MEMPHIS, HALL COUNTY, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JULY 28, 1935. 16 PAGES PRICE 5 CENTS

HALL COUNTY PLANNING BOARD IS ORGANIZED TO PROMOTE WPA PROJECTS

SAW Parnell Wildcat Test Spudded In

Hall County's wild cat oil test, the Knorpp No. 1, seven miles west of Parnell, was spudded in Friday night about 11 o'clock.

The 122-foot steel derrick and machinery on the ground is capable of a 7,200-foot test, according to W. T. Davis, who, in association with Johnson-Kemnitz, has charge of the operations. Arrangements probably could be made, if necessary, to go 8,500 feet, he said.

The drilling contract calls for 6,000 feet or better.

The test is arousing considerable interest throughout the county and also among operators who are keeping their eyes on Childress County's Mollie Low and Gibson No. 1.

At Turkey, closest sizeable point to the well, hotels are reported well filled and long distance telephone calls placed through the Turkey exchange are said to have tripled in the last few days.

ITALY AGREES TO ATTEND SESSION

Demands Right Dictate What Council Talks About

Italy agreed Saturday to attend the League of Nations council session July 31 to discuss the dispute with Ethiopia, but demanded, in effect, the right to dictate what the council talked about.

League officials at Geneva immediately expressed fear lest Italy bolt the session. England, with France's tentative backing, demanded the council to discuss all aspects of the crisis.

At Addis Ababa, Emperor Haile Selassie welcomed the convoking of the council, reiterating Ethiopia's desire for peace.

Rome reported that Eritrea, Italy's African colony, was already under martial law.

At London an Italian official charged that Haile Selassie had designs upon Italian territory in order to "extend his empire to the sea."

Automatic Board Sets Ad Valorem Tax at 62 Cents

AUSTIN, July 27.—The Automatic Tax Board today set the state ad valorem tax rate for the next fiscal year at 62 cents per $100 valuation.

The tax for schools was lowered from the constitutional limit of 35 to 20 cents; the tax for the general revenue fund and Confederate pensions was set at the maximum of 35 and seven cents, respectively.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Local Opinions on Pertinent Topics.

THE QUESTION: What do you think of the present athletic program of the Memphis High School?

THE ANSWERS:

T. C. DELANEY: I am a believer in athletics in our schools if it is not allowed to interfere with scholastic matters. It is often an incentive for the boys who like sports to work harder on their studies.

The new stadium is a wonderful plant for football, but I think it should have been made large enough to accommodate a track around the outside of the football field. However, that is a matter which can be developed later if the need is seen.

I think that every effort should be made to provide a modern gymnasium for the High School. My idea would be to build it between the present Main Street school buildings, thus utilizing the walls of the buildings, and connecting them with the new gym.

HORACE TARVER: We've got a football stadium now that would be a credit to any city. It should be the boys have worked hard enough on it.

As for a new gymnasium, give us time and we'll have that, too, and a good one.

I feel that the Memphis High School is on the verge of the greatest athletic achievements in its history.

FINANCE GROUP MAKING FINE PROGRESS

Cares for Expenses Of Old Settlers' Reunion Here

"Satisfactory progress" was the report yesterday of the finance committee for Old Settlers' Day planned here August 9. "A fine spirit of cooperation is being shown on the part of the business men and individuals in making possible the entertainment features of the day," F. V. Clark, Chamber of Commerce secretary, stated.

The program will begin at 10 o'clock on the morning of August 9 at Library Park. Plenty of shade, chairs and ice water will be provided on the grounds.

Registration, speaking and music will feature the program in the forenoon, with barbecue and basket dinner at noon. Other features of entertainment will be provided about the courthouse square in the afternoon.

The guests of honor will be the old timers of the county—people who have lived in the county 25 years or longer—but every body is invited here for the day's entertainments.

While planning to visit Memphis August 9, many of the old timers are busy preparing their personal accounts of early days in Hall County. These are to be turned in to The Democrat on regular theme paper on or before August 3. They will appear in the issue of August 7 and then bound into a permanent volume.

Livestock Owners Notified of Law Starting Aug. 10

Owners of livestock are being notified by state highwaymen this week-end of a new law regarding the roaming of livestock at large on state highways.

Because numerous accidents have resulted by reason of the collision with such livestock by automobiles lawfully operated upon highways, the department urges that every citizen in this locality cooperate with the department, with local peace officers and with the state highway patrol in the enforcement of the new stock law passed by the last legislature to the end that the state highways in this locality may be made more safe for the traveling public, according to J. B. Nabers, division engineer of the State Highway Department.

The law will become effective on August 10 and thereafter will be strictly enforced, Nabers stated. The law provides that livestock allowed or permitted to run at large on that portion of any designated state highway that is enclosed by fences on both sides shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. The punishment for each offense shall be a fine of any sum not more than $200. The law may be enforced by either highway patrolmen or any local officer.

TOMORROW: What is your idea of a perfect vacation?

Erection of CCC Camp Underway

Actual construction of the Government CCC camp got underway here yesterday morning at 9 o'clock with C. W. McBride in charge as constructing superintendent.

The work started slowly, with only about a dozen men on the job. As Mr. McBride said, "We want to start slowly to be sure of what we're doing, and then finish with a bang."

The peak of construction will not be reached until next week, at which four men will be put in charge of crews working on separate buildings.

Work yesterday was started on the small barrack, and the flooring was almost in place when work was halted. The foundation for a second barrack was being marked off.

Mr. McBride stated that utilities contracts, although let last week at Fort Sill, probably would not be received here for some time. All equipment for the lighting, heating, etc., will be shipped in.

School Board of County To Meet Here On Aug. 6

The county school board will meet here on August 6, H. W. Kuhn, president, announced yesterday.

The purpose of the meeting is for the final classification of schools, the setting of bus routes and for the hiring of bus drivers.

Other school problems also will be brought up, Mr. Kuhn stated, and any persons having problems or questions are requested to bring them before the board at this session.

Mr. Kuhn also urged that parents or guardians of students to be transferred tend to this matter before the final date for transfers, August 1.

The new state law requires that the parent or guardian personally sign the application at the county superintendent's office. The office here will be opened Monday and Thursday afternoon for this purpose.

DECIDE TO INCREASE SMALL INCOME LEVY

WASHINGTON, July 27.—House Ways and Means Committee Democrats today reached a tentative decision to broaden vastly the scope of the Roosevelt tax bill by increasing levies on incomes as low as $50,000.

Until today Democrats had agreed only to increase levies on incomes above $150,000.

G. B. TYLER, LAKEVIEW, IS 'ALL SET' FOR OLD SETTLERS REUNION

G. B. Tyler, Lakeview resident who came to Hall County in 1906, is "all set" for the old settlers' reunion to be held in Memphis August 9, he told The Democrat last week.

He expressed appreciation of this city's efforts toward bringing the pioneers together once a year.

"I saw this country make," he said. "There weren't many brick or stone buildings around the square in 1906, in fact there weren't many buildings of any kind."

"And in the early days I've seen six or seven sections of land hailed out at one time."

"Last year's was the nearest to a total crop failure I've seen in 29 years."

"I'll say this much for the country—I never bought but

S. T. HARRISON SELECTED AS CHAIRMAN

To Hold First Meeting Tuesday at Courthouse

A Hall County Planning Board, with S. T. Harrison as chairman, was organized yesterday for the purpose of proposing and assisting in the development of projects within the county under the Works Progress Administration.

The board is composed of representatives of cities, civic organizations and businesses throughout the county.

It will hold its first meeting Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. in the Commissioners Court room at the courthouse here.

MEMPHIS URGED TO AID WELCOME IOOF, REBEKAHS

Memphis will be the mecca for Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of the lower Panhandle on August 21 and 22 in one of the leading district sessions of the year.

About 800 delegates and visitors are expected to be in attendance during the two days, according to F. V. Clark, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who added that the convention will emphasize the need of a municipal auditorium in Memphis.

Mr. Clark urged Memphians to "give some attention to the plan of entertainment for the visitors, and demonstrate on this occasion the true Memphis spirit of hospitality."

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO FORMER MEMPHIAN

Moore County Honors Mrs. Martha Burnett at Rites

An account of the death and burial of Mrs. Martha E. Burnett, mother of Mrs. E. A. Thomas of Memphis, this past week has been received here.

Death occurred at 8 o'clock Monday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Tom E. Wynn, where she was taken from an Amarillo hospital two weeks previously, where hopes for her life had been abandoned.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 3 p. m. at the Dumas school auditorium, with Rev. J. P. McBeth, pastor of the Dumas Baptist Church, preaching the funeral sermon, assisted by Rev. W. B. Swim, pastor of the Dumas Methodist Church.

Mrs. Burnett was 66 years of age and a member of the Baptist Church of Dumas. Throughout Moore County she was known as "Grandma" to many friends of the Burnett family, and whose affection and esteem was shown by the overcrowded auditorium of friends and relatives and the beautiful floral offerings.

Martha E. Watkins Burnett was born March 23, 1866, at McCormick, S. C., and was married to O. B. Burnett of Abbeville, S. C. (Continued on page 8)

To Visit County

He said a representative of the district works office will visit Memphis within a few days "and it is hoped that you will have a well defined works program to remove people from the relief rolls to the works program."

Warn Government Employees About Utilities Bribes

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The communications commission today warned all employees participating in its investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to accept no gifts or favors from company officials or employees.

This action was taken while the Senate lobby committee investigated informally the private finances of Representative Patton, Texas, at the congressman's invitation.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JO DARIEN, finishing her first year in college, learns her father is out of work. Jo hunts a job and secures part time work in a marine supply store. There she meets wealthy, handsome DOUGLAS MARSH who offers her the job of hostess at his inn at Crest Lake. Jo accepts. This causes a quarrel with BRET PAUL to whom she is engaged and Jo breaks the engagement.

She goes to Crest Lake. Her duties are pleasant but Marsh's eccentric mother takes a dislike to the girl. BABS MONTGOMERY, a school acquaintance who is jealous of Jo's popularity, comes to the inn. PETER FRAGONET, film actor, and his wife are also guests.

Fragonet takes Jo out in a sailboat. There is an accident and she narrowly escapes drowning. Next day Fragonet comes to see her. He tells Jo he loves her and takes her in his arms. MRS. FRAGONET and MRS. MARSH witness this scene and accuse Jo of encouraging Fragonet's attentions.

Mrs. Marsh tells Douglas he must send Jo away. He refuses. Marsh secures Fragonet's promise that he will not try to see Jo again until she is well.

HOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

The shock of that afternoon set back Jo's recovery several days, and she developed a slight cold which made Miss Conley doubly cautious. But the nurse found it unnecessary to recall Doctor Seavers to Crest Lake. "And it's really a shame, too," she told her patient jokingly. "Doctor Seavers liked the place so much."

Jo's smile was slow and weak. Despite Miss Conley's cheery presence and the bright sunlight of her room, Jo was miserable. She could only guess what had transpired after the Fragonets had separated, planned a divorce, and Edna Fragonet carried out her threat to name Jo as correspondent!

And that was only a part of Jo's worries, for she could not be sure that Douglas Marsh didn't intend to take his mother's advice and let her go. If that happened, trouble was indeed ahead. Once she had paid Doctor Seaver's bill and returned to town, Jo would be worse off than before. And if there were unfavorable publicity in connection with the Fragonets, a job would be more difficult to find. Jo tried to tell herself that Marsh would keep her—but, after all, this unpleasant old lady was his mother, and he would listen to her. And even if Marsh believed that Jo was in the right, he couldn't employ a young woman who got herself into situations. Perhaps he was only waiting until she got well, and would then break the news.

The astute Miss Conley saw that Jo was troubled, and knew that her worries were doing her patient no good. One morning, as she brought in Jo's breakfast tray, she drew a chair close to the bed and set down.

"Miss Darien . . . why don't you just let go and talk? It would do you a world of good—and perhaps I know more about what's worrying you than you suspect."

Jo set down her coffee cup and met the nurse's friendly gaze. "You know how I happened to be out there in the hall that day?"

Miss Conley nodded. "I've put two and two together. Nurses are good at it, you know."

"Well, wouldn't you be worried if you were in my shoes?"

"I would not," said Miss Conley.

"But I'm sure Mr. Marsh will fire me after what's happened," Jo told her.

The nurse shook her head. "If you could have seen his face when he brought you in here that day you wouldn't say that. And you should have heard his voice when he told me I wasn't to let anyone order me away from attending you. He may not know it yet himself, but he's in love with you."

Jo managed a laugh. "I'm afraid you're incurably romantic, Miss Conley."

"Not after what I've seen of men, I'm not," the nurse insisted. "And as for this trouble with Mrs. Fragonet, I wouldn't worry about that, either. Probably she's found him in the arms of half a dozen different women, and raised a row every time."

"You don't think it was my fault, do you?"

"Hardly," sniffed Miss Conley. "My advice to you is, get well as soon as you can, and then go on about your business here as though nothing had happened."

"When do you think I can get up?"

"In two or three more days if you don't fret yourself into a re-lapse, and—"

Miss Conley paused a moment, smiling. "If I can keep the male visitors out of your room."

"Was Fragonet here again?" Jo asked, startled.

"No . . ." Miss Conley said. "It wasn't Fragonet."

"Douglas Marsh?"

The nurse shook her head. "Mr. Barston wanted to see you."

"Oh!" Quickly Jo busied herself with her breakfast, for she was afraid she hadn't kept the disappointment out of her tone when Miss Conley said it was Barston, and not Marsh, who had called. It seemed queer that Marsh hadn't come to see her since he had ordered Miss Conley back to the room. Surely—

Her thoughts were interrupted by the ring of the telephone. Miss Conley answered, then turned to the bed.

"A Miss Davis is downstairs," she said.

Jo's eyes flew wide. "Tubby! Tell her to come up right away."

Miss Conley looked doubtful. "Are you sure it will be good for you?"

"Good for me?" exclaimed Jo. "Tubby's the best tonic in the world!"

And it was true that when the big, good-natured Tubby bounced into the room Jo's spirits rose instantly. Nurse Conley smiled her approval, and left.

"What's this I hear about you trying to commit suicide in a sailboat?" asked Tubby, perching on the edge of the bed until the springs sagged dangerously.

"Tubby, you're the grandest sight I've seen in days!" cried Jo. "But—how'd you hear about the accident?"

"Say, when Peter Fragonet goes out in a sailboat with a girl, and gets run into by another girl in a speedboat—that's news!" At Jo's startled look, Tubby laughed and added, "Don't worry. The paper didn't say who the girl was. I didn't know until I got here that it was you. But when they told me downstairs that you'd been injured in a sailboat accident I multiplied four by the day of the month, subtracted the age of my little brother—and got Jo Darien! Now tell me all about it. How'd it happen?"

"I'd rather not talk about it, really, Tubby. You're going to stay a while, aren't you?"

"I'm going to stay until my money runs out," Tubby assured her. "You don't know how exclusive this place is. I practically had to present references."

Jo gave a relieved sigh. "I'm awfully glad you're going to be here a while, Tubby. And I can tell you all about it a little later."

"Sure," said her former roommate. "The thing for you to do now is get out of this bed."

"The nurse says I can be up in two or three days."

"I'll bet Bret will be glad to see you again," Tubby said.

"Bret? Why, what do you mean, Tubby?"

"I mean Bret. Want me to spell it? I said I'd bet he would be glad to see you up and around again."

"But I plan to stay here at Crest Lake, Tubby. That is, if Mr. Marsh isn't— isn't too disgusted with my awkwardness."

It was Tubby's turn to look astonished. "Do you mean to tell me you didn't know Bret Paul was here?"

For a moment Jo could not speak. Then with an effort she asked slowly, "Is Bret really here, Tubby?"

The other nodded. "I met him just 10 minutes ago down near the lake, and I supposed he'd been here most of the summer. He must have come while you were laid up—but it's certainly strange he didn't send word to you." Suddenly Tubby's face fell. "He probably planned to surprise you and now I've let the cat out of the bag."

Jo was silent, staring dully from the window, and Tubby added, "You don't seem very glad about it."

"We quarreled, Tubby, just before I came down here. He didn't want me to come, and he said if I did come we were all through."

You were right. Babs Montgomery had let him know that I was dancing that night with Marsh."

"She would," said Tubby feelingly. "Babs is here, too, with her parents."

"Well, doesn't that make everything lovely?" Tubby stood up and her eyes blazed with fierce loyalty. "I suppose she's been making it as unpleasant as she could."

Jo smiled. "She hasn't been awfully cordial, but then I don't mind that. It was Babs who told Marsh that Bret and I were very much in love. She told him he'd be doing a nice thing if he gave Bret a job as life guard down here for the summer."

"I begin to get it," said Tubby.

Baptist WMS Has Program of Unusual Interest

A program of unusual interest was given Monday afternoon when the Baptist W. M. S. held its monthly social and missionary meeting in the Educational Building assembly room, with Mrs. Claude Johnson directing the program.

The topic, "The Challenge of Modern Conditions to Uplift the Banner of the Cross in Africa," proved most informative. Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard conducted the devotional, reading from the ninth chapter of Mark, basing her comments on "I believe."

This was followed with a prayer by Mrs. Byron Baldwin. Mrs. Johnson talked on "Changing Africa." Myrtle Lindsey told of "The Changing Order." A piano solo by Mary Helen Lindsey featured the program. Billie Faye Cyfert talked on "The Methods and Needs." Dwight Kinard gave a vocal solo.

Bridge was enjoyed by club members at the home of Miss Leary prior to the breaking up of the party. Miss Virginia McCaskill was awarded the "booby" prize by the hosts at the conclusion of the games.

Childrens members of the club who attended the picnic and party were: Mesdames Arch Nave, J. O. McMin, Jimmie McKenzie, John Cates; and Misses Lula Mae Carter, Colene Clift, Aubra Hankins, Nell Rogers, Rosa Lee Carter, Velma Harber, Maggie Knight and Virginia McCaskill.

Estelle guests of Miss Leary were: Mesdames John Sims, R. E. Moore, Mary Clifton, Buford Bell, F. E. Leary, and Misses Margaret Tucker, Leora Richburg, and Peggy Leary.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostesses. Mesdames Sam Foxhall, T. R. Garrett, J. W. Fitzgerald, G. M. Hattenbach, Glad Johnson, and George Thompson, to Mesdames Otis Jones, W. T. Hightower, W. J. Bragg, S. B. Foxhall, J. S. McMurtry, Charles Oren, John Barber, Sam Hamilton, D. L. C. Kinard, J. P. ISSUES WARNING

A WARNING FROM THE CHIEF OF POLICE TO THE HOUSEWIVES AND CITIZENS OF MEMPHIS AND THE RESIDENTS OF THIS TERRITORY.

THIS IS A WARNING TO BEWARE OF THIEVES POSING AS SOLICITORS, salesmen, or inspectors. STRANGERS seeking admittance to premises as salesmen, solicitors or inspectors SHOULD NOT BE ADMITTED UNTIL THEIR CREDENTIALS HAVE BEEN CHECKED UP AND VERIFIED THROUGH DEPENDABLE LOCAL PERSONS OR INSTITUTIONS.

IN MANY CASES STRANGERS without reliable credentials are spotters for professional criminals and according to police records lack of caution on the part of householders in admitting such strangers often times results in costly property losses and bitter experiences.

DO NOT PAY CASH IN ADVANCE TO STRANGERS ON ANY MERCHANDISE . . . in many cases and from experience reported to police department the customer has never received anything for the cash advanced nor has any refund been made of the original cash deposit.

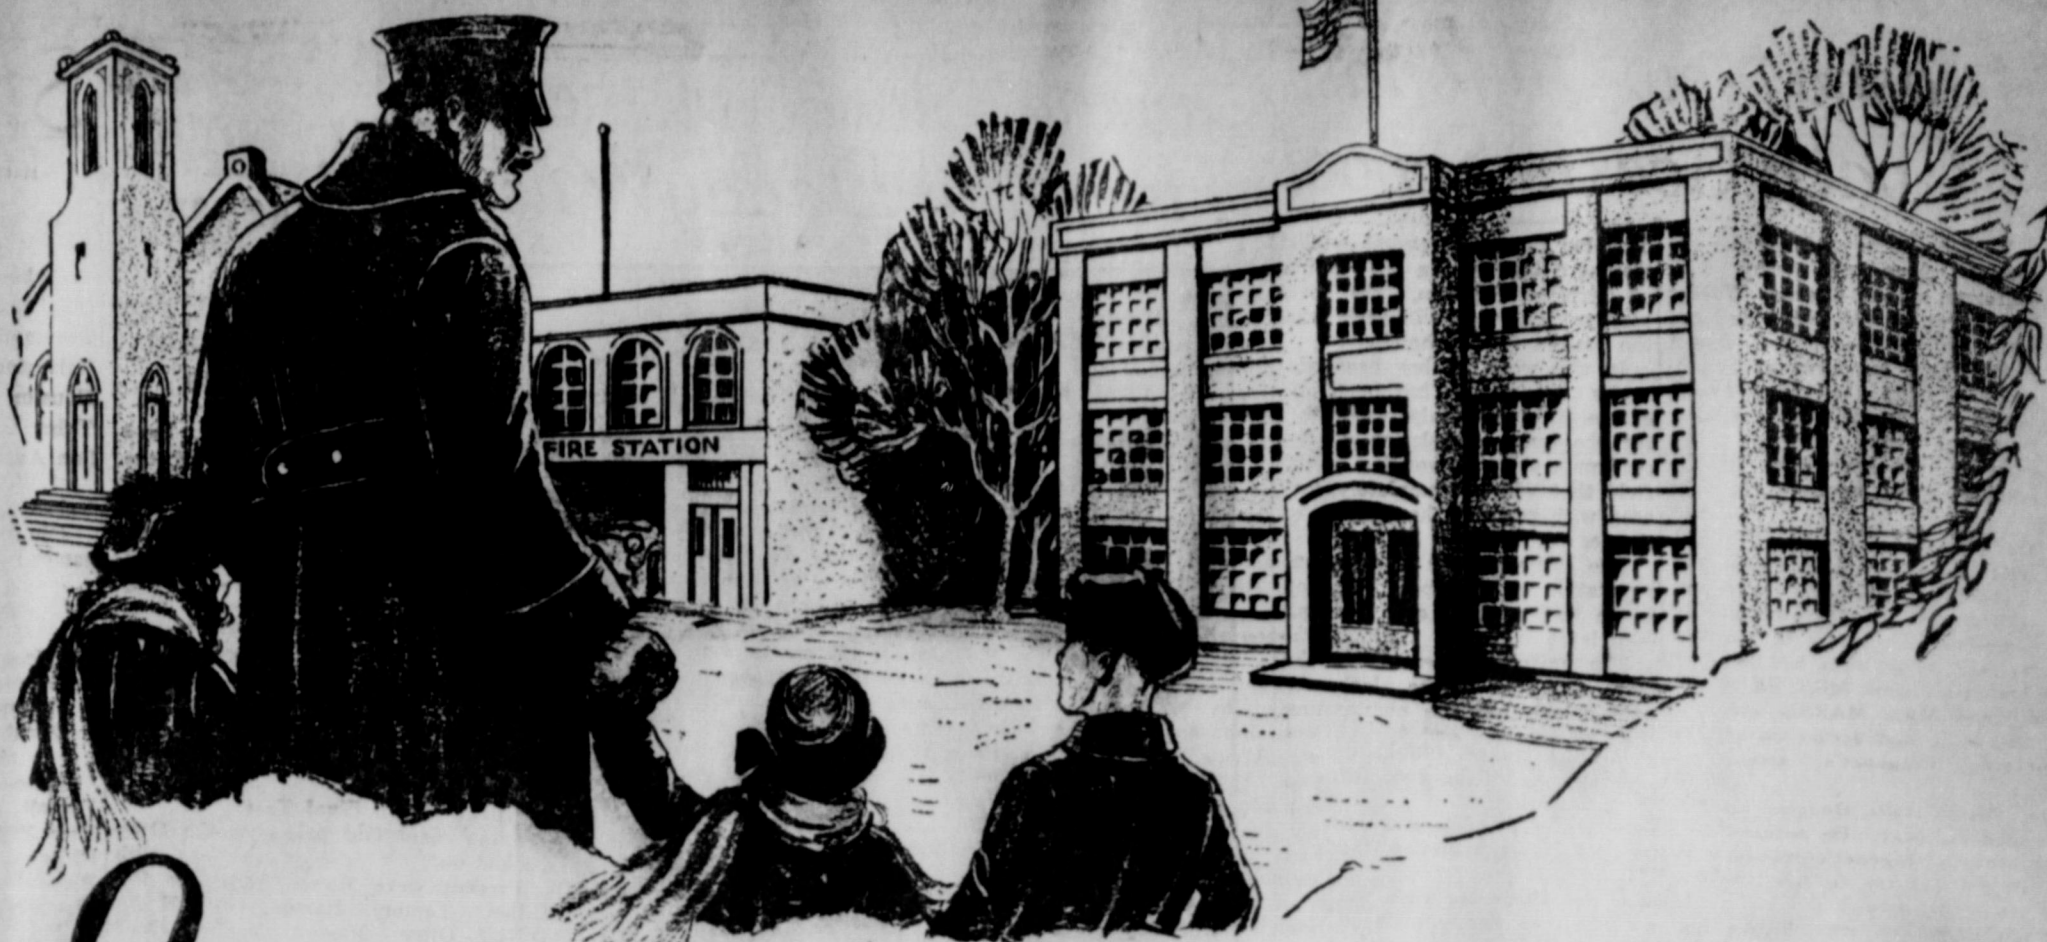

DO NOT CASH CHECKS FOR STRANGERS NOR ISSUE A CHECK as down payment on any order to a stranger as in a number of cases these checks have been altered and later cashed by third and innocent parties. SHOPLIFTING AND PETTY THIEVES FREQUENTLY PILFER MERCHANDISE FROM STORES and sell this merchandise to citizens in this territory. Police are keeping check of suspected individuals. Beware of this merchandise usually sold as a very special deal or offered at a ridiculous price for quick disposal.

HIGH PRESSURE FREE GIFT ARTISTS HAVE BEEN WORKING THE RESIDENT and farm district of late selling all kinds of merchandise and offering "something free" to get into the homes. There is NOTHING FREE to be given away.

IT'S BETTER TO BE SAFE THAN SORRY . . . be sure you know WHO the stranger is at your door before granting admittance to your home. In case you are suspicious PHONE THE POLICE AT ONCE as we are anxious to cooperate with our citizens at all times.

ONE NEED NOT BE AFRAID OF OFFENDING THE HONEST SOLICITOR, salesman, or inspector representing a Memphis firm or living here. THEY HAVE THEIR CREDENTIALS WITH THEM . . . they are known and they welcome investigation. THAT IS WHY THEY ARE REQUESTED TO CARRY CREDENTIALS. Protect yourself . . . ask for credentials showing their identity and their LOCAL connections.

W. C. HUDDLESTON,
Chief of Police, Memphis

When the Peddler calls again what will he say?

REST ASSURED that he will be prepared with "Free Samples"—and all the clever phrases and sales arguments which Master Peddlers have been able to assemble—and some of this ammunition will be so effectively Disguised that it will seem reasonable when considered from the peddler's point of view.

YOU ASK THE PEDDLER

Do You or the firm you represent create any employment for my family or my neighbors?

How Much Money Do You or your firm pay toward the upkeep of our public schools—wherein my children obtain their education?

Would I have a place to worship IF I depended upon the subscriptions paid by YOU or Your Firm?

How Much are you as a Door Bell Ringer, or your firm, taxed towards the upkeep of our Police and Fire Departments which offer ample protection for my home?

How Much do you, Mr. Peddler, or your company pay towards the support of our general welfare work?

Remember Your Merchant is maintaining a business institution—hiring Local Help—which is a factor in your city. He is ready to serve you at ALL TIMES and He Pays His Share on all of the above requirements.

You Would NOT Be Guided in money matters—or in politics by this Wandering-Door-Bell-Ringer. WHY be influenced by him in making your decision between the RIGHT and Wrong thing to do in supplying your needs.

Be On Your Guard For This One "I am glad Mrs. Housewife to find you and your city are at last making a stand to keep out the canvasser and peddler. In fact, I dare say (he dares say most anything to get your attention) that my company is somewhat responsible for the movement to eliminate the irresponsible type—As you know I AM BONDED—and my product is Nationally Advertised, etc." He will endeavor to convince you that he is anything but a peddler—calling himself a "special-home-office-representative"—"mill man"—service man, etc.

PLAY SAFE Better Be Sorry You DIDN'T Buy than sorry you did.

Team Outfitted With Flashy New Uniforms, Coach Goes to School

With his team outfitted for the coming season with flashy new uniforms, Coach Chesty Walker left yesterday for Dallas and the high school coaching school which opens tomorrow at Southern Methodist University. Coach Walker is expected to be gone a couple of weeks, during which time he will hear some of the leading grid mentors in the

COACH WALKER

Southwest and pick up numerous new pointers to give his Cyclone players this fall.

The trip is being somewhat of a vacation for Chesty, although he probably will work hard enough at the school. But he has been doing day and night labor here for the past several weeks, playing a big part in the shaping of Cyclone Stadium, the new playing field that will rank with the best in the Panhandle.

In this work he has been virtually untiring. He has been one of the officials mainly responsible for the quick completion of the stadium and in the sodding of the field that will be completely covered with grass at the opening of the season.

The Cyclone, with an excellent reputation to live up to, is going to be flashier than ever this fall—at least in dress.

The uniforms selected for the team will hold to the black and gold colors, but the outstanding color of trousers and jerseys will be old gold. A black stripe will run the side of the trousers. The jerseys will be of old gold with black shoulders and eight-inch black numerals.

When the Cyclone trots on the field this year during muddy or cold weather, the boys will be wearing black hooded sweat shirts. It will be the first time they have had such equipment.

The uniforms are to be made of new Duane material, a knit of cotton and wool fabric, which are much lighter than the old canvas-type uniforms and much flashier.

The headgears are also a more modern type, so constructed as to give greater protection to the base of the skull and back of the neck. They will be held off the head by elastic—making the boys look an inch or two taller than they really are.

When this year's edition of the Cyclone trots on the field, fans are going to see one of the best dressed outfits Memphis has had, and judging from the manner in which Walker sent the crafty outfit to the regional battle last year, it also will be one of the best drilled.

Contract for the uniforms was awarded to Harrison Hardware Company, Supt. W. C. Davis announced that the contract for the uniforms will be divided among local sporting goods dealers from year to year.

Meacham's Busy Introducing New Ice Cream Plant

The Meacham Pharmacy was one of the most popular places in the city yesterday. Hundreds of people visited the store, going in with a small printed card in their hands and coming out with a pleased and satisfied look on their faces.

The occasion was the inauguration of Meacham's new policy of making all their own ice cream, sherbets and other frozen dishes. Cards were distributed broadcast, good for a free glass of frozen malt, and how the frozen malt disappeared as the warm crowds presented their cards. Half a dozen clerks were kept busy behind the fountain all afternoon.

Meacham's has installed one of the latest type Tuthill Ice Cream plants and started its operation Friday night. The new equipment freezes two and a half gallons of cream or sherbet every eight minutes. After freezing, the product is put into a large cooling cabinet where it is chilled for twelve hours to harden it, before serving.

They will make all the popular flavors and each week will feature several special flavors, and all cream and sherbets served at their fountain or to their customers will be made in their own plant. "In that way," stated Charles Meacham, the proprietor, "we are assured of the quality of the ingredients, and can recommend our product without reservation."

Thompson Confession Taken as Evidence

By Associated Press
PEORIA, Ill. July 27.—Gerald Thompson's confession that he ravished and murdered Mildred Hallmark, 19, was admitted into evidence today over Thompson's protest.

Thompson, charged with breaking the girl's neck when she resisted, claimed in brief testimony that he had been tricked. He did not repudiate the confession. He admitted reading it before signing it, recalling that he told police about "all those attacks."

MUNITION BLAST BELIEVED FATAL TO 50 IN ITALY

By Associated Press
VARESE, Italy, July 27.—With a terrific blast which shook villages and broke windows for miles around, Bickford-Smith munitions factory at Taino blew up today. It is estimated that the explosion took 50 lives. Many girls were working in the plant and it was feared that they were included among those dead.

Scores of workers were injured.

Officials of factory and municipality refused to answer questions concerning the explosion. Villagers, however, expressed the opinion that the first blast occurred in the packing warehouse.

Families of approximately 500 employees of the plant hovered around the outskirts of the factory grounds until late at night awaiting reports from squadrons of militiamen who rushed to the scene.

Firemen of the surrounding towns patrolled the grounds. Other explosions were feared.

CORN-HOG CHECKS FOR $4,000,000 MAILED

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 27.—The farm administration mailed today the first 1935 corn-hog checks, totalling over $4,000,000, to farmers in 33 states. Iowa farmers will get more than one-fourth of this sum. Texas will get $27,388.

The payment represents about two-fifths of the total corn, and one-half of the total hog payments due farmers under this year's program.

Owls Clash With Childress Electrics Today

Omaha Still 'Not the Horse His Daddy Was'

By winning the Arlington Classic Stakes, at Chicago, Omaha, above, William Woodward's sterling 3-year-old, won the championship of that division. Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, trainer of the horse, shown holding his bridle, does not consider Omaha as great an animal as was his daddy, Gallant Fox, but adds that he has a chance to pass his illustrious sire, also trained by Fitzsimmons, in future racing.

By MAX RIDDLE
(NEA Service Staff Writer)
CHICAGO, July 27.—Despite the brilliant showing of Omaha, the great chestnut son of Gallant Fox, who recently clinched his 3-year-old performance by annexing the Arlington Classic Stakes here, and the championship of the division with it, he isn't the horse his daddy was.

Authority for that statement came from "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, William Woodward's trainer, who handled the conditioning of both horses.

Watching Omaha cool off here after his great victory, Sunny Jim was in a talkative mood.

"Gallant Fox was the greatest horse I ever trained," he remarked. "It might be just sentiment with me, but I think he was the best horse ever bred in America."

This statement came not a half hour after Omaha had given away as much as 13 pounds to his 10 rivals and yet had whipped them soundly in the fastest mile and a quarter since Sun Beau's Hawthorne Gold Cup victory of 1929. He ran the distance in 2:01 2-5, a mark shaded only by the doubtful record of 2 minutes flat by Whiskbroom II, in 1913, and Saracen's 2:00 4-5, made in 1924.

Omaha did not appear to have been in a race. His nostrils hardly quivered. He stood quietly as he was rubbed down, and as he was walked about, begged for lumps of sugar.

Stride Smoother Than Dad's
"Omaha has grown since the Derby," Fitzsimmons continued. "He's a better horse all around. All through the spring I knew I had a great horse. He developed a better stride than old 'Fox' had—It's smoother, and his stride is longer. Once I got him in shape I had no trouble keeping him there."

"He gets 11 quarts of oats a day, as much hay as is good for him—and not as much as he wants, either—and a fair ration of carrots. He eats well and sleeps well, and the training is just common sense. He's never sore, and never gets nervous as some horses do."

"Of course, I fooled him the way I fool most of my good horses. Three or four days before the race I started taking him over to the paddock each afternoon, and in every respect treat-

BATTLE OPENS FINAL DRIVE OF SEASON

Owls Need Two Victories To Retain Choice Place

The Memphis Owls head down the final stretch of the Western Division, Red River Valley League, schedule this afternoon, bent upon holding its third place position against the pounding of three strong clubs.

The Childress Electrics, second place outfit and probable opponent of the Owls in the Shaughnessy play-off, invades Fair Park Stadium this afternoon for the last time during the regular schedule.

Final Test
This battle will give the Owls their final test against the club likely to bar their way into the final round of title play. And the Owls are set to assert themselves in a big way.

Clifford Stewart, big right-hander who turned in his best performance of the year last Sunday against the Estelline club, although defeated by his own teammate, Lefty Blanchard, probably will get the starting call. Blanchard will be ready with his portside deliveries if they are needed in the attempt to check the Electricals' tide.

The players are expected to be keeled for the final drive, which will do no more than determine their position in the play-off since the four clubs have already been selected through the process of elimination from the league. They are expected to put up their most determined battles of the year during the next three weeks.

Without hope of moving into first place, where they would hold the favored position in the play-off, the Owls are determined not to be crowded out of second or third position. In fourth, they probably would meet the Paducah outfit, a club they have been unable to handle all year, in the first round.

Prefer 2nd or 3rd

Much preferring to oppose Childress or Wellington, the Owls will have to assert themselves this afternoon and two weeks from today against Wellington. If they are also able to handle Paducah, well and good, but from the standpoint of position in the play-off, it is much more important that they trample the Electrics and Gassers.

This afternoon's battle will get underway at 3:30 o'clock. One of the largest crowds of the year is expected to be on hand for the opening of the final and all-important drive.

GREAT GOLF

By Art Krenz

When the 1923 National Open was played at Inwood, Bobby Cruickshank came up to the 425-yard 18th hole needing a three to the Bobby Jones.

The then youthful Jones, after having his first major victory well in grasp, nearly threw it away on this hole. Requiring only a five, one over par, to win, the Atlanta hooked his second shot, fluffed his third into a trap, and finished with a six for a total of 296.

Cruickshank hit his tee shot down the fairway well. Then, choosing to play his second over water with an iron, he set the ball seven feet from the cup. He then rammed down the putt to tie Jones.

A day later in the playoff the two came up to this hole fighting for the crown. Jones duplicated Cruickshank's performance of the day before, laying a long iron seven feet from the pin. The wee Scot could not match the shot and lost, 7-6.

Cruickshank's favorite club is the long iron. His stance is partially open. The weight is on the heels, and the ball is nearly between the two feet as it is played. Knees, elbows, arms, and shoulders are all loose.

2-YEAR PEN SENTENCE

THE VOICE OF THE
UPPER RED RIVER VALLEY

FAIR GROWING CONDITIONS

MID-YEAR reports of the Government crop surveyors indicate the fair growing conditions which exist in most of the country. They estimate that the 1935 crops were started with an acreage that is well above a year ago, even though somewhat below the plantings of other years. The average production per acre will be substantially higher than last year, and slightly above normal for the years 1928-32.

Cotton farmers have not been so fortunate as raisers of grains in most sections, according to Roger W. Babson. Estimates place the crop in the neighborhood of 11,000,000 bales against 9,643,000 last year and 13,000,000 in 1933.

Babson says that the biggest factor in the price situation is the AAA, particularly as regards cotton. Just how prices will be affected is only a matter of guess, but because of the drastically reduced carry-over, it seems improbable that prices could drop out.

Just how does all this affect the Memphis Area. Although it is too early to secure estimates on the cotton crop this year, conditions have been and are far better than a year ago. It would take a real disaster to keep this section from staging a big comeback in farm production.

This, together with AAA payments, if they continue to come, gives this area a better than normal outlook. We do not point happily to the poor conditions in other sections of the cotton belt, but a crop of only 11,000,000 bales should not cut prices considerably. The Memphis Area, then, stands a good chance to cash in on its cotton crop more substantially than ever before.

However, cotton should not hold the entire situation as it has heretofore. We believe it has been proven that an increase in livestock and feed production at the cost of cotton acreage will prove a benefit to farmers in this section as well as in most of Texas. For the farmer who practices this type of farming, the prospects are even brighter than for the straight cotton producer.

JOBS ALONE WILL CURE RELIEF

NOTHING in American life is quite so easy to criticize as the administration of unemployment relief.

Here is a job which, even if it should be done perfectly, would still be a bad job. Relief is bad for those who receive it and, ultimately, almost ruinous for the nation which has to pay for it. And since its administration needs a wisdom seldom found on this imperfect earth, it is bound to accumulate a series of abuses as time goes along.

We read, currently, that all federal doles are to end by November 1, by which date people on relief will either be back at work or supported by the states and cities; that President Roosevelt, doubting that this can be done, has summoned his advisers to prepare estimates on the cost of relief for next year; that people on relief are getting so used to receiving something for nothing that they often refuse to take jobs that are offered; and that relief systematically undermines the morale of its recipients, building up a permanent pauper class which doesn't care much if it never gets back to work.

The publication of all of these stories within a few days of each other simply testifies to the extreme difficulties that any relief program must carry with it. And yet, while we admit that the problems of relief are very great and pressing, it ought to be pointed out that the relief question is only a symptom and not a disease.

The real trouble is not relief but the unemployment which makes relief necessary.

This truth is so obvious that it would be silly to state it, if it were not for the fact that the relief problem has been dragging on for so long that it actually has obscured the underlying cause.

The evils of relief may be ten times as bad as the most pessimistic people say they are; but the remedy for them is not to discontinue the relief program, but to stimulate employment so that a relief program is no longer necessary.

That, in the last analysis, is the only solution. It does no good at all to sit back and moan about the evils of the dole. As long as widespread unemployment exists, the dole must be continued, no matter how expensive it is, or how ruinous to its recipients' morale.

THE NAZI DEPARTMENT OF CHURCH AFFAIRS

At The Theatres

PALACE

"Go Into Your Dance." First National's latest musical spectacle, opens at the Palace Theatre today, with Al Jolson and his wife, Ruby Keeler, co-starring.

This is the first time Jolson, the famous Broadway singer who introduced talking pictures to the public, and Miss Keeler, one time musical comedy star who rose to fame in two years on the screen, have ever played together before. Their team work is said to be remarkable.

The picture is based on a story by Bradford Ropes, author of "42nd Street." It is intensely dramatic in spots, with hilarious comedy situations and a glowing romance.

Spectacular dance numbers in which scores of Hollywood's most beautiful chorus girls take part, were created and staged by Bobby Connolly, noted Broadway musical comedy director who recently has turned his talents to the screen.

RITZ

Fun and laughter fill the Fox comedy, "The Daring Young Man," which opens today at the Ritz Theatre, featuring James Dunn, Mae Clark, Neil Hamilton and others.

The picture, which first starts out to be the comedy romance of a woman-hating newspaper man who falls for the right girl when she comes along, develops into a hokum burlesque picturization of the incidents of a recent eastern prison scandal.

While there is much jail atmosphere, it is not a prison picture in the accepted meaning of the term. Rather it's a detailing of what happens to romance when duty calls and a reporter crashes jail to gather the why and wherefor for lowdown for the entertainment and edification of his newspaper readers.

IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHELL

Roosevelt's Frequent Changes of Mind Cause Confusion, but He Isn't Always to Blame . . . Bone Saved from "Boner" . . . Found—A Popular Executioner . . . Doughton's New Hat Is a Fooler for Unwanted Visitors.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—There's a tendency to stress the frequency with which President Roosevelt changes his mind and tells visitors different versions of his plans and desires.

But there certainly are misunderstandings sometimes. At least, on occasion, the president's persistent ambition to make everybody happy gets blamed for embarrassing incidents.

Knute Hill of Washington and four other congressmen went to the White House to discuss the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage bill, which the administration opposes. They were within a few signatures of the 218 necessary to the measure out on the floor for debate and vote.

Roosevelt said it was absurd to keep any bill that could get a couple of hundred signatures off the floor and that it ought to have a hearing there.

Anyway, that's what Hill and his group told all the other members and very soon they had 213 signatures.

At that point Rules Chairman John J. O'Connor and Speaker Joe Byrns got busy and persuaded certain members to remove their names from the petition. O'Connor insisted that he and the speaker had been to the White House and that Roosevelt had denied making the statements quoted by Hill.

Was Someone Fibbing?

On the last legislative day, when the bill might have been forced out immediately by obtaining the necessary number of signatures, Congressman Lemke of North Dakota had enough additional members ready to sign up.

But majority leaders managed to adjourn the House which, under the rules, kept the bill off the floor at least until Aug. 12.

Speaker Byrns subsequently went down to the floor after adjournment and started to bawl out Hill for alleged misrepresentation of the president. They had a warm little fight.

"Somebody's lying!" snapped

Hill.

But that only perplexed and confused the House's feelings. Senator Homer Denham of Oregon started a speech about "The Den Purchase," the testimony by Gadsden of the public utility executive group had spent the fighting the bill.

But some of the disapproved him. The House of Representatives had done the utility executive's bidding.

Announcing The Opening of the Bishop Grain & Coal Co.

Thursday, August 1

In the J. F. Forkner Elevator location, immediately south and across the tracks from the Denver depot.

Jno. T. Bishop, who has been connected with the Farmers Union Supply Co., and Farmers Union Gin Co., for the past twenty-four years, has recently purchased the Forkner Elevator property for the purpose of handling a complete line of domestic coals, grains and seeds of all kinds, also feeds of all varieties, including cow feeds, horse feeds, hog feeds, chicken feeds and hay and will be in the market at all times for all classes of grains, feeds, cotton seed and other products grown in this territory.

We expect to be in touch with the larger markets of the country and will be in position to offer the full market value on any amounts of grain, hay and feed from truck to car load.

A complete line of commercial feeds will be carried, manufactured by one of the largest feed and flour mills in the Southwest.

FLOUR AND FANCY CREAM MEAL

will be stocked. Special attention has been given in the selection of these two items. A baking trial will convince you of their superiority over many other brands.

COLORADO AND NEW MEXICO COALS

We have secured the exclusive sale of coal from some of the largest coal mining operators in these States, shipping only the highest grades in all the different sizes such as fahey lump, Grate, Jumbo Nut, Chestnut, Pea and Slack.

HAMMER MILL

The use of the Hammer Mill will be continued at this location, grinding all kinds of feed according to your wishes.

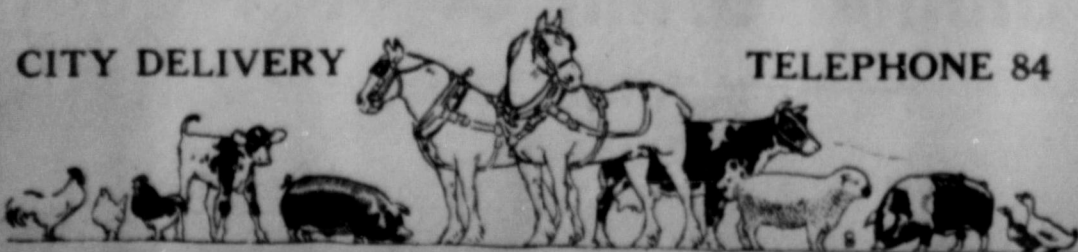

CARLOAD OF ALL KINDS OF COMMERCIAL FEEDS AND FLOURS WILL ARRIVE MONDAY

WE EXPECT TO BE IN POSITION TO RENDER A SERVICE TO THE BUYING AND SELLING PUBLIC THAT WILL BE APPRECIATED

In 1889 Mr. and Mrs. Burnett moved from South Carolina to Texas, living at Cameron for one year, after which Mr. Burnett decided to come farther west. Mrs. Burnett and their three young children returned to South Carolina.

In 1890 Mr. Burnett settled in Memphis and his family joined him there, where they made their home until 1918, at which time they moved to Dumas. Mr. Burnett became known as the "Cotton King" at Memphis because he was the first man to raise cotton on a large scale in this section. He passed away at Dumas on January 19, 1925.

Survivors, all of whom were at the funeral, are her sons, W. W., Lucian, Jim, George and Arthur Burnett and daughters, Mrs. Sallie McMurtry and Mrs. Susan Wynn of Dumas and Mrs. E. A. Thomas of Memphis, 27 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Believe Senate German Inquiry Will Be Blocked

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 27.—Senate leaders forecast today that State Department opposition would block action of Senator King's (Utah Democrat) demand for senatorial inquiry into Germany's treatment of Jews and Catholics.

Members of the committee expressed the opinion that King's same pigeon hole with the resolution would be put in the tion by Senator Borah for the investigation of the government's treatment of
