SPEEDING MAIL TRAIN ROBBED IN WYOMING

Bandits Surprise Clerks and Bind Them to Tables

OPEN 23 POUCHES

WAMSUTTER, Wyo., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The waterless sand dunes of the desert in Southwestern Wyoming late today were being searched by western sheriffs and cowboys for two bandits who early today robbed a Union Pacific train of 23 pouches of registered mail, while the train was speeding through Wyoming.

An airplane was called upon in the search by postal officials, when the air mail pilots, flying between Cheyenne and Salt Lake City were asked to scan the desert for the fugitives.

Only one route of flight is open to the outlaws through the desert into Northwestern Colorado as the other road leads back to the Wyoming cities of Rawlins and Rock Springs, the posses claim. The desert, although it stretches over a region as big as many eastern states, is populated with only a handful of ranches and sheep herders and is practically without water holes, its only vegetation being sage brush.

ROBBERS TOOK ONLY CASH AND JEWELRY

OGDEN, Utah, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Twenty-three pouches of mail were opened by the Union Pacific mail train bandits who held up and robbed train No. 5 in Wyoming early this morning. The robbers threw bonds and other securities upon the floor and took only money and jewelry. This information came from H. A. Connett, superintendent of the western division of the Union Pacific at Green River in a long distance telephone conversation this morning.

Seemed To Be Experts

Superintendent Connett said the robbers appeared to be experts and seemed to know the practice of the train crew and the movement of the mail clerks.

The men boarded the train at Rawlings and while it was speeding west, entered the mail coach, where at the point of revolvers, they bound the two mail clerks and rifled several registered letter pouches.

Then evidently by an arrangement with confederates the semaphore signal at Wamsutter was changed so that the train slowed and the two robbers jumped off the mail coach while the train was moving at 15 miles an hour.

Not Discovered at First

Wamsutter is 41 miles west of Rawlins but the robbery was not discovered until it was noticed that the two mail clerks, A. J. Miller and Jack Madigan did not deliver at Rock Springs.

The robbers were not masked. A posse of federal, state and railroad police today was searching the hills and prairies in the vicinity of Wamsutter.

Neither of the two clerks was injured by the bandits who merely bound them to the legs of their tables as they left them. Both clerks were cut by thongs by the bandits, who entered the mail car through the rear door with drawn revolvers.

Icing Dock For Corpus Christi Port

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Construction will begin within the next 30 days on a large icing dock for the Corpus Christi port, to be located on the Texas-Mexican railway with easy accessibility to both the Southern Pacific and Missouri-Pacific lines, according to E. B. Neiswanger, general manager of the Central Power and Light company.

The new icing dock is part of the construction program being carried out in Corpus Christi in anticipation of greatly increased needs, which will become effective with the opening of the port, Neiswanger said.

Rural Schools Cut To Three Months By New Finances

FORT WORTH, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Apportionment of only $11.50 per capita will mean that the sum allotted to many country schools will run them only three to four months, R. T. Ellis, secretary of the Texas State Teachers' association here said Saturday. The state apportionment should be at least enough to run them six months, he said.

Due to the almost negligible assistance received from local taxes in many places, Ellis declared it will be necessary for the legislature to make an emergency appropriation of several million dollars to permit the rural schools to comply with the provisions of the compulsory education law.

It will require an appropriation of $3,500,000 to permit the schools to operate on the same basis they did last year, while to bring them up to anything like efficiency nearly $5,000,000 is needed.

"Our organization will make a determined effort to show the legislature at the special session, the need for a substantial supplementary appropriation," Ellis stated. "We had seen a drastic cut in the apportionment coming since the state tax rate was fixed but $11.50 per capita is unexpectedly low."

Comptroller Terrell estimated there would be available from all sources $18,920,064.83. This information was transmitted August 7, to Superintendent Marrs.

In his letter to the board of education, Mr. Marrs estimated there should be subtracted from the amount named by Terrel $2,031,307, for text book expenditures, 1926-27, and $1,340,053, the balance due on the 1925-26 apportionment, leaving $15,548,754 available for distribution in 1926-27 among 1,325,000 scholastics.

LOWEST SINCE 1919-20

AUSTIN, Aug. 14.—The per capita scholastic apportionment for the 1926-27 school season Saturday was fixed at $11.50 by the state board of education. This is the lowest since the 1919-20 season apportionment of $8.50.

S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction, and secretary of the board, said the legislature would be asked to make a supplemental appropriation of more than $4,000,000 to raise the apportionment to $15.

The $11.50 apportionment is based on 1,352,500 scholastics.

The apportionment for the 1925-26 session was $14. Mr. Marrs said this apportionment was made possible by a large balance from the preceding session and by savings on text book purchases.

Mrs. Mary George Improves. Sherman Released Under Bond

The condition of Mrs. George, injured in a pistol encounter with Mrs. Perry Sherman of Corpus Christi Thursday night was reported much improved at the general hospital Saturday night and no fear was held as for recovery.

Although Mrs. Sherman was still held Saturday on charges of assault with intent to murder her husband, P. J. Sherman had been released on the small bond necessitated by the misdemeanor charge, adultory, which had been filed against him. His bond, perfected Saturday afternoon, was signed by W. G. Douglass, Wichita Falls contractor.

Sherman, upon his release, denied that he was the father of two nearly grown boys as previously reported.

Charge Murder To Careless Drivers

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Murder charges hereafter will be filed against motorists responsible for accidents in which fatalities occur, Bexar county officers engaged in a city-wide safety drive announced Saturday.

This means that careless drivers who run down pedestrians, or fatally injure occupants of another car will face penitentiary sentences, instead of being let off with a fine as has been the case when tried under the negligent collision law.

47 FISHERMEN LOST IN STORM

Abandon Hope For 25 On Schooner. Chance For Remainder

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Forty-seven fishermen were missing tonight—a week after the storm which now is believed to have struck the Nova Scotia fishing industry the most disastrous blow in the loss of lives and ships in recent history.

While government searchers today abandoned hope for the 25 members of the crew of the Lunenberg schooner Sylvia Mosher, grave fears were expressed for the first time for the Lahave schooner Sadie Knickle and her crew of 22. The Sadie Knickle long overdue was last seen near the Sylvania Mosher off Sable Island before the storm. It was feared that both crews had perished in the hurricane that tore the Sylvia Mosher from her anchorage and drove her ashore on the island, a total wreck and left no trace to indicate the fate of the Saide Knickle.

"There is practically no hope that any of the crew are alive," said Captain Sutherland of the government relief steamer Lady Laurier.

The search of the Lady Laurier took the steamer through seas strewn with wreckage. The relief vessel picked up battered dories from the Sylvia Mosher and the Mary Ruth, a craft that barely escaped the clutches of the Sable Island sand after all her gear and boats had been swept away.

"Kitchener's Body" In London

DELIVERED TO BRITISH GOVERNMENT

Finder Confident Coffin Contains Remains of War Leader

LOST IN WAR AT SEA

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Frank Power, British newspaper man, who recently announced that he believed he had found the body of the late Lord Kitchner today said that he had written to Premier Baldwin stating that the body is now at Waterloo station awaiting disposal by the proper governmental department.

Power, who said that he was confident the body could be identified as that of the British field marshal who disappeared so tragically after the sinking of the cruiser Hampshire off the Orkneys in 1916, said the coffin would remain in a private mortuary on Waterloo road until Monday.

A case, which Power asserts, holds the coffin in which he believes Lord Kitchner's body is enclosed was delivered at Waterloo station by train from Southampton last night. It was taken later to the Waterloo road mortuary and covered with a union jack.

Employment Greater Now Than in 1925

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP) Employment in manufacturing industries decreased 1.6 per cent in July as compared with June and payroll totals decreased 4.5 per cent, the bureau of statistics of the department of labor reported today in a preliminary survey.

Employment last month, however, was .8 per cent greater than in the same month of 1925 and payroll totals were 1.8 per cent greater. The report covers 10,128 establishments having 2,875,690 employes last month with combined earnings in one week of $76,919,002.

Coffin May Contain Kitchener's Body

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Covered with a union jack, the case which Frank Power, British newspaper man asserts hold the coffin in which he believes Lord Kitchener's body is inclosed, today lay in a private mortuary on Waterloo road.

It was stated at Waterloo station that the case was brought by train last night from Southampton. Much mystery is attached to its previous routing. The whole affair, including Power's story of the discovery of the body on the coast of Norway which the government recently discredited, is scoffed at by the English press.

Outbreaks of the disease however, are being reported from many places in Kiangsu province, north of Shanghai.

AIR CONQUEST NEVER TO LAG

BY ROBERT T. SMALL.

He had faced death so often, and cheated it, it seems difficult to believe that at last the decision has gone against him. It seems only yesterday he was seriously explaining to the writer how a recent fall from an airplane had taken at least 10 strokes off his golf game. His ankle had been "busted" as he, a gentleman from Mississippi expressed it and in favoring his ankle he was swinging easier at the ball and getting drives as long and as straight as a professional.

And he had made so light of the dangers of flying. He had been compelled to leap half a dozen times from failing and falling machines, but always had managed to get the old parachute to work in time. On Wednesday last at Daytoe, however, his motor failed, there was a tail spin, a jump, a tangle and Lieut. Eugene H Barksdale, war ace and chief test pilot at McCook field, plunged to his death before the eyes of F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war and himself an aviator.

Last Crash But One.

Lieutenant Barksdale's last crash, prior to the fatal one, came when the wings were lost from a machine he was testing and it was interesting to recall what he said as we trudged across the links of the Bayton Coun-

Sailor Spends 14 Mos. Tia Juana Jail

SAN DEIGO, Calif., Aug. 14.—(AP)—After fourteen months in the custody of Tia Juana officials on charges that were said to have resulted from an altercation with a woman at the border resort, Elmer Gordon, young American sailor yesterday was allowed to return to this country and reported to eleventh naval district headquarters here.

Soon after Gordon was arrested in Tia Juana, local naval officers became interested in his case and a fight was started by Chaplain Leroy Taylor of the eleventh naval district to have him released. Finally a pardon was secured from Mexico City and he was released yesterday.

PINK BOLL WEEVIL HEARINGS

First of Series Set For September 1, Odessa.

AUSTIN, Aug. 14.—(AP)—First of a series of hearings on the pink boll worm situation will be held September 1, at Odessa, Ector county, by the pink boll worm commission, George B. Terrell, commissioner of agriculture, said Saturday. He said the hearings would determine whether is is necessary to place in the regulated cotton zone any more west Texas counties, because of the spread of pink boll worm infestation. Half a dozen counties are now in the regulated zone.

M'LENNAN TAX RAISED

New Rate Is 45 Cents On $100 Valuation.

WACO, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The county tax rate for McLennan county was raised 5 cents at a meeting of the commissioners here today. This makes the new rate 45 cents on the $100 valuation, effective for the coming year. Four cents of the new addition to the rate is regular tax and 1 cent is a special assessment to meet improvement expenses on the county jail.

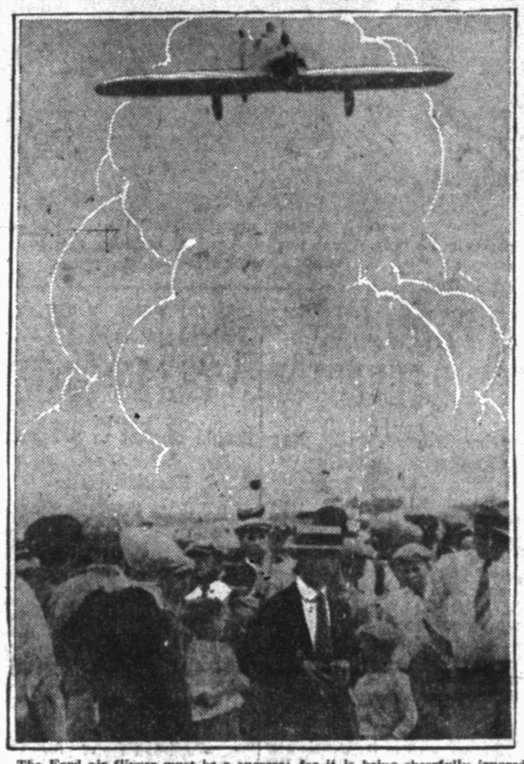

Mother Follows Children to Death After Train Wreck

CALVERTON, N. Y., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. George A. Shuford, Baltimore, N. C., died in a hospital today as a result of the Long Island railroad wreck here last night. She was pinned under the wreckage five hours.

The number of dead remained at six, however, as it was learned that James E. Way, Brooklyn, supposed victim, only suffered from shock. He had been listed as "J. B. Ways," among the dead.

Mrs. Shuford's two children, George A. Jr., 3, and Dorothy Louise, one, were killed. The others killed were Harold F. Fish, Manhattan, broker; William J. Squires, engineer and John Montgomery, fireman, both of Greenport, L. I. Six other persons were seriously injured.

"When The Parachute Works—"

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 14.—(AP)—At parachute tests at North Island naval air station yesterday a 1,100-pound dummy torpedo dropped 1,000 feet in 48 seconds attached to a 50-foot parachute. The torpedo landed so gently that the paint on it was not scratched.

The tests were preliminary to tests to be made August 24, at Inglewood when airplanes are to be used instead of torpedoes as a means of determining if parachutes will not afford full protection to airplanes when accidents occur during flight.

Hoover Tells Air Service Plans for Nation

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—(AP)—A nationwide system of commercial aviation, financed by private enterprise and sponsored by the government was pictured here today by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, as offering to America a staunch aerial reserve, saving the government billions of dollars for air defense while developing business, speeding transportation and thriving its own right.

On To San Antonio, Says Whaley

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 14.—Acting upon news dispatches which carried the information that President Coolidge had, upon recommendation of Secretary Hoover, approved a plan for establishment of passenger, express and mail service over a commercial airway between Chicago and Dallas and Fort Worth, Manager Porter Whaley of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce wired Hoover Saturday asking that the route be extended to include San Antonio, Waco and Austin. He also asked for a stay of proceedings until a conference could be arranged and representatives of the business interests of this city could present their claims in the matter.

Killed Inspecting Ford Planes

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 14.—(AP)—General arrangements for George Theis, Jr., Wichita capitalist and promoter, who was killed by the blades of an airplane propeller last night have not been completed, pending word from relatives.

Mr. Theis was at the municipal air port inspecting planes which had participated in the Edsel Ford reliability tour, when a machine piloted by Lloyd Stearman came too close to him. While his wife and two children looked on his body was thrown into the air and horribly mangled.

Fool-Proof Plane to Be Shown

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Flying either by airship or airplanes need not now be considered dangerous in the opinion of two widely known experts on aerial navigation.

If the navigator of an airship knows and understands the laws governing atmospheric variations there is "not one chance in a million" to stop an airship from going where he wants it to go, Captain Anton Heinen, noted German dirigible pilot, told the Allentown Rotary club last night. He said the dirigible has solved the last riddle of air transportation.

At the same time Major Dester D. Gardner of New York announced here that a "fool-proof" airplane, a new kind of a machine which "anybody can learn to fly in a half hour," will be exhibited at the national air races to be held here September 4 to 11, in connection with the sesquicentennial exposition.

Captain Heinen's talk before the Rotary club was a staunch defense of the dirigible. He dwelt extensively on the possibilities of commercial use of airships and said that trans-Atlantic transportation is possible in the very near future "at a cost of 1 cent per passenger per mile."

Mexican Mail to Go By Airplane

FORT WORTH, Aug. 14.—Mail from Mexico City destined for points in the United States will be rushed to Fort Worth on fast mail trains operated on daily schedule and from this point will be delivered as far as possible by the air mail service of National Air Transport, Inc., it was announced Friday night by Postmaster General New, word received here said.

Announcement followed perfection of plans of the Mexican postoffice department to connect with the contract air mail service from Chicago to New York.

Rules issued by the Mexican postal department stipulated that white envelopes must be used, letters must be marked "via air mail" and they must be posted at special delivery windows.

Under the new schedule letters from the City of Mexico will reach New York in 51 hours and San Francisco in 92 hours.

FERGUSONISM STILL ISSUE DAN TELLS 'EM

What's a Promise More Or Less to Jim? He Asks

NO KLAN BARGAIN

DALLAS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Dan Moody was among his own folks today. They came from many sections of Texas to be with the young attorney general as he breasted the tape for the final lap of the Texas gubernatorial primary race.

Standing with his back to the course where many fast horses have traveled at Fair Park, Moody started the home stretch of the race with a denial of the most recent Ferguson charges and a prediction that the finish would be an overwhelming victory for "responsible government."

Songs from women's voices, brass bands, automobile caravans, messages from many parts of the state, speeches and enthusiasm was the setting in which the candidate was sped upon his way.

The grandstand at Fair Park, which seats about 6,000, was comfortably filled and the speakers' stand was packed.

When Moody walked on the platform, shortly after 2 p.m., following a meeting of his followers at a downtown hotel, he was cheered by the throng as they stood waving hats and handkerchiefs and shouting.

Mrs. Walter S. Robertson led in singing "Texas Will Shine," a new campaign song. Other singers were Mrs. Larry Mills, Mrs. Charles Thomas, Mrs. Felix D. Robertson and Mrs. R. E. Chambers.

Davidson Wire Cheered.

Oscar B. Colquitt, former governor, opened the meeting. Telegrams wishing Moody success were read by Murell L. Buckner. Among them was one from Lynch Davidson of Houston, unsuccessful candidate for governor, which brought cheers.

One of the interesting figures on the speaker's stand was Mrs. J. E. Boyer, aged 85, of Dallas, who had not attended a political meeting since William Jennings Bryan spoke here years ago. She came out to hear Moody.

The rally was preceded by a meeting of about 300 Moody supporters at a hotel this morning at which Moody and others spoke briefly.

Among the preliminary speakers were Cato Sells, Fort Worth; Dr. A. C. Scott, Temple; Henry J. Dennebaum, Houston, and Henry Graves, Williamson county.

It was 4 p.m. when Colquitt introduced Moody. The candidates pitched the campaign issue at once on "Fergusonism."

In addition to his formal speech he touched briefly on the question of school apportionment funds. He read a telegram which, he said, had reached him today setting forth that the state board of education had fixed the school apportionment at $11.50 per capita.

"It was $14 last year," he said. "I shall do all within my power to see that the schools are not made to suffer, but are properly financed."

"The issue in this run-off campaign is the same as the issue in the preceding primary," Moody said. "It was Fergusonism. One promise more or less made and violated cannot change the issue before the people of Texas. Ferguson has sought in his latest statement to change the issue and divert the public mind."

"Ferguson attempts to renew the klan question in the hopes that he might repeat the history of 1924 and by engendering bitter prejudice and hatred further foist himself upon the people of Texas.

"Mr. Ferguson knows that I have no understanding with the klan; he knows I wrote the anti-mask bill at his request and am not in favor of its repeal, and he knows that if elected governor I will be dictated to by no one but will at all times consult only the welfare of the state in determining the course of moy official conduct."

Mention of the challenge to him by Gov. Ferguson issued at the start of the first campaign that Gov. Ferguson would resign if Moody had one vote more than she if Moody would resign in case she led him by 25,000 votes, Moody said he accepted the challenge squarely and in good faith the same day it was announced, and would have abided by its terms had the governor had the 25,000 more votes in the July 24 campaign.

"Ma's" Statement.

Governor Ferguson in her announcement that she would continue in the campaign said that Moody had not accepted the challenge as it should have been and she thus was not bound by its terms now.

As the Moody forces swung into full stride the Ferguson workers were busy going ahead with their plans for an intensive two week's campaign they were considering speaking itineraries and places for opening and indicated their plans would be announced soon. Suggestions that Gov. Ferguson herself make a more or less extensive speaking tour were being considered, it was said. Most of her campaign has been done by her husband, James E. Ferguson.

Preceding the mass meeting at which they discussed ways and means of organizing for the campaign and set for themselves a goal of 500,000 majority votes for Moody, in the run-off primary. Decision was made to wage a more active fight in every county than was made before the July 24 elimination primary.

Slain Son's Honor At Stake Says Grayhaired Avenger From Tulsa

WILL TELL HIS TALE TO JURORS

W. J. Marshall Haunts Scenes Where Boy Met Violent End

A small gray-haired man, maybe 60 years old, is an ever-present figure in the corridors of the Wichita county court house these days. W. J. Marshall, he will tell you is his name—1210 South Florence Place Tulsa, his address. All this if you ask him, but not much else. "Here for a few days," he may tell you if you inspire his confidence; "Nice day, isn't it?" if he does not like your looks.

But to the district attorney and his assistants he has bored his soul. And they, respectors always of persons who come to them with clean hands, have accorded his story the sanctity of the confession.

This only will they say: That W. J. Marshall of Tulsa doesn't believe that his 21-year-old son, Charles Marshall, shot to death on the night of July 24 in the residence section of Wichita Falls, was in Henry Marshall's garage on Taylor street with the intent to rob him, and that all of the story as to what actually occurred on the night of the shooting has not been told.

Officers' Attitude.

And this they will add, if pressed,—that maybe there is something to what Marshall Sr., has to say after all.

And, if actions speak louder than words they may be said to be firmly convinced that there is something to what he has said, for Henry Marshall, arrested at first as a perfunctory matter incident to investigation, was re-arrested last week and put under a $10,000 bond to await action by the grand jury, charged formally with the murder of his cousin, Charles Marshall of Tulsa.

The known facts surrounding Marshall's shooting are about as follows: At midnight Saturday, July 17, Henry Marshall, driving into his garage at 1714 Taylor street, Wichita Falls, found awaiting him, he says, two men, one of whom pointed a gun at him and told him to "stick 'em up." Instead, according to the story he tells, he opened fire with his own gun, a .32 calibre automatic which he had drawn as he entered his drive-way, impelled, he says by a hunch that he might need it. Six or seen shots were fired, and the men that Marshall stated he had found awaiting him disappeared in the darkness. Henry Marshall immediately reported the affair to police. His car, a Chrysler roadster, bearing a Louisiana license, was riddled with bullets and his story of "burning it out with them" inside his garage was not questioned.

Find Boy's Body.

The next morning a neighbor boy discovered the dead body of a young man lying slumped in the high grass in his back yard. Officers found a trail of blood leading from the body to Marshall's garage. The body was carried to an undertaker, and six bullet holes counted. Around the neck a white handkerchief had been loosely tied and hidden between shirt and back was found a large roll of bills.

Henry Marshall was asked to come down and identify the body if he could. He could. One glance at it and he told George Hodgins chief of police, that the dead man was his cousin, Charles Marshall of Tulsa, age 21.

Arrests followed thick and fast. Henry Marshall told officers that he had talked with his dead cousin Saturday afternoon at a local barber shop and had displayed to him a large roll of bills he took from his pocket in paying his check. Charles Marshall of Tulsa had been with certain other men at that time, he told officers, and pointed them out on the streets. With his help Freddie Keyes, Charlie Meade and R. C. Flowers were picked up, arrested, and charged with robbery with fire-arms. J. F. Linley was found later at Seymour with a bullet hole in his right hand, and was charged similarly.

Perfunctory Charge.

Henry Marshall himself was charged with murder a week after the shooting, a perfunctory matter, it was said, and his bond set at $3,000.

Keys and Flowers secured their freedom on writs of habeas corpus. Linley, with the wounded arm and Meade, only, were held.

So the matter rested when Marshall Sr. arrived the last time from Tulsa. The district attorney's office was inclined to put no other construction than highway robbery on the case, and the investigation had been closed to await action by the grand jury, which does not meet until October 1.

But within two or three days after Marshall Sr., began to be seen around the court house the district attorney announced that the investigation had been re-opened. On Saturday morning, August 7, Henry Marshall was re-arrested, his old bond cancelled and a new one of $10,000 required. "Investigation has revealed new facts," H. D. Bishop, assistant district attorney, stated at the time, "which puts a differetn light on the case. We ask the court for the increased bond." It was granted.

Tells Story Willingly

Henry Marshall's story is known. He told it willingly enough to newspaper men and police following the shooting. But of the other side of the shooting, the side that further investigation has revealed, this much only is known,—that the district attorney's office considered it of enough importance to require a $10,000 bond of Henry Marshall on the charge of murder pending action by the grand jury.

This other side, it now appears, must remain a secret until the day of the trial, for until then, W. J. Marshall has said that he will not talk, and the district attorney and his assistants have refused to commit themselves.

W. J. Marshall is still in Wichita Falls. Occasionally he is asked to sit in with the district attorney while some witness is examined. Always he is in the corridor just outside the door, ready to come when needed. His boy's name is at stake he has been heard to say.

49 PADLOCKS FOR GALVESTON

Service Ordered On 25 New Houses In Anti-Rum War

GALVESTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—preparations were being made today to effect service on twenty-five additional padlock injunction orders issued by Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson against local establishments. Service has already been completed against twenty-four injunctions issued by Judge Hutcheson sevral weeks ago. The new orders bring the total injunctions to 49 and are the outcome of a series of liquor raids in which more than 100 arrests were made in all parts of the city.

Information as to the character of the establishments to be enjoined was withheld, pending the serving of the injunctions. Defendants will be given twenty days in which to appear and show cause why the injunctions should not be made permanent. In case they should fail to appear judgment will be made by the court. All of the padlock orders are for a period of one year.

Discretion rests with the court as to whether the orders shall be made for one year or whether the defendants will be permitted to continue operations under bond.

SMALLPOX IN TEXAS GROWS

People Neglect to Safeguard By Vaccination, Says Health Officer

AUSTIN, Aug. 14.—(AP)— Smallpox is on the increase in Texas, the state board of health announced Saturday, pointing out 1,668 cases were reported to it for the first seven months of 1926, as compared with 857 for the same period of 1924 and 1,228 the first seven months of 1925.

"Vaccination is the only known method of preventing smallpox, and knowing this, it seems strange that people will neglect to safeguard themselves and children from this disfiguring and oftentimes fatal malady," Dr. H. O. Sappington, state health officer, said.

"The universal use of the automobile in cross country travel brings the smallpox menace to the door of every hamlet and town, and as an urgent need exists for a check of the spread of this malady in the state, county and city health officers are urged to use respective localities."

"Tabby" The Price Of Fishing Permit

HEREFORD, Aug. 14.—Fishermen of Hereford are being offered a rare chance to try their luck in the Tierra Blanca this summer. Roy Gough, manager of the Sulphur Park farm, is offering to exchange fishing privileges for cats. Manager Gough has several hundred White Leghorn chickens which are being bothered considerably by numberless rats. In order to be rid of the pest, he is making this unusual offer.

Sulphur Park farm is located six miles east of Hereford on the Tierra Blanca, in the best of the fishing regions. Whole families of cats are being carried out to the farm and fish are being carried away, according to recent reports to the West Texas chamber of commerce, whose officials recommend this plan.

PRO CZAR GOT LIQUOR TASTE

Had to Eat Rum-Soaked Pancakes or Starve On Ship

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—General Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of the prohibition forces, disclosed today that he had perhaps gotten a little taste of liquor on his trip to London in the form of solids.

"I think the captain of our vessel, on the return trip, permitted some pancakes soaked in rum to be served me," General Andrews said, "and I also tasted some iced sherbert which apparently had some champagne in it. But I told the captain it was all right, for I had to eat."

General Andrews returned to his desk today and prepared to set up immediately the machinery to carry out the rum smuggling agreement he worked out with British officials on his mission to England.

Enthusiastic over the result of his trip abroad and which he regards as prospects for improved prohibition enforcement at home Andrews gave assurance that he was not contemplating early retirement from office.

"It will take some time to complete reorganization of the prohibition forces and to work out the arrangements which I have just negotiated," he said. "I will be here for some time."

He added that he expected congress "to do its part and give me the legislation which I have asked and which I believe so necessary."

Mr. Andrews indicated he would ask Harry A. Anslinger, American consul at the Bahama Islands to take charge of the organization of the division of foreign control which we will set up to enforce the terms of the new American-British agreement. With the co-operation of the state and commerce departments, he said, he expects to use members of their organizations now stationed abroad in the work of the division.

Discussing conditions at home, he declared he hoped during the coming year to "concentrate on liquor traffic and the development of local law enforcement."

Conference September 10.

This program will be considered at a conference with all of the prohibition administrators about September 10.

In this connection, he said, he expected to name about five zone supervisors who would act as liason officers between the various administrators and himself and would have direction over prohibition, customs and the coast guard activities in their districts.

Commenting on the grand jury indictment of Colonel Ned M. Green, administrator for northern California and Nevada, for the alleged embezzlement of seized liquors, Andrews said he intended to make an immediate investigation of the affair.

Girl Prisoner Freed From Barn; Captor Escapes

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Margaret Solis, 14, San Antonio girl who has been missing from home since August 3, was released from bondage Saturday afternoon by Edinburg officers who found her in a deserted barn near that place.

A man who is said to have been the girl's abductor and to have held her in captivity in the isolated barn, escaped into Mexico shortly before the Edinburg officers arrived on the scene, according to information received here by Sheriff James Stevens. Although the girl was said to have been emaciated and haggard she had apparently suffered no great physical injury, according to the brief message received from Edinburg.

Plan Horse-Racing For San Angelo Fair

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 14.—One of the chief attractions of the All West Texas exposition for 1926, to be held here the last week in September, will be the five days of horse-racing, with a purse of $4,500 offered. The program scheduled is one of the largest racing cards ever held in Texas and entries are already being made by owners of good race horses.

The general program of the fair is complete, with a large number of entertainment features including two big football games, a premier horse show; Al Sweet's Cadet band from Chicago, with a combination of glee club and band; a gorgeous style review, and seven big hippodrome acts furnished the theatres by the World Amusement Association. There is also to be an interesting display of fireworks.

The fair officials are also planning to have a big exhibit program including livestock, farming and home demonstration departments.

1500 Troops For Corpus Christi Fete

DRUGGISTS TO BAR BOOTLEG

Man Who Sells Jake a Menace to Profession, Says Chairman

HOUSTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—War will be declared on the "bootlegging durggist" at the organization meeting at Houston September 7 and 8, of the Southeast Texas Retail Druggists association, according to C. R. Coston of Houston, chairman of the committee on arrangements. Three hundred druggists from Galveston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Orange, Houston and other points are expected.

"The menace to our profession," said Chairman Coston "is not the licensed pharmacists, who dispense narcotics and whiskey under permit but the fellow who profits from the sale of "jake" and other whiskey substitutes."

The program of the district meeting, Mr. Coston added, will be in line with the policy of the national association of retail druggists, which repeatedly has gone on record as opposed to the handling of whiskey through the drug store.

The Texas Retail Druggists will open their organiation meeting with a banquet September 7. The Southeast Texas association will serve as an auxiliary of the Texas pharmaceutical association.

75,000 BABIES KILLED BY FLIES

Dairymen Are Told How to Use Flit in Disease Prevention

An address delivered at the annual meeting of the Certified Milk Producers' Association of America, Hotel Biltmore, New York, February 1, 1926, by Evans E. A. Stone, representing the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

It has been estimated that not less than 75,000 infants lost their lives in one year due to diseases transmitted by flies. Flies are known carriers of typhoid, dysentery, tuberculosis and a score of other diseases that menace the health and threaten the lives of humanity.

Milk is the principal food of infants and children, expectant and nursing mothers, invalids, and convalescents. Impure milk would transmit diseases to those least able to withstand its attacks.

No wonder that as early as 1892, there was recognized by those engaged in the conservation of life and health of infants the need for a certified milk of greater purity. And no wonder that in formulating the methods and standards for the production and distribution of certified milk in 1923 the American Association of Medical Milk commissions specified in relation to milking stables that:

"All necessary measures should be taken to prevent the entrance of flies and other insects into stables and dairy buildings and proper methods adopted for their destruction if they gain access."

A little over three years ago the Standard Oil company of New Jersey became aware of the need for protecting and insecticide that could be safely used for the destruction of flies and other insects. Over 300 experiments with more than 70 different formulas were performed by expect chemists and entomologists on the various types of household insects.

The results of this work which certainly involved a more painstaking and thorough investigation of the subject than any hitherto undertaken, led to their placing on the market in 1923, a product for the destruction of flies and other insects under the name of Flit.

While milking stables in which certified milk is produced are almost invariably screened, screening is only partially effective due to the fact that the flies come into the stable with the cows. The usual procedure in dairy barns is to spray Flit on the cattle directly, lightly, starting just back of the head and working backward, omitting the udder. Then the entire room can be sprayed—the object being first to drive the flies from the cattle so the cattle will not be nervous and restless before milking.

Experienced dairymen tell us that the yield of milk is increased if cattle are not pestered with flies during milking.

If the cows and milking-stable are sprayed as soon as the cows come into it and before the udder is washed, there is no danger of Flit getting into the milk or imparting to it any objectionable odor, or taste. Moreover, Flit is non-poisonous—harmless to man but fatal to insects.

When flies are prevolena it is customary and desirable to spray the cattle just before they are again turned out to pasture, as it gives them considerable relief. Exhaustive tests under the supervision of a veterinarian authority have shown that cows are themselves unaffected by spraying with Flit and their hair is in no way injured.

Calves, heifers and cows were saturated with Flit and after a sufficient lapse of time, slaughtered for examination. They showed no external irritation. Morevower, no inflammation was present in the under layers of the skin and muscle tissues covered by treated areas.

Another place that Flit is used is in the milk receiving room. This is sprayed several times a day or as often as required to kill any flies that may be in the room and to keep others from entering.

During the suckling period, both mother and calf are sprayed with corresponding benefit.

Donley County Plans Big Fair

CLARENDON, Aug. 14.—At a meeting of the directors of the Clarendon chamber of commerce it was decided to put on a free agricultural fair sometime during September. Donley county at one time had one of the best fairs to be found in the Panhandle but on account of the World war interest died down and has never been received until recently when Secretary Holcomb had a number of conferences with different merchants, farmers and members of the different home demonstration clubs of the county after which it was decided that a agricultural fair can be arranged prior to the Amarillo fair. Special committees expect to work out the details at once for the awarding of ribbons and prizes to the winners of the exhibits.

Clarendon Reported On Building Boom

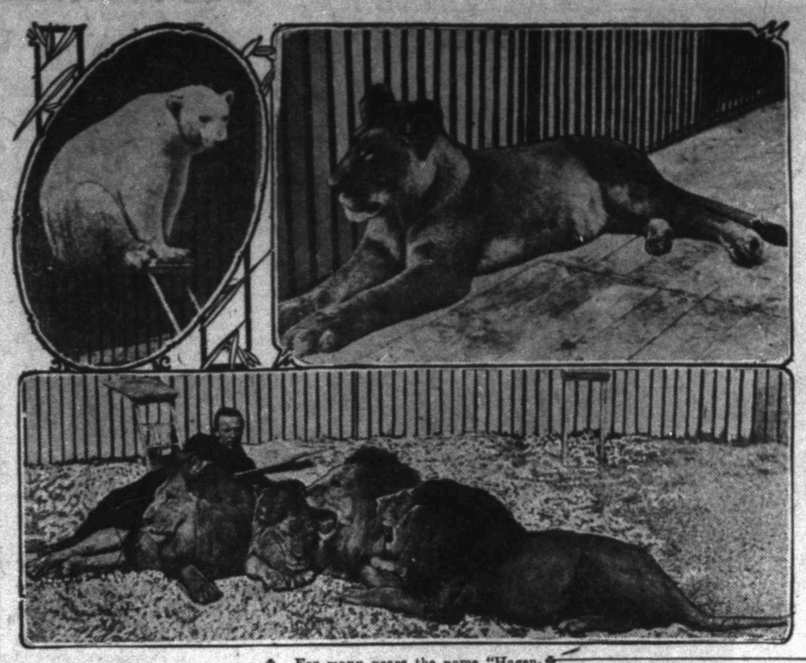

CLARENDON, Aug. 14. — The greatest building activity that this town has ever known is now under way. At the present time more than a dozen houses are now under construction with more than $100,000 in business houses under construction. Furnished rooms and houses to rent are more scarce than in any time since the town has had a college to attract people to live here. Business houses are leased months before they are finished and duplex houses are rented before the lumber is ever placed on the grounds for the building.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 14.—(AP)—James R. Sheffield, United States ambassador, left for Vera Cruz last night, there to take a steamer for New York. The entire diplomatic corps, representatives of the foreign office and other government officials and a large number of members of the American colony bade the ambassador forewell at the station. Mr. Sheffield maintained silence regarding the relations between Mexico and the United States.

During the absence of Mr. Sheffield, on his vacation, first secretary of the embassy, Arthur Bliss Lane, will be charge d'affaires. Mr. Sheffield is expected to return early in September.

Broke, Disgusted, Man to Hang For Murder of Woman

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 14.—(AP) Penniless and with his nearest relative, his brother, living in Germany, Paul W. Fuersten, former leader of the Camden Philharmonic orchestra was taken to the state prison at Trenton today to be electrocuted there the week of September 20 for the murder of Mrs. Harriet Vickers.

Fuersten whose trial lasted but three days, was found guilty yesterday of first degree murder. The jury was out a little more than an hour.

The crime for which the former orchestra leader was convicted was committed June 29, when he shot Mrs. Vickers, the mother of two young children during a quarrel in his apartment. Before she died Mrs. Vickers said he had shot her because she refused to elope with him to Germany. On the stand yesterday Fuersten said that Mrs. Vickers had taunted him because he had failed to give her a diamond ring. He said he had been drinking heavily and did not know why he shot her.

NO FISH IN THE LAKE

Secretary of Labor Davis Concedes Coolidge's Prowess as Fisherman

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. —After a day of fishing in the Arrow Head country Secretary of Labor James J. Davis conceded President Coolidge's prowess as a fisherman. The secretary didn't even get a bite. His alibi: It was Friday the thirteenth; the lake was rough; the wind was too high and there are no fish in the lake.

For many years the name "Hagenbeck" has ranked first relative to trained wild animals. In America, as in Europe, "Hagenbeck" has stood for superlative in the subjugation of jungle brutes. This fact is well known among the circus lovers and they know that Hagenbeck is always a bit in advance of other animal men.

It won't be many days before the Carl Hagenbeck-Great Wallace circus comes here for two exhibitions, as circus day is scheduled for Aug 16. And patrons will see the greatest array of animal acts ever presented as during the winter months the trainers have worked overtime perfecting the new displays.

Two of the outstanding subjugators with the Hagenback-Wallace circus are Clyde Beatty, the youthful American, and Robert McPherson, the experienced Scotchman. Beatty will handle the largest mixed group to ever appear in an arena, while McPherson will display his skill in handling ferocious Royal Bengal tigers.

Says Prosecution Malicious; Sues

The damage suit follows charge of theft, filed against Lugo, in connection with the disappearance of a bath tub, June 21. Lugo claims that he was acquitted in the county court on August 3. He contends that he was not guilty of theft, and that the charge against him on the part of the defendant was actuated by malice.

MAY MAKE GAS TAX FEDERAL

Differences for Each State Make Present System Impracticable

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 14.—(AP)—States must cooperate in making uniffrom laws governing taxes on gasoline or, on account of the interstate feature involved there will develop conflicts making it necessary to pass this function over to the federal government. This represents the concensus of those who attended the group conference of gas tax administrators from several western states, who have completed their work here.

Group conferences will follow at Atlanta, Ga., August 20, and Philadelphia September 22, after which the organization will be complete for the national conference to be held probably at St. Louis in November.

There exists a wide diversity in present state laws, according to William A. McAtee, Jefferson City, Mo., who is acting as secretary to all group conferences.

Of course not, you remonstrate. You're merely going to get in touch with your dealer to make sure of next winter's supply. Yet, what he'll deliver, AFTER A LARGE PAYMENT IN ADVANCE, is really only dust, smoke and ashes in the end.

The man who burns GAS in his furnace doesn't work in summertime or any time about next winter's fuel supply. He doesn't pay out money six months in advance for winter warmth . . . . . HE PAYS AFTER ENJOYING THE WARMTH. His wife has no ordeal with a tramped up lawn and a dirty, sooty house while getting the fuel into the bins. Slain Son's Honor At Stake Says Grayhaired Avenger From Tulsa

WILL TELL HIS TALE TO JURORS

A small gray-haired man, maybe 60 years old, is an ever-present figure in the corridors of the Wichita county court house these days. W. J. Marshall, he will tell you is his name—1210 South Florence Place Tulsa, his address. All this if you ask him, but not much else. "Here for a few days," he may tell you if you inspire his confidence; "Nice day, isn't it?" if he does not like your looks.

But to the district attorney and his assistants he has bared his soul. And they, respectors always of persons who come to them with clean hands, have accorded his story the sanctity of the confession.

This only will they say: That W. J. Marshall of Tulsa doesn't believe that his 21-year-old son, Charles Marshall, shot to death on the night of July 24 in the residence section of Wichita Falls, was in Henry Marshall's garage on Taylor street with the intent to rob him, and that all of the story as to what actually occurred on the night of the shooting has not been told.

Officers' Attitude.

And this they will add, if pressed,—that maybe there is something to what Marshall Sr. has to say after all.

And, if actions speak louder than words they may be said to be firmly convinced that there is something to what he has said, for Henry Marshall, arrested at first as a perfunctory matter incident to investigation, was re-arrested last week and put under a $10,000 bond to await action by the grand jury, charged formally with the murder of his cousin, Charles Marshall of Tulsa.

The known facts surrounding Marshall's shooting are about as follows: At midnight Saturday, July 17, Henry Marshall, driving into his garage at 1714 Taylor street, Wichita Falls, found awaiting him, he says, two men, one of whom pointed a gun at him and told him to "stick 'em up." Instead, according to the story he tells, he opened fire with his own gun, a .32 calibre automatic which he had drawn as he entered his drive-way, impelled, he says by a hunch that he might need it. Six or seen shots were fired, and the men that Marshall stated he had found awaiting him disappeared in the darkness. Henry Marshall immediately reported the affair to police. His car, a Chrysler roadster, bearing a Louisiana license, was riddled with bullets and his story of "burning it out with them" inside his garage was not questioned.

Find Boy's Body.

The next morning a neighbor boy discovered the dead body of a young man lying slumped in the high grass in his back yard. Officers found a trail of blood leading from the body to Marshall's garage. The body was carried to an undertaker, and six bullet holes counted. Around the neck a white handkerchief had been loosely tied and hidden between shirt and back was found a large roll of bills.

Henry Marshall was asked to come down and identify the body if he could.

He could. One glance at it and he told George Hodgins chief of police, that the dead man was his cousin, Charles Marshall of Tulsa, age 21.

Arrests followed thick and fast. Henry Marshall told officers that he had talked with his dead cousin Saturday afternoon at a local barber shop and had displayed to him a large roll of bills he took from his pocket in paying his check. Charles Marshall of Tulsa had been with certain other men at that time, he told officers, and pointed them out on the streets. With his help Freddie Keyes, Charlie Meade and R. C. Flowers were picked up, arrested, and charged with robbery with fire-arms. J. F. Linley was found later at Seymour with a bullet hole in his right hand, and was charged similarly.

Perfunctory Charge.

Henry Marshall himself was charged with murder a week after the shooting, a perfunctory matter it was said, and his bond set at $3,000.

Keys and Flowers secured their freedom on writs of habeas corpus. Linley, with the wounded arm, and Meade, only, were held.

So the matter rested when Marshall Sr. arrived the last time from Tulsa. The district attorney's office was inclined to put no other construction than highway robbery on the case, and the investigation had been closed to await action by the grand jury, which does not meet until October 1.

But within two or three days after Marshall Sr., began to be seen around the court house the district attorney announced that the investigation had been re-opened. On Saturday morning, August 7, Henry Marshall was re-arrested, his old bond cancelled and a new one of $10,000 required. "Investigation has revealed new facts" H. D. Bishop, assistant district attorney, stated at the time, "which puts a differetn light on the case. We ask the court for the increased bond." It was granted.

Tells Story Willingly

Henry Marshall's story is known. He told it willingly enough to newspaper men and police following the shooting. But of the other side of the shooting, the side that further investigation has revealed, this much only is known,—that the district attorney's office considered it of enough importance to require a $10,000 bond of Henry Marshall on the charge of murder pending action by the grand jury.

This other side, it now appears, must remain a secret until the day of the trial, for until then, W. J. Marshall has said that he will not talk, and the district attorney and his assistants have refused to commit themselves.

W. J. Marshall is still in Wichita Falls. Occasionally he is asked to sit in with the district attorney while some witness is examined. Always he is in the corridor just outside the door, ready to come when needed. His boy's name is at stake, he has been heard to say.

49 PADLOCKS FOR GALVESTON

Service Ordered On 25 New Houses In Anti-Rum War

GALVESTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—preparations were being made today to effect service on twenty-five additional padlock injunction orders issued by Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson against local establishments. Service has already been completed against twenty-four injunctions issued by Judge Hutcheson sevral weeks ago. The new orders bring the total injunctions to 49 and are the outcome of a series of liquor raids in which more than 100 arrests were made in all parts of the city.

Information as to the character of the establishments to be enjoined was withheld pending the serving of the injunctions. Defendants will be given twenty days in which to appear and show cause why the injunctions should not be made permanent. In case they should fail to appear judgment will be made by the court. All of the padlock orders are for a period of one year.

Discretion rests with the court as to whether the orders shall be made for one year or whether the defendants will be permitted to continue operations under bond.

SMALLPOX IN TEXAS GROWS

People Neglect to Safeguard By Vaccination, Says Health Officer

AUSTIN, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Smallpox is on the increase in Texas, the state board of health announced Saturday, pointing out 3,603 cases were reported to it for the first seven months of 1926, as compared with 857 for the same period of 1924 and 1,228 the first seven months of 1925.

"Vaccination is the only known method of preventing smallpox, and knowing this, it seems strange that people will neglect to safeguard themselves and children from this distressing and oftentimes fatal malady," Dr. H. O. Sappington, state health officer, said.

"The universal use of the automobile in cross country travel brings the smallpox menace to the door of every hamlet and town, and as an urgent need exists for a check of the spread of this malady in the state, county and city health officers are urged to use respective localities."

"Tabby" The Price Of Fishing Permit

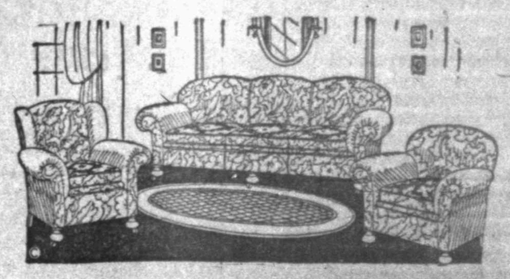

HEREFORD, Aug. 14.—Fishermen of Hereford are being offered a rare chance to try their luck in the Tierra Blanca this summer. Ike Gough, manager of the Sulphur Park farm, is offering to exchange fishing privileges for cats. Manager Gough has several hundred White Leghorn chickens which are being bothered considerably by numberless rats. In order to be rid of the pest he is making this unusual offer.

Sulphur Park farm is located six miles east of Hereford on the Tierra Blanca, in the best of the fishing regions. Whole families of cats are being carried out to the farm and fish are being carried away, according to recent reports to the West Texas chamber of commerce, whose officials recommend this plan.

Texas-Chicago Air Mail Ends First Quarter 97 Per Cent On Time; To Add Passenger Line

CHICAGO, Aug. 14—National Air Transport, Inc., this week completed the first three months operation of its 1000-mile Texas-Chicago line, with an average efficiency of over 97 per cent perfect.

Simultaneously with the closing of this first quarter-year of experimental flying, the general manager, Col. Paul Henderson, former second assistant postmaster general, announced that he had recommended to his board of directors that passenger service be established just as quickly as the necessary equipment can be produced. This anticipates by two years and a half the program contemplated by the National Air Transport when it began operations May 12.

"Our decision is based on operations, which have been far more successful than we had reason to expect from a pioneer effort, and is also greatly accelerated by the desire of the people in the southwest for quick transportation to Chicago and the east," said Colonel Henderson.

How They Flew.

Under contract with the postoffice department to fly the route from Dallas to Chicago via Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, Wichita, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Moline, Rock Island and Davenport—Just 1,000 miles—in an elapsed time of 710 minutes, N. A. T. ships showed an "on time" record of 99 per cent plus during the 20 days of May; 97.5 perfect during June; 98.6 per cent during July; and 94 per cent plus during the ten days in August. At Chicago, N. A. T. effects junction with the government-operated New York-Chicago overnight and transcontinental service. "Our service," said Colonel Henderson, "has been practically 100 per cent perfect from the southwest to Chicago. Only once in 91 days have we failed to deliver our cargo at Maywood, a large portion of which is through mail to New York, Philadelphia and Boston. That lapse occurred on May 18, when we deliberately held our northbound ship at Moline, due to the tornado which swept west of Chicago with such disastrous effects. Leaving Moline before dawn the following morning we had our mail on the eastbound transcontinental ship, leaving Maywood at 7:50 a. m.

Not So Good in East.

"On the other hand the government operations between New York and Chicago have been such as to necessitate N. A. T. leaving Chicago for the southwest on 22 of these 91 days before the New York air mail plane, operated by the government, arrived in Chicago, and this, notwithstanding the fact that National Air Transport's plane waited in Chicago two hours and 15 minutes after the hour scheduled for departure in the hopes that the New York ship would come through. The reason for this is that the flying between Chicago and New York is mad eextra difficult, due to the fogs which are frequently found over the Allegheny mountains. The government is attempting to fly this route with old-fashioned, single engined airplanes. Their old planes, are not as good, and their new planes are no better than those being used by the N. A. T. over the Texas-Chicago route where flying conditions are much easier. In my opinion it will be too much to hope that this New York-Chicago overnight service will improve until the government employs modern, three-motored airplanes for this flying. With this fact demonstrated to our satisfaction, the National Air Transport has had built for it by the Ford Motor Car company what is thought to be the most modern airplane of today. This airplane, made entirely of metal and equipped with three separate Wright Whirlwind engines, enhances performance and safety. If one of these three engines ceases to function properly the airplane is able to continue on its way. If two stop the third assures a safe landing by affording a greatly lengthened gliding range. About September 1, National Air Transport will run the first of its multi-motored airplanes over the Texas-Chicago route. Announcement as to the date passengers will be carried on schedule flights will be made shortly.

Fly Cargos 184,000 Miles.

In 91 days N. A. T. planes have flown 184,000 miles, with cargo. Ferrying of empty ships and the transportation of executives brings the total mileage up to about 200,000 for the quarter. The N. A. T. fleet, in addition to the Ford monoplane, comprises 10 Curtiss carrier pigeons, a DeHaviland and a Wright Whirlwind Travel Air. Out of 368 separate flights with mail, the route being split at Kansas City only 10 forced landings have been experienced. Of these only one was due to mechanical difficulty-radiator trouble. All other forced landings were caused by heavy weather. In every instance the pilots, after a short delay, proceeded on their way.

"The National Air Transport has made a phenomenal record in its operations from Texas to Chicago for the first three months of its existence," said Colonel Henderson. "The mail entrusted to it has been delivered practically on time every day. It hasn't had as much mail to carry as it expected to have and it hasn't had as much as it should have had, due largely to the fact that the government has so frequently failed to deliver eastern mail overnight to Chicago in time to connect with us. The effect of such failures is to irritate patrons and to very seriously embarrass our traffic solicitation. But even at that in the first quarter we have safely transported 22,669 pounds of mail—over 11 tons—and have given our patrons 97 per cent perfect service. Our daily load, consisting mostly of business letters averaging 40 to the pound, is now around 300 pounds."

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 14.—A bathing revue that will rival any ever held in the south will be one of the entertainment features of the port opening celebration to be held here September 14 and 15.

The executive committee in charge of the celebration has made it known that the revue "is open to the world." Every city in Texas has been invited to send an entry, various clubs and organizations having been urged to sponsor entries.

The capital prize of the revue will be $1,000 in cash. The second prize will be $450, the third $300. Four $100 prizes and a number of $50 prizes, all cash, will be given.

Los Angeles to Enter

Dewitt Reed, chairman of the bathing revue committee, announced a few days ago that a telegram had been received from the Los Angeles chamber of commerce, advising that an entry from that city would be here. Effort will be made to have the winner of the Atlantic City revue here for the competition. "It's up to Texas girls to show the world that the feminine pulchitrude of the Lone Star state equals any in the world," said Mr. Reed, in urging a large entry list.

The revue will be but one of a merry round of entertainment that will continue the entire day September 14. In addition there will be a water regatta, offering $2,500 in cash prizes. The world's fastest speed boats will be here, assurance of their entry already having been received.

Warships Booked

[Th]ree United Stat[es] [de]stroyers will be here for the celebration. The United States army in all probability will participate, although the details are yet to be worked out.

A historical pageant of the Progress of Corpus Christi will be presented. A gigantic street parade, combining the navy and army, and civic organizations, will open the event. The parade will end at the port of Corpus Christi where dedication ceremonies will be held.

The port of Corpus Christi, a federad project, is rapidly nearing completion. Everything will be in readiness for the celebration. Completed in less than four years from the time former president Warren G. Harding signed the bill, the construction of the local project is said to have established a new record in the annals of port construction. It is a model harbor in every way.

All railroads are offering reduced rates. Several cities will operate special trains. The rates, it is believed, will be unusually low.

A $5,000 fireworks display will end the events of the first day. The second day of the celebration will be devoted entirely to the entertainment of specially invited guests, according to the committee's plans.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The cotton market was fairly active today and the price trend was upward from the start and an advancing tendency was maintained practically through the trading. Liverpool was considerably higher than due and the market at the start was flooded with private advices of rapid crop deterioration due to the spread of the army worm and other insect pests particularly in Texas.

Prices opened 13 to 16 points up and advanced gradually with only minor reactions until near the end, an advance of 21 to 25 points was shown. The market closed a little off from the highest, showing net gains for the day of 19 to 24 points.

The census bureau made domestic consumption of limit cotton during July 460,918 bales against 483,926 in July last year. The British board of trade reported exports of cotton yarns during July of 12,000,000 pounds against 14,000,000 last year and made exports of cloths 360,000,000 square yards against 371,000,000 last year.

At the start Liverpool was firmer than due and the local market opened 13 to 16 points up. The market continued to gain and at the end of the first hour October was at 16.54, December at 16.45 and January at 16.41.

The market eased off some later but rallied again in the late trading and made new highs with October at 16.35, December at 16.47 and January at 16.45. The close was little off from the best. Exports for the day totalled only 200 bales.

No beef cattle arrived. Yearlings and heifers confined to few head in the $5.00 spread.

Three cars good butcher cows $5.00 redeemed the she stock market from being nominal. This deal made cow market steady with the close of Friday. Another sale of butcher cows at $4.60 looked in line with the preceding transaction. Canners $2.25 and up.

Bulls steady at $3.00 and up, for canner bulls and $4.00 for bolognas.

The sole deck of calves on the market made but $5.00, but scattering sales looked steady at $7.00@8.50 for a few lights and $5.50 down for the throwouts.

No hogs here to make a market.

Arrivals in the sheep house seven decks of wethers and two decks of feeder yearlings at a late hour. Lambs and yearlings cleared at $10.00@12.00, wethers unsold.

THE DAY IN WICHITA FALLS

BLUFF

THAT humanity is suffering and always has suffered from an acute attack of "shamitis" is the opinion of Paul Kimball, the author of a recent prize-winning novel. What he means is that the world has always tried to put over a bluff, that people lose their real happiness in attempting to equal or outdo the display made by others. "Putting on the dog," is the common term which he uses in describing the most general human activity.

There is something in what he says, although his picture may be somewhat overdrawn. There probably never was an age in which there was greater evilence of the desire not only to emulate others, but to surpass them in the superficial achievements of life. The attainments reached in this way are hardly worth the struggle to secure them.

Contests of physical and intellectual prowess have always been held in high honor. It is right that they should. They give a test of character as well as of skill. The very contests themselves bring character and skill. They create permanent values.

This cannot be said of many of the contests that go on today and always have. The savage chieftain who took pride in his more elaborate tattoo marks or in the greater brilliance of his accoutrements, was little different from those who today buy a high-priced automobile which they cannot afford and do not need, simply because some neighbor has bought one. This is a foolish proceeding and yet it is the type of thing that is going on all the time, and that causes no end of unhappiness.

If people could only learn to live naturally, toiling to secure that which they actually need and paying more attention to the improvement of their minds and souls than to the accumulation of that which is only used for display, the world would be better.

What takes place among individuals also takes place among nations, and this is a potent cause of war. No nation is content with its legitimate place in the sun. Each of them wants a superior place, and to a certain extent each of them "throws a bluff," which causes others to do the same thing. The result is a mad race to get prestige and power that are not needed and are not useful, and only lead to conflict and hatred. What humanity needs as much as anything is simplicity of desire in material things, and loftiness of desire in the things of the mind and the spirit.

DRY HUMOR

CONTRARY to an old belief the English possess a sense of humor. At times it is keen. This was shown in various instances during the visit to London of Brig. Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, who was seeking British cooperation in cutting off the liquor streams.

The British first attempted to make General Andrews "eat crow" by serving liquors of rare vintage at the first great banquet in his honor. He sidestepped rather neatly, however. And then the great cut-glass water pitcher that kept him supplied with ice water in his hotel room was called "General Andrews."

Perhaps the shaft most neatly barbed with humor was hurled at Uncle Sam by the Illustrated Sunday Herald of London. In commenting on America's "recent, almost feverish interest in the Bahama islands," this journal sagely asks, "What would Uncle Sam offer for that eligible group of islands?"

"We have a vision," this newspaper says, "of a happy world in which America has the rum-runners by the heels and Great Britain, after recording the transaction on the cash register, is cheerfully singing, 'Yes, We Have No Bahamas.'"

WHERE THEY WEAR 'EM

ACCORDING to a member of the National Jewelers association, the modern girl does not wear enough clothing to wear jewelry on. As a result the women of today are taking to wearing expensive jewelry out of sight of the male glance, such as jewel garter buckles and lingerie sets. Where did he get his information? Is he married? Or is he a bachelor? Lastly, what is it to him where the modern woman wears their jewelry? She buys and she pays. It is her own business. Why should the male glance worry? If his eyesight is bad let him consult the nearest oculist.

EDMONDS HAS SPOKEN

IT is all settled now. Richard H. Edmonds has spoken. Henceforth all Americans should hold their tongues. Richard H. is the editor of the Manufacturers' Record of Baltimore. He does not speak for himself. He speaks for millions of Americans. He admits it and glorifies in it.

He cabled Georges Clemenceau that 'millions of Americans agree with every word of your letter to President Coolidge. Millions of Americans deeply regret that for its own honor this country has not cancelled the alleged indebtedness of France, and other allies for the money it advanced with which to carry on a war for world civilization and our national safety."

There are men who speak lightly of $11,000,000,000. This Baltimore colonel is one of them. He favors the cancellation of all the war loans and is perfectly willing that the $11,000,000,000 debt should be lifted from the shoulders of Europeans to the shoulders of Americans who saved their allies from the Hohenzollern sword.

Colonel Edmonds should dismiss the president. He should dismiss Andrew W. Mellon from the head of the treasury. He should take over the job himself. Then Old Glory will be spotless. Then Americans honor will not be tarnished. Then all the war loans will be cancelled. Then the diggers of America will be permitted to work for 50 years to pay their own war bills and the $11,000,000,000 loaned to the nations which were saved from the kaiser's sword.

BEER BARONS ON THE RUN

CHICAGO gangland is without the king. All the chief gangsters have been murdered by rival gangsters, or are in jail or fugtitives from justice. All of the beer barons that escaped the bullets of gangsters are in jail or on the run.

Senator James A. Reed of Missouri had something to do with it. He uncovered a political rottenness in Chicago and down state. He has the evidence that it cost a million dollars to defeat a United States senator and to place the pet candidate of the republican bosses on the official ballot for that high office. Big business, that is the heads of the big business, contributed the million dollars.

Beer barons who escaped the automatic pistol did not escape the sleuths of the law. Owners of the machine guns, three in number, are dead. They purchased the machine guns in eastern cities to arm their hired assassins. Now the graveyard contains four of the five beer barons and many of their hired assassins sleep in nameless graves in the potters field while the gallows and the penitentiary are yawning for the criminals behind the bars. It is never safe to fall into the net spread by outsafe to fall into the net spread by outraged justice.

WHY NOT CANCEL IT ALL

SO long as we seek to collect these debts, we are not following the golden rule, but are violating every principle of humanity and christianity," cabled Colonel Richard H. Edmonds of Maryland to Tiger Clemenceau of France. Millions of Americans take heart in the belief that your appeal will stir the deepest depth that sense of honor and responsibility to the world which commands us to realize that unto him much has been given, of him much will be required.

Why not ask the financiers of America, the money loaning concerns of America, the banks of America and all Americans who saved some of their earnings for investment purposes to cancel all the loans made in war time on the American side of the blue Atlantic.

It is said that charity begins at home. Why not cancel all the debts of the world, both principal and interest, and then let the diggers or the wealthmakers of America shoulder the burdens of the world.

METHODISTS LEAD ALL

AMERICAN churchmen gave $640,000,000 to religion last year. Those who compiled the figures say the combined totals of the north and south branches of the Methodists were $135,000,000; Baptists $70,000,000, Presbyterians, $72,500,000; Episcopalians $39,000,000; Congregationalists $26,500,000; Disciples of Christ $20,600,000; Roman Catholics $168,000,000; Jews $18,500,000; miscellaneous organizations $10,500,000. Money makes the world go round.

What Every Golfer Doesn't Know —By Jas. J. Montague

"Yes, the place is full of people, and they all pay twenty-five a day and upward for their accomodations," said the proprietor of the Duck Notch Inn. "It was partly due to Bill there. He didn't lose anything by it, either. He was only getting twenty a week and board as head clerk when he came here. I raised him to twenty-five right off when I saw he had genius for the hotel business, and he don't eat with the help any more. Gets the same kind of meals the guests do almost. And he earned it.

"When we laid the place out we figured we would have to have a golf course, and we sent for one of those scientific engineers who laid out one for us. It was a wonder when he got it built, tournament length, with the holes all named after well-known New England statesmen, and little kiosks all along where you could get soft drinks.

"I sent down for a couple of swell professionals to open it, and establish a record, and I ran up a special train full of distinguished golfers to watch 'em. We got a lot of publicity out of it, and I thought the place was made. The pros said it was the toughest course they ever played over, and I supposed of course, that would be a big drawing card.

"Well, I was wrong. A lot of people come up at first, and stuck around here trying the course. But they all came in at night low in their minds, and allowing they guessed they would give up the game. I used to stand out on the porch and listen to 'em of an evening.

"'It's funny,' one of them would say, 'I can shoot a hundred and ten and under at home, but the best I can get up here is a hundred and fifty. This mountain air must be bad for the heart or something.'

"'I feel the same way about it,' another would chip in. 'I drove sixteen balls off that Daniel Webster tee, and every one of them landed in the brook. Do you suppose there's anything the matter with the grub they give you here?'

"'It tastes all right,' another would say, 'but my health ain't been so good since I've been in the place. I've got no right to take eighteen strokes on that Rufus Choate hole, when I can do the first hole at home in seven every time. My nerves is all shot. I'm going home tomorrow.'

"A lot of 'em did go home, too. We redoubled our advertising campaign, and I hired a smart press agent who got the name of the hotel and told about the course in all the papers. People came up in little bunches for a while, and then went away, till by and by we had nobody but dowagers and their flapper daughters, and soon they went away because there weren't any men around the place. We had a rotten year, and it looked like bankruptcy for the company and the air for me.

"At the close of the season Bill came to me and said he had an idea that there would be money in. I never got an idea from a man on the desk yet, but I was desperate and willing to listen to anything, so I told him to shoot.

"'I like it up here,' says Bill, 'and I want to work here next summer, which I can't do if the place goes busted.'

"Before I could get mad at that he goes on: 'Let me build over your golf course and I'll have your hotel full of people all next summer, and more trying to wedge themselves in.'

"'Good gosh, man,' I told him, 'that golf course was built by the best engineer in the business. What chance would a hick hotel clerk have of improving it?'

"'Listen, Boss,' says Bill, 'I'm a student of human nature, and I know something about golf too.' Then he gave me his idea. I was a little doubtfull at first, for I had heard them fellows bragging about their games and how they went from place to place seeking the tough courses and establishing records on them. But what he said seemed so reasonable that I finally consented and persuaded the board to give me another twenty-five thousand dollars to experiment with. Then Bill went to work.

"He didn't make the course any shorter, but he just sort of scooped the fairways out in the middle, so they were sort of grooved like, and he cut down all the rough till there was no trouble about clouting a ball out of it.

"He shortened the water holes so that a chap with one of those slanting clubs would get a ball over them. Also he cut down forty or fifty trees, and moved the sandtraps over to where you couldn't get into them except by accident.

The greens were all arranged so that a ball which reached the edges of them would skitter right down to the hole.

"The next thing he done was to rebuild the greens, so that nearly all of them were bowl shaped, although only two or three of them showed it when you looked at 'em. But they were all arranged so that a ball which reached the edges of them would skitter right down to the hole and stop within a few inches of it.

"It took him all the fall to get the job done and the grass started on the places he'd changed. Then he asked me to come out and play over the course with him. I'm a dub golfer myself, but to my surprise I got around nine holes in forty-five, which, considering that it usually took me eighty for the same nine, seemed little short of a miracle. Bill did them in thirty-six.

"Well, we appropriated more money for advertising and we did get a crowd up, at the start.

"Most of 'em went right out on the course as soon as they got here and that night they all come in smiling and happy and comparing their scores.

"'Great air in this place,' I heard one old gentleman say that night. 'Puts me right on my game. I've played better than I have for two years.'

"It's a tricky course, all right,' said his playing partner, 'but when you've mastered its difficulties you do very well on it. I got around in seventy-eight. Not bad for an old man, what?'

"They all had the same story to tell. It was the food and the bracing climate that did it. They said they would go back home and show their cards, and the boys would see that they were out of the duffer class. The home course was all right, but a fellow never was in top form down at sea level, while here he got into shape right away, and shot the way he ought to shoot.

"We didn't get any professionals up, for Bill warned me against it. He did, however, hire a school mate of his who was a rotten player to be our pro, and he made him go out and play with all the guests who didn't have a match, and let the guests beat him. And the old birds would come in and tell all over the place that they had got so good they could beat the pro, and say this was the most wonderful hotel, and had the most wonderful golf course to be found in the world.

"Now and then some kid would come up and play around in about fifty, and kick because the course was so easy, but even he would be proud of his fifty, and figure that maybe it was his good playing that did it. So we got the house full right away and it's been that way ever since.

"I believe if you started a ball off the first tee and kicked it along with your foot you would sink it on the third kick, for if it just followed the line of the least resistance it wouldn't help rolling right to the pin. But nobody has got onto that yet, and they wouldn't care if they did. They thought their skill was what had done it.

"So I gave Bill the extra five dollars a week, for he'd earned it. We declared a twenty-five dividend that fall, and my salary was raised five thousand a year. The board kicked when I asked for it, but when I convinced them that I was responsible for the big improvement in the business they finally agreed. A man who don't know how good he is don't get along in this world.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BL MARY BLAKE.

Leo.

Today's planetary aspects are benign, without being actively favorable. They are, in every sense, appropriate for the observances and recreations of a Sunday. There will not be sensed any great urge to indulge in many activities, but there will be experienced a feeling of contentment and self-satisfaction, all of which must inevitably promote and foster good fellowship. In the evening, the aspects become rather clouded and, at this time, care must be taken to avoid hastiness or impulsiveness, as one ill-considered word or act may mar a day that should only be typical of tranquility and peace.

Children born today will, according to the signs, enjoy an exceptional measure of pulchritude, and although during infancy, their physical condition may cause occasional worry and anxiety, the astrogical indications point to the attainment of physical normalcy long before they reach their 'teens. In disposition, they will have great charm, which will enable them to "get away" with much that would provoke punishment in another. This, however, will not mar their general cleanliness of thought and goodness of action, nor will it destroy their generous and affectionate impulses. They will be fairly studious and always show a laudable desire to do well all tasks entrusted to them.

If today is your birthday, you have an aggressive disposition and your best friends are often grieved that you carry a permanent chip on your shoulder. You seem to labor under the impression that everyone's hand is against you, and that necessity compels you to always "don battling armor." This antagonises many who, under other conditions, would be your friends. You are always berating your luck and forget that "we are our own fates, and that our own acts are our doomsmen," you are not, however, easily discouraged, even though your plans often go wrong. You are aspiring, versatile and at all times, arbitrary. Intellectually, you are neith- to serve as a very valuable asset. Your reading is desultory but, if you could concentrate on one subject and master it, your chances of ultimate success would be augmented.

Successful people born today are: er giant nor dwarf. Your knowledge is, however, of too general a character

The Married Life of Helen And Warren

"Got your name, ma'am," persisted Nora. "He showed me the tag."

"What's that?" Warren threw down his paper. "That trunk here? Didn't think they'd send it tonight."

"Yes, bring it in. Jove, it's a whopper! Wait, I'll give you a hand."

"Oh, be careful—the hall table! Dear, what is it? Whose is it?"

"Yours now," brusquely. "Where d' you want it?" helping the expressman. "In the library—till you get it unpacked? Great guns, it's heavy!"

A large leather-bound trunk. Much traveled. Steamer and foreign labels. And on one end, the initials, "L. M. V."

"Warren, what DOES it mean? What's in it?"

"Open it and see," he chuckled. "What the Sam Hill'd I do with the key?" fumbling in his pocket. "Here we are."

Unlocked, and the rusty clamps forced down, he stepped back.

"Now, go to it!"

Beneath—velvet and brocades! Evening gowns!

"Warren, tell me—don't tease me! WHOSE trunk is it?"

"Yours, I told you. Dig in and see what you find. Enough junk there to keep you out of mischief for a while."

Excited, bewildered, Helen shook out a gray and silver brocade. Whalebone waist and full skirt—the quaint style of the eighties.

"Not her clothes?"

"No, that was too raw. Executors wouldn't stand for it. Sold five trunks to a second-hand man. Found two more today—stored away for years. Dawson said he'd take one if I'd take the other. What you can't use—give away."

"Oh, they're wonderful things. Gorgeous materials! What did you pay?"

"Same as the dealer. He took 'em so much a trunk. Now, never mind how much. What's underneath?" lifting out the tray.

"Why, don't you know? You didn't buy it unopened?"

The odor of camphor, lavender, and years.

A page from the London "Ladies' Realm." A picture of "Mrs. Frederick Van Doren of New York" in her presented-at-Court gown!

"Oh, what a hard face! I didn't think she'd look like that. But this gown—this lace. It can't be real—Yes, it IS! Dear, what DID you pay?"

"Seventy dollars for the lot," he grinned. "Trunk and all."

"Only seventy? Why, this lace bertha is worth that!" examining the bodice.

"The junkman got the five trunks for seventy per. They were glad to get rid of these at the same price. Thought it'd be worth that for you to play with—even if you give most of it away."

"Give most of it away? These old brocades—wonderful for cushions. And lamp shades! This silver-cloth evening wrap! Why can't I have that made over?"

"Huh, since when d'you wear hand-me-downs? Here, scoot—nothin' for you," at Pussy Purr-Mew's sniffing reconnoitres.

"But I can't buy material like this—they don't make it now."

Well you're not goin' to keep it all. Just clutter up the place. Now fix up a bundle for Carrie—they'll be in with the car tomorrow."

"Dear, I want time to look them over first. I don't know what I can use."

"Now, you don't keep it all. You cough up some for Carrie."

"I've not seen half of them yet. No, Pussy Purr-Mew, nothing here for you," again lifting her out of the trunk. "Oh, look—a tiny lace parasol."

"What's it for? A youngster?"

"No they used those tiny ones—in carriages. A real antique! And look—this ivory handle."

"So you think I didn't get stung, eh?"

"I wonder what was in the trunk Mr. Dawson got? Oh, why didn't you buy both?"

"Tuh, nothin' 'bout you! Haven't you got enough there to fuss over?

"White velvet slippers. Bond street," examining the gilt lettering inside. "Huge! But the pearl buckles—I can use those."

"Hello, what's this?" Warren pounced on an old scrap-book in the bottom of the tray. "Huh, kept her press agent busy."

Broodingly, Helen pored over it. How futile and fleeting it all seemed now. Of all that pomp and glitter—what remained? Wealth could not give permanence.

"Well, you keep on digging," Warren turned to the desk. "I got to get off some letters."

Half the trunk still to be explored. A treasure-trove orgy! Helen fairly purred.

Arose silk tea-gown, cascades of lace down the front. Yards of silk in it. Just the thing for the bedroom lamp shades.

Eagerly Helen opened it.

Mourning things A crepe veil, black-bordered handkerchief, long suede gloves. All new. Never worn. Why?

Another box. A Rue Royale label. A lingerie petticoat—hand embroidered. Full enough for two. Aunt Amelia would love it—she always wore petticoats.

All the materials—satins, velvets, brocades—good as new. Only the stiff taffeta linings cracked in the creases.

A pale blue silk. Wasp waist and Point d'Esprit fichu. Full skirt with scalloped ruchings. A quaint Valentine type.

The impulse to try it on—irresistible!

"Dear, look—isn't this quaint?" with an old-fashioned courtesy. "No, I won't go away until you look at me."

"Huh, full enough," glancnig up. "Took a bolt to make a dress in those days."

"Yes, yards in it—and all this ruching. But doesn't it suit me?" angling for something more personal. "Don't I look like an old print? now preening before the mantel mirror.

"Here, no time for that," never gratifying her urge for compliments. "After 11. Goin' to leave all this stuff out? Better chuck it back in the trunk."

"No, no, they're so creased. I want to spread them out. Yes, you'll be shut up in the kitchen," as Pussy Purr-Mew scampered after a trailing flounce.

Nine in all. And still more to unpack.

Wrong to read it? So long ago—it could not matter now.

"I leave for Australia tonight. But any time a word will bring me back—for you. Out there we could defy conventions—no one would know or care.

Life is so short. Why not take what little happiness it offers? But at least we have the memory of those two days at B———.

W. G. K."

So Mrs. Van Doren had had her clandestine romance! Again Helen studdied the picture in the "Ladies' Realm."

How could that hard face have inspired that letter? But written years before. The lavender silk of an earlier period—and slimmer waist.

"Dear, read this! From one of the pockets," laying it on the desk before him.

"Huh, didn't she have sense enough to burn a letter like that?"

"Maybe she wanted to keep it," sentimentally.

"Anybody's a darn fool to keep letters."

"I'm glad that didn't go to the second-hand man," watching it curl in the flame. "Think, dear, with all her wealth—She had everything. Yet, at the end, no one cared enough to save her clothes and love letters from the the junkman."

"Yes, that's life, all right," crushing the charred fragments. "Well, after we're gone, don't much matter what they do with our old duds—or letters either."

"We haven't any the whole world couldn't read," exultantly. "I'm too crazy about you," purring over him, "to even think of encouraging anybody else."

"Encourage?" elbowing her away as he sealed his letters. "Any stamps? Who've you got to encourage?"

"But I could have!" giving him the stamp box. "You don't think I couldn't?" flushed and bristling. "Just because I never even look at anybody—you think I couldn't—"

"Don't be so sure. Not a bad lookin' little mug," tilting it. "But I don't see 'em standin' in line. What's that? Then don't be always handin' yourself bouquets. Great guns, you're insatiable!" pounding a stamp with his fist. "Well, got to mail these. You be ready to turn in when I get back. Up late all this week. Now, no more romancing over that junk tonight!"

COUNTY AGENT INSPECTS CROP

No Cotton Fleas But Weevils May Prove Bad, He Says

Guy R. Jones, county agent for Wichita county Tuesday made a brief inspection of the cotton in the vicinity of Iowa Park and Wednesday inspected crops between Wichita Falls and Electra, for the purpose of ascertaining whether there is any insect damage to the crop and to what extent it is likely to go.

"There is no evidence whatsoever of the cotton flea in this section, it evidently having been burned out during the past few hot days," Mr. Jones stated, "however there is considerable indications of damage from the boll worm. In some sections this pest has not made its appearance, but there are a few in almost every field, and in one 1,200 acre field near Electra they seemed to be pretty bad. What the cotton crop needs now is hot weather and lots of it."

Situation Critical

North Texas and the Wichita area have a good crop looming up but just now the growers are facing a delicate situation which may mean the loss of thousands of bales through insects and pests. If the boll worm gets well started the crop will be cut short perceptibly.

Mr. Jones stated that he had found the best corn crop ever raised in this section practically made and the maize, kaffir corn and grain sorghums all looking good for bumper yields. There will be more feed on the farms this year than ever before and with a small grain crop of excellent yield already harvested the feed outlook could not be better.

There are a few crops of alfalfa in this country all of which have done well. Some of the fields have been out three and four times this season.

Inspects Truck

The county agent also inspected some of the fall plantings of potatoes in the irrigated belt, which were planted about three weeks ago, and finds most of them coming up to a good stand, which is rather unusual for this crop in this country.

All vegetables are now past their prime production period but cantaloupes and watermelons are still coming in strong and are of fine quality.

"In fact," Mr. Jones stated, "my report on the general crop condition for the Wichita area, is one of general prosperity and a bumper crop of nearly everything that was planted. There is not a crop that has made a total failure and practically all of them look the best ever produced here."

Texas-Chicago Air Mail Ends First Quarter 97 Per Cent On Time; To Add Passenger Line

CHIAGO, Aug. 14—National Air Transport, Inc., this week completed the first three months operation of its 1000-mile Texas-Chicago line, with an average efficiency of over 97 per cent perfect.

Simultaneously with the closing of this first quarter-year of experimental flying, the general manager, Col. Paul Henderson, former second assistant postmaster general, announced that he had recommended to his board of directors that passenger service be established just as quickly as the necessary equipment can be produced. This anticipates by two years and a half the program contemplated by the National Air Transport when it began operations May 12.

"Our decision is based on operations, which have been far more successful than we had reason to expect from a pioneer effort, and is also greatly accelerated by the desire of the people in the southwest for quick transportation to Chicago and the east," said Colonel Henderson.

How They Flew.

Under contract with the postoffice department to fly the route from Dallas to Chicago via Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, Wichita, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Moline, Rock Island and Davenport—Just 1,000 miles—in an elapsed time of 710 minutes, N. A. T. ships showed an "on time" record of 99 per cent plus during the 20 days of May: 97.5 perfect during June; 98.6 per cent during July; and 94 per cent plus during the ten days in August. At Chicago, N. A. T. effects junction with the government-operated New York-Chicago overnight and transcontinental service. "Our service," said Colonel Henderson, "has been practically 100 per cent perfect from the southwest to Chicago. Only once in 91 days have we failed to deliver our cargo at Maywood, a large portion of which is through mail to New York, Philadelphia and Boston. That lapse occurred on May 18, when we deliberately held our northbound ship at Moline, due to the tornado which swept west of Chicago with such disastrous effects. Leaving Moline before dawn the following morning we had our mail on the eastbound transcontinental ship, leaving Maywood at 7:50 a. m.

Not So Good in East.

"On the other hand the government operations between New York and Chicago have been such as to necessitate N. A. T. leaving Chicago for the southwest on 22 of these 91 days before the New York air mail plane, operated by the government, arrived in Chicago, and this, notwithstanding the fact that National Air Transport's plane waited in Chicago two hours and 15 minutes after the hour scheduled for departure in the hopes that the New York ship would come through. The reason for this is that the flying between Chicago and New York is mad eextra difficult, due to the fogs which are frequently found over the Allegheny mountains. The government is attempting to fly this route with old-fashioned, single engined airplanes. Their old planes, are not as good, and their new planes are no better than those being used by the N. A. T over the Texas-Chicago route where flying conditions are much easier. In my opinion it will be too much to hope that this New York-Chicago overnight service will improve until the government employs modern, three-motored airplanes for this flying. With this fact demonstrated to our satisfaction, the National Air Transport has had built for it by the Ford Motor Car company what is thought to be the most modern airplane of today. This airplane, made entirely of metal and equipped with three separate Wright Whirlwind engines, enhances performance and safety. If one of these three engines ceases to function properly the airplane is able to continue on its way. If two stop, the third assures a safe landing by affording a greatly lengthened gliding range. About September 1, National Air Transport will run the first of its multi-motored airplanes over the Texas-Chicago route. Announcement as to the date passengers will be carried on schedule flights will be made shortly.

Fly Cargos 184,000 Miles.

In 91 days N. A. T. planes have flown 184,000 miles, with cargo. Ferrying of empty ships and the transportation of executives brings the total mileage up to about 200,000 for the quarter. The N. A. T. fleet, in addition to the Ford monoplane, comprises 10 Curtiss carrier pigeons, a DeHaviland and a Wright Whirlwind Travel Air. Out of 368 separate flights with mail, the route being split at Kansas City only 10 forced landings have been experienced. Of these only one was due to mechanical difficulty-radiator trouble. All other forced landings were caused by heavy weather. In every instance the pilots, after a short delay, proceeded on their way.

"The National Air Transport has made a phenomenal record in its operations from Texas to Chicago for the first three months of its existence," said Colonel Henderson. "The mail entrusted to it has been delivered practically on time every day. It hasn't had as much mail to carry as it expected to have and it hasn't had as much as it should have had, due largely to the fact that the government has so frequently failed to deliver eastern mail overnight to Chicago in time to connect with us. The effect of such failures is to irritate patrons and to very seriously embarrass our traffic solicitation. But even at that in the first quarter we have safely transported 22,669 pounds of mail—over 11 tons—and have given our patrons 97 per cent perfect service. Our daily load, consisting mostly of business letters averaging 40 to the pound, is now around 300 pounds."

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 14.—A bathing revue that will rival any ever held in the south will be one of the entertainment features of the port opening celebration to be held here September 14 and 15.

The executive committee in charge of the celebration has made it known that the revue "is open to the world." Every city in Texas has been invited to send an entry, various clubs and organizations having been urged to sponsor entries.

The capital prize of the revue will be $1,000 in cash. The second prize will be $450, the third $300. Four $100 prizes and a number of $50 prizes, all cash, will be given.

Los Angeles to Enter

Dewitt Reed, chairman of the bathing revue committee, announced a few days ago that a telegram had been received from the Los Angeles chamber of commerce, advising that an entry from that city would be here. Effort will be made to have the winner of the Atlantic City revue here for the competition. "It's up to Texas girls to show the world that the feminine pulchitrude of the Lone Star state equals any in the world," said Mr. Reed, in urging a large entry list.

The revue will be but one of a merry round of entertainment that will continue the entire day September 14. In addition there will be a water regatta, offering $2,500 in cash prizes. The world's fastest speed boats will be here, assurance of their entry already having been received.

Warships Booked

ree United Stat" ' stro-ers will be here for the celebration. The United States army in all probability will participate, although the details are yet to be worked out.

A historical pageant of the Progress of Corpus Christi will be presented, A gigantic street parade, combining the navy and army, and civic organizations, will open the event. The parade will end at the port of Corpus Christi where dedication ceremonies will be held.

The port of Corpus Christi, a federad project, is rapidly nearing completion. Everything will be in readiness for the celebration. Completed in less than four years from the time former president Warren G. Harding signed the bill, the construction of the local project is said to have established a new record in the annals of port construction. It is a model harbor in every way.

All railroads are offering reduced rates. Several cities will operate special trains. The rates, it is believed, will be unusually low.

A $5,000 fireworks display will end the events of the first day. The second day of the celebration will be devoted entirely to the entertainment of specially invited guests, according to the committee's plans.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The cotton market was fairly active today and the price trend was upward from the start and an advancing tendency was maintained practically through the trading. Liverpool was considerably higher than due and the market at the start was flooded with private advices of rapid crop deterioration due to the spread of the army worm and other insect pests particularly in Texas.

Prices opened 13 to 16 points up and advanced gradually with only minor reactions until near the end, an advance of 21 to 25 points was shown. The market closed a little off from the highest, showing net gains for the day of 19 to 24 points.

The census bureau made domestic consumption of limit cotton during July of 12,000,000 pounds against 14,000,000 last year and made exports of cloths 360,000,000 square yards against 371,000,000 last year.

At the start Liverpool was firmer than due and the local market opened 13 to 16 points up. The market continued to gain and at the end of the first hour October was at 16.54, December at 16.45 and January at 16.41.

The market eased off some later but rallied again in the late trading and made new highs with October at 16.35, December at 16.47 and January at 16.45. The close was little off from the best. Exports for the day totalled only 200 bales.

Archer and Wichita Wildcat Completions Hold Oil Interest

DISCOVERIES SLOWING DOWN

Owners Hasten to Study Value of Acreage Near New Wells

There were no new discoveries of importance to break the calm of a more or less quiet week among the oil fraternity in the Dichita district, although the activity is still going strong in the new fields, as the lease owners hasten to determine the values of their close-up acreage to the recent new wildcat completions in Archer and Wichita counties. A slight slowing up in the number of new locations for wildcat tests is noticeable, but this is an every year occurrence and seems to have been put off longer than usual this particular year, which has been a successful one so far as concerns opening up of new producing territory.

The busiest spot in the district at this time is the area around the new Simms field in block 172 of the Turbeville land and in the Carson survey of Archer county. The Marland and Texas companes have both completed nice wells on their leases to the south of the discovery well, as also has the Simms company by completing a nice offset to the wells of the above mentioned companies. There are possibly ten tests going down at this time in that vicinity and new locations are being made every day.

American Test.

To the northeast of the Simms field, approximately two miles, and in block 150 of the same survey and also on the Turbeville land, the American Refining Company et al, are completing their second test and it is showing for a nice well, filling up 250 feet in 30 minutes from five feet of sand topped at 1500 feet. To the southeast of this well which is 437 feet south of the discovery well, Simms and the Consolidated companies have spudded on their test in the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of block 146.

In the Olney area, a number of nice completions were registered, among the proven leases, but none were of larger than usual production. The Roberts Oil Company and the Pandem Corporation, each brought in a 60-barrel pumper on their leases in section 166, T. E. and survey and on the Rogers and Whitehead fee in Young county and southwest of Olney.

Murchison And Fain.

Murchison and Fain have a 40-barrel pumper in their second well on the W. J. Logan land, Allison Armes survey in southwest Archer county. The well, producing from a sand at 1115-28 feet is showing up better than the discovery well and makes the possibilities of that area look much brighter.

Wichita county experienced another bit of the spotlight when a new well was brought in the first of the week by Ross Brothers on the Mitchell land and in the Patience Castleman survey, southwest of Iowa Park. The well which swabbed 65 barrels in 12 hours from sand at 1872-74 feet is on a 50-acre lease already producing from shallow wells and is possibly two miles north of any other deep production, the Hooser wells, two miles south, being the closest.

Sunshine Hill

In the Sunshine Hill district of Wichita county and in the vicinity of the Clark-Smith well, deepened from a shallow producer and now making around 200 barrels from a sand at 1861-71 feet, the trading seems to be over and the new owners are getting ready to test their judgment. Pink Hammond has spudded on his test, offsetting the new well to the south, Bridwell-Heydrick and the Petroleum Producers company have spudded on No. 6 Saunders, (five shallow wells on the lease) a diagonal offset to the southeast of the Clark well and location has been made for No. 7, 300 feet east of No. 6.

Panhandle News

With the fiscal week just ended revealing a daily output of 94,000 barrels, compared to 88,450 barrels a day for the previous week, Panhandle oil men predict that the 100,000 barrel mark will be attained next week.

Field reports say that field congestion continues as output increases, and representatives of the Texas Railroad commission are keeping informed on the conditions in Hutchinson county, where the most trouble is experienced. Many small oil companies have their wells shut down on top of the pay sand, and only the major companies are continuing to drill in their wells.

The most activity going on in the Panhandle today is that of erecting stel storage tanks, and every tank firm reports that its stocks are kept low. Sales of tank steel is said to have jumped materially since the railroad commission warnings that it will not permit the use of open storage and of drilling wells in without tankage or pipe line connections previously made.

Teagle Dines With

Oil and financial interests attach special significance to the fact that Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, entertained at a private dinner in New York the other day Sir Henri W. A. Deterding, general managing director of the Royal Dutch Petroleum company, and moving spisit in the Royal Dutch enterprises, the principal competitor of the Standard Oil interests.

Word from New York says that when pressed for an explanation, that Mr. Teagle explained that the dinner was purely social and had no business significance.

AUSTIN, Aug. 14.—(AP)—A paying oil well has developed on Texas university land in Crane county. The state land office received from the Magnolia Petroleum company a check for $772, representing May and June royalties from the well's production.

New Osage Sale

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 14.—Another Osage oil lease sale is expected to be held late in September or early in October.

Texas Moves 15 Cars of Cantaloupes

FORT WORTH, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Texas moved 15 of the 189 carloads of cantaloupes shipped in the United States Friday, 30 of 408 cars of watermelons, 4 of 193 cars of pears, 2 of 20 cars of onions and one of 20 cars of tomatoes. Since bulk of movement is over, watermelons have advanced to 65 cents per hundred to growers at Texas points, compared with 45 cents a week ago. As crop cleans up, north Texas onions show improvement in price, best quality being offered in Collin county as high as $1.50 per cwt.

Hot weather is blamed for very light demand in Texas for potatoes, northwestern Irish cobblers and rurals being quoted around $2.50 in carloads delivered Fort Worth basis.

OLNEY, Aug. 14.—Promise of a new pool, three miles from production is held forth by the Murchison and Fain well on the Farmer, three miles south of the Oldham pool. The well is showing favorably.

PIPE RUNS DROP A LITTLE

Lines Show Decrease of 65 Barrels In Their Daily Figures

The pipeline runs in the Wichita district for the week ending August 14 show a decrease of 65 barrels in the daily figures. Throckmorton county, by the two big completions in it, that county last week, jumped from 455 barrels to a new high figure of 2,575 barrels in the daily output. This gain was offset by a decrease in runs in the older producing areas of Electra, Burkburnett and Archer county and Wilbarger county, all of which showed losses, evenly distributed abong them. Montague and Young counties gained a little in their daily runs.

Runs for the week over the district were as follows:

	This Week Bbls.	Last Week Bbls.
Electra	15,960	16,300
Burkburnett	12,115	12,290
Iowa Park	4,215	4,410
Archer County	29,705	30,570
Clay	535	560
Wilbarger	12,230	15,220
Montague	5,500	5,310
Young	8,220	8,030
Jack	230	300
Throckmorton	2,757	455
Baylor	195	130
Cooke	150	230
Totals	93,640	98,705

Daily decrease of 65 barrels.

Twenty Texas Cities Now Served By Municipal Co.

Distribution System Complete Two Weeks After Iowa Park Franchise Granted; Experienced Operators Give Unexcelled Service to "Irrigated Valley" in Which We Strongly Believe.

About two weeks ago hundreds of Iowa Park citizens gathered around a fifty-foot gas torch in the center of the town, and amid cheers saw it touched off with a roman candle.

That introduced gas to Iowa Park at the hands of the Municipal Gas Company.

To Wichita Falls, and eighteen other Texas cities, the Municipal Gas Company is no stranger, but to Iowa Park, the scene of its latest activities, it is introduced as a NEWCOMER, full of hope and ambition.

The active operation of the plants in the Big Irrigated Valley District are in the hands and under the direction of men of tested experience, many of whom have been with the organization for many years.

In Iowa Park, the present activity of the Municipal, the company is rapidly completing its net-work of pipe lines. Within the two weeks after the granting of the franchise by the city council the entire distribution system was completed, leaving only a few service lines and connections for completion. On Monday night, August 2, 1926, the city council granted the Municipal Gas Company a franchise to operate and serve Iowa Park. During the session Iowa Park citizens, including their out of town guests, witnessed one of the most spectacular natural gas demonstrations ever performed in the state of Texas when the Municipal turned gas into the city.

The demonstration was staged, according to Jacob B. Price, manager for the Wichita Falls division, as another "proof" of Iowa Park's progress. Gas lines in the down town section were opened and a fifty-foot torch inserted, throwing a huge flaming blaze into the air. Lighting was made possible with a roman candle.

Such rapid progress of natural gas installation offers the citizenship of the Irrigated Valley a service that, not only Iowa Park might welcome, but the entire valley might point to with pride. It is a case of "believing in the Irrigated Valley."

Having been positively identified with the citizenship of all Iowa Park, The Municipal is believing and practicing the principal of "Helping OUR City." Local labor, though in-experienced in this class of work, has been strictly in evidence throughout their entire system installations.

Another sign of Iowa Park's progress. Municipal Gas company main line crew "wrapping" and "painting" mains to serve downtown Iowa Park. The entire city distribution is first treated wit ha coat of pipe paint and then securely wrapped with asbestos pipe felt. High class workmanship involved in this class of work. These special treatments assure long life service.

AIR CONQUEST

try club, how he laughed when he was asked about the "last thoughts" of a man facing actual death, and escaping by a eyelash.

He grinned like a boy when it was suggested that his whole life must have passed before his eyes as it always does in a story book, and that for seeming ages he must have dwelt upon the things he ought to have done and the things which should have been left undone.

"My thoughts were purely mechanical most of the time," said the lieutenant, "I wondered if I was high enough for the parachute to work properly. Perhaps I gave a moment's reflection to the fact that the last time I went down my companion in the ship was killed. I don't know that I actually did. In any event I had had ample time to know the old ship I was testing was going to pieces. The wings began to wabble. I shut off the throttle and then it seemed as if some giant dog had caught the plane in his teeth and was shaking it like a terrier would a rat.

Plunge Downward.

"Then the wings flew off and I started to plunge downward. I got a bit tangled with one of the wings, but in a moment or two was free. Then I began reaching for the ring to release the old "chute." I couldn't find it. I reached twice. Then I got mad at myself for forgetting one of the first lessons in flying—the right way to reach for and pull the parachute ring. I got it in time, however, and here I am, with a busted ankle but a vastly improved golf game."

"You mustn't think of flying as so dangerous," he explained, "and you mustn't think all airplanes lose their wings a thousand feet up. I just happened to get this old fellow when he decided to give up the ghost."

It should be comforting to those who knew him best to realize that this must have been the spirit with which Barksdale met his defeat and death at last. Once more he was a thousand feet up; once more he was testing one of the many machines and devices which go to make up the army equipment; once more there came the failure; once more he got tangled with the "old ship" but this time it would not let him go. He crashed to instant death. He probably was fighting to the last foot and had no time to think other than of the job before him.

"When It Works."

In commenting upon the Barksdale philosophy of flying this writer said:

"When the old parachute works, the falls don't amount to much. When it fails—the work of testing and flying goes on the next day just the same. The conquest of the air must never lag."

And so at Dayton tomorrow and at many other fields, they will be flying by day and by night and more young Vikings of the air will go to their death that a science may become secure.

Dog Follows To Gutter And Jail

DALLAS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Curled up on the Dallas jail floor Saturday lay a little white dog—silent proof that a dog's love for his master transcends all viccissitudes. The master lay drunk in the gutter last night. When the police wagon arrived to give him the free ride, they found the dog sitting on the curb beside the limp form. Unable to drive off the police, the dog set up such a howl as the man was being loaded into the patrol that the officers allowed him to get in also. All efforts to quiet the puppy at the jail when his master was put behind the bars were futile, so the little fellow slept today contentedly in the cell with his inseparable companion.

Wichita Falls Junior College Offers Two Full Years of Accredited College Work

THE million-dollar junior college and senior high school presents an opportunity that no boy or girl of Wichita Falls and North Texas should overlook. Instead of going off to school, paying the expense of living far away from home, they can complete two years of college work in Wichita Falls and enter the university later with a junior standing.

Housed in the beautiful building shown at the top of this page, Wichita Falls Junior college is physically equipped to meet the needs of its students. The faculty is alert, capable and ready to work with students to secure the most for them out of their work.

The completion of the first two years of college work at home is in accord with expressed desires of university and college faculties. They point out that in small undergraduate schools, students receive individual attention from the faculty members, a circumstance almost impossible in the large, crowded universities. This close relation between faculty and students is highly desirable during the first two years of work, and students will find it a decided help when they go off to complete their education.

The courses of Wichita Falls Junior college are fully accredited by the University of Texas, and students will be given full credit there, and at most schools of high standing, when they enter for graduate work.

In most universities the first two years' work is almost wholly prescribed, for there are elementary courses that the college student must take before work in specialized subjects if undertaken. It is these foundation courses, as well as some specialized subjects, that the Junior college offers Wichita Falls and North Texas students.

Think carefully about the advantages of attending Junior college. Consult the registrar. Wichita Falls offers you opportunity. Take advantage of it!

JIM REPULSES EXPORT FLANK ATTACK, 14-1

Spudders Rout Fillingim In First, Then Murder Hovlik

BATTED OUT 18 HITS

Wichita Falls bludgeons unleashed a volcanic attack on Dana Fillingim and Ed Hovlik Saturday at the Gardner orchard and shot Jim Galloway's faltering Beaumont detachment avalanching into the chasm of defeat by the lopsided score of 14 to 1 in the series opener.

The Spudders dismantled Fillingim in the first frame and continued at a brutal clip on Hovlik, his would-be rescuer. A total of 18 explosive swats sprang from Wichita Falls batting timber.

Long Jim Roberts, Williams' main silencer, gave up a run in the opening canto and then throttled the erstwhile biffing Beaumonters the rest of the way. Eight base blows were combed from Jim's delivery.

Rabbit Benton, wee Spud third sacker, and the midget but mighty Peter Lapan, the backstop person, led the Wichita Falls attack, the former slamming two doubles and a triple, the latter a couple of doubles and a single.

Five In First

Fillingim was wild at the start and never became tamed. His truant tosses put Fitzgerald and Turgeon on base via the four-balls route and then Jenkins followed with a one-sack rift between first and second, shunting Fitz home. Lamb and Benton dynamited doubles in succession. Williams and DeFate bounded out to the inner works and Lapan crashed a full bloom two-cushioner to center. Dana limped from the affray, flag at half mast and Hovlik hove into view. Roberts rolled out to third retiring the side. Five Spudders had cantered across the scoring dish. The game was in the satchel, but after being balked in the second by a trick double play, the militant home guard ripped loose on Big Ed in the third couple for another quintet of scoring nuggets.

Another Fiver.

Lambie got to first on a mistake at short and went to second when Benton took the count on a flopping roller to Connolly. Then the fireworks began. Williams whipped a bolt to left, scoring Lucy. DeFate singled to center. Papan drew a pass and Roberts himself outhoofed a chop between the box and third. Williams lumbered home on the play. Fitzgerald knocked DeFate and Lapan in with a two-sack shove to right center. Turgeon lined out to Oliver and Jenkins poked a single past second, scoring Roberts. Lamb closed with a pop to third.

Benton tripled against the port baricade in the fourth and scored on Williams' single between short and second. Tony forced Carl and Lapan busted into a double play.

Still Score.

They scored again in the sixth, Benton and Lapan pairing two-baggers for a run.

Singles by Lamb, Lapan, and Roberts mixed with an infield forceout and a base on balls to DeFate manufactured two more tallies in the eighth.

With LaFayette afflicted by a sore-arm malady and Metzler having departed to join the Athletics, the Spudder batting order presented a different array. Howard Fitzgerald went to center field and the lead-off position LaFayette had held down. Williams, although he had pitched a hard game the day before, grabbed a mitt and went to first base. He batted in sixth place.

Cooper Sets New Unofficial Record

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—An unofficial record for 91.5 cubic inch piston displacement motors on a mile and a quarter bowl was set at the Charlotte speedway by Early Cooper, veteran racing driver who negotiated the lap at a speed of 133.1 miles an hour speedway officials announced today. Cooper was practicing for the world sprint race to be held here August 23.

Including today's melees, the Spudder who bats in the most runs for the past 30 days receives a handsome gold watch put into competition by Zale Jewelry company. The runner-up is to be awarded 30 beans cash, a purse made up by Lee Wilson, Prez Gardner and Fred Brainard.

Judge Finley Weldon will present the prizes to the victors Tuesday afternoon at Spudder park. Monday is an off-day.

Veterans Decry Death of Hitters and Catchers Today

BY GEORGE CHADWICK
Special Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Roger Bresnahan caught Rube Marquard's slants the other afternoon in the game between the old timers of the Giants, a game which was part of the Christy Mathewson memorial exercises.

Bresnahan, who is now John J. McGraw's right hand man, made this comment in a conversation after the game: "Every manager in the National league knows that he has got to have two things in 1927. One of them is catchers and the other is batters. It's the plainest truth running loose around the bases right now."

There was a little incident during the old timers' game that added force to his words. Fred Tenney played first base on the Bresnahan team. Arthur Fletcher, now manager of the Phillies, batted and got to first base on a safe hit. When he reached first, his nostrils scented the battle from afar—or away back—and he began to dance around the bag. Bresnahan said to himself "you old gazelle, you will get cocky, will you?" He aimed to catch Fletcher napping.

The Old Bean Work.

Now let Bresnahan go on with the yarn.

"I gave Marquard our old sign for a pitch out," he said. "Mind you, we hadn't been together for 17 years, and at that time Rube was only a kid who had barely got a trial and flivvered in his first attempt. But he knew that sign and shot the return like a flash back to me at once. I peeked down toward first base and Tenney was on, too.

"Rube pitched one out and I pegged to first base and we had Fletcher nailed a mile and were just ready to give him the laugh when Fred dropped the ball as he tripped across the bag. Pretty good, wasn't it, for us old geezers who haven't been playing active ball for quite a spell? Sixteen years and we couldn't forget the signs. We had to know 'em in our time."

"Good memories and clever work there," interrupted the eager listener. "But what's the sequel, moral or whatever it may be?"

"They can do it now," chipped in another former catcher of the National league. "That's the whole gosh darned story which they not only can't remember the signs now but they can't give 'em right if they do think of 'em. The way they give signals these days, the guy out in the centerfield must be blind if he can't tell what is going on. Think of the chance that the runner has on second base. He catches the signal, sends it home and may be the batter steps out of the box, if it is a base running sign, or may be he lets the ball through if it's a pitched ball sign.

No Brains.

"Usually the signal is so given that all the batter has to do is to look down at his feet and catch it. The most he needs to know is whether they are giving him a curve or a fast one, or whether they are pitching out. If it is a curve he will pull the ball if he can, and if it is speed he will try to hit to right field.

"They all try to hit to right field these days. That's all they do, try. Bunt? Some of 'em got an idea that a bunt is some sort of Cuban tag."

"Then you think that batters of intelligence are needed in 1927?"

"They ain't only needed. They are implored."

You can talk baseball of this present vintage with any of the men who made their reputations some years ago and you will never hear the last of the need of catchers and batters for 1927.

Lindimore Flashes In Win Over Lowly Waco Outfit

FORT WORTH, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Lindimore's playing featured Fort Worth's eighth straight victory here Saturday afternoon, the Cats beating Waco, 4 to 3. The keystone got three of the Cat's seven hits, drove in 2 runs and made a run on his own account, probably to make up for having gotten caught napping off first base Friday.

Dickie Kerr pitched his usual game allowing more hits than the opposing pitcher but winning notwithstanding. Elliott went the route for the Cubs, whose heavy hitters were Briscoe, who got three safeties and Ussett and Boggess, each of whom tripled. Score:

Santone Edges Out On Dallas, 8 to 5

DALLAS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Dallas' Steers dropped their third straight game when the San Antonio Bears Saturday afternoon ranged through the stadium for a victory in the opening contest of the critical series between the league leaders. The score was 8 to 5. Steer supporters in the stands for the first time this season began to view the situation with alarm for this was the sixth game the herd has lost out of the last seven played.

The Bears scored two runs in the first inning and three each in the third and fourth. They hammered Spike Hunter, star Steer hurler from the box, who was relieved by Slim Love, who stopped the marauders with three hits in the six innings he pitched. Hack Miller knocked his 27th home run and Moose Woeber hit his 20th for this season. Score:

JENKINS STILL LEADS HITTERS

Beaumonters Retain Team Slugging Top, Spuds Second

Jenkins of Wichita Falls held his batting leadership of the Texas league through Wednesday's games with a figure of .385, 2 points better than his closest real competitors, Kirke and Oliver, the latter leading the playes in 100 or more games. Gross of Dallas clung to his lead in runs scored with 104 but is threatened seriously by his team-mate, Charles Miller, who has tallied 102 times. Connolly of Beaumont has made the greatest number of hits, 174. With 26 home runs, Miller of Dallas continued to top his field, Galloway of Beaumont being second with 20. Flaskamper, San Antonio, leads in stolen bases with 22.

As a club Beaumont continues its torrid batting streak, leading the teams with an average of .318. Beaumont also leads in runs and hits, Wichita Falls in home runs, and San Antonio in stolen bases.

Watt of San Antonio tops the league in games won with 18, while Hunter of Dallas now has the best winning average, .875. Love, Dallas, leads in strike-outs with 170. Club batting, players hitting .300 or better and pitchers winning half or better of their games through Wednesday follow:

Yep, There'll Be Baseball "Game" At Park Monday

Optimists Tangle Up With Lions Club In Benefit Battle

That's just too bad, you say, because the Spudders are going fishing Monday instead of playing ball?

Well, you're off your base again!

Starting lineups haven't been announced officially yet. Manager Bert Adrian and Trainer C. W. Handley have 28 athletes on the Optimist roster, all of whom no doubt will participate in the affray at some stages said Ira Brown, member of the Optimist forces who is a Twilight league scout.

The inquiring reporter heard nothing but rumbles and roars from the Lion lair Saturday, hence, trembling in his brogans, so to speak with fear, excitement or something, did not venture forward sufficiently to learn anything about the Bengalian plans.

Ambushed Judge J. S. Dickey later in the day, but received zero minus in information other than that the Optimists' burden would be lighter than expected in that the Judge has no intentions of giving other than moral support, whatever that is to the Lion cause, or what have you.

Carl Williams, Spudder manager, has been drafted as umpire.

Sports Score Fifth Consecutive Victory

SHREVEPORT, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Sports scored their fifth consecutive victory Saturday when they won the opening game of the series from the Buffs, 5 to 4. They were forced to wage an uphill battle to score the triumph. Wildness of Pitchers Adkins and Gleason and a homer by Peel gave Houston a 3 to 1 lead as early as the second inning. Cantrell who relieved Gleason in the second was effective while Kohlenberg weakened to allow the locals to catch up. The winning run was a homer by Bonowitz in the eighth. Vigaro and Hoffman also hit four-ply blow.s Score:

SHERIFF AFTER EULAS MORGAN

But Not to Pinch Him, He's Going to Give Him a Present

The Spudders and Exporters hook up this afternoon in a double header at the Gardner pavillion. First game starts at 2:30.

Manager Carl Williams has the left-handers, Fred Fussell and Buster Ross and the right-hander, Shovel Hodge from which to make his pitching selection. Off hand, one would guess Fussell gets the call for the opening tilt and Hodge for the seven-frame after piece.

Today has been officially and otherwise named as "Dick Morgan Day." Honor will be done Eulas, former Spudder hurler, now with the Beaumonters, who has bucked a series of exceedingly tough breaks this season.

Manager Galloway announced yesterday that Morgan will draw the chunking assignment against his erstwhile teammates in one of the games. No doubt Dick would pitch both of 'em, or attempt to, if given the word.

Sheriff Fred Smith, ardent sportsman and enthusiastic Spudder fan, was the instigator of the honor and will start the celebration off by presenting Dick a handsome handbag. Morgan, by the way, is a former law enforcement expert, however, he did not serve with the sheriff's department. He worked as a plainclothes man last winter under Police Chief George Hodgins.

CAN DEMPSEY COME BACK?

Dunno, Where's He Been, If Any—M'Gann Has Doubts

BY SPARROW M'GANN
Special Correspondent, Record News
Copyright 1926, By the Consolidated Press Assn.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Can Jack Dempsey come back?

That is the big question in boxing fandom today, now that all the serious obstacles in the way of his meeting with Gene Tunnye on September 18 seem to have been ironed out, to the accompaniment of much valuable, if nerve wracking publicity.

To do a thing perfectly one must needs keep in practice. And this applies as much to Champion Jack Dempsey as to anybody else. When Dempsey enters the ring to engage with Tunney, he will be up against a real scrapper. The outcome will hinge largely on how much Jack has "gone back" in his long lay-off. There is little doubt that the Dempsey who battered the giant Jess Willard into submission could "take" the Gene Tunney of today. But will it be the same Dempsey?

Worked in Gym

The champion, it is true, has not totally neglected his physical well being. He has participated in numerous exhibition bouts and has worked conscientiously in the gymnasium. Outwardly he looks fine. But the history of the ring is full of instances indicating that exhibition tilts and gym work do not make up for the benefits accruing from actual conflict.

There is nothing in Dempsey's record to indicate that he is a superman. Others before him who have had far better records than his have fallen down when the test came.

This does not mean that Dempsey is not a good fighter. But his career since he become champion has been too much of a bed of roses to bring out his latent greatness.

Not Tricky

Dempsey is a fighter pure and simple. Trying to be clever, or employing tricks he has picked up in his exhibition work hampers his style. This was proved in his fight with Bill Brennan, when he tried to be clever and was carried to the twelfth round. Only by abandoning the showy stuff and employing his slam-bang tactics was he able to bring Brennan down.

Discounting the idea that the champion was threatened with violence if he knocked out Tommy Gibbons in Shelby, Mont.' the effects of Dempsey's two years' absence from the ring were clearly apparent in that fight. Permitting his lighter and clever opponent to stay the full 15 rounds proved there was something missing. Many have tried to discount this showing by offering various alibis but the truth of the matter is that Dempsey was way off.

The Firpo fight was too short-lived to give a true light on the champion. It proved but one thing. When roused the champion is a fighting fury but whether he can keep it up in a longer fight remains to be answered.

Michigan Cuts In On Big 3 Schedule Says Boston Paper

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Rumors that the three big agreement involving Princeton, Yale and Harvard was in danger of abrogation spread today after the unofficial announcement that the University of Michigan was to appear on Harvard's football schedule in 1927 and 1928 on the date now assigned to Princeton.

Confirmation of the report which was published in the Boston Traveler today, could not be obtained from Harvard athletic officers. William J. Bingham, Harvard athletic director, was absent on a yachting cruise and could not be reached.

It was known that Bingham discussed football matters recently with President Clarence C. Little of Michigan and that a two-year agreement was proposed but it was understood that definite decision on the matter had been postponed until the fall. Today's announcement said the 1927 game would be played on November 5 at Ann Arbor as the formal dedicatory contest for the University of Michigan's newsStadium, and that the return game would be played at Cambridge the following year.

Helen Unable To Defend Her Title

FOREST HILLS, Aug. 14.—(AP) Because she is "below par physically" and not throug any "fear of taking a beating," Miss Helen Wills, of Berkeley, Calif., national woman's tennis champion for the past three years, will not defend her title in the tournament here next week.

Announcing her decision regretfully, through Jones W. Mersereau, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association, Miss Wills said she had been advised by her physician that to participate in further tournament tennis this year not only would be too great a tax upon her strength, but might jeapordize her entire competitive future.

T. B. Amis, of Georgia Tech fame has been retained as head coach.

Cheaney succeeded John Shirey who resigned to enter business. In 1924 Cheaney led the field in the 100 yard dash in the southern trou-outs at New Orleans for the Olympic of that year, but was defeated in Boston by Jackson Scholz.

Snipe Connally Hurls First Game of Tournament Today

Pirate Intramural Strife Closed, Says Buccaneer Leader

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The promised statement from Max Carey, deposed captain of the championship Pittsburgh National league baseball club, in which he said he would disclose events leading up to his suspension and the unconditional release of Babe Adams and Skeeter Bigbee, failed to materalize tonight. The whereabouts of the three who drew the heavy penalties, was uncertain.

Pirate officials reiterated their statements that the matter was closed for good and all. Clarke was on the players' bench this afternoon for the first time since he learned of the movement to oust him. The team was ready to go into action with Kiki Cuyler slated for Carey's old post in the middle garden, and Clayde Barnhardt in left. Rain interferred and the great throng of fans gathered for a double header, were disappointed.

The only statements of the day came from Carey, Clarke and McKechnie. The former captain said he had had a good night's rest, as did Adams and Bigbee; that their consciences were clear, and that what they had done was for the good of the league. Manager McKechnie, commenting on a report that six players had voted against Clarke, said he would make no effort to learn the names of the other three and that the issue was closed.

JAWN WOULD CLAIM CAREY

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—Manager John J. McGraw of the New York Giants said today that he would put in claim for Max Carey, deposed captain of the Pittsburgh Pirates now under waiver.

He regards the Giants' chances of acquiring Carey are slim, however, as clubs lower in the standing have first call, but Manager Art Fletcher of the Phillies said he would not claim the player.

Motto: "RAZZ THE RAZZERS"

VERACITY!!!

The cunning Mr. J. J. Atz may not grab any championship laurels this fall but he certainly is proving himself a man of his word.

• • •

One week or so ago, the gentleman late of New Orleans who spends the greater portion of his summers in the shadows of the Fort Worth stockyards, upped and announced to the world that he conceded his charges were out of the running but would use the rest of the Texas league calendar to making it troublesome for the leaders.

• • •

Two of the so-called leaders were unfortunate enough to be entertained at Cowtown immediately following this assertion. Starting last Sunday in a game which they lost to Houston, 7-8, the Cats played nine over the week's span. And they lost nary another.

• • •

Ripping into Beaumont and Dallas, Fort Worth copped seven straight victories, including double header wins over both clubs, and wound up Saturday with a 4-3 defeat of the humble Waco tribe. Eight games out of nine, did the Panthers win in seven days, displaying the greatest reversal of form staged in Texas the current season.

• • •

Over at Shreveport, Art Phelan, Atz understudy, endeavored heartily to follow in his former leader's boot tracks. The Sports won five out of six games.

• • •

Verily, it was a tough seven-day chasm for almost everybody. Only one other club in the league captured more games than it lost. Twas Carl Williams' Spudders. The Walloping Wichitans copped four out of seven.

• • •

Spudder Record

Losing a 3-2 decision Sunday at Beaumont, the Spudders came back Monday at Shreveport with a 9-4 victory, the only setback of the week, registered against the Sports. Dugan's gang blanked the Texans Tuesday, 5-0. The Spudders returned to Wichita Falls Wednesday and were held to a 1-1 tie game by Waco. Rain concluded the tilt at the close of the sixth inning. They turned on the cellarites the next day and stowed a double bill, but lost Friday a "gift" contest. They closed Saturday with a 14-1 triumph over Beaumont.

• • •

San Antonio is leading the league this morning, but Mitze's men were subjected to four reversals against three victories during the week. Dallas suffered seven defeats in nine games. The Cats won three of these. Houston took two out of three from the Steers and San Antonio split a double header last Sunday, then met and pawed the Herd again yesterday.

Beaumont won two games and dropped six, Fort Worth taking four of these, San Antonio one and the Spudders one. The outstanding game of the week was played at Beaumont Tuesday when the Shippers sloughed San Antonio, 22 to 7.

• • •

Houston and Waco each won three and lost four for the week.

• • •

Looking over the resume of the week's performance causes several varied ideas to pop into the think tank. First, Dallas seemingly has cracked woefully and so has Beaumont. San Antonio appears to be tottering. Second, the Cats for the first time this year stack up as the champs of old. Not quite a month of the pennant scramble remains and at the moment three teams, the Cats, Sports and Spudders look better than the one, two, three top organizations. Just too bad for somebody the season isn't two months longer.

• • •

Dutch Mantell apparently has two pet peeves. One is Matty Matsuda, the other is Alec Ross.

• • •

• • •

• • •

Says the promoter, addressing the writer, "Remember, you're the guy who takes the blame. You wanted to see him wrestle Romonoff, not me. You asked him to come here, not me."

• • •

Says the much maligned monkey-man, "You know as well as I do that Ross don't like me. He lays awake at night to find ways and means to hook me. And as for that Chinaman, I'll get him yet."

• • •

And says I, talking to no one but me. "It's a case of fighting one evil with another evil. If Romonoff wins, hurray! If Mantell wins, hurray! If each murders each, a couple of hurrays!"

• • •

It would be in keeping with the characteristics of this match to import Dick Daviscourt as referee.

• • •

SPIKED ANOTHER!

There absolutely is nothing to the rumor Connie Mack has selected Joe Pate as one of the two players who are to be sent the Spudders in partial payment for Alex Metzler.

• • •

Wichita Falls doesn't need any more pitchers any way, an opposition athlete remarked to Jim Roberts in the ninth inning yesterday afternoon.

• • •

At the rate the Spudders are hitting and the Exporters aren't, somebody else's team will be leading the loop in the boisterous art of biffing base bumps when the next Texas league club batting statistics are released.

• • •

AND HOW?

Fort Worth is up in the air. Its baseball team won eight out of nine games the past week and that despite the annoyance of first annual all-city ukelele championship tournament now in full swing at Cowtown.

FERGUSONISM

he was present "on purpose and not by accident."

"This is no time for oratory. It is time for work," he said.

Gus F. Taylor of Tyler, a banker, said he was tired of hearing about the klan and anti-klan, and he was a Moody supporter now.

Frank G. Huntress, president of the San Antonio Express publishing company was another speaker on behalf of Mr. Moody at the conference.

Moody spoke very briefly at the conference.

About noon showers for a time threatened to make conditions at Fair park where the rally was held rather unpleasant, but by the time Moody's hour an the program came the sun was shining.

The attorney general gave considerable attention to the statement from the governor in which she announced she was in the race to stay, and declared he (Moody) had not accepted squarely the challenge she issued that he resign if she led him by 25,000 votes and she would resign if he led her by one vote.

"In the discharge of my duties as attorney general, it became necessary for me to refuse on more than one occasion to permit my official conduct to be dominated by the proxy governor and early in the present administration, he declared war upon me," Moody said.

"At the importunities of citizens who believe that the conditions prevailing in Texas ought to come to an end and that I could be of service in the undertaking, I became a candidate for governor with my candidacy dedicated to the restoration of responsible and constitutional government in Texas."

Speaks of Challenge.

The attorney general then spoke of the challenge issued to him. "I saw an opportunity to redeem Texas from Fergusons nearly six months earlier than the time of grace allowed by law," he continued. "I knew that in the event of my defeat I could be of no further official usefulness to the people of Texas as attorney general. I had confidence that the people of Texas in tremendous and overwhelming majorities believed in the right and that they could be depended upon to do the right thing when they knew the facts, and I did not hesitate to submit the issues ot them as to whether my administration of the office of attorney general should be approved or disproved, and neither did I hesiate to submit to them the issue as to whether or not the present administration of the executive office should be approved or disapproved. It was evident that if the people of Texas wished to approve Mr. Ferguson's domination of public affairs, of the highway contracts and the many other things done by him and under his direction— they would not desire my services in an attempt to correct these things. Therefore, I did not hesitate, and at San Antonio, on the same evening, before an audience estimated at more than 5,000 people, I definitely and unequivocally accepted the challenge."

NIGHT RALLY TO OPEN FERGUSON CAMPAIGN.

AUSTIN, Aug. 14.—(AP)—A night rally in all likelihood next week will launch the run-off gubernatorial campaign of Gov. Miriam A. Fergusonher husband and advisor, James E. Ferguson, said Saturday.

"Many of our friends feel that, because of the exertmely warm weather, it would be advisable to hold the first meeting—which will be big one— at night."

Governor Ferguson and Mrs. Ferguson both will speak. The former governor appeared to be in excellent spirits. He promised a definite announcement of plans fo rthe opening rally by iate Monday or early Tuesday.

The law does not require the governor to send a certified copy of her call of a special session to each member of the legislature, Mr. Ferguson said. "The governor has filed her proclamation for the session of September 13, with the secretary of state, as required by law.

Members of the legislature are supposed to take cognizance of the proclamation published in the newspapers, as they undoubtedly have.

"It is customary, if any special notice is sent to the legislators, to send it by wire."

Goernor Ferguson or her husband is expected early next week to answer references to the administration made Saturday at Dallas by Attorney General Dan Moody.

COUNTY SCHOOL

were present as well as James E. Ferguson.

Members of the board took the attitude that the fixing of the apportionment at $11.50 was automatic as the available school fund income would not permit a higher figure.

Throughout the first primary campaign, Mr. Ferguson, speaking for Governor Fergusod, declared the administration in favor of a $15 apportionment.

In her statement of Wednesday, announcing she was re-entering the gubernatorial race, Governor Ferguson urged the passage of a legislative bill imposing a three cent tax "on every gallon of gas sold in Texas." She said one-third of the gasoline tax money should go to the common schools and two-thirds to maintenance of highways.

In the last paragraph of the statement, she said, "my heart goes out to the 1,300,000 school children in Texas and I want to take no chances on their education. If I am elected, and the gas tax is passed, we will have $15 per capita for the children in the next scholastic year. If Mr. Moody is elected on his platform, opposite to this the scholastic term must be cut down and the construction of new roads will be impossible."

Attorney General Dan Moody repeatedly has expressed himself favoring a $15 scholastic apportionment.

"Big Bill" Knocks "Little Bill" Under In Eighth Renewal

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The rivalry that has given American tennis history some of its most sensational chapters, started its eighth season today with a triumph for "Big Bill," Tilden over "Little Bill" Johnston.

Tilden gave a convincing demonstration of his mastery, beating back his rival in decisive fashion. The scores were 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1.

The national champion's victory was the high spot of the two-day struggle for intersectional team supremacy, in which the east overwhelmed the west, taking all seven of the matches that brought most of the top ranking stars into action.

The eastern doubles combination of Vincent Richards and R. Norris Williams, the national champions, took the measure of Johnston and Edward G. Chandler of California, in two sparkling sets, 6-3, 6-4. In two other singles matches that completed this afternoon's program, Frances T. Hunter defeated Phil Neer, 6-4, 6-3, while Manuel Alonso, the Spanish Davis cup star, won over Cranston Holman, Stanford star, 6-3, 8-6.

LUKE NOT SUPERSTITIOUS.

AKRON, Ohio, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Luke Sewel first string catcher for the Cleveland Indians threw superstition to the winds yesterday morning and obtained a marriage license to wed Miss Edna Mae Ridge of Akron. Having obtained the document he became superstitious again, and postponed the wedding set for yesterday until tonight.

Japanese imports and exports last year were nearly five billion yen. In 1868 they were twenty six million.

RINGSIDE MAT FANS BACK UP

Mantell Tackles Romonoff, Yaqui Returns With Record

Dutch Mantell versus Billy Romonoff!

Yaqui Joe versus Tommy Record!

That's this week's Wichita Falls Wrestling association card announced officially by Matchmaker Alec B. Ross Saturday.

Whereupon ringsiders prepare to move back several rows and an "honest" referee, whoever he may be' asks that mattresses be spread around the outer sides of the roped arena.

Referees Hide Out.

Who will be the third man in the ring has not been decided yet. The irascible Mantell has made it a point to do battle with every referee sent into a local arena with him so far. Few, if any, of the hometown boys care to officiate a match in which the Amarillo monkey-man is a participant. Romonoff displayed in his match with Matsuda here last week that he has certain views and tastes as regards referees.

That the match will not satiate the aesthetic senses of the thoroughbred wrestling fan who enjoys swift, clean and scientific mills, is an unpleasant surety.

Both Romonoff and Mantell have proved themselves clever and capable athletes, but each inevitably mars his exhibition by breaking from the straight and narrow with a variety of roughing tactics, both are past masters at. The outcome of the match probably will depend on who proves to be the most scientifically rough.

Mantell Will Rough.

Mantell declared:

"I'm not going to take any chances on that guy for he's a mighty tough cookie," all of which means, as every Wichita Falls fan knows, that the primeval Dutchman won't let such a little thing as ethics and what is commonly termed sportsmanship deter him in his efforts to avert defeat.

Record and the Indian have been rematched by request. Tommy won from Joe Thursday in more or less lucky manner, although he did give the Redskin the battle of his life. Both boys went at it hammer and tongs, Yaqui copped the first fall. Record won the second when hauled on high by the Indian for a smash to the floor. Tommy wriggled around just as Joe pivoted, made the Indian lose his balance and came down with full force on Joe's chest as they crashed to the mat, knocking Matsuda's protege cold. The keyo ended hostilities.

All-City Invitation Tennis Tourney Plans Forming

Plans are under way for resumption of annual all-city tennis play this fall and local netsters probably will meet this week to work over preliminary tournament details, said Preston Beck yesterday.

Through a lapse in interest, the tournament was skipped last year, no match court competition of any kind being held in Wichita Falls. But enthusiasm has picked up this summer and it is believed a greater meet than ever before will be held.

The all-city tournament cup will be placed into competition again, said Beck.

Players from all over north Texas will be eligible to enter, in fact, nobody is barred, according to Beck.

No starting date has been set, but it is likely play will begin shortly after September 1.

Detroit Purchases Bernie Deviveros

BEAUMONT, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Bernie Deviveros, brilliant shortstop of the local Texas league club has been sold to Detroit of the American league, according to information at local baseball headquarters. An unnamed cash consideration and two players acceptable to the local officials, is the purchase price. The players are to include a left handed pitcher and shortstop. Deviveros will not report until the close of the present Texas league season, or possibly until spring training next year.

Deviveros came to the Exporters three years ago from the Chicago Cubs as part payment for Pete Turgeon, who failed to land in the National league regulars.

HOW TO GET OUT OF DEBT

Here's one way to catch up and get out of debt: If you owe a number of bills, some pretty large, the others small, clear them all up at once by borrowing enough to wipe them out.

Then, by making a careful budget of income expenses, deciding on regular, systematic payments that you can meet, pay back the borrowed sum.

Perhaps that looks hard if you are already worried about how you are going to get clear. But it is really surprisingly easy after you once get started. And your credit will be better.

We make loans of $25 to $500 to responsible individuals, at low interest rates, with payments divided so you can meet them easily and systematically. We will be glad to explain details.

COTTON WEAK SPOT OF NATION

Secretary Hoover Works to Bring It Up to General Level

PAUL SMITH'S N. Y., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Agriculture and the textile industry particularly cotton regarded by Secretary of Commerce Hoover as weak spots in the generally excellent business situation are receiving the close attention of the federal government which is working to bring them up to the general economic level.

Tentative plans for helping the farmer by endeavoring to coordinate the different agencies that extend credit to him, are already being drafted, and readjustments have already been made in matters pertaining to cotton manufacturing which have resulted in distinct improvement in the industry during the last month, it was said, officially after Mr. Hoover's conference with President Coolidge yesterday.

In connection with the government's plans for an extensive system of national airways which ultimately will cover the country, President Coolidge will appoint two advisory committees one will assist in laying out the air routes and will work with assistant secretaries of commerce, war and navy. The other committee will help the commerce department in drafting rules for aerial navigation, inspection of planes and licensing pilots on the national airways.

The commerce, war and navy departments have been working together on the plans for the proposed routes, two of which have been approved by President Coolidge.

One of these will cross the country from New York to San Francisco and Los Angeles. The other, to be known as the southwestern airway, will be laid out between Chicago and Dallas and Fort Worth, Texas. Mr. Hoover believes they will be in use within six months.

Lutherans Will Meet Aug. 25-27

LA GRANGE, Tex., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The annual conferences of the Lutheran Christian day school of the Texas district of the Missouri synod were announced today as August 25-27. The sessions will be in the Trinity Lutheran church here of which the Rev. A. E. Moebus is pastor. Professor F. W. Schultz of Houston will preside.

Boy "Fire-Bug" Endangers Town

YAKIMA, Wash., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Yakima's entire business district was endangered by fire yesterday afternoon when an eight-year-old boy started four fires in the heart of the city within an hour. The chief fire inspector said today the boy had been placed in the detention home after making a complete confession and also admitting he attempted to fire three warehouses of the American Fruit Growers, Inc., in the produce section here two weeks ago.

All of the fires were extinguished with only small losses. The situation was complicated when a fifth fire, an accidental one, called part of the equipment to the residential section.

The boy told police he resided near a big barn which burned a few nights ago and that he had been so excited by the fire and by the work of the department that he had decided to have some fun of his own. Officers said the boy has previously been in a detention home.

Hands Off In Rate Controversy

FORT WORTH, Aug. 14.—(AP)—A "hands-off" policy will be maintained by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in the rate controversy between the Rock Asphalt and Brick Men of West Texas, Ray Leeman, assistant manager in charge of the office here, announced Saturday after a telephone conference with Homer D. Wade, manager.

Brick manufacturers of West Texas, including the Thurber Brick company, had asked the railroad commission for equalization of rates between brick and rock asphalt material charging discrimination.

Cuero Man Dies In Gin Accident

CUERO, Tex., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Caught in a gin stand during the Saturday rush, Ewald Poehlmann, 21, son of the Rev. A. Poehlmann, Lutheran minister of Meyersville, was mangled Saturday morning and died 20 minutes later. His father is in Iowa attending the Lutheran Synod.

Aged Negro Is Found Hanging

SHERMAN, Texas, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Charles Perry, negro, about 65 years old, was found hanged in the Cook shack on the Rattan farm near Melissa, Collin county, this morning. The coroner's verdict had not been returned late Saturday. His sister and daughter, of Sherman, say he was injured in the Melissa storm of April 3, 1920, and had not been normal since that time.

Pickle Factory To Remain in Houston

WACO, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Houston packing and shipping plant of the Price-Booker Manufacturing company will not be moved from that city, according to L. . Roter of Waco, president of the company. The capital stock of the Price-Booker company is to be increased from $150,000 to $400,000, and a factory and shipping plant will be located at Deridder, La., Mr. Roter said.

HAL WORTH TO STAGE PAGEANT

Noted Director In Charge of Texas-Oklahoma Fair Features

Mayor R. E. Shepherd announced Saturday that the world renowned Hal Worth of Dallas had agreed to conduct the pageant for the Texas-Oklahoma fair this year.

Mr. Worth has been engaged in putting on spectacular pageantry displays in the United States for many years. In recent years he has narrowed his activity to the southwest, especially Texas. Those who attended the west Texas chamber of commerce at Amarillo this year saw a sample of his work in the Spanish pageant.

Advance information as to the general plans of the pageant indicates that it would be appropriately entitled a "Pageant of Progress," as it is designed to portray in living scenes the various stages of progress of the city of Wichita Falls, and through this portrayal the slogan "The City That Faith Built" will become even more evident to home folks and visitors alike.

Beginning with the little cow town the audience will be treated to various scenes in typical life of the city during the progress from a cow town to an oil boom town, and from an oil boom town to a real live city with the advent of progress not based entirely on so precarious a future as that promised by the oil industry.

There will also be a Coronation of the Queen and a Merchants style show. This feature will probably be staged on the order of the famous Battle of Flowers at San Antonio. There will be plenty of show of gorgeous finery and a wonderful display of the most beautiful women of Texas and Oklahoma.

Bank Clearings Over 3 Million

Monday	$557,010.96
Tuesday	$555,165.32
Wednesday	$667,090.17
Thursday	$613,360.47
Friday	$675,344.82
Saturday	$540,758.58
Total	$3,609,630.32
Same week last year	$2,809,438.60

13 Absentee Vote Requests Received

A total of 13 requests for ballots for voting under the provisions of the absentee voting laws have been received here this week, according to Miss Elizabeth Hall, county clerk. Five were received Saturday.

The ballots will be mailed, she states, as soon as received from county chairman, H. J. Bruce. There were more than 400 absentee ballots cast during the first primary.

New Mail Service For Three States

Extensions of city carrier service on three streets in the city was announced Saturday by Postmaster O. P. Maricle, becoming effective this week. These extensions, Mr. Maricle stated, will be continued just as fast as the streets comply with the postal regulations which require that either sidewalks or paved streets must be provided for the entire block before that block can be included in the carrier service. There will be a number of the additions within the near future as several streets are being paved and sidewalk building is increasing every day. The new blocks added are:

Go To Colorado Advertising Valley

G. D. Anderson and J. A. Kemp, Jr., prominent business men of this city, have gone to Greeley, Colo., and vicinity to present the advantages of the Wichita River Irrigated Valley. The Wichita project is supplied by Lake Kemp, the seventh largest artificial body of water in America, and the story of its growth and effect on Wichita Falls and the valley will be told by the two men.

Mr. Anderson represents large land holdings in the fertile irrigated valley of the Wichita river upon which he hopes to locate high grade, experienced farmers. The Wichita Falls project has about 50,000 acres available for irrigation at the present time and plans are now under way for irrigating more than twice this amount of land.

5000 Longhorns For Winter Term

AUSTIN, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Indications are that this fall the enrollment at Texas University here will reach 5,000, Registrar E. J. Mathews said Saturday. The opening of Garrison hall, $350,000 recitation building, will aid in caring for the increase.

"HARD STUFF" SEIZED

Prohibition Officers Find Tipster Meant Cedar Kindling

CHICAGO.—"There's a bunch of real Canadian hard stuff coming through to a Chicago bakery," prohibition agents were tipped. So they seized a box car and spent a day unloading cedar kindling. "Sure," said the baker, "it's real Canadian hard stuff—hard cedar chips we use for starting the oven fires, thanks for unloading it." The agents are seeking the tipster.

Ziegfeld, Meet Senorita Electra

ELECTRA, Aug. 14.—"Electra Follies of 1926" are being presented with a bathing beauty revue, and a fashion show at one of the local theatres this week. Twenty popular young Electra women are taking part in the show and are also being filmed by a well-known comeraman who is taking a series of pictures to be released next year. Another feature of the film will show Samson riding a bicycle around the top of the water tower.

M'COY TO HEAD NEW HOSTELRY

Marchman Hotel Will Be In Charge of William-Mary Operator

A. W. McCoy, at present operating the William-Mary hotel, has signed a lease contract with O. L. Marchman for the operation of the new Marchman hotel under construction at the corner of Tenth and Lamar, it was announced Saturday by Mr. Marchman. The lease provides for a consideration of approximately $325,000 over a period of 15 years.

Mr. McCoy has been in the hotel business for the past 16 years, having formerly operated the old Westland hotel, and following that the Gibralter hotel at Peoria. He came to Wichita Falls again the first of this year, taking over the William-Mary. He will continue to operate the William-Mary in addition to the Marchman, he stated Saturday.

The Marchman hotel is nearing completion, and it is believed, will be ready for occupancy by the middle of November. It will contain 110 guest rooms, and will be one of the best equipped hotels in this part of the state, it is said. Construction, equipment, and site are valued at approximately $400,000. 10,000 Barrels For Spindletop Well

BEAUMONT, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Ten thousand barrels were added to Spindle Top's oil production last night when the Young-Lee company's McFadden number 3, came in at 2,600 feet. This well is in the heart of the proven field and places the total production of the field near the 90,000 barrel mark.

EDUCATING MODERN PRINCESS

BRUSSELS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Talented as a musician and speaking three languages, Princess Marie-Jose, daughter of the King and Queen of the Belgians, has been taking a technical and practical course in infant care.

The young princess, now 20, is a beautiful girl and like her mother, has splendid hair which has not been bobbed.

The betrothal of Princess Marie-Jose to Prince Umberto of Italy was reported several months ago to be imminent, and her frequent visits to the Italian court indicate that the contemplated union between the Belgian and Italian royal families is merely postponed.

During the war the Princess was for several months the guest of Lord Curzon and afterwards attended a fashionable private school in England. Still later she went to Italy and took a course in an institute at Florence where she remained until after the war.

COMETS HER ROMANCE

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Mary Proctor, daughter of Richard A. Proctor, the late noted astromer, found her romance in comets. She has put it in book form and later will lecture in America.

"I hope to arouse interest in the total eclipse of the sun which occurs June 29 next, the track of shadow lying across England, from Anglesea to Hartlepool, then Norway and Sweden," she said. "It is our first for 200 years. I shall try to get a party of Americans to come back with me to observe the eclipse."

SEIZE AUSTIN BEER

WALTRIP HITS SELFRIGHTEOUS

Don't Have to Wreck Homes To Be Sinner, He Says

"There are a lot of Pharisees in Wichita Falls tonight who have daubed the whitewash of self righteousness over the soot of sin in their lives and they try to kid themselves into thinking they're as white on the inside as they want the world to think they are on the outside."

Thus did Rev. Burroughs A Waltrip, young evangelist, who is closing a successful three weeks' crusade against vice among young people, launch into a short but powerful sermon Saturday evening in the face of a threatening rain. In spite of gusts of wind, the youthful congregation remained to listen intently to the spirited young speaker.

"Self righteousness has always been and will always be one of the deadliest of sins; it does immeasureable harm because it disgusts those who want to become Christians." Burroughs pointed out. "Whitewash is your effort to cover up sin. But when the storms of God's eternity hit it, you'll see it scale off, it won't stand. The only way to remove the soot that is born in the lives of all of us, is to wash it away with the blod of Jesus Christ. It's not your fault if the soot is there, but it is your fault if it stays there.

"You don't have to be a bootlegger or a home wrecker to be a sinner—there are lots of moral people in Wichita Falls who appear to be good, but they are self righteous, they criticize others, and they have richly applied the whitewash—so they belong in the same hell bound boat with all others who don't love and believe in God."

MRS. ROSS UNOPPOSED

CHEYENNE, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Nelle Taylor Ross, the first woman governor of the United States, appears to be the unanimous choice of the democrats in the Wyoming primary election on August 17. No opposing candidate will be on her ballot and political observers do not believe a single name will be "witten in" by the voters.

The woman governor, however, is certain to face a man in the November election, as the two candidates, for the republican nomination are men. They are Secretary of State Frank E. Lucas and State Engineer Frank C. Emerson.

Thrust into the governorship from the role of a housewife following the death of her husband, to complete two years of his unexpired term, Mrs. Ross' supporters say she has given Wyoming a notable state administration. Mrs. Ross, unlike the situation in Texas, has had no husband to guide her hand in the intricacies of state affairs.

BOOM TO BEAT WILD DREAMS

Texas Development Will Exceed That of Florida, Says Hatfield

"Texas is due the next boom in real estate, and with better advertising advantages there will be such a boom as has not been dreamed of," was the statement left with the Wichita Falls Real Estate board by H. P. Hatfield of El Paso, president of the Texas Association of Real Estate boards, in a short talk to local realtors in a call meeting Saturday noon at the Kemp hotel.

Mr. Hatfield told of a conversation he had with a leading realtor of Florida who prophesied that as California has had a boom, so has Florida, and that the boom seems to be moving in the direction of Texas.

The speaker came to Wichita Falls Friday in the interest of the state convention which meets in this city September 28-29, and he was in conference with the local entertainment committee concerning the meeting.

Three things of interest to realtors will be discussed in the state meeting; the license law, the equalization of taxes, and the advertising of the state.

Advertising Problem.

"The third question, advertising Texas, is divided in that each section wishes to advertise its advantages," and Mr. Hatfield showed how Brownsville advertising differed from Amarillo's; Texarkana's from El Paso's, and others.

On the question of the equalization of taxes, it has been misrepresented that people are not favoring it, the speaker said. Cities of 5,000 persons and over are for it. Of advertising the state as a whole as other states have done Mr. Hatfield said he believed the question would pass the senate if 40 real estate boards were behind it, since the 13 organized boards got it to the senate last year.

"To put over the state convention in Wichita Falls in good style in 1926, it is necessary for sacrifice, and it will take time and you will have to get away from your businesses. Amarillo is thinking of sending a special train to the convention," he said, "and why not think of having special trains bringing in realtors instead of special Pullmans. Fort Worth and Dallas might bring a trainload of persons to the convention as well as Amarillo."

Wants 40 Boards.

It is an ambition of Mr. Hatfields' to have 40 organized real estate boards in the state before he closes his term of office next month. If Texas has 40 boards, she will rank third in the states of the United States. He urged the local board members to co-operate and to work with the committees in making the convention one of the best yet held in the state.

Hubert M. Harrison, manager of the chamber of commerce, made a brief talk in connection with the advertising of Texas. He expressed the opinion it would be well if Texas real estate boards could get together and advertise the state as a whole, but use more conservatism in its publicity than did Florida.

P. S. Richardson presided at the meeting. Following adjournment of the session, W. S. Curlee and his committee on entertaining the convention met to consider plans for the convention.

"MEN ONLY" SIGNS GONE

White Star Liners Allow Women To Use Smoking Rooms.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Women have broken down the last stronghold of men for seclusion on trans-Atlantic voyages; for, when the Homeric steams out of harbor last night signs barring women from the smoking room were not in their accustomed places. The White Star Line had barred women from this precinct after other companies had yielded to the feminine craving for lady nicotine.

"INSULINTOXICATION"

Doctor States It Made Him Drive Recklessly.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Insulintoxication is the latest variety of inebriation. A doctor drove his motor car so erratically that he crashed into posts, windows and other things off the highway. A bobby took him in tow and four other physicians supported his protests that he had taken an over-dose of insulin. The court, however, fined him $200 and suspended his motor license for a year.

DAWES CATCHES FISH

Doesn't "Cuss" Either, The Guides Aver; Beats Coolidge.

DENVER, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Without the use of a single cuss word, Vice President Dawes has caught more fish on his vacation than President Coolidge, who proverbially, used no words at all. "All hell and maria" and such expletives were laid aside by Mr. Dawes while fishing for two weeks at Wagon Gap. He thought he caught more fish than the president simply because the fishing was better in Colorado.

WOMAN KILLS SNAKES

Getting Even With Temptor of Mother Eve, She Says.

LAGRANGE, Ore., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Evening up the score for mother Eve seems to be the aim of Mrs. Richard Fiske, for with the aid of a flock of turkeys and a rifle she has dispatched 44 rattle snakes. When a rattler comes near her cabin the turkeys flock around it and causes a commotion. Mrs. Fiske takes her rifle and aims so truly that she has not hit a turkey, but has killed all the descendants of the temptor of Eve that have thus far entered her yard.

"POI" BEATS SPAGHETTI

HONOLULU, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Gurgling of spaghetti in artistic manner is easy compared to the dexterous handling of poi, a Hawaiian dish, made of fermented paste of taro root, according to the experience of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden. The Scandinavian prince likes poi and he expressed admiration of hula hula dancing girls after he and his wife had attended a native festival.

Only Two Hours Late You Are In Granada, 'Shades Of Isabella!

By JESSIE HENDERSON
The New Yorker Abroad.

GRANADA, Spain, Aug. 14.—You slide down long, half mountains in a train that doesn't care when it gets there—not whether you amble gently through fields incredibly packed with flowers of incredible reds and golds; the engineer and his helper pause long to partake of a cool drink in the seant shade of some rural railroad station; and at last, without any hurry about it, the toy engine snorts as if it had done a good day's work, and sleepily drags you into Granada. Only two and a half hours late.

"Pretty fast trip!", the engineer calls out in bubbling Spanish to the assembled citizenry, who nod back with smiles of admiration and awe, as who should say: "Will the miracles of modern machinery never cease?"

Autos The Only Difference

There have been three great epochs in the history of Granada; the arrival of the Moors, the arrival of Ferdinand and Isabella, and the arrival of the American tourist. The first of the latter was Washington Irving and the only difference between the Granada of his day and of ours is that now the narrow, thousand year old streets are filled with American automobiles. If you have a quick eye—and a quick foot—you can count as many makes of American motor cars in the high ways and byways of Granada as on Fifth avenue itself, all going at around 50 miles an hour with not a traffic cop in sight.

It looks and sounds so much like home, that you feel scared when at last you're landed in the well-nigh sepulchral peace of Washington Irving park and find yourself installed in the Washington Irving Hotel looking across at the Washington Irving rooms of the Alhambra. By and large, the Moors did a lot for Granada and Queen Isabella did her bit by chasing the Moors away; but it remained for a New Yorker—W. Irving of Irving Place just off Gramercy Park—to make Granada what it is today.

Who would ever have heard of the Alhambra, its harem, swimming tank, its fountain of lions, its Arabesque doorways and latticed windows, had not Irving given it publicity in a book which any of the shops there abouts will gladly sell you at three times its American price?

The Alhambra is today a national monument it is being restored, being kept in repair and maintained as a tidy source of tourist revenue. You can even buy American chewing gum at its portals.

Remember Carmen?

Cigarettes are among the chief products of Spain, as everyone who has seen "Carmen" is aware, yet the packet which peeps coyly from the breast pocket of your guide bears an American trademark. And the first room in the Alhambra to which your guide leads you is that wherein Irving wrote his immortal work.

Then your guide, who talks excellent American, such as "ver' good. Yes, OK" and has a brother in your home town in America, steers you to yet another room which links Granada with the U. S. A. This is the sombre and magnificient hall of audience, one of the four authentic spots in Spain in which Isabella gave Columbus the money raised on her jewels.

For centuries, Isabella, who meant well, has lain in a surprisingly plain casket witiin Granada Cathedral, in the middle of the terracot town. She won't mind if the real truth about the Siege of Granada comes out now, especially in a season when the shade known as Isabella Brown is so popular.

A Decided Queen

"Thees queen, understand, was very mooch decided to have back Granada from those Moors," the guide explains, "so she take the vow she will not ever change her clothes until Granada is fall down. The siege have last many year; five, seex, seven." He mops his brow with a winsome smile. "El Moro, at the last he cannot endure more. He is finish. He alight on his horse and queeck ride away. And thees queen in those same clothes sealed upon her by the vow, she ride into the town, weeth her entire army shouting battle cry."

You know the battle cry, of course. It was: "For God—and Castile!"

Mother Saved From Wreck But 2 Children Dead

CALVERTON, N. Y., Aug . 14.—(AP)—Six persons were dead today and six seriously injured as the result of the wreck here last night of the Greenport special of the Long Island railroad attributed to an open switch.

The dead are:

H. L. Fish of New York and East Morian; J. B. Waye of Greenport; George A. Shuford, Jr., three years old, and Dorothy Luise Shuford, one year old, children of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Shuford of Asheville, N. C., and Engineer William J. Quires and Fireman John Montgomery both of Greenport.

Mrs. Shuford, mother of the two children killed was extracated from the wreckage after five hours of efforts with the aid of acteylene torches and taken to a hospital at Southampton. Her negro maid was removed after a leg was amuptated. The two engines of the train jumped the track and turned over. A combination baggage and smoking car, just behind the engines, and a pullman car also left the track. The Pullman fell through the side of a factory building.

TURKISH BATHS GROW IN POPULAR ESTEEM.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Turkish bath to a certain extent has replaced the cocktail as refreshment after a busy day, if the increased numbers of these establishments here is a criterion. Swimming is a close second.

Turkish, Russian and other vapor baths have increased in popularity until at least one hotel includes them with the room, and others are equipped for this service.

That these new facilities have not endangered the general business is evidenced by the new and larger building erected on Forty-second street by the largest Turkish baths in the city.

Large numbers of women patronize the places, special hours being reserved for them in the daytime. The evenings and nights are reserved uniersally for men.

Airplane Bomb Flies Wild; Hits Farmer's Home

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The family of A. Brehm, farmer living near the Castorville road behind the Kelly Field bombing range, narrowly missed injury or possible death Saturday when a 50 pound bomb flew wild and crashed through the roof of his barn.

WHEAT CROP SO GOOD HAIL FAILED TO HURT

MEADE, Kan., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The wheat crop in Meade county was so good this year that hail storms could not destroy it.

Wheat on the large Cummins farm was pronounced a total loss after hail stones as large as golf balls had battered to the ground every head of grain several weeks before harvest. Unusual prolonged rainy weather kept the field green. New stalks sprang from the roots. Finally Cummins obtained a yield of tweny-five bushels an acre.

Another farmer, who had collected hail insurance, harvested thirty-five bushels from every acre. The insurance company, having admitted its loss, found no recourse to compel the farmer to return his insurance money.

WIFE MAY USE PISTOL

BERLIN.—(AP)— The Women's Rights league hailed with delight the court decision which virtually established a precedent whereby wives can bring wayward husbands to time at the point of a revolver and even shoot without penalty of the law.

Frau Helene Kugler admitted that while her husband was fleeing their apartment in a huff after a quarrel, threatening neevr to return, she grabbed a revolver and fired five times in his direction. But when the district attorney demanded that his wife be jailed, Kugler pleaded that the shooting "was merely his wife's manner of making love to him."

"Every woman has a right to hold her husband," the court said, "I fail to see that Frau Kugler overstepped the bounds of either propriety or law."

Beauless Girl That Way On Purpose And She Will Stay Put

BY MILLARD FERGUSON,
Special Correspondent.

LIBERTY, S. C., Aug. 14.—Miss Sue Isabelle Boggs, blackeyed, pretty and just turned 20, a good housekeeper, a better cook and a splendid homemaker on all counts, has never had a beau in her life, despite the fact that she gets letters from every state in the union, and could number millionaires, lawyers, doctors and an Indian chief of two among her suitors, if she wished.

The fact that she claims to be only "beau-less girl" in the world and that she set out deliberately to earn that title and vows never to relinquish it, was the subject of a news dispatch recently that must have gone to all corners of the globe, for since its publication amazed and even indignant men have been writing to her from all points of the compass.

Indians, Too

Lawyers, preachers, artists, cartoonists, architects, authors, editors, poets, soldiers, musicians, farmers, bricklayers and several Indians are among those who have written to Sue Isabelle to assure her that she is making the mistake of her life and that she ought to get a sweetheart right away. Quite a few of them have sent presents, including books, flowers, candy, a wrist watch and silk stockings. In every instance Sue Isabelle Boggs has returned these gifts with a firm note to the effect that she could not consider accepting them if they were sent in a spirit of courtship; that she never has been courted and never intends to be.

All her life Sue Isabelle has wanted to establish a world's record at something. When she was a little girl, her health was bad and she didn't get to start to school until she was 12 years old. In 29 months she finished eight grades and the rapidity with which she was getting through school aroused in her an ambition to set a world's record for fast education. But with this title seemingly in her grasp she had to quit school to help out with the family budget, for her parents were poor and she had six sisters and five brothers. At that time girls were not thinking of swimming the English channel but they were doing a good deal of Bible reading. So Sue Isabel after learning the book of Matthew by heart when she was just 16, set out to memorize the whole New Testament, for by now it had become her fixed purpose to acomplish some undertaking that had never before been achieved. She was getting along toward the middle of the Holy Work when she found that there was a man who already knew it all.

Sunday School for Her

She stopped and concentrated her efforts on Sunday school teaching. When she was about 17 she had taught every class from the beginners to the men's senior advanced class and until this day she believes that was a world's record, but it was disputed.

Then, as a stroke of inspiration, the idea came to her to be the only beauless girl. Up to that time she had been too busy to bother with beaux, but from then on it became her fixed purpose in life never to hold hands, or to play "many, many stars" or go for rides in the moonlight. She began to sign all her letters: "The beauless girl of Liberty" and the news that there was a pretty girl down in Dixie who had determined to make her life an Adamless Eden in order to win a place in history got into the newspapers. Since then temptation has beset her in the shape of letters from all parts of the country. Sue is about now to have a sweetheart in every town but she keeps firm to her purpose. She is going to be just the opposite of Cleopatra and such famous ladies—she is going to be one pretty girl who never had a beau.

IT'S A BOY, FIGHTING BOB NO. 3, HE IS

Robert M. La Follette "Tertius" Is The Announcement

GRANDMA GREETS HIM

BY JEAN JARVIS
Special Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP) These be great days in the La Follette family, the latest important happening being the arrival of a new Robert Marion La Follette, the Third, in the line to bear the famous name.

In their capacity of proud parents of a perfectly wonderful nine pound baby boy, Phillip La Follette and Isabel Mason La Follette forthwith heralded the event by sending out very unique birthday cards.

Keen little photographs of both Mr. and Mrs. La Follette embellish the cards. Between their pictures is a clever sketch of a very important looking baby carrying a suitcase. The legend on the suitcase tells the whole story very succinctly. It reads:

"Robert Marion La Follette, Tertius."

Grandma Right There.

Well, "Tertius" arrived at the Phillip La Follette home at Madison, Wis., and one of the distinguished company gathered together in anticipation of his advent was "Grandma" La Follette, widow of the famous senator and mother of Robert M. La Follette Jr., junior senator from Wisconsin. But lately the senator and his mother left Washington by motor and very soon after her arrival at her home "Grandma" La Follette established herself for the summer at the La Follette farm, which is not far from the state capital.

"Teritus" incidentally has a very enterprising young cousin, Robert Marion La Follette Sucher. This youngster, now about three years old, is a son of Mary La Follett Sucher. According to family friends Robert Marion La Follette Sucher is the "pilin' image" of his distinguished grandfather, the late Senator La Follette "down to and includin'" the famous pompadourish of the front locks which caricaturists always featured in their sketches of the fighting senator. Blood will tell.

It's a Dizzy Summer.

Hereabouts, in the dizziest torrid spell Washington has had in countless years, they are busy cutting down trees. Connecticut avenue, long famous as a shady promenade, now is a stark and sunny stretch—all the wonderful "buttonwoods have been cut down and carted off in the interest of a wider thoroughfare. Indeed, the vacationists off these many weeks, are going to have a gay time piecing together the picture of the "old town" as they left it.

Now there's mistress Dolly Madison's house, which for a long time has been the established home of the Cosmos club. Members of the club carry all sorts of degrees. The fact is, it's a club of scientists, many famous the world over. Nobody just knows who plastered the adorable old brick walls of Dolly Madison's house all over with an ugly grey cement, but plastered she stood for years. Lately, all and sundry "antiqueries" found themselves thrilling over the spectacle of a company of workmen busy chipping off the obnoxious cement. In time appeared the delicious pinkish-red which signalizes the "old handmade brick" beloved of the connoisseur. The splendid old mansion stood revealed in its old time dignity.

All Gloom Now.

All was well for a day or two, when workmen armed with buckets of plaster got busy covering up the brick once more; now all is gloom among the connisseurs. Mistress Dolly Madison's house looks like any other house if you except the delicately lovely hand-wrought iron balconies which adorn the structure.

And then, out of the palisades of the Potomac where the "Jo" Leiter family set up a thrilling place—an estate of very considerable size touched off with a mansion which overlooks the Potomac as it whirled its way toward the falls, there is due any time now a "subdivision." The Leiter place has been sold and the tree-clad acreage is on the way to being "lots."

Meanwhile, the old Leiter house, a grandoise structure in the eighteen eighty period of "architectural ferocity" stands right in the heart of the Connecticut avenue commercial development, and stay-at-homes are wondering just how long the Leiters will continue to live in the town house which by the way is quite famous for a lovely old walled-in garden.

FATHER USES AN AIRPLANE TO STOP AN ELOPEMENT

CROYDON, Eng.—The use of an aeroplane to stop an elopement was recorded here for the first time when J. C. Pearson of London dashed up to the aerodrome and engaged a flier to take him to a seaside resort on the east coast. Speeding to the resort at 100 miles an hour, Pearson alighted and hurried to the railway station, where he awaited the arrival of a train from London. As a girl and a man got out of the train Pearson went up to them and appealed to his daughter to leave her companion. This she eventually consented to do, and the man was left discomfited upon the platform. The father, leaving nothing to chance, then insisted that his daughter should fly back to London with him in the waiting aeroplane.

WOMEN AND PUBLICITY

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—British newspapers are constantly intimating that all Americans are publicity mad, but the Daily Sketch admits the Dutchess of Roxburghe, who recently entertained the Duke of Wales at Floors Castle, has a "great dislike of publicity, despite her American origin."

The duchess was Miss May Goelet of New York, daughter of Ogden Goelet, and has a beautiful home in Carlton House Terrace, London, as well as Floors Castle. But very little finds its way into the newspapers about the duchess' entertaining. She has a thirteen-year-old son, Lord Bowmont and Cessford.

Magnate's Wife Plans to Run "Intimate" Theatre for Chicago Elite

Mrs. Samuel Insull, wife of Chicago's public utilities magnate, has plans for the creation of a repertoire theatrical company under her own management. If her project becomes a reality the Studebaker theatre, on Michigan Boulevard, will become a "stock" theatre of an unusual and intimate type. Mrs. Insull is seen here in her character as Madame Teazle in the production of "The School of Scandal" which she sponsored last season.

Gripping Scene In Picture, "Silence" At Strand 4 Days

H. B. Warner in "Silence" at Strand Staring Monday for Four Days.

It is 5:30 a. m. The scene is in the death house with a condemned man who is to be hanged at the stroke of six. A young district attorney is pleading with him urging him to tell the full story of the murder of which he was convicted. It is apparent he is withholding important evidence which might save him. But even as the hour for his death grows nearer and nearer the doomed man's lips remained sealed—he maintains his strange silence.

Such is the dramatic opening situation of "Silence," Beulah Marie Dix's thrilling screen version of Max Marcin's famed crook melodrama, which was filmed under Rupert Julian's direction, and which will be shown at the Strand theatre for four days beginning Monday.

The action is swiftly shifted from the death house back through the years into narrative, which builds up a series of suspenses that eventually bring the principal back to the death boue for the closing scenes, and a terrible fire in the prison which marks the picture's climax.

HAGEN ENTERS WESTERN TO RECOUP HIS STANDING

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 14.—(AP) Walter Hagen will play in the western open golf championship here August 26-28. He told the local committee that he looked upon the western open as the next best opportunity to retain his high position.

Other prominent golfers — Jim Barnes, Gene Sarasen, Bill Melhorn, Johnny Farrell, Jock Hutchinson and Bob MacDonald—will participate, as well as some of the best amateurs in the west and middle west.

The event will be for 72 holes, 18 to be played on the first day and a similar number on the second. The 60 lowest scorers will be eligible for the final day, when two rounds will be played.

The Highland Golf and Country club stage the tournament.

PICTURE DRESSES

Picture dresses, first brought out at court functions, have become a rage. They are copies of the dresses portrayed by the "Old Masters" and some are of such remarkable likeness that their wearers appear to have stepped from some mideval portrait. Jewels of the period represented by the dress complete the illusion. The Picture dress has done much to popularize the ankle-length gown with the English debutantes.

THE MANNISH MODE

British women appear to be divided as to the style of dress they shall adopt. One section favors men's styles. Besides going in for the latest Eton hair-crop, accompanied by flat strands of hair down the cheek, like men's side-whiskers, they buy their collars, ties, felt hats, tweed suits, walking canes and even dressing gowns at men's shops. A further masculine touch are cloth gaiters reaching to the knee for morning wear.

Another section of womankind is veering towards feminine "fluffiness" in dress. Gowns are now being worn with lace chiffon and longer skirts with frills, while the old-fashioned poke-bonnet and fichu are often seen for evening wear.

THE QUEEN'S TASTE

Queen Mary is considered a criterion of good taste, which is best exemplified by her conservatism in jewelry. She never, for instance, wears the famous Koh-i-noor diamond of Africa, believing that these too immense gems would be overpowering and even inartistic when seen in conjunction.

She still continues to wear white gloves, white shoes and white hose when she wears a dress of white. It has been commented that her style seems more accurate than that of the fashion leaders who combine mushroom hose and snakeskin shoes with white dresses.

The Worth of Established Reputation

THE average family buying a piano must depend largely on the reputation of the firm from which they buy and of the maker. Since they are not experts in piano construction, established reputation is their guide and assurance.

On this basis, backed by 17 years of service in Wichita Falls and the good word of the makers it represents, the Wichita Music Co. invites piano buyers to its store.

FISH HATCHERY FOR WICHITA

Success Crowns Several Months' Work By Chamber of Commerce

Wichita Falls is to have one of the best fish hatcheries in the state, according to information received by the chamber of commerce from W. T. Hubby, state game, fish and oyster commissioner, Friday. Mr. Hubby assured the local body that the site here had been approved and that work would begin soon on construction of the hatchery.

This decision follows several months work by chamber of commerce officials through the co-operation of Senator Parnell who was active in Austin in getting the site approved.

Below Diversion Dam.

Commissioner Hubby inspected the site which was offered for the hatchery several months ago. It lies next to the 140-acre tract given by Mrs. Herbert Griffin for a park, and is just below the diversion dam. Mrs. Griffin's gift makes the spot ideal for the purpose, providing a road to the place from the Seymour road and a bridge across the creek be constructed. This in addition to free water for the hatchery were the only requirements exacted by the commissioner, and, as the road right-of-way has already been secured there only remains the building of a bridge to provide the Wichita Falls part of the arrangements.

Hurbert M. Harrison, manager of the chamber of commerce, stated Saturday that the bridge would surely be built and that plans for getting this work going would begin right away. If no other way can be found the money for the bridge, about $15,000, will beraised by public subscription.

To Use 8-inch Stream.

An eight-inch stream of water from the irrigation canal has been promised from the irrigation officials to furnish water for the hatchery, and this amount is estimated to be amply sufficient for the purpose. This water will be just right for the hatchery work, and will be so arranged that it can be used as wanted.

When constructed the hatchery will lie close to the corner of four counties, Wichita, Archer, Baylor and Young, and will provide fish for planting in streams from this entire section, including the string of lakes in the Wichita valley irrigation district.

TELLS SECRET OF KAISER'S SPIKED EFFECT MUSTACHE

OMAHA, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The secret of Kaiser Wilhelm's spiked effect mustache is explained by Carl Schroppe of Omaha, who, as personal barber to the former emperor, originated the famous tonsorial characteristic.

Schropp who served many of Europe's royalty until "discovered" by the Kaiser, said:

"First I would wet the mustache thoroughly. Then with my fingers, I would push the hairs up at either end until they stood as you have seen them in pictures. Next I took a Schnurbartinde (a mustache strap), made of fine silk, with hooks on end, and put it over the mustache and attach the hooks to the Kaiser's ears. I used my fingers and a fine comb to put the hairs just so; then with the mustache strap on it, I would wait for it to dry. After that the Kaiser's mustache would stay the way he wanted it for twenty-four hours."

Receives Medal Quarter Century After Heroic Act

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Aug. 14 (AP)—A quarter of a century after the heroism had been recognized Private Joseph L. Epps of Panama, Okla., stood at attention here last night to receive the congressional medal of honor.

Epps was presented the medal by Captain J. R. Williams of the United States army. The presentation came at the conclusion of a military demonstration in which every military unit in Muskogee took part. The band struck up the "Star Spangled Banner," Epps' body straightened and his big black hat was lifted from his head—Williams pinned the silk and gold on the bent veteran's chest—his bravery had been recognized.

The award was voted by congress 25 years ago, Epps having captured a nest of 21 filipino insurrecton single handed during the Spanish-American war but his whereabouts were unknown until recently.

Music-Loving Children Best All-Round Students

Students of music are 25 per cent more efficient in their school work than children who have never taken any music lessons, it is shown in an exhaustive analysis of school grades of Springfield, MMo., high school pupils made by the Conn Music Center at Elkhart, Ind. Music study was found not only to improve the grades, but also to rank high as a mental stimulant in other ways.

More than 20 per cent of the 3,478 students in the high and junior high schools of Springfield have studied music for six months or more. The general average of the grades of the Springfield High Schools was found to be 28 per cent, while the average grade for those studying music was three points higher. Since 70 is the minimum grade and 82 the general average, there is a differential of only 12 points, and the actual superiority of the three points on the part of the music students in their general school work indicates an approximate increase in efficiency of 25 per cent.

Of the pupils studying music, by far the largest number take piano. Violin is next in favor, and cornet, clarinet, saxaphone and trombone follow in the order named.

The relation of wealth to music was brought out as an interesting sidelight of the analysis. The Reed Junior High School, located in the poorer section of Springfield, had three per cent more pupils taking music than the Jarrett Junior High which is located in the more wealthy section of the city.

NEVER AGAIN FOR CORSETS

So Say Girls Who Are Forced Into Them For Movie Ads

Will the corset come back?

This momentous question, to which affirmative replies have emanated of late from Parisian fashion salons, has been settled once and for all.

The answer is an emphatic "No!"

And if you don't believe it, ask Adolphe Menjou. For forty perspiring females—no less—have aired their mature opinion on the subject. Mr. Menjou having recovered from his embarrassment, can now tell you that the corset is doomed to the oblivion to which it has been related by the flapper age.

The decision was made—irrevocably—during production of the star's latest Paramount picture, "The Ace of Cads," which Luther Reed is directing at the Paramount Long Island studio. The picture, adapted by Forrest Halsey from Michael Arlen's short story, is laid in England in 1906.

One sequence takes place in a fashionable restaurant filled with diners in the evening dress of the period. In preparation for the scenes, H. M. K. Smith, studio costume director, worked for days. When you try to get them, he found 1906 evening dresses are scarce. And women who can wetr them are scarcer still.

Mr. Smith begged, borrowed and rented 1906 evening dresses, and then, still lacking the required number, was forced to make some more. Finally he had forty costumes. Each included a Gibson girl, straight-front, waspish-waisted dress, complete with shoes, hose, jewelry and—corset.

Then the extras who were to wear them, were sent in for fittings, whereupon Mr. Smith found that in twenty years strange things have happened to female figures. The dresses didn't fit. They were far too tight in the waists, and much too loose in—other places. Obviously, in the short time at hand, the figures couldn't be reshaped, so pads were sewed into the dresses at strategic points.

Came the day of the shooting of the restaurant scene. Forty females reported at the studio, and were sent at once to Fred Graf, hair dresser, who erected above their respective foreheads the elaborate pompadour coifures of the period.

Let the dressing room doors be closed on the rib-racking hour that intervened before the women walked stiffly on the set. Gone was the debutante slouch, the flapper fling, the loose careless stride of the modern girl. Instead forty females, with slightly strained expressions, walked on with short, dignified steps. A few of the older women revealed, by the ease with which they sat down, that they had experienced previously the rigors of the Gibson girl styles. The younger extras uniformly, did their constrained chatting in standing groups. Soon Alice Joyce, Philip Sterling, Norman Trevor and Mr. Menjou were ready, and shooting proceeded, in spite of the ominous, gradually sweltering murmurs from the extras.

It was hot outside that day, and even hotter under the lights around the set. That may have been partly responsible for the near riot that was precipitated a couple of hours later, when Director Reed began selecting some of the girls for action a bit more strenuous than sitting at the restaurant tables. Then murmurs of protest arose afresh, and finally one girl, bolder than the rest, left a gesturing group and approached Mr. Menjou and the director.

"Look here," she said, "fun's fun, but we gotta have a rest. These darn corsets are so tight we can't breathe."

Thirty-nine women voiced their support of this stand, and after a hurried consultation, a breathing spell was granted. Forty women made hasty exits in the direction of the dressing rooms, where again the doors must be closed on the half hour's recess.

"Say, who is this big sap that's predicting the return of the corset? I've been photographed in every thing from a coat of mail to a bathing suit, but this is the first time in my life I've ever been in a corset."

Thirty of the forty girls, it developed, were wearing corsets for the first time, and—most of them said—for the last.

Weber And Fields Will Play at Gem In Feature Film

There is such a thing as taking advantage of a fellow's good nature, and in the case of Weber and Fields comedy team who have been playing together for half a century, they are so everlastingly goodnatured people are likely to take advantage of their sweet dispositions without a second thought.

Weber and Fields have just completed their work in "Friendly Enemies," an Edward Belasco production which is coming to the Gem theatre for a one-day run Monday. It happens that just at the same time Boni and Liveright, book publishers, placed "Weber and Fields" by Felix Isman on the book stands. It is the biography of these two delightful men whose wonderful courtesy, unflagging devotion to their work, and unfailing good spirits have endeared them to their fellow workers as with their great public.

Mr. Isman is an old theatrical associate and his book is an intimate, appreciative survey of the lives of these two interesting men told simply yet scintilatingly.

When Weber and Fields received their copies from the author in the offices of the studio, it was a real treat to watch them fingering the pages of the handsome volume which is profusely illustrated with photographs of them and their associates.

"Look," Joe Weber would exclaim, "there's Dave Warfield and Lew and me all together. That was in—let me see—, yes, 'Fiddle Dee Dee.' By George that brings back the old days. Remember—" And the next half hour was spent in sweet remininscences.

Now these enthusiastic outbursts were too much for the other members of the company and each in turn decided that he or she must have a copy. And he and she decided, also, that that perconal copy must be personally autographed by the comedians. For the next two days "the boys" were kept busy between scenes affixing their signatures to the fly leaves of Felix Isman's entertaining volume.

CLARA BOW AND PERCY MARMONT IN THE PARAMOUNT PICTURE 'MANTRAP' A VICTOR FLEMING PRODUCTION

At The Palace Monday and Tuesday

"MANTRAP" IS AT OLYMPIC

Percy Marmont, World Traveler, Stellar Player In Paramount Film

Paramount's stellar player seems to do more getting around than any other actor on the screen. He may not always actually travel, but the locales of the pictures Marmont is cast in, take him to the ends of the earth.

Previous to playing in "Mantrap" which comes to the Olympic Theatre today and in which Percy is seen as a New York lawyer who goes to Canada's North Woods for a rest, he played a leading role in Gilda Gray's starring picture, "Aloma of the South Seas." That title speaks for itself. On crossing the continent from Hollywood, Marmont was sent to Porto Rico, Gilda's "South Sea Isle."

Not long ago, he enacted the title role in Joseph Conrad's "Lord Jim." Those who know the story, will realize that once more Marmont had to visit the ends of the world.

"Mantrap," which Victor Fleming directed, includes Clara Bow and Ernest Torrence in its featured cast. Sinclair Lewis wrote the story.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. "Two-Gun Man" At Mission

Stewart Edward White's Story, "Two Gun Man" Is At Mission for Two Days

Long awaited with expectancy by the many admirers of Stewart Edward White as well as the great army of Fred Thomson fans, the first story of that famous author adopted for this versatile western star will have its local premiere here at the Mission theatre today when "The Two-Gun Man" begins a two-day stay. Mr. Thompson recently caused a furore in motion picture circles by announcing that he would make three productions for F. B. O. from the works of Mr. White; and the combination of the greatest writer of western tales with such an interpreter of western characters is indeed a happy one. Fred and his famous horse, Silver King, have never enjoyed a vehicle from the pen of such a celebrity—nor for that matter, has anyone else. Not even the late Alfred Henry Lewis enjoyed such popularity as Mr. White, or merited as well his reputation for knowledge of the old west, coupled with a vivid imagination and creative genius. William E. Wing adapted "The Two-Gun Man" to the screen, and he will be remembered for his work in several other Thomson productions. David Kirkland directed, with Al Werker as his assistant, while the cast includes Olive Hasbrouck, William Courtwright, Sheldon Lewis, Joe Dowling, little Billy Butts, Ivar Madden, Frank Lagney and others.

"Yankee Senor" Is Playing at Garden Today and Monday

It fell to the lot of the western ace to introduce the new color scheme at the Fox studio, and Emmett Flynn, directing Mix, has made the best possible use of the innovation.

"The Yankee Senor," is a colorful story of Old Mexico and affords Mix a wonderful opportunity for some splendid action. Many of the patio scenes are strikingly beautiful. There are numerous close-up shots of Mix and other members of the company.

The cast includes the vivacious Olive Borden, Margaret Livingston, Kathryn Hill, Martha Mattox, Francis McDonald. Alec Francis and others. Beautiful wildflower sequences were filmed in Wyoming. The Spanish hacienda scenes were laid in Southern California.

Tillman's Highways Are in Good Shape

In many portions of Tillman, road work is being done. State maintainers of three state highways that cross the county have been busying themselves since the recent rains and grading and building has materially aided them.

Several smaller bridges and two large structures are included in summer improvement program being carried out at this time. A reinforced concrete bridge, 30 feet long, is nearing completion east of Manitou, which, when completed, will increase the utility of a mile stretch there that has been one of the worst spots in the country for many years.

Frederick Band May Play at T-O Fair

FREDERICK, Aug. 13. It is probable that the Frederick Commercial band will play for Oklahoma day at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, in Wichita Falls, Tex., according to arrangements being made betwen the fair management and E. E. Napper, secretary of the Frederick chamber of commerce.

Director F. B. Hall has announced that the band is willing to play if a satisfactory financial agreement can be reached.

The local musical unit has won much recognition through it musical offerings in the southwestern part of the state during the past few years. This is its first invitation to play outside the state.

ED WYNN'S QUESTION BOX

By ED WYNN

"THE PERFECT FOOL"

He Knows All — He Sees All

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a bookkeeper and my vacation starts next Saturday. It has been so cold this summer I am afraid I won't get much bathing. I am going to spend my vacation at Coney Island. Can you tell me how I will find the water.

Sincerely,
I Spillink.

Answer:

That won't be hard, it's right down where the beach is.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

In this mornings' mail I received a circular from a plumber who claims he is selling a new kind of stove which will save half the coal I use in the stove I have now. Do you advise me to buy one of his new stoves?

Yours truly,
I. M. Curious.

Answer:

If your plumber is telling the truth when he says his new stove saves one-half of your coal why don't you buy two of his stoves and save all your coal?

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I just received a letter from a friend of mine in which he says he intends coming clean from Denver, Colorado, to New York on a bicycle. Do you believe he can do it?

Yours truly,
Hansen Feet

Answer:

He can come that far on a bicycle, but not clean.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Two friends of mine left yesterday on a camping trip. As they left me I noticed that each one had a stone jug in his hand. They told me they were taking them along to use for their pillows. Don't you think stone jugs are rather hard things to sleep on?

Truly yours,
May N. June.

Answer:

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have been suffering with indigestion, and decided to go to a doctor. I went to one and he said that I ate the wrong foods. I asked him for advice and all he did was to tell me to buy a "plaid vest" and wear it all the time. Now, why in the world does he want me to wear a "plain vest?"

Sincerely,
E. Skake.

Answer:

He simply wants you to keep a check on your stomach.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have just bought a little house in the country. It is a new house but it is terribly damp, due, I guess, to poor construction. What I want to know is how can I keep water from running into my house.

Yours truly,
I. N. O. Myhows.

Answer:

Don't pay your water bill.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Last night I had an argument with my brother about different kinds of weather. My brother said that "cold" travels faster than "heat" while I insisted that "heat" travels the fastest. Who is right?

Truly yours,
I Sickle.

Answer:

You are right. "Heat travels the fastest because you can't catch it, while it is very easy to chatch "cold."

Dear Mr. Wynn:

For years I have wondered about the "Three Ball" signs in front of pawn-brokers. Every pawnshop has the same kind of a sign. Is there any particular meaning to the three balls.

Sincerely,
I. C. Everything.

Answer:

Three balls in front of a pawnshop means that it's two to one that the things people pawn will never be redeemed.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am the president of the Offenon Railroad and need some of your advice. The board of directors have had several meetings but cannot come to a decision. Our trouble is simply this: In the past year one of our trains has been in 21 wrecks, the peculiar part of the whole thing is that only the last car of the train gets damaged, and the rest of the train comes through all right. What can we do to prevent the last car from getting smashed?

Truly yours,
N. Jinsmoke.

Answer:

The next time that particular train starts out for a trip just leave the last car off the train.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have an uncle who is a farmer. In talking about his farm, he said he thought of all his cattle that pigs were the most wonderful animals in all the world. Can you tell me why he said pigs were the most wonderful animals in the world.

Yours truly,
Hays Eed.

Answer:

He is right because pigs are the only animals that are killed before they are cured.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I saw a man drop a nickel in a letter box and then say "Conductor leave me off at 14th street." Don't you think he was drunk?

Sincerely yours,
G. I. Giggled.

Answer next week.
ED WYNN.

Niece Sees Uncle After 33 Years

ELECTRA, Aug. 14.—After an absence of 33 years, Mrs. W. T. Sloan, of Shawnee, Okla., is reunited with her uncle, Wilson Stephens, of the Forrest lease, near Electra. Mr. and Mrs. Sloan are making an extended visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephens, but niece and uncle hope they may have a visit with each other again before the next 33 years elapse.

HEIRESS IN HUMANE WORK

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Love for animals which twenty years ago outweighed the prospects of a pleasurable social life, gave the Wisconsin Humane society a "Lady Bountiful" in Miss Lenore Cawker, rich heiress, who this year promises to give Milwaukee a new home for stray animals.

The new home, which Miss Cawker will build entirely out of her own funds, will cost approximately $20,000. It will provide for two automobiles, a truck, an ambulance, and an operating room, besides teh space devoted to the entertainment of stray animals.

Miss Cawker, when a young debutante, read of the cruel treatment of animals in the city pound, and the proposal to build a high fence to keep children from seeing the animals killed. Miss Cawker visited the pound and, immediately turning from social duties, she threw her entire energy into the work of the Wisconsin Humane society. Among her first acts was the opening of a home for animals in her father's spacious stables.

BRIGHT COLORS IN CHEVROLETS

New Features and Mechanical Refinements in The "Smoothest Chevrolet"

New features and mechanical refinements adding still further to the ease of operation and driving comfort, and striking new Duco colors characterize the "Smoothest Chevrolet" just announced.

A motor even more remarkable for smoothness of operation and new colors that reflect the latest and most harmonious blending of smart lines and artistic hues are revealed in this car. The new features are announced in the middle of the greatest sales year in Chevrolet history.

New Features

Among the more important new features included are the following: A new cross member, strengthening the motor support at the transmission housing, thus still further reducing vibration and at the same time adding greater ruggedness to frame and chassis; a re-designed cam shaft with cams scientifically rounded to eliminate noise; gas and spark controls mounted with horn button on top of the steering column, affording not only easier control in driving but also giving a more artistic appearance; an improved universal joint with trunions operating in separate bushings to give longer wear and to afford easier access; a new battery and battery support; and a more sturdy tie-rod between the front fenders which permits a more rigid support of the headlights and their better focusing.

Stop-Light Switch

A notable feature is the ingenious stop-light switch which has no wire attached to the brake pedal and no pull-back spring on the switch, thereby eliminating a frequent source of annoyance of failure to function properly. The new switch is of non-arcing, lever type and is operated by the brake rod.

The new battery is equipped with a solid rubber case and has the handles built in as part of the case, thus eliminating metal handles which are subject to corrosion. The new type carrier holds the battery in such a way as to eliminate any strains on the battery case and the consequent liability of breakage.

New, brilliant and striking combinations of colors in Duco appear on all models. The sedan is finished in Algerian blue; the coach in Thebes gray; the landau in Alpine green, the coupe in Dundee gray, while all open models are finished in Biscay green.

Hupp Six Sedan Sets Record In 30-Day Journey

Covering 18,216 miles in 30 days, without once stopping the engine, is the record just established by a Hupmobile Six sedan, running through northeastern Florida.

The run marks the foremost thorough test that has come to the attention of the Hupp Motor Car corporation since the car was announced last November. It is pointed out by factory executives that the car actually covered the equivalent of two years' average driving during the 30-day period.

Its road average was approximately 28 miles an hour. The actual average, including stopping the wheels to refill with gasoline, oil and water, and to repair one puncture, was 25.3 miles an hour. The ignition was sealed when the run was started, and the switch taken off the car.

The run was planned and conducted to duplicate, as nearly as possible, average driving conditions, and to illustrate the ability of the car to withstand the punishments of actual road conditions.

Route of Trip.

The car covered a 430-mile route on each trip. Starting from the Jacksonville building of the William A. Estaver Co., Hupmobile distributors for northern Florida, it led to Lake City, Gainesville, Ocala, Leesburg, Mount Dora, Orlando, Sanford, Daytona Beach, St. Augustine and back to Jacksonville. Constant check on its mileage was kept of offices of the Western Union Telegraph company, in each of the larger cities.

Though the run was conducted under a severe handicap of muddy, rutted roads during more than half the 30-day period, the car, which constantly carried a driver and relief driver, actually averaged in excess of 19 miles per gallon of gasoline. Oil was changed at Jacksonville each time the car covered two laps of its route, or each 860 miles. Drivers were changed each 430 miles, giving the pair driving the preceding lap about 18 hours to rest.

The run was started by John T. Alsop, Jr., mayor of Jacksonville, who also was on hand to greet the drivers and car as they completed their run 30 days later.

According to information wired the Hupp factory by Mr. Estaver, "the runs attracted widespread interest throughout the state bacuse it was one of the most severe tests of endurance ever given a strictly stock motor car."

Rains Fail.

Continual rains which fell both day and night during the middle part of the test made it a dangerous undertaking for more than a week. Even on the good roads, where it was necessary to make up time lost because of the storms, the highways were found to be so slippery that the drivers discovered it impossible to hold the car on the road at a speed of more than 40 miles an hour.

Immediately following its completion, the car was brought to the company's building and torn down, and a complete inspection of its parts made by Captain Hatten Howard, a graduate mechanical engineer from the Georgia Institute of Technology, and an authority on gasoline engines. His report, submitted as a signed statement, indicates that the car was remarkably free from wear at the completion of the test.

MODERN DON JUAN TUCKED AWAY TO PROTECT WOMEN

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—"You are a regular Don Juan," said the court in sentencing Carl S. Wynne for bigamy, "and I'm going to tuck you away where women of this country will be prtected against you for a while." The length of Wynne's imprisonment was fixed at nine years. Wynne married a Seattl ewoman in 1911; five years later he married Miss Ella Morse in St. Louis. In 1920 he took a bride here and in 1924 he picked out another Chicago woman. He was courting a third when arrested.

New Cadillac Covers 50 Body Types

Included in the Cadillac line of fifty body types and styles for this fall is this impressive seven-passenger sedan. It exemplifies the refinements made in the 1927 series of Cadillac standard closed bodies to keep pace with the improvements in the custom line. New fenders, headlamps and radiator casing add grace and strength to the appearance, and window recesses in colors give an added dash of liveliness to the upper panels. Front pillars have been narrowed one inch, giving greater visibility and the pleated and tufted style of upholstery trimming used in custom closed cars during the 1926 season has been adopted for the new standard cars.

Cadillac Company Is Celebrating Golden Anniversary

The establishment of a more widely diversified line of body types and styles, color combinations and upholsteries than has ever before been shown by one manufacturers in the history of the industry marks the entrance of the Cadillac Motor Car company into its silver anniversary year.

The company's marked attention to individuality and exclusiveness in body design which has been developing during the past twelve months, has been accompanied by an upward revision of its production schedule four times during the same period, and by an increase in sales of 87 1-2 per cent.

The sharp increase in the upward curve of production began with the announcement of the new Cadillac car, August 1, 1925, a few months after the accession of Lawrence P. Fisher to the company's presidency. The influence of the Fisher Body organization, of which he was formerly an officer, has been evidenced since that time in the development of a range of body styles commensurate with the quality of the chassis.

Beginning with an offering of six standard and seven custom-built bodies one year ago, the line was increased with additions of new, exquisite colors and upholsteries, and new custom-built bodies by Fisher, Fleetwood and Brunn. In the latest announcement, besides further new creations by individual coach builders, six entirely new body models are added in the standard and Fisher custom-built lines, and in each of four of these custom-built body types two styles are represented, the rear quarters being finished either in metal or in cabriolet style with leather and ornamental bows.

Once in 900 Years; It's Enough, Says Folger, After Following Trail Erickson Made in 1000 A. D.

Three Times They Met Certain Death in Jaws Of Icebergs And Escaped As If By A Miracle

BOSTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Once in 900 years is enough to sail the viking course from Norway to the North American continent—take it from Captain Gerhard Folgero.

The captain and three companion Norsemen who put into harbor yesterday in their tiny 42-foot sailing boat after a 6,400 mile journey that started at Bergen on May 23 have had their fill of adventure.

They were the first to make the perilous voyage since Leif Erickson, for whom they named their craft. When picked up by the coast guard cutter Redwing, becalmed off Cape Ann, their food supply consisted of one salt fish, a pound of coffee, four potatoes and two gallons of water, with Philadelphia and the sesqui-centennial exposition a long way off.

Behind them lay vivid recollections of dangers. Three times Captain Folgero had exclaimed, "we are gone" and three times hope returned. Three hundred foot icebergs had threatened to crush the Erickson, it was locked in an ice pack off Labrador for 21 days and then, to climax matters was caught in a terrific handicap.

But through it all the four vickings clung tenaciously to life and weathered the elements.

"When I was in New York 16 years ago I bought for 50 cents a book on Leif Erickson," Captain Folgero explained, "I resolved some day I would do the thing he had done. When I told my friends they thought I was crazy. I am glad to have been the first to make such a cruise in 900 years but I would never try it again. Once in 900 years is enough for me."

The boat will go on exhibition at the centennial exposition in Philadelphia after provisioning here. It was built by Americans of Norwegian origin as an evidence of their appreciation of the hospitality of America.

NEW NASH SIX IS IMPROVED

Niceties of Arrangements And Appointments Are Featured

Coincident wit hthe celebration of the tenth anniversary of the founding of The Nash Motors company, Nash dealers throughout the country are staging an impressive introductory display of the newly refined Advanced Six and Light Six models.

Both from an engineering standpoint and with regard to the niceties of arrangement and appointment, these two newly refined groups of Nash models evidence even more vividly the notable character of Nash manufacturing resources.

During the first six months of this year Nash sales reached a total of 78,133 cars as contrasted to the total sales for the entire year 1915 of 90,121 cars. And 1925 had gained nearly 80 per cent over 1924.

The Light Six 4-Door Sedan which is the leader of the Light Six series presents a longer, roomier body with an increased amount of leg room. The rear of this body attracts the eye because of its beautifully rounded contour and an important feature is the more costly genuine wood-frame body construction Nash employs similar to the practice which is in vogue among the finest European and American cars, instead of the steel-frame type previously used.

Cars Are Trimmed.

This newly refined Light Six 4-Door Sedan is beautifully done in a deep Mallard green finish with black upper structure and black body moldings, both of which are penciled with thin double stripes of gold. Gold striping is also observed in the disc wheels. The Light Six Touring car is done in duotone. Above the black body molding is a rich green-gray while below the molding the car is finished in lustrous lilac gray. The body molding has double gold striping and the green-gray disc wheels are also traced in gold.

Both front and rear fenders are more deeply crowned and particular care has been taken in curving the rear fenders gracefully roadward.

Air Cleaner.

The Light Six carburetor is now equipped with an air cleaner to exclude foreign substances from entering the air intake, and as further evidence of the quality Nash employs throughout the Light Six series there is a new oil purifier which has been included in Light Six equipment to purge the oil of all grit, dust and abrasives.

In both the Light Six and Advanced Six series there are new instrument boards and in each case all the instruments are compactly and artistically grouped. In the case of the Advanced Six series the single panel under glass has indirect illumination and is provided with an electric clock. Both panels include among other instruments a new-type hydrostatic gas gauge.

With respect to the headlamps there is also similarity between the two series for each has the new-type double filament headlights which throw a strong beam straight ahead or directly downward in front of the car as may be desired. The lights are controlled by a lever located on the instrument board in the cast of the Light Six series, and placed on the steering wheel in the Advanced Six models.

The Advanced Six 4-Door Coupe which is built on the 127-inch wheelbase is picturesquely toned in sumptuous Mallard green. Its body moldings are cut in with a light green and striped with a double gold line. Disc wheels are likewise penciled in gold.

In contrast there is the stunning Advanced Six Roadster whole lines are particularly racy. This model is in duotone colors. The upper body has a Plymouth gray shade. While the lower body is in rich beige. The body molding is in black, double-striped with gold. The disc wheels are Plymouth gray, too, gold traced.

TILLMAN FAIR PROMISES MUCH

Arrangements Being Completed For Exposition, September 14-17

FREDERICK, Okla., Aug. 13.—With unusual interest being manifested in the livestock and agricultural divisions of the Tillman County free fair this year, the annual exposition, slated to take place September 14 to 17, inclusive, promises to be one of the best ever held.

More co-operation from the farmers has been evidenced than has ever been the case before, and with an excellent board of directors for the Free Fair association, the event promises to surpass the records of any previous fair.

Will End on Friday.

Departing from the usual custom of holding fairs on Saturday, Tillman's exposition will end Friday night, as far as the agricultural exhibits are concerned. This will give exhibitors Saturday to remove their displays. Carnival features will continue over Saturday, but no grandstand exhibitions will be given.

Two days of horse racing and two days of automobile racing are being slated. Some of the best equine specimens in the southwest part of Oklahoma, and several fast pacers from northwest Texas, will be entered, it has been said.

In joining an auto race association, Frederick has been made the member of a grand circuit and at least 16 fast cars will participate in the two-day prizes.

No Games of Chance.

No games of chance, and probably no carnival attractions other than several good shows will be found on the midway of the county fair, according to the decision of the board of directors, after declaration, from farm leaders that a better type of entertainment is wanted. Doll racks, and similar games of chance have been banned by the county attorney.

Plenty of rides and first-class shows will be offered, it has been announced.

Nightly fireworks programs in front of the grandstand, are to be in charge of the local chapter of Forty and Eight. Several of the famous battle scenes of the front during the World war will be reproduced.

Advance indications are that unusually large entry lists will be found in all divisions of the fair this year. Distribution during the past week of catalogs showing premium lists has accelerated interest in the exhibition.

Unusual Sales In Dodge Motor Cars Are Made in 1926

All previous records of retail deliveries by Dodge Brothers dealers in the United States have been eclipsed by the new delivery figures achieved during the last days of July. During the seven week days from the opening of business July 24 to midnight July 31, 12,015 new motor cars and trucks were placed in the hands of owners. On one day, Saturday, July 31, deliveries totaled 3,093, almost half of the number delivered during the whole of the best week last year.

During the period from June 24 to August 1 41,886 motor cars and trucks were delivered. Compared with 35,700 during the previous five weeks this year the gain is 6,186 units or 17.3 per cent. Against deliveries of 23,245 during the five weeks ending August 1, last year. The gain was 18,641 or 80 per cent.

"These records are nothing short of sensational," says Mr. McFall of the McFall Brothers, local Dodge Brothers dealers. "At a time when sales of many makes of motor cars are at low ebb due to the announcement or the expected announcement of new 1927 models, sales records surpassing those of the peak of the spring selling season are indeed evidence of the soundness of Dodge Brothers long established policy of constant improvement without yearly models and of public approval of their product."

To Whiten Skin with Lemon

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best—immediately after it is prepared.—Adv.

Details of New Chryslers To Be Announced Soon

There is an increasing curiosity among people interested in motor cars—which about embraces the whole public—in the details of the new Chrysler 4-cylinder car which is shortly to be announced.

While Mr. Chrysler has acknowledged that such a car is on the way, there has been no intimation from official sources as to what will be its characteristics.

Word comes from Detroit however that the formal announcement will stress the fact that the new Chrysler is a "full sized car." This is taken to mean that exceptionally large passenger room in a car of its class will be a leading feature.

As the same engineers who designed the Chrysler "70," "60 and Imperial "80" designed the new car, it is taken for granted that it will embody marked mechanical improvements.

It is understood that the car will sell in the lower price range and will actively compete for a full share of this large market.

EASE WOMEN DRIVERS' TEST

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Police no longer try unofficially to discourage women from taking the difficult tests for automobile drivers' licenses in Berlin. Several motor vehicle districts have praised women as drivers, saying they are usually more careful than men, although as a general rule they were either "hopeless"or "excellent" with no in-between class.

As a result the mechanical end of tests for women has been eased up. Hitherto women as well as men had to take apart and put together the principal parts of an automobile engine.

Graham Brothers Make Heavy Sales Throughout July

For the first time in the history of Graham Brothers more than 1000 of their trucks and motor coaches have been delivered in a single week at retail by Dodge Brothers dealers in the United States and Canada. The record of 1041 during the week ended July 31 follows closely the record of 806 delivered during the week ended July 3 and is more than twice the figure of the best week last year. Compared with the corresponding week of 1925, when 347 were sold the gain is 694 trucks or 200 per cent.

During five weeks ended July 31 deliveries of trucks and motor coaches totaled 4086. The increase over the preceding five weeks was 15.7 per cent and over the five weeks ended August 1 last year was 2408 units or 143 per cent. "The rapidly growing demand for a dependable transportation unit of 1-ton capacity," declares Mr. McFall of McFall Brothers, local Dodge Brothers dealers, "is evidenced by the increasing ratio of this capacity to the heavier trucks. 2189 or 53.6 per cent of the total deliveries of Graham Brothers trucks and motor coaches during July were of this capacity. The fact that prior to introduction of the G-Boy, Graham Brothers new 1-ton trucks, less than one-third of their output was of that capacity and that now over half are that type shows clearly the constantly increasing approval of this sturdy little truck."

Hagenbeck Trainer Captures Elephants

CANADIAN, Texas, Aug. 14.—Word from dense forests near Crambrook, British Columbia, where five escaped Sells Floto elephants are terrorizing, states "Cheerful Gardner," Hagen-Beck-Wallace elephant tamer, was sent there in airplane from Wichita and located three of the elephants, directing their capture from airplane by wireless communication. The other two elephants, it is reported, are lovers of Huyler's American chocolates which are being dispatched to Gardner by airplane. He hopes to corral them by Sunday.

Thought Malaria Still in System

Until Dodson's Liver Tone Drove Out Quarts of Sour Bile and Other Poisons

There are entire section where everyone seems to think that they have malaria. Others believe they never fully got the malaria out of their systems.

Arnold Whiteson says; "For years I took calomel for the aches, biliousness, headaches, constipation and the deathly feeling associated with what we believed to be malaria.

"Last year I heard about Dodson's Liver Tone and bought a bottle for a few cents. Man, man, what a God-send. In the morning it drove out quarts of black, sour bile. I got back my appetite for food, braced right up and haven't had a sick spell since. Whenever I feel a little bilious or the stomach gets sour, one dose of Dodson's Liver Tone is all I need. It is surely a blessing."

Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.—Adv.

Chrysler Standardized Quality

Guarantees Greater Value to the Car Buyer

Large quantity production has long been standardized—quality standardization has been accomplished for the first time in motor car manufacturing by Walter P. Chrysler.

Merely building several cars is one thing. Building four lines of cars under one name and one management in one unified group of plants on a rigid system of quality standardization is a totally different thing.

Chrysler manufacturing, like Chrysler engineering, is different from ordinary manufacturing—radically and immeasurably different in principle and practice.

50, 60, 70, Imperial 80—These car numerals attached to the name Chrysler mean miles per hour and they mean something vastly more important than that in creating value.

They mean a common basis of quality for all four lines of cars—a rigid system of close measurement and fine manufacturing applied alike to each and every one of the four lines—a common source of engineering skill—a division of overhead and operating costs—a combination of buying resources—a magnificent system of special machines and special processes devised to insure invariable accuracy in the manufacture of all four lines of cars—a positive protective process of guaranteeing the owner exactly the same basic quality no matter what price he pays or which Chrysler car he buys.

The Chrysler plan makes possible greater value for the investment than has heretofore been dreamed by the automobile buyer.

At one step it eliminates "purchaser's risk" and makes possible the purchase of either the lowest-priced or the highest-priced Chrysler with the positive assurance that the quality in each is equally unquestionable.

Leader of the New Trend

It immediately assumed a leadership that is more emphatic today than ever before—despite the fact that there is scarcely a motor car of importance that does not reflect in design or practice the influence of Mr. Chrysler and his engineers.

Certainly not one of the hundreds of thousands of owners who have experienced the extraordinary results it gives in brilliant performance, in riding and handling ease, in safety, in economy of operation, in dependability and in proved long life will ever again willingly accept less than Chrysler "70" offers.

A demonstration of these superiorities will readily add you to the new thousands every week who are securing in Chrysler "70" the greatest satisfaction and value which the Chrysler Standardized Quality plan makes possible.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CARS

Modern Engineering Featured In Making Willys-Overland Line

Modern European engineering, as introduced to America in the Overland Whippet will work a change in the general acceptance of motor power. Already the team "activity factor" is being used by engineers to describe the performance possibility of the new type motor cars. With the older type of engineering, the rated horsepower was accepted as the basis for comparison. In the Whippet the developed horsepower is 100 per cent greater than the rated horsepower. Such a difference in the indicated power as compared with the realized power has never before been shown in the light car field in this country. It has been common in England and on the Continent for the past several years. Activity factor is the means of comparing the power development of the car with the actual developed power.

Innovations in the four-cylinder motor as built for light cars, and shown in the Overland Whippet, include such features as extra long cylinder walls to keep the pistons from sliding below the lower edge of the walls at the bottom of the down stroke, the use of full bond bearings which eliminate the use of shims, extra heavy construction in the crank shaft and in the cam shaft, four point suspension in the motor and equally distinctive elements of design in other parts.

The same excess of developed power over rated power is brought about by European principles in the "70" Willys-Knight Six Seventy, a car which develops a full 53 horsepower from motor dimensions which are usually associated with considerably less power than this. It presents the best achievements in modern engineering as worked out for the Knight sleeve-valve motor.

The Overland Six and the Willys-Knight Great Six show equivalent advantages in engineering through the use of modern engineering. In actual results so far as owners are concerned, greater mileage to the gallon of fuel, greater acceleration, faster speed over the road, longer life to the motor parts, are the distinguishing features of modern engineering.

Curfew Whistle For Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 14.—(AP) The curfew law will be enforced in Port Arthur after Sunday night, according to an announcement made Friday by Chief of Police W. W. Covington. Parents have been warned that boys and girls under 15 years of age who are found on the streets after 9 o'clock will be sent home.

A whistle will be blown each night at that time to warn children to get off the street.

WINNING ACTRESS IS GYMNAST

PARIS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Prize winner for tragedy as well as comedy at the latest examinations of the conservatoire, the State School for Acting, Mademoiselle Marcelle had the flattering experiecn of being engaged by the Comedie Francaise.

Physical culture has been almost as strong as passion with Mlle, Romee as her ambition to act. She is an athlete and holds a diploma as gymnast from the City of Paris. Her parents intended her to become a school teacher.

Lily Langtry Shown Gotham —By Ring Lardner

The furore over the invention of horses by Thomas A. Edison had no sooner abated than the country was thrown into a new ferment of grape juice by John F. ("Peaches") Hylan's discovery of the subway. People who now ride in subways in various cities and complain of strap-hanging, overcrowding, etc., would scarcely believe the facts concerning that first New York subway, or tuber as it was called on account of its resemblance to a potato. Instead of being obliged to pay a nickel apiece for a ride, passengers were sent engraved invitations and the number of same was limited to the seating, or rather, lying down, capacity of the trains; say forty or fifty individuals who expected to be particularly busy at their office on Monday received subway cards for that day; forty or fifty others, whose busy day was Tuesday, were invited to ride that day, and so on through the week.

Emile Cracks Wise.

Each car was equipped with half a dozen four poster beds, half a dozen twin beds, three or four easy chairs and a chaise lounge. Later the twin beds were taken out of the equipment because so few twins seemed to be in business in New York; more correctly, many sets of twins were in business, but not in the same line and not particularly busy on the same day. For example, the Kitchell twins, Howell and Growell; they both had offices downtown, but Howell was a fishmonger with an exclusive Friday trade, while Growell sold welts and by tacit agreement, out-of-town welt buyers visited New York Mondays only. And it was the same with other sets of twins.

(Author's note: What of it?)

These early subway cars had stout leather straps, but they were not fastened to the roofs of the cars. They were loose and were used either for sharpening razors or for amuse-This One?" Each passenger was play a game called "Have You Heard This One?" Each passengers was required to tell a story and if any of the other passengers had heard it before, the reconteur was given a hiding with straps. This was where Growell Kitchell picked up most of his welts.

It was during the early days of the subway that Emile Zola visited New York and remarked in broken French: "Why, you New Yorkers are like ze little animals, what you call them, ze moles. You are always burrowing in ze ground." Horace Greeley was much taken with this comment and made a suggestion that was afterwards put into effect—that the city be divided into burrows, the Burrow of Brooklyn, the Burrow of the Bronx, etc.

(Editor's note: The Oakland Mole in San Francisco bay got its name in much the same way).

At this time Lily Langtry was the toast of New York. Co-starred with the Marx Brothers in "A Texas Steer," she swept Broadway and was next given a job sweeping the crosd streets. Mayor Walker presented her with the keys to St. Louis, but she refused to take the hint and it became my duty to show her around Gotham.

(Editor's note: A pseudonym for New York).

Unlike Jane Austen, who has insisted on visiting the night clubs, Lily wanted to see the city's noon life. Nothing gave her more of a thrill than to lunch at one of the side tables outside the Pennsylvania station and watch the zinc-workers and hatters at their midday revels.

Tradesmen's Antics Pleased Mixed Party.

"Vivi!" she would shout as some particularly daring peasant girl tossed

At this time Lily Langtry was the toast of New York. Co-starred with the Marx Brothers in "A Texas Steer."

a ringer or a leaner, or an extra hilarious traffic policeman successfully coaxed a parambulator in front of a taxi or Halloa cab as they were then called.

"But listen, Lil," I often remonstrated, "don't you want to even get an impression of what goes on in places like the Knickerbocker club or the Lambs or Sophie Tucker's or places like that?"

"No, Lardy," she would say.

(Editor's note: She called him Lardy).

So a party of four or five of us, usually consisting of H. L. Mencken, the Marx Brothers, Ward and Vokes, Barnum and Bailey, the Duncan Sisters, the Striblings, the Bison City Quartette, the Happiness Boys and the Four Horsemen, besides myself and the Langtry, would daily engage a corner table at Seventh Avenue and Thirty-third street and, as I have said, enjoy the antics of the tradesmen out for their noon lark.

At length Mayor Walker asked me to take LE to Atlantic City as she had never seen an auction sale. But it happened that just at this period a law had been passed against auctions, said to be the only law ever passed in New Jersey. So all the Langtry and I could find to do was walk up and down, walk up and down. I noticed that she grew more and more uninterested and one day she yawned several times and then uttered an exclamation of tedium.

"No wonder," she said, "they call this the Bored Walk."

File Charge Against Motorman

GALVESTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—A charge of negligent homicide was filed against Pat McNamara, operator of a street car which ran over and decapitated 4-year-old Charles Yeager Jr. The lad fell under the car wheels while playing in the street during a slight shower, attired in his bathing suit this afternoon about 1:30. McNamara was released on bond.

Americans Receive Whippet Car With Much Enthusiasm

Preliminary reports on the welcome received by the Overland Whippet, America's first light type car including European and American engineering advantages, indicates that the model has met with unprecedented success in every section of the country and brought to light an amazing volume of "first time" buyers.

This reception shows more and more clearly that Overland Whippet has met the trend of America's automobile market and definitely foreshadows changes that have already revolutionized not only the concept, but merchandising methods of the world's light car field.

The Whippet's reception by the public has out-distanced even the most optimistic expectations of the manufacturers, and while actual sales figures are as yet but incomplete, a summary of the way the public responded to the introductory announcement may prove of interest.

In the three-week period following the first zone announcement in the northeastern section of the country, it is estimated that more than 14,580,000 persons welcomed the car.

The retail branch store of the Willys-Overland at Fiftieth and Broadway, New York city, was crowded with 57,450 people, who inspected the car during the first two days of its showing. Including the dealer stores in that city, more than 108,578 visitors viewed the Whippet. This figure is by actual clock count.

In the Detroit, Mich., territory, more than 213,000 persons viewed the Whippet at the factory's branch store and the sales rooms of the dealer organization.

WORK GIRLS BEAUTIFUL.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—London work girls are becoming more beautiful declared Sir Thomas Legge, senior medical inspector of factories, during a session of the Royal Sanitary Institute congress at Westminster.

"In the last factory I visited I noted that 72 per cent were good-looking of the Rossetti Burns-Jones or Greek type, 26 per cent were average looking and none at all bad looking," he said.

These new-type Willys-Knight cars offer

7 Major Principles of European Design

Why this new "70" Willys-Knight Six has stepped into first place in sales in the shortest time on record.

WHEN the new "70" Willys-Knight Six was first announced 7 months ago, we told you that here was a new-era car . . . modernly designed, modernly engineered . . .

That it would out-perform anything that had ever been built of its size or type or price-class.

We told you that the new "70" Willys-Knight Six was the most modern car in America . . .

That, with its new European-type, small-bore, long-stroke engine, it developed more power per cubic inch of piston displacement throughout its entire range, than any other car produced in this country.

We told you about its European-type mechanical 4-wheel brakes—the same type of braking system you find on 97% of foreign cars—that would give you a new conception of quick stopping.

We told you that, with more compact external dimensions, the new "70" Willys-Knight Six provided more inside room than any other car of its wheelbase you had ever driven.

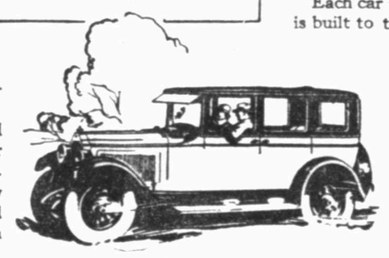

That was 7 months ago.

THE PILOT - By FANNIE HURST

The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

THEY said at the Hotel Continental, where the crowds were assembled on the eve of the big international aeroplane meet, that so nervous a woman as the wife of the young French pilot should never have married anyone connected with the hazards of aviation.

Be that as it may, the Georges Lispinards had recently celebrated their fifth anniversary and although young Lispinard had been making flights on an average of six times a week since his marriage to the American girl he had met during the war, there had never, during the years of their wedded life, been anything even comparable to the situation in question.

On the contrary, young Mrs. Lispinard had always been the most enthusiastic devotee of her husband's splendid and daring work—following him from city to city for flight-tests, even taking some of them with him herself and adapting her life enthusiastically to the rather precarious demands of his precarious occupation.

And now here the Lispinards were, assembled with the gala crowds on the evening previous to one of the most important international aeroplane meets in the history of her husband's experience; an event which, if his plane came off with honor, was to mean his definite advancement in the aeronautic world, and, absolutely apropos of nothing, so far as Lispinard or any one else was able to judge, here was Alice Lispinard in hysterics over her husband's flight on the morrow.

At first it had scarcely dawned upon the young pilot himself that she could be serious. After dinner that night on the terrace, under stars, and to the music of the hotel orchestra, her turning to him and bursting suddenly into tears! It was incredible.

"George, if you love me, don't fly tomorrow."

What nonsense was this?

"I've felt it descending on me all day, George, like a dead weight. A premonition of danger. George, don't fly tomorrow."

"He tossed off his demi-tasse and turned from her with the first anger she had ever seen him display toward her. She had violated one of the unwritten ethics of his code of professional behavior. One did not snivel over his kind of job. It was do or die.

"George—if you love me—"

"What nonsense are you talking?"

"I can't explain it, dear. But all day, sitting here on the terrace while you have been off conferring at the hangars, the depression has been lowering. I tell you, George, I feel it in the heart inside of my heart. There is danger ahead. Don't fly tomorrow, my dearest."

"I won't be talked to like a fool," snapped the young man, and rose to his feet and walked down to the edge of the terrace and looked off at the lights of the city flickering beneath the terrace.

"If you fly tomorrow, George—I—something terrible is going to happen. Don't fly tomorrow, sweetheart—don't leave me to fly."

"Woman nonsense," he said between his teeth. "No woman makes a fool of me."

She stood where he had left her, young, pretty, chic and pale as the cream-colored frock that she wore, great luminous tears of hurt and insult and depression streaming down her face.

Almost instantly he regretted and came back to her, swinging her around by the shoulders and regarding her with his clean young eyes.

"What madness is this, Alice?" he said. "Have you lost your senses? Am I to be made the monkey on the strength of your hysteria? The laughing stock of this meet? My entire future depends upon how I drive that plane tomorrow. I'm going to bring you home brilliant victory, dear. Help me, don't hinder."

Some friends of theirs passed just then, and a group of his co-workers, and she turned to them so that her voice rose above the clatter of the music.

"Please," she cried—"you, all of you—help me! Tell George not to fly tomorrow. I have a premonition. If George flies tomorrow it will be his last flight. I won't let him fly tomorrow."

The evening before one of the most important international aeroplane meets in the history of young Lispinard's flying career---an event which meant advancement for him. And, apropos of nothing, Alice Lispinard in hysterics over her husband's flight on the morrow.

"Hysteria," said the doctor.

"I know your game," said Lispinard. "And I will fly. I'm going to make that flight!"

And so the news spread. Among the crowds gathered for the meet. Among Lispinard's co-workers. Among the guests. The wife of young Lispinard was hysterical and forbidding him to fly. Who would win? Would Lispinard pilot the Viking? Or would he let young Perrins slip into his coveted place. Perrins was wild for that place.

The corridors, the gardens, the lobbies, buzzed with the gossip. Georges Lispinard's young wife was going to the length of making public scenes in her determination to prevent him from flying the Viking on the morrow.

Here was a sweet morsel of a possibility for headlines:

There was a moment when George Lispinard faced his wife later that night in the privacy of their room, when for rage his face was like a twisted gargoyle.

"George," she kept repeating stubbornly, wringing her hands and regarding him with her eyes like two wounds, "don't fly tomorrow. Don't fly tomorrow."

"I'll fly, if for no other reason than to prove to you that you can't make a bally ass out of me!"

"Don't, George—don't—"

Suddenly he had her by the shoulders, shaking her until her teeth clinked and his dark blazing eyes were so close to her face that they appeared to her to be one spinning wheel of wrath.

"I'll kill you, if you do anything like this to me again. You've got a neurosis of some sort. You're mad."

"Maybe," she said, and sat down weak and trembling on the edge of the bed, where she remained the night through, sobbing and shivering to herself in spite of his spasmodic reactions of pity and rage toward her.

That was about at daybreak and at sun-up the two of them, the house-doctor and Georges, were working over her. Trying to quiet her. Trying to make her amenable to reason.

"If anything does go wrong in this flight," he shouted at last, "I've you to thank for it. You have every nerve in my body screaming."

"By Gad, I will fly today. And I'll go now, too. You don't suppose I'm going to hold up the meet, do you? I'm going now. Alice, for God's sake, be sane!"

"I tell you, I won't let you go," she screamed and threw herself on the floor and locked her hands about his knees.

"And I tell you I will go," he cried, and stooped down and tore her fingers apart, and just as quickly, with a feline strength that was abnormal, she had him by the knees again, locking her hands about them.

"George, if you leave me, I'll die."

"George, don't go, darling."

"I know your game. You want to detain me until they put Perrins in my place. But that won't work, my girl. I'm going to take that flight this day and you can make up your mind to it."

In the end, with a cunning, a finesse, a frenzy that bested him, she did detain him with her hysteria, her fainting spells, her frenzy, until, at the last moment, knowing the uncertainty of Lispinard's plight anyhow, and what with the working of local politics, they slid young Perrins into the pilot seat of the Viking, so that when Lispinard finally broke free, sweat-drenched, infuriated, the Viking was already nosing her way up.

Who shall try to explain some of the sixth dimensional aspects of what happened? Suffice it to say, without attempting even a comment on the metaphysical side, that on her first bend around the first loop she attempted, the Viking came crashing to earth with a broken propeller, killing every human soul aboard her.

There is nothing much to be said about it. This is only the story of how Alice Lispinard prevented her husband's being in the pilot's seat when the Viking went up on its last flight.
