Force Marine To March Barefoot In Underwear

By The Associated Press

An American Marine and an Irishman serving as United Nations observers in the Golan Heights said in an interview today that they had been forced to march barefoot for 20 miles in their underwear to a Syrian military outpost.

The Syrians said it was all a mistake, and the two men were expected to be released soon.

Speaking from his bed in an Italian hospital in Damascus, Capt. J. J. Holly, 27, of Corning, N.Y., said he and Capt. J. A. Mortell of Ireland had been sleeping in a U.N. trailer when an Arab soldier ordered them to get up and march to the Syrian outpost.

BADLY CUT

"The soldier obviously took us for Israelis," Holly said. "He spoke only Arabic and we couldn't identify ourselves . . .Our feet were badly cut from the long barefoot march."

Holly was expected to be released within four days, Mortell in about two weeks because his cuts were more severe.

Holly agreed with Syrian Defense Minister Gen. Mustafah Tlas that they had been given good medical treatment.

Tlas said an army patrol "found" the two men on the Golan Heights late Friday wearing civilian clothes and because the weather was bad mistook them for Israelis.

The Israeli radio said the two men were taken from their observation outpost on the Heights and were led barefoot to Syrian territory before the error was discovered.

MILITARY AID

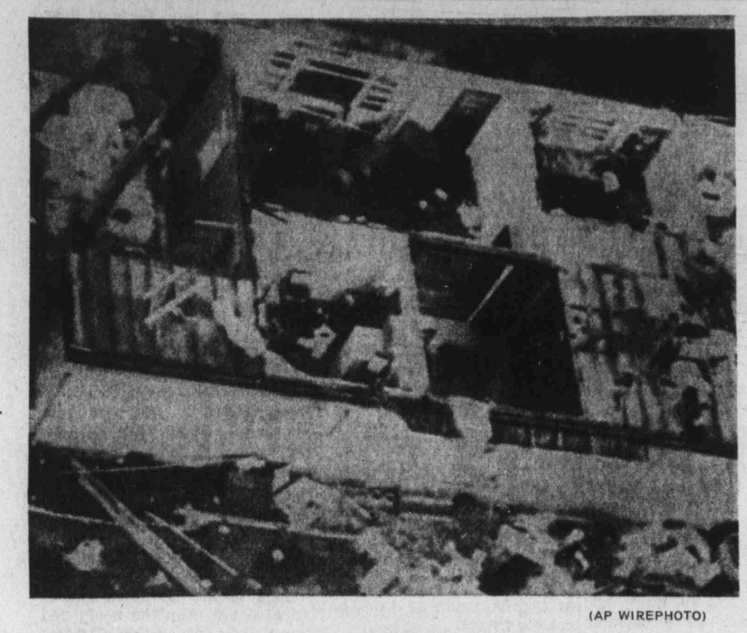

A spokesman at U.N. headquarters in New York said neither man was apparently injured.

Elsewhere in the Middle East:

In Jerusalem, Israeli civil defense authorities launched a radio and television campaign to improve bomb shelters, most of which have been turned into storerooms or clubs. A report said civil defense spending has been increased 750 per cent, but the total outlay was not disclosed.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said after discussions in Washington with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger that he had been reassured American military aid to Israel will continue.

In Amman, a Jordanian government spokesman denied a Cairo magazine story that Jordan and Israel had secretly implemented a separation of forces agreement along the Jordan river.

DOLL HOUSE — This house in Huntsville, Ala., appears to be a child's doll house after its roof was ripped away by a tornado to reveal the inside rooms. More than a dozen homes were destroyed in the storm which hit early today. This was the third tornado to hit this north Alabama city in 11 months.

Severe Thunderstorms Rip Across Southeast

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes, high winds and severe thunderstorms that ripped across the Southeast Monday night and early today have left three persons dead, scores injured and severe property damage.

Authorities in Cherryville, N.C., said 5-year-old Patricia Denis Humphries was killed and 10 persons injured when high winds accompanying a violent thunderstorm wrecked at least 15 house trailers in two mobile home parks.

A policeman who investigated a trailer park near Cherryville said some of the mobile homes "were flattened like you would stomp a can."

High winds overturned a trailer home just north of Rocket City in the Huntsville, Ala., area, killing a man identified as Willie McCarey. The victim's widow and three children were hospitalized.

Nineteen persons were reported injured in Alabama.

Another mobile home resident, tentatively identified as Decker Teague, in his 90s, died when a tornado struck Campbellsburg, Ky., authorities said. Three businesses and several homes were destroyed there, and 12 injuries were rported.

A total of 28 twisters swept through a wide area including Tennessee, Ohio and Mississippi in addition to Alabama and Kentucky.

A tornado swooped down the sprawling 100 Oaks Shopping Center in Nashville, Tenn., where hundreds of persons were shopping. Windows were blown out, stores were inundated and debris was strewn about.

High winds smashed into Central State Hospital, a few miles eastward, collapsing part of one building, blowing away a guard shack and knocking out power to the 1,800-patient hospital.

Midnight Robbery Nets Thugs $114

A man was robbed of $114 at midnight outside his own home here Monday.

Jasper Adams drove home from work and got out at the Barcelona Apartments. Two black males asked him for a ride to town and he refused.

They then forced him to lie down behind his car and one held his foot on the man's neck while the other took his billfold, took out the money, then tossed it on his back. The duo then fled.

The victim described them as in their early 20s, short and with Afro-hairdos. They were dressed in jeans and T-shirts.

Vicki Hearst Begs 'Army'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — One of Patricia Hearst's sisters appealed to the Symbionese Liberation Army today to release the kidnaped newspaper heiress, saying: "I need my sister."

Vicki Hearst, 17, wrote an open letter published in the San Francisco Examiner. "The SLA says that they are acting in response to the needs of 'the people,'" the letter said. "Well, I'm part of the people too, and I have a very great need. I need my sister."

She said that if the kidnapers fail to release Patricia, 'they commit a crime not only against this family, but against humanity."

Vicki was the first of two sisters to write open letters to Patricia, who was abducted Feb. 4 by the terrorist SLA which said it was holding the girl as a "prisoner of war" because her parents were "corporate enemies of the people."

Patricia's father, Randolph A. Hearst, editor and president of the Examiner, said a letter from Patricia's other sister, Ann Hearst, 18, would appear Wednesday.

PRESIDENT'S BROTHER ARRIVES FOR TESTIMONY—President Nixon's younger brother, F. Donald Nixon, right, arrives at federal court in New York City today to appear as a government witness in the conspiracy trial of former Attorney General John Mitchell and former Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans. Man at left is not identified.

'I Never Talked To My Brother About Anything'

NEW YORK (AP) — F. Donald Nixon told a jury today that when a lawyer for financier Robert Vesco asked him to give a message to his brother, President Nixon, he suggested the lawyer contact John Mitchell instead.

"I never talked to my brother about anything. John Mitchell was the man I was told to talk to," Donald Nixon testified.

$200,000 CASH

The 59-year-old brother of the President appeared as a government witness at the conspiracy trial of former Atty. Gen. Mitchell and ex-Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans. They are accused of impeding a Securities and Exchange Commission investigation of Vesco in return for Vesco's secret $200,000 cash contribution to the President's re-election campaign.

Donald Nixon, now a vice president of Marriott Corp., a restaurant and hotel chain, said that Howard Cerny, a Vesco lawyer he'd known for 10 years, called on him at his hotel just prior to the 1972 election.

"He told me there had been a $200,000 contribution to my brother's campaign and that an SEC investigation was in progress which would very likely expose the contribution, and he wanted to get that to the President."

CRYSTAL CLEAR

Nixon said he told Cerny that that would be impossible because his policy was never to take anything directly to his brother.

"I made it very plain to Cerny that I did not want to get involved in any way with anything to do with the Vesco case," Nixon said.

He said Mitchell's name came up, but he didn't know whether he or Cerny mentioned it. At any rate, he said, he told Cerny he ought to see Mitchell, who had quit the government to run the President's campaign. He said he did not know whether Cerny ever contacted Mitchell.

Nixon said he wasn't sure whether his son, Donald Jr., 26, was still employed by Vesco now.

He said that the weekend after the election he got a telephone call from his son, a Vesco aide, who put Vesco on the line. He said that he later called Vesco back.

NOT ABOUT TO

Nixon said Vesco told him he wanted to get an envelope to Mitchell at the Essex House hotel in New York City. Nixon said he offered to call the manager of the hotel.

Under cross-examination by Mitchell's lawyer, Peter Fleming Jr., Nixon said that Vesco basically was asking how to get in touch with Mitchell and that "I wasn't about to give Mitchell's number to anyone."

Earlier testimony in the trial said that an envelope from Vesco addressed to Donald Nixon was delivered to the Essex House and eventually given to Mitchell. A paper in the envelope allegedly contained a threat by Vesco to expose his contribution unless the SEC dropped its investigation.

"I never specifically asked what the package was, or what it was about," Nixon said.

MYSTERIOUS OBJECT

Turns Out To Be Hot Star Rather Than Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A mysterious object detected by Mariner 10 has turned out to be a very hot star rather than a moon.

The extremely bright object at first was believed to be a moon circling the planet Mercury, which Mariner has been photographing.

But Dr. A. Lyle Broadfoot of the Kitt Peak National Observatory near Tucson, Ariz., said Monday it was a star in the constellation Corvus.

FOULED UP

He said an instrument aboard Mariner which was sweeping space in search of a moon was designed to search for an atmosphere around Mercury and had not been expected to detect stellar radiation.

Dr. James Dunne, Mariner project scientist, said the confusion arose when both Mercury and the object grew fainter as Mariner shot away from Mercury at 24,000 miles an hour.

He explained that quick calculations indicated that the object's movement and change in brightness could be the pattern of a moon circling the planet.

"That was an unfortunate coincidence that fooled us," Dunne said.

He said that after the moon theory was announced at a news conference Sunday "a couple of bright young navigation scientists" noticed there was a star in the area and might be what was believed a moon.

It was later discovered that the object actually wasn't becoming dimmer as Mariner moved away.

Mariner encountered a heat problem Monday.

A Jet propulsion Laboratory spokesman said temperatures inside a vital equipment compartment soared to 109 degrees, nearly 40 degrees above normal. The rise continued slowly.

"We can live with the temperature" for the present time, he said. He added that engineers were uncertain what temperature would silence the spacecraft.

Officials said the overheating and a power shortage might make it impossible to bring the spacecraft back for another flyby of Mercury next September as scientists had hoped.

Very Few Voters Turning Out For City Election

A pitiful turnout of voters in the city election showed a total of less than 100 voters in all five boxes combined by 10:45 a.m. today.

The vote at that hour in the city election where three incumbents are uncontested on the ballot was only 94. This included 32 votes at 18th and Main Fire Station for Precinct 3 which is 3 and 16 in the county; 31 at Birdwell Fire Station which is precinct 2 and both 2 and 22 in the county.

Northside Fire Station, which is No. 1 in city and county, totaled 14; Central Fire Station, which is 4 and both 4 and 15 in the county, totaled 10 and Airport School which is 5 in the city and 8 in the county totaled 7 votes.

A hint that an end of the day after-five write-in campaign was under way still continued to plague city officials.

Candidates on the ballot include Mayor Wade Choate, Councilmen Eddie Acri and Harold Hall.

There is apparently a lot more interest in the school board election slated for Saturday. Today at 5 p.m. is the last day for absentees and there were 149 this morning.

City polls will remain open until 7 p.m.

RARE BABIES — Michelle, left, and Angela Wright, two of the rarest babies on record, celebrated their first birthday Sunday in Cincinnati. Technically not twins although born at the same time, the baby girls were born from separate and in dependent uteri. "It's been a special weekend for the babies and us," said the babies' mother, Lisa Wright, now 18. The dual uteri births are so rare Dr. Stephen Hornstein said he's only been able to find records of one other such happening. The girls are shown with quarters saved by relatives for them.

Of the 10 male nominees for acting awards, only Brando and Redford failed to respond to the invitation to appear. Glenda Jackson, making a film in Rome, and Barbra Streisand have also declined. Otherwise, tonight's telecast proceedings at the Music Center appears likely to be one of the most stellar turnouts in the colorful history of the Oscar awards.

"Tony" Boyle, former president of the United Mine Workers, testified Monay that Boyle ordered the assassination of union rival Joseph "Jock" Yablonski. WASHINGTON (AP) — The special Watergate prosecutor's office is starting its attempt to convince a jury of seven men and five women that former White House aide Dwight L. Chapin lied under oath to a grand jury. Chapin, 33, is accused in four counts of giving false information to a grand jury about his relations with convicted political saboteur Donald G. Segretti. Selection of the jury in U.S. District Court required less than four hours. Most of that time was spent by the judge in questioning some 120 prospective jurors about their ability to be objective.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council is leaving until last the lifting of wage and price controls from industries it considers to be most inflation-prone, including food, steel and health. However, the council lifted controls from 165 other industries in its biggest action yet to decontrol the economy in advance of the April 30 deadline for ending most if not all controls. Industries included in the latest decontrol action were financial institutions, apparel, hotels, motion pictures, furniture and home furnishings.

Oil Depletion 'Death' Voted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee, suddenly changing its mind on a key part of the energy tax reform bill, has voted to eventually abolish the controversial petroleum depletion allowance.

This allowance, a chief target of tax-reform advocates, saves oilmen some $2 billion a year in federal taxes.

The committee voted 18-7 Monday to drop the present 22 per cent depletion allowance to 15 per cent Jan. 1, 1975, to 8 per cent Jan. 1, 1976 and finally to zero on Jan. 1, 1977.

The tax-writing committee thus reversed itself on the issue of oil depletion, which has permitted 22 per cent of gross income from oil and natural gas property to be deducted from taxable income up to a maximum of 50 per cent of the taxable total.

Earlier, the committee had tentatively accepted just a partial phaseout plan that would have wiped out the 50 per cent ceiling, while lowering the depletion percentage rate itself as prices rose over the next few years.

The new approach could produce a $1-billion government gain in revenue from the industry in its first year and a total $3 billion over a threeyear span. The previous plan, if fully effective, would have raised some $2.8 billion by 1981.

Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and Rep. Herman T. Schneebeli, R-Pa., the panel's senior GOP member, joined in advocating the new concept.

Need For Rain Serious In Texas, Drought Looms

By The Associated Press

A spot survey of cities across West Texas indicates a broad area of the state is badly in need of rain and is perhaps on the threshhold of a drought.

Lack of rainfall coupled with high winds have triggered sand and dust storms in some areas and contributed to a flurry of grass fires around San Angelo.

Scattered rainfall has eased the situation in some sections but for the most part ranchers and farmers have expressed concern that a severe drought is developing.

A good rain three weeks ago in the Amarillo area and across portions of the South Plains breathed new life in dryland wheat drops, but more is needed.

Cotton farmers, who enjoyed bumper crops and record prices in 1973, must have moisture soon to plant new crops. And the moisture also is needed to bring up sorghums and feed grain already planted.

Several observers were reluctant to label the situation a severe drought but all those surveyed said the dry conditions are serious and becoming more so each day.

Cattlemen are particularly concerned about the poor shape of their pastures because feed prices have made the cost of heavy feeding operations almost prohibitive.

Firm Submits Bid For Work

Nu-Way Jaitor Service, owned by Pete Jones, submitted the only bid for courthouse maintenance work at the County Commissioners Court meeting Monday.

Howard County will pay $1,620 monthly for the work and supplies provided at the courthouse.

A vote to change working hours for the road department was clarified later to include courthouse employes. The court set 8 a.m.-5 p.m.with one hour for lunch as working hours for county employes.

"Somebody shot at me from a brown four-door sedan," Steve McMillian told local police shortly before midnight Monday. It did not appear to be an April Fool joke.

McMillian called local officers from the Pizza Inn and said he was shot at in the 300 block of W. 17th near his home. He said he did not know any of the four occupants of the car.

Kennedy Tops Popularity List Of Demos, Poll Shows

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts still tops the popularity list of Democrats considered potential 1976 presidential candidates, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

Kennedy was preferred by 44 per cent of the rank-and-file Democrats questioned in the poll. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace was second with 17 per cent.

'SCOOP' MOVES UP

A November 1973 survey showed Kennedy with a similar lead, 41 per cent to Wallace's 15.

Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington moved up from the earlier poll to tie with Sen. Edmund M. Muskie of Maine for third place. Jackson increased his standing from 6 to 8 per cent, while Muskie's popularity slipped a point from 9 to 8 per cent.

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, the 1972 nominee, held his fifth position. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson Jr. of Illinois held sixth, Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana remained in seventh and Sen. Walter Mondale of Minnesota remained the eighth choice.

POPULAR

Sens. William Proximire of Wisconsin, John Tunney of California and Robert Byrd of West Virginia received 1 per cent each.

Six per cent of those questioned said they were undecided.

The Gallup analysts said Kennedy is just as popular among conservative southern Democrats as he is among party members in the rest of the country. But Wallace, who received the support of 25 per cent of southern Democrats, scored with only 13 per cent of the Democrats elsewhere.

Neither Kennedy nor Wallace has said he will run. The pollsters also asked for a second choice for the nomination.

With Kennedy out of the race, Wallace took the lead with 26 per cent and McGovern second with 20 per cent. Muskie and Jackson were tied for third with 13 per cent.

Kennedy stayed far ahead with Wallace out of the race. He picked up 32 per cent of the Wallace backers, Muskie took 21 per cent and Jackson 17 per cent.

More Brush Vans Will Be Used

Extra brush trucks will be put into duty next week starting Monday morning, according to City Manager Harry Nagel.

"So many residents are cleaning up their yards and property in recent weeks that we are behind in picking up brush," Nagel added.

He asked that anyone who wants brush picked up next week or who has brush that has not been picked up, please call 3-8311, extension 15 and leave the location of the brush. Citizens are requested to place it either in the alley or on the front curb.

Deaths Resulting From Siphoning

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Medical Association says there have been recent deaths in the United States as a result of syphoning gasoline by mouth, and the association warned against it.

"If you swallow gasoline or discover someone who has, do not induce vomiting," the association said in a release. "Keep the person calm and get them to medical care as fast as possible.

"But remember—do not induce vomiting. Gasoline is a pain in the stomach, but a killer in the lungs."

Salvation Army Cadet Slain, Fem Cadet Shot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Salvation Army cadet has been shot to death and a woman cadet critically wounded in the latest in a series of apparently random street shootings, police say.

Authorities labeled the shootings "Zebra," a code name given for shootings here last December and January which claimed a total of 10 lives.

The killer fled on foot Monday from the latest shooting scene on Geary Boulevard in San Francisco's Western Addition.

A Salvation Army spokesman identified the dead man as Tom Rainwater, 21, of Santa Barbara, Calif.

The wounded woman was identified as Linda Story, 21, of Hayward, Calif. A spokesman at Mission Emergency Hospital said she suffered two bullet wounds in the back and was in very serious condition.

Rainwater and Miss Story were first-year students at the Salvation Army training school several blocks from the murder scene. The spokesman said they had stepped out for a snack when they were shot.

Use Tax Principle Threatened

Cities in this area just recently have shown a lively interest in the possible extension of Interstate 27 southward from Lubbock. In about half a dozen hearings, about 2,500 individuals turned out to present their views.

Phil Wilson, chief engineer for the planning section of the Texas Highway Department, noted that this was stimulating as an expression of support for highways.

But while this has been going on, the principal of funding good highways has been under considerable assault.

After managing to retain the principal of dedication of highway fuel taxes for highway improvement (save for the one fourth going to schools), the constitutional convention tossed a hot potato challenging this principal to the voters. It elected to submit to a referendum whether any increase in the gasoline tax would be similarly dedicated or whether the new increase would go into a general pot. We hope that the public will have the good judgment to reject this, should it remain in the final draft, but with the allure of a mass-transit bait, reason may become a casualty in urbanized areas. It is possible, were the tax to be increased a penny or two, for it all to go to this purpose, thus affording drivers outside metroplexes the luxury of helping subsidize mass transit in those areas.

Not is all the assault on the state front. The Unified Transportation Assistance Program (UTAP) proposed by President Nixon as a six-year blue print, is, in the words of Rep. Jim Wright of Texas, a program whose "bold initiative" consists of cutting highway in half. In six years UTAP would provide $16 billion; the figure available for the past three years was $22.9 billion.

Worse, after 1977 all money would be put in a single fund, obviously unable to meet the great demands upon it. It would cut into the highway Trust Fund by $3.3 billion in the next three years.

So while we are fighting for new and needed highways in this area, the principle of adequate finance, which has built an incomparable network of good roads across the state and nation, is taking some punishing body blows. You need to be aware of this and let your representatives know that you feel that highway use taxes should go for highway.

School Fund Has Better Deal

The School Land Board has adopted two new policies which will insure fore royalty money for the state and quicker development of oil and gas leases to the state's school lands.

A minimum of one-fifth royalty will now be required for all production on school lands. Previously the royalty had been one-sixth — as compared to the one-eighth royalty offered for privately-owned property.

The board also reduced to three years from five years the term of a primary lease. This will prompt the owners of leases to speed up development of tracts under lease, helping to relieve the energy crisis.

Most oilmen were probably displeased with this reduction in their revenues and the speed-up in drilling programs. But their protests were relatively muted, since they find it difficult to argue persuasively against more revenue for the state while their revenue increases substantially because of the higher prices they obtain from oil and gas.

"The Prompter," the playbill of Midland Community Theatre Inc. provided browsing material before the curtain went up Saturday evening on "A Shot in the Dark."

You may be interested in these notes:

"Sixty-three Midlanders have signed up, paid their own money and are now busily getting passports, studying travel books, preparing costumes and studying lines for Midland Community Theatre's invasion of the Emerald Isle come May 15.

"CASTS, CREWS" and claques for two productions are contained in this group. We will produce the Summer Mummers' "Peril on the Pecos" for perhaps as many as three performances, and "Butterflies Are Free" for one performance, at the Dundalk Maytime Festival, May 17 to 26. Then the group will go to London for four days of theatre and sightseeing. We hope to include a visit to The Questors Theatre, in Ealing, a suburb of London, in the British segment of the tour. Art Cole reports that The Questors is the closest thing he has found in Europe to MCT.

"Dundalk is a small port city of about 30,000 people, on the east coast of Ireland, just above Dublin, which annually is host to an international drama festival, sponsored by Carroll's cigarettes, a local industry.

"It will be busy around here for the next few months. Between now and June 7, we must put together the following productions: "Of Mice and Men," "Just So Stories," "Peril on the Pecos," "Butterflies are Free" and "Dr. Cook's Garden."

"AS SOON as the traveling contingent of the Mummers returns on the first of June, work must begin on the 26th edition of the Midland Summer Mummers for an early July opening in the American Legion hall.

"Both of MCT's playreading groups are active again and invite your participation. The "Shakespeare in the Living Room" group continues to meet each two weeks on Monday nights in various homes. They are currently reading "Othello." It is all very informal and informative, under the leadership of Bob Anson, a Shakespeare buff who can get you excited about the Bard. Call him at 683-6863 or 683-6442 if you're interested. The Annex Theatre is meeting each Wednesday evening at the theatre's annex and warehouse on South Midkiff. They read contemporary theatre, and we recommend this activity for the group experience of reading aloud and becoming acquainted with a variety of plays. Call the theatre office, 682-2544 for their schedule."

Incidentally, the MCT is thinking about a combination theatre and shopping tour to New York next December and invites calls from interested persons. If the weeks tour develops, you could see several plays when the Broadway season is well under way and see New York while its decorated for the holiday season. If this sounds interesting to you, call the theatre and let them know you'd like to be included.

Of Different Color

William F. Buckley Jr.

NAIROBI — I regret very much that the Foreign Minister of Kenya, Dr. Njeroge Mangai, declined to comment on racism as it is practiced in black Africa. To be sure, I am not the foreign minister of the state of Kenya and if I were, perhaps the cat would have got at my tongue too.

IT IS NOT true however that the silence on that subject is universal in black Africa. Mr. Milton Obote was the President of Uganda until he was deposed by the madman Amin, who praises the policies of Adolph Hitler, and last year expelled 40,000 Ugandans of Asian stock and has shown a great flair for atrocities on the genocidal scale. Uganda is a close ally of Kenya and some of the postage stamps here link the two countries, along with Tanzania, into a single East African community. Meanwhile Mr. Obote, living in exile under the protection of his old friend Julius Nyerere, has charged African heads of state with covering up (a phrase made sacred, and infamous, by Watergate) for Amin's government which, Obote charges, has killed at least 80,000 black Ugandan citizens.

"AFRICA WOULD be guilty of double standards and hypocrisy," Obote wrote, "if it continually condemns oppressive measures in the white-ruled South African states while keeping silent about oppression and genocide in Uganda."

And Tanzania's President Nyerere has said it as unequivocally: "It is clearly racism and representative of the same things that the Africans are deploring." I asked Dr. Mungai how come Nyerere could criticize his neighbor if Mungai couldn't. He replied with a twinkle, "Nyerere is a chief of state."

THERE IS the routine explanation for this as recently proferred by the Washington Post's Dennis Duggan. He said, "It is . . . perplexing to ponder the almost total lack of criticism from the world press on such atrocities." He is referring not only to Uganda but to the hideous atrocities in Rwanda and Burundi, and the Central African Republic and Nigeria. "Apparently it is simply that black racists are less offensive to liberals than white racists are." He is of course correct and there is in this judgment that sad strain of residual cultural racism which some (e.g. I) find much more offensive than white African Jim Crow. It is the shoulder shrug: — when black people kill black people, they are doing what comes naturally. When white people discriminate against black people, they are to be despised.

NO. MUCH, much more. They have earned victimization by terrorism.

I judge this to be the great story in Africa in 1974. Not only in Africa, but outside Africa. It is the story of the coarsening of human sensibilities, and I do not doubt that Vietnam has had a great deal to do with this. I mean: an acceptance of terrorism and atrocity as workaday political instruments.

IN KENYA, President Kenyatta's affiliation with the Mau Mau was never solidly documented. In 1961, interviewed by John Freeman for the BBC, Kenyatta was asked why he had not denounced the Mau Mau acts of violence. His reply was forthright. "In many cases (i.e., on many occasions) I have denounced violence, but I think my denounciations were not given wide publicity." There are no such denunciations today. In Rhodesia, in the past 18 months, more white settlers have been slaughtered than were slaughtered by the Mau Mau during their four-year reign of terror.

"But, I know you'll be delighted to learn that we'll soon have that nasty ol' inflation cut down to size."

Backfire Of Simile

WASHINGTON — At this point in time it seems to me that President Nixon and his small band of hardy defenders would be careful not to alienate any group in this country unnecessarily. The White House probably doesn't even realize it, but it has made practically every fisherman in America boiling mad.

FOSTER WALDEN, a friend and devoted angler, told me: "Every time the House Judiciary Committee asks for a piece of paper or a tape the President accuses them of going on a fishing expedition."

"What's wrong with that?"

"Nixon seems to indicate that there's something wrong with fishing."

"COME ON, Foster, you're oversensitive."

"I am not," he said angrily. "Fishing, thanks to the Administration, now has a dirty connotation to it. Just yesterday I told some friends at the office I was going on a fishing expedition this weekend, and they said they would report me to security."

"That's ridiculous, Foster. When Nixon or the White House accuses the House committee of going on a fishing expedition they're not talking about fishing."

"What are they talking about?" he demanded.

"They're talking about the House asking for records and tapes that they have no business asking for."

"WELL, WHY don't they just say that?"

"Because it's easier to explain it to the American people if you say they're on a fishing expedition."

"What has fishing got to do with Watergate?"

"Well, I guess the first image that comes to mind is someone sitting there holding a pole in his hand who doesn't know what he's doing."

"YOU SEE. That means if you go fishing you're stupid." Foster said.

"Fishing is one of the greatest sports in the world. You don't harm anyone. You don't bother anyone. You sit there with your thoughts and you forget all about the mess they made of everything in Washington."

Letters To Editor

DEAR SIR:

We moved from your county in February 1957 but still take the Herald.

We are told in our newspapers and on television that the reason gasoline is as high is because crude is so high. Television has told us that drilling has increased at Midland because of $10 crude has made it profitable.

We are getting about half that much for a very small royalty payment from one of your county's fields. I probably would not have noticed this until one of our statements showed a 30-cents-per-barrel decrease in crude prices. (If you doubt this statement, I can send you proof.) I think crude should be the same price whether the well is 30 minutes or 30 years old.

Beginning Uphill Fight

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — On orders of the Securities and Exchange Commission, brokers now are experimenting with negotiated charges on orders for $2,000 or less of stock. Rate competition at last comes to Wall Street.

Under plans laid down by the commission, to some extent with the cooperation of the industry, the substitution of negotiated rates for fixed commissions will spread to all orders by April 1, 1975.

First indications are that charges will fall, but whether that will prevail is far from assured. Brokers planning lower rates have bragged about it, but many brokers have remained suspiciously silent.

About the best a small investor can hope for is about a $5 saving on the odd-lot purchase or sale of $1,000. At Merrill Lynch, for example, he might pay $20.65 on such an order, versus the old fixed rate of $25.30.

No matter how important the rate situation is in bringing back business, most Wall Streeters would agree that it is only one of several factors that must be dealt with before mass interest in the market is aroused again.

A bull market would excite people, but a bull market isn't likely to develop unless the mass of investors is already participating. And there are some obvious reasons why stock investments aren't popular.

Even the most forgiving cannot erase from their memories the debaucheries of the late 1960s when recordkeeping, common sense, ethics and money seemed to disappear into air.

Others are aware that stock markets aren't quite the random assemblage of buyers and sellers, small and large, rich and poor. Not when 70 per cent of trading on the New York Stock Exchange is by institutions.

These institutions, such as pension and mutual funds, bank trusts and insurance companies, have enormous influence on stock prices, in some instances being able to whipsaw the stocks which small investors hold.

Clean Air Split

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The deep split between Russell Train and the White Huse over watering down the Clean Air Act reached a hysterical climax in the White House two weeks ago when conservative Republican Sen. William Scott of Virginia demanded that Train "quit."

SCOTT WAS rebuked by other Republican members of Congress present, but he was not far from representing the true sentiment in the Oval Office. If President Nixon were stronger politically, he might well have fired Train outright.

The scene of Scott's outburst was the breakfast table at the White House mess. Train, energy czar William Simon, assorted White House aides and key Republican members of Congress were thrashing over the environmental dispute resulting from the energy crisis wich has split the administration. Suddenly, Scott stood up. "Anyone who will not support the administration on this ought to quit, and I mean you," he told Train. Then, recalled one witness, he added: "they ca find some ambassadorship for you, maybe Russia or China."

TRAIN, IMPASSIVE, replied: "Bill, you're way out of line." After an embarrassed silence, several Republicans leapt to the defense of the administration's embattled environmentalist. Conservative Rep. Ancher Nelsen of Minnesota complimented Train on the way he was doing his job. Also in Train's corner was Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee, an administration stalwart. New York's conservaive Republican Sen. James Buckley (a strong conservationist) booked Train.

SIMON, supported by President Nixon's Domestic Council, explained that Mr. Nixon's proposed amendments to the Clean Air Act would only delay, not wipe out, air quality improvements in the present law. This was essential, Simon said, to allow oil-fired electric utilities to convert back to coal.

The White House told Train and Simon to take their conflicting positions to Congress with the White House formally neutral. Train's refusal to accept the rape of the Clean Air Act was strongly backed by Democratic Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Edmund Muskie of Maine.

FRENCH FOREIGN minister Michel Jobert's campaign against the U.S. reached a high point in Riyadh, capital of oil-rich Saudi Arabia, just before he went to Syria in late January to lobby against a quick end of the anti-U.S. oil boycott.

Jobert, given high marks by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger as one of the most subtle of the world's diplomats, carried that subtlety a step too far in a long talk with austere King Faisal on the weekend of Jan. 25.

Sway Back Tips

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the best thing to do for sway back? My 10-year-old granddaughter is going to have terrible posture when she grows up if they don't try to do something now.

She is slim and active but when she stands still she looks as though she is leaning backwards and pushing her tummy out. Is there something she could wear to help? — Mrs. C. M.

I can make only these suggestions:

Have your granddaughter checked by your physician or an orthopedics specialist, to make sure that no other spinal abnormality is involved.

If that doesn't help, the youngster should make herself conscious of her posture, since slouching tends to push the abdomen forward and makes the sway back that much more noticeable.

I have no knowledge of braces or anything of that sort that will help her back.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband has had a painful heel for some time and the podiatrist diagnosed it as gout. Can you given any information on this ondition? — S.T.

Diagnosed it as gout or suspected it to be gout? Treating gout is in the field of medicine not podiatry. However, it can be dealt with very effectively by medications to reduce the amount of uric acid in the system — that being the cause of gout. I suggest your husband send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed return envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald and ask for my booklet, "Gout, The Modern Way to Stop It." It will explain what he needs to know about gout.

* * *

Arthritis suffers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis" write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

Since my mother died in December of 1973, I have changed completely. I feel more spiritually inclined. I want to go to church, and I want to learn more bout the Bible. My husband, however, seems disinterested. How can I encourage him, because I really want a Christian family? R.M.

How many problems would be eliminated in marriage if each partner matured uniformly, and made significant decisions simultaneously! But that is not how it happens.

First, I commend you for letting the sorrow of bereavement stimulate you to find personal faith. What a tribute to your mother! The evidence of your spiritual vitality now is the desire to attend church and to read the Scripture. Don't ever deny these twin sources of the happy life — regardless of what others do around you.

According to Biblical principles, the wife is not in a position to dictate family habits. This is the province of the husband and father. Where no spiritual leadership is provided from the male side, however, the mother has to be resourceful in indirect ways of influence. Pray about your husband's spiritual needs, and see if some friendship can't be sparked between him and another Christian man.

The most credible witness for Christ that your husband will get, however, is the cumulative impact of you as a godly woman — committed to the Lord and her husband, in that order.

Let him get "mad" — as you reported. God honors a consistent winsome attitude, all under the guarantee that "love never fails" (Corinthians 13).

A Devotion For Today . .

Let us also lay aside every weight, and sin which clings so closely, and let us run with perseverance the race that is set before us. (Hebrews 12:1)

PRAYER: Our Father, we are sometimes weighted down by difficult circumstances. Help us to see that whatever our problem, there is a lesson we can learn from Your Son, who found glory through a cross. In His name we ask. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Hal Boyle, Gentle Spirit In Ungentle World, Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Hal Boyle, a gentle spirit in an ungentle world, has died at 63.

Harold Vincent Boyle was for 30 years as much a fixture in hundreds of American newspapers as the weather report. His promise was always, in 7,680 columns for The Associated Press, a brighter tomorrow.

HEART ATTACK

Boyle died of a heart attack at his home here Monday.

Funeral arrangements tentatively include a memorial service in New York, where he worked more than half his life as a daily columnist. Burial will be in Kansas City, Mo., the place of his birth.

Boyle's death came four months after he had learned that he was the victim of a rare, crippling, incurable disease—amyotrophic lateral sclerosis. The disease is commonly known as "Lou Gherig's Disease" because it felled the famed baseball player.

In his last column, which appeared Feb. 22, Boyle wrote:

"I hate to relinquish my daily column because writing it has been ... a magic adventure that enabled me to meet thousands of people, 67 countries and every continent but the Antarctic.

"I am somewhat abashed that my wordage output is four times more than that of William Shakespeare. But I savor the fact that it enabled me to have more bylined stories on the main wires of The Associated Press than any other writer in its 126 years."

LOVE SONG

Boyle won early fame as a war correspondent. But in the unsettled times between conflicts he solaced and soothed millions of readers with gentle thoughts such as this:

"If the Lord whispers in your secret heart that you had but one month to live and let you pick that month, which would you choose. I'd say October.

"The wind of night now has become a violin playing a love song for the young, a last tune of youth for the old ..."

Boyle, with thousands of GIs, stumbled into World War II on the shores of Africa. He walked with them to Berlin, then lugged his typewriter to the Pacific theater to chronicle their daily experiences on that front.

His column became a staple in more than 700 newspapers. He wrote about such things as "the dazed relief of climbing out of the ditch, moments later weak-kneed but knowing for the first time how wonderful it is to be really alive ... when someone is trying to take life from you."

SON OF BUTCHER

For his "distinguished correspondence" he was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in 1944, but an equally treasured prize was the Omar N. Bradley award of the Veterans of Foreign Wars won in 1950 for his Korean war coverage.

From Vietnam, the third war Boyle covered, he began one column as an open letter to his wife and daughter:

"You may be wondering what's going on here. So do I."

Boyle was the son of a butcher and an Irish immigrant farm girl. He began his career as a copyboy in the AP bureau in Kansas City in 1928 and after a short tour in the AP St. Louis bureau moved to New York in 1936.

In 1937 Boyle married Mary Frances Young, whom he met in Kansas City. She died in 1968. They had one daughter, Tracy Ann, 20, who survives. Two brothers also survive, John Boyle of Kansas City and Edward Boyle of Sun City, Ariz., and a sister, Mrs. Donald Newton of Kansas City.

Unexcited On Learning He Had Won Pulitzer

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Hal Boyle, the Associated Press columnist who died Monday, was singularly unexcited on learning he had won a Pulitzer Prize in 1945, a one-time fellow war correspondent recalled today.

The word caught up with Boyle as he lay sick and tired in a Paris hotel, said Bob Wear, a newsman with the Dallas Times Herald who now lives here.

BRING ME A DRINK

Wear, then reporting about the war in Europe for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, related that he and Boyle were accredited to Gen. George Patton's Third Army, which was forced by the Yalta agreement to pull back behind the River Elbe after pushing into Germany.

"We both caught the flu then, so we hitched a courier plane ride into Paris and shared the last available room in the Scribe Hotel," said Wear.

"It was 2 o'clock one April morning when ohter correspondents came hurrying up from the hotel bar and pounded on our door while they waved a dispatch that Hal had just won the Pulitzer Prize.

"That's when he simply raised up and asked them, 'Did you so-and-sos bring me a drink? I'm sick and tired. Let me go back to sleep.'

"And with that he pulled the bedcovers over his head and dozed off again."

REAL STORY

Wear recalled Boyle as "just one of the greatest—a man who never complained about the hardships of war reporting, even though we often had to drive 150 miles—weaving in and out of military convoys—to reach the Army communications center in order to file our stores."

"Boyle," he added, "was one of Patton's favorites. The general felt that Hal was telling the real story of the rifle-toting GIs."

Wear was among former correspondents who accompanied Boyle back to Europe in June 1949 as guests of the British and French governments for a Normandy beachhead revisited ceremony. In Paris, French President Vincent Auriol conferred on Boyle the Medaille Libere.

As the newsmen again turned toward home, they stopped at Shannon and Boyle's Irish kinfolk came down from Dublin to give a big dinner for them.

"That night, on the flight crossing the Atlantic," said Wear, "Boyle—as he had done so many times—sat in the aisle with his typewriter on his knees writing his column. He had to file it the next morning as soon as we landed at St. Johns, Newfoundland."

Find Midlander Safe In Canyon

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — A Midland, Tex., student was one of two from Colorado State found safe Monday in Soldier Canyon.

The pair was identified as Isabelle Martin Adams, 18, of Midland and James C. Dryer, 17, of Matawan, N.J.

The sheriff's office in Larimer County said the two were found after an air and ground search.

Both had been scheduled to return Sunday from a camp trip near Horsetooth Reservoir.

Taxiway Lights Are Knocked Out

Four youths between 12 and 14 years of age are suspected of breaking 10 taxiway lights at Howard County Airport, the sheriff's office reported Monday.

Youth Accused Of Killing Brother, Sister Confined

FORT WORTH (AP) — Edward Corbin Jr., 16, accused of murdering his teen-age brother and sister, was ordered held Monday in the county juvenile detention center.

Investigators said they wanted specialists to conduct psychiatric tests and other examinations.

LITTLE EMOTION

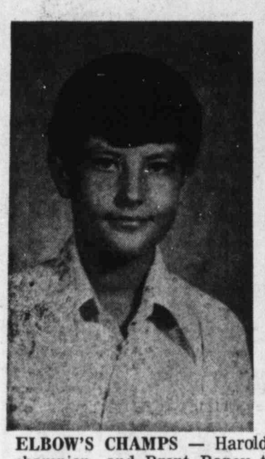

Juvenile Court Judge Scott Moore granted the family's request that young Corbin be permitted later Monday to attend the funeral of his brother, Jeff, 14, and sister, Kim Diane, 17.

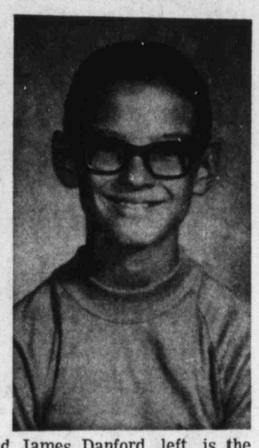

The two victims were shot to death Friday night in their suburban Bedford home.

With his mother's arm around his waist and his father standing next to her, the tall, handsome youth showed little emotion as he heard Moore order him confined in the juvenile center.

Police told the district attorney's office that Corbin got drunk on beer and then became angered when his brother and sister threatened to tell their parents he had been drinking.

The brother was shot first, they said, and then the girl as she tried to grab the shotgun.

ELBOW'S CHAMPS — Harold James Danford, left, is the champion, and Brent Raney the runnerup in the finals of the Spelling Bee at Elbow elementary school. Harold James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Danford, 4008 Parkway, and is a fifth grader. Brent is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Raney, Sterling City Rt., Box 157, and is in the fifth grade. Brent was stumped by "heritage," which Harold James spelled, Harold James went on to spell "hesitant" and win the right to participate in the County Bee Thursday.

You Can Rent Apple Tree For Little As $25 A Year

SEBASTOPOL, Calif. (AP) — California's newest rental service is "Rent-a-Tree."

For as little as $25 a year, Michael Martin and Jerry Abbott will rent an apple tree in their 13-acre orchard in this lush Russian River country 60 miles north of San Francisco.

With the fee go full picking, sitting and climbing rights. Only chopping is frowned upon. The owners take care of all the less romantic chores such as pruning, spraying and propping.

"Our motto is 'We Care for Your Tree,'" Martin, a 35-year-old former social worker, said in an interview Monday. "It will give people from the city a chance for some unusual recreation in the ciuntry.

"We also hope it will give us a profitable way of harvesting apples by eliminating the middlemen," Martin said. He said he and Abbott, a 36-year-old attorney, both have "been in apples all our lives," and bought the orchard bit by bit over the past few years.

Customers will be able to choose from among more than 100 trees, priced according to the number of apples they yield at harvest time.

Martin said the $25 variety is good for about three boxes of apples, while a few giant trees that rent for $150 apiece can fill up to 60 boxes.

Each rented tree will carry a redwood plaque on a chain giving the name of its tenant. Renters will have free use of a grove of fir trees for picnicking.

"We're selling more than apples," Martin said. "Although they'll have only one tree, they'll be able to enjoy the whole orchard."

Martin said he and Abbott got the idea for "Rent-a-Tree" from similar experiments that have succeeded in the eastern United States and Europe.

The first trees will be available for rental this weekend during a local apple blossom festival, Martin said.

'Why Get Married At All?' Question Aired By AAUW

"Why get married at all?"

This question, posed in a taped interview with Dr. Carl Rogers, author of a new book, "Being Partners," was the subject of study when the Day Study Group, American Association of University Women, met Monday in the home of Mrs. Pete Rhymes.

According to Dr. Rogers, there are no absolute reasons for marriage.

"Marriage makes sense only when two people have grown so close, communicate so well with each other, that they now want to have children and form a more permanent bond," he said.

However, he said that for many young people today, marriage is a failing institution, and they are seeking alternatives in the form of communes, the single life and relationship outside of marriage. Statistics seem to bear this out: in 1971 in Los Angeles County, for every five couples who applied for marriage licenses, four later applied for a dissolution of their marriages.

Dr. Rogers described marriage today as process, not static.

"Marriage for a long time has been a symbol for security," he said. "They are more secure if the marrige is based on a willingness to communicate to each other all of the persistent feelings, even the negative ones, and work those out between them — and if there is a commitment to the ongoing process of being in relationship to each other."

Mrs. Dennis Vanderven and Mrs. Lois Cave, co-chairwomen of the meeting, first played the 40-minute recording by Dr. Rogers, then followed it up with a short discussion and, finally, a session of role-playing.

Divided into two groups, each member played the role of a participant in a hypothetical situation involving two young people who wish to live together without marrying. The women found that trying to put oneself in someone else's shoes, especially when the point of view is not your own, is difficult, but educational.

Everyone in the group agreed with Dr. Rogers' contention that "our marital aspirations now are higher than at any time in history" and "when a marriage really works today, it is far richer than ever before."

The next meeting of the AAUW Day Study Group will be May 6 in the home of Mrs. Neil Willoughby. Mrs. James Morrison and Mrs. Sue Simonicic will be co-chairwomen and will review Vance Packard's book, "A Nation of Strangers."

Cosden Expands In Petrochemical Field

"Cosden is the fourth largest manufacturer of polystyrene, and its products are second to none," said W. L. Whittington, Cosden Refinery superintendant, when he spoke Monday evening to the Desk and Derrick Club.

In tracing the history of the local refinery, Whittington said it has retained its name and separate identity because of its image in the petrochemical industry.

The refinery has been in this area of the petroleum industry since 1952 and, according to the speaker, this made a drastic change in the company's image in both the refining and petrochemical fields.

Whittington used slides made at the refinery to show the different units as he explained what part each had in making various products. Among products produced by the company are paraxylene, polystyrene, butelene and the newest, propylene. He said 80 per cent of the crude oil used at the refinery is gathered in West Texas. Cosden also has a plant in Calumet City, Ill., and an interest in Cos-Mar Petrochemical Plant in Carrville, La.

Mrs. Herbie Smith won the attendance prize.

The next meeting will be May 6, featuring Wayne Bartlett, relief pilot for the pipe line, as speaker.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our son (he is 24) and his finance have been going steady since they were 16, and plan on being married when she finishes college (out of town) in June. They have been spending every weekend together for some time. (They each have an apartment.) I knew about this and have told them I disapprove, but since they are both over 21, I had no say in the matter.

Last weekend the girl's mother checked on them and discovered what had been going on. She said she would not give them the big church wedding that was planned as it would be hypocritical.

The girl is well off in her own right and plans to pay for a big church wedding herself. She has asked me to help her with the plans, and now I am in the middle.

They are a wonderful couple, and I love them both, but I don't want to irritate her mother by doing for this girl what her own mother has refused. Yet, I don't want to alienate my future daughter-in-law. Can you help me?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: How do you feel about being a party to a big church wedding for a couple who have been spending weekends together for some time? If you feel it would be hypocritical, then have no part in planning it. But if you feel differently about it, then go ahead and help. How the girl's mother feels about it shouldn't dictate your actions.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: As my eight-year-old son's birthday approached, I found myself in the dilemma of wanting to give him a birthday party, but being turned off by the idea that each child invited would feel compelled to buy a gift.

Now that we are beginning to realize that the resources of our planet are not inexhaustible, we must be more conservative, so I suddenly hit upon the idea of "recycling" gifts. I sent a note with each invitation saying: "Doesn't your child have something that he has enjoyed but has grown tired of and would like to pass along to a friend?"

It resulted in a beautiful sharing experience. My son appreciated the gifts all the more knowing they had been enjoyed by his friends. And his friends had the pleasure of giving something they had enjoyed. And nobody had to spend a dime.

If you think this is a good idea, please pass it on.

D.B.

DEAR D.B.: It's a lovely idea! But it's hardly new. Adults have been quietly "recycling" gifts for years.

These bright ideas will help you light your home more efficiently.

It makes sense to use adequate lighting for reading, working or for security, and it makes sense to do it efficiently.

Locate table lamps so they provide the most light and fewest shadows.

When buying light bulbs, choose the right bulb for the job. Remember that the lumen rating tells you the light output of bulbs. Watts tell you how much electricity is needed to produce that light. And bulb life is the estimated number of hours the bulb can be expected to burn.

Where bulbs are difficult to change, choose a "long life" bulb which may have less lumens for its wattage, but will last longer.

Decorative lights call for less lumens and lower wattage. A photo electric cell or timer will regulate the use of security lighting.

And it's always a good idea to turn lights off when they are not needed.

For more ideas on how to use your electric service wisely, call us. We'd like to help.

Serene Is The Word At Trinity

Swans at Trinity Memorial Park grace the pond. Many persons visit and enjoy the peace and serenity achieved at the local cemetery.

There has been a steady increase in requests for the concrete burial vaults constructed by Trinity Memorial Park as more and more people have realized the superior protection given by concrete vaults.

Constructed of dense concrete to withstand pressure of more than 4,000 pounds per square inch, tests have shown that this concrete increases in strength as the years go by.

A concrete vault prevents sunked graves and rust and corrosion are not possible. Trinity Memorial Park believes that a more lasting vault cannot be built at any price.

The strength and durability of the vaults is provided by steel reinforced concrete and a waterproofing agent mixed with the concrete before it is formed adds impermeability. A special feature of vaults constructed by Trinity Memorial Park is the "Air Seal." Any dampness from any other possible source can excape, so the interior will be kept in a dry condition.

For 10 years Trinity Memorial Park has been making the vaults that are available through the various area funeral homes, including Stanton, Lamesa and Snyder. Rigid standards insure the quality of the concrete and the workmanship of each vault.

Often, because people do not realize the importance of a burial vault, the necessity of a concrete vault for permanent protection is disregarded. Unless specific arrangements are made with the funeral director, the outside container will be a wooden box. A vault replaces the wooden box with an indestructible material, thus protecting the casket.

The durability of the vaults makes them a preferred choice from the viewpoint of both the funeral director and the cemetery director. The vault's economy of manufacture makes this fine product available to the public at a very reasonable price.

Using Less Fuel

BOSTON (AP) — The average oil-heated household in Massachusetts has consumed nearly 20 per cent less fuel this year, according to a Needham computer specialist. This represents a savings of some 400 gallons for a typical home that last year had used 2,000 gallons, Richard J. Carroll said. Carroll is a petroleum marketing consultant for Business Computer Services which contracts with more than 70 oil dealers in Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire.

Ant-Eating Champ

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — S. Sgt. Charles Chapman ate 102 red ants during an ant-eating contest that highlighted a survival symposium. Contestants plucked the ants from a can. "They have a sour almond taste," said S. Sgt. David Bradshaw, who took third place among 15 insect eaters after munching 26 ants.

EAR PROBLEM STOPS YOUTH

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP) — A Binghamton State University student has been hospitalized for treatment for exposure after failing to break a world record for most hours spent in a shower.

"My hands and my feet were swollen and wrinkled," Preston Stockman said at Wilson Hospital after spending 4½ days under a dormitory shower.

"Then my ear became plugged and I tried to unplug it. Everything I did was futile. It just got worse and worse ..... It got to the point where I was just standing there in absolute agony," he said.

Stockman wore swimming trunks and greased himself with Vaseline for the effort.

The Guinness Book of World Records which Stockman consulted listed the shower record at more than seven days.

Television News Producer Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Frederick A. Freed, 53, an NBC Television News Producer who won seven television Emmys, died Sunday. He won his awards for NBC News White Papers on such subjects as blue-collar workers, pollution, the Cuban missle crisis and the American military in the 1970s.

Marcus Welby To Sponsor Excedrin?

NEW YORK (AP) — The awards season on television rarely ceases.

Tonight is Hollywood's turn — namely, the Academy Awards show on NBC.

On April 21, Broadway goes at it with its Tony Awards show on ABC.

On May 28, NBC airs television's Mt. Everest, the Emmy Awards for entertainment. On Sept. 4, ABC has the Emmy Awards show for TV news.

STAND BY

All these shows are sponsored. Stand by, now. Advertising. I say again, advertising, may get its own awards show on network television June 14 for the first time in TV history.

It'll be the gala Clio Awards bash the advertising community has held for the past 14 years to honor what it considers the best in American and international radio, TV and print advertising.

The winners get a statuette of Clio, the Greek muse of history. Heaven only knows what advertising has to do with history but no muse is ... well, back to the story.

"Clios are to the advertising industry what the Oscars are to the movies and the Emmys to television," says Bill Evans, director of the New York-based awards organization.

BIG NIGHT

Evans, who said the show will be broadcast live and run 90 minutes, declined for the time being to identify the network that'll carry it until the pertinent agreements are reached and contracts signed.

Although Clios will be given earlier in the week of June 14 for radio and print advertising, the televised big night will honor award-winning TV advertising, he said.

About 350 judges drawn from advertising communities in the United States and abroad now are assessing about 3,800 entries produced in more than 30 countries, Clio officials say.

The TV finalists will comprise possibly 58 categories — 44 product, 13 technique or technical and one campaign — although judges don't have to select a winner in each category, the officials said.

Many of the award-winning TV commercials, from the United States and abroad, will appear on the program with the usual entertainment fare that accompanies the Oscar, Tony and Emmy shows, Evans said.

DAIRY FOODS

But the awards categories aren't exactly the same. The cheers would go up, say, for the lucky winner of a Clio for the "best deodorant" ad category. "Beer-wine," "confection-snacks," "dairy foods" and "automobiles" are other typical awards categories.

It sounds like Dud City, but I have to admit that a Clio show might not be all that bad. Some commercials, particularly those from overseas, often are more entertaining than the shows they interrupt.

It is herewith recommended we test this theory by halting the Clio awards for brief program interruptions. If viewers protest, it could lead to Excedrin being sponsored by Marcus Welby.

Prison Films Available

Two films depicting prison programs are being offered to area civic groups for showing. The films were produced by the Texas Department of Corrections.

"Everybody Wins," a twenty-six minute, 16 MM color film, depicts the unique relationship between prison vocational training programs and prison industries.

"The Wildest Show on Earth" tells the story of the Texas Prison Rodeo and how the profits from this event are used in educational and recreational programs. It is an exciting twenty-six minute, 16 MM color film.

The films may be obtained by writing Ron Taylor, Public Affairs Officer, Texas Department of Corrections, Huntsville, Texas, 77340.

Opening lead: Jack of ♣

A blind opening lead is a rare animal indeed. However, there are many examples of "deaf" opening leads, and West proved to be very hard of hearing on this hand.

South's opening bid did nothing to improve North's hand, but once South had bid and rebid hearts, confirming a five-card suit, North's hand revalued to a full opening bid. His three trumps headed by two honors, together with his two aces and singleton spade, fully merited a raise to game.

West led the jack of clubs, won by dummy's ace. A spade to the king lost to the ace, and West belatedly shifted to a trump. Declarer won in his hand and ruffed a spade. He reentered his hand with the king of clubs and ruffed a second spade. After cashing the ace of diamonds, he ruffed a diamond and drew trumps. He still had to concede two spade tricks, but made his contract.

West could and should have defeated the contract. All the information he needed was conveyed by the auction and his own holding in spades. From the bidding, it was likely that North might have a singleton spade and that, given time, declarer would be able to ruff losing spades in dummy.

West's defense, therefore, should have been designed to prevent declarer ruffing his losers in dummy and he should have selected a trump as his opening lead. When he got in with a spade, he would play another trump, thus limiting dummy to one spade ruff.

As the cards lie, declarer would have been left without recourse. West would simply have had to sit back and wait to collect three more spade tricks to defeat the contract.

Kay Proctor Is Angelo Winner

Kay Proctor of Howard College tightened her hold on the lead in girls' barrel riding in Southwestern region of National Intercollegiate Rodeo competition over the weekend. She took first place in the event at San Angelo.

Tana Pettigrew split third and fourth and Carolyn Roan took fifth but the Howard College team finishel behind Eastern New Mexico University, which also captured the boys' team trophy. Raleigh McCullough, Howard College bull rider who is leading the region, did not ride.

The next round comes Thursday through Saturday at Western Texas in Snyder.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Harold Wilder remembers the first time he saw Taylor Williams, the adopted local boy who made good this week by landing a spot on the NJCAA All-America first team. "It was at a track meet in Cleveland (Miss.). He was still a junior, but I'd heard he was one of the best players around," the coach recalls.

"I went up and talked to him and told him 'I'll be back to get you in a couple of years,' and sure enough . . ."

That's an interesting enough start for a pretty good story, but it's not nearly as good as the player it's about. Taylor Williams made history at Howard College by becoming the first player to make the first team — that means he's one of the eight best juco players out of maybe 25,000 in the country — and it's probably only the beginning for "Flick."

In a nutshell, here's what Williams has done in two years at HC: (1) he scored 1,661 points; (2) he grabbed 1,277 rebounds; (3) he made All-Western Conference twice; (4) he made All-Region V twice; (5) he almost died; (6) he ranked fifth in the nation in . . . he almost what?

Sure, you remember. He almost died. An industrial accident during the summer — a styrene explosion momentarily blinded him, and he almost fell off a second floor catwalk — nearly took his life. But that's just one part of the "Flick" story . . .

* * * * * *

If my information is right, you have to go back about six or seven years to the beginning. When Wilder was coach at Abilene High he became friends with several Hardin-Simmons players, including current Big Spring Junior Varsity Coach James Griffin. Grif hails from — you guessed it — Cleveland, Miss. In fact, at one time there were four Cleveland players on the H-SU roster.

Griffin went on to coach in Corpus Christi, and when it came time for a hometown boy named Archie Myers to play college ball, he told Archie about Wilder, who had taken a job at Howard County Junior College in Big Spring, Texas. Archie came, made All-American, and started a Cleveland move to HC that's still paying off — note Taylor Williams.

* * * * * *

When Williams arrived in Big Spring, he was just about all Wilder had to count on, and believe it or not, at the time it didn't seem like all that much. "When I recruited Flick, it was strictly as a rebounder," Wilder said of his ace.

"He couldn't score. But since he's been here he's grown about an inch and a half and put on about 25 pounds — and he's worked hard. That's what got him where he is."

That 1972-73 season didn't look ultra-bright, anyway. Herbie Lee was the only player back from the Myer's regime, and though he was one of the best assist men HC ever had, you just don't win it all with 5-8 playmakers. Leroy Lumzy, who went on to become the No. 4 scorer in HC history, hadn't yet decided on the Hawks, and neither had big Thomas Bledsoe.

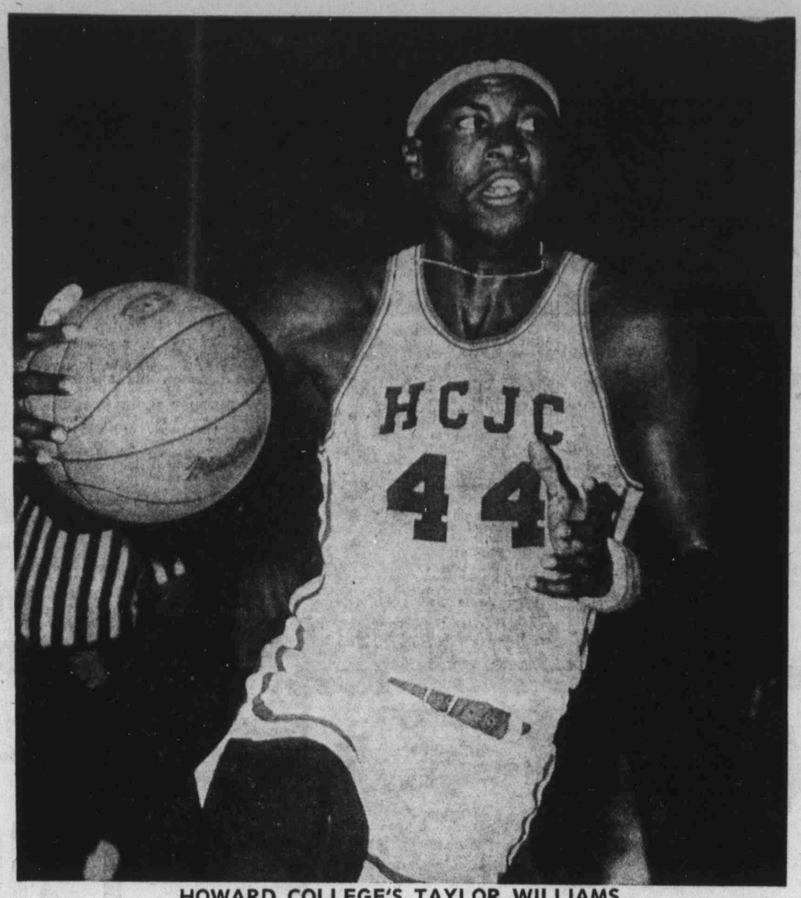

Ah, another story. Bledsoe, 6-7 and burly, had been an arch-rival of Taylor's, sort of, while at Clarksdale, Miss. They played head-to-head several times, almost even. "Blood" waited until the last day of registration to pick Howard College, and though Wilder knew he had the makings of a good team, he was understandably worried about how Williams and Bledsoe would receive each other.

He found out in a hurry. They could hardly play on opposite teams because each battled so aggressively it was like two heavyweights going at each other in a title fight. They eventually became good friends, though not necessarily super-buddies, and they also grew to be good teammates.

* * * * * *

But this is supposed to be Flick's story. The future isn't exactly cloudy for the honored guy, he still hasn't made up his mind where he wants to play college ball. Something that might weigh on his mind is his No. 1 goal—to play pro basketball.

"He's got the dream," Wilder grinned. For Flick. who has learned to dribble, and run, and shoot, and rebound from everywhere on the floor, and pass . . . it's not really a dream at all. It's just something he'll have to work harder for and improve for. A lot like All-America . . .

HOWARD COLLEGE'S TAYLOR WILLIAMS
Earns Spot On First Team All-America Squad

Williams Selected Juco All-American

Taylor Williams, "Mr. Hustle" in the Howard College Hawk lineup the past two seasons, has been named to the eight-man NJCAA All-America first team.

Williams, a 6-7 sophomore from Cleveland, Miss., becomes the first Hawk in the 28-year history of the school to gain first team status. Several other ex-HC players, including Archie Myers, the most recent of the stars, have earned second or third team plaudits or honoirable mention.

"I was pretty surprised at making first team since we didn't go to nationals," Williams said. "But that's what I was working for. I'm really happy about it."

His coach, Harold Wilder, shared the happiness of the situation. "It's a heck of an accomplishment, but he certainly was deserving," Wilder said of his ace who led the Hawks to a 35-6 season, averaging 20 points and 16 rebounds a game.

"Anyone who's seen Flick play knows about his hustle and intenseness — well, he practices the same way. He's worked real hard for two years. We start working out the first day the guys show up and we go until the last day in May.

"That's been important to Taylor, because when he came here he came primarily as a rebounder. He couldn't score. But he turned into a real player for us."

Joining Williams on the first team were 7-0 Tommy Barker of College Southern Idaho, Mike Hay of Sullivan, N.Y.; 6-3 David Kragel of Southwestern CC, Iowa; Connie White of national champion Mercer CC, N.J.; George White of Columbia State CC, Tenn.; Ron Davis of Glendale CC, Ariz.; and Russell Davis, Louisburg College, N.C.

Harold Rhodes of Amarillo College, the other Region V All-America nominee, was named to the second team along with one other Texas cager, Terry Bailey of Henderson JC in Athens. Vernon Williams of Tyler was an honorable mention pick.

Williams attracted more major college recruiters than anyone in the state, mainly because of the movement and agility he displayed, as well as his impressive defense. He hasn't decided on a senior college yet, and says he hasn't really even narrowed his list down yet.

He has, however, paid visits to campuses at Mississippi State, Oklahoma and TCU and plans to visit Texas Tech, North Texas State, Mississippi and others.

"Basketball's been very important to me — it's my game," said Williams, who ranks second to Myers on the all-time HC scoring charts. "I'd really like to play pro basketball, though. That's my goal."

Williams scored 860 points for the Hawks the past season, hitting 52 per cent from the field, and he averaged 21 points a game. His high was a 39-point outburst against the Hardin-Simmons Junior Varsity and he barely played half the game.

Last season he ranked fifth in the nation in scoring with 801 points. His two-year rebound total was 1,277. Williams was also named All-Region V and All-Western Conference the past two years.

Bulls End Road Jinx, Power Past Pistons

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Bulls finally have won their first-ever playoff game on the road, but it isn't exactly with optimism that Coach Dick Motta views the milestone.

"We didn't break the ice tonight; there was no ice. It's a new game tomorrow," Motta said Monday night after the Bulls evened their best-of-7 National Basketball Association Eastern Conference playoff against Detroit at 1-1 with a 108-103 victory.

"I expect each team will lose another home game before the series is over," Motta added. Each team now has won on the other's court, with the series returning to Chicago Friday.

The Detroit-Chicago game was the only NBA playoff action Monday, but there were four American Basketball Association quarter-finals.

In those ABA playoffs, New York took a 2-0 East Division advantage over Virginia by beating the Squires 129-110; Kentucky beat Carolina 118-102 in their first East Division game; Indiana bludgeoned San Antonio 128-101, evening that West Divison series at 1-1, and Utah jumped to a 2-0 lead over San Diego in the West with a 119-105 victory over the Conquistadors.

Bob Love got 38 points and Chet Walker added 20 to a revived Chicago offense. "Our offense did a better job tonight," Motta said. "Our defense did as good a job as they did Saturday when they held Detroit to 97 points and lost."

There are no ABA playoff games tonight, but in the NBA, Boston takes a 1-0 advantage into Buffalo in the Eastern Conference, Capital andthe Knicks will break a 1-1 tie at New York in their East series, and the Milwaukee Bucks, holding a 2-0 edge in the West Conference, play in Los Angeles. Laker officials have indicated that superstar guard Jerry West may be back is the line-up for that one.

Nets 129, Squires 110

Julius Erving scored 16 of his game-high 35 points in the second quarter, staking the Nets to a 24-point halftime lead en route to a convincing victory over Virginia.

The series now moves to Virginia for two games, and Squires Coach Al Bianchi says, "We've always played them well at home. A sweep is always possible, but anything can happen in Virginia."

Colonels 118, Cougars 102

"I guess we'll just have to circle the wagons because the Indians came tonight," said Carolina Coach Larry Brown, after Kentucky's Artis Gilmore massacred the Cougars with 33 points, 19 rebounds and six blocked shots.

Pack's Thompson 'Player Of Year'

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — David Thompson, the Associated Press College Basketball Player of the Year, honed his skills by playing against the "big boys" at Gardner-Webb College in Boiling Springs, N.C., not far from his Shelby home.

While in Crest High School, he would amble over to the college for some fun games against the likes of Artis Gilmore, now the premier 7-foot-2 center of the American Basketball Association Kentucky Colonels. He also went up against George Alams, now with San Diego of the ABA.

"I had to learn to jump high to shoot over them," said the two-time All-American, a mere 6-foot-4.

The 19-year-old North Carolina State junior's awesome leaping ability is just one fact of his superlative all-around play.

Thompson, who repeatedly has said he will shun pro offers until he graduates, because "the money will still be there," led State to a 30-1 record an the NCAA championship last week.

Just as his team dethroned perennial champion UCLA in the NCAA semifinals, Thompson replaced the Bruins' Bill Walton as AP player of the year. Thompson received the vote of 128 of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters to 85 for the 6-foot-11 Walton. Nine other players each got one vote.

SPRING BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Aaron Homers In Cincy Tuneup

By The Associated Press

Hank Aaron is ready to play ball . . . even if he isn't ready.

The reticent superstar, who'd prefer not participating this week in Cincinnati, sharpened up for the 1974 baseball season with a home run in Atlanta's 7th spring training victory over Baltimore Monday.

Aaron, with 713, had hoped to break Babe Ruth's home run record of 714 in Atlanta and originally indicated he would sit out the Braves' three-game series with the Reds.

But he has been overruled by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who in effect recently ordered Aaron to play at least two of the three games against the Reds.

Aaron's blast, his third of the exhibition season, was struck as a designated hitter. The homer was one of five the Braves hit Monday.

Dave Johnson hit two homers, and Dusty Baker and Ivan Murrell one each.

Elsewhere, the Milwaukee Brewers defeated the Oakland A's 6-2; the Boston Red Sox nudged the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4; the Cleveland Indians tripped the Chicago Cubs 9-2; the Cincinnati Reds crushed the Pittsburgh Pirates 15-9; the Chicago White Sox edged the Minnesota Twins 4-3; the Montreal Expos blasted the Philadelphia Phillies 7-1; the New York Yankees nipped the New York Mets 2-1; the California Angels lashed the University of California-Irvine 10-2; the Houston Astros trimmed the Detroit Tigers 4-1 and the San Francisco Giants shaded the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-6.

Helped by two Oakland errors, Milwaukee broke a 2-2 tie with four eighth-inning runs to defeat Oakland. Sal Bando's three-base error put the Brewers' Bobby Mitchell on third base to start the eighth, and two walks, a ground-rule double by Bob Coluccio, a wild pitch and Pedro Garcia's two-run triple did the rest.

Rico Petrocelli hit a two-out, ninth-inning home run with a teammate aboard to lift Boston over St. Louis.

Cleveland raked Steve Stone for three triples and two doubles in the opening innings and went on to rout Chicago. Gaylord Perry, pitching seven innings for the second time this spring, limited the Cubs to four hits.

Roger Freed, already reassigned to a Cincinnati minor league club, hit two home run and added a double and a single to help the Reds crush Pittsburgh.

The Chicago White Sox came from behind with three runs in the sixth inning and got three scoreless innings from reliever Wayne Granger to edge Minnesota.

Winning pitcher Mike Torrez hit a bases-loaded triple off Steve Carlton, giving Montreal its victory over Philadelphia.

Dave Roberts pitched seven innings of scoreless ball and knocked in a pair of runs to lead Houston past Detroit.

Texas LL Sex Barrier Broken

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — A shy 11-year-old blonde who never heard of women's lib but has a darned good right arm has signed up for Little League, perhaps the first girl in Texas to do so.

"I think more girls should do it so they'd think they were good enough," Margaret Avard said after signing up Suniay.

She said it was a last-minute decision and she felt "sort of" funny when she did.

When her brother, 9-year-old Stephen Jr., headed for Settlers' Park to sign up, her father asked if she wanted to go, too.

She did..

"We were kind of surprised, but we figured if she wanted to, we'd give it a shove," Avard said.

League president John LeBlanc asked for certification that Margaret, a 5-foot-2 fifth grader, was able to play. Avard said she was and she was accepted.

"She is not out to prove women's lib. She doesn't even know about the recent court cases about girls and Little League," Avard said.

Margaret said her girl classmates were "excited. I want to get some of them out, too."

Lee-Permain Tilt Tops 5-4A Slate

Midland Lee tries to make everything right today against Odessa Permian's league-leading Panthers, while most of the rest of the league engages in a fight for third place around Dist. 5-AAAA.

Permian, 10-1 and 4-0 in league action, hosts the Rebels in the most important loop matchup to date. Elsewhere around the district, Big Spring is hosting Abilene Cooper in a 4:30 p.m. affair at Steer Park, Odessa is at Midland High and Abilene entertains San Angelo.

A Lee victory today would tie things with two games left, while Permian could cinch at least a tie for the first half title with a win.

Public To Have Share Of Stars

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Westam Corp. of Salt Lake City bought the Utah Stars of the American Basketball Association Monday and said it would soon try to sell 80 per cent of the Stars stock to the public.

The sale price was not disclosed.

Stars owner Bill Daniels of Denver announced the sale at a news conference Monday.

Westam owns Solitude ski resort outside of Salt Lake City, Ute Liner Co., a motor home manufacturer, and recreational land interests.

East Cagers Win Star Tilt

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Len Elmore of Maryland scored 12 points, pacing a first half surge that helped the East to a 94-87 victory over the West in an All-Star basketball game Monday night.

Coach Digger Phelps of the East used all 11 of his players in winning the nationally televised game.

After the game was tied 8-8 early in the first half, the East, using its height, steadily pulled away to twice lead by 10 points before a last-minute rally by the West narrowed the gap to 45-43 at the half.

Vanderbilt forward Terry Compton led the East in scoring with 16 points followed by Notre Dame's John Shumate with 15, Elmore's 12, 11 from Bill Knight of Pittsburgh and 11 second-half points by Wisconsin's Kim Hughes.

The West, coached by Ned Wulk of Arizona State, was led by Kevin Restani of the University of San Francisco with 16 points.

Hawaii's Tom Henderson sparked a second-half West rally and ended the game with 15 points.

Bobby Florence of Nevada-Las Vegas had 12 points for the West and Tulsa's Sam High added 10.

The biggest East lead was 82-63 with 7:40 left in the game.

The West, behind Houston's Sid Edwards, Restani and Florence, rallied to within five points at 92-87 but time ran out.

It was the first East victory after two losses in the game.

SA's Nater Earns ABA Rookie Of Year Honors

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Swen Nater finally has popped out of the shadow of former UCLA teammate Bill Walton and it is, he says, "like taking a chain off."

The 6-foot-11 center for the San Antonio Spurs Monday was named the American Basketball Association's Rookie of the Year, nipping San Diego's Caldwell Jones for the honor.

Nater said, "It feels good. I really don't know how well I've done. I just wanted to get into the playoffs."

The rugged 245-pounder did just that, helping the Spurs into a first-round Western Division best-of-seven series against defending ABA champion Indiana.

The big guy was drafted and signed by the Virginia Squires after serving as Walton's "caddie" for two seasons. He won a part-time starting job with the Squires and the hearts of the Virginia fans before suddenly being traded to San Antonio early in the season.

His acquisition cost the Spurs a reported $300,000 and a high draft choice, but Nater may have proven he was worth the price by averaging 14.5 points and 13.6 rebounds in 62 games with the Spurs.

Over-all, Nater averaged 14.1 points and 12.6 rebounds — fourth in the ABA — and led the league in two-point field goal shooting with 55.3 per cent accuracy.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Problems which require a change of persons, attitudes, methods, or interests in your life are in effect today. You can easily attain new goals, but you have to get into the specifics of any plan you have in mind.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You can do all that work ahead of you most effeciently now. Make sure your health is improved so you can be at the peak of ability.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) See what you can do to make your personal life more ideal and as you want it to be. Take time to improve your appearance.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't start an argument at home where the situation is tense at this time. Find solutions to present problems. Take no chances.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Show some thoughtfulness to outside groups and gain their goodwill. Do your shopping early today. Watch your money.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can do a great deal to improve your financial position now. Don't spend too much for recreation. Make plans for the future.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) See what you can do to solve your problems instead of fretting about them. Avoid stress and strain. Take health treatments.

LIBRA (Spt. 23 to Oct. 22) Be sure to take care of accumulated tasks before you go out for entertainment today. Establish order around you. Relax tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get together with dynamic friends and exchange ideas. Don't be too critical of others and let them do most of the talking now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Handle civic and community affairs with extreme caution now or they could be troublesome. Enjoy the social this evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You need to study every facet of some new interest now in a most careful way. Listen to what new acquaintances have to suggest.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Deal more intelligently with creditors and debtors and get far better results. Forget temptation to lose patience with mate.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) An associate is discontented but a little heart-to-heart talk can clear up the whole matter. Don't use the wrong words at this time.

AUTOMATIC GIN FEEDER SUCCESSFUL — Ginners and researchers alike say they are pleased at shakedown runs of the new automatic seed cotton module gin feeder developed in research sponsored by Cotton Incorporated. The prototype unit is in operation at the Mesa Gin, Lamesa. Checking rate records are (left to right) Roy Roberts, manager of the Seagraves Co-op Gin, Seagraves; J. K. ("Farmer") Jones, associate director of agricultural research for Cotton Incorporated; Jerry Harris, manager of the Mesa Gin; and Ben Dopson and Bill Meares, both cotton producers of Lamesa.

New Module Gin Feeder 'Working Like Charm'

LAMESA — A new automatic seed cotton module gin feeder is "working like a charm" in shakedown runs at the Mesa gin here, according to Fred Abel, associate director of agricultural research for Cotton Incorporated.

The new machine increases ginning rates by some 25 per cent, Abel said, and "eliminates the nastiest job in the cotton business — the suction pipe operator."

The feeder was developed in research sponsored by cotton producers through Cotton Incorporated at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Abel said the new machine feeds seed cotton directly into the suction pipe system automatically, constantly and uniformly. The cotton is fluffier and does not enter the gin in wads, as it does when a suction pipe operator lifts cotton from conventional trailers.

Jerry Harris, Mesa gin manager, agrees.

"The cotton is better prepared and is more readily cleaned in the overhead," he said. "Our gin ordinarily runs 10-12 bales an hour. In one test run with the gin feeder, we applied a stop watch and measured a rate of 15 bales an hour."

Harris said the key to increasing the ginning rate is the consistent rate at which the feeder conveys cotton into the gin. "The feeder does not run real fast, then slow down, the way a suction pipe operator does. It just keeps on feeding at the same, consistent, near-capacity rate. All you do is set the rate, push the button, and let it run."

The gin feeder is the latest step in a new system developed by Cotton Incorporated to mechanize the handling of seed cotton from harvesting through ginning. It must be used in conjunction with the cotton module builder, the basic machine in the new system.

As cotton is harvested, the module builder compacts it into free-standing modules, or stacks, on pallets. The module, containing 8-12 bales, moves through the system intact. The module can be stored, retrieved, loaded, transported, unloaded, reloded and moved again, all in one piece. Finally the module the stack and moves the cotton on into the gin.

While the module builder is conveyed automatically into the gin feeder, which breaks up itself was designed primarily for use in rainbelt areas, it is now winning quick acceptance in arid areas such as the High Plains of Texas, where the most popular method of storing seed cotton in recent years has employed the turnrow rick compactor.

"Even in areas where the cotton rick compactor works fine, the module system will allow gins to enjoy all the benefits of the new automatic gin feeder," said Abel.

"We are making extensive use of the module builder this year to stack ricked cotton into modules that can be fed automatically intothe gin," Harris added. "Next year we'll probably go to the module builder and gin feeder system 100 per cent. Most any gin can be modified very easily to accommodate it."
