Final Approval Not Expected By Congress

Bill Would Affect 188,000 Families And Would Cost About $68,000,000 Yearly

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—Widows and dependent orphans of World war veterans would get pensions under legislation which has won approval of the house pensions committee.

The cost was estimated by committeemen at $68,000,000 a year. The bill would affect 188,000 families.

"We are appropriating money for many other purposes," said Chairman Gasque (D-SC) who declared much of the pension fund would go to people now on relief. He commented, however, that the bill probably was not in line with administration financial policies.

Served Before Armistice

The bill provides that the veterans must have been in service before the armistice was signed; their date of discharge could be anytime between April 6, 1917 and July 2, 1921.

Widows who married a veteran after July 3, 1931 would be ineligible, but children born of the marriage would not be covered by this time limit. Children over 16 would be ineligible. If a widow died or remarried, each child would receive $6 a month, plus his proportionate share of the $22 which had been going to the widow.

Grocery Prices At Lowest Levels In Past 18 Months

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 2—Grocery basket costs have dropped since fall from the highest level in six years to the lowest point in more than 18 months, a survey of food prices in wholesale and retail markets disclosed today.

Meat prices led the decline, but most vegetables, fruits and dinner table staples such as sugar, potatoes, eggs, butter and lard also were lower.

Wholesale prices in Chicago, the nation's principal farm produce marketing center, were considered representative of market quotations in most sections of the country.

Meat Prices Have Taken Sharp Plunge

Since September wholesale meat prices have taken one of their sharpest drops on record, with declines ranging from 9 to 50 per cent for all cuts offered by packing houses.

Other important food items have undergone similar price losses. Wholesale butter, for example, was 16 per cent below the December peak,—eggs 52 per cent from November highs,—potatoes 50 per cent since summer,—lard 43 per cent from the 1937 high,—flour 12 to 20 per cent from May levels and major grains 33 to 56 per cent.

Increased productions and larger supplies of some food items were responsible for price declines to some extent, market observers said, but another important factor has been reduced consumer buying power reflecting general business conditions.

Lubbock Store Almost Cleaned Out Early Today As Three Youths Stage Burglary; Father Finds Loot And Takes It Back

One of the "cleanest jobs of moving out a store" in the annals of criminal detection at Lubbock, this morning was reported by Bill Mabray, police identifications officer.

"They must have been hungry," said Mabray, referring to a juvenile under arrest and two other boys sought.

"They took everything but pepper to season food stolen," he said.

Mabray said Joe's Place, operated at Seventh street and Avenue Q by S. J. Swift, had been entered at 1 o'clock this morning and that the father of one of the boys not arrested had found groceries and other merchandise in his residence after awakening later in the morning.

The father took the goods back to the store and went to the residence of the other two boys, brothers, where he recovered other merchandise. Some remained to be found, said Mabray.

Taken from the store was a miscellany of:

Twelve tablets, 11 loose leaf notebook paper packages, 12 packages of typewriter paper, "all the chewing gum and candy in the place," four packages of rubber goods, boxes of penny and nickel matches, two bottles of hair oil, several spools of thread, several pencils, a box of shoe tacks, several boxes of soda crackers, 12 boxes of lemon wafers, 28 boxes of pistol caps, several sacks of tobacco, several plugs of chewing tobacco, two boxes of starch, nine cans of weiner sausages, six cans of sardines, six cans of English peas, two cans of milk, six cans of pineapple, one can of beans, a large jar of jelly, two packages of coffee, three big jars of nuts, two foun-

Anti-Lynching Filibuster Is Opened Again

Leaders Are Trying To Find Graceful Way To Sidetrack Bill; Housing Plan Passes

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—Southern senators resumed today their filibuster against the anti-lynching bill, but in the background leaders were trying to find a graceful way to sidetrack the measure.

Opponents expressed confidence the bill was dead.

Other Matters Proposed

One proposal being discussed was a motion to take up the administration's government reorganization bill late this week. This would permit senators desiring to register their support of the anti-lynching bill to vote against sidetracking it.

The housing bill conference report was adopted by the senate yesterday 42 to 40.

Adoption of the housing report, without reinstatment of the "prevailing wage" amendment demanded by Republicans and some Democrats, was an administration victory. It enabled the bill to go to the White House as the first major legislation enacted since the special session began in November.

Plan Early Adjournment

Back of the attempt to wind-up the anti-lynching filibuster was renewed talk among congressional leaders of an early adjournment — perhaps by May. They were discussing the advisability of enacting a skeleton legislative program and going home for the election campaign.

Some senators suggested holding the program to tax revision, government reorganization, and the regular appropriation bills.

Methods Of Reducing Traffic Accidents Will Be Outlined At Mass Meeting In City

Methods by which traffic accidents can be reduced in Lubbock and the South Plains region will be discussed at a meeting sponsored by Lubbock Safety council at which L. G. Phares, chief of the Texas state highway patrol, will be principal speaker at Senior High school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Purpose of the meeting as part of a drive by the council is to reduce traffic fatalities and curb endangerment of lives in Lubbock. All citizens are invited and urged to attend.

Other speakers, all members of the state safety committee, will be H. S. Hilburn of Plainview, Mrs. Shine Phillips of Big Spring, and Fred Wemple of Midland. Chief Phares arrived here late Tuesday from Austin. While here he will work with a committee in a general traffic survey.

Dr. Knapp To Preside

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college and a leader in the traffic safety program here, will preside at the mass meeting. O. B. Conley is president of the Lubbock Safety council. Durwood Bradley, city attorney, will speak on the program.

Tonight's meeting is part of the program outlined by the council to promote traffic safety here. Bus

World Unrest Spreading As Crises Arise

Internal Strife For Europe Is Added To Two Wars To Cause Greater Uneasiness

(By The Associated Press)

Two internal crises and two wars, all with meshes deep in European affairs, added today to world unrest.

In Germany, the resignation of Marshal Werner Von Blomberg, minister of war, was authoritatively disclosed, but official announcement was withheld, possibly for a week or more.

Parliament Is Dissolved

In Egypt, at the crossroads of east and west where British and Italian interests meet, young King Farouk dissolved the parliament which had voted non-confidence in his new cabinet. New elections were ordered within two months.

The dissolution order brought to a boil again his conflict with Mustapha Nahas Pasha, leader of the Wafdists, or nationalists, whom the boy king dismissed as premier in December.

Wafdist deputies, who control a majority in parliament, broke through police cordons and occupied the parliament lobbies—with sandwiches, apparently for a long stay.

Confer On Emergency

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden summoned the French and Italian ambassadors to confer on emergency measures to end marauding by submarines on Mediterranean merchant shipping.

The consultation was the direct result of the sinking of the British freighter Endymion by a torpedo off Spain's northeast coast with the loss of 10 lives, four British.

Eight British destroyers searched the area for the submarine which, the Spanish government charged, was one of two underwater fighters and four destroyers assigned by Italy to the insurgent navy.

Italy Makes No Reply

Italy made no reply to the accusations because they "were not addressed to us."

France showed concern for the spreading European tension:

1. In a proposal to lay down six 35,000-ton battleships—the largest allowed under treaty limitations — within the next three years with an initial allotment of 1,000,000,000 francs ($33,330,000) for two battleships immediately.

Advisory Unit Proposed For Small Groups

Protests At Unfair Trade Practices Being Voiced; Action To Be Sought

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 — Fred Roth, Cleveland wholesale shoe dealer and chairman of President Roosevelt's conference of small business men, suggested today the creation of a permanent advisory committee to represent little business in the same manner the business advisory council represents large interests.

Roth, chosen permanent chairman of the conference, made the suggestion in a brief talk outlining some of the purposes of the meeting.

Help Is Expected

He spoke after the conference had received word from President Roosevelt that he expected "the suggestions resulting from your conference will be very helpful to me."

"I am hopeful," Roth said, "that out of this meeting some permanent organization can be formed similar to that of big business, which might act in an advisory capacity to the department of commerce."

Roth also moved to identify the interests of all business both big and small, saying "the troubles which afflict small business today are not different in substance from those of big business.

Welcome Is Extended

The president's welcome to the hundreds of merchants, small manufacturers, and other businessmen was presented by Secretary of Commerce Roper in a speech delivered at the first session.

Preceding the conference, many of the "little fellows" in business voiced protests against what they termed unfair trade practices of some large concerns.

Representatives of retail merchants from all parts of the country went to the session expressing determination to demand action against various types of chain store organizations.

About 700 were in the auditorium to hear Roper read the president's greeting. It said:

To Learn Of Problems

"I welcome you to Washington. Your meeting, called by the secretary of commerce at my request, is intended to more intimately acquaint me with the problems of smaller

Record January Income For Local Postoffice Is Set

Starting off the new year with a 28 per cent postal gain for the first month, the Lubbock postoffice had an all-time high January income of $16,718.30, Postmaster Amos Howard announced this morning.

The 1937 income was $13,053.30, a net increase of $3,665.

December's net gain was 17 per cent. Postal officials expressed satisfaction at the continuation of the growing receipts, especially following the record year of 1937 when over $183,000 was taken in by the office. Every month last year showed a substantial increase over the same month in 1936.

Should the income for 1938 continue at the same ratio as January, postal authorities indicated, the net income would likely pass the $200,000 mark.

Wife Of San Marcos Man Dies In A Hospital At Cisco

BAIRD, Feb. 2. (AP)—Mrs. Hoyt S. Slatton, 30, wife of a San Marcos undertaker, died in a Cisco hospital last night. She was stricken with pneumonia while visiting in Eastland.

Burial services will be held in Fort Worth. Funeral services will be conducted either here or in Fort Worth, probably Thursday. Mrs. Slatton was a daughter of Mrs. S. P. Rumph, Baird, widow of a pioneer West Texas physician.

Woman Loses Court Battle

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—Effort of Mrs. L. A. Joiner to obtain a large portion of the property of her former husband, C. M. Joiner, discoverer of the East Texas oil field, failed in the Texas supreme court today.

The state's highest court reversed a judgment of a court of civil appeals and affirmed that of a Dallas district court holding against the plaintiff in her suit for one-half of the property accumulated during 52 years of the Joiner marriage.

Not Jointly Acquired

The court ruled that, under the purview of Oklahoma laws, none of the property was jointly acquired, and Mrs. Joiner therefore had no interest in it.

One of the points at issue was whether a document signed by Mr. and Mrs. Joiner shortly before their divorce in 1933 was a valid property settlement. The trial court ruled it was but the court of civil appeals disagreed.

In arguments before the supreme court, attorneys for Mrs.

Bank Night Ruling Upheld For Texas

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 2—The court of criminal appeals today made final its decision that bank nights are lotteries in overruling a motion for rehearing by H. S. Cole, Bonham theater proprietor.

The highest criminal tribunal last year affirmed Cole's conviction and $100 fine.

In his attempt to secure a rehearing he cited additional authorities to show the element of lottery was not involved but the court rejected these.

Scheme To Give Prizes

"After all it is but a scheme, in our judgment, for the purpose of distributing prizes by chance," the opinion, by Judge Harry Graves, said. The original affirming opinion was written by the late Judge O. S. Lattimore.

"We are aware of the fact that some of the decisions of other states are in conflict with the one entertained here; also aware of the fact that many opinions of other states uphold the expression found in these opinions," Judge Graves wrote.

German Minister Of War Has Handed In His Resignation

BERLIN, Feb. 2 (AP) — Marshal Werner Von Blomberg, minister of war, handed his resignation to Reichsfuehrer Hitler before going to Capri on his honeymoon, a highly reliable informant disclosed today.

There had been indications the officers' corps of the army was not pleased by marriage of the 59-year-old marshal to Erika Grohn on Jan. 12.

San Antonio Loan Banker Is Claimed By Death Tuesday

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 2 (AP)—Col. Wilson S. Hendrick, 71, vice president of a loan plan bank and member of a local provisions company, died suddenly at his home here last night. He had been civilian assistant to the secretary of war for the eighth corps area continuously since the World war.

Soviet Rescue Plans Pushed

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Feb. 2—Soviet authorities mobilized their rescue forces today for a dash to the aid of four scientists adrift in the Greenland sea on a block of cracking polar ice.

The four, who have been making polar weather observations since last May, radioed yesterday that a six-day storm had split the ice floe on which their camp is situated, now about 1100 miles from the north pole.

Not Necessarily Dangerous

Dr. Otto J. Schmidt, head of the northern sea route department who landed the polar observers at their base last year, said recently a cracking floe was not necessarily dangerous.

Commander Ivan Papinin and his party, however, were cut from two reserve food bases and a storehouse of technical equipment. They were

Seven Norwegian Strikers Held In New Orleans Jail

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 2 (AP) — Seven Norwegian seamen who had been on a sit-down strike aboard the Norwegian motorship Teneriffa since last Wednesday were in jail today for periods not to exceed 60 days.

U. S. Commissioner R. H. Carter, jr., sentenced the men yesterday for refusing to obey consular orders to return to duty.

Modish Males Will Blossom Out In Colors For Summer

CHICAGO, Feb. 2 (AP)—Modern modish males will blossom out in colors—raspberry, burgundy, powder-blue, for example—in their daytime suits this summer, if America's leading tailor designers can put it over.

This prediction, along with the information that men's trousers will be half an inch shorter at the cuff and the Duke of Windsor has lost out to Hollywood as a style-setter, was given today at the annual conference of the Merchant Tailor Designers association.

Possibility Is Being Hinted That Missing Boy Was Slain

UKIAH, Calif., Feb. 2. (AP)—Possibility that 4-year-old Teddy Thompson might have been murdered was hinted today by sheriff's deputies searching for the child, missing since Saturday.

Deputy Sheriff B. C. Broaddus, revealing officers were working on the theory the boy "might have been carried away," declared, "we know whom we want to question all right."

DIES OF BURNS

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 2 (AP)—Jesse Penn, 37-year-old bartender, spilled inflammable liquid on his clothes yesterday. Then he got into a pool game, angled for a shot and backed into a gas heater. His clothing was ignited and he died last night.

Here They Are Ladies! Paris Says They Are All For You

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Feb. 2—Form-revealing evening dresses swathing figures in tight draperies were displayed today by bare-foot mannequins as a feature of spring fashion showings.

The oriental influence in the new Alix collection was blended with late Victorian front-draped evening models contrasted with bustle-backed draperies of the 1880 period.

Extravagantly full evening skirts were shown including a debutante with taffeta dress trimmed with taffeta birdsnests containing feathered birds of many colors.

There were many organdie evening dresses, also stiff slipper satin laces, tulles and many draped silk Jersey models.

Evening trimmings included big bouquets of poppies, multi-colored lace edgings, striped and plaid velvet ribbons.

Among daytime dresses there were draped models in silk or wool Jersey featuring front-skirt fullness. These had high-draped necks, very large puffed elbow sleeves or tight long sleeves.

Roosevelt Declares That His Foreign Policy Is Clear To All; No Change Is Planned

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Informed officials predicted today senate criticism would fail to alter the administration's course in international relations.

President Roosevelt told his press conference late yesterday that his foreign policy was very clear to most people. His comment followed demands from Senator Borah (R-Idaho) and Senator Johnson (R-Calif) for clarification.

Borah told the senate that through an administration policy of silence, other nations were being led to believe the United States and Great Britain had formed a "tacit alliance" to build up their navies. This situation, he declared, invited war.

In response to another question at his press conference, the president said his current recommendations for increased appropriations for the army constituted all he now had in mind for that branch of national defense.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev) of the senate foreign relations committee was quick to take issue with Johnson and Borah.

Alliances Are Avoided

America, Pittman said, was avoiding "alliance either for offense or defense." Naval expansion was made necessary, he contended, "by the very fact that our policy calls for no military alliances."

The administration, he said, has never swerved from the "non-interference, non-intervention" policy enunciated by President Roosevelt when he took office.

Johnson disagreed and asserted that the president's Chicago demand for a "quarantine" of warring nations and the subsequent Brussels conference had put America in "the pusillanimous position of having threatened a country and not carried through."

Court Upholds Death Orders

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 2—The court of criminal appeals today affirmed the death sentence assessed Tonnie Moore, Limestone county negro, for slaying Frank Bradfute, Thornton hotel proprietor, May 10, 1937.

The state claimed Bradfute was killed and his wife wounded by a shotgun fired by the negro. State experts testified the gun had been fired by him and that a human footprint found in the hotel was that of Moore.

Evidence Is Sufficient

The appeals court rejected defense objections to trial proceedings and held evidence was "sufficient to support the conviction."

The court also denied new hearings for Virgil Terrill, Gregg county negro, given the death penalty for rape of a white woman; Johnnie Banks, Brazoria county negro, given death for shooting Jewel Smith, and Luther Moroney of Dallas county, assessed a 99-year sentence for assault to rape.

Slaton Negroes Fight; Forty Stitches Needed In Throat

Forty stitches were required to close the throat wounds of a Slaton negro after a midnight brawl on a farm one mile west of Slaton.

Despite his wounds, the black wielded a hoe with such effect that another negro was so injured about the head his pulsebeat almost could be counted by vision, said authorities.

Ragan Reed, Slaton constable who brought the two men here, said the negro with head injuries probably suffered concussion.

"Just another drunken fight," he said.

Patrolman Pleads Guilty To Traffic Violation In City And Pays Off With Grin

When City Recorder Lewis Kittrell called traffic cases in Municipal court this morning, the first to answer was Patrolman Melvin G. Alvey, a considerable portion of whose duties deal with traffic ordinance enforcement.

"Guilty," said he to a charge of improperly parking his car in an alley. Patrolman Carl Francis issued the ticket.

"Dollar fine," said Kittrell.

Alvey paid with a grin.

Seventh Annual Ralls Poultry Show To Be Held Feb. 25-26

February 25 and 26 have been set as dates for the seventh annual Ralls poultry show with indications it will be the most successful in several years, according to announcement this morning by L. A. Coward, secretary of the Ralls Chamber of Commerce, who will be superintendent of the show.

He made the announcement while in Lubbock on a business visit. Accompanying him here was his brother-in-law, Bill DeLoach, photographer at Ralls.

Prizes include $100 in cash and merchandise awards of probably greater value, Coward said. In addition the usual ribbons will be given.

While competition for prizes will be limited to poultry raisers in the county, he added, others will be permitted to exhibit. Last year, he said, 130 were shown. This year, a minimum of 200 is indicated. The show will be held in the Municipal auditorium.

Assisting Coward in the preparations are W. N. Byrd, vocational agriculture teacher in Ralls schools, and Herbert Hanna.

Federal Slash Is Protested

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Texas congressmen studied today a report given them by a Texas delegation protesting the proposed curtailment of federal highway aid to states.

Julian Montgomery, Texas highway engineer, told the congressmen curtailment of federal aid would result in the discharging of about 1,700 employes under him, and serious disruption of a long range road improvement program.

Reduction Is Defended

Representative McFarlane defended the proposed reduction, and asked why efforts to balance the budget should not begin in road expenditures as well as elsewhere.

H. M. Lafont of Plainview, president of the Texas County Judges association, replied:

"We had rather see the proposed $80,000,000 cut in next year's federal highway aid taken out of the Works Progress administration budget."

County Judge Russell Nelson of Carthage said reduction of federal aid would increase state relief rolls and demoralize a highway system around which the social fabric of rural areas in the southwest was built.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

CORSICANA, Feb. 2 (AP) — Earl Jones, Leon county constable, pleaded not guilty in district court here this morning when he was arraigned on a murder indictment in connection with the fatal shooting of Barney McCoslin at Buffalo last August 27. Self-defense will be maintained.

Spring Election, Conventions And Yard Improvement Discussed By Societies

Charity Project Is Planned By Group

An approaching spring election, conventions and yard improvement were topics discussed at meetings of women's organizations Tuesday.

The Junior Welfare League board of managers met in the morning at the Hilton hotel with Mrs. John D. Mitchell, president, presiding. The nominating committee met with the group. Officers are to be elected Tuesday night at a general meeting of the league.

It was voted for the organization to provide funds for ten tonsilectomies for needy children recommended by Miss Mamye Alexander, visiting teacher.

P-T Council Meets

There was a meeting of the City Parent-Teacher council at the Senior High school home economics lounge with Mrs. S. B. Haynes presiding.

Preliminary plans were made for an annual convention of the fourteenth district, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, to be held in Floydada in April. A definite date is to be set.

The president appointed a committee of W. B. Irvin, A. B. Davis, Mesdames H. F. Godeke, M. B. Hilburn and Miss Mary Meador to select a general chairman for the state convention of the P-T congress to be held in Lubbock in November.

The resignation of Mrs. J. D. Rondeaux as treasurer was accepted with regret and Mrs. Guy L. Trow was elected to take her place. Mrs. Rondeaux has been ill for several weeks.

Mr. Irvin discussed traffic safety plans and urged the women to attend a public mass meeting under auspices of the Lubbock Safety council at the high school building at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Club Plans Contest

Arnejt-Benson club members, meeting with Mrs. John W. Gollihugh Tuesday afternoon decided to conduct a yard improvement contest.

Mrs. Sam Wallace was a special guest.

Ticket Sale To Be Benefit To AAUW Annual Program

The Lubbock branch of the American Association of University Women is sponsoring a ticket sale for the movie version of the popular stage play, "Tovarich," which is being shown at the Palace theater this week-end with Charles Boyer and Claudette Colbert playing leading roles.

As an especial consideration, the theater management is allowing A.A.U.W. members to sell 40-cent tickets for 35 cents each and the tickets will be accepted at the theater for either matinee or evening showing those two days, Miss Jonnie McSherry, arrangements chairman, has announced. All members have tickets to sell, she said.

Part of the proceeds will be sent to a fellowship for graduate study fund, sponsored by the national A.A.U.W. organization, and the remainder of the proceeds will be used to bring an internationally-known lecturer to Lubbock in keeping with an annual practice of the Lubbock branch.

Laughs And Sighs For Valentine Day

Greeting card departments report that America has become even more Valentine-minded this year—another way of saying that folks are getting more sentimental. However, the sentiment expressed on the most popular cards is of the strictly up-to-date variety, nothing effusive or saccharine.

As always, hearts and flowers are favorite Valentine motifs, but with the new spirit of modern art influencing the 1938 designs, hearts are just as apt to be in vivid shades of blue or pastel tones of rose and yellow as in red. Many are bright with metallic outlines of silver or gold, made of satin or velvet or veiled with metallic mesh.

For the less formal cards, all sorts of unexpected motifs, from a leaping Jack-in-the-Box to a thermometer registering heart temperature, are featured. The entire animal kingdom, from dogs and cats to monkeys, bears and elephants, is represented. On these, puns are highlighted—as for example:

"This Valentine card is a 'HONEY.'

I mean the sweet wishes you're getting

On Valentine's Day from me."

Business And Study Periods Are Held

Ninety-one late books owned by the Readers Digest club will be moved from the home of Mrs. J. S. Johnson, 2002 Broadway, to the home of Mrs. W. P. Clement, 2606 Twentieth street, who Tuesday afternoon was elected librarian. Mrs. Johnson has been librarian since the club's organization.

Mrs. W. O. Stevens was elected first vice-president to succeed Mrs. Clement. The meeting was a luncheon at the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2005 Broadway, with Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson as hostess and reviewer. She discussed "Cleopatra" by Emil Ludwig.

Ten members were present. Mrs. N. H. Holt presided during the business session.

The books are for the use of the club members without charge and will be lent to anyone else for a small charge.

Progressive Dinner Is Planned By Circle

Final plans for an annual progressive dinner, to be given at 7:30 p. m., February 9, were discussed at a meeting of the Lubbock circle of the Child Conservation league Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. H. Hamilton, 1913 Twenty-third street.

The cocktail course will be served in the home of Mrs. George M. Garrett, 2618 Twenty-second street; the main course will be served in the home of Mrs. Marlin R. Smith, jr., 2430 Twentieth street, and dessert will be served in the home of Mrs. J. D. Hassell, 2401 Ninth street. The Valentine motif will be featured in appointments.

Program for the Tuesday meeting included two talks, "How To Handle Jealousy" by Mrs. Hamilton and "Etiquette For Juniors," by Mrs. Garrett.

The hostess served a salad plate with tea.

Mrs. Lewis D. Mills was a guest. Members attending were Mesdames H. H. Matejowsky, Seth Bertram, Huddleston Wright, Hassell, Garrett, W. G. Alderson, Howard Logan, Smith, W. D. Benson, jr., Roy Furr, C. F. Moreman, J. L. Holt and Ethridge W. Eagan.

Study Group To Support Garden Club Project

Mrs. C. M. Chandler, 2416 Thirty-fourth street, was hostess for a meeting of the 1933 Study club Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. A. W. Evans was chairman for the following program on "American Ideals of Education":

"Great Schools of the United States," Mrs. C. C. Webb and "Observatories and Their Uses," Mrs. John R. Hall. As a regular feature in the club this year, Mrs. B. E. Needles discussed "Recipes and Needle Work as Hobbies."

In business discussion, the club voted to endorse the Lubbock Garden club's project of securing zones for keeping cows within or near the city limits of Lubbock, thereby ridding private residences of a general nuisance.

Thirteen women were present.

Whitacre Home Is Scene Of Study Club Meet

Mrs. J. D. Jones was chairman for a program on "Much Ado About Nothing" at a meeting of the Shakespeare club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Charles Whitacre, 1905 Twenty-ninth street. Roll call was answered with lines from Act II and discussions were as follows:

"Should the Title Not Read 'Much Ado About Noting?'", Mrs. L. R. Gamble; paper prepared by Mrs. E. J. Lowrey on "The Place of 'Song and Lyrical Poetry in the Play,' read by Mrs. Grady West, and "The Behavior of Servants Toward Their Masters," Mrs. O. A. Terry.

A full attendance was reported.

DON'T BULLY CONSTIPATION

If you suffer from common constipation, due to lack of bulk in the diet, harsh cathartics don't get at the cause of your trouble. You can avoid this kind of constipation by eating Kellogg's All-Bran. This tasty cereal not only contains the intestinal tonic vitamin B1, but also provides the bulk you need. It absorbs moisture . . . softens like a sponge into a water-softened mass that encourages and aids natural elimination.

Use Kellogg's All-Bran in muffins. Or as a breakfast cereal. But eat All-Bran every day and drink plenty of water. Made by Kellogg at Battle Creek.

Funerals Are Held In City

Last rites for four persons who died Tuesday are being conducted this afternoon in Lubbock.

Services for J. L. Benton, longtime resident of the county and a former commissioner, will be conducted at 4 o'clock at the Broadway Church of Christ, with Elder Liff Sanders of the Church of Christ officiating.

Benton died at his farm home near Slaton about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon of pneumonia after a short illness.

Sanders Funeral home will direct burial in Lubbock cemetery.

Name On Cornerstone

The Lubbock county courthouse, built when he was a commissioner, bears his name on the cornerstone.

He was born Aug. 4, 1875 in Red River county and spent most of his youth in Coleman county. When a young man he came to the Plains, living in Lubbock and Crosby counties. He had lived in this county approximately 30 years.

He was a member of the Church of Christ.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, Marion Benton of Denton and J. L. Benton, jr., of Slaton; three brothers, Charlie Benton and D. L. Benton, both of Ralls, and Claude Benton of Hereford; four sisters, Mrs. D. Y. Blanton and Mrs. J. M. Rankin, both of Ralls, Mrs. L. W. Chance of Lubbock, and Mrs. R. H. Banowskey of Abilene.

Rites For R. J. Johnson Are At Asbury Methodist Church

R. J. Johnson, 83, died at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of a son, Lloyd A. Johnson, 1005 Avenue U. He had been ill two weeks.

Funeral services were scheduled at Asbury Methodist church at 2 o'clock this afternoon with Rev. A. O. Graydon of Acuff, Rev. E. B. Fulton of Plainview and Rev. H. B. Strickland of Lubbock officiating. The Masonic lodge will direct burial, which will be in Lubbock cemetery beside Mr. Johnson's wife who died 10 years ago.

Methodist For 60 Years

He had been a member of the Methodist church 60 years and had been affiliated with the Masonic lodge 55 years.

Survivors are: Three sons, Lloyd A. Johnson, Lubbock; T. T. Johnson, Brownfield, and Robert Johnson, Snyder; two daughters, Mrs. E. C. Groves, Brownfield, and Mrs. A. J. Howell, Lubbock; 17 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Motorists Drive Carefully In Dallas; Police Declare War

DALLAS, Feb. 2. (AP)—Motorists crawled at a snail's pace in Dallas today.

There was a reason.

Traffic police made 7,192 arrests in January.

A drive is on to halt death's parade on Dallas streets. One hundred and ten died in 1937. Only two fatalities were registered in January.

P. H. Hood Services Are Set For First Methodist Church

Funeral services for P. H. Hood, 69, a farmer of four miles northwest of Shallowater, were scheduled at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at First Methodist church, with Rev. F. R. Pickens, pastor of the Methodist church at Sunray, officiating.

Hood fell dead Tuesday morning in a field on his farm when he suffered a heart attack. Burial will be in charge of Rix Funeral home at Lubbock cemetery.

Survivors are a brother, M. P. Hood of Lubbock; four sisters, Mrs. Morgan Clevenger of Hurlwood, Mrs. Albert Craig, Mrs. Joe Stout, and Miss Emma Hood, all of Cleburne; six sons, Carl, Lloyd, Raymond, and Earl Hood, all of Shallowater, Aubrey Hood of Tatum, N. M., and Burnice Hood of Crane; three daughters, Mrs. L. A. Peoples of Idalou, and Mrs. G. W. Blackmon and Mrs. Ezdell Merrell, both of Shallowater; and 10 grandchildren.

Last Rites For Harold Jones Set For This Afternoon

Last rites for Harold Jones, 39, of 1612 Avenue D, were read by Elder Liff Sanders of the Church of Christ at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Sanders Funeral home.

Jones died Tuesday morning in a hospital here of a liver and kidney ailment. He had been under treatment for about a week, and had been ill for about four months.

Burial will be at Memorial Park cemetery, conducted by Sanders Funeral home.

Besides his wife, he is survived by four children, Harold, jr., 18, and Otis, 16, high school students; Betty Jane, 9, and Stanley Durwood, 7. He also leaves three brothers, T. D. and B. H. Jones of Amarillo, and Lee H. Jones of California, and three sisters, Mrs. Eva Brummett, California; Mrs. A. Robertson, Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Bessie Hood of Arizona.

Plains Cotton Crop Is High

Cotton production in 19 South Plains counties has increased 160 per cent this season over last, according to ginnings to Jan. 16 as reported by the federal bureau of census of the department of commerce.

Comparative figures were 1,002,513 bales this year and 387,278 last year, an increase of 615,235.

The area produced slightly over 20 per cent of the state total to date, or one bale out of five in Texas. State total is 4,825,513 bales.

Ellis Holds Record

Lubbock county is No. 1 for the 1937 crop, although it has not set an all-time record for the state. Ellis county in 1912, according to the federal crop reporting board Monday, produced 178,353 bales or 187,499 bales weighing 500 pounds each.

For the season Lubbock county has actually produced a fraction over three per cent of the state's total; Lynn, second with 140,564 bales to 149,937 for Lubbock, a fraction under three per cent; Dawson with 106,324 bales, just under Lynn and the three, with Lamb, fifth ranging, represent more than 10 per cent of the state's crop.

Ellis county ranked fourth, with 102,638 bales, there being but four counties to exceed 100,000 bales.

Other Ranking Counties Listed

Other ranking counties in Texas show: Nueces, 91,524 bales; Collin, 87,968; Crosby, 84,807; San Patricio, 83,619; Hunt, 82,138; Williamson, 76,840; Hill, 75,610; Hockley, 75,240; McLennan, 73,840; Navarro, 71,047; Fannin, 70,993; El Paso, 76,409; Jones, 65,887; Wharton, 63,174; Kaufman, 61,387; Runnels, 60,893; Grayson, 59,026; Lamar, 58,037; Fort Bend, 57,835; Falls, 55,231; Hidalgo, 53,511.

Northern District Of Texas Leads In Tax Collections

DALLAS, Feb. 2. (AP)—The northern district of Texas, headed by W. A. Thomas, collector of internal revenue, led the nation by nearly $2,000,000 in collection of all delinquent federal taxes from 1934 through 1937.

Figures released by the internal revenue department showed the district's total for that period was $14,302,646.50. Second in the nation was the southern Texas district, headed by Frank Scofield, which collected $12,357,555.38.

Sea birds usually have heavier wings than land birds, since they must ride out severe storms, instead of perching in trees until danger passes.

Alaskans Ask Aid In Fight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — A congressman's suggestion that airplanes and bombers be used to rid Alaskan waters of Japanese fishing boats went into the records of a house committee today.

The committee was holding hearings on a bill by Anthony J. Dimond, Alaskan delegate to congress, designed to protect the territory's salmon fisheries against what he called Japanese "encroachments."

"If we keep on the way we are going," Dimond testified, "we are drifting straight into armed conflict in the Bering sea."

Representative Sirovich (D-NY), a committee member, interjected:

"It's time this pussyfooting with the Japanese is done with. I'm in favor of sending our torpedoes, our airplanes and our bombers up there and getting rid of all of them."

Fisherman Is Witness

A weather-beaten Alaskan fisherman told of an airplane trip on which he saw Japanese fishing vessels with salmon aboard 28 miles off the Alaskan coast.

Dimond asked the witness, C. Chester Carlson of Cordova, whether he thought there might be armed conflict between American fishermen and Japanese operators.

"We aren't going to stay behind these nets and catch nothing," Carlson replied cautiously. "We'll have to sail out there and cut up their nets. That probably would provoke the Japanese and they might fire a shot or two at us."

Maritime federation unions of the Pacific coast already have approved an economic boycott of Japan, he said, and have held it in abeyance only as a matter of cooperating with the state department.

Early Formal Announcement By Nelson Being Hinted

Early formal announcement as candidate for lieutenant governor was hinted by State Senator G. H. Nelson of Lubbock, a former resident of Tahoka and Ralls, when he left late Tuesday for Austin on a business trip.

Possibilities of Nelson's running for the lieutenant-governorship have been talked here for several weeks and Austin sources have further pointed to his running. Not until yesterday, however, had Nelson made a statement indicating his plans.

Already in the race are Coke Stevenson, of Junction, former speaker of the House of Representatives, and Walter Woodward, of Coleman, former senator and a defeated candidate for attorney-general in 1934. Senator Wilbourne Collie, of Eastland, has been flirting with the idea of running, as has Senator Will Pace, of Tyler. Neither, however, has yet announced and Pace recently was quoted as having given up the idea.

Lubbock Delegation To Attend Annual Banquet At Olton

OLTON, Feb. 2. (Special)—A delegation from Lubbock Chamber of Commerce has accepted an invitation to attend and Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, will be principal speaker at the annual banquet of Olton Chamber of Commerce at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

Delegations also will attend from several other nearby towns. Olton Methodist church will be scene of the dinner.

Roy Granberry is secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the virus-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package.—(adv.)

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1938

Houston Will Play Host To Ace Shooters

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Feb. 2 — Golf flashes: Keep an ear cocked for announcement of a $10,000 open golf tourney in Texas. . . . Chances aren't remote and plans are in the formulative stage now.

National Amateur Champion Johnny Goodman is a contestant in the Houston country club invitation tourney. . . . As is Wilford Wehrle, Western Amateur titlist. . . . Four Walker cuppers are now entered, Goodman, Wehrle, Reynolds Smith of Dallas and Freddie Haas, New Orleans stylist. . . . Add Johnny Dawson, Charlie Yates of Atlanta, Don Schumacher, the Trans-Mississippi champ, and several other titleholders and you have Texas' finest amateur field. . . . Close to 250 players are expected. . . . Veteran George Rotan won the first Houston classic 24 years ago.

Failures At Texas

Scribe Weldon Hart of Austin, who should know, reports that University of Texas athletics will be rocked by scholastic failures. . . . He says the mid-term exams will show a flock of freshman footballers, a freshman basketball regular, a mainstay of the varsity swimming team, a baseball infielder, a clever freshman pitcher and possibly a first-string varsity footballer, failed to make the hump.

Blair Cherry, one of D. X. Bible's grid assistants at Texas who fathered all those great Amarillo teams, put the cold shoulder on feelers from the University of Arizona. . . . Few know it, but Shreveport, about to re-enter the Texas baseball league, ranked fourth in attendance over the period of years covering its previous appearances in the league.

Teddy's Comet, fleet piece of horseflesh from the Valdina farms stable of Emerson Woodward and W. B. Barnhill, will be Houston's first Kentucky derby entry in history. . . . It ranked among the top five juveniles of last season.

All-Stars Fine Outfit

Put down the Sammy's all-stars of Dallas as one of the best independent basketball teams in the southwest and likely winner of the southwestern A. A. U. tourney slated for Dallas. . . . Corpus Christi is pushing its new baseball team in the infant Texas valley baseball league. . . . For $10 the fans can buy a season ticket book good for 30 games. . . . And for the first time in the 39-year history of the American Bowling Congress, Corpus Christi will have an entry in the Chicago tourney, starting March 3.

Thwarted in Texas, Mat Promoter Bert Willoughby will have his mud match after all — in Ardmore, Okla., next Saturday night. . . . Late starters in the Southwest conference football spring training will be Arkansas, Southern Methodist, Texas A. and M., Rice and Texas Christian . . . Texas and Baylor are at it now . . . Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, some shakes of a basketball team, gave away an average five inches per man in height during the West Texas Teachers series. . . . Formal announcement of Shreveport's return to the Texas league may be withheld until the league meeting at Fort Worth Saturday and Sunday.

Variety Is Theme Of Grapple Show

Variety is the theme of Promoter Sled Allen's weekly grappling show tonight at the Auditorium, with wrestlers of nearly all schools of fighting demonstrating their pet holds in a three-bout program.

Departing from recent routine, the promoter will stage a "wrestling" match as the chief attraction tonight. Otis Clingman and Andy Tremaine are wrestlers, their escutcheons unsullied by any marks of voluntary lawlessness or villainy.

They represent the highest type of ring manhood and personality, to say nothing of valor and ability, ever seen in the local ring. Clean-lived, well-developed, physically and morally, Clingman and Tremaine are as clever a pair as ever entered the same ring at the same time. Just what method of procedure the one will adopt against the other remains to be seen, but real, scientific grappling is a certainty.

Tremaine, husky ex-footballer from Arizona university, is popular here. He probably would be more popular were he not so slow to anger when fighting a "meany," but he is powerful, cunning and smart.

For three falls or less, there should be some honest-to-goodness wrestling going on at the Auditorium tonight.

They Like Sampson

There'll be a storm before the calm, however, possibly two storms. The supporting card promises rough action, with villains on both bouts.

Fans will welcome the return of Dick Sampson, panther-like individualist from Denton, Texas, who went over big last Wednesday night for a brief period against Otto Ludwig. On the card as a substitute, Sampson proved a big favorite long before his match ended. Very business-like and calm to an alarming degree, Sampson showed a fearlessness, and a lack of "put-on" that had the fans at his feet immediately.

Venable Meets Ludwig

A professional athlete since 1929, Sampson has devoted a large part of the time to football in New England. He was a college footballer, then turned pro, playing in and around Boston for the last six years. Powerfully built, with a wrestler's neck muscles and biceps, he is a stylist of his own design in the ring. Although he chooses to wrestle cleanly, he showed a quick temper and ability to play it rough last week. He'll get plenty of opportunity tonight to play it rough. If he eludes Sailor Moran's lethal body punches, he might whip the old Sailor.

Bulldog Bill Venable, making his third appearance here, takes on his toughest opposition. Otto Ludwig, prize "workhorse" of the circuit, may surprise with a victory, which would be something quite new and different for him, but Venable has been around, and he shows it in the ring.

Prizes Costing About $300 To Be Given To Golden Gloves Victors Here Next Week

Golden Gloves fighters will compete in the district tournament at the Auditorium next Monday and Tuesday nights for prizes and privileges representing a total outlay of close to $300, as well as for the honor of winning sectional championships and the right to compete in the state Golden Gloves tournament.

The trophies for city and district Golden Gloves winners, on display at Sherrod Bros. Hardware and Sporting Goods store, represent about half that amount, the rest being set aside by Golden Gloves and A. A. U. officials to care for transportation and living expenses of district winners who shall go to the state tournament.

Winner in each weight division of the city tournament will receive a pair of nifty boxing trunks, made from the heaviest available and most expensive satin, dark maroon in color, trimmed with white, and with initials of the owner embroidered on the right leg, a Golden Glove emblem on the left.

These trunks will be presented immediately before the district fights start Monday night, so that city champions may wear them in the ring.

Winner in each weight division of the district tournament will receive gold-bronze belt buckles, of expensive design and engraving, and boxing trunks. The buckles — gold for looks and bronze for durability —are decorated with raised boxing figures and the date, 1938. Engraved on the front are the words, "District Champion, Lubbock Golden Gloves," and on the back is engraved the weight division in which the title has been earned.

Boxers who have not entered their names as contestants in the district tournament are urged to do so at once. Saturday at noon is the deadline. All hands will meet at the Auditorium Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock for weighing in, checking up, and final instructions.

Youth Takes Over Penn Grid Hopes

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2 (AP) — Youth stepped into the driver's seat of the University of Pennsylvania's football machine today.

The oldest of the four-man varsity staff is 36-year-old Rae Crowther. Head Coach George A. Munger, last year's red and blue freshman coach and successor to Harvey Harman, is 38 and his two newest assistants — Howard O'Dell and Paul G. Riblett — are both under 30.

Assistants Are Named

O'Dell, former University of Pittsburgh halfback, was named backfield coach and Riblett, a Penn alumnus, end coach late yesterday. Crowther was appointed line coach last week.

Both O'Dell and Crowther come to Pennsylvania from Harvard where they occupied similar positions under Head Coach Dick Harlow. O'Dell served as assistant to Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland at Pittsburgh following his graduation there in 1934 while Crowther was graduated at Colgate in 1924 and was an assistant at Drexel for five years before going to Harvard.

Appointment of Crowther and O'Dell gave rise to predictions on the Penn campus that Munger will present a style of play next fall modeled after that used by Harlow.

Double Headers In League Are Staged

Basketball teams of Southland, Frenship and Roosevelt swept doubleheaders against South Plains League opponents last night.

Teams from Frenship won three games, the Frenship faculty joining its boys and girls teams in victories over New Deal. The boys game resulted 37 to 5 for Frenship, the girls game, 33 to 25, and the faculty game, 38 to 37.

Robert Lofland with 15 and Mac O'Neal with 10 were highest scorers in the boys game. McWhorter of Frenship and McNeely of New Deal tied for honors in the girls game with 17 each. Hugh Snodgrass, New Deal coach, was high scorer in the faculty game with 18 points. Rich and Haskins of Frenship scored 10 each.

Roosevelt boys defeated Shallowater boys, 48 to 30, and the Roosevelt girls won their game, 29 to 26.

Three games were played at Southland, Ropesville on the losing end of all three. The Southland boys won, 41 to 33, Howard leading the winners with 18. Ussery led the Southland girls with 15 points to a 35-17 victory. In a preliminary game, the Southland juniors needed an extra period to win, 23 to 21.

Lubbock High Gets Victory Last Night

The Westerner cagers cut a notch on the victory side of the basketball table last night, turning back the Plainview Bulldogs 24 to 16 in a Big Five League game at the local high school gymnasium. The floor work of Wayne "Rusty" Johnston, particularly his defense, contributed largely to the Westerner triumph.

Westerner scoring was evenly divided, L. D. Venable, Robert Allen and Johnston bagging six markers each but yielding counting honors to Lovvorn, Plainview, forward, who bagged seven. Henry Ford for the locals and Wylie for the Bulldogs counted four times each.

Game Is Fast

Nothing was slow about the game from the first to the final whistle except scoring which was held to a minimum by tight defensive play of both teams. Plainview was far off its usual form at hitting the bucket, and the Westerners handled the ball more adeptly than at any other time during the present campaign.

Coach Mickey Pool's charges drew first blood when Lovvorn looped in a brace of two-pointers, which took care of scoring for the first six minutes.

Westerners Start Scoring

The Westerners turned the tide to count five markers on a free throw by Allen and field goals by Venable and Harold Parsons. The 5-4 margin was good at the first rest period. Then Lubbock's sharpshooters picked up four more points before the Bulldogs were able to scratch. Johnston netted two charity heaves and Allen looped in a field goal.

Sigmon's goal from the floor and Lovvorn's free tossed narrowed the gap, as Dutchy Cawthon sank a free throw to end the half with the Westerners leading, 10 to 7.

Bulldogs Shoots Vainly

Allen sandwiched a field goal between two by Venable after Wylie had started the post-intermission period with a long field goal. Lubbock coasted to victory from there.

Wylie wedged free throw between two goals by Johnston, then Lovvorn two-pointer divided two goals by Ford. The visitors had the last say in scoring activities as Miller, forward, looped two points.

Plainview was shooting vainly at the bucket when the game ended, but the Poolmen's sights were set too high to make the shots count.

In a preliminary game between B teams of the two schools, Lubbock downed the Plainview entry, 32 to 19.

Tech Raiders Sweep Series At El Paso

EL PASO, Feb. 2—Before a packed house at the College of Mines gymnasium last night the Texas Tech Red Raiders, again paced by their goal-shooting guard, F. M. "Butch" Sachse, triumphed over the Miners, 48 to 43, to sweep the Border conference basketball series here.

The Raiders, behind the deadly accuracy of forward Sachse in his shots from midcourt, established an early lead and never relinquished it. Halfscore was 27-18, but the Muckers, again paced by Salvadore Mora who looped in 10 field goals, started a heated rally in the second period.

Move To Tucson Today

Tech's quintet commanded a margin of five points when the game was at its hottest in the closing minutes of play, but inability to cash in on crip shots doubtlessly cost the Muckers their chance to knot the score. Sachse meanwhile had tallied 26 points.

The Raiders will proceed to Tucson where they open another conference series with University of Arizona Wednesday night.

Drop-Kicks And Passes

By Collier Parris

You'll like tonight's wrestling card, too, if you like wrestling. Otis Clingman and Andy Tremaine are wrestlers. If you don't like wrestling, you'll like Sailor Moran and Dick Sampson in their semi-final mood. This Sampson, by the way, has something there. An individualist, he impresses us as being set on one thing—to defeat his opponent. Maybe that's why you haven't heard as much of him as you have of other grapplers.

FOOTBALL JUMPED right up on the desk last night, drop-kicked a field goal from the 40-yard line, forward passed for a touchdown, and tackled the opposition for a 27-yard loss.

We have been anticipating a barrage of brickbats from the Texas Tech athletic office on acc't of we have been bothering them out there about releasing the 1938 schedule, because the fans have been bothering us.

But there is no rift in the relations, and when Coach Cawthon dropped by last night we listened to some interesting things about the 1938 grid season.

Cawthon was glowing, and committing himself quite freely, in regard to a trio of husky youths who have cast their lots with Texas Tech, as students and athletes.

Since the end of the 1937 season, the big worry out Tech has been about a quarterback, or lack of one. Cawthon had a twin quarterback act last season, a couple of nifty signal chanters and strategists in Ed Smith and Babe Curfman. But they were seniors, and they're gone.

A part of the quarterback worry had been diminished by the enrolling of Arbra Johnson, a 176-pounder from Athens High by way of Monroe, Louisiana. Johnson was quarterback under Bobo Nelson at Athens, and at the Louisiana State farm, a junior college, at Monroe. And undoubtedly a right good one.

With Johnson here is a teammate both at Athens and Monroe, named Allan McNeese, a 235-pound, 6-foot-4 tackle "without a pound of fat on him." Physically, it was pointed out, McNeese is the best looking tackle prospect at Tech, and that takes in a lot of territory.

Johnson and McNeese will be eligible for varsity duty next season, having completed the necessary number of hours at the junior college, provided they continue to complete hours at Tech during the spring and summer and fall semesters.

Robert O'Conner, another new enrollee as the new semester begins out on College avenue, is a freshman, but a large one. He is a mite of a man, weighing 210 pounds, standing 6 feet, 3 inches high in his sock feet, and he plays either guard or tackle.

LOOK OUT NOW FOR THOSE EXTRA POINTS!

Of particular interest is the news about Johnson and his educated toe. The professor in that course of instruction was Wesley Bradshaw, old-time Baylor great who won many games for the Golden Bears with his own toe.

Johnson is Bradshaw's nephew. From the time Johnson was old enough and big enough to hold a football, he was taught to drop it toward the ground—and kick it just as it hit the ground. If you know Bradshaw, or have heard of him, you can well imagine that Nephew Johnson was taught how to drop-kick.

We are not familiar with Johnson's record as a drop-kicker up to last season, but, quarterbacking and playing for the Louisiana junior college, he drop-kicked 21 extra points after touchdowns. He made that many out of 22 attempts.

Which is pretty good drop-kicking in anybody's language or game.

"You can stay around here," Cawthon told the boy, "just to kick extra points for us. We were sadly lacking in that department last season. You don't have to do no quarterbacking or nothing else, as long as you can kick points after touchdowns. We'll let somebody else make the touchdowns."

Tech almost had a drop-kicker coming up this season in Boswell of Lamesa. But old Bozzy doesn't live here any more. He looked mighty good as a freshman prospect.

Johnson, however, appears to be the real McCoy of a rapidly fading department of football—drop-kicking. We're glad to see him around.

Bobo Nelson, Athens coach, tried to send Johnson and McNeese to Tech two years ago, but Louisiana State scouts had their eyes on the boys, and hauled 'em off to the Monroe waystation, thinking, no doubt, to pick them up this fall as varsity prospects. Imagine L. S. U.'s chagrin, then, when it finds the boys have flew the coop.

O'Conner, Cawthon says of the

Baylor Bears In Top Form Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

Stopped, as forecast, by a stampeding Baylor team, hapless Texas Christian, for three years doormats of the Southwest conference, prepared to step right into the meat-grinder in a Friday and Saturday date with Arkansas at Fayetteville. The already-potent Arkansas Razorbacks will be strengthened with the addition of Bob Johnson, who became eligible at mid-term. Johnson was high scorer on the freshman team of 1935.

Fifteen straight conference games the Christians have lost. The last three years have been spent in the conference basement. Strangely, in 1934, the year before their big nose dive, they won the league title.

Baylor Faces Texas

Baylor, in top form while erasing T. C. U. 66-39 last night, still must face a dangerous University of Texas team Friday night at Waco.

Baylor whipped Texas, 51-45, in their first meeting, but since then the Texans have strengthened their lineup by the addition of three great sophomores, Britt, Finley and Spears, and the return of Capt. Don White, out with an injured knee.

In a game that saw records scuttled right and left, Baylor was led to victory last night by Hubert Kirkpatrick, center, who made 35 tallies to break the loop scoring mark for a single game. The old record, of 33 points, was set by Jack Gray of the University of Texas some five years ago.

A new high for the season in scoring also was chalked up in the Bears' 66 points.

Kirkpatrick, six-foot-five-inch lad from Mart, tallied 17 points in the first half, giving the Bears a lead of 38-17.

Plowboys Of John Tarleton Finally Fall At San Angelo

STEPHENVILLE, Feb. 2. (AP)—The Plowboys of John Tarleton Agricultural college relaxed today.

Their winning streak of 84 consecutive basketball games was broken last night by the San Angelo Junior college Rams, 27-26, at San Angelo.

The defeat was an answer to the prayer of their coach, W. J. Widem, who said "if I could get this eternal pressure off the boys they would turn in a good game; they are so nervous that they miss 80 to 90 per cent of the crip shots."

prize freshman from Dallas Technical High, "is a good, old country boy who should fit right in with our style and plans. He's big, but not too overdrawn for a guard. And I'm thinking we'll be needing a couple or three good guards before many seasons, what with Pete Owens and Lou Jones gone the way of all good seniors."

SENIORS DO VERY WELL AGAINST PRO CHAMPS

Cawthon went on to say that Sul Ross would be Tech's opponent in the annual Spring fiesta on April 30, that spring training officially would start the middle of March, and that the complete 1938 schedule would be announced "in the next few days."

We then got to comparing notes on the Sunday game at Houston in which the Southwestern All-Stars played the barnstorming Washington Redskins, champs of the national pro league.

Scanty information reaching Lubbock after the game indicated that Jim Neill, backfield star at Tech through 1936, last fall a freshman with the New York Giants, did himself pretty proud against the Redskins, overshadowed the great Sammy Baugh at his own game of passing, and otherwise disported himself in fine fashion. Little was said of Red Ramsey, Tech captain last year, except that he started at right end. Nothing was said of Pete Owens, wiry guard who went along with Ramsey and Neill. Pete wasn't even mentioned in the substitute list.

The lads returned home yesterday, and, along with Cawthon, told a different story.

Neill was in the game but 20 minutes, but long enough to "overshadow Sammy Baugh at passing."

Neill has overshadowed Baugh in the only two games they have opposed each other, and, to our way of thinking, could do it any day of the week if he was so minded. Neill threw and completed more passes than Baugh. The first time he got the ball, which was on about the first down or so, he heaved a pass to Ramsey, who was playing LEFT end, for 20-yard gain.

Ramsey played 45 minutes of the game. Two weeks earlier he had played 58 minutes with the same team against the Chicago Bears. They like Ramsey down that way. He was good enough to be drafted into professional ball without even announcing his intentions of playing. He goes to Philadelphia in the draft, but hopes to play with some other club.

Of Pete Owens, the reports reaching here were by no means complete or correct. Old Pedro went in at the start of the second period and played until the end of the third period, or half the game. And he got a lot of credit, in Houston and San Antonio papers, for playing a "bang up" ball game at guard. Pete has signed with the New York Giants.

HUNDREDS of thousands of Texans pick up their newspapers on the day after biennial July and August primaries and there learn the results of balloting the state over.

Few of those readers, however, give any thought to how that unusual election service is made possible, or to the man, who more than anyone else, has been responsible for the very fine record Texas papers have hung up in the matter of covering elections.

Today, we think, it is not asking too much of anyone to consider the man who has made Texas election coverage outstanding among all the states of the nation—in spite of our big population, our wide open spaces, the number of our counties and, in some sections, the lack of good transportation facilities.

The man who has made it possible for Texans to know elections outcomes less than 12 hours after the polls have closed lies still in death today.

He is A. F. Henning, for whom journalism's "30" was written yesterday afternoon following a year of wretched health. At the age of 61 this great contributor to the newspaper business of Texas is gone, yet behind him leaves a record singularly his own.

MR. Henning started in the newspaper business as a "printers' devil" on the Signal in his home town of Luling; climbed the ladder on numerous state papers until, at his retirement from the newsroom, he had reached an executive editorial position on the Dallas News. Almost against his will he was made head of the journalism department at Southern Methodist university, a place he left under protest of his associates only a year ago.

But as fine as was his record at SMU, on the Dallas News, and other papers, Mr. Henning's chief work was as manager of the Texas Election bureau, an organization of Texas newspapers which functions only on election years. For that organization, Mr. Henning was the spark-plug, the dynamo, the almost-everything.

Efficiency of the election bureau is a mystery to newspapermen all over the country—including Texans who know its workings but who still can't see how its mark of perfection was reached.

Organized with the precision of a great army, the election bureau for almost a score of years has gathered and disseminated to member papers literally millions of counts and recounts.

Behind all this prodigious task—and responsible for the bureau's continuous improvement election year after election year—was A. F. Henning. It was his great mind which conceived the working plan and who made it function.

THIS summer, and all the other election summers which are to come, will see Texas newspapers continuing to give the same service to which their patrons have been long accustomed.

As in the case of all thorough craftsmen, Mr. Henning left his organization in shape where a lesser man can take command, follow in his tracks and get the job done.

But along with all the other member papers of the election bureau—and there are several score of them in the state—Avalanche-Journal papers view with mingled sadness, respect and appreciation the passing of a highly capable servant of the cause of journalism.

Of A. F. Henning it may surely be said:

"He has run a good race; he has finished the course."

A couple of friends met on the street.

"How," asked one, "is your father getting along?"

"Well," came the answer, "we don't exactly know. But the doctor has told him not to start any continued stories!"

THE way Texas supports the Carlsbad Caverns National park is nothing short of miraculous.

Day after day and month after month, Texans are in majority of visitors when all noses are counted and the figures announced in the very bottom of the big cave.

This fact was brought to mind by receipt of the regular monthly report concerning the caverns' patronage. During last month a total of 1,207 Texans viewed the wonders of the caverns—an average of almost 40 per day. As usual, California, with 870, was in second place.

As far as The Plainsman can recall, there has never been a month since the caverns were formally opened that Texas did not lead the parade. And aside from "special days", when thousands of school children or other multitudinous groups have seen the caverns, it is doubtful if Texas has ever been surpassed on a single day of sightseeing.

To give you an idea of how far ahead of New Mexico Texas caverns patronage is, New Mexico in January racked up a mere 440—or a little more than one-third the Texas total.

In passing it is interesting to note that residents of 13 foreign countries went through the caves last month—and we all know that January is not a big tourist month.

Canada was "tops" with 78; Mexico was second with 29 and England—considerably removed from New Mexico—was third with 19.

Total for the month was 7,393, biggest January on record and topping the first January, in 1924, by 7,368. Only 25 persons went through during that first January.

KELLY Polk, who used to live here but who is now punching cows over in the Carlsbad country, told The Plainsman not long ago that visitors to the caverns bring in at least $1,000,000 of "new money" to the town of Carlsbad every year.

One has only to look around the town and the hotels over there to believe Kelly's estimate.

On the streets, in the cafes—everywhere in Carlsbad—one sees people who are readily marked as "furriners", that is, people who are easily noted as residents of elsewhere than the Southwest.

With the exception of El Paso, Carlsbad probably is the most cosmopolitan town in all this part of the country.

Richest Girl In The World

CAST OF CHARACTERS

CONSTANCE CORBY — heroine; richest girl in the world.

BRET HARDESTY—hero; bridge builder.

RODNEY BRANDON — Connie's fiance.

KATIE BLYN — Connie's "double."

* * *

Yesterday: Driving south with Bret Hardesty, Connie is experiencing a vast adventure. And then their car skids, suddenly, sickeningly.

CHAPTER IX

They had skidded into a ditch, facing the bank, which was fortunate. At the other side of the road there was a sheer drop of more than a thousand feet.

"Even this is bad enough," Bret said. "If only you could drive. . . ."

"But I can!"

"You can!" Apparently he had not counted on such good fortune. "Do you suppose you could back up on to the road, if I stand outside and give directions?"

She said she could do her best. She felt she could do anything with him to guide her. Without further delay, she slipped into the driver's seat as Bret got out.

"Don't slam on the brakes too quickly!" Bret warned. "Do exactly as I tell you. Remember that drop on the left—I don't know," he shook his head, "maybe I ought not to let you attempt it."

Her eyes met his. There was no hesitancy or fear in them. "Didn't I tell you I'm not afraid, Bret Hardesty? You'd let me try it if I were a man, wouldn't you?"

"That's just it. . . ."

"That is it exactly! We're not going to park here all night just because I happened to have been born a lady!" Her laugh was as gay as though she would not be taking her very life in her small hands in another moment.

"Okay," he agreed shortly; but she did not miss the flash of admiration in his dark eyes. "Throw her into reverse—easy, remember! Stop the second I shout out at you—and don't forget the emergency!"

Those next few moments were ones Connie was never to forget; moments during which, ears strained for Bret's directions, she shifted gears, twisted and turned with all her strength, kept a steady nerve as well as her wits about her. But she managed to back on to the road at last.

Climbing in beside her, Bret frankly mopped his forehead in relief. "I wouldn't want to live through that every day!" he told her. "But I do want to do something. Pay my respects to a very gallant lady—a game little sport."

Connie had received many compliments from many men, but none had ever pleased her quite so much.

"Maybe it would be best for us to go back to the McCally's," Bret suggested.

"Please don't! I'd much rather keep on. If I were a man that's what you'd do, isn't it?"

"Perhaps. But. . . ."

"Didn't you just say I'd proved as good as one?"

He laughed. "You win!" Once more they were on their way.

Now the snow had stopped falling; the hills rose like tall, sheathed sentinels guarding the slumbering valleys. It was almost as light as day. This was, indeed, a new world, spotless in its gleaming purity, silent, breath-taking, magical.

"It's like a sanctuary," Connie murmured. "A place apart. I'll never forget the drive. I would not have missed it for anything!"

His eyes smiled into hers, as though he understood what she meant. They did not talk much, sharing the silence of the night, as well as its strange, eerie beauty. They might have been the only living creatures—this man and this girl—so completely did this whole wild world belong them alone.

When they reached their destination it was long past midnight. The village was asleep under its blanket of snow, its little group of houses nestling close. High on a hill the tall steeple of its little white church rose against the mountains, keeping watch over all.

This was where Katie Blyn who had been Constance Corby, was to live and work, dream and play; this where she was to try her wings, find that freedom so long sought.

"Like it?" Bret asked, at her side. He seemed to sense her mood, almost her thoughts. "It may not appear very grand—unless you have the seeing eye. But you'll find it friendly and kind and simple. I hope," he added with those same qualities, "you will find much more than that. Maybe your heart's desire!"

Then he laughed: "Mrs. Parson will think I'm bringing home a bride, arriving at such an hour!"

They had pulled up now in front of square brick house that sat well back on the Main street. Its walls were almost completely covered with ivy that still clasped its green leaves; its wide porch was supported by tall colonial columns; over the door was an exquisite fanlight, delicately wrought. A row of stately elms flanked the crumbling walk.

"Why, this house must be over a hundred years old!" Connie exclaimed. "It must have been a perfectly lovely house in its day."

"Shsh!" Bret put a finger to his lips. They had come through the gate; he placed her bag on the steps. "It still is, my dear young lady! Aunt Bertha—as I told you everyone calls her—she thinks it the finest mansion in the whole country-side. I'll have you understand. And, one other thing," his eyes twinkled warningly, "you will be her guest. No West Virginia lady ever takes in boarders, or accepts the smallest charity, you know."

"I'll not forget," Connie promised. They could hear movement inside the house now; a bolt shot back; the big door opened.

A woman peered out, holding high a candelabrum; her head was wrapped in a lacy cap; her huge person enveloped in a faded old flannel robe.

"Well, well," her face fairly beamed, "if it isn't Breton. And someone else with you? That's nice. Come in, come in!"

* * *

She might have been clothed in the finest raiment, receiving royalty, her manner was so warm and hospitable, so dignified and sincere.

Bret performed the introductions; explained the delay that caused them to arrive so late, and that Miss Blyn was to help in the camp office. He said he hoped she would find that she could take Miss Blyn in, and make her feel at home.

"As if a friend of yours would not be heartily welcome!" There was reproach in the small, merry eyes; they rested on him with motherly affection. "That is more than enough for me. I'd be right happy to have you, as my guest, Miss Blyn. I'll have Eloise show you to the south room; you'll find it the most pleasant. And if you'd like to wash up, my boy, I'll see what I can do meantime, about a bit of something warm. You both must be famished!"

"No need to bother!" Bret protested. "I'll go on over to the hotel; see if they've still held my same room. . . ."

"You'll do no such thing!" Mrs. Parson reproved him. She acted as though being disturbed at midnight, and preparing a bite to eat for her guests, was an ordinary occurrence.

A girl had come down the stairs as far as the landing. She, too, wore a faded, plain wrapper; but she was a very pretty girl. Connie had never seen such hair. It hung, like a cloak of glory, nearly to her waist; it was the color of burnished copper.

"Come on down, Eloise," her mother called. "It's Bret, come home. I reckon you all won't be sorry to hear that!" Her voice held a teasing note; her chins shook with suppressed laughter. "He's brought a friend—which should please you as well, since there are few girls your own age and kind to make friends with . . . Come on down. Bid them both welcome."

The girl came down, though somewhat reluctantly. She started to hold out a slim hand toward Bret, but he laughed, bent his head, gave her cheek a brief caress. "Why so formal!" he chided. "I don't believe you're one bit glad I'm back." Then to Connie: "Eloise and I grew up together; she's practically the same as my own sister. As Aunt Bertha said I, too, hope you girls will become great friends."

Connie extended a hand; the girl accepted it, murmured a quiet greeting. But there was no welcome in her face, not much friendliness. Connie knew the reason. This was the girl whose heart would have been broken, as the old mountain woman had said, had Bret Hardesty brought home a bride.

A COMMON-SENSE DECISION BY U. S.

While many citizens undoubtedly believe that shipments of all munitions of war from the United States to all powers should be forbidden, they likewise will applaud the refusal by Secretary of State Hull to join with several European nations in an agreement to permit such shipments to China while refusing them to Japan.

This statement is made with full knowledge that sentiment in the United States overwhelmingly favors the Chinese against the Japs. It is made with realization of the possibility—or should we say probability—that some day our national existance may be at stake in a struggle with Japan.

But in the Sino-Japanese conflict we are officially a neutral nation. That means that we must treat both belligerents alike. If we permit shipments to one, we must permit them to the other. If we refuse one, we should refuse the other.

We must be consistent about the whole thing, even though continuation of shipments may mean that we are delivering to Japan materials which will be hurled back at us from the mouths of cannon. The way to forestall that tragic possibility, is to stop munitions shipments entirely.

However, such a position will not keep most of us from giving cheers because of the prospect that several European nations may boycott shipments to Japan while permitting them to China. But in that decision, the European powers would be actuated by selfish, and not by humanitarian motives. Without exception they have huge interests in China. If the United States should join with them, it would be to assist them in pulling their chestnuts out of the fire.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2.—Barbara Stanwyck always has been a scrapper. Not a temperamental trouble-seeker, but a cool-headed individual who has stood up for her rights with no quarter or compromise and no squewking when a dispute went against her.

She was orphaned at 5, in Brooklyn and in poverty. She was brought up on street fights, and at 13 tackled the world alone as a switchboard operator, a pattern cutter, and in a couple of years as a chorus girl.

She battled for everything she got. Her Hollywood history is punctuated with disputes, triumphs, and suspensions, and with many an unpublished incident in which she successfully defied powerful influences at the threat of unfavorable publicity.

Knowing her as a scrapper, Hollywood has been unable to understand why she so quietly accepted defeat in the court fight with her ex-husband, Frank Fay, whom she attempted to restrain from seeing their young adopted son, Dion. True, she has appealed the decision, and meanwhile is not permitting Fay to see the boy. But the picture colony is saying that Miss Stanwyck pulled her punches; that in court she declined to use a lot of sensational evidence; that she has injured her own popularity by a weak defense.

Had Her Own Reasons

I asked her about that. She said, "Well, it may be true that some people, from what they've read of the case, are not in sympathy with me. They can say, 'After all, what harm is there in his seeing the child?' And on the face of it, there doesn't seem to be much harm.

"But I fought this case for reasons of my own, and if the reasons are not all made public it's just my own hard luck. I've always tried to live as honestly as I can, and when I wind up behind the 8-ball I always find plenty of company. In fact, it's getting pretty crowded back there.

"I guess I'm pretty naive about legal matters. Here in Hollywood I've been criticized for not getting up in court and slinging mud all over the place. There were things I wouldn't say, or let my lawyers say, but of course the reason was that I thought I was absolutely certain to win on the evidencee that was presented. Naturally I didn't want to throw any more mud than I had to, but I hadn't counted on some untruthful things that were said against me."

In the original decision regarding the custody of the boy, Miss Stanwyck was awarded the right to decide when, if at all, he could be visited by his foster-father. The recent suit was instituted by Fay to amend that decision. He was successful in obtaining a court order for a weekly visit. Her appeal to the state Supreme Court means only that the verdict will be reviewed on the basis of evidence already submitted.

In State Of Suspension

Miss Stanwyck is under suspension now at RKO for refusing a role in "Distant Fields." She didn't like the story and believed the role unsuitable for her. Before this she was suspended by 20th Century-Fox, to which company she also is under contract, because she refused to play in "Giant Swing."

She also declined "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," but Darryl Zanuck didn't discipline her for that. "And I was under suspension practically the whole time I was supposed to be working for Warner Brothers," she said.

These suspensions are, in her case at least, friendly disagreements. They are the only recourse a studio has if a player refuses an assignment. Having declined a role, making necessary the hiring of someone else, the player is taken off salary for the duration of the picture.

Miss Stanwyck and her employers personally are on the best of terms. A producer is not likely to be too indignant with a player who is willing to sacrifice her salary to her dramatic ideals.

"For all that," said Miss Stanwyck, "I'd really like to be busy all the time. Acting is fun. I guess I'm quite a ham."

Crew Of "Ford Peace Ship" Holds Reunion In Washington; Efforts To Halt War Recalled

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 — The other day, as the President prepared a message calling for a huge armament increase, a few men and women remembered the "Ford Peace Ship" expedition to Europe in December, 1915.

Ridicule was heaped high on the Oscar II and its earnest passengers as they sailed away. Little effort was spared to make the expedition appear a silly, crackpot venture. Today, as the world prepares, perhaps, for another and probably more terrible great war, it seems somewhat less absurd than the continued slaughter which followed its failure.

Rodney Dutcher

Anyway, the voyage was recalled here by a small group which gathered when Madame Rosika Schwimmer, the Hungarian feminist who persuaded Henry Ford to support it and accompany it, and Mrs. Lola Maverick Lloyd, her associate in a ceaseless campaign for world peace, had a reunion party with Washingtonians who made the trip.

Found German "Pacifist"

Reminiscences alternately were gay and sad. Mme. Schwimmer, denied American citizenship by the Supreme court because she refused to promise to bear arms in case of war, is still very proud of the peace expedition. She still has fun, but thinks the world outlook is worse than ever. She is 60 years old now and it seems silly to think of her carrying a gun. But she pointed out that a 72-year-old Florida woman recently was denied citizenship on the same grounds.

Miss Mary Maverick Lloyd, one of three Lloyd children on the expedition and who now helps run the WPA writers' project, recalled how Ford gave the kids rock candy and played with them daily.

And there was the big German officer who sat beside her as the "sealed train" went through Germany. She had said, "Please, Mr. Officer, are you a pacifist?" and when he didn't get it, she explained that she meant did he like to stick bayonets through people?

The officer had said, "Certainly not," and little Miss Lloyd said, "Then you're a pacifist."

Dramatic Propaganda Gesture

It was pointed out that Walter Millis, in his book, "The Road to War," had referred to the expedition as "One of the few really generous and rational impulses of those insane years" which had been "snuffed out with a cruelty and levity which are appalling." H. G. Wells says there is still material for a great writer in the details of the expedition, referring to "This idea that flamed and faded, this idea of an appeal against war to human sanity."

Everyone agreed that Henry Ford, suddenly called upon to make his first speech at a Washington mass meeting late in November, had said: "We want to get the boys out of the trenches," and that he said nothing at all about doing it by Christmas. Ridicule of the idea was confined almost entirely to America.

The plan grew out of efforts of certain women to obtain mediation of the war. Failing to get official action, the women did get some semi-official private encouragement for a permanent neutral conference at Stockholm. Members of this conference would keep sounding out the belligerent governments until some working basis for a peace conference could be reached.

The peace ship was a dramatic propaganda gesture designed to ballyhoo these efforts by taking a boatload of serious idealists to Europe for public demonstrations in Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland.

Everything Happened

Certain cranks got into the party, and a few racketeers and other trouble-makers principally interested in Ford's money or personal public publicity.

"Everything happened," admits Mme. Schwimmer, "including many ridiculous things."

Ford, who had refused to change his clothes after a big wave swept over him, became ill and left the group at Christiana. Enthusiastic receptions and big meetings in the neutral countries followed.

But single taxers and other troublesome members of the American party surged to the fore and things began to fall apart. Mme. Schwimmer collapsed under the strain. The Stockholm conference made studies and planned tracts. Ford kept financing it until August. The whole peace venture cost him $400,000—about 1 per cent of the price of a first-class battleship.

Will Your Marriage Lead To Happiness Or Divorce?
Ask The Master Psychologist
Dr. La Rose, Ps. D.

HAS THIS EVER HAPPENED TO YOU? Are you blue, discouraged and unhappy ... and you do not know why? Are you in doubt about your love affairs and you do not know how to change it? Is there some mysterious trouble in your home ... and you cannot solve it? Do you worry because you cannot accomplish and be successful like other people? Do you feel that your mate in life is interested in someone else? So if in doubt ask the man who knows.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 2 (AP) — Cotton prices opened steady here today at net advances of 2 to 3 points.

The rain was attributed to stronger cables than due and a belief that congress would soon reach agreement on the farm bill. March opened at 8.37, May 8.64, July 8.71, Oct. 8.8?, Dec. 8.65 and Jan. at 8.85-B.

Business was slow after the start and prices were unchanged after the first hour of trading.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP) — Cotton futures opened 3 to 5 higher on trade and foreign buying with contracts scarce. March 8.43; May 8.51; July 8.60; Oct. 8.71; Dec. 8.76; Jan. 8.79.

March liquidation was taken by spot houses and other trade interests. Hedging was light and a small demand held prices steady. Shortly after the first half hour the list was 1 to 3 points net higher, with May selling at 8.51.

The market remained quiet with price changes small later in the morning.

Around midday May was selling at 8.53 and the list was 3 to 5 points net higher

Livestock Market

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Feb. 2 (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle 2,200; calves 1,500 including 365 thru; several sales good lightweight yearling steers and heifers 6.50-7.00; few head to 7.50; load around 1,025 lb. fed steers 7.65; most plain and medium steers and yearlings 5.00-6.25; beef cows 4.00-75, mostly 4.25-3.25; killing calves 4.00-7.00; most heavies around 6.50 down, odd head vealers upward to 9.50; stock steer calves 7.00 down; ten-cwt string thin stocker cows 4.50 with about two loads out at 3.50.

Hogs 1,400; top 8.10 paid by small killers; packer top 8.00; good to choice 185-250 lb. averages 8.00-10; good to choice 260-340 lb. butchers 7.25-75; packing sows 25c lower, mostly 6.25 down.

Sheep 2,000; 6 decks of good 92 lb. wooled lambs weighed at recent contract price of 7.25; 2 decks of 101 lb. wooled yearlings 5.75; shorn lambs 5.50 down; wethers scarce; feeder lambs 6.75 down; including several lots feeder lambs at 6.65.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP)—Buyers pushed selected shares a little higher in the stock market today but gains generally were small.

Near the fourth hour advances of fractions to a point or more ruled, but there was a sprinkling of losers throughout the list.

Building material issues, spurred by final enactment of the administration's housing bill yesterday, provided the best showing. Merchandising, aircraft and a few industrial specialty shares inclined upward, but in lesser measure.

Trading was listless and the ticker tape leaded. Brokers found buying interest only moderate, but were chief somewhat by the comparative absence of offerings.

Ahead much of the time — there were slips at times due to profit taking — were Johns-manville, Crane Co., U. S. Gypsum, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, American can, Texas Corp., Union Carbide, Eastman Kodak, Commercial Investment Trust and Loew's.

World Unrest Is Spreading

dettas," reprisal bombings behind the lines, by Spanish government and insurgent planes which have cost hundreds of Spanish lives.

Britain announced a similar appeal.

Two Situations Created

The war in China created two situations:

In Tokyo, Japanese Foreign Minister Koki Hirota declared "a state of war exists between the two countries." The statement was not amplified. In seven months of hostilities Japan has made no formal declaration of war.

In Geneva, the League of Nations council, closing its 10th session, voted a resolution concerning aid to China which dissatisfied Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, the Chinese delegate.

The resolution merely asked interested nations to consider ways of aid to China and appeasement of the strife. Dr. Koo reserved the right to appeal for more "positive" help.

On the battlefronts, the Spanish war appeared to be at a standstill, but in the orient, Chinese reinforcements moved up by thousands to plug a gap in the southern defenses of China's "lifeline" corridor. A major battle between 500,000 Chinese and Japanese troops seemed imminent on the front northwest of Nanking.

Joiner claimed she did not know when she signed the document that Joiner intended to divorce her and marry his stenographer.

It also was contended she did not know the true nature of the settlement, which allowed Mrs. Joiner $500 a month and a home at Ardmore, Okla., but believed the instrument was a will.

Boy Scout Banquet Will Be Held At Floydada Friday

FLOYDADA, Feb. 2 (Special) — Approximately 40 reservations from Floydada, Lockney and Matador have been received for the annual northeastern district Boy Scout banquet to be held at First Christian church here Friday night, George Kirk, district president, said today.

In addition, Council Executive Earl McClure, Assistant Executive Lyndon T. Grant and others from Lubbock will attend.

Election of officers will be the business feature. Present officers are Kirk; Marion English of Floydada, program chairman; R. C. McGilvary of Lockney, finance chairman; H. H. Hamilton of Lockney, court of honor chairman; U. L. Willie of Matador, promotion chairman; and Paul Conner, Floydada, district commissioner.

GOING TO ARIZONA

Eye Clinic Will Be Staged In Lubbock

Dr. A. M. Skeffington of St. Louis, director of the Graduate Clinic Foundation for Research in Optometry, is to arrive here this afternoon to open a clinic at Lubbock hotel at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The clinic will continue through Friday.

The clinic, one of four scheduled in Texas, will deal with examination and correction of eyes of children of school age. Probably between 65 and 75 optometrists will attend and their assistants likely will increase the number to near 100, said Dr. W. A. Petty, Lubbock optometrist.

Other clinics were scheduled in San Antonio, Houston and Fort Worth.

Visual problems of students of primary, intermediate, high school and college years will be studied. Clinical cases will be considered and graphing o. visual problems studied. Means of correcting individual cases so revealed will be clinically shown.

Dr. Millard F. Swart of Lubbock, director of the Texas Optometric Extension program, is in charge of arrangements for the clinic.

Mass Meeting of the council.

Phares will address school children at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon in a general assembly in the Senior High school auditorium.

Interest in the meeting is widespread and a good attendance is expected, Conley said. A committee, composed of Mrs. H. F. Godeke, W. O. Daniels, and W. B. Irvin, superintendent of Lubbock schools, is in charge of advertisement of the rally.

Another phase of the drive will be a traffic school for Lubbock residents. A committee making plans for the school is composed of Mrs. Godeke, F. L. McRee, assistant professor of civil enginering at Texas Tech, and R. W. Matthews, principal of Lubbock Senior High school. The committee met Tuesday and formed a tentative program to be submitted to the council for adoption. It will propose that the school start March 1, Mrs. Godeke, chairman, said.

Working on the traffic survey with Chief Phares will be Don Reeder, chief of police; Capt. W. W. Legge of the state traffic patrol; Sgt. Lewis Kittrell of the city traffic detail; Chas. A. Guy, editor of Avalanche-Journal publications, and Conley.

Recommendations of the committee will be submitted to the city council.

Rescue Plans Pushed

Nevertheless, five planes and three ships were preparing for the rescue.

The exact rescue plan was undetermined today, but if the ice remained broken, Dr. Schmidt indicated a steamer would attempt to go directly to the camp.

There also was the possibility planes could land nearby and use rubber boats for completing the contact.

Pair Dead In Bus Accident

BULL'S GAP, Tenn., Feb. 2 (AP)—Two members of the Carson-Newman college basketball team of Jefferson City were killed Tuesday when the bus in which they were riding and an automobile trailer crashed near here.

The team was en route to Johnson City for a game last night.

The dead:

Roy Roberts, 22, of Sevierville, Tenn., senior and star guard on the basketball team.

James Grissom, 19, of Burnside, Ky., sophomore, and substitute forward.

The injured:

Arky Jarniga, driver of the bus, severe cuts.

John Hudson of Jefferson City, center, broken arm and minor cuts.

Carlyle Henley of Harriman, Tenn., manager, cuts and bruises.

Malcolm Brown of Sylvia, N. C., substitute, cuts and bruises.

Wright Tells Death Story

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2 (AP)—Paul Wright told a jury Tuesday he saw his wife and his best friend in an unseeming position, and then "everything inside me just exploded."

"The next thing I knew, I was standing there with a gun in my hand," he testified in a superior court where he is on trial for his life. "They were there on the floor."

Breaks Down And Sobs

Wright, who killed his wife and John Kimmel, broke down and sobbed when he recounted the details of the scene in his living room that immediatel preceded the slayings.

After telling that he saw them in an unusual embrace, Wright said, "she came up into a sitting posture and put her arm around his shoulders."

"Did you knowingly fire that gun?" Defense Attorney Giesler asked.

Wright replied:

"I did not."

"Did you have any consciousness of having got that gun and fired?"

"No."

Relations Unchanged

Previously, Giesler had asked Wright if, up to the time he laid down for a nap anything had occurred to change his friendly relations with Kimmel. Wright said his relations were unchanged.

The morning session had opened with the defendant taking the stand to tell the events of his life; unnerving experiences as an artillery sergeant in France; treatment for tuberculosis; a quarrel with his wife over finances; their separation and reconciliation.

Wright told in the afternoon of going to the quiet Birdmen club; of meeting Kimmel there without knowin, that he was to attend; and how they sat down in good fellowship afterward to have a few drinks.

Then they drove to Wright's home in separate automobiles, to be greeted at the door by Mrs. Wright.

He Went To Bed

Wright said they sat around about a half hour or more then he went to bed, leaving his wife and Kimmel together in the living room.

He said he was awakened by something that sounded like a piano and he went to the bedroom door and saw Kimmel sitting at the piano with his wife on the piano bench beside Kimmel.

Then, he told of the revolting scene that, he said, drove him to the slaying.

"She came to a sitting position when I came into the room. She then put her arms around his neck and he put his arms around her. And they kissed . . . they kissed . . . they kissed each other.

"Then everything in me exploded.

"The next thing I knew I was standing there with the gun in my hand and they were on the floor—there was blood—blood—and he was on the floor moaning."

Classes For Spring Semester Started

Registration continued as classes for the spring semester at Texas Technological college were opened this morning and at noon a record total of 2,884 students had obtained permits to register. New records had been set for both spring semester and long session enrollments, and registration is not yet completed.

First available figure on new students was announced at noon by President Bradford Knapp, who said 203 students not in college during the fall semester had registered for the spring semester.

The enrollment figure at noon exceeded by 293 the total for the entire spring semester last year. The number of new students added to the fall semester enrollment total brought the long session enrollment figure to date to 3,357. Largest former total for a long session was 3,010, reached last college year.

Registration will continue, although at a slower pace. The number of students enrolled during the two official registration days, Monday and Tuesday, was 2,797.

Many students who began registration Monday and Tuesday continued the procedure, which is completed with payments of fees.

TO REOPEN THEATER

RALLS, (Special)—The newly refurnished and rebuilt Crystal theater here will reopen Wednesday night, Leroy Land, manager, reports. The original building was partially destroyed by fire last fall.

MORTON, (Special) — Frank Jones, a grocer here, is closing out and moving to Garrison, N. M. He formerly resided there.

Laugh, Gob! Laugh!

Bradford Greene, 22, was supposed to be happy when this picture was taken, for a musical comedy for which he wrote the music was having its premier in Cleveland. But Greene, who enlisted when things weren't going so well, has three years more in the Navy. Alice Alexander, "angel" of the show, attempts to cheer him up.

Expansion Of Drum And Bugle Corps Seen As Possibility; Great Interest Shown

Expansion of the drum and bugle corps now being organized for Allen Bros. American Legion squadron of Sons of the Legion or formation of a second squad will be necessary, judging from interest boys are displaying, according to information given this morning by E. Kelley Nail, squadron sponsor for the post.

Thirty-one boys reported for the beginners' instruction class in bugling last night while 28 are enrolled in the advanced class, he reported. The squadron has only 34 bugles.

18 Try For Drums

Likewise, he added, 18 are trying out for the snare drums, eight of which are available. Original plans call for a corps of 48 members, including 34 bugles, eight snare drums, two bass drums and two sets of cymbals.

If interest in the organization continues among the boys, Nail asserted, additional instruments will be ordered and the corps either will be expanded or a junior corps will be organized.

Instructions are in charge of Walter F. Smith, who announced today that J. W. Rogers, 15, who recently moved to Lubbock from San Antonio, will assist in drumming instructions. Rogers was a member of a drum and bugle corps in San Antonio.

Lubbock's Brisk 1938 Building Pace Continues In February

Lubbock's brisk 1938 building pace continued into the second month this morning with the authorization of construction to cost a total of $4,680, increasing the amount for the first day and one-half of February to $7,930, according to information given by City Building Inspector Jim Reid.

Construction total for the year was increased to $125,361.35.

Permits issued this morning were: Paul W. Pattillo, owner, and M. G. Bowles, contractor, apartment house at 1505 Main street, $3,700; T. A. Ford, tile building at 2218 Avenue H, $500; and C. Priestly, frame residence at 2102 East Avenue D, $480.

Prize Of $100,000 Is Being Considered For Oil Well

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 2 (AP)—Senator Mack Young proposed in a bill introduced in the legislature today to give the governor authority to draw $100,000 out of the state treasury and pay it as prize money to the first person bringing in a commercial oil well in Mississippi.

A similar proposal to the legislature two years ago received little support.

Henry N. Toler, state oil and gas supervisor, said the hunt for oil already was under way, "but no doubt Senator Young's prize would spur other activity."

Houston Group To Visit Here

Thirty Houston business leaders making the second of five good will trips to publicize the approaching fat stock and livestock shows and the annual spring trade week there are scheduled to arrive in Lubbock shortly before noon Thursday to be guests at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club at Lubbock hotel.

When they arrive in Lubbock they will be at the point most distant from Houston of any of the five trips, according to word received at the chamber of commerce. G. A. (Pop) Mabry heads the visiting delegation.

In Charge Of Program

Program at the Kiwanis club, of which Dr. O. W. English is president, will be in charge of the visitors. A letter to the chamber of commerce said that a few talks will be made, none of them longer than two minutes.

Dr. English announced that an invitation has been extended to members of other civic clubs and to interested citizens to attend the luncheon on a "Dutch treat" basis.

Thursday's itinerary of the good willers, who are traveling by bus, will be: leave San Angelo at 7:30 a. m.; Sterling City, 8:20 to 8:30 a. m.; Big Spring, 9:30 to 9:50; Lamesa, 10:50 to 11:05; Lubbock, noon until 2 p. m.; Post, 2:50 to 3:05; Snyder, 4 to 4:15; Sweetwater, 5 to 5:30 p. m.; and arrive Abilene for overnight stay, 6:30.

Business Men Hold Session

businesses. I anticipate that the suggestions resulting from your conference will be very helpful to me. I am, therefore, looking forward to conferring with your committee at the White House tomorrow afternoon."

The secretary cautioned his audience against asking too much of government.

"Efforts to permanently help business must not leave out of consideration the facts that our greatest assets are human resources and the greatest attribute is human initiative," he said. "This initiative needs to be encouraged and not discouraged."

Jesse Jones Speaks

Roper expressed the hope that the results of the meeting would "enable the president to get the picture of the situation as you see it and as you would like to have it presented to him."

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, speaking "as a little business man myself," drew a distinction between big and little business.

"By little business is meant something comparative, or relative," he said. "Organizations like General Motors, big steel, little steel, and so forth, are big business — and the rest of us are little business."

"We're happy when we're making a little money, when we're getting along," he said. "We're not happy, when we're not making money."

Loans Are Required

He said that, although the R. F. C. had not been able to meet many requests for loans, 450 of its 2,700 loans were for sums of less than $5,000, and that the average of all loans — including three, or four, very large ones — was $70,000.

In the pre-conference discussions, some of the small business men said they were interested in getting taxes imposed on chain corporations. Others sought conference approval of varied types of restrictions on their big competitors.

Many said they believed these demands might figure in President Roosevelt's efforts to end monopolies and business "abuses."

The business men will continue their "town meeting" with commerce department officials until tomorrow afternoon. Then a dozen of them will report to Mr. Roosevelt what they and their colleagues think should be done to improve and stabilize business.

Group discussions in and out of conference halls, ranging from calm appraisals to torrid arguments, indicated there would be no lack of suggestions.

A proposal for federal loans to small concerns probably will head the list. Letters which business men have written the president indicate a tight credit situation is one of their chief worries.

Rate Increase Is Opposed

DALLAS, Feb. 2 (AP)—E. R. Tanner of El Paso, traffic manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, testified at a Texas railroad commission hearing here increased intrastate rates asked by Texas railroads would be discriminatory to and penalize West Texas areas.

Tanner, manager of the freight bureau of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce, said his organization flatly opposed the proposed increase of 15 per cent asked.

Attitude of the West Texas chamber is slightly different, he said. The larger organization opposes a percentage increase in freight rates or any other increase which would cause discrimination between West Texas communities, or between them and other parts of the state, he testified.

Should Be Flat Amount

The West Texas chamber's position is that if a rate increase is necessary it should be made a flat amount in cents per 100 pounds, equally applying to all points, Tanner said.

John E. Mitchell, St. Louis machinery manufacturer, and Walter Van Wart of Dallas, executive of a metal and boiler works, both shippers, testified they favored the increase if it is necessary to save the railroads from bankruptcy and government ownership.

Commissioner Lon A. Smith presided at the hearing.

Oil Land Title Is Awarded To Gulf

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 2 (AP)—Title to a lucrative strip of land in Yates oil pool in Pecos county was awarded Gulf Production company, but plaintiffs and royalty owners were given a judgment of $276,985 in an instructed verdict by a Fort Stockton district court.

The verdict was in the case of Wilbur Brown of San Angelo et al, vs. the Gulf Production company et al.

The court held that while a boundary line agreement between the Mid Kansas and Gulf production companies placed the strip in a section covered by the Gulf lease, the agreement did not bind royalty holders of disputed sections and they were entitled to participate in the one-eighth royalty from nine producing wells.

The verdict placed the strip in section 28, block 194, G. C. and S. F. Ry. Co. survey, Pecos county. Mid Kansas holds a lease covering section 33 of the same block.

Royalty holders of section 33 were entitled to participate in the production, the court held.

Northland's Faith In Harold Gillam Again Is Justified

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Feb. 2 (AP)—The northland's faith in Harold Gillam was justified again as word came by radio that he and his plane were safe after having been unreported for almost 24 hours on a flight to Barrow.

His friends had been little worried, they said, because Gillam's ability to "get out of tight places," was what made him one of the finest commercial fliers in the snow country.

The army signal corps at Barrow said Gillam and his mechanic, George Saunders, were down at Chandalar lake, awaiting a break in the weather. They were short of fuel.

The two left for Barrow with supplies for the Russian party searching for six missing trans-polar fliers.

This year Gillam made the first winter flight to Point Barrow in aerial history. He flew by moonlight, with Mechanic Eddie Wisler, carrying supplies for the Russian search party.

BOTTLED HEALTH

Milk, Pasteurized Bell's Grade "A"

keeps babies strong and healthy . . . builds firm bodies, strong bones and supplies needed energy foods. Bell's Milk is good for mothers, too, and for that matter, anyone! The recommended diet is at least a quart a day per person.

At Your Grocer or Delivered to your Refrigerator

Most animals hold their mouths open when they wish to breathe faster, but the toad cannot breathe at all with his mouth open, for he has to swallow air, and he cannot swallow unless his mouth is closed.

Of th 10,000 insects destroyed by each toad annually, about 16 per cent will be cutworms, and, counting each cutworm's annual damage at the low figure of 1 cent, each toad would be worth about $70 for this service alone.
