immediate vicinity.

"I have no doubt but that the various denominations of Texas, in their annual meetings this fall, will memorialize the Thirty-Fourth Legislature in an emphatic manner on this point. Other States have such a law, and citizens of these States who come to Texas and learn of our institutions being menaced to the open barroom are amazed that a great, progressive State like Texas is lagging behind.

"To my mind it is inconceivable how any man, not interested in one way or another in the liquor traffic, can object to such a law as suggested. These State and denominational schools invited parents to send their sons and daughters to be equipped for life. Both in extending such invitations, assume the solemn responsibility of guardianship over the young lives committed to their care."

DECLINE IN PRICE OF BREAD PREDICTED

BUMPER GRAIN CROP EXPECTED TO LOWER COST.

Secretary of Grain Dealers' Association Bases Statement on Texas and Northern Crop Reports.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 7.—Secretary H. B. Dorsey of the Texas Grain Dealers' Association is authoritative for the statement that the price of bread is likely to decline. He bases his calculations on reports from all sections of both the northern and the Texas grain belts, which indicate a bumper crop of both wheat and oats on account of the generous rainfall and other valuable circumstances.

Mr. Dorsey said today that the grain crop in all of the Texas belt except a small portion in the west was nearly perfect and general conditions favored a bumper crop of wheat and oats in Texas. It is too early yet to prophesy concerning the corn crop. In addition he said his advice from the northern grain belt indicated that crops were never better at that season and the acreage of oats and wheat exceeded that of any previous year. He is of the opinion that a heavy yield in the north as indicated will result in a decline of bread. However by the time the northern crop is ready for the market the Texas crop will have been sold at the top price prevailing for last season's grain, for the reason that harvest time in Texas is earlier than that of the north. The proximity of the port of Galveston and favorable railroad rates for grain fixed by the commission also render it easy and profitable to market the Texas crop before prices are affected by the yield of the northern wheat belt.

Freedom From One Sentence Necessary Before Negro Gate Up Life.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 7.—A few minutes after receiving a pardon from Gov. Hays, which released him from the 115-year sentence, Fred Pelton negro, was electrocuted this morning at the State penitentiary for the killing of Melvin Hatten, a negro, whom he murdered to secure 50 cents. There was a question as to the legality of electrocuting Pelton until after he had served his 115-year sentence, and for this reason the pardon was granted.

SAM SPARKS QUILTS RACE

ASSURED OF NOMINATION AT FORT WORTH, BUT LEADERS REFUSE SUPPORT.

Withdraws from the Race That All Opponents of Ball May Unite on Candidate.

AUSTIN, Texas, April 7.—Sam Sparks tonight announced his withdrawal as a candidate for governor. This step was prompted, he says, by information received by him that some of the men calling the Fort Worth convention would not support him in the event that he was selected as the standard bearer of the anti against Tom Ball, and without that support he admits that the race against Colonel Ball would be in vain. Mr. Sparks' announcement of withdrawal, addressed to the democrats of Texas, follows:

"To the Democrats of Texas: During the summer and fall of 1913 I received a great many requests from people from every part of the State to run for Governor. As I had voluntarily retired to private life and engaged in a successful business I was reluctant to announce for public office, but after careful consideration I decided to become a candidate, believing that I might be of some service in promoting harmony in the administration of the state's affairs.

"I have already taken the position that prohibition should not be an issue in the democratic primaries, but after my announcement the prohibition democrats of Texas concentrated upon the candidacy of Colonel Ball, and as there were a number of announced candidates who were opposed to state-wide prohibition it appeared to me that none of us could hope to defeat the Fort Worth nominee if we all continued in the race. I agreed to enter into the precinct primary to be held April 4 and 14 in order that the democrats might concentrate on the strongest man to oppose the Fort Worth nominee. A call for a mass meeting, signed by a number of prominent democrats of Texas, was made. I had nothing to do with the call of this meeting nor its organization. My campaign headquarters with my active personal efforts perfected an organization in a great many counties in Texas and we are assured beyond question that a majority of the delegates to the Fort Worth convention would go instructed for me. Reliable information has come to me that some of those calling this convention admit that I will secure the nomination but state that should I do so they will refuse to give me their support.

"I still feel that my course has been right, but I ought not to permit my personal feelings and ambitions to stand in the way of a harmonious action at the Fort Worth convention. Even if I felt I could continue the fight, for I know I am right, it would require much expenditure of time and money to do so. I have never led my friends in an unsuccessful campaign, and I do not feel like making a further tax upon them, when after I secure the nomination at Fort Worth, my efforts to beat Colonel Ball might be in vain.

"I therefore withdraw from the race for governor because I am convinced my success after receiving the nomination at Fort Worth is doubtful and I leave my loyal friends free to support whom they may please in the precinct and county conventions, and trust that a Democrat may be selected whose candidacy will stand for honesty and for the development and progress of our state and the advancement of her people and one that all good democrats may unite upon and one that we may hope will be successful in the July primary. In doing so I want to offer to my friends my heartfelt thanks for their loyalty and trust that I may live long enough to show my appreciation and gratitude for their friendship, love and support."

THREE AVIATORS ARE KILLED.

Emile Vedrines Has Fatal Fall and Machine Burns in Midair.

RHEIMS, France, April 7.—Emile Vedrines, a brother of Jules Vedrines, the famous French aviator, was killed in a fall while making a flight in his monoplane over the aviation field here today.

Emile Vedrines, although not as well known as his brother in aviation circles, was an experienced flyer. In the contest for the international aeroplane cup, held at Rheims in September, Vedrines finished second, flying 124 miles at the rate of 123 miles an hour.

Later in the day two other aviators were killed when their airplane caught fire in midair, causing the machine to collapse. They were Pierre Leon Testault, pilot, and Clement Avigny, his passenger.

That Clean-up Day for Junction.

The Junction Chamber of Commerce has set Thursday, April 30th, as "Clean up day" for this city; Friday and Saturday a wag on will be sent to the premises of each of our citizens to get the accumulation of trash and rubbish and take it to its proper place—dump grounds.

This is going at the matter in a business like manner, and we believe this effort on the part of the Chamber of Commerce will be met by the hearty cooperation of our citizens and the general public. The Chamber of Commerce wants a clean town. Every citizen of Junction should want a clean town. There is no need of an exhaustive article here on the advantages of cleanliness. We believe that our citizens are of that class of intelligence which can and do see and appreciate clean premises and a clean town; and a reminder and a concentrated united effort is all that should be necessary to make Junction a model of cleanliness and civic attractiveness. Don't wait, friend. Don't put it off any longer. The early spring-time is the season when a thorough cleanup campaign should be inaugurated. A little cleanliness now will prevent a million flies later on. A little cleanliness now will prevent much sickness, and possibly some deaths in our community. Cleanliness will add much to the appearance and attractiveness of your premises. A united effort for a clean town will make it such, and as such it will appeal to prospector and tourist, traveler and visitor, and the good word which they will speak for Junction wherever they go will amply repay our efforts.

With a wagon furnished to call at the door surely, surely, surely, we will one and all clean up our premises and have the accumulation of trash ready for the garbage wagon when it calls. Won't you please do your part?

And again we implore you to clean up and be decent!

Why not just elect Bail by acclamation and stop the fuss?

And in the meantime don't forget about that trades day for Junction.

By the way, what sort of tango is that they're pulling off now in that country south of the Rio Grande?

Petition is now being circulated for an election to vote a $25,000 road bond issue for this precinct. If there is anything we need worse than good roads it is more good roads.

Vice President Marshall is sporting a vest said to be only 200 years old. If he could be a country editor awhile he might learn to appreciate new clothes like that.

A Houston woman is said to speak six languages. Wouldn't it be nice to have her around the printing office on press day? Don't know either, for comparatively few women "cuss," and she might not be one of the few.

There was a fire in Texas every forty minutes last year and each fire cost on an average of $114, according to a report just issued by the State Fire Insurance Commissioner. The total number of fires reported during the year was 12,655, and the adjusted losses approximated $5,236,000. And that reminds us that Junction is absolutely at the mercy of any fire which might get started. Should a fire break out in our business streets the entire business section might be wiped off the map in a few short hours. And at most in a stone's throw of a river inexhaustible. About how many times will Junction have to burn down before we will give attention to this matter?

It's At Joseph's Store.

"Price Talk"

Overheard by the Citizen Reporter:

Names will not be furnished upon application. The newspaper man does not always tell quite all he knows.

Time: 10:30 p. m. Place: Wearing out the hinges on a front gate. Characters: Just two.

"And you really love me sweetheart!"

"Love you, dear? With all my heart and soul."

"Well, I'm glad to hear you say so, but—"

"But what? Surely you cannot have any doubt as to the sincerity of my affection?"

"Not exactly. Still—"

"Still what?"

"Oh, nothing."

"Yes there is; tell it!"

"No—I—nothing now."

"Now look here, little girl, what is the worry?"

"Oh nothing, nothing, I was just wondering."

"What about, my angel?"

"Well, I thought if you had loved me you would have a—that is to say—I think—I thought—if I may say—oh, can't you guess—don't you understand?"

(Meantime—stood there two feet away with his hands in his pocket!)

"No I can't guess! I don't understand! Tell me quick! This suspense is too much!"

"Oh, how blind men are! I thought if you had loved me you would have—that is—it seems like, you know, you would have kissed me before this—that is—"

"Upon my soul, I have wanted to, a thousand times I have wanted to, but I didn't dare to, but here goes now, you bet—"

Let the curtain fall.

Let Thursday, April 30th be clean up day on YOUR premises.

Yet.

Junction Citizen: Men sometimes broach the subject of saving to their wives. It is recorded that once upon a time one said, "My dear, we'll have to be more economical."

And she replied, "Yes, let's smoke less tobacco," and that ended the conversation, but did not begin the economy.

Oh, well! Men are selfish brutes, and all that, but suppose the conversation had been reversed with his remark reading: "Yes, let's wear fewer fancy hats."

This marital economy business has to be co-operative, like every other economy.—State Press.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our friends and the good people of London and the surrounding country who so faithfully aided us during sickness and death of our dear wife and mother. The sympathy and many courtesies shown as will never be forgotten. May God's richest blessings rest on them, and when the death angel calls for their loved ones may they be surrounded by such kind friends.

TAKE THIS FROM US.

If you propuce 40 bushels of corn to the acre your cost per bushel is less than that of your neighbor who raises only 20 bushels. Therefore you can sell more corn for a dollar than your neighbor. The same principle applies to our merchandise. We do a large volume of business which means heavy buying. Keeping busy with our regular force is no more expense to us than if we only kept busy part of the time. This saving goes into extra quality of our goods.

There are lots of Good Merchandise, but-- not every merchant can buy them unless the large volume of his business justifies him to do so. Lots of our goods are bought in car load lots. Others are bought in large quantities. TO GET THE HIGHEST QUALITY OF GOODS AT CORRECT PRICES WE MUST BUY IN LARGE QUANTITIES.

You get QUALITY when you buy from us, and pay no more.

AT THE MAJESTIC San Antonio Week of April 12th

A bill that it is promised will be one of the season's best is booked for the Majestic Theater next week.

Scott and Keane.

Agnes Scott and Henry Keane are headliners on the bill in an offering entitled "Drifting," a classic little gem of simple, but direct appeal. Devoid of noise or blare, with the faintest of plots, it has the unhesitant guarantee of the management to please all. With an elaborate stage setting the little production has not failed in its Eastern travels to make the highest kind of a hit.

Scott and Keane.

Agnes Scott and Henry Keane are headliners on the bill in an offering entitled "Drifting," a classic little gem of simple, but direct appeal. Devoid of noise or blare, with the faintest of plots, it has the unhesitant guarantee of the management to please all. With an elaborate stage setting the little production has not failed in its Eastern travels to make the highest kind of a hit.

Travato, Violinist.

A close second on the bill is Travato, a temperamental violinist. Travato plays as the mood strikes him, from the old masters or from the recent writers—and he plays all equally well. He takes his audience through the dignified measures of the great operas and with equal facility into the mazes of the syncopated melodies.

Conlin, Steele and Carr.

Conlin, Steele and Carr, a trio of twentieth century entertainers, in an offering entitled "Follies of Vaudville" are said to have been a success everywhere they have shown. There is nothing but comedy in their act, no attempt at anything serious.

McMillan and Company.

Lida McMillan and company present "The Saleslady," a serio-comic playlet giving opportunity to Miss McMillan for a display of versatility in histrionic talent. Four performers make up the cast and the action is kept throughout the offering, situation following situation until a climax is reached.

Six Abdallahs.

The six Abdallahs, a sextette of Arabians in whirlwind acrobatics, is another number on the bill. These men have perfected themselves in a series of sensational aerial feats, performed without mats or mechanisms, that are said to be remarkable. They work very rapidly and wind up in an ensemble tumbling match, that keeps the stage literally covered with a whirling tangle of arms and legs.

Shriner and Richards.

Shriner and Richards present a clever little singing, talking and dancing act of the type that has become so popular in recent years on the vaudeville stage, finishing with a special "twenty-first century" costume worn by Miss Richards, indicative, apparently, of her forecast of what the fashions will be at that time.

Rosini and Company.

It's pretty hard in these days to put over anything mystifying, but Carl Rosini and company claim to have some brand-new tricks. Of course, as Rosini says, he would not deceive anyone—but the facts are that he does nothing else. Modern single on a full-lighted stage, with light-colored back grounds, away from the stereotyped set of his advance notices credit him with some very flattering successes.

CAMPAIGN IS WAGED AGAINST HOOKWORM

Sixteen Per Cent of School Children in Counties Visited Infected With Them.

The Hookworm Commission of the Texas State Board of Health submits the following extract from a report on the work completed since Jan. 1, 1914: "The hookworm health campaigns have been completed in Colorado, Galveston, Kaufman and Sabine Counties, and are now in progress in Freestone, Wharton and Washington Counties. In none of these counties has hookworm disease been found in prevalence as in a great many other counties previously surveyed by the commission. The combined land areas of the above seven counties is 5,557 square miles and the combined rural population is approximately 100,000 people. During the last three months dispensaries for free examination and free treatment for hookworm disease have been conducted in over 5,557 square miles and at the dispensaries 8,769 persons, or one-twelfth of the total rural population, have been examined microscopically. Of the total number examined, 1,144, or 13 per cent, had hookworm disease and were treated. Of the school children 4,422 were microscopically examined and 745, or 16 per cent, were infected with hookworm. To all of these persons 1,286 free treatments were dispensed.

During the campaign in Colorado, Kaufman, Sabine and Galveston Counties, in addition to examining and treating patients, seventy-three schools and 2,481 rural homes were visited and inspected as to their sanitary condition. The printed page was also used for giving instructions for improving sanitation, and of this literature 21,023 pieces were distributed.

Since Jan. 1, Hunt and Anderson Counties have each appropriated $250 to defray the local expense of these campaigns and the work will be taken up in these two counties at an early date.

Again it seems expedient to repeat that the final purpose of the work of the Hookworm Commission is not to examine a few thousand and treat a few hundred persons in each county. The sole aim of all the work is to disseminate knowledge that will bring a permanent improvement in sanitation in the rural districts as well as in the cities and towns. The final eradication of a single disease is of less importance than the establishment of permanent sanitary ideals. The State Board of Health earnestly solicits the active support of every physician, school teacher, county official and newspaper in Texas in carrying on this health campaign during which hookworm disease is used as a practical demonstration.

MASQUERADES 60 YEARS AS MAN.

Woman Who Came to America Clad in Boy's Clothing Served Through the Civil War.

QUINCY, Ill., April 7.—After masquerading as a man for sixty years and serving as a soldier in Gen. U. S. Grant's army during the Civil War, "Albert" Cashier, whose sex was discovered at the soldier's home recently, today was committed to an insane asylum.

The woman was born in Ireland seventy-three years ago. She came to America as a stowaway, clad in boy's clothing. When the war between the States broke out she, having enlisted in Company G, 95th Illinois Infantry. She participated in some of the bloodiest battles of the war and behaved with gallantry.

When the war closed she resumed civil life as a workman until age and the results of exposure during the war made her helpless to support herself. She then entered the soldier's home, where her sex was discovered. She refused to tell her family history.

TO INVESTIGATE IRRIGATION.

Representative Smith Introduces Bill for Appropriation of $250,000 for Such Work in Texas.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7.—Representative Smith of Texas introduced a bill appropriating $250,000 for investigation as to the feasibility of irrigation in Texas by the lake and reservoir system, similar to the Senate bill offered by Senator Shepard two weeks ago.

In the Senate today Senator Brister of Kansas offered a memorial from the Chamber of Commerce of Abilene, Texas, indorsing a bill he has on the same subject, but dealing with Western Kansas, Eastern New Mexico, Colorado, Nebraska and Western Oklahoma. The memorial asked that Texas be included. Senator Brister said he thought it ought to be done and called attention to Senator Shepard's bill pending in the Senate.

SCIENTISTS EXPLODE OLD THEORY OF EARTH

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PROFESSORS SAY IT IS NOT MOLTEN.

They Also Claim That, Although Solid, Tides of About a Foot Are Caused on Surface.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 7.—Ancient and proper beliefs that the core of the earth is a molten mass have been investigated by scientists of the University of Chicago, who today announced that the planet is more rigid than steel, that it could not explode nor be destroyed by a fire within itself.

The results of their experiments were published in the Astrophysical Journal and the Journal of Geology, which were issued simultaneously by the University of Chicago press.

The experiments were designed by Prof. Albert A. Michelson, head of the department of physics, at the invitation of Prof. T. C. Chamberlain of the department of geology, and Prof. F. R. Moulton of the department of astronomy.

"The experiments," Prof. Michelson said, "show that the interior of the earth is not a fiery mass, but resists the tidal forces of the moon about as it would as if the earth were solid steel. Nevertheless, the earth, in spite of its rigidity, behaves as an elastic body; not liquid, of course, but still subject to the same influences as are the oceans which are a part of it."

"That the solid surface of the earth is subject to the same ebb and flow of tides as is the ocean, although to a lesser extent, is a statement that will astonish the average person who is prepared to assert, with all the assurance of conviction, that the earth is an immovable body. The fact that there are tides of about a foot in the surface of the earth has been demonstrated as a scientific fact."

Federal Government Starts Inquiry Into Proposed Pilgrimage of Negroes Back to Africa.

PORTLAND, Maine, April 7.—Federal investigation of the proposed pilgrimage to Africa by followers of "Chief Sam" to the "back to Africa" movement was begun today in response to instructions from Washington.

Alfred Charles Sam, the leader, and Capt. L. S. McKensie of the steamer Curitba, on which it is proposed to make the trip, were questioned at length by Assistant United States District Attorney Arthur Chapman. The officials were told that the steamer was expected to leave soon for Galveston, Texas, where about 200 negroes would be taken on board for the trip to Africa. Sam said that while many of his followers were converts to the religious teachings of the Holy Ghost and US Society, his movement was in no way connected with that institution.

SPRING CLEANING FOR INTESTINAL CANAL

WOMAN COMPARES HUMAN FOOD TO FUEL CONSUMED BY FURNACE.

Exercise is Important—Greens, Lettuce and Cress, Like Vegetables, She Says, Act as Cleaners of the Body.

"With the first warm, close days of spring, and especially in the 'two-seasons' weather, there comes that 'fired feeling' which makes us all think of a 'tonic' and a bottle of this or that to 'invigorate' us," a woman writes.

"The warm days are 'muggy,' we feel the heat even more than we will later, when we have entirely shed our warmer clothing, and, particularly do we feel that 'nothing tastes good.' Steaks and chops and soup, and puddings, even our best loved dishes, pall on our palates; we seem to have tired of every article in the diet, and so rush to artificial 'tonics' for an 'appetite.'"

"Our body engines have been stockpiling away rather heavily all winter, we have been eating waffles and pancakes for breakfast; pot roast and pies and roast for dinner; heavy and nourishing soups for lunch. Perhaps, too, we haven't been taking much exercise. So the result is that we have been piling up a lot of ashes and slag, so to speak, and we find that our human furnace, like any other, refuses to use these by-products and, more than that, we do not have to use so much fuel now as during the winter."

"Our body engines need a 'spring cleaning' just as does everything else! And there are special 'brooms' for it, too, in certain foods that will sweep the system clean of poisons and accumulated waste and slag from our heavy winter eating."

"We all know that certain foods yield heat or energy, others make muscle, still others contain much starch but the class of food which makes up the 'cleansers' of the body are the vegetables, 'greens' and lettuce and cross-like foods. The bulk of these vegetables is made up of cellulose or fibrous tissues and mineral salts. This tissue acts as a scrubbing brush, down the intestinal canal, and the salts and acids stimulate the action of the tract as well, and purify the blood."

Torreon Falls Before Villa's Attack FEDERAL FORCES ROUTED AND FLEE FOR THE SOUTH

VILLA'S REPORT OF VICTORY.

JUAREZ, Mexico, April 7.—The translation of the message received by General Carranza from General Villa, telling of the fall of Torreon, is as follows:

"TORREON, Coahuila, Mex., April 2.—Gen Venustiano Carranza, supreme chief of the Constitutionalists: 'At this moment the remnants of the Federals are leaving Torreon in flight after eleven days of terrible fighting, in which we lost 1,500 wounded and 500 killed and the Federals, from the enormous number of bodies burned, must have had over 1,000 killed, and their number of wounded I am unable to estimate, our forces have full possession of Torreon. I regret to announce that among the wounded were Gen. Yzabel Robles and Gen. Calisto Contreras. I congratulate and salute you with respect and esteem that I have always had for you. Your subordinate, 'GENERAL FRANCISCO VILLA, Commander in Chief of Constitutional Forces in Chihuahua.'"

JUAREZ, Mexico, April 7.—Torreon fell completely into the hands of the Constitutionalists at 10:20 o'clock tonight, according to announcement made here tonight by General Carranza.

The news was announced first to the world when the bugler in front of Carranza's residence blew the staccato notes of victory. The paeon Carranza said, was sounded here even before it was heard in Torreon, Villa delaying out of compliment to his chief.

The meager bulletins excitedly announcing victory after the bloodiest series of battles known to modern Mexico said that Villa captured a large number of prisoners and that the fleeing Federal remnant was being pursued.

The fate of General Velasco, Federal commander at Torreon, is unknown. At first it was reported he had escaped with an escort of a few men. Now it is thought he may be at the head of the remnants of his army, which is being pursued by the rebel cavalry.

There was heavy fighting today, it is understood, when after capturing the three remaining barracks held in the city by the Federals, the Constitutionalists stormed the trenches and barbed wire entanglements of Canyon del Guacharo.

The prisoners captured are believed to have been the defenders of the barracks, while the troops in the canyon, which forms an egress from the hill-girded city, were able to escape.

The campaign against the Federal stronghold of Torreon, the main object of the rebel campaign, began suddenly two weeks ago after General Villa had spent months in making the most careful preparations.

The rebel loss in this campaign is said to be more than 2,000 in killed and wounded. Trains loaded with wounded have been arriving daily at Chihuahua for the last week.

The rebel commander moved with a rapidity heretofore unknown in Mexican warfare. He worked his men in shifts and as one shift became exhausted, he sent fresh hosts against the enemy.

A number of small towns of lesser importance in a military sense fell first—Mapimi, No and Sacramento, where a bloody battle was fought.

Next came Lerdo and Gomez Palacio, populous suburbs of Torreon and three connected by a belt line of street cars. Lerdo was not defended, but it took three main assaults in which the Constitutionalists lost heavily, to take Gomez Palacio. In the final attack on the city, troops were withdrawn from Lerdo, whereupon the Federals occupied it and another sanguinary conflict was necessary to retake it.

The First Dash Upon Torreon. Last Friday General Monclova Herrera, with his own brigade and part of Benavides' Zaragoza brigade of veterans made the first dash against Torreon. He entered by the east and penetrated to the bull ring, north center of the town, before he was checked. Street fighting, in which hand grenades were the most useful weapons, followed.

General Villa, then at Gomez Palacio, announced he would join in the attack, assuming supreme command. He announced also that the newspaper men with him would not be allowed to send out any news whatsoever until the town was completely in his hands.

To the thousands whose very living hinges on conditions in Mexico, there followed a period of anxious waiting. Rumors were everywhere and from time to time the Federals asserted Villa had been routed, but Villa let out just enough of his official report to bewilder the public.

The question mark after the situation never loomed larger than tonight. Early in the evening Carranza announced that the status at Torreon remained unchanged. Then came the bugle call of victory. Mexicans recognized it in a flash and the streets became thronged instantly. Out of the saloons and gambling houses the crowds rushed until all places where crowds congregate were empty and the throngs stormed up the street to Carranza's residence.

Juarez Rejoices. Repeatedly the bugler sounded the call and a great wave of cheering across the city. The electric lights strung about the Carranza residence last Sunday to welcome him were turned on, lighting up the draped and festooned red, white and green of the Mexican national colors.

"Viva Carranza! Viva Villa! Viva Madero! Viva Mexico!" came the shouts of the crowd.

Inside General Carranza and his confidential advisers were toasting Francisco Villa, the hero of the campaign.

Mayor Padres, realizing that some one must be calm to order occasion to order the saloons to close.

A hundred processions formed in the streets and marched about shouting and cheering.

By Carranza's orders all the town was illuminated, soldiers of the garrison patrolling and the military band playing.

The national salute was fired, church bells rung and whistles blown. Samuel Belden of San Antonio, Texas, a friend of Carranza, described the scene in the Carranza home when the long awaited news was received.

"General Carranza had been talking with Gomez Palacio off and on for some time," Mr. Belden said, "and was chatting with members of his family. He seemed very cheerful, even buoyant. At 11 o'clock the telephone operator came into the room with a piece of paper in his hand."

"Well, muchacho, is it Torreon?" the general smiled, as one who knew well what the answer would be.

"Yes, my chief," was the reply. "Carranza kissed his wife and daughters, then—have the bugler sound the call of triumph," he ordered "and give me the telephone. I must tell Mrs. Villa."

"This was the first news of her husband's achievements to reach Mrs. Villa."

Wires Congratulations to Villa. "Carranza's next act was to telegraph a message of hearty congratulation to Villa. Meanwhile, friends of Mrs. Villa were calling her on the telephone with words of congratulation, while others, despite the hour, called in person, and wine reserved for the occasion was gratefully drunk to the victorious general, to his lieutenants and those who gave their lives."

"The victory gave to the Constitutionalists undisputed control of the central part of Northern Mexico 600 miles south from the Rio Grande."

Its full effect cannot be summarized in a moment, but in prestige and power it is said its value is incalculable.

It is certain to make recruiting a comparatively simple matter and holders of the Constitutionalist fiat money tonight predicted a sudden rise in the rate when business is resumed tomorrow. It was selling at 25 cents to the gold dollar today.

Whether Villa will turn aside to take Monterey, an important city to the east, or to the west against Mazatlan, held by the Federals, is not known. Villa habitually keeps his plans to himself.

J. E. FERGUSON SPEAKS TO VOTERS AT DENISON

He Urges Adequate Support for Schools and Says Prohibition Is Not a State Issue.

DENISON, Tex., April 7.—James E. Ferguson, candidate for governor, arrived here this morning from Greenville and spent the day mingling with old friends and acquaintances among the railroad men with whom he was associated years ago. In a brief speech, being introduced by H. H. Cummins, he launched into his talk, which in substance was the same as delivered at other points. Arguing for more and better facilities for education, from the country school to the university, Mr. Ferguson made a special plea for improvements and support of the State institutions.

Special stress was laid on the conditions now existing between landlord and tenant, in which he said that the tenant was virtually without protection from the encroachment of the large land owner. Protection had been afforded, he said, by legislation to the railroad men and the employees of various institutions, but the tenant was absolutely helpless to better his condition under the laws that now exist.

On the question of prohibition Mr. Ferguson expressed opposition to agitation of the question of a State-wide nature which the voters of any locally under present constitutional rights could settle for themselves and in the settlement of which the governor was but a small factor. Prohibition, he asserted, dwells the real issues and is being used simply as a vehicle on which the professional politician can ride into office. An election upon an issue of this character would be based upon prejudice rather than judgment, he said, and the real and crying needs of the people would be lost sight of.

Supporters from Hunt and Fannin Counties attended the speaking.

Through the press of the state every commercial organization in Texas is urged to aid and every city participating in the movement is asked to have representatives present in Galveston when the silver gift is presented to the Texas Navy.

Compulsory Education in the Southern States.

A vigorous plea for compulsory school attendance laws in the Southern States is made by William H. Hand, State high school inspector for South Carolina, in a bulletin just issued by the United States Bureau of Education. After pointing out that the six States still without compulsory education laws—South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, and Texas, and the four States with compulsory laws that apply only partially—Maryland, Virginia, Arkansas, and Louisiana,—are all Southern States, Mr. Hand presents statistics showing that although illiteracy has been reduced rapidly in these States within the last two decades, they still have the highest percentage of illiteracy among the white population.

"The figures can have but one meaning," declares Mr. Hand. "They show that compulsory education reduces illiteracy."

"The opponents of compulsory education insist that the people will send their children to school without being obliged to do so, if only they are shown their duty and their obligation to their children. These opponents declare that the younger generation of white children are already in school. Neither contention is true. In 1910 the 12 Southern States had 788,693 native white children between the ages of 6 and 14 not in school.

"Who are these illiterate white children, and why are they not in school? Some of them are the sons and daughters of parents themselves ignorant and unable to appreciate or to understand what an education means to their children and to the State. Some are the children of sordid fathers and mothers who are more than willing to make wage earners and bread-winners of their untaught offspring at the expense of their future manhood and womanhood. Many are at work on the farms, sacrificed to the monotonous round of planting crops, cultivating crops, and harvesting crops. Some are at work in stores and shops or engaged as messenger boys, all at a small wage. Many are employed in the nerve-dulling and blood sapping environment of the mills, receiving good wages as children in exchange for vigor of body and training of mind as men and women; while thousands of others are roaming the streets and country lanes, the training grounds for idlers, vagrants, and enemies to law, order, and decency.

"When the State has provided schools for all its children, it has performed only a portion of its duty. If a universal school tax is justifiable on the ground that popular education is a necessity, compulsory attendance by the State is also justifiable. The State has no right to levy and collect taxes for a specific purpose and then permit that purpose to be defeated at the hand of indifferent or selfish parents.

"Objection is often made that compulsory attendance would work hardships in the home of the poor. Is it not a fact that the poor child is the very one who most needs the aid of the State to bring him into possession of his own? He it is who must soon face the complex modern life and the insistent demands of citizenship with none of the advantage common to birth or wealth. The poor child is the very one the State ought to help, because he himself is helpless.

"The argument against compulsory attendance on account of the negro has been worn threadbare; surely the time has come to drop it. Some phases of it are pathetic. Is it wise or expedient to permit thousands of white boys and girls to grow up in ignorance lest in forcing them into school the aspirant of the negro child should be awakened? Shall the white man remain ignorant in order to encourage or compel the negro to remain ignorant? Is it better for white and black to remain ignorant than for both to become intelligent?

"I yield to no one in the matter of pride over what has been accomplished educationally in the past 40 years. We have planned better schools, inspired the taxpayers to vote taxes for schools, encouraged the people to build model schoolhouses, to lengthen their school terms, to employ better teachers and to pay them better salaries, and to make their pride. But what has been accomplished in the way of a substantial decrease in the illiteracy of the citizenship? Of what value are all our school taxes, our elegant schoolhouses, our improved schools to the thousands of boys and girls who never enter the door of a school-house?"

If You Must Drink.

To the married man who cannot get along without his drinks, the following is suggested as a solution to the bondage of his habit:

First—Start a saloon in your own house.

Second—Be the only customer. You will have no license to pay. Give your wife $2 to buy a gallon of whisky, and remember there are 69 drinks in one gallon.

Third—Buy your drinks from no one but your wife, and by the time the first gallon is gone she will have $5 to put in the bank and $2 to start business again.

Fourth—Should you live ten years and continue to buy booze from her, and then die with snakes in your boots, she will have money to bury you decently, educate your children, buy a house and let marry a decent man and quit thinking about you.—Woman's National Weekly.

STOMACH TROUBLE FOR FIVE YEARS

Majority of Friends Thought Mr.

Hughes Would Die, But

One Helped Him to Recovery.

Pomeroyton, Ky.—In interesting advice from this place, Mr. A. J. Hughes writes as follows: "I was down with stomach trouble for five (5) years, and would have sick headache so bad, at times, that I thought surely I would die.

I tried different treatments, but they did not seem to do me any good.

I got so bad, I could not eat or sleep, and all my friends, except one, thought I would die. He advised me to try

Thedford's Black-Draught, and quit taking other medicines. I decided to take his advice, although I did not have any confidence in it.

I have now been taking Black-Draught for three months, and it has cured me—haven't had those awful sick headaches

since I began using it.

I am so thankful for what Black-

Draught has done for me."

Thedford's Black-Draught has been found a very valuable medicine for derangements of the stomach and liver. It is composed of pure, vegetable herbs, contains no dangerous ingredients, and acts gently, yet surely. It can be freely used by young and old, and should be kept in every family chest.
